HICKMAN TO GET 'ALL LAW ALLOWS'

Hoffman Chief Business Council

LUTHER HOFFMAN, PAUL PUTTY CHOSEN AS CHAIRMAN AND VICE-CHAIRMAN OF BUSINESS COUNCIL

Luther Hoffman, local attorney, was elected chairman and Paul Putty, president of the Dixie Tire service, was named vice chairman by members of the chamber of commerce business council for 1928 at the first meeting of the organization in the Kemp hotel at noon Friday.

Oral Jones, vice president of the City National bank, was the only other candidate for chairman, and Leonard Grayson was the second candidate for vice chairman.

The nominating committee appointed by President Charles J. Francis, consisted of Joe Bridwell, Paul Pond and Dr. C. W. Stevenson.

The meeting opened with an invocation by Judge P. A. Martin. All district judges are ex-officio members of the council.

Mr. Francis took the chair and outlined the purpose and scope of the council. He urged members to cooperate with chamber of commerce committees in an effort to bring about a successful completion of the organization's aims.

J. E. H. Railey gave a report of the work done by the classification committee in counting ballots polled in the election of delegates to the council.

Mr. Francis urged members of the council to assist in bringing

CONFESSED SLAYER OF 13 EXECUTED EARLY FRIDAY AT HUNTSVILLE

ROBERT BENTON, NEGRO ALSO DIES WITH GRIN

Warden Speer Sends Death Jolt Into Bodies of Both Men From Behind Screen.

HUNTSVILLE, Texas, Feb. 10. (AP)—In a prison ledger, written in red ink, by Warden N. L. Speer, today rested the brief record of the electrocution of George J. Hassell, 39, white, and Robert Lee Benton, 30, negro, in the state penitentiary here early today.

"Executed in accordance with the mandate of the law, February 10, 1928," it read.

Hassell was credited with nine murders in Texas besides four in California. Benton, who also was known as Stanley, slew a Texas farmer.

Warden Speer said he understood both men were to be buried in the prison cemetery. Relatives, he had been informed, first had planned to take Hassell's body to Palestine.

A giant of a man, Hassell scorned lethal weapons in putting to death his victims. With one exception, he either struck them down with a hammer, or strangled them to death. The exception was his step-son, for whose murder Hassell died in the chair, killed by a shot in the back.

Hassell Says He's Ready

Stoical to the last, Hassell went to his death with masked countenance. He was ready to meet his God, he told Warden Speer, and expressed the belief that while he had sinned, "God understands while men do not."

Hassell's California crimes did not come to light until the bodies of his nine Texas victims had been found on a farm near Farwell, Texas.

In a confession to Farwell authorities he described the slaying at Whittier, Calif., of Mrs. Marie Vogel, proprietor of a rooming house at San Angelo, Texas, with whom Hassell had formed a partnership, her young son and two

Oklahoma Bars Hickman Picture From Theaters

OKLAHOMA CITY, Feb. 10. (AP)—The Oklahoma supreme court today frowned upon the showing of motion pictures of William Edward Hickman, convicted slayer of little Marian Parker in Los Angeles. The court refused to grant a writ of prohibition against District Judge Orel Busby of Pontotoc county, who had issued an injunction against the showing of the pictures at an Ada theater.

The injunction was obtained by the Ada Parent-Teachers' association and the mayor.

The pictures were purported to show the pursuit and capture of Hickman and scenes in the prison cell.

CONVENE BOARD FOR REPORT ON AUDIT RECHECK

With uncertainty existing as to the matters which will be discussed, the county commissioners' court convened in special session here early Friday afternoon to hear a report on a recheck of a portion of the recent general audit of county records for years prior to 1927.

Clinton E. Smith, head of the auditing firm of Smith, Allred and company which made the recent audit, declared before the meeting that the recheck had served only to further establish the correctness of the audit.

The special meeting resulted from the declaration by T. R. Boone, local attorney, at last Monday's meeting of the commission that inaccuracies were contained in certain parts of the audit relating to records of the late A. F. Kerr, former district clerk.

The court also expected to hear the proposal during the special meeting that someone be especially designated to disburse trust funds aggregating approximately $20,000 which accumulated during Mr. Kerr's long service as district clerk. The trust fund is made up, it was explained, largely of fees of various kinds which were unclaimed by those to whom they were due.

SANDINO DARES DEVIL DOGS TO COME TO HILLS

NICARAGUA REBEL LEADER ISSUES DIRECT DEFI TO U. S. MARINES

BANDIT CHIEF DECLARES PLANES' USE "COWARDLY"

200 Men Reported in Force Recruited by Bandit to Renew His Pillaging.

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Feb. 10. (AP)—General Augustino Sandino, rebel leader, has defied the American marines to join battle with him.

Writing to the chief Nicaraguan authority in the Matagalpa district, Sandino said he would be delighted to meet the marines in the hills around Matagalpa and blood would flow in such a case.

He protested against the "cowardly actions of the marines" in Nueva Segovia. This criticism was thought to be in objection to the marines extensive bombing operations from airplanes which had made several strongholds of the rebels in the Nueva Segovia district untenable.

Various advices received here today placed the number of men under Sandino at from 100 to 600.

Some lines of communication between Managua and Matagalpa were cut. It was suggested that this was done by Sandino who is not anxious to have his whereabouts definitely known.

The latest advices received here, however, said the rebel leader was in Cuatro Esquinas, a small village southeast of Matagalpa. In the last few days he has worked from northwest of Matagalpa, which is the center of a rich coffee growing district, toward the South. He is perfectly familiar with the topography of that district having joined General Moncada in that section almost a year ago when Moncada was head of the liberal forces warring against the conservative Diaz government.

These advices place the number of Sandino followers at 200. They are mounted on fast horses and travel at night in order to evade

FRENCH AVIATORS FACE BUSY ROUND AT U. S. CAPITAL

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10. (AP)—The French aviators, Costes and Lebrix were cheered by the house today when brought into the gallery by Representative Tilson, Republican leader, during discussion of the treasury supply bill.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10. (AP)—Refreshed after a long night's rest from the sight seeing and social whirl of yesterday, Lieutenants Costes and Lebrix, French aviators, had an opportunity today for a second visit with President Coolidge.

Luncheon was arranged for them at the White House and later they planned to visit the naval air station at Anacostia at the special invitation of the station commandant, and to inspect their plane, the Nungesser-Coli, at Bolling field, a few hundred yards away.

The Breguet machine is being overhauled and cleaned by an Hispano-Suiza mechanic who followed the fliers here from Panama. Tonight airmen will be the guests at a private dinner to be given by Major Georges Thenault of the French embassy.

After being royally entertained on a bit of their own soil last night at the brilliant empire costume ball at the embassy, the two aviators today were considering telegraphic invitations from many cities, including Cleveland and Omaha, for visits during their proposed transcontinental flight from New York to San Francisco.

They have decided to make Detroit one of their first stopping places. Consideration also was being given to an invitation to a dinner in New York, February 14, by the All-American Cables company.

Hatton W. Sumners, incumbent, also a Democrat, is running for re-election.

COUSIN OF MATTHEW KIMES AND COMPANIONS SENTENCED FOR HOLD-UP AT FREDERICK

FREDERICK, Okla., Feb. 10.—Guy Kimes and Miles Everett deserters from the army post at Fort Sill, were given sentences of 25 years each in district court here Thursday afternoon after they entered pleas of guilty to a charge of attempted robbery with firearms. The two with a partner, John Fuller, another deserter, are alleged to have tried to rob the night clerk at the Kelly hotel in this city. Fuller was sentenced to five years in the state prison.

Kimes, according to records obtained by local officers, is a first cousin of Matthew Kimes, notorious young Oklahoma outlaw and desperado who is now under a sentence of death for the murder of an Oklahoma peace officer. The former soldier denies, however, any relationship with the famous Matthew.

Craig Waters and Ally Warner were sentenced to five years each in the state prison on a charge of robbery with firearms. They were accused of having held up a number of negroes in a "crap" game and escaped with a large amount of money.

Walter Lamb, Tipton resident, was sentenced to serve six months in the penitentiary on a charge of driving a motor vehicle while intoxicated.

SLOT MACHINES NEAR SCHOOLS SUBJECT PROBE

Prolonging its investigation over a much longer period than had been expected, the special grand jury of the 30th district court was still at work Friday after having investigated reports Thursday afternoon that forbidden games of chance have been operated in establishments which derive most of their business from school students.

Official information as to the nature of the grand jury's investigations was wholly lacking except that given by the statement of Ben Allred, district attorney, that much time has been given to slot machines inquiries.

Among the many witnesses who have been questioned, however, it was declared, were several to be asked whether they had any knowledge of reports that machines of chance had been operated in any establishments near schools. J. W. Cantwell, city superintendent of schools, was among others to be called Thursday afternoon.

While the grand jury was making its inquiry Friday morning, Dick Morris, a deputy sheriff, seized a small device into which pennies could be played from a store near a school. Complaints had been made by a number of parents, Mr. Morris said, that their children were putting money given them for lunch into some such device. One parent was quoted as saying that his small son had spent 50 cents on the machine within a short time. The contraption bore upon its face the words, "this is not a gambling device but a game of skill." It is alleged, however, that if a penny dropped into certain openings beneath an entanglement of nail tops, the player would be rewarded by from one to five cents.

One of the several slot machines seized by Sheriff W. G. Bralley Saturday night also was carried before the grand jury Thursday afternoon. The particular machine is one into which nickels may be played and which, it is alleged, pays the lucky in money.

The grand jury also had called before it, according to information, operators of a number of local "clubs" which are equipped with pool tables.

Much uncertainty existed Friday afternoon as to when the grand jury would adjourn, although the belief was expressed that it was not many hours away.

TEXAN SENTENCED TO LIFE TERM IN PRISON IS HELD IN LOUISIANA

BATON ROUGE, La., Feb. 10. (AP) A man caught in the act of robbing a pressing shop here last night was identified today through the finger print department of the local police station as J. L. Dailey, sentenced on March 19, 1927, from Dallas county, Texas, to serve a term of 99 years in the Texas penitentiary at Huntsville for robbery with firearms.

Three diamonds were found hidden in the lining of his cap after his arrest, and six revolver cartridges were in his pocket, though he had no pistol. The man will probably be held for Texas authorities.

DEPUTY SEEKS BOND SLAYING STANTON BANK

ONLY SURVIVOR THREE MEXICANS FIRED UPON IS WITNESS

POINTS OUT ACCUSED AS ONE OF TWO HIRING HIM

Testifies Three Drank Gallon of "Moonshine" Furnished By Employes.

BIG SPRINGS, Texas, Feb. 10. (AP) The story of the shooting in front of the Home State bank of Stanton on December 23, last, in which two Mexicans were slain and a third wounded, was told here today by Victor Ramos, only survivor of the three Mexicans who were fired upon.

Ramos, during his testimony, pointed out Lee Smith, deputy sheriff, as one of the two men who hired him and his companions to do some "grubbing" at a wage of $3 a day with board. Smith is seeking his release at a habeas corpus proceeding on the ground that he is being held illegally in connection with the shooting.

A short delay was caused as court opened when Roy I. Biggs, district attorney, announced that Sheriff Frank House had not been served with a subpoena. Court recessed until the papers were served after Defense Attorney Clyde E. Thomas announced he would admit the non-service and asked for a subpoena. Ramos said that he, Albuto Diaz and Hario Nunez got into a truck driven by M. P. Baze, second defendant in the case, after the "grubbing" proposition had been made to them. Baze drove the truck and Smith sat beside him, Ramos said, and they drove on until the truck had passed through Midland when they stopped and built a camp fire.

Drank Gallon "Moonshine"

Here, Ramos testified, the two who employed them produced a gallon of "moonshine" and the three Mexicans drank it all. Baze and Smith did not drink, he said. After about two hours they all got back into the truck and went into Stanton and when they reached Stanton he was asleep, Ramos declared.

The two officers awakened him and told the three Mexicans to "get out of the truck and wait here until we come back." Ramos said they stood on the corner of the bank until the two men who had employed them returned and Smith cried out "vamoos" and the shooting began. He said that his two companions fell dead and he was shot four times, but continued running.

Baze overtook him and began beating him on the head with a revolver, Ramos testified, and he begged for mercy, but Baze told him to "go on, but if you return I'll kill you."

Ramos admitted he did not see Smith fire any shots, nor did he see a gun in Smith's hands. He did see Smith with a rifle after a watchman had brought him back, he stated.

Ramos' testimony was in broken English and tears appeared in his eyes as he described the shooting.

Baze is being held in jail at Midland awaiting action of the Martin county grand jury which convenes on March 26.

POLICE GUARD DALLAS HOME AFTER THREATS

DALLAS, Feb. 10. (AP)—A police guard still was being maintained today around the home of Robert E. Patterson, oil firm employe, after receipt of a threat last night that the dwelling would be dynamited.

The threatening message was received about 7 p. m. yesterday. A man's voice over the telephone told Patterson: "You'd better get out of that house; I'm going to blow it up."

ONE MAN HURT WHEN BLAST SHAKES PLANT

LONG BEACH, Calif., Feb. 10. (AP) An early morning explosion in an oil refinery absorption plant at Thirty-second and Atlantic streets, inside the city limits of Long Beach, rocked a considerable section of the city and started a fire which resulted in serious injury to one man and the destruction of four oil derricks.

Will Rogers News Digest

BEVERLY HILLS, Calif., Feb. 9. Did you read young John D. Rockefeller's plea to the oil men. He implored them to tell the truth, or tell something whether it was the truth or not, but to please not just sit there, as that made the whole industry not only look dumb but guilty. Poor young John D., he is trying to do what is right, but his Bible class should include all his holding companies.

FLAMES TRAP 35 WORKMEN CANADA MINE

TORONTO, Feb. 10. (AP)—A dispatch to the Toronto Star today from Timmins, Ont., said 35 men had been trapped in the Hollinger mine by a fire in the lower levels. Four bodies had been recovered, the dispatch said.

The reports said the fire had broken out in excavations 550 feet under ground and was still burning. All workers were ordered out of the mine.

The fire was believed to have been caused by spontaneous combustion in an abandoned section of the mine where rubbish and powder boxes had accumulated. Officials of the Hollinger company made no formal statement, but expressed a belief that a final check would disclose that the loss of life would not be great.

KILLER FOUND SANE BY JURY FACES LIMIT HINTS JUDGE WHO WILL SET SENTENCE SATURDAY

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 10. (AP)—Attorneys for Marian Parker's slayer, William Edward Hickman, who yesterday was adjudged sane by a jury, announced today that their appeal to the state supreme court would be based principally on Judge J. J. Trabucco's charge to the jury.

The judge, said Jerome Walsh, chief of counsel for Hickman, failed to instruct the jurors that they might, if they wished, recommend leniency for the prisoner.

Hickman awakened in his county jail cell at 7 o'clock this morning after what his guards described as a sound sleep. Special wardens have been placed over him to prevent a possible attempt at suicide.

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 10. (AP)—William Edward Hickman is sane, and therefore, accountable to the law for the kidnaping, murder and mutilation of little Marian Parker.

Such is the decision of the jury which yesterday required only 36 minutes of deliberation to reach its conclusion. Whether the 19-year-old youth dies on the gallows or goes to the penitentiary for the rest of his life rests with Superior Judge J. J. Trabucco, who will determine his punishment and pronounce sentence tomorrow.

Judge Trabucco's sole indication of what his final decision might be carried little comfort for the kidnaper and slayer, in a cryptic statement at the close of the sanity trial, Judge Trabucco said:

"I cannot state in advance just what my sentence will be—but you can rest assured that this defendant will be given all the law allows."

Judge Knows Procedure

The veteran jurist seemed to have no doubt as to the route over which he was to guide the case in its final stages. Scarcely had the jury of eight men and four women declared Hickman sane than the

DALLAS MAN IN SAN ANTONIO IS KILLED IN FALL

SAN ANTONIO, Feb. 10. (AP)—Falling from the window of his room on the ninth floor of a local hotel this morning, Mac Crawford, about 35 years old, Dallas business man plunged to his death on the roof of the hotel coffee shop.

Detectives could find no explanation for the accident.

J. C. Stilley, also of Dallas and a business associate of Mr. Crawford was sharing the room with him. He had stepped into the bath room as Mr. Crawford dressed. A scream brought him dashing into the room to see only an open window. Looking out he saw Mr. Crawford's body on the roof eight floors below.

Occupants of rooms below Mr. Crawford's told officers they heard one brief scream of fright and anguish as the man hurtled by their window.

Mr. Crawford was head of the Crawford Crane service with headquarters in Dallas, Fort Worth and San Antonio, his firm having recently put in the steel work of the new A. B. Frank building here.

He was a graduate of the engineering department of the University of Texas. A few years ago while supervising construction work on a building at Orange, Texas, Mr. Crawford lost one arm in an accident.

The fact that having only one arm made him awkward in dressing himself was offered as a possible explanation of the accident.

Mr. Crawford was only partially dressed and it is thought he might have stumbled while trying to get into his trousers and plunged into the screen over the window.

Officers found the screen hanging loose and the curtains torn as if the falling man had became tangled in them.

Mr. Stilley told officers that Mr. Crawford was a married man and that his wife is at present seriously ill in Dallas.

DIRIGIBLE TO TAKE 100 PERSONS ACROSS OCEAN EACH FLIGHT

BRITISH INTERESTS WILL BEGIN TRANS-ATLANTIC SERVICE THIS YEAR

U. S. WILL GIVE ITS AID TO SUCCESS OF PROJECT

Secretary Hoover Reveals Final Details of Plan to Span Spaces Of Atlantic.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10. (AP) British interests soon will begin a trans-atlantic dirigible mail and passenger service with American governmental cooperation. The dirigible R-100 now under construction in England, will make her first trip across within three months,

LONDON, Feb. 10. (AP)—The Daily Mail said today that the air ministry will test a new form of airplane motor running on cheap crude oil in the new airship R-100 and later in airplanes. The crude oil costs about 9 cents a gallon and at present gasoline is about 32 cents a gallon.

The motor of 650 horse power dispenses with carburetor, spark plugs and magneto.

using as her American terminal the naval air station mooring mast at Lake Hurst, New Jersey.

Details of the plan were announced by Secretary Hoover, who held conferences with British representatives here. Other conferences will be held with the postoffice department with a view to giving the R-100 a special mail contract at a premium postage rate, such as the land air mail services are accorded.

Americans will be invited to join the enterprise, Mr. Hoover said, if the trial trips of the first dirigible are successful. In that event a number of additional air cruisers would be built.

The R-100 is designed to carry 100 passengers and 10 tons of mail. Its tentative schedule calls for a Western trip of 48 hours and a return requiring 38 hours.

C. Dennis Burney, member of the British parliament, is representing the English sponsors of the project in conferences with officials here. He has been advised by the aeronautic section of the commerce department that it will apply to the dirigible only the treatment given foreign ships in American harbors, which means that British regulations and supervision with respect to the liner's safety and design would be accepted by this government.

BOY'S 'GOOD NIGHT' PROVES LAST WORD BEFORE HIS DEATH

HOUSTON, Feb. 10. (AP)—Henry Calvert Walkart, 14, adopted son of Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Walkart of Houston died Thursday night shortly after he was found in a pool of blood in his room. Death was caused by a 22 caliber bullet wound in his right temple.

Members of the family said the boy bid them goodnight and went to his room. A shot was heard and Mrs. Walkart and the boy's foster sister, Dorothea, ran to his room.

The rifle, with an empty shell, was found in a cabinet in the boy's room near his body. It is believed he tried to take the rifle from the cabinet when it was accidentally discharged.

Former World War Flier Guarded By Argentine Police as Detectives Work on Clues to Bomb Terror Plot

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 10. (AP)—La Nacion said today that an alleged former German aviator who is reputed to have served in the world war has been keeping the police puzzled for more than a month as a result of "sensational revelations" he made to them in connection with the bombing of two North American banks here in December.

After the bombing of the branches here of the National City bank of New York and the First National bank of Boston, the man, whose name is not given, gave himself up to the police. He said mysterious persons had entrusted him with the manufacture of 50 bombs, promising to pay him 50,000 pesos for the work.

The bombs according to his story, were to be used in a terrorist plot and were to be placed in the most congested points of the city to create a panic. He explained he learned to manufacture explosives during the war. He decided to make known the plot when he was not paid, he said.

