Corn was stripped to some extent. Cotton is so far advanced that, while the damage is extensive, it will probably not be serious, as the cotton is expected to come out again.

COOKS BUSY OVER PITTS WHERE BEEVES ARE BARBECUING

BLED SOE, July 12.—This little town of seven hundred, just a year old today, and only a few weeks ago given a postoffice, has grown entirely out of its shoes for the day and the night, spreading out over the surrounding prairies where not long ago the cattle ranged, and where now the plow is making one of the most productive areas in the world. Thousands of visitors from all over the plains are here, just to help Bledsoe celebrate its birthday. A conservative estimate last night was 2,000. Arrangements are being made for 4,000 today. There is not a bed to be obtained in the town, and the visitors, most of whom came prepared to rough it, are camping out on the prairie. The restaurants of the town were overtaxed, but it made no difference to the visitors, basket lunches were the order of the day. A rodeo and other amusements kept the crowd busy. Today will be barbecue day, all tonight the volunteer cooks will be busy over the barbecue pits, preparing the many beeves which will feed the multitude at noon. Races, events of various sorts, including an old fashioned dance, addresses by county and district candidates and prominent citizens in celebration of the occasion, mark the little town's birthday.

PLAINS CONTINUE TO BOOST MEETING

SLATON AND BROWNFIELD ANTE UP WITH LETTERS TO C-C SECRETARIES

Letters sent out by South Plains Chamber of Commerce secretaries to the other secretaries over the state inviting them to attend the Texas Commercial Executives Association July 22, 23, and 24 continue to come in to the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce.

Two letters were received Monday, from Claude Miller, of Slaton and from J. E. Shelton, Brownfield.

In inviting the secretaries to this section, Miller says: "Slaton is located down in the corner of Lubbock county, just 16 miles south east of Lubbock. We'll see you in Lubbock but we'd like mighty well for you to stop off in Slaton as you pass through."

"Although the annual meeting of the T. C. E. A. is billed for Lubbock, all of the towns of this section feel that it is an honor to have you in our midst; we want to see the secretaries of Texas turn out, and we are going to do what we can to see that they enjoy their stay in this part of West Texas."

"If we can be of any service to you in any way, while you are a temporary citizen of Lubbock county, let us know."

Shelton of Brownfield said in his letter to the Texas secretaries: "You are located in a good country below the 'caprock' but you should arrange to come up on top, see another one and spend three days commencing July 22, in annual convention of the Texas Commercial Executives Association which is to convene at Lubbock, 'Hub of the Plains' and 'Home of the Tech.'"

A. B. Davis tells me that his city is making great preparation to entertain us in a royal manner and the secretary advises that an interesting and instructive program has been worked out.

Fashion Notes

NEW YORK, July 11.—Since the main business of the summer frock is to be colorful we offer a few new color suggestions. Black navy and dark shades are almost disappearing as warm weather creeps on. Pastel shades rule for play and evening wear.

Claret and wine shades are the newest to appear in smart Fifth Ave shop windows. One can hardly describe the new wine shade since it has a rose hue that is indescribable in its loveliness. Satin dresses of this shade and felt or velvet hats are conspicuous in the better class shops.

Light blue is one of the most popular evening colors worn by Broadway actresses. At recent benefit at least one-fourth of the performers wore various shades of pastel blue chiffon, tulle or silk crepe.

Slate blue is the shade Paris is effecting at present. This is a soft slate blue color which will be very becoming to wearers of duller blue tones.

Yellow is popular in New York, particularly in a shade called 'sunny.' It is chosen for sports as well as evening wear. Some of the newer hats of felt or straw come in this shade.

Green may be said to lead above all other colors for sports wear and the most popular shades are bottle, almond, grass and chartreuse.

Colored fur and brushed wool form the collars of many sports coats. For instance, a bluish green cooler coat has a collar of matching green brushed wool. An evening cape of orchid chiffon has a collar of orchid-dyed ermine.

Colored jewelry becomes conspicuous as summer gets malicite tones, carnelina, amber, turquoise, amethyst and coral are popular. Bracelets set with huge colorful stones connected with large gold links are these most in demand. Earrings and bracelets of white crystal are noted at evening time. Necklaces of solid colored beads rule for day wear and in many cases they are of semi-precious type.

Shoes and hosiery keep to light shades in harmony with the vogue for light-colored frocks and wraps.

The lower edge of the blouse is scalloped and the flounced skirt shaped to fit into its beautifully curved line. A dress as simple and severe in its lines as this one, should be fitted carefully. To ascertain one's exact measurements, the measure should be taken across the bust and hips and around the waistline as shown in the front-facing figure. Be sure that the measuring tape is even all around the figure. The line at the back should be even with that of the front (see second figure).

If one takes the precaution to get the correct size before beginning to make a frock, a great deal of time and trouble that are sometimes spent in fitting may be saved.

As a general rule the measure should be taken by the bust-size. It

NO PESTS ON SOUTH PLAINS STAPLE, SAYS COUNTY AGENT

The cotton flea has not bothered South Plains farmers at all, County Agent J. F. Eaton said yesterday, and a letter from the state etymologist to Mr. Eaton avers that the season for his pest is now almost over. Mr. Eaton says South Plains cotton has been singularly free from pests of all kinds this year, not even the usual plant lice having appeared. He says that if the leaf worm makes an appearance, as the state official's letter suggests, he has plenty of calcium arsenate handy to fight it with.

Mr. Eaton says the cotton is in unusually good shape, although in need of rain just now. Good rains in various Lubbock county communities helped it Sunday, he said, and he expects a good deal of rain during the rest of July and during August, the rainy season in this section. Grain sorghum also needs rain.

Grain crops on the South Plains were never better than they are at this time, according to reports from farmers over this district. The rain Sunday will in a great way aid the crops, however, and a bumper yield is expected. Maize and kaffir is made even if there is no more rain, and corn in most instances looks well.

North and west of Lubbock crops had begun to suffer, but since the rain they look green again. East of Lubbock the rain was general, but had in some instances done considerable damage. O'Donnell and Lamesa had a good shower, though the rain was not general by any means. Taboka reports a light shower.

SUDAN NEWS GETS OUT SPECIAL

46 PAGE MAGAZINE EDITION IS SENT TO OFFICE OF AVALANCHE

A copy of the 46-page, special edition of the Sudan News has reached the Avalanche office, and when we say it is a credit to the town, county and published we merely state facts. Descriptive of Sudan and Lamb County, illustrated and neatly printed it is indeed an advertisement for those who made it possible.

