Twenty-Six Dead And 700 Wounded As Indian Riots Terrorize Three Cities

Home Town Talk

By B. D. D.

Our congratulations to Wilbarger county on its census showing. In its increase in population and its increase in the number of its farms Wilbarger county has made a larger gain than any other county in this section. The 1930 census gives Wilbarger county a population of 24,544, a gain of 9,432 over the 1920, but as fine a showing as the county made in population gain it made a still more remarkable showing in the increase of its number of farms. The 1930 census shows the county of having 2,140 farms, compared with 1,349 in 1920.

Wichita county with fewer farms made a larger percentage of gain in the number of farms, but this may be accounted for in the development of many small farms suburban to Wichita Falls and in the irrigated district. It may be assumed that more of Wilbarger county's gain was in farms of larger size.

Dallas, Fort Worth and others of the larger cities are planning to send large delegations to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention at Abilene this week. We hope Wichita Falls, too, will send a good sized delegation. W. B. Hamilton, president of the organization, who has been ill for some weeks, is conserving his strength so that he may attend the convention. Mr. Hamilton has given freely of his time and money and ability to place the West Texas Chamber of Commerce upon a more conservative and sound basis than it has been heretofore. He has had the sympathy and support of leading citizens of Wichita Falls in his efforts.

Wichita Falls ought and does feel a particular interest in the success of that organization and one way to show it is to attend the convention.

Special Pullman cars will be operated over the Wichita Valley out of Wichita Falls Wednesday night to Abilene to carry the Wichita Falls delegation. The cars will be open for occupancy at 9:30 p. m. Wednesday and the train will arrive in Abilene at 8:10 a. m. Thursday. Those making the trip can return Thursday night or later as they may desire. The round trip railroad fare will be $8.20 and the Pullman fare will be $3.75 each way, making a total of $15.70.

An age when education will not be confined only to childhood but will be a life-long process is envisioned by Alvin Johnson, noted educator and director of the new school for social research, New York, in an article in the current issue of The Parents' Magazine in which he points out that the present gulf between the older and younger generation is largely the result of the failure of the former to keep abreast of the flow of ideas. "The time is coming," Mr. Johnson predicts, "when none of us will think of dropping the process of systematic education when we leave college or attain to so-called maturity. The parent must either resolve to accept the complete emancipation of the younger generation, grumble about it, hope for the best and expect the worst, or else he must become interested in the intellectual game himself. The person who doesn't want to be left on the shelf has to make up his mind that the world of ideas is worth continuous cultivation. He will have to insist on the development of institutions that suit his requirements. In many cases he has a wealth of experience that only needs organization to enable him to count for something in an intellectual group.

The world of ideas is worth continuous cultivation as many an adult who has long since been out of school and college could tell you. There is an increasing number of mature men and women who have not stopped their education with the end of their school days and who are attempting to keep abreast the flow of ideas. Talker does not

BLOODY STRIFE STIFLES EVERY FORM OF TRADE

Metropolises of Burma Witness Savage Fights During Day

SCORES ARRESTED

Police Gain Control But Officials Uncertain as To Future

BOMBAY, May 26. (AP)—Bloody rioting in Rangoon, Bombay and Dacca today brought British authorities in India face to face with a serious situation in these three big cities of Burma and the Indian peninsula.

The rioting at Rangoon, the most serious of the day, had no direct connection with the civil disobedience campaign of the Nationalists. It broke out between different bands of coolies when laborers were imported to replace striking Burmese dock workers. The latest reports gave 26 dead and nearly 700 injured.

Business at Standstill

All bazaars were closed and cavalcades of mounted police clattered through the streets in large patrols. Detachments of the Cameron Highlanders and the Punjab regiment were on the alert and ready to intervene if necessary.

The rioters were brought under control by a vigorous display of force late in the day, but none of the officials could guarantee how long the relative calm would last.

In Dacca, an important city of Bengal 150 miles northeast of Calcutta, Hindus and Moslems fiercely fought each other during the day. Six deaths were reported and many injuries. Scores of arrests were made.

Help Requested

The situation was still so serious tonight the chairman of the district board telegraphed the viceroy of India, Lord Irwin, for adequate police help "in order that the people may feel they are still living under the British government."

Communication with Dacca was extremely difficult, and had been so far the past few days, but everything indicated that feeling among Hindus and Mohammedans was very tense.

Bombay did not escape unscathed. Two persons were killed and 19 injured, including a Mohammedan woman, during the suppression of a riot in the heart of the Moslem quarter. A mob of 5,000 Moslems stoned European policemen.

The police were compelled to fire several volleys, first over the heads and then into the mass of the rioters.

A 'SKELETON' ESCAPES

Plot of 'Sheila', New Serial Story, Based on Secret of a Wichita Falls Family

"Sheila"

Many a Wichita Falls family has a "skeleton in the closet." And when the "skeleton" escapes from its prison and threatens to parade its ugly bones in public there is dismay and consternation.

That is just what threatened the family of the heroine in "Sheila," The Record News' thrilling new serial story which starts Wednesday.

A secret of Sheila's birth had been carefully guarded. Sheila, herself, knew nothing of this secret. She believed the man and woman who had reared her in luxury and lavished their affection upon her, were her father and mother. She was excessively proud of her family lineage.

The woman she adored as her mother died, but left behind her a diary in which was detailed the whole strange story of Sheila's birth. A safe in which the diary was kept was robbed and the diary stolen.

You can imagine the frantic anxiety of William Wilber, the doting foster-father. His one desire was to keep Sheila in the belief that she was his own daughter. Now, publicity and humiliation of the proud girl were threatened.

From this point the plot of this amazing serial story develops rapidly, dramatically. There is a surprise in every chapter. It is an entrancing tangle of romance and mystery and adventure—thwarted love and love triumphant, unselfish sacrifice, a blackmail conspiracy, sudden, mysterious death.

You will follow with breathless interest the fortunes of Sheila and Edna and Mercy and Maizie, of Sheridan and Hedley and Andy and Wilber. They will be brought close to you for they all are Wichitans.

All of the scenes of the story are laid in Wichita Falls and all of the characters are Wichita Falls people. You will dance with them at Lakeside park; you will visit them in their homes in Country Club estates and on the Seymour road and Brook ovenue.

Don't fail to read the first installment of "Sheila" in The Record News Wednesday.

Business Council Resumes Meetings With Election of Officers Today

Following a lapse of almost 18 months, regular sessions of the Wichita Falls business council will be resumed Tuesday noon at the Kemp hotel when the first meeting of the new personnel will be held and officers elected for the ensuing year.

Revised according to recommendations offered in a referendum on the subject held in December, the personnel of the new business council will contain more than 200 names. Business classifications formerly were represented in the advisory body by two delegates, regardless of the number of business concerns here coming under each respective classification. Under the new scheme, representation is prorated, classifications having from one to four delegates in the council.

In the past, the council met weekly, but according to information given in the December referendum, there is a marked preference for monthly meetings. Aside from the election of officers Tuesday, an important item of business will be the selection of a time of meeting for the council, and the frequency of its assemblies.

According to past practice and to its by-laws, the business council serves as an advisory body, empowered to initiate suggestions for the good of the chamber of commerce and the community, and to consider matters of importance on which the directors of the chamber of commerce seek expression of the community's attitude.

Officers to be elected Tuesday will be a chairman and vice chairman. The secretary of the chamber of commerce is ex-officio secretary of the business council. A program

LIQUOR BUYERS FREE OF GUILT

Supreme Court Decision Closes Issue

WASHINGTON, May 26. (US)—Liquor buyers are not guilty of any offense against the national prohibition law, the supreme court ruled today.

Settling the raging controversy over whether the mere purchase of intoxicating liquor is illegal, the high court held congress did not intend and the Volstead act does not provide that buyers shall be punished.

The ruling was a distinct blow to drys who have persistently contended that the buyer of liquor was equally as guilty with the seller.

Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Seymour Lowman and Prohibition Commissioner Doran declared the court's decision was in line with the policy of the prohibition bureau.

Lowman explained that the case had been brought definitely to determine the question.

Senator Morris Sheppard, Democrat of Texas, father of the 18th amendment, upon learning of the court's decision, announced he will press for passage of his bill making the purchase of liquor an offense.

His bill is now before a sub-committee of the senate judiciary committee, which, he said, will begin hearings on it next week.

The decision was given in the case of James E. Farrar of Boston, (AP)—Ralph Kunkel, alleged to have attempted to extort $88,500 from three prominent Oklahomans, pleaded guilty today to a charge of sending a threatening letter and was sentenced by District Judge to two years in the penitentiary. Kunkel was charged in only one of three extortion attempts, that against E. J. Son, Oklahoma City oil man.

EIGHT JURORS ACCEPTED IN HEDGCOTH CASE

Hardeman County Man Goes to Trial in Stabbing at Dance

SELF-DEFENSE PLEA

State Attorneys Fail to Question Jurors on Death Penalty

Eight jurors had been selected at the adpournment of the 89th district court Monday afternoon to try Ed Hedgcoth, 23, on a charge of murder in connection with the fatal stabbing of R. D. Burnett at a dance near Iowa Park last April. Forty-two veniremen were examined.

Indications late Monday were that most of the morning session Tuesday would be required to complete the jury, two having been accepted during the morning Monday and six during the afternoon session. Those selected were J. R. Bond, R. W. Ross, H. A. Kinkead, C. L. Anderson, P. A. Allen, O. B. Kelly, C. C. McMurry and Luke T. Warren. A special venire of 150 was called for the case.

