Burkburnett, one of the 10 national finalists, is preparing to roll out the red carpet Tuesday, when it will host the panel of judges in the community improvement program contest co-sponsored by the Sears-Roebuck Foundation and the General Federation of Women's Clubs.

From the time of their arrival by private plane at 2 p.m. Tuesday, until the conclusion of the interviews at 5:30, the judges will find that every moment has been planned to portray Burk Burnett's record in community co-operation and community improvement.

Upon their airport arrival, the judges will be serenaded by the 85-piece Burk Burnett High School Band.

Greeting the judges at the airport will be State Sen. Jack Hightower of Vernon, Mrs. F. M. ## INCREASINGLY AWARE

An officer of a midwestern electric utility, in reporting on a public opinion survey, recently said: "The public is becoming increasingly aware that it is a misconception to believe that only the federal government can furnish a plentiful supply of power at low cost. More and more people . . . are also losing the mistaken impression that only government can do research in the power field and that only government has the best interests of the public at heart."

There is every reason why this should be the case. For one thing, in this era of endless and unpredictable federal deficits and increased inflation, more of us looking at degenerating dollars, are becoming adamantly opposed to government spending tax dollars for any project that can be undertaken by taxpaying private enterprise. For another, the record of the investor-owned utility industry in providing the best service at declining rates has been sufficient to reassure the most skeptical among us. For still another, the industry has been responsible for technological advances of the utmost importance.

On top of that, the investor-owned industry's willingness and ability to expand on a dramatic scale has produced a thoroughly-earned public confidence. Just recently, for instance, one seven-state power system announced a $300 million program for additional generating capacity. A northeastern utility announced plans for a $60 million power plant. A northern company will build a new nuclear plant, also costing $60 million. And the combined electric utilities of New England will spend $1.5 billion by 1973 on what amounts to the largest construction program in the region's history.

No wonder the general public, which pays the bills for all government projects, is becoming increasingly aware that there is absolutely no need for socialized power.

HARD ON THE TAXPAYERS

It is probable that comparatively few of us remember the circumstances surrounding the creation of the Rural Electrification Administration. The great depression was in full swing. While large numbers of farms had been provided with electric service by the pioneering efforts of investor-owned utilities, a great many others couldn't be for economic reasons. The costs, measured by normal business standards and practices, would be out of sight. So the government-financed REA was born to fill the gap.

In the ensuing years, due to the work of both the REA co-ops and the private utilities, farm electrification in this country has been virtually completed — some 98 per cent of our farms now use or have access to central station power. This means that REA's real job has now been accomplished. Yet REA isn't at all deterred by that fact. Co-op after co-op has been moving or attempting to move into service areas, industrial and suburban, that have no rational connection with rural electrification.

REA always wants more money — taxpayer's money. It has asked for a new loan authorization of $220 million for fiscal 1967, to which would be added a carry over of $50 million for fiscal 1966. These funds would be loaned to the co-ops at the subsidized figure of 2 per cent — about half what the Treasury pays on its borrowings. In addition, it is expected that supplemental financing thru other sources will be available for co-ops able to pay more than 2 per cent. Annual loan requirements are expected to rise about $700 million by 1980.

One wonders what the taxpayers at large — faced with huge federal deficits, more inflation, and higher taxes — think of financing more not needed, tax favored, public power plants.

Dr. Donald F. Huelke made a four-year study of all fatal accidents in a Michigan county, in which 180 people were killed. He reports that "more than half the drivers who were at fault had been drinking."

In absolute darkness, the human eye can detect the light of a candle 144 miles away. Its sensitivity is 300,000 times greater than the finest light-receiving apparatus.

An editorial statement in the Chicago Tribune says: "Negotiation is a magic word to pacifists and those who openly or covertly support the communists cause. But negotiation is an infinite danger to the United States. The lesson must constantly be in mind that one can win no more at the conference table than he is able to win on the battlefield."

Local Writer To Have Story In Reader's Digest

Sheppard AFB — While most writers build large collections of rejection slips before having their work published, Penni Hayden, 19, had her first effort accepted by a national magazine.

Penni, whose father is a retired Air Force major and now an aircraft maintenance instructor at Sheppard Air Force Base, has been notified that Reader's Digest will publish her 300 word article, "Campus Life."

