IRISH PEACE PARLEY TAKES NEW TWIST

Sir James Craig Makes Statement Which Forbids Hope of Tri-Partite Conference in London.

Ulster Premier Claims Sinn Feiners Recognize No Partition on Grounds of Contested Election.

LONDON, July 18.—The Irish negotiations have taken an unexpected development. Late tonight, Sir James Craig, the Ulster premier, on leaving Belfast made an important statement which appears to forbid any hope of assembling a conference such as Premier Lloyd George proposed between himself and Mr DeValera and the Ulster premier.

By Associated Press.

LONDON, July 18.—The Irish situation, it was declared in responsible circles tonight, has developed into virtually a deadlock between Premier Lloyd George and Sir James Craig, the Ulster premier, and the latter has been given an opportunity to go to Belfast to see if anything can be done in the circumstances.

The Sinn Fein leaders have submitted their minimum demands, which have been relayed to the Ulster premier for consideration, it is stated, and it is in connection with such consideration by Ulster that Sir James and the other members of the Ulster delegation are, as was announced this evening, returning to Belfast tonight.

Claim Ulster Recognition.

The Ulster leader maintains that the Sinn Feiners themselves, by contesting the elections for the northern parliament on a platform of "no partition" in which they were roundly defeated, have recognized Ulster's claim to self determination and so far as his words have been interpreted for the present, he seems to wash his hands of any further participation in the peace negotiations.

Sir James said: "I return home well satisfied with the efforts being made toward peace. Mr. DeValera has broken his silence and cleared the ground by his statement to the press that he proposes to found his claim on recognition of the right of self determination."

The Ulster premier contended that the people of Northern Ireland in the recent elections "determined" their own parliament by an overwhelming majority and that Mr. DeValera and his friends admitted the right of such self determination on the part of Northern Ireland by the fact that they themselves stood as candidates for the northern parliament and submitted their policy of "no partition." This, in fact was the only issue placed before the electorate, said Sir James, and no "partition" was rejected by the largest majority ever secured in any general election.

"Such being the true facts," he continued, "it now only remains for Mr. DeValera and the British people to come to terms regarding the area outside of that of which I am prime minister. The people of Northern Ireland make no claims whatever to 'determine' the terms of settlement, which Great Britain shall make with Southern Ireland.

"When this is accomplished I can promise cordial co-operation on equal terms with Southern Ireland, in any matters affecting our common interests."

Election Rebuke to City Council—Cline

Mayor Asserts Balloting Which Seated Fitts Direct Thrust at Present Administration.

Interpreting Saturday's election as a rebuke to the city council, and an expression on the part of the voters for a change in policy, Mayor Cline, in a statement prepared Monday afternoon, and presented to the council Monday night, called on his fellow members of the council to co-operate in every possible way with J. B. Fitts, the newly elected member, in a reduction of the city tax rate and city expenses.

He called on Mr. Fitts for suggestions to this end declaring that he presumed that Mr. Fitts was familiar with the state of the city finances, and the amount of money required to support the interest and sinking funds of the city.

Pointing out that this might be interpreted as "passing the buck" to Mr. Fitts, the mayor declared that this was not the case, as he believed that the politics of the situation ceased Saturday. At the same time, he indicated that he had little to offer for a reduction of expenses, except in minor matters—among others in connection with the city engineer's department, where he declared that a saving might be effected.

Still High Tax Man.

Personally, however, the mayor expressed himself as still being a high tax man, believing that it would be better that the people of Wichita Falls continue to carry a somewhat heavy tax burden, in order that the city should get the improvements and facilities which it will eventually have to have, and in order that it might be done now when the turning of the money loose among the laboring peo-

HOUSE PUTS OIL ON FREE TARIFF LIST

Vote Against Tax on Crude Importations From Mexico Has Majority of More Than 2 to 1.

First Ballot Comes After Bitter Debate by Members Lasting Three and a Half Hours.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 18.—Oil went on the Fordney tariff free list today by a house vote of more than two to one.

Long staple cotton, on the free list in the ways and means committee draft, however, was put on the dutiable list at 15 per cent ad valorem, with members in doubt as to what compensatory rates on all cotton goods would be considered necessary by reason of the imposition of a tax on the raw product. There was no explanation of the committee's action in deciding at the last moment not to take the ordinary variety of cotton such as is raised in the south from the list.

Flare Up on Oil.

The real flare up was over the oil schedule. It broke at the outset of the session after Chairman Fordney had presented a letter from President Harding opposing the tax, and suggesting rather a provision to be placed in his hands to "guard against the levy of duties against us or the imposition by other nations of export tariffs which are designed to hinder the facilitation of trade."

The first vote on the contest oil amendment came after three and a half hours of debate. Representative Garrett of Tennessee, Democratic leader, tried to shut off debate at once so that the bill, he explained, might be taken up for amendment under the ordinary five-minute rule, but Republicans objected his proposal by a straight party vote.

Then at the end of the long talk the first test was on an amendment by Representative Carter, Democrat, Oklahoma, to cut the committee rates on crude from 35 to 25 cents and fuel oil from 25 to 20 cents a barrel. The Carter proposal won, 143 to 47. Democrats supporting it solidly on the ground that in event the free oil amendment offered by Representative Treadway, Massachusetts, Republican member of the ways and means committee should be defeated, they could help to obtain a lower duty than fixed in the bill.

House Against Oil.

But there never was any doubt of the temper of the house on the oil question. The Treadway proposition was adopted with votes to spare—187 to 79—on a stand-up count, but Chairman Fordney, on the losing side, demanded tellers. The count as members marched down the aisle was 196 to 86.

About half the Republican membership of the committee, which imposed the tax after the bill had been printed and after the duty earlier had been rejected, joined Republican insurgents and almost a solid minority in throwing out the duty. Representative Garner of Texas, ranking Democrat on the committee, stood, however, with the oil tariff advocates, led by Representative Chandler of Oklahoma. It was at the latter's insistence that the eleventh hour duty was put into the bill to protect southwestern wells.

Chief of Police Huff Files Resignation as New Commissioner Takes Oath of Office Monday Night.

Taking the oath of office Monday night, J. B. Fitts, newly elected police commissioner, suggested the name of R. W. Morgan as new chief of police, vice Chief of Police Huff, whose resignation was accepted—a suggestion which was promptly confirmed by the council.

In making the change, on motion of Mr. Fitts, the salary of the chief of police was cut from $300 to $250 per month—a saving of $600 per year.

The resignation of Chief Huff would be delivered promtply, it became known early Monday morning, when Chief Huff signified as much to Commissioner Bralley, who promptly notified Mr. Fitts, then still commissioner-elect.

As previously indicated, the personnel of the police department will be left largely in the hands of his chief by Mr. Fitts. However, he indicated that he planned no hasty reorganization of the police department, wishing to become thoroughly familiar with the department before taking any drastic action.

He indicated, however, an intention of abolishing the office of chief of detectives, putting the detectives directly under the chief of police. At the same time, he expressed himself as thinking highly of the ability of Chief of Detectives Boyd, and stated that he might have a position as a city detective should he so desire.

The time of the termination of Chief Huff's services, and the beginning of the services of the new chief designated, was left by the council in the hands of Commissioner Fitts.

PRISONERS FIRE JAIL DURING RIOT

Six Convicts Wounded During Pensylvania Penitentiary Outbreak and Four of Them May Die.

By Associated Press.

PITTSBURGH, Pa., July 18.—Prisoners in the Western penitentiary here today broke all bounds of discipline, fired four buildings and for a time kept the institution in an uproar, while prison guards, deputy sheriffs and policemen, reinforced by armed citizens, battled to put down the disorder. Six convicts were shot and two others cut. Prison officials said that three or four of the wounded would likely die.

The outbreak, timed to start with the ringing of the first fire gong, began in the dining room, where the convicts sought to detract the attention of the guards from the fires, prison officials said. Alarms sounded from four places in the institution almost simultaneously, when guards discovered the prisoners had fired the buildings with any material available.

Fire Gong Sounds.

Some 600 prisoners had just taken their seats in the big dinning room when one of them sent a soup bowl careening down one of the long tables. Instantly the room was in an uproar for at the same moment the fire gong sounded an alarm from the construction linen shop, the kitchen and the chapel. Guards in the dining room tried to quell the outbreak, but the thoroughly maddened prisoners pelted them with table ware and cutlery, the while shrieking and howling. The fire department, finding the blaze beyond control, called city firemen, while riot calls were sent in to the police.

Guards Regain Control.

Meantime, guards in the dining room had regained, in part, their control and forced some of the men back to their cells, but 200 or more dashed for the prison yard, and when faced by other guards, backed into a building and ran for the top of a tier of cells. From this vantage point they pelted the guards, then reinforced by every available man in the prison, with bricks torn from the tops of the wall. Deputf sheriffs and police from every precinct in the city soon added to the fighting force within the enclosure and it was not long before the prisoners had been chased from the wall to their cells. They signalized their reincarceration by breaking the glass in the windows and shrieking and howling to the thousands of persons gathered in the streets and filling the house tops nearby.

Fire Under Control.

Within two hours the fire was under control but not until a number of buildings had been destroyed with an estimated loss of $50,000.

John M. Egan, parole officer, after quiet had been restored, said that the outbreak was the result of a period of discord among the 1135 persons confined in the institution.

About 800 of these, he said, were long term men, many of them desperate criminals. Recently a party of convicts was brought here from the eastern pentiteniary in Philadelphia. These men and women, Mr. Egan said, made many demands which were not recognized in any penal institution, but when denied only added to the discontent.

So many cell locks were broken that tonight picked men from the Pittsburgh police force are on guard in the corridors, while outside the streets are heavily patrolled.

STREET CAR FRANCHISE IS GRANTED

Council Finally Grants Permission for Short Route Down Ninth Street to Business District.

To Begin Work Within 30 Days, Stated; Fifteenth and Holliday Paving Ordered Rescinded.

By the final action of the city council Monday night the Wichita Falls Traction company was granted a franchise to extend its present line down Ninth street from the Broad street intersection creating a new loop in the downtown district and by the same ordinance was granted permission to extend its present line on Thirteenth street to connect with the Southland line.

The action Monday night ends a discussion of several months as to the best lines to be used in making a shorter route to the business district from the Floral Heights and outlying subdivisions.

Under the franchise granted the present line will break at the corner of Ninth and Broad streets coming down Ninth street to Ohio street. Turning on Ohio street the line will run to Eighth street, down Eighth to Indiana and connecting back to Ninth on the present Indiana street line. The Thirteenth street line will break at the Broad street intersection extending up Thirteenth to Clark, down Clark to Collins where it will connect with the present Southland line.

Begin Work at Once.

General Manager Albritton of the traction company was present at the meeting and stated that work would probably begin within the next thirty days on the two extensions.

