Sooner Candidates Load Ballots With Famous Monickers

OKLAHOMA CITY, June 30.—Ever since Will Rogers, a politically unknown, small-town educator, found his well-known name a great asset in getting elected congressman-at-large (salary $10,000) a few years ago, practically everyone in Oklahoma with a famous name is trying to duplicate the feat.

So voters who scan primary ballots in Oklahoma on July 12 will scarcely know whether they are reading the Motion Picture Almanac, Lecky's European History, or Who's Who.

There will be three Will Rogerses and three more Rogeresses on the ballot. School Teacher Rogers is trying to keep Draughtsman Rogers' name off the ballot, but Will No. 2 says he has as much right to it as the present congressman, whose name he says is William Calhoun Rogers, anyway.

Will Rogers No. 3 seeks only the job of corporation commissioner at $6,000. William Rogers is running against both the other Will Rogerses for Congress. T. J. Rogers wants to be state treasurer, and John Rogers seeks to keep his job as state examiner and inspector.

Name-ake of Famous Doctor—Oliver Cromwell wants to be U. S. senator. His political strength seems to fall somewhat short of that of the one-time British dictator, because two years ago he got 99 votes out of about 500,000. But he still is trying, Robert Burns, though he writes no poetry, would mind being lieutenant-governor.

To switch over into American history Patrick Henry, Daniel Boone, Brigham Young, Huey Long, and Sam Houston will all stare at Oklahoma voters in the face this fall. Patrick wants to be state auditor.

Dan Boone never came close to scalping an Indian than applying hair tonic to their skulls, for he is a barber. But he would love to tomahawk.

Will You Be Killed This July 4th?

AUSTIN, June 30 (AP)—Here's the grisly picture of the coming holiday weekend as seen by state police on the basis of fatalities of recent July 4 outings.

Sixteen Texans will be killed in traffic and five will drown.

This is how the victims will succumb, they say:

Six will die when vehicles crash head-on.

Four will meet death—one of them a child—when they step in the path of a speeding vehicle. Two of the four will die instantly, the other two after agonizing pain.

Two are destined to be killed when drivers lose control of cars and overturn into ditches or strike immovable objects.

One person is slated for death when a driver falls asleep at the wheel.

An improper left turn by a driver will kill two persons, one expected to die because a vehicle is parked on the highway.

The five drowning victims will meet death in this manner:

Three will be wading or swimming in unguarded, uncharted swimming holes and two are expected to lose their lives when boats capsize or are swamped.

Youths Charged With Robbing, 'Kidnaping' Driver Of Taxicab

DALLAS, June 30 (AP)—Justice John Baldwin today set bond for Homer S. Gentry, 18, and Charles S. Jennings, 19, both of Fort Worth, at $10,000 each after J. B. Simmons, Dallas taxicab driver, identified them as the youths who early Wednesday robbed him of $215 and forced him to drive them to Fort Worth.

Simmons testified concerning details of the robbery and his abduction. He gave a graphic description of his fist fight with Gentry after he said Jennings had left the cab near Polytechnic College in Fort Worth.

Neither of the accused youths testified. Friends of Jennings were in court. They said he had a good job in Fort Worth and that efforts would be made to make his bond during the day.

Simmons said the pair hailed him at Commerce and Poydras streets at 2:30 a. m. Wednesday and asked to be driven to a beer tavern on the Commerce Street cut-off.

Both passengers were in the rear seat, the driver testified. They had ridden but a short distance. Simmons said when one of the pair pressed something against his back, saying it was a pistol. They directed Simmons to drive them to Fort Worth. Just this side of Grand Prairie, Simmons said, they made him stop at the side of the road and took what money he had, $215.

Simmons was then commanded to drive on to Fort Worth, Jennings, the driver said, got out near the college, while Gentry demanded to be driven to another part of town. Arriving there, the witness said, Gentry stepped out of the car.

The R. R. And Chief White Are Going To Sell Famed Model T

By THE ROVING REPORTER The Roving Reporter and Fire Chief Ben White are going to sell Sadie down the river—but with tearful regret.

For years, because she belonged to the city, the tin lizzie of the fire department, has escaped the fate of all Model T's—a student's jalopy covered with wisecracks and caricatures.

This morning Sadie was resigned to her destiny; she had her head bowed to meet her fate but she hopes she can keep her dignity in any case. Chief White has Sadie up for sale. He's going to accept bids on her—he already has a $10 bid, and that's what gave him the idea of auctioning her off, but he thinks Sadie ought to bring more than that.

So until next Tuesday at 8 o'clock Chief White will accept sealed bids.

REAPER BAND TO PLAY FOR MARVIN JONES

Pampans will trek in several directions over the Fourth of July weekend, according to Shelby Gantz, chairman of the Pampa Chamber of Commerce goodwill committee who has made arrangements for the Junior high band to attend the Anvil Park rodeo at Canadian Saturday and for the High school band to go to McLan and Clarendon celebrations on Monday.

Pampans who plan to accompany the bands or who plan to attend any of the celebrations are urged to call at the chamber of commerce headquarters in the city hall and secure hat bands and car stickers free of charge.

