

CONGRATULATIONS AND BON VOYAGE TO THE RFHS CHOIR

Dear Editor,

As the time quickly nears for our choir and sponsors to leave for the trip to Vienna, I would like to take this opportunity to say a big THANK YOU to all the people of Aransas County and the surrounding area who helped to make this dream a reality. Without your help, this would never have been possible. We, the parents and members of the Choir Booster Club, have tried to acknowledge as many of the gifts as possible, but we know that there are many we have missed. Whether it was buying a plate of barbecue, or donating a doorprize for a dance, or a cash donation, or the countless things that have been done during the past year to help us, we are saying THANK YOU!!!

As we board the plane on July 7 we will be remembering you and all the nice things you have done for us, and when we return, we will be eager to try to return the favors to you all in whatever way we can. It's no wonder why God has blessed our little city with so many wonderful blessings — it's people like you that deserve them. Sincerely, Frances L. Iles, Pres. Rockport-Fulton High School Choir Boosters Club

Tax hearings scheduled

Aransas County's appraisal review board will hold its first public hearings — on taxable minerals and industrial property — at 10 a.m. Wednesday, July 14, in the Aransas County Courthouse.

Hearings for remaining property in Aransas County will begin a week later, on Thursday, July 22, according to Jack Groseclose, chief appraiser for the countywide appraisal district.

Most property owners in Aransas County should have received their tax notices by now according to Groseclose who said some 29,000 notices went into the mail this past Friday, July 2.

Appraisal records were delivered to the review board last Tuesday, June 29, and the board — under the state law that established countywide appraisal districts throughout Texas — must meet within 10 days to examine the rolls.

Persons who wish to appear before the appraisal review board must register at the appraisal district office, 701 Allen in Rockport, Groseclose said, and they must register prior to the beginning of the hearings on July 22.

All hearings, except those for the mineral and industrial properties, will be in the board room of the appraisal district office.

Groseclose said those who register to appear before the board will be asked to give their name and the property for which they are registering and why they wish to appear before the board.

This will give review board members some idea of what the property owner wants to discuss, Groseclose said. "And," he added, "there's a possibility they may not even have to appear before the board."

If the taxpayer's complaint arises from a clerical error or misinformation — or if the taxpayer simply has questions — Groseclose said the problem might be cleared up or the questions answered by appraisal district personnel.

"We want everybody to have their day in court," he said. "We want to give everybody that wants to their opportunity to appear before the review board — but we also want to save as much time as possible for the board — and for the taxpayer."

ACTA calls special meeting

The 1982 tax statements have been mailed out and the Aransas County Taxpayers Association (ACTA) has called a special meeting at 7:30 p.m. July 13 to discuss them.

According to ACTA president Mitch Ammons, the meeting will take place in the District Courtroom, County Courthouse and will include the following items for discussion:

- 1) How to read the appraisal notice.
 - 2) How to compare 1981 taxes with the 1982 value and estimated taxes.
 - 3) Procedures to follow to go before the Review Board.
 - A) Filing request for review by July 22 at the appraisal office.
 - B) Facts and/or documents needed to take to the review board.
 - C) Getting review request speech planned out ahead of time.
 - 4) Importance of the full 40 percent Homestead Exemption that ACTA requested of all entities on April 27.
- ACTA has to date received no action on the request that entities grant the full exemption. All entities have received the written request.

Those who do register to appear before the board of review will be given a day and time for their appearance and the board will meet "for as long as it takes," Groseclose said, in order to hear all the property owners who want to speak.

The chief appraiser added the property owner should "bring something for the board to make a decision on — such as the tax notice, an insurance policy on the property, a recent sales contract, figures on what the neighbors sold their property for."

The appraisal review board replaces the old boards of equalization that existed prior to establishment of the statewide system of appraisal districts.

The review boards are more formal than the old boards of equalization, Groseclose said.

He emphasized the need for people to register to appear before the review board, saying, "The law requires registration and we will follow the law."

13 proves good number for Art Festival

"Who says the 13th is unlucky?" asked Cam Leonard, president of the 1982 Rockport Art Association.

Certainly the Association doesn't — not after Rockport's 13th annual Art Festival this past weekend.

Crowds estimated at 20,000 to 25,000 flocked to the two-day show, not just to look, but to buy, said Leonard and Festival Chairwoman Gertrude Bryant.

"All the artists had sales," said Leonard, adding that many were surprised by their success here.

ART FESTIVAL-GOERS ADMIRE some of the varied arts and crafts that were available in this year's 13th annual Festival sponsored by the Rockport Art Association.

ation. Thirteen wasn't unlucky at all as crowds estimated at 20,000 to 25,000 people flocked to the show in Ski Basin Park.

in other places because of the economy were selling here," said Leonard, adding, "That's a good indication of the state of Aransas County's economy."

One artist showing for the first time this year told Leonard, "I'll be back."

The crowds weren't as good the first day, Saturday, as Festival workers had anticipated, Leonard said, "but they made up for it Sunday."

And Bryant added, "There was a continual movement of people" on the Festival grounds. Leonard commented that one of the artists told him, "We couldn't have handled any more people."

Final figures won't be available for a few days on what the Art Association netted from its combined food sales and the Country Store tent, but Leonard said the gross just for Saturday — excluding the Country Store — came to about $5,500.

Money raised by the Art Association through the Festival goes into the Art Association's building fund for its proposed Art Center to be located on Rockport Beach.

"It was a good selling show," was Bryant's comment on the 13th annual Festival. She added that one of its most touching moments was at 1 p.m. Sunday when a tape of the National Anthem was played and Bill Agee led in the Pledge of Allegiance. "All these people were standing there," she said.

She and Leonard both praised not only the volunteers who worked in the Festival but local businesses and organizations that contributed items or services to the Festival.

"The chairpeople outdid themselves," Leonard said. "You couldn't hire people to replace the labor of love these people put in for the Art Center."

He praised Bryant "who not only chaired the Festival but has been out here working right with the volunteers."

"It's a community project," he added. "The 13th," he observed, "wasn't unlucky at all!"

Drowning victim's body is recovered

By BECKY WERHAN
Staff writer

The body of an Iowa man drowned in Copano Bay last week was discovered early Monday morning by fishermen on the northwest side of Holiday Beach.

