LONG BACKS DOWN ON ARMED FIGHT FOR OFFICE

Federal Court Enjoins Martial Law Supervision Of East Texas Oil Lease

U. S. INJUNCTION FORBIDS STATE CURB ON WELLS

Tyler Judge Sets Hearing On Plea for Oct. 29 At Houston

OFFICIALS ENJOINED

E. Constantine, J. D. Rather And Brock-Lee Company File Application

AUSTIN, Oct. 13. (AP)—Gov. Ross S. Sterling late tonight issued an executive order fixing the maximum production per well in the East Texas field at 165 barrels daily.

The allowable in the executive order was set at the same figure as that issued and placed into effect by the Texas railroad commission today.

The executive's act was thought to place the order beyond the reach of a temporary injunction issued at Tyler today.

TYLER, Texas, Oct. 13. (AP)—A test of the constitutionality of the oil and gas prorative powers of the state railroad commission was assured today when a federal injunction temporarily restraining the commission, the militia and the attorney general from interfering with increased production of five wells in Rusk county was issued and a hearing in equity ordered for Oct. 29.

In defiance of the recent conservation order which limited the output of wells in the East Texas field to 165 barrels of oil a day the five wells of the Brock-Lee company will begin taking 5,000 barrels a day from each well under federal protection.

The hearing was set by United States Judge Randolph Bryant. It will be held before three judges, one of whom will be U. S. Circuit Judge Joseph C. Hutcheson Jr., with two U. S. district judges sitting with him. This will be the first test of the recent conservation laws to be entered in a federal court.

Whether or not owners of adjacent property will file petitions for increased production is a matter of conjecture here.

The plaintiff's petition charged proration laws were in controvention to the national constitution in that they interfered with the liberty and property clause of the 14th amendment and with the obligation of contracts.

WOLTERS INSTRUCTED TO ENFORCE RULE

AUSTIN, Oct. 13. (AP)—Gov. Ross S. Sterling said tonight he had instructed Brig. Gen. Jacob F. Wolters, commandant of the East Texas martial law district, to take his orders only from the governor of Texas.

The governor said he had been advised in a telephone conversation with General Wolters that it had been reported United States District Judge Bryant at Tyler had granted a temporary injunction directed against members of the railroad commission, General Wolters and others, restraining them from interfering in any manner with the operation of five wells in Rusk county of the Brock-Lee Oil company, a Delaware corporation.

"They are trying to enjoin the wrong parties," Governor Sterling said. "The federal court cannot enjoin martial law. They will not open the wells. General Wolters will see to that on my orders."

C. V. Terrell, chairman of the railroad commission, said he had not been served with the papers in the case, but that he would abide by the orders of any court.

"I certainly will abide by restraining orders issued by a federal court," Terrell said.

WOLTERS SILENT ON COURT ORDER

KILGORE, Texas, Oct. 13. (AP)—Brig. Gen. Jacob F. Wolters tonight refused to comment on the issuance of a temporary injunction at Tyler restraining the railroad commission, the attorney general and the militia from interfering in Rusk county.

"I am a soldier," the commandant of the East Texas martial law zone said.

He admitted he had talked with Governor Sterling over the matter.

Pajama-Clad Girls And Escorts Nabbed

Seven pajama-clad young women lined the rail before Sergeant Ed McDonald's desk at police station early this morning, after police had answered a disturbance call to the 1500 block on Seventh street.

An equal number of young men also answered roll call when all were assembled, after several trips of police cars to the raided home, at the station.

The arresting officers learned the group had become a little noisy before breaking up the party, and thus had brought down the wrath of an irate neighbor, who called police. With warnings all were released, after the host had been booked with disturbing the peace.

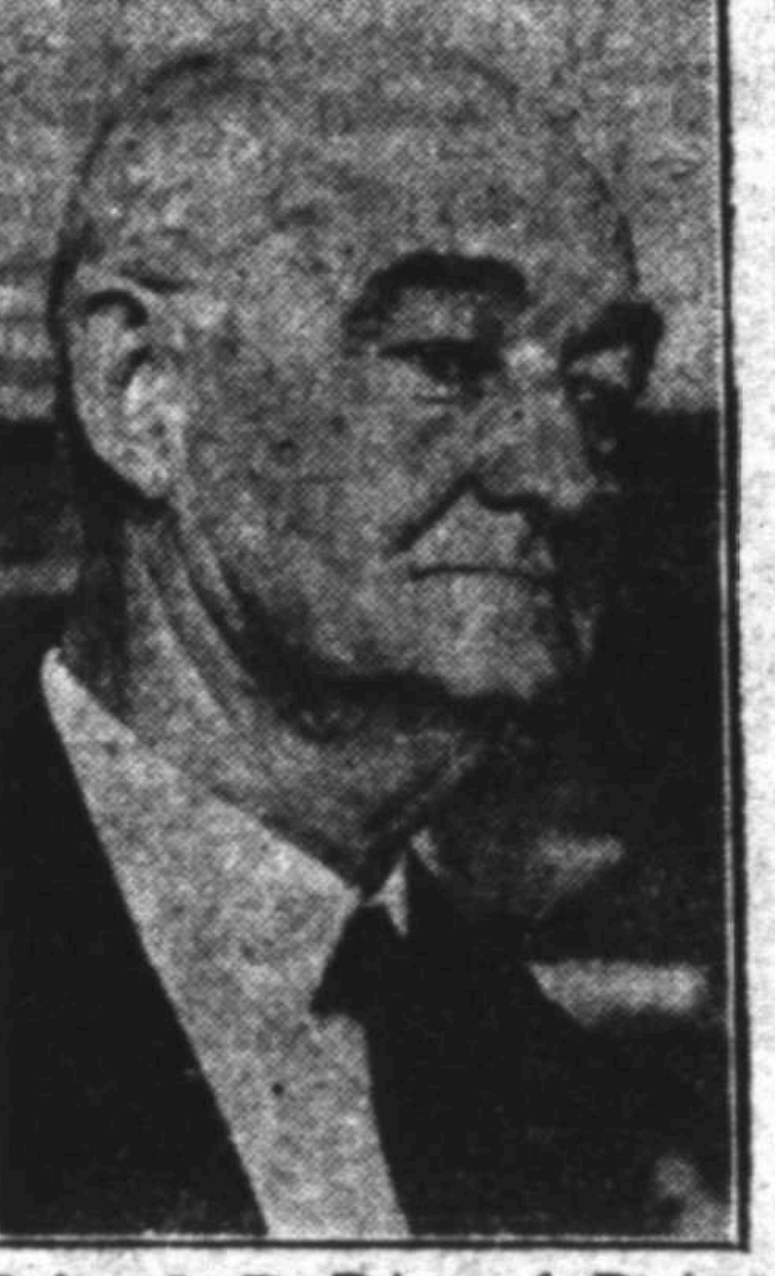
Jurist Cleared



Judge J. B. Price, of Bastrop county, was exonerated of six articles of impeachment by the state senate Tuesday. DEMOS LAUNCH 'VICTORY FUND'

Keen Optimism Marks Start of Financing Move

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13. UP—Jubilant at the outlook for the 1932 presidential campaign, Democratic leaders today announced a drive for a $1,500,000 "victory fund." Jouett Shouse, chairman of the Democratic national executive committee, said the committee proposed "to make every voter who is interested in constructive government a party stockholder for 1932."

The money will be used in three ways: $400,000 to liquidate the deficit remaining after the 1928 campaign; $600,000 to provide for national headquarters activities since 1928 and up to the time of the 1932 convention; $500,000 to be used by the Democratic national committee immediately after the convention, so that it will be able to get a flying start when the real campaign begins.

John H. Fahey, newspaper publisher of Worcester, Mass., has been made executive chairman of the victory fund committee. He will have with him 538 leading Democrats, including all Democratic national committee men and committee women and Democratic state chairmen. James W. Gerard, treasurer of the national committee, will be treasurer for the fund.

SNOWHILL, Md., Oct. 13. (AP)—Orphan Jones, 60, negro farm laborer, today confessed to the murder of Greene Davis, Berlin truck farmer, his wife and two daughters, and was immediately whisked under heavy guard from the county jail here to Baltimore for safe keeping.

Jones' confession followed a night and day of grilling by Worcester county and Baltimore city police, which had continued almost without respite since his arrest last night, three hours after the bodies of the Davis family had been found in their beds, shot and beaten to death.

Spanish Assembly Votes To Oust Catholic Faith

MADRID, Oct. 13. (AP)—The Spanish national assembly, by a vote of 267 to 41, tonight approved article 3 of the new republican constitution rejecting the Catholic religion as the religion of the state.

Shortly after the assembly's vote was made known, special police guards charged a large meeting of Labor groups in the Puerta Del Sol, in the center of Madrid, who were beginning a demonstration and crying "down with the church!"

SENATE VOTE CLEARS PRICE ON FEE CHARGE

Body Refuses to Sustain House Impeachment Articles

SESSION ADJOURNED

Jurist Absolved of Negligence Accusation by Majority

AUSTIN, Oct. 13. (AP)—The Texas senate early tonight voted not to sustain articles of impeachment against District Judge J. B. Price of Bastrop. A majority vote was cast against each of the six articles preferred by the house of representatives. It would have required a two-thirds majority of those present and voting to have sustained the charges.

The senate voted on each of the articles separately, the count against sustaining four of them being 11 to 19. One lost 7 to 23 and there were 30 negative votes cast against one on which evidence had not been presented. Senator Benjamin Berkeley of Alpine was the only senator absent.

Negligence Charged

The articles alleged that Judge Price had been grossly negligent of his official duties in approving claims for fees of office submitted by three sheriffs in his district. The sheriffs were Woody Townsend of Bastrop county; John J. Burtschell of Lee county, and Clint D. Lewis of Burleson county. An account of the late Sheriff John Carlisle of Lee county also figured in the allegations made in the articles. Washington county also is a part of Judge Price's district, but officers of that county were not involved in the accusations.

The allegations were that the sheriffs had included duplicate and in some cases multiple charges for mileage and witness fees.

Immediately after the senate had finished balloting, the aged jurist was surrounded by his attorneys, senators and persons from his district who shook his hands warmly.

Rejection Unanimous

The article voted down by a unanimous vote, there having been no testimony presented in its support, touched on an alleged claim by Sheriff Burtschell with deference to subpoenaing witnesses the article claimed were "fictitious persons."

Those voting to sustain all articles, save the one rejected unanimously, were: Beck, DeBerry, Hardin, Holbrook, Loy, Moore, Thomason. Those voting straight against all articles were Cousins, Cunningham, Gainer, Greer, Hopkins, Hornsby, Martin, Neal, Parr, Parrish, Patton, Rawlings, Russek, Small, Stevenson, Williamson, Woodul, Woodward.

Oneal voted for three and against three. Pollard voted for one and against five. Poage for four and against two. Purl for four and against two. Woodruff for four and against two.

The senate adjourned sine die after disposing of the trial. It had devoted its full time to it since a week ago today, having voted to return after adjournment of the second called session of the legislature Oct. 3. The house voted the articles at the first extraordinary session last July.

The entire day was spent in arguments of attorneys on both sides.

Texas Crops Surpass Last Year's Records

AUSTIN, Oct. 13. (UP)—Texas has more cotton, corn, wheat, hay, fruit, and potatoes than last year, a crop report of the federal statists here today shows. Expressed in thousands of measuring units, the comparison of principal crops is: Corn, 112,208 to 86,710 last year; cotton, 5,100 to 4,938; wheat, 58,720 to 33,638; oats, 76,398 to 49,912; grain sorghums, 68,244 to 46,816; hay, 948 to 770; fruits, 2,165 to 1,250; pecans 32,000 to 11,000.

Capone Near Tears as Government Abruptly Calls Hand of Defense

CHICAGO, Oct. 3. (UP)—The federal government completed its case late today against Alphonse Capone, Coney Island bartender who made good in such a big way as a Chicago criminal that he is accused of cheating the income tax department of $215,000.

So suddenly did the prosecution rest and so unprepared did the action catch "Scarface Al's" two attorneys that Capone looked as though he were ready to weep. The "world's worst criminal," who wears silk underwear and who uses perfume, buried his face in his hands and shuddered.

His attorneys asked for time to prepare their defense. Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson ruled that they could have until 10 a. m. tomorrow.

The lawyers than asked for 10 hours to argue their case. Judge Wilkerson said they might have four. Almost wild-eyed were Attorneys Michael Ahern and Albert Fink. They pleaded for a directed verdict of not guilty. The judge overruled their motion.

Then it was that the Capone of machine gun murder fame almost wept.

A jury which already has heard of his extravagant expenditures, of his mansions and his hotel suites, his armored cars and his penchant for diamond jewelry, will listen to whatever arguments and witnesses

Gainesville Man Given Life Term In Death Charge

GAINESVILLE, Texas, Oct. 13. (AP)—A 99-year sentence was administered to Frank Bracken, world war veteran, in district court here today by a jury that convicted him of murder for the slaying of William E. Johns, Gainesville motorcycle policeman.

Johns was shot to death on the Gainesville main street July 24. Fire Marshal Walter Clements was also slain in the gun fight.

At his trial Bracken claimed that he shot the officers in self defense. He said he thought they were going to kill him. It was shown where ill feeling existed between Bracken and the officers because of a dispute over a shotgun.

A shotgun belonging to Bracken had been kept from an automobile by police and kept at the police station. Bracken said the officers wouldn't return it to him.

Admiral Denies Moves Are Linked With War

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13. (UP)—Seven United States submarines and a tender sent Monday around the corner of the Shantung peninsula from Tsingtao, China, to Chefoo, which is opposite the Japanese naval stronghold of Port Arthur, were recalled urgently tonight.

Secretary of State Henry L. Stimson, engaged to the exclusion of almost every other activity in the delicate situation arising from the Chinese-Japanese dispute in Manchuria, heard of the movement of submarines late today.

He telephoned the navy department at once, it was learned, and talked to Admiral William V. Pratt, chief of naval operations, at his residence.

Subs Ordered Away

Stimson in the name of the government ordered the submarines recalled. Orders were sent at once for them to go to Shanghai, hundreds of miles down the China coast from the scenes of the dispute between China and Japan.

Navy department spokesmen said the order for the movement of the submarines to the main Japanese line of communication with the nearest port to the Manchurian zone went from Admiral Montgomery Taylor, commander-in-chief of the Asiatic fleet.

It was a purely routine order, the department said, and had been issued for years each autumn so that bad weather could be avoided.

Edison Replies to Question by Wife

WEST ORANGE, N. J., Oct. 13. (UP)—The condition of Thomas A. Edison showed little change tonight, according to reports from his family and physicians.

A bulletin issued late in the afternoon by his son, Charles Edison, said:

"Mr. Edison's condition is unchanged. He sat in his chair for two hours this afternoon and is now in bed, asleep."

Dr. Hubert S. Howe, the inventor's physician, did not visit the home today, but kept in touch with the sick room by telephone. He said he understood his patient appeared "brighter" to the family and that he had been able to answer a question asked by his wife.

Mrs. Edison has been able to communicate with her husband through signals by pressure on his hands, since the beginning of his deafness several years ago.