The Junior high band, under the direction of A. C. Cox, will leave for Canadian at 9 o'clock Saturday morning and will play a concert during the official opening of the celebration by Congressman Marvin Jones at 11 o'clock at the city hall. The band will play for the rodeo performance in the afternoon, beginning at 2 o'clock.

Winston Savage and the High school band will leave for McLan at 7:30 o'clock Monday morning and will give a concert before participating in the parade at 11 o'clock. At 1:30 o'clock the band will march in the Old Timers parade at Clarendon.

During the afternoon McLan will celebrate with a free amateur rodeo and polo game.

ORDINANCE TO BAN ALL PEDDLERS NOW OPPOSED

Organized opposition was growing today to the city ordinance adopted by the city commission yesterday to restrict peddlers and solicitors from calling at homes in Pampa without permission from the residents.

Frank Dial, one of the leaders of the opposing forces, said today that he believed 90 per cent of the persons who signed a petition asking the commission to pass the ordinance didn't understand what effect it would have on certain lines of business.

"It will put certain types of home-town merchants out of business in their particular lines," Mr. Dial said, "and I feel sure that the backers of the ordinance and the signers don't have that in mind."

Mr. Dial stated that a new petition was placed in circulation today to be presented to the city commission asking that the ordinance be rescinded.

VETERANS EXPRESS ANXIETY FOR GROUP

GREEN RIVER, Utah, June 30 (AP)—Veteran "river rats" expressed anxiety today for four men and two women en route down the plunging Colorado river on a scientific expedition.

The group which left this East-Central Utah town a few days ago should be dashing through foaming water in the Colorado's deep canyons, moving toward their first contact with civilization, scheduled at Lee's Ferry, Ariz., July 4.

Rainy weather has aroused the river veterans' fears.

"Sixteen of the last week have seen more water rushing into the Colorado which is at flood stage," one "river rat" said. "These sudden, heavy mountain storms are going to make the trip even more dangerous; it's a tough break for them all right."

WHEAT CUTTING MORE GENERAL—PRICE DOWN

Wheat dropped one cent a bushel since yesterday, local elevators today paying 60 cents for top golden grain. Cutting had increased in every section and the grade of wheat was good, elevator men reported.

The yield in the Pampa area is running about as predicted, from four to 12 bushels to the acre.

Commons Wins Fight With Army In Sandys British Secret Case

LONDON, June 30 (AP)—Prime Minister Chamberlain announced today that the House of Commons committee on privileges had decided that a special military court committed a breach of privilege in summoning Duncan Sandys to tell where he got secret anti-aircraft defense data.

The army court, constituted to find and plug the leak, already had bowed to the house in a stirring conflict between parliament and army—a quarrel which raised the possibility that the Chamberlain government might stand or fall on the outcome.

The committee did not recommend further action in reporting its unanimous finding through the Prime Minister.

The court will remain idle until the select committee—not the privileges committee—makes its report.

The issue was joined when a military court summoned Sandys, Conservative M. P. and son-in-law of Winston Churchill, to appear in the uniform of an officer of the territorial army in an alleged attempt to compel him to disclose his sources of information concerning Britain's anti-aircraft defense.

Sandys, a second lieutenant in the London anti-aircraft brigade of

100 KILLED AS HORROR REIGNS OVER ISLAND

TOKYO, June 30 (AP)—A typhoon howled toward Japan's islands today in the wake of two days of horror in which at least 100 persons were killed and 200 others were missing.

Tokyo was virtually isolated by the heaviest deluge of rain in Japan's recorded history and by an earthquake which leveled homes and disrupted rail and wire communications.

The Central Meteorological Institute warned all cities in southern Japan to be prepared for the tropical hurricane blowing northward across the China sea.

It said the winds would strike late this afternoon unless they were deflected. Most liners and larger freighters remained tied at their docks in Yokohama.

Meteorologists reported the typhoon was approaching the eastern coast of Japan but said they believed it would pass the islands.

A police survey showed a total of 207,379 houses destroyed or damaged throughout the nation and 104 bridges down.

Beleated reports from the north indicated there had been a second earthquake and a nation-wide total of at least 177 landslides.

Most of the deaths were in Tokyo and Yokohama. In both cities landslides crumpled homes. A railroad tunnel collapsed near Tokyo and a main line road bed was washed away. Many rivers burst their banks, imperiling other homes beneath undermining cliffs.

More than 12 inches of rain fell, flooding 150,000 homes in Tokyo alone. The rain, greatest in 60 years, had slackened early this afternoon but roaring winds were growing steadily.

Evacuees still were high and police frantically removed families from low-land homes and areas endangered by further landslides, the cause of most of the casualties. Earth, already soaked by the torrential rains, slipped in many places after the quake.

The landslides in Tokyo and Yokohama were the worst disasters. Eighteen persons were crushed or smothered to death in the heart of Tokyo when part of the estate of

Pet Crow Wins Friends And Influences People

Anybody lose a pet crow? Harold Payne, who resides on the Noel lease on the Berger Highway, found the tame crow in the shade of a parked automobile on N. Summerfield-st., near Foster, late yesterday afternoon.