Phillip Rangel Sr. of Des Moines, Iowa drowned last Wednesday night near the Copano Causeway. According to local authorities, it was unusual for Rangel's drowned body to drift north toward Holiday Beach, where three fishermen found it lying on the shore near an oil and gas well installation.

The discovery was made at approximately 7:30 a.m. Monday and the body was recovered some two hours later by Texas Parks and Wildlife wardens. Present when the body was brought in at the Holiday Beach boat ramp dock was a deputy from the Aransas County Sheriff's Office and Justice of the Peace for Precinct 1, Bonnie McCarty.

A positive identification was made and Rangel's next of kin in San Antonio were notified by the Sheriff's Office.

Following identification, the body was turned over to employees of Marshall Funeral Home, who transported it to Aransas Pass.

The accident which resulted in Rangel's death was attributed primarily to an overloaded boat. The 14-foot boat carried Rangel and four others, Isidor Rangel, Norma Rangel, Phillip Rangel Jr. and Frank Sparza, all of San Antonio. The boat

Nav. Dist. commissioners are 'no billed'

An Aransas County grand jury has returned "no bills" on four Aransas County Navigation District commissioners accused of violations of the Texas Open Meetings Act.

The results of the recent grand jury session — which did return indictments against six persons including a man charged with the June 9 slaying of Robert Charles Norwood — were released Friday afternoon by the District Clerk's office in Aransas County.

"No bills" were returned on Navigation District commissioners R.W. (Bobby) Landrum, Hillis Dominguez, Hal B. McKnight and Kirk Holman. The four had been accused of violations of the Texas

Open Meeting Act in meetings on Nov. 4, 1981, and May 25, 1982.

"No bills" were also returned on three men who had been charged with murder.

District Attorney Thomas L. Bridges said when the grand jury makes its decisions, "no one is present but themselves. All I could do is speculate on why they made their decisions."

He added that, by law, the proceedings of a grand jury are secret and legally, the grand jury members cannot reveal why they make a particular decision.

A "no bill" he said can mean that evidence presented to the grand jury indicates there is no truth to the charge or that evidence supports the charge but is not sufficient to take into a court of law.

A true bill requires the vote of at least nine of the 12 grand jurors, Bridges added.

Among indictments that were returned is one against Lamon Johnson, charged with murder after the June 9 shooting death of Norwood, a 29-year-old Roland, Ark., resident in a yard on Concho Street in Rockport.

Also indicted by the grand jury Friday were Donald Gutierrez, charged with aggravated assault (peace officer); Juanito Garcia, subsequent offense driving while intoxicated; and Alvino Huizar, unlawfully carrying a weapon on premises licensed to sell alcoholic beverages and felon with

THE BODY OF PHILLIP RANGEL SR. is carried to a waiting funeral home van by Texas Parks and Wildlife warden, an

Aransas County Sheriff's Deputy and two funeral home employees. Rangel's body was recovered in Copano Bay early Monday morning. He drowned last Wednesday.

Forked -antlered permits needed

AUSTIN — Landowners and hunters in a four-county area of South Texas are reminded they will need buck permits if they intend to harvest a forked-ant-lered deer during the 1982-83 hunting season.

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission this year has added Duval County to the buck permit system for quality deer management, joining Maverick, Webb and Zapata Counties which were in the program last hunting season.

Duval County landowners will receive an unlimited number of buck permits for the 1982-83 season, to allow them to honor prior lease arrangements with hunters, officials said.

Buck permits for all four counties will be available at times and locations to be announced later. The issuance will be during October, and held at the same time as antlerless permit issuance.

The four counties form a "quality deer management unit," in which the controlled harvest of bucks is combined with an adequate harvest of surplus antlerless deer with the objective of maintaining overall quality in the herd, officials said.

The issuance rate for Maverick County will be one buck permit per 350 acres throughout the county. In Webb County the issuance rate will be one permit per 250 acres in the portion of the county west of U.S. Highway 83 from Laredo to its junction with State Highway 44, and in that portion of the county north of State Highway 44 from U.S. Highway 83 to the Webb-LaSalle County line. In the portion of the county east of that line, the issuance rate will be one permit per 150 acres.

In the portion of Zapata County north of Farm Road 3169, the issuance rate will be one permit per 150 acres; south of FM 3169, the issuance rate will be one permit per 250 acres.

Buck permits will be required for harvesting forked-antlered bucks in those counties. Buck permits will not be required for taking "spike" bucks, those which have only single antlers protruding through the skin without prongs or forks.

Diving can be dangerous

AUSTIN — There are lots of good swimming holes in Texas, and many of them offer man-made or natural structures from which the stout-hearted can dive from considerable heights.

Diving from a 50-foot cliff can be a crowd-pleaser, but it also could be an invitation to disaster.

During 1981, water safety officials of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department said 13 young men died after such daredevil maneuvers.

A factor in some of the diving fatalities was the lack of strong swimmers nearby to pull the stunned or injured diver from the water. Inexperienced divers often hit the water at an angle or with legs and arms extended out from them, which increases chances of injury, officials noted.

Lack of sufficient water depth, or submerged objects such as rocks and stumps also are hazards for the unwary diver.

Also, alcohol consumed to brace up the diver's courage can be a definite minus factor upon hitting the water.

Catfish catch sets new record

AUSTIN — Mike Rogers' Christmas tree brought its surprise a little late this year. For Mike, Christmas occurred on March 28.

While fishing for crappie in 15 feet of water over an artificial reef of Christmas trees he had placed in Lake Lewisville, he caught something on his crappie rig that took him 35 minutes to get a look at and another 10 minutes to get a dip net over and hoist into the boat.

The fish was a 91½-pound flathead catfish which has been certified a state record by the Fish Records Committee of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. The new record surpasses the previous record of 71 pounds held by Jack Bishop of Carthage since May 15, 1979. The previous record flathead was caught in Lake Murvaul.

In addition to the state record, Rogers' catch has been submitted to the International Game Fish Association in Fort Lauderdale, Fla. If certified by IGFA, the fish will become a record for all tackle as well as the 12-pound line class. The present all tackle record for flathead catfish reported by IGFA is 79 pounds, eight ounces, and the 12-pound line record for flathead catfish is 60 pounds, eight ounces.

Catching a record fish in any category is quite an accomplishment. However,

Rogers' fish was caught on a standard crappie hook, 12-pound test line and an open-faced spinning reel

Area runners take 3rd & 13th

Two area runners made good showings in the Annual 10,000 meter run in Corpus Christi over the Fourth of July weekend.