Hedgcoth entered a plea of self-defense at the opening of the trial. He is represented by T. A. Hicks, Wichita Falls attorney. Attorneys for the state are Sam B. Spence, district attorney, and Mike Anglin and George W. Anderson, assistants. These three alternated throughout the day in questioning prospective jurors.

Silent on Death Penalty

The state's questions to the veniremen were not unusual except that none was asked whether he had "conscientious scruples against the death penalty." In the place of this query, usually asked in selecting jurors for a murder trial, state attorneys asked whether they held scruples against "depriving a man of his liberty if the facts warranted such action." Several of the prospective jurors volunteered the statement they opposed the death penalty, adding "if you are going to ask me that."

Mr. Hicks for the defense centered his questions about the law of self-defense, pointing out that

Small Speaks At Seymour, Goree

Special to The Record News

GOREE, Texas, May 26.—Diversification of industry in the state penitentiary as a means of lightening the burden of that institution upon the state was advocated tonight by Clint C. Small, candidate for governor.

Small voiced opposition to Gov. Dan Moody's plan of prison centralization and said that, under proper stimulus and direction, penal institutions could be made to furnish their own upkeep.

Special to The Record News

SEYMOUR, Texas, May 26.—Lean statute books and a legislative rest was advocated by Clint C. Small of Wellington, Democratic candidate for governor in an address before Baylor county voters in the district court room here today. The candidate, who is the only man in the gubernatorial race from West Texas, was introduced by Judge Isaac O. Newton. A special delegation from Benjamin was in the audience to hear Small discuss his platform.

Texas needs no new laws but an intelligent as well as fearless law enforcement, he said. He contended that with efficient leadership special sessions of the legislature could be dispensed with, at a huge saving to the state.

Farm Board's Efforts Viewed With Alarm

FORT WORTH, May 26. (AP)—A pessimistic view of the efforts of the federal farm board to control the price of grain and its possibility of benefit to the producers was taken by Charles Quinn, secretary of the grain and feed dealers national association, who attacked the agricultural marketing act in a speech before the Texas grain dealers association here today. He described the effect of the act as an attempt by the federal government to "socialize" the grain industry, and quoted agricultural leaders as describing the farm board policies as "bureaucracy gone mad."

Pennsylvania Primary Cost $550,000 Without Including Davis' Total

WASHINGTON, May 26. (US)—More than $550,000 was expended in the recent Republican primaries of Pennsylvania with the outlay for Secretary of Labor Davis, the senatorial nominee, still unaccounted for, the Nye committee revealed today.

Senator "Joe" Grundy collected $338,602 and disbursed $332,076 in his unsuccessful campaign for renomination, this sum exclusive of the amounts spent by 30 county committees.

Grundy testified that he put up $291,000 out of his own pocket. He expressed the conviction that congress should make no law to limit such expenditures.

Wets Spend $201,000

Francis H. Bohlen revealed that $201,000 was expended for the anti-prohibition ticket, on which he was the senatorial candidate.

Secretary Davis accounted for about $20,000 handled by him personally but said the report of the "Davis-Brown" expenditures would have to await the appearance of Samuel M. Vauclain, the treasurer. The committee wired Vauclain to appear as early as possible.

Although this year's expenses were heavy, they fell far short of the "gold-plated" primary of 1926, when about $2,750,000 was put out by the contending factions.

Rivals Shake Hands

William S. Vare's fight to win the nomination that year cost $785,000, as a result of which he was barred from the senate. The rival Pepper-Fisher ticket expended about $1,800,000.

For the first time since the bitter primary campaign, Grundy and Davis shook hands and exchanged a few words at the hearings. All three candidates sat side by side.

Davis submitted a report showing his personal expenditures totaled $10,541. In addition he received contributions of $9,190 which he turned over to the campaign committees.

The detailed report of Bohlen's anti-prohibition ticket was submitted by Robert L. Montgomery of Philadelphia. He said the state organization expended $184,000 and the county organizations an additional $16,000. The Association Against the Prohibition Amendment contributed $100,000 of this.

The 1930 population for Beaumont was announced as 57,483 a gain of 17,061 over the 1920 total of 40,422 and a percentage of increase totalling 42.2 per cent.

The spectacular gain shown by the census report for Port Arthur places that refining and shipping center ahead of Wichita Falls in the population standing of Texas cities, one of the sharpest upsets shown by the count. Wichita Falls now ranks as the 10th city of the state instead of ninth as was believed when the local census was announced.

GUNMAN KILLS MAN AT DALLAS

Slayer Escapes After Roadside Battle

DALLAS, May 26. (AP)—Charles H. Brown, 36, of Houston, was shot and fatally wounded tonight as he grappled with an unknown assailant who approached while he sat in a car with two friends near the state fair of Texas park.

With Brown were Miss Lucile Mills, and Barney Monico, both of Dallas. They said they had stopped at the roadside and were trying to recall the address of a girl who was to join the party when they saw a man approaching.

The man walked up to Brown's side of the car and said "stick 'em up." Miss Mills thought the slayer said "I've got you now," or something similar.

Brown refused to raise his hands and, as the man fired, Brown leaped from the car and struggled with him for a moment. Two more shots were fired and Brown slumped to the ground. He died on the way to a hospital. The slayer fled after the shots, both of Brown's companions said.

Police were uncertain whether the slayer was a robber or mistook Brown for another person.

GUARDED NOTES TO BE AIRED BY SENATORS

Pre-Conference Agreement Between Britain and America Hinted

PAPERS SUPPRESSED

Undercover Messages on Disarmament Kept From Public

WASHINGTON, May 26. (US)—Secret documents relating to the London naval treaty, which passed between the United States and Great Britain last fall, were demanded of the state department today by the senate foreign relations committee.

The vote calling for the documents, which heretofore have been suppressed by the White House and the state department, was taken in executive session, following open hearings in which additional officers of the navy high command blasted the treaty as imperiling American national defense.

Acceptance Agreed

Previous testimony before the committee has indicated that the secret and closely guarded communications will reveal that the United States agreed, four months before the conference, to accept the British program and surrender the defense policies of the navy general board.

The administration forces in the senate decided to defer consideration of the pact until a special session of the senate immediately after adjournment of congress.

Whether the documents from the state department will be made public will be decided later by the committee.

Advisor Heard

The committee's interest in the communications, which included exchanges between President Hoover and Premier MacDonald, was first aroused by the testimony of Admiral Hilary P. Jones, an advisor at London. He declared, in effect, that the British proposal of 339,000 tons of cruisers was made as a rock bottom conession last fall, and the general board countered with a request for 21 8-inch gun cruisers and five additional 6-inch ships.

The British program was incorporated in the treaty, while the United States surrendered, upon insistence of Britain and Japan, three 8-inch cruisers, and of the 18 allowed in the treaty two cannot be completed until after the treaty expires in 1936. This restriction explains why American admirals have testified the United States cannot achieve cruiser parity under the treaty.

At the afternoon session of the court, the commissioners took oath as members of the county board of equalization and began work in that capacity after Max Shumake, county assessor, had presented them the completed county tax roll for 1930. About 10 days will be required for the initial session during which the board will consider all renditions from the assessor's office, it was said. Notices will then be sent to owners of property on which the board orders a change in assessed valuation. More than 1,500 notices were mailed last year.

JURORS TO TRY YOUTH PICKED

Eight Men in Box at Close Of Day

Texas law does not require a man to retreat in the face of danger "if it reasonably appears to him that he is threatened with death or serious bodily injury." Several of the veniremen expressed opinions at variance with this law and said they would rather "get away and run" than take a man's life, if it were possible to avoid such action.

Stabbed at Dance

Burnett was stabbed following a quarrel with Hedgcoth during a dance near Iowa Park last April 16, according to statements made to officers at that time. The youth died about an hour later in the office of an Iowa Park physician, the knife blade having entered the left breast and penetrated the heart. Burnett's parents are the operators of a filling station and lunch stand on the Iowa Park road. Hedgcoth was arrested in Hardeman county the following day. He is at present at liberty on bond. The indictment against him was returned shortly after the fatal stabbing by the grand jury for the April term of the 30th district court.

New Additions Made To Wichita Museum

Continued growth of the museum now being established by the Junior chamber of commerce was reported by officials of that organization Monday, with the announcement that the first cases for exhibits will be set up by the end of this week, on the second floor of the Industrial Mart building.

One of the most recent collections promised for the museum here is that of O. O. Franklin of Vernon, consisting of a great variety of preserved snakes.

Cases for display of relics have been donated by the City National bank, the First National bank, and the R-F Finance corporation, it was announced. Triple-plate glass for all cases provided for the museum has been given by the Wichita Falls Window Glass company. Building and painting of display cases is now under way, it was said.

HOME-TOWN TALK

believe that any particular institution is required to keep up this process. Study clubs and lecture courses are already available and are of help but the field is open through a wide variety of literature for the individual pursuit of ideas without the aid of any organization or institution other than those already existing.

It is welcome news to the man or woman, who is seeking to keep abreast of the thought of the day, that comes from a conference of book publishers to the effect that the prices of books are to be reduced in the near future. It is not always those who have plenty of money who are most zealous in the pursuit of knowledge. A reduction of 25 to 40 per cent, as has been proposed, in the prices of the new books will be a boon to many.

