ORDER TREES CUT FROM SIDEWALKS

COMMISSIONER FITTS WANTS BRANCHES REMOVED OVER WALKS

Calling attention of the public to the city ordinance which provides that no obstructions of any description are premitted to swing above sidewalks at a height of less than seven feet, Police Commissioner Fitts asked that all residents having trees near sidewalks, in the business district, take care that the branches are trimmed to a legal altitude.

Mr. Fitts said that one case had been cited in which a local hotel sign was obstructed from the view at a distance of only a few yards by a tree with branches extending too low.

The commissioner asserted that he did not wish to take action to obtain the results without first issuing warning as he felt such condition was purely oversight on the part of citizens and not an intentional violation of the law.

WHAT MANNER OF MEN SHOULD GIRLS CHOOSE TO WED?

CHICAGO, Sept. 8.—What kind of a man should a girl marry? The one she loves, you say. Not much; they should look deep into his character before saying: "I will."

The Rev. Charles S. Stevens, of Chicago, in a sermon from his pulpit recently, advised girls not to marry a man who swears, who does not respect his parents, who is not physically clean, who is lazy and who is a grouch.

But even that is not enough, in teh opinion of Miss Harriet Vittum, social worker. The ideal husband must have a definite object in life and enough ambition to stick to it.

"A girl should marry a man who shows respect for all women," she added, "a man whom little children love, a man who has lived clean life. If, in addition, the girl loves the man I should say her happiness was assured."

The ideal husband must possess a sense of humor in addition to these qualifications, and kno whow to play as well as to work, in the opinion of Miss Lulu Gordon, general secretary of the central branch of the Y. W. C. A.

Pliability is another desirable attribute in a husband, according to Mrs. Theresa D. Headley, teacher and prominent club woman. She believes a girl should marry a man whose education, whose friends and whose aspirations are similar to her own.

HOPEFUL OF IRISH PEACE CONFERENCES

British Prime Minister Believes DeValera Will Accept Invitation to Meet With Cabinet.

Lloyd-George Assures Sinn Fein May Raise Subject of Guarantees on Any Particular Point.

By Associated Press.

LONDON, Sept. 8.—Premier Lloyd George's letter to Eamonn DeValera, the Irish republican leader, which was forwarded to Dublin after the meeting of the British cabinet at Inverness yesterday, seems at least to insure that Sinn Fein plenipotentiaries will meet the special committee of cabinet ministers at Inverness, September 20 to clear up any ambiguity the Sinn Fein leaders may entertain about the six conditions the British government stipulated as reservations in granting Ireland a dominion status.

The premiers letter, like all his communications since the Irish negotiations began, is characterized by punctilious consideration for the Sinn Fein. While it suggests a date for the proposed conference, it is in no sense an ultimatum and sets no time limit to the negotiations. In fact it tends to prove what has been maintained throughout by those close to the premier, that he earnestly desires a settlement.

Discuss Proposal Merits

"We have invited you to discuss our proposals on their merits," says the premier, and he adds that it will be open to the Irish leaders to raise the subject of guarantees on any particular point.

The belief is almost universal tonight that Mr. DeValera will accept —that what the premier offers is what Mr. DeValera desires, namely and untrammeled conference, with the single condition that Ireland remain in the British empire. The guarantees which Mr. DeValera is supposed to have in mind are memberships in the league of nations and the deminions conference, and these, it is believed the government would be willing to grant.

Assuming that the conference will meet as suggested, there is still the question of Ulster, which is not touched in the premier's letter. Mr. Lloyd George's original proposal was for a tripartite conference, including Ulster, but up to the present there is no sign that Ulster has yielded in its determination to base itself on the home rule act and the northern parliament.

May Invoke Home Rule

A representative of the government, in an interview at Inverness today, said that in the event of the conference failing, the government would proceed with the home rule act, which by inference, may be interpreted to mean that the government regards the act in partial abeyance.

Even should the proposed conference at Inverness surmount the initial difficulties, there would still remain Ulster, on which Mr. DeValera holds strong views. The question of the desire to Fermanagh and Tyrone to be separated from the northern parliament also is likely to be raised in the conference and this would bring a bitter conflict with Ulster. It will thus be seen that there are yet many difficulties ahead.

SERVICES OF UNEMPLOYED MEN OFFERED FROM AUCTION BLOCK BUT FIND NONE DESIRE THEM

By Associated Press.

BOSTON, Sept. 8.—The services of unemployed men were offered at auction today on Boston common by Urbain Ledoux, their self-styled shepherd. The men stripped to the waist as Ledoux from the auction block announced their abilities. None found a bidder for his services.

Joseph Mitchell, a negro, who said he had been out of work for six months, and at times had eaten only twice a week, first went on the block and when he drew no bids, Ledoux called on the crowd to pledge food and shelter for him for a week. A woman promised this and others agreed to furnish shoes and clothes while a Grand Army veteran promised a dollar.

A promise of a home for a week from one bidder and $2 from another was made when William Davis was put up. A dog belonging to one of Ledoux's company was sold for $5 and then returned to its owner.

COTTON HITS TOBOGGAN ON SALE URGING

New York Break Follows Southern Banks' Requests That Sales be Made to Ease Financing.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—The cotton market was feverish again today, breaking further at the opening, then spurting upward fully a cent a pound, followed by another plunge which carried some deliveries $17 to $18 a bale below Wednesday's high point. Final prices were 112 to 168 points under yesterday's close.

The opening at $7.60 a bale decline followed a break in the Liverpool market. The rally which followed, because old bulls who had sold out their lines, showed desire to renew them at lower levels, carried October up to 19.10 and January to 19.38.

Selling pressure which brought the late afternoon break, was partly due to reports that southern banks were urging sales of spot to ease the financial situation.

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 8.—Wide declines as the result of extensive liquidation of the long interest were registered in the cotton market today. October broke two hundred points on the opening call, to 17.49 a pound, but later months were steadier, showing losses of 141 to 167 points in the early trading. For a considerable period the market made more or less show of steadiness and at one time came back to within 71 to 76 points of yesterday's close, but in the late trading broke again to new low levels, except on October, showing losses of 185 to 196 points. This liquidation was forced by rumors of new labor unrest in England, and the report that the Berlin stock exchange had been closed because of the fear of a national panic. The clos was barely steady at net losses of 154 to 168 points, with October at 17.95.

New buying in considerable volume met the initial decline and there were indications that it was about to become more determined, when the census bureau's first ginning figures of the season were issued. They counted the output to the first of September at 481,788 bales, a much larger total than expected. Few traders looked for larger ginnings than were reported to the first of September last year, when the output was 351,589 bales. The marking down of spot quotations by two hundred points, to 18.00 for midling was rather a surprise to some traders.

MELLON WILL URGE REPEAL OF TAX LAW

Secretary of the Treasury Recommends Excess Profits Levy be Stricken From Statute Books.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—Repeal of the excess profits tax retroactive to last January and of the capital stock tax effective next January 1, was recommended to the senate finance committee today by Secretary Mellon. To make up the loss for this year the secretary proposed return of one half of the transportation tax until January 1, 1923, a manufacturers' tax on cosmetics and proprietary medicines and an increase of five per cent in the normal income rate on corporations, making the total 15 per cent instead of 12 1-2 per cent as provided in the house bill.

The treasury secretary also recommended elimination of all income surtax in excess of 25 per cent effective January 1, 1922.

Changes in the house tax bill, recommended to the committee by Secretary Mellon, included:

Repeal of the excess profits tax effective as of last January first, instead of next January first.

Retention of all of the transportation taxes for the calendar year 1922, but at half the present rates instead of complete repeal as of next January first.

Repeal of the capital stock tax, effective next year, an entirely new proposal.

Reduction of the maximum income rate from 63 per cent to 25 per cent, effective January 1, 1922, instead of to 32 per cent as provided in the house bill.

An increase of 5 per cent, instead of 2 1-2 per cent in the normal corporation income tax, making total fifteen per cent, retroactive to last January first.

A manufacturers tax on cosmetics and proprietory medicines to replace the present stamp taxes which were eliminated by the house.

Rentention next year of the taxes on insurance premiums, but at one-half the present price.

With these exceptions, the treasury secretary was understood to have approved the house measure with its provisions for an increase of $500 in the tax exemption to heads of families having net incomes of $5,000 a year or less and $200 additional for dependent; for decreased rates on sporting goods, yachts and furs and for manufacturers tax on fountain syrups and other ingredients of soft drinks, in lieu of the present so-called nuisance taxes.

Mr. Mellon was before the committee at two session and there was a general discussion of his recommendations as well as of the probable revenue needs of the government for this fiscal year.

THREE CONFESS TO ATTEMPT TO ROB MERCHANT

Boys Held in Jail Without Bond, and Girl Released on Bail, Following Investigation.

Arrests Follow Probe by City Police Officers, Ending Early Thursday Morning.

Two boys are held in jail and a local girl is under bond of $3,000 following confessions early Thursday to the district attorney's office of comlicity in an attempt to rob Joe Colonna, a local business man, of a diamond, valued at approximately $1,500 and a gold watch early Wednesday night.

According to the confessions, Colonna, at the invitation of the young woman, started for a drive early Wednesday evening with Mary Dobson, in her automobile, which is a five-passenger machine. As they crossed the Burnett street bridge, the confessions assert, S. M. Gee and C. G. Adams, two local youths boarded the car, leaping into the rear seat.

Colonna, before the youths had made any effort to obtain the stone, was said to have unloosed the diamond and attempted to hide it in the cushion of the front seat. The stone, however was found and hurled by one to the ground near the road a short distance beyond the bridge.

Bound Couple.

The two youths at the point of a pistol are then said to have forced the couple to drive the automobile to a lonely spot eight miles from town and near the Iowa Park road. Here they forced them alight from the car and bound both with tie straps taken from the automobile top.

The two youths then took the automobile and returned to the city leaving their victims bound.

Colonna is reported to have first wiggled loose from his fetters and to have then released the girl. They then walked to the Iowa Park road where they hailed a passing tourist and were returned to this city. The young woman, shortly after arriving, found her machine parked near the central business district.

The two youths and the girl were brought before Justice Maxwell's court Thursday under charges of robbery by firearms, who set the girl's bond at $3,000.

Recovers Diamond.

The solution of the robbery was reached by Night Police Chief Lee McDonald and City Detectives George Hawkins and Jim Glenn Thursday morning about 5 o'clock. The robbery was reported to the police about 11 o'clock Wednesday night by Colonna and the first arrests made about 3:30 o'clock Thursday morning.

The youths guided the police officers to the spot on the Iowa Park road just beyond the Burnett street bridge where the diamond was found. In addition to the diamond, the officers also recovered the gold watch, reported stolen by Colonna. The youths asserted that no money was taken, Chief McDonald said.

The girl's case is expected to come in the juvenile court, an official of the district attorney's office saying she is only 16 years of age.

SETTLE GREEK CHURCH FIGHT

By Associated Press.