Yarberry Death Jury Still Without Verdict

SINTON, Texas, Oct. 13. (AP)—The jury deliberating the case of Newton Yarberry for the alleged murder of Dorothy Dorcas Symons went to bed tonight after seven hours of deliberation had brought no known progress toward a verdict.

Judge T. M. Cox said he would come back to the courthouse at 9 a. m. tomorrow to receive any report the jury might have for him.

The case went to the jury at 12:50 p. m. today. The body of Dorothy Dorcas Symons was found Aug. 1 in what the prosecution described as a crude grave on the Aransas Pass bay front. The 18-year-old choir singer disappeared the night of July 30. The state sought to show she was with the defendant the night of her disappearance.

Board Hears Cotton Freight Cut Plea Today

AUSTIN, Oct. 13. (AP)—A proposal of railroads to reduce rates on cotton from all producing and concentration points to Texas ports will be heard by the Texas Railroad commission tomorrow.

The rail lines would reduce the charge for transporting cotton in bales, any quantity, to meet motor truck competition.

Heavy losses in revenues suffered on account of trucks handling cotton at rates under railroad charges moved the railroads to ask the reduction decision to petition for the new rates was reached at a meeting in Dallas recently.

Truck rates would apply from origin of the shipments to Houston, Galveston, Texas City and Corpus Christi.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 13. (INS)—After four days of conferences, heads of the most powerful United States shipping interests today announced that they were not yet ready to disclose just what their object was or what progress they had made.

It was believed that the matter of major import being discussed concerned the operation of the United States lines, although rumors were prevalent in shipping circles that a gigantic merger was being contemplated.

The rumors concerning a merger have been repeatedly denied by those attending the conferences.

Husband Stumped When Judge Ignores Divorce

CHICAGO, Oct. 13. (AP)—Judge Randolph Desort ignored a Mexican divorce as of no effect today and virtually made Dr. Julian J. Golembriowski a bigamist by awarding his first wife a separate maintenance decree and temporary alimony.

Dr. Golembriowski obtained a divorce at Morelos, Mexico, from Barbara F. Golembriowski in 1929, and married Mme. Ogradzka, a Polish singer. Judge Desort in superior court lacked jurisdiction because the doctor had gone there deliberately to defeat the rights of his wife in Illinois.

The doctor said he would appeal.

Who's the Governor of Louisiana?

HUEY P. LONG

PAUL N. CYR

A long political rivalry between Gov. Huey P. Long and Lieut. Gov. Paul N. Cyr of Louisiana was believed to be nearing a climax Tuesday night after Cyr had taken the oath of office as governor and prepared to file ouster proceedings against Long. Before hurriedly leaving New Orleans for Baton Rouge, Long ordered national guardsmen mobilized at the state capital. Cyr, as "governor," ordered them disbanded. The troops remained at their posts, ready for duty, expected today.

Incorporation Gives New Credit Aid Institution Legal Status

Hoover's Relief Corporation, Formed to Bolster Banking Structure, Files Papers in Delaware

DOVER, Del., Oct. 13. (AP)—Incorporation papers for the National Credit corporation, President Hoover's newest plan to aid national finances, were filed with the state department late today. The organization seeks to do "a general credit business" and is starting with 12 shares of stock valued at $100 each.

Signatures on the application were C. S. Peables, L. E. Gray and T. L. Fray, employes of the Corporation Trust company which handled details of the filing.

The application was on a printed form, similar to those used in the majority of charter filings.

LEGAL EXISTENCE OF CONCERN STARTS

NEW YORK, Oct. 13. (AP)—The Corporation Trust company announced today that incorporation papers for the National Credit corporation, formed to bolster the banking structure, had been filed with the secretary of state in Delaware.

This legally brings into existence the corporation suggested by President Hoover last week in his plan for restoration of public confidence.

While the corporation is authorized to raise up to a billion dollars for the purpose of making loans against frozen bank assets, its stock capitalization is merely nominal. The incorporation calls for 12 shares of stock of $100 par value per share. One share will be held in each of the 12 federal reserve districts.

NATIONAL BANKS URGED TO PARTICIPATE IN POOL

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13. (AP)—National banks tonight were urged by Comptroller Pole to participate in the activities of the National Credit corporation organized at the instance of President Hoover to strengthen the credit stricture.

The currency chief, in a formal statement, said it was not only lawful but desirable that national banks participate in the pool to the extent of two per cent of their net deposits provided that such two per cent would not exceed in amount the limitation placed upon them by statute which is 10 per cent of their unimpaired capital and surplus.

Pole's action resulted from numerous inquiries as to whether national banks could properly invest their funds in the corporation formed to extend aid to bankers of the country by discounting high grade securities which can not be discounted by the federal reserve banks.

New Oil Limit Finds 2,360 East Texas Wells

KILGORE, Texas, Oct. 13. (AP)—Crude oil production yesterday in the East Texas oil field, the last day the railroad commission's 185-barrel-per-well proration order was in effect, amounted to an aggregate of 426,175 barrels from 2,324 reporting wells.

Today, as the commission's new order limiting each well's production to 165 barrels daily went into effect, a check of the field showed 2,360 wells drilled to completion.

ARCHER CATTLE HERD IS SOLD

4,028 Head of Cowan Stock Auctioned

Special to The Record News.

ARCHER CITY, Texas, Oct. 13.—At the door of the courthouse here Tuesday morning, 4,028 head of cattle from the Cowan brothers ranch was auctioned to the highest bidder in liquidation of property involved in the failure of the People's Exchange bank, county depository.

The $78,500 bid of the Agricultural Finance corporation, holders of the first chattel mortgage against the cattle, was highest and bought the herd. The sale price was $2,000 under the $80,000 mortgage held by the corporation, so that Archer county, claiming the second and third liens held by the bank as security on a depository bond, had no share in the money.

The Cowan property, with that of the bank partners and other depository bondsmen, was put into the hands of a receiver after the institution was closed, Archer county seeking to regain a part of its million dollar loss by operation and sale of the property.

The auction was conducted by W. H. Taylor, receiver appointed by the court to handle the combined properties. A. H. Britain, Wichita Falls, special representative of the county, was present to protect the county's property interests.

The Cowan ranch, owned by Sam and Claude Cowan, includes acreage in Archer, Baylor and King counties. Forty thousand acres of land and several hundred additional head of cattle are involved in the county's claim.

CHICAGO, Oct. 13. (AP)—Predictions are being made at the University of Chicago that if any student wins a bachelor degree in about two years instead of the customary four, his name is likely to be Dugald Stewart McDougall, 15-year-old Indianapolis boy.

Under a new system, inaugurated at the university this year, it is possible for students to finish in less than four years.

STATE SPLIT WITH TWO MEN CLAIMING POST

Cyr Takes Oath of Office Charging Long Is Disqualified

CAPITAL PATROLLED

Lieutenant Governor Moves To Assume Reins Through Oust

BATON ROUGE, La., Oct. 13. (UP)—A short-lived military display, occasioned by announcement that plans were under way to oust Gov. Huey P. Long, ended tonight when the local unit of national guardsmen and two patrols of state highway policemen were disbanded from the executive mansion and the state house.

The "call to arms" was the governor's answer to Lieut. Gov. Paul N. Cyr, who took oath of office at Shreveport today and announced he would force a court "showdown" on Long's right to hold the office. Cyr said he would file an ouster suit immediately, charging that Long can not legally hold office as governor because he was elected to the U. S. senate at the last general election.

Long Amused

Governor Long was in New Orleans this afternoon when word of Cyr's action was received. At first Long appeared amused and said:

"That's fine, now Louisiana is rid of Paul Cyr, because when he took the oath of governor, he forfeited his right to act as lieutenant governor."

Soon afterward, however, Long left hurriedly for the state capital and the order for mobilization of troops was made while he was en route.

Tonight, Long explained he had been alarmed at rumors that Cyr might come to Baton Rouge and seize the executive mansion or the state house.

The governor was reluctant to admit he had called out the troops, and explained at first it was "just the regular drill day for the national guard."

Stormy Shower Adds To Rain Total Here

Fresh showers, reaching a climax in a stormy downpour here early Tuesday evening, definitely routed the prolonged drouth of the past months and brought the precipitation since Sunday to more than two inches.

The gentler rains of earlier in the week gave place Tuesday evening to thunder showers, accompanied by spectacular electrical displays.

More than half an inch was added to the total downfall here in intermittent showers through the evening Tuesday. Wallace C. Taylor, statistican for the Texas Electric Service company, said the night rain measured .61 inch at 11 o'clock, bringing the total since Sunday to 2.30 inches. Showers continued to fall at intervals through the night.

Farmers said the continued rains would take a heavy toll in cotton, balanced on the other hand by benefit to winter grains, stock water and pasture provision, and much-needed water for drilling operations.

The general downpours, extending over most of Northwest Texas and Southern Oklahoma continued at intervals all over the section Tuesday, the fall in Electra totaling 3.5 inches.

Gulf Offers River Bed Royalties to Texas

AUSTIN, Oct. 13. (UP)—Gov. Ross Sterling today said that the Gulf Production company, holder of a large tract of land on the bank of the Sabine river in East Texas has announced a willingness to pay the state a royalty rather than have the state drill in the bed of the stream. Sterling estimated that 112 wells could be put in the stream bed in proven territory. This would require 224 offset wells to be drilled by private operation. Sterling estimated it would cost $7,000,000 to drill these wells and predicted they will pay the state instead.

JANE ADDAMS WINS AWARD

Famous Woman to Use Prize for Unemployed

By LORENA A. HICKOK

NEW YORK, Oct. 13. (AP)—Miss Jane Addams, who founded Hull house in Chicago 42 years ago because she "liked poor people," was presented today with $5,000 as winner of the Pictorial Review annual award to the woman who has contributed most to the national life in letters, art, science, philanthropy, or social welfare.

She is going to use the money, she said, to help out some of Chicago's unemployed.

Just how, she doesn't know yet. Around any settlement house, she observed with a smile, there are plenty of ways to spend $5,000.

Miss Addams 71

Miss Addams is 71 now, small, quiet, dressed in black. Living and carrying on her work in the heart of Chicago's "Little Italy," she has for many years been regarded as one of America's most romantic personalities.

Dispassionately, at times humorously, she discussed today Chicago gangsters, prohibition, the employment situation. She uses gangster terms—"muscle in," "high jacking"—without a trace of the self-consciousness with which they would be used by most women of her years and background. And her manner is wholly detached.

On the subject of unemployment she is most earnest. The project nearest her heart now, she said, is to succeed in having established a sort of moratorium on taxes and installment payments for people who have moved out of the Hull house neighborhood into little homes in the suburbs.

Coming Back to Hull House

"They are coming back," she said, "because they can't keep up their payments, or, if their homes are all paid for, because they can't pay their taxes."

Miss Addams said she believes in prohibition," as does everybody who has bare-handed contact with working people," but she thinks there is too much violence in its enforcement.

"I'd take guns away from both prohibition agents and bootleggers," she said.

Someone asked her how it happened she had never married.

"I was too much engrossed with Hull house," she said, "but I did consider it. In fact—there were several gentlemen."

Title Marriage Market Slumps

PARIS, Oct. 13. (UP)—The title marriage market has gone into a slump.

Dukedoms, principalities and shopworn insignia and heraldry of countships are quoted at the lowest level since 1900.

There are some splendid bargains.

There is, for example, a beautiful little duchy going begging for a taker. Four thousand acres, mostly wooded, filled with stags and wild boar, pheasants and charcoal burners, a great stone castle dominating a winding river. The duke, a bachelor, is less than 60 years of age, hale and hearty. The market price of the duke and duchy would be the equivalent to a lot of outstanding debts, possibly $10,000,000.

"Marriage lane," the famed long hallway of Paris hotel, which has served as the title marriage curb market shows the signs of depression. There are more titles than ever, but few American clients.

Miss Ethel Varnell, head of the girls physical education department and sponsor of the club, is directing the work.

Concentration of Gas Halts Drilling Work

SALINA, Kan., Oct. 13. (AP)—A blanket of natural gas hovered over a section of the McPherson county oil fields this morning, causing temporary abandonment of all test drilling in that area.

Two wells were shut down on account of the gas danger. The concentration of gas was attributed by oil field workers to humidity and absence of wind.

Cops Use Match To Detect Mash In Still Quest

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Oct. 13. (AP)—They're hunting stills with matches in Arkansas.

Sheriff Rucker of Saline county and Sergeants Traweek and Henson of the Little Rock police department will vouch for the efficacy of the system. This is their story and they stick to it.

The officers chanced to meet at the Saline-Pulaski county line and were exchanging pleasantries when somebody detected the odor of mash in the air. Some one else suggested the flame of a match would point the direction of a still, even against the wind, when the mash odor was strong.

A match was struck; the officers followed the flame. They found a still and, in a nearby house, arrested two men and three women. Two other men, they said, escaped as they approached the still.

Guard Kills Prisoner In Escape Attempt

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 13. (UP)—A leap for freedom from a moving train cost Chester Lee Body, 20-year-old Houston, Texas, federal prisoner his life today.

Body died in a Bessemer hospital after being shot by a guard who was transferring him to federal prison.

Sunset News

Special to The Record News.

SUNSET, Texas, Oct. 13.—Following a month of dry, unseasonably hot weather, a rain began falling slowly here Sunday afternoon and continued steadily most of the time until Monday afternoon, mostly soaking in as it fell, putting a good season in the ground for fall plowing.

Some farmers were damaged by the rain, while others were benefited by it. A number had their peanut crops in windrows in the field, waiting for the thrashers to get to them, and the hay and nuts will both be darkened and lowered in grade by the soaking rain. Some hay and feed crops were on the ground when the rain came. Open cotton in the field is also damaged some in grade by the rain.

But the rain will benefit June corn, late feed crops, fall gardens and stock pastures. Likely, most of the farmers here will have their crops gathered by the first of November and will be ready to turn their stock on the best field pastures they have had within the past three or four years.

Rev. Calvin Dennis of Marysville, Okla., has been called to the pastorate of the Sunset Baptist church and has accepted the call. He will occupy the pulpit here on the first and third Sundays of each month. Rev. Mr. Dennis was pastor here two years ago.

TAX PENALTY SUIT ADVANCES

Civil Appeals Court Passes Moratorium Case

AUSTIN, Oct. 13. (AP)—The third court of civil appeals today advanced the "tax moratorium" appeal to the supreme court on certified questions involving constitutionality of the legislature's action in proposing relinquishment of interest and penalties on delinquent taxes.

The case originated Friday when three district judges refused application for a mandamus to compel the Travis county tax collector to accept payment of delinquent taxes minus interest and penalties under provisions of a law enacted by the second called session of the 42nd legislature.

The law provided that delinquent taxes paid prior to next January 31 should not carry interest and penalties.

Acting on advice of the attorney general that the law likely was unconstitutional, the Travis county collector refused to abide by its provisions.

Atty. Gen. James V. Allred appeared in the case and yesterday filed a motion in the appellate court suggesting the case be advanced to the supreme court on certified questions immediately in order to hasten a decision.