Mr. Payne and his niece, Miss Colleen McMahan, brought the crow, which has personality plus, to the News office and put it through its paces.

Perched atop Mr. Payne's shoulder the crow showed an extreme aversion to flies and subdued one or two between times when he cawed friendly caws to several onlookers.

Mr. Payne says the owner may have the crow by calling at his home or phoning 1468.

And, since this is no ordinary crow, Mr. Payne would just as soon give it a home, himself—if nobody cares.

Confederates Ready To Attack Federal Army At Gettysburg

This is one of a series of seven daily "battlefield dispatches" by Dr. Freeman, editor of the Richmond News Leader and distinguished author, telling the story of Gettysburg just as it was developing 75 years ago today.

By DOUGLAS S. FREEMAN. Hdqrs. Army of Northern Virginia, near Greenwood, Pa., June 30, 1863 (11 P. M.).—General Lee today advanced his headquarters from Chambersburg to a deserted sawmill close to Greenwood and, as his troops push forward toward Gettysburg, he awaits confirmation or denial of a startling report that General Meade, the new Federal commander, is convinced apparently that Lee has been compelled to drop back, thus relieving Harrisburg and Philadelphia.

Buford's division has been ordered to Gettysburg, the great road center, and rumor has it he has been engaged. Meade's troops form a great quadrilateral, ready to march or fight in any direction. Stuarts' cavalry has cut our communications with General Couch, on the Susquehanna.

All this leads us to expect battle soon, between Gettysburg and Pipe Creek.

Federal infantry already are at Gettysburg in support of cavalry with whom Pettigrew's brigade of Herh's division today had a brush.

Lieutenant-General A. P. Hill, heading the advance of the army, which General Lee has ordered to concentrate at Gettysburg, learned yesterday that shoes in considerable numbers were to be had in that town. This morning he ordered General Johnston Pettigrew to march from Cashtown to Gettysburg and to procure the footwear for the barefooted men of the Third corps.

As General Pettigrew approached Gettysburg by the Cashtown road,

CHINESE DEFENSE GIVES UNDER JAPANESE DRIVE

SHANGHAI, June 30 (AP)—Chinese military authorities admitted tonight that the Matowchen defense system was slowly giving way before Japan's drive up the Yangtze river toward Hankow, China's provisional capital.

For more than a week these forts and the boom or barrier of sunken boats, had halted the Japanese thrust some 175 miles from its goal.

BORGER ROAD OPEN ALL WAY

The Pampa-Borger road was put on a maintenance basis this morning by the Texas Highway department...

Work on the project, which will be a unit in the proposed highway that will connect Oklahoma City, Pampa and Denver, was started December 8.

During construction, a weekly average of 120 men were employed in both the grading and bridge crews.

The total distance between Pampa and Borger is now 27.3 miles. Before construction of the new road, designated as Highway 209, the distance was 38 miles.

Grading work was done by employees of Allhands and Davis, who are now at work filling ditches along Highway 33 near Panhandle.

Market Briefs

NEW YORK, June 30, (AP)—Stock market leaders advanced in one of the fastest rallies in the past several years during today's early proceedings...

Brokers' offices were swamped with overnight buying demand from all parts of the country and abroad at the opening.

Blocks of 1,000 to 15,000 shares changed hands in the wild dash and the ticker tape, for more than an hour, was as much as 10 minutes behind.

The "flash" system, which was used for the second time since its adoption last November to rush rapidly changing quotations to crowded trading rooms.

Numerous new highs for the year of 1938 were posted before the close.

The initial hour 1,000,000 shares were turned over. Transfers amount to only 2,500,000 shares, despite a moderate pickup in the final hour.

In the backward way were General Motors, Sears Roebuck, Bethlehem Steel, Westinghouse, American Telephone, Union Carbide, Coca Cola, Douglas Aircraft, International Harvester, Loew's Odeon, Ellington, Crane Co., American Can and Air Reduction.

U. S. Gypsum, up more than 8 yesterday, among the prominent leaders, along with Dow Chemicals, another notable gain on Wednesday.

Rail bonds exhibited further strength in the final hour, with the 4 1/2% bond ending off 1/4 to 1 3/8 cents a bushel and the 4 1/2% bond ending off 1/4 to 1 3/8 cents a bushel.

Cotton in late dealings yielded about 15 cents a bale, Sterling, near mid-afternoon was up 1/4 of a cent to 54 1/2. The French franc was unchanged at 278.9/16 cents.

Closing curb prices were listed. Down here were Phillips 66, 11 1/2, 11 1/2, 11 1/2, American Airways, American Cyanamid, International Petroleum, Gulf Oil and Alumina.

Gains were Chesborough, Casco Products, Ohio Brass 'B', Royal Typewriter and Am Can.

WPA WAGE HIKE DOES NOT AFFECT PLAINS

A wage increase that put the scale of unskilled labor at $31.50 a month for workers on WPA projects in Gray County in November, 1938, today prevented WPA workers here from deriving any benefit of wage scale increases for unskilled workers, that becomes effective July 15.