After a petition had been presented to the council showing 38 property owners opposed with 34 property owners for the pavement, the council by unanimous action passed a resolution which in effect stops the proposed paving of Fifteenth and Holliday streets for which contract had already been let. The apparent opposition of a considerable number of property owners affected was the reason for the action.

Curlee Submits Report.

Street Commissioner Curlee submitted a report showing that the cost of operation of his department for the month of June was $6,518.49, a decrease of approximately 20 per cent over the previous month, which in turn represented a decrease of 100 per cent over the cost of operation in April.

The report showed a balance of $119,792.34 left for new business after deducting the amounts already appropriated for improvements but not actually paid out. Proposed new business of the department for the year for which appropriation has not actually been made totaled $117,544.43.

A. L. Roulo headed a delegation of property owners from the vicinity of Fourth and G streets asking for water service with fire protection. The matter was referred to the water department with promise of relief as soon as possible.

The Highland Land Addition company brought up a matter in connection with the proposed site for the new high school building in the Highland subdivision of the Kemp addition. A. W. King, representing the company, asked that the city pay them $7,737.10. The claim originated from a contract with the city in which the city agrees to take over certain water and sewer improvements made in the Highland addition as soon as it will realize 8 per cent on the sewer line and 25 per cent on the water line. It was pointed out by Mr. King that by the school board purchasing 64 lots in that section for the high school building the company had no immediate hope of obtaining enough dwellings to secure a return on their investment. He pointed out that the company has expended over $46,000 in sewer and water lines and asked the $7,737.10 the proportionate share of the 64 lots. The matter was referred to the finace commissioner for further consideration.

Luther Hoffman, attorney, and P. A. Rogers of the electric light company, appeared before the council and asked for a further extension of time in regard to the hearing on the extension of their service into the Southland addition as requested by property owners. The hearing was set for 9 A. M. Monday morning at which representatives of the company and property owners will be present.

The council discussed at length the city's financial condition. It was shown that there was a deficit of over $250,000 in general fund with the apportionment of practically all departments in city exhausted. Action in the matter was postponed pending more complete reports to be obtained this week.

Ordinances calling for the paving of Fillmore and Ohio streets were passed on their final readings. The council accepted a bid of the Texas Bitulithic company for the paving of an additional block on Fillmore between Avenues F and G.

Paul Langford was appointed city judge, pending the return of Judge Ogle from a vacation trip.

The matter of a segregated district for negroes near the proposed new Barwise school house on Jalonick street and near the new motorist park was discussed after a negro delegation had explained their side of the question. The negroes claimed that they had lived in that section before the whites who protested last week. Sentiment among the council indicated that it was not believed that the negroes were encroaching on the whites.

At the request of City Attorney Mann the council refused to ratify a suggestion that the council enter the injunction suit of the Lone Star Gas company against the North Texas Gas company as agreed by a majority of the towns affected in the suit. As the matter now stands the city will take no part in any way in the suit.

OLD SOL HANGS UP NEW HIGH RECORD FOR SUMMER SEASON

Old Sol set out Monday to beat his best record for the season and was successful, the thermometer hitting 106 in the shade at Arts store, which is one degree lower than the government reading, due to the proximity of an electric fan. SHIP BOARD DEFICIT BIG DURING YEAR

Chairman Lasker Reports Losses for Twelve Months Just Ending Total $380,000,000.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, July 18.—Operations of the shipping boards fleet for the fiscal year just ended resulted in a loss of approximately three hundred eighty million dollars, Chairman Lasker of the board announced today. The governments venture in the merchant marine business last year, involved a total expenditure of six hundred and eighty million dollars so far as could be ascertained from the boards' books, which Mr. Lasker described as in bad shape. The new chairman estimated that it would cost the government three hundred million dollars to carry on operation of the fleet this year.

DEMAND NEFF NAME SPECIFIC GRAFT CASES

Opening Session of Special Legislature Met With Request That Governor Designate Defrauders.

Representative Takes Issue With Majority, Asking That Measure Be Referred to Grand Juries.

By Associated Press.

AUSTIN, Texas, July 18.—The first day of the first called session of the Thirty-seventh Texas legislature was greeted with a resolution introduced in the house requesting Governor Neff to "furnish" such evidence as he has on hand to the house to substantiate his charges of graft and extravagances in the state capitol.

The resolution did not specify how the governor was to furnish this information, whether he was to appear in person or send it by manuscript. It said that since he had made these charges in public and as they were of serious nature he was merely requested to furnish the evidence he has.

The resolution was referred to the committee on state affairs by vote of the house on motion of Representative Burmeister of McMullen. Representative Williams of McLennan exclaimed when the motion was made that it should be "referred to the grand juries." The resolution was signed by Representatives Moore of Hunt, Cox of Tyler, Wright of Archer and Henderson of Marion.

Must Furnish Information

After calling the house to order Speaker Charles G. Thomas made a short address in which he said that it is "high time" for the person charging fraud and graft in the capitol to furnish the legislature with the information. He referred to Governor Neff's charges.

Lieutenant Governor Davidson, after calling the senate to order, pleaded for harmony. He said it was no time for crimination and recrimination between the executive and legislative departments of the state.

Twelve bills proposing to carry out Governor Neff's program for the special session were introduced in the house. The objects of the bills are: Amending the Dean prohibition law; abolishing the department of marketing and warehousing; abolishing the office of state mine inspector; senatorial redistricting; representative redistricting; judiciary appropriation bill; creating an agriculture and live stock board; abolishing the industrial welfare commission; appropriating funds for canvassing district school census returns of Texas; repealing the suspended sentence law; granting more power to the agriculture department; abolishing the experiment station supervisory board.

Report Redistricting Bill

The senatorial redistricting bill was reported favorably by the committee late today.

Two bills were engrossed and passed finally by the senate today. One was the mileage and per diem appropriation for the special session of $65,000, the other the contingent expense fund of $20,000.

Letters from Miss Annie Webb Blanton to the house and senate requesting a joint committee to confer with on the recent Corpus Christi school census controversy were referred to the house state affairs committee and the senate educational committee.

Senator John H. Bailey, veteran member from DeWitt County, was elected president pro tem of the senate.

The reading of the governor's message of 28 pages apparently created no comment or concern in either branch. There was no applause or showing made after the reading. The members of both branches appeared impatient as the reading clerks rolled off the lengthy message.

ASK POLICE TO LOOK FOR MISSING MAN

Police were asked Monday afternoon to assist in a search for E. R. Chandler, 1207 Chester street, who is reported to have been last seen Saturday night shortly after midnight.

Mr. Chandler had returned from Iowa Park, where he had been conducting a cold drink stand during the recent two-day picnic and barbecue. J. W. Ketner, partner with Mr. Chandler in the cold drink stand, declared that he believed the missing man had near $400 in cash on his person when he returned from Iowa Park.

His wife, who has not seen him since early Thursday when he left to take up the business at Iowa Park, declares that she fears her husband has been a victim of foul play.

Jack Hibbs, who worked in the drink stand during the two days of its operation, reported that he returned to this city with Mr. Chandler. After leaving the train, he said, they parted at Eighth and Ohio, Mr. Chandler starting south on Ohio and he going on west on Eighth.

MORE DELAY IN SALE OF BOND ISSUE

Further delay in the sale of the $1,300,000 bond issue of the county for the construction of concrete roads was indicated Monday in a wire received Monday from the attorney general's department at Austin by E. L. Fulton, county attorney. The wire stated that a letter was being sent in regard to the transcript of said bond issue submitted last week to the attorney general's department.

It is believed that the transcript contains minor errors and that they will have to be eliminated before the bond issue is approved.

Frank Kell and W. M. McGregor, who are under contract to purchase the bonds, appeared before the court Monday accompanied by C. W. Reid, vice president of the City National Bank of Commerce. They had been asked to consult with the court regarding a method of financing the continuance of the concrete road construction pending the approval of the bond issue.

It was decided to wait until today when the letter will be received from the attorney general's department before going further into the needs of financing at this time.

Pat Murphy, county auditor, stated at the meeting Monday that work on the construction of the concrete road between Iowa Park and Electra would have to stop at once if additional funds were not arranged for.

According to Tom McHam, county treasurer, the special road fund of the county, is now overdrawn several thousand dollars.

RETURN BODY CAPT. CRAIG ANNOUNCED

Announcement of the arrival of eight bodies of former soldiers killed in France in San Antonio tomorrow contains the name of one who has a large number of friends in Wichita Falls who served with him in training camp and later in the 358th Infantry, 90th Division—Capt. Samuel R. Craig of El Campo.

In addition to the friends made in the service Captain Craig has a number of friends in this section who knew him as one of the prominent cadets at the Texas A. & M. College where he was the ranking cadet officer in his senior year.

Captain Craig was killed by a high explosive shell on September 14, 1918, as he was leading his company in the second advance during the St. Mihiel offensive, the advance for the exploitation of the successes on September 12. The same shell killed or severely wounded a number of other officers of the same battalion and several non-commissioned officers and men of Captain Craig's company.

Others whose bodies arrived in the same convoy were Private Thomas Arbuckle of Austin, Private Alcobie Donley, Austin; Corporal John C. Carlisle, Giddings; Private Charles Parks, Sweeney; Private John Q. Adams, Killeen; Private Harris, Houston, and Private Polidora Sosa, San Antonio.

KELL FAVORS SANSOM FOR POOL HEAD

The movement toward the naming of Marion Sansom of Fort Worth, banker, cattleman and director of the 11th Federal Reserve district as administrator of a cattlemen's relief commission, similar to the War Finance Corporation, will have the entire support of Frank Kell, he indicated Monday following receipt of a letter advising him of the movement.

"Mr. Sansom is the type of man eminently fitted for such a post," he said.

"He is a big business man of standing, capacity and integrity, is thoroughly familiar with the cattle business, and more than that, he knows cattle men. If he were head of such a commission, the government could rest assured that every cattle man who was in need of and deserved to be helped, would be helped."

ELIASVILLE ROAD OPENS AT "5 P. M."

"The rails of the Wichita Falls and Southern will reach Eliasville at 5:00 o'clock on Saturday, July 23," Chief Engineer McFarland declares—declaring it first at a recent conference with Eliasville business men, who put the question to Frank Kell, who in turn passed it to Captain McFarland. And the chief engineer declares that the arrival will be on the time scheduled.

In fixing this rate and time, Mr. McFarland repeated a celebrated piece of the history of the building of the Northwestern, when R. A. Thompson, chief engineer for that road, on being importuned by J. A. Kemp for a definite time for the completion of a certain stretch of the road, pulled out his watch for consultation. On this occasion, however, history records that Mr. Kemp disclaimed any necessity for having the exact minute determined.

THREE HELD BY SHERIFF ON ROBBERY

Ending a three weeks investigation by Sheriff Fred Smith and members of his department of the robbery of Dr. W. H. Jones of Burkburnett, when he was relieved of a $3,000 diamond ring, two men and one woman were arrested Monday.