DEVICE SHOWS NEW X-RAY USE

Surgeons Hear Modern Bone Fracture Methods

NEW YORK, Oct. 13. (AP)—The X-ray sculptor is here.

X-ray sculptory is a novelty of traumatic surgery, an art of healing having numerous up-to-date instruments on display at the meeting of the American College of Surgeons. Traumatic surgery is one of the foremost topics of the five-day session, dealing with industrial and automobile accidents.

The X-ray sculptor uses plaster to make a splint in the old-fashioned way, but while the plaster is soft the X-ray is used to view the fracture and make sure by adjustment that the plaster will harden with the bone in the right position.

The medical sculptor is concerned with molding the inner surface of the plaster instead of the visible contours of the outside.

A device which makes a human hand resemble a tennis racket head is on display for broken fingers. It is a loop of thick wire, fastened to the wrist so the injured finger can be extended straight by mooring its end to the wire. The other fingers remain in use and the loop is a guard against bumps.

There is a new-style pin for fastening bones, and a "fracture bed" which drops away from the patient, leaving him suspended in a net, saving him from being lifted off and onto the bed.

The exhibit states that American railways spent $28,000,000 in 1928 upon personal injuries. Automobile accidents abound in the kind of injuries in which the surgeons claim "safe" recovery depends upon the proper initial treatment.

An entire session will be devoted to this subject Friday with former Gov. Alfred E. Smith, Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore & Ohio, and Edward F. McGrady of the American Federation of Labor among the speakers.

..... that Stays Up in Your Motor and Never Drains Away

Almost half of all motor wear takes place while you're starting your car! And it's in the starting period that oils not germ processed fail to protect your motor. They lubricate your motor after it starts . . . but they drain away when your car is idle, leaving vital working parts unlubricated while you're starting.

Germ Processed Oil gives you safe lubrication not only after your motor starts but during the starting period! For only Germ Processed Oil has penetrative lubricity . . . the ability to cling to, penetrate and combine with metal surfaces. A "hidden quart" of Germ Processed Oil stays up in your motor and never drains away. It cuts down starting wear and makes starting easier and quicker.

Save your motor from wear . . . Change now to Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil, the only oil in North America made by the patented germ process. Fill up at any station that displays the Conoco Red Triangle.

WISCONSIN GOP WINS ELECTION

Democrat Badly Beaten in Congress Race

RACINE, Wis., Oct. 13. (AP)—A former non-partisan league organizer, Thomas R. Amlie, progressive Republican, today was elected to congress from the first Wisconsin district to fill the unexpired term of the late Representative Henry Allen Cooper.

RACINE, Wis., Oct. 13. (AP)—Thomas R. Amlie, progressive Republican, tonight assumed a commanding lead over George Herzog, Independent Democrat, in a special election in the first Wisconsin district to choose a successor to the late Representative Allen Cooper. On the basis of unofficial returns from 58 of the 200 precincts, Amlie polled 3,206 votes and Herzog 625.

O. J. Bouma, Socialist candidate, trailed Herzog by 102 votes.

Balloting apparently was light in the district. Walworth county, the first to give complete returns, reported but 3,170 votes cast, 2,021 less than in the primary Oct. 3 when Amlie defeated State Senator George W. Blanchard, Conservative, for the Republican nomination.

Amlie, with the support of Gov. Philip F. LaFollette and his brother, Senator Robert M. LaFollette, in his campaign, attacked the Hoover administration for its handling of the unemployment problem. He is an anti-prohibitionist.

State Rests In Al Capone Trial

his attorneys may produce, and then will decide whether he must spend a maximum of 32 years in prison and pay a top fine of $80,000.

One of the last and perhaps most important of the prosecution's witnesses was Fred Ries, sad-eyed gambler who has been on a tour of South America for "his health." Authorities feared that if he remained in the United States while Capone knew he would testify, Ries might be taken on one of the underwrold's murderous "one-way rides."

During 1927, said Ries, profits of the Subway, the Ship, the Radio and other Cicero, Ill., gambling houses approximated $150,000. Ries worked in all of them, as a dealer. Sometimes he saw Al Capone in them, sometimes he saw Al's brother, Ralph, and always he turned in his profits to gentlemen known as henchmen of the notorious "Scarface," Ries testified.

An extraneous case before the judge concerned Phil D'Andrea, faithful Capone bodyguard, who was arrested Saturday for carrying a pistol into court, and who has been in jail since, without bond. Judge Wilkerson ordered him to trial Friday on a contempt charge.

CYR ASSUMES LONG'S POST

Troops Called in Louisiana Governor's Fight

was "not afraid of Cyr," and that the lieutenant governor could not get a court injunction to permit him to occupy the executive office.

"The courts have ruled that such a procedure is illegal," Long said. "Cyr's ouster suit would have to take its course in the regular court procedure. There is no cause for alarm."

The detachment of troops, company A, under command of Capt. W. J. B. Hawthorne, numbered 67 men. Captain Hawthorne explained to newspaper men that he was acting under orders of the adjutant general's office at New Orleans. The New Orleans office denied this, however, saying no order for mobilization had been issued and that Adj. Gen. Ray Fleming was out of the state. Confusion over who was responsible for the mobilization order continued for hours with both the governor and the office of General Fleming denying the responsibility.

Movements Guarded

All the mevements were guarded by the utmost secrecy as was the concentration of state police, under command of Col. E. P. Roy. The colonel was locked in his office all evening and reporters were barred from the building.

Cyr, meanwhile, had telegraphed the office of General Fleming commanding that the troops be disbanded and that "the courts decide who is the governor of the state."

Cyr has been a bitter political and personal foe of Governor Long for months. The breach between the two was opened during the famous impeachment case against Long in 1929, when Cyr took the floor of the state senate and denounced Long as a "cruel political tyrant."

Disbandment Ordered

Cyr, before leaving Shreveport, telegraphed General Fleming's office instructing him to disband the troops. The telegram apparently was lying in Fleming's office, awaiting his return to New Orleans.

"Let the courts in the administration of justice determine the controversy between Huey Long and myself," Cyr wired. "I hereby direct you to disband the militia. I will confirm this by formal order."

Fleming was reported to be in Atlanta tonight.

While he was in Shreveport, Cyr wrote a letter to Long making a formal demand that the governor vacate office. "If you don't comply within a few days I am prepared to file an injunction against you," Cyr said.

Claims Forfeit

Immediately after taking the oath before P. N. Anderson, Caddo parish district clerk, Cyr left for his home in Jeanerette. Later Long appeared at his headquarters in New Orleans. He seemed pleased with Cyr's action.

"That rids Louisiana of Paul Cyr," he said. "By taking the oath as governor he has forfeited his job as lieutenant-governor and that names Alvin King as lieutenant-governor.

"If it weren't for the fact of getting rid of Cyr, the matter would not even be serious enough to be funny," Long added. A short time later he was reported to have left hurriedly for the state capital by automobile.

King, president pro tem of the senate, shared Long's opinion and said he was going to the capital tonight to be sworn in as lieutenant-governor.

Box Office Sale of Tickets for Music Festival to Open Oct. 19

Headquarters for the sale of tickets and reservation of seats for the Autumn Music festival will be established at Renfro Drug store No. 1 on next Monday, Oct. 19, it was announced Tuesday by H. C. Cheshire, local booking agent.

Exactly two weeks will intervene between the opening of the downtown box office and the opening of the festival week program with Mary Garden as the premier attraction. Capacity patronage of the musical feast provided by Mr. Cheshire's bookings will mean the sale of more than 10,000 admissions, for the Memorial auditorium will seat about 3,500 persons for each performance.

Many seats already have been purchased, however, and reservations on all such advance orders are expected to be made soon after the downtown office opens next Monday. Both season and single tickets will be on sale, with Mrs. Cheshire in charge. Season tickets providing seats on the first floor may be had for $5; in the first balcony, $3.50, and in the second balcony, $2.

Prices announced by Mr. Cheshire for single concerts range as follows: Monday night, Mary Garden and company, $3, $2, and $1; Wednesday night, Clare Clairbert and Carl Achatz, $2.50, $1.50, and $1; Friday night, Doris Kenyon and San Malo, $2.50, $1.50, and $1.

The sextet of world-famed musicians secured by Mr. and Mrs. Cheshire as the opening attractions of the 1931-32 season were obtained through the offices of Charles L. Wagner, New York impresario. Through the grouping of three separate concert teams for a one-week's engagement, a schedule of admission prices lower than any heretofore offered has been made possible. A dispatch from Durham, N. C., Tuesday advised that a similar festival, utilizing lesser artists than those to appear here, sold 500 season tickets on the first day of sale.

Wichita Falls is one of five Texas cities to obtain the Wagner galaxy for the autumn festival tour. Houston, San Antonio, Dallas, and Amarillo are the other four points to be visited in this state.

Plans for presenting a 30-minute program on Saturday night, Oct. 24, from radio station KGKO to familiarize residents of this section with the coming attractions are now being made by the Junior chamber of commerce, it was stated Tuesday. R. E. Shepherd is to be master of ceremonies, and will arrange a series of musical numbers to be presented with discussion of the entertainment to be heard here during the first week of November.

DEMOCRATS TO SEEK MONEY

'Victory Fund' Launched With Optimism

bert C. Ritchie, Owen Young, James A. Reed, Alfred E. Smith, James M. Cox, Joseph T. Robinson and John W. Garner are working in the interests of the fund.

John W. Davis, presidential candidate in 1924, and John J. Raskob, chairman of the Democratic national committee, joined Shouse in announcing the fund. Davis' statement was particularly optimistic, and reflected the feeling of many Democrats that they are going to return to power after 12 years.

"The victory fund is about to be instituted at a time when the political position of the party is almost impregnable," said Davis. "Its prospects of victory were never brighter.

"Justifying the party's optimism are the elections in and since 1930, decisive proof of the growing sentiment for administrative change and at once an endorsement and an indication of the success of our efforts for victory next year.

"Not in generations has there been greater need or greater likelihood of Democratic victory."

U. S. JUGGLES ORIENT SHIP

Admiral Denies Moves Are Linked With War

That the 250-mile move around the corner of the peninsula, which effected the sheltering, should be toward the Manchurian zone was just an unfortunate coincidence, it was explained.

Admiral Cross

Admiral Pratt, the naval operations chief, was emphatic in his comment on the situation.

"It's just a damned lie put out to make a sensation," he said. "The order for ships to go to Chefoo has been issued yearly for 40 years. It has not got a damned thing to do with the Japanese-Chinese situation. They just go there to give the men shore leave. They go there, and when they get ready, they go away again."

LEAGUE HEARS BOTH SIDES

(By The Associated Press)

The League of Nations council heard both sides of the Manchurian controversy yesterday from the Chinese and Japanese spokesmen and adjourned to continue consideration of the matter in private conversations.

Japan, at Geneva, Washington, Tokyo and Nanking, continued to resist stubbornly diplomatic intervention by other countries and to insist that direct negotiations between Japan and China presented the only road to solution.

Dr. Alfred Sze, Chinese spokesman, told the league council that even while the council was sitting Japanese planes were bombing two Manchurian towns. Kenkichi Yoshizawa, Japanese representative, denied knowledge of the incidents, but promised to ask Tokyo for information.

Martial law was declared at Canton because of anti-Japanese demonstrations and Japanese Nationals were moving out of Hankow and elsewhere in the face of hostilities.

Washington was hopeful the league council would find a solution, President Hoover submitted at a long cabinet session reports which were said to be optimistic.

At Nanking it was announced United States and British ministers would arrive there today from Peiping for conferences with heads of the Chinese government.

The Japanese government presented to the American charge d' affaires a set of principles agreed upon as a basis for discussions with China which i..luded a demand for putting down alleged anti-Japanese agitation and a declaration that Japan wants no additional rights and concessions in Manchuria.

At Moscow Japanese Ambassador Hirota had a long conversation with Maxim Litvinoff, Soviet commissar for foreign affairs.

New England Mills Report Better Business

BOSTON, Oct. 13. (AP)—Business in many of New England's smaller mills and industrial plants has turned the corner toward prosperity, the New England council reports.

A compilation of business trends from reports of chambers of commerce and boards of trade throughout the six New England states was characterized by the council as "the most encouraging in recent months."

Writing for Children

THE volume of more important news probably kept many newspaper readers from noticing the recent dispatch announcing the death of Mrs. Annie Fellows Johnson, author of the "Little Colonel" books; but there are countless middle-aged Americans who grew up on those books, in whom the news will provoke a good deal of pleasant reminiscence.

Now the "Little Colonel" books were not, by any critical standard, good literature. In another generation they will almost certainly have disappeared, and the juvenile reading public will be none the worse for it. But they belong in that peculiar classification which holds a great many of childhood's favorites, and it is a great deal harder to write books of that kind than most people may suppose.

For the child, when he opens a book, demands something especial—a touch of magic, the opening of a door through which he can escape from an imperfect world and get some help in the dreaming of dreams. Write for adults and you can choose any one of two dozen angles of approach; write for a child and one thing is inexorably demanded of you—the ability to lift the youngster into never-never land.

This job was attempted in the "Little Colonel" books; and, really, the author did not do so badly. There was a priggishness about the books, of course, an insistence on the good, the true and the beautiful that was a bit saccharine; but there was also just a hint of that enchantment, that magic, which all great juvenile literature possesses.

Youngsters, by and large, are given a terrible lot of tripe to read. The tradition of Horatio Alger is still strong in the land. The "Little Colonel" was a step upward, just as were the Oz books—one or two of which, conceivably, may live a long time—and the Hollow Tree books. These books did not attain greatness, but they were above the common lot.

No more than once in a generation or two does a writer appear who can really produce something for children of all times and places; and it is noteworthy that when this happens the book can be enjoyed by adults even more than by children. The shelf that holds "Alice in Wonderland" and "Huckleberry Finn" and "Uncle Remus" is not overcrowded. Meanwhile, we can pay our tribute to those whose glimpse of the magic lands was only a glimpse and nothing more.

More Ragged Patches

WHILE efforts are being made daily in every American community to relieve unemployment, one who is seriously concerned with the problem can not overlook the fact that little is being done toward a permanent solution; namely, the transfer of millions of unemployed urban residents to rural districts under conditions which will permit them to produce that which now they can not buy.

To supply more than a dozen warring countries with military and food supplies, and to replace the discontinued food production of those combatants for the rest of the world, the United States experienced a tremendous augmentation of industrial activity beginning with 1914. From the cities vast numbers of young men were sucked into the maelstrom of a world war. From the farms thousands of families poured into the cities, where often not only the husband but his wife and older children manned the dizzy machinery of production at high wages. Large scale production of agricultural stuffs, with modern machinery, quickly was established in rural districts—under the stimulus of high prices.

But now the situation is vastly changed. The world is not at war. The high-priced world market has disappeared. Industry is stagnant. But the hordes of former high-waged operatives remain in the cities. They produce little food; they earn little if any money. Charity, always charity, is the inevitable answer. Chicago opened 12 new emergency relief stations Monday. They expect to distribute $8,000,000—to feed people who have no jobs, and no land upon which to produce their own food. Humanitarian in its motive, the very work of the depots is disastrous to the economic welfare of all concerned.