ATHENS, Sept. 8.—Authorities of the Greek Arthodox church possess sole authority to send Bishops and priests to America to administer the Greek churches there, it is stated by the synod of the ecumenical patriarchiate. This decision was reached in accordance with the synod's decree of 1908 regarding the administration of Greek orthodox churches abroad, it being held that the decree is aplicable to America.

Control of the Greek orthodox church in America, has been in dispute for some time. Early in August a bishop appointed by King Constantine of Greece attempted to take possession of an orthodox church in Chicago and an appeal was made to the courts to enjoin the bishop from exercising authority.

Heavy Precipitation Makes Roads Impassable and Miners Reported to be Returning to Homes.

By Associated Press.

The road from here to Harrisburg is crossed by many fords and for a quarter of a mile runs up the creek bed, assuring the impossibility of any movement along that roure.

Sheriff D. N. Cox today telegraphed to the adjutant general at Springfield, requesting that 250 rifles with ammunition, be sent to repel the invasion of miners.

"The situation is very serious" the sheriff said.

The sheriff also telegraphed Governor Len Small that false stories have been circulated in Williamson and Saline counties, to the effect that men have been killed and women and children beaten in Rosiclare with the purpose of inflaming the coal miners. Outlying farmers and travelers on the roads are being threatened and held prisoners by the miners, the sheriff told the governor, and he asked that sheriff's of Saline, Franklin and Williams counties be ordered to prevent further invasion of Hardin county.

This purchase is interesting at this time, in the light of recent developments in the Fensland test. Drilling has just been resumed, according to Thursday reports from the field, at a depth of 2190 feet, after a semi-test was made of the grey lime, of which a considerable amount has been drilled. Water trouble, from around the casing, has developed, it is reported. The drill is still in the grey lime.

CONTEMPLATE RAILROAD TO WAURIKA, OK.

H. F. McFarland Will Head Surveying Party for Proposed Connection With Rock Island Road.

Project Tentatively Calls for Branch Between Valley at Byers to Meet Trunk Line.

Prospects for early realisation of the project for a railroad outlet for Wichita Falls to the north, which has been hanging fire more or less for several years, became known early Thursday with the announcement that H. F. McFarland, chief engineer in the construction of th Wichita Falls & Southrn extension, would in the immediate future head a field party to run a survey for a railroad line between Byers and Waurika. The announcement was made by Captain McFarland while in Wichita Falls Thursday morning.

Who is behind Captain McFarland in the move was not made known at the time of the announcement, although it is generally believed here that Frank Kell, the builder of the Southern, is behind him, either in behalf of himself and associates, or in conjunction with some of the railroad systems which have projected lines in this direction.

Among these is the Rock Island, with which a road between Byers and Waurika would make a direct connection. The Rock Island had gone so far with its project prior to the coming of the financial depression as to run surveys for a line from Waurika connecting with the Byers line of the Wichita Valley at that place, as well as with an independent line, crossing Red river near Charley and running to Wichita Falls north of the Wichita river.

Bridge Big Project.

However the fact that the connection at Waurika would be directly with the Rock Island does not, in the opinion of local railroad men, necessarily connect them with the project, as several other systems which have entertained a desire to come into Wichita Falls, and through that obtain connections with the rich surrounding territory tapped by its other roads, are easily within striking distance with Waurika.

The crossing of Red river is the big end of the project, being two or three times the undertaking of the Southern's Brazos bridge. This is the undertaking which is considered as having delayed other projects of this nature. This would be accomplished by the line to Waurika.

The building of such a line is regarded as a matter of incalculable importance to Wichita Falls. The line is regarded as the one remaining line to round out the railroad expansion from Wichita Falls into all parts of the territory surrounding it.

Clinch Dominant Position

Such a line would clinch for once and all the dominance of this city as the oil center of West Texas and Western Oklahoma, giving direct access to the other oil centers in both these states from this point as a central location. Direct connection with Duncan and the sourrounding oil territory would be one of the direct benefits from such a line.

Other benefits would accrue, in the opinion of the railroad men, from the quicker and more direct communication opened up to St. Louis, Kansas City and Chicago—a big boost to both mercantile and manufacturing interests here.

Tremendous impetus to a plan which has been gradually working out for some time past toward the establishment of a packing plant in Wichita Falls would be lent by the construction of such a line, it was pointed out Thursday. This line would make Wichita Falls the logical cattle market of the most of Western Texas and Western Oklahoma. Location of such a plant here would, it is believed, draw shipments by preference over Fort Worth, as the lines from Wichita Falls direct to the range save a day over Fort Worth, and in case it was necessary to ship on from here, would save another day, or more in a shipment to Kansas City or Chicago. The first plant here, it is expected, would be rapidly followed by others.

Kell Statement Recalled

Capt. McFarland's announcement is regarded as bearing out the significance given to a recent statement of Mr. Kell's by the Record News in its anniversary addition, when the line to the north was referred to in connection with his declaration that the railroad building activities of Wichita Falls citizens was not finished.

Mr. Kell, however, declined Thursday to comment on the plans of Capt. McFarland in the light to any possible connection he might have with them.

Capt. McFarland has ten days or two weeks work left on the Wichita Falls & Southern extension which will be completed before undertaking the new survey. He is then moving his family and office to Wichita Falls, and expects to begin on the new survey immediately.

CECIL FLAYS ATTITUDE OF UNITED STATES

South African Representative in League of Nations Declares American Position Delays Mandates.

By Associated Press.

GENEVA, Sept. 8.—Charges that the "purely negative" position of the United States had been responsible for the delay in the application of mandates by the league of nations, were made by Lord Robert Cecil, representative for South Africa at today's session of the assembly of the league, which took up a general discussion of the accomplishments of that body to date.

A flurry of interest spread over the audience as the South African delegate rose and announced he wished to speak on mandates. Lord Cecil reviewed the whole mandate question, during which he took occasion not only to criticize the policy of the United States, but also the lack of publicity permitted by the recent meeting of the council the League of Nations.

Regarding the note recently sent by the United States department of state, he said that international affairs would have been better advanced had it been received earlier.

"These territories," h said, referring to the countries over which mandates were provided by the covenant of the League of Nations, "must no longer be left in their present situation, deprived of a definite status or a definite government."

He said he did not want to appear to criticise the United States, "but the mandates should be settled in the interest of the peoples directly interested with them and without further delay."

REHEARSES AERIAL ACT FOR CARNIVAL

Residents in the neighborhood of Call Field awakening in early morning hours to hear the drone of an airplane motor now rush to the doors to watch the playful antics of C. W. Matherly, aeronautical acrobat and wing walker, as he practices for his first public appearance in that role at Ryan, Oklahoma, on September 15, at which time he is billed to walk around on the upper wing of the airplane as if he was on the ground, hang from the landing gear by his feet, and perform other hair-raising stunts.

Mr. Matherly is a local product, and this is his first venture into stuift flying acrobatics. C. B. Tibbe, local flyer, will pilot the machine.

POET REQUESTS TREES BE SAVED

POETICAL PETITION TO SPARE SHADES ALONG INDIANA FILED.

W. S. Curlee as street commissioner is the target for many strange requests, but the awards the palm in the way of unique requests to the poetic plea for the old trees on Indiana avenue, on which paving is in progress. Here it is:

To the street commissioner of Wichita Falls:

I know not what your name might be,
But, dear friend, please, oh, please, just listen to me;
Lay not thy hand upon the ax
That yields such unkind "whacks and whacks!.'

But down on Indiana street,
Four swatch friends of the day and night you'll meet.
Go gaze upon them with such grace,
And think how long they've lived and beautified that place.

They are wonderful sentinels of time;
Say, mister, listen to this song of mine?
Lay not your hand upon the saw;
Tell the men "Not today" will be the law.

Now won't you do this for me?
Please, Mr. Woodman, SPARE THE TREE!

JURY FAILS TO AGREE; IS DISCHARGED

After deliberating since Wednesday afternoon the jury in the case against R. C. Hurd and wife, charged with running a bawdy house, reported to Judge Guy Rogers in the county court at law that they were hopelessly divided, and were discharged Thursday noon.

They reported that they stood 4 to 2 and that there was no chance at arriving at a verdict.

AUTHORITY FINDS SUICIDES OF CHILDREN ON INCREASE; BLAMES CRUELTY OF PARENTS

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—Suicides are on the increase.

Especially among children.

Reports covering suicides for the first six months of this year show that 214 boys and 293 girls have killed themselves.

During the same period of 1920, 225 children ended their lives.

The figures come from the Save-a-Life League, of which Dr. Harry March Warren is president.

The object of the league is the prevention of suicides, and its head reports that the increase in the number of self-inflicted deaths is the aftermath of war among adults and the fear of parental anger due to failure in school examinations in the case of children.

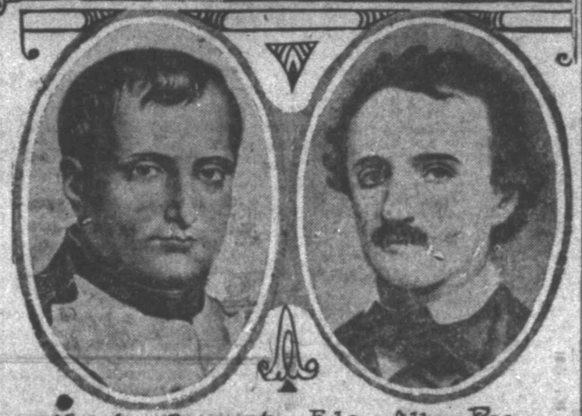

"Many of these children leave notes in which they declare fear of examination impelled them to die.

It is not the examinations, really, but the barbarous threats of parents to inflict terrible treatment in case children don't pass. Many fathers and mothers are rough and mean to their unfortunate offspring. Some teachers are severe. Many children are in poor health and therefore weak in their studies and in resistance.

"Many parents actually persecute their children. I cannot understand how this can be. They select one particular child as the victim of their temper."

George Eliot.

Napoleon Bonaparte. Edgar Allen Poe.

The difficulties of childhood and of that period of adolescence during which the child becomes an adult were understood very well by George Eliot, the writer, who reflected upon her own youth, the hardships of which made her contemplate suicide:

"The impenetrable puzzlements of youth! I was happier when older.

"If there is any terror of despair equal to that of adolescence it has yet to be discovered."

Napoleon Weak at 17.

At the age of thirteen Lord Byron, in school at Harrow, spoke of the attractions of death. Later, in Cambridge, he kept pistols about "with which to answer some of these questions."

Napoleon said:

"What madness impels me to desire my own destruction? Since death must come, why not kill myself? Why should I endure these days when nothing I am concerned in prospers?"

This at seventeen—later he felt more sure of success.

But what of the adult's suicide? Mr. Warren says:

"The increased number of suicides is due to the aftermath of war. People wrought up during that period are relaxed now and in this let-down condition often think of death.

"During the war there were few suicides. Misery likes company, and when many persons had the same burdens they seemed lighter to bear.

"In May and June, when the world is bright and gay, and when people are outdoors and looking happy, there are many suicides. Miserable people cannot endure to contrast their lives with those of contented persons.

"November, that black, horrid month, finds few wishing to die. A general air of gloom has settled upon the world, and troubles are easier to bear.