A man and his wife were arrested at Ardmore early Monday by Sheriff Smith and the second man arrested later in the day at Burkburnett. The woman was reported to be held on a charge of receiving and concealing stolen property.

John Little, who was arrested at Ardmore by Sheriff Smith, was reported to have refused to return to Wichita Falls, unless extradition papers were obtained.

Sheriff Smith declared that the man being held in Oklahoma is at present under indictment in connection with the fatal shooting of a deputy sheriff in Oklahoma. Officers there refused to allow bond for the suspect, Sheriff Smith said.

The robbery of Dr. Jones was said to have occurred about 10 o'clock on the night of June 17. He had gone to bed and was resting when the door was opened. Thinking it a friend who lived there, Dr. Jones was reported to have said, "Pretty late, aren't you?"

"No! Just in time! Throw them up!" the intruders were quoted as replying.

The victim was then forced to stand facing the wall, while the bandits stripped the ring from his finger and searched for other valuables.

The assistance of Sheriff Buck Garrett of Ardmore and men of his department were declared by Sheriff Smith to have been very valuable to him in handling the investigation.

ELECTION REBUKE TO CITY COUNCIL—CLINE

ple and material men of Wichita Falls will do them, and every business in Wichita Falls, the most good. This was in line with the mayor's former declaration of being in favor of municipal expenditures in times of depression.

He called attention to a number of expensive civic works which the city had been compelled to have at once, through its great growth, and pointed out that the deficit in the city's finances was now hardly as large as when he took office. The mayor was quick to say, however, that he did not regard this deficit as in any way reflecting on the previous administration, declaring the belief that they had done well in the face of a difficult situation.

The reading of the statement was uninterrupted by the council members, save by Commissioner Fitts, who disclaimed knowledge of the state of the overdraft of the city, nor the amount of money necessary to carry the interest and sinking funds. The mayor replied that he had presumed that he had that knowledge.

The statement follows:

As I interpret the result of the election last Saturday, it is not so much the repudiation of Mr. Bralley and his administration of the police department, as it is a reprimand from the voters of Wichita Falls to the mayor and the other members of the council for the policies they have pursued in administering municipal affairs during the past year. No criticism was made and no charge was substantiated against the efficiency of the police department, but in my judgment, the thing which influenced the majority vote against Mr. Bralley was the feeling of those participating in the election that they were not satisfied with existing conditions. We other members of the council must recognize the fact that we were elected by the voters, and are at present simply hired hands, subject to orders from the same authority which placed us in office.

Must Know of Debt

With this thought in mind and the frank and sincere desire to co-operate with the majority of the people of Wichita Falls, I would suggest, first, that the public be notified of the existing bonded indebtedness of the city and the amount of money necessary to pay interest and create a sinking fund on these bonds—and then that they be given the proposed budget for the coming year together with the present condition of the funds in the various departments. This will give them an intelligent idea of the money necessary to pay our present overdraft, take care of the interest and sinking fund on the bonds and give the several departments of the city sufficient revenue to carry on their work during the present fiscal year. Those of you who have served on the council are familiar with this, and I assume that the newly elected member, Mr. Fitts, is also familiar with this condition, because I notice that he is advocating a reduction in our tax rate.

I want to make my position clear in this matter of the tax rate, as I shall not be in the city for the next several weeks. I have held, and still hold to the theory that Wichita Falls grew so rapidly that it will be necessary to place an unusual tax burden on the property owners of this city in order that the outlying residence districts be given those municipal improvements which in my judgment they as taxpayers are entitled to. The fact that we took charge of the city government with an overdraft almost as large as the one we now face, I considered and still consider no reflection on the past administration, as I believe that they were making an honest effort to bring some relief to the thousands of homes in Wichita Falls which do not enjoy the usual privileges of citizenship in a well organized city.

Must Raise Tax Rate.

I have analyzed the situation and believe it is to the best interests of Wichita Falls to continue a reasonable development, even during this time of depression. I have said, and wish to repeat here, that in my judgment the tax rate should be raised. If the majority of the council decide that it is best to do away with our present organization in the various departments and simply mark time, pursuing a policy of retrenchment and strict economy which will mean the discontinuance of paving, water extensions, sewer extensions, and various other municipal developments, I shall have no quarrel with you gentlemen for doing so. My thought has been that it will be much better during this time of depression to burden the taxpayers with a heavy tax load, expending the money among our laboring classes and with our material men at a time when business is dull, and prepare Wichita Falls for a return to more prosperous times, which I am sure every good business man agrees with me will come during the next year or two.

In discussing the tax rate, I wish you gentlemen would give particular attention to any suggestion made by Mr. Fitts, as I am sure he, favoring a reduction in taxes and knowing the present condition of the city treasury, must have some practical method of having our tax rate reduced. I say this with no desire to pass a politician "buck," because in my judgment the politics in this campaign closed Saturday night, and I am simply trying to co-operate with Mr. Fitts in arriving at a sensible and fair solution of a problem which the voters last Saturday gave him instructions to try and work out. Whatever of extravagance and unwise application of funds has been made during the past year should not enter into the present discussion because the money has been spent, and whether spent wisely or not, must be paid, and the problem which now faces us is the one which would be included in the financial statement of the several departments and the treasurer of the city.

Hopes for Gas Solution.

I hope that you gentlemen will be able to work out a satisfactory solution of the gas situation. Since my return about ten days ago, I have attended several conferences and have consulted a number of attorneys and have tried to take care of the interests of Wichita Falls so that nothing that I might do or say would involve us in any future negotiations. The trade we now have is not satisfactory either to me or to the other members of the council, and less satisfactory I am sure to the consuming public in this or any other city in North Texas, and I sincerely hope that you gentlemen will be able to do something that will give a measure of relief. In this connection, I have no recommendation to make, because I know of nothing that can be done at this time, but the developments of the recent lawsuit and the action of the representatives of the gas companies may make it possible during my absence for you gentlemen to make a better trade.

I find not only as a result of the vote cast last Saturday, but from my conversation with representative men in our city, that there is a feeling that the expense in our engineering department should be reduced. As you gentlemen know, I was responsible for bringing our city engineer, Mr. Montgomery, to this city, and was also responsible for the fixing of his salary. I have concurred in Mr. Curlee's recommendation for the engineering department at this time but feel that the public which we serve will expect that some further investigation be made by the council into the expense of the engineering department, and I have only this suggestion to make with reference to the engineering department, and that is that you get the consent of our engineer to use sand for paving purposes from our local gravel pits. I find that paving laid with this sand is in my judgment, good paving, and when properly screened I believe that it will give satisfaction, and I do not think that Mr. Montgomery and his engineers will object to the use of it when properly screened and inspected. If this is done, it will make some saving in the cost of paving to the property owners.

Give Alderman Free Hand

With reference to the fire and police departments I would suggest that these departments be handled as they have been in the past and as the other departments have been handled. I mean by this, give the alderman in charge of his department a rather free hand in the administering of the affairs of his department. I am very firmly convinced that the fire department is such that we can stand pat on it as it is today, and would oppose any change in the personnel or the salaries paid to men. In the police department, I assume you gentlemen will be governed largely by the recommendation made by Mr. Fitts in selecting a chief of police of anyone else in that department. That you may understand my attitude, I would be inclined to allow Mr. Fitts to select not only a chief, but the entire personnel of his police department. It will not be possible for him to give the proper efficient service unless he has the full and friendly cooperation of the men under him.

In leaving town for a few weeks to take a vacation with my family, it is my sincere wish that the same spirit of cooperation which has existed in the past, will continue, and I can see no good reason why the council should not continue in its united effort to give the people of Wichita Falls what, as we see it, they want and what we are charged under our responsibility of office to give them.

I hope that each member of the council will have as much luck in administering the affairs of the city as I plan to have in fishing.

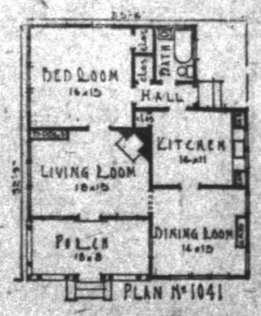

W. D. CLINE, Mayor.

Woman President of Assyria.

Just as George Washington in America became known to posterity as the "Father of His Country," the first woman president of a nation may be known as the "Mother of Assyria." Lady Surma, first executive of the new Assyrian republic, practically created the nation when she obtained from England the grant of eighty thousands square miles of land in the Kurdistan Mountains, and this, it is said in London, may win her the unique title.

Lady Surma was ambassador to England from the Assyrians—and incidentally the first woman ambassador in the world—when she obtained the grant of the new territory from Britain. Her brother, Mar Chimon, had been patriarch of the Assyrians, and following his murder a new form of government was outlined. When the new assembly of the Assyrians was organized the ambassador who won for the country its new territory was at once urged for its ruler.

"Sugar Land" Merchant Rejoices Over Remarkable Recovery of His Wife

B. Lochridge, well known planter and merchant of the "Sugar Land," who lives at Lochridge, Texas, a thriving town named in his honor, is enthusiastic about Tanlac since his wife's remarkable experience with this medicine. In giving the facts of her wonderful recovery he said:

"When my wife began taking Tanlac she had been a sufferer from stomach trouble for six years and had been down with rheumatism for six weeks. She was living almost entirely on a liquid diet, as solid food seemed to affect her like poison. She ate no meat and even eggs disagreed with her. Of course, eating so little she was growing weaker and thinner every day. Her knees were swollen to twice their natural size and her feet were so swollen she couldn't wear her shoes. Her fingers were bent just like claws, she couldn't straighten them at all and she was just miserable all the time.

"She tried everything, money could buy without getting any relief until she began taking Tanlac. She has just begun the third bottle and the swelling in her knees and feet has gone down and her fingers are perfectly straight. She eats meats, eggs and anything else she wants and has no distress afterwards. She is now well and active and we are as happy as we can be over her recovery. People who know her are simply amazed at the wonderful change that has been brought about in her condition, and well they may be, for it is the most surprising thing I ever saw in my life. I am glad to go on record as endorsing Tanlac, for it is one medicine that deserves everything good that can be said about it."

Tanlac is sold in Wichita Falls by Miller Drug Store, in Electra by Tarlton Drug Store, in Burkburnett by West End Drug Co., and by all leading druggists.

TASTY RECIPES.

Pickle Relish—Pass through the meat grinder enough crisp cabbage to make one pint and add two mild green peppers and four stalks of celery ground like the cabbage. Mix thoroughly one teaspoonful of celery seed, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of mustard seed, half a teaspoonful of salt, one-quarter of a cupful of brown sugar and one-quarter of a cupful of vinegar. Let the mixture stand for one hour, stirring occasionally, then blend with the ground vegetables. This relish should not be eaten until it has stood for 24 hours, and if kept in a cool place it will keep for several days.

