Seniors To Take Entrance Exams

PAINE, La. — Seniors at Paine College will take entrance exams for the College Entrance Examination Board's Scholastic Aptitude Test, which will be administered at Paine College, La. on Saturday, Jan. 12, 1963.

The tests are designed to help colleges make sound choices among students applying for admission. Tests are administered together with the student's high school record, letters of recommendation, and interviews to forecast how each student is likely to do in college. Since colleges' academic standards and grading systems of secondary schools, as well as the ability of various classes, differ widely, the scores are a means by which all applicants can be evaluated in similar terms.

Those scores help colleges to make a fair comparison of the student's records with those of applicants from other schools and to predict whether they can undertake college studies successfully. Since they help predict college success, the student can also use the test results to evaluate his own college plans.

Shrinks Hemorrhoids Without Surgery Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

The Paine College seniors have found a new, safe, effective way to shrink hemorrhoids without surgery. In one day, the new treatment shrinks hemorrhoids, stops the itching, and relieves the pain. ON CHRYSANTHEMUM CULTURE

Local Garden Club Second In Series

Chrysanthemum Culture was the program topic for the Wednesday meeting of the Colorado City Garden Club in the Community Center.

Mrs. R. B. Baker and Mrs. Earl Brown were speaker for the second in a series of programs on chrysanthemum culture.

Important "do's" of growing chrysanthemums for exhibition or for beauty in yard or home were discussed by Mrs. Baker. She told members that a few plants tucked here and there add color to a yard and can fill up unsightly gaps around a home in the fall.

The speaker said that plants should be divided each year in early spring by lifting the plant out of the soil and separating from the outer part of the clump. She explained that these single divided plants will grow big and boom early if provided with plenty of room to grow and at least two-thirds of the daily sun.

Soil should be packed firmly around the plant so as to hold water to soak in until the roots take hold, she warned, however, the ground must not be kept wet. Good drainage must be provided.

Mrs. Brown said that grown and showing color, as mums can be cut when full the growth is fibrous and woody, the plant will grow little and make a quick recovery. She also told members of proper ways to fertilize chrysanthemums, making sure to water deep afterwards to prevent burning.

A chrysanthemum grown by Mrs. Earl Brown was displayed by the speaker, as she

'64 Jet-smooth Luxury Chevrolet

What does it take to make a car a great highway performer?

If the car happens to be a '64 Chevrolet, one thing only, a highway.

You'll find everything else already neatly packaged for you—on the car exactly as you pick it off the showroom floor.

There's a choice of seven engines—all the way up to a twin-cam high-compression 425-hp V8—and four transmissions, including a finely honed stepped stick shift.

And underlying it all—a bump-skimming Jet-smooth ride that helps keep the performance great even when the highways aren't so great.

What about special performance equipment? Professional driving skills? Forget them.

Nobody has to doctor or coax or soup up these Chevrolets to get the best out of them.

And that's really the test of a great highway performer: Just about anyone can get a kick out of driving one, just about anywhere, just as it comes out of the showroom.

Next time you're out your dealer's way, allow a few extra minutes to sample one of these highway performers on your own. A few are really all you'll need. That's enough time to do a lot of driving in a Chevrolet.

Wallace Wildcats poured in on the Hamlin "3" Tuesday in the Wallace gym. Wallace beat the DePriest High School 97-48. The last minute found the DePriest School trying to freeze the ball to keep the Wallace quintet from scoring in the century mark.

Lesser point-makers were Howard Belvin, Willie Hill, Sylvester Williams, Ronnie Green, Melvin Williams, and Curtis Taylor. Joe Bass had 18 for the losers, and James White had 15.

Wallace had a 22-11 first quarter lead and a healthy 42-22 halftime lead. Frank Biggers made 14 points in the third quarter including Wallace's 73-36 lead.

Joyce Lewey missed a long shot as the buzzer sounded and Wallace lost to Hamlin 25-27. In the low scoring contest, Joyce Lewey made 14 points for C-ity, and Willie Kirby and Mac Dae Davis made 13 and 11 points respectively for the winners.