A staff of detectives has been mobilized in an effort to trace the alleged terrorists. No success has rewarded their efforts.

The man is being held under a special guard. Detectives have guarded their investigations with the greatest secrecy in order not to alarm the public.

Although the investigation is being continued, some police officials now assert the man is an imposter.

Search of Stone Quarries Yields No Trace of Missing Officers Who Disappeared With Two Prisoners

KOKOMO, Ind., Feb. 10. (AP)—After a search of two stone quarries near here, Sheriff Charles M. Johnson returned to Lafayette today without having uncovered any trace of his two deputy sheriffs who disappeared early Tuesday while transporting two prisoners by automobile from Lafayette to the Pendleton, Ind., reformatory. The prisoners are also missing.

The two quarries were frozen over and examination disclosed no footprints near them. The ground was soft Tuesday and Wednesday and any approach to the quarry would have left traces in the mud.

Returning to Lafayette Sheriff Johnson planned to stop at Frankfort to investigate a report that the two deputy sheriffs had been handcuffed and tied to a tree at some isolated spot near Frankfort.

Sheriff Johnson came here after receiving a letter early today bearing a Frankfort, Ind., date line.

The missive purported to come from Samuel Baxter and John Burns, the missing prisoners. It stated that the sheriff would never capture them, but the deputies' bodies would be found in a Kokomo stone quarry.

Sheriff Johnson, after his search here, was convinced the letter had been written by a crank.

PART OF NEW HANDCUFF FOUND BY CHICAGO COPS

CHICAGO, Feb. 10. (AP)—Believed to be literally a "missing link," in the disappearance of two Lafayette Ind., deputy sheriffs and their two prisoners, a bright new handcuff, filed through the bent, was in possession of Chicago detectives today.

The Chicago officers awaited the arrival of authorities from Lafayette to identify the handcuff. It was found in the rear of the South Chicago police station garage yesterday.

ICKMAN TO GET 'ALL LAW ALLOWS'

judge attempted to obtain a stipulation of prosecution and defense permitting him to use the transcript of the trial in fixing the degree of guilt.

Jerome Walsh, young defense attorney, interposed some objection and no ruling as made. Later Walsh said he had not understood the question and probably would agree to the request. Should he refuse to enter into the stipulation, legal authorities pointed out, it would be necessary either for Judge Trabucco to rule on this point of the new law, declaring further testimony unnecessary. Otherwise the prosecution would be forced to call witnesses to aid the court in deciding the extent of punishment.

Hickman's Nerve Steady

While the court and the attorneys were feeling their way through the labyrinth of the new and untested law governing insanity pleas in criminal cases, Hickman was taking the matter cooly. As the jury delivered its verdict he sat bolt upright in his chair, showing no emotion. As he was led from the courtroom he only cast a disdainful look at the hundreds who were staring at him. And while Judge Trabucco spoke the words which left little hope for him, Hickman was making "wise cracks" on the way to his cell.

Immediately after the verdict when Hickman had returned to his cell with the remark that "the die is cast and the state wins by a neck," jail authorities ordered a 24-hour-a-day guard placed over him.

Mother Wanders Streets

His mother, Mrs. Eva Hickman of Kansas City, Mo., whose alleged mental ills had been paraded through the trial by the defense in an effort to show hereditary insanity, heard the result in the office of the attorneys. Overcome, she wandered out into the street and sometime afterward was found by Hickman's brother, Alfred, standing on a street corner that rang with the shouts of newsboys.

In the Parker home, news of the verdict was received almost listlessly. The mother of the 12-year-old girl victim received it in silence.

"I'm satisfied—satisfied and wanting only to forget," said her father, Perry M. Parker.

Attorneys to Appeal

Hickman's attorneys announced an appeal would be taken on "the legality of the entire proceedings and the constitutionality of the new California law under which the plea of 'not guilty by reason of insanity' was entered and received.

In addition to the notice of appeal, which they intend to enter tomorrow, defense attorneys said they would file a motion for a new trial.

District Attorney Asa Keyes said he would fight every attempt to delay the case, but admitted that if Hickman were sentenced to be hanged, court action probably would delay the execution for several months.

Thoms Case to Wait

The prosecution also said it was probable that the prosecution of Hickman on a second murder charge—the killing of C. Ivy Thoms, druggist, during an attempted holdup—would not be pressed until the present case had been settled in the higher courts. Hickman's attorneys said they anticipated that the Thoms trial would be delayed. Especially if Hickman's accomplice in the holdup, Welby Hunt, pleaded guilty and placed himself on the mercy of the court.

Hickman's own words after the verdict indicated that he expected to be hanged. In addition to his remark about the state winning "by a neck" he considered a request said to have been telephoned from the University of Chicago asking for his body in case the death sentences were carried out. He discussed the request in a humorous vein and said he would consult his attorney about it.

According to the provisions of the new statute, the jury did not pass on the question of Hickman's guilt, nor the facts concerning the commission of the crime. Its sole duty was to declare him sane or insane. Hickman's plea of "not guilty by reason of insanity" was a legal admission that he committed the offenses charged.

Although defense attorneys declared they would use every opportunity to save Hickman and even might carry the case to the United States supreme court, observers believed the young chief of defense counsel had thrown away any possibility of asking for mercy.

In his final argument, Walsh said, "for Hickman the murderer, I hold no brief," and continuing, describing the crime as "the most dastardly thing ever human set out to do."

May Delay Four Months

It was pointed out by attaches of the state supreme court, that while that tribunal had not passed on an appeal involving sanity of criminals under the new California law, Hickman's lease on life, if he was sentenced to death, would be four months at least.

Should his attorneys perfect an appeal to the United States supreme court after having exhausted all efforts in the state supreme court, Hickman would be certain of life for six months longer, it was said at the state court.

Under the new law the case must be placed on the California supreme court calendar "30 days after receipt of the transcript." It was believed the transcript would be ready within 30 days after the passing of sentence.

Just when the state supreme court would reach Hickman's case after it has been placed on the calendar could not be determined, but it was believed by court attaches that it would be reached within 40 days.

HASSELL DIES IN ELECTRIC CHAIR

orphan children the couple had adopted. California authorities, at first skeptical, excavated the clay foundation of the house in which Hassell and the woman had lived, and found the bodies of the four. In view of Hassell's Texas crimes, no attempt to extradite him was made by the California authorities.

Trouble Over Whiskey

Returning to Oklahoma and thence to Texas after the California murders at the request of his brother's widow, whom he later married "after consulting the Bible to see whether it was all right," Hassell's confessed predilection for whiskey, and, according to the Farwell court record, an affair with his niece soon brought him into trouble with his wife.

According to an early confession introduced at his trial, Hassell's wife had reproached him for his intimacies with her daughter. This enraged him, the confession continued, and he slew the mother with a hammer, afterward strangling the seven children.

The eldest son of the dead woman, away on a visit, returned home a few days after the crime. He met his death from a shotgun which Hassell fired, according to his confession, while the youth was sitting with his back turned to the slayer at a table drinking from the same jug from which Hassell said he had drawn courage to put to death the mother and smaller children.

Appeals Delay Execution

A quick trial brought a death verdict with removal to the state prison here. An appeal, however, stayed the execution. Hassell was taken back to Farwell, where he remained until the court of criminal appeals, his last legal resort, refused to interfere with the judgment of the trial court. Returned to Huntsville, an appeal to Governor Dan Moody for commutation on the ground that the multiple slayer was insane, was refused after two heads of state institutions for the insane had found Hassell sane.

new members into the chamber of commerce to help raise the remaining $10,000 needed to complete the budget of $65,000 for 1928.

"For the past several years the chamber of commerce has gone on record as being in favor of the city manager plan of government," Mr. Francis said. He then asked all members to give serious consideration to the amendments to the city charter which the city council is expected to propose.

J. W. Chatham, manager of the traffic and industrial division, announced the running of a special train to Houston for the christening of the "City of Wichita Falls," March 20. He also announced that a special train would bring a number of Wisconsin farmers and dairymen on a visit to this city in March.

Dr. Everett Jones suggested that the council take for its motto, "Know Thy City," and that the members visit the many new industrial plants which have located in Wichita Falls during the past 18 months.

Mr. Francis mentioned the importance of the various highway propects under consideration in this territory and announced that the publicity committee was working on a plan for a concerted program of advertising during the next few years.

In the absence of Chairman Hoffman, Mr. Putty then took the chair and appointed Hubert M. Harrison, general manager of the chamber of commerce, as secretary of the council and Miss Marjorie Watson as assistant secretary.

Flyers who returned from Matagalpa yesterday said they had not seen Sandino, strengthening the belief that he gets under heavy cover during the day. The rebel leader is thought to be headed for Muy Muy, about 30 miles to the South of Matagalpa and near the Rio Grande.

Foreigners arriving from Matagalpa said the recent arrival of Sandino near there had caused anxiety because he was believed to have 600 men with him. At that time there were only 50 marines in Matagalpa, but today there are more than 250 and it is believed that this insures ample protection.

Marine patrols occupied San Rafael Del Norte, northwest of Matagalpa. Sandino was there last Saturday according to Carleton Beals, representative of the nation, a weekly magazine published in New York. Beals, who arrived here, said he had spent five hours with Sandino.

Beals asserted Sandino had about 100 well-armed and mounted followers and claimed to have 30 machine guns. Beals came into Nicaragua from Honduras traveling through Nueva Segovia, scene of the most severe battles between marines and rebels. Beals said Sandino furnished him with a guard of 30 men for the last half of his journey from the border. The journey was made on horseback under the guidance of Indians who sympathize with Sandino.

AMERICAN WRITER VISITS NICARAGUA REBEL CHIEF

MANAGUA, Nicaragua, Feb. 10. (AP)—The possibility of armed developments within Managua itself within the next few weeks was intimated by Augustino Sandino, rebel leader, in a conversation with Carleton Beals, American magazine writer who arrived here yesterday with word that he had spent five hours with Sandino.

Mr. Beals said that Sandino had told him he could sustain himself indefinitely and that he would continue fighting as long as American marines remained in Nicaragua. Mr. Beals also said that Sandino had told him of the terms he offers for the restoration of peace and that these terms had been relayed by him to the American legation.

Regarding his trip to the mountain headquarters of Sandino, then at Rafael Del Norte, Mr. Beals said:

"I was escorted from Tegucigalpa, the capital of Honduras, by a Sandino general and an Indian guide who avoided the Honduran troops on the Nicaraguan frontier and landed me in the first Sandino outpost in Limon, Mueva Segovia. I went unarmed toward El Chipote where General Sandino provided me with an armed escort of 30 men who conducted me on a four-day trip to Sandino's headquarters at San Rafael Del Norte.

"I was received with every courtesy and consideration and all my questions were answered freely and without hesitation. Sandino has a marvelous fluency of expression and we spoke in Spanish from 9 o'clock in the morning until 9. In the afternoon of the same day Sandino provided me with an officer to conduct me to the automobile line in Sebaco so that might reach Managua.

"Sandino declared he could sustain himself indefinitely and that he would continue fighting as long as American marines remained in Nicaragua. Unless the American marines were withdrawn, he said, he would no longer be responsible for the lives of American officials resident in Nicaragua. He also said that the American public may expect armed developments in Managua itself within a few weeks. Probably Sandino was willing to receive me because I did not make the mistake of approaching him from the side on which the American marines are operating.

Rich Chicago Club Uses 'Gimlet' Methods Trying to Force Removal Hotel From Site of New Building

CHICAGO, Feb. 10. (AP)—Meyer Lapping sat shivering through last night in his Leonard hotel whence all but he had fled. Both the heat and water supply had been turned off.

There was rancor in Meyer Lapping's heart as he pulled his overcoat collar closer about his neck; rancor against the police who had picketed his place up to 7 o'clock last night. Barring guests from entering or leaving; rancor against the Steuben club which seeks to oust him from the tenancy of the loop hostelry; and rancor against Christian Paschen, city building commissioner, who he thinks may have had something to do with his present difficulties.

Lapping was not without something to think about, however, throughout the night. There was an action, set for hearing today, by which he seeks to enjoin the city from keeping his supply of water cut off. There was a suit for $100,000 damages against the Steuben club whom he charges with seeking to dispossess him. And there was a third action, brought not by Lapping but by a guest of his hotel, Sam Weissman, who seeks to restrain police from keeping him from his room.

Lapping said he holds a lease on the hotel, with its accommodations for about 40 guests, the lease running until 1932. The Steuben club wishes to raze the hotel to make room for its proposed $7,000,000 club building, a structure of 40 stories.

The 25 guests who were in the hotel when the water and heat were turned off, checked out last night after the police cordon had been withdrawn. While the cordon was operative Weissman sought unsuccessfully to enter the hotel. When a police officer barred his way, Weissman asked to be arrested. Taken to the police station, according to his story, he was released without charge.

In Lapping's bill for an injunction, which is directed against the Steuben club, its president and Commissioner Paschen, he charged that agents have been sent to the hotel in an effort to padlock it under the liquor law. Raids were made without warrants, he said.

Panic in Theater Averted by Songs Of Pretty Maid

MEXICO CITY, Feb. 10. (AP)—The songs of a Spanish soprano averted a panic in the Iris theater here last night, when the severest earthquake in several years rocked the city.

So intense was the tremor which occurred at 10:40 p. m. that seismographs were thrown out of order and no official record of the movement was available today. The earthquake lasted for several minutes.

Angeles Ottein, Spanish soprano, was giving a concert in the Iris theater when the building commenced to rock. Terror stricken spectators jumped from their seats and started for the exits. The orchestra stopped playing, but the soprano sang on averting a stampede.

At various motion picture theaters people rushed through the darkness for the exits and fought frantically to gain the street. No casualties have been reported, however.

The jail at Midcoac, one of the suburbs of Mexico City, was damaged.

CAIRO, Egypt, Feb. 10. (AP)—Bert Hinkler, British flyer, en route to Australia, arrived at Bengazi, Cirenaica, from Malta yesterday. He then flew 230 miles to the east to Torbruk, Tripoli, where he spent the night.

ANNUAL MEET OF CHILDRESS C. OF C. HELD

THREE HUNDRED ATTEND BANQUET OF ORGANIZATION THURSDAY NIGHT

REVIEW WORK PAST YEAR OUTLINE PROGRAM 1928

Joseph F. Leopold of Dallas Principal Speaker—Wichitans On Program.

(By Staff Correspondent)

CHILDRESS, Texas, Feb. 10.—Three hundred citizens of Childress assembled last night at the annual banquet of their chamber of commerce, rejoiced in the noteworthy achievements of 1927 and set for themselves an imposing array of tasks for 1928.

Apparently it is no idle gesture when the Childress Chamber of Commerce lists an undertaking in its program of work. When it was reorganized in August, 1923, it adopted a program of 15 fundamental objectives. In the three and a half years since then it has attained 14 of them, in addition to 12 others. Probably few organizations of the kind can point to such definite results.

The proudest achievement of last year, of course, was the voting of the bond issue by which this county is assured 60 miles of paved highways. It took four elections to put it over. Perhaps in the spirit of determination which manifested in that undertaking lies the explanation for the exceptionally high percentage of objectives attained.

Program for 1928

The objectives for this year include a new hotel, speedy completion of the road program, more industries and jobbing houses, airport facilities, increased farm diversification and active cooperation with neighboring counties of the Pease-Red river valley section which recently formed a regional organization.

The list of achievements for 1927 include erection of a municipal building, five new wholesale houses, launching of a four-year dairy program and development of the Childress State fair.

Visitors from Amarillo, Wichita Falls, Paducah, Wellington, Matador, Quanah and Estelline joined Childress citizens in last night's meeting. Official greeting was extended by President Story of the chamber of commerce, after which Jerry Debenport, secretary, gave his report of the organization's work. By a system of charts, Mr. Debenport showed that Childress' growth in the past three years had been 49.8 per cent, evidently he conquered the inclination to say 50 per cent.

In idea of the progress in 1927 is furnished by comparative figures. Gas connections increased from 803 to 1231, bank deposits from $1,903,000 to $3,184,000, telephones from 928 to 1008, light meters from 1633 to 1791, water meters from 1640 to 1978, school enrollment from 1582 to 1791 and population from 7514 to 8507.

Mayor Shepherd Sings

Mayor Shepherd of Wichita Falls sang a song and then had to sing a couple more.

"Something to laugh at and something to think about," was the subject of Harvey Haines, manager of the Amarillo Board of City Development. Reference was made in introducing him to his Republicanism, which he suggested furnished the something to laugh at. The something to think about was an object lesson furnished by the ingredients of the banquet. Taking these up, one by one, Mr. Haines showed how Texas was sending money to other states for countless things that she furnished the raw material to manufacture at home. He interspersed his talk with a number of stories in which Republicans were usually the heroes.

A practical talk on dairy-farming was given by M. B. Oates of Wichita Falls, agricultural commissioner of the Fort Worth & Denver. Mr. Oates showed how closely dairying is linked to poultry-raising, swine breeding, soil fertility and other things that make prosperity for the farmer.

A singsong was conducted by "Shep," who also brought greetings from Wichita Falls and reminded his hearers of the grand opera season.

Leopold Principal Speaker

The principal address of the evening was made by Joseph F. Leopold, of Dallas, regional manager for the United States Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Leopold said the Wichitans present would have to be patient, as he was going to make much the same speech that he made last month in Wichita Falls. He discussed particularly the need of the average business man's keeping in closer touch with congress and the legislative matters that affect him.

The balloting for directors resulted in J. M. Preston, Frank Houston, E. B. Abbington and C. A. Williams being chosen for two-year terms.

The meeting was held in the basement of the Methodist church, an excellent turkey dinner being served.

J. T. BURNS DIES SUDDENLY FRIDAY AT SEYMOUR HOME

SEYMOUR, Feb. 10. — J. T. Burns, 60, died suddenly at his home in North Seymour this morning at 8 o'clock presumably from a heart attack. Just after finishing breakfast he started toward his garage preparatory to going to his ranch. His wife heard a noise and discovered him lying upon the lawn. He was dead before she was able to reach him. Mr. Burns was prominently connected with both business and social interests of this locality and was widely known. He came here 25 years ago from Lathrop, Mo., and has been engaged in the cattle business all of that time.

Funeral services will be held at the First Methodist church of this city probably next Sunday as distant relatives may not reach here until that time. Surviving are his widow and daughters, Mrs. T. C. Irby Jr., of Dallas, Mrs. Forest Irby of Fort Worth an Mrs. Chloe Shawver of Seymour, and a son, Lincoln Burns, also of Seymour; also two sisters, both of Lathrop, Mo.

Airmen to Start Endurance Flight Sunday Morning

FORT WORTH, Feb. 10. (AP)—The run-way of the municipal airdrome, from which Al Henley and Joe Hart will take off at 7 a. m. Sunday in an effort to break the world's record for endurance flight is about one and one-quarter miles long and for their purpose they must have either a north or south wind, preferably the latter. An effort will be made to remain in the air for 60 hours.

The plane will carry 525 gallons of gasoline, said to be the most a plane ever carried. A test flight, using sand bags, will be made this afternoon.

The plane will be christened "The Fort Worth" Saturday morning by Lieut. Gov. Barry Miller of Texas and Gov. Fred Zimmerman of Wisconsin.

Wives of each pilot will be at the field for the take-off Sunday. Henley announced that he has received telegrams from a number of aviators that they will fly here and witness the attempt. He said he will request the public, should the flight be successful, to give the two pilots a moment with their wives immediately they get out of the plane.

No parachute will be carried. All space will go for gasoline. The pilots will relieve each other at the stick and each will be able to sleep.

"We will carry along whatever our wives fix up for us to eat—nothing special," Henley said. "We will start out just like we were going on a fishing trip."

No prescribed course will be followed during the flight. The plane will stay within sight and gliding distance of the local field and the flight will be observed by appointed men on the ground.

The pilots, if they break the world's record, will be presented with a check for $15,000 by local business men. If they fail they get nothing.

SEVEN CHINESE CAUGHT AFTER ONE IS WOUNDED TWO CHAUFFEURS HELD

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 10. (AP)—A suspected plot to smuggle seven Chinese into New Orleans in two automobiles was frustrated late last night by Thomas Jones immigration inspector who shot Chow Chin, 25, seriously injuring him and captured the six other aliens and two chauffeurs single handed.

The officer had received information that an attempt would be made to smuggle the Chinamen into New Orleans from Houston. Taking a position at a river ferry he awaited the alien cars to which he gave chase. The first shot hit Chin and the party soon piled out of the automobiles and surrendered.