'Tis a Common Tragedy.

"The tragedy of suicide is a common one. There is no thought that comes quicker when adverse conditions pile upon us. People think: 'What's the use?'

"Would-be suicides need a friend, and to quote the words of Paul—'this is the thing I do.'

"We must keep people from destroying their God-given lives. We get them when they have reached the most desperate stage of existence.

"Hope is what they need.

"Two things cause the desire to end life, a multiplicity of sorrows and losses and a great loneliness. We instil new hope, give people a 'second wind.' We show them another way out. We point out the awful risk of taking such a step.

Try to Keep Plans Secret.

"When we are sick we go to a doctor; if in need of legal help to a lawyer. Why, then, when we mean to take a much greater step, do we not talk it over with some person of discretion?

"Secretiveness always marks the person who comes to me to discuss a contemplated suicide. The man or woman before me describes the troubled mental state of a 'friend,' but they finally tell all.

"Many men write to me to get them wives, but that is impossible. These fellows say they would marry girls that were unfortunate and betrayed and not ask questions. I tell all lonesome folks to get into church social life, where they will meet people.

"In the past six months there have been a number of young men who have taken money from banks or from their firms who thought of killing themselves. Perhaps their salaries were too small to permit them to live under present conditions. Many men play the market with sad results.

I often go to employers with erring men and ask for another chance for them. The managers usually permit the men to repay from their salaries and do not send them to jail. I always warn young men to do this and not to run away. Thus the debt is paid back, and the world is never the wiser.

Affinity Cases Multiply.

"There are many affinity cases. They write or call to tell me of the wreck of life without the loved one who is somebody else's wife or husband. They tell of going over to look at the river. They consider themselves unique types of martyrs. I tell them that sort of thing is much commoner than generally believed and that lots of people have the same delusions from which they suffer.

"In later years they will look back with unbelieving minds on the tortures they suffered through such wrong ideas.

"I am not aware that we have ever lost a person. It is possible, but never have I read in the newspapers of the suicide of anyone whom we tried to save."

But many famous men of the past have despaired and thoughts of death and lived on to find fame and happiness in some cases.

John Hay, statesman and writer, just after his graduation from college became melancholy and wanted to die. Charles Darwin was sad before he discovered the monkey theory and said "life is too puzzling to endure." Later on he thought better of it.

Lincoln, at the age of thirty-two, wrote to Stuart, his friend: "I am the most miserable man alive. I must die to be better. I cannot write more." In a note to another friend he enclosed a clipping on suicide.

ASKS BALM FOR SCARS ON LIMBS

The scar left on her foot, leg and ankle constitutes an ugly and permanent disfigurement for life, according to one of the allegations made for damages in a petition filed in the suit of Flora Craig, by next friend, John Craig, against R. B. Havener et al in the 50th district court.

The defendant alleges that the injuries were incurred while patronizing the swimming pool operated by the defendants, in connection with which, it is set out, a sliding board was mantained.

It is alleged that the board was in defective condition so that while sliding down the board on July 12, 1921, large splinters entered her foot, leg and ankle which caused her great physical pain and forced her to remain in bed for six weeks, following which she was forced to use crutches.

WELL, HOW OLD IS SUSIE?

AKRON, Ohio, Sept. 8.—This is a case of how old is Susie, not Ann.

Susie Butka came to court to get a license to wed Steve Topokapac. She didn't look old enough when she said she was eighteen so the court refused to grant the license. Then her father was sent for. He said she was sixteen, but Susie said:

"When he wanted me to work I was eighteen, but if I am eighteen when I work I'm eighteen when I marry."

Meanwhile the juvenile court seeks the solution to how old is Susie?

CARRIGAN'S CONTENTION RULED OUT

Special to the Record News.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept 8—Judge A. H. Carrigan of Wichita Falls, Texas, today injected a feature into the Texas-Oklahoma boundary fight, now featured by taking of evidence by Special Commissioner Frederick S. Tyler at county seats on both sides of the line for the guidance of the United States court, which may entirely change the nature of the case.

Judge Carrigan's action which came through the offering of a motion to quash all evidence taken on the Oklahoma side on the grounds that the representatives of patented land owners on the Texas side were not allowed to cross examine witnesses who testified.

Although the motion was adversely ruled upon by Commissioner Tyler, on the grounds that the suit was confined to the three sovereignties of Texas, Oklahoma and the federal government, Judge Carrigan's action is regarded as laying the predicate for an important fight before the supreme court.

The strong point in favor of Judge Carrigan lies in the mentioning of the titles of Mrs. Lillis Morgan, J. B. Evans, C. T. Taylor, S. L. Fowler and M. Fowler specifically in the brief supporting the claims of Oklahoma and the federal government, regarded as clearly making them parties to the suit.

If such a point is sustained in favor of Judge Carrigan and his clients, the refusal of cross examination on their part would, in the matter of an adverse decision, amount to confiscation of property without the process of law, according to Judge Carrigan's theory.

Another important point now figuring in the hearing is the granting, through the treaty of 1918, to free use of the waters of Red river by the nationals of both the United States and Spain with presumably, access and sovereignty to the water's edge, which right would defeat the claims of Oklahoma and the federal government to lands lying in some cases as much as several miles south of the river.

INTEREST IN AUTO CAMPAIGN IS INCREASING

"Please, mister Campaign man," wrote a little 6-year-old girl from a nearby town to the Record News. "I want to win one of your ottobobiles. Daddy takes The Record News every morning and he likes it an' mother likes it and I like it too. Now Mr. manager, if daddy pays some on his paper, can I start saving votes? I want to no rite quick."

By return mail, the campaign manager of the Record News great automobile and prize campaign regretfully informed the little lass that, owing to her tender years, it would be impossible for her to participate.

But the letter serves to demonstrate the remarkable appeal the New's unique offer has made throughout Texas and Oklahoma. Scores of telephone calls, stacks of mail, and almost a continual stream of callers testify to the intense interest that has been aroused by the campaign in which five big automobiles, the very best that money can buy, together with a long list of other prizes, are to be given away absolutely free within the next few weeks.

Everybody Interested.

The telephone rings.

"How is Miss ——— getting along. I'm saving my subscription for her."

"I've got some votes for Mrs. ——. Tell her to call and get them, will you, please?"

"I'm helping Miss ———. We're out after the Haynes."

These are hourly conversations. Once a candidate is started and her friends see that she is in the race to win, they catch the spirit themselves, and jump in and help her in every possible way.

One woman was in and nominated her daughter.

"Don't tell her who nominated her, though," she said. "I just know she can win one of those big cars, and I'm going to help her all I can. Here's our own subscription to start her off with."

The young woman came into the campaign office, all excited in everything.

"I'm nominated," she declared, "and I'll tell the world I'm going to be elected if votes and ambition will do it." She had called up several of her friends and obtained promises of subscriptions.

Country Shows Interest.

Another big stack of mail from outside towns indicated the country contestants are just beginning to get busy. Many of them have their subscription books now and are going after votes in a manner that will make city contestants hustle for the Capital Prize, the Haynes Touring car.

There is hardly a town or village within the circulation of the Record News that hasn't some young lady with her heart set on winning one of the big cars.

It would be difficult to find a candidate not already bubbling over with joy at the prospect of acquiring a magnificent touring car free within a few weeks. And the beauty of it is that one candidate has no better chance than any other candidate.

Remember Bonuses.

This week, right up to Saturday night at 7 p. m. October 1st will count heavily, for every $30.00 worth of subscriptions, you are old, turned in before that hour entitles the contestant to an extra vote ballot good for 100,000 extra votes over and above all regular votes. No better opportunity than this will ever be offered during the entire campaign. Country contestants may work right up until the last minute and drop their letters in their local postoffice at 7 p. m. and although the letters may not reach the campaign office for several days, the votes and subscriptions enclosed will apply on the extra offer.

This big inducement has many advantages for those who intend to start this week. With the thousands of extra votes, besides all the regular votes that can be obtained, any young woman may occupy a leading position in the vote column when the standing is published.

IDENTIFY BODY OF MAN WHO KILLED SELF

The man whose dead body was found in a local hotel on August 26 with acid burns about his mouth and throat was positively identified Thursday to have been John McBride, 53 years of age, former police lieutenant of Youngstown, O., and member of the Youngstown police force for approximately 18 years.

The identity of the man was established by Thomas McBride, brother of the deceased and also a member of the Youngstown police department, who arrived here early Thursday.

Mr. McBride told Undertaker Hines, who has charge of the body, that although he knew his brother had been having domestic trouble, that it was never suspected that he would end his own life. The deceased had only been married about a year.

The brother said that he was not even aware that his brother was absent from Youngstown when he read in a newspaper a description of an unidentified body in Wichita Falls, which was so similar to that of his brother that he immediately began making queries. He then learned that his brother had drawn $1,800 from his bank and left the city in company with a man, whose identity is unknown. One hundred dollars of the money drawn from the bank is reported to have been given to a young orphan girl of Youngstown.

When the body was discovered in a local hotel here only $211 was found and the brother declares it his belief that the deceased was robbed before his death.

The deceased left Youngstown on August 20, according to his brother and had little more than sufficient time to reach here by the time his death occurred. The deceased's hand bag was found Thursday in the check room at the Union station, but no note or other explanation could be found.

The description of the body was published in a Youngstown paper from information furnished a hatter in that city by Undertaker O. W. Hines.

Besides the brother, now in this city the deceased is survived by one brother and one sister, both residing at Youngstown. Funeral services will be held here probably Friday afternoon.

VALUE OF FARM CROPS IN THE UNITED STATES.

Orran M. Roberts was a former governor of Texas and a former Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Texas. He was, admittedly, one of the wisest men who ever served the people of Texas. He said that civilization began and ended with the plow.

The Bureau of the Census, of the Department of Commerce, announces, subject to correction, preliminary figures from the 1920 census of agriculture for the United States, with comparative figures for the preceding census.

The total value of farm crops in 1919, excluding forest products and nursery and greenhouse products, was $14,795,358,407, according to the Fourteenth Census. The corresponding value of crops in 1909 was $5,231,850,683, representing an increase of $9,523,507,724, or 182 per cent. for the decade. This large increase in the value of farm crops is due, in part, to the fact that the prices of farm crops were unusually high in the year 1919.

The leading states in value of crops in 1919 were Texas, with $1,071,526,923; Iowa, with $890,391,290; Illinois, with $864,737,833; Ohio, with $607,037,562; Kansas, with $588,023,248; and California, with $587,600,591.

The value of all cereals grown in 1919 was $6,941,242,074, as compared with $2,665,530,714 in 1909, representing an increase of $4,275,702,360, or 160.4 per cent. Cereals constituted 47 per cent of the total of crops in 1919, and 50.9 per cent in 1909. Cereal crops comprise corn, oats, wheat, barley, rye, buckwheat, kafir and milo, emmer and spelt, and rice.

The states reporting the largest values for cereals in 1919 were as follows: Iowa, $696,022,846; Illinois, $684,753,430; Kansas, $457,902,638; Nebraska, $395,917,589; Missouri, $394,195,226; Ohio, $391,834,355; and Indiana, $378,981,813.