She wrote the composition for a freshman English assignment while attending Amarillo College, Amarillo, Tex., in 1965. Her professor felt the composition had merit and suggested more work on it before submission to the Digest.

Penni was informed that the article will be published in about three months and that she will receive $100 for her work. The young writer joined her parents here in July 1965 after completing a year and a half of work at Amarillo College. She is employed by the Francis Company in Wichita Falls, and plans to resume her college education this fall, majoring in radio and tv production.

She resides with her parents at 1303 Elizabeth St., Burkburnett.

 A. Children of living veterans who are rated 100 percent disabled because of disability incurred in service are not eligible for education benefits if their husband's disability is not eligible.
 Q. What is the difference between "compensation" and "pension" payments made monthly by the VA?
 A. Compensation payments are made to eligible veterans or their survivors for incurred in military service. Pension payments are made to veterans with total and permanent nonservice-connected disability, and to eligible or deceased war-time veterans whose death was due to military service.

By Mary Whitman

Cards are royally good entertainment for any age. Children have their own favorite card sets — Animal Rummy, Authors and such — but they soon go on to grown-up decks.

Kings and queens and jacks become as familiar as the juvenile pictures on their early play sets. Card playing remains a popular pastime all through the years.

Did you know that various attempts have been made to change playing card designs?

A useful book called Card Games for Children, published by Whitman Publishing Company of Racine, Wis., contains many game ideas and fills us in on some card lore, too.

For instance, when Americans began to print their own decks it was decided to do away with all traces of monarchy. One patriotic manufacturer used the picture of George Washington as President of Hearts, while John Adams' picture replaced the King of Diamonds, and Franklin and Lafayette headed Clubs and Spades. The goddesses of Love, Wisdom, Fortune and Harvest substituted for the four Queens. Four Indian chiefs replaced the Knaves.

But English cards were so popular that the democratic deck never made headway. Today we still use the fifty-two-card pack with its colorful old symbols.

One of the simple games preschoolers can play with the standard deck is war. A pack is divided and stacked face down. The object is to win all. Each youngster plays a top card and the high takes the others.

Decks of cards are always in favor for fortune-telling. Making up fortunes adds to the fun. Magic tricks, too, are easy to learn with brief instructions and a fresh deck for practice.

Luckily, cards are widely available at local stores, and if you bring a new deck home you'll get a cheering reception.

Kings and Queens enjoy a happy reign in the household hobby room.

Home Builders Class Met April 13th In Wright Home

The Home Builders Class of the Methodist Church met in the home of Rev. and Mrs. Wright on April 13th for the friendship party.

Mrs. R. H. Henry our president selected the opening song all singing, "More about Jesus," with Mrs. Wright at the piano.

The devotional was given by Mrs. Jessie Jones, reading the eighth chapter of Psalms, the subject, God is everywhere, Mrs. R. E. Hodges, Sr., gave a reading on "What Religion Means to Me," and a poem on the love that a mother and daughter can share together. Mrs. Gragg said the prayer. Those present were Mmes. Revire, Kelly, Bruce, Henry, Hodges, Grace, Glopher, Gragg, Jones, Gilbert, Miss Mabelle Gladden. We were glad to have our new member, Mrs. Starnes to meet with us.

We welcome all members. Mrs. Wright was a delightful hostess during the social hour, she served a nice refreshment plate.

We had a wonderful friendship. I'm sure each one realize that this is the time of year for the violet with its velvety petals, has long been the symbol of lasting friendship. Once in a while a friend is found who is a friend right from the start, then once in a while a friendship is made that really warms the heart, once in a while a friendship is formed to last a life time though, it really does happen, just once in a while. It has happened here in our Home Builders Sunday School Class.

Third place winners were Gordon Hamlin, slide rule; Doug Danford, 880; Kevin Miller, Mike Grabfelder, Gordon Hamlin and Mike Schroeder, golf; and Bill Roe, broad jump.

Theta Epsilon Group Of Epsilon Sigma Meets In Tullis Home

Students of the First Methodist Kindergarten and their guests enjoyed a lovely Easter Party and egg hunt on April 7.