Unskilled labor on Gray County WPA projects draw $31.50 a month, as do workers in 35 other Panhandle counties whose pay was increased in November, 1935, for recognized union conditions.

The wage hike for unskilled WPA workers in other Texas counties will be approximately $3 a month, and comes as a result of many protests made in the past of the higher wages paid WPA workers in Northern states.

SAN ANTONIO, June 30 (AP)—Wage scale increases for unskilled workers, approximating $3 per month, will go into effect on Works Progress Administration projects after July 15, State Administrator H. P. Drought told administrative officers here today.

Workers who will benefit by the wage scale increase are those who are classified as unskilled and who have been receiving monthly wages ranging from $21 to $35, depending upon prevailing rates in their localities.

Unaffected by the change in the wage scale are workers in counties which are not included in the wage schedule applicable to other Texas counties but which, because of recognized unusual conditions existing in them received a wage increase in November, 1935.

The wage increase established for those counties at that time remains in effect.

Counties not affected by the wage scale change are: Dallam, Sherman, Hansford, Ochiltree, Lipscomb, Hartley, Moore, Hutchinson, Roberts, Borden, Garfield, Gray, DeWitt, Armstrong, Fannin, Castro, Swisher, Briscoe, Bailey, Lamb, Hale, Floyd, Cochran, Hockley, Lubbock, Crosby, Yoakum, Terry, Lynn, Gaines, Dawson, Andrews, Bety, Winkler and Loving.

JUVENILE OFFICER FOR GRAY COUNTY SELECTED

Captain Herman G. Lambrecht, head of the Salvation Army in Pampa, was yesterday appointed juvenile officer of Gray County at a special meeting of the Gray County commissioners. The office carries no salary.

Captain Lambrecht will assist the court in the handling of juvenile cases and will act in an advisory capacity.

Other business transacted at the meeting yesterday consisted of the approval of the regular monthly bills for payment, and order appropriating $250 to the soil erosion fund for road and bridge work.

The commissioners were also to have received bids for the laying of a double asphalt surface on the lineal feet of the Bowers City road, but not a single bid was submitted.

This was attributed by the commission to be due to contractors' dislike of small jobs and to contractors equipment being now in use on other projects.

WHEAT SHIPMENTS DUE TO GAIN AFTER JULY 4

Wheat shipments from Pampa are expected to gain rapidly after July 4 and continue increasing from that date until the end of the season. Thus far shipments from Pampa have been below those of Canadian, where shipments began a week ago.

The first carload of 1938 wheat from Pampa was shipped yesterday. Two or three cars are expected to be shipped today by the Santa Fe.

At Kingsmill and White Deer, the situation is similar to Pampa's, where shipments not being fully underway at those points.

PAMPA FIREMEN WILL ATTEND STATE SCHOOL

Two members of the Pampa fire department will attend the annual Firemen's Training School at the State Station July 18 to 22. Fire Chief Ben White announced this morning.

Pampa receives a 3 per cent credit on her fire rate by members of the department attending the school each year. An added course this year will be for fire marshals of the state. Chief White, who has taken all courses at the regular school, will attend the special session.

Firemen who will make the trip this year have not been named.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, June 30 (AP)—Strength in speculative supported prices for a time during the morning and additional investment and trade demand carried them up to levels 19 to 21 points above the previous close.

Towards mid-session demand became less aggressive and profit taking by speculators increased July 10 to 21, Oct. to 8.83, Dec. 8.80, March 8.96, and May 8.86, or 1 to 7 points net higher.

The weather map showed dry conditions in all sections of the growing region and temperature was 10 to 15 degrees below the previous day.

The turnover yesterday was 21,750 bales and open commitments 385,150 bales, a decrease of 8,500 bales over the previous day.

INTEREST IN POLITICS GROWS KEENER DAILY

Interest in politics in Gray County will gain daily momentum between now and July 23, date of the first primary election.

Candidates have been busy the past week calling on farmers and seeking votes before harvest gets fully underway. Campaigning in town has not had the attention it had earlier in the month, as candidates seek votes from thinly populated sections of the county.

Absentee voting is the next event on the political calendar. There is an average of 400 absentee ballots cast in Gray County. Absentee voting will begin July 3 and end July 19.

Between July 11 and July 15, candidates file their second campaign expense report. Third expense reports must be submitted by July 24. A canvass of the election returns is to be made by the county executive committee on the following day.

If the enemy is at Gettysburg, or is approaching that town, Lee by tomorrow will be in position to attack him. Hill's Third corps is well on the road to Gettysburg. Two of Longstreet's divisions are en route from Chambersburg. His third division, that of Major General Geo. F. Pickett, was left on guard at Chambersburg to await the arrival of Ewell's cavalry, which is coming up from the west. One brigade of Longstreet's is at New Guilford to cover the road from Greensboro past that village to Cashtown.

Two corps thus are within approximately a day's march of Gettysburg. So far as the subordinate corps of the cavalry, General Lee has received no report today from General Ewell, but he confidently is assumed at headquarters that Ewell, after his recall from his march on Harrisburg, has turned southward.