The chauffeurs, Townsend Dody and George Branch, both of Houston, told police they were given $120 to transport the Chinese from a Texas seaport where they deserted a ship.

LINDBERGH TO GET GRAND CUBA CROSS FOR AERIAL FEATS

CUBAN PRESIDENT TO PIN PRIZED DECORATION ON FLIER'S BREAST

NATIONAL BANQUET TO BE STAGED FOR FLIER

Women Exceed Men, Four to One, In Throngs That Assemble To Cheer U. S. Ace.

HAVANA, Feb. 10. (AP)—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, to whom Cuba has already given her heart, tonight will receive the highest honor of the Cuban government.

The grand cross of the Order of Carlos Manuel de Cespedes will be confererd upon the flier by President Machado at the end of a presidential banquet to Lindbergh in the National theater.

Women outnumbered men by at least four to one at a reception at the American embassy attended by thousands of Americans and residents of Havana. Lindbergh smiled on all, but only rarely did he break his rule by shaking hands.

"I don't blame you for not shaking hands," one admirer exclaimed "but I'd give my right hand for a kiss."

Officers Present Flag

The flag of the officers' club at Camp Columbia was given Lindbergh when the flier was eulogized by Secretary of War Iturralde of Cuba at a luncheon there.

"I will keep the flag as a memorial of my visit to Cuba," Lindbergh said. "It is not necessary for me to carry anything to remember this visit, which is a most pleasant one."

Worked in flowers the flags of the United States and Cuba were spread before the aviator on the luncheon table. The hall was decorated with the flags of the 21 countries now represented at the Pan-American conference.

Lindbergh this morning entered upon a program of official receptions scheduled to consume the entire day.

In his honor the Province of Havana had a gold medal cast commemorating his transatlantic flight An outline of the Atlantic coast lines of America and Europe with small arrows tracing his route from New York to Paris was engraved upon one side. On the reverse was the inscription, in Spanish:

"Donated by the Province of Havana to Charles A. Lindbergh for his heroic service to the science of aviation."

Diplomats Join Throng

Government officials and diplomats were invited to the presentation of the medal at the Cuban state department.

A pavilion roofed with gaily striped canvas surmounted by speared flagpoles from which flew the colors of all the republics of the Americas was erected in Havana's central park. In front of the pavilion stands the statue of Jose Marti, the father of Cuban freedom. Among the flower beds, statues, laurel trees of the park people gathered to see Lindbergh receive the keys to the city of Havana.

Stomach Troubles Headache and Dizziness

If your stomach is sick, you are sick all over. If you can't digest your food, you lose strength and "pep," get thin and nervous and feel as tired when you get up as when you went to bed.

For 10 years Tanlac has improved the health and activity of many thousands who suffered just as you do. Here is a letter from

Mrs. W. F. Bush, of 113 W. 13th St., Oklahoma City, Okla., says: "After years of stomach trouble I was so weak scarcely anything I ate agreed with me. Tanlac proved a real life-saver. Now I can eat anything, and do my housework without a bit of trouble."

Why not let Tanlac do for you what it did for this sufferer and for thousands of others? It is marvelous to see how it relieves the most obstinate digestive troubles—relieves gas, pains in the stomach and bowels. How it restores appetite, vigor and sound sleep.

Tanlac is made of roots, barks and herbs—nature's own medicines for the sick. The cost is less than 2 cents a dose. Get a bottle from your druggist today. Your money back if it doesn't help you.

Shaw Declares Europe Is Busy 'Bluffing' Peace

LONDON, Feb. 10. (AP)—All of the great "militant powers" are putting up "a peace bluff to cover their preparations for the next war," George Bernard Shaw says in an article in the February issue of No More War. Shaw adds that the effect of the Russian proposal for total disarmament was to call that bluff. He continues:

"The powers of western Europe now stand unmasked by Russia and America as determined to maintain and extend themselves by the sword and therefore to recognize war as the final court of appeal in human affairs.

"There is no reason, however, why they should not sincerely advocate disarmament as a measure of economy, because armament can always be improved on the outbreak of war and standing armaments are obsolete nowadays by the time they are needed."

U. S. NAVY TO BUY CLOTHES FOR GOBS IN GIGANTIC LOTS

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10. (AP)—Changing another policy, the navy is going out of the clothing business and will buy its clothing and small stores on contract. The articles, from needles and thread to dungarees and boots, must meet the navy's specifications.

Formerly the navy manufactured much of its own clothing, but it was made known today that bids will be asked on articles, the total of which will be in the millions.

Among some of the articles to be bought are 60,000 woolen blankets, 2800 pairs of rubber boots, 22,000 scrub brushes, 15,000 rubber combs, 77,000 mattress covers, 300,000 nainsook drawers, 400,000 handkerchiefs, 13,000 jack knives, 17,000 jumpers, 15,600 neckerchiefs, 9800 packages of needles, 5300 pairs of overshoes, 75,000 pairs of black shoes, 10,000 spools of silk thread, 29,000 pairs of dungarees, 127,000 undershirts and 12,000 caps.

The navy also will ask for bids on 150,000 white hats and 5000 blue caps for which the navy will furnish the material. It will furnish materials already cut for 81,500 jumpers, 4000 blue flannel shirts, 42,000 blue cloth trousers and 124,000 white trousers, the contractors merely to manufacture the articles.

Guards About Rich Host's Estate Bar Way to Interviewers Who Seek Chance to See Reputed Kin of Czar

NEW YORK, Feb. 10. (AP)—The frail, 26-year-old woman, whom many claim to be the Grand Duchess Anastasia, youngest daughter of the slain czar, Nicholas II of Russia, was resting under heavy guard today at the Long Island estate of Mrs. Auguste Richard.

She was whisked away in a closed automobile from the liner Berengaria, upon which she arrived from Europe, and her whereabouts remained a mystery for many hours.

Later it was learned she had been taken to the Richard home at Lawrence Beach, Long Island, where it was said she would remain until the return to this country of Mrs. William B. Leeds, the former Princess Xenia of Russia, who invited her to this country. Mrs. Leeds is now on a cruise of the Caribbean sea.

Mrs. Richard, a friend of Mrs. Leeds, met Mme. Anastasia Tchaikovsky, as the young woman is known, at the pier and drove the car in which she was speeded away. Mr. Richard is a New York importer.

The Richard estate, which is a large one adjoining that of H. H. Rogers, was heavily surrounded by guards today. A statement issued from the home said:

"She desires no publicity at this time. She is tired and is resting here and does not care to be disturbed."

After the woman's arrival came more expressions of doubt about her.

Herman Bernstein of New York, former war correspondent, who was in Siberia in 1918 and made an investigation of the killing of the imperial family, reiterated his contention that the Grand Duchess Anastasia was killed with the rest of Czar Nicholas' family.

He quoted as an eye-witness, Yakimov who said that some of the czar's daughters showed signs of life after the firing squad had done its work and that they were bayoneted to make sure of their death.

Illidor, known as the "Mad Monk of Russia" and now employed as a porter in a New York building, said he had absolute evidence that Anastasia was dead. He said that as court chaplain he taught Anastasia the alphabet.

SALVATION ARMY ISSUES APPEAL FOR NECESSITIES LOST IN BLAZING HOME

MICHIGAN STATUTE BANS SCHOOL BIBLE READING

LANSING, Mich., Feb. 10. (AP)—Bible reading and teaching of religious subjects, sectarian or otherwise, in the public schools of Michigan, is unlawful, Attorney General W. W. Potter has ruled.

In an opinion yesterday, the attorney general held that such practices must be discontinued, by reason of provisions of the state constitution.

THE TRUTH ABOUT BRAN AND CONSTIPATION

Thousands of people eat bran regularly for the healthful roughage it provides. It is a splendid practice. But be sure you are really getting all the roughage you need when you eat bran. Doctors say it takes 100% bran to relieve constipation. Part-bran products, at best, can only accomplish part-way results. That is why they fail!

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN is 100% bran. It furnishes roughage in effective quantities—and in the most effective form: cooked and krumbled. Just two tablespoonfuls daily—chronic cases, with every meal—are guaranteed to relieve constipation.

You'll like the flavor and crispness of ALL-BRAN. Serve with milk or cream. Delicious with fruits or honey added. Mix with other cereals. Sprinkle into soups. Use in cooking. Sold by all grocers. Served everywhere. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Music Study Club Entertains With Musical at Forum Clubhouse

Happy-go-lucky, irresponsible Peer Gynt, as immortalized in Ibsen's play and in Grieg's "Peer Gynt Suite" was made more real to a large audience at the Woman's Forum Friday morning, when the Ensemble players of the Music Study club presented a series of Grieg numbers and interpretative sketches of the story of Peer Gynt in a morning musicale.

Members of the club and about 100 invited guests were present. Mesdames W. L. Underwood, J. E. Hall, F. C. Barron and Wayne Holmes were special hostesses for the occasion.

Mrs. Harwood Stacy opened the program with a modern selection "Swans" by Palmgren, the only number on the program written by Greig. Her other piano solo was Greig's "To the Spring."

Mrs. O. E. Nichols made the Peer Gynt selections very interesting with short sketches regarding Ibsen, Greig and Peer Gynt, the hero of both the playwright and composer. The story of the play was interspersed with selections by the Ensemble players from the Peer Gynt Suite. "The fact that most people know Peer Gynt through the Peer Gynt Suite," said Mrs. Nichols, "is evidence that beautiful music needs no program with which to reach the listeners."

"Le Matin" (Morning), "La plainte d'Ingrid" (The Bride's Lament), "La Mart d'Ase" (Ase's Death) and "La dance d'Anitra" (Anitra's Dance) were the selections played by the stringed ensemble, which is composed of Mesdames Jouette Bonner, O. E. Nichols, A. M. Miller, T. B. Greenwood and Harwood Stacy. The program was concluded with "Chanson de Solvejg" (Solvejg's Song) by Miss Adele Ray, accompanied by Mrs. Harwood Stacy.

DIDN'T SEEM TO GAIN STRENGTH

Kentucky Lady Was In a Weakened, Nervous Condition Until She Began to Take Cardui—Now Feels Fine.

Lexington, Ky.—"After the birth of my baby, I was in a very weakened, nervous condition," says Mrs. R. S. Ingram, of this city. "I did not seem to get any strength, I couldn't do my work.

"The least noise and confusion just made me so nervous, I would cry. I felt like screaming. I was depressed, and fell off until I didn't weigh but ninety pounds.

"I was tired all the time.

"I read of Cardui and thought maybe it would help me, or quiet my nerves. I began taking it, and it did help me. I kept it up, and can say that I have never found a better or more helpful tonic. I was better than in a long time. I gained in weight, and now I feel just fine. I go visiting, do my work, and am well and strong."

Thousands of other women have written that they had been helped by taking Cardui, when in a weak, run-down condition.

This well known medicine is a mild, harmless extract of valuable medicinal herbs, and contains nothing harmful or injurious. It has been in use so long, its merit has been proved by the experience of several generations of women. For sale by all druggists.

"Americanitis"

The speed at which we Americans live has given rise to a group of serious nervous and high blood pressure disturbances aptly described as "Americanitis". It's responsible for many break-downs and deaths at middle age.

Men who work hard, smoke hard and play hard overburden the liver whose job it is to keep the blood and system clean of poisons formed in food waste. Then follows an insidious toxic condition which saps strength and energy, increases blood pressure and hardens arteries.

The liver occasionally needs a little help and there's nothing better for it, as medical men know, than a little ox gall. Ox gall is a great natural stimulant for the liver, promoting its normal active functioning, so essential to real health. Dioxol tablets are genuine ox gall in dainty and tasteless form, each tablet representing 10 drops of pure ox gall. They cost less than 2c each at good druggists, and a few make a vast difference. To be sure of getting the genuine ox gall, be sure of getting Dioxol.

SAINT and SINNER

By ANNE AUSTIN

A swift glance at the door into the sun parlor told Faith that Bob was about to close it completely, assuring Cherry privacy in her confession. Just behind Bob and towering over him, though Bob was a tall man, Faith saw Nils Jonson, his handsome face flushed to the roots of sun-yellow hair, his blue eyes fixed yearningly upon Cherry. Raising her hand slightly, Faith signalled Bob not to close the door. If Nils loved Cherry and wanted to marry her, he might as well know the best or the worst about her, whichever her confession might reveal.

"I—I kept Bill from making love to me on the way out by chatting about the baby and the office—and you," Cherry began in a sob-choked voice. "I'd almost made up my mind to take him, but somehow I couldn't bear the thought of his—kissing me. You know how it is!"

"Yes, I know how it is," Faith agreed softly.

"But—wait!" Cherry cried in a muffled, shamed voice. "Bill said Frances knew he was bringing me to the dance, and I thought it would be fun not to let anyone see Bill and me together just at first. I wanted to see if Frances or anyone else could recognize me. Bill hadn't told her what I was going to wear, for he didn't know himself. I made him wait on the porch while I ran in, with my cloak wrapped about me, and my helmet and goggles hiding my hair and face. There are several girls about my size and I thought it would be fun to fool everybody until time to unmask. I went right up to the dressing room and—and—oh, it was horrible, horrible!"

"What was horrible, Cherry?"

"There were three girls there—Selma Pruitt, Frances Warren and Maidee Hogan. They didn't have their masks on and they tried to get me to take mine off. I answered something silly in a low, throaty voice as different from mine as I could make it, and Maidee laughed and said, 'It's Justine Wright. I should recognize your voice in a thousand, old dear.' I thought it was funny and didn't deny it, and right away Selma said, 'For a minute I thought it might be our most famous—or infamous highway—Cherry Lane.' I thought I'd faint, but I managed to chuckle like Justine does—you know, a little chuckling sound deep in her throat, and Maidee said, 'Don't insult poor Justine, Selma.' It was ghastly! I can't tell you how horrible it was—oh!"

Faith's arms tightened about her sister and she bowed her head until her cheek rested against the green-leather helmet. "Don't think of it any more, darling. They probably didn't mean half they said."

"Oh, yes, they did!" Cherry protested bitterly. "Not even Frances stood up for me! And she's pretended to stay my friend, through the trial and everything. Oh, it's not fair! I was acquitted! But I might as well have been found guilty of murder, theft, adultery and every other crime that's ever been committed! Well—" she drew a deep, quivering breath and went on, "I got out of the dressing room and somehow by that time I was fighting mad. I was determined to make them kowtow to me, make them eat their words."

ROWDYISM RESULTS IN CANCELLATION OF DANCE AT TEXAS UNIVERSITY

AUSTIN, Feb. 10. (AP)—"Drinking and rowdy conduct," charged against Texas university students attending the last "German" dance January 31, has caused the cancellation of the next scheduled German dance, Saturday night by the social calendar committee of the students' association, Bob Eikel, president, said Friday.

"It was necessary to stop this dance or back down entirely on the stand we have taken," he said, adding that the specific rule referred to was that concerning drinking and rowdy conduct. "The last German dance given on January 31, was the worst that ever has been given. As a penalty we are forced to stop this week's German dance, but it will be held next week as usual."

Kappa Sigma fraternity has had charge of the German dances during the last semester. Saturday night's was to have been their last. The next one will be in charge of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon fraternity.

ANTHONY GAVE SELF UP VOLUNTARILY HE TELLS DR. GRAHAM

Dr. Bob Anthony, former eye, ear, nose and throat specialist associated with Dr. Graham of this city, voluntarily surrendered to federal authorities in Austin and was not arrested as reported in the newspapers, Dr. Graham announced Friday on his return from Austin where he talked to officers and to Dr. Anthony.

The young Russian told officials in Austin that he was tired of fleeing from bolsheviki agents and that he wanted to clear his record and start afresh, according to Dr. Graham.

Anthony told Gov. Dan Moody and other officials in Austin that his real name was Trotsky and that he had been pursued by Red agents since he saved the life of a Russian princess shortly after the revolution in that country.

The prisoner asked Dr. Graham to tell his friends in Wichita Falls that he was sorry to have caused them any discomfiture and that he intended to pay all his debts. He explained that he had been fleeing from the bolsheviks so long that he often suspected he was being sought by them when they really did not know where he was.

AGED SAILOR DIES AT SEA ON VOYAGE HE KNEW AS LAST

LONDON, Feb. 10. (AP)—Old Father Neptune reached up out of the sea today and claimed the body of a former naval commander, Harold Swithinbank, a life long friend whose wish it was to be buried in the ocean depths.

A week ago when doctors informed the aged sailor that he had only a few days to live he engaged passage for Valparaiso, Chile, and on a stretcher accompanied by a nurse and doctor journeyed to Liverpool where he was carried aboard the Orbita, about to sail, as he had for years desired to be at sea when the end came and be buried in "Davy Jones' locker."

Death did not greet him until the Orbita was off the Azores where Swithinbank was given the burial he desired. His body was sewed in canvas and weighted down with fire grate bars, the ship's captain reading the burial service.

Memorial services for the dead seaman were held at Benham and Buckinghamshire where the widow and children reside.

Salvation Army Wood And Stone Yard Will Begin Grinding Soon

The "Salvation Army Wood and Stone Yard" will be functioning in Wichita Falls in 10 days or sooner as a means of stopping the great influx of transient poor, many of whom are believed to be unworthy of assistance, it was announced Friday.

The announcement followed a joint meeting of the Salvation Army board and the finance committee of the community chest. Officials of the Salvation Army reported that the organization is unable to function properly under its present pro rata share of $500 per month from the community chest on account of the increased number of transients applying for aid.

The consensus of the meeting was that something should be done immediately to alleviate this situation as much as possible. A committee composed of Dr. F. R. Collard and Jerry Schaefer was appointed with authority to act to make arrangements for the "wood and stone yard."

It is planned to secure several car loads of rock and cord wood at once. Whenever a transient applies to the Salvation Army in the future for assistance it will be necessary for him to make some "little rocks from the big ones" and to chop some of the wood.

Those attending the meeting Friday were Dr. F. R. Collard, chairman; Jerry Schaefer, James King, Wiley Robertson and Captain Z. H. Parker of the Salvation Army board, and H. A. Gray Jr., chairman; A. E. Kelly, C. E. Basham and Miss Myrle Neely, secretary of the community chest finance committee.

WITNESS AGAINST SINCLAIR HAS POOR RECOMMENDATION

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10. (AP)—Defense efforts to identify finger prints of William J. McMullin, the government's star witness, in the criminal contempt proceedings against Harry F. Sinclair, William J. Burns and their associates, were defeated today when Justice Siddons sustained the government's objections.

McMullin testified he had prepared false reports and a false affidavit at the direction of Burns officials which was intended to show the prosecution had improperly gained contact with a juror in the Fall-Sinclair trial. McMullin has admitted that he is a former convict and had used a friend's name in securing employment with the Burns agency.

William V. Long, whose name McMullin used, was called to the stand and said he would not believe McMullin on his oath.

Harry Stahl of Philadelphia, a former employer of McMullin, Mrs. Janette Lash of Milburn, Pa., and A. J. Till, supervisor of litigated claims of a Philadelphia insurance company, said they would not believe McMullin on oath.

REALTORS CITY BUILDERS STATE PRESIDENT SAYS

W. A. TOMAS, DALLAS, CHIEF SPEAKER REALTOR-PROPERTY OWNER BANQUET

KEMP FORECASTS GREAT FUTURE WICHITA VALLEY

"Romance of Real Estate," Play Written by Curlee, Enjoyed by 125 Persons Present.

Stressing the need of city planning and declaring that a realtor should be a man of vision and a "hot air" instead of a "cold air" merchant, W. A. Thomas, Dallas, president of the Texas Association of Real Estate boards, addressed about 125 persons at the first annual realtors-property owners banquet Thursday evening at the Wichita Falls Golf and Country club.

Mr. Thomas was introduced by Walter S. Curlee of this city, toastmaster for the evening and immediate past president of the state association, as one of the outstanding and best known realtors in the entire state.

Speaking directly to the realtors present, Mr. Thomas said that, "We, as a profession, believe that the time has come when we should not set idly by and prey upon the dead carcasses of our adversaries but assist and cooperate with them.

"I am proud to know that the realtors of today occupy some of the most prominent places in the cities in which they reside, proving that they are worthy to sit in the seats of the mighty.