There is dire need of more attention to profound and widespread changes which will effect sound and lasting improvement.

Short Sales Survey

RECENT arguments in favor of restriction of short sales in the stock market make it imperative that some one conduct an impartial survey to show precisely what the effect of short sales is on market trends.

It has been claimed that the short sale prevents excesses by tending to stabilize prices; that is, it prevents prices from rising to unreasonable heights in a bull market, and the "hurrying to cover" by short sellers in a falling market keeps prices from falling too low.

But, as the Alexander Hamilton institute points out, there is no complete data available to prove or disprove the contentions. Such data would be fairly easy to assemble; once assembled, the task of working out a sound policy to cover the matter would be much easier than it is now.

A Columnist's Sec'y Jots Down a Few Notes

Dear W. W.: Have I some swelegant news for you? . . . Guess what? . . . Camel Ciggies has given permission for Morton Downey to be your Oct. 20th guestar! . . . I think that's grand, considering that five years ago you gave Morton his first boost in print . . . That new parlor game started by Libby Holman has caught on with lots of people, according to their calls and letters . . . Here's mine: Nick the Greek's had a word for it! . . . The filthy photo that was on the Republic (Minsky's) front the other day was taken down the next day—Police Comm. Mulrooney's magic, of course . . . Kinsmen of Charles M. Rosenthal, who was kidnaped, object to your query of Monday . . . I told the voice you had asked about a Charles Rosenthal. After looking up the records I find that such a person was arrested in a stabbing case as you so stated . . . There are exactly a dozen Charles Rosenthals in the Manhattan phone directory . . . And they stifle yawns.

Few people know that the Eugenie hatrocities were influenced by Ann Harding's garb in "East Lynne." She looked so well in one of them that the idea got into the heads of the stylists, who got richer . . . Cab Galloway and his Cotton Clubmen will do "Nobody's Sweetheart" for you this Tuesday evening . . . I asked him to repeat "Star Dust," too, with which he now is so well identified . . . Nobody sings it so well as Cab . . . You might complain to the park commissioner that the reason the town has mosquitoes is that there is a large stagnant pool in Central Park at 101st and CPW.

The conservative N. Y. Times has finally accepted "whoopee" . . . In its acct of the Herndon-Pangborn flight from Japan it said: "Wenatchee tonight made whoopee" . . . They all fall in line in time, no? . . . A friend of mine saw the Peter Arno show in Detroit . . . The song hits, she says, include: "Shake Well Before Using," "Hello, My Lover," "Music in My Fingers" and "My Sweetheart, 'Tis of Thee" . . . One of the wows, she says, comes when Paul McCullough, disguised in feminine attire, is caught peeking thru a keyhole of a hotel room and Bobby Clark shouts: "Why, Mrs. Winchell!" . . . Morris Gest was in. Wants you to help him on a new curtain for his next show . . . Told him you were cutting out magazine articles because of all the routines . . . He said it would take no time, at all, and persisted . . . Something like his well-known curtain of celebs that Ralph Barton did a long time ago . . . Wants you to supply the list of well-knowns with a one-line crack synonymous of them . . . How've y'been?

If applicants for prohibition officer jobs admit that they have tasted intoxicants during the past year they are turned down . . . It's a racket, by the way, this becoming a prohib agent . . . It costs applicants $5.50 for a physical exam—the 50 cents being for photos . . . Then you spend $40 (one guy did) to "prepare for the examination" . . . Serves any one right who would become one! . . . You can buy some nice modern apartment houses on Central Park West, for a song, if (but what an If!) . . . Vincent Youman's song, "Time on My Hands," is the rage of London. Vincent sold the rights for England, however, and doesn't rate a penny . . . Those 13 banks that collapsed in Philly gave the Shuberts and the Erlanger interests a headache . . . They had lots of coin in them . . . Helen Morgan is quitting the "Follies" to achieve her life-long ambition—a dramatic role in Hammerstein's next show . . . Roberta Law, who recently brought that suit against James Bush, is at the Roosevelt Hospital . . . Will Beebe has named a fish after Alma Clayburgh, the operatic singer . . . You haven't a line yet for Monday, better get busy . . . Your tip a few Monday's ago that Marion Roberts (Legs Diamond's girl) would show up [illegible] by gangsters has been confirmed . . . Why don't you turn your Mrs. Collinge case clue over to Dick Ty Blue? . . . Would you mind if I made a little side money and let me pose for negligee?

THE GIRL WHO WON

By May Christie

Young and vivacious Nollie Day, public stenographer at an exclusive New York hotel, is befriended by the wealthy Mrs. Judson, a widow. One evening, Nollie goes to the theater in place of Mrs. Judson, where she meets handsome Tony O'Brien. She reveals her own identity but Tony does not hear her. Later in the evening she refrains from repeating her explanation for fear that Tony would lose interest when he learned the truth. Next day, Tony telephones and learns Mrs. Judson has gone abroad. Disbelieving the report, he comes to the hotel. He looks at Nollie without recognition but she believes it is because he has discovered her masquerade. Before Nollie can reach him, he disappears. Nollie secures a new position as secretary to Jack Brilling of Galbraith & Co. Miss Galbraith, Brilling's fiancee is jealous when Brilling takes Nollie to dinner and warns Nollie against overstepping. Brilling tells Nollie he loves her.

Miss Galbraith enters the office just as Nollie frees herself from Brilling's embrace. Nollie is discharged.

Mrs. Judson gives Nollie a letter Tony had written her abroad. Intending to help Nollie and set the matter straight, she phones Tony to learn he has left on a vacation.

Mrs. Judson asks Nollie to become her secretary and visit her ranch.

Nollie accompanies Mrs. Judson to a garden party and meets Rhoda Vane.

CHAPTER XXVIII

Tony O'Brien sat with Nollie on some pine logs.

He had showed her the interior of his primitive little shack here by the lake side.

He smoked a pipe now as they sat in the little clearing that was so gay with birds' song and flowers and bright mosses.

It had rained overnight, and the sun brought out enchanting odors of sage and sandal wood and bog myrtle.

All of the loveliness of nature was right here. A fitting setting for romance. Nollie drank deep of the beauty of it.

But the one glorious fact that Tony was beside her was enough . . . even had their meeting been in an ugly wilderness.

"Tell me about yourself," said Nollie Day. "I want to know everything you've done since . . . our last meeting."

"And I want to talk about you, you elusive little colleen."

"There's nothing complex about me in the least. I'm the most humdrum person."

"You're nothing of the sort. You remind me of the fairy stories my old Irish nurse used to weave—spalpeens and pixies dancing in the moonlight."

Nollie laughed merrily. "Why don't you say a hobgoblin while you're at it?"

"Fishing for compliments again. Well, I refuse to bite. But I've a bone to pick with you, I assure you."

She laughed again. "The way you mix your metaphors, any one would think you were Irish."

"And proud of it, too. Don't you know that we Irish are grand lovers?"

"And bad husbands, I've heard tell." The moment she said that, the blood flew to her forehead. What would he think? How bold she must have sounded.

But Tony O'Brien considered this gravely.

"I'm sure I should be the exception that would prove the rule. But anyhow, I don't agree with you one particle."

"That sounds Irish again. You're a wonderful race. I've a little dash of the blarney stone myself, begorra!"

She was gay like that. She looked up at him with the eyes that he had once likened to "bluebells under water."

He gave her look back shinily. There was a radiance about his whole person.

"Don't tell me you'd be deceiving me, if that's what you mean about kissing the blarney stone?"

"I? I'm as honest as the day. I've nothing to hide in my young life. Maybe if I were more subtle, I'd be more interesting?"

He caught the challenge. "The way you've acted—rushing off abroad like that with never a word to me—you're enough of an enigma already?"

For a moment Nollie was silenced.

He went on, aggrievedly: "You never answered my letter."

"Well, don't blame me for that, when it only reached me in New York a few days back."

He said, incredulously: "What?"

"That's true. I received it at the Hotel Luxor about a week ago. And your office said you were on your vacation."

She didn't add that she hadn't called him up herself that day. That the inquiry had been made by the real Mrs. Judson.

"It must have followed you around to all those Riviera high spots?"

Nollie was silent.

"Anyhow, when at last you did get my letter, you could at least have answered it."

"Perhaps it wasn't addressed to me at all? Perhaps it wasn't my property?"

Tony looked at her in a puzzled way. "I certainly put the name of Mrs. Virginia Judson on the envelope."

Now he would guess . . . now would the dream end?

And just as she was about to speak, to tell him all, up bounded Fury, the Alsatian.

"Say, what a peach of a dog! Is he yours?" Tony caressed him.

"Down, Fury! Down!" commanded Nollie, glad of the interruption. The big dog took to Tony right away. Tony made much of him.

"Attaboy! Fine old chap!" He rubbed the great head.

Fury put his two fore paws on the young man's knees and tried to lick his face.

"Whoa there! That's going too far . . ."

"Down, Fury!" cried Nollie.

"He treats me a lot kinder than his mistress does, anyhow," said the young man.

"And am I not being perfectly charming to you now? What's ailing you?"

"Merely a kind of standoffishness . . . a sort of 'so far and no further' . . . if you get my meaning?"

"Indeed, I don't. You'll have to be much more explicit, Mr. O'Brien."

"That stiff address! Mr. O'Brien, indeed! The last time I met you it was 'Tony' and 'Gloria'."

"Oh, that was silly!" But Nollie blushed adorably.

He told her so. He told her that she was even lovelier here among the trees and flowers than she'd been in her grand gown in the theater.

Her heart rose at those words. So he liked her just as well—and more—in her little sports dress that had only cost a few dollars.

"D'you know, I was afraid you were just a sort of hot-house plant?" he ventured frankly.

"Meaning I wouldn't stand up the to light of day?" smiled Nollie.

"You're like a flower out here. You fit right in. You're not like a city girl at all." He stared at her admiringly.

"I love the country. I love this place. It makes me want to sing—to shout"— Nollie drew a deep breath. Her eyes were shining.

"And d'you know why I, too, feel that very way?" He was looking at her intently. "It's because you are here," said Tony.

She drew another breath. Oh, plunge right in. He'd forgive her deception.

"Would it make any difference," she said haltingly, and bending forward and plucking a wood anemone as she spoke, "suppose I weren't Mrs. Jinny Judson?"

Wisconsin Supreme Court Rules For Woman in $2.62 Quarrel

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 13. (AP)—The state supreme court today handed down a decision in a case involving $2.62 cents worth of groceries.

The tribunal upheld the right of Mary Leslie to sue Oscar Knudson, both of Cobb, for $10,000 damages. She charged that Knudson, a restaurant owner, maliciously caused her prosecution by swearing out a warrant accusing her of stealing $2.50 worth of butter, olives, soap, pumpkin, pineapple and sauerkraut.

The tangle had its origin in the woman's claim that Knudson refused to pay her $2.50 for washing dishes. He said she had done [illegible], telling her "try and get it." She ordered staples in his restaurant amounting to $2.62 and paid 12 cents, telling the clerk the balance was the amount Knudson owed her.

Knudson swore out a warrant against her in a justice court. The charge was dismissed and Mary sued for $10,000 damages to her reputation and the courts dismissed that action.

The two genera and six or seven species are confined to warm seas. The best known species is M. birostris, sometimes called the blanket fish by tropical American pearl fishers, from their belief that it attacks and devours men after enveloping them in its great wing-like pectoral fins, which reach a breadth of 20 feet. It is common in tropical American waters and occurs on both the Atlantic and Pacific coasts of the United States. The name applies to the Octopus and allied eight-armed Cephalopoda.

The Record News Offers Booklet on Modernizing Old Houses

Cars of the pre-starter period are junk. Houses of the mid-Victorian pre-convenience era are not junk, but the problem of their existence has given rise to the rapidly developing art of modernizing by a new generation of architects and builders who have definite ideas as to what constitutes style. Their accomplishments all over the United States have far outstripped mere remodeling, for they create from old-style dwellings homes of an entirely different architectural conception, homes advanced from one style decade to the next.

This is an excerpt from but one chapter of this interesting and valuable booklet. Send 10 cents for Modernizing Old Homes, using the coupon.

Nursery Report Features Federated Mission Meet

In the regular meeting of the federated missionary executive board at the day nursery Tuesday morning, the report given by the superintendent, Mrs. Fred T. Datson, was of such vital importance, it overshadowed other work. With the day nursery the chief work of the Federated Missionary society, members of the executive board showed intense interest in work accomplished there.

According to Mrs. Datson's report, 1,550 children were enrolled in the month of September, 289 more than were enrolled in the same month last year. Children were shown to be depending more and more on the nursery and Mrs. Datson stated that younger children are being left by working mothers all the time.

As many as 77 children have been given lunch at the nursery in one day, the superintendent stated, saying that children who have once been nursery children but who are now in school, come back for their noon meals. They are not given a sandwich and turned loose, but are seated at table and furnished a real meal; meat or a meat substitute, vegetables and desserts and Mrs. Datson added that they show their appreciation.

The work being done for undernourished children and for the newly weaned babies that some mothers bring for care was emphasized. Undernourished children are put to bed in the afternoon, are given special food and small children are often taught to eat.

Mrs. Datson told of more than 20 children she had clothed since school started and said that all the regular day nursery children go to Sunday school.

She especially mentioned the fine cooperation of Supt. H. D. Fillers and also wished to thank Dr. R. B. Wolford, the new city physician, whose aid has been particularly valuable since there is no city nurse. Mrs. West, formerly Miss Rosa Lee Harkin, Red Cross city nurse, still comes to the nursery twice a week Mrs. Datson stated and helps with the children.

Chairmen's Reports

Mrs. S. E. Trevathan, president of the Federated Missionary society called the meeting to order and gave a beautiful devotional, using the verse "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto the least of these, ye have done it unto me," as her theme. Mrs. W. H. Black gave the opening prayer.

Reports were given by Mrs. Alvin Horwitz, membership chairman, who stated that to date there were 532 paid memberships; Mrs. W. M. Downing's report showed that jail service is being resumed with the autumn months, and Mrs. J. Lem Keevil said that although there had been no meetings in the warm weather at the county farm, they would be resumed this month.

Mrs. Trevathan told of plans for the quarterly meeting which will be held at the First Presbyterian church at 2 o'clock, Oct. 29. The executive board plans to make the program one of the most interesting that has ever been given. DANDRUFF!
how to get rid of it
Quickly .. Pleasantly .. Inexpensively

IF your scalp itches or burns, if your hair is thinning or you are troubled with loose dandruff, begin using full strength Listerine, systematically, as an antiseptic shampoo. Simply douse it on and massage the scalp as vigorously as you can.

Literally tens of thousands have rid themselves of a dandruff condition with Listerine. They are simply amazed by the speed with which it gets results.

In cases of dandruff the fat glands about the hair become overactive throwing off a disgusting greasy whitish substance known as sebum. This forms in crusts and scales.

Neglect is dangerous

The hair, meanwhile, seems literally to be stifled. It grows lustreless, lifeless, falls out. The scalp feels hot and itchy. If the condition is not treated promptly, eczema and baldness may follow, and often do.