Ruth Coffey's

CONVERSATION CORNER

"WHAT About Your Will?" the title of a magazine article asked the night we were pulling out of Houston on the Santa Fe train, after a little post-Christmas visit with the daughter and her children Jim and Betsy Ruth. It was one of those small magazines of pocket size and was picked up in the lounge car, to help while away the time until a decent hour for retiring to a snug berth. "What About Your Will?" the writer, a complete stranger, asked bluntly in sort of a dullish print with no pictures.

"WELL, what about it?" we asked him right back. Being the sole inhabitant of the lounge car early that long, wet and lonesome night made it perfectly logical to ask him out loud.

Thinking the article was going to be one of those delightful little test-your-will-power things we decided to chance it.

"So what if your will power is not always evident to one and sundry?" we thought—not out loud this time. "If you flunk the will-power questionnaire you don't have to sign it."

THING was, the writer did not give a hoot about will power, determination or stubborn character when he asked "What About Your Will?"

The article was a lot to do about nothing with a deliberately tricky title.

"What About Your Will?" was a very sneaky way of getting it in print that if you haven't written your last will and testament . . . well, mercy! Time's a-wastin' and you just better be darn sure to write one, have it notarized, etc. etc. because it's real awful to die without deciding "What About Your Will?"

SO we decided. After all, to be open to the power of suggestion is half the fun people get out of living.

Decided, when the ball point pen in the purse wouldn't write, and with just so much mileage left in the stubby little pencil somebody'd left parked on a table, to do away with all non-essentials.

He, or she, it, or they who get willed all the worldly goods of any estate like ours will only wonder why we bothered to will, bequeath and bestow, anyhow.

BUT looking out across the dark miles marching past the train windows, we took to thinking of other things we'd want to include in a will—if, as, and when we get around to writing one. Let's see:

Christmas for children . . . Hope for the temporarily defeated . . . Courage for all who suffer, be the pain physical, mental, emotional or even imaginary . . . A friend for all the friendless.

Companionship for the old . . . music for the blind . . . the sweet sound of children laughing for all who are anxious or bitter this day.

EXTRA PAT

You can save an extra pat on the back for Kelly Treadaway, Tom Neff, Buddy Logsdon, Gus Chesney and the rest of Mitchell County Hereford Breeders Association.

They've just reeled off their 15th annual show and sale which drew the plaudits of everyone attending the sale.

Not the least impressed were representatives of Texas and American Hereford Associations. If the sale is good enough to impress those top echelon organizations, then it certainly deserves our praise . . . and thanks.

Henry Bilberry,
CORNER DRUG

AND there must be stars, to leave to shy lovers . . . faith to bequeath to the doubters . . . the knowledge of God's compassion to give to all who grieve . . . all who wonder . . . all the religious ones.

Let there be dreams enough to go around for all the young . . . and all the not-so-young any more, too.

THERE must be lights for the home-comers at evening. Tenderness for the somehow tired . . . Seasons—spring and summer and autumn and winter birds and flowers and bronze leaves and snows—for the stay-at-homes . . . Rain on the roof for earth's verse-fanciers.

Tolerance to come where hatred has been too long . . . understanding; from the inside out, along with love.

"What about your will?" The writing man said. "Who gets your money after you're dead?"

Well, Mister, no matter. The important part . . . is—how do you will to this world . . . a heart?

HEAR TELL, Department: Hear tell that Anne Rhode, younger daughter of Dr. Bill and Naomi Rhode has been accepted as an autumn 1964 student in Wellesley. Nice going for a CHS senior!

Hear tell, too, that our Buck Ellis flew to New York to see his brother Ather Ellis and his family during the recent holidays. Ather Elises are, you remember, part of a Church of Christ missions community in the state of New York.

NICEST Christmas gift of all came to the household of the Rev. Alan Conley, his wife Corinne, daughter Cristen and son David. Somebody found their big collie dog named Ralph.

Ralph got lost last September and the Conleys advertised, issued radio and TV spot pleas, and looked and looked. Christmas Day came a long distance call from Jayton—a town 75 miles north of C-City.