Lamb county is just as old as any other Texas county, but until a few years ago it was nothing more than one wide, extended mesa. Today it is one of the leading agricultural counties of the South Plains. Hundreds and thousands of people have adapted it as their home county, and none of them are sorry. Some of the largest ranches in the state were at one time in Lamb county, and even now it is known far and wide as a stock country.

However, these ranches have been divided and sub-divided and the country now looks more like an agricultural section than a stock country. There are several good towns in the county, and while Sudan is not the oldest or the largest it is one of the liveliest and most progressive.

The special edition is a credit to the city, the publisher, and the advertisers represented therein.

New City Directory Soon Be Off Press

Lubbock's new directory will be off the press about the first of September, according to word from one of the workers yesterday. The book is being compiled by the Hudspeth Directory Company, of El Paso. They have been making books for some of the larger cities of the state and will give Lubbock a good representation.

Six men are working the lower end, the direction of W. F. Florin, superintendent of the company. The men are glad to get the co-operation of the residents and stated that their address can be found at the Barton House. Any changes and additions will gladly be listed up until July 20th.

The book will contain the home address, business address, occupation and other information necessary, for each individual. It is the present plan of the company to put out a book containing from 350 to 400 pages. Orders for the individual copies are being taken by the workers.

Corner Politics Is Growing Warm

Politics have begun to become warm in Lubbock county, especially upon the streets of the city. Several groups were congregated at various places yesterday discussing the candidates pro and con. The arguments center around the governor's race mostly, although the county election receives its part also.

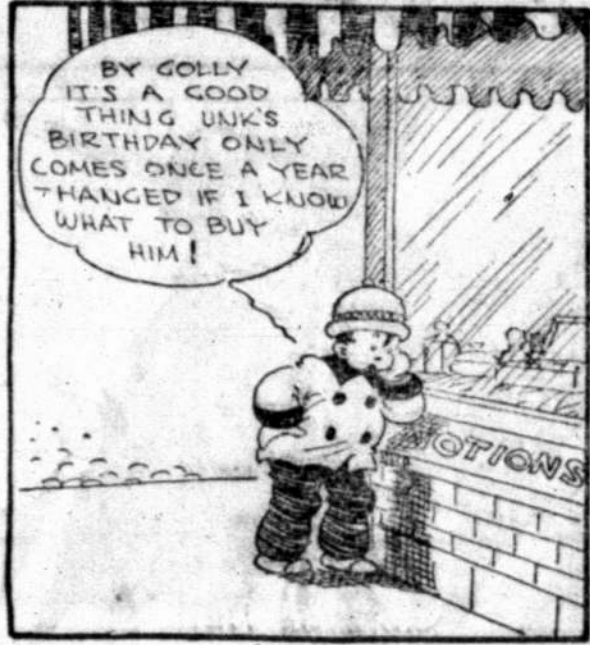

One particular argument attracted quite a crowd, 25 or 30 men gathering around to listen to the statements made about the various candidates.

No casualties have been reported from any of the arguments.

Chrysler Coupe Is Stolen Here

A Chrysler Four coupe belonging to J. E. H. H. H., representative of the Graham Brown Shoe Company of Dallas was stolen from in front of the First Christian church Sunday night. The car bore license number 583921 and was taken sometime between 8:30 and 9:30 o'clock. The police are working on the case and expect to find a clue soon.

BILLY'S UNCLE

There are far more of this species than of any other found on the Pacific coast. These birds nest in all kinds of trees and at any distance from the ground, laying from three to seven eggs. They have a habit of storing food for future use and will sometimes honey-comb the exterior surface of decayed trees with holes to hold acorns.

Too Much Ferguson Davidson's Opinion

TEMPLE, Texas, July 12.—Declaring that "in reality Jim Ferguson has already had three terms as governor of Texas and now he is asking you to elect him for a fourth time," Lynch Davidson speaking to a throng of Bell county people in the Ferguson's home town here tonight, asked those in the crowd who expected to support the present governor in the coming primary to raise their hands.

"Now," said Davidson, "those of you who honestly believe you will be voting for Mrs. Ferguson and not for Jim for a fourth term, please raise your hands again."

"There is your answer," the speaker declared. "The number of hands raised in this audience tonight is just about the proportion of the voting strength of the state that will go for the Fergusonism. Fergusonism is dead as a political issue in Texas. The proxy governor will be eliminated in the first primary. Reports received at my campaign headquarters show that Ferguson has lost a large part of his celebrated 'vest pocket vote' and that aside from certain counties in South east Texas and Central West Texas, he is a negligible factor in the race. Jim will be a poor third when the votes are counted."

Davidson then turned to an analysis of the campaign conducted by Dan Moody. He declared that the young attorney general's organization has broken down completely because "the people do not believe he has the business training and the experience necessary to govern the State of Texas as it should be governed."

"In every section of the state I have been, it is common talk that I can defeat either Jim or Dan. In fact, Davidson said, "There is only one logical conclusion to be drawn, and that is that I am the best man for the place. Now, I am going to give you something to think about. Why put the State of Texas to the expense of a second primary? If every one of you who believe I am the best qualified man in the race to govern Texas will cast your ballot that way—instead of for someone else just to beat the other fellow—there will be no need for a run-off, because I will get a majority in the first primary."

Davidson predicted that as things stand today, I will lead the ticket by 50,000 votes, and if enough of you folks do a little serious thinking before you go the polls, I will get a clean majority."

Davidson spent more than an hour in explaining his plans for reconstructing the state government. He reviewed the principle plank of his platform, step by step, and declared that neither Moody nor Ferguson has anything to offer of a constructive nature. "Dan's platform is that Jim isn't a fit person to be governor, and Jim's platform is that Dan isn't a fit person to be governor. I agree with both of them. What Texas needs is a business administration," he said. Davidson explained his proposal for a central prison system and the employment of able-bodied convicts

Must Respect Stop Signs, Says Chief

Stop! That's what the signs say! It doesn't make any difference whether you are going forward, up, down or around—stop. That's what the sign says. A number of people have an idea that when a right hand turn is made they do not have to stop. This is wrong. Stop every place there is a stop sign.

Thirty-five absentee ballots have already been mailed out to Lubbock voters by County Clerk Merbert F. Stubbs. After today absentee ballots must be filed in the office of the county clerk by the voters, the time limit for these ballots expiring three days before the primary election.

SEEING GOD'S ACTS—"Your eyes have seen all the great acts of the Lord which He did." Deut. 11:7.

