President Seeks To Outlaw Atom Bomb

HST Urges Commission Be Set Up With Unprecedented Control Power

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3—President Truman today called on the world to outlaw the atomic bomb, and urged Congress to create a commission with unprecedented power to promote the use of atomic power for the welfare of humanity.

At the same time, he emphasized that he intended to keep the bomb secret while discussing with other powers agreements to use the "revolutionary" new knowledge for "peaceful and humanitarian ends."

Armament Race Feared

In a message to Congress, he said that unless arrangements can be made for international collaboration, the world may witness a "desperate armament race which might well end in disaster."

The message dealt primarily with the recommendation that Congress authorize a U. S. atomic energy commission to control domestic sources and the development of atomic energy for industrial uses. This commission would have vast powers to buy, or take by condemnation all minerals and lands which can supply atomic energy.

The War department and Congress moved swiftly to act on the President's recommendations for the commission. Chairman May (D-Ky) of the House Military committee and Senator Johnson (D-Colo), acting chairman of the Senate Military committee, introduced legislation to carry out Mr. Truman's request.

The bill was sent to them by Secretary of War Patterson with a plea for immediate action.

Approving Comment

The President's message drew approving comment from a number of Congress members.

The President said he proposed to initiate discussions with Great Britain and Canada looking to international agreements outlawing the use of atomic bombs.

Other nations, presumably including Soviet Russia, will be brought into the discusisons later. At the same time the President stressed that—temporarily at least—the secret of the bomb would not be disclosed to others outside the group Great Britain-Canada-United States group.

"I desire to emphasize that these discussions will not be concerned with disclosures relating to the manufacturing processes leading to the production of the atomic bomb

Jim Thomas Case Reversed Again

AUSTIN, Oct. 3. (AP)—Because the state failed to identify Jim Thomas, 51-year-old convict, as the maker of tracks found outside the home of Dr. and Mrs. Roy E. Hunt of Littlefield, the conviction and death sentence given Thomas in the slaying of Dr. Hunt was reversed and remanded today by the Court of Criminal Appeals.

It was the second reversal of the case. His first conviction, in Plainview, was reversed because of jury irregularities. The second conviction, in Lamesa, was based upon circumstantial evidence and the court said it was not sufficient.

The state's case, said Judge Lloyd W. Davidson, hinged primarily upon proof identifying Thomas as the maker of tracks found at the Hunt home. Dr. and Mrs. Hunt's bodies, mutilated and found in bed, were found at their Littlefield residence Oct. 27, 1943. Thomas, then on parole, was tried only in the death of Dr. Hunt.

The reversal means that Thomas can be tried again.

LA FONT DECLINES TO DISCUSS STATE'S PLANS

PLAINVIEY, Oct. 3. (Special)—District Attorney Harold LaFont declined to discuss with a reporter today possible avenues which the State may take in view of the reversal of a death sentence conviction of Jim Thomas by the court of criminal appeals.

Thomas was convicted of the slaying of Dr. Roy Hunt of Littlefield in October, 1943.

LaFont said he would withhold comment until he has seen a copy of the opinion, which probably will be in "four or five days."

Venue Up To Trial Court

LaFont said he would not like to suggest when the case might be retried, or whether the state might ask change of venue from Dawson county, where the last conviction was found. "Venue is up to the trial court of Dawson county," he said.

New evidence?

"I'm really not in a position to discuss that now" he said.

LaFont had prosecuted Thomas at both trials, the first time at Plainview. George W. Dupree, Lubbock attorney, was special prosecutor.

Since the 106th district has a so-called continuous term of court, the case could be called "almost any time," however.

Early Trial Of 'Tiger' Ordered

TOKYO, Oct. 3 (AP)—The probable course of prosecution of high-ranking Japanese war criminals was disclosed today with orders from General MacArthur for the immediate trial of his former adversary, Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita.

The swaggering "Tiger of Malaya" will be arraigned in Manila on charges of "responsibility for brutal atrocities and other high crimes against the people of the United States, its Allies and dependencies" as commander of Japanese forces in the Philippines.

The indictment, signed by Col. Alva C. Carpenter of the War Crimes commission, marked the first announcement of special legal charges and served to indicate the line of prosecution for others who must answer to the Allies' court.

Basis Not Established

Whether "responsibility" will be the basis of charges against former Premier Hideki Tojo and members of his Pearl Harbor cabinet was not established.

Military commanders find it difficult to shake off responsibility for acts of troops under their command, since it is generally accepted that they knew what their men were doing. Gen. Masaharu Homma denied that he ordered the Bataan Death March, but readily told interviewers recently that he would accept responsibility for actions of his subordinates.

No dates have been set for trials of the Tojo cabinet group and military leaders already in prison at Yokohama.

Yamashita will be tried in Manila by a military commission.

Demands Rejected By General Motors

DETROIT, Oct. 3. (AP)—General Motors Corp. today rejected the 30 per cent wage boost demand of the United Automobile Workers (CIO), calling the proposal "unreasonable" and a move which raise automobile prices by an equal amount.

In turn the union, in a statement tonight, called General Motors' form of rejection a "propaganda statement" and asserted it was awaiting a "promised" counter offer from the corporation.

Soviet Demand For 4-Power Jap Control Stalls Parley

By JOHN A. PARRIS
Associated Press Staff Writer

LONDON, Oct. 3—A Russian demand that Gen. MacArthur's rule in Japan be replaced by a four-power control government was presented to the United States during the last hours of the conference of foreign ministers, the Moscow radio declared today.

The demand, it said, was made in a letter handed to U. S. Secretary of State James F. Byrnes yesterday as the foreign ministers of the five leading Allied powers, deadlocked over procedure, ended unsuccessfully their first attempt to write a European peace.

Other Developments

The disclosure came in the midst of these developments:

1. Russian Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov, French Foreign Minister Georges Bidault and Byrnes seperately expressed confidence that ultimate agreement would be reached on peace treatics for Europe.

2. Byrnes and Molotov brought into the open a disagreement over whether the Big Three had agreed at Potsdam that all five principal powers could participate in discussions of European peace treaties. That was the issue which deadlocked the conference.

3. Byrnes announced the deputies of the council would continue work in London on some aspects of the European peace which were not involved in the procedual dispute.

Four Victors Cited

The Russian views on the governing of Japan, said the Moscow radio, were that the Allies who defeated Japan—the United States, Britain, China and Russia—should "shoulder the common responsibility" for control of the conquerer Pacific nation. The broadcast declared that "the Soviet government considers that the creation of an Allied advisory committee must be preceded by the formation by the governments of the four Allied powers of a control government for Japan."

While the military phase of the war and the disarmament of Jajan continued, the broadcast said, there was reason for concentrating control in the Allied commander-in-chief, Gen. MacAr-

Patton Accepts Ouster Calmly

BAD TOELZ, Germany, Oct. 3. (AP)—Gen. George S. Patton, Jr., pleasant and almost cheerful though he has been relieved of his beloved Third Army command, said today he "welcomed" his appointment to head the U. S. 15th army, little more than a headquarters and paper organization.

The tank expert said he would yield command of the Third army, which he led from Normandy to Czechoslovakia, to Lt. Gen. Lucian K. Truscott on Sunday at a goodbye ceremony.

Insisted Job Satisfactory

Patton insisted that he had been doing a good job administering Bavaria and carrying out Gen. Eisenhower's orders for denazification. He carefully avoided any remark which might reflect on his military colleagues or superiors.

There was no air of dejection or rancor about the general, who scored some of the United States' greatest victories in the field.

His job as 15th Army commander will be to write down the lessons learned in the war. He has long been interested in military history and in writing about tactics.

Chief Defends Policy

His chief of staff, Col. Paul D. Harkins of Boston, said for the record:

"I feel that conditions in Bavaria compare favorably with any other district in Germany in respect to denazification, care of the stateless and displaced persons and in the resoration of sufficient agricultural facilities to prevent starvation or mulcting of American taxpayers, to feed the people who otherwise would starve."

Eisenhowed relieved Patton as commander of the Tihrd army and administrator in Bavaria effective Oct. 7.

Many of the men in Patton's command, proudly recalling their combat service under him, expressed regret at the "old man's" ouster.

Japs To Ask World Aid In Barter Setup

(By The Associated Press)

TOKYO, Thursday, Oct. 4. — Japan planned today to ask world-wide aid through the barter system to dispel the black threat of winter hunger in the war-wrecked nation, and Japanese Communists said their party wants to "rid the country of Mikadoism."

Nipponese newsmen, taking full advantage of General MacArthur's order freeing the Japanese press, turned light o nconditions in the country's prisons where leaders of Communist and Liberal political thought were tortured.

Controls Extended

American forces today extended their occupation of the conquered country with first landings on Hokkaido, the northernmost home island. A regimental combat team of the 77th Infantry division took over at Hakodate.

The Domei news agency reported Japan would soon ask the Allies for permission to trade silk and rayon for the foodstuffs of other nations.

The Japanese already have asked Allied occupation headquarters for permission to receive salt and rice from Korea in exchange for about 75,000 tons of coal to be delivered monthly from Kyushu.

Interviews Communists

Domei reporter, Tay Tateishi told of visiting the Fuchu prison 13 miles west of Tokyo and interviewing Kyushi Tokuda, Shiro Matamura and Yoshie Shiga, Japanese Communists.

Tateishi quoted Tokuda as saying seven Japanese Communists were hanged and more than 400 died of beatings and malnutrition.

"All three Japanese Communists expressed a desire to take an active role in Communist activity now," Tateishi said, adding that the leaders listed the objective of the part was distribution of all state imperial land to the people and riddance of the country of "Mikadoism and the emperor system of government."

"They said it could only be brought about through revolution, and that blood must flow," Tateishi said.

Reminded Who's Boss

General MacArthur reminded the Japanese government again that Allied occupation forces were the supreme authority in Korea. His reminder came in a sharp notice that the government's promotion of certain Nipponese officials being held over temporarily in southern Korea "are ineffective."

Japan's cotton mills dropped from 291 to 39 during the war and the number of spindles declined from 13,782,000 to approximately 3,000,000, the Cotton Spinning Association of Japan said in a report to Allied officials.

Globester Wings Way Toward San Francisco

HICKAM FIELD, Hawaii, Oct. 3 (AP)—The Globster winged its way across the wide Pacific today with excellent indications it would beat the announced time of 151 scheduled hours of the Army Transport Command's first world girdling flight.

Pilot First Lt. Joe Peckarovich, 30, of Cleveland, O., gunned the Globster over the 2,448 miles from Kwajalein in 11 hours and 55 minutes.

Service crews immediately began putting the Globster in shape for its 2,399-mile hop to San Francisco, where it was scheduled to arrive at 4:30 a. m. Central Standard Time Thursday.

Twenty-two released American prisoners of war arrived on the Globster after spending three and a half years in Japanese camps. Eighteen continued on the Globster. The others remained over to rest and take a plane tonight.

Included among the 22 were Colonels J. W. Worthington, Brownsville, Tex., and John P. Horan, Houston, Tex.

Workers Reject Schwellenbach Plan, Hold Firm In Demands

Plants To Be Taken Over Some Time Today, With No Assurance That Strikers Will Return To Their Jobs

By NORMAN WALKER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3—The White House announced tonight the government will seize strike-bound oil companies tomorrow.

This move came fast after Labor Secretary Schwellenbach told reporters he had recommended seizure because his efforts to settle the wage dispute between workers and the companies had collapsed.

The strike of CIO oil workers—because the companies have not met their demands—has spread to 15 states.

Schwellenbach said 10 of the 11 companies involved had rejected his proposal for a temporary settlement. The union had accepted.