"The realtors of this state have placed upon themselves the burden as guardian of the investments of the home owners and if they haven't done this they shouldn't be called realtors. A new era has arisen for the realtors of the country. I don't believe a man should collect a commission unless he has performed some worthy service. The realtor should be a property and financial advisor but he can't know values unless he knows his city and proper appraisals of values."

Kemp Tells of Possibilities

Then speaking directly to the property owners, Mr. Thomas urged them not to give their real estate business to any man whom they would not trust with their purse.

Mr. Thomas pointed out the city planning work that is being done in all sections of the country and extended an invitation to all Wichitans to attend the national city planning conference at Dallas in May.

It has become the duty of both realtors and property owners to solve the city planning problems of today, Mr. Thomas said.

Telling of recent trips which he has made to California and the Rio Grande valley, J. A. Kemp, Wichita Falls, cited the wonderful possibilities of making an even better city of Wichita Falls.

"We have in the vicinity of Wichita Falls an opportunity for any man coming south and there are many of them coming," Mr. Kemp said. "Texas is attracting more attention than at any time in its history. We, of Wichita Falls and the Wichita valley, have an opportunity to duplicate and even surpass what has been done in southern California."

"A Medley of Old Favorites" was sung by a quartet composed of Mrs. P. M. Cordell, Mrs. J. E. Stratton, Mrs. C. H. Evans and Mrs. Ray Wilhite. Miss Elizabeth Cole played the piano accompaniment.

"Romance of Real Estate" was the title of a playlet written by Mr. Curlee and presented by A. L. Huey, Mrs. P. A. Welty, Homer Karrenbrock, Louis H. Gould, George Hodgins and J. M. Baber.

Mr. Curlee introduced J. M. Baber, president, and Alfred Harris, executive secretary of the local real estate board.

The evening's entertainment was concluded with dancing.

Banquet committees follow: R. J. Claypool, general chairman; Mrs. M. M. Adickes, R. P. Willis and Alfred H. Harris, invitations; W. B. Hamilton, Mrs. P. A. Welty, Otto Stehlik, Clarence Dodge and A. L. Huey, reception; Mrs. V. W. Cain, banquet; W. S. Curlee, realtor play; C. Y. Tully, Rosco Staton and J. R. Monroe, music.

Formal Dress Is Not Required for Grand Opera Here

When any worth-while enterprise is being developed, any and every sort of report is circulated, and grand opera guarantors have their share to contend with in bringing Chicago Civic Opera company for its first opera season in Wichita Falls. The latest report is that you can't attend the operas unless you are in formal dress. From grand opera headquarters, the answer is: Wear any thing you want to wear. There will be people there in all forms of dress, as they dress at other shows. Some people will, of course, be in formal dress; they are the people who are making of grand opera a time for social activities and are usually entertaining friends from other towns, or they are the people who always conform to the rules of dress. They are in the minority; the majority will be dressed in the form that is most conducive to the state of mind required to enjoy the operas.

PROMISING TO REDUCE TAXES

Tax reduction planks appear in the platforms of both the announced candidates for governor, Mrs. Wilmans and Judge Wardlaw. Neither candidate will be disappointed, we trust, if the plank falls of conspicuous success as a vote-getter. The public has come to realize that such a campaign pledge is easy to make but difficult to keep. Voters will not pay much attention to the promise unless it is in specific terms.

It is a popular belief that appropriations for the state departments and bureaus involve a big part of the tax money, and that a great reduction could be effected by abolishing some of these departments. As a matter of fact, if every office or bureau whose usefulness is doubtful were to be abolished, the saving to the taxpayer would be insignificant. It would hardly exceed a total of $250,000, which would probably not affect the tax rate at all. The state's big items of expense, insofar as ad valorem taxation is concerned, are the educational and eleemosynary institutions. There are a dozen of the former and 17 of the latter. Some of the state schools, certainly, could be closed without seriously impairing the educational machinery, but it would take a braver individual than the average candidate to say which should be eliminated. Economies might be effected in the state departments, and some of the courts could probably be done away with, but not much could be done without constitutional amendments.

The candidate who says he is going to reduce taxes should be specific in his promise, if he expects to gain many votes by his promise. When it comes to the point of saying just where he is going to try to have the pruning-knife applied, the promise necessarily becomes vague.

If we might offer a suggestion to the candidates without thereby committing ourselves for them, it is to make one definite promise for tax-reduction, with reference to the automobile license tax. This tax is higher in Texas than in most states. It is high enough to keep more than a few automobiles off the streets, at this time of the year, because their owners can't afford to pay it. We believe that a platform that definitely promised a reduction in this tax would win some votes.

Of course, the institutions and departments and public works that now derive revenue from this tax would have to be supplied with funds from other sources, and the public, in the long run, would furnish those funds; but the candidate need not trouble with that phase of the question. He can gain some support by making the promise, because many voters won't examine into the inner workings of the matter.

The only governors Texas has had who accomplished anything tangible in the tax reduction line have been those who pruned ruthlessly and left to their successors the task of repairing the damage their "economy" caused. Governor Campbell, with the aid of the Waters-Pierce donation, brought the tax rate to a very low figure, but his administration sorely crippled the state institutions, and left a heavy burden for his successor to assume.

When a candidate makes a sweeping promise of tax reduction, it may be wise to call on him or her to tell how it's going to be brought about. The automobile license tax offers one good opening.

MAKING INSURANCE POPULAR

High officials of nationally known life insurance companies are urging congress to reopen to war veterans the opportunity to take out government insurance. Great numbers of service men have allowed their insurance to lapse, and unless there is further legislation on the subject, will not have the opportunity to renew it. The life insurance companies favor extending this opportunity.

Something other than altruism moves the insurance men to take this step. In a way, they are asking the government to become their competitors, but in reality they are looking much further than that. The war was a tremendous boon to life insurance companies. It "sold" the idea of life insurance to hundreds of thousands of individuals that the companies had never been able to reach, with the result that the years after the war witnessed enormous increases in life insurance generally. If the veteran can be persuaded to take out the limited policy the government offers him, he becomes a good prospect for what the insurance companies can sell him.

From the public's standpoint, government insurance is good business. It offers a way out of the heavy pension bills that have had to be paid following former wars. This country is still paying some pensions on account of the war of 1812. It will be a third of a century, probably, before the last civil war pensioner passes on. The insurance plan was conceived to avoid the need of pensions after the world war. If it does not entirely accomplish that, it will at least greatly reduce the amount to be paid.

TOO BUSY—AND TOO SENSIBLE

Americans are "too busy with their own internal affairs to think about wars," says a British publisher who recently visited this country. Commercial, rather than military, prestige is America's objective, as the Briton sees it.

Probably it is good for a people to be too busy to fight. The British publisher might have noted, however, that commercial pursuits are not the only factor that is building up peace sentiment in this country. It contributes to the hope and the belief that we are through with wars, but there is another and less obvious factor; that is, that we are steadily becoming "peace-minded" as a nation. The sentiment is becoming more and more widely spread that wars can be avoided. There is the absence of the sense of false security, of "splendid isolation" that prevailed in the years before 1917. We are coming to realize, as a nation, that we cannot live to ourselves, and in that realization we are making definite progress toward the understanding that makes war difficult to bring about. It will be found a far more effective deterrent of the war spirit, when crises develop, than the mere fact that we are a busy people. It is worth much to be too busy to fight; it is worth more to be too sensible.

Seventy-five per cent of the prohibition agents fell down on civil service exams, according to a dispatch. Evidently Uncle Sam wants them to be able to both raid and write.

Bert Acosta was arrested for flying his plane too close to the ground. We thought people were jailed just for flying high.

"Bandit holds up drug store as hundreds pass," says a headline, probably from Chicago. Well, you can't blame them for that.

JUST FOLKS

—By—
EDGAR A. GUEST

BILL KNEW HIS FRIENDS.

Bill knew his friends before he died,
The crowd that gathers now
To stand in sorrow by his side
And touch his icy brow
Finds him unmoved. Not one can speak
A word to stir that placid cheek.

His lips today are cold and dumb,
To love he can't reply,
He waited long for friends to come,
And oft he wondered why
So few there were to stop awhile
When he could talk with them and smile.

From time to time some roses came,
And then his eyes grew bright;
He called his every friend by name,
Who sat with him at night.
Today a crowd is here, but oh,
Just who they are he'll never know.

Surrounded by the flowers he lies
Unmoved by all the tears;
For death has sealed his tender eyes,
No word of love he hears.
What matters now the crowd outside?
Bill knew his friends before he died.

The Sportman's Creed

By GLENN FRANK
President of University of Wisconsin and Former Editor of the Century Magazine

A few months ago I stood in the steaming quarters of a football team and listened to the coach talk to the players between the halves of a hard-fought game.

Into a few minutes of flaming speech the coach crowded the whole philosophy of healthy-minded sportsmanship, and I went back to my seat in the stadium with the impression of a creed of sportsmanship as definite and as dominating as the creeds of religion drafted by the church fathers.

The sportsman would probably cast his creed in the form of a series of determinations rather than a series of dogmas, somewhat as follows:

I. I will not break training, for the satisfactions of achievement are more durable than the satisfactions of appetite.

II. I will not give up in the midst of a contest just because I may be, at the moment, tired or discouraged, for, save in rare instances of utter exhaustion, there are always untapped levels of energy upon which men may call, and I am in honor bound to my fellow players to give to the contest the untapped levels as well as the surface layer of my energy.

III. I will subordinate my playing to the playing of the team, for I have no right to let my vanity stand in the way of victory, to sacrifice sportsmanship for the spotlight, or to trade group achievement for personal applause.

IV. I will keep my head, however hard I am hit, for to lose my temper is treason to the team, since I cannot have a cool head and a hot temper at the same time.

V. I will be modest in victory, knowing that, if I have kept the faith of the sportsman in play, the victory is but a common product of the combined play of my fellows, even if I gave a star performance at a critical moment, and knowing that the moment of victory is life's severest test of a man's character.

VI. I will be game in defeat, for only the weakling whines when the fortunes of contest run against him.

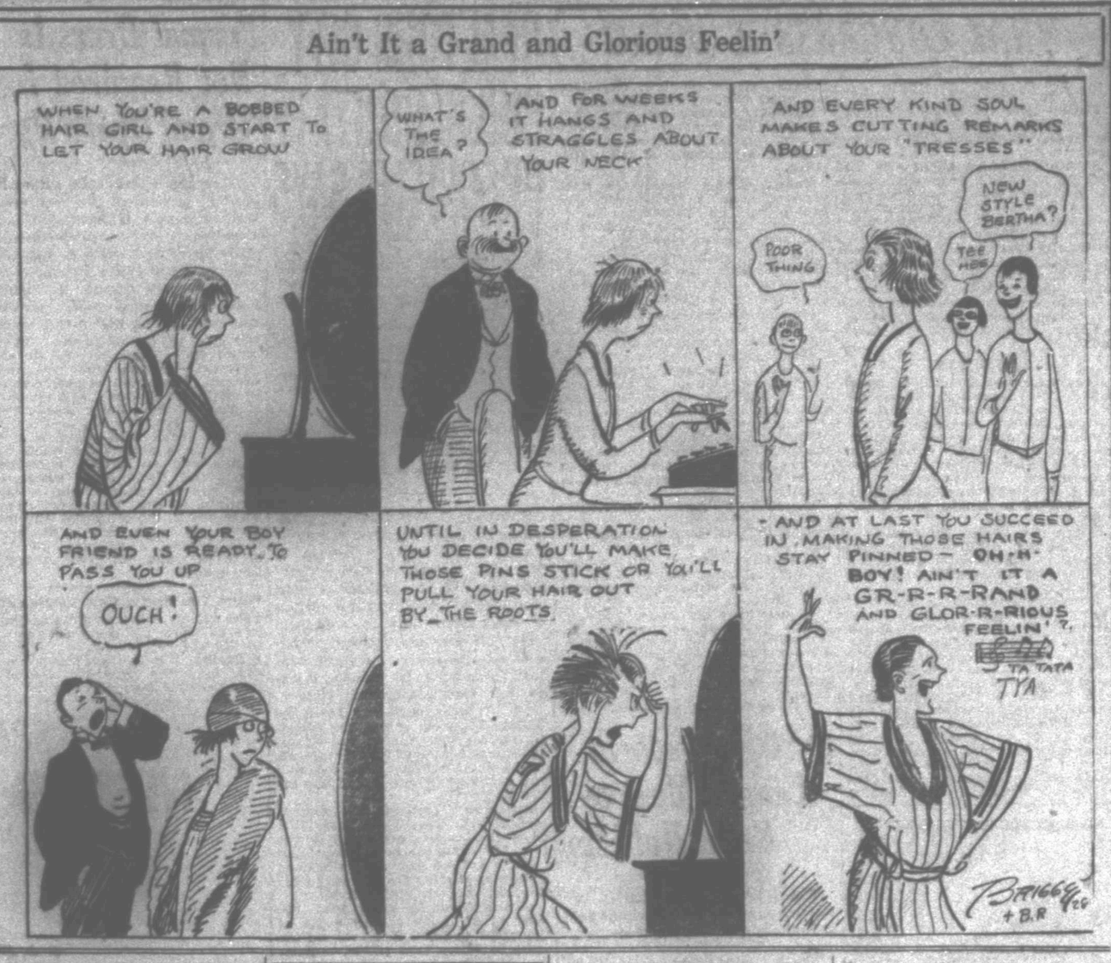

Here, I submit, is a magnificent charter of character and conduct.

It was a sense of this creed of sportsmanship, I suppose, that led some one to say long ago that the battle of Waterloo was won on the playing fields of Eton, for this principles of conduct are fundamental alike to the good soldier and to the great statesman.

I am not suggesting that the boy who practices these principles on the football field will automatically practice them in politics or in business; unhappily there seems not to be any such automatic transfer.

I am suggesting rather that he must practice and perfect such conduct in all fields as well as on the football field.

Ain't It a Grand and Glorious Feelin'

SAVING the PIECES

(Expressions from other publications appearing in this column are chosen for the information they give on subjects of interest; they do not necessarily reflect the editorial viewpoint of The Times.)

What we can't understand is that a man started 25 fires in Washington without causing another senatorial investigation.—Canton Daily News.

Bombing Villages

Washington reports receipt by the navy department of official despatches stating that four planes had flown over El Chipote, Nicaragua, and had "bombed the forces of General Sandino." The American flyers reported "seeing 40 men."

We rise to inquire whether in passing and dropping high explosives the American considered taking a census of the women, children and nursing babies in El Chipote?

And, when they have flown over this and other towns, constituted mostly of thatched huts, in which Sandino's followers were supposed to be gathered, dropped bombs and reported having killed 10 or 40, as the case may be, did they ascertain how many, if any, of the killed and wounded were women and children?

Before dropping high explosives on these villages have the Americans given warning, so that noncombatants might get out of the way? Neither Washington nor Managua has so reported.

If women and children have been killed the people in the United States would not be informed, for the friends of Sandino in Nicaragua cannot communicate with them, and his enemies have control of the news sources and would suppress such facts.

But to bomb villages is, in intent and fact, to bomb women and children and other non-combatants. What did we say about the Germans for so doing in France?—Columbia, S. C. State.

Another proof of the new Ford's power is its ability to knock two hundred dollars off the price of other cars.—Key West Citizen.

We were a little fearful when Lindbergh started this Southern flight, but we guess his Paris trip played out the poets.—Council Bluff Nonpariel.

Good Plan, If Followed.

The people of Wichita Falls are now considering a proposal to adopt the city-manager form of government. During the last few years this method of administering the affairs of municipal governments has grown rapidly in popularity. It was a logical outgrowth of the commission form of government, which was a vast improvement over the old aldermanic form used in all American cities until about twenty-five years ago.

Successes of the manager form have been varied. There have been some conspicuous successes recorded, while in other localities the results have been disappointing. That it does increase the likelihood of business-like government of cities is rather generally conceded, just as the commission form was generally agreed to be an improvement over the old aldermanic government under which political bossism flourished.

The basic idea of the manager form of government is that the city commissioners or aldermen, together with the mayor, shall act in the capacity of a directing board, determining major policies, leaving to the manager the task of actually handling the details of administration and clothing him with sufficient authority to enable him to be the actual administrative head of the city government. This is simply applying to the problems of municipal government the methods used in practically all private business corporations.

The success or failure of the manager form of government depends almost wholly upon the ability of the men selected to put it in operation and the care used in selecting a manager, just as the success of a business depends upon these same factors. A sound business can be wrecked by incompetent management. A ... government can be wrecked in the same way. In other words the plan is good, if it is followed.

We have a city charter in Vernon that makes possible the adoption of the manager plan of government, if we should ever care to make a change.—Vernon Record.

The old-fashioned hired man named William was the original farm relief Bill.—Detroit Free Press.

Your Boy —and— Your Girl

Caring for and Building Teeth

Could girls but look ahead and see themselves at 18 with poor teeth due to youthful neglect they would carry tooth brushes instead of compacts. In fact some of us had rather see girls cleaning their teeth at a restaurant than painting their faces. There would be more excuse for it.

If boys could picture themselves, when they object to exercising a tooth brush, paying out good money for bridges, crowns and stone teeth at an age in life when baby needs a child specialist, six year old requires tonsils removed and wifey is searching the pockets for the last nickel—but what's the use of wishing!

For a girl clear skin, bright eyes and good teeth go a long way to win and to hold. A mouthful of fine teeth, an engaging smile and persuasive words sell bonds, real estate and automobiles. But to get children to see it is another matter. If reformed drunkards make great evangists the conductor of this column ought to have the greatest influence in the world in helping youth to take care of its teeth.

My dad's pocketbook may have squealed when it was punched by the dentist. I heard it not. I saw only the torture chamber of a painless dentistry which gave no pain to the dentist. Now that I have encountered age I feel like Don Quixote, who after he had his disastrous encounter with the shepherds, said to his squire:

"Reach hither thy hand, and feel how many teeth are wanting on the right side of my upper jaw; for there I feel the pain." Sancho put his finger into Don Quixote's mouth and feeling about said, "How many teeth had your worship on this side?" "Four," answered Don Quixote, "beside the eyetooth, all perfet and sound." "Think well what you say, sir," answered Sancho. "I say four, if not five," answered Don Quixote; "for in my whole life I never had a tooth drawn, nor have I lost one by rheum or decay." "Well, then," said Sancho, "on this upper side your worship has but two teeth and a half; and, in the lower, neither half nor whole; all is as smooth and even as the palm of my hand." "Unfortunate that I am!" said Don Quixote, hearing these sad tidings from his squire; "I had rather they had torn off an arm, provided it were not the sword arm, for thou must know, Sancho, that a mouth without teeth is like a mill without a stone, and that a diamond is not so precious as a tooth."

This is not a health column, nor am I a dentist. We discuss many health topics from the habit standpoint only. For young children it is foolish to talk now about big dental bills later. For older ones, when the pride age comes along, it is too late. Right habits help immensely. Habits of eating, right diets, regularity of brushing, the habit of going to the dentist regularly and not waiting until a tooth aches. A diagnostic scheme for recording the daily fulfilling of simple personal habits and of personal hygiene interest little people. Appealing to pride hits the older ones. Expecting that the still older will use some of their allowance or earnings for paying the dental bills strikes closer than lightening. More about it if you ask for Helplet on "Care of the Teeth."

OUR CONVERSATION CORNER

Television

Do you think there is any harm in a girl answering the door bell and talking for five, or even ten, minutes to a fellow with whom she is well acquainted when the hall is well lit up and a big corner light is outside?

A DAUGHTER.

Answer—It is my opinion that there is no harm in this. It will be long, parents, before you will be able to turn a switch and see all that's going on without even rising from your chairs. Meanwhile prying parent might install front entry amplifiers to strengthen the sound of the little nothings so dear to youthful hearts.

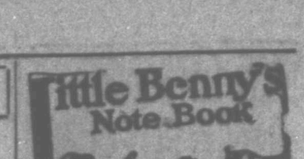

Snobs.

All my life I have gone with some girls in this town who are the daughters of the society leaders. Now, all of these girls are going to private schools and this has a tendency to make them snobbish. The few girls who remain in the public high school, including yours truly, have been dropped from this group. Now do you think I am right in paying no attention to these girls beside being ordinarily polite and only speaking to them when it is necessary and being content with my other friends whom I think are sincere?

—FIFTEEN.

Answer—These girls simply have a temporary fit of "snobbishness." They think a private school "is something"—that's all. I should ignore a tempoary situation. They will get over it. Just a piece of youthful foolishness. But I should not snub them. You high school girls should give a vacation party to the "out of town" crowd. See what happens.