Banana Boat Salad—Allow small banana for each service. Peel and with a vegetable cutter remove the center, giving the outline of a boat. Fill with equal quantities of diced canned pineapple and chopped celery dressed with mayonnaise and garnish with balls of banana pulp that have been rolled in chopped toasted peanuts. Set the "boats" on crisp lettuce leaves and serve very cold.

Delicious Fillings for Picnic Sandwiches.

Lettuce, slices of crisp bacon, cold roast chicken, tomatoes. Use toast and make in two layers.

Lobster meat, seasoned with salt, cayenne and lemon. Lettuce and mayonnaise.

Grated Gruyere cheese, chopped English walnuts.

Sliced tomatoes, mayonnaise and horseradish.

Water cress, chopped fine, with oil mayonnaise.

Chopped ham and sweet relish.

Green olives, ripe olives, hard-boiled eggs, chili sauce, celery and mayonnaise.

Neufchatel cheese, few drops Worcestershire sauce, stuffed olives, pimento, chopped pecans, mayonnaise. Moisten with lemon juice.

SUGGESTIONS.

If you do not happen to have aluminum polish, use borax to clean your aluminum dishes. Dampen a cloth in water and put a little borax on it. After rubbing the article well, wash in warm water and wipe with dry cloth.

Housekeepers who have trouble in running a rod through the hem of sash curtains, just cut a little finger from an old kid glove, slip it over the end of the rod, and it will work like magic.

A very satisfactory clothes sprinkle may be made by punching holes in the top of a vaseline bottle. Any bottle having a metal top will do, but those with screw tops are best, as they do not come off easily.

A little wood alcohol used on a soft cloth will remove from tables white spots caused by hot dishes or water marks. Rub the spot quickly to prevent taking off the varnish.

CLEANING HINTS.

Gasoline—For cleaning enameled tubs, bowls and sinks.

Turpentine—For dusting wax floors.

Washing Soda—For cleaning drain.

With the Women of Today

Mrs. Emma Hill Perkins.

Mrs. Emma Hill Perkins has met with business success in devotion to art as it applies to mausoleums and other memorials in cemeteries. It is an unusual business for a woman and Mrs. Perkins thinks she may have been the first woman ever to enter that line of work, for she started to work for a granite concern when she was 16 years old, just after she had finished high school.

From an office position in Barre, Vermont, the greatest granite center in the world, Mrs. Perkins has risen to the head of her own concern in St. Paul, Minn. She studied drafting while at her work and acquired in general such a grasp of details of the business that three years later she was given full charge of the office. A St. Paul monument company heard of her and in her eighth year in business at Barre she was invited to go to St. Paul as a designer. She accepted the position and worked for the company several years, becoming manager after the first year. She then went into business for herself.

Mrs. Perkins hopes for the day when the selection of the simplest grave marker will be made with discrimination and that entire cemeteries may become in shrubbery and marble a delight to the artistic sense. Mrs. Perkins now manages the financial and selling end of her firm of specialists in mortuary art. Val B. Kratzert is the head designer. These two people have undertaken the unusual task of uplifting the cemetery as regards its beautification.

Odd Bits About Women.

Miss Soester I. Anthon is city editor of the Yakima Daily Republic.

Washington and has four masculine reporters working under her, as well as a woman society editor.

Dr. Lola Taylor, National vice president for Alabama in the Federation of Business Women's Clubs and president of the Birmingham Club, is the only woman in Alabama practicing denistry.

Mrs. Margaret Stewart Gray of Pittsburgh, Pa., has the distinction of having received the first municipal appointment in that city. She is superintendent of the Bureau of Recreation in the department of public works.

Miss Lulu Jones of Grand Rapids has the distinction of being one of three woman members of the Central Electric Railway association. She was the only woman present at a recent meeting of that body. She is auditor for the Grand Rapids, Grand Haven and Muskegon Railway company.

OLD SCHONNER A TEA ROOM.

In the harbor of Nantucket the two-masted schooner Allen Gurney is moored with the strangest cargo of all she has carried. Her tall masts dominate a harbor almost abandoned by the shipping that made once a close follower of Boston and Salem in wealth. The Allen Gurney is conspicuous now, not only as a reminder of the old order, but for her recently acquired deck awning of green and orange stripes. She is manned by two young women who have restored her to ship-shape condition for a venerable old age, and has prolonged her life for several years. Her crew is making a gratifying success of the tea room conducted partly on land, partly on shipboard, and known as "The Skipper Steamboat Wharf, Nantucket."

Tea room is entirely too pallid a name, associated as it has frequently been in the past with the faded gentility of more delicate establishments. The Skipper has much more of the atmosphere of a coffee house, with the informality of an overseas canteen and the good food that is too often lacking in the Greenwich Village style of tea room. Its success comes from the "gumption" as the Islanders say—the experience and adaptability of the crew now known all over Nantucket as "the Skipper girls."

Miss Edna Prentice, the dietitian, has had experience as driver for the California motor corps, and as a canteener who ran the excellent cafeteria for the doughboys at Antwerp. Miss Gladys Wood of Massachusetts was also a canteener, having been in Luxembourg and elsewhere with the 81st division. Her experience overseas was followed by a year's work with the Community Council in New York. The Skipper girls are conceded even by the most conservative Nantucketers to have done a "smart" thing, the more so since they disregarded warnings of disasters and predictions of failure.—Esther Johnson in the Boston Transcript.

MRS. HAYDOCK SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

Followed Advice of Her Druggist's Wife and Took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Chicago, Ill.—"I was in bed with a female trouble and inflammation and had four doctors but none of them did me any good. They all said I would have to have an operation. A druggist's wife told me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I took 22 bottles, never missing a dose and at the end of that time I was perfectly well. I have a six room flat and do all my work. My two sisters are taking the Compound upon my recommendation and you may publish my letter. It is the gospel truth and I will write to anyone who wants a personal letter."—Mrs. E. H. HAYDOCK, 6824 St. Lawrence Avenue, Chicago, Ill.

Because Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved Mrs. Haydock from an operation we cannot claim that all operations may be avoided by it,—but many women have escaped operations by the timely use of this old fashioned root and herb medicine.

GIRLS! WHITEN SKIN WITH LEMON JUICE

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, which any drug store will supply for a few cents, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of harmless and delightful lemon bleach. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day, then shortly note the beauty and whiteness of your skin.

Famous stage beauties use this lemon lotion to bleach and bring that soft, clear, rosy-white complexion, also as a freckle, sunburn, and tan bleach because it doesn't irritate.—Adv.

A WIFE IN THE MAKING

BY PHYLLIS PHILLIPS

A CHANGED FAMILY

In spite of Cherry's invitation, "to drop in whenever she liked," Arline Bates rarely visited the Randall home. And more and more as the days went by did Cherry wonder at her staying on in a town like Wellsburg, with its narrow-minded people, who steadily refused to open their arms very widely to the girl. And who seemed to really resent her presence there in some way.

As Cherry became more and more engrossed in her work and her success, she discovered that Ned in turn, was spending more and more of his time at his office, and was more frequently away from meals than of yore. All very necessary and natural, of course, for, after all, they were both busy, she and Ned, and as the home was not really their own, and every dollar that they placed in the bank, jointly, was a step towards that dear little house of dreams, the constant demands of business could not be overlooked. Cherry's salary was raised by the end of her second month with Hamlen and Son. And it was with happy fingers that she deposited that "extra" in the bank each week, all unknown to Ned. For it was she who kept the books. It really was surprising how a bank account could grow. Late one fine October day Cherry discovered that Ned and she were on the road to riches. Or at least what seemed boundless riches to her.

Conditions at home did not improve, however, despite her success, and Cherry finally decided to live for her work, and those few, precious hours that she and Ned had together of an evening, after the day's work.

There were so many minor irritations during the day, countless gossipy old maids to wait on, and envious girls, who came in more to see if Cherry was really fond of her work, or just doing it because of her inability to get on with her mother-in-law.

Ned was always absorbed in his work and Jane had developed into a brooding young person, with a desire to leave the home nest and try her wings in some distant city. Jack, alone of the household, was as usual. And even he seemed changed at times.

One day, after his fifth appearance in a new tie in one week, Jane had teased her brother unmercifully, until that young person was red in the face from vexation.

"Skirts, huh, like to see myself bother with any of them here in this berg," he snorted in answer to her laughing proposal that he tell the family who the happy girl was, anyhow.

"Tend to your own heart affairs and you'll do better, smarty," he retorted. "Guess you're having so much trouble holdin' that meesly little lover of yours that you think the whole world is having the same sort of a time."

But late that same evening Cherry caught him gazing at the stars, which for Jack was an unheard of thing. And out of the darkness he suddenly said, "Gee, I wish I were a couple of years older."

"Why?" asked Cherry, astonished.

"Oh, for a couple o' reasons," answered the young man, mysteriously, as he heaved a sigh. Then:

"Have you seen that new school teacher over at Wayne, Cherry? She's awful young, not more'n two years older than me, I guess, and the blackest eyes!"

Here Jack took up his saxaphone and softly wailed out, "Drink to me only with thine eyes," and Cherry slipped out of the room, trembling with mirth.

PANTHERS GRAB EARLY LEAD, SOCK THE APPLE HARD, WIN 9-4 AND BREAK EVEN ON THE SERIES

By C. F. CARTER

I wish we had a pitcher,
A good, old flinging bum,
With a stomach out of order
And a crippled righthand thumb.
I guess when Paul Wachtel is right
Not on the injured list,
He must propel the horsehide
From a mighty nasty fist.
But he was sorter weak today
With his tummy on the bum,
And he only fanned six Spudders
With his crippled righthand thumb.
—By Sarsaparilla Sam, the Spudder Jinx.

Yes, it's too darn bad about Paul Wachtel, all shot to ieces the way he is. Stomach troubling him, and the thumb on his pitching hand smashed up and paining him so he can hardly hold a ball—too bad, too bad; yes, too bad the Spudders haven't got two or three twirlers with crippled thumbs.

We guess it just naturally must have been in the book for the Cats to get an even break on the series. If it wasn't, well, they added a new page to the book, that's all. For Jakey and his ponderous Panthers rained an even dozen base hits to various sections of Athletic park yesterday, including a couple that left the park with considerable velocity; and the result was a 4 to 9 defeat for the Spudders.

Salm's warriors did their durndest, but unfortunately they fell short by several durns. Paul Wachtel's salwa-coated apple was extremely difficult to wallop, and although the Spudders now and then managed to land on the spit-ball artist with the crippled thum (?) they were unable to do so with a sufficient degree of regularity to lift the heavy mortgage from the old farm.