BUILDING COST STEADY

The vast volume of new construction work has taxed some of the manufacturers and dealers in building materials to capacity while but few radical advances in cost have been reported. Prompt deliveries are becoming a prominent factor in some lines, but the experienced builder has found little trouble in this direction because his schedules have been prepared to meet this situation. Greater efficiency in preparing schedules and working plans is perhaps the greatest factor in preventing serious difficulties in shortage of materials during the unprecedented building activities. In the old, slipshod days this activity would have thrown the building material producers and purveyors into a state of panic that would have paralyzed the entire industry. This looking ahead on the part of builders is proving to be a great stabilizing influence and prices, even under the pressure of unusual demands, are little above normal, thus affecting an incalculable saving to the building public.

IMPROVED ROADS

During 1925 nearly 18,000 miles of roads in the various states were surfaced. The present system of expansion aims at making all through routes and main thoroughfares permanent and every point of importance directly accessible. These permanent roads, beside their greater comfort and safety, have had a direct influence upon real estate values and the market prices of numerous products, thus benefiting practically everyone, regardless of station and occupation. In fact, the cost of improved roads is more than repaid to the public in these increased real estate values alone. Communities are very short sighted when they demur at the item of expense. Prosperity and increased values always follow permanently paved highways.

EXTREME PREJUDICE

In New Rochelle, a town adjacent to New York City, they are building a handsome new high school. It was started some two years ago and was named, the "Woodrow Wilson Memorial High School." That name, however, has now been discarded and the school is known as the "New Rochelle High School." The explanation is quite simple. There has been, in the meanwhile, a change in the personnel of the Board of Education. The present board has a majority of Republican members, while, it is claimed, the previous board has a majority of Democratic members.

How small and narrow! Woodrow Wilson was President of the United States, not only of the Democratic party. He was a world power during the most colossal struggle through which the world has ever passed. He was a brilliant educator and writer before he became president of this country. He was an intellectual, a master of the English language and an authority on history. In this supposedly enlightened age, when a prate of broad-mindedness and tolerance, it is an example of extreme pettiness to drop the name of so great a man from an honor due his educational achievements, for a mere matter of political affiliation.

IDLE FIREMEN

From childhood days the occupation of a fireman has always been tinged with romance and danger. Perhaps one of the earliest wishes every boy has is to be a fireman. Later, as the boy grows up, he will seriously consider being a policeman or a railroad engineer, but sooner or later he comes back to the fireman idea. It is thus ingrained in us, this worship of firemen. To us they are super-men, heroic and courageous. They are the fellows who dash down the street on a careening fire truck, climb nimbly up a wobbly ladder, plunge into a swirl of smoke and rescue people from burning guildings and as such we admire them heartily. But they are also, says Director Edwin D. Barry, of Cleveland, lazy and they have too much time off. At least, that is what he told an assistant chief of the department who requested that firemen be permitted to work 48 hours and be off 48 hours, instead of 24, as at present. "A fireman," says Director Barry, "gets too much time off as it is. He's off three days every week. The poor cops work their time, day and night, without a kick, and the public gives them the dickens for enforcing the law. But the public loves a fireman because about once a week he puts out a fire." There is much sound sense in Director Barry's attitude on this question. Although the fireman's duty is the more spectacular he really does not, in the long run, take the chances that a policeman does. The fireman has only to fear the flames and an accident while the policeman has to fear every murderous criminal outside of prison walls. In a sense, of course, both jobs are lazy. The policeman saunters around his beat and the fireman lounges in the firehouse—until trouble starts. Then they are both active and efficient in their performance of their public duty. They should be treated fairly in the matter of time off, of course, but there is a limit to all things.

THE LIVING VOICE

One of the wonders of the phonograph and motion pictures is that the person speaking or acting may thus be brought before the public long after they themselves have passed on. An unusual example of this is presented in a Fourth of July radio program in which the voices of three presidents of the United States, now dead, were put upon the air. Theodore Roosevelt delivered an address on "The Farmer and the Business man." Woodrow Wilson gave his "Address to the Farmer" and Warren G. Harding again gave to a triumphant but sorrowing world his address at Hoboken on the return for burial of 5212 American soldiers, marines and nurses, victims of the World War. Fany picture houses throughout the land threw upon the screen the animated images of these and other departed statesmen, heroes and patriots. The "touch of a vanished hand" is all but possible, and "the sound of a voice that is still" strikes the heart with a strange realization of the mysteries that man has penetrated and a premonition of those others he will yet penetrate. Through these devices there is saved, for future generations a vision of great people and the sound of their voices in their greatest moments. Great events may march across the screen a hundred years after they have occurred. This is a priceless heritage and those who are making every effort to preserve these records are doing a public work of great value.

WARM WEATHER ADVICE

In summer adhere to a summer diet. There is no doubt that many of the hot weather maladies are directly traceable to the injudicious practice of eating a full winter fair regardless of the season. Many foods that are invaluable in cold weather are injurious in hot weather. All students of diet are now agreed that we should lessen the number of cooked meat dishes in summer and eat more fruit and raw green vegetables. The salts and regulating vitamins in uncooked fruits and raw green vegetables. The salts and regulating vitamins in uncooked fruits and vegetables are now becoming recognized for their true health value. We are not advocating that people starve themselves to death or that they should diet to get thin or to keep thin, or anything like that; we are merely advocating that the proportion of green foods and fruits and vegetables should increase over the proteins during the summer months. It is easier on the digestive apparatus and is conducive to both health, comfort and mental efficiency.

CHILD ADOPTION PAYS

A discussion about child adoption has been running in a Canadian newspaper. Among those who have adopted youngsters the opinion seems to be unanimous that it is wholly worth while, that the adopted children are just as believed and just as great a blessing and, under equally sound home training, turn out just as well as do "own children." The biggest problem in adoption seems to be the neighborhood busy-body who labors under the delusion that there is something awfully peculiar about an adopted child. This pest may be a nautid who suspects some unpleasant circumstance somewhere to be ferreted out and gossiped about and who prophesies unpleasant results. Or he may be some silly child who taunts the adopted child. These pests may be largely overcome by telling the child the truth while showing him much he is also loved and wanted. In a world where there are so many homes needing children and so many children needing homes, and where there are now adequate means of bringing the two together happily and successfully, it ought to be possible to develop a more normal attitude toward adoption.