Students used Easter Baskets which they had made earlier in the week.

After all eggs were found the children came into the Fellowship Hall where prizes were given to: Scott Allen Sheetz, most eggs; Tom Garland, least eggs; Jimmy Boardman, prize egg.

Refreshments were served to all from a beautifully decorated table. Each child also received a favor of a small filled Easter basket.

Chairman of the Easter party was Mrs. D. E. Jones, with Mrs. Thomas Coats and Mr. Ben Simes, her most able assistants.

THIS PATTERN IS CHILD'S PLAY!

Next time you're feeling playful, why not make some stuffed toys for your favorite youngsters? That famous cast of characters from Walt Disney's new movie "Winnie-the-Pooh," for example, can be as much fun to sew as to play with.

In McCall's Pattern #8087, you'll find the beloved menagerie from A.A. Milne's classic tales: Piglet, Tigger, Eeyore, Kanga and Roo and, of course, Pooh himself, who shapes up as a toy that any small child would bear-hug almost constantly.

As pictured by McCall's designers, Pooh and friends are a colorful group. Winnie-the-Pooh can be made from gold terry cloth and outfitted with a red shirt. Tigger seems more cuddly than carnivorous in orange velvet or velveteen striped with a black felt-tipped marker.

A winsome pink Piglet can be fashioned from sturdy cotton or linen; make his rompers from gay orange-and-pink striped fabric. Use dark gray cotton for wistful Eeyore, the donkey; his tail, brightened with a red bow, buttons on. Kanga and baby Roo are of brown cotton; the mauve fabric that makes Kanga's pouch can line the perky ears of this marsupial pair.

If you are toying with the idea of bringing Pooh Corner to your home, Pattern #8087 tells how much synthetic stuffing is needed for each animal. Chances are that Pooh and company will be child's play--for you and your family.

Civil Air Patrol Expands Program

ELLINGTON AFB, Tex. — Col. Joe L. Mason, USAF, national commander of the Civil Air Patrol, has announced an expansion of the organization's cadet flying program for 1966. Three locations, Elmire, N.Y., Chester, S.C., and Lawton, Okla., have been selected for the program.

"The initial flight training program for American youth which provided flight instruction for 28 cadets last year at Elmire, N.Y., was so successful that we have increased the expenditure of Civil Air Patrol funds from $20,000 to $56,710 and increased the number of cadets, both boys and girls, to 124 this year," Colonel Mason said.

Designed to qualify the cadets for Federal Aviation Agency certification as powered aircraft and glider pilots, the Civil Air Patrol cadet flying program is expected to help alleviate the critical pilot shortage facing the nation's general aviation fleet in the next decade.

Colonel Mason said the program was initiated to overcome the three main deterrents keeping American youth from pursuing aviation careers: lack of money to enter flight training; lack of contact with pilots and aircrafts; and, lack of time due to heavy academic loads.

"The Civil Air Patrol cadet flying program provides the funds and gets the youngsters into the cockpit with a veteran flight instructor. The program is held during the summer to allow the cadets freedom from other studies. The only cost borne by the cadets is for meals during the encampment," he said.

Flight instruction in the private pilot course covers the basic principles of flight in aircraft of the 95-200 horsepower range equipped with tricycle landing gear. Students will also learn basic instrumentation to learn to control the attitude of the aircraft solely by reference to flight instruments.

Those participating in the glider course will receive a minimum of 30 aerotow flights and nine hours of sailplane flight time and will be eligible to qualify for the Federal Aeronautique Internationale (FAI) "C" award. The FAI is an international organization which authenticates flight achievement throughout the world.

The cadets will be selected from virtually each of the 50 states, the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico.

To learn more about your local Civil Air Patrol, all youth between the ages of 13-17 are invited to attend a regular meeting at seven each Thursday evening in Bldg. T-34 Sheppard AFB. The Air Police at the gate will give you directions. For further information, call Sgt. Gates at 569-1924 or Betty Gasperek at 692-1525.

W.S.C.S. Group Has Meeting Recently In Chambers' Home

The Women's Society of Christian Service met with Mrs. Chambers Monday, April 11th, Mrs. Jessie Jones our president, called the group to order with Mrs. Melton giving a prayer.