Ruben Garcia, a 1979 Rockport-Fulton High School graduate finished third overall and third in the 20-29 age group in the Sunday evening run.

Jim Pearson, owner of Pearson's Nursery, finished third in the 30-39 age group and 13th overall.

About 200 runners participated in the run from Corpus Christi Navy base 3.2 miles up Ocean Drive for 3.1 miles and back to the base.

Pearson said this was the first run in which he has participated in over 12 years and was very pleased with his results.

Garcia, who runs for Copeland's in Corpus Christi, was the Regional Champion in 1979 and has taken part in many local runs.

The race attracted college students and military personnel from as far away as Austin.

Striped bass record holder

AUSTIN — A 16-pound, three-ounce striped bass caught by Austin resident John Thayer last November has been certified by the International Game Fish Association as a new world record in the 16-pound tippet class for fly fishing.

Thayer caught the fish while wade fishing below the Tom Miller (Lake Austin) Dam in Austin. He used a large streamer fly.

The fish did not earn a state record, since the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department's fish records committee does not maintain a separate category or line class divisions. The current Texas record striped bass, which weighed 38 pounds, four ounces, was caught upstream from Miller Dam in the headwaters of Lake Austin in March, 1981.

Hermann Sons will convene in July

SAN ANTONIO — The presidents, vice presidents, secretaries and treasurers from the 160 Hermann Sons lodges in Texas will convene at the Villita Assembly Building in San Antonio Sunday, July 11, for a statewide rally launching the order's traditional three-month membership campaign, Louis B. Engelke of San Antonio, grand president, has announced. The event is expected to draw about 800 fraternalists from some 140 cities and towns in Texas, Engelke said. Because of space limitations, attendance must be invitation only.

The gathering will give local lodge leaders an opportunity to meet Grand Lodge officers and officers from other lodges and to prepare for the 1982 campaign to make the lodges grow in membership, starting Aug. 1 and running through Nov. 10. At present there are 79,000 Hermann Sons members.

Live Money

Allied Live Oak Bank

At Allied Live Oak Bank, we don't like to let money lay around. Not when there's so much to be done here in Aransas County. So we take the money you've entrusted to us, turn it right around, and put it back to work in the community.

You see, we know what a pivotal part a bank can play in the growth of an area. So we choose to invest a significant part of our deposits here, in Rockport, Fulton, and the surrounding area. It means that our people have to stay alert, active, and on top of things. But then, look how our area has grown since we opened our doors eight years ago. We know it has been worth the effort.

So that's why Allied Live Oak money is live money. Because we keep it alive. It's out there right now feeding the growth and improvement of Aransas County. And if there are more places for you to shop now, more things for you to do; if the value of your property has experienced a steady rise, we had a part in that.

We still have the very same commitment to Aransas County that we had the day we opened the doors, and we still believe that a bank is most successful, when it promotes the good of its own community. We still believe that, because we know that it works. Those of you who bank with us know it too.

What all this boils down to is that as great and as wonderful as the last eight years have been, we know that the years to come are going to be even better. We thank you for that, and invite you to come along, because it's going to be a great ride.

Brush fires keep volunteers busy over weekend

A rash of brush fires, most of them resulting from fireworks, kept area volunteer firefighters busy this past weekend.

However, Aransas County Fire Marshall Elva Mullinax said that, overall, "We had awful good luck. We had to come down on very few people" for shooting off firecrackers illegally.

The first reported weekend fire, Mullinax said, was on Cornwall Street in Rockport where city units were called to put out a grass fire. Mullinax said this blaze was not fireworks-related.

On Saturday night, however, fireworks shot from the beach area started a fire on a vacant lot and brought units from the Fulton Volunteer Fire Department to the scene in Key Allegro.

On Sunday, county units were kept even busier, with six fires reported — of which four were in the Copano Cove-Copano Ridge area and all but one were attributed to fireworks.

The one that was not caused by fireworks was a brush fire in the area of Salt Lake Road and East Sagebrush where some 35 to 40 acres of salt grass was burned off, according to Copano Cove Fire Chief James Tumlinson. Tumlinson said that blaze, reported about 2 p.m. or shortly afterward, appeared to be the result of a carelessly-thrown cigarette.

Aransas Pass firefighting units took care of the first reported fire Sunday morning, according to Ricky McLester, Aransas County Investigator. That blaze was on Kirby Lane off FM 1069.

Copano Cove units were called out again about 9:30 p.m. Sunday to the intersection of 1781 and Rattlesnake Point Road where another grass fire had been started, that one by fireworks.

And about 10 p.m., firemen were called to Copano Ridge to fight another grass fire believed to have been started by fireworks.

About 11 p.m. Sunday, firemen were called to another fireworks-started blaze, this one in Harbor Oaks at the end of Harbor Drive, McLester said.

The last fire reported during the hectic weekend was between 1 and 1:30 a.m. Monday on Speckled Trout at Rattlesnake Point Road. Tumlinson said that one, too, was the result of fireworks.

Eleven cases heard in district court

Six persons were sentenced or scheduled for sentencing following guilty pleadings, trial and pre-trials of five others were reset and one case was dismissed in action in the court of District Judge Ronald Yeager in Rockport last week.

Among those sentenced in district court cases that began Monday, June 28, was Julian M. Dominguez, also known as (a.k.a.) Bobby Dominguez who was given eight years in the Texas Department of Corrections (TDC) after pleading guilty to a charge of burglary with enhancement.

Andrew L. Deason II was given a 10-year probation sentence after pleading guilty to a charge of unlawful delivery of a controlled substance (cocaine).

A five-year sentence was given to David W. Watford who pleaded guilty to a charge of burglary of a habitation, with sentence to run from May 20, 1982.

Kermit E. Stevens also pleaded guilty to a charge of burglary of a habitation and was sentenced to five years with the TDC, sentence to run from April 14, 1982.

A three-year probation sentence was given to Nathan D. White who pleaded guilty to a charge of felony theft.

Phillip Hernandez who pleaded guilty to a charge of aggravated assault was assessed two years with the TDC. Formal sentencing was set for July 16.

Pretrial for Camilo Romero, charged with rape, was reset for 1:30 p.m. Aug. 27.