Mrs. Frank Hahn of Jayton was calling to say Ralph had stopped by her house, sore foot, grass burrs, dog tags with the Conley address and all! The Conley family boarded their station wagon and drove to Jayton immediately. Christmas Day, to bring Ralph back home.

That's the kind of a dog tale that ends with a wagging dog tail.

BRIEF ENCOUNTERS since last column included the downright pleasure of seeing the George Mahons, here, enroute to Washington from a Houston visit. Our Congressman was saying, by the way, that "Houston's just too big now for a country boy!"

Bill Randle was saying that Jerome (Buck) Baxkemper and his wife Harriet joined the Randle family for Christmas dinner. The Baxkemper, on leave from teaching posts in Germany, are graduate students in Hardin-Simmons University.

Catherine Sigel Shelton, always such a gorgeous looking girl, dropped in for a little office visit before leaving with sons Drew and Peter for her home in California. Victoria Enderley of the long time no-see department was in town the other day, too . . . and among the treasured holiday messages was one from Ioma Jones of Kerrville with friendly greetings plus a check for renewing her Record!

SAW, too, Irene Robertson who kept Christmas in Houston. She was saying that the Santa Fe train she rode pulled into the bayou city just seven hours late, the Friday before Christmas. Consolation prize was the fact that Mrs. Wilma Reynolds and the Floyd Shepherds were on the same train and they all wound up having a hometown ball.

Coffee crews have included Bob Robinson . . . Sam Thompson . . . Kelly Treadaway . . . Bin Pritchett . . . Max Caswell . . . Ruby Bryant (Mrs. Hank) and Mae Smith . . . and late-breakfasting Raymond Webb . . . Plus L. J. Taylor . . . and Henry Lewis.

Mayor Berman Tells Club Of City Affair & Progress

Guest speaker for the first day afternoon meeting of the Hesperian Study Club was Mayor Berman, mayor of Colorado City.

Hostess for the meet was Mrs. John Hale, Mrs. E. H. Winn was leader for the program on community affairs.

In her introduction of Mayor Berman, Mrs. Winn said that he was well qualified to speak on affairs of this community as a former business man as well as mayor.

Mr. Berman told the club how the city was first incorporated in 1883 under what is known as a general law city. The city government included an elected body of five aldermen, an elected mayor and city secretary, he said. Improvements of streets and drainage were started by floating a bond issue in the amount of $100,000 at interest of eight percent, which was defaulted twelve years later when the corporation was dissolved, the mayor stated.

The city reorganized under a new charter in 1907, twelve years after the dissolution of the first charter, and was sued through the Supreme Court by holders of the defaulted bonds, the speaker told his audience. Another bond issue was floated for $780,000 to refund the debt. Mr. Berman said, adding that these bonds were finally paid off during the 1940's.

Under the new charter the mayor was a paid employee and he, with the aid of the secretary, managed the city. We were most fortunate in having some of the outstanding citizens take part in the city government, under these men our city has enjoyed some of its greatest growth and prosperity," the present mayor said.

The speaker told of the third charter, now in existence, which was adopted by vote of the people in December 1948. This charter, he said, is known as home rule laws and is available to cities of 5000 or more population. It provides for a council-manager type of government and allows a city more freedom in self regulation, he explained.

Mr. Berman likened the city council to a board of directors for a private corporation, in that sets policies, approves bills, budget, tax rates and passes required ordinances. The council, he said, also appoints boards on zoning, park, housing and equalization and hires the city manager, who is actually the administrative officer of the city, with the authority to hire, fire and instruct employees in their duties.

The present office of mayor is filled by vote of the council which elects one of its members to the post, the speaker said. He added that the mayor has no more authority than any other councilman, his special duty being to preside at meetings.

The mayor listed accomplishments by city officials for the past four years, which included, water, utility rates, paving, park, improvement, air port, library, museum, improvements at Community Center, and increased pension funds.