Little Benny's Note Book

Pop had a plant with him wen he came home today, handing it to ma and saying, Heer, take it with my blessings, eny man that carries a plant home through the streets of a big city is a perfect husband and a hero, not to say a little crazy.

Why Willyum, izzent it odd, its perfectly fassinating, I never saw a plant like that, Im delighted, wats the name of it? ma sed, and pop sed, Its some kind of an imported plant, I think the fellow sed it was Japanese, you can call it Feedyama if you must have a name, Im the last persin in the werld that I thawt would ever be carrying home a live plant in broad daylite, but it looked so funny I couldent resist buying it, it cost me 6 bones, too, so dont drop it around or enything, be carefill of it.

Certeny I will, the ideer, eny certain plants need speshil treetment, did he say enything about that ma sed, and pop sed, By George he did, now that I come to think of it, I meen now that you mention it, let me see, wat did he say, it seems this particuler kind of plant needs a lot of sun, or did he say a lot of shade, wichever it is it cant have too mutch of it.

O deer, thats very indefinite, ma sed. Did he say enything about how mutch water? she sed, and pop sed, Yes he did, not too mutch and not too little, not more than twice a week, or perhaps he sed twice a day, I dont remember now the exact specifications, and the fellow I bawt it from jest had some in a wagon so I may never see him agen, you know how waggons are.

O Willyum I think your awful, how am I going to give this plant its proper care and nurrishment, I think your terrible, ma sed, and pop sed, Yee gods if that izsent the limit, I pay 6 bones of the realm for a plant and make a holey spectable of myself carrying it tenderly through the streets, and then I get a blast for not bringing its nerse along with it, Im through, yee gods, and ma sed, O well, never mind, dont get ixcited, Ive got liver and onions for suppir.

Then all is forgiven, pop sed. And be quick went back in the dining room so as not to lose eny time.

COURT GIVES RAIL EXECUTIVES CHANCE TO DODGE PENALTY

ALTERNATIVE TO CONTEMPT SENTENCE LAID BEFORE TEXAS RAIL CHIEFS

HOUSTON JUDGE TELLS S. P. HEADS WHAT TO DO

Ten Days Allowed Hull and Associates for Compliance With Court's View.

HOUSTON, Texas, Feb. 10. (AP)—Penalties were deferred for 10 days in federal court here today in the civil contempt case brought by the Brotherhood of Railway Clerks against H. M. Lull, executive vice president, and three other officials of the Southern Pacific lines in Louisiana and Texas.

The time was given, Judge J. C. Hutcheson said from the bench, to give the railroad men, who previously had been adjudged in contempt of the court's orders of injunction, to decide whether they would fully restore the brotherhood as the official labor organization for 3500 railroad clerks in the two states.

J. H. Tallichet, attorney for the railroad officials, could not say, he said, what action would be taken by his clients. His own personal opinion, he said, unofficially, was that he desired to test the legality of the Esch-Cummings act of 1925 under which the injunction was sought.

Mr. Lull and his associates were charged with fostering a company union of clerks in opposition to the brotherhood. The action was brought by John W. Harper of San Antonio, the brotherhood's official representative. It has been before Judge Hutcheson since last summer. The officials were enjoined in August, were found guilty of contempt in January and a week or so later were ordered to appear today for imposition of penalties.

Meanwhile in an opinion amplifying his oral decision Judge Hutcheson threatened an action for criminal contempt and outlined remedial measures through which the railroad men might purge themselves.

The alternatives were disestablishment of the association of railway clerks, the company union; that the railroad cease to allow officers of the association to remain on company time and company pay unless engaged in active service for the railroad unless the same privileges are accorded to officers of the brotherhood.

That the brotherhood be reestablished as the representatives of the clerks until such time as secret ballot is taken under the direction of the court.

That Mr. Harper and John W. Walker, brotherhood officials, be restored to their jobs and to their railroad pass privileges.

That three clerks, one Stoska, one Hudson and one Ginsberg, who were dismissed soon after the granting of the injunction, be restored to their jobs and that the railroad pay $2000 to the unions law firm for their services in connection with the contempt proceedings.

Police Called to Quell Nightmare

Police officers made a rush call to a house in the negro residential section Thursday night when an excited voice telephoned police headquarters that a woman was screaming "bloody murder." Officers arrived to find that a heavy dinner had proved too much for one dusky citizen, who had suffered a harrowing nightmare.

ANTI-THIRD TERM RESOLUTION CALLED UNJUSTIFIED MOVE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10. (AP)—The senate resolved itself again today into a forum for the discussion of third terms for presidents, with administration senators returning the attack on the La Follette resolution which would declare against more than two terms.

Senator Jones, Republican, of Washington, denounced the La Follette measure as "wholly unwarranted and unjustified."

"Its passage," he said, "amounts to nothing more than a declaration by 49 or more senators that the people are not competent to select their own president."

"I shall vote against the resolution and I await with interest the action of members of that party whose slogan a few years ago was 'Let the People Rule'."

Senator Shortridge, Republican, California, declared the resolution has "no place in this body."

EX-OFFICER HERE DENIES HE SIGNED CHECK FOR REWARD

Declaring that reports are in error that he has endorsed a $500 reward check payable jointly to him and four others, W. M. Davidson, former city policeman, asserted Friday that he does not intend to sign the instrument in its present form.

The assertion was met by the warning from Judge C. M. McFarland of the county court at law that unless the check is endorsed "within a reasonable time" Mr. Davidson will be cited to show cause why he should not be adjudged in contempt of court.

A mandatory injunction issued by Judge McFarland several days ago ordered that the former policeman endorse the instrument. It was granted on the pleading that the endorsement is necessary so that the check may be cashed, thereby making it possible to bring the money it represents to a Wichita Falls bank to remain in escrow until the disposition of the amount has been decided upon.

The litigation grows out of the capture by Mr. Davidson and three other city officers here about two years ago of two men subsequently sentenced to long imprisonment in Arkansas for a bank robbery. The $500 check was sent as a reward to local officers for the capture. Trustees of the police relief fund contend the entire amount should be paid into that fund. Mr. Davidson contends that he should be paid individually a share of the amount.

Mr. Davidson said Friday that he has refused to sign the check because at least one of those to whom the instrument is made payable did not participate in the capture. Likewise, he added, he is actuated by a desire not to prejudice his claim to part of the amount.

Although Judge McFarland did not indicate when he will make a formal inquiry as to whether the injunction has been obeyed, it probably will be not later than next week, he said. Delay until then is designed to allow those involved ample time to discuss their differences.

BLUE CURTAIN PLAYERS GO TO GAINESVILLE FOR COLLEGE TOURNAMENT

A group of the Blue Curtain Players, dramatic organization in the Junior College, left Friday for Gainesville, where they will compete in the state original one-act play tournament for junior colleges.

"The Try-Out," written by Miss Juanita Kinsey, Blue Curtain club director, is the play selected by the Wichita Falls group for the contest. Those who will take part are: Dorothy Reed, Fay Yauger, Pansy Mills, Weldon Carter and Raymond Strong. The play is based on a rehearsal scene, with Dorothy Reed as the director, Pansy Mills and Weldon Carter as the "punk" actors, and Raymond Strong and Fay Yauger as the good actors.

All those who will take part, accompanied by Miss Kinsey, left Friday afternoon.

"HUMAN FLY" CLEANING DOME AT STATE CAPITAL

AUSTIN, Feb. 10. (AP)—Babe White, "human fly" from Chicago, recently denied permission to scale the 300 foot capitol dome, got a real job Friday almost as thrilling to spectators as his stunt would have been.

He was put to work brushing the inside of the huge dome and cleaning the windows. He worked from ladders tied together and suspended in space by ropes more than 200 feet above the capitol ground floor. That portion of the floor over which he worked was roped off. A workman fell from the dome, crashed through the floor and was killed a few years ago.

White gets $25 for sweeping the white dome shell. He gets $1 a window for cleaning the 20 round windows near the dome top.

RESOLUTION ASKS MODIFICATION OF BANKERS' REWARD

VERNON, Feb. 10.—Modification of the $5000 reward offer made by the Texas Bankers association for dead bank bandits, was urged in a resolution passed by the West Texas Sheriffs' association at the quarterly convention in session here.

The resolution, introduced by Burton Kooch of Amarillo, drew a fine distinction between burglary of a bank and robbery of a bank in daylight hours. The resolution suggests that the reward apply only in cases of robbery with firearms, during banking hours.

It is pointed out that a night robbery comes under the burglary classification and is not punishable by death. The resolution was passed after a lengthy discussion.

Abilene was selected as the next meeting place, without any opposition. Definite date for the convention was not set, but the meeting will be held approximately three months from now.

The address of the morning session was made by R. D. L. Killough, Wilbarger county attorney. The peace officers were guests at a banquet at the Hillcrest Country club Thursday evening and were later entertained at an athletic program at the Elks hall.

A barbecue and the shoot, in which a number of valuable prizes are offered, are scheduled on the closing program Friday afternoon.

What Has Happened So Far

Emily Day, daughter of very poor parents, has a great yearning to make a success. She finds it impossible to mingle with the socially elect of the little town where she lives owing to her poverty and the fact that her father is a factory worker. She loses her heart to Kent Bonsiter, a rich young man, who is supposed to be engaged to Marilee Grainger. One moonlight night at a party, Kent kisses Emily and calls her beautiful. He goes away to study law, but she never forgets him. Meanwhile, Marty Nolan, whose father keeps a "speakeasy," tells her he too is going to be a lawyer and that some day he intends to marry her. She gets a job with Mrs. Frances Haiden, a wealthy interior decorator, who tells her the only aristocracy is that of work. Mrs. Haiden introduces her to Kingdon Coles, a dramatic critic, who proposes to her in vain. Meanwhile, Kitten, Emily's younger sister, is wildly seeking for thrills. She meets Ted Lanier on the sly. Stella Brent, a school girl friend of Emily's finds herself deserted by Skeets Bradley, reckless son of a rich family. Kitten goes on a wild party with Ted without letting her sister know.

Emily gets a raise. Kitten climbs in a window late at night to elude her sister.

Kent comes home for the wedding of his sister Avis, who has thrown herself at Marty Nolan. Fearing her father's wrath she marries a man she does not care for.

Kent almost proposes to Marilee but cannot quite bring himself to do it.

Now Go on With the Story

CHAPTER XXVI

After that evening Emily felt differently, someway, about Coles. She doubted that she loved him. At least the thought of him sent no high, free note vibrating exultant in her heart as the thought of Kent had done.

But now she began to wonder if that singing joy might, after all, be quite real; if, instead, it might not be a dream; one of those nearly every woman must have with her first thought of love—those dreams which so seldom come true.

Agnes must have had some such experience when she fell in love with Steve Day. And it wasn't separation but fulfillment which took it from her. Hard that would be—harder than giving up the loved one—to see the dream fade and die at his hands.

Even Stella must have felt it, loving Skeets Bradley as she did. And life was killing that for her, too. Not with merciful slowness but by a violent blow. That, too, would be hard, to awaken so.

Her own lot was happier, she told herself. By it she also lost the loved one but the dream was hers, to have and to hold. Fragrant thing locked up in her secret heart, it would remain always fresh, always fair.

But one could not live for a dream. Life had its problems and its demands. One must meet those as they came, courageously, taking for one's self whatever seemed happiness.

The glamour that had settled upon Coles the witching night in the city brightened as days went by. Such an aristocrat he had looked with everybody eager for a word from him; so clever he had seemed at his desk writing faster than she could think a thing that thousands would read.

Aristocratic—yes, he was that. Birth, no doubt, and breeding. Things she revered in spite of the pale ghost of class-antagonism which sometimes haunted her.

He made her feel she was doing him a great favor by allowing him to be in love with her. Not like Marty Nolan who came with his fighting jaw out and said, "I'm going to marry you some day, Em." As if it were for him to say!

Exciting, to be Cole's wife! Different from the flat, monotonous days in Lyall. Nights of working about the house, going nowhere much save when Frances invited her.

There'd be the theater every night, perhaps, and dinner in such gorgeous places as the Van Rex, and no doubt he'd have many friends like himself one would get to know, interesting and clever.

Of course she was not clever herself. But she always could listen and maybe they'd like her for that. Those she met at Frances' did. Emily was becoming an expert listener.

She would think of these things and then she would go and sit with Agnes a while, resolved to tell her something of Kingdon Coles. To see if she could not overcome prejudice enough so they might talk together happily.

But there never seemed a chance for this. Emily would begin, "Why not come with me some afternoon to see Frances, Muz? You'd like her friends."

"They'd be too grand for an old woman like me, dear," sighing, "I'm not one to leave my own." This with a hint of reproach.

"But they're not grand, darling, and it's nice to make new friends. Why, there's a young fellow comes there, Kingdon Coles, who writes on a newspaper. He's a fine boy. You'd love to hear him talk about this and that."

Little red spots sprang out on Agnes' cheek-bones; her eyes were bright suddenly. "You like this man, Emmy? You see him much?" Her voice was taut with alarm.

Emily might have told her then; she might have said, quickly, "I don't know whether I like him or not but I'm thinking of marrying him. Oh, need your advice—be fair, Muz—tell me how you see it?"

But Agnes couldn't be fair. Shield Kitten, let her do anything. But not so much sympathy these last years for this older daughter. Agnes saw things as Steve had in his bitter days; she gave no thought to the change that had come in the very end when he warned Emily against his mistakes.

"You see this man often, Emmy?"

"He's only one who comes there."

"Well, I hope you'll not forget you're as good as promised to Marty."

Emily moved impatiently, said with the sweet lips straightened, "I'll not forget, Muz."

Agnes settled back, satisfied, but Emily went on thinking, "She's willing for me to marry Marty. She knows I don't love him—that I never will—and she thinks it right for me to marry him anyway.

"Well, if that's honorable why isn't it more so for me to marry King, whom I like? Even not loving him, that's higher than this other. Not father's mistakes—I think he would wish this. Whatever Muz says I think he would want it this way—"

It occurred to her that she might marry King, if she had to marry someone, and win Agnes over afterward. Agnes would be hurt, but only at first; when she saw how happy they'd be she would feel pleased. Meeting King and realizing how much finer he was than Marty would convince her. She would forgive then and take it in a nice way.

Perhaps Agnes even might come to the city to live with them. That would interest her, take her out of the rut.

And Kitten—why, it would end the problem of Kitten. With a husband to help manage the mutinous kid sister there'd be no more worry. Kitten would have to listen then.

So she almost settled it all in her mind. When King asked her to marry him. And one day they would take a little motor trip somewhere, perhaps up the Boston Post Road to Greenwich, and they would come back man and wife.

All very simple, rather sweet. Troubles disposed of then. She smiled at the ease of it.

Now she brought up a matter that long had been on her mind.

"Wouldn't it be nice for me to fix up the house, Muz? I've thought about it. I could get things at cost through Frances and do all the work myself."

"You want to make over the house, Emmy? You don't like it?"

"Of course I do. But I thought—well, you see some new paper and hangings and the floors varnished. And maybe a picture or so out of the living room—"

The picture she meant was a crayon enlargement of a photograph Agnes and Steve had taken on their honeymoon. It was an astonishing thing framed in gilt and it dominated the entire room. Emily had spoken about it before, tentatively, hoping to induce her mother to hang it away.

Agnes looked up with her chin trembling. "You're ashamed of your home, Emmy? What would your poor father say? You're getting too grand for your home—"

Emily kissed her and went on up to her room. There was a droop to her shoulders.

BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and cold, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (Adv.)

HERE'S SIMPLE MENTAL TEST TO TRY ON YOUR HORSE

By Congressman Frisby

WASHINGTON—There have been a number of complaints lately about horses kicking my constituents. I have given the matter considerable study—in fact, I was once kicked in the head by a horse myself.

The first thing to do is determine whether or not the horse is sane. Obviously, if the horse is suffering from dementia praecox it doesn't know it is doing any wrong. The only thing to do in that case is let the horse kick and then forgive it. Or kick back.

You can tell if a horse is insane by simply opening and closing an umbrella in its face. If you can't close the umbrella, hold it over the horse's head, as illustrated above. This keeps the horse dry in winter time and prevents it from getting sunstroke or freckles in the summer.

Now, are there any more questions?

CONFERENCE CHAMPIONSHIP HANGS IN BALANCE IN SERIES

PORKERS AND MUSTANGS PLAY FRIDAY AND SATURDAY NIGHTS IN BIG CONTESTS OF SEASON

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Feb. 10. (AP)—Southwest conference championship aspirations of Southern Methodist university of Dallas and Arkansas university of Fayetteville will be shattered or blasted when quintets from the two schools meet here Friday night in the first of a two-game basket ball series.

Arkansas and the Mustangs both have won six conference games, and when the crucial series here is ended will have passed the halfway mark in their schedules, both teams having four comparatively easy games left to play.

Victory will depend largely on the ability of guards of one team to halt sharp shooters of the other. Both the Ponies and the Razorbacks have excellent basket tossers. The Porkers, however, lead the conference in points scored, while the Mustangs are several notches down the list.

Excellent Defense

The Hogs' defense, too, has proved excellent so far this season, while the Ponies guards are new men who, however, have been successful in their attempts to thwart other goal shooters. Victory, dopesters say, most likely will go the Razorbacks.

The Ponies must play decidedly better basket ball than they have been if they hope to win.

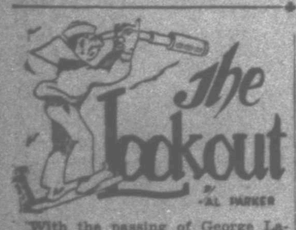

Chance for Record

A victory in both games for the Porkers, probably meaning another conference flag would give Arkansas the title three years in a row, a circuit record and take the championship out of Texas for the fourth consecutive year, of the Southwest conference.

Probable lineups:

Arkansas: Schoonover and Haizlip, forwards; Pickell, center; Lambert and Rose, guards.

S. M. U.: Mann and Allison, forwards; Hooks, center; Johnson and Lindsey, guards.

With the passing of George Lafayette from the Spudder ranks, the club is going to be hard put this spring to find a capable leadoff man. The ideal player to head the batting list is one who can look 'em over, draw the pitcher out to the longest possible count and take a free ticket, if possible. He should be fast and smart base runner. It is his duty to get on base and let the succeeding hitters push him around. Lafayette was a good leadoff man, though not exceptionally fast. He was a splendid waiter and a capable base runner. For some reason managers like lefthanded hitters in the leadoff role.

In the prospective Spudder lineup there is not a man who looms as a leadoff hitter. Rabbit Benton appears the most likely, though he is not the ideal man. The Rabbit is too good a pinch hitter to be stationed at the head of the list. He is more valuable as a "run finisher" than as a "run starter." Fitzgerald has served some time in the leadoff position, but Fitz is not the waiting type. None among Swenson, Turgeon, Jenkins and Lamb could even be considered.

The new first sacker, George Stanton, is quite likely to be tried as leadoff man in the early weeks of training. However, he has always been a cleanup hitter and fourth and first place swatters are two distinct types. Stanton hits lefthanded, is fast and, possibly, he will fill the bill. Then there are the shortstop candidates other than Benton. It is no certainty that Joe Lachane or Ed Roetz will not play short and if so, either may be a leadoff man of proper qualifications.

The leadoff position is one which the average player does not crave. Though Lafayette led the batting order on nearly all of his clubs, he'd much rather be stationed elsewhere in the lineup. Hitting first takes quite a few points from the average of any player, and regardless of how much said player may have the interests of his team at heart, he also is very fond of his batting average. The leadoff man comes up once in every game with no chance to sacrifice. He is up once in every game without the infield being draw in for double plays. He is up once in every game with the defense worrying about nothing in the world but retiring him—there are no base runners to divide the attention of the infield and the battery. He cannot take a crack at a cripple after he gets the pitcher in the hole, because he is expected to draw—a walk if he can.

Before a game last summer we heard a player of another team plead almost tearfully to his manager to take him out of the leadoff position. Marty Callaghan, a Spudder of a few years ago, should be a great leadoff man, but he never fancied the job or cultivated an ability to wait out opposing pitchers. There are few outstanding leadoff men in the Texas league. Before the days of the lively ball, when bunting was a definite means of attack, rather than a threat, the leadoff man who could drag the ball down the first or third-base line and beat it out was much in demand.