Corn was the most important cereal and also the most important single crop in the year 1919, from the standpoint of value. This crop was valued at $3,507,797,102, which was 23.8 per cent. of the total value of crops. Wheat, valued at $2,074,078,801, was second in importance among the cereals, and oats, valued at $855,255,468, was third. Of the total value of cereals in 1919, corn constituted 50.5 per cent; wheat, 29.9 per cent; and oats, 12.3 per cent.

The value of hay and forage crops in 1919 was $2,523,992,544, as against $826,401,175 in 1909. This represents an increase of $1,697,591,369, or 205.4 per cent. The 1919 figures include the value of corn cut for forage, which crop was not reported to any extent in 1909. Hay and forage crops comprised 17.1 per cent of the total value of crops in 1919, and 15.8 per cent in 1909.

The leading states in value of hay and forage crops in 1919 were New York, with $169,494,524; Wisconsin, with $164,993,480; Iowa, with $146,950,888; Ohio, with $130,187,929; and Illinois, with $120,790,711.

The total value of vegetables in 1919 was $1,302,904,344, as compared with $418,110,154 in 1909. The increase in value for the decade was $884,794,190 or 211.6 per cent. The leading vegetables in 1919 were potatoes, valued at $640,192,621, and sweet potatoes, valued at $124,844,475.

Seven states reported vegetables valued at more than $50,000,000 in 1919, as follows: New York, $104,070,460; Wisconsin, $77,613,026; Pennsylvania, $73,626,686; Minnesota, $68,912,550; Michigan, $65,006,550; Maine, $57,681,901; and Virginia, $55,400,007.

All other crops were valued at $3,987,219,445 in 1919, as against $1,321,799,640 in 1909. The increase in value for the decade was $2,665,410,805, or 201.7 per cent. Some of the principal crops included in these totals are cotton, cotton seed, and tobacco. In 1919 cotton was valued at $2,007,430,242, cotton seed at $347,739,123, and tobacco at $444,047,481. The corresponding values for 1909 were cotton $703,619,303; cotton seed, $121,076,984; and tobacco, $104,302,856.

Bell county farmers are receiving 19 cents for their cotton; Lulling farmers are picking their cotton themselves and selling around 18 cents per pound. Unless all the signs are misleading, the buyers of the world are busy in the cotton belt states.

According to a recent survey present activities in building operations the country over are greater than at any time since the nation entered the world war. This for the grouch and the pessimist.

Brownwood spent $123,000 in the month of August for building purposes making the total for the eight months of the year almost $500,000. They are building at Brownwood regardless.

HEAVY INSURANCES CARRIED BY BUSINESS MEN.

At a luncheon given to members of the Louisville Board of Trade, it was disclosed that 200 members who were present carried $4,426,000 life insurance, according to The Insurance Press.

An average of over $22,000 insurance carried by 200 of the representative business men of Louisville. Among this number were doubtless big manufacturers and likewise small merchants each of whom had his own special reason for taking insurance. The man of wealth took it to protect his estate. The man of limited means took it to provide an estate. Both realized that they required life insurance—the greater the wealth and responsibility the greater the need of insurance to preserve other possessions, to meet the various taxations, to "tide over" a large business in the emergency caused by the death of an owner or officer.

The lower the resources, and the harder the times, the more urgent is the need of life insurance to the man of moderate circumstances.

The example of 200 brainy, shrewd business men of Louisville carrying an average of $22,000 life insurance is doubtless duplicated in the Board of Trade or Chamber of Commerce of almost every other city, advises The Press. Business men are presumed to know value. That is the secret of their success. Their firm belief and investment in life insurance attests beyond question that they know and utilize its real value.

OTTO H. KAHN IS GROWING UNEASY.

Otto H. Kahn, a noted New York banker and publisher, on his return from Europe made a statement to the American press summarizing his impressions and reviews. He remarks that three years after the end of the war, a survey of the world situation must still hard back to the gross faultiness of the peace treaties, the evil effects of which continue to stand in the way of, recovery and of a return to normal conditions. For instance he says the matter and the manner reparations to be met by Germany is something which directly effects American and America. This is his conclusion:

"Unless Germany is permitted and directed to discharge her obligations to the Allies, mainly in furnishing raw materials and services, as far as she is capable of doing so, it is manifest that she can only meet the huge burden imposed on her, by a correspondingly huge expansion of her export trade. And such expansion, to the extent that it is feasible, can only be effected at the expense of the trade of the leading industrial nations, i. e., primarily, America and England. Of course, Germany must make atonement to the utmost of her ability. But the whole treatment of the reparation question at the peace conference in Paris and at the various conferences since, has been based on either a profound economic fallacy or on unwillingness to look unpalatable facts in the face, or on considerations of domestic political expediency. Or, another instance: In part through the destruction of the war, and perhaps in equal part through the faults of Allied and American statesmanship and the disruptive effects and economic view of the peace treaties, the consuming power of several hundred millions of people has been gravely crippled. The consuming power of the world is an essential element in our prosperity; our own productive capacity has outrun our consuming capacity."

Banker Kahn advises a wise taxation policy; he insists that taxation was dumped on the back of business and capital most clumsily and crudely. He favors a wise credit and loan policy and above all a wise tariff policy. This is his contention:

"We cannot eat our cake and have it. There are only a very few ways in which foreign nations can discharge the interest on the debts owing to us, let alone the principal, and of these ways the most available is to furnish us with goods and services. Furthermore, if we want the foreigner to buy from us, we must be willing that he should also sell to us. Trade, in the long run, cannot be a one-sided matter of sensational export balances."

Banker Otto H. Kahn is a republican. He cast his ballot for Harding and Coolidge. He cast his ballot for the republican candidate for United States senator in the state of New York and the republican candidate for congressman in his district. He is reminded that the republican have controlled congress since 1918. He is reminded that there has been a republican administration in power since March 4, 1921. They all damned Woodrow Wilson. What has a republican congress done to merit the praise or approval of the American people?

Immediate resumption of oil operations in the Tampico district by American petroleum companies of postponed taxes with the lifting of the government embargo upon the companies funds and oil in storage will result from the agreement reached by Mexican government officials and the heads of five American oil concerns. There will be an immediate movement of oil from Mexico. President Obregon sanctioned the agreement. President Obregon appears to be in the saddle. He was ordered to dismount. He declined. He was asked for a conference to talk compromise. He said he would welcome it. A conference took place and now the five American oil companies have raised the embargo and Tampico is itself again. Obregon is a statesman as well as a soldier. He is very friendly to the United States and to all Americans who do not come to him as gift bearing Greeks.

Salmon fishing season on the Columbia river ended August 25 with a pack the smallest in a decade. Estimates show the total canned product will approximate 275,000 full cases. It is estimated that 16,504,000 pounds of raw fish were used in canning. The estimated pack of mild cured and cold storage salmon is 3,050 tierces. This will bring the total amount of raw fish consumed to nearly 20,000,000 pounds. The season's pack is estimated to be worth a little more than $4,000,000 in the markets of the world. The amount paid fishermen this year is slightly less than $1,900,000 compared with more than $3,000,000 paid last year.

According to the McKinney Examiner, the mortgage record of Collin county tells a story that should produce optimism. During 1910 there were 6,800 mortgages recorded, and up to this late date in the year 1921 only 4,743 have been recorded which is 2,066 less than last year. It is reasonably presumed there will be comparatively few more recorded between now and January 1st. It indicates that the people are going through more on a cash basis, hence conditions are expected to improve.

Rippling Rhymes
By WALT MASON

THE STORY TELLER.

James Jarvis Jinks is in his glory when he's relating anecdotes; all things remind him of a story, and men who listen lose their goats, for all the tales he tells are hoary, and blue mould on the surface floats. He surely sees when he's beginning a dreary yarn that Adam knew, that fellows quit their cheerful grinning, and look morose, distraught and blue; he ought to know that he is sinning by handing out a yarn or two. This Jinks has many kinds of merit, and well might rank with honored males, had he neglected to inherit his passion for bewhiskered tales; that graft—the people cannot bear it; all story bores should be in jails. It's strange how bores will keep on boring, when they must see they make men tired; the orator continues roaring till through the transom he is fired; the frenzied bard is bent on soaring when sawing wood is most desired. Sometimes when I get busy talking I mark a hearer heave a sigh, or wipe the tears that come a-flocking around the corner of his eye; and then I know my conduct's shocking, I'm so ashamed I fain would die. Then I reform until, forgetful, I launch upon another spiel, and seeing some poor victim fretful, the currents of my soul congeal; I then proceed, remorseful, aweatful, to kick myself with my right heel.—Copyright by George Matthew Adams.

ON THE SPUR OF THE MOMENT

AN OPEN LETTER.

W. G. H., Wash., D. C.

Dear Warren: I hope I am not assuming too much when I say that I expect you will soon appoint me to some important diplomatic post in Europe. I do not think you should overlook this chance to hook on first-class talent. Anybody who can get along like I do without being arrested is surely some diplomat.

Of course, I want a first-class place. I have always felt I would like to wear a plug hat and make a speech once in a while, but I have never had a chance to do either.

Do you think I had better be an ambassador or a minister? Which has to do the more work? I want to be the other one. Of course, it is up to you to pick out the place for me. I would like to go to one of the Scandinavian countries, for I am very fond of sardines and herring. And it would be possible to bring home a first-class housemaid from that locality.

I was a little disappointed when you sent George Harvey to England because I sort of had my eye on that place. I have been a lifelong republican ever since last November. I notice by the pictures that George wears very loose, flappy trousers. I would like to have mine fit a little tighter if it is not against the rules. I know where I can get a good plug hat off a hack driver who is going out of business, so that would be a saving. If you want a corker of a diplomat, I am a first-class dip. Thanking you in advance, and hoping you will not make it Mesopotamia or Herzegovina, I remain.

Sincerely, H. K. M.

There must be a saving in men's clothes this year. The ladies—bless 'em—have already gone the limit.

It has been a very interesting piece of news to us that the tipping system has been practically abolished. The papers tell us of hungry waiters and bartenders standing about the streets waiting for a meal. In view of this news we took a chance the other night on Main street and took the missus to a restaurant. We were privileged to pay the hat girl 25 cents for depositing our hat. The head waiter got 50 cents for showing us a table. The waiter got $1, and going out the hall boy got 35 cents. The meal cost $2 50 and the help got $2.10. Yes, tipping is abolished, if you know where to go.

LORD FINLAY.

Lord Finlay, who has just been nominated as the principal representative of Great Britain on the permanent court of international justice, will be remembered as having visited the United States and Canada in recent years in order to attend one of the annual meetings of the American Bar association. He is one of the most celebrated and respected jurist of the British empire and is the only great lawyer who has sat on the woolsack as lord high chancellor of the realm, as keeper of the great seal and of the king's conscience, who has been at the same time a doctor of medicine.