At the first symptom of trouble, the fight against loose dandruff should begin. Consider Listerine's effectiveness against this condition.

If infection is present on the surface of the skin, Listerine attacks it. A powerful germicide, it kills bacteria in 15 seconds, the fastest killing time accurately recorded by science.

Listerine helps to dissolve oily crusts and quickly removes them. And Listerine quickly relieves that burning, itching sensation. It soothes inflamed or irritated areas of the scalp.

If scalp is excessively dry, a little olive oil may be used in connection with the Listerine shampoo, or independent of it. The oil aids in dissolving crusts and scales and keeps hair from drying out. Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, Mo., U.S.A.

Do You "Suffer in Silence"

Patients with piles or hemorrhoids frequently say nothing about their ailments, preferring to suffer in silence. Such embarrassment, while commonly felt, really helps no one and prevents the cure of the trouble. Most patients past 40 will be found to have piles in some degree. The suffering and inconvenience which these patients go through is unnecessary as this disorder can so often be relieved in a satisfactory manner and there is nothing difficult in the treatment to be used.

Piles are really a form of varicose veins, only instead of occurring in the legs they occur in the rectum, usually within the last inch of the large bowel, quite close to the opening. In this small space are found a large number of veins and, when a number of such veins become swollen and enlarged, we call them piles. An external pile is one which shows up on the outside. An internal pile is one which begins on the inside, coming from the bowel itself, and is covered with mucous membrane. The internal piles are probably the most troublesome. In time they usually grow larger, become sore and tender and raw. When the bowels move, the piles may "come down" or protrude. A protruding pile is simply a pile which has escaped from the inside of the bowel and is thrust through the opening. A bleeding pile is one which has ulcerated, blood and pus coming from the ulcer and giving it the name. In severe cases the protruding pile will cause a great deal of inconvenience by escaping when the patient is standing or walking and may develop to the point where it cannot be returned to the interior of the bowel if no treatment is used. Usually if one pile forms several will be found.

On account of the presence of many sensitive nerves in the lower end of the bowel, piles are likely to be extremely painful. The pains have been described as gnawing, bearing down, sticking, etc. The pressure of the stools may cause severe distress and moving the bowels becomes a source of discomfort. There is often difficulty in walking or sitting and the parts may itch unbearably.

In severe cases the pile enlarges to such an extent that, when it drops down during the bowel movement, it cannot be returned and is squeezed by the sphincter muscles which close the bowel opening. In such a case the hemorrhoid swells, becomes filled with blood, and gives a great deal of pain. The final stage is the rotting away of the pile, the result of the tissues being cut off from normal circulation.

Undoubtedly the main cause of piles is constipation. A contributing cause is the arrangement of the veins at this particular point which favors the development of hemorrhoids. Often the pressure of prolapsed organs will prevent these veins from draining normally and produce a congestion. Liver trouble is also a frequent cause of hemorrhoidal veins as the portal circulation from the intestines to the liver becomes sluggish. The cure consists in relieving the constipation or prolapsus and the use of special treatments.

In tomorrow's article I will explain a non-surgical method of treating this condition.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Impaired Smell

Question—Dan writes: "Ten months ago I contracted a bad cold which left me with an impaired smell. My sense of taste and smell are acute but perverted. For instance, perfumes all seem to smell alike, sweet but nauseating. The odors emanating from meat being fried are analagous to those emitted by ammonia and axle grease combined when heated. When I smell a piece of boiled beef, I feel as though I smelled something very bitter such as alloes. I had an automobile accident prior to catching a cold which left me with a temporary facial paralysis; perhaps this has an indirect effect. Can you advise me what is wrong?"

Answer—I have had many patients in my office who were troubled with an impaired sense of smell after having had attacks of colds or influenza. It seems as though there was some injury to the ends of the olfactory nerves. Your case is somewhat unusual in that it presents such a perversion of the odors. About the best regimen that I could suggest for you would be to adhere to the instructions outlined in my article on Colds and Catarrh and also the Cleansing Diet, repeating the fast at intervals of about one month apart. I believe that your condition should show an improvement in the course of time.

Exercise for Narrow Chest

Question—Mr. G. writes: "My chest is very thin and narrow. What causes such a condition? Can it be corrected?"

Answer—After one is fully grown a flat chest usually remains that way, but it can be benefited to some extent by the proper physical culture exercises. A child with a flat chest should be able to develop a strong chest through the proper breathing and physical culture exercises if started soon enough.

Federal Highway Maintenance Asked

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 13. (AP)—Construction and maintenance of interstate highways by the federal government without assistance from the various states were advocated by the United States Good Roads association, in an address at the association's annual convention here today.

"Highways logically divide themselves into three groups—national interstate, intrastate and lateral or communal highways," he said.

"The national system should be built largely by national funds, state highways by the various states and county roads by the local taxpayers."

Mr. Kirkpatrick advocated a national gasoline and license tax, should the government find itself unable to appropriate $2,000,000,000 annually for highway construction for the next 25 years.

Prohibition Activity Declines in September

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13. (UP)—Federal prohibition enforcement activity experienced what Director Amos W. W. Woodcock termed "a seasonal decrease" in September with arrests and seizures falling below the high record of August.

Cases in which arrests were made aggregated 6,658 in September, Woodcock's report today showed, bringing the total since July 1, when 500 agents were added to the dry enforcement staff, to 20,733. There were 7,476 arrests in August.

Dallas Presbyterial Meets at Gainesville

Delegates were present from Denton, Dallas, Itasca, Pilot Point and Shreveport. Miss Cornelia Engle of Louisville, Ky., and Dr. Herbert Springall of Dallas were the principal speakers on the program.

HASKELL INDIANS BEAT TEXAS TECH IN MUDDY GAME, 8 TO 0

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED THOMPSON

Perhaps something should have been said of this before the football season started, for football coaches annually set a world's record for forgetfulness in this respect.

We refer to their almost constant habit of neglecting to provide ways and means of determining a winner in case of a tie.

The standings in district No. 3, class B, are already muddled because it was found impossible to determine a winner of the Seymour-Megargel game, which resulted in a scoreless tie. A winner could easily have been announced after the game, had the coaches agreed on a way out of such an emergency before the game started.

The usual method of determining the winner of a tie game is to give the decision to the team making the most penetrations of the 20-yard stripe. In case these penetrations are even, then the decision goes to the team making the most first downs. If these also are even, then the decision goes to the team making the most yardage from scrimmage.

It would help keep the records clear if coaches would agree to the above method, or some other method, of clearing up a tie, before the game starts.

B. C. Shulkey, head of the class B district, points out that the league does not require coaches to make such an agreement in ordinary district games; that the agreement is required by the interscholastic league only in bi-district or regional championship games—but he further explains that the coaches have the right to make such an agreement if they want to.

Shulkey urges that since the coaches can make these agreements, they should do so in order that a winner may be announced in every game.

The Morning Mail

A. Bottle and Jugg O. Rum, members of the firm of Old Soaks, Inc., of Archer City, Texas, have taken a new member into the firm, the dainty Lotta Weinbrix, who confesses she is an ex-barmaid.

At least that appears to be the latest development down Archer county way. For the mail box yielded a contribution from Miss Weinbrix.

Miss Weinbrix, it appears, is wroth with Mr. Jolley of Quanah. Mr. Jolley, who shuns verse, was mildly rebuked by Mr. Rumm the other day, and apparently is to get no rest.

The title of Miss Weinbrix's poem is a paragraph long, revealing the thoroughness with which she does her work. Here is the title:

"A PLEA — hic — FOR UNSTIFLED VERSE, wherein is contained advice concerning certain dithyrambic gentlemen who smack of occasional Bacchanalian orgies and hangovers; further, a collaboration with that demon, Rumm, in a recommendation to Jolley—hic—about lifeless statistics of mediocre ball players. (A little Rumm-ba, professor.)"

And here is the poem:

I know not who this Rumm is
Nor care I who the bum is;
I read you seem to think that he's all wet.
As for this near-full Bottle
And his verse—hic—foul as dottle,
I am inclined to think he's wetter yet.

O Thompson get a censor
Quote dryer poets hence ere
His—you offend us prohibition folks.
Cut out Rumm and Bottle
With their unhealthy mottle;
Place their feet upon the rail among the other soaks.

But with Rumm we must agree
We like this poetree;
Jolley of Quanah could try to like our rhymes.
But if trying makes him drowsy—
Makes him say, "This dern stuff's lousy,"
Then let him read the comics in The Times.

From Pat Nolan

Mr. Nolan lives in Burkburnett, heretofore a prose center, but which now, apparently, is also sprouting its share of bards. Mr. Nolan is one of the first of this autumn's crop, which apparently was harvested before the recent rains as nothing could dampen his ardor, and when once he grasped pen in fist he did not stop until he had written exactly 20 cantos of four long sentences each.

After reading the 20 cantos we find it difficult to determine what the gent is driving at. In spots he appears to be deriding "poor losers" and admonishing all to take their reverses like men. It seems cruel not only to our readers, but to posterity as well, that we cannot publish all of Mr. Nolan's effort on account of its length. There is not much to choose from, but the 20th and last verse appears to be the best, and so we will reproduce it. It states that Mr. Nolan is a contender for the poetry prize recently offered by this corner. But read for yourself:

"Of course with this puny effort I am contending for the prize,
And if I don't succeed in winning I'll get my life's surprise.
But I'll practice what I've preached, if I have to take it on the chin
I'll smile, but a bigger and better one is forthcoming if I win."

Mr. Nolan, your philosophic attitude is to be commended, and doubtless will stand you in good stead in the critical moment that is coming into your life no later than right now: For so far as your poem and the contest is concerned —you lose.

Littlefield Eleven Beats Farwell, 21-19

Special to The Record News.

LITTLEFIELD, Texas, Oct. 13.—The football game between Littlefield Wildcats and the Farwell, Texas, team, was a hard fought battle. Worn with the hard game fought with Levelland on Friday, the home team was in poor condition to tackle the Farwell team. They valiantly held their own throughout the entire game and came out with a score of 21 against Farwell's 19.

WELLER MAKES 60-YARD DASH

Texan Thrown for Safety in First Quarter

By BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS, Oct. 13.—There was no dust for the Redskins to bite here today, so the Haskell Institute Indians of Lawrence, Kan., made the Palefaces bite the mud with an 8 to 0 gridiron victory.

Playing their intersectional game on a rain-drenched field and during a steady downpour, the Indians unreeled a powerful defensive game that constantly smothered Texas Tech's offense.

A safety on a fumble behind the goal line in the first period and a touchdown in the third period gave the Kansas Indians their victory. The game was marred by fumbles and erratic snap-backs due to a water-soaked football.

The Indians, employing power plays, swept down the field in the first period to Tech's five-yard stripe where they were held for downs. Price of Tech dropped behind his goal line to punt out, but he fumbled a low snap-back from Tribble and Miles, Haskell right tackle, fell on Price and the ball for a safety, after Price had recovered his fumble.

After battling to a scoreless tie in the second period, the Indians registered a touchdown early in the third. Little Rabbit Weller, Haskell halfback, grabbed a punt and shot up the gridiron on a beautiful broken field run for 60 yards to put the ball inside Tech's 15-yard stripe. Edge, on the third down, circled Tech's right end for a touchdown. Weller's kick for goal was blocked.

With an 8 to 0 lead, the Indians stored away their offensive plays and played defensive football that prohibited Tech from offering a serious scoring threat.

Weller's sensational runs featured the otherwise slow game. Time after time he whipped off-tackle and cut around ends for substantial gains. Tech offered no outstanding star. The Tech line turned in a commendable game, but the Tech backfield could not gain consistently.

The lineups:

HASKELL (8)	Pos.	TEXAS TECH (0)
Prim	L.E.	Howell
N. Holmes	L.T.	Langford
Hendricks	L.G.	Baker
Crowe	C.	Tribble

A. Barlow	R.E.	Foulks
Shepherd	Q.B.	Moffett
R. Holmes	L.H.	Sollis

Score by periods:

Haskell	2	0	6	0—8

Touchdown—Edge 1. Safety—Price.

'Pepper' Unable to Go On Hunting Expedition

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Oct. 13. (AP)—"Pepper" Martin, St. Louis Cardinal star in the world series, is unable to come to New Mexico to hunt deer because of business engagements.

However, Branch Rickey, president of the St. Louis National league club, is coming with a party which includes Dr. Cameron Harman, president of McKendree college, according to word received today by Dr. W. B. Huckabee, commander of the American Legion post at Hot Springs, N. M.

The telegram to the post was from William O. DeWitt, secretary of the St. Louis club.

The Hot Springs legion post is arranging for guides and a packing outfit to take the party into the heart of the Black Range country in western New Mexico.

The Breaks Helped, Gabby Street Admits

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Oct. 13. (UP)—"Gabby" Street, manager of the world champion St. Louis Cardinals, did nothing more than "any other big league manager could have done with a few breaks," in defeating the Philadelphia Athletics.

"As a manager of a minor league team, I used to dream about piloting a ball club to a world's championship and it's all come true," Street said here tonight. He was en route to his home at Joplin, Mo. "But I was lucky enough to get the breaks."

"No matter how smart a manager may be, he has to have ball players to win. I did. A manager can promote harmony, but he's got to let his players do the playing. That's why my team won."

'Watch the Presidents' Is Cry in East

WASHINGTON, Pa., Oct. 13. (AP)—Washington and Jefferson college has served warning that it is going to be a great year for the "presidential campaign" by their defeat of Carnegie Tech's football team.

"The Presidents won't lose a game," declare Little Washington fans as they drop everything at 3:30 in the afternoon to go over and watch the team practice.

"It's the greatest team since W. & J. won the eastern championship 10 years ago," you hear remarked on every side.

There is a reason for this confidence in W. & J. in three stars and a team that is above the average to act as a supporting cast.

The Presidents' three co-captains, Stewart Wilson, Pat Rigney and Ken McNeil, should rank high in individual honors whether W. & J. goes undefeated, observers say.

Wilson, 190-pound fullback, is known as the longest punter in the East, and he does it with the left foot. He is a good passer and an exceptional line plunger. His accurate kicking defeated Carnegie Tech 10 to 7, Wilson dropping back and kicking a placement after Tech had tied the score late in the game.