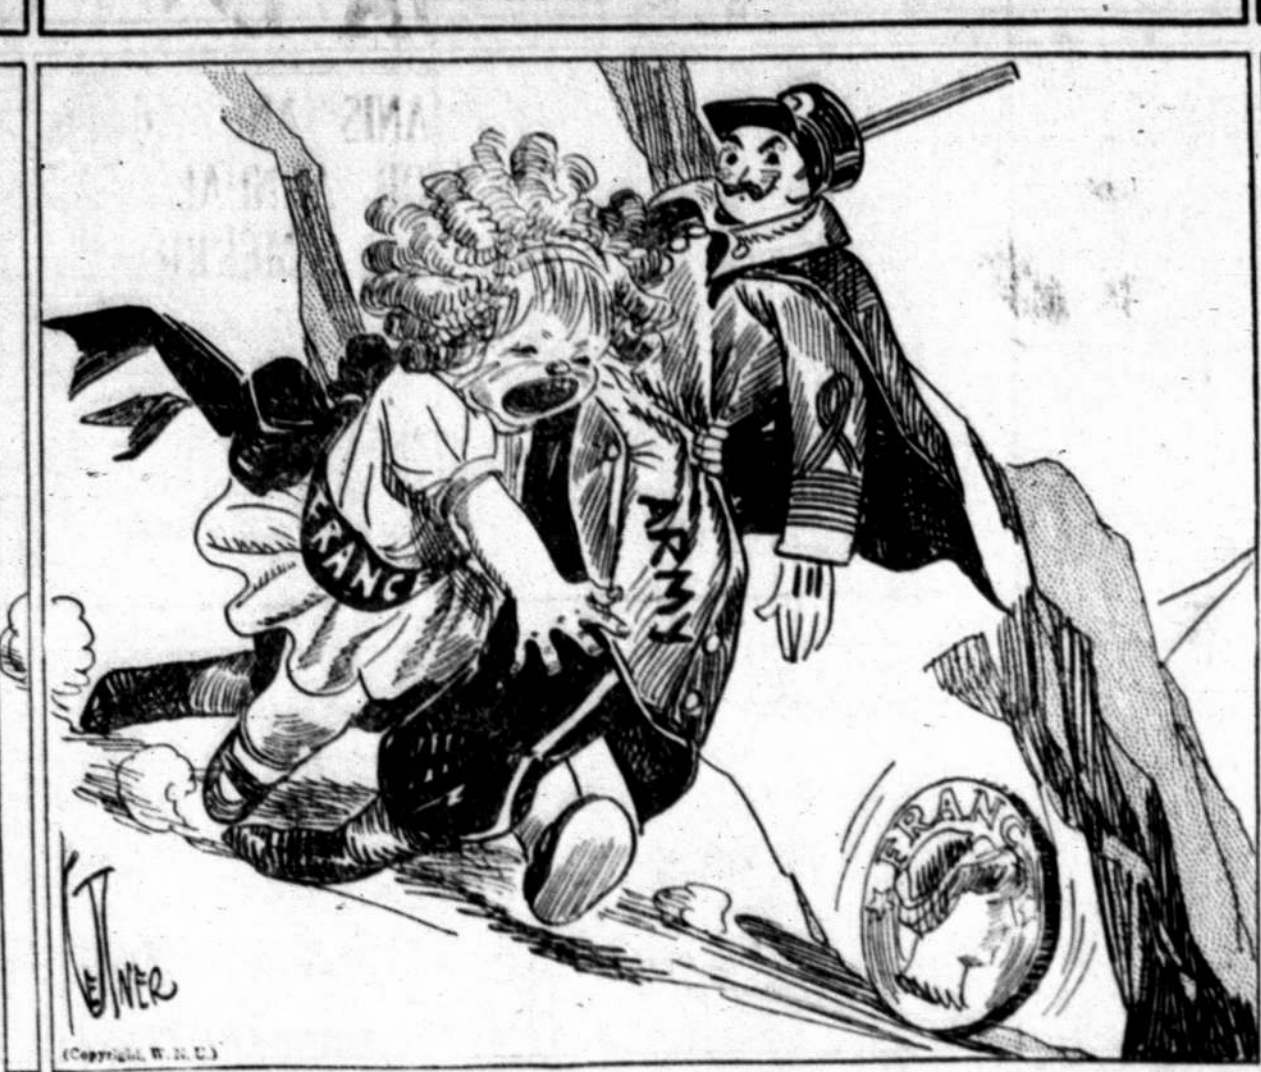

STARLINGS AND SPARROWS

Sometimes these artificial upsets of the balance of nature work, and then again some times they do not. When the blacksnake was introduced into a western state with the idea of proving that blacksnakes would exterminate rattlers, the two deadly enemies looked at each other across the cage in which they were supposed to engage in a deadly conflict, and calmly went to far corners and went to sleep. Now it is starlings introduced to fight English sparrows, in cities. Bird-lovers say they have begun to show up in numbers, and are starting to fight the sparrows and to win. So far, so good. But if the English sparrows are all driven out and the starlings multiply, how are we to be so sure that the starlings will prove more happy neighbors than the sparrows? For if they fight and drive out the bold sparrows, how will the more pacific varieties of songbirds fare against them? The starlings having been introduced, the only answer is to wait and see.

CHEAPER MOTORING

Tire go down again, definitely ending the period of "rubber famine" and bringing prices back to about where they were a year or two ago, which is probably none too much for good tires. Incidentally, motorists say, tires are better than they ever were before. Automobiles, likewise better, for the most part, than former models, are cut in price. Competition is very keen in this industry. Never could so much automobile be bought for the money. Motor transportation looks like a bargain this year. The public evidently thinks it is. There are record car sales and record gasoline sales, and with the new prices there will be record tire sales.

So Think We

We think that women can sling mud and do it about over their face, and improve their looks some times, but politicians never get anywhere by slinging mud.

We think if a dollar is kept rolling in Lubbock it will pay an average of ten accounts every day, but if it is sent to the mail order houses in Chicago or elsewhere it will lose several days getting there, during which time it is not paying any body.

We think that too many folks condemn their friends for the very things they themselves do. Strange how differently some people can see the other fellows.

We think the time savers are not very successful. We find that even with all of the time saving devices we have, that we have not time to be sociable.

We think that freshness of youth is desirable, but as in many other things, they go too far with it, we believe.

We think that blocs in congress are possibly no worse than some of the blocs in Lubbock where the weeds have not been cut for three or four years.

We think that a man can hardly be counted among the progressive citizens who will allow the weeds to grow shoulder high on one of the main streets of the city.

We think the way a fellow shows up at the show down, is the thing that counts.

We think people who use profane language to describe this column are the fellows that are causing a lot of trouble around this town, and we would not trust them across the street with a five dollar bill.

It is reported that an English chauffeur who was reprimanded by his employer for pilfering a bottle of Scotch, got his Irish up and took French leave.

It is reported that letter writing has been recommended for lonesome farm women. It may be all right for lonesome farm women, but we believe it is dangerous pa-time, for lonesome city men, from the results we have seen of some of, it in Lubbock.

We think if that married man that we saw around with that beautiful bobbed hair girl last night, does not come in and pay up his subscription to this paper before tomorrow night we will have something in this column that will identify him to his wife and friends, though we will not publish his name.