He graduated as a physician at Edinburgh and practised there before embarking on the study of law. He was first of all solicitor general and then attorney general during the ten years of Unionist administration extending from 1895 to 1906. For the following ten years he enjoyed a most lucrative practice at the bar, and then in 1915, on the formation of the coalition administration, was elevated to the woolsack as lord high chancellor, with a seat in the cabinet.

Lord Finlay, who is a widower and who represented Great Britain before the Hague tribunal in the Venezuela and Newfoundland fisheries controversies, is the son of an eminent physician of Edinburgh University, and has an only son, the Hon. William K. C., counsel to the board of inland revenue, and married to Miss Beatrice Hall, to inherit his barony, his seat in the house of lords and his fortune.

Breakfast Stories

One night "Smiling Dick" Carney a profesional turf garbler had a dream. The air was thick with hats. Headgear of every description floated about in disordered profusion. The following afternoon, on arrival at the race track, the first name on the day's list of entries was Hatteras. It was a four-to-one shot, and Carney invested heavily on the tip.

The race started. Hatteras trailed slightly at the quarter. He was neck and neck with the leader at the half. He passed the three-quarter post half a length ahead. Then the entire bunch thundered down the home stretch past the exultant gambler. Carney was some distance from the post and could not determine the winner.

In a moment the result was announced.

"Sombrero wins!"

"I wonder where all the flies come from," grumbled Mrs. Jones as she swatted around the dining room.

"Well, mom," said the young joker of the family, "the cyclone makes the house fly, the blacksmith makes the fire fly, the jockey makes the horse fly, and I heard you tell pa at supper last night that us children make the butter fly."

"You speak of the 'motive power' of this 'moonshine.'"

"Well?"

"Is that the proper term to use?"

"Certainly. Three drinks of the stuff makes a man run around in circles under the impression that he's a merry-go-round and start all the lamp posts in sight to dancing the fox trot. If that isn't motive power, what is it?"

The Winds That Sound Like Fall

By HOWARD HILLES

They somehow subtly differ from all other winds that blow,
There's a wistful note of sadness in their softly-cadenced call,
As they whisper us their secret that the Summer soon must go,—
The melancholy murmur of the Winds that sound like Fall!

We scarce may miss their meaning for they tell of broken ties,
And our souls are filled with sorrow at the sadness of it all;
That there ever is an ending of the pleasures that we prize
Seems to me the mystic message of the Winds that sound like Fall.

MRS. SOLOMON SAYS

It is the part of wisdom for the women of the community to take an interest now in preparing the school for the children, as well as preparing the children for school. In many districts, the water supply is poor and inadequate, and the toilet facilities disgraceful. In some school houses the windows are wrongly placed and the seats should be turned a different way. In others the heating apparatus is insufficient or not up to modern standards of sanitation. Our children live in these surroundings many hours each day. Their health may be broken by them and their ideals raised or lowered. If the mothers show an interest and arouse public sentiment, the authorities will be able to put through some of the things they have long planned, or, if they have not planned them, then they need arousing. It's too serious business, mothers, to neglect.

Creamy Rice Pudding—One-half cup uncooked rice, one quart milk, one-fourth cup sugar, one-half teaspoon cinnamon, one-half teaspoon salt, one-half cup raisins. Wash the rice and place in a buttered baking dish. Add the milk and other ingredients. Bake in a slow over for two hours. Stir frequently to work in the crust which forms on top to stir up the rice from the bottom. As the brown top dissolves in the hot milk, it gives a creamy appearance to the pudding.

Luncheon Toast—Two hard-boiled eggs, six slices of toast, one cup of strained tomato juice, one-third cup of cold water, two-thirds cup of hot milk, one-third teaspoon of salt, one-third teaspoon of soda, one tablespoon of butter, four tablespoons of flour, one teaspoon of sugar.

Simmer the tomato until hot, then add sugar, salt and soda until it boils. Rub the flour to paste with cold water and add to tomato mixture. Cook five minutes, add butter and hot milk. Toast the bread on one side, arrange on a platter and pour tomato over all.

Garnish with the hard-boiled eggs which should be cut in slices lengthwise.

Stuffed Peppers.—To make sufficient stuffing for six peppers of moderate size, melt two tablespoons of butter in a frying pan and in it fry a thinly sliced medium opion to a golden brown. Then add a cup of coarse bread crumbs and brown them with the butter and onion.

To this add a cup of corn scraped from the cob and a well beaten egg. Season with half a teaspoon salt, or more is desired.

The mixture is then ready to be placed in the peppers which have been parboiled after the stems and seeds were removed. The parboiling removes the bitter taste and makes them more digestible.

After stuffing the peppers are covered with buttered crumbs, placed in a buttered baking dish, a little water added, and make about half an hour.

PICKLE RECIPES.

Sour Cucumber Pickles—Select small cucumbers of uniform size, wash them an arrange in a crock, lined with cabbage or grape leaves. Cover with a brine that has been scalded, using a generous cup of salt to a gallon of water, and lay over the top additional leaves. Let stand over night. The next day drain, rinse and pack into sterilized jars. Add as you pack a few whole spices to suit the individual taste, with a few bits of shredded red peppers and fill to overflow with boiling hot vinegar. These pickles will keep indefinitely.

Sweet Cucumber Pickles—These are prepared as the sour pickles, save that brown sugar is scalded with the vinegar (to suit the taste.) before pouring over the cucumbers. Add in addition to the whole spices, green nasturtium seeds and a few pieces of horseradish.

CALOMEL LOSING OUT IN SOUTH

Mr. Dodson, the "Liver Tone" Man, Responsible for Change for the Better.

Every druggist in town has noticed a great falling off in the sale of calomel. They all give the same reason. Dodson's Liver Tone is taking its place.

"Calomel is dangerous and people know it." Dodson's Liver Tone is personally guaranteed by every durggist who sells it. A large bottle doesn't cost very much but if it fails to give easy relief in every case of liver sluggishness and constipation, just ask for your money back.

Dodson's Liver Tone is a pleasant-tasting, purely vegetable remedy, harmless to both children and adults. Take a spoonful at night and wake up feeling fine; no billiousness, sick headache, acid stomach or constipated bowels. It doesn't gripe or cause inconvenience all the next day like violent calomel. Take a dose of calomel today and tomorrow you will feel weak, sick and nauseated. Don't lose a day—Adv.

ASK ME

Constance.—You must be pleased or you wouldn't read constantly. It is necessary for you to type your scenario. Send it in the form of a regular story. Be sure to send stamps for its return in case it is not accepted. Sometimes they are not you know.

Kreuzie.—Did you really send me cigarettes? You did not think I would be so rude as not to acknowledge them if I had received them, did you? "The Green Goddess" is a stage play with George Arliss playing the leading part. You think New York must be a wonderful place. I'll guarantee your first visit will be filled with thrills. Ask Colleen Moore about her experiences here on her first visit.

Rhoda.—Mabel Julienne Scott is playing in Edna Ferber's story, "Fanny Herself."

Dorothy J.—Mary Thurman wears her hiar bobbed and straight. The style is a great test of beauty. No one but an extremely good looking girl would dare to wear her hair in this fashion. She is not married. She is playing with Fatty Arbuckle in "Should a Man Marry?"

Betty.—It is a fact that Doris May co-starred with Douglas McLean. She has recently been married to Wallace MacDonald. Doris Kenyon was born in Syracuse, N. Y. She is the daughter of a Methodist minister. Speaking of ministers, perhaps you did not know that Douglas McLean is also a minister's son.

Cornelia.—Jack Perrin is 28. Has brown hair and eyes, and is over 6 feet tall. He has been in pictures two years, and is married to Josephine Hill.

GOOD OL' SPUDDERS LOSE TO GASSERS, 0-3, BEING UNABLE TO HIT BIRD'S BENDERS IN PINCHES

By C. F. CARTER.

Oh, ever since my monkey died,
There's nothing seems to please me
For ever since my monkey died
There's no one 'round to tease me!
—Old Vaudeville Song.

Sing that one, fans, with a hop on your fast barytone, and keep your tenor curves low and on the outside. Billy Bee, who buzzes around the stockyards city when the flowers are in bloom and it looks like honey-time in Tarrant county but who can't keep his spirits singing under adversity, has pictured your optimistic Uncle Nick as a "mourner"—so just to make his old heart happy we herewith pen above a terrible verse of death.

The Spudders lost again. Got kicked squarely in the seat of their little unies by the Shreveport Gassers; were shut out, blanked, trounced, licked, walloped, defeated 3 to 0—and despite that calamity we are sitting before our ancient typewriter cheerily humming a little tune and waiting for the day to arrive when the Spudders will return home, and we can go down on the field and shake hands with every mother's son of 'em and tell 'em all they're a gang of good scouts—and that every candidate can't be elected president. Look at William Jennings Bryan; yeah, just look at him. How many pennants did he ever win? But he never quit trying, did he?

What's the Answer?

Can the Spudders still win? Now, that's the same question our wife asked us last night at the supper table. And we looked gently into her dear face (she's going to enjoy this) and answered tenderly:

"Don't know. Don't like figures. Never did. Bill Ruggles or some other demon statistician will have it all figured out soon, and then we'll know. The Spudders are nice fellers, and we like 'em. It's 'nuf. Are you sure all you want to eat is a bean omelette?"

Yesterday's game? Must we go into details over these extremely uninteresting games that the Spudders lose now and then? Really, we don't enjoy doing so; we much prefer to write tales of impressive victories by the old home brew—but if we must, we must.

"No hittum, ugh; biggum bum," as the old Indian said when Jim Thorpe struck out with the bases full; that's why the Gassers trounced the Spudders yesterday. The boys couldn't hit 'em when hits would have produced the necessary tallies to make a glorious victory. They hit Red Bird's southpaw hooks with quite considerable freedom, collecting nine bingles off'n Red—but the Spudders invariably did their clouting when the bases were as barren of tennants as the author is of money. Jim Sewell, on the other hand, held the Gassers to six hits, but the Louisiana galoots always waited until one of their little pals was ready to score and then they socked Jim for another bingle or double. The Spudders played errorless ball, and the Gassers booted two—so, you see, according to our system of scoring ball games, since the Spudders made more hits and committed less errors, while all Shreveport did was to make more runs, why, technically, the Spudders did more than the Gassers and naturally they should receive credit for the victory. Isn't it simple? Shucks, yes!

Score One in First.

The Gassers opened up with a score in the first inning, when Roy Storey led the grand march with a two-bagger to right. Ewoldt bunted to Jim Sewell, but Uncle Jimmy's throw to third was a wee fraction too late and both runners were safe. A sacrifice fly to Allen by Jackson scored Storey. Danny Clark threw out Hack Eibel and also "Kilo" Watt.

In the fifth the Gassers made two more, Bird starting it by beating out an infield hit to Clark, the birds spreading both wings and flying with terrific speed to first base. Both runners were safe when Bischoff grabbed Storey's bunt and made a vain attempt to get Bird at second. Ewoldt's double to left scored the flying Bird, and put Storey on third. Tex McDonald threw out Jackson, but Eibel scored Storey with a sacrifice fly to Griggs. Watt popped out to Clark.