Talker believes a recent correspondent in "the Voice of the People" column of The Times has misconstrued the advice of a welfare official "to call the police" when applicants for charity appear. He is quite sure the welfare worker meant this advice to apply only to professional beggars. Talker believes not only Wichita Falls but the whole country must find some better plan of providing for the unemployed than by charity doles or bread lines. Once these things are started they are hard to stop and the community today that would start indiscriminate distribution would become the mecca of swarms of mendicants.

The unemployment problem is one that must challenge our government and our great industrialists. In the end it is more likely to be solved by our industrialists than by the government. Leaders in industry are vitally interested in the problem because theirs is largely the responsibility for the situation because there must be good conditions of employment if the country is to have the purchasing power necessary to absorb their products. And we cannot believe that anybody is insensible to suffering resulting from unemployment.

In this connection there is encouragement in the announcement of the Secretary of Commerce Lamont that contracts awarded for public works and utilities construction are breaking all records for the past 10 years. Such contracts awarded for the first four months of the year totaled $452,910,000, a gain of 30 per cent over the corresponding period of a year ago, we are told.

KIWANIS HEARS MARKET TALK

Gould Tells Need of Valley Organization

Urgent need for organized efforts toward greater production and better marketing of vegetables by farmers of the Wichita irrigated valley was described by John Gould before members of the Kiwanis club Monday noon.

Mr. Gould cited the fact that 35,000 acres of land has been under irrigation for six years, but that not more than one-sixth of the value of the water used has been realized in crop returns. He expressed the opinion that further organization among farmers in this area would enable produce from Wichita Falls to compete successfully with that of other sections in markets throughout the country.

Richard H. Dewey, sales manager of the Western Garment Manufacturing company, was introduced as a new member of the Kiwanis club. Earl Hall of Henrietta invited local members to attend a chicken dinner in Henrietta Thursday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Dick Moore entertained those present at the meeting with several violin and piano numbers.

Heavy Docket Waits Young Grand Jury

The effects of an oil boom on a city in which lawlessness had previously been the exception were shown in the report that 33 criminal cases, making up one of the heaviest criminal dockets ever submitted to a Young county grand jury, are to be presented to the body impaneled in Graham Monday, according to information given by Sam B. Spence, district attorney here.

The majority of the cases pending for the jury's consideration are on liquor charges, Mr. Spence said. The report presented to him was made by C. E. Penix, Young county attorney, who is assisting in the preparations for the June term of the 30th district court at Graham. O. M. Wylie, assistant district attorney, is also in Graham making preparations for submission of the cases to the grand jury.

DO YOU WANT SIZE OR SOAP?

WHEN you buy soap, the only way you can tell how much you're getting for your money is by the weight of the package. Size means nothing. A large carton full of soap flakes or bubbles can contain actually less soap than a carton of White King Granulated Soap half its size!

That's because White King Granulated Soap is condensed. It packs closely in the carton, like powdered sugar. And it's absolutely pure and safe . . . for blankets, dishes or lingerie.

White King Granulated Soap is not only the safest but the most economical soap you can buy. A little of it goes a long way. A teaspoonful to the basin of water, or a cupful to the tub—no more! Your grocer has it.

The Day's Business

The success of a day's business is not merely a matter of the number of sales rung up nor the number of dollars taken in.

We believe that there are other yardsticks of progress besides figures. And so we feel that we have only progressed in the right direction when at the end of the business day we have good reason to believe that we have made some new friendships, strengthened old ones, and been able to serve all customers to their complete satisfaction.

The Record News Offers A Booklet on Housecleaning Made Easier

Almost every housekeeper has a more or less fixed routine of work, which might be called her plan. Oftentimes with this plan as a basis, the housecleaning can be so organized that the housekeeper can save herself much time and many steps. In these days when competent household labor is at a high premium, it is wiser economy than ever to "make the head save the heels."

How this can be done is told in great detail in the booklet, "Making Housecleaning Easier," now available to readers of The Record News. Fill out and send in this coupon today, enclosing 10 cents in coin or stamps to cover postage and handling.

A newspaper editorial asks what has become of the custom in boxing circles of awarding the championship belt to the heeavyweight king. Juding from recent championship affairs it would seem most of the contestants really are below the belt.

The report that the marines are making Nicaragua prosperous indicates that the natives and not the marines have the situation well in hand.

A Moment of Heroism

AN automobile stalled on a railroad grade crossing in Louisiana the other day. Down the track came a fast train. The engineer, Leon Ford, saw the stalled auto and knew that he would not be able to stop in time. So he did some very quick and unselfish thinking.

When a locomotive, traveling at high speed, has to be stopped in a hurry, the brakes must not be applied too suddenly. If they are, the engine is apt to leave the rails entirely and turn over.

Ford, as a veteran engineer, knew this perfectly. So, without hesitation, he jammed on his brakes. The thing worked just as he had expected. His locomotive jumped the tracks and careened over on its side. Ford was killed. But the motorist escaped alive.

It is probable that almost any engineer would have done the same thing. Railroad engineers are members of that select band of men who have led the public to expect them to be ready to sacrifice their own lives to save others. But you won't understand just how much credit this bit of heroism reflects on Leon Ford until you try to figure out whether you, yourself, would have acted that way in his place.

Probably most of us would like to tell ourselves that we would have been equally heroic. But the chances are that we are only kidding ourselves. We would have meant well; we would have taken a grip on our nerves and done our very best to steel ourselves for the sacrifice. But—and here is the point—by the time we could have made up our minds it would have been too late.

Ford had to make his decision in the twinkling of an eye. In fact, he had to make it automatically. It had to come out of him without the necessity of his stopping to think it over. He had, in short, to be the kind of man, right down to the bottom, to whom an action of self-sacrifice was instinctive in a sudden crisis.

That is the sort of stuff that heroism really is. It isn't anything that flowers unexpectedly, without a background. The engineer who dies to prevent a wreck, the fireman who loses his life in a blazing building trying to get some doomed inmate out, the policeman who coolly shoots it out with a gunman and goes down with a bullet in his heart—these men do not suddenly become heroes. They were heroes, all the time. The moment of crisis simply brought it out.

And that, in turn, is why our instinct to pay high honors to these men is a sound one. The quick moment of bravery and selfless courage—that is nothing. The disciplined, steadfast life that made that moment's bravery inevitable—that is everything.

Wall Street and the Tariff

IT IS not often that you find the voice of Wall street raised in favor of lower tariff duties. But the current issue of the Magazine of Wall street presents an editorial which is as sharply critical of the pending tariff bill as anything that Senator Moses' "sons of wild jackasses" have ever said.

The editorial begins by asserting that a policy of protection was needed by this country throughout the early part of its existence; but it adds that times have changed so that protection is not the boon it once was.

"We have had free trade on a continental scale, despite the tariff barrier at the boundaries," says the magazine. "Now we require, not free trade, but greater freedom of trade abroad. The policy that was good for 100 years will be a handicap in the future.

"The new tariff law will be recorded later as an act of folly—obstructive to foreign trade and contrary to manifest destiny."

The Old-Age Pension

DURING the next decade or so the subject of old-age pensions will come in for a lot more attention in America than it has ever had before. That is putting it mildly, of course, for it has hardly had any attention at all so far; but in a few years it will be arousing a lot of discussion.

People are beginning to realize that the community has a certain responsibility in respect to the support of the aged. Nevertheless, an old-age pension of any consequence is bound to be highly expensive.

For instance, the Massachusetts legislature is now considering an old-age pension bill which, if passed, would add a considerable load to the state's budget. Yet it calls for payments of only $8 a week to men over 65 and women over 60.

If Massachusetts passes this bill it will be doing a liberal thing. Yet $8 is not a very sizable income, any way you look at it.

When Experts Disagree

WHEN experts and patriots disagree, the common man can hardly be blamed for being rather badly puzzled. This London treaty, now: Admiral Pratt, commander of the fleet, says that the fleet that it gives us "suits me," adding that he is the chap who will have to fight with it if war comes. But Admiral Jones excoriates the treaty bitterly, declaring that it condemns us to a position of permanent inferiority.

While all this is going on, British conservatives rise in the house of commons to condemn the treaty from another standpoint. They say precisely what Admiral Jones is saying, only they say it other-end-to; that is, they attack it because it "condemns Britain to a position of inferiority at sea."

Well, what's the answer? Can the common man be blamed for putting the whole business out of mind and devoting himself to worrying about the baseball game?

Boomerang

A year ago some glamour that I had
Made you a docile and submissive slave;
I know I was a harum-scarum lad
Who couldn't conjugate the verb behave."

I courted Bacchus—spurned fidelity
And minimized the power of your charms,
But you dismissed the vagrant streak in me
And made your haven my unwilling arms.

Now times have changed—a model male am I
Who asks for nothing more than you alone,
But debonair and cool you pass me by
And place another lad upon my throne;

I wonder if this game, propriety,
Is everything that it's cracked up to be!

—BROOKE EDISON.

Nifty

Bert Hanlon's best quip in an age deals with the two Chocolate Drops who were engaged in a verbal battle.

"Boy," threatened the first, "Ah'se goin' to lose mah head in a minute and bust you right in yo' mouth!"

"Brother," drawled the other, "wot you means to say is that you is goin' to bust me in mah mouth and then lose yo' haid."

A Form of Criticism

Eddie Conrad and Jack Benny were talking about rival comedians in Hollywood.

"Howz Frank Fay doing out there?" asked Conrad.

"Very good," was the retort, "but not nearly so good as he thinks he's doing."

And They Hang Pictures!