After a short business session, Mrs. Wright gave the devotional taken from Gal. 3:20, subject being "Reaching out for the Church and what it concerns."

Mrs. Mary Browning had charge of the program. The inclusive Church was the subject with Mrs. Wright assisting.

Refreshments were served to a visitor, Mrs. Maude Hill and Mmes. Wright, Gilbow, Browning, Melton, Russell, Grace, Bruce, Hodges, Jones, Revier, Henry, and the hostess, Mrs. Chambers.

Do You Feel the Real Presence of the Living Christ? Is He not as personal to you as any one you know? If you have your doubts about the Resurrection or other points of faith, doubts your doubts. Keep thinking. And above all live on the level of faith till faith comes.

When we give ourselves to Christ, we are cared for not only in this life but in the life to come. The God who brought Jesus from the grave and gave him life, is the God who gives us life eternal.

Christ is risen, and life has come to all men who are able and willing to follow in the way he lived and taught, this is the meaning of Easter.

VA Says Practically All Benefits Tax Free

The Veterans Administration said today that practically all veterans' benefits are tax-free and need not be reported on income tax returns.

However, interest earned on GI life insurance dividends left on deposit with the VA, is not classed as a benefit but as earned income, and must be reported on tax returns. Proceeds of the GI policy and the dividends themselves are tax-free and need not be reported, according to the VA.

Other VA benefits which are not taxable include education and training allowances, subsistence payments to disabled veterans in vocational rehabilitation training, compensation and pension payments, grants to seriously disabled veterans for "wheelchair" homes and motor vehicles, and all benefits to families of deceased veterans.

MRS. FRYE HOSTS APRIL MEETING OF BURKBURNETT STUDY CLUB

The Burkburnett Study Club met in the home of Mrs. James Frye for their April meeting. The year's theme "Clubwomen Inspire Programs" became a reality as the reports on activities were presented by the members.

Mrs. F. T. Felty, General Chairman of the Public Affairs Department of the club reported on the awards presented at the Santa Rosa District meeting in Vernon. First place in the President's report, total number of Honor Points, Education Department, first place in Library Service Division, Public Affairs Department, 1st place in Communications Division, Crusade for Light Division, National Defense and Veteran's Division, Status of Women's Division, Traffic and Transportation Division and 1st place in Overall Reporting. The Club also received an award for being 100% in subscriptions to The Texas Clubwoman.

Mrs. James Frye, the Club's nominee for "Outstanding Clubwoman" was awarded the title by the Santa Rosa District and will represent them with this honor at the State Convention of Federated Clubs in Lubbock, May 10, 11, 12. Mrs. Harold Van Loh, who compiled the

EVERYBODY LOVES PEANUTS — AND PEANUT COOKIES

At parties, the ball park, the zoo—or wherever people gather for a good time—peanuts are in demand. For Americans of all ages are addicted to peanuts. But it's a good habit—one that nutritionists highly approve—because peanuts furnish valuable nutrients as well as energy.

Many cooks fail to appreciate the versatility of peanuts as a recipe ingredient. The little nuts team well with a wide range of other foods, adding a provocative flavor and distinctive texture that have long been familiar to South American and African cooks.

Planters Dry Roasted Peanuts, with their unusual crispness and tangy taste, are irresistible whether eaten by the handful, or used in recipes. Here they lend their flavor and texture to a thin, crisp cookie that is delicately spiced with cinnamon.

To grate peanuts for Planters Cinnamon Wafers, use a blender, a crank-style nut grater, or seal the nuts in a plastic bag and crush with a rolling pin.

PLANTERS CINNAMON WAFERS

- 4 egg whites
- 1 1/4 cups sugar
- 2 cups grated Planters Dry Roasted Peanuts
- 1/2 teaspoon vanilla
- 3/4 teaspoon salt
- 3/4 teaspoon cinnamon

Beat egg whites on a frothy. Gradually beat in sugar and continue beating until very stiff and glossy. Fold in grated Planters Dry Roasted Peanuts, vanilla, salt and cinnamon. Drop heaping teaspoonful 2 inches apart onto baking sheets covered with ungreased paper. Bake in a slow oven (325° F.) about 20 minutes, or until cookies are set and lightly browned. Immediately remove from baking sheets. Makes about 3 dozen cookies.