In the past the league has seen some mighty fine leadoff men. The best of the Spudder list probably was Red Josefson. Cecil Coombs, when in his prime at Fort Worth, had few superiors, but he was just about through when he was with the Spudders. None was better than Johnny Baggan, the Houston veteran who retired a few years ago. Clarence Bittle was another South Texas performer proficient in the leadoff role in his day. But these fellows were all bunters and that ability probably would be overlooked in the kind of baseball that is played today.

The cleanup, or fourth place hitter, is the opposite type. He is the mauler of the club, the guy who can bring the runners around after they have reached the bases. Right-handed hitters are much preferred at this post. Except that the ideal arrangement calls for a righthanded hitter in fourth position and a lefthanded swinger in fifth, these two places are about the same. The best hitters and longest wallopers can laways be found in fourth and fifth places. Sixth also calls for power to a slightly lesser degree, though there are many baseball men who hold that the sixth place hitter is just as important as the cleanup hitter. The weakest walloper usually are found in seventh place. The player who is proficient at sacrificing and putting over the hit-and-run is to be desired for second place.

Some might argue that the batting order makes little difference, because after the first inning everything is changed up and any player in the lineup is liable to be first up or fourth or seventh. But, the batting order gets around only four times in the normal game, so for one-fourth of every contest the batting order does mean something. It is important enough for every club to do some thinking about, and they all do.

Freak golf shots are commonplace these days, with many millions playing the game that offers so many possibilities for funny things. Paul Harding, playing the country club course the other day, holed a shot in the trousers pocket of another player. His third, a spoon shot, intended for the green, hooked to the edge of the rough and came to rest in the side pocket of a player of a foursome that had just left the green. And to make it better, the ball landed so lightly that the player did not know what had happened until he reached in the pocket and extracted Harding's ball. That's a tough one to beat!

TENNIS RANKINGS UP AT U. S. L. T. A. MEET

CHICAGO, Feb. 10. (AP)—Four of the leading ten among America's best tennis players will enliven a two-day convention of the National Lawn Tennis association Friday night with a renewal of Davis cup team rivalry.

William T. Tilden, whose long supremacy was broken last year by the French invasion, grants another chance to George M. Lott, Chicago youngster now a student at Michigan State. John Hennessey, Indianapolis youth, tackles another eastern veteran, Francis T. Hunter, in a singles match. The two western youths then take on Tilden and Hunter, who hold the national doubles title.

Unless Tilden takes another fling at the N. L. T. A. decision to play in the American zone Davis cup competition, the two-day program of the meeting, the first ever held west of the Alleghanies in the 47 years of its existence, will follow a course already planned.

Approval of the national rankings, and selection of national officers, are on the docket for Saturday afternoon. Officers of the western association were slated for election Friday.

Johnson, present Burkburnett athletic director, and he hopes to down his former men. The Bulldogs are looking for one more game before entering the county tournament at Electra February 17 and 18.

Dallas League Leaders Oppose Francis' Outfit

Visiting Power and Light Team is Undefeated in League Play Of Neighbor City.

Landon-Hill company-Texas Electric Service company team of the commercial league has had more or less easy sailing in its games of the last few weeks, but tougher picking is in sight for the loop leaders in an inter-city contest Saturday night at the junior college. Charlie Spraggins, business manager, and Coyal Francis, manager, have selected a mean foe in the Texas Power and Light company crew of Dallas.

If reports from Dallas are correct, the Wichita Falls cagers will be facing one of the toughest teams of that city and a potential city champion. The Power and Light team is leading the American league of Dallas with five consecutive victories and has compiled a record of 133 points to 72 for the opposition.

The Landon-Hill Electrics boast one of the strongest teams in commercial league history. The first string lineup consists of Rawls and Gantner at forwards, Francis at center and Clary and Davis at guards. Skipper Francis can put on the floor another team, consisting of Andree, Beck, Horton, Caskey and Deems that is not far from the first.

The contest is scheduled to start at 7:30 o'clock.

BULLDOGS ANSWER FIRST CALL FOR TRACK WORK

BURKBURNETT, Texas, Feb. 10.—Thirteen men answered the first call of the track and field men at the Burkburnett High school Thursday afternoon. Lee Roy Eddy was the only letter man that was on the list at this first meeting but when the entire team gets into line 30 to 35 men are expected.

Coach J. M. Johnson hopes to revive the famous medley relay team of last year in spite of the loss of Pat "Bananas" Hood, famous mile runner who last year captured the mile run at the state meet. Hood later won the mile run at Manhattan, Kan., in the Kansas relays and ran third in the national meet at Chicago. Hood's loss to the track team will be a hard blow but there is always the chance of finding a man who can fill his shoes.

VOLLEY BALL TEAM AT BURKBURNETT READY

BURKBURNETT, Texas, Feb. 10.—The Burkburnett volley ball girls will take only a light workout Friday afternoon before entering the county tournament at Electra Saturday and hope to be in the best of condition and ready to go. Captain Patterson and Addie East, the two scoring aces of the team, are being counted upon greatly and both are confident that the Bulldogs will go over big.

Coach A. P. Jones' probable starter will consist of Pauline Patterson, Addie East, Viola Crittenden, Lucile Dillbeck, Louise Wood and Thelma Mitchell, with Yieta Foster, Violet Steele, Ina Fay Norvill, Lola Wimberly, Mildred Key Ruby Bucalow, Ruth Bryarly and Muggs Snoddy on the reserves.

The team has won 14 games this year and lost seven.

Bob Brooks, recently made chief pilot at the corporation's airport on the Henrietta road, was pilot of the plane which is scheduled to return some time Friday with Dr. J. H. Massie, oil operator, as passenger.

Fulcher Armstrong, president of the corporation, announced Thursday that he intended to purchase a second plane and have it delivered here within the next 10 days.

"Another plane is needed in order to care for the number of students who have registered at our flying school and the number of overland trips we have to make," he said.

FAST GREENS PROVE PROBLEM FOR GOLFERS AS HOT SPRINGS TOURNAMENT GETS UNDER WAY

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Feb. 10. (AP)—Fast sand greens and firm fairways lay before some 125 golfers for the starting round of the South Central open golf tournament which called for 18 holes Friday, a like number Saturday and a 36-hole final round Sunday.

Bobby Cruickshanw was out in defense of his title against Tommy Armour, Billy Bruke, MacDonald Smith, Bill Mehlhorn, Joe Kirkwood, Al Watrous, Johnny Golden, Larry Nabholtz, Harry Cooper, Joe Turnesa, Al Espinosa and others of the top notch class in the game.

The first threesome was scheduled at 10:30 a. m., others following at five minute intervals until well along in the afternoon.

Pairings included: MacDonald Smith, Bobby Cruickshank and Jack Vilas, of Hot Springs at 11:30; Bill Mehlhorn, William Burke and Harold Long, Oklahoma City, at 11:40; Tommy Armour, Joe Kirkwood and Ed Dudley, Hollywood, Calif., at 11:50 a. m.

Putting trouble Thursday in the pro-amateur warm up event was common, few of the professionals apparently being able to guage their distances because of the fast greens. MacDonald Smith especially had trouble in this department and spent most of the afternoon on a practice green. Cruickshank also had similar trouble.

M.-Whippets, first half champs, and Texas Electric Service company, runnersup, won their games from Continental Oil company and Draughon Business college, respectively.

The Whippets won their contest by a margin of 12 to 6. With one of their main cogs absent, Addie East, the team was hard pressed to gain the verdict over the juvenated Conocos. The Continental team held the foe to a 2-2 tie in the first quarter, but the Whippets put on a scoring splurge in the next period that brought the half score to 10 to 2. In the last half Continental scored four points to P. B. M.-Whippets' two.

The Electrics had little trouble in disposing of Draughon Business college, 17 to 3. The Garner sisters and Holt led an attack that was too much for the business college lassies.

Twenty to Fifty Per Cent Increase In Hunters, Says Statement of Game Department.

AUSTIN, Texas, Feb. 10. (AP)—More than 9000 deer, 15,000 turkeys and 26 hunters were killed during last hunting season, which showed 20 to 50 per cent increase in activity, Game Commissioner Will Tucker estimated Thursday on the basis of reports from deputies in 71 districts of the state.

Besides the 26 hunters reported fatally wounded, 96 were reported non-fatally injured.

Four hundred and nine of the deer killed were does and "spike" bucks which are not lawful game. Of the turkeys, 118 were hens, unlawfully killed, the report said.

Report On Quail

Game remaining on the range at the close of the season was estimated as follows: Does 76,679; bucks, 21,617; turkeys, 129,478. The "exact" nature of the figures resulted from straight addition of the estimates furnished by the deputies and are meant only as approximate the game department said.

Twenty-four districts reported an "extra good" supply of quail, 26 a good supply and 18 a poor supply.

The district comprising Bandera, Real and Kerr counties was reported the leader in deer and turkey population, with 30,000 of the former and 40,000 of the latter, estimated. The deer kill for the season in that district was estimated as 2500 and turkeys 3500.

Black Tail Scarce

So-called black tail or mule deer were indicated as even more rare in Texas than the antelope, the estimate being 1300 at the most for the deer and 2000 antelope.

The mule deer was found only in the far western counties, where there also are a few Virginia White tail deer. Antelope were reported as ranging through the upper Panhandle, but mainly in the Big Bend section counties, with a few reported for the South Plains country and the plains adjacent to the lower Rio Grande valley.

CHICAGO CUBS' MOUND ACE COMES TO TERMS

CHICAGO, Feb. 10. (AP) — The gathering Cubs, preparing to set sail Sunday for their spring training camp at Catalina island, were cheered Friday with the news that Charlie Root, winner of 26 games on the hill for the Cubs last year, has come to terms with Manager Joe McCarthy at Los Angeles.

Root returned his contract unsigned but President Veeck and McCarthy talked over the situation and evidently evolved a proposition that proved satisfactory to the Cub mound ace when it was delivered to him on the coast by McCarthy Thursday. It was for one year, but the terms were not made public.

TAYLOR AND SANGOR IN GREAT SCRAP THAT ENDS IN SEVENTH WITH CHAMP'S CLAIM OF FOUL

CHICAGO, Feb. 10. (AP)—A "five-minute count" wasn't long enough for Bud Taylor, world's bantamweight champion, Thursday night, and he lost his fight with Joey Sangor, Milwaukee featherweight, in the seventh round. It was called a technical knockout, the first, so far as the records show, ever marked against Taylor's long ring record.

A low left hook sent Taylor down. Referee Phil Collins—the same official who was in the ring when Sammy Mandell took the lightweight title from Rocky Kansas here—said the blow was "on the border line." Taylor's seconds claimed a foul.

After an examination by a physician and a consultation of the judges and the referee, Taylor was given five minutes rest. At the end of that time he still was unable or unwilling to continue, and the decision was given Sangor.

Take No Action

Paul Prehn, chairman of the Illinois Athletic Commission, said the matter was entirely in the hands of the officials and the physician. He indicated the commission would have nothing further to say on the subject.

The fight, which was to have gone 10 rounds, was one of the most vicious a Chicago ring has shown in many months. Sangor outweighed the bantam king by slightly more than five pounds. His straight rights began shooting out with the first seconds of action, and Taylor's chin was a frequent mark for them.

Great Fight

Taylor on the other hand used left hooks, varied with an occasional jab, but the Milwaukee fighter kept coming in. There were bursts of championship power in which Taylor's fists flew to Sangor's face like hail.

The pace from the first bell was exceptionally fast. Both men were prodigal with their leads, taking punishment without flinching in return for a chance to do damage the other.

Ten thousand persons, a capacity crowd, paid approximately $40,000 to see the fight. It was the fourth meeting of these two boxers, Sangor holding two decisions and Taylor one. Taylor's title was not at stake.

HICKEY TAKES PLACE OF ARBITRATION BOARD

AUBURN, N. Y., Feb. 10. (AP)—The appointment of T. J. Farrell. Mr. Hickey succeeds J. C. Toole of New York, who resigned.

LABOR MINISTRY FAILS AFTER BRIEF EXISTENCE

Aggie Dribblers Play Four Games Rest of Season

Farmer Five Hopes to Gain Back Some of Lost Ground; Horned Frogs Are Foes Saturday.

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, Feb. 10. (AP)—Four more conference games, all at A. & M., are in front of the Texas Aggie cagers, who are driving hard for a strong finish of the season, which so far has left them with rather a lean total in the percentage column.

Saturday night, Coach Bassett's charges will meet the Horned Frogs from Texas Christian university again. In the previous game, the Aggies lost by a small margin in the last minute of play. Bassett's dribblers expect to make the return engagement a fast game of court tactics.

The next games scheduled for the Aggies are those with the Arkansas Razorbacks to be played here February 20-21. Standing with S. M. U. at the head of the conference race, Arkansas has demonstated in no uncetain way its court prowess and the Aggies are looking forward to two of the hardest remaining games of their schedule when they meet the Razorbacks here. The final game for the Aggies will be with the Longhorns March 4.

The Aggies have won one out of six games so far. But with four more games to play and a possible percentage of .300 to shoot at the maroon and white cagers are bending every effort in preparation to take these remaining contests. Bassett is putting the players through strenuous daily practices and scrimmages to remedy the weakness shown in the earlier games. The advantage that the Aggies will have in playing on their home court is also being taken into consideration.

In practice during the last week Bassett has been using Noah Webster one of the best guards in the conference last season at center with Davis at guard. Davis heretofore this season has been working at forward. Bassett also has been using Lockett, Petty and Keeton at the forward positions. Webster has shown a marked adeptness in handling the pivot position and it may be this shift will loom up in results in the coming games. Darby and Brown have alternated with Webster at center. Both players have shown up well throughout the season. Captain Sikes, Blount and Varnell have been working with Davis at the guards.

So light is the pith of the sunflower that it is now being used for making life-belts. It is four times as buoyant as cork.

check sore throat

Don't dally with a sore throat! It is a warning that you are probably in for a cold—or worse.

Go after it immediately with Listerine, the safe antiseptic. Gargle with it full strength at least three times a day. Being antiseptic, it attacks disease-producing germs that lodge in the mouth.

During winter months, it is a wise idea to use it systematically every day. It may spare you a long siege of illness. Lambert Pharmacal Company, St. Louis, Mo., U. S. A.

How to Buy Food How to Prepare

SUCCESS IN COOKING DEPENDS LARGELY ON CHOICE MATERIALS AND SELECTION PROPER VESSELS

By DELTA JORDAN

Success in cooking depends, to a considerable extent, in the selection of materials and the proper vessels, proper cooking methods, as well as an understanding of the range that she is to cook on.

A careful study of the range is a very great importance. All results should be placed in a notebook until you are familiar with the different results obtained from different temperatures, on which oven shelf the product was placed and everything that enters into the making of a perfect result.

The next thing to consider is to select the utensils that will be the right size for your use. Often the result is better if the correct utensil has been used. This does not mean that the housewife must have a large supply of every kind of pan or bowl to do good work, but before cooking the beginner should study her needs and if a pan that will hold two quarts is large enough, then a pan that will hold four quarts should not be purchased. Of course the right selection will be easier made if the housewife is a little experienced in buying.

The material of which cooking utensils are made, as well as the correct shape and size is important also. No one material is suitable for all utensils. They are made of various material as wood, tin, glass, aluminum, sheet iron and earthenware. In buying the vessel it is well to have in mind the use that the vessel is to be put, and then select one that is made of the durable material for that purpose. Cleaning is another importance. Vessels that are free from seams, curved edges or rough finish are important too, as the food will collect around the seams and will be hard to clean. Foods that are to cook a long time will be better cooked in a deep vessel with a cover that will fit tightly.

The aluminum vessels are used extensively. The better grade of aluminum is a little more expensive than other wares, but the added service received will justify the purchase. When aluminum is rolled or hammered it becomes extra hard. Some aluminum vessels are very thin and will melt and dent very easily and are therefore only suitable for careful and light handling. The heavier aluminum vessels are more expensive than the lighter ones, on account of the metal required and the process involved in the making, but they are harder and more durable. The cast aluminum is used for very large vessels where a great deal of cooking is done as in large institutions, where the vessels are subject to very hard wear. This is the most expensive kind, for in order to make aluminum hard some harder metal must be mixed with it. Food does not burn so easily in aluminum as other vessels for the heat is more evenly distributed over the metal.

Good enamel cooking vessels are very desirable for some purposes. They are of moderate cost, but are not so durable as the vessels made from other metals. Because of the excessive heat a sharp blow will cause the enamel to chip. They may be bought in the various colors and are easily cleaned. The gray is considered the best for wear.

Utensils made of iron and steel are the less expensive, but those made of iron are heavy to handle. These metals are used in such vessels as frying pans, skillets, griddles, waffle irons, kettles for deep frying, bread pans and cookies bake better in a heavier pan.

Mixing bowls are usually made of earthenware and are very durable. Casseroles and other covered dishes used for baking foods are better in earthenware as it is thought that it gives the foods a better flavor.

Tin is the cheapest material made in cooking vessels but is not good for vessels that must be used with heat as it will melt at too low temperature. But is used for biscuit cutters, cookie cutters and other utensils where heat is not used.

Copper is not so good for the cooking equipment as it is heavy and hard to keep clean. It was used before the other kinds of material was used for cooking vessels, but lighter weight materials have taken its place.

Glass vessels are very much used in making custards and other dishes that one likes to watch while cooking. But great care must be used to prevent breaking.

The woodenware is used in mixing boards, mixing spoons, rolling pins, etc.

A good cleaner should be placed in the kitchen and as soon as a vessel becomes darkened or rough, it should be cleaned and washed and made smooth. In this way the equipment will wear much longer than if it is scraped with some scraper or knife. This will tend to make the surface rough and will cause the foods to stick more quickly.

In furnishing the kitchen one should not overlook the purchase of a standard household scales. Often times a recipe will be better prepared by weight than by measuring. Those with the platform on the top and small scoop will be found to be the most convenient ones to use. Standard measuring cups are another necessity in the kitchen. Measuring spoons are needed to insure the correct measures. To properly measure dry ingredients the cup or spoon should be filled, not packed down, then leveled with a knife or spatula.

Liquid measures should be carefully measured, not to overflow but just to the line desired in the measure.

In the preparation of a recipe it is well to read it all over and place on the table the necessary ingredients before the work is started. Then no delay in the mixing is necessary.

Valentine Cookies

By BARBARA B. BROOKS
Home Economics Department, Kellogg Company, Battle Creek, Michigan

There are certain customs in every family without which holidays would be incomplete.

On St. Valentine's day, the cookies made may be cut from the same cookie dough which is used every week in the year—but the shape of the cookie can be changed and behold a transformation!

Of course hearts are prominent in connection with this celebration. A heart-shaped cutter will put an every day cookie into a special class. A little decoration will make the product even more attractive.

Hermits.

1-2 cup butter.
2-3 cup sugar.
1 egg.
2 tablespoons milk.
1¼ cups flour (or more).
½ cup all-bran.
1 teaspoon baking powder.
1-2 cup raisins.
½ teaspoon cinnamon.
½ teaspoon cloves.
½ teaspoon mace.
½ teaspoon nutmeg.
½ teaspoon salt.

Cream the butter, add the sugar and egg, and beat well. Add the milk and the bran, raisins, and flour, which has been sifted with the baking powder and spices. Chill, roll thin, cut with heart-shaped cutter, and bake in a moderate oven (400 degrees F).

When the cookies are cold, spread thin with an uncooked frosting made by combining confectioner's sugar and hot milk or cream, until the mixture is of the consistency to spread. Add flavoring and a few drops of coloring if desired. Sprinkle the top with chopped nuts meats or bran.

Delicious little tea cakes called Marguerites can be made as follows:

Marguerites.

2 eggs.
1 cup brown sugar.
½ cup flour.
¼ teaspoon baking powder.
1-3 teaspoon salt.
½ cup nut meats, cut in small pieces.
½ cup all-bran.

Beat eggs slightly and add remaining ingredients in the order given. Bake in small, well-buttered, heart-shaped tins.

Choc-o-Bran.

Two eggs.
1-3 cup sugar.
½ cup strained honey.
3 square melted chocolate.
1 cup all-bran.
2 cups flour.
1 teaspoon salt.
2 teaspoons baking powder.
½ teaspoon cinnamon.
1-3 cup melted butter.