Returns To Jobs Uncertain

Union President O. A. Knight said he did not know whether the strikers will return to their jobs once the government takes over the properties.

President Truman's press secreary, Charles G. Ross, said at 8:30 p. m. that the "necessary orders" for the seizure were being drawn.

The hour of seizure was not specified but Ross said the President will have a statement on the problem tomorrow.

Schwellenbach's seizure recommendation was made directly to Reconversion Director Snyder.

President Truman himself entered the steaming labor picture—shortly before Schwellenbach's recommendation was made—by telling a news conference his administration has a definite wage policy.

Set Up In August Order

This policy, Mr. Truman said, was set upin an executive order he issued August 18. He read the order to newsmen but did not elaborate upon it.

At 6 p. m.—two hours after the deadline he had set for the companies and the union to accept his proposal for a settlement—Schwellenbach said he was turning the case over to Reconversion Director Snyder.

The only company which was willing to accept his plan, Schwellenbach said, was the Sinclair Oil company.

Schwellenbach said conditions attached by the companies to any acceptance of his plan made it "utterly impossible to proceed witth the arbitration."

The secretary said:

"I said at the beginning there would have to be some give and take in a thing of this kind. But

Most Life In Texas Affected By Strikes

(By The Associated Press)

Strikes real and threatened affect almost every phase of life in Texas today—transportation, communication, electricity, textiles, newspapers.

The oil industry continues to be the hardest hit, with two new shutdowns reported yesterday.

But the most sensational labor development yesterday was the sudden strike of the huge Consolidated-Vultee plant at Fort Worth. Seven hundred workers picketed the airplane plant and thew 8,000 persons idle.

The action was taken while negotiations for a new contract were underway. The union asks a 30 per cent wage increase and other concessions.

Flow of oil through the Texas Pipeline company system stopped at dawn. The shutdown affects lines from Corpus Christi to Houston and through southeast Texas. The strike affected 350 workers, members of the Oil Workers International union (CIO).

The sprawling Ingleside refinery of the Humble Oil company near Corpus Christi was gradually slowing to a full stop. Workers agreed to delay their strike until early Friday in order to steam off vapors that might cause explosions, and put out fires.

The Fort Worth plant of the Sinclair Refining company, closed Tuesday, remaining idle.

Students Defy Farrell Order; U. S. Slaps Argentina Anew

By JOHN WALLACE
Associated Press Staff Writer

BUENOS AIRES, Oct. 3—Police began withdrawing tonight from positions around Buenos Aires universities, where hundreds of students and professors had barricaded themselves in a protest against reimposition of a national state of seige by Argentina's military regime.

Unofficial sources said the withdrawal order, allowing the students and professors to leave the buildings without incident, was issued to avoid possible outbreaks of violence during the night.

Some 30,000 students in the nation's six major universities joined the protest. Those barricaded here had remained firm despite suspension of water and light services to the buildings at noon today.

The state of siege was reimposed by President Edelmiro Farrell's government after an abortive uprising at Cordoba, and the subsequent arrest of hundreds of leading Argentines.

Strict censorship was slapped on Argentine newspapers and agencies, which received written orders— issued under the state of siege—to publish no word of the student strike.

An authoritative source said the U. S. embassy had formally protested to the Argentine foreign office against restrictions imposed on press communications abroad.

Ernesto Carreras, business manager of the big Buenos Aires afternoon newspaper Critica, told the authorities his newspaper would take no notice of the orders to the Argentine papers.

Clique Dealt Sharp New Diplomatic Slap

By GRAHAM HOVEY
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3 — The United States led the western hemisphere today in delivering a new diplomatic slap at the military clique which is governing Argentina.

In tough language, this government told its good neighbors to the south that the present Argentine regime was a bad neighbor, and recommended:

1. That the inter-American conference scheduled to open October 20 at Rio De Janeiro—with Argentina participating—be postponed.

Defense Treaty Urged

2. That the other American republics proceed without Argentina to draft a hemisphere defense treaty—the object of the Rio conference—and to sign it at the Brazilian capital "at the earliest possible moment."

3. That the other American republics carry on consultations "in respect to the Argentine situation."

Reaction from south of the border was immediate. A dispatch

Lubbock To Join In Lost Battalion Fetes October 29

Tentative plans are being drawn for honoring members of West Texas' "Lost Battalion," H. J. Kendrick, commander of the Allen Bros. post of the American Legion, said Wednesday following Gov. Coke R. Stevenson's proclamation of "Lost Battalion Day" on Oct. 29.

Kendrick said a program would be held here the same day.

Although Gov. Stevenson designated Wichita Falls as the "official place" for the homecoming, Kendrick said the Lubbock event would be planned for area members of the battalion who might not be able to attend the Wichita Falls affair, or who might prefer to attend a local program.

The day will be especially in honor of men of the 2nd battalion, 131st field artillery, which was a part of the 36th (Texas) National Guard division. These heroes, the proclamation said, "survived the Japanese prison camps, the beatings, starvation and other atrocities committed against them" and are now returning to Texas.

Navy Speeds Up Plan To Discharge Forces

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3. (U.P.)—The Navy is speeding up the discharge of its personnel but has not yet decided when to lower the critical point score for discharge.

At the same time it was disclosed that the Navy plans to return some 1,800,000 officers and men including Marines and Coast guardsmen home from the Pacific theater by Sept. 1, 1946. This would leave about 200,000 Naval personnel in the Pacific.

A Navy spokesman told reporters that men and women of the Naval service were being let out at a daily rate of 9,400 on Sept. 28. This rate will be stepped up until it reaches 16,000 a day, he said.

He said a total of 147,000 men and women had been released for all causes up to Sept. 30.

Chilly Drizzle Blankets Plains

A cold drizzling rain which started falling Wednesday morning totaled 1.04 inches on the state experiment station gauge by 6 p. m. and promised both beneficial and detrimental effects for the South Plains area.

Late feed, just beginning to fill out grain, is most likely to be helped, Count Agent Jason O. Gordon reported. Growth will be revived and suckering started. Feed which needed moisture 30 days ago will not be helped and harvest will be delayed.

The rain is expected to lower grade of open cotton and cause a delay in pulling. However, recent winds and cold weather have combined to defoliate cotton and with favorable weather, cotton may be harvested in record time, Gordon added.

An increase in wheat acreage is expected for Lubbock county and the moisture will encourage more farmers to try this crop, particularly those who have suffered failures or partial failures of other crops. From 15,000 to 17,000 acres will be sowed this year, the county agent estimated.

Reports from the Santa Fe dispatcher's office in Slaton showed that rainfall was general over the South Plains. Readings included .5 inch at muleshoe, Sudan, Ropes, Meador and Benjamin; .25 inch at Brownfield, Plainview and Bledsoe; and about .75 inch at Slaton. A light mist was reported southeast of Slaton to Sweetwater, but skies were overcast.

Phone Company Warns Public

IF the four-hour telephone work stoppage occurs at 1 o'clock Friday afternoon, as how scheduled, every employe willing to work will be used, C. H. Cale, manager of the Southwestern Bell Telephone company, said Wednesday afternoon.

"We also expect to ask telephone users not to make calls which require the services of an operator, except in case of a real emergency," Cale added, "as we undoubtedly will not be able to handle all calls, particularly at long distance and other manual switchboards.

"We shall make every effort to handle emergency long distance calls and to maintain service on government and other leased wires and broadcasting facilities. All calls which do not require the services of an operator should go through promptly," Cale said. "The only thing which would cause them to fail is mechanical trouble during the period.

"In general, we intend to take every proper step to discharge our obligation of providing telephone service, handling first things first," Cale said.

A statement to employes from the company, which was distributed locally stated: "The proposed action apparently is intended to protest the report of a trial examiner of the National Labor Relations board in a case involving the union of employes of the Kearny plant of the Western Electric company, and to take other appropriate steps in connection with the report. The report recommends disestablishment of the union at the Kearny plant on the grounds of domination and financial support by the Western Electric company.

Prisoners Used As "Guinea Pigs" In Nazi Camps, Witnesses Claim.

By CHARLES WIGHTON
United Press Staff Writer

LUENEBURG, Oct. 3—Evidence that Nazi physicians used women prisoners at the Belsen and Oswiecim concentration camps as human guninea pigs for sadistic sterilization experiments was introduced today at the atrocity trial of 45 German camp guards.

Chief Prosecutor Col. T. M. Blackhouse revealed that he had obtained 100 affidavits from survivors of the two Nazi hell camps describing in shocking detail the "scientific" tortures practised by German doctors.

The prosecutor indicated that Allied investigators were searching for still more witnesses and might introduce even more damning testimony against the 45 men and women defendants before he closed his case.

Blackhouse read an affidavit prepared by a 31-year-old French woman named Renee Erman who said she was a nurse in the notorious "block ten" at the Oswiecim camp.

She said Nazi doctors there used women prisoners for a wide variety of sex experiments. In one instance, her affidavit charged, the doctors sterilized a group of Greek girls with strong X-rays that dried up their ovaries.

Victims Died

Miss Erman's testimony said some of the girls died under the treatment. Those who survived were subjected to another operation in which their sexual organs were removed. They died after the second expermient.

The witness said she saw the results of the surgery when she was called in to help dress the girls' wounds.

She cited another case in which a German doctor made an incision in a woman prisoner's womb, placed an electric plate in the wound and turned on the current to watch the results. The woman remained conscious throughout this torture.

Cooper is one of three Texas members of the Small Business commission. The other two are Fred Florence of Dallas and Eugene Fish of Palestine. Members were appointed over a year ago by the president of the American Business association.

Veterans To Receive Aid On Tax Problems

The local divisional office of Internal Revenue, second floor of the Lubbock National bank building, has been informed by Joseph D. Nunan, Jr., commissioner, to give veterans every consideration permitted by law in clearing up any back taxes which some may owe, L. B. Barkley, office director, has announced.

The commissioner's instructions said "if a discharged veteran is unable to pay income taxes within the deferment provided in Section 513 of the Soldiers and Sailors Civil Relief Act, which is six months after discharge, or is unable to pay promptly any other federal tax liability incurred prior to or during his term of service, collectors should deal with the matter of collection in a cooperative and sympathetic manner. Partial payments, geared to the financial resources of the service man or woman may be accepted in such cases."

Information Returns

Nunan also called attention, through the local office, of employers to revised requirements for filing annual information returns of form 1089 showing certain types of employee compensation which are not subject to income tax withholding.

Form 1099 is a standard form which has been used for many years, Barkley said, by employers to report employe's wages, by corporations to report dividend distributions, by banks and others to report interest and other kinds of payments.

Barkley explained that when the pay-as-you-go system was adopted, a withholding receipt (form W-2) was substituted for form 1099 in the case of wages from which tax is withheld. However, there usually is no tax withholding and hence no record on the receipt when an employe receives reimbursement for travel and other expenses incurred on behalf of his employer, or when the employer pays life insurance premiums for the employe in conjunction with a pension plan, and when the employer makes taxable payments to an employe under pension of profit sharing plans.

Such compensation, Barkeley said, regardless of its amount, must therefore be reported separately on form 1099, provided the employes total compensation is $500 or more for the year, including the wages shown on form W-2 as well as all other compensation. If the total compensation is less than $500 the wages subject to withholding should be shown on form W-2 but no form 1099 is required.

Copies of form 1099 as well as full instructions on either of the two topics mentioned are available at the local divisional office, Barkley said. He urged that persons, veterans or others, confused over the issue call at his office for explanations and details.

Home Possession Rule Explained In City

Waiting period before a purchaser of a home can gain possession of his new property will normally be three months in the Lubbock Defense Rental Area, according to an announcement by R. E. Key, area director.