The whereabouts of the army over the arrival of Ewell's cavalry, has deepened. General Lee continues to ask every new arrival if any news has been received from General Stuart, but in other respects he is as imperturbable as ever.

Until the left Chambersburg today for Greenwood, where he made camp about 2 p. m., he was besieged by persons who asked permits or sought souvenirs. One woman went to his tent the other day and, after pleading for relief of the poor in Chambersburg, requested an autograph.

"Do you want the autograph of a rebel?" Lee asked.

"General Lee," she said, "I am a true Union woman, and yet I ask for bread and your autograph."

NEWS OF SOCIETY

MEMBERS AND GUESTS HAVE BRIDGE-LUNCH

A regular monthly bridge-lunch-entertained lady golfers and other members of the Country Club yesterday at the club house.

Following a morning of golf, prizes were awarded to Mrs. Mark Heath for first place and to Mrs. William Mitchell for second.

After the lunch, which was served at 12 o'clock, five tables of bridge entertained the group. Mrs. R. S. Lawrence won the free lunch for making the first slam of the afternoon.

Lunch was served to Mrs. Fred Cullum, Clifford Braly, T. F. Smalling, W. C. Mitchell, Carl Leuders, Calvin Jones, Alford, A. J. Beagle, F. S. Lawrence, F. A. Howard, W. V. Jarrish, E. K. Harris, George French, Mark Heath, A. Swanson, H. H. Hicks, J. H. Pettit, Frank Carter, W. C. Stack, J. C. Dingwall, Walter Rogers, William Miskimins, R. N. Wright, and Marvin Harris.

Art Group Will Meet on Friday In School Room

The art group of the Adult Recreation program meets each Friday night at 7 o'clock in room 213 of the high school. All members please note the room change which is necessitated by some repairs being done on the high school floors.

Those enrolled in the art group are Bob Woods, Virginia Harrison, Peggy Williamson, Joan Gurley, Mrs. Robert Martin, Mrs. Rardin, Elizabeth Roberts, Nada Beth Rabin, Veina Dancy, Jean Dodson, Mrs. H. H. Hicks, Miss Mable Davis, Miss Katherine Snell, Mrs. Carlson and Elaine Carlson.

There is room for more in this group. The only qualifications are an interest in drawing. The materials and instruction are available at no cost to the participants as the project is sponsored by the Council of Clubs.

BPW PRESIDENT

Mrs. Christine Cecil was installed as president of the Business and Professional Women's Club at the final meeting of the year in the city club rooms on Tuesday evening. Mrs. Cecil succeeds Miss Mildred Overall, who has been the president and an active leader of the organization for the past year.

BPW INSTALLS NEW OFFICERS FOR NEXT YEAR

Closing the program for the year, members of the Business and Professional Women's Club held the installation of new officers for the coming year at the meeting Tuesday evening in the city club rooms.

The program was opened with a saxophone duet by John Tom McCoy and Gene Barber, accompanied by Mrs. L. A. Barber, and the club collect by Nelma Edmondson. Presentation of attendance awards was made by Lillian Jordan. Clara Lee Shewmaker, Iva Ekern and Gladys Robinson were given emblem pins for perfect attendance during the past year.

Lillian Jordan also introduced the two captains, Katherine Ward and Laura Belle Cornelius, and announced that Katherine Ward's group won the attendance contest. They will be guests of the losing side at a picnic to be given in the near future.

A traveling bag was presented to Vera Lard by Ruth Walstad as a token of appreciation from the club members for her work during the past year as social chairman.

Preceding the installation, a candle was lighted by Jessie Marie Gilbert, symbol of the club as an entirety. Clara Lee Shewmaker then installed the following committees: chairman; membership, Lillian Jordan; publicity and magazine, Betty Dunbar; education, Audrey Fowler; research, Mildred Lafferty; health, Eugenia Johnston; finance, Iva Ekern; international relations, Laura Belle Cornelius; legislation, Grace Pool; program, Gladys Robinson; social, Maurine Jones; and public relations, Vera Lard.

Mildred Overall, the out-going president, installed the officers who are president, Christine Cecil; vice-president, Ruth Walstad; secretary, Pat Austin; treasurer, Gladys Robinson; corresponding secretary, Oreo Brock; and parliamentarian, Mable Gee. Each officer was presented with a small gift, representing her part in the work for the coming year.

She then presented a gavel, which was given to the club by the late Mrs. V. E. Fatheree, to the new president.

After the club gave a silent tribute to Mrs. Fatheree, the club mother who was loved by all the members, Christine Cecil presented a guard for the club's emblem pin to Mildred Overall, the past president.

Mrs. E. L. Tarpley's accordion orchestra, composed of Mike Sepic, Ernestine Holmes, J. D. Williams, Arlene Saunders, and Marian Hoover, gave three numbers by Mrs. Laurita Motley played two piano numbers.

Girl Scouts Plan Holiday Party for Saturday Evening

At the meeting of Girl Scouts of troop four yesterday afternoon at the Scout house, roll call was answered by 24 girls with three visitors present also. Mildred Austin, a charter member who lives in Kermit, was a guest.