The Spudders hit into double plays in the second and fifth innings when they had better than a fair chance to score, and again in the eighth they filled the bases and it looked for one lonesome minute as though the score would be tied. In that frame Abe Bowman, batting for Sewell, singled to right. Buddy Tanner, batting for Josefson, moved Abe up a base with a left field single. Gross flied to Storey and Tex McDonald fouled out to Vann. Danny Clark leaned on one, and the ball sailed over the right field fence. The wire operator in Shreveport said it "looked fair," but, after some little delay and argument, the umpire ruled it fould, cuss the luck! Bird then walked Danny, filling the bases—and Benny Allen lost a chance to be a hero by grounding out to Watt.

So there you are—and while the boys were losing, Dallas was licking Fort Worth 2 to 1; a grand opportunity gone, fellers—but don't you let any gink walk up on your blind side and tell you we're a "mourner." We may take a quiet ride inside a hearse one of these days, but walk behind it—NEVER!!

MATCHES ARE HARD FOUGHT IN CITY TENNIS TOURNEY

With one exception, matches in the singles event of the city championship tennis tournament yesterday were unusually hard-fought.

Gallencamp, admittedly one of the best players in the city, won easily over Formigle, 6-1, 6-1. Highfill, however, had to go into extra sets before taking the measure of Gill, the scores reading 4-6, 6-2, 6-4, while J. W. Akin also had a tough job disposing of Haynes, Akin winning 9-7 and 6-4.

OTTO MILLER GREAT HANDLER OF BOXMEN

Otto Miller.

Otto Miller, the veteran backstop of the Brooklyn Dodgers, may not be rated in the same class as Ray Schalk or Steve O'Neill, but there is not a better catcher in handling pitchers than this same Miller. Burleigh Grimes, the pitching ace of the Brooklyn team, gives his battery mate a lot of credit for his success of the last few years.

CHESTY CATS FAIL TO STOP MARINE RUSH

FORT WORTH, Sept. 8.—Dallas won the opening game of the series from Fort Worth here this afternoon, 2 to 1, in a brilliant mound duel between Roy Mitchell of the Marines and Bill Whittaker of the Cats. Both pitchers hurled classy ball, allowing but five safeties. However, Whittaker was a bunched hit victim.

GIRL SWIMS 145 MILES IN RECORD TIME

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—Completing a 145-mile swim begun at Albany last Friday, Miss Mille Gade, 22 years old, a swimming instructor at the New York Young Woman's Christian Association, arrived at Battery Park at 10:57 o'clock this morning. A launch and a row boat accompanied her down the Hudson and she slept and ate aboard the launch.

She left Albany at 9:30 o'clock last Friday morning and covered, including detours, approximately 1[illegible] miles. She was in the water 63 hours, 35 minutes.

Miss Gade finished in good condition but said she had been at the point of exhaustion several times since she started from Albany and that on one occasion she was struck in the face by a large fish. Drift wood made night swimming perilous but she did some in order to take advantage of ebb tides.

Miss Gade, it is said, was the first swimmer to make the Albany-New York swim for 25 years. She swam 7 1-2 miles today. The distance traversed on other days varied from 19 to 26 miles. On the first part of the swim she used the breast stroke, thereafter the trudgeon crawl.

She lost eight pounds on the trip.

Miss Gade is the champion woman swimmer of Denmark and is a member of the Danish girl scouts.

Members of Miss Gade's party said that she had nearly cut the record for the swim in half. The total elapsed time when the feat was accomplished by a man named Cooper, 25 years age, was eleven days and four hours. Her total elapsed time was given as six days, one hour and seven minutes.

IKE SABOLOSKY BUYS DALLAS BASE BALL CLUB FOR $150,000

DALLAS, Texas, Sept. 8.—The Dallas baseball franchise has been sold to Ike Sabolosky of Mineral Wells for $150,000 and the new owner will take charge of the club within thirty days if the deal is completed by that time. Hamilton Patterson, one of the present owners, confirmed the deal this afternoon.

Sabolosky will take over the complete interests of the field, the lease on the playing grounds and the stands. Patterson and Jess Hassell, co-owners, agreed to release all rights to the holdings when Judge John F. Murphy, acting for Sabolosky, closed the option. The sale of the club follows a recent clamor by the baseball public for a change in ownership.

Patterson said he would continue to act as manager of the team until the close of the present season.

The purchaser is declared to be a successful business man of Mineral Wells and a lover of sport. He is interested financially in the Mineral Wells club of the Texas-Oklahoma league.

ELECTRA HI WILL START FOOTBALL PRACTICE MONDAY

Special to the Record News

ELECTRA, Texas, Sept. 8.—Superintendent B. M. Dinsmore of the local high school expressed himself as optimistic over the football schedule that faces the high school eleven.

S. M. Edens, former star tackle for Southwestern University and twice mentioned on all-Southwestern teams, will coach the local team. The first practice has been called for Monday, at which time twenty or more candidates will don uniforms.

Among last year's stars to return are H. Johnson at quarter, Roscoe Dickey at half, Alvin Stearns at full, Elmore Angell at center, Elmer Tiffany at tackle, Harvey Stanford at tackle, Tevis Bickley at guard, and Bert Wright at end. That leaves only three places to be filled by new men.

Electra meets Henrietta here on October 1 and goes to Wichita Falls on October 8, which gives them two hard games at the beginning of the schedule.

Last year the team went undefeated until Abilene played them an inter-district game, the score resulting in 54 to 10.

ARDMORE DEFEATS PARIS IN OPENING GAME OF PLAY-OFF

BAMBINO STATES IT TAKES REGULAR COP TO PINCH HIM

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—Babe Ruth, who in his roadster twice this year has fallen foul of the traffic laws, once serving a day in jail for speeding, demonstrated today that if he is going to be summoned at all it must be by a regular policeman.

The home run king was returning to his domicile around 2 a. m. when he passed another car carrying a man with a shiny shield. Babe thought he heard the word "halt."

Thereupon he engaged in an argument and had the driver taken to a police station under the suspicion of impersonating an officer.

The stranger explained that he was a salesman for a gas company, and declared he did not stop Ruth, who, he thought, noticed the gas company's badge when his coat flapped open.

"Well, then," said Ruth, "I don't want to make a complaint."

DEATHERAGE DEFIES LOCAL GUNNERS IN WEEKLY SHOOT

A. G. Deatherage is getting as "cocky" as the Dickens these days, and has come out brazenly in the open with a challenge to every participant in this afternoon's weekly shoot of the Wichita Falls Gun club. "Death" challenges any member of the club to tackle him in a match for the shells and targets used—and there is report on foot that every member of the club is going to accept the challenge, with the general idea that sooner or later some one will tire him out.

Interest in the weekly shoots is growing steadily, and many local marksmen are on deck every Friday to battle for honors in busting the clay birds.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 8.—Babe Ruth today hit his 53rd home run of the season, against Rommell of the Athletics. The Yankee heavy hitter now needs only one more circuit drive to equal his world's record of 54. He has twenty-three more games to play this season. He made his 53rd home run last year against Rommel's pitching at Philadelphia, September 27.

TEX RICKARD CALLS WILSON "DISGRACE TO BOXING GAME"

JERSEY CITY, N. J., Sept. 8.—Johnny Wilson, middleweight champion facing charges today of the New Jersey boxing commission that he broke his contract by giving a poor boxing exhibition Labor Day in his bout with Bryan Downey, heard Tex Rickard, the promoter, testify that he considered the fight a farce. Rickard said he though Wilson a "disgrace to the game" and that he should be ruled out of the ring for life."

Jim Savage, who refereed the bout, declared that if he had known of a precedent in championship encounters, he would "thrown both men out of the ring in the fifth round." He said he believed both fought honestly, but that neither knew how to fight.

Boxing Commissioner McNair who brought the charges, said he heard Wilson's manager counsel him about "keeping away from Downey and not to lead." Wilson denied this.

The hearing was continued until Tuesday to allow Wilson and his manager time to obtain counsel.

REGULAR ROUNDS MADE WITH STILL FOR LIQUOR RUNS

GREENVILLE, S. C., Sept. [illegible].—The latest thing in the liquor line is a traveling distillery that has made its appearance in Newberry county.

Patterned after the old-fashioned threshing machine or cotton gin, the portable sill follows a regular schedule.

The customers have their meal and other ingredients "in soak" in anticipation of the advent of the still at an appointed night.

When the still arrives the mash is ready to be run through.

Each customer pays a toll.

PAT SAW THINGS ON THAT NIGHT

NEW YORK, Sept. [illegible].—Patrick Kelly stood on Brooklyn bridge tonight. The sky was clear, but Pat's head was not.

Along came Motorcycle Policeman Albert Bruder. Attached to his motor was a "bathtub" side car. The bathtub caught Pat between his legs and the fourth dimensions.

The air immediately filled with streets and corners, to Patrick's eyes. He fell alseep and evidently dreamed he was dead, for when arraigned in Williamsburg court, he rubbed his head and demanded:

"Have we reached the cemetery yet?"

The magistrate suspended sentence, advising Pat to do his dying at home henceforth.

FROM AROUND THE STATE

STAMFORD.

STAMFORD, Texas, Sept. 8.—The Spirit of West Texas! Just what is it anyway! Well there is such a thing as Spirit and one of the very best examples of real spirit comes to the Stamford offices of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce in the exploit and courtesy of Col. E. A. Loeffler of Junction City. Colonel Loeffler is president of the Junction Hardware Co. Recently the South Llano bridge floor was condemned and a crew assembled to put the bridge back again into first class shape. Thus travel over the bridge was stopped and all travel was diverted to a point several hundred yards up the river where there was an improvised crossing. There is a large tourist travel over the bridge.

At this point the genial Colonel Loeffler stepped in and placed at the disposal of tourists and others, free of charge to all, a man employee of his own and a Fordson tractor, to pull travelers across the river.

This is the kind of spirit which is typical of West Texas.

Efforts are to be renewed to secure direct long distance telephone service between Fort Worth and El Paso via the lines of the Texas & Pacific railroad. At present there is no direct telephone connection between Fort Worth and El Paso by way of the different towns located along the Texas & Pacific railroad. The lines west from Fort Worth stop at Odessa in Ector county and the lines east from El Paso stop at Sierra Blanca. The telephone lines of the Pecos and Northern Telephone Co., traverse a considerable territory between the two "ends" of the Bell Systems. During the excitement incident to oil boom at Pecos, surveys were made by the Bell interests to connect up with the Pecos & Northern lines at Pecos, thence making connections with the Mountain System of the Bell lines radiating from El Paso.

By request of the business interests of Pecos, Barstow and Toyah the matter has been placed before the management of the Southwestern Bell System at Fort Worth for further consideration.

The Washington Office of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce has lately held a consultation with the Supervising Architect of the Treasury at Washington, anent the possibility of work being placed under way on the several postoffice buildings provide for in West Texas, among which are those at Comanche, Pecos, Quanah, and other towns.