Grace Brinkley, one of the eyefuls in the "Flying High" show, heard it with her own rouged ears. A chorus girl had been in one of those mental tests sponsored by the press agents of shows and girl colleges. During the test the scorekeeper said: "And now we will go into mathematics."

"Oooh, gee," the chorus chump chirped to a chum. "Here's where they make a fool out of me. I'm very bad on fractures."

Wotta Racket!

Speaking of mathematics, a certain night club operator remarked that two customers who remained in his place a half-hour had to pay a bill of $6.85. He explained: "Two couvert charges at $2 each makes $4. Two bottles of White Rock at $1.25 each makes $2.50, and then there is the five per cent war tax of 35 cents, making a grand total of $6.85."

"That's an easy way of making a living," we remarked. "But why do you charge five per cent war tax when the government only demands three?"

"Because," he indifferently because, "it is easier to figure things at five."

Oop!

The new Casanova Roof reopened the other midnight and La Guinan was among the "honored" guests. A columnist cornered her to catch her flippancies, but a drunk kept interrupting. "Lissen," growled the paragrapher at the disturber. "Please stop talking. I came here to pay my respects to this show."

"Yeh," wiseyd the guying Guinan, "and that's all you intend paying here tonight!"

Novelette

One of the 69th regiment's greatest heroes was being discussed again last night. He cornered over 25 Germans single-handed, for which he was decorated by the allies, and America weighed him down with every medal it offers to its men who distinguish themselves in action. But these decorations do not pay the landlord, the baker, the butcher and the other creditors.

Every time a new president is inaugurated, Washington sends for this great hero. He has his picture taken alongside the nation's chief. Then they forget him for another four years. They have promised to vote on a pension for him, but it appears that a congressman's promises are like a Broadway's manager's.

In fewer words, this hero, who has been experiencing nothing but bitter breaks, is frequently handed ten and twenty-dollar bills by local members of the underworld (most of whom fought the war with him) because they know if they fail him, he will be forced to solicit alms.

By Way of Report

Among other things most of us never knew till now is that in Oliver Goldsmith's "She Stoops to Conquer" (written more than 150 years ago) people who got tight, fried, boiled or stewed on liquor "got a skinful." In the Goldsmith play Tony Lumpkin sang

When serious preachers come down
A preaching that drinking is sinful,
I'll wager the rascals a crown
They always preach best with a skinful.

Theory

Cinema executives were grouped in a restaurant and, of course, they chinned about their flicker stars. One of them explained why a certain star's more recent pictures were not outstanding successes. "We paid millions to take him from the stage to the screen," said the exec, "but we didn't cash in on him as we anticipated. The reason he didn't click in the sensational manner at the box office is that for many years he won his reputation by making people laugh, but since changing to the screen, he wants to make people cry."

Of All Things!

A benefit performance was given at the Liberty theater two Sabbaths ago and the Warner Brothers contributed a new "short" featuring the American flag in technicolor. The programs announced it in this manner: "The Star Spanbled Banner—by courtesy of the Warner Brothers" ! ! !

Life Is Earnest

Life, the mag, remarks: "Any time a modern old maid looks under the bed she expects to find a Broadway columnist."

Pish, tush! Even Frisco will tell you that no old (or young) maid's bed is high enough for a columnist to hide his big head!

Things That Knock Me Cold

"Some day Winchell will speak of an engaged couple as being 'on the merge.'—Judge."

POST BANKER'S TRIAL DELAYED

John M. Pope Faces Hearing Thursday Morning

POST, Texas, May 26. (AP)—Trial of John M. Pope, former Southland banker, was postponed until Thursday on motion of state counsel when called in district court here today. Pope was charged with accepting deposits for a bank he knew to be insolvent.

The first of a series of civil actions against John Herd, Post banker and former owner of the bank of Southland, was called shortly thereafter. It was a suit of Mrs. H. G. Wade of Southland, who lost $800 in deposits when the bank failed last December.

Mrs. Wade alleged that the bank had not been sold Herd, long prominent in state banking circles and member of a Fort Worth banking family, contended he sold the privately owned bank three months earlier.

Seven charges were filed against Pope as a result of the bank failure. District Judge Gordon B. McGuire called a special term to try the cases.

HOLLYWOOD, Calif., May 26. Farm Aid Seen in Smoot-Hawley Bill

WASHINGTON, May 26. (AP)—The tariff commission expects agriculture to benefit greatly under the Smoot-Hawley tariff bill.

The government agency had published today an estimate, based on 1928 figures, that approximately 68 per cent of increased duties were applicable to agricultural imports.

The total revenue collected on imports for consumption in 1928 was $542,242,592, the commission reported, and $522,649,383 of that was collected on items which can be compared with duties in the pending bill.

Palatial Liner Sinks in Flames

HONOLULU, T. H., May 26. (UP)—With fire still raging through her upper sections, the palatial Pacific liner City of Honolulu was believed to be settling toward the bottom of the harbor here today.

All passengers were removed when the flames were discovered last night and harbor boats stood along side to take off crew members who had stayed aboard to fight the fire and attempt to salvage.

Cause of the blaze had not been determined.

Fire officials believed the danger of an explosion of 17,000 barrels of oil and 500 tons of potassium was past, due to the fact that the stores probably were below the water line.

He pleaded guilty in connection with the letter to Son. He demanded $10,000 on threat of dynamiting the Earlsboro man's home.

Community Property Cases to Be Reviewed

WASHINGTON, May 26. (AP)—The supreme court today advanced for hearing, a number of tax cases involving community property or property held by husbands and wives.

The court will hear, October 20, four cases from Washington, Texas, Louisiana and Arizona. They involve the question whether under the community property laws of those states, the government can require the husband to report all community income tax on his tax return, or whether the husband and wife are entitled, as lower courts held, each to file returns covering one-half of such incomes.

A Judge's Price Endangering the Police
When Ford Speaks
A Bishop's Experience

By EMILE GAUVREAU

Not much hope for American shipping when a foreign line is permitted to step in and have its own way at American piers by sheer, brazen graft. The United States lines, seeking pier leases legitimately, is pushed aside by the United American lines, which secures what it wants by paying Kings County Judge Vause $250,000 for "legal services." The Hamburg-American lines own the United American lines. The judge receives an elaborate and free trip to Europe on the Hamburg for his good work. Honor is at a pretty low ebb when a judge exposed in such a mess cannot summon the courage to quit the bench he has disgraced.

A young New York policeman, stepping from his post to investigate an automobile collision, is murdered in cold blood by a man stepping from the wrecked motor car, on a busy street. There are no clues. The murderer is safe. He might say, if he were caught, that he was a third offender, ready to kill and escape rather than be sent up for life on a fourth offense. The Baumes law has transformed every dangerous criminal into a cornered rat and has placed the life of every New York policeman in jeopardy.

Police Commissioner Grover A. Whalen resigns his post and steps into presumably self-imposed exile in the store business. The man who succeeds him is Edward P. Mulrooney, inspector in charge of the New York detective bureau, a first class, two-fisted policeman and a veteran who knows the business from the ground up. People who like to see a man go up the ladder as a reward for hard work will be pleased. The new commissioner steps into one of the toughest jobs in the country. He mingles experience with common sense. He knows what he is up against and probably remembers the old saying, "He knows the water best who has waded through it."

When the practical Henry Ford talks about business, people listen. He says the proposed high tariff measure, now being framed by congress, will slow down industry and will increase unemployment by limiting world trade. Some may say it has done that already by throwing a mantel of uncertainty over every contemplated undertaking in business in general. The views of Mr. Ford, who employs a million people and who, in theory at least, should be among the manufacturers seeking high tariff protection, will make some gentlemen in big business sit up. But Mr. Ford has done that before and has made quite a success of it.

Bishop James Cannon Jr., who took a bit of a flyer in the market, is exonerated of the charge of "stock speculation" by a committee of sanctimonious gentlemen of the Methodist Episcopal church. The good bishop tells the committee that he "fell into the hands of a bunch of sharpers" and that when he realized he was not dealing with a "proper" investment house he cancelled the business. That experience is not only confined to trusting bishops.

Three years ago yesterday, Charles Lindbergh, relying on his own ability, flew from obscurity to international and undying fame. Much has happened to him since then. He has been honored by great nations, has flown across the United States several times, three times to Panama and once to South America. He has opened two new air mail routes and, most important of all, has married Miss Anne Morrow, daughter of the American ambassador to Mexico. All resulting from a hop to Paris in a little airplane. Quite an eventful trip.

A quarter of a million deaths of children below the age of 15 in a single year is the gruesome toll for the United States.

Manuscript Club Luncheon Brilliant Annual Event

Transforming a beautifully appointed luncheon table to the atmosphere appropriate to the city room of a large daily newspaper, members of the Manuscript club amused each other by issuing a noon edition of a newspaper in collaboration at their annual luncheon Monday noon at the Angelina tea room.

Mrs. R. E. Davis, entertainment chairman, acted as city editor, distributing assignments and collecting the written material to complete the edition. The award for the best piece of reporting was given Mrs. Freda van Emden for her story on a music recital.

The annual contest awards were given the most prominent space in the newspaper, announcing that Judge M. E. Peters had won first place with his short story, "Repressions"; Mrs. Kruger first in the article class with a paper on Russia, and Mrs. Marie Engle Johnson of Houston first in the poetry class with a poem, "The Face of a Clock." Second and third places in poetry were won by Mrs. C. R. Yauger and Mrs. R. E. Davis. The prize winning poems were read. Mrs. Johnson, now a member of the "Gargoyle" staff, also read another poem.