This ruling applies only to property which has been sold and which the new owner desires for his own use, Key said. In some unusual instances, however, the period may be extended to six months. A regulation concerning a waiting period of six months was issued some time ago but a study of local cases has caused the revision to the three month period, Key added.

The director also explained that the local rent office at 1415 Ave. Q is open and functioning as usual. Transfer of the district OPA offices to Fort Worth had caused some confusion on this point, Key said.

Key also reported a number of landlords in Lubbock county have not yet registered their rental property and it was pointed out that this is a violation of rent regulations.

Vet Income Tax Cancellation Suggested

Preferential Treatment Of Veterans On Taxes Urged

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director
American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J. — Senator George's recent proposals having to do with preferential treatment of war veterans on income taxes fall upon a sympathetic public ear.

The majority of Americans would go so far as to cancel all income taxes owed by members of the armed forces on their service pay.

The issue is important right now because thousands of servicemen who have been overseas for two or three years are now returning to this country and are having to fill out income tax forms for the years when they were out of the country.

Public sentiment in favor of giving veterans preferential treatment on income taxes is shown in replies to the following question put by interviewers for the Institute to a cross-section of the nation's civilian voting population:

"Do you think that all income taxes owed by members of the armed forces on their service pay should be cancelled, or should these taxes be paid?"

Should be Cancelled	75%
Should be Paid	16
No Opinion	9

As might be expected, people who have a member of their family in the armed services are somewhat more in favor of preferential treatment than the other people included in the survey.

In general, the reasons are principally that members of the armed services have already been called upon to sacrifice enough: they have risked their lives and have not enjoyed the high wages prevailing in the civilian economy during wartime.

Another related issue is the issue of taxes paid or owing by servicemen on their civilian income earned during that part of the year prior to their entering the service.

A majority of people favor the idea of cancelling these income tax obligations. This is shown in replies to the following question:

"When persons went into the armed forces, income tax payments on that year's earnings as civilians were postponed until after they were discharged. Do you think these income taxes should be cancelled, or should they be paid?"

Should be Cancelled	56%
Should be Paid	34
No Opinion	10

Opinion on this latter question splits along educational lines. People who have attended college favor cancellation of these income tax debts by a vote of 44 per cent, while people who have had no schooling beyond grammar school favor the idea by 60 per cent.

85,000 Workers Idle, State Report Shows

AUSTIN, Oct. 3 (U.P.) — Thousands of veterans and displaced defense workers are not interested in available jobs because salaries are lower than wartime levels, the U. S. Employment Service said here today in its Texas labor market report for September.

Unemployment in the state was estimated at 85,000 workers.

With a wider selection of applicants, the report said, employers are tightening hiring standards. Persons with specialized war skills are having difficulty in finding jobs to use their war-found skills, the report added.

Since V-J Day through Sept. 13, there have been 50,958 workers laid off through cut-backs and contract terminations. A Texas Unemployment Compensation commission report for Aug. 14 to Sept. 24 showed 16,864 initial claims for jobless aid. In addition, 6,499 ex-servicemen filed for readjustment allowances, the report said.

"A large number of displaced war workers can find ready employment in retail and wholesale trade, service, finance, insurance, construction, food processing, oil exploration and refining and machinery manufacturing," the report said.

GERMAN ATROCITIES

MEN who have given three years out of their lives to fight and end the worst war of the ages are fearful that with the passing days America will forget. They are afraid the people will forget the concentration camps, the Death Marches, the fierce battles on land and at sea and in the air, the dead who lie beneath the rows and rows of white crosses as they turn to peaceful living.

Something of this was expressed in a letter written by a Lubbock youth last spring and which was sent to our desk this week by a friend of the family who thought it was still apropros, since the trials of those in charge of Nazi concentration camps are being held at present in Lueneburg, Germany. With the letter he enclosed a picture of liberated internees. Perhaps this youth understands what General Eisenhower has in mind when he speaks of a "denazification" program.

THE letter reads in part: "The Germans are good talkers and always like to place blame for such things (concentration camps) on someone else. In turn, Americans are sometimes inclined to be a little on the sympathetic side and accept such stories, and that's just what they are wanting us to do. With us over here it isn't a case of a few being responsible for these things—we hold the whole nation, down to the smallest child, responsible and they must be made to realize that. Otherwise if we grow weak and forgive them, we have fought a useless fight that our sons will have to repeat in 25 or 30 years.

"I think the German civilians should be shown that we mean business and each of them is equally guilty of all the horrible crimes that have been committed against humanity. They are guilty because they allowed their gangster leaders to lead them into believing that what they did was right, no matter what it was.

"I want you to keep this picture I am enclosing because when I come home I want to carry it around with me and any time I hear of anyone feeling sorry for these people over here, I am going to show him this picture. I think it is the best description of the German mind to come out of this war.

FOUNDED SORORITY

LUBBOCK teachers who are members of Delta Kappa Gamma sorority were recalling Wednesday that the late Dr. Annie Webb Blanton was the founder of the first chapter, Alpha, in Austin 1929 and today, the organization is represented in almost every state in the United States. There are 2,000 chapters and between 90 and 100 are in Texas.

Dr. Blanton came to Lubbock in 1933 to organize the Alpha Sigma chapter. Membership in the sorority is composed of ten per cent of the number of white teachers in a locality or the nation at large and is represented by outstanding teachers elected by invitation only.

Dr. Blanton interested other professors at the University of Texas in Delta Kappa Gamma and she was one of twelve founders of the national sorority which stressed the worth of the teacher in the classroom rather than scholarship.

It will be of interest to many Lubbockites to learn that Miss Ruby Cole, daughter of a former pastor of Lubbock First Baptist church, also was one of the founders.

INTELLECTUAL PROFILES

STUDENTS entering the University of Texas college of engineering are having to face a battery of tests to determine their intellectual profile. These tests are the first steps toward finding men who can meet the rigid requirements of engineering.

The scores on their examinations give an insight to their capabilities, including general and technical verbal ability, as well as a general knowledge of modern society. Thus, at the beginning of his college training, the student may discover if he has caught the wrong beat.

One of Carl J. Eckhardt's favorite stories in regard to students entering the college of engineering is the incident several years ago when a boy signed up for civil engineering during registration because he could not spell mechanical.

We wish that measurement and guidance project could be used in other colleges and schools. Think of the times it would enable the student to know at once whether he was pursuing the wrong course of study.

Shadow Of Atomic Bomb Casting Fears Over Allied Peace Table

By LOUIS F. KEEMLE
United Press Staff Writer

The shadow of the atomic bomb plainly lay over the Council of Foreign Ministers in London, which has adjourned without getting much of anywhere on anything important.

It is doubtful if the atomic bomb was even mentioned, much less discussed. It is a matter for the heads of states, not foreign ministers, and so far only the United States, Britain and Canada have the key to the revolutionary weapon.

Secrecy Is Outstanding

Yet the secrecy which surrounded the London conference is significant. It bespoke fear. Whether intentionally or not, Secretary of State James F. Byrnes of the United States betrayed the keynote of the conference in his valedictory statement. He said in effect that uow the fighting is over, the victors are unable to agree among themselves. His exact words were:

"The present meeting is the first meeting of the principal Allies to be held since the fighting has stopped, and there emerged differences of views which had not appeared so long as the first imperative was to preserve fighting unity."

Uses Odd Pharses

Other words and phrases which appeared in the Byrnes statement and similar official utterances, such as "protocol," "article two section three subsection two of the Berlin agreement" and "differences which developed were explored in a spirit of conciliation" mean nothing to an Allied public which has been kept in the dark as to what went on.

"Spirit of conciliation" might in fact recall to some minds the "appeasement" label of 1938-39. That is of course absurd, but the air of old time secret diplomacy which surrounded the London meeting has done nothing to ease the public mind.

The fact is that even the "Big Five" have not found a basis of trust sufficient to permit them to agree on as much as questions of procedure. The smaller nations, vocally led by Austria, can scarcely be blamed for demanding to know what is going on.

Atomic Bomb In Picture

The Big Five evidently want to secure their own interests and positions before proceeding with discussion of the brave new world.

The mysterious atomic bomb plays a considerable part in the uncertainty. Other ghastly weapons still in the process of development have added to it. No one yet knows whether there is to be a pooling of these secrets under the new world organization.

Everyone remembers that at the end of 1918, aerial and mechanized warfare were only in their infancy. Nobody could forecast then what the next year would bring forth.

Now we have seen, but only what might be called a preview. At the end of this war, the atomic bomb had been used only twice, and its future possibilities are unpredictable. Long range aircraft appeared which permitted a non-stop flight from Japan to Chicago. Jet propulsion of airplanes is only in the experimental stage. The Germans introduced their deadly V-2 rocket bomb, which likewise is capable of frightening development.

These are matters which overshadow such short-range problems as Russia's position in the Mediterranean, or the nature of the peace treaties with the Balkan states. If the foreign ministers cannot agree even on a basis of discussion of the latter, it is fairly apparent that a new meeting of the heads of state may be necessary to cope with the broader question and dispel the fear which is spreading like a fog at the moment of victory.

Truman To Pay Visit To 'Second Home' In Caruthersville, Mo.

CARUTHERSVILLE, Mo., Oct. 3 (U.P.)—The President of the United States returns to his "second home" on Sunday, and unofficially it will be "Hi, Harry" day.

The folks of this village of less than 5,000 don't fuss with formality—even for a president. It was their almost unanimous vote which decided a tight contest a few years ago and sent Mr. Truman to the U. S. Senate and they haven't forgotten Harry and he hasn't forgotten them.

The President will arrive in nearby Blytheville, Ark., around noon on Saturday and will proceed by car to Caruthersville where on the Sabbath he will be a special guest on "President's Day" at the American Legion fair.

Jim Ahern, fair president, said the committee wasn't doing anything special just because the president was going to be on hand.

"Harry doesn't like any fuss and feathers," he said. "He's the same fellow we've always known. We're having the midway and all, like we were entertaining the folks of Pemiscott county. Hoochi-koochie dancers, too."

The "fellow" the home folks have known is the same man who had been coming to the county fair here for the past 12 years.

Last year he spoke in Caruthersville when he was running for vice president.

"If I'm elected, he said, "I'll be back in 1945."

He was, of course, elected, and by tragic turn of events became president of the United States.

He's still coming back to Caruthersville.

Dallas News Editor Is Claimed By Death

DALLAS, Oct. 3. (U.P.)—Lillard B. Barham, 49, news editor of the Dallas Times Herald, died at a hospital here early this morning of pneumonia after an illness of 10 days.

He began work with the Times Herald in 1925 as a telegraph-copy-reader after working for three years on various newspapers in Arkansas, Oklahoma, Texas and California. Later appointed assistant city editor, he was subsequently made city editor and then news editor.

Barham was a World War I veteran and was wounded overseas in the battle of St. Mihiel. He is survived by his mother, wife, a son, a sister and two brothers.

Tuco Man Gets Council Award

ABERNATHY, Oct. 3.—C. J. Harding, employe of the Southwestern Public Service company's Tuco power plant near Abernathy, was awarded the President's Medal by the National Safety council for saving the life of two-year-old Tommy Mack Powell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Powell of Abernathy, last May 19.

Presentation of the medal to Harding for saving the child's life from drowning was made by J. M. Collins, Plains division manager of the company, at a banquet of the utility company employes here last night.

Approximately 45 local employes of the company attended the banquet. Out-of-town employes and officials included: Victor O. Shawgo, Norval Washburn, Charles H. Annett, E. S. Van Nostrand, all of Amarillo; Jim Collins, Alton Miller, H. B. Earthman, and L. A. Baltzell, all of Plainview; and H. L. Allen of Lubbock.