Three cases have been reset for Aug. 2: against Timmey Lee Jones, charged with aggravated assault; John P. Smith, a.k.a. Jack Smith, subsequent offense driving while intoxicated; and David Clyde Davis, burglary of vehicle, felony theft and unlawful possession of a prohibited weapon.

A case against Joe Luis Gonzales, charged with criminal mischief, had been rescheduled for pretrial on July 16 and trial on Aug. 2.

The case against Gary Mark, charged with revocation of probation, was dismissed by the State.

Public Notice

Southwestern Bell, in accordance with the rules of the Public Utility Commission of Texas, hereby gives notice of the company's intent to implement a new schedule of telephone rates in Texas, effective July 27, 1982, unless otherwise determined by the Commission.

It is expected that the requested rate schedule will furnish a 13.4 percent increase in the company's intrastate revenues.

A complete copy of the new rate schedule is on file with the Public Utility Commission at Austin, Texas, and with each affected municipality served by Southwestern Bell, and is available for inspection in each of the company's public business offices in Texas. The Commission staff has contended in the past that all rates are subject to change as a result of Southwestern Bell's rate application.

Notice to El Paso Area Customers

Effective January 1, 1982, Southwestern Bell adopted the Mountain States tariffs in effect for El Paso County. Southwestern Bell proposes to merge the separate El Paso tariffs with its tariffs applicable to the rest of Texas. The resulting new rate schedule is on file with the PUC and the El Paso area municipalities served by Southwestern Bell, and is available for inspection at our El Paso business office.

Notice to Customers of Other Telephone Companies

The filing includes, but is not limited to, proposals to increase rates for interexchange private line and foreign exchange (FX) service. Changes in such rates would also affect customers of other telephone companies because such companies provide interexchange private line and foreign exchange service in accordance with rates specified in Southwestern Bell's tariffs. While Southwestern Bell has proposed no increase in long distance rates, any change in those rates would also affect customers of other telephone companies.

Aviso Público

Southwestern Bell, en conformidad a las reglas del Public Utility Commission (Comisión de Servicios Públicos) de Texas, por la presente hace saber su intención de establecer un nuevo arancel para servicio de teléfono en Texas con vigencia a partir del 27 de julio, 1982, a menos que la Comisión haga otra determinación.

Se espera que el nuevo arancel que se ha solicitado rendirá un aumento de 13.4 por ciento en los ingresos intraestatales de la compañía.

Una copia completa del nuevo arancel se ha archivado en las oficinas del Public Utility Commission en Austin, Texas, al igual que en cada municipalidad afectada y servida por Southwestern Bell, y cada una de las oficinas de la compañía para negocios en el público en Texas tiene una copia para lectura pública. En el pasado, la Comisión ha sostenido que toda tarifa está sujeta a cambios que resulten de la manera en la cual Southwestern Bell aplique sus tarifas.

Aviso a Clientes en la Región de El Paso

Con vigencia a partir del 1o de enero de 1982, Southwestern Bell ha adoptado las tarifas de Mountain States efectivas en el condado de El Paso. Southwestern Bell propone unir las tarifas de El Paso con sus otras tarifas que se aplican al resto de Texas. El nuevo arancel que resulta de ésta union se ha archivado en la Comisión de Servicios Públicos (Public Utility Commission), al igual que en las municipalidades de la región de El Paso servidas por Southwestern Bell, y está disponible para inspección pública en nuestras oficinas de El Paso.

Aviso a los Clientes de Otras Compañías de Teléfono

El registro incluye, pero no se limita a, propuestas para aumentar las tarifas para servicio de línea privada entre centrales telefónicas (interexchange private line) y servicio de central telefónica extranjera (foreign exchange FX). Cambios en dichas tarifas de servicio también afectarían a clientes de otras compañías de teléfono porque dichas compañías proveen los servicios ya mencionados en conformidad a tarifas especificadas por Southwestern Bell. Aunque Southwestern Bell no ha propuesto un aumento en las tarifas para larga distancia, cualquier cambio en las mismas también afectaría a los clientes de otras compañías de teléfono.

Restriction violations alleged

Suit filed on Key Allegro man

A lawsuit against Frank Shumate for alleged violations of restrictions placed on property owners in Key Allegro has been scheduled for hearing in district court at 1:30 p.m. Aug. 23.

Hearing on a request by the Allegro Canal Owners & Property Owners Association and Robert Marcum for an injunction against Shumate was continued from district court last week by Judge Ronald Yeager.

The suit was filed by the Association on June 23. The plaintiffs say Shumate placed two mooring pilings adjacent to his lot and constructed a boat ramp less than five feet from the extended adjacent interior property line and allege that these actions violate restrictions in the bylaws of the Association.

The suit further alleges that this is a "substantial breach" of restrictions placed on lots in Key Allegro Island Estates Unit 3.

The plaintiffs — including Marcum who is an adjoining property owner to Shumate — maintain that Shumate was notified of the violation and asked to remove the pilings and relocate the ramp on April 2 and April 30 of this year.

The suit alleges that Shumate refused and continues to refuse to comply.

The plaintiffs allege Shumate is liable to the Association for $2,000 "as a reasonable attorney's fee" and in event of appeal the Association is further entitled to $1,500 if taken to the court of appeals and an additional $1,000 if appeal is taken to the Supreme Court.

The plaintiff asked the district court to issue a restraining order prohibiting Shumate from using the pilings and boat ramp and is asking for a permanent injunction prohibiting Shumate from placing or maintaining any pilings or ramp adjacent to his lot without permission of the Association.

The court issued a temporary injunction against Shumate on June 24.

Shumate in a plea of abatement filed June 29 with the court responded that the bylaws do not expressly "authorize and empower" the Association to institute proceedings for enforcement of restrictions and that the plaintiff "does not have any justifiable interest in the suit or any enforceable substantive right and the Plaintiff Association is not a necessary or proper party."

Based on these reasons, Shumate maintains that the plaintiff "has no legal capacity to bring or maintain the action or to seek the remedies included in the Petition."

His request is for an abatement of the suit on those grounds "for sufficient time to allow the Plaintiffs to cure the defect of the parties and, failing such, that the suit be dismissed."

Q — As a widow, I was covered under the Civilian Health and Medical Program of the VA, but I have recently remarried. Am I entitled to keep my CHAMPVA coverage?

A — No. A surviving spouse who remarried loses entitlement to CHAMPVA. Eligibility may be reinstated, however, if the marriage is terminated.