Score 5 in the First

If the Cats had been content to wait until the Spudders were all ready, the game might have been called on account of darkness with the score 4 and 4. But the dirty scoundrels from Tarrant county attacked the Spuds in the very first inning, before the latters' sliding pads had become properly soaked with perspiration—and everybody knows a ball player can't put up his best game until his "hip protectors" are good and oozy.

Rabbit Dorough started on the hill for the locals, but he was not long "among those present." Phelan led off with a fly to left center that Bob Bescher nailed after a long run. Cecil Coombs promtply knocked the dod-gasted ball over the left field fence for the circuit. Ziggy Sears fanned and we then had a vision of only a one-run handicap to overcome. Clarence Kraft, however, singled to left, and came driving home when Hoffman crashed a two-bagger to right center. Haley soaked another double, this one down the third base line, scoring Hoffman—and the Rabbit resigned in favor of Abe Bowman. Rigney cracked a single to left that scored Haley, and Possum Moore doubled viciously to right center scoring "Topper." Tex McDonald threw out Wachtel, Lord be praised!

Uncle Jimmy Sewell was Salm's swirling selection when the second inning opened, and the Cats scored another run on a single, an error by McDonald and a sacrifice fly.

The Spudders chased one lone tally over the plate in their half of the second, when Danny Clark led the parade with a hard-hit double to right. Jake Miller scored him with a single to center. Griggs, running for Miller, reached second when McElwee singled over third. Works sent both runners ahead with a sacrifice—but Kitchens popped up to Haley and Uncle Jim fanned.

From that point on it was a pitcher's battle between Uncle Jimmy and One-Thumb Paul. Two lightning double plays, one by Buddy Tanner unassisted, pulled Sewell out of a couple of holes, while at other times ragged fielding would stick Jim back in another excavation. But each time he pulled out safely—until the eighth when the Cats pushed over another marker, Possum Moore poling the pill out of the lot via the regular left field fence route.

Uncle Jimmy retired in the eighth to let Hollaway bat for him. Hollaway also tried his southpaw flipper during the ninth frame, and the Cats grabbed two more runs by means of a couple of bases on balls, a hit and an error.

The Spudders squeezed one over in the seventh, when Clark got his second two-bagger—and in the ninth they staged a tiny battling rally that was good for two more; but four don't beat nine, and so the Cats won.

Today the boys will open a four-game series with Dallas on the Matines' home pasture. Don't forget to be at the Airdome at 4:00 o'clock. The Spudders are going to climb back into that league leadership—and maybe we'll hold it the next time, quien sabe?

PRESS BOX PATTER

BY C. F. C.

Now, then, you think you're all so darn smart, answer us this—do you notice any other Texas League teams grabbing two out of four from the Cats? And just as soon as this pitching situation clarifies a bit, as we're optimist enough to trust it will, the Spudders will do even better.

Uncle Jimmy Sewell looked yesterday more like the twirler we saw lick Shreveport recently. With ragged fielding behind him, Jim twirled a pretty nice game against that bunch of Fort Worth sluggers. He was hardly making use of his spitter, either; mostly a good out-curve and a change of pace.

Coombs scored a run for the Cats in the second that shouldn't have been recorded. He left third base before Kraft's fly was caught in center. The entire press coop saw the get-away, but the Spudder infield failed to notice it.

Big Boy Kraft hit into two double plays during the afternoon, Buddy Tanner pulling the second one unassisted, when he nailed Kraft's liner and trotted to second before the surprised Phelan could get back to the bag.

Cecil Griggs was kept busy in center field. In the fifth he went back to the wall and made a nifty grab of Possum Moore's long smash to right center.

Artie Phelan didn't like the third strike called on him in the ninth, grabbed the ball from Kitchens' and hit it to left field for $5—from Umpire Harry Kane.

Caddy Works played a nice game in the field, his running catch of Possum Moore's high, wide foul in the third being an unusually nifty bit of work.

Even though beaten, the Spudders kept on trying until the last man was out in the ninth. That last inning rally, when two runs were scored, looked good to us; it showed the boys have still got the old fight. And, everything considered, we're satisfied with two out of four from the Panthers.

Swede Anderson will rejoin the club in Dallas, and will probably get a chance at the Marines. We devoutly pray the Swede has got "something." Salm hasn't heard a word from Arve Odom, the Orange, Texas, southpaw, recommended by Frank Kitchens who was supposed to report while the club was here.

GIBBONS AND CARP TO MEET FOR LIGHT HEAVYWEIGHT TITLE

NEW YORK, July 18.—Tom Gibbons of St. Paul today was matched to meet Georges Carpentier in October for the world's light heavyweight championship.

Articles were signed by Eddie Kane Gibbons' manager, and Promoter Tex Richard. The bout will be either in the arena in Jersey City in which Carpentier lost to Dempsey or in Madison Square Garden. The weights will be 175 pounds or under. Rickard did not announce the terms.

Carpentier signed articles two weeks ago agreeing to meet any man Rickard selected but expressed a desire to fight Gibbons. Carpentier sailed Thursday for France to undergo treatment for his right hand. He is expected to return to Manhasset about the middle of September.

It is a mark of disrespect to permit the flag to fly throughout the night.

LEE FOHL TO PILOT THE BROWNS NEXT SEASON

ST. LOUIS, July 18.—Phil de C. Ball, owner of the St. Louis Americans, today announced the reappointment of Lee Fohl as 1922 manager. The announcement was made at this time, Mr. Ball explained, to stop rumors that Fohl was to be released.

$100,000 WAS PRICE FOR WHICH BLACK SOX AGREED TO THROW WORLD SERIES, ATTORNEY SAYS IN OPENING STATEMENT

CHICAGO, July 18.—Assistant State's Attorney Gorman, in charge of the prosecution, devoted an hour and a half in his opening statement telling the story of the alleged plot by which he said the world series was won by the Cincinnati Reds.

Eddie Cicotte, Mr. Gorman said, met Bill Burns, former White Sox pitcher, in New York about September 16, 1919, when it was certain the Sox would win the league pennant. Burns, the prosecutor said, asked Cicotte if the world's series could be "fixed" and Cicotte replied, "if there is a chance I will let you know." The pitcher told Burns it would take about $100,000 and asked Burns if he could get someone to finance it. Burns saw William Maharg of Philadelphia and Arnold Rothstein of New York but Rothstein refused to go into the deal.

When the Sox left New York, Mr. Gorman said, Cicotte told Burns to report the arrangements to him at the Warner hotel in Chicago. A day or two before the series opened at Cincinnati, Abe Attell, former prize fighter, and Hal Chase, former ball player, met Burns in New York and asked him to go to Cincinnati with them and tell the White Sox players Rothstein was ready to finance the project, Gorman said.

Burns, Gorman said, was surprised, but Attell explained that Rothstein was under obligation to him because he had once saved the New Yorker's life in a shooting scrape.

Burns went to Cincinnati that night, meeting Maharg in Philadelphia; at Cincinnati they met Attell, Ben and Louis Levy of Des Moines, and David Zelser, of Des Moines, all of whom were stopping in one room at the same hotel where the White Sox were quartered. Burns took Attell to Cicott's room and Attell told the players Rothstein was very rich and introduced a companion as Rothstein's right hand man. The players who were present asked $100,000, Gorman said, $20,000 to be paid after each game. There was some discussion as to how the games were to be lost, and it was finally decided the team was to try to win when Cicotte pitched in order to help him obtain a good contract for the following year.

After Cincinnati won the first game the players wanted their $20,000, Gorman said. Burns went to Attell, but the latter said all the money had been bet, and could not be collected until the following day. The next day Attell showed Burns a telegram reading: "Have sent you twenty grand." It was signed "A. R." When they went to the telegraph office they found, however, that the money had not been received. Burns got suspicious and after the Reds won the second game he went to Attell's room. Attell, Gorman said, lifted the mattress and showed Burns a number of big bills. The other men in the room were counting two suitcases filled with money. Attell handed $10,000 to Burns and he delivered it to the players, explaining Attell had refused to pay more because the rumors of something wrong had reached so many gamblers that the betting odds were short.

The same night Attell wanted to know about the game for the following day, and was told that little Dick Kerr would pitch and that the players in the deal "would not win for a busher," Gorman said. It was this game that Kerr won.

When the team reached Chicago Maharg and Attell met Burns at a downtown hotel for a conference. Later Sport Sullivan of Boston and Rachael Brown of New York, more of the alleged gamblers in on the deal, visited Cicotte and the other players at a southside hotel. After the conference Cicotte went to his room, lifted the pillow and found $10,000.

After the fourth game, Mr. Gorman said, Joe Jackson got $5000 and the same night another $5,000 was paid to Claude Williams.

The part Joe Gedeon, former St. Louis Brown, will play in the state's case was also revealed by the prosecutor. Gedeon and Burns are the state's two star witnesses.

Gedeon, Mr. Gorman said, met "Swede" Risberg, one of the defendants, here shortly before the series and announced he intended to bet on the Sox. Risburg warned him to "lay off that stuff" because there was "a deal on."

A few days later Risberg, the state's attorney said, sent Gedeon a telegram containing the word "ranch." It was announced a pre-arranged code, thereby notified the St. Louis player that the deal had been completed and the Sox would lose.

The prosecutor announced he would abandon the first, second and third counts of the indictment which charged the defendants with obtaining several hundred dollars from Charles K. Nims, who bet on the Sox. Mr. Gorman said the state would not press these counts to avoid conflicting the alleged swindling of Nims, with the other issues involved.

ON THE BENCH

By "Shake"

Oh, the pitcher and the shortstop were sittin' down together.
A-talkin' on the players' bench about the bally weather:
Said the pitcher, "Ed you think she's hot, you cock-eyed, English rotter?"
"Naw, you wooden-headed simp; 't'ain't hot, you hoob, it's hotter."
And then the second baseman fanned, and came back to his seat,
And his teammates started ridin' him with language low and sweet:
"You poor dumb fool, what's chewin' you? Why doncha use your head?"
"Aw, he ain't got none; that top-piece is filled with solid lead."
"You hunka cheese, that ball you tried to knock a mile
Was two feet out, you saphead stiff—Oh, Gawd, what battin' style!"

L'ENVOI

The game was over, late that night before they hit the hay
The boys were talking of the hits they didn't get that day.
The second baseman, feeling blue, remarked: "I'm in a slump."
And every player on the team began to ride the ump:
"You in a slump, that makes me laff! How d'ya get that way?
Why, Ed, old kid, they robbed ya in that cussed game today.
You hadda hit at bad ones, no matter whatcha like,
If ya took one when 'twas in the dirt that robber'd holler, 'Strike!'
Ya played a swell game, Eddie, boy, I wisht I had your beau;
Why, you've forgot more baseball than them umpires ever seen."
And that's the way ball players live, dear fans who may not know;
They cuss each other on the field, as innings come and go;
But they don't mean one-half they say, and later, eating steaks,
They praise each other, cuss the umps and blame it on the "breaks!"