Circumstances of Mishap

Mrs. Powell, Tommy Mack and the other two children of the family were visiting in the home of Mrs. Powell's mother when the near tragedy occurred. Mrs. Powell was bathing the children and little Tommy Mack was left to play in the bathtub while her mother attended the other two children. Upon returning to the tub a few minutes later, Mrs. Powell found the child unconscious and not breathing. The child had drowned in the four or five inches of water in the tub. Harding, who lives next door to the grandparents, upon hearing the screams of Mrs. Powell and other occupants of the home, hurried into the house. He immediately placed the child on the floor and began resuscitation by the "prone pressure method." Within four or five minutes, the child began to breathe and within 20 minutes was breathing normally. She recovered quickly and penicillin was administered by the attending physician as a precaution against pneumonia.

Harding remembered this method of life saving from his training in World War I. The National Safety council awarded the President's Medal to Harding for his presence of mind in using the "prone pressure method" in saving a human life.

Sloss pointed out successful candidates would receive a minimum of three semesters college deucation plus flight training before being commissioned ensigns in 1947.

All expenses are paid during training and the candidates receive apprentice seamen pay, Sloss said.

Ancient Urns Found In Jerusalem Area

JERUSALEM, Oct. 3 (AP) — Archeologists said today they had discovered the name of Jesus, carved before 70 A. D. and perhaps an eyewitness to the Crucifixion, among inscriptions on 11 early Christian burial urns found in a cave on the Jerusalem-Bethlehem road.

The urns may provide the "oldest archeological record of Christianity" and an historical confirmation of the trial and Crusifixion of Christ, the archeologists said. The inscriptions have not yet been translated fully.

OPA Announces Boost In Fats Allotments

New Nine-Member Court Reviews Workmen's Law, 55 Other Appeals

AUSTIN, Oct. 3 (AP)—The state Supreme court meeting today for the first time as a nine-member body agreed to review the workmen's compensation law, and variously passed upon 55 other appeals from lower courts.

Of the 55 writs of error disposed of, it agreed to review seven and rejected the others for various reasons.

The court granted a writ of error in a case involving the board of insurance commissioners and the Texas Employers Insurance association. The association had enjoined enforcement of a board order prohibiting the use of cost-plus and stop-loss plans and otherwise regulating the writing of compensation insurance. The supreme court agreed to review the case for the stated purpose of construing the statutes involved.

Acting As Federal Agency

By refusing to grant a writ of error in a case involving administration of the so-called "GI Baby" aid plan, the court left in effect a civil appeals ruling that the state health department was in this case acting as a federal agency and therefore state courts had no jurisdiction. A group of osteopaths had obtained an injunction in district court, claiming they were barred from participating in the "GI Baby" plan, and this was dissolved by the civil appeals court.

The court left standing an appeals court ruling that upheld the right of the state to levy ad valorem taxes on cattle being held on pastures in the state, in transit from Mexico to some other state. The civil appeals court had denied the plea of the owner of the cattle that the U. S. constitution barred them from taxation by the state.

Motor Transportation Act

In another important case, the Supreme court again indirectly approved a finding of the 11th court of civil appeals that a district judge has no power to restrain enforcement of the state's motor transportation act.

It refused to grant a writ of error in a case from Stephens county in which L. D. Hawkins sought to enforce the asserted right of the public to avail itself of empty sats on the All American bus line, operating on U. S. Highway 80 between El Paso and Dallas. The bus line has a permit to do interstate, but not intrastate business in Texas.

The Civil Appeals court ruled that the district court which granted Hawkins the relief he sought was in error, holding that the relief was not possible unless the bus line had obtained a permit to carry intrastate passengers.

Postal money order service was established by an act of Congress in 864.

L. E. Parsons Plans Trip To Textile Meet

L. E. Parsons, head of the textile engineering department at Texas Tech, will leave Friday for Kent, Conn., where he will attend a four-day fall meeting of the American Association of Textile School Deans.

At least one representative from each of the 10 textile schools in America will be present. Parsons said special emphasis will be placed on the type of instruction to follow during the present school year and considerable attention will be given the question of teaching suitable economic courses concerning textiles.

Parsons expects to visit the Chicopee (Cotton) Manufacturing Co. of Chicopee Falls, Mass., which established the cotton research project now carried on at Tech. He will also spend two days in the New York vicinity inspecting new textile machinery.

Bryan AAF Also To Be Closed On Oct. 31

RANDOLPH FIELD, Oct. 3. (UP)—Two Texas air fields will be temporarily inactivated Oct. 31, headquarters of AAF Central Flying Command announced today. No mention was made of the disposition of personnel or material in the announcement.

The fields are at Waco and Bryan. The Waco field served as a basic flying school and a basic pilot school during the war. More than 8,000 instrument pilot instructors and 3,600 link trainer instructors were turned out at the Bryan field since 1943.

Texas Navy Pilot Top Flier In Pacific War

DALLAS, Oct. 3 (UP)—A Texas Navy pilot was disclosed today as one of the top fliers of the Pacific war.

The Dallas man, son of A. B. Elder of the Dallas Morning News, went unsung as a war hero until California newsmen discovered his record.

Until Elder's total was disclosed, Mommander Norman M. Miller of San Diego was listed as top-ranking Navy pilot in tonnage destroyed with an official record of 63,000 tons.

Elder, now stationed at Camp Kearny near San Diego as an instructor, has an official record of 120 missions in the South Pacific. He flew twenty of them between Feb. 16 and May 5 of this year.

Elder and his crews have official recognition for 19 Jap ships in the final three months of their overseas duty. Listed as "probably sunk or badly damaged" on Elder's record are 45 more Japanese vessels. His plane shot down in the air one Japanese seaplane and one torpedo bomber.

One of his crew was John Boyd, AMM3C, of Dalias.

Tech Cotton Research Head Completes Trip

George W. Pfieffenberger, in charge of the cotton research project at Texas Tech, returned to his duties at the college Wednesday after spending 10 days in the south central states where he inspected the cotton of that area.

Because of continuaus rains, cotton north of the Mississippi is late and immature and in the Mississippi delta it is fair, Pfeiffenberger said.

He also met with officials of the Chicopee Cotton Manufacturing Co. in Memphis, Tenn., to discuss progress of the cotton research program at Tech. The Chicopee Corp. established the cotton fiber and spinning research project at Tech.

U. S. Domestic Silk Program Is Urged

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3 (AP)—A domestic silk producing industry to compete with Oriental production was outlined today before the House Agriculture committee.

The possibilities of its spreading throughout the country from its present location of Mineral Wells, Tex., was seen by the Congressional group, which agreed to appoint a subcommittee to explore the subject further.

Appearing before the committee seeking the aid of the government in experimental research was Ernest Nims, manager of the Mineral Wells Chamber of Commerce. He said large scale production of silk works already is under way in that Texas city and that the silk is processed there into finished goods.

The key to successful operation despite low-cost labor in the Orient, he said, is a newly developed machine which eliminates about 12 hand operations.

Sixty of the leading businessmen of Mineral Wells pooled $10,000 three years ago to promote the growth of mulberry trees and production of silk worms in that area. The American Silk corporation then moved the new machine there.

Some of history's earliest recorded boats—those belonging to the Phoenicians and Egyptians—were decorated with male enimals, despite the fact that ships are generally known as "she."

"Let's get the evidence in this case, Judge"

Back in the days of gas lights, wing collars and buttoned shoes, "Doc" Carter was known throughout the county as an up-and-coming man. He got about. He was the first in town to ride in a horseless carriage, the first to own a graphophone.

"Doc" Carter was progressive and conscientious. He was the first to bring advanced education and improved eye care to his community. He recognized the increasing demand for higher standards in public health. "Doc" Carter realized that true eye care required more than was to be had from the "spec" peddler and spectacle mail order house. People like Judge Plimpton went to "Doc" Carter to have their eyes examined. They could depend upon him to get the evidence in the case.

"Doc" Carter's methods and facilities of a quarter century ago are outdated today. Professional education and scientific research have brought amazing progress in eye care. But those early professional pioneers like "Doc" Carter established one vital principle—henceforth eye care must consist of more than just a pair of spectacles.

Today this principle is well established among professional men. They count it a matter of professional integrity to protect your eye comfort and visual efficiency.

Give your eyes the benefit of this professional service by consulting ethical, professional practitioners to learn the truth about your eyesight.

"No two pairs of eyes are exactly alike, and spectacles, if you need them, can never be any better than the prescription they interpret and then only if they fit your individual needs."

Austrian Refugee In Japan Wants To Join U. S. Occupation Forces

By DUANE HENNESSY
Associated Press Staff Writer

YOKOHAMA — A 19-year-old Austrian who fled Europe to escape Hitler's dictatorship and who has no love for the Japanese today asked to enlist in the American Army of occupation.

He took IQ tests and a physical examination. He is awaiting a ruling whether there is any possible bar to his enlistment.

"I want to be an American because it is the greatest nation in the world," said the young refugee, Robert Stern.

Born In Vienna

He was born in Vienna, the son of a Jewish father and a Catholic mother. His parents went to Shanghai in 1938. Two years later, Robert and his sister, Ruth, joined the father in Yokohama. The mother had died in Shanghai.

Stern, an ambitious youth whose years of flight and peril have limited him to eight years of schooling, plans to take the Army correspondence courses and to attend night school.

Stern wandered into the bivouac of a 773rd Amtrac battalion motor officer, Capt. Walter R. E. Coleman, 100 Red Cross St., Wilmington, N. C., and asked if he could work to earn his food.

"Our job is to try to make seized Japanese automobiles run so that the Army can use them," Coleman related "and, brother, that's a job. We were frantic for mechanics and Stern said he had worked on refrigerators, so we put him to work.

Called Quite A Kid

"That kid plunged right in. He is a fair mechanic and you have to explain things to him only once. He's been with us since Sept. 7 and was getting only food and a place to sleep. He will make a good soldier."

Another highly important job was found for Stern by the battalion commander, Lt. Col. John R. DeWitt, jr., Fort Royal, Va. DeWitt used him to keep Japanese laborers "on the job."

"Stern knows the Japs and he doesn't like them. He thinks they are too tricky and always is watching them. When they are loafing on the job, I turn Stern loose and he yells at them in their own gibberish. They know he knows they are loafing and they really start shovelling."

DeWitt, who shepherded Stern through the enlistment procedure, made a special request that the boy be assigned to his battalion.

Root Sounds Warning Against Control By Minority Factions

T. C. Root, Tech faculty member just returned from overseas, told Lubbock Rotarians at the Hilton hotel Wednesday at noon that "we must be careful that no minority group gets control of our government like it did in Germany and other nations of Europe."

"This country was not meant for any one class of people; we've got to watch closely that we don't lose our precious liberties like they did over there," Root cautioned. "Over in Germany they had a big depression after the last war and things were in a terrible shape . . . As a result a minority group came into control of the government and the people began to lose their freedom . . .

"First they lost their freedom of the press and their newspapers and radios became propaganda mediums and later they lost their freedom of speech and worship and along came the secret police and soon they found themselves being placed in concentration camps.

Visited Horror Camp

Root told of visiting one of those horror camps where 2,000 persons died, 150 of them being machine-gunned to death just before the Allied forces moved in.

"People in those camps were literally starved to death and I saw human bodies piled up like cordwood," he said . . . "But it is not for us to take vengeance, we would have to let the Lord take vengeance for these things.

'As I stood there gazing on those bodies, it set me to thinking and I wondered how they got in that shape," he continued. "Then I realized that those people had lost their liberties first and they were better off dead than without those liberties.