Get maximum cooling - at minimum cost!

If you're looking for ways to keep your electricity bills in line this summer, Central Power and Light Company suggests you concentrate your main effort on making your air conditioning system more efficient.

During the hot months, more than half the electricity used in most air conditioned homes is for cooling. By using air conditioning wisely, you can exert substantial control over your use of electricity—and the size of your bill.

Here are some tips to help you keep your house cool at the lowest possible cost:

- DON'T OVERCOOL. Keep your thermostat at the highest comfortable setting—about 78°. For each degree below 78°, you add another 14% to the cost of operating your air conditioner.
- Have your air conditioner cleaned and checked annually by your dealer or other qualified technician.
- Clean or replace the filter once a month or, preferably every two weeks. A dirty filter makes your air conditioner work harder than necessary.
- Stop air leaks; a well sealed house can save up to 10% on air conditioner operating costs. Caulk cracks and holes, and install weather stripping around windows and doors.
- Clear obstructions away from outside sections of central air conditioning to ensure free circulation of air.
- Protect the house from direct sunlight with draperies, blinds, shades or awning. Provide additional shade by planting trees and shrubbery.
- If you're shopping for a new air conditioner, make sure the unit you select has an Energy Efficiency Ratio (EER or SEER) of 8 or more.

Cause of death self-inflicted

Investigators determined that death was self-inflicted in the case of an Aransas County woman found dead at her residence Sunday morning, June 27. Deputies were called to the residence of Marguerite Amon about 10:02 a.m.

Sunday where the 67-year-old woman was found dead in the shower with a .22 in her hand.

The incident apparently happened between 7 a.m. and 9 a.m. A note, allegedly left by the victim, was also found at the scene.

Deputies said the medical examiner determined death was by one self-inflicted gunshot.

Man's best friend is in bad shape too

By Dr. Hap Lutz
First of 2 parts

Traumatic childhood experiences, progress and the anxieties of modern-day living are but a few of the reasons cited for neurotic humans. But man's best friend is in pretty bad shape too — and the number of neurotic canines increases daily.

Dogs must become accustomed to low-flying jet aircraft, trains, traffic and television. Their ears must adjust to the sounds of the vacuum cleaner, four-channel stereo, mini-bikes, loud rock and the new-fangled sirens. Being aware of such things, but without the intellect to understand them, can result in canine neurosis.

The modern-dog has a tendency to imitate his owner closely. Unfortunately, this imitation includes the adverse personality traits of the owner.

And, as our dog population increases so does the number of neurotic dogs. Therefore we have created a whole new area of research. Although human psychology is very old, dog psychiatry is but a mere infant. A clinic for mentally ill dogs has been established in Copenhagen. In one year, the clinic treated over 2,000 mentally-disturbed dogs from all over Europe.

The primary difference between dog psychology and human psychology is that in dog psychology, the problems usually involve dog-owner relationships rather than people to people relationships. There are causative factors involved when a dog becomes emotionally disturbed or neurotic. The job of the dog psychiatrist is to determine the causative factors, and whenever possible, remove them.

Neurosis caused by environmental factors — although not passed on genetically by the mother — can be passed to her young simply by the way she teaches them to react. If an emotional shock has resulted in a neurotic manifestation of shyness, the mother is very likely to teach her puppies to react in like manner to the same stimulus or disturbing influence.

This article will continue in next Wednesday's edition of the Rockport Pilot.

RFHS Choir busy while in Europe

The Rockport-Fulton High School choir leaves for the 1982 International Youth and Music Festival in Vienna today at 6 a.m.

By bus, the choir will go to Houston, where they will depart for New York by air at 12:15 p.m. They will leave New York at 6:15 p.m. and arrive in Frankfurt at 7:40 a.m. the next morning. The choir's first week in Europe involves an incredibly hectic schedule of sightseeing, rehearsal and performance in the festival.

From Frankfurt, the group travels to Wurzburg, in the heart of the Franconian wine growing region. After an overnight stay, they travel through Nurnberg and Passau to Vienna.

Arriving in Vienna on July 9, the choir begins rehearsals for the festival immediately.

The next day, Saturday, begins with a tour of Vienna and includes rehearsal, performance and competition at the festival. The day ends with a concert, dinner and a festival party.

Sunday, the choir tours the Vienna woods and surrounding villages, then travels to the Alps, where they will perform a special concert at the Sporthotel Etzler. After dinner there, the choir travels back to Vienna for more touring and sightseeing, awaiting results of the festival competition.

For information on the choir's second week in Europe, see the Pilot Weekender.

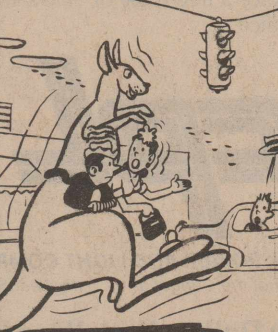

EMS gets sizable fund boost

The Aransas County Emergency Medical Service (EMS) got a $5,000 boost to its building fund this past Friday, July 2, when an anonymous donor presented that amount to the service.

The donation puts the EMS building fund up over $19,000, more than halfway to its goal of $34,000 needed to pay for and equip the new EMS building adjacent to Enterprise Clinic.

The prefabricated metal building has arrived and is awaiting being set up, but money is still needed to pay for the cost of the structure and the expense of finishing the interior.

Donations to the building fund are tax deductible.

Texas Folklife Festival explores world of difference in Texas

"The only difference between Texans and other people is they think themselves different." This observation by a newcomer to the state in the early 1900s still rings true, for Texans are truly a breed apart.

Perhaps nowhere is this uniqueness more apparent than at the annual celebration of the state's ethnic variety and pioneer heritage — the Texas Folklife Festival.

The Festival is produced by The University of Texas Institute of Texan Cultures in San Antonio which serves as a statewide communications center for the ethnic and folk history of Texas. During the four-day festival, The Institute's 15-acre grounds become an open-air classroom where visitors discover the differences that set Texans apart.

At the eleventh annual Texas Folklife Festival, this Aug. 5 through 8, visitors will learn about the great diversity of cultural backgrounds among Texans as they meet some of the 6000 participants from around the state. Alsatian Texans, Polish Texans, Japanese Texans — more than 30 ethnic groups are represented at the Festival, sharing their food, music, dance and folkways with visitors.