RHODE ISLAND TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIPS START

PROVIDENCE, R. I., July 18.—Play started this afternoon in the first round of the state tennis singles championship match at the Agawan Hunt club in East Providence. William T. Tilden, II, world's champion, easily defeated R. B. Weeden, a Providence player, 6-3, 6-1.

Potash in Germany is found in the form of a rock salt and runs in seams of thirty feet or more in thickness. As mined it has about the same consistency as the common rock salt of commerce, and its grinding is easy. The depths at which the true potash deposits are situated make it necessary to sink shafts leading to levels of as much as 5,000 feet below the surface.

BIG RECEIPTS HAVE BEARISH WHEAT EFFECT

By Associated Press.

CHICAGO, July 18.—Big receipts and prospects of cooler weather had a decided bearish effect today on the wheat market. Prices closed heavy, 3c to 4c net lower, with September 1.27 to 1.27¼, and December 1.31 to 1.31¼. Corn lost 1⅜ to 3¼ to 2⅜c and oats ⅞c to 1½@1⅝c. In provisions the outcome varied from 32½c decline to 10c advance.

Wheat prices tended downward at most constantly throughout the day. Rain reports gave further impetus to the shelling. Considerable notice was taken of assertions that the yield in Oklahoma would be 12,000,000 to 18,000,000 bushels more than the latest federal estimate.

Rains in Iowa, Nebraska and Kansas put corn on the down grade. Bullish crop reports carried oats up to the highest point yet for December delivery. But then a decline ensued owing to weakness of other grain.

Profit taking sales depressed the provision market after a bulge due to higher quotation on hogs.

5 CENTS A BUSHEL DROP IN CASH WHEAT IN EFFECT MONDAY

Wheat dropped 5 cents a bushel in the local quotations Monday, making the present price $1.05 cents a bushel for No. 1 grade. According to the posted price, No. 2 brings $1.02 and No. 3, 99 cents a bushel.

This change is caused from fluctuation in the grain market in Kansas City and Chicago and not on account of any local condition.

CUBAN SUGAR MEN FAIL TO CO-OPERATE

By Associated Press.

SAN JUAN, P. R., July 18.—Efforts of sugar producers and others to get together in some concerted effort to relieve the present depressed sugar situation so far have failed.

R. Aboy Benitez, president of the Sugar Producers' association, has been in favor of the formation of a selling committee, the holding of sugars until better prices prevail, and an ending of the practice of shipping sugar to New York unsold to be kicked about the market and finally purchased at any prices the refiners offer. Mr. Aboy Benitez is of the opinion that unsold sugars in New York have helped bring about the unbroken drop in all sugar prices during the past few weeks.

While there are some other producers and others interested in the sugar business who agree with Mr. Aboy Benitez, there are apparently a large number of interested parties who are convinced that Porto Rico sugars are too small a factor in the situation to affect the market one way or the other. They say there are 1,250,000 tons of sugar in Cuba ready for shipment.

With the gradual winding up of the grinding season in the island, it has become apparent that there are more than 200,000 tons of sugar here available for shipment at a time when prices are lower than any time during a five-year period and meaning a loss on every pound of sugar sold.

It is generally estimated that an average cost of $6 per hundred pounds for producing this year's sugar crop is conservative and that any price under that will mean a loss to most of the producers in the island. The crop is the most expensive ever harvested in the island, and the low prices which have prevailed have been particularly hard on the actual cane growers.

J. Ruis Soler, secreary of the Sugar Producers' association, who has recently been in the states and who sailed again on Wednesday, said that he did not know what the future market was going to be, but that he was opposed to any plan for holding sugars with the hope of a better market later on. Conditions were too uncertain for the adoption of such a course, in his opinion.

THREE CHILDREN BIT BY MAD DOG

By Associated Press.

GAINESVILLE, Texas, July 18.—The head of a dog suspected of having rabies is being rushed to Austin for examination. The animal on Sunday bit three children of Claude Stice, 16 miles northwest of here. It was brought to Gainesville for examination and jumped through a window in the business section and bit four other persons before being shot. Will Gardner, a business man, and two boys, Jim Gillis and Bob Goslin and another man whose name has not been learned, were bitten by the canine here.

The first carload of California fresh figs ever sent out of the state was recently shipped from Fresno to the eastern markets.

BUSINESS IRREGULAR IN STOCKS

NEW YORK, July 18.—Business on the stock market today totalled scarcely 335,000 shares. Irregular price movements revealed weakness in certain specialties and comparative steadiness in season issues.

Atlantic gulf, under constant pressure in connection with litigation involving the company's finances, made an extreme decline of 3 1-4 points. Mexican petroleum gained 3 points at one time, but reacted sharply on heavy offerings, finishing at a loss of 3 1-4 points.

Representative steels, equipments and motors resisted pressure. Demand sterling registered a new low quotation for the year at 350 3-8. French, Italian Swiss and German rates fell 4 to 10 points, with losses of 17 to 50 points in remittances to Denmark, Norway and Sweden.

On the exchange all call loans were made at six per cent in the little time money available was offered at the same figure. Some outside loans were made at 5 1-2 per cent, both on call and time.

Liberty issues showed mixed gains and losses on small deliverings and the remainder of the bond list was equally regular including foreign flotations.

PERUVIAN COLLEGE IN POLITICAL DEADLOCK.

By Associated Press.

LIMA, Peru, July 18.—Scholastic activities at San Marcos university, the oldest educational institution in South America, have been virtually paralyzed for more than two months as a result of a controversy, said to be largely political, between the government and the university.

The student body, numbering more than 1000, is said to be divided in opinion with regard to the dispute which became more acute lately when the government issued a decree declaring the university in process of reorganization and dismissed Doctor Xavier Prado, the rector, and about 50 professors who had taken an "unauthorized recess."

A virtual deadlock now exists between the opposing elements. The difficulty is said to have had its origin in a lecture given at the university by Dr. Belaunde, of the faculty of international law, shortly after his return from the United States. Among other things the speaker is alleged to have attacked some of the government's policies. The criticism was resented by groups in the audience and the meeting ended and riotous scenes. Gendarmes and the police intervened and dispersed the crowd after about 100 shots were fired and some damage done property. Several persons were injured.

A group of professors charged that the "sanctity of university thought had been invaded," and refused to continue their duties.

The university council called a general assembly of professors and students to discuss the situation whereupon the government intervened and dismissed the rector and about 50 striking professors.

COTTON FAILS AT CLOSE OF DAY'S TRADE

NEW ORLEANS, La., July 18.—In the early part of this session today cotton was steady enough and at its best stood 10 to 14 points higher than the close of last week, but before mid-season was reached, the tone softened and the market was depressed, finding its lowest levels the last few minutes of the day when it stood 37 to 41 points under the close of last week. Last prices were at net losses of 33 to 41 points. October rose to 12.79 fell back to 12.17 and closed at 12.25.

Early gains were in sympathy with a better Liverpool than due and to sales there of 15,000 bales on the spot. Weather conditions in the belt over Sunday were somewhat better than expected and they checked the advance. The weather map noted only a few scattered showers in the eastern belt and practically no rain in the western belt while telegrams from Texas said that new crop cotton was commencing to move in coast regions of that state.

The widest break of the session followed highly unfavorable rumors regarding the Mexican situation and as the market fell it reached stop loss orders on the long side in considerable numbers. In late trading prices crumbled away rapidly, the market having almost no support.

NEW YORK COTTON.

NEW YORK, July 18.—With the exception of a short time around opening when the market was influenced by bullish cables and some support from Wall street and Liverpool, the cotton market was under selling pressure today and sustained rather important declines with October at one time reaching 12.60; December 13.00 and January 13.02, or about 43 to 45 points under the previous close. The opening was five to nine points higher and subsequently the market advanced to a level above about 11 to 12 points over Saturday's close at which point a good deal of selling by the south and spot houses, checked further rise and gave the market a weak tone from which it did not rally until just before the close when a little covering steadied it about 10 points from bottom. No., only was the weather satisfactory for the crop over Sunday, but the forecast indicated continued favorable conditions throughout the week. Another discouraging influence from a bull point of view was indications of a steady run of hedge selling all day and reports that the basis in the south was slightly easier. This news accompanied the period of greatest depression in early afternoon. Although the continent was said to be a moderate buyer of spots, Japan was reported to have turned to cheaper offerings from India following its recent reavy purchases in the south. Quite a number of long lines acquired on the recent advance were also understood to have been liquidated and there was considerable pressure from Wall Street as well as from the south in the afternoon.

MEXICO CITY HAS DOUBLED CENSUS IN LAST CENTURY

By Associated Press.

MEXICO CITY, July 18.—The population of Mexico City has increased more than 100 per cent during the past ten years, according to recent estimates based on statistics which fix the figure at approximately 1,000,000. This is far above the normal increase and is attributed to the influx of persons due to revolutions. Housing conditions, as a result, are bad and suitable dwellings are at a premium.

SPEAKING OF THE HIGH COST OF GOVERNMENT.