"Must Not Happen To Us"

"I say we must not let those things happen to us . . . Over there the industrial group and the Junkers got control and the same thing happened with the militarists in Japan."

Root had previously related some of his personal experiences while stationed in England and with a unit of the Third Army in France and Germany. He was introduced by George Walters, program chairman.

Dean Clarence Burg of the fine arts department of Oklahoma City university favored the club with Chopin's "Concerto in B Minor" at the opening of the program.

Out-of-town visitors at the luncheon included: Arnold Dressler of Sweetwater, Ted Hibbs of Post, Aubrey Lockett of Vernon, Oscar McGinty of Spur and Rusty McGinty of Plains; Dr. Ben B. Hutchinson, Capt. Bill Bayless and Lt. Ralph Cocanougher.

Trial Set Today For Floyd Commissioner

FLOYDADA, Oct. 3. (Special)—Two indictments naming W. C. Plumlee, county commissioner, will be called for trial Thursday morning.

Each charges in two counts forgery and passing of checks issued by Floyd county.

The state will attempt to prove that two nonexistent workers were carried on work rolls of Plumlee's precinct and that Plumlee endorsed and cashed checks made out to those accounts.

A jury Tuesday found J. H. Norvell, 60, guilty of rape of his 14-year-old stepdaughter whom he subsequently married after divorcing his wife. It recommended a seven-year penitentiary term.

The Lubbock law firm of Nelson & Brown immediately gave notice of appeal, and a $2,500 recognizance was entered with Judge Alton B. Chapman.

A special venire of 72nd men had been summoned for the trial, which was called Monday.

District Attorney R. L. Stovall represented the state in the Norvell case. He will prosecute Plumlee.

Now Move this Scene Abroad

FOUR YEARS AGO—before the Japs hit us at Pearl Harbor—this drawing appeared in an appeal for the U.S.O. It showed our men from the training camps, on the streets of an American city, with nowhere to go and nothing to do with their spare time. In those days, before the shooting war, men easily became dejected. The U.S.O. was a Godsend then.

But, now that the shooting is finished, our army faces the same problem—only many times worse.

Change the scene of this drawing from Middletown, U.S.A., to Germany or Japan. And change the boys from green, homesick recruits to tired, heartsick veterans of months of mortal combat. Men doing occupation duty, men still recuperating from wounds. If ever they needed a lift to their spirits, these men need it now.

General Eisenhower is so aware of this problem that he has asked the U.S.O. to quadruple its entertainment program for our men still overseas. Fifteen hundred U.S.O. entertainers are now abroad including 16 complete acting companies. They are playing to two million men every week. But to continue this work on such a huge scale, and to support the hundreds of U.S.O. Club Houses, takes money—your money.

The U.S.O. is one of the principal services of the National War Fund. You support this great fund by giving to yohr local war chest campaign.

Cubs Tee Off On Tigers To Win Series Opener, 9 To 0

By GAYLE TALBOT
Associated Press Sports Writer

DETROIT, Oct. 3 . (AP)—The Chicago Cubs whaled the living daylights out of Hal Newhouser at the very outset of the World Series today and defeated the Detroit Tigers, 9 to 0, behind the smooth six-hit pitching of Hank Borowy as 54,637 chilled American League fans died by degrees in Briggs Stadium.

A stroke of lightning out of the clear, sun-filled sky scarcely could have shocked the more than the each with which the Cubs tore into Newhouser, greatest hurler of the American League, for eight hits and seven runs in the first three innings and drove him from the hill.

WORLD SERIES AT A GLANCE
(By The Associated Press)

	W.	L.	Pct.
Chicago (NL)	1	0	1.000
Detroit (AL)	0	1	.000

First game (at Detroit):
Chicago (NL) ..... 402 000 200—9 13 0
Detroit (AL) ..... 000 000 000—0 6 0
Borowy and Livingston; Newhouser, Benton (3), Tobin (5), Mueller (8) and Richards.

Remaining series' schedule:
At Detroit Oct. 4 and 5; at Chicago Oct. 6, 7, 8 and 10.

Cubs Stand Out

It was never a ball game—the opener. The National League champs, underdogs in the preseries betting, looked so far superior for the day that it scarcely seemed necessary to play off the classic. They hammered the ball almost at will, piling up 13 hits, including a homerun by Phil Cavarretta, a triple and two doubles, while only one Detroit player reached third base.

Bowory, who came to the Cubs from the Yankees for $100,000 two months before the season ended, had his former American League rivals handcuffed. All the six hits the Tigers managed off his sharp curving were singles.

Borowy, the thin, serious young righthander from Fordham university, signed his application for the World Series hall of fame by his smoothly - pitched victory. He became the second pitcher in World Series history to pitch a victory both in the American and National leagues. He hurled the Yankees to a win over the St. Louis Cardinals in the 1943 classic.

Newhouser Was Easy

Newhouser, the Tigers' 25-game winning beauty, who figured to be the outstanding pitcher of the series, proved, on the other hand, to be the softest sort of a touch for Manager Charlie Grimm's National Leaguers. The second Cub to bat belted him cleanly, and from there on until he was relieved by Al Benton in the third inning the Bruins clouted him almost at will. He gave up the game's first seven runs, and the Cubs got two more off flutterballer Jim Tobin in the seventh.

Newhouser got the first Cub batter, Stan Mark, out on an infield roller, and then the house fell in on his noggin. What had shaped up as possibly a great pitchers' duel quickly became a shambles as the Cubs stepped up and teed off.

Don Johnson beat out a hit through the box and stole second. When Johnson galloped in with the Cubs' first run on a passed ball, Cavarretta taking second handy Andy Pafko was purposely passed.

Bill Nicholson then weighed in with a terrific triple to right field that cleaned the sacks, and he scored a moment later on Mickey Livingston's single. Newhouser plainly had nothing at all to puzzle the Cubs. The attack on him finally ended only because Livingston tried to steal second and was thrown out by Paul Richard's rifle-like arm.

Three Cubs Fan

It looked like the Detroit southpaw star might simply have had a bad inning when he came back to strike out three Cubs in a row in the second inning.

But it didn't last. Johnson led off the third with a terrific double to center that veteran Roger Cramer reached but couldn't hold. Peanuts Lowrey sacrificed him to third, and he raced in on Cavarretta's single. Pafko's double and Livingston's single brought in two more before the fire was put out, again because Livingston thought he could outrun a Richard peg to second.

By this time Manager Steve O'Neill had decided Newhouser had enough, and Al Benton was on the hill.

Tobin took over in the fifth after a pinchhitter had tried futilely to solve Borowy's slants, and the former National Leaguer held the Cubs in check for a couple of innings. But they got to him, too, in the seventh, when Cavarretta bounced his homerun off a rightfield stanchion, with none aboard, and Pafko and Nicholson followed with singles which, mixed in with a sacrifice and a passed ball, produced two more scores.

The fielding gem of the contest, which produced several and was not blemished by an error, probably was the stop by Cavarretta of a smash by Webb down the first base line in the third inning. The Cubs' star—and he convinced a lot of American Leaguers today that he is a very fine player indeed—dove into the dirt about 10 feet back of first and came up with the ball in time to toss it to Borowy for the putout.

Manager Grimm of the victorious National Leaguers announced in the dressing room he would throw Hank Wyse, who won 22 and lost 10 in the regular season, against the Tigers tomorrow. Steve O'Neill chose Virgil Trucks, the righthanded fast-balled who just was released from the Navy, to try to pitch his club back into the championship.

Vic Payne Ends Colorful Career

ABILENE, Oct. 3.—(Special)—Vic Payne, one time coach at Texas Tech and now an Abilene business man, has hung up his whistle and retired from football to close the books on a career that extended over a period of 30 years as player, coach and official.

The colorful Payne spent three years at Texas Tech, back in the "Roaring Twenties." He was head basketball and track coach, and served in football as scout, backfield coach and line coach during the seasons of 1927-28-29.

Termed by many coaches as one of the best referees they have seen. Payne started his career as a "blind tom" in his freshman year at Simmons (now Hardin-Simmons) university at Abilene, and through the years has worked close to 400 games, to average 14 games a season.

Started In 1914

Payne was first heard of, athletically, as a rugged sophomore fullback on the Abilene Eagles. That was back in 1914. He played two more seasons in high school, teaming with Fats Cranfill, now coach at Temple high, to help bring gridiron glory to Abilene High school.

In 1917, he enrolled in Simmons, and the following year was in the Army, holding the rank of second lieutenant, and was stationed at Kansas City when World War I ended.

Payne then returned to Simmons, where he again teamed with Cranfill, an AEF-All - American, and played there until he was handed his sheepskin in 1919.

But Payne didn't have enough football playing under his belt, and he at once entered Abilene Christian college in 1920, and his old mate, Cranfill, followed him there. That year, ACC was undefeated, and packed with some seasoned veterans.

Enters Third College

Roy Easterday, who coached Payne at Simmons, moved to Bethany college in 1921, and took along some rugged West Texas lads to build a team around. Payne and Buck Bailey, now Washington coach, a team mate at ACC, were on the train when Easterday left Texas.

Payne happened to pick up his high school record, instead of his college blueprint, and enrolled at Bethany as a freshman. Profs were a little surprised to find a straight A student on the football team. The team was pretty good that year, losing only to Washington - Jefferson and Navy that year. W and J was the Rose Bowl team that year.

Just to get a little "side money" for special spending, Payne and Bailey played a little Sunday pro football in Pennsylvania, Payne playing under the names of Haynes, and Bailey as Johnson. That closed Payne's playing days.

Payne then turned to coaching, and stayed in this profession from 1922 through 1929. Payne returned to his old schools at Abiline, and coached at ACC in '22 and '23, then went to Hardin-Simmons in '24 to be co-coach with P. E. Shotwell, now Longview coach, who had been at Abilene High school until that time. They worked together in 1925, then Shotwell left in 1926 to coach at Sul Ross. Payne took over as head coach ,and again teamed with Cranfill, who came in as an assistant.

It was the next three years that Payne served as a coach ,and with the exception of one season in the early 30's as line coach under Cranfill at Hardin-Simmons, that closed the books on coaching.

Payne returned to Abilene in 1930, and entered private business, and did his football whistle tooting on the side.

A man with an athletic history of this nature couldn't escape the encountering of embarrassing moments on the field, and Payne has his own pet story for that.

Vic confesses he had his inning as referee in a game between Daniel Baker and Hardin - Simmons at Brownwood in the early 30s.

The game had progressed well into the second period without a score.

At that stage of the conflict Carl Pee broke loose for the Cowboys, galloped to one sideline then cut back to the other, scattering all over the field. Then Pee dashed back to the middle of the field where five or six players piled up and Payne rushed in blowing his whistle.

He looked under the pile of players and Pee wasn't there.

Then he glanced over the field and saw Pee standing in the end zone waving the ball at him and grinning from ear to ear.

Such foolishness can be life's darkest moment for an official who had just cut loose with his whistle. It was for Vic.

There was nothing left to do but call the back to the point of the pileup, walk off and say:

"Go to it, boys!"

But there was plenty of apologizing on Vic's part at the half when he encountered his old pal Cranfill.

Rain Puts Halt To Gridiron Workouts

Local Elevens Wait For Weather Report

Coach Curtis Barrett and four junior high coaches scanned the skies last night and wondered if their heavy Thursday schedule of football games would be washed out.

Coach Barrett's Cowhands Black team is scheduled to invade the new lighted field at Petersburg tonight to tangle with Coach Dean's Petersburg eleven.