Water pressure was increased to homes in the Eastover addition by doubled lines financed through a bond issue. Filter plant was improved and storage enlarged along with repairs to the sewer system, he said.

Increases in telephone and gas rates were noted.

Shrinks Hemorrhoids Without Surgery

Stops Itch—Relieves Pain

For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to relieve pain—without surgery. In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place. Most amazing of all—results were so thorough that sufferers made astonishing statements like "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dynal-SP) discovery of a world-famous research institute. This substance is now available in suppository or ointment form called Preparation H. At all drug counters.

to a minimum by the city, which also completed 40 blocks of paving and 80 blocks of seal coating, club members were told.

Improvements were made at Lincoln Park and the two lake parks, which included picnic shelters and grass. Mr. Berman stated the municipality's progress in the construction of the air port, increased library funds, from $50 to $200 which were later transferred to the museum, and hired a fulltime director for the city.

The Community Center in addition to building improvements amounting to almost $1,000.

"Business at the City Hall is no small item," the mayor said. "Its income and outgo equal about one-half million dollars annually. Its indebtedness is about $250,000."

"Everyone should take an interest in city and county government, too many things are done to please a small minority," he said, adding.

The average person does not know or care what is going on until it affects him then it may be too late."

Members present for the discussion of city affairs were: Watson, White, Winn, Miller, Hale.

Mrs. E. Cookinbo of House was a guest of the club. Mr. Scott, Springfield, C. C. Thompson, Sam Thompson.

HIGHER EDUCATION—Governor Connally is expected to decide soon whether to designate an existing state agency to administer an estimated $11,600,000 worth of Federal grants for college construction facilities in fiscal 1965 or create a new State commission of higher education.

Although the Texas Commission on Higher Education is responsible for the administration of State senior colleges and universities, junior colleges which would get some $2,700,000 of the grant money come under the jurisdiction of the State Board of Education. There is no State agency for private colleges.

The construction aid program is designed for both public and private colleges. Connally's decision must meet with the approval of the U. S. Commissioner on Education and be confirmed by Attorney General Carr.

A viewpoint on public education, recently advanced by a subcommittee of the Governor's Committee on Education Beyond the High School, was expressed by the Education Policies Commission of the National Education Association and American Association of School Administrators. Commission recommended that American youths receive two more years of free education after high school.

Salute To Youthful Exhibitors

Our county's youthful stock feeders exhibit their animals this weekend here in Colorado City.

It's the annual Mitchell County 4-H & FFA Livestock Show. And it follows on the heels of another successful event the Mitchell County Hereford Breeders Association's annual sale.

The two events—although one is for youth and almost amateur, while the other is for adults who deal in cattle as a business—are both important to our community's agriculture industry. Both point to better livestock breeding, better livestock feeding practices, better livestock business principles.

Our 4-H & FFA show Friday and Saturday will draw participants from every area of our county. These participants will be from town homes as well as rural.

They'll be competing against each other for honors and prizes that are financed by our county-wide Mitchell County United Fund. And their competition is a good experience because agriculture today demands the very best from everyone who makes it his business.

We salute these youths in their show this weekend and urge our community to support them with bonafide interest that recognizes them for what they really are—our adult farmers and ranchers of tomorrow.

Poll Tax Deadline Dangerously Near

Voters in this year of 1964 face a heavy voting responsibility—selecting state and national officials, including the president, in addition to local government leaders.

Yet, payments of poll tax in Mitchell County are extremely light in view of the fact that the deadline is only three weeks away.

One reason for this lag in poll tax payments is the state referendum last November. Many delayed their poll tax payment to await the outcome of the referendum vote. To see if the tax was to be repealed from the Texas voting procedure.

But the poll tax repeal amendment was soundly defeated in the referendum and the tax remains as a must—except in the case of age exemptions—for voting in Texas.

We need all the attention possible now to remind citizens to pay their poll tax and, thus, become eligible in 1964 to elect our representatives in government.

Every civic organization, each women's club, all political groups should make it their business now to encourage their members to pay the poll tax and assume their responsibility as a voting citizen. Poll tax substations at key industries, civic clubs and downtown locations would assist this program.