We think when the traffic cop says you have violated one of the rules, that you might just as well accept it as being true. Cops do not arrest folks just for fun. They overlook a great many little short comings and do not stop you when they should, so if they do—just keep smiling. Smiles have paid many a fine that a frown has assessed.

We think we have a variety of autos. After you have named all of the different kinds of autos you still have left that list of auto-digestion, auto-intoxication, auto-nerves and the ought-stay-at-home. Keep smiling.

We think it will be worth every dime that it costs anyone to have the weeds cut off the property in town. Weeds waist high do not look good in a live progressive city like Lubbock.

We think some people make some relatives mad at them, in order to keep from supporting them.

We think that if a fellow will try boosting awhile it will be hard for them to do anything else.

It Is Reported

By one man from East Texas who has been all over the state that Dan Moody is going to sweep the state, and will be elected governor in the first primary. Another fellow came along and he likewise had been over a large portion of the state and Lynch Davidson was a knock-out from the word go, and still another fellow who said that he had been in every nook and corner of Texas said that Ma most certainly was a winner and we would have two governors for the next two years at least. "As a man thinketh in his heart so is he."

It is reported that a woman professor has undertaken to give advice as to the proper time to marry. We do not know what schedule she offers but we would suggest that the very best and most appropriate time to marry is when you are able first, and find a man or woman that you can love in sickness and in health until death do both part, and then for at least three months after the clouds have filled up the grave of the deceased partner.

That a wild woman with long hair is loose in Brazoria county. We guess that will set some folks right, who seem to think that the only wild women are those with-bobbed hair.

That a hi-jacker was encountered on the Lubbock-Plainview highway yesterday. They are rather scarce in this section of the state but this is a diversified country. Diversion is the spice of life.

That there are a number of things that are very hard to get out of once you are in, and the jail is said to be one of them.

That the latest thing in men's clothes in Lamesa according to the Journal are women.

That Paducah will soon have some golf links.

ABOUT THE ONLY GOOD SUBSTITUTE FOR LUCK IS WORK.

Under The Capitol Dome

By PAUL R. MALLON
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
WASHINGTON, July 12—The world's strangest daily newspaper has temporarily ceased publication here with a sigh of relief.

It is the Daily Congressional Record, one of the largest, most verbose and least read publications in the world. It is financed by the government as a journal of the doings of Congress, but in the course of a year it publishes everything from the most complicated inverted fiduciary income tax payment provision to the poetry of members of the House.

It has more editors than any other journal—531 to be exact. Each Senator and Congressman reads copy upon his own stories. He not only furnishes his material but acts as the editorial judge who corrects it.

Special stenographers record debate of both houses as it occurs and dictate the material to typists in brief sections. Within 15 minutes after a speaker has concluded a speech, the copy is brought to his desk and he "corrects" it. The corrections include deletions of thoughts spoken in the heat of debate which do not seem to be necessary in the official record of the proceedings. They also include additions, very often containing material not mentioned in debate.

In some cases the speaker is not satisfied at all with what he has said and may withhold it for several days to have it printed later in the appendix.

The rule requires that the speeches must be sanctioned by those who make them and returned to the government printing office by 10 p. m. each day. For the Congressional Record has only one edition daily and only one set time for going to press.

As Congress adjourned the record suspended publication until next November when both houses will reconvene.

BIRTHDAY GREETING TO BUD

Another birthday, son o' mine,
And still your heart is clean and true,
And still your eyes with laughter shine!
God keep them so your whole life through!

You have not hung your head in shame,
Nor lessened once our love and pride—
You've been a credit to your name,
Your feet have never turned aside.

God bless you, boy, and keep you strong!
May many birthdays follow this;
May all the sting of conscious wrong
And hurt of shame be yours to miss.

Your heart is still so clean and true,
And still your eyes with laughter shine—
God keep them so your whole life through,
And bless your journey, son o' mine.

HUBBERS WILL MEET LAMESA LOBOES IN TWO GAME SERIES

WILL INVADE LOBOES' GROUNDS TODAY AND TOMORROW; LAMESA IS LOOKING FOR CROWD OF HUBBER FANS

Skipper Allen will gather up the Hubbers this morning and carry the lads to Lamesa where they will be engaged for both today and tomorrow. The entire Hubber roster will be carried to Lamesa for both days. Lamesa is expecting a great crowd for the two series as they came to Lubbock well represented during the last series played with the Hubbers. Many of the local fans are planning to witness one of the two games today and tomorrow.

Sled is going to have the Hubbers bowled for both battles and will endeavor to come back with the Hubber percentage for the season somewhat fatter. However, the games between the locals and Lamesa have always been an even break and to win two games out of two with Lamesa on their home grounds is a battle.

"Slim" Hale, a recent addition to the Hubber pitching, will likely fling the today's game for he locates. Either Bassinger or Hudspeth will hurl the last game.

Stalaker Gets 12 Strike Outs Beats Dealers 6-3

The Barrier Brother nine defeated the Dealers yesterday afternoon at the Merrill Park with a score of 6 to 3. Stalaker presented another strike out tilt, whiffing out twelve of the motor conveniences during the five innings. Until the fourth inning Stalaker held the Dealers to a no run, no hit game; but the mighty rap given to the ace in that inning at the hands of Chisum went for three bases scoring England ahead of him, who had gotten on with a walk. Manager Spikes of the Dealers sent three men to the mound to attempt the hitting of the distributors of merchandise and all found it a hard matter.

A total of five hits were secured by the Barrier Club and as many errors for the Dealers. The box score:

Utilities Win From Soda Skeets

The Texas Utilities gained an early lead which the Soda men were unable to overcome. Errors were the cause of the downfall of the skeets, their nine making a total of 8 during the contest. They played as good ball as the utility nine otherwise.

Wright and Ater pitched good ball, the latter having the edge. Allen featured with two doubles. Box score:

Dazzy Vance of Robins Is Hurt

CUB PARK, CHICAGO, July 12.—Dazzy Vance, star hurler of the Robins, was forced out of the final game of the series this afternoon, when he stopped a line drive off Schreiber's bat in the fifth inning, his pitching hand was so badly injured that he could not continue in the mound and was relieved by Ehrhardt.

CHANNEL SWIM IS BORESOME

ERNUI IS WORSE THAN CRAMPS TO DARING ATHLETES. CAP CRIS NEZ, France July 12.—Next to tricky tides and cold water, the chief trial of a channel swimmer is to keep from being bored while awaiting an attempt. Theedium of training is nothing compared to the dreary daily life on this bleak, isolated point of land on the French coast.

Many a swimmer on the fine edge of condition has in other seasons grown staid waiting for the fog to clear or the sea to calm, and with no healthy distractions to occupy the mind.