A letter from John Hays Holmes asking for permission to print Mrs. Sam Kruger's poem, "To a Russian Muzik," on the editorial page of Unity, was read by Mrs. W. B. Whiting, president, who presided at the luncheon. "To a Russian Muzik," together with other poems by Mrs. Kruger, was recently sold to the poetry department of Unity.

The luncheon brought to a close the 1929-30 season for the Manuscript club, automatically suspending action until Sept. 15. Yearbooks for 1930-31 were distributed.

The table was beautifully decorated with larkspur, asters and roses, and clever place cards were used. Covers were laid for the following: Mesdames Sam Kruger, Max Shain, Marie Engle Johnson, R. E. Davis, C. J. Williamson, W. H. Sanford, C. R. Yauger, E. C. De Montel, W. B. Whiting, Mary Hindman, Frieda van Emden, Oakley, J. W. Ginsberg, D. H. Sanford of Eden, C. P. Bowen, F. V. FEELT BETTER RIGHT AWAY

Lady Who Suffered From Pains and Dizziness Tells of Taking Cardui.

New York, N. Y.—After a severe illness, several years ago, Mrs. M. S. Madges, Fifty-sixth street and South avenue, this city, was left in a condition in which she was subject to "quite a bit of pain and dizziness," she says.

"This condition lingered for some time," writes Mrs. Madges, "until someone suggested I try Cardui. I don't remember who, but to her I am very grateful, for I had not taken half a bottle until I knew it was helping me, for the dizziness disappeared.

"Since that time I have taken about two bottles of Cardui each year, and this has helped to keep me in splendid condition.

"I recommend Cardui to people with whom I come in contact and they seem very grateful. It is a splendid builder. I don't know anything that can take the place of Cardui. I cannot say too much for the best of all tonics—to my way of thinking."

Cardui is a reconstructive medicine, of long established value.

Cooking School Note

In the cooking school conducted under the auspices of The Times and Record News last week, Mrs. Frances Northcross stressed modern methods of cooking. Naturally, then, she uses and recommends CRISCO, the modern shortening.

Perhaps Ramses II ate cakes like these

"THE charming art of cake-baking probably originated with the Egyptians," says this old cook book called "The Panthropheon or The History of Food." Gorgeously sweet and filled with spices were these Egyptian cakes. Can't you imagine an old Egyptian cook puzzling out the hieroglyphics which meant Yum Yum Gems? And then hunting around for the spiciest spices, the sweetest honey and a delicate shortening?

No hunting around for a delicate shortening now—for your corner grocer has Crisco with its fresh, sweet flavor sealed in an air-tight can—a fresher, sweeter flavor than you ever imagined a shortening could have! A shortening, too, so fluffy you don't need to cream it. Think of how much time that saves in making cakes!

YUM YUM GEMS

½ cup Crisco
1 cup brown sugar
1 cup sour milk
2 cups flour
1 teaspoon soda
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon nutmeg
1 teaspoon ground cloves
1 cup raisins
½ cup walnut meats, chopped

Blend Crisco and sugar. (Notice how easily Crisco wraps itself around every tiny grain of sugar. That's what makes a fine textured cake.) Add sour milk. Stir in sifted dry ingredients and add raisins and nuts. Pour into Criscoed cup cake tins or paper baking cups and bake in moderate oven (350° F.) for 15 or 20 minutes, or until done. This recipe makes about 18 cakes. Ice with the following icing:

Boil 1½ cups of brown sugar and ⅓ teaspoon salt with ⅓ cup of water until it spins a thread (232° F.). Pour ⅓ cup of this syrup over the stiffly beaten whites of 2 eggs, beating while so doing. Put the remainder of the syrup back on the fire and cook until it forms a soft ball in cold water (238° F.). Add this syrup slowly to original mixture and beat until it's of the consistency to spread.

Try this one on your husband

A cake like this, flavored with coffee and put together with Crisco, whose own delicate, fresh flavor allows the taste of the coffee to predominate, is truly a "man's cake."

A MAN'S CAKE

½ cup Crisco
1 cup sugar
2 eggs, separated
1 teaspoon vanilla
2¼ cups flour
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ teaspoon salt
1 cup cold strong coffee
¾ cup walnuts, cut up

Put sugar, egg yolks and Crisco into mixing bowl together and blend in one operation. (This procedure is new—and possible only because Crisco comes to you already creamed.) Then add alternately the sifted dry ingredients and the coffee. Stir in nuts and flavoring and lastly fold in the egg whites beaten stiff. Turn into Criscoed tube pan and bake in moderate (350° F.) oven for one hour. Cool and ice with:

1 cup brown sugar, ½ cup granulated sugar, ¼ teaspoon salt cooked with ½ cup strong coffee until it spins a thread (232° F.). Pour ⅓ of syrup slowly over 2 egg whites beaten stiff and beat as you pour. Cook remainder of syrup till it forms a soft ball in cold water (238° F.) and add to icing. Beat until it's of the consistency to spread.

And when you haven't time to bake cakes at home it's nice to know that you can go to a nearby baker or grocer and buy delicious cakes made with Crisco. Most good bakers do use Crisco, I've found. And when a baker is so particular about this shortening, he's apt to use the very best of other ingredients.

Levi Lynch Of Paducah Wins Medalist Honors In Quanah Tourney

VINCENT HITS DECIDING BLOW

Williams' Nine Wins by 4 to 3 Margin

Special to The Record News.

SHREVEPORT, La., May 26.—Home runs by Fitzgerald and Bettencourt in the sixth and another in the seventh by Vincent, the pitcher, overcame Shreveport's two-run lead which it established in the fourth by a three-run spree, and the Spudders made it four straight over the home towners. The score was 4 to 3.

Fred Vincent went the route for the Spudders, giving up nine hits, while Morrell, who toiled for the Sports, gave up exactly the same number. It was an errorless game for the Spudders.

Kloza Scores

The visitors started the scoring in the second inning, when Kloza singled through third and tallied on Burns' double to left. This thin margin was easily overcome by the Sports in the fourth, however. Perry, first up in that frame, fanned, but Holman strolled. Krauss singled to right, sending Holman to third. Krauss took second on the throw in. Huarte singled to right, scoring Holman and Krauss. Morrell flied out to center. Huarte stole second and scored when Whelan singled to left. Whelan was thrown out. Bradbury to second, in an attempted steal, and the inning closed.

Both sides went scoreless in the fifth, but Fitzgerald opened up the sixth with a long home run over the right field fence. Kloza popped out to second. Burns grounded out to first unassisted. Bettencourt then came up and knocked a homer over the left field boards. Bradbury grounded out third to first to close the period.

Vincent Connects

The score was tied, but it did not remain so for long. In the seventh, Euller flied out to center, but Vincent connected for his homer over the left field fence, providing what was destined to be the winning run, for the rest of the game went scoreless.

YOUTH AHEAD BY ONE STROKE

150 Players Enter Green Belt Tournament

By AL PARKER
Staff Correspondent

QUANAH, Texas, May 26.—Levi Lynch, tanned from the Panhandle sun that shines in and around Paducah to almost a deep brown as the well oiled sand greens he conquered here today, was medalist in a field of 150 players in the qualifying round of the fifth annual Green Belt Golf association tournament being played over the course of the Quanah Country club. Lynch, a carpenter by trade, gave further evidence today that the stroke of the hammer and the mashie niblic must be somewhat related and that it was no fluke a year ago when he won the medal at Vernon.

Wins by Stroke.

The Paducah youngster blazed around this lengthy and difficult 18-hole course in 73 strokes, just one over par and a lone stroke away from the course record. At that, he was hard pushed for medal honors as Frank Foxhall, defending champion, registered a 74, mainly the result of a record breaking par 36 on the long inside nine. Lynch and Foxhall qualified in the same threesome and the former stepped away to an advantage of three strokes on the first nine, Lynch finishing with a 35, one under par. Foxhall, with a 38 on the first nine, got back two strokes when he found the length of the back nine to his liking and became the first player before or during the tournament to aqual par for that half of the course.

Their cards:

Lynch—
Out	444 444 443	35
In	445 534 354—38—73
Foxhall—
Out	354 545 543—38
In	534 543 443—36—74

The third member of this crack threesome, I. S. Walker, champion in 1926 and 1927, couldn't get right on eight and nine, and his 82 let him into the championship flight with none too wide a margin to spare.

A strong south wind added to the difficulties of the course, failed to detract materially from the generally low run of scores, and doubtless the best golf in the history of the association was played here today. The qualifying round brought no startling upsets, and all of those conceded even an outside chance for the championship at the start, crawled safely under the wire. Some of these were saved by the fact that the low 32 scores, rather than the low 16, go into the top flight this year.

List of Pairings.

First flight, first round pairings follow: Lynch vs. Ingram; Jack Parr vs. J. T. Nuckels; Whitney Anderson vs. J. W. West; James Parr vs. Bill Cooke; Lebus vs. Myers; Al Cooke vs. Marriott; Haynes vs. Walker; Billy Holmes vs. Coker; Foxhall vs. Power; Charles Staggs vs. Greenhaw; R. C. Holt vs. Hoggsett; Blanton vs. Creed; R. W. West vs. Magee; Johnson vs. M. P. Gentry; Sanders vs. Roy Farrell; E. B. Smith vs. Bailey.

There were exactly 116 entries today, constituting a new record total, the largest previous entry of 128 having been set last year.