The sights, sounds and aromas of distant countries greet visitors as they stroll through the Festival grounds. A Lebanese folk dance troupe in flowing skirts mesmerizes an audience with their graceful movements. An Irish tenor sings a melancholy ballad about "Auld Sod." Shrimp sizzling on a grill sends tantalizing aromas through the air as camarones a la plancha is prepared at the Spanish food booth.

Nine Festival stages feature constant entertainment by ethnic groups. Indians from Livingston perform ancient tribal dances on Stage five, Cajuns from Port Arthur invite members of the audience to learn the fais-do-do on Stage nine, Czechs from West dance the beseda on Stage six, while visitors sing along with a gospel group in the shade of the grape arbor at Stage four.

The Festival's menu is a smorgasbord of exotic dishes with more than 145 selections at the 27 ethnic food booths scattered throughout the grounds. Chinese egg rolls, German sausage, Hungarian goulash, Jewish bagels and Wendish noodles are just a few of the foods available. Prices are modest enough so that visitors can try something from each booth. For 20 cents visitors can sample Alsatian parisa, Japanese fried wontons, or a Scottish haggis ball. Forty cents buys a Czech kolache, Filipino maruya (banana fritters) or a Mexican tamale.

As visitors learn about the amazing wealth of diversity among Texans, they also discover the ties that bind Texans together as they stroll through the "Back 40" area of the Festival grounds. Here, friendly "pioneers" invite passers-by to join in a game of horseshoes, pluck a goose, spin a horsehair rope, weave a basket and ride in a mule-drawn wagon.

Visitors see how early Texans made their own soap, built their own houses and tended their animals as they relive the days of the Texas frontier.

The "Back 40" is also the place to find traditional Texan food, such as chili, barbecue and chicken fried steak, along with yam pie, strawberry shortcake and homemade peanut butter.

The literally hundreds of demonstrations of early Texas folkways taking place in the "Back 40" serve to illustrate the common lifestyle of Texas pioneers, whatever their cultural background, and highlight the traditions that are an important part of the state's heritage.

Tickets for the Festival are $5 for adults ($4.50 in advance), $1 for children under 13 and children under six get in free. For more information write The Institute of Texan Cultures, P.O. Box 1226, San Antonio, Texas, 78294, or call (512) 226-7651.

ACTION project looking for energy conservation

A federal volunteer service agency with $1.5 million to spend is searching for communities and counties interested in mobilizing citizens to take low-cost/no-cost energy conservation measures in their home.

The Community Energy Project of ACTION, the national volunteer agency, will provide up to $10,000 for communities and $20,000 for counties to assist communities in mobilizing their business and individual resources to help citizens reduce home energy costs. The $1.5 million will be available through September, 1983.

Community Energy Project Director Michael Venuto stated "the project's main purpose is to assist communities in carrying out short-term intensive campaigns on how to develop low-cost conservation methods."

The Community Energy Project's approach includes mobilizing thousands of households to participate in workshops. Venuto said "Workshops are open to all citizens of the community. Trained volunteers or staff teach low-cost conservation measures that have proved quite successful."

Venuto recounted that the ACTION project "started in 1979 when ACTION invited Fitchburg, Mass., to show how a community can mobilize its resources to get a significant portion of the city to take energy saving actions. Fitchburg's energy saving campaign worked. It covered nine weeks and resulted in over 3,000 of 14,000 households taking measures that reduced their home energy consumption an average of 14 percent. Fitchburg saved over $1 million the first year of the program."

Communities participating in energy cost saving programs differ in approaches, but each program includes the following elements:

An advisory council whose members represent different community segments...business, community groups, utilities, schools, civic clubs, local government, etc.

Training workshops open to all citizens of the community. Trained volunteers or staff teach a series of low-cost/no-cost energy conservation measures.

Twenty dollars to $50 worth of self-help energy conservation materials free to low-income participants. Some projects have arranged with local hardware stores and businesses for discounts on weatherization materials for all other participants.

Volunteer crews for disabled and elderly...recruited and trained to help those physically unable to take energy saving steps in their homes.

Publicity campaign to build program awareness, recruit volunteers and mobilize citizens to participate.

Venuto went on to say "our focus is to provide communities program models in what can be done now, and how it can be done well with as little as possible. We try to make these programs a public-private partnership to help local citizens." He added that short term energy conservation programs have achieved considerable cost savings that include the following:

Savings up to $100 yearly in heating costs by covering attic and basement heating ducts with foil-backed insulation.

Savings of $25-$80 per year through stopping up attic bypasses with foil-backed insulation.

Savings of $40 a year for electric water heaters or $15 a year for gas heaters by installing a shower head flow controller.

Savings of $20 yearly for electric heater and $10 a year for gas heaters by adding an extra layer of insulation around the outside of the water tank.

Savings of $25 yearly by setting down the water heater thermostat to 110-120 degrees.

ACTION as the national volunteer agency fields over 325,000 volunteers. They serve in the Foster Grandparent Program, Retired Senior Volunteer Program, Senior Companion Program, Young Volunteers in ACTION, Vietnam Veterans Leadership Program and other service oriented adult and youth programs.

For more information on ACTION's Community Energy Project, phone toll free (800) 424-8867 or 202/653-7033 in Metro Washington D.C., or write the Community Energy Project, ACTION, 806 Connecticut Ave., N.W., Washington D.C. 20525.

Compact homes popular

Fireplaces, basements, garages and all those extra bedrooms are luxuries many people can no longer afford to build into their new homes.

And since families are much smaller than they used to be, the trend in new single family homes in Texas and the rest of the nation is toward compactness.

In 1980, the median size for houses built in the United States was 1,595 square feet. That's a drop of 50 square feet from the 1979 median size.

In planning floor and storage space in the more compact home, families should consider their present size and potential growth, along with hobbies, lifestyle and other needs.

Careful planning and organization make any home more efficient, and many families are finding they can live quite comfortably with less space.

If you are considering remodeling your home, here are some hints.

If the remodeling requires changes in the exterior walls or roof, the project must be well coordinated to escape damage from bad weather. In cases where cities require a building permit or various inspections, close coordination with the appropriate officials is a must to prevent delays.

Another must is a contractor with remodeling experience, because a remodeling can consume a large amount of unforeseen labor expense, and many small but important details must be worked out with the owners. For instance, matching new and old materials can be tricky. A qualified remodeling contractor will know how to bid the project so there will be no surprises when you receive your final bill.