This year is no exception, although there is relief in the fact that the swimming colony is growing rapidly and every newcomer helps to brighten up the town. The swimmers have various pet methods of occupying the time when they are not in the water.

Miss Lillian Cannon always finds diversion in her two Chesapeake Bay dogs. They are her inseparable companions, in and out of the water. She takes long hikes and, at low tide, frolics on the beach with the dogs.

Miss Gertrude Ederle reads a great deal in leisure hours, but her ground training consists chiefly of physical exercise and hiking. She has the first and only medicine ball that Gris Nez ever saw and she tosses it about tirelessly, wearing out all of her friends.

The Argentine swimmer, Miss Lillian Harrison, is not here this year and the summer of long misses her tennis. At low tide she used to mark out a tennis court on the smooth beach, erect a net and take on all comers.

Madame Sion, the French hope for the channel, is an older woman and is never seen indulging in athletic exercises. She does most of her training off Calais or near her home in Dunkirk. She frequently looks to Gris Nez for tea and to study channel conditions from the climatic point of view, but if the outlook is not favorable she goes back, saying she must look after the house. She is a charming sportswoman and a great favorite with the other swimmers.

Hercules Holmi, the Egyptian, does everything, or nothing, according to what the others are doing. He is "the life of the party," ready for any sort of sport or fun. Huge as he is, he is as playful as a schoolboy, and quite the most picturesque figure that has descended upon Gris Nez.

But the swimming colony must provide its own distraction. There are only hotels here, both of the humble resort type, and perhaps a score of farm houses scattered about the hillsides. The nearest theatre or picture house is in Boulogne, an hour's ride distant by car, which is the only means of transportation, but the swimmers give Boulogne a wide berth unless they are obliged to go in for supplies.

In the scheme of things in the outside world Gris Nez figures in only two respects, first, a sea jumping off place for channel swimmers and, second, because it has one of the most powerful light-houses in the world. Otherwise it is most appropriately named—the Cape Nose.

ROBINS GO UP INTO FOURTH PLACE

Scoring a 5 to 0 victory over the Cubs Monday, the Brooklyn Robins advanced another peg in the National league pennant race. Brooklyn is not in fourth place, formerly occupied by the Cubs. Vance who was hurt in the fifth inning and forced to retire from the field, is credited with winning the game, as Brooklyn scored all its runs in the fourth frame.

The Giants presented Pirates with a 6 to 3 game after a rally, headed by Kelly's homer, in the ninth had failed. The league leading Reds trimmed the Phillies, 7 to 5, with the latter using four pitchers. It was a simple matter for the Braves to beat the Cards, 8 to 6, after Welsh pounded out a home run in Boston's half of the ninth.

In the other league, the Yankees lost to the Indians and the White Sox beat the Athletics, 6 to 2 and 2 to 6, respectively. Burns and L. Sewell each hit a circuit clout in Cleveland's first chance at bat. Collins and Falk contributed a home run apiece for the White Sox.

The Senators trimmed the Browns, 7 to 6, after a ninth inning rally. Four pitchers for each team paraded to the mound. The Tigers easily beat the lowly Red Sox, 5 to 2.

The positions of the American league teams in the pennant race remain the same as Sunday with New York, Philadelphia and Chicago holding the first three places.

KIWANIS AND ROTARIES MEET FOR ANNUAL BASEBALL GAME AT MERRILL PARK HERE THURSDAY

The great question which has been hanging fire for the past several weeks will be settled Thursday afternoon at Merrill Park when the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs meet in their annual baseball game. Both teams have been preparing for the past several days for the contest and are in readiness for the battle.

Manager Jones of the Kiwanis club stated that his team would be the hardest hitting bunch on the field and the opposing blabmen had better look out. Manager Guy of the Rotary club has been giving his team some long and tiring workouts and will present an almost unbeatable nine.

The Kiwanis club announced the following probable line-up: Baby Hall, catcher; Herb Stubbs, pitcher; L. F. Holland, first base; Norton Baker, third base; Amos Howard, second base; Frank Jones, short stop; Kenneth Clapp, left field; George Brewer, center field and Runt Stangel, right field. A wealth of reserves will be on the bench in the following men: Allan Hill, E. E. (Red) White, Pink Parrish, Claude Kaykendall, Doc Hutchinson and Standifer.

The Rotary nine as announced by Manager Charlie Guy is as follows: Oscar Sensabaugh, cf; Charlie Guy, 2b; Homer Grant, 3b; Judge Raley, ss; Sled Allen 1b; E. Y. Freeland, p; M. B. Hiburn, c; Guy McAfee, lf; and Edgar Inman, rf. The Rotary nine will also rely on the following reserves: Harry Blocker, Harry Roberts and George A. Field. The game is expected to be filled with excitement from the very first inning and a large crowd will attend.

From School Teacher To Great Eminence

A young man who was brought up as a farm, qualified for district school teacher, then managed to save enough money to put him thru medical college. Later, he moved to Buffalo, N. Y., and today the name of this man, Dr. R. V. Pierce, is known throughout the world. His Golden Medical Discovery is the best known blood medicine and tonic. More than fifty million bottles have been sold. If your dealer does not sell the Discovery, in liquid or tablet, you can obtain a plug of the tablets by sending 6c to the Dr. Pierce Clinic, in Buffalo, N. Y. Also write for free medical advice.

ITCHING ECZEMA GOES QUICK WITH USE OF THIS

People who have endured tortures from itching eczema will be happy to learn that a means of relief has been perfected and is already enjoying unheard of popularity on account of the quick way it gets rid of the awful disease of the skin which nobody seemed able to figure out before. It is called Black and White Ointment.

Most all dealers have Black and White Ointment, and Skin Soap, on account of the tremendous demand which has already reached the rate of more than two million packages a year in its sales, because it relieves eczema so quickly.

They are economical, too. The big 50c package of Ointment contains three times as much as the liberal 25c size.

Although Selkirk, Scotland, once the home of Sir Walter Scott, now has a period of great prosperity, many carpenters are leaving the town because the city council refuses to sanction further housing schemes.

Report of the Sesqui-Centennial exhibit committee was made by chairman C. M. Caldwell, who announced a great exhibit now in Philadelphia and asked all affiliated towns exhibit. B. M. Whiteker, exhibit manager, recently returned from Philadelphia, discussed the exhibit and urged towns send in material consigned to West Texas Chamber in Care of the Sesqui-Centennial Exposition, Philadelphia. The report was adopted.

Report of traffic committee was made by chairman Pawlett. Opposition developed to a proposal endorse legislation permitting instruction of intrastate railways without permits. After discussion the matter was referred back to the committee with instructions to thresh the matter out and report at next quarterly meeting.