Scouts working on troop dramatics stories of children in other lands and those working on their second class badges visited the library and gave reports on the trip. A holiday party was planned for Saturday evening at 8 o'clock in the little house.

Letters were read from three girls of the troop who are at Camp Kiwanis near Amarillo. Mrs. D. A. Caldwell, one of the leaders of the troop, has been unable to attend the meetings recently because of illness.

Honoring Mrs. L. J. McCarty captain of the troop, the girls presented a large birthday cake which was served with punch to the entire group.

Modern Menus

By MRS. GAYNOR MADDOX

Men do eat salads. But many of them refuse "to chew my way thru a mouthful of nothing." They like to strike pay dirt.

Here's a salad with Swiss cheese, roast beef and eggs as pay dirt, with plenty of "nothing" to supply the minerals and vitamins needed for health. It comes from the chef of the Hotel New Yorker in New York, and he says every wife should see the men plow thru it.

Hunter Salad

(Serves 4 hungry men)

One head romaine, 1 head lettuce, 1 head escarole, 3 small tomatoes, 1 ounce olives, 1 clove garlic (chopped fine), 2 hard boiled eggs (chopped fine), little parsley (chopped), salt and pepper, 1-2 cups French dressing, 3 slices ham, 3 slices Swiss cheese, 1 medium slice roast beef.

Cut the lettuce, romaine, chicory and escarole into 1-inch squares. Wash well. Slice tomatoes thin. Chop ham, Swiss cheese and roast beef fine. Rub the wall of the bowl with garlic. Put all ingredients into bowl and mix well with the French dressing. Season accordingly.

Here's another "pay dirt" salad. Baked Bean Salad. One can baked beans with tomato (weighing 1 pound 9 ounces with pork discarded), 1 teaspoon salt, 1-4 teaspoon freshly ground black pepper, 1-3 teaspoon paprika, 2 teaspoons lemon juice, 3-4 cup mayonnaise, 1 tablespoon clear gelatin, 1-4 cup vegetable stock, 1 jar frankfurters (6 ounces). Use 3-inch ring mold rubbed with olive oil. Mix the seasonings, lemon juice, and mayonnaise together. Sprinkle gelatin into vegetable stock and stir over boiling water until dissolved.

Set aside until cooled but not thickened. Add to mayonnaise mixture in a thin stream, stirring constantly. Mix lightly with the beans. Add 6 frankfurters, thinly sliced. Turn into mold and chill for about 4 hours. Garnish with lettuce and the remaining frankfurters. Serve with mayonnaise, sliced tomatoes, cucumbers and watercress.

Ireland's Coast Defenses To be Manned by Natives

BELFAST, Ireland (AP)—All of Ireland's coastal defenses soon will be manned by Irishmen.

British military authorities have decided coastal forts in northern Ireland must be manned in future by the six county reserve forces, replacing English and Scottish regiments.

Sir Walter Kirke, head of Britain's reserve, says it "obviously is more satisfactory that the men should come from the immediate vicinity of the points to be defended."

Kansas Spends Fortune on Memorial

By NEA Service

HIAWATHA, Kans., June 30—John Milburn Davis is 83, and he probably hasn't many years to live. But he will not be forgotten when he has gone. He has made sure of that by sinking most of a tidy fortune into a memorial that nobody can forget.

And what a memorial! Grouped beneath a 19 by 19 square granite pavilion standing and sitting stiffly like distant relatives at a family reunion, are six marble figures of Davis, and five of his dead wife. They represent the couple at various stages of their long married life.

Davis, who is believed to have put $200,000 into the strange monument, likes it. To local civic leaders who tried to get him to turn the money into a park or other public work, Davis answers only that it is his money and his memories that are being frozen into white marble.

The body of Mrs. Davis, who died in 1930, lies beneath the granite pavilion. A place waits for Davis himself.

Got Started; Couldn't Stop He began building a year after his wife's death. His first idea was for two statues of himself and his wife, facing each other across her grave. Photographs and measurements were sent to Italy, where sculptors produced the first figures. Davis liked them so well he soon sent for more.

In one group, figures of Davis and his wife are shown facing each other on their 10th anniversary, not long after they had settled in Hiawatha as a young farm couple. The 18th anniversary group shows Davis without a beard, as this facial adornment was burned off in a brush fire in 1898.

Later figures of Davis show him with only one hand, as he lost one in 1908 from a scythe-cut. But the beard returned to the later sculptures, and is evident today on the living Davis.

The same progressive changes mark the figures of Mrs. Davis, including one which represents her as a kneeling angel with wings. Davis, hat in hand, stands regarding his wife on their Golden Wedding day. Davis, deserted sits alone beside a vacant chair to portray his desolation and loneliness after his wife's death.

Pays No Heed to Criticism Thousands of people visit the unique memorial, and it has been necessary to add a granite barrier directly in front of the figures to discourage vandalism. Visitors have worn a deep path along the edge of the memorial, often tramping over adjoining graves in their curiosity.