Governor Neff has advised the lawmakers in the matter of making appropriations to cut to the bone. Regardless of his so-called law enforcement legislative program this advice of the governor should appeal to all the taxpayers of Texas. The time has come when the lawmakers should, nay must, "cut to the bone." All taxpayers are carrying a heavy load. All industries are carrying a heavy load. If it is necessary for an individual to economize and practice thrift, why shouldn't it be necessary for the lawmakers and governmental departments, in the levying of taxes and the making appropriations and in conducting and directing the affairs of the government. There is a special session on. There appears to be a rather heated controversy between the governor and the appropriations committee. All that the people ask is wisdom on the part of their servants and the strictest economy obtainable. One of the great afternoon newspapers of the South is the Houston Chronicle. Its editor is M. E. Foster. In a recent issue of the Chronicle its editorial did not mince matters. He dealt with the high cost of government, and the theoretical extravaganzas of many reformers. He pointed out that during the last ten years the population of Texas had increased by less than 20 per cent, while the valuation of property has risen about 32 per cent. During the same period the cost of operating the state government has advanced by 150 per cent. To put it in another way, the cost of running the state has increased more than six times as fast as the population and more than four times as fast as the valuation. For the year 1911 the state budget was less than $4,500,000. Last year it was more than $11,000,000. Next year it promises to be about $13,000,000. Allowing that there were 1,000,000 families in Texas ten years ago, it cost an average of $4.50 a family to operate the state. Allowing that there are 1,200,000 families today, it is costing an average of about $10 a family. This might not prove such an intolerable burden if the cost of running the federal government had not advanced to an even greater extent, while the cost of running counties and cities has increased quite as fast. The American people are simply being disheartened with taxation, but especially since so much of it goes for ineffectual supervision and windjamming. In the meantime, prices are coming down. Cotton is not bringing one-third of what was expected a year ago, ore what it should bring to produce a legitimate profit. Beef and hogs have dropped to almost as great a degree. There is little market for wool at 15 cents a pound, though it sold for 40 a year ago. A farmer declared before the commissioners' court on Monday that he had cut his operating expenses by 150 per cent. All the basic industries of the country have found it necessary to reduce prices and pay rolls in order to meet existing conditions. The people of this state, the people of this country, indeed, the people of the whole world, face a condition, not a theory. Neither is it a condition without precedent. It is all right to assert and predict rapid economic recovery after such a period of devastation. It is a fine thing to be optimistice and buoyant with platitudes. Let us not forget, however, that we are dealing with cold and rigid facts. The world's commercial and financial system has been ruthlessly broken up. It will have to be repaired and set in motion again before we can hope for, much less, enjoy permanent rehabilitation. How long that will take no man is able to say. After the Napoleonic wars there was a continuous sag in prices and values for 15 years. This does not mean that there was lack of prosperity for the average man, for sometimes the average man finds greater comfort with low prices and low wages than with high. It all depends on whether the average man is willing to make the pattern fit the cloth. After the civil war, there was a similar sag. We have no right to ignore what seems to be a well defined economic law, simply because we would like to. Private business is meeting the situation courageously and intelligently by insisting on such economies as it manifestly demands. Public business ought to do the same. As a matter of common sense, there are just two things that the state can do. It can go forward increasing taxes regardless of the general tendency, or it can curtail. Any increase of taxes is bound to be doubly felt by the people because of falling prices and wages in private business. Even if the state expenses were to remain stationary, the tax rate would really increase because of the general decline in private earning power. In no respect has the cost of living advanced more than in the cost of the average branch of government to the average citizen. This is not wholly due to war, or the consequences of war. There has been a veritable stampede toward academic and ineffectual regulation through boards, commissions, advisers, supervisors, etc., which serve no other purpose than to tell somebody else how to do it. We are afflicted with statistics and expert opinion from every quarter, but the problem of applying them still remains with the people. From all government agencies, notwithstanding that they have been greatly enlarged and multiplied, we get counsel rather than action, programs rather than work. Our civil lists are growing by leaps and bounds, but the real work remains undone. We don't want penuriousness, but we do want more for our money. There is too much easy-chair control, too many people preparing tables and card catalogues which other people never get time to read. Our mails and libraries are cluttered with a lot of useless information gathered at public expense. The people as a whole are really being bothered with propaganda put forward by one department or another. There is no objection to intelligent investigation on the part of government authorities, but there is objection to letting he whole government run to seed over it. Much of it merely points out how the people might better themselves if they would only knock off earning a living, or conducting a business and give attention to some scheme. The people can't do it. The people are still bothered with having to provide those three square meals and a roof. Politicians do not seem to realize this. They seem to look upon the public revenue as exhaustless. Taxes and debt mount with every year, not alone because of the dollar's deflation, but in comparison to everything. The cost of operating the federal government has quadrupled since 1913. What are the people getting to show for it The same is true, though to a lesser degree, perhaps, of most states and cities. The time is clearly at hand to insist, not on miserliness, but sensible economy in the management of public affairs.

WHERE NEW ENGLAND SHINES.

Representative Treadway of Massachusetts is a republican. He is opposed to a tariff on oil importations. Governor Cox of Massachusetts is a republican. He is for oil on the free list. Governor Cox says that manufacturing industries of New England are dependent upon the Mexican oil for fuel, which is being delivered at Boston at the rate of half a billion gallons annually. Furthermore, 90 per cent of the crude is fuel oil, equal to two and three quarters of a million tons of coal. Congressman Treadway declared that an oil tariff of 35 cents a barrel meant an increase of $5,000,000 in the annual fuel bill of the New England manufacturers. Tariff making is a great old game. New England tanners demand free hides; New England shoe manufacturers demand free hides and all the New England manufacturers demand free fuel oil. Is protection an American doctrine or a state doctrine? Is it a national protective scheme or a state protective scheme? Shall American industries and American workmen be protected or shall certain interests be protected? New England is certainly the most unselfish section, politically and otherwiseedly speaking, of the American union. All they ask is protection for manufactured wares and raw materials on the free list.

Rippling Rhymes

OUT OF DATE.

As I pursue my useful courses I often am submerged in tears, for all my friends have had divorces—I've had one wife for thirty years. It makes one feel so out of fashion, backnumbered, behind the date; divorces seem the ruling passion with nearly every modern skate. My wife and I have walked together adown the slope of life's long hill, encountered every kind of weather, and every brand of good and ill. And as we thus pursued our journey the marriage lines were never lost, and neither ever hired attorney to see just what divorce would cost. We've thought a marriage contract binding, in every chapter, every verse, and even if results were grinding, it was for better or for worse. The vow we made beneath the steeple is ancient now, but still it serves, for we are old time, simple people, and are not wise to modern curves I sometimes feel outside the running when friends come up and blithely tell how for divorces they went gunning, and shook off Jane or Kate or Nell. But then I light another stogie, and to Jemima thus I speak, "I'd rather be a mossback fogy than have a new wife every week." And she replies "You're oft annoying, you try my patience much, my dear, but I would find it rather cloying to be a bride nine times a year."—Copyright by George Matthew Adams.

Who's Who

ARTHUR J. BALFOUR

New honors are being heaped upon the Rt. Hon. Arthur J. Balfour, who is perhaps the most famed and revered of all the "elder statesmen" tives at the international conference on disarmament, to be held in Washington, D. C., late this year.

A. J. BALFOUR

Arthur James Balfour was born in Scotland seventy-seven of England.

According to recent dispatches, Premier Lloyd George has sought the advice of Balfour in the settlement of the Irish proble m. And Balfour is slated to be one of the British representatives. Forty-three years ago. He was educated at Eton and Cambridge and has been active in British politics since 1874.

He has been prime minister, lord of the treasury and leader of the house of commons. Since 1916 he has held the post of foreign secretary in the British cabinet.

Balfour is not only a statesman, he is a scholar and has written many books on philosophical, theological and economic subjects. Among his best known works are: A Defense of Philosophic Doubt, 1879; Essays and Addresses, 1893; The Foundations of Belief, being Notes introductory to the Study of Theology, 1895; Reflections Suggested by the New Theory of Matter, 1904; Speeches on Fiscal Reform, 1906; Criticism and Beauty, 1909, and Theism and Humanism, 1915.

Mr. Balfour is a bachelor.

IRISH INDEPENDENCE TO BE THEME OF HIBERNIANS

By Associated Press.
DETROIT, Mich., July 18.—Promotion of the cause of Irish independence will be the chief subject discussed at the fifty-second annual national convention of the Ancient Order of Hibernians and of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the organization to be held here July 19 to 23.

Proposals for influencing the American government to recognize the Irish republic are to be offered at the convention.

The meeting will open with solemn pontifical mass on the morning of Tuesday, July 19, the mass being celebrated by Bishop Michael J. Gallagher of Detroit, national chaplain of the Hibernians. Rev. John Cavanaugh of the Catholic University of America and formerly president of Notre Dame, will deliver the sermon.

The mass will be sung in SS. Peter and Paul's church, one of the oldest edifices of its kind in Detroit.

Business sessions will be held each day during the convention.

The convention will end Saturday, July 8, with election of officers by both the Hibernians and Auxiliary.

According to the latest Mexican census, some 7,000 families of Spanish Creole descent own nearly all the fertile soil of the republic and since Mexico measures in all some 750,000 square miles it follows that these feudal estates average more than 100 square miles each.

Breakfast Stories

A director, who has a reputation for being rather harsh and overbearing in his methods was giving his leading man a tongue lashing that fairly turned the atmosphere blue. Through it all, however, the victim leaned gracefully against the wall and smiled and smiled happily.

"What the deuce are you grinning about?" barked the director. "Do you like to be cursed?"

"Why, yes. I rather enjoy it," chuckled the actor. "It recalls the good old day, you know, when I played Uncle Tom and was beaten to death every night by Simon Legree."

"I'm sorry to see you here," said the friend of a convicted bank embezzler.

"Oh, there isn't much change, after all," said the prisoner, cheerfully.

"No?"

"No," was the canny reply. "I dinna use more than look at the last one. That's guid enough for me witout touching it—ye see there might be anither underneath.

HISTORIC OLD FORT TO BE ARMED AGAIN

By Associated Press.
PLYMOUTH, Mass., July 18.—The Old Fort, which Captain Myles Standish set up and manned for the protection of the little Pilgrim Colony, is to be armed again. Through the initiative of the ancient and honorable artillery company of Boston, the British government has taken from the Royal Arsenal at Woolwich two guns of the 16th century, similar to those of the forefathers' day, and given them as a memorial guard over the graves of the forefathers on Burial Hill.

Colonel Sydney M. Hedges, of Boston, former commander of the Ancients, has received through Secretary of War Weeks, a letter from the navy department containing notice that the U. S. S. Pittsburgh has been assigned to convey the guns to this country, and her commander has been instructed to receive them at Gravesend "with proper ceremony." They will reach this country the latter part of July, and will be received here Colonel Hedges said, in like manner.

The guns are described as follows: A brass sakaret, of the time of Edward VI, bearing a shield with three lions passant and underneath an inscription. "Thos. Owen made this pece for the Yel of Garnse when Sir Peters Meytas was governor and captain, A. D. 1559." This gun is 6 feet long, weighs 608 pounds, and was a breech loader.

A brass minion, of the time of Queen Mary, bears a re-enforced rose with letter M. R. (Maris Regina,) and inscription "John and Thos. Mayo, brethern, made this piece, A. D. 1554." This gun is 7 feet, 61-2 inches long, weighs about 800 pounds and is of 2,875 calibre.

Fire of Hope Burns on Despite Disillusionment After Delay

One lonely old man in Wichita Falls, who came here from a small town in Oklahoma to meet his bride to be, all arranged by a correspondence matrimonial agency, no doubt, is feeling pretty disconsolate today, minus about $150 traveling money advanced, all because the "picture bride" failed to show up when the afternoon train from Colorado points pulled into the station.

"But I'll stay over until tomorrow," he confided to the station caller, "maybe she was delayed," which goes to show that the fires of hope burn, oftentimes brighter in the breast of those who have stood the rebuffs of disillusionment.

Almost everyone at the station Monday afternoon knew that the old fellow was waiting for his hoped-for bride, due perhaps to his confiding nature.

He had come all the way from Oklahoma to meet his little bride and why should he not be happy?

The secretary of the travellers aid came in for a good deal of his attention, on account of his inquiries about a certain girl, whose photograph he exhibited. In spite of that fact that the only train she could possibly come on did not arrive until 3:40 p. m., he made regular trips of inquiry all afternoon.