Opposes rate raise. Ray Leeman reported on a proposed hike in insurance rates, declaring investigations revealed the proposed increases unnecessary and recommending opposition. Hallmark of Dublin declared indiscriminate acceptance of insurance risks was responsible for heavy fire losses and said insurance companies should be more careful in accepting risks where over insurance was indicated.

Wade recommended the appointment of an insurance committee to work on the matter to the mutual advantage of insurance companies and business men. The organization favored fairness to companies but thought they could obtain relief in other ways than big raising rates.

It was unanimously voted to express sympathy for the family of R. L. Havnie, member of the traffic committee, who died Sunday and resolutions of sympathy and respect were drawn. A. B. Spencer was appointed on the committee to succeed Haynie.

NARCISSUS BULB QUARANTINE EFFECTIVE JULY 13

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 12.—The domestic Narcissus bulb quarantine proposed to prevent the spread of bulb fires and olearoma pests was signed July 3 by Secretary of Agriculture Jardine to become effective July 15, 1926. The tentative regulation submitted June 15 to all interested parties for comment was received with general approval, no criticisms or changes being suggested.

The quarantine applies only to the American-grown bulb crop, but involves commercial growers, shippers, and handlers of domestic Narcissus bulbs in every state and district of the United States. It provides for the movement of bulbs only after inspection and certification. Bulbs found free from infestation will be certified for interstate movement. Bulbs found to be infested will not be allowed in interstate movement until disinfected or treated under the direction and to the satisfaction of an inspector. Persons intending to move harvested bulbs interstate should make application for inspection to the plant quarantine inspector of the state concerned as far as possible in advance of the probable date of shipment.

COTTON EXPERT SPEAKS, SLATON

GALLOWAY SUGGESTS FURTHER IMPROVEMENT IN FINE STAPLE

SLATON, July 12.—W. S. Galloway, owner of the Thorobred Cotton Breeding Industries of San Angelo and Slaton was present at a meeting of the stockholders of the Slaton Thorobred Cotton Breeders' Association held here Saturday.

He congratulated the farmers on the splendid condition of their crops and suggested that through pooling of their pure strain, long staple cotton, they would be able to secure a substantial premium for it in the election of officers for the Slaton association, J. W. Henry was chosen president and T. J. Richardson, Eugene Holt, and W. J. Anderson were named directors.

Seventy-five farmers of Slaton have planted some five thousand acres in pure strain Mehane cotton. Planting seed were furnished direct from the breeding block of the Thorobred Industries and each farmer who took seed was named a stockholder in the Slaton association. The cotton grown on this land must be cultivated under a given set of regulations and will have to be passed upon by the State Department of Agriculture before it can be ginned at Tudor Bros. gin, specially chartered to handle only this cotton. The seed will be sold on the commercial market as certified seed of pure Mehane strain. The sale of the seed will be handled by the Thorobred Industries and the profits derived will be shared equally by the growers and the sales agency.

The Slaton breeding plant is the only one on the South Plains; since the only source of acclimated seed that will be available to Plains farmers will be through the Slaton plant. Slaton seems destined to become the Lockhart of West Texas.

A sugar plantation on the island of Negros, in the Philippines, comprising nearly 3,350 acres was recently sold for $250,000.

DAILY MARKETS

New York Finance

BY WALTER MOCKLER

Written for the United News NEW YORK, July 12.—After a decidedly irregular period of trading, the stock market settled back on an even keel again at the close today.

The oil group, especially the independents, met considerable selling. Skelly, Marland and others of this group, reacted under stress of a rumored pending cut in mid-continent crude prices. The basis for this summer seems to be the rate of production in California's Ventura field and apparently the street did not take the report at quite the same value placed on it by the professional element. There was quite a bit of good support buying under way, apparently for the account of "insiders" who had been in close touch with the actual situation.

The volume of business was not especially heavy; less than 1,500,000 shares changing hands. The bond market showed the same diminution of interest. In the latter market the industrial obligations found little interest on the part of the buyers but rails were stronger and higher especially the Erie bonds. Liberties were more active while the foreign group was steady an "delightfully higher at the close.

Today's market was the first reaction to the stronger showing of the Steel corporation's unfilled tonnage statement. The decline of but 170,000 tons at the end of June was decidedly encouraging when compared with the heavier losses in May and April.

To offset the selling in the oil group, General Motors spurred sharply into new high ground while Du Pont was up more than 7 points for the day. The horses of the Lake Denmark tragedy in New Jersey will probably mean considerable replacement of munitions destroyed and this should be to the benefit of Du Pont. In addition to the better tone in General Motors and such specialties as Du Pont, the coppers were in excellent demand. With the red metal over the 14 cent level, demand for leaders in the group picked up appreciably.

Call money held at 4 1/2 percent all day again, although the surplus of more than $30,000,000 in excess of legal requirements shown by the clearing house statement at the close of business Saturday was a comforting factor in the general money situation.

LOOKS AS IF IT WILL PASS 140,000,000 BUSHEL ESTIMATE

By United News MANHATTAN, Kans., July 12.—The estimate of a 140,000,000 bushel yield of Kansas wheat may fall short of the actual yield, threatening returns from all over the state indicate. The yield is so far in excess of what was estimated early this summer that the government crop estimate of July 1, seems ultra conservative.

Reino county was predicted by this government report to have five and one third million bushels of wheat as its probable yield. Now Reino county claims eight million bushels actually marketable there this fall.

The government crop report estimated the government county would yield 5,264,000 bushels, but the county's yield probably will exceed that by at least two million bushels.

Ford county's wheat crop, according to the government statistician, was estimated to be 5,165,000 where as now Ford county is sure that they are producing seven million bushels, the largest crop in any Kansas county ever has produced.

This great increase of yield over estimates will not materially affect the price, in the opinion of W. E. Grimes, agricultural economist at the Kansas State Agricultural college, who reasons that wheat prices already took a lower trend earlier in the summer and that a reaction up

Why Girls Go Back Home

CATHARINE BRODY

Copyright 1926 by Warner Bros. Pictures Inc.

"Why Girls Go Back Home" with Patry Ruth Miller is a Warner production from this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Marie Doney, a country girl as innocent as a plover, misinterprets the advances of Clifford Dudley, a matinee idol, as a proposal; and he ruthlessly "frames" her to get rid of her. The scandalous story gets even into Marie's home town papers. John, her former sweetheart, unwilling to believe it, writes to Marie that he will come and marry her if she wants; Sally, Marie's chum, influences her to take advantage of the "break" to further her stage career; Marie is offered a "part."

A glad roar rose from the audience at the weak witticism.