Press Book for the club won the Sweepstakes in this division. Chairman of the Steering Committee for the Sears-Robuck Community Improvement Program, Mrs. Frye reported that Burkburnett was one of the top ten communities in the Nation. April 19th, Burkburnett will extend a warm welcome to the ten judges who will arrive by private plane to meet the interested citizens who have worked on this project and to judge their accomplishments.

Mrs. Van Loh, who recently attended the Governors conference in Austin concerning library activities, gave a report on this meeting. She also gave a summary of the Burkburnett Library Progress report and plans for the future and organization of the Friends of the Library. The purpose of this group will be to keep the library constantly progressive. The members were asked to observe Library Week, April 17-23.

Mrs. Frye, President-elect of the Burkburnett Study Club for 1966-67 announced the following department chairmen. Fine Arts Department, General Chairman, Mrs. James Boerner; Crafts, Mrs. George McClarty and Mrs. D. H. Smith; Literature Drama, Mrs. Francis Felty and Mrs. W. T. Zimmerman; Cultural Heritage, Mrs. Hugh Preston, Jr. and Mrs. M. E. Bean; Public Speaking, Mrs. E. D. Potter and Mrs. W. H. Preston; Music, Mrs. Jack Smith and Mrs. P. A. Carpenter; Art and Hallmark Scholarship, Mrs. F. C. Royce and Mrs. Lammoin Champ.

Mrs. Howard Henderson presented the program which included Mrs. Van Loh's report, Safety Speaking by Mrs. M. E. Bean and American Women Today "The Story of Women's Progress in a Free Society" by Mrs. W. T. Zimmerman.

Any tax policy that discourages reforestation and good forest management in East Texas, is not in the best public interest according to the Texas Forestry Association.

Heat 'N Serve Dish For Baby Feeding

Even though every week is baby week, a national celebration in May reports on all the good things available for baby. Keeping baby happy calls for generous portions of love, gentle care, sound sleep and, of course, good food.

Mother has the responsibility of selecting and serving food in the most appetizing and sanitary way. Books have been written on baby feeding methods, but the "do's" and "don'ts" should be flexible. Each baby has individual requirements, so the best advice on diet should come from a doctor.

A wide variety of ready-to-serve baby foods makes it easy to plan a well-balanced diet. Most foods must be warmed because baby is sensitive to foods at right temperatures. When studies were made in the test kitchens of General Electric Housewares, a Heat 'N Serve Baby Dish was devised to keep foods warm automatically for about 30 minutes. The slowest water can enjoy food all through the feeding. Each of the three food compartments holds up to a full jar of baby food (4 1/2 oz.). After the food is heated, the cord may be detached.

Dad will appreciate the baby dish when he's in charge. Cereal and milk can be mixed right in the dish to eliminate extra pans. A large suction cup on the bottom of the dish holds it securely so that baby cannot move it. Colorful animal figures on the bottom of the food sections help Dad to keep baby entertained.

Here's a baby food tip: after opening baby food jars and removing the amount to be fed, jars with remaining food should be recovered and refrigerated. After feeding, the G-E baby dish can be washed in warm water with a mild soap or detergent.

BEST WAY

Coffee Time Treat

Sparkling canned sweet cherries show through the lattice top of this delicate rich coffee cake. Use either the canned Bing or Lambert's or the light Royal Anne sweet cherries, and their flavors are similar and may be used interchangeably.

Cherry Coffee Cake is made from a rich yeast dough, enough to spread in the baking pan. Additional flour is used in a portion of the dough so it may be rolled into strips for the lattice top. Egg yolk brushed over the top gives a beautiful golden glaze. Wonderful, served warm and fragrant for breakfast or afternoon coffee time.