Coach J. Mule Davis' Cowboys Blue team is scheduled to go to Tahoka this afternoon, and Coach Roy Morris' Purples precede the Cowhands to Petersburg. Coach Bob Parker's Reds and Coach Russell Wimberley's Whites are carded to play at the junior high field.

BAYLOR STAR RETURNS

WACO, Oct. 3 (AP)—Ollie Jacks, who was a star tackle on the Baylor freshman team in 1942 and who played with the Georgia Pre-Flight team during the war, has been discharged from the service and returned to Baylor. He weighs 190.

Heavily dripping rain clouds that rolled over Lubbock Wednesday afternoon drove the Texas Tech Red Raiders and Lubbock Westerners to shelter, and called a halt to the rugged scrimmage sessions that had been planned by coaches.

The Red Raiders viewed movies of last Saturday's grid game at San Antonio, in which the Red Raiders came out on the short end of the score with the Texas Aggies.

Coach Dell Morgan pointed out mistakes in the game played by the Red Raiders, and demanded that these mistakes be eliminated this week in the game at Austin with the Texas Longhorns.

The Westerners took to cover at Chapman field, and did their scrimmage session on the blackboard and with a lengthy skull practice in preparing plans for Friday night's battle here with the Lamesa Golden Tornadoes, fourth District 3-AA foe of the season.

O'Connor Takes Job On White Sox Club

CHICAGO, Oct. 3 (AP) — Leslie M. O'Connor, the man behind the man behind baseball for 24 years, will leave his post Dec. 15 as special assistant to the baseball commissioner to become general manager of the Chicago White Sox.

Announcement of O'Connor's appointment was made today by Mrs. Grace Comiskey, president of the White Sox club. O'Connor succeeds Harry Grabinre, who said last week he would resign Dec. 15 as vice president and general manager.

Slightly less than 1,000,000 cattle were reported in Washington state on Jan. 1, 1945, a four per cent decrease from the record high of last year.

Charles Akey Takes Fort Worth Pro Job

Charles B. Akey, former golf pro at the Lubbock Country club, has been named pro at Colonial Country club at Fort Worth, sueceeding Duncan Barr, it was announced Wednesday night by the Associated Press.

Akey served as pro at the local club for eight years, coming here from a like job at Big Spring, and held the job here until Herb Schroeder, present club pro, took over in July, 1944.

Prior to the arrival of Schroeder from a Dallas club, Akey served as a civilian flying instructor here, and later as an official in an aero service company here.

Akey left Lubbock Sept. 14 to take a post as golf pro at San Angelo, and was in San Angelo at the time of the appointment to the Fort Worth post.

CLIPPER SMITH SIGNS

"Clipper" Smith, who built a reputation over a 21-year span as one of the nation's top football coaches, has been signed to a five-year contract as head grid mentor at the University of San Francisco. He joined the Marine Corps three years ago and received his discharge a few weeks ago.

there was no giving of any kind."

The union has been demanding a 30 per cent wage increase but was willing to accept this temporary settlement proposed by Schwellenbach:

1. The companies would grant a temporary 15 per cent raise.

2. Then an arbitrator would be appointed to decide whether the companies should give more than 15 per cent.

The 10 companies reportedly said they'd accept on these terms:

1. They'd give a 15 per cent raise—when they went back on a 40-hour week. Most are working 48 hours now.

2. The arbitrator should study the whole problem of wage increases from scratch—not just start from a 15 per cent increase already granted.

Mutually Acceptable

3. The arbitrator should be mutually acceptable to all concerned.

4. The Oil Workers International union should make the local unions abide by the agreement.

All the companies wanted it understood that if they granted a 15 per cent raise it would not stand against their chances for getting a price increase on the oil they sell.

But this point—raises can't be granted if they mean prices must be increased—was a main point in the executive order which the President read to his news conference in the White House.

Can Correct "Inequities"

The order also says raises can be granted to correct "inequities" but did not explain what it meant by that word.

(It's possible "inequities" might be interpreted by the government as meaning that workers deprived no wof wartime wages need increases to make up for that lost pay and the increase in living costs.)

But the order also says that the government can allow price increases—where it sees fit—if those increases are needed to permit wage increases.

O. A. Knight, president of the CIO union, told reporters his workers "were prepared to accept settlement of the strike on the basis of Secretary Schwellenbach's proposal if all of the oil companies involved also accepted these proposals in good faith." He added:

Maybe They Will

"The action of the oil companies will be understood by the American people(AP) The union's effort to cooperate with the secretary of labor has met the stone wall of the companies' indifference to the nation's welfare."

Schwellenbach said he had no assurance that striking workers—plants in 15 states are involved—would return to work if the government seizes the plants.

The oil strike already was beginning to cripple civilian transportation. Dwindling supplies of oil and gasoline also threatened to impede Army and Navy operations, including the homecoming of servicemen.

thur. Now the Allies are faced with problems of a political, economic and financial character which call for joint control, it added.

Didn't Discuss Plan

In his press conference Molotov remarked that "unfortunately, we did not discuss the question of an Allied control commission for Japan."

This question, like the dispute over procedure, will be turned over to the heads of governments to be resolved by diplomatic negotiations or at a future meeting of the Big Three.

Molotov flew to Moscow tonight, bearing possible recommendations which may break the deadlock on European peace settlements. He was optimistic that a zone of compromise would be found.

Byrnes left for Washington equally confident that some solution could be found, perhaps after Molotov has conferred with Premier Stalin.

He said Molotov raised no objection in principle to his insistence that a European peace conference be called for the final drafting of each treaty, but that the Soviet minister could not discuss the proposal without a personal consultation with Stalin.

Potsdam Agreement

Molotov asserted that President Truman, Stalin and Prime Minister Attlee had agreed at Potsdam to confine immediate discussions of peace treaties to countries which had signed armistices.

It was on this argument that he based his opposition to permitting France and China to participate in discussions of the treaties with the defeated Axis satellites, Hungary, Romania and Bulgaria.

Byrnes, on the other hand, insisted that the Potsdam agreement was understood by Truman and Attlee to permit France and China to take part in discussions of treaties, but not to vote.

Meanwhile, there were indications that France would oppose any meeting of the United States, Russia and Great Britain alone to draft peace treaties.

STOCKS UNSETTLED

NEW YORK, Oct. 3 (AP)—Steels, metals and oils advanced fractions to around 2 points and a number of soft drink and airline issues hit new yearly highs in today's stock market but almost an equal amount of industrials declined with the trend as a whole irregular.

News the sugar situation had been eased by discovery of 1,600,000 tons in Javanese ports helped Coca-Cola—up 5 points—Pepsi-Cola and Nehi Corp. reach new peaks for 1945. Others touching summits for the year were Schenley, American Airlines and Eastern Air Lines.

Favorable tax news and increasing inflationary tendencies accounted for demand but were offset by growing strikes and a belief there might be a sizable technical correction of the recent rise to eight year highs.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite fell .3 of a point to 73.3. Sales totaled 1,430,000 shares against 1,800,000 Tuesday.

Lower were General Motors, Goodyear, U. S. Rubber, Sears Roebuck, International Harvester, Consolidated Edison, Union Carbide, Allied Chemical, Johns-Manville, U. S. Gypsum, Santa Fe and Southern Railway.

Higher were U. S. Steel, Douglas Aircraft, Pan-American Airways, American Telephone, American Smelting and Texas Co.

Futures closed 75 cents to $1 higher.

Strikes In Texas

union followed suit. District four embraces most of Texas and Louisiana, and union officials claim it includes one-third of all members of the Union.

Now idle in Texas are 25 refineries and affiliated plants, and 25,000 oil workers.

In the transportation field, Local 745 of the Teamsters union (AFL) asked dismissal of an application for an injunction to prevent the holding of a strike vote. Seven transportation companies operating over a wide portion of Texas are affected.

Three Texas textile mills faced labor action. The mills, through their attorney, have refused to comply with orders issued by the regional War Labor board. Strike votes have been held at the Hillsboro Cotton mills, and strike votes have been set for two others Oct. 15—at Itasca and Mexia.

Continue Picketing

The International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers (AFL) said yesterday it would continue indefinitely to picket the hydroelectric power production plants of the Lower Colorado River authority. Picket lines were being maintained at Lake Austin dam, Mansfield dam, Roy Inks dam and Buchanan dam.

But power had been restored over south central Texas. The LCRA, with the aid of employes who remained on the job, and with new workers, sent electricity flowing over the intricate network of wires and cables that serves 24 towns and three Army camps.

Atom Bomb Plea

itself," he said.

"They will constitute an effort to work out arrangements covering the terms under which international collaboration and exchange of scientific information might safely proceed."

The President said that scientific opinion was virtually unanimous that the essential theoretical knowledge upon which the discovery was based "is already widely known" and that "foreign research can come abreast of our present theoretical knowledge in time."

Must Renounce Use

"The hope of civilization lies in international arrangements looking, if possible, to the renunciation of the use and development of the atomic bomb, and directing the encouraging the use of atomic energy and all future scientific information toward peaceful and humanitarian ends."

To assure the use of it for the welfare of humanity, he recommended immediate development of a policy for the control, use and development of atomic energy within the United States by a commission he would appoint subject to confirmation by the Senate.

He recommended that the nation's "enormous investment" in atomic bomb plants in the states of Washington and Tennessee be maintained and that a "strong organization of scientists familiar with atomic energy be continued."

Condemnation Power

He would give the commission authority to condemn lands providing sources of atomic energy and to purchase real and personal property even outside the limits of the United States. It would use existing private and public institutions in carrying on research and experimentation and "interfere as little as possible with private research and private enterprise."

The proposed legislation would make it unlawful to produce or use the substances comprising the sources of atomic energy or to import or export them except under conditions prescribed by the commission.

Argentine Unrest

from Brazil said the conference had been postponed. It was also learned there that President Getulio Vargas had abhuptly postponed a scheduled visit October 12 with General Edelmiro Farrell, president of the Argentine regime.

Repudiates Pledges

Acting Secretary of State Dean Acheson disclosed the U. S. view on the Argentine situation. Twice during his 30-minute news conference he asserted that the United States believed Argentina not only had failed to fulfill its hemisphere commitments, but had completely repudiated them.

He referred to the obligations undertaken by Argentina when it signed the final acts adopted by the other American republics at Mexico City last March.

He reminded newsmen that those acts included provisions for seizing enemy property; acting against enemy nationals; furthering democratic principles, and restoring such rights as freedom of the press.

Wouldn't Make Sense

Acheson said it would make no sense at all for the United States to sit down to draft a military alliance with a government which had repudiated the principles on which the alliance was founded. He indicated the United States would not press for any particular action against Argentina, but said the situation called for the combined thought of all of the other Americas.

It was believed significant that the tough U. S. attitude toward Argentina was adopted just five days after the arrival in Washington of Spruille Braden, who had been ambassador in Buenos Aires for the last four months.

The stocky diplomat appeared in closed sessions before the Senate Foreign Relations committee with Acheson for the second day in a row, but the senators did not vote on his nomination to be assistant secretary of state for Latin American affairs.

No Time For Dallying

Industrial Meeting Needed Now

WARNING that economic collapse and chaos may occur in the United States by November because of labor disputes, Ira Mosher, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, is urging immediate convocation of the National Labor-Management conference scheduled for November 5.

"If the labor-management conference is going to lay the ground-work to stop industrial tie-ups," Mosher said, "the sooner it gets busy the better, because all other agencies and Congress are apparently deferring any effort until the conference tries its hand."

In urging that the conference be held immediately, Mosher is suggesting a course of action that has not met previously with general approval on the part of automobile manufacturers an dothers. The automobile magnates, as a whole, have strongly opposed the idea of a management-labor charter. They fought it when it was first proposed by Eric A. Johnston, president of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, and they have not changed their minds in spite of its present sponsorship by President Truman.