The last general postoffice bill provided for the construction of a total of 131 postoffice buildings in the various cities and towns of the United States. About ten buildings in West Texas were included within the total. At the out-break of the war it was decided that the construction should not proceed, and an agreement was made with the various Congressmen interested, to that effect. Since the war construction costs have been so high that the Supervising Architect, who has charge of these affairs, has not proceeded with the work because most of the postoffice buildings could not be completed within the limits set by the bill. The Treasury Department has therefore recommended that the limits covering the construction of most of these buildings be increased.

NUTT PRAISES HOSPITALITY OF THIS CITY

Never in his experience with teachers institutes has he seen the homes of a city thrown open to the teachers as has been the case this year in Wichita Falls, nor has he seen the people of a place so anxious to do everything possible for the comfort or to aid in the work of the teachers as here, Dr. H. W. Nutt of the University of Chicago, conductor of the Four County teachers institute now in progress, told the Rotarians at their luncheon Thursday. Dr. Nutt's remarks were made in the course of a five-minute lecture on modern tendencies.

He also declared that the people of Wichita Falls were wide awake to the opportunities that were theirs through service to and friendship of the people of the surrounding territory, speaking of this as being particularly demonstrated by the courtesies to visiting teachers from these sections. Dr. Nutt and all the school superintendents attending the institute were the guests of the club, and of Lee Clark, superintendent of the local schools, who is a member of the club.

Capt. R. S. Healy, who was a guest of the club, delivered a brief lecture on the Dardanelles campaign, which he characterized as the great disaster of the war. Captain Healy's lecture proved intensely interesting to his hearers, particularly from the personal interest glimpses, mainly humorous, which he gave of the lives and deaths of the members of this expedition, fresh from Australia.

WHEAT EXPORTS WILL REACT TO GOOD BUSINESS

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—Unprecedented exports of wheat during August should react favorably on agricultural and business conditions throughout the country, Secretary Hoover declared today. According to his reports, wheat exports during the last month amounted to 33,595,000 bushels, or about four times the volume of any pre-war figures for August.

Increase in the movement of wheat, Mr. Hoover said, should particularly ease the credit situation through a lessened demand upon the war finance corporation for advances. Exports of wheat to Europe have been growing, he added, notwithstanding that the crop in European countries has been above normal, while the crops in this country has fallen below the average this year. The failure of the potato crop in Europe, he explained, has forced the use of wheat products as a substitute and this country, as a result, had been called upon for additional supplies.

Recent advances in the price of cotton were regarded by Mr. Hoover as promising a betterment of conditions in the south, provided the increased levels are maintained. If the price of cotton stays up, he declared, the south will not need the credit relief which has been sought and which the war finance corporation is prepared to give.

AGED FEUDIST TO SPEND DECLINING YEARS IN QUIET

SISTERSVILLE, W. Va., Sept. 8.—George Washington Hatfield, brother of "Devil Anse" Hatfield, central figure in the Hatfield-McCoy feud, has deserted the gun-play, bad men and rough stuff of Pike County, Kentucky, and become a "shanty-boater" on the Ohio River. His shanty boat is moored not far from this city, at Mill Run, on the Ohio side of the river.

Hatfield is getting along in years. Mountain warfare is too strenuous a sport for a man seventy-six years old Shanty boating is much more peaceful and a whole lot less dangerous than fighting from behind trees and rocks and occasionally out in the open.

Has Squaw Wife.

So the other day the old feudist from Pike County, Kentucky, bade good bye to his old Kentucky home—scenes of many joys and a lot of sorrows—and bundled a few belongings and his full-blooded squaw wife into a rickety old buggy and drove overland.

It is the first time any of the many Hatfields have forsaken the hills and taken to the water.

Like "Devil Anse," George Washington Hatfield has given up his fighting proclivities and "got religion" in his old age. But if anybody should start anything Hatfield would just as soon shoot to kill as not.

"I'm a law-abidin' citizen, religious, and don't aim to make any fuss, but when one of our blood is murdered the murderer must pay," he said. Hatfield still carries a "six gun." It's always ready for action.

Treasures Rifle and Violin.

Hatfield lives for two things—his rifle and his violin. The rifle is an ancient type over one hundred years old and with it he is a crack shot. He plays well on the violin those quaint, old-fashioned melodies and dance steps familiar to the backwoods country. His wife accompanies him on the guitar.

Hatfield, like the rest of his clan, he a "hard-shell" Baptist and he daily entertains crowds of folks from the surrounding territory, telling their fortunes from the Bible.

During the Civil War he fought in the Confederate Army.

PAVING ON EIGHTH NOW UNDER WAY

Workmen commenced pouring the bitulithic covering on the Eighth street paving project between Brook and Bluff streets early Thursday and are expected to complete the work Friday, according to the announcement of City Engineer Montgomery.

Excavation work on Fillmore street, between Tenth and Avenue D was consumed Thursday.

The north Ohio street paving is still being delayed by lack of material, Mr. Montgomery announced.

EXECUTIONS IN MEXICO WITHOUT TRIAL REPORTED

MEXICO CITY, Sept. 7.—Chapters from the story of mediaeval times are being enacted in some of the states, if the stories coming here are true.

It is asserted that eighteen persons were executed without trial in Puebla. The chief of police of that city, Arturo Camarillo, is under investigation. It is asserted that this official has ruled with a high hand, assuming power of life and death over a certain element.

All of the men executed, it is said, were criminals, or persons whom the police believed to be criminals. But their summary fate has caused the circulation of other stories of Czar-like methods, which forced the present inquiry.

From Chihuahua comes a story that the governor, General Ignacio C. Enriquez, has used something similar to the letter de cachet to take into custody Alfonso Gomez Luna, a lawyer of some distinction. Jose Gomez Luna, brother of the lawyer, asserts that it was a secret arrest, due to the lawyer's defense of Francisco Madrid, editor of La Tribuna, an obscure publication in Chihuahua, which found fault with the governor. As the Gomez Luna family has influential connections here a great stir is being made.

The charges that Governor Enriquez has acted despotically surprised the capital. He is looked upon as the most enlightened and progressive governor in Mexico. He is a graduate in engineering of the University of Illinois and has been a leader in reform movements, including prohibition. The improvements he has made in Chihuahua, the extension of the school system and the general good order he has maintained have caused many to look upon him as a model for other governors.

Not long ago it was proposed that Governor Enriquez lecture in the United States, in the belief that he would be a convincing example of the soundness and strength of the new men now ruling Mexico.

NEW YORK SUGAR.

Cubas were unchanged at 4.86 for centrifugal.

STOCKS HALT IN MOVE TO HIGHER PRICE

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—The upward movement in the stock market was halted today, shorts renewing their aggressions partly as a result of foreign advices which bore more or less directly upon home markets.

Unsettlement in the local cotton market, which options suffered another setback, also served to restrain bullish operations. In financial circles the reversal was regarded as a logical reaction from the recent extraordinary advance.

Gains exceeded recessions at the outset, but market leaders soon developed a backward trend. Motors and equipments, as well as chemicals, fertilizers, tobaccos and sugars led the decline at gross depreciations of one to four points.

Oils, rubbers, junior steels, and the less prominent food specialties seemed to draw their irregular strength from the maneuvers of pools, but broke sharply in the final hour. Mexican petroleum was most adversely affected a heavy tone prevailing at the close. Because of the light inquiry for funds, call money fell from 5½ to 5 per cent before noon. Later in the open market, these accommodations were obtainable at 4½ per cent. Sterling and Dutch, Italian and Scandinavian bills were firm, but French and Belgian rates eased and all central European quotations were adversely affected by the break in German and Austrian exchanges.

The better trend of the bond list confirmed the impression prevalent in many quarters that investment money continues to seek an outlet. Domestic rails and industrials were mainly higher with various foreign issues. Liberty issues showed mixed gains and losses.

WHEAT LOSES BUT REGAINS EARLY DROPS

CHICAGO, Sept. 8.—Wheat prices averaged lower today for a good part of the day but rallied very sharply near the close and at one time the deferred deliveries were higher than yestrday's finish. September wheat showed more strength than December, making a gain for the day of half @ 3-4 cent over last night's finish while December close was the same as the day before.

Strength at Minneapolis where September advanced 2 3-4 and December 2c over yesterday's close on buying of September by elevator inetrests and of December by mills, started many local professionals who sold ouet yesterday to reinstating their lines and this helped the sharp advance.

Corn and oats were firmer with wheat. Buying was scattered in these grains with oats showing more strength than corn. Corn closed 3-8 to 7-8 over the finish of yesterday while oats finished 1 to 1 1-4 higher than yesterday's close.

Lard broke sharply at the start in sympathy with cotton and on deliveries of 1,750,000 pounds on September contracts. Stop orders were caught on the way down. The market was lower.

COTTON LOSES 168 POINTS IN GOTHAM MART

NEW YORK, Sept. 8.—At times today the cotton market showed signs of subsiding activity and excitement and but for sharp rallies from an early break of 1 1-4 to 1 1-2 cents per pound met a renewal of more or less general selling. December contracts which had rallied from 18.50 to 19.41, sold off to 18.40 late in the afternoon and closed at 18.65 comparing with 19.80 at the close yesterday. The final tone of the market was very steady but last prices showed net losses of 112 to 168 points.

The market opened irregular at a decline of 87 to 125 points under overnight selling orders and renewed liquidation stimulated by the continued weakness of Liverpool. These offerings were absorbed at about initial figures by covering, trading buying or re-buying by old longs but rallies met renewed pressure and the break extended to 18.45 for January before the end of the morning or about 130 to 158 points net lower. Offerings then became decidedly smaller, and the market showed a much better tone during early afternoon with October selling at 1910 and January 19.35, making rallies of about 50 to 100 points from lowest. This brought out renewed liquidation and the big afternoon break was accomplished by rumors that southern bankers were advising sales of spot cotton. These rumors were colored by reports of southern hedge selling here, and prices reached lowest levels of the day in late trading with January selling at 18.50, making a decline of about 3 to 3 1-2 cents from the high levels of Wednesday.

Closing prices showed rallies of 25 or 30 points from the lowest on covering. Local brokers attributed the late break chiefly to fear of increased spot offerings.

The census report showing 481,788 bales ginned prior to September 1, was not considered an influence in the days market.

ANSWER THIS PUZZLE

Win Ford Sedan or $800

The operator of the movie machine in this theater decided to play a joke on his audience, so he threw these re-arranged "Movie" players' names on the screen.

To solve the Movie Puzzle all you are required to do is to rearrange the letters so that they will spell the correct actor's or actress' name. No. 1 is Mary Miles Minter. If you can guess all ten you can win Ford Sedan or $800.

Probably you know the names of most of the famous players, but just to refresh your memmory we mention below the names of a few of the most popular "movie" players:

Charlie Chaplin, Bebe Daniels, Norma Talmadge, Mary Pickford, Thomas Meighan, Dustin Farnum, Tom Moore, Douglas Fairbanks, Blanche Sweet, Mabel Normand, Pearl White, Fatty Arbuckle, Wallace Reid, Beverley Bayne, William S. Hart, Clara Kimball Young, Lillian Gish.