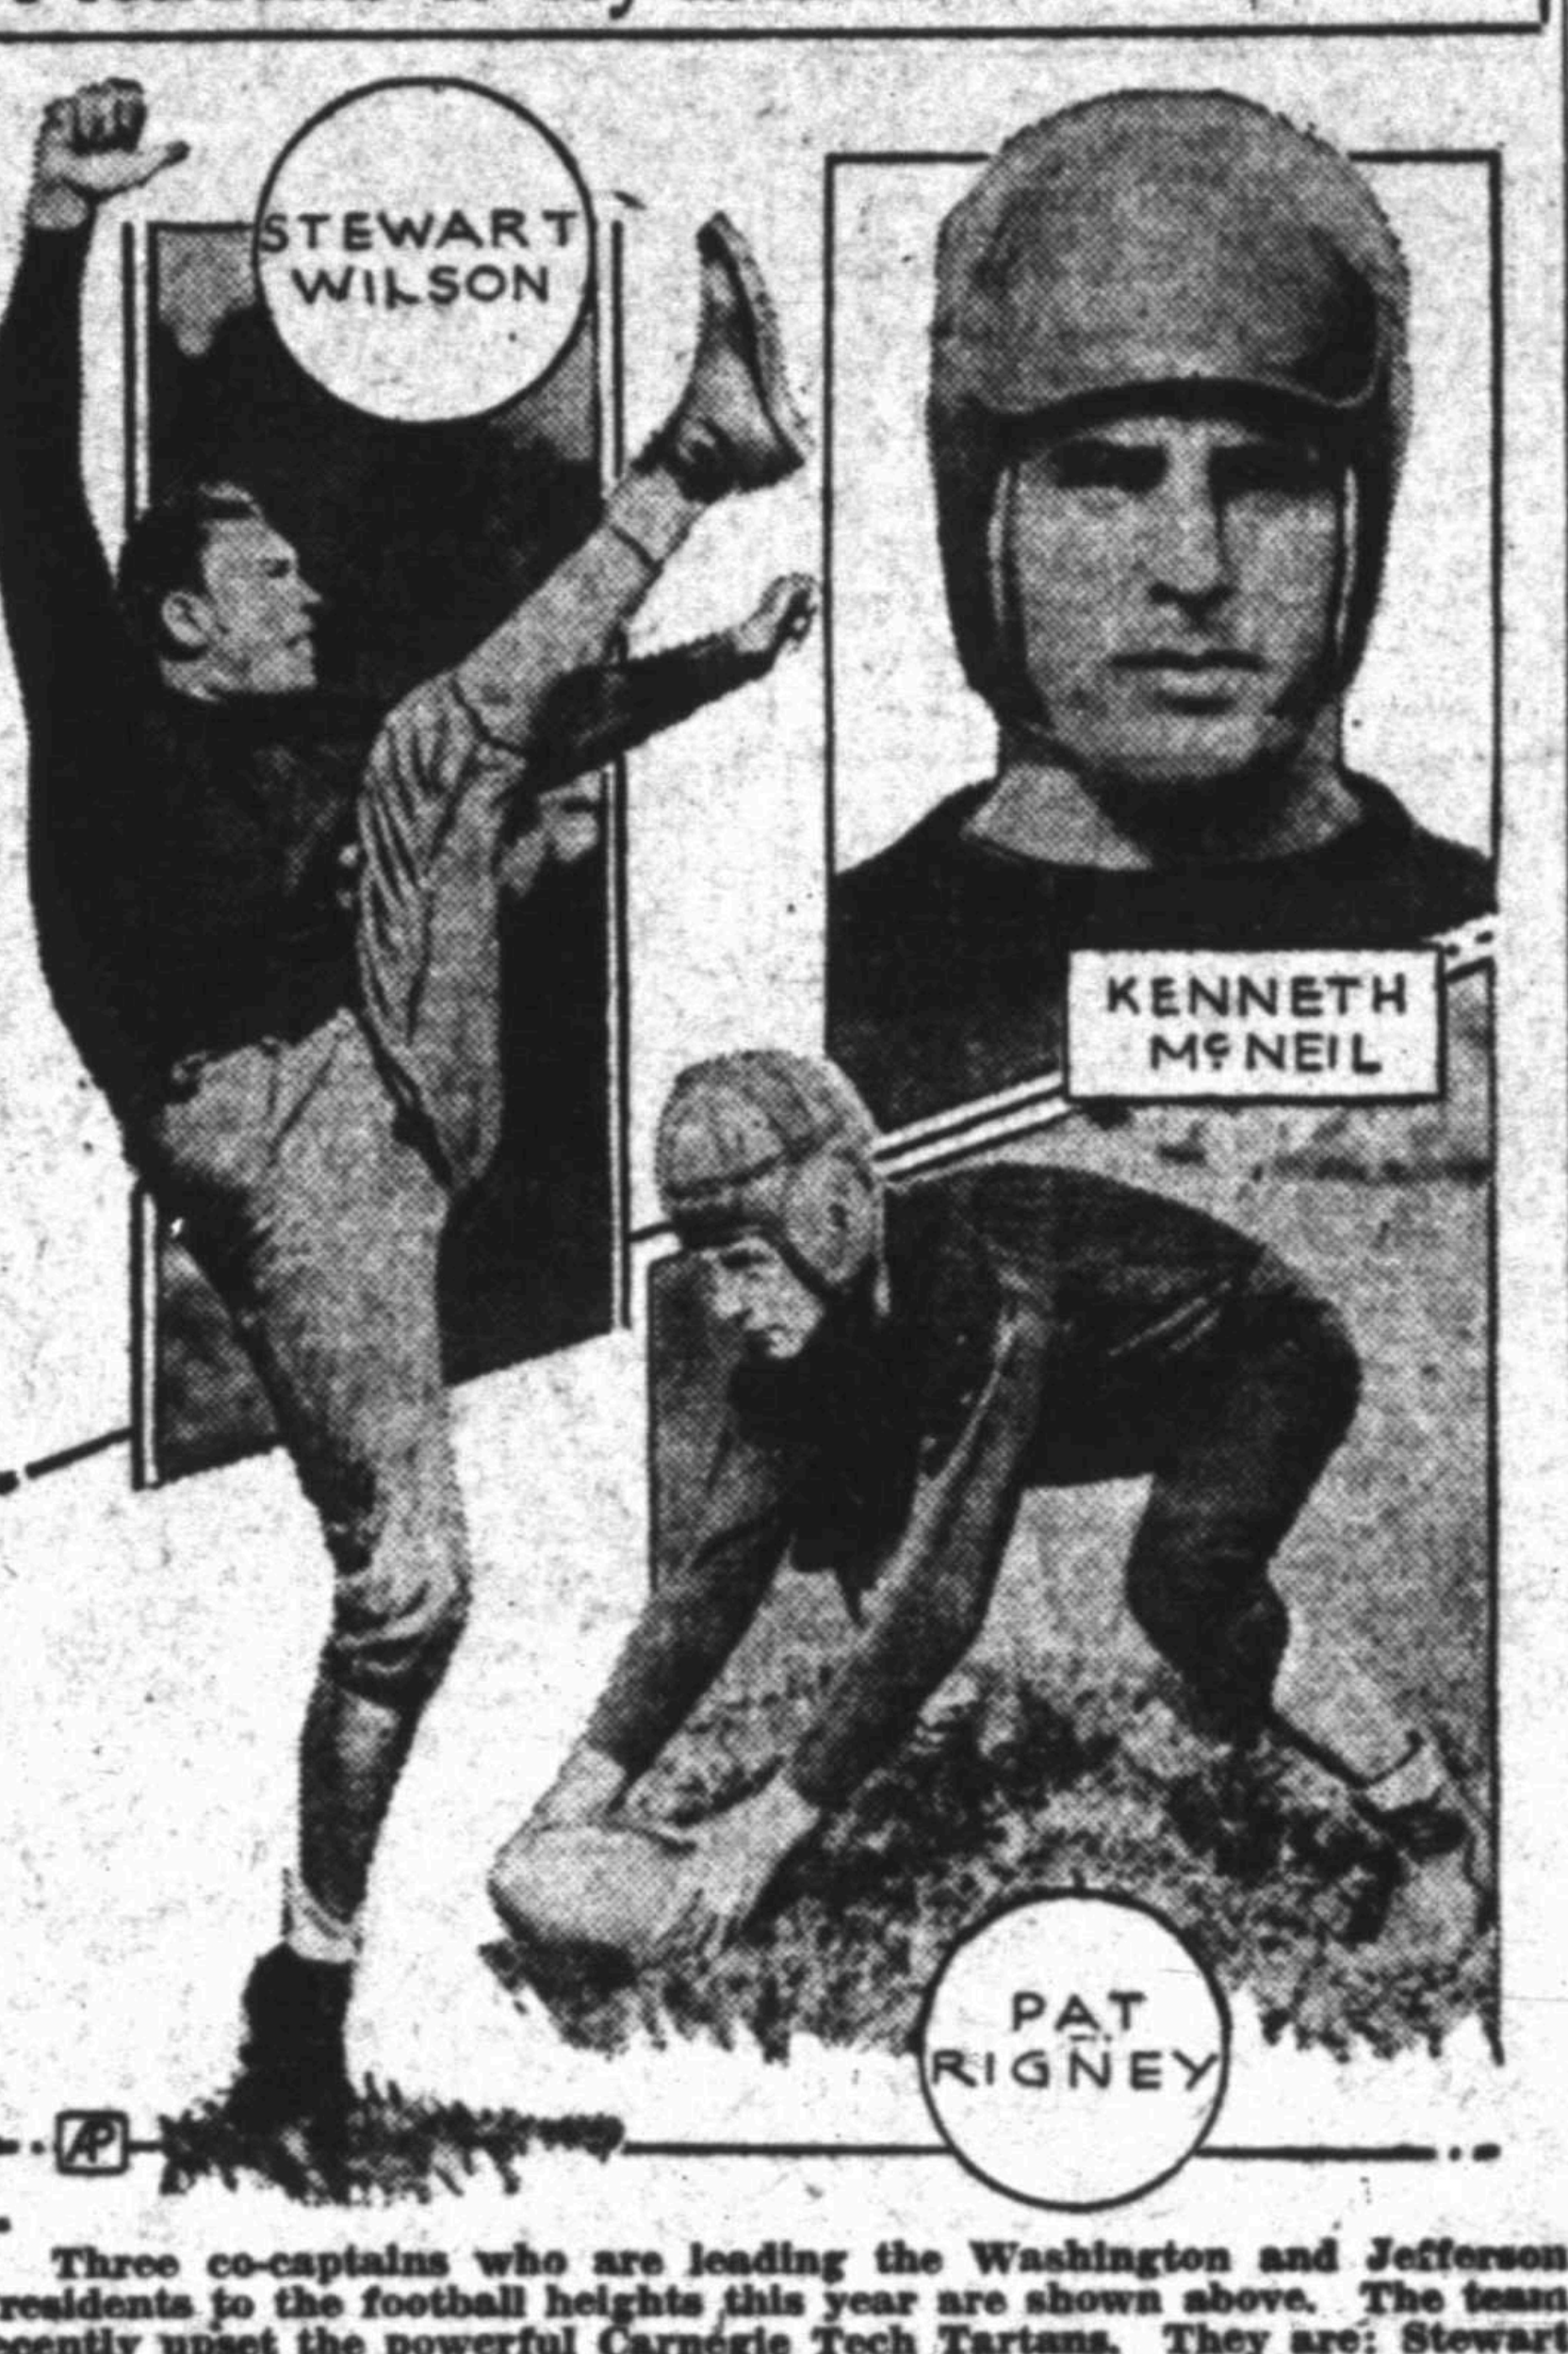
Rigney is a big fast center, formerly a backfield man, who is an exceptional defensive player. McNeil stars on the receiving end of Wilson's passes at right end.

He appears awkward in play, Line Coach Wilbur "Fats" Henry declaring his pass receiving has all the appearance of "a boy picking peaches," but he seldom fumbles.

Coach Bill Amos and Henry, both All-America players while students at W. & J., freely admit that they have a good team and while not willing to say that they will go through the season undefeated, they confide that their greatest barriers are the Temple and West Virginia games.

Amos is cheered by the fact that he will have two weeks between the two games which will allow pointing for both.

In the meantime, with all W. & J. games away from home, Washington citizens are consulting time tables more seriously than they have at any time since the team went West 10 years ago to play California to a scoreless tie in the Tournament of Roses.



Three co-captains who are leading the Washington and Jefferson Presidents to the football heights this year are shown above. The team recently upset the powerful Carnegie Tech Tartans. They are: Stewart Wilson, triple threat fullback; Pat Rigney, center, and Ken McNeil, right end.

Cooper's Wildcats of Archer City Bear Down for Game With Seymour

Special to The Record News.

ARCHER CITY, Texas, Oct. 13.—Stung by the defeat received from the Crowell team, Coach Bill Cooper has worked out the problem of defense and looks for the Archer City Wildcats to redeem themselves by giving the Seymour Panthers a drubbing Friday on the Archer City campus that will be felt from one end of district 3 to its outmost boundaries.

Ray, Strahan, Wright and Fish are in much better shape than they have ever been. Ray was not in the Crowell contest as he had not fully recovered from a shake-up two weeks before in the Munday game, but he is working fine this week. The "Light Horsemen" of the Cooper Cats, Horany, Fleming, Bevers, E. Hays and Threet are going at a winning gait, while Cooper's forward wall composed of Brewer, B. Hays, Bailey, Long and Larkin are at their best.

Coach Cooper is aware that the Panthers are a formidable foe and that the fur will fly from the opening gong to the closing whistle.

The teams are equally matched in weight, both tipping the beam on an average of 144 pounds.

The Archer City Cats will enter the contest with two victories and one defeat while the Seymour Panthers have one victory, one tie and one defeat behind them.

Crowell defeated Seymour, 32 to 2. Crowell defeated Archer City, 13 to 0.

Friday's game at Archer City between the Wildcats and Panthers bids fair for thrills.

Crowell, Chillicothe and Olney will watch the result with much interest for while those three are yet the undefeated teams they are aware that only one can possibly remain victorious and there is a possibility that all three may taste defeat and yet have to fight it out with the winner of the Archer City game Friday.

Archer City is preparing to have the Scotland band at the game. The yell squad of Archer City High school is being worked out in marches, songs and battle cries. A large crowd is expected to witness the game from every part of the district.

Derringer Files Suit As Result of Crash

FULTON, Mo., Oct. 13. (AP)—Paul Derringer, young pitcher of the world champion St. Louis Cardinals, filed suit in Callaway county circuit court here today for $2,850 from a man who gave his name as S. C. Smith, Kansas City, as the result of an automobile accident yesterday on highway No. 40 near Fulton in which Derringer was injured.

The Red Bird pitcher charged the accident resulted when Smith attempted to pass a car on a hill and collided with the Derringer machine. Derringer suffered a scalp wound, cut over the left eye, an injured nose and a severe blow over one of his kidneys.

The baseball player demands $750 of the amount because he will be unable to fulfill a contract to pitch for the Baltimore, Md., team Thursday. He also asks $500 for personal injuries and $1,600 for his wrecked automobile.

Three teams are running signals as Georgia Tech's Golden Tornado warms up for football.

PANTHERS GET SET FOR CATS

Seymour Team Shows Fight And Determination

Special to The Record News.

SEYMOUR, Texas, Oct. 13.—Seymour High Panthers are seeing some hard workouts this week, sharpening their claws for the game Friday with Archer City. No injuries were suffered in the Vernon game last Friday and the team will be able to get in four days of work ironing out defects that appeared in the Vernon game.

All men will be in the game Friday. Hooser and W. L. Howard who have been out for a week will be back in the game. Coy and Chilton will start their first game in the backfield Friday and the boys certainly look good, showing plenty of spirit and punch. Harrison, sensational end and a first-year man, is expected to halt anything that comes his way. Johnson, backfield, and Seals in the line will play their usual good game. A. Howard, tackle, has shown wonderful improvement in his offensive work, and will be heard from when he steps out Friday.