Many of the visitors call on Davis. Some praise, some abuse him. He gets hundreds of letters, to which he pays no attention. He knows he is criticized locally for failure to devote his money to public purposes. He doesn't care.

"I've learned the futility of trying to please everyone," he says. "So I'm trying to please myself and honor the memory of my wife, who was my helpmate for more than half a century.

And so, no doubt, for many half-centuries, the ghostly figures of Davis and his wife will sit and stand beneath the granite colonnade into which has been finally distilled the savings of their long life together.

TEXAS VET WOUNDED THRICE AT GETTYSBURG

GETTYSBURG, Pa., June 30 (AP)—Ninety-four-old James Hammaker, one-time private in the 50th Virginia Infantry, has been injured three times in his life—and each time at Gettysburg.

Hammaker, a retired Parker county, Texas, rancher, fractured his shoulder in a fall from his berth on a train bringing him to the final reunion of the Blue and Gold.

He fought in the famous battle 73 years ago, as a Confederate, and was wounded in the leg, said his attendant, R. M. Reeves, of Red River, Tex.

As he lay in the road, a detachment of federal infantry came by and the leader said to Hammaker: "Do you surrender, Johnny Red?" "No," Hammaker answered.

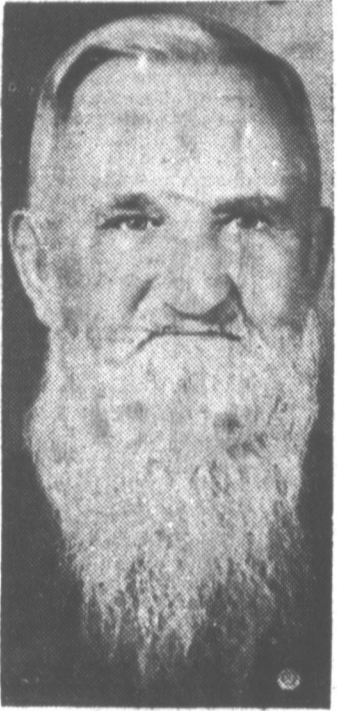

Then, the attendant related, the Union soldier shot the wounded man, the bullet entering the same shoulder which now is broken.

SCHUSCHNIGG NOT WED DEGREES NAZI REGIME VIENNA, June 30 (AP)—Joseph Buerckel, high commissioner for annexed Austria, declared today that, so far as the Nazi regime is concerned, Kurt Schuschnigg, deposed Austrian chancellor, is not a married man.

"But even if he were married," Buerckel added in a conference with newspaper correspondents, "we would not permit him to enjoy privileges which other persons under arrest do not enjoy."

Silent, ghostly sentinels, these white figures in the Mt. Hope Cemetery at Hiawatha, Kansas, are the fruits of the whole life of John Milburn Davis, retired farmer. Pictured from inside the granite screen that now keeps vandals away, the figures at right depict Davis and his wife during the invalid days that preceded her death. The other figure of Davis beside the vacant chair at left symbolized his bereavement and loneliness since the passing of his wife. Other figures show the couple at various other times of their married life.

GRAND JURY CHASING BOOKIES FROM DALLAS

DALLAS, June 30 (AP)—Bookmakers folded their form sheets and stole out of Dallas today.

Throttled by a quick-acting grand jury which denied being "witchburners," bookies departed in droves.

Capt. Roy Richburg of the vice squad, after some 300 persons had been hauled before the grand jury in police patrol cars, commented: "Looks like we've broken their backs."

Said Henry Watson, grand jury foreman: "I'm not a witchburner, but the grand jury is aroused over the open defiance of the bookies. They might as well get out of town—and I mean get out pronto!"

Rangers said most of the persons gathered in raids Tuesday and yesterday were of the poorer class, financially unable to wager.

Betting paraphernalia, including telephones, forms and equipment were seized by police and Texas Rangers. State prosecutors promised quick indictments for many Twenty known bookie spots were closed tight.

Softball League Officers To Meet

Officers of the Industrial and City Softball Leagues will meet with Softball Commissioner Alton Hall at 7:30 o'clock tomorrow night in the Chamber of Commerce rooms in the city hall. Many important matters will be discussed.

Attending the meeting will be W. B. Weathered, Harry E. Hoare and Jack Back of the Industrial League and Joe Parkinson, J. T. Hoy and Ray Franklin of the City League.

Date of completing league play, time and method of playoff and date of the Panhandle Softball tournament to be staged here, will be business transacted at the meeting.

GUBERNATORIAL RACE TURNING INTO A PETTICOAT PRIMARY

(By The Associated Press)

The families of candidates for governor and other high state offices in the current campaign are making something of a petticoat primary of it.

Mrs. Clarence R. Miller of Dallas, wife of the candidate for governor who wants to see more smokestacks in Texas, pinch-hit for her husband Wednesday in a platform appearance at Schweitzer, Williamson County. It was only after Miller had promised to make elimination of highway billboards a platform plank that she joined enthusiastically in the campaign.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee O'Daniel and their children, Pat, Mike and Mollie of Fort Worth are campaigning strictly on a family basis. Pat and Mike are members of the Hill Billy Band and Mollie is an accomplished greeter.