A man, who said he had known the old man in Oklahoma, explained that this was the second unhappy romance that had befallen him, the first being several years ago.

In the former case, it is said, a comely girl clerk in the old man's grocery store was the object of his affections. She collected a sum of money for a bridal outfit, it is said, and left for parts unknown.

The man's parting words to the station master as he left soon after he discovered no woman answering the pictured likeness got off the train were: "If she comes in during the night, have the travellers aid send her to the 'Blank' hotel and I'll see her in the morning."

FITZGERALD MAKES TALK TO KIWANIS

"No one invited me to Wichita Falls; I came here because I believe it offers the best opportunities for the future of any city in Texas," declared Hugh Nugent Fitzgerald, formerly of Fort Worth, now honest to goodness citizen of Wichita Falls by reason of his taking the editorship of The Record News. Mr. Fitzgerald had been introduced as a guest of the club and was called upon to give a short talk before the weekly luncheon of the Kiwanis club Monday at the Kemp hotel.

Faith that Wichita Falls will develop into one of the largest cities of the Southwest was expressed by Mr. Fitzgerald. He also gave the members a short explanation of his creed as a citizen and as a newspaper editor.

"Regardless of what political faith, religion, or belief a man may have to be a real American he must have the community spirit," he declared.

"Pop" Boone, sports editor of the Fort Worth Record, present as a guest, gave a humorous account of his recent work as an umpire in a Rotary-Kiwanis baseball game in Fort Worth. Dark hints of bulging pillows and mysterious containers gave evidence of "Pop's" proficiency as an arbiter. Pop also admitted that the Spudders had a "fair" ball team.

The varied program included brief reports of the international convention of Kiwanis clubs at Cleveland June 20-25 by Dr. M. H. Hoover, president and Ben Neal, secretary, local delegates, passing of a resolution of sympathy on the death of Layton H. Little, charter member of the club and other business.

Judge J. W. Akin read a copy of the resolutions on the death of Mr. Little, which were adopted. Memory of the beloved fellow member was intensified by the silent boosts of the day which had been bought by Mr. Little before his death to be distributed at the last meeting.

Ben Neal, ever modest, announced he had received a very flattering letter from the local Chamber of Commerce thanking the club for its good work in advertising Wichita Falls but had neglected to bring it with him. He made up for his oversight, however, by reading a letter from the president of Texas Woman's College at Fort Worth, expressing the appreciation of the Fort Worth delegation for their good work at Cleveland.

An attractive present was presented Walter Robbins and his bride in honor of his being the first Kiwanian since the club started here to walk down the altar. Julian Bobo, in his usual charming manner, made the presentation speech. Provision was made in the presentation that the club did not desire to set a precedent for bacholer members.

Music for the program was given by Miss Horton, violinist, accompanied by Mrs. W. P. Collard. Two attendance prizes, a silk shirt donated by I. A. Fine and an "automatic stop signal" given by Doc Hoover and Ben Neal, were won by R. T. Harris and Bill Viner, respectively.

Al Booth was chairman for the day.

Monday's meeting was the first since June 27, the past two week's meetings having been postponed on account of Independence Day and the death of L. H. Little.

TAX RATE NOT TO BE FIXED NOW

The county tax rate will not be fixed for the coming year before next Monday, according to a decision made Monday at the regular meeting of the county commissioners' court. It had been expected that the rate to be based on the estimate of the county tax assessor's office as to total assessments would be agreed upon Monday.

After a brief consideration members of the court decided to postpone action one week while the tax assessor collected additional figures which would give a more accurate estimate of total real and personal property values in the county upon which the rate will be established.

It is expected that this additional information will be available by next Monday.

INVITE MASONS TO MEET

Invitations to all Master Masons to attend the special sessions, called at Wichita Falls for next Thursday by A. L. Randell of Sherman, grand Master of Masons of Texas, were mailed Monday from the local lodge.

The first session is called to meet at 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Grand Master Randell is reported by local Masons to desire strong representations from every lodge in the northwestern district at this meeting. Matters of vital interest to every Mason, it is reported, will be brought up at his discussion.

A green parrot swinging in a tree in Evanston, Ill., jammed traffic for blocks by calling out, "Not so fast—go slow! Stop." The same squad of officers who captured the parrot rounded up an organ grinder who had a monkey trained to climb into second-story windows and pass out articles of value.

OPEN BIDS FOR Y. W. C. A. GIRLS' HOME

Bids were received from five local contractors for the proposed $125,000 Y. W. C. A. girls' boarding home in Wichita Falls, but action on the bids was postponed until October 16, at a meeting of the building committee of that organization held Monday morning at the Y. W. C. A. rooms.

Those who submitted bids were Taylor Brothers, Reid and Costley, J. C. Jopling company, Wichita Lumber and Building company, and D. W. Whitehill Construction company. It is understood that the two lowest bids were well under the amount of money available as a building fund and that work will likely start soon after the awarding of the contract in October.

It was said that the prospects for early completion of the Y. W. C. A. home are bright here, which condition is unusual in the state as the construction of the Houston and Fort Worth homes have been postponed indefinitely.

E. Stanley Field, architect for the Wichita Falls home, has perfected the plans and the work now hinges on the awarding of the contract.

RESCUERS ADOPTED BY BABY SEAL

By Associated Press.

PRINCE RUPERT, B. C., July 18—A baby seal, following its rescue from a vicious attack by four eagles, adopted its rescuers, Captain J. McGregor, V. C., and his three companions. The seal was putting up a plucky but losing fight against its assailants from the sky when the launch party took it aboard.

On the way to Prince Rupert the seal was put overboard, as it was thought that was where it belonged. But the little fellow thought otherwise and followed the boat right into port. It is now a very indulged pet.

When a new railroad would not build into the town of Ochiltree, Tex. the houses were put on skids and hauled with tractors across the prairie to the site of the new town on the new road.

CITY-COUNTY TO TAKE OVER OLD HOSPITAL

Subject to the sale of the $75,000 county bond issue the county commissioner's court and representatives of the city council in a joint session Monday made tentative agreements to take over the operation of the Methodist hospital at Call Field pending the completion of the addition to the General hospital and also agreed to purchase all equipment of the Call Field institution that could be used in the General hospital after the addition was completed. A price agreed upon later will be paid for the equipment.

The tentative agreement which is subject to final action by both the city council and the county commissioner's court, was made after members of the county commissioners and two members of the city council, accompanied by officials of the Methodist hospital, had visited the institution Monday afternoon. The committee inspected the equipment and expressed the opinion that a large part of it could be used when the General hospital addition was completed.

Previous opposition in the county commissioner's court was withdrawn Monday when details of the plan were explained and it was shown that it was necessary that the county furnish some method of handling the patients while the hospital addition was being constructed.

EMPLOY TWO MOTOR COPS FOR HIGHWAY

Employing two motorcycle policemen to patrol the lake and Iowa Park roads day and night the county commissioner's court in regular session Monday expressed themselves as willing to take any necessary steps to stop speeding on the county's new concrete roads with precautions also to be taken that the roads were not damaged by allowing the wrong kind of vehicles to use the highways.

Recently there has been a number of protests voiced by local residents and business men of Iowa Park regarding the high rate of speed automobiles were being driven on the Iowa Park and Lake roads. County Attorney Fulton appeared before the court and stated that there was no manner of handling the situation except to appoint officers to patrol the roads and make arrests for traffic violations of any kind. A speed limit of 25 miles an hour was set.

Swan Reaves of Iowa Park and Ollie McDonald, son of Night Chief of Police McDonald of this city, were employed by the court. They will receive $150 a month each and furnish their own machines and maintain them.

Dr. W. P. Martin, head of the Martin hospital at Burkburnett, appeared before the counsel and asked that his institution be taken over by the county as the branch institution to be established in that city. He stated that between $18,000 and $20,000 had been spent in the construction of the hospital. He offered to purchase $10,000 worth of the bond issue provided the court would agree to purchase the hospital. It was pointed out by Judge Jones that the court contemplated the construction of only fireproof structures for branch hospitals. Final action in the matter was not taken.

The gratuity paid by the Canadian government to her world war veterans was by far the most liberal of all the allies. A married man, with three years' service, received a minimum of $600, and a single man $420, while the officers received more, according to their rank.

REPORTERS BARRED FROM COUNTY JAIL

Newspaper men in the future will be barred from the county jail.

Positive order to that effect was issued Monday by Sheriff Smith through Chief Deputy Sheriff Dukan. Announcement was made Monday morning when two representatives of the local papers accompanied members of the county commissioners' court on an inspection of the county jail. The representatives of the press were told at the jail door concerning the order.

Asked concerning the order Monday Mr. Dakan said that he had not been told by Sheriff Smith why newspaper men had been discriminated against in the order although it wah his understanding that it was in line with the new policy of the sheriff's department in keeping the number of visitors at the county jail down to a minimum. Sheriff Smith was out of the city and no statement could be obtained from him.

It was indicated last week by a member of the sheriff's department that the order originated from the county attorney's office. E. L. Fulton, county attorney, stated Monday that he had nothing to do with the order. Both he and District Attorney Wilson said that they had no objections to newspaper men visiting the jail subject to the usual restrictions.

In the past representatives of the local press have only occasionally visited the jail probably not averaging more than once every three or four weeks. They are always accompanied by officers.

Sheriff Smith and other members of his department have recently indicated that they resented certain stories that have appeared in local newspapers concerned with the sheriff's office. Examples of these publications have been those in which a district judge instructed the grand jury to inspect conditions at the county jail; the later report of that grand jury in which certain recommendations were made as to the handling of the jail; the complaint of a local resident as to his treatment at the hands of the "Kangaroo Court" while confined in the county jail; and a story regarding the daily menu for prisoners of the jail.

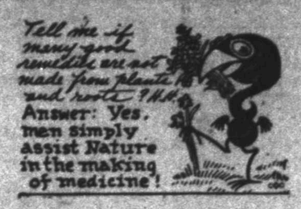

Following the inspection Monday morning the commissioners court ordered paid a bill of the Paulay Jail Building company. The company has recently completed the screening of the windows at the jail and made other improvements in the interior of the building.

"There is absolutely no excuse for prisoners escaping from the jail now," declared L. L. Kuntz, commissioner from Precinct 3 following the inspection, "without the tools are allowed to be brought in from the outside." Other members of the court expressed similar opinions.

The court passed an order doing away with the night watchman, it being their opinion that the added expense was not necessary with the extra precautions that have been taken as to equipment.

CLEAN UP COUNTY BASTILE MONDAY

Monday was "clean up" and "shake down" day at the county jail. All bed clothing, papers, and other movable materials and equipment were removed from jail and placed on the courthouse lawn for several hours.

Prisoners were also given a thorough search, with a thorough cleaning of the inside of the jail.

The action follows the recent recommendation of the grand jury of the Thirtieth District court in regard to the care of the jail.