By the end of the performance Marie was so worn and lacerated in spirit that she caught her clothes up in a bundle and ran to huddle in Sally's room. The minor principal who shared this room, greeted her with loud laughter and an unpleasant remark to the effect that "Will you look at the little girl who stops the show! Think you're too good to dress with a bunch of chorus girls, don't you?"

Sally rose scornfully to the defense. There was discussion, polite and bitter in the extreme, but with symptoms of a rising tide of anger that would have led anywhere, if the stage manager had not thrust his head in again.

He nodded at Marie.

"You're going to get a number. What'll tell you, darling? Tomorrow at eleven."

"Aren't you the little prophesess thought" crowed Sally to the minor principal. "She will be stepping the show! And what's more, I'll have Mason put her in you, Mason, shut up for a minute, will you?"

So they went over it again and over it and over it, with the endless patience of dancers. There was a few minutes' respite for a sandwich and coffee. Then back to it. And over again. When every bone in Marie's body felt broken and her hair clung damply to her scalp, the lead allowed himself satisfied. The stage manager said "it would have to do." Fortunately, only Marie and the lead were to appear on the stage in this number, so there was merely the rehearsal with the orchestra to go through before the performance.

Sally and Marie sank back in a taxi and allowed themselves the luxury of being driven home. Sally was just as exhausted as Marie, but still optimistic.

"If this thing gets by," she began to plan exuberantly, "you've got to take dancing lessons. You've got the makings of a good kick. And I didn't know you had a voice, Marie! You ought to be a knock-out one of these days. Did you have your voice trained?"

"A little," admitted Marie.

She fell silent, thinking of Miss Baxter, the stiff and ancient keeper of the Winesville music studio. She could see the little side street, haked in sunshine. It brought memories of John, who used to wait on the porch sometimes in their high school days, who used to wait patiently through the long hours when she practised her scales, and tinkled a piano as accompaniment to some song. On these occasions, John used to say enthusiastically, "You're as good as—any of those stage singers, Marie!"

He had been proud of her voice at high school entertainments. As once before, she was smitten with a profound nostalgia for John. It was more than love, more than the uneasy, surging feeling she had had for Clifford. It was a sort of longing for a disintegrated part of her. She noticed for the first time that her mind always fumbled instinctively for John whenever she felt weary or restless or the least unhappy.

"You never did answer my letter," she murmured half to herself.

"Who?" said Sally quickly.

"Oh, I was thinking of that boy, John. I used to know."

"That's better," remarked Sally shrewdly. "He sounds like a nice, steady chap. And no matter who you fall for, Marie, take the advice of one who knows and never marry anybody but a steady man."

"Oh, it's nothing like that," protested Marie. "I'll never marry anyone. I'll—"

"No; you'll just go in for a career, what? Where have I heard those words before?"

Marie bit her lip. Her eyes filled. And Sally remorsefully put her arms about her.

"Dara! I always keep forgetting how young and innocent you are. Hit me, Marie. I'll feel better. Go on. Hit hard."

A wintry smile broke the ice on Marie's face, and Sally felt rewarded.

That night Marie, in a quaint Pierrot costume which rippled about her white neck and over her thin wrists, went through her number before another full house. The orchestra moaned piteously. Marie's voice had real tears in it, her own.

"Shed a tear or two for Poor Pierrot. With his heart upon his sleeve."

Perhaps it was her story, not yet forgotten. Perhaps it was her round, childlike face with eyes now awestruck. Or her voice, which rose clean and firm and sweet and pitiful, to the surprise of Marie and everybody else concerned. Or perhaps it was only her childish legs, adorably dimpled at the knees and used with a quaint awkwardness like the legs of a little girl. No one knows what indefinable quality in music or books or a person makes a hit. But she stopped the show, was dragged, dazed, before the curtain for uncounted bows. And dozens of girls in the audience remarked half-heartedly to their absorbed escorts:

"Cute-looking, isn't she?"

Whereat the escorts, without penetration, turned and glared and said emphatically, "She's a knock-out!"

Between numbers the press agent bearded her in Sally's dressing room, where she was not treated, and informed her that she was to go to the photographer's the next morning. He wanted pictures to place in the Sunday supplement.

And after the show Marie got her first theatrical recognition, a perfectly honorable note from a lovelorn college lad who had bribed the stage doorman. Marie could not help dimpling over it, though she would not deign to answer.

Flushed with the new excitement of approval, she youthfully resistant to the least waft of unfavorable wind, she turned to her couch all tired out and slept profoundly for the first time in weeks.

NO BOOZE ON SCREEN, SAYS HAYS

MOVIE MAKERS MUST SHOW GREATER RESPECT FOR PRO LAW

LOS ANGELES, July 12—The motion picture makers must show greater respect for the prohibition law, it was said here Monday by Will Hays in a "discussion of purpose."

The movie czar has decreed that there be no drinking scenes in the films hereafter unless they are positively essential in building up the plot of the story.

"There shall be no picturization of liquor, its manufacture or, which can be construed as brought in unnecessarily as a type of propaganda," declared Hays.

"The movie picture has a definite duty, still more emphasized at the present of not allowing itself to be misused in any situation."

Cotton Classing Be Taught In This City

The classes in cotton buying and classing which the Lubbock Business College is putting on are attracting a great deal of attention not only from Lubbock and vicinity but from adjoining territory of a wide area.

Inquiries and enrollments are coming from bankers, farmers, business men in all sorts from men and boys in all walks of life. Some are going to take the course in order to prepare themselves for highly paying positions as cotton buyers and classers, either with some cotton firm or as independent cotton men, others are taking the course simply as a matter of self protection in order to be able to value their own cotton.

The classes are being taught by L. W. Ross, formerly with the United States Bureau of Markets, Washington, D. C. and for two seasons teacher of cotton buying and classing at A. and M. College at College Station, Texas.

The class will be taught in the Wall Building which is especially equipped for cotton offices.

While Mr. Ross would prefer having all those intending to take the course to begin today at 9 o'clock enrollments will be received during the next ten days.

House of David in Court Again

BENTON HARBOR, Mich., July 11—The House of David which harkens to the ancient mysteries of Mithra for many of its curious religious customs, is soon to be dragged back into the public spotlight again.

Three former members of the colony, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Wright and Mrs. Elizee Bamford, are suing for $30,000 which they claim to have lost in the cult. Their charges throw new light onto recent events inside the order here.

That night Marie, in a quaint Pierrot costume which rippled about her white neck and over her thin wrists, went through her number before another full house. The orchestra moaned piteously. Marie's voice had real tears in it, her own.

"Shed a tear or two for Poor Pierrot. With his heart upon his sleeve."