ONLY 185 "POINTS" WINS AUTO

For each name that you arrange correctly you will receive 10 "Points" toward the FORD Sedan, or 100 "Points" in all, if you arrange all names correctly. You can gain 60 more "Points" by "Qualifying" your answer. That is, by proving that you have shown a copy of our paper, The Rural Weekly, to five people. The final 25 "Points" will be awarded by three judges on the neatness, style, handwriting and spelling of your answer.

The answer gaining 185 "Points" (which is the maximum) will win the FORD Sedan, or $800 in cash. Second highest will win a $200 diamond ring, and so on down the list of 25 big prizes. In case of a tie, both winners will receive same prize. Send your answer TODAY. As soon as your answer is received, samples will be sent FREE, to assist you in qualifying.

Costs Nothing to Try—You Can Win

You will not be asked to subscribe to The Rural Weekly, nor spend one penny in order to win. We have given away over 100 autos. You may be the next lucky winner. Write your answer to the Puzzle on one side of the paper, name and address in upper right hand corner. You can win—Answer the puzzle now.

OFFER TREASURY CERTIFICATES TO MEET DEFICIENCY

By Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—A net deficit of $161,464,774 in the current expenses of the government for the first two months of the present fiscal year was announced tonight by Secretary Mellon in a letter to banking institutions offering for subscription combined issues of treasury obligations of about $800,000,000 dated September 15.
"With the payment of income and profits taxes in September, however" Mr. Mellon said, "there should be, according to the best information now available, a small net current surplus for the quarter."

BRITAIN'S SEA POWER IS NOW TWICE YANKS

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—The United States will take a long naval chance when it enters the forthcoming disarmament conference, according to statistics of naval strength compiled by naval experts for use by the American delegation to the parley.

If the conference should agree to abandon all present building programmes and to maintain the navies of the leading nations as they now stand the United States will lost out, for on January 1 the United States navy was but half the size of Great Britain's battle fleets and but twice as large as Japan's navy. These comparisons are based on tonnage figures and might be altered by a comparison of fighting efficiency.

If the conference decides to let the present building programmes continue, then the United States will win.

The present authorizations of the navies of the world would make the navy of the United States equal to that of Great Britain by 1924 and almost double the size of the Japanese navy. Japan's naval programme does not begin to approach that of the United States, and even her projected but unauthorized programme would not make her navy equal to that of the United States by 1927.

U. S. Has Not Advantage

All of these figures, however, are based on tonnage, and the Naval Intelligence Service has compiled some interesting statistics as to the relative efficiency of the three great navies of the world which do not give the navy of the United States the advantage in fighting efficiency.

At the present time the British navy has supremacy over the American navy in every style of fighting craft, while the United States has supremacy over Japan in battleships and destroyers. By 1924, when the American building programme is completed this condition will have been changed, for the American building programme will have been completed, but the American navy, though equal in tonnage strength, will still be outclassed in some of the modern fighting vessels.

If the present programmes go through, the year 1924 will still find the United States greatly outclassed by Great Britain in light cruisers, battle cruisers, submarines and aircraft carriers. At that time Japan will also outclass the United States in light cruisers and battle cruisers.

Inasmuch as there is a great difference of opinion among naval experts as to the relative value of the battleship and the light cruisers and battle cruisers, it appears from present statistics that the United States stands to be outclassed in major naval weapons by 1924 unless the forthcoming conference decides to put a check upon the present building programmes.

Will Ships Be Junked

Japan's naval programme is at the present time largely projected, and it would appear from bare statistics that the Oriental nation stands to lose more than any other nation as the result of the disarmament conference unless there is an agreement to junk some of the vessels that are already in commission.

If there is to be any destruction of vessels by order of the conference, then the United States may again be the loser, for this nation has fewer vessels which it can afford to give up than Great Britain.

Naval experts are bewildered as they attempt to forecast the chances of the American navy at the hands of the disarmament conference and admit that it is going to be a game of chance all around.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 8.—Recovery of the corn crop during August from the serious damage sustained from July weather conditions, featured the September grain report of the department of agriculture, issued today. Favored with good growing temperatures and plenty of rain in practically the entire corn belt, the production forecast made a jump of 154,000,000 bushels, bringing the indicated production to 3,186,000,000 bushels, or only 48,000,000 bushels less than year's crop, the largest ever grown. With continued favorable conditions this year's production may yet become a record crop. Indications are that most of the crop is now out of danger from frost.

The wheat crop showed a decline of 3,000,000 bushels with a total of 754,000,000 bushels indicated at this year's harvest. Oats will be a short crop this year, the indicated production having declined 47,000,000 bushels during August, with a total crop of 1,090,000,000 bushels forcesat. Tobacco production indications showed an increase of 59,000,000 pounds over a month ago with a total of 948,000,000 pounds. The improvement was confined almost entirely to the northern tobacco producing states.

There were only minor changes in the indicated production of other crops.

TEACHERS OF WILBARGER, WICHITA, CLAY AND ARCHER COUNTIES WILL MEET IN WICHITA FALLS IN 1922

Wichita Falls will be the meeting place of the teachers' institute for Archer, Clay, Wilbarger and Wichita counties again next year. This was decided at a meeting of the executive committee of the institute to hold it here because of the central location and accessibility of the city.

Dinsmore W. Hume, federal district director from Dallas, outlined to the institute the prospects of the government thrift banks, in public schools for the coming year, at the afternoon session. The success of the school thrift banks last year warranted the interest of every teacher in an effort to have such a bank in every school in Texas, he told the teachers.

Such banks are operated with extreme simplicity, he said. According to the speaker, all that is necessary for the bank is a table, some chairs and the bank officers. The banks do not accept money on deposit, the speaker said, but encourage thrift through selling thrift stamps and war savings stamps. They also keep a record of the savings of the children in other banks.

Tells of Success.

The speaker told of a nine-year-old vice-president who registered more than $6,000 of thrift stamps and war saving stamps last year and never made a mistake. "Never fear, said Mr. Hume, "the children are not going to make mistakes. The plan of operation is too simple."

Mr. Hume's talk was filled with humor and was well received by the teachers. He stated that Wichita Falls has the distinction of being the third city in the United States to form a thrift bank association.

Dr. H. W. Nutt, conductor of the institute continued his discussion of various problems confronting school teachers. He spoke to the supervisors section in the morning on "How to work out the details of a specific supervisory job or undertaking," and to the general session on the "Technique of teaching and its relation to the improvement of teaching efficiency."

Conductor Lectures.

Speaking on the subject of questions, Dr. Nutt stated that they were devices and not methods of teaching. He advocated the use of nice discrimination in the selection of questions, the teacher giving due consideration to the ability of the pupil to handle questions. The speaker talked at length on the technique of teaching urging the teachers to build their recitation periods from a technical standpoint.

Iowa Park was selected as the place to hold the district Interscholastic league meet sometime in April. The exact date will be decided upon at a later time. A new contest in music will serve as an experiment at the district meet, and if it proves successful will be classified as a regular department of the league.

Director General W. R. Bradford announced Thursday that Wichita county was the first to turn in its membership fees. The county was the first to go over the top in league memberships on the day previous.

Football Schedule.

C. E. Danheim of the local high school reported to the athletic council of the institute his football schedule for high school teams of this district. The schedule will be mailed to Austin for the approval of the director of football for the Interscholastic league.

The schedule ends on October 29 as games from that date will be scheduled by the league as inter-district contests. That will enable winning teams to be picked without dispute. Heretofore several teams would be claimants to the championship of various sections of the state.

The schedule follows:

October 1.

Henrietta at Electra, Wichita Falls at Nocona, and Burkburnett at Byers.

October 8.

Burkburnett at Henrietta, Electra at Wichita Falls, and Byers at Nocona.

October 15.

Byers at Henrietta, Nocona at Electra, and Wichita Falls at Burkburnett.

October 22.

Electra at Burkburnett, Byers at Wichita Falls and Henrietta at Nocona.

October 29.

Nocona at Burkburnett, Electra at Byers, and Wichita Falls at Henrietta.

Teachers See City.

An automobile ride over the city furnished many of the teachers an opportunity to inspect the school plants, and places of interest here. Quite a number took advantage of the opportunity.

A representative of the Women's Christian Temperance union appeared before the institute in an effort to have the Bible read daily in every school room. No action was taken by the institute.

J. O. Holland, supervisor of manual training at the local high school, speaking before a sectional meeting, urged that better equipment and more consideration be given to this department of the high school curricula.

Lee Clark, president of the institute, announced that the meeting would close Friday noon to enable the teachers to catch the afternoon train for their homes.

PEGGY JOYCE IN GAY PAREE HAS PLENTY OF CASH

PARIS, Sept. .—Peggy Hopkins Joyce, who is suing her multi-millionaire husband, J. Stanley Joyce, of Chicago, for a vast sum of alimony and a divorce, has arrived here. The dressmakers knew it at once, for her first move was to buy a couple of decollette gowns.

Peggy slipped out of New York, although three detectives had been assigned to watch her residence by her husband. Joyce has testified Peggy cost him $1,398,316.32 within the compass of a single year, prior to the break that resulted in the filing of the now famous Chicago divorce suit.

"Somewhere in France" Peggy, the aesthetic, has a cache containing jewels worth $700,000, which being converted into French francs at the prevailing rate, makes the sum of 5,250,000 francs.

Alimony Helps Some.

Madame Peggy has another financial basis for a happy career in Gay Paree. Judge Joseph Sabaht, in Chicago, allowed her $1,350 a month alimony, in addition to $27,500 counsel fees and $12,500 for investigation expenses.

So, with the estate in jewels ready to be worn or sold and the income, she is in a position to be one of the best-fixed women financially in the French capital.

And, besides, there are no restrictions in Paris upon the goings and comings, to say nothing of the doings, of those who have the francs.

There are other things, in addition, to make the trip alluring, if any other things were needed. Peggy's wardrobe has always been the first cousin to the net proceeds of a gold mine, and she left most of it in Paris. She offered it to her friend, Edna Nichols, a business woman of much ability, and an old pal, if Edna would sell her automobile.

Miss Nichols returned to the United States without selling the auto, and the wardrobe, plus the automobile, is likewise to be considered in an estimate of the Paris resources of the former actress.

WILL SELL OR KILL CANADIAN BUFFALOES

EDMONTON, Alta., Sept. 7.—One thousand buffalo are for sale by the Dominion government. They are for the most part bulls and represent the surplus of the herd of nearly 5,000 in the national park at Wainwright, Alta.

The park a the largest wild game preserve under fence in the world. It contains more than 100,000 acres and could support 25,000 buffalo readily. But there is little winter pasturage because of the deep snows, and a vast quantity of hay has to be cut every year to carry the herd through the cold season. This difficulty will make it necessary to limit the maximum size of the herd to 10,000 head.

The herd is now growing rapidly. As the number of breeding cows increases its rate of growth will be more rapid. Nearly a third of the animals are bulls. So large a proportion of males is unnecessary, and, under the present plan, they will be sold or killed and sold for meat. The slaughter will begin when cool weather sets in in the fall.

The Wainwright herd has developed from 800 bison bought from Michael Pablo, of Montana, in 1909.