If you have owned your home for several years you will probably find that it is worth more money now than what you paid for it. Consequently, if you were to sell the home, a net gain or profit would be realized.

According to the Internal Revenue Code, this gain or profit must be reported as taxable income. There are a number of exceptions that allow you to avoid or postpone capital gains taxes.

For instance, if you are 35 or older at the time of the sale and the property has been used as your primary residence for three of the five years preceding the sale, then you can elect to have up to $125,000 of the gain excluded.

This amount is halved if you are married and file a separate return. This tax benefit is allowable only once in your lifetime.

When you lose the heated or cooled air inside your home, you lose money. To make your home more energy efficient, reduce this unnecessary loss of conditioned air.

You may think the doors, vent hoods and fireplaces allow the greatest air leaks. But tests reveal most air leaks from the home through the windows, electrical outlets, conditioner air ducts and joints between walls and floors.

Examine your windows to see if weather stripping should be replaced. Check the duct system from the furnace to each room outlet.

Usually, leakage occurs at the furnace connection and at the outlets. Hold a piece of light-weight tissue near areas thought to be leaking. If the tissue these tips will help you take care of the air inside your home, and that will help lower your monthly utility bill.

Having water on or near your rural property does not insure a good drink from the faucet.

Many rural areas in Texas, facing sudden increases in population, find their water services inadequate for new demand. Though the water line may run right in front of the property you purchased, pressure requirements may prevent local water systems from adding customers.

Auto mishaps lead calls

Injuries resulting from automobile accidents led the list of reasons for emergency calls last month, followed closely by recreational accidents, according to the Aransas County Emergency Medical Service's (EMS) report for June.

County paramedics and volunteers were called to assist 22 victims of automobile accidents and 18 in recreational accidents, as the start of summer brought people out on the highways and outdoors in general.

Also treated during the month were two victims of motorcycle accidents and one of an auto-pedestrian mishap.

Heart attacks, the leading reason for emergency calls during previous months, dropped to third, accounting for 15 of the 113 calls total for the month.

Seven of the emergency calls were to aid victims of internal bleeding, six for respiratory distress and five were victims of falls.

Other reasons for calls during the month included four strokes, three assaults, two industrial accidents and one each drug overdose, gunshot victim and childbirth/obstetrics.

There were two drownings during the month. Paramedics responded to two drunk calls and there were two false alarms.

Nineteen calls were logged as "miscellaneous."

The Life Pak was used 26 times during the month, 23 patients were administered IV's, 12 were given drugs, three were defibrillated and four required intubation.

Two ambulance units were on the scene of the same emergency five times during the month and all three units were on the same scene once, according to the report.

Thirty-nine calls originate in Rockport, eight in Fulton and 58 elsewhere in Aransas County. Eight calls originated outside Aransas County.

Seventy-two patients were transported with 22 to Coastal Bend Hospital in Aransas Pass, 15 to Memorial Medical Center, 12 to Spohn. Nine were taken to Enterprise Clinic in Rockport. Two were transported to Driscoll Children's Hospital.

Twenty-six patients were not transported. The patient was dead at the scene five times during the month and two people refused service. The ambulance was cancelled enroute eight times.

Through June 30, paramedics had responded to 541 calls so far in 1982 and the ambulance units had logged a total of 21,476 miles.

Ridleys due to hatch any day

By BECKY WERHAN
Staff writer

MALAKUTE BEACH, CORPUS CHRISTI — The culmination of a massive group effort involving two countries, five governmental agencies, several hundred concerned individuals and a number of endangered sea turtles lies in a shaded wire mesh enclosure behind a garage at the National Park Service Ranger Station.

Exactly 2,018 Kemp's ridley sea turtle eggs sit secure in sand-filled styrofoam boxes, monitored constantly for temperature and moisture change. Some will begin to hatch this week and the next, and by mid-month, the newest generation of the world's most endangered sea turtle, Lepidochelys kempi, will be ready for the first step in its "head start" for survival.

The Head Start program, now in its fifth year, is an inter-agency effort to boost the population of what was once regarded as the most mysterious animal in North America and to establish a new nesting ground for the ridley on the Padre Island National Seashore. At the present time, the only known nesting area for the endangered reptile is a remote strip of beach in Mexico — Rancho Nuevo, some 200 miles south of Brownsville.

Involved in the program to save the ridleys and establish a second nesting site are the Mexican Federal Department of Fisheries, the National Park Service, the National Marine Fisheries Service, the United States Fish and Wildlife Service and the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. Auxiliary support in the program includes the United States Coast Guard, the Corpus Christi Naval Air Station and Brownsville's Gladys Porter Zoo.

The first cycle in the program begins in the spring when the female ridleys arrive on the beach at Rancho Nuevo to lay their eggs in the Mexican sand. In the past, ridleys came ashore in huge groups, or "arribadas" (arrivals) but now few more than a thousand breeding females arrive at Rancho Nuevo.

While known to native Mexican poachers, who valued the eggs for their taste and their reputation as an aphrodisiac, the nesting site remained undocumented and largely a mystery until 1947.

At that time a Mexican contractor named Andres Herrera heard of the arribadas and flew over the beach in hopes of filming one. He succeeded in recording on movie film some 40,000 Kemp's ridleys on a short strip of the beach. Not realizing the scientific value of this awesome sight, Herrera did not publicize the find.

It was not until 1960 that the film was made known to Dr. Henry Hildebrand, a turtle specialist. By the time the scientific community got involved, poaching had so reduced the ridley population that only small groups of females were coming ashore to lay eggs. It is known for a fact that more ridley eggs were eaten than were allowed to hatch.

Since 1966, thanks to the deployment of a permanent guard of Mexican Marines, the poaching and the destruction of the eggs by natural predators has been arrested. And since the U.S. federal government became involved in 1978, the arrival on the beach by the female ridleys is anything but a mystery.

A group of scientists and support personnel from the Gladys Porter Zoo are established at a "turtle camp" on Rancho Nuevo. Patrols of the 20 mile beach are made several times daily as nesting season approaches. When the females arrive and begin laying eggs, some 90,000 on the average, the research teams go to work.

Most of the eggs are transplanted to a protected "corral" on the beach. They are reburied in holes resembling the ones the female turtles dig. Some two percent of the ridley eggs are destined to be U.S. bound for the Head Start program. The rest hatch at Rancho Nuevo and go directly into the water there.