Cherry Coffee Cake

- 1 (1 lb.) can pitted light or dark sweet cherries
  - 1 package yeast
  - 1/4 cup warm water
  - 1/2 cup butter
  - 3/4 cup sugar
  - 1 teaspoon salt
  - 2 eggs
  - 1/2 cup milk
  - 2 3/4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
  - 1/4 cup orange marmalade
- Drain cherries and set aside. Dissolve yeast in warm water. Cream butter, sugar and salt. Beat eggs slightly, reserving tablespoon for topping. Add remaining eggs to creamed mixture. Beat well. Add milk and yeast alternately with 2 1/2 cups flour, reserving 1/4 cup flour for use later. Mix, but do not beat. Dough will be soft.
- Set aside about 1 cup dough for lattice top. Spread remaining dough in greased 9-inch square baking pan. Spread orange marmalade over dough. Arrange well-drained cherries over top. Work reserved 1/4 cup flour into remaining cup of dough so it may be rolled into 6 strips for lattice top. Arrange strips over top and brush lattice with reserved egg. Cover and let rise for 1 hour. Bake in 400-degree oven for 15 minutes. Reduce heat to 350 degrees; continue to bake for 25 to 30 minutes or until done. Makes 9 to 12 servings.

Spring Cleaning Safety

Spring is that time of the year when a young man's mind turns to fancy and a woman's to housecleaning.

But Sentry Insurance warns that spring cleaning is not only a dreary necessity, it can be a hazardous undertaking if certain precautions are not followed. Here are a few safety tips:

- Avoid using a naphtha-type rug cleaner in a poorly ventilated room. Naphtha fumes are extremely dangerous to inhale and can cause serious injury.
- Don't try to move heavy furniture yourself. It's a two- or three-man job. If necessary, hire a handyman. The few extra dollars spent are well worth it, in terms of your well-being.
- Spread your work over a sufficient period of time. Trying to accomplish too much too quickly can cause accidents and be damaging to your health, as well.
- When waxing floors, use low-luster wax or polish. A glossy surface may cause a slip which results in broken bones.
- Keep youngsters away from working areas. It's an open invitation to disaster. You can accomplish this more easily by cleaning one room at a time.
- Cleaning solutions, such as ammonia, soaps, lye solutions, waxes and polishes, as well as paints, should all be stored out of sight when they're not being used, for your safety as well as your child's. And these should all be properly marked.
- Follow the directions on bottles and cans explicitly. Many cleaning solvents require special handling to be used safely.

Dot books serve many purposes. These are the books in which a child follows numbers or letters with a crayon or pencil to form a picture. The pre-schooler can learn his A-B-C's and 1-2-3's as he plays. Later he can color the pictures he makes, or cut them out, or paste them up. Activity books that contain dot games often have other games a child goes on to. There are mazes: "Get the pioneers through the woods and back to the covered wagon." A child follows the open spaces with a crayon until he achieves the goal. There are picture puzzles: "Find Peter Rabbit in the garden." And he turns the page this way and that until he spots Peter in a row of carrots or a radish patch.

Convenience Foods Speed Meal Preparation

Today's homemaker likes to do her kitchen work quickly and easily, and modern supermarkets abound with convenience foods which enable her to do so. The marketing system has taken over many of the chores that were once done in the kitchen, says Mrs. Gwen Clayett, Texas A&M University Extension consumer marketing specialist. Frozen foods, prepared mixes and complete meals ready for the oven are just a few of the short cuts that await the homemaker at only slightly higher costs. Many homemakers are willing to pay the extra money to free themselves from some of the success of convenience the kitchen chores, judging by foods, says Mrs. Clayett. Currently, good buys in vegetables are cabbage, which is mostly new-crop offerings; carrots, celery, yellow and green onions, radishes, all potatoes except the new ones, rutabagas, turnips, sweet potatoes and tomatoes. Best fruit offerings continue to be apples, grapefruit and oranges. Look for best beef values on round steaks and roasts, ground beef and arm and blade pot roasts and steaks. Although retail pork prices are holding steady at high price levels, good values are to be found on smoked picnics, shoulder roasts and steaks, end-cut pork chops and pork liver. Fryers are in ample supply at economical prices, and Grade A large eggs offer the most quality and economy for your money. Milk, cheese and other dairy foods continue to be good buys for the nutritional value received.