Beat eggs slightly and add sugar and honey. Beat thoroughly and add melted chocolate and bran. Add dry ingredients which have been sifted and melted butter. Drop from a teaspoon on to a greased pan and bake in a moderately hot oven (400 degrees F) for 12 minutes. Yield: 2 dozen cookies.

SALADS

Eating salads dates back to the beginning of time, but the rude way of serving them has passed on with other pioneer customs and today we have unlimited means and ways of serving salads that will win the eye and tempt the palate. There are a few principles of nutrition that everyone should bear in mind in selecting ingredients for the salads.

a. The body needs food for three purposes.
1. To build and repair tissue.
2. To supply energy.
3. To regulate the bodily activities.

Keep these three outstanding principles in mind, also not over looking the class the salad you contemplate serving belongs to, as they may be divided into three classes on the menus.

If you wish to make the main dish at lunch a salad use as your foundation cheese, eggs, fish, poultry, meats, peas, beans, or nuts, any of which you find rich in protein, or rice or potatoes which come in for their share of starch.

The next class would be the salad served with the meat course or as an entree which should be made from vegetables strong in vitamines, such as tomatoes, raw cabbage, lettuce, onions, celery, endives and raw carrots.

If they are served with the meat course use only the French dressing; if as an entree a heavy mayonnaise.

The third class is usually the salad served instead of a dessert, the foundation being a combination of fruit, nuts of cheese or a moulded salad and served with a cooked salad dressing or whipped cream.

What changes can be wrought in the world of food by a salad dressing! It calls the salad into being. Because the undressed food is only a kitchen incident not ready for the dining table, it transforms the unwanted into the sought for.

Since so much of the responsibility for the salad falls upon the dressing this should be as good as possible and should be designed to bring out the best points of the food with which it is to be combined.

Salads served with the roast or game (on small chilled plates) are eaten with the fork provided for that course.

A salad fork is supplied for a salad served as a separate course. This is placed when the table is laid according to the position of the salad on the menu or just before the salad is passed. As my demonstration will deal principally with salads and their accompaniments, I shall give you some new and valuable ideas.

From the Files of THE WICHITA DAILY TIMES

February 10, 1908

(Editorial) That Mr. Bryan is an able speaker no one, not even a well posted Republican, will deny. He has made many able addresses, some of them very flowery, but in none has he shown more force than that delivered in Carnegie Hall, New York, on Tuesday night of last week. On this occasion the great Democratic leader chose for his subject "Thou Shalt Not Steal" and for the most part it was a terrific arraignment of gambling, directed particularly at the stock exchange. "Gambling," he said, "is one of the worst vices and gambling in stocks and in farm products is the most destructive form in which the vice appears. Measured by the number of suicides caused by the New York stock exchange, Monte Carlo is an innocent pleasure resort by comparison. Measured by the amount of money exchanging hands, the contrast is still greater in favor of Monte Carlo and measured by the influence upon those who do not gamble, the evils of Monte Carlo are insignificant when compared with the evils of New York's commercial gambling houses. The New York stock exchange has graduated more embezzlers than Fagin's school did thieves."

FEBRUARY
"the Party Month"

PARTIES call for sweets—and sweets call for Imperial Sugar.

Dainty, heart-shaped cookies, glistening with the gem-like grains of Imperial—pecan candies of many varieties—checkerboard cookies, cunningly formed of light and dark cake dough—shaggy, fragrant cocoanut balls—these and a myriad of other sweetmeats give your parties individuality.

When your recipe calls for sugar—be sure it's Imperial. The Imperial-marked bag guides you to pure cane sugar of the highest grade...scrupulously clean, of rare quality, and sparkling as a heap of diamonds.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Chocolate Coating
To coat a white frosting atop a cake with chocolate, melt cooking chocolate and spread quickly while soft. Do not sweeten it.

Smooth Fudge
For smooth, creamy fudge, pour the fudge into an unbuttered platter the minute it is done, let stand until absolutely cold then stir with a knife.

Creamed Tongue
Slices of tongue, baked in thick cream sauce and covered liberally with pimento strips, make a nice luncheon dish.

Stubborn Spots
If your table linen contains spots of chocolate or cocoa that refuse to come out in laundering, try Javelle water on them.

Plants' Baths
If your ferns, Jerusalem cherry trees and other plants look peaked, put them in the bath tub and turn the shower on gently. Plants need baths as much as humans.

Lacquer Red
A dark room was livened appreciably by a small table and a cheap lamp being painted a lacquer red. Orange might do as well.

Colored Curtains
New bath curtains in vivid colors add a charmingly cheerful note to a bleak white bathroom. Towels and bath mat might match.

Colorful Note
Regular flower pots can be made highly decorative to a room by lacquering them in gay Chinese red, orange or yellow.

Cabbage Nests
The last turkey or chicken scraps can be used to advantage by mixing with rice and gravy, rolling in individual cabbage leaves and boiling until cabbage is done.

Meat Left-Overs
Bits of two or three kinds of left-over meats should be put through chopper and used, layer for layer, with baked macaroni and tomato sauce.

Variety Cakes
Cup cakes, made in quantity, can be varied by splitting the dough into three parts. Bake one plain, add spice and raisins to another and cocoa to the third.

Shiny Mirrors
You can get an unusual polish on mirrors if you use a soft cloth dampened in cold tea.

Shoe Bags
The ends of a worn scarf may be made into individual silk bags to keep party slippers in. Such bags are useful in traveling, too.

Silhouette Shades
Nothing pleases children more than pictures of themselves. Trace their silhouettes on a plain lamp shade to make a cute shade that they will love.

Mixed Paint
The best way to mix up paint that comes canned, is to turn the can upside down for a few days before using. It mixes itself perfectly.

Soft Plaster
Mix vinegar with plaster of paris, instead of water, and you have a consistency that will remain like putty for fully half an hour.

Squeaking Rockers
Rub squeaking rockers with sandpaper and then polish with a bit of wax. The chair will then move more easily over the carpet and leave no mark.

Tipping Chairs
If your favorite rocker has a way of tipping over backwards, fit a small rubber pad on the end of both rockers.

Shoulder Straps
It is a good plan to buy two pairs of shoulder straps to every slip or chemise made. The new pair should be put on before the first ones fail to pieces.

Patch-Work Cushions
Use your odds and ends of silk by making one of the modish patch-work cushions for the davenport or boudoir.

Umbrella Rust
Rub the ribs and all the hinged portions of the frame of a new umbrella with vaseline and it will never rust.

Clean Enamel
Save the water in which onions have been boiled for washing the enamel in your kitchen or bathroom. No soap will be needed.

Match Marks
If your family scratches matches on woodwork, rub the spot with lemon before washing with water and soap.

Fragrant Ink
Add a few drops of lavender to your ink and you will be rewarded by a delicate fragrance every time you open your desk.

Valuable Rinds
Keep lemon rinds on the sink. Rub them over spots on aluminum, clean your hands with them and remove the yellow sink stains.

Failure-Proof
When making mayonnaise, add one tablespoon of bubbling, boiling water after you have thoroughly mixed some oil with the egg yokes.

Sagging Seats
When cane seats first begin to sag, rub them until thoroughly soaked with hot soap suds. Turn chair upside down and dry in the sun.

Wood Scratches
If your mahogany furniture gets scratched, paint with iodine until the proper shade is reached, let dry and polish until glossy.

Bright Aluminum
Discolored aluminum can often be restored to brightness by rubbing with a cloth wrung out of lemon juice. Use no water.

Soft Butter
When making canapes or sandwiches, soften the butter by putting a few drops of boiling water into it and working until soft.

Fluffy Icing
If you will dust the top of your cake with cornstarch before putting on the fluffy icing, it will not run.

Grapefruit Salad
A variation of the usual grapefruit salad may be achieved by using watercress, sliced grapefruit and French dressing with Roquefort cheese.

Pimento Garnish
Poached eggs, served on round pieces of toast, can be made very attractive by garnishing with strips of pimento.

Vegetable Dish
Spinach, surrounded by sliced buttered beets and topped by slices of hard boiled eggs, makes an attractive luncheon dish.

Work Budget
New Year is the time to start budgeting your time for house work. A good plan is to account for every minute of the morning and work towards leisure after lunch.

Hot Chocolate
Hot chocolate, flavored with cinnamon and strips of toast browned with a layer of cheese, make a change for five o'clock tea refreshments.

Time Saver
If you are entertaining weekend guests, it is possible to mix Sunday morning's muffins Saturday. Keep ice-cold until baking time.

SEND $175,000 FROM WICHITA TO ROAD FUND

Approximately $175,000 in automobile registration fees collected in Wichita county since January 1 has been forwarded to the state highway department, according to an announcement Friday by Guy C. Raley, tax collector.

The sum has been sent in three installments, Mr. Raley said, the last of which was forwarded Friday. Other installments will be sent later, and the final total will be nearly $500,000, the tax collector asserted.

The county department, he continued, is more than a month ahead of last year in its work. The tabulation has shown that collections at both the Electra and Burkburnett substations exceeded $50,000, and those at Iowa Park were more than $20,000. The tax payments at Iowa Park were received for Mr. Raley at the First State and the First National banks there.

There is a little difference in the way the girls look at things now. Maybe the girls now have got the right idea and their mas were all wrong. I don't know. But anyway, it's different.

I heard about a nice old lady that cried over her daughter at the wedding and everything, just like she'd been cried over herself. Then when the wedding supper was all set up and everything, the ma went to daughter and says, "Now before you start on your trip, if I was you I'd take that wedding dress and lay it away in a box with lavender, I done that with the goods it's made of, you know, after my wedding, and it'd be nice if you'd save it for your daughter's wedding, too."

"Daughter, your foot!" says daughter. "I'll put it away all right, but I want to save it for my own weddings! When I get through with it, daughter can have it if there's anything left. Why, Ma, we girls get a lot more good out of things than you-all used to, when you only used things once and then laid 'em away."

CURB MARKET QUOTATIONS

Sales of stocks, 300,100 shares.
Sales of bonds, $3,707,000.

NEW YORK, Feb. 10. (AP)—Bullish activities continued with a good deal of vigor during the early trading on the curb exchange today but it was not long before the market narrowed down and became of a waiting character. In the intervals of strength, Deere & Co., was the strongest feature, being taken by Western interests and advancing 18 points to 225.

Aluminum issues were irregular, Aluminum of America advanced over 2 points while Bohn declined over 2 points. Chain stores were again active and strong before noon, Sanitary Grocery making an advance of 4 points, and pronounced strength was shown in packing stocks, Swift & Co., moving up 2 points and Swift International rising a point. Safety Car and Light made a gain of 2 points. Lehigh Coal and Navigation, which had been under pressure for some time, had a rally of over 5 points.

Newmont which dropped 3 points at the start, recovered most of its loss. Ford Motor of Canada had a drop of 5 points to 525. Cuneo Press yielded over 8 points in the early trading but recovered about half its loss later. Bancitaly dropped over 3 points followed by a rally of 3 points.

Utilities were actively traded for a time, but were irregular in their movements. Electric Bond and Share and American Gas and Electric each dropped a point while American Light and Traction rose a point. Commonwealth Edison, after advancing 3 points yielded 6 points.

Oil stocks showed a wavering tone. Vacuum yielded more than a point and Continental, which was weak recently, rallied over a point. Standard Oil of Indiana was at a higher level but trading in that issue was extremely small.

ILLINOIS TO VOTE ON SENATE ACTION REJECTING SMITH

SPECIAL ELECTION CALLED BY GOVERNOR SMALL TO DECIDE ISSUE

SMITH RESIGNS POST TO ENTER FOR REELECTION

But Small Reappoints Former Senator-Elect to Serve Pending Election.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Feb. 10. (AP)—Frank L. Smith of Dwight, Ill., was United States senator-designate today, a title under which he expects to be admitted to the senate chambers from which he was recently barred.

The former chairman of the Illinois Commerce Commission handed his resignation as United States senator-elect to Gov. Len Small last night, and immediately was appointed by the governor to fill the vacancy. At the same time Governor Small called a special primary and a special general election to allow voters of Illinois to elect Smith again, if they choose to do.

Both special elections will be held on the same day as the regular primary in April and the general election in November.

The senate refused to seat the former Illinois official because of his acceptance of campaign funds from Samuel Insull, public utility magnate, and others.

Mr. Smith issued a lengthy statement when he resigned. In part it said:

"When a majority of the senate pretended to veto the choice of the people, in electing a senator, that majority also pretended to declare a vacancy in the representation of Illinois in the senate. It is the considered opinion of the chief law officer of Illinois, the attorney general, that the attempt to declare such vacancy was an usurpation of power which the senate does not possess, and was therefore void.

"It is also the opinion of the chief executive, the governor of Illinois, that no vacancy exists in the representation of Illinois which he can fill in any legal way.

"In fairness, therefore, to the people who have honored me, I have determined to create such a vacancy by what I am advised is the only legal way it can be done for six years, without the intervention of providence, which is to resign my commission as senator.

"By doing this, however, I have no intention of abandoning the cause of the people of this state—and of every state—in their effort to uphold the rights they reserved to themselves when they consented to the creation of the senate and the delegation to it of certain prescribed powers. The only practical and possible way in which this can be done is for me to become a candidate for renomination and reelection to the senate, and to accept appointment by the governor until the next general election. This will make the issue clean cut, and will give the people of Illinois the opportunity to say whether they do or do not concur in the usurpation of their ancient rights and privileges by a majority of the senate."

SMITH EXPECTS TO LET VOTERS DECIDE ISSUE

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10. (AP)—Friends here of Frank L. Smith believe he will not present to the senate his new credentials as Republican senator-designate of Illinois. They believe he will prefer to retain his present status and leave to settlement by the voters in the April and November elections the issue of his rejection by the senate.

Opponents of Smith, those who led the fight that barred him from membership and declared his seat vacant, were likewise certain that he would again be denied entrance if he should try to gain his seat.

Smith's re-election would present the issue in a new light. It then would be a contest between the senate and the voters of Illinois. Such contests have arisen before, and the record shows that in the long run the voters are victorious. That was the decision in the most recent case, involving Victor L. Berger, Wisconsin Socialist representative, who was twice denied a house seat after the world war, but was finally accepted after his district had re-elected him by a large majority.

The senate already had denied Smith the oath of office as senator-designate, voting 48 to 33 against him when he appeared with credentials given him by Governor Small after his election in 1926 as appointee to fill out the term of the late Senator McKinley. When the present session began Smith again sought his seat, but was denied the oath, 50 to 32, and when he declined to submit himself to the jurisdiction of the Reed slush fund committee for hearing, the senate declared his seat vacant by a 61 to 23 vote.

PETITION SEEKS REMOVAL NAVARRO COUNTY ATTORNEY

CORSICANA, Texas, Feb. 10. (AP)—Quo warranto proceedings, seeking to have L. J. Woods removed from the office of county attorney of Navarro county were filed in the 13th district court today. The petition, which is lengthy, was signed by T. H. Denton, foreman of the January term grand jury, the 11 other members of the grand jury and Attorney General Pollard. It asks that Woods be suspended from office temporarily and upon the hearing that the office be declared vacant.

Return day was fixed as February 20.

The petition was filed after an order by Judge Hawkins Scarborough permitting such action.

Woods was indicted on several charges by the grand jury recently, after an investigation of his office. He answered the charges by declaring he was not guilty of any of them and announced himself a candidate for re-election.

COTTON CONTINUES STEADY AS TRADE DEMAND INCREASES

NEW YORK, Feb. 10. (AP)—The cotton market showed continued steadiness today on moderate trade demand and covering promoted by the reported absence of selling pressure in the South and failure of weather reports to show any general or adequate rains in West Texas. Prices made new high ground for the movement, May and July contracts selling above 18 cents or about a cent above the recent low level. The midafternoon market was 17 to 19 points net higher.

The market opened easy at a decline of 6 to 11 points under realizing or liquidation by recent buyers who were influenced by relatively easy Liverpool cables. May sold off to 17.75 a net decline of 12 points, but there was some buying on the failure of early weather reports to show adequate rains in West Texas, and prices rallied on covering to about yesterday's closing figures before the end of the first hour.

General business was quiet with the market correspondingly sensitive to small orders either way. The official forecast was for further showers in the southern part of West Texas, but good rains are said to be needed in the whole western section.

Private cables reported hedging and liquidation in Liverpool and that business in cotton cloths with India was poor but there was a fair demand from China and the continent.

Business became more active and the tone increased in firmness late in the morning on trade buying and covering prompted by the approach of the holiday. Prices made new high ground for the present movement with May selling up to the 18-cent level and October to 17.79, or about 10 to 13 points net higher on the active positions. These prices brought in sufficient realizing to check the advance, but offerings were light. The market was quiet at midday with prices showing reactions of 5 to 8 points from the best.

New Orleans Cotton

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 10. (AP)—The cotton market was moderately firm today due to covering and some trade buying induced by continued dry weather in the Western belt and prospects of lower temperatures as well as many reports of the rapid spread of the pink boll worm in Western Texas. Following an early decline of 8 to 9 points the market steadied and was on the upgrade for the remainder of the session. At midafternoon March traded at 17.68, May 17.72 and July 17.77, or 31 to 33 points over the lows and 21 to 24 points above the previous close.

Exports today 15,316 bales and for the week 129,932 bales.

Seriousness of the pink boll worm infestation in Texas and continued drought in the West were responsible for a recovery of 11 to 12 points from an early decline.

The market opened easy in sympathy with lower Liverpool cables and first trades showed losses of 4 to 5 points. Prices continued to ease for a time after the start until March traded at 17.35, May 17.41 and July 17.46, or 8 to 9 points under yesterday's close. The subsequent rally carried March to 17.46, May 17.53 and July 17.58. At the end of the first half hour the market was quiet with traders showing some hesitation about entering upon new commitments in advance of the textile consumption report.

The market gradually improved during the morning on the spread of the pink boll worm and continued dry weather in the west. March advanced to 17.60, May 17.66 and July 17.70, or 24 to 25 points up from the early lows and 15 to 17 points above the previous close.

Near noon prices eased off 4 to 6 points from the top on news of a proposed senate investigation into the huge size of brokers' loans.

Cotton futures closed steady at a net advance of 27 to 31 points.

Market Review

R. O. Harvey and company, rooms 630-37 Harvey-Snider Bldg., received the following Friday on cotton and grain from their New York and Chicago correspondents:

Cotton

NEW YORK, Feb. 10.—The market is meeting more long liquidation on realizing profits at the 18 cent level for May which, with scattered selling on the bearish spinners takings, has checked the advance. However, there is no real pressure apparent and offerings are readily absorbed. The mill situation is still one of uncertainty. Should these conditions change distinctly for the better, the market would show improvement.—E. A. Pierce & Co.

Grain

CHICAGO, Ill., Feb. 10.—Wheat market was unsettled with prices averaging lower with the March maintaining its premium over the May the greater part of the day with some buying by cash houses against sales of the more deferred future. Milling demand for cash wheat was inactive. Basis of spring wheat was half higher and on winter firm. Liverpool closed ¾ to 1¼c higher with short covering a factor. Argentine exports for the week were above expectations at 9,158,000 bushels. Weather conditions over the belt were generally favorable. Buying against bids checked the decline. Buenos Aires was ½ to ¾c higher at mid-day.

Corn market acted rather tired and prices averaged lower on scattered profit taking while buying against bids was a factor in checking the decline. Export demand at the seaboard was limited, and new Argentine corn was reported offered abroad for April-May shipment at about 20 cents per bushel under American. Basis at the gulf easier. Local spot basis was little changed. Country offerings and consignments small. The trade had expected a larger gain in Argentine acreage which was officially estimated at only 10,000 acres in excess of last year. Buenos Aires was half to ⅝ higher at noon.

Oats dull and somewhat easier with corn.

Rye declined with wheat. Export sales were estimated at 200,000 bushels in all positions.—E. A. Pierce & Co.

CONSTABLE TESTIFIES IN HIS OWN BEHALF IN DALLAS MURDER TRIAL

DALLAS, Feb. 10. (AP)—Following a dozen character witnesses, many of whom had known him since his childhood, L. W. Thrash, constable of Blooming Grove, Texas, testified in his own defense here today at his trial on a charge of assault to murder Ben Tobolowsky, Dallas merchant, last November 29.

Constable Thrash charged, in his testimony, that Tobolowsky first attacked him as he was attempting to find out where he could locate a man to whom he had sold some turkeys. The man he was seeking had not paid him for the fowls, Thrash said.