The class of golf delivered in the preliminary round is attested in the fact that scores of 82 along with one tie from the 83's were necessary to make the top flight.

Electra won the team championship, nosing out the Memphis sextet by the narrow margin of three strokes. The Electra score was 487 to 490 for Memphis. Other team scores included: Quanah 507; Clarendon 501; Childress 515; Shamrock 514; Vernon 508; Altus 504; Estelline 552 and Crowell 525.

Longest Drive

The long driving contest was won by a left-hander, Al Cooke of Clarendon, who put three in the fairway for an aggregate of 786 yards. Lynch, the Paducah medalist, was the runner-up with 771 yards. The longest single drive was Cooke's 271 yards.

The championship field of 32, which includes representatives from nearly every club will be reduced tomorrow night to the quarter finals, as two rounds in each flight, as well as the opening round in the consolations, are on tomorrow's program.

A stag smoker tonight was the principal entertainment feature of the day.

The complete list of qualifying scores follow:

Panthers Defeat Dallas Steers, 4-1

FORT WORTH, May 26. (AP)—Henry Hardaway, one time Dallas hurler, held the Dallas Steers to six hits today and the Panthers won from a former Cat hurler, Paul Wachtel, 4 to 1. The lone Dallas tally came when Cox, diving after Willingham's short fly to right field in the eighth, knocked himself unconscious. Willingham got a triple on what should have been a single and scored on a sacrifice fly. Score:

PALM BEACH SUITS

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED D. THOMPSON

Yes sir, they deserve it and everybody in town ought to cooperate in this, as we say down at the chamber of commerce. Here's the idea: the Spudders have a great champion in John Boswell, our secy of the c-c, and Mr. Boswell is of the opinion that the team ought to be given a rousing welcome when it returns from the latest slaughter down at Shreveport. After such a winning road trip, said Mr. Boswell, a reception committee composed of just as many Wichitans as possible ought to be on hand when the team rolls in here Wednesday for their first home game in several weeks. The team probably will arrive on the 2 o'clock train, just a couple of hours before the scheduled game with the Dallas Steers.

So the thing to do is to give the boys a rousing cheer and let 'em know the ole home town is right in there behind 'em, or something to that effect, and let 'em know that we appreciate their efforts to boost the town by winning ball games. And to that end, said Mr. Boswell, the sports and recreation committee of the c-c is working on plans for this reception, and the whole plan will be announced either Tuesday or Wednesday. That is, if it is decided upon. But it seems to us that it's already decided upon. The team deserves a riotous welcome after all those victories.

Al Parker, The Times and Record News sport authority than whom there is none more authorized to speak on any kind of sports, reports that the Green Belt Golf association has a vastly improved course this season, nine new holes being added. Mr. Parker also states the course is dangerous, which is not news to any inexperienced golfer. All courses are dangerous to the beginner. If this author were stranded in the Sahara, for instance, and thirsting mightily for a drink of water, all he would have to do would be to pull out a brassie and strive for a 200-yard shot. The ball would lead me directly to a pond of water. It hasn't failed this season. My golf ball is a fairway doodle-bug, to use an oil man's expression. It can find more water than a Cunard liner.

However, what we were leading up to was this, that our Northwest Texas cities are taking a huge interest in golf. In addition to Quanah, Burkburnett has a new nine-hole course. It opened last Saturday, and, according to reports, was well crowded with addicts.

The proper time to play golf, we have discovered, is at sunup. The course at this unearthly hour is swathed in dew, certainly, and one is liable to get soaked feet, but the beauties of the earth and sky at the crack of sun are well worth seeing. You tee off to the chorus of a hundred dove, and 25 feet further, when you take your stance for the second shot, you cannot but pause and witness the early morning endeavors of the lowly ant. Twenty-five feet further is correct. You are too sleepy to make much of a drive at first. Later you get better, stimulated, perhaps, by the antics of the morning mist. The sun draws the earth vapors up in a marvelous manner. They arise from beds of yellow and red flowers, and seem to be tinted with these colors. 'Tis pretty, indeed, if you can manage to stay awake.

After the first nine holes, wakefulness is nothing to bother about. You are fully awake by then. The sun begins to feel good, and the dew disappears. Then the quail start chirping and the mosquitoes begin to bite. The ants, too, have awakened, and won't stand for much inspection. They won't submit to scientific investigation. They sting. But you stand in less danger of the mosquitoes and ants, because by this time you are walloping the ball, or walloping at it, and the body agitations drive away the pests.

It is truly a lovely time to engage in the sport of whiff and cuss. The only hard part about it is getting up at that hour. But a remedy for that is not hard to find. If your day off is Saturday, as ours is, simply do not go to bed Friday night. In order to stay awake, go to a dance that starts at 1 a. m. and dissolves (in something or other) at 4 a. m. We refer, of course, to the senior class dance of last Friday night. A rollicking good time like that will keep awake any man who has even the slightest symptoms of being young. The difficulty is, of course, in finding dances that start and end at such owlish hours, and to circumvent such difficulties we recommend that a class graduate from the high school every week.

Inflamed Veins or Phlebitis

The name of this disease is spoken as if it were "flea-bite-us," however it has nothing to do with fleas but refers to a serious inflammation of a vein. The veins are more easily injured by inflammation than the arteries, and they readily go through all the different stages of infection which the tissues near them are going through.

A very common cause of phlebitis is a wound or an abscess close to a vein. As the toxic material from the injury soaks through the tissues and reaches the vein it irritates the walls and interferes with the proper nourishment of the vein. As this toxic material further irritates, it may penetrate to the inner surface of the vein and finally this delicate inner lining becomes so roughened that as the blood flows past it lays down layer after layer of coagulated blood. Thus, a clot of blood is built at the point of irritation. This blood clot tends to block the free flow of other blood flowing along the veins and if it happens in one of the smaller veins, the blood is shunted to one of the other canals exactly as an automobile makes a detour in traffic. But if one of the larger more important veins is flooded with a clot of blood the condition is serious and the patient must do everything possible to get well. The main danger is that the clot may be carried to vital parts in the body where it would cause serious trouble.

While phlebitis is usually caused as I have just described to you, it may follow such diseases as typhoid fever, tonsilitis, erysipelas, dysentary, appendicitis, scarlet fever, influenza, tuberculosis, pneumonia and other diseases where there is a large quantity of pus.

It is a good plan for the phlebitis patient to take a fruit juice fast. This will bring about the absorption of the clot in the most satisfactory manner. Usually the body can accomplish the absorption within a week or 10 days although in cases of long-standing phlebitis, or with patients who have had it before the cure may take longer. Most doctors advise their patients that there is considerable danger attendant upon the clots growing smaller, and they think that it is likely to become loosened and to circulate in the body, but in my experience in hundreds of cases of this disease it has been my actual observation that in not one single case did this happen. On the contrary, all of the cases which followed the fasting regime had the satisfaction of a complete cure, with the inflammation entirely removed, the blood clot absorbed, and the blood once more flowing freely through the vein in its accustomed way.

The localized treatment to the affected vein should consist of several daily applications of hot moist towels, which are wrung out and placed over the painful area. If you are near a doctor with a therapeutic light, treatments may be taken with it with good results. If the trouble is in the leg, then a hot water bottle should be placed against the foot, if the trouble is in the arm, then it should be put against the hand.

The patient should rest in bed, keeping quiet until the swelling has gone down and the pain has left the parts. Once the cure is established it is very important that the patient learn how to live correctly so that his blood will no longer contain the material to furnish another inflammatory condition in the vein. The fundamental causes of this disease are: Eating food in wrong combinations and not taking enough exercise. Any permanent cure will depend on correcting these two mistakes, substituting good habits of both eating and exercising which will bring about better health.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Removing Callouses

Question—S. A. G. writes: "Kindly publish a remedy to remove callouses from the soles of the feet."

Answer—Soak your feet at least 30 minutes every day in warm water to which has been added a small amount of epsom salts. After you have thoroughly dried your feet paste a piece of adhesive plaster over the callous, removing it each time you soak your feet in the hot water. The effet of the hot water and also of the adhesive plaster will be to soften the callous. Every few days some of the callous may be removed by shaving off small pieces with a safety razor. Keep the blade in the razor and use it the same as you would when shaving the face.

Fattening Foods

Question—Mrs. K. O. writes: "Please list in your column the vegetables and fruits that are fattening if eaten continually."

Answer—Potatoes and Hubbard squash are about the only fattening vegetables. The fruits which contain the most fat-producing qualities are the avocado, banana and olive. Probably the most fattening foods are the grains, and everything made of flour.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, May 26. (AP)—Trading in cotton was generally quiet today with slight early declines on reports of favorable weather followed by rallies on covering. The new October closed at 14.67. The general market closed steady at a decline of 5 points to an advance of 2 points.

Failure of the good weather news to bring out increased offerings seemed a disappointment to last week's sellers. The market steadied up on covering stimulated to some extent by prospects for unsettled weather in the western belt and the market sold about 1 to 11 points net higher at midday with the new October advancing to 14.76 and the new December to 14.81.

The weather outlook in the Southwest was not clearly enough defined to create much interest and the market eased again during the afternoon when there was some New Orleans selling and liquidation of July. The closing price of the new October was 2 points higher while other active months were 1 to 5 points net lower.

The official weather details showed scattered rain in the Southwest but practically none in the west except at one of the Texas stations.

Traders found nothing to attract special comment in reports from the domestic goods markets, which continued quiet. Liverpool cables reported Manchester, Continental and Bombay liquidation in that market with a poor offtake.