After all, if we as individual citizens do not make certain we are qualified voters—then, vote our choice from precinct to precinct! We might just as well live in a country which denies the right to vote.

Texas Motorists Pick Up Speed

Texas motorists tramped a little harder on the gas pedal when the state's new 70-mile-per-hour speed law went into effect last September 1.

In fact, they began easing down on the throttle months before the law went into effect, probably because of publicity which followed approval of the new speed limit by the Legislature and during the 90-day lapse before the law became effective.

This information was made public this week by the Texas Highway Department in a review of its annual speed survey. The survey is a research study project used by highway designers and the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads to determine traffic requirements.

The Highway Department surveyed vehicle driving practices twice during 1963, both before and after the new speed limit law went into effect. Concealed radar units were set up at 29 locations on key highways during an eight-hour period during June-July and again in October-November to check driver speeds. More than 25,000 vehicles were tested each time.

Average speed of all vehicles surveyed by the Texas Highway Department was 56.5 miles per hour before the law became effective and 59.3 miles per hour after. By comparison the 1962 trucks, buses—indicated on average survey of all vehicles—passenger cars, speed of 53.2 miles per hour.

Average speed of different types of vehicles in 1962, 1963 before the new speed limit law, and 1963 after the law became effective, are listed in that order:

Passenger cars—54.1, 57.7, 60.7.
Single unit trucks—Panel pickup, 50.3; 54.1, 57.1. Other, 48.1, 51.1, 54.3.
Truck combinations—3-axle, 49.8; 51.2, 55.3, 4-axle, 50.7, 53.5, 56.6.
Total trucks—49.9, 53.1, 56.1.
Buses—62.8, 65.0, 69.8.
All vehicles—53.2, 56.5, 59.3.

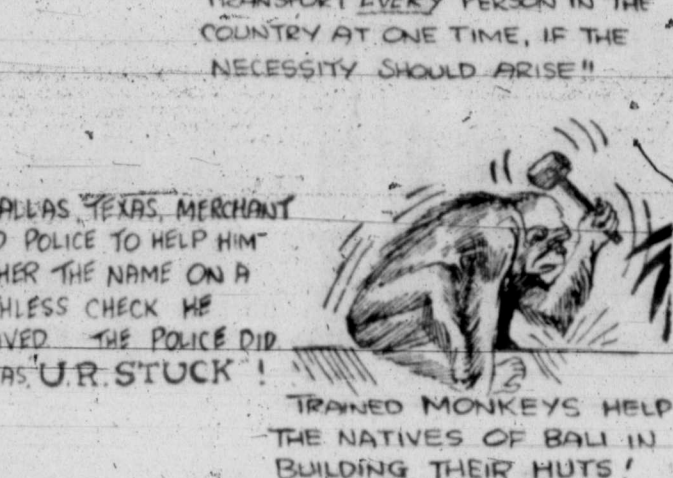

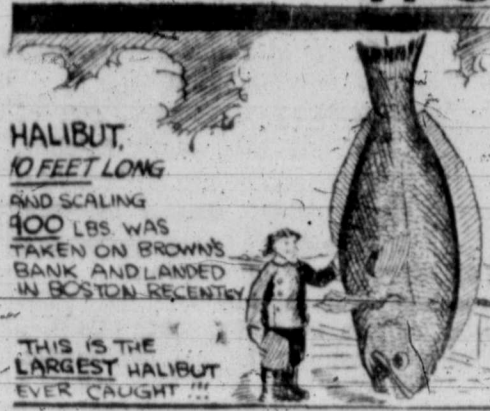

Although the state's maximum speed limit was boosted 10 miles per hour eight per cent of the motorists checked in the latest survey still didn't find the speed fast enough.

Of the vehicles surveyed 11.1 per cent of the passenger cars were exceeding the new speed law.

In 1962, the number of passenger cars which exceeded the then speed limit of 60 miles per hour represented 16 per cent of the total. In June-July, 1963, this number had jumped to 32.8 per cent, although the old speed law still was in effect.