Joint G. A. R.-U. C. V. Convention Urged

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10. (AP)—A joint reunion of the union and confederate veterans would illustrate that the bitterness of the civil war had been ended, Representative Howard, Democrat, Nebraska, told a house judiciary committee today in advocating his bill proposing such a gathering this year in Washington.

Livestock Market

FORT WORTH, Feb. 10. (AP)—A light supply of cattle with a fair demand at fully steady values prevailed on the livestock market Friday.

The steer top was $12.50 for a load of cattle from a nearby feed lot. Another load cleared at $11.25. Bulk of the light steers sold in the $8.00 level. Trading steady.

Bulls cleared on the same level that has prevailed throughout the week. Thin bologna bulls $5.50 to $6.00; heavier ones $6.00 to $6.50. The more desirable ones sold in the $7.00 range. The supply was light.

Cows were limited to mostly mixed lots with demand absorbing and receipts readily at steady figures. Canner $4.50 to $5.00; cutters $5.00 to $5.50; butchers $5.50 to $6.50; stock kind in the $7.00 range.

A light offering of yearlings cleared at steady figures. The top $12.25; others around $12.00. Those that came as part of mixed loads and rather common sold from $6.00 to $8.00.

COMMERCIAL BULLETIN WOOL MARKET REPORT

BOSTON, Feb. 10. (AP)—The Commercial Bulletin tomorrow will say:

"Several large sales of fine and fine medium wools of the new Mexican and Colorado types have accounted for a very decent volume of business in the wool market of week. Medium wools are getting in very limited supply. Prices are against the buyer in all the marets of the world by par to 5 per cent for the week.

"All foreign primary markets are against the buyer in all the markets of the with keen competition from all quarters and good clearances effected. In the domestic primary markets a strong tone prevails and it is estimated that close to 100,000,000 pounds of range wools have been contracted.

"The manufacturing position appears somewhat improved. Spinners and combers report a freer market and the possibility of securing more money for their products.

"Mohair is quiet with supplies light and prices firm.

"The rail and water shipments of wool from Boston from January 1, 1928, to February 9, 1928, inclusive, were 22,981,000 pounds against 21,703,000 pounds for the same period last year. The receipts from January 1, 1928, to February 9, 1928 inclusive, were 24,193,400 pounds against 20,151,000 pounds for the same period last year."

The Commercial Bulletin will publish the following wool quotations tomorrow:

Domestic scoured basis, Texas fine 12 months (selected) $1.15 to 1.18; fine 8 months $1.08 to 1.12.

Mohairs: Good original bag Texas spring 61-62; Texas kid 81-83.

CORN PRICE FALLS ON EASIER EXPORT REPORT FROM GULF

CHICAGO, Feb. 10. (AP)—Corn prices took a downward swing today, influenced to some degree by an easier export basis at the Gulf of Mexico. Moreover, corn export demand today at the Atlantic seaboard was of only small proportions. Wheat values were also inclined to sag owing to a halt in domestic milling demand as well as on account of Argentine wheat shipments of greater volume than had been looked for.

Activity and lower prices went together early in the corn market today with favorable weather giving an advantage to sellers. Wheat held steady, offerings here being readily absorbed and Liverpool laying stress on smallness of shipments from Australia. Opening ¼ to ⅝c off, corn rallied a little, but then dropped lower than before. Wheat started unchanged to ⅛c decline and kept near to the initial figures. Oats were easy. Provisions likewise tended to sag.

Besides corn belt weather conditions likely to facilitate the movement of the corn crop, friends of higher prices for corn had to contend today with selling pressure from leading operators here who were taking profits.

A check up today on prices at which new Argentine corn is offered showed that Buenos Aires May delivery was 22 cents under February and that no reason was apparent why April shipments of new crop Argentine corn should not sell in Europe 10c to 20c under present levels of United States corn. The existing price difference at Liverpool on April-May Argentine offers was reported today as approximately 20 cents a bushel under corn from the United States.

New York Bond Market

NEW YORK, Feb. 10. (AP)—Bond prices showed a firmer trend today, but the volume of transactions was again of average proportions. The advance yesterday in the Kansas City federal reserve rediscount rate was regarded as merely another item bearing out expectations that all the regional banks will have established the 4 per cent rate before many weeks have passed.

Demand for railroad liens was somewhat larger, Northern Pacific 6s and 3s and Denver & Rio Grande Western 5s receiving the most attention. Interborough Rapid Transit 5s were offered in rather large amounts but Brooklyn Manhattan Transit 6s continued to have good support.

Rather large buying developed in some of the Italian municipal issues Milan 6½s and Rome 5½s. The foreign group as a whole followed a firm trend, with moderate selling of Tokio Electric Light 6s, possible in reflection of the offering yesterday of the new Nippon Electric Power company issue.

Prompt oversubscription was reported of the $20,000,000 Standard Oil of New York 4½s, offered this morning.

Sugar and Coffee

NEW YORK, Feb. 10. (AP)—The raw sugar market was steady and unchanged early today. Operators continued to absorb the offerings of Cubas at the 4.27 level and purchased some 40,000 bags for February shipment at that level. Duty free sugars were available at 1-32 less or 4.25, but found no buying interest.

Raw sugar futures were steadier on covering and increased outside demand promoted by steadiness of the spot market. First prices were unchanged to 2 points higher on covering of March, which was said to be for European account against sales in the London market. Houses with trade and Cuban connections supplied the demand. Fluctuations during the rest of the forenoon were narrow, with prices at midday about unchanged from initial figures.

A prominent local statistical bureau estimated the world's production for 1927-28 at 25,786,000 tons and world's consumption at 25,697,000 tons. Last year's figures were 24,567,000 and 24,676,000 tons, respectively.

The refined market was unchanged at 5.70 for fine granulated. A fair inquiry was reported from nearby territory, with beet sugars said to be offered in outlying districts at below cane prices.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 10. (AP)—Spot coffee, unchanged.

Grain Pit Notes

CHICAGO, Feb. 10. (AP)—Corn bulls were confident of their position and while the upturn of 4½ cents from the low of May was regarded as having weakened the technical position to some extent they continued to favor the buying side of all recessions.

Field work in the corn fields of the Southwest is getting under way and the movement in that section is expected to decrease materially in the immediate future.

DOWNWARD TREND PRICE MOVEMENTS IN STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, Feb. 10. (AP)—Price movements in today's stock market were rather indecisive, but the general trend appeared to be downward. Speculative uneasiness over the establishment of a new high record in the volume of brokers' loans appeared to be the chief selling influence, although weekend profit-taking also was a factor. Trading showed a marked falling off in volume.

The increase of 303,073 tons in the January unfilled orders of the United States Steel corporation, bringing the total to 4,275,947 tons, the largest since March, 1926, was about in line with Wall street's expectations. Steel common failed to make much response to the announcement, although it was well supported around the 145 level.

Rubbers and oils were under heavy selling pressure as a result of unfavorable trade news. Houston, General Asphalt, common and preferred, U. S. Rubber first preferred and Goodrich all sold down 3 to nearly 5 points. Dupont and American Railway Express broke 5 points each. Coal and coal-carrying railroad shares also showed a tendency to weakness, presumably in reflection of the unseasonably warm winter.

Bullish operations continued, however, in a few stocks. American Smelting was run up more than 3 points to 180⅝, and Vick Chemical climbed nearly 4 points to a new top at 68.

Prices moved irregularly lower at opening of the market. Initial losses of a point or more were recorded by Greene Cananea Copper, Atlantic Refining and U. S. Steel common. General Motors, American Smelting and other leaders of yesterday declined fractionally. General Electric opened 1¼ points higher.

Selling pressure undoubtedly developed as a result of the unexpected increase of nearly $20,000,000 in brokers' loans, bringing the total to a new high record. This gain was attributed largely to the tremendous volume of new financing in the last fortnight, bond issues alone running close to $400,000,000 in that period. Some disappointment also may have been occasioned by the declaration of only the regular dividend on General Motors common although such action was in line with general expectations in banking quarters. Early selling was directed chiefly against the steels, oils and coppers and some of the specialties which have been prominent in the recent upswing. American Zinc preferred quickly sold off 2 points and among the many issues to yield a point or more were Crucible and Vanadium Steels, Montgomery Ward, consolidated Gas, International Paper and Frank G. Shattuck. A few issues moved against the current trend, notably New York Air Brake which was bid up to a new peak and Tobacco Products, which responded to the announcement that the company was to be dissolved.

Foreign exchanges opened steady, sterling cables ruling around $4.87 and French francs around 3.92½ cents.

Early recessions in the coppers seemingly attracted new buying, which pushed Kennecott across 87 to a new record and benefitted American Smelting and American Zinc preferred to the extent of 3 points or more. Absorption also appeared for some of the food, farm implement, tobacco, electrical and drug issues. Despite the impressive showing which many of these shares made and a reduction in the renewal rate for call loans to 4½ per cent, the market was studded with distinctly weak spots among the rubber, oil, railroad equipment and railroad groups.

The closing was steady. Speculative confidence on the long side was restored in some degree when several shares which had been sold freely reversed their trend. Montgomery Ward, Vanadium Steel and International Nickel were prominent in the late rally, while Porto Rico Tobacco issues, Pittsburgh coal, Philadelphia & Reading Coal and Iron and Union Pacific were bought at rising prices. Total sales approximated 2,100,000 shares.

A False Alarm

CLEVELAND.—"A fireman may do many things besides putting out conflagrations, but he is no pinch-hitter for Mr. Stork." So saying Captain J. E. Reynolds filed complaint against Jack Holt of this city, charging that when his company answered an alarm they found the defendant inflamed but no fire. Holt told the judge that he had put in the alarm when attempts to get a doctor or midwife were unsuccessful. Investigation showed that Holt's wife was not in urgent need of medical attention. "Twenty dollars and costs—next case."

Dog Costs $1001

VERSAILLES, Ind.—It cost Moses Curran $1001 for shooting a coon dog belonging to George Schweir. For personal damages inflicted on Schweir, in a fight after the dog was shot, Curran must pay $1. Costs amounted to $1000 also were levied on Curran.

Ticklers from Ticker

NEW YORK, Feb. 10. (AP)—New business in the lumber industry last week gained largely over a year ago, and orders, shipments and production were much larger than the preceding week, reports from 414 of the chief mills of the country to the National Lumber Manufacturers' Association indicate. The softwood industry shows current orders more than 20 per cent larger than a year ago, somewhat more than a week earlier, as well as shipments and production. Hardwood operations gained over the previous week. Unfilled orders of 215 southern pine and west coast mills were 609,526,045 feet, against 613,153,256 feet for 218 mills the week before.

Independent sheet steel makers have opened books for second quarter at unchanged quotations from the first quarter. Western steel wire mills are at 70 per cent of capacity. Pittsburgh steel grip mills are operating at 70 to 80 per cent against 60 to 65 per cent a month ago.

Paramount-Famous - Lasky corporation has paid off the last of its bank loans, which were $15,985,582 on July 2, 1927. The company is now out of the banks for the first time since its expansion program began three years ago.

Big construction operations that reached the proposed stage in the United States the last week, totaled $124,450,000 against $75,650,000 the week before and $110,900,000 a year ago. Public work led with $41,400,000 and apartment houses and hotels next with $20,800,000. For the first time this year large-scale railroad construction work figured in the projects announced, McGraw-Hill Construction Daily reports.

Argentina had a favorable trade balance of 152,000,000 gold pesos in 1927, in contrast to an unfavorable trade balance of 30,000,000 gold pesos in 1926, the Argentine-American Chamber of Commerce reports. Imports of gold were 67,000,000 pesos against 2,000,000 the year before.

Net profit of Sharon Steel Hoop company for 1927 fell to $555,518 from $1,381,735 in 1926. This is equal after preferred dividends to $1.63 a share on the common against $4.54 a share in 1926.

Offering of $2,500,000 Neisner Bros. 7 per cent preferred stock has been oversubscribed.

Net loss of $953,640 for 1927 is reported by Pittsburgh Terminal Coal corporation and subsidiaries, against net income of $382,266 in 1926, equal to $1.22 a share on the common, after preferred dividends.

Tangle of Nationalities Clouds Big Bill Thompson's War Upon All and Diverse Things British

CHICAGO, Feb. 10. (AP)—Reverberations of the question whether Kosciuszko was a Pole or a Lithuanian echoed through the city hall today as the trial of William McAndrew, former superintendent of schools, reconvened for a second session this week to hear further testimony on insubordination charges.

In a pamphlet recently issued by the school board, Kosciuszko was referred to as a Lithuanian. Polish-American organizations in the city protested and suggested the pamphlets be burned as pro-British.

And now, delegates representing more than 1000 Lithuanian societies and churches of the city, have presented a petition to Mayor Thompson, asking that the board of education be restrained from referring to the revolutionary hero as a Pole.

Letters of Kosciuszko and writings of authorities on history were cited by the petitioners.

At the same time, Parker H. Sercombe, of Chicago, protested to J. Lewis Coath, president of the school board against the Spanish taught in the schools. He said that the Castilian pronunciation taught is "obsolete, stilted and snobbish."

Indications were that the presentation of evidence against McAndrew would be completed by February 21. His term of office automatically expired early in January.

ARREST MAN AT BURK ON CHECK FORGING COUNT

ALLEGE FIVE STORES ARE VICTIMIZED FOR TOTAL OF $175

SUSPECT BLAMES DICE GAME FOR VIOLATION

Printing Press, Protector and Many Blank Checks Found In Accused's Car.

The arrest of a man Thursday afternoon after he is alleged to have cashed five forged cashier's checks in Burkburnett was followed, according to information to the district attorney's department, by the discovery in his car of several thousand blank checks issued from more than a score of banks in at least a dozen cities, a small metal printing outfit and a check protector. The checks cashed, it is alleged, were for amounts totaling $175.

The man, said by Sam B. Spence, assistant district attorney, to have signed a confession, was to be taken Friday afternoon before the grand jury in session here. The filing of complaints was deferred, due to the fact that direct indictments will be asked, Mr. Spence said.

The wife of the suspect and their four-year-old daughter were said by officers to be in the automobile from which the checks and equipment were taken. The wife was not arrested, but was questioned Friday. She declared she knew nothing of her husband's alleged operations.

In his written confession to Mr. Spence, the man declared that he had printed the words, "cashier's check" upon ordinary checks obtained from a bank in Fort Worth. Those cashed in Burkburnett, he said, were the first he has passed, although the confession related that he began there to attempt to carry out plans he had spent several days in arranging.

"We have just traveled about the country for several months," he told Mr. Spence. "Fearing that I might go broke somewhere, I bought a check protector and a printing outfit, and began gathering up blank checks in towns through which we passed."

While in Fort Worth a few days ago, he said, he got a pad of blank checks, printed the words, "cashier's check" upon several of them and then filled them out for amounts ranging from $28 to $48. He reached Burkburnett Thursday, he related.

"I got into a crap game and lost what money I had," his confession recounted. "I cashed two of the checks, lost that sum in the crap game, and then cashed three more before officers arrested me."

The checks were cashed at grocery stores from which he made small purchases, it is alleged.

Christmas day has been called the "day of new clothes," from an old French custom of giving court attaches new cloaks on that day.

JURY FREES COAST GUARD OFFICER AS RUM LAW VIOLATOR

BOSTON, Feb. 10. (AP)—Sidney F. Nichols, former coast guard officer was acquitted today by a federal jury before which he was tried on charges of liquor conspiracy and smuggling. The jury was unable to agree in the cases of Carl G. Halwartz, former executive of the coast guard and John B. Magnus, Boston garage owner.

The government had charged that Magnus owned schooners which operated to rum row off Cape Cod and that he had been able to keep in touch with coast guard vessels through a stolen copy of the secret code of the guard and a private radio station by means of which he advised his fleet of the movements of the government vessels.

It was further charged that Halwartz, Nichols and other members of the coast guard were in conspiracy to protect the smugglers.

The government announced that Mangus and Halwartz would be retired at once.

SORE THROAT KEEPS MRS. COOLIDGE ABED

WASHINGTON, Feb. 10. (AP)—The slight cold which last night kept Mrs. Coolidge from the president's dinner for Speaker and Mrs. Longworth, was yielding to treatment today, but she was still confined to her room. There were still evidences of the cold and a slight irritation of the throat, but White House physicians declared that the complaint was not serious.

HUMBLE ARGUES RIGHT TO BUILD GULF PIPELINE

AUSTIN, Feb. 10. (AP)—The Humble Pipe Line company went before the third court of civil appeals Friday and urged its claims of right as a common carrier to extend its McCamey oil field pipe line from Ingleside in Corpus Christi port to a deep water landing point in the Gulf of Mexico.

The company is appealing from the recent district court injunction stopping work on the $2,000,000 project. The state's suit alleges trespass on state-owned land, the bay bottom. An emergency is claimed by the state on the grounds that the pipe line allegedly would force Humble competitors to copy the project to the detriment of Texas ports appealing on the basis of oil tonnage to congress for harbor facilities. This claim is not in the record of the suit, however. The deep water pipe line is designed to load ships too large to make the port.

Frank Andrews, Humble counsel, renewed his argument that state-owned lands are available for dams and irrigation projects and that the right of a common carrier to cross a state bay hence should not be controverted.

Attorney General Claude Pollard and assistants, Paul Page and C. W. Trueheart, presented the state's case. They hold that under the law giving the state game, fish and oyster department control of bays and streams, the company cannot build a pipe line without a permit grant from the legislature.

EAST CENTRAL TEXAS PRODUCTION JANUARY SHOWS GREAT DECLINE

CORSICANA, Texas, Feb. 10. (AP) Showing more than twice the usual decline in January from the preceding month, oil production of the East Central Texas area amounted to 746,000 barrels of pipe line oil, according to figures announced today.

The daily average for January was 24,093 barrels. Producing fields in the report, with total production for January, include: Powell, 372,000; Mexia, 279,000; Wortham, 62,300; Richland 16,300; Curry, 16,200.

COSDEN TO MAKE FORT WORTH HEADQUARTERS FOR RENEWED ACTIVITY

NEW YORK, Feb. 10. (AP)—J. S. Cosden, who has resumed activities in oil with the incorporation of Cosden & Co., Inc., under laws of Delaware, will make his headquarters at Fort Worth, Texas, and plans to go there immediately to investigate properties in the Mid-Continent field which have been under consideration, he announced today.

"After an unusually long period of low oil prices, I find that properties are available for purchase on a basis that should show a good profit even at current crude prices" Mr. Cosden said, "while any advance in future would result in increased earnings. Under these conditions, I believe that with careful and prudent management, a sound company can be built up on a conservative basis, with possibilities for large development."

Mr. Cosden said he had been considering formation of a new company for some time, to acquire and develop producing properties and had concluded present conditions offered particularly attractive possibilities, with opportunities which have not existed for years.

Mental Wizard Features Week's Vaudeville Bill

Harry Kahne, mental wizard, met with the approval of a crowded Majestic audience Thursday with his demonstration of how to do six things with the brain at the same time.

Hanging upside down by the heels, Harry recites any poem requested by the audience at the same time he writes three long words—one upside down, one backwards and one upside down backwards.

In another test he copies a sentence upside down from a newspaper, writes down five figures which when added together total a certain sum, already named, which runs over the 1,000,000,000 mark, names the capital and population of any state called out and answers questions all at the same time.

W. H. Groh and his piano hounds won a big hand. Groh does the perfect balance—with only an ordinary walking cane in one hand he balances his body upside down on that cane on top of a baby grand piano. He does many other unusual balancing stunts and has a troupe of trained "piano hounds" who play football with balloons.

The little Scotch terriers are well trained and their antics kept the crowd in an uproar of laughter.

Gus Bartram and Vertner Saxton, the Kentuckians, received three encores with their cycle of songs. Both of the Kentucky cardinals exhibit a novel yodeling ability. One of them yodels a tune to show how a little boy feels after eating too many green apples.

Joe Weston and Collette Lyons are good in their comedy interpretations. Collette is especially clever with her imitation of Jean Lucas.

The Musical Conservatory featuring a blackface orchestra is fair enough. The little dancer steps some mighty passionate numbers and displays variety of costumes.

On the screen Esther Ralston in "Love and Learn" is worthy of especial mention. The tribulations of a young judge who is naturally a good fellow but has to look dignified as election time nears provides gales of laughter. His campaign manager thinks every pretty girl is a snare to ruin the judge, framed by the opposition.