Family Reunion Is Held In Burkburnett

Easter Sunday visitors in the home of Mrs. Ollie Wells and Mrs. Marie Ifland were: Mrs. Wells' sister and niece, Mrs. Griner and Diana of Toledo, Ohio; a niece, Helen and Paul Earnest of Talequah, Oklahoma; a niece, June and Earl Bexler, Duncan, Okla.; a daughter, Mrs. Paul Harrell and Mooneye of Wichita Falls; and the pastor of First Christian Church in Burkburnett, Rev. and Mrs. Jack Gardiner. This was a very wonderful reunion and was thoughtfully enjoyed by everyone. It was the first time the family had all been together in 40 years.

Letter From An Old Church

In my last five letters I have tried to explain the Church, the Ministry, the Sacramental life of the Church, and some of its history. I realize these letters are not a full explanation of the Church and its functions. And I would welcome any or all of those interested, to either write me or call any time for a fuller explanation. Today, I would like to touch upon the relationship of the Episcopal Church, and the Church of the Apostles. In brief it is one and the same. It is the English or Anglican branch of the One True Church of Jesus Christ. It has carried on the same traditions as the Apostles, the same Ministry, the same Sacramental life, and the same teachings. It is in other words the Church of Jesus Christ for the English speaking people of the world. This is not a mere blind statement, it is sure fact, and can be proven in History. There is an element of value in this, for the Episcopal Church has a direct heritage with the past. It has all that is old in Christianity, and it has all that is new, providing that these things or statements can be proven in Scripture and tradition, for one has as much value as the other. We must also consider another important fact today, and that is many of our present day groups who have basically divorced themselves from the Church, consider the church to be a place where the righteous or the saved dwell, and fellowship together. This is not necessarily true. The Apostles realized that all people were winners, and that Jesus gave his teaching to them to try to keep people on the straight and narrow road. Jesus Himself said, that He came not to save the righteous, but the sinners of the world. So the Church of Jesus Christ has always claimed to be a fellowship of people who are sinners, a group of people who needed God's Grace to help them live better lives, because the hardest thing a layman has to do is to listen to the sermon on Sunday morning, and then face the hard cruel world on Monday morning. So really the church is a hospital for sinners, a place where those who need God's help can come, and receive it with understanding and not condemnation for what they have done. You see any Church that claims to have a righteous membership, has lost its usefulness to society, it falls into the same class as the Scribes and Pharisees of our Lord's day and age. One of the ancient services of the Church of Jesus Christ, The Order of Confirmation will be held at St. Joan the Divine Episcopal Church, April 27 at 7:00 p.m. The Order of Confirmation or Laying on of Hands Upon Those that are Baptized and come to Years of Discretion is spoken of in I Timothy 4:14 and Acts 8:14-17 and was continued in the true Church of Christ unto this day. Bishop Theodore McCrea will be present April 27, 7:00 p.m. to convey the gift of Laying on of Hands to those desiring to become members of Christ's Church of which the Episcopal Church is one branch. Please come and witness this very ancient service. God Bless You, The Scribe. 569-2191 For Quality Printing

Braille And Sound Library To Locate In Texas
Plans for a new braille and sound transcription library located in Texas for nation-wide use have been announced by August J. McClary, Fort Worth, president of the board of directors of Christian Education for the Blind, Inc.
McClary said the organization has established a goal of $258,000 in its drive for funds for the library. The repository will include 83,000 volumes and discs of interdenominational Christian writings and sacred music for circulation without cost to blind "readers."
Edwin Wilson, executive director of the organization, and blind himself, heads the group's current activities, which include publication of a braille magazine, braille hymnals, and distribution of sound transcriptions. Headquarters for the organization is at 1216 Elizabeth Boulevard, Fort Worth.

Among the transcriptions now distributed are taped Sunday School lessons that are circulating monthly by mail and without cost to more than 400 persons throughout the United States. In addition to blind individuals, users of the tapes include Sunday School classes, elderly people in the rest homes and hospital patients.
Funds for the library are being raised from sponsors that include foundations, businesses, and individuals. Wilson said a large portion of the funds are coming from the organization's "dollar-a-week" plan. He explained:
"We know most people are too busy to devote an hour a week to reading to a sightless person, but their contributions of a dollar a week or a lump sum of $52 for the year will provide more than 52 hours of record readings for a blind person."
Contributions to the library fund and requests for services without cost may be sent to the Fort Worth Address.