After the new speed law became effective the October-November survey showed 51.4 per cent of the passenger cars checked were driven over 60 miles per hour—only 40.3 per cent of the total observing the new maximum limit of 70 m. p. m. Which, of course, shows some improvement. But the evidence remains there are those who are going to exceed the speed limit no matter how fast it is.

Austin Gasping For Breath After LBJ

By VERN SANFORD, Texas Press Association

Austin has settled back to being just the capital of Texas after nearly two hectic weeks news-wise as the vacation White House.

Dozens of top cabinet officers, military leaders and federal agency heads followed German Chancellor Ludwig Erhard and his advisors to the LBJ Ranch for conferences with President Lyndon B. Johnson.

Encouraging predictions of progress toward world peace emerged from the President's international discussions. The federal budget and economy were spotlighted in the domestic talks.

Before he departed, White House sources gave these insights into the President's thinking:

He does not feel the U. S. can drag its feet until after elections this year, before pressing for new peace breakthroughs.

He regards civil rights and the $11,000,000 tax cut as legislative "musts." Also, he has expressed support for the medicare program of aid to the aged.

Reducing the budget to save money for essential human needs, including education, is regarded by the President as of concern to all Americans. He hopes pattern for future years. Cost cutting will serve as a stimulus for every American are seen as goals of his administration. Some newsmen interpreted this as a "peace 1964" campaign slogan.

Johnson hopes to steadily improve American preparedness. But he is strong for elimination of military obsolescence, particularly old bases and installations, retained in the budget for political reasons.

Congressional leaders will run their own legislative show. But the new President won't hesitate to ask old congressional friends for what he thinks is needed.

Johnson hopes to draw on the talents of both business and labor to render public service.

He is concerned about unemployment and is calling for new solutions.

PRISON POPULATION—For the first time in 18 years, the number of prisoners in the Texas Department of Corrections shows a decrease.

Department Director Dr. George Beto reports that the December 31 count was 12,150, compared with 12,203 the year before. Since 1945, there has been a steady climb in number of prison inmates.

Beto cited these reasons for leveling off: more adequate parole supervision; opening of a new first-offender unit; a pre-release program of preparing prisoners for freedom; an expanded trusty program; and overall improvement in the prison treatment program.

Prison chief said the reduction not only will save money on prison care, but also in welfare funds spent on families of inmates, not to mention restoring prisoners to productive lives as citizens and taxpayers.

PRISON INCOME—Farm products and livestock produced more than $6,500,000 of the prison system's 1962 income, according to the auditor's report just released. Other sources were: manufactured products, $3,764,416; oil and gas leases, $39,237; miscellaneous, $1,287,167.

Report placed total income from farms and farm industries at $10,144,773 with expenses of $14,304,734 for a deficit of $4,159,961.

Manufacturing operations include license plates, shoes, textiles, clothing and other products.

SCHOOL THREAT—Texas school income will be drastically reduced unless the Federal Power Commission sets an adequate price for gas in the Texas Gulf Coast area and the Hugoton-Anadarko area of the Texas Panhandle. Attorney General Carr contends.

Carr has filed a petition to intervene in price hearing ordered by FPC to determine reasonable rates for sale of natural gas in the areas.

Earlier he filed briefs requesting FPC to set the price of all gas in the Permian Basin area at 21 cents MCF. The FPC staff sought a nine-cent MCF rate for casing-head gas and 13.7 cents MCF for gas well gas.

Attorney General noted in his brief that Texas levies a 7 per cent occupation tax based on market value of the

Wes-Tex Talk

A Look At West Texas Through Editorial Page Excerpts From It's Leading Weekly & Semi-Weekly Newspapers

More and more, we keep running across occasional kind words in behalf of Gov. John Connally. Some are enthusiastic, others come grudgingly from former political foes, but many Texans these days are taking a second look at our comparatively new governor.

Running Texas is no small task, at best, but it seems to us that Gov. Connally has adopted a more or less common sense policy which seems to suit many people in this territory at least.