These industrialists fear that negotiation of such an agreement may stop them from seeking amendments to many of the existing labor laws, which, they contend, have been framed and administered in a one-sided manner. Because the New Deal administration has consistently favored organized labor, many of the big manufacturers have expressed themselves as suspicious that the suggested set-up will give labor new advantages over them.

Certain labor groups are also scared of the proposed arrangement and the Executive committee of the American Federation of Labor refused to approve Johnston's proposal for a management-labor charter, although AFL President William Green signed his name in support of it. Green gave his written approval before consulting his associates and they declined to go along with him.

In spite of the mutual suspicion that management and labor are showing for each other and the generally unsettled labor condition throughout the nation, there are growing indications that their leaders will frame a charter, pledging themselves to settle all differences in an orderly manner during the immediate postwar period.

Labor will insist on the right to strike, and will object to any suggestion of "compulsory arbitration." But a majority of the solid, substantial unionists deplore continued industrial strife.

So it appears possible that a peaceful plan for avoiding labor conflict may be worked out through the President's suggestion.

It's A Peculiar Order

FROM Tokyo comes the surprising news that American military police in the Tokyo area have been forbidden to carry sidearms.

Next, we can expect an order prohibiting our soldiers from making faces at the Japs, if such an order has not been already issued.

Several years ago, George Creel, when he was police commissioner in Denver, issued an order, banning Denver policemen from carrying revolvers while on duty. The order did not last long.

And while one can expect rules of that sort from politicians, who wish to please certain segments of the voting population, one does not expect similar orders from military officials. It is true that the London "Bobbies" maintained order in that great metropolis for generations with only their "sticks," and without guns until the war came along and upset some of those queer, London customs.

But there will be many Americans who will wonder why Provost Marshal Brig. Gen. Hugh Hoffman, in charge of the Tokyo military police, has forbidden his men to carry sidearms. Surely, he isn't making this show of softness for political reasons.

The Japs have always thought we were softies and suckers. Perhaps, some of our behavior helps to create the impression.

Marlin Smith's Resignation

AN overwhelming majority of the citizens of Lubbock—including all those well-informer regarding affairs at City hall—will regret the resignation of Marlin R. Smith, jr., as city manager. Yet few, if any, will deny that Mr. Smith's logic is good in preparing to step out of public office as of the first day of next December.

Although there is not now, nor has there been, any "heat" on Mr. Smith as either city engineer or as city manager, the self-effacing, soft-spoken redhead knows that some day there may be, because the public is fickle and sometimes calls for the scalp of even its worthiest servants for no other reason than that "he's been there long enough." That might never have happened to "Red" Smith, who has a talent for getting along with people. But it might have happened to him, as it has to others—and in getting into private business, the field of engineering for which he is well trained and experienced, he is acting with wisdom.

Mr. Smith has done a good job for the City of Lubbock for nearly 20 years, first as city engineer; more recently of city manager. As he has done his work well, he also has built up an enviable reputation both personally and professionally until now, in his early forties, he is ready to challenge the field of consulting engineering with fine prospects for success.

26 MINUTES TO DOOM

XVI

On four different occasions Leana Sormi had clocked the time necessary to walk from the Tyler cottage, down a trail, around the curving railroad track and into the old mine shaft to the X-999. It varied only from 19 to 26 minutes.

She had, therefore, only to set an arbitrary hour for Carolyn to be inside the shaft. Then she could time herself accordingly, and be at her prepared station on the far side of Mummy Ridge.

She knew that her concealed receiver-generator, wired to set off the dynamite cap, was extremely sensitive. Her transmitter on Mummy Ridge would reach it easily, even through the rock and soil of Tonto Mountain.

This time she had no accomplices, no one but herself to trust. The perfection of the plan gave Leana double satisfaction.

First, it would completely remove that annoying stenographer from the scene, she who had so brazenly intruded upon Leana's and Bob's affairs.

Second, it would "punish" Robert for neglecting her, by destroying the X-999 which he had worked so long to produce.

She was so pleased with herself on this appointed day of victory that she had accepted Robert's impulsive invitation to ride horseback with him and Carolyn.

Why not go? Why not! It would be her hour of triumph over the stupid, unsuspecting Tyler girl!

In preparation, Leana spent almost an hour dressing. Perfecting her hair, she saw that it was literally the spun gold of the love-story heroines. She posed before her mirror—undeniably she possessed form and grace. She leaned closer—her eyes were an alluring gray-blue. Only her cheeks and lips annoyed her. The cheeks were too high, like the Indian cook's, and the lips were definitely large and coarse.

Angrily, she knew she could do nothing about either. She hastened to don a most becoming riding costume.

Carolyn experienced a moment of panic when Leana joined them. That Leana had come at all, or that Bob had even asked her, was a distinct surprise.

"How do you DO?" Leana greeted her with astonishing heartiness. It was as if they had been old acquaintances, meeting again after months of separation.

"You look so nice!" Carolyn ventured and meant it.

"But not nearly as sweet and dainty as you. Isn't she the loveliest thing, Robert, dear?"

Robert, dear, it developed, was quite in agreement. In truth he was delighted that the two girls were so companionable. He recalled now that they hadn't cultivated much of a friendship as yet.

"I could make thousands of men jealous this afternoon," he said.

"Goodness, Bob!" Carolyn was nervous, but pleased.

"Dr. Hale is gallant," Leana supplied. "But tell me more about yourself, Miss Tyler. Do you have scientific leanings also? Or have you been trained more extensively in the fine arts?" She spoke loftily.

Carolyn tried not to show that she was ill at ease. "Oh, no. I did go through college. Junior college, I mean. But I—I had to work after that. I had to work my way through junior college in fact. I don't mean I'm ashamed of that, but I—I mean—"

It sounded so lame as to be embarrassing. Why was she allowing this woman to annoy her? But she didn't answer her own question; she only knew that Leana Sormi had re-awaked in her a vague but positive fear. Fear of the unknown; an imperative, urgent sense of alarm.

The two hours' ride dragged like two centuries. Leana kept up her astonishing conversation. Arty, highbrow talk, not quite posey but definitely superior, drawing constantly if unlabeled contrast between her own distniguished achievements and Carolyn's meager education and career.

When the trip was over and they were back at their little village stables again, they separated with a certain forced merriment. Carolyn walked straight home. It was after 5 o'clock, she noted. Her mother was mixing a chocolate cake and, oddly, it didn't interest Carolyn, who also loved to cook. She just sat and stared at the floor for 20 minutes or so—and was surprised again when Leana Sormi called her from out front. She went to th eporch. Leana was still on her horse.

"Oh, Miss Tyler," Leana began. "Robert asked me to bring a confidential message. He wants you to meet him in the tunnel at 6 o'clock, please. It seemed to be important."

Carolyn was mildly surprised. "At—6?"

Leana nodded. "Yes. He thought it best to meet there while most of the village is at the dinner hour." Leana spoke significantly. "You understand. At the — substance. I think I shall ride a bit more myself. Another time we can go together, maybe!"

The older girl rode away. When Carolyn had changed from her riding clothes she started to walk down to the trail and around the bend that led to the Tonto Mountain tunnel. She was curious. She looked for Bob but didn't see him, so probably he had already gone in.

From across a canyon Leana watched Carolyn depart. She noted the exact time on her wrist watch. Then she rode her horse on around Mummy Ridge out of sight.

After exactly 26 minutes she pressed a switch on the transmitter she had concealed.

Looking At Life ------ By Erich Brandeis

A NEW kind of black market is flourishing in the Hydefabad section of India, since the provincial legislature passed a law stipiating that $700 is the limit which a bridgegroom's family may demand from the bride's parents as a dowry.

According to a dispatch from Karachi, families with marriageable sons say that the legal limit is too low. Hence many marriages are now being arranged in the black market with dowries ranging up to $8,000.

BRANDEIS

To us here in America the thought of "buying" a husband for your daughter seems not only strange but abhorrent. Marriage should be a matter of love, we say, and nothing as mercenary as a financial consideration should enter into it. Yet, when the daughter's intended proposes, he is supposed to get her parents' consent.

Mother is usually rather easy to convince. If the boy is good-looking and clean and intelligent and from a decent family, she will most likely say "Yes."

But then comes father. He wants to know all about the boy. What is his job? How much money does he make? Has he anything in the savings bank? What is his future?

Isn't that somewhat commercial? And isn't it perfectly proper that it be that way?

Marriage, according to my dictionary, means two things:

(1) The act of getting married.

(2) The state of being married.

One word, but what entirely different definitions!

The act of getting married should be accompanied by romance, soft music, flowers, and fleecy dreams.

The state of being married is something altogether different. Love and romance, by all means. But there are also bills to pay—every week and every month and every year.

Unfortunately grocers and butchers and cobblers and laundries don't accept love and romance in payment. They want cash.

So, girls, don't think your father mercenary if he asks your fiance a few questions about his financial responsibilty. In the first place he is doing it in your interest. In the second place he is acting in his own. It's difficult enough nowadays to support your own family without having a son-in-law to feed as well.

AND, by the way, in India, and in Europe as well, the man gets the dowry and it's really the woman who pays. Still, come to think of it, there used to be a time when European noblemen brought enormous prices in the American marriage market.

'But nowadays we ain't worth a dime a dozen," a German count remarked to me yesterday as he thanked me for the 25-cent tip I gave him for serving my breakfast.

More Scandal Is Bared

Admiral Broken For Being Right

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

NEW and amazing details about the rebuking and shelving of Admiral J. K. Taussig for his blunt discussion of Japan's war aims has come to light as the Congressional Pearl Harbor board makes plans for its inquiry. This and many similar incidents are significant now because they reveal how our naval and military experts were muzzled for political and diplomatic considerations.

Admiral Taussig, who then commanded the Fifth Naval district and the Naval Operating base at Norfolk, appeared before the Senate Naval Affairs committee on April 15, 1940, to discuss a bill authorizing the construction of 62 warships.

As a former member of the faculty of the Naval War college, assistant Chief of Operations and a contributor to official magazines, he was recognized as an authority on the Far East. He also explained that much of his testimony was based on a two-year correspondence with Admiral Yarnell, former commander of our Asiatic Squadron.

TUCKER

The plain-spoken sea dog forecast a war with Japan unless the United States kept its fleet so strong that Tokyo dared not engage us ,and laid down a program for national security in the Far Eastern danger zone. On the basis of newspaper headlines, President Roosevelt immediately ordered Admiral Harold R. Stark, then Chief of Naval Operations, to retire Taussig on half-pay instead of the usual allotment of three-quarters.

Stark persuaded FDR to lighten the sentence, and the Senate witness was let off with a reprimand. But he was soon retired, and, despite his admitted familiarity with conditions in the Orient, he sat out the early years of the conflict in his home near Norfolk.

He was brought back to active duty in 1943 as a member of the Procurement Review board. He now serves on the Clemency and Prison Inspection board. In neither role did he have any voice on strategy or operations.

WARNING: Admiral Taussig's predictions were borne out by Japan's Pearl Harbor attack and subsequent events. Indeed, committee members have since congratulated him on his analysis, and expressed regret that the State and Navy departments, which officially repudiated his testimony, had not heeded his warnings.