Moderate sales of cotton cloths were reported to South America and Africa in Manchester but yarns were said to be pressed for sale. Exports today 4,000 bales making 6,442,782 so far this season. Port receipts 6,833. U. S. port stocks 1,719,023.

Buying of Leading Stocks Holds Market Firm Through Dull Day

By BROADAN WALL

NEW YORK, May 26. (US)—Another firm market on the stock exchange today resulted from continued buying of the leading stocks. Notwithstanding continued dullness throughout most of the day, the action of the market was a direct reflection of improved sentiment derived mainly from disclosure of further slight gain in business. Leadership was again furnished by stocks of a caliber to inspire confidence, Steel common, American Can, Consolidated Gas, General Motors all attaining new highs on the present recovery. Some reaction from the highs occurred when the farm implement stocks and the railway equipments were subjected to pressure by interests seeking to influence the entire list. This raid, however, succeeded only in such issues as Case Threshing Machine, International Harvester, American Locomotive and American Car and Foundry, the main body of stocks witnessing only profit-taking.

Additional support to the bullish side was won when one of the largest wire houses, recognized as strictly unbiased in its opinion, came out with an outright declaration of bullishness. The head of this house advised: "I believe it is time to brace up; to take an impartial look at the picture. I will venture the opinion if we will do so, it will dispel the pessimism so rampant. We are the richest nation in the world. Our labor enjoys a state of affluence never before reached in history. You know business is made up of hills and valleys. I sincerely believe we are starting up the hill again."

Westinghouse Electric has been selected by one of the most aggressive groups in Wall street as a logical leader of any sustained upward movement. The stock's strength even during the late reaction today was noticeable. Buying of the stock lately has been for the account of people who believe its prospects have not been fully discounted. The same interests believe that United Corporation should share with Westinghouse leadership of an improved market. United, with its tremendous stake in the eastern public utilities, naturally will benefit most from the realignment which is steadily taking place, despite oft-repeated denials. Consolidated Gas was another strong stock. Buying in this stock is competitive, at least four or five different groups being constant buyers. United Corporation is one, Niagara-Hudson another, and two banking groups are all in the market for more Consolidated Gas. Controlling the largest public utility market in the world, Consolidated is the prize of all the northeastern utility mergers.

Selling of the farming implement stocks was in recognition of the fact that the early demand for such products this year was abnormally large and that there has been a slowing down. Case Threshing's most recent improvement after last week's sharp break was chiefly on short covering and some banking support which came into the market to prevent a more drastic decline. With termination of this covering and support, the stock suffered renewed weakness. Selling of Harvester has also been for long as well as short account. The farm implement stocks, just as the moving picture stocks, enjoyed substantial advances most of which were held while the general list was under pressure. There has been a tendency lately, however, to switch from these groups into other sections where the advance has been more moderate. The motors, for example. Renewed weakness in the railway locomotive stocks, particularly American Locomotive and Car and Foundry, revived nervousness concerning the former's dividend, only recently cut to $4. Locomotive sold down to a new low.

Chrysler continued strongly sponsored, and additional buying was attracted by reports the company's business has shown betterment in recent weeks. Chrysler failed to react below Saturday's close while General Motors yielded fractionally. Buying of General Motors was stimulated by announcement of consolidation of its various aviation interests into General Aviation corporation. This branch of its activities is counted on to furnish increasing income and provide additional stability to annual earnings. The motor and the building industries are expected to furnish the most definite signs of business betterment. Johns-Manville has been bought by people lately on official reports of increasing building contracts. Thompson-Starrett became more active and advanced on buying attributed to knowledge of new orders recently received.

Wheat prices achieved a new high on the present recovery, some options advancing to the highest levels in a month. Cotton prices closed lower after showing strength most of the day. Foreign exchanges were quiet but steady.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, May 26. (AP)—Biggest export clearances of breadstuffs from North America witnessed in a long while led to a sharp advance of wheat today. There were also advices that the 1930 wheat crop of Italy was 60,000,000 bushels short of last year's total, and that in Saskatchewan widespread crop damage had resulted from high winds and soil drifting. Uneasiness regarding the outlook for the new winter wheat crop in Illinois was also a bullish factor.

Closing quotations on wheat were strong at 1¾@2⅜c a bushel higher than Saturday's finish. Corn closed ¼-⅜c up, oats ⅛-⅜c advanced and provisions unchanged to a rise of 20c.

Texas reports were received saying wheat harvest had started in some of the central counties. Much more notice, however, was taken of dispatches asserting that in the Texas Panhandle, where wheat production is usually on a large scale, the entire region south of Amarillo to Slaytonville, except a strip running northwest to southeast through Plainview, Floydada and Lockney, hardly would produce 8 bushels an acre, even with ideal weather henceforth. Less favorable crop comments were also received from both Kansas and Nebraska.

Corn and oats sympathized with wheat strength. Corn was also responsive to relatively cool weather over the corn belt, and to need of replanting in parts of Illinois and Indiana.

Provisions advanced on account of scattered buying despite setbacks in the value of hogs.

Closing indemnities: Wheat July $1.06½-⅝, $1.09½; Sept $1.08⅞@1.09, 1⅜-⅜c; Dec $1.13¼, 1.62¼. Corn July 80, 81½-¼c; Sept 81⅜-½, 82⅜@83; Dec 75¼, 76.

PIT NOTES

CHICAGO, May 26. (US)—The pit element shows a disposition to move off the short side of wheat in quick order when prices show a disposition to rally. The persistency with which trade broadens and wheat is absorbed on the declines is responsible. However pit observers believe there are some rather extensive short lines which have as yet been undisturbed by the recent quick rallies.

Trade continues very light in the smaller pits, with prices influenced principally by the action of wheat. Heavy arrivals and relatively slow cash demand for corn have caused a widening of the premium of new crop corn over old.

While foreign demand for North American wheat has been much below a year ago most of the season, it is interesting to note the official figures show wheat and flour exports from the United States are only 9,000,000 bushels less than last season.

Unfavorable weather in Europe is confined mainly to southern sections of the continent, it is said. Scandinavian countries and North Germany are expected to have large crops if the weather continues as satisfactory as it has been.

Stocks of wheat in all positions in Chicago decreased 1,161,000 bushels last week. Corn supplies decreased 205,000 bushels.

MIDWESTERN LIVESTOCK REVIEW

KANSAS CITY, May 26. (AP)—(U. S. D. A.)—Livestock trade around the eleven market circuit was featured by a liberal movement of fed steers and yearlings and caused, no doubt, by the price upturns of last week. Packers operated slowly at steady to unevenly lower prices with a 25-50 break on fed steers. The dressed beef trade, however, was steady to slightly higher, which would indicate that unless live receipts continued liberal, some reaction was possible before the close of the week. Best fed steers in Chicago cleared at $13.90 and light mixed yearlings cashed up to $12.50. Bulk of fed steers at the different market centers are selling under $12.00, with the majority of light yearlings downward from $11.00. Aggregate receipts were estimated at 62,700, as compared with 48,747 a week ago and 57,568 the corresponding day last year.

Fat lambs moved freely at mostly 25 to 50c higher prices and mature classes of sheep were on a steady to 25c higher basis. Native spring lambs in Chicago cleared up to $12.50 while at Kansas City and Omaha, California and Arizona springers made $11.75. The supply approximated 39,800, a decrease of 16,500 from last Monday and 18,000 short of a year ago.

Total offerings of hogs were around 135,700, as compared with 95,993 a week ago and 156,736 a year ago. Prices were steady to 15c lower, with lighter weight showing the most decline. The day's top of $10.40 was paid at Chicago.

SPECIAL MAY INVENTORY REDUCTION CLEAN SWEEP SALE OF GOOD UNEQUALED VALUES USED CARS

Buick 1927 CC Coupe—Been on hand so long it is growing whiskers, has new paint, good rubber and excellent motor. Going at a sacrifice price $400

1929 Dictator, Studebaker Cabriolet — Seats for four. cannot be told from new car, new rubber, new paint, motor thoroughly gone over and reconditioned. Big buy at $800

1927 Buick CC Coupe—This car traded in from M. W. Blair, City National Bank Building, on La Salle. New block and pistons recently installed. Paint in excellent condition, rubber practically new. Big value and lots of transportation for $500

1929 Commander Six Studebaker Regal Sedan — Six wire wheels and fender wells. Motor carries new pistons and rings and pins. Thoroughly reconditioned throughout. Going at a figure which should surprise anyone $1050

Dictator Eight, 1930 model, five-passenger Regal Sedan—In excellent condition, with practically new tires. Cannot be told from new car. We desire to sell quick, hence this quotation $1050

1927 Hupmobile Eight Sedan for Five—This car in excellent condition, motor recently reconditioned, many thousand happy, smiling, satisfactory miles ahead for the buyer. New tires and going at the low figure of $600. This car traded in from Oklahoma Saturday and has Oklahoma license, so will give you "an Oklahoma guarantee."

1928 La Salle Convertible Coupe—In wonderful condition. Just right for this season of the year. Motor like new, tires perfect. Going at low figure of $1200

314 Cadillac two-passenger Coupe—Perfect condition, good rubber and priced to sell quick. Must be sold this week for $600

Now Let's Go!—Here are a few that are priced much too low to last long if you will look them over and see how many miles of excellent transportation they carry.