The rest of the squad is certainly making the best of their practice of improvement as well as determination and scrap. this week and are showing plenty

Ruth Wants to Play Ball Two More Years

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 13. (AP)—Babe Ruth wants at least two more years in baseball as a player to round out an even 20.

"And then," he said here today, putting his hand on the shoulder of Charles (Gabby) Street, manager of the world champion St. Louis Cardinals, "I'll probably try to do like Gabby is doing. I'll be telling other players how it ought to be done."

CROWELL TO SEEK REVENGE

Chillicothe Game Friday May Even Old Score

CHILLICOTHE, Texas, Oct. 13.—Smarting under the defeat handed them two years ago when the Eagles annexed a 12 to 0 score from them after going through the season without a defeat, the Crowell Wildcats are coming to Chillicothe with revenge in their minds. This game promises to be the first of two hard fought games of the season for the Eagles. The other will be the game with Olney. The Wildcats and Eagles are to begin their battle Friday afternoon on the local gridiron, starting promptly at 4 o'clock.

With all their confidence of whipping Coach Hill's Eagles the Crowell Wildcats realize at the same time they will be facing one of the scrappiest football elevens ever to represent the Chillicothe High school, offering plenty of strength on offense as well as defense, and carrying on the lineup two of the best backfield men in the conference, Cook and Ramsey. Fans will have the pleasure of seeing plenty of fur and feathers fly.

Arrangements are being made to care for a crowd to equal that of last year when Olney and Chillicothe played here. Coach Hill stated every man was in excellent shape and waited with much impatience for the day to arrive for the advance of the Wildcats toward the nests of the mighty Eagles. There is blood in their eyes and reasons signify there will be a real battle fought throughout the four quarters of the game.

Rains Hamper Workout Of Arkansas Eleven

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Oct. 13. (AP)—Torrential rains hampered the University of Arkansas Razorbacks today making it impossible for coaches to continue work of building up a passing attack.

The Porkers scampered through the rain and mud on line plays, however, indicating they would stick in the main to running plays when they meet Baylor university at Waco Saturday.

Should Coach Thomsen decide to rely principally on running plays "Cowboy" Kyle will probably lead the attack. Kyle is one of the fastest men in the Southwest conference. He has seen little action this season.

NEW BALL HAS CHANGED GAME

National Loop Head Reviews Effect of Pellet

(This is first of two interviews with John A. Heydler, president of the National league, in which he describes the effect of the less lively baseball).

By GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 13. (AP)—When the National league fathers, with nothing more important to do for the moment, decided last winter to take a little of the exuberance out of their official pellet, they didn't have the slightest idea they were writing a very important chapter in baseball history.

They just advised the manufacturer to stick on a little more leather, sew it up with one more strand than had been customary and deliver a few thousand gross in the spring. Then they promptly forgot all about it. They might have continued to forget about it but for the St. Louis Cardinals, who literally rode to a world championship on that momentous memorandum.

But, let John A. Heydler, president of the National league, tell you about it.

"I didn't have any idea what we were doing to the game," he admitted today while neatly stacking a pile of congratulatory telegrams that had poured in to league headquarters. The one from Connie Mack, venerable manager of the defeated Athletics, he placed on top.

"All we did was have them add about a paper-thickness of leather and bind the ball with four strands of thread instead of three. Of course, we thought it might make a slight difference in favor of the pitchers, but didn't foresee it would change the whole game and give us our first championship since 1926.

"That's what it did, though. The Cardinals realized what had been done, they adapted themselves to that new ball quicker than the other clubs, based their attack and defense on it and fought they way to the title.

"But that's not the last of it. It has definitely put the game back where it was 10 or 12 years ago, where a fast, quick-thinking club like the Cardinals has the advantage. The era of slugging is over so far as the National league is concerned. Only two of our teams, the Cardinals and the Giants really adapted themselves to the new ball this year, but every manager in the league will be playing it for all its worth next season.

"That dashing, spectacular game the Cardinals played to demoralize the Athletics wasn't thought up on the spur of the moment. They had been playing that way since the middle of the season, running the bases smartly and going for one run all the time. Gabby Street realized he didn't have a team of sluggers, but that he did have speed to burn, so he built his attack around it. The Athletics hadn't been playing against that kind of baseball."

Sharkey's Victory Puts New Zest Into Boxing Game

NEW YORK, Oct. 13. (AP)—Jack Sharkey, man of moods, given to gusty displays of rage and lack of control that have ruined many a heavyweight spectacle, finally has paid part of his debt to boxing.

There was new life, new interest today in the heavyweight division, the barometer by which the success of the game as a whole is measured, and it was due to but one reason—the sailor's spectacular thumping of Primo Carnera in the biting winds that swept Ebbets field last night.

Although a complete accounting was still lacking, Jimmy Johnston, the most versatile promoter since the late Tex Rickard, said today that 25,900 paid prices ranging from $3 to $15, braved the football weather to see the first thorough testing of the Italian giant.

COYOTES WORK OUT IN MUD

Drill Starts Preparations for Cowtown Game

The Pack lugged the ball in the mud yesterday—mud that was even thicker and harder to plough through than the rain-soaked field of Monday afternoon.

The boys got in about an hour of scrimmage, after limbering up on punting and passing. Raymond Allen teamed with Withrow in the punting exercise.

Today Coach Holton plans to place the Polly mode of attack before his charges, and a good portion of the drill the rest of the week will be given over to learning the offense of the Fort Worth team the Pack will play next Friday night in Fort Worth. The Polytechnic High school Parrots are reputed to be a strong aggregation this year.

Along with preparations for the Fort Worth game, Holton plans to improve his own team's offense in anticipation of the second Coyote conference game here Saturday week, with the Quanah Indians.

The streak of over-confidence in the Pack regarding the Quanah outfit had all but disappeared Tuesday, and the team worked with a will, determined to let this week's practice game in Fort Worth be a conditioner for the Quanah game.

Frogs Wallow in Mud Against Frosh

FORT WORTH, Oct. 13. (AP)—Continued rain of the past two days didn't keep the Horned Frogs indoors this afternoon. Instead, they went right out and walloped in the mud in a stiff scrimmage against the freshmen, who had been drilled in the Texas Aggie plays, in preparation for the game Saturday.

Coach Francis Schmidt also schooled his squad against the A. & M. defense which has been used in the Tulane and Iowa games.

JOHNSON GETS HIS JOB BACK

'Big Train' to Lead Senators Once More

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13. (AP)—again the "big train" will lead the Washington Senators in their drive next year for the American league flag.

President Clark Griffith of the Senators announced today that Walter Johnson, his former hurler and for the last three years manager, would remain as pilot next year.

An agreement covering one year was reached at a conference between the two this morning. No information was given out regarding the salary involved.

Johnson and the Senators wound up to third place this year after holding second throughout most of the season and fighting with Philadelphia for first during the early half.

More Gloom in Camp of Steers

AUSTIN, Oct. 13. (AP)—The shroud of gloom which has been cast about the University of Texas football eleven since its defeat by the Rice Owls last Saturday, was increased here today when it was learned that Arthur Niebuhr, big reserve tackle, received a fractured wrist in scrimmage yesterday afternoon. Niebuhr's injury was at first believed to have been a slight strain, but an X-ray picture disclosed a fractured bone.

Herschel Moody, regular tackle, who received a broken nose in the Rice game, may play in part of the Oklahoma game at Dallas Saturday, and Capt. Maurice Baumgarten, who was on the sidelines during the Rice tilt, will also be ready to start Saturday, Coach Clyde Littlefield said.

Saints' Game to Be Played Friday Night

AUSTIN, Oct. 13. (AP)—The Texas conference football game between St. Edwards university and Southwestern university will be played in Georgetown Friday night, Coach Al Sarafiny of St. Edward's announced today. Originally the game was to have been played in Austin Saturday.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Oct. 13. (AP)—A sharp early advance of approximately $2.00 to $2.50 per bale in cotton today was attributed to covering and trade buying.

After selling up to 6.34 for December, prices reacted partially, with that position selling down to 6.12, but very little hedging developed in the late trading and the market firmed up again with December closing at 6.24. The general market closed steady at net advances of 34 to 39 points.

The opening was steady 31 to 47 points higher, with the active months selling about 36 to 51 points net higher on active covering and buying believed to be partly for trade account. This was evidently stimulated by a favorable interpretation of reports from New Orleans that a provisional agreement had been reached by the conference of southern bankers and members of the federal farm board at New Orleans with reference to the financing and holding of approximately 6,800,000 bales of cotton until July 31, 1932. Closing quotations were within 9 to 16 points on active positions.

Liverpool cables attributed the firmness in that market to local and foreign buying on the farm board agreement and said there was an increased demand for cotton cloths from South America and Africa.

The domestic carded cloth statistics showed an increase of 4.4 per cent in unfilled orders and a decrease of 2.4 per cent in stocks on hand. Exports today 39,757, making 1,043,259 so far this season. Port receipts 79,058. U. S. port stocks 2,213,049.

Futures closed steady, 34 to 39 points higher. Spot steady; middling 6.30.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 13. (AP)—Very active trading featured the cotton market today, due to the announcement of an agreement between the farm loan board, the cooperative associations and southern bankers to hold 7,000,000 bales off the market until July and probably half that amount next season if farmers cut acreage adequately. This news and a firm Liverpool caused an early advance of nearly $2.50 a bale, most of which was maintained to the end.

Liverpool is due tomorrow one penny point up on New Orleans.

The textile statistics for September were considered favorable as they showed sales of cotton goods 5.7 per cent in excess of production and a gain in unfilled orders of 4.4 per cent.

British Board of Trade statistics for September were unfavorable, showing exports of yarns of 9,000,000 pounds against 11,000,000 the previous month and 9,000,000 in September last year and exports of cloths of 128,000,000 square yards against 144,000,000 the previous month and 143,000,000 in September last year.

Liverpool came in 13 to 17 penny points better than due and private cables stated that there was local and foreign buying on the federal farm board agreement. Manchester cabled that there was an increased cloth inquiry from South America. December closed at 6.26 or 35 points net higher for the day and January at 6.37 up 34 points net for the day.

Port receipts 86,579; for week, 215,249; for season, 2,232,597; last season, 3,275,229. Exports 47,278; for week, 102,127; for season, 1,018,797; last season, 1,562,801. Port stocks 3,862,428; last year, 3,162,064. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston and Houston, 144,064; last year, 147,812. Spot sales at southern markets 105,670; last year, 69,185.

Futures closed steady at net advances of 34 to 37 points:

Stock Prices React From Higher Prices After Extended Week-End

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, Oct. 13. (US)—The extended week-end having brought no new encouraging developments, the securities markets today reacted from last week's closing prices. Setbacks were sizeable both in stocks and in bonds. Weakness of the latter, especially among the U. S. government, discouraged any resumption of the aggressive demand for stocks which had featured last week's markets. Volume of selling in stocks was limited, turnover falling to the lowest total in more than a month.

Liquidation in bonds, however, continued in undiminished scale with volume second largest for any day this year. A great many speculators had been expecting announcement over the week-end of the long-anticipated railroad rate increase, and when this was not forthcoming the entire rail list was subjected to profit-taking and some renewal of liquidation by impatient holders. The far eastern news detailing strained relations between Japan and China, with its significant gestures toward possible warfare, were not particularly cheering. Germany's political entanglements very obviously were an outgrowth of the status of her finances.

Germany's affairs are occupying a much greater role in bankers' deliberations currently than are publicly admitted. Frankly, the nation's suspension of the gold standard is in the realm of very early possibilities. It is not at all an exaggeration to state that the German situation, further strained by the delay in international cooperation, will form one of the main topics for discussion between President Hoover and Premier Laval of France, when the latter reaches Washington within the next fortnight.

As this meeting time approaches, the significance of the conference assumes ever-increasing importance. As the two great gold-standard nations of the world, with the likelihood of their being the only nations to retain the standard unless great changes are immediately effected, it is essential that they come to some agreement on economic policies. Pending the outcome of their meeting, informed interests are maintaining a passive attitude toward the securities markets, especially stocks.

Declines were general throughout the list. With short-selling still limited by reason of the stock exchange restrictions, prices fluctuated rather widely. Steel common dropped down 2⅝ points, General Electric 2¼, American Can 3¼, Auburn was off 8½, American Telephone 3⅞.

Disappointment over absence of any constructive news from Washington on the rails found immediate reflection in the price of the carrier shares. New York Central closed off 4 points, Baltimore & Ohio 3⅝, Pennsylvania 3¼, Atchison 5, Southern Pacific 5¾, and others in proportion. Consolidated Gas dropped 4⅝ points.

Size of the declines in the various leaders evidenced a "thin market." This is largely due to the absence of any sizeable short interest, since many would-be speculators are refraining from taking any commitments while the present restrictions are in effect. They have no desire to undertake speculations while their every move is immediately disclosed to the stock market.

Continued heaviness in bond prices is the most discouraging element to would-be buyers of stocks. In the normal course of events confidence in the investments markets should first be demonstrated in bonds, then passing into highest-grade stocks such as preferred issues, and finally into common stocks. The bond market's action shows that liquidation is still taking place.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Oct. 13. (AP)—War clouds in the far east gave the wheat market an upward trend today, with reports current that Russia might eventually be involved. A sharp decrease of the amount of wheat afloat for importing countries was an additional bullish factor, and so too was 3,434,000 bushels decrease in the United States wheat visible supply total. Export purchases of North American wheat over the holiday were estimated at as high as 2,000,000 bushels, mostly Canadian.

Wheat closed firm, unchanged to ½c advance, corn ⅛@⅜c off, oats unchanged to ⅜c up, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 5c.

Lack of any important moisture relief for the dry regions Southwest where seeding of domestic winter wheat has been seriously impeded was a subject of special comment.

Selling of corn by "spread traders" who simultaneously made equal purchases of wheat had a bearish effect on corn. Wet weather over the corn belt was thus more than nullified as a market influence, especially as the corn visible supply total was enlarged 980,000 bushels. Oats followed wheat rather than corn.

Provisions were responsive to hog market upturns.

NEW YORK, Oct. 13. (AP)—Daily average gross crude oil production in the United States increased 15,250 barrels in the week ended Oct. 10, totaling 2,162,700 barrels, the American Petroleum institute's weekly summary indicates. Daily average production east of California increased 7,450 barrels to 1,657,200 barrels.

Imports of crude and refined oils at principal United States ports totaled 1,790,000 barrels against 1,215,000 barrels.

The weekly refinery statistics for the United States and the weekly figures covering stocks of gasoline at bulk terminals and gasoline in transit, usually part of this statement, are omitted this week due to delay in arrival of individual company reports on account of the Columbus day holiday. A statement will be issued Wednesday in which will be included the remainder of the report.

NORTHWEST OF ARCHER CITY

Paul Gose and associates have staked out their No. 1 Young-Lankford Investment test to be drilled in block 134, A. T. N. C. L. survey, two miles northwest of Archer City, and one mile southwest of the Hutchinson pool in Archer county. The test will drill to the 2200 foot sand. A derrick is up and machinery will be moved in at once.