The 2,000-3,000 eggs to be "head started" are caught in bags as the mother turtles are laying them. They never touch Mexican sand. After careful retrieval, the eggs are placed in styrofoam containers filled with sand from Padre Island, then flown to Texas and the National Park Service Ranger Station.

After hatching, the young turtles come to the critical stage of the head start program, imprinting on Malaquite Beach. They are taken to the beach, allowed to scramble down the sand, as they would in nature, and plunge into the water. It is the belief of the researchers involved that the hatchlings instinctually pick up certain "messages" from the composition of the sand as they plow through it to the water. This link is what brings them back to lay their eggs there, it is thought. Hence, those hatchlings on imprinting on Padre Island should, upon sexual maturity, return to nest there. Ridleys do not breed until some eight years of age, so the success of the Head Start program cannot be fully measured yet, but scientists involved remain optimistic.

After reaching the surf, the hatchlings are scooped up, packed carefully for travel and flown to Galveston for the next phase of their life.

There, under the supervision of the National Marine Fisheries, each hatchling is esconced in a bucket and cared for until it is nine months of age. The hatchlings were not separated during the first year of the program and it was discovered that they tended to kill each other. Now, one to a bucket, they are fed carefully and looked after. This way, some 85-90 percent of the hatchlings survive to a large enough size to deal with natural predators, as opposed to the one percent which make it in nature.

The yearling turtles, weighing about two pounds each, are flown back to Padre Island in the summer and released in the Gulf. Studies show that "head started" ridleys become healthier, larger turtles and it is believed they may come to sexual maturity faster than ridleys raised in the wild.

It will be close to 1990 by the time the success of the Head Start program can be fully gauged, but as noted in the outstanding PBS documentary "The Heartbreak Turtle," the program has already substantially increased the number of Kemp's ridleys in the wild.

Why so many individuals and agencies have banded together in an attempt to reverse the ridleys' slide toward extinction is perhaps a mystery in itself. However, a biologist involved in the program, Peter Pritchard, summed up the answer this way in "The Heartbreak Turtle". "What's the alternative? The alternative is not to bother with them. And if you don't bother with them, pretty soon, you've got a world without ridley turtles and what kind of world would that be?"

Battle waged against oil thefts

AUSTIN — An aggressive campaign against oil field thefts in Texas has begun with the installation of a new permanent statewide hotline. The Petroleum Industry Security Council (PISC) is offering a reward of up to $5,000 for information leading to the arrest and indictment of persons suspected of stealing crude oil or oil field equipment, or for information leading to the recovery of stolen oil field equipment. The new toll free hotline number is 1-800-645-2677 or 1-800-OIL-COPS.

Chartered as a non-profit corporation in January, 1982, PISC was formed by petroleum industry associations in an effort to provide organized support to law enforcement in combating oil field crimes. The hotline is just the first step in a comprehensive program to reduce the $100 million theft losses in Texas. Headed by Ed Richards, the former Investigator General of the Texas Department of Human Resources and Department of Public Safety officer, PISC plans to develop a uniform marking system for oil field equipment, theft prevention programs for the industry and a computer backed theft reporting and inquiry system. PISC also plans to place experienced criminal investigators across the state to cooperate with and support law enforcement efforts to reduce the theft problem.

The hotline field replaces the oil theft hotline operated by North Texas Oil and Gas Association and supported by other petroleum industry associations. The old numbers ceased operation on June 5. Any citizen having information about oil field theft is requested to call the PISC hotline or write: P.O. Box 15392, Austin, Tx. 78761. Citizens are not requested to reveal their names, just provide the information and they will be assigned a code number for identification. Richards says citizens should call 1-800-OIL-COPS and help reduce oil production costs by stopping the oil field thefts which ultimately drive up consumer costs for oil products.

Veterans ask...

Q — I would like the government to furnish a marker for my husband's grave. How do I apply for the marker?

A — You may apply for a marker by obtaining VA Form 40-1330, Application for Headstone or Marker, from a VA Regional Office, a veterans service organization or from your local cemetery or funeral director.

Cities seek alternatives to federal fund shortage

Juliet K. Wenger Coastal Bend Council of Governments

Cities are looking for alternate means of accomplishing what must be done with fewer federal funds to spend and without raising taxes. Mayor Raymond Perry of Ingleside says industry frequently can help out if they are asked. He added that they have to know the need exists. When they do, he says they will nearly always work with the city when it is possible.

Mayor Perry is owner of Perry Construction Company, so he is on both the asking and the giving end. He says that within minutes after a brush fire breaks out in the Ingleside area, his phone starts ringing. The Volunteer Fire Department is requesting bulldozers on the scene. His equipment has been on the scene of every brush fire in that area in the last 12 years. Bulldozers cut fire breaks. They save fire trucks and other equipment which gets trapped and can't get to safety under their own power. Other contractors provide this same service. Perry said they pay for whatever expenses they incur in the effort.

The fire department at Ingleside is making other gains with the help of industry. DuPont has given the city 40 gallons of paint to upgrade fire equipment. Industries in the area which have mechanics on their payrolls are joining together to work over the fire department equipment and put it in good operating condition. The mayor suggests other cities can receive cooperation that will be equally valuable.

Water is one of the most basic of city services. Industry has helped and is helping Ingleside assure a water supply to both industrial and residential customers. With funds both from industry and the economic development program, pipelines have been built in recent years to transport water from City of Corpus Christi facilities to the San Patricio Municipal Water District plant. Now industry is coming back in to help improve the distribution system. There is an urgent need for new lines and greater capacity to improve water pressure and provide sufficient storage to improve safety factors.

The city is starting on an $800,000 program to build a one million gallon ground storage tank, improve pumping stations, build a 12-inch supply line from the water district plant to Ingleside and a 12-inch loop both within and outside the city limits that will serve industry and residents of Ingleside on the Bay as well as Ingleside residents. Seven industrial water users are making this possible by underwriting the certificates of obligation.

What Mayor Perry says about the cooperation of industry in making water system improvements possible in Ingleside is also true in the Kingsville area. There, Exxon and other industries accepted financial responsibility that is making it possible to build a pipeline that will provide western Nueces County and northern Kleberg County with surface water for the first time.

Mayor Perry says many people think of industry in terms of trucks that tear up streets and noise. He would like to see the view of the private citizen balanced with the contribution that industry is making to the community as a whole.