A Packard seven-passenger Sedan—Tires not too good, paint all scarred up, motor not quite a wreck, but say! Listen at the price. It makes little difference. We want to clear our lot of this price of junk and are going to let someone "Jesse James" us out of it at $100

Here's 'nother Cadillac, 63 7-Pa. Sedan—Really, we were dumb enough to spend $210 on the motor and $125 for tires before offering for sale. Now we are happy in offering the car for the work and tires plus fifteen dollars. One cannot go wrong at this figure $350

Here's 'nother one—a 1928 Whippet Coupe—paint rotten, tires slick, motor needs most of it, but gracious! Look at the price $125

Oh boy! This hurts. We sold it new. Cost around Four Thousand Berries, but that just shows how some cars drop, in fact most all of them. Anyway, here goes. As we said before it sure does hurt. A Marmon 34 four-passenger Phaeton—Not much paint, tires just barely good enough, top needs a new cover, motor about in comparison with above description, but you can drive it off for $150

And now, last but not least. Remember a few years ago when a baby in the industry was born, they nicknamed it Chrysler. Yes, this is his first, the Seventy Sedan. It created a big stir when it had glossy paint and new tires and no miles. Now we offer it—a Sedan—poorly painted, poor rubber; we put a new top on some—but at such a figure—only $250

New Dairy Plant Viewed By Third Of Wichita's Population In Opening

A crowd numbering almost 15,000 persons, about one-third of the population of Wichita Falls, Monday afternoon and evening attested a healthy public appetite for ice cream and active interest in modern dairying methods and manufacturing as guests of the Lehrack-Ferguson Dairy Products company when that concern held open house in celebration of the opening of its new $300,000 plant at Fourth street and Ohio avenue.

At 3 o'clock Monday afternoon the white trucks comprising the delivery fleet maintained by the company paraded through the business section, floating large banners bearing invitations to the public to attend the "ice cream party" at the new plant. The company employes, drivers, salesmen and others, dressed in the spotless white which they are required to wear in their work, made up the personnel of the parade, with company officials in other cars.

Milk Bottle Talks

Almost before the parade had returned to the factory site, hundreds of persons of all ages were crowding the Ohio avenue entrances, where the tour of the plant began. A steady stream of visitors began their tour of inspection, winding through lanes in the plant designated by white-dressed attendants. By evening the crowds had grown to thousands. The first thing to strike the eye was a "talking milk bottle," which called out the names of various persons with surprising familiarity. It was "Hello, Charlie," or "Come over here a minute, Jack, and talk to the milk bottle." And the strange fact was that Charlie and Jack were actually walking toward the strange bottle at that minute. Crowds lingered to hear the chatter for long periods, but no one ever located the person talking.

One round of "inspection" sufficed to create in scores of small boys an avid and determined curiosity in different manufacturing methods sufficient to make another trip, and a third, and even fourth visits. And, of course, they had to pass the ice cream counter again, because the inspection route led them out in no other way—and there was plenty of ice cream. Not a single person went through without receiving a gift of an ice cream cone, an eskimo pie, a small brick or some other frozen confection.

Dry Ice Shown

Perhaps the most unusual of the exhibitions was the dry ice, made from carbon dioxide gas and frozen at a temperature of 109.3 degrees below zero. One man said it was almost as cold as it got here in Wichita Falls last January. A sign warned visitors not to touch the ice, since leaving the finger on the block for a few seconds produces almost instantaneous freezing with resulting burning and pain. Chips of the dry ice were dropped in water, causing a boiling effect. It was explained the ice contains no moisture and could be left on a mahogany table, where it would merely disappear after a long period, leaving no drippings or marks of any kind. It will be used at the new plant in several different manufacturing processes.

Particular interest was manifested in the huge bottle washer which performed for the visitors, turning out 60 shining bottles per minute. The mechanical ice cream freezers, producing 300 gallons of ice cream per hour, and the case sterilizers also drew their share of attention from the thousands of visitors. Among the groups at the plant during the afternoon was the senior class of the Byers high school, 29 in number. Much milk from the Byers community comes daily to the dairy products plant here. Music from KGKO was provided through loud speakers.

Officials present included C. E. Shafer, director of publicity and editor of the Carnation publications, from the head offices at Oconomowo, Wis.; W. N. MacBriar, vice president of the Carnation company; S. P. Roberts, general advertising manager, and Mart Ebeling, Texas representative of the Carnation company, from the Dallas office.

COUNCIL HEARS BEAUTY PLANS

Auditorium Grounds May Become Show Spot

A program of beautification which would give Wichita Falls one of the most distinctive municipal building grounds in the country was presented for the consideration of the city council at its regular meeting Monday night.

The plan was outlined and presented by Mrs. Roy King, who has been working on the idea since its possibilities occurred to her several months ago. The natural formation of the Memorial auditorium lawn and the area which it covers presented the ideal spot for the unusual program of landscaping, Mrs. King told the aldermen. The council was unanimous in its approval of the plan but reserved definite action toward accepting it until Mrs. King has made a further report on the possibilities of obtaining the support of the organizations suggested as participants in the project. It was pointed out planting could begin next fall.

Mrs. King's plan includes the planting of all types of native flowers, shrubs, trees and other growing plants with organizations here providing the plants for a particular plot to be set aside for it. As an illustration, Mrs. King pointed out the Red Cross would have a cross of red flowers surrounded by other growths symbolizing the organization. Live oak trees would be brought in to symbolize the unchanging memory of the boys who fought in France, the live oak remaining unchanged through the seasons. All other organizations would have a plot and provide for its cultivation and design, the park department to take care of the upkeep. A further report is to be given at the council meeting next Monday night.

George D. Fairtrace, city manager was granted a leave of absence to attend the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention in Abilene. Mayor Walter Nelson Jr., was granted permission to be absent from the next meeting in order to attend a session of the Texas and Oklahoma Free Bridge association in Dallas Monday. Alderman R. O. Harvey was granted leave of two weeks, in order to allow him to motor to Virginia to bring home his son Ralph, a student in Washington-Lee university. Mr. Harvey will be accompanied by a younger son, Chester, on the trip.

Havana Next Stop for Graf

PERNAMBUCO, Brazil, May 26 (UP)—The Graf Zeppelin, safely moored after a 2,500-mile round trip to Rio de Janeiro, took on fuel and supplies today for its fourth visit to the United States.

It is scheduled to leave here for Havana, Cuba, and Lakehurst, N. J., some time early Wednesday, the hour still indefinite.

Meantime the Pernambuco populace celebrated a holiday and feted Dr. Hugo Eckener, the dirigible's commander. Enthusiasm over the Zeppelin's visit continued high despite criticism over the shortness of the ship's stay in Rio, the Brazilian capital.

Informed that the airship would return here early today, crowds assembled at the airdrome as early as 7 a. m. Two aeropostale planes escorted the Zeppelin over the field at 8:29, while the terrain echoed with cheers. Ropes were thrown down and the big craft landed at 8:53 a. m.

GRUVER QUITS AMID PROTESTS

Olney C.-C. Manager Turns In Resignation

Under the protests of the officers and directors of the organization, the resignation of M. Gruver as secretary-manager of the Olney Chamber of Commerce was accepted at the regular meeting of the group Monday night, it was learned here.

Mr. Gruver last week announced his plans to leave Olney about July 16 to take over the management of his father's estate in Colorado. The directors of the board requested him to reconsider the resignation and voted to accept it only after a resolution of regret and appreciation had been voted.

Other business of the chamber gave place Monday night to an ovation to the managership of Mr. Gruver who has served the organization for almost five years. His work has been conducted under the administrations of W. L. Scott, Dack Walker, A. A. Cooper, W. C. Harrekk, M. D. Wolverton, and Wright McClatchy, presidents. Four of the past presidents were present at the meeting to express their regret at his departure. Mayor Charlie Richardson made the motion to accept the resignation and to vote resolutions of regret.

Among the chamber of commerce achievements under the management of Mr. Gruver was the successful campaign for the standardization of cotton seed and other significant agricultural projects; the voting of bond issues for paving both in the city and the county; the building of the city hall; installation of sewerage and improvement of water works plant; construction of the new high school; introduction of natural gas; voting of bonds for a city white way system; and the formation of a vocational agricultural department in the public schools.

Since Mr. Gruver has been in charge of the work, the chamber of commerce has been working in cooperation with the Olney Building and Loan association and the Community Chest. Free mail delivery, sponsored by the chamber of commerce, has been introduced.

No arrangements were made Monday night to provide a successor for the secretary-manager.

Reader Delights Hearers in Study Of Famous Play

Mrs. E. L. Fulton Monday night presented Ella Merle Mathis Bristol, graduating student in expression, in an interpretation of James E. Barrie's famous "Peter Pan," at the Academy of Mary Immaculate. The reader was assisted by Miss Erie Ward, accompanist at the academy, who gave a group of musical selections and played snatches of incidental music to accompany the play.

In an effectively cut version of the three-act play, Mrs. Bristol brought to life the immortal and beloved characters of Barrie's poignant drama. Her interpretation of the gentle wendy was especially effective, with the blithe and swaggering eternal boy a perfect foil.

The power and versatility of the reader were most in evidence in the stirring battle between the Lost Boys and the villianous pirate gang, where the characterizations were both intricate and delicate. Her interpretations brought tears to the eyes of her hearers in the tender scenes of the inevitable parting and smiles to their lips in the study of Pan at his roguish best.

Mrs. Bristol will receive her diploma after a final presentation in the commencement exercises of the academy at the Woman's forum Tuesday night.