WEST OF HUFF STATION

W. E. Norton and associates No. 1 L. F. Wilson is drilling at 1950 feet. The test which is an absolute wildcat is located in the south half of section 63, A. T. N. C. L. survey, Archer county.

NORTH ARCHER TEST

H. C. Dean and others No. 1 Chas. L. Abercrombie, located in the Samuel Swartout survey, in abstract 197, Archer county, is drilling at 600 feet.

CHALK HILL REVIVAL

Drilling operations on the several deep tests in the Chalk Hill pool north of Archer City in Archer county are expected to resume in the next 24 hours, as the downpour of rain during Monday night was responsible for a three-foot rise in the Little Wichita river which has been the chief source of water supply for this area. While the precipitation in the immediate vicinity of wells failed to give relief heavier rains further to the north was the factor in the rise of the creeks and river in this part of Archer county.

REFINERY REPAIRS

The Taxman Refining company has about completed a number of needed repairs on its plant in north Wichita and will probably resume operations in a week or 10 days.

PRIMROSE-CONSOLIDATED

The Primrose Refining-Consolidated No. 1 L. F. Wilson, a 2500-foot rotary test located northwest of Archer City, and southwest of Chalk Hill production in block 116, A. T. C N. L. survey, is drilling at 2169 feet, slowly nearing the 2200 foot pay from which the wells in the pool receive their output.

NORTHEAST OF ELECTRA

Schlaffke & Blair No. 4 W. B. Honaker, located in the northwest portion of C. & M. R. R. survey, abstract 379, northeast of Electra in Wichita county, is drilling at a depth of 800 feet.

Jealous Squaw Sought For Killing Girl Student

WHITE RIVER, Ariz., Oct. 13. (US)—Arrest of a jealous Apache squaw as the slayer of Henrietta Schmerler, Columbia university honor student, was declared near tonight by authorities.

The squaw was sought by federal officers who for two months have been trying to outmaneuver the stoic Indians who have refused to reveal clues.

Miss Schmerler, who had come to Arizona to study Indian lore for her doctor's degree, is declared to have occasioned the squaw's hatred because she conferred with young Indians in her search for information about tribal customs.

California Grape Crop Decreases for Year

SACRAMENTO, Calif., Oct. 13. (US)—State-federal agricultural statisticians today predicted a 1,329,000 ton grape crop for California, compared with 2,182,000 tons last year.

Cling peaches were expected to total 402,000 tons, against 542,000 tons last year of which 298,000 tons were listed as marketable fruit harvested.

"Reports from canners," said the announcement, "show that about 8,350,000 cases of peaches have been canned and that between 90,000 and 100,000 tons of 'number one' fruit have been purchased and left on trees unharvested."

Walter Jamerson, 83, father of 16 daughters and oldest convict in Kentucky state prison, has been paroled.

DEBATE MARKS A. F. L. SESSION

Administration Forces Win After Wrangle

VANCOUVER, B. C., Oct. 13. Insurgency, which threatened for a while to destroy one of the planks in the carefully prepared platform of the executive council of the American Federation of Labor, was knocked in the head today as the organization's 51st annual convention was resumed after a three-day recess.

The administration forces triumphed, however, only after a two-hour debate which developed into the warmest fight that the convention has yet witnessed.

Pending legislation which would extend the classification of federal employes provided the issue for the battle. The metal trades workers, at present exempt from classification, feared the bill might endanger their status and persuaded the executive council to go on record condemning it.

This brought vigorous protests from the other federal workers who had been supporting the measure and the committee on legislation, finding itself unable to reconcile the conflicting views of the two factions, proposed that the matter be referred back to the executive council. A minority report, however, endorsed the executive council's original findings and the minority report was finally adopted by a vote of 150 to 50.

Just before the classification fight broke out, the federation referred to the executive council a recommendation endorsing the Columbia basin project.

The federation adopted two other reports from the legislation committee—on reaffirming its position in favor of higher standards in government employment and the other attacking the finger printing of government workers.

The resolutions committee will present its reports tomorrow, its chairman, Matthew Woll, asking the convention to make it a special order of business.

These reports, dealing with prohibition, the injunction question and unemployment among other vital issues, are expected to be the most significant of the whole convention.

Two new cities entered the race today to win the 1932 convention. They are Cincinnati and Memphis. Washington, Atlantic City and Indianapolis had previously submitted invitations.

Amarillo Rises in Protest Against Removal of Medical Convention

AMARILLO, Texas, Oct. 13. (AP)—The Amarillo Chamber of Commerce today protested removal of the 1932 convention of the Texas State Medical society from Amarillo to Waco and demanded a rehearing.

This city was selected as the next meeting place at the annual convention in Beaumont last spring, but the board of directors announced Monday that an emergency had been declared because of conflicting dates and the convention had been removed to Waco. Amarillo received more votes than other cities combined when the matter was presented to delegates at Beaumont.

A message addressed to Dr. Holman Taylor of Dallas, secretary of the state society, pointed out that Amarillo had spent almost $1,000 in inviting the convention to Amarillo and in preparations for the meeting next spring. Part of this expense went for freight on commercial exhibits sent here from Beaumont, and for storage which the local chamber is paying for monthly.

Manager O. V. Vernon said the chamber of commerce would attack the exhibits if the society's board does not rescind its action or refund the city's expenses.

The Potter County Medical society also has protested the change. Dr. W. H. Flamm, president, said that plans were under way to organize a tri-state post-graduate clinic in this territory, but he refused to say whether the plans were prompted by action of the state board.

"We object to this arbitrary action on the part of the board," Vernon said, "after the doctors had voted to met in Amarillo. The dates can be changed. The least they could do would be to give us a hearing."

Baylor County Turkey Show Set In Seymour October 30-31

Special to The Record News.

SEYMOUR, Texas, Oct. 13.—Plans are now being made by County Agent P. C. Colgin, the Seymour Chamber of Commerce and Seymour business men to stage a tom turkey show and turkey grading school here Oct. 30-31. This is something entirely new for Baylor county and as far as the extension service knows, in the state.

No prizes will be offered, but the show will give turkey growers an opportunity to learn the kind of stock they have at the head of their flocks, also learn more about home dressing for the market.

The first afternoon of the show will be devoted to the judging of toms. The second day instructions will be given in killing, picking, dressing and grading of the dressed turkeys. Paul A. Cunyus, assistant poultry husbandman of the extension service, has been secured to do the judging and grading. Mr. Cunyus is a recognized authority on turkeys.

A large number of entries and visitors from out of the county is expected to attend, as invitations to seven surrounding counties will be sent out. These counties are Archer, Clay, Wichita, Haskell, Knox, Young and Throckmorton.

Representatives from several of the leading farm magazines have expressed a desire to attend and invitations will be sent to them.

TAX COLLECTOR GOES TO TRIAL

Testimony Opens in Foard County Case

Special to The Record News.

CROWELL, Texas, Oct. 13.—A jury was selected here today for the special term of district court which was called to try Que R. Miller former Foard county sheriff and tax collector, against whom four bills of indictment, charging Miller with the misappropriating of public funds, were returned by the Foard county grand jury in the September term of court.

The trial opened Monday, when three motions by the defense were overruled by Judge W. N. Stokes. One motion concerned the jurisdiction of the special term, another asked for continuance and the third sought to quash the indictment.

After the completion of the jury this afternoon testimony was started. M. F. Crowell Jr., deputy Foard county tax collector, and J. B. Allred, Wichita Falls certified public accountant who reported a shortage in the accounts of the tax collector in his audit of the county books that was completed several weeks ago, took the stand for the state this afternoon.

The audit made by Allred reported a shortage to the county of over $5,000 in the tax collector's account.

Etex Oil Blaze Burns Itself Out

OVERTON, Texas, Oct. 13. (AP)—Storage tanks at the Russell-Powers No. 1, ignited today when a pump blew out a gasket, burned themselves out tonight.

G. E. Webb Jr., 21, an oil pump operator, was burned seriously when the oil burst into flames.

A pump blew out a gasket, shooting a stream of oil high in the air. The oil fell on the brushes of an electric motor, causing the fire.

Drenched in flaming oil, Webb dived into a slush pit, which immediately caught fire. He managed to crawl into a clear water pit, from which he was rescued by oil workers. Physicians said he was badly burned, but had an excellent chance to recover.

A nearby creek, in which slush oil had been running from the well, caught fire and ignited several oil tanks. National guard barracks near the creek edge, were endangered.

Guardsmen hurriedly gathered their belongings and evacuated the danger zone.

Due to a steady south wind, fire fighters were able to gain control of the blaze.

21 EXAMINED AT CLINICS

Tuberculosis Expert Begins Work Here

Twenty-one persons were examined Tuesday by Dr. E. E. Darnell, Ponca City tuberculosis specialist brought here by the Wichita County Tuberculosis association for a three-day semiannual clinic.

Dr. Darnell made an examination of four cases at the Wichita county farm early Monday. Later he addressed students of the Wichita Falls High school and Junior college and showed two motion pictures dealing with tuberculosis. Following a 15-minute address over KGKO, he held a clinic at the Highland Heights Christian church from 10:30 to 12 a. m. During the afternoon he held a clinic at Burkburnett.

Pictures shown at the school assembly were titled "Delay is Dangerous," and "Jinks." The latter was a comedy, but both movies emphasized the danger of tuberculosis.

Six persons, one a child, were examined at the clinic here. Several of the examinations were of persons who previously had suffered from tuberculosis. All were pronounced to have become rid of the disease, it was said.

Eleven persons were examined at the Burkburnett clinic, according to Miss Mary Quinn, executive secretary of the association. Eight of the group were children. One case, an adult, it was said, was active with tuberculosis. Five children had been exposed. Parents were advised to immediately send the children to preventoriums.

Assisting Miss Quinn at the clinic here were Mrs. M. A. Beckman and Mrs. H. T. Wilson. At Burkburnett, Mrs. T. J. Reasoner of Wichita Falls and Mrs. Kate Wooten and Mrs. I. D. Russell of Burkburnett, assisting.

At noon Tuesday Dr. Darnell was the guest of the Wichita County Medical society auxiliary at the Woman's Forum. Dr. Darnell spoke briefly, telling of his work among Indians in Oklahoma.

The specialist will conduct a clinic at Iowa Park Wednesday morning. During the afternoon a clinic will be held at Electra. Thursday an all-day clinic will be held here at the Highland Heights Christian church.

Dr. Darnell is brought here with funds subscribed with the purchase of Christmas seals last December.

$12,816,000 Shown for Entire County

Reports for the past fiscal year on Wichita county and its several bond-issuing subdivisions prepared by County Auditor Paul Barnett for transmission to the state auditor reveal a total bonded indebtedness of $12,816,114.99, exclusive of the Wichita Falls Independent School district and the Wichita Drainage district No. 1.

Provisions of such reports showing taxes collected, delinquencies, indebtedness and sinking funds for the county and all its subdivisions is required by a law passed by the 42nd legislature. It requires that such statements be turned in to the auditor or county clerk by Sept. 30 of each year, under penalty of fine or imprisonment.

Fiscal years end on different dates with different governmental units, it was explained. Wichita county drainage district No. 2 had not been organized at the close of the past fiscal year. Figures on the Wichita Falls Independent School district and the Wichita County Drainage district No. 1 are not yet complete, Mr. Barnett said.

The compiled figures are as follows:

Wichita county: Taxes collected for all purposes, $340,302; delinquent taxes, $44,321.76; outstanding time warrants, $252,000; bonded indebtedness, $1,624,000; sinking fund, $200,024.80.

Wichita county cities, Wichita Falls, Burkburnett, Iowa Park and Electra: Taxes collected, $591,129.77; delinquencies, $299,264.70; outstanding current warrants, $76,157.54; time warrants, $134,067.18; bonded indebtedness, $4,783,875; sinking funds, $95,363.86.

Independent school districts (except Wichita Falls): Taxes collected, $119,103.96; delinquencies, $32,092.60; current warrants, $2,090; bonded indebtedness, $462,500; sinking funds, $18,692.18.

Common school districts: Taxes collected, $52,151.24; delinquencies, $8,646.99; bonded indebtedness, $89,739.99.

Road districts: Taxes collected, $15,682.73; delinquencies, $2,538.30; bonded indebtedness, $358,000.

Irrigation districts: Taxes collected, $482,673.70; delinquencies, $261,640.98; current warrants, $495.64; time warrants, $250,000; bonded indebtedness, $5,498,000; sinking funds, $961,477.88.

State: Taxes collected, $330,139.68; delinquencies, $40,185.07.

Totals: Taxes collected, $1,191,183.08; delinquent taxes, $688,690.40; current warrants, $78,743.18; time warrants, $636,067.18; bonded indebtedness, $12,816,114.99; sinking funds, $1,324,149.10.

Figures from the Wichita Falls independent school district and drainage district No. 1 would increase several of these totals materially for the close of the last fiscal year. Since that time drainage district No. 2 has been created.

J. D. Tramble, negro, was sentenced to serve two years in the state penitentiary for the robbery of the Orchid Shop on Aug. 2. The court allowed the convicted man credit for his confinement in the Wichita county jail here since Aug. 6, stipulating that the two-year sentence run from that date. Tramble admitted two previous penitentiary sentences.

Cooperation Pledged in National Broadcast

Two undertakings designed to bring the buying public and retail dealers into closer contact were planned here Tuesday by the retail trade division of the chamber of commerce.

It was decided to give the fullest cooperation to the United States Chamber of Commerce in that organization's series of radio broadcasts over a national network to bring about a closer relation between the public and retailers. More than 300 chambers of commerce and other civic organizations of the nation have pledged cooperation, it was said.

The first broadcast will be put on the air Oct. 22, it was announced. Five other programs will be presented at intervals. Each broadcast will be marked with a talk by a speaker of national prominence, including Mrs. Calvin Coolidge; Miss Mary Lewis, style expert; and Kathleen Norris, novelist.

The second undertaking to be projected by the division calls for a Christmas celebration. Tentative plans are for the arrival of Santa Claus by airplane.

The committee named to forward plans for the affairs is composed of John W. Thomas, Burton Stayton, Darrold Kahn, B. D. Donnell, Marvin Smith and T. A. Bradley.

Quick Justice Seen As Bandit Cure

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla., Oct. 13. (AP)—Swifter justice and less "glorification of the criminal as a romantic figure are necessary if organized banditry is to be stamped out in this country, J. Edgar Hoover, director of the bureau of investigation of the department of justice, told the International Association of Police Chiefs in annual convention here today.

"If the legal profession would purge itself of those parasites who call themselves 'attorneys at law,' but might be more properly styled 'legal technicians and alibi framers'; if the courts would function more energetically and forcefully in administering justice and eliminate the all too prevalent tendency toward finding technical obstructions in carrying out the spirit of the law, and if the public would awaken to its civic responsibility, including close scrutiny of prosecuting officials, to be accompanied by the swift official demise of any officer betraying his public trust, the problems confronting law enforcement officers would be materially simplified and the punishment of the criminal rendered more swift and certain," he said.