Billed as a conservative, Connally came back to Texas directly out of the New Frontier cabinet and, consequently, was not wholly endorsed by either side. Many people on both sides of the fence who voted for Connally as the "lesser of two evils" are beginning to sit up and take notice. They like the fact that he is steering a clear course, letting the chips fall where they must.

So far as we can see, Connally is making a good governor for the Lone Star state. Like most other Texans, we do not always agree with his policies, but it does seem that he is doing his dead-level best to serve as many people as possible and, needless to say, this goes a long way with most Texans.

Politics being what they are, we feel sure that a number of people will come up with some pretty potent stuff when the next election rolls around, but it seems to us that an old adage which operates the best he knows how, regardless of public opinion, is the kind of man all of us want in the governor's seat, and we cannot honestly find very many things at this date against the administration of John Connally.

—HEREFORD BRAND

Issuance of poll tax receipts continues to be "down," it has been learned from the County Tax Assessor, Col. Hector. He passes along the info that less than 1,000 have been filed out to date and at the same time reminds citizens of the January 31 deadline that has a way of creeping up on you and me.

There will be plenty of election activity in 1964, including that on national, state and local levels. A large number of candidates have already entered primary races here in Terry County, and there is also the very important matter of a school bond election that can be banked on here.

The primary reason for the lag in issuance of receipts has been the November 5 special election in which Texans voted down a measure which would do away with the poll tax. A great number of citizens who normally purchase poll tax receipts in October upon payment of other taxes elected to wait on the outcome of that vote, and therein lies the reason for the slowness this year.

SHINNERY PHILOSOPHER

Good Insurance In City Gardens?

Editor's note: The Shinnery Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Bone Hollow Creek has encountered some statistics, his letter this week indicates.

If you can believe statistics, the farm population of the United States finally will get about to zero, and my theory will be borne out that the government will set up a preserve to protect the few last remaining farmers like it does the disappearing whooping cranes.

I thought it was bad enough when the percentage of farmers in this country dropped to 29 per cent, but then it fell to 15, then to 12, and according to the latest estimate only 10 per cent of the people of this country are now farmers.

Furthermore, I heard an expert on television last night predict that the figure will drop to 6 per cent in a few years, and that whereas each farmer now feeds 27 people in town, it won't be long before he's feeding 35. I am not prepared to say that the farmers who have been moving to towns are culls, at a friend of mine's, because it's been my observation that most towns and cities had problong before farmers moved in. Town problems can't be blamed on ex-farmers any more than Washington can be blamed for Congress. I have no figures on what percentage of Congressmen are ex-farmers. But what this whole thing got me to thinking about was, I wonder how those 27 people in town depending on me are getting along? If there are 27 people in Colorado City—expecting me to grow enough to feed them in 1964, my advice to them is to start a garden quick.

I have joined President Johnson's economy drive and will have to reduce my 27 to say 2, and they may have slim pickings.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

EARLY DETECTION OF CHILDREN'S HEART DISEASE

Far too few parents realize the tremendous advances which have been made in medical science toward correcting abnormalities that formerly deformed children, even killed them.

In increasing areas of the country, the heart-beat and heart sounds of grammar-school children is now recorded on a sound tape, so that heart irregularities may be detected early.

I believe that this recording technique will become an important factor in early discovery of heart disease. Children with serious heart difficulties entering some hospitals and medical centers, have the benefit of "cardiac catheterization" units, which may even include fluoroscopic examination utilizing television and movie film. This equipment permits direct visualization in side the heart and its major vessels. As an excellent example, a colleague of mine was describing the case of little Ellen, who had a serious heart condition. In hospital, she received a mild sedative for a painless but delicate procedure in which the end of a small tube entered a vein in her arm, following the vein all the way to the heart.

Harmless chemicals were then injected through the tube, to outline the heart's spots on x-ray film. The results were discussed by the radiologist with the cardiologist and surgeons. Blood samples were taken and analyzed. Ellen's blood pressure was recorded at the same time.

Surveys, previously impossible, is now saving many lives utilizing among other