After reading the Tanaka Memorial, in which the Japanese premier in 1927 urged eventual conquest of Manchuria, Mongolia, China, India, Central Asia, the Archipelago, and "even Europe," Admiral Taussig showed how Tokyo had embarked on this program. Warning that the Jap navy would be no pushover, he urged increased aid to China in keeping with our promises, fortification of the Philippines and Guam and maintneance of the 5-5-3 naval ratio with England and Japan. He said:

"In regard to our national policy in the Far East, my personal views are—and I wish to emphasize 'personal':

"First, if we are to remain at peace, it is essential that we be strong enough to make Japan afraid to involve us in war.

"Second, in order to be strong enough, we must not noly continue to maintain a fleet superior to Japan's in the ratio of 5 to 3 or greater, but we must also build an impregnable base in the Philippines and fortify Guam sufficiently to make its capture impossible; and improve our merchant marine.

"Third, in view of our lack of knowledge concerning Japan's building programs, th only way we can be certain of maintaining the 5 to 3 ratio in fleet strength is to continue building battleships, which vessels should be bigger and better thany any which Japan may be building.

"Fourth, we should make an agreement with Great Britain, France and Holland that will insure cooperation in the maintenance of the status quo in the area to the southward of Formosa."

Regardless of where the blame may lie for the blunders on Pearl Harbor day itself, or in the preceding week, some Senate investigators want to know why not one of these recommendations was carried out—and why the officer who advanced them was disciplined for the duration of the war he forecast.

CLARK: Former Sen. D. Worth Clark of Idaho is under serious consideration as a possible successor to Harold Ickes. The Secretary of the Interior is expected to resign of his own volition soon after his return from negotiating a new Anglo-American petroleum treaty in London. There are reports that he may become industry's fuel czar at a handsome salary.

The Idahoan was a close friend of President Truman when they served together in the Senate. He was defeated last year in a three-cornered primary. Although a rabid isolationist during the early days of the European war and an opponent of many Rooseveltian policies, his stand may be no bar to his appointment. He was not so extreme an opponent of the New Deal and FDR's foreign policy as ex-Sen. Bennett Clark of Missouri, who was recently given a federal judgeship.

Clark and Ickes are old friends, too. In fact, as soon as his name was mentioned for the Interior post, the man from ocatello went to see the cabinet member and explained that he was not seeking the place, if it meant the ousting of the incumbent. Ickes appreciated this show of consideration and confided that he planned to quit anyway.

TEXAS
By Gordon Sheser

AUSTIN—Panola county land owners who complain about improvident contracts for natural gas royalty in the huge Carthage field are not alone in the realization that great potential values have been sold for a fraction of their worth.

Take the State of Texas itself. The legislature thought it had made a good bargain when it gave 3,000,000 acres of the public land in exchange for the building of the state capitol which now is more than half a century old.

That 3,000,000 acres has been valued at more than $60,000,000 since the contract was made and carried out.

Thn there were the celebrated road contracts which Dan Moody had set aside when he was attorney general.

Gov. Coke R. Stevenson, generally looked upon as a good trader, says that it is the usual thing for early contracts in wildcat petroleum territory to develop injustices. He recalls that in his home county court action resulted in revision of many such contracts.

On th other hand, the state has on occasions made agreements that it later found were too hard on the other party. As a result it has by legislative action liberalized its treatment of land purchasers and has even permitted those who occupy more of the state land than accurate surveys show to be theirs, to have priority in purchasing th extra acres.

AID: State departments receiving federal aid have a double accounting job. The state's fiscal year runs from September 1 of one calendar year to August 31 of the next calendar year. Records kept on that basis, however, do not fit into the federal accounting. The U. S. government's fiscal year runs from July 1 of one year to June 30 of the next year.

The Public Welfare Department has to have its rolls of persons to be aided ,and the amounts to be granted, ready for submissio nto the federal matching agency on the 20th of the month before the grant

INFANTS: During the federal fiscal year for which the state Department of Health has recently completed reports, about 44,000 infant and maternity cases were cared for under the Emergency War act.

The care was supervised by the State Department of Health but the federal government paid 2,905,407 for it during the year an da half covered in the report. The uneven time is due to the activity having become effective at the end of 1943.

Two Phases Of Argument Confront Nation

Control Of Atomic Bomb Debated

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—A great debate is now going on about what to do with the atomic bomb.

This is divided into two phases. One relates to control of it as a weapon—whether we should try to keep the secret, or whether it should be entrusted to some sort of international body under the United Nations organization.

The other relates to the practical application of the atomic principle in our every-day life.

Significant in discussion of the second phase is the seeming general acceptance of the principle that the people, through their government, should have control of this new and amazing source of energy. The object is its development for the best interests of all so that it will not be monopolized to make excessive profits, at a high cost to the public.

STOKES

This, when you consider it, is almost as revolutionary as the discovery of the atomic principle itself. It is revolutionary because it has been the general rule that social adjustment to new inventions lags years behind the inventions themselves.

Control Is Unusual

It is revolutionary, too, because this principle of control of a source of energy by the people, in effect, never before has been accepted or adopted at the outset in our country. It was not done with electricity, nor with gas, oil, nor steam.

These were developed privately, at first with no control, but later and gradually with some public regulation. Monopolies grew up which levied upon the public. Excessive rates for services were charged, same extortionate. They became so powerful economically and socially that they were able to invade political realm and protect themselves, at least for a long time, from regulation. They were more powerful than the government ostensibly representing the people, whether in state or nation.

THOSE of us who have been about this city for the last quarter of a century have watched the rugged, uphill battle by government agencies, representing the people, to bring the purveyors of energy developed from our natural resaurces under some sort of control so that the public interest was considered.

It was bold—and almost naive—for the late Sen. George W. Norris (Neb.) to stand up in the Senate 20 years ago, when he was beginning his fight for public regulation of the electric power industry, and assert that, after all, electricity came from the air and belonged to the people.

Then we learned how the "power trust," as Senator Norris called it, had wormed its way not only into politics, so that politicians bent the knee, but also into the almost sacred preserves of public education. It was getting its propaganda into school textbooks so that the minds of the oncoming generation would be conformed to its interests.

Much has been achieved in the way of regulation, but the fight still goes on.

Watchfulness Urged

It seems, in the case of atomic energy, that we are determined to start right this time, to benefit from what has gone on before. It seems, at least, to be the public inclination. But it will take constant watchfulness as we go into this new age.

The atomic discovery, indeed, has opened a whole new world. It would appear, from acceptance of the basic principle of public responsibility and control of this new energy source, that this is being recognized.

ALL sort of means of public control are being suggested. The whole subject will be canvassed in public hearings beginning in a few days on bills for a government scientific research foundation before the Special Military Affairs subcommittee headed by Sen. Harley Kilgore (D., W. Va.).

Senator McMahon (D., Conn.), in a recent speech, advocated the creation of a government board to develop, control and supervise the use and application of atomic energy, with authority to license its use to all comers on an equal basis, and thus provide for its development under the private enterprise system.

"I appreciate," he said, "that this government board will have a tremendous power, but I would rather have this power in the hands of the chosen servants of the people whose will they would be obligated to carry out than in the hands of a predatory and grasping few over whom we should have little, if any, control."

John Boles Spends Night In Childress

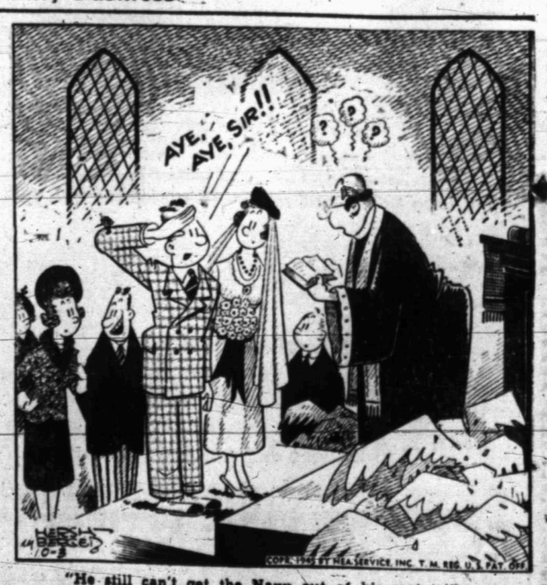

CHILDRESS, Oct. 3. (U.P.)—John Boles, the famous stage and screen actor, stopped in Childress Tuesday night and was obliged to stay in a private home because of the overcrowded hotel conditions.

Boles, on his way to Beverly Hills, Calif., with his wife and daughter after the closing of his play, "One Touch of Venus" on Broadway, said he had no plans for the immediate future other than resting and playing golf.

KRAUT CONTROLS TO GO

WASHINGTON, Oct. 3. (AP) — Canned and bulked sauerkraut will be removed from price control in a few days, OPA an dthe Agriculture department said this year's cabbage crop is estimated to about 70 per cent larger than last year's.

Soviet Demands For Part In Jap Policy Now Coming Out Into Open

By JAMES D. WHITE
Associated Press Staff Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 3 (AP)—The possible major part which Russian interests in the Pacific played at the foreign ministers council in London is just now coming fully to light.

Until the last, reports from London indicated that the meeting was deadlocked largely over a question of whether China and France were to be dealt in on peace terms to Axis countries in the Balkans.

WHITE

The U. S. and Britain said yes, China and France were Big Five powers and ought to sit in. Russia said no, because neither China nor France had declared war on the Balkan countries concerned, nor had signed armistice terms with them.

Demand Part In Japan

The meeting actually ended with publication of a Russian demand that a four-power control council be set up, now, to rule Japan. This would go far beyond the consultative commission to direct Allied long-range policy toward Japan which Secretary of State Byrnes had proposed on Sept. 29.

Moscow now reveals that the Soviets had proposed as early as Sept. 24 that Russia be dealt in, now, on a four-power council to control Japan's current affairs, presumably like the one for Germany that functions in Berlin.

Regarding the largely American occupation of Japan, the Russian press had voiced some criticism of what has been happening or allegedly not been happening in Japan since General MacArthur assumed supreme authority in the name of all the Allied powers. On the whole this criticism is probably no more outspoken than what some of the American press itself has been saying.

Reasons For Demand

Russia's interests in the Pacific—her long frontier with China, her commercial and shipping frontier in Siberia and the new outlet through Manchuria, and the fact that Japan lies across her back door-step—are behind this stronger stand.

The way the London conference ended makes it plain Russia wants to get down to cases, and that her bargaining area reaches from the Mediterranean to the Pacific.

Hugh B. McCoy Freed From Japanese Camp

ABERNATHY, Oct. 3. (Special)—When Mr. and Mrs. M. J. McCoy of Abernathy had almost given up hope of news of the liberation of their son, S/Sgt Hugh B. McCoy, prisoner since the fall of Corregidor, came to them.

The parents were notified by the War Department Tuesday and on the same day they received a cablegram from Sgt. McCoy. "I am free, well and will be home soon," he informed the happy couple.

The family had waited and prayed so long for the good news that when the messenger boy delivered the telegram, he had to assure the parents he brought good tidings before they would accept it.

"I felt like I couldn't stand any more and I just told the boy I didn't want the telegram," Mrs. McCoy confided. When they were assured it contained good news the father said, "Lou, I guess we'd better take it."

"We've waited 45 months to tell the people our son is free and here we are crying Let's get out and tell the neighbors," Mr. McCoy said.

The news was spread around and soon the neighbors gathered to rejoice with the family.

Sgt. McCoy was with the regular Army in the Philippines two years before Pearl Harbor. He was captured at Corregidor and was liberated from a camp in Japan.

He has five sisters, Mrs. Tom Cannon, a nurse at West Texas hospital, Mrs. O. C. Southall of 2622 Twenty-seventh, Mrs. George Waits of Abernathy, Mrs. John Whitaker of Big Spring and Mrs. Homer Hamilton of Rule and one brother, Jim McCoy, of Stanton