Tom Hunter's family has been much in the news lately. His daughter, scheduled to go on the air for him, was stopped by illness but is now recovering. Other members of his family are active in his campaign for governor.

Mrs. Ernest O. Thompson has gone with her husband on most of his campaign trips and says she gets a big thrill out of making tours and meeting the people. Thompson's workers are making direct appeals to women voters, citing his efforts for truck and bus safety on the highways as railroad commissioner.

Mrs. William McCraw campaigned with her husband at Arlington and Waco, but this is what she has to say about it: "Bill's running for governor. I'm not running for first lady." She has made trips to several cities, including Houston, Lubbock, Brownsville, and Fort Worth at the invitation of McCraw headquarters in those cities, and the public has been invited to meet her at receipts.

Wives Manage Campaign John Wood, candidate for Railroad Commissioner, appointed his wife official campaign manager with headquarters at Austin. "I know they can't beat him," she said of her husband.

Mrs. Ralph Yarborough, whose district judge husband is running for attorney general, is spending considerable time writing to friends in advocating his candidacy. Mrs. L. A. Woods, whose husband is candidate for his fourth term as state superintendent of public instruction, lets Woods do the speaking but she handles the finances. Mrs. W. E. James, wife of another candidate for the same office, was a teacher for more than 20 years, and is devoting her full time to his campaign.

Mrs. Frank Morris literally climbed on her husband's bandwagon at Greenville. She drove his sound auto into an area roped off for the rally and when Morris finished his speech, she made one. He is running for Railroad Commissioner.

Several women are running for the legislature. There wasn't a woman in the last legislature.

LONDON, June 30 (AP)—Occupying the spotlight in Britain's "official secrets" drama in Commons is 30-year-old Euphane Sandys (pronounced Sande).

Tall, red-headed and handsome, he is a leader of the House of Commons "glamor boys"—a group of good-looking younger members who are champions of the former foreign minister, Anthony Eden.

Educated at Eton and Oxford, Sandys studied law but entered the diplomatic service in 1930 and served at Berlin and the foreign office in London. He resigned from the service in 1933 to enter politics.

M'CORMICK SOUGHT IN FOOTHILLS OF SANDIAS ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., June 30 (AP)—The search for Medill McCormick, missing heir to a Chicago publishing fortune, developed today in a dogged, all but hopeless, combing of the Sandia foothills into which he vanished eight days ago.

A continuation of yesterday's efforts was the only plan agreed upon at a conference of workers last night.

MEXICAN HAT FIRST AMONG ALL SOUVENIRS

MEXICO CITY, June 30 (AP)—Northern folk who associate the southwest, especially Texas, with the 10-gallon hat, have elected the Mexican sombrero first among the souvenirs of their visit to the southern republic. It is observed that American tourists have made the big hat, which spells Mexico anywhere, their favorite purchase among articles typically Mexican they take home in memory of their holiday.

The Mexican sombrero is many things to many persons—utility, index to social position, or something to spend money on—but always the most Mexican thing in Mexico. It may cost the equivalent of 24 cents American, or as much as $500, depending upon whether it is made of straw and/or felt with silver, or felt and velvet combined with gold braid and precious stones.

In earlier days when a man's wealth was indicated by the amount of decoration on it, the hat more positively defined his social position than it does today. Regarders of country people still identify men from Jalisco, Nuevo Leon or Michoacan by the size, shape and manner of wearing his hat.

The size of the sombrero is used in Mexico to point the jokes of stage comedians, but this does not hamper its practical advantages. A very wide brim is a shelter from the tropical sun, and the upward sweep of the great brim permits unrestricted vision and makes use of dark glasses against sun glare unnecessary.

The origin of the shape of the Mexican hat is not clear, but it is thought to be an adaptation of the Spanish baturro hat of the north and the flat-brimmed, high-crowned Andalusian hat, affected by the peaked, wide-brimmed straws the Spaniards found the native Mexicans using. At any rate, the brim grew higher.

The shape of the Mexican hat makes a man visible for miles in a lonely country, and minimize accidents of hunting. While American hunters wear a red shirt as protection against other hunters, the Mexican never wears anything but his hat. Such a hat is not confused with anything but man. Where a sombrero goes, there is sure to be a man under and in it.

There are sombreros in the national museum which are marvels of workmanship and beauty. Fancy felt sombreros are packed in special boxes and crated for American tourists to prevent the awful accident of anybody sitting on them.

China Using Propaganda Films To Unite People in War

SHANGHAI (AP)—War films are now an important part of the propaganda campaign of the Chinese government to unify the country in the fighting with Japan.

A new film entitled "Love Thy Country" is being released by the movie studio of the political training department of the national military council.

It is announced as a "glorification of China's Holy War of resistance against Japanese invasion and savagery," with an authentic background of fighting in Central China.

BARCELONA ADJUSTS ITS LIFE TO INSURGENT PLANE RAIDS

Copper Defeats Steel in Battle

BARCELONA, Spain (Correspondence of the Associated Press)—The spine-chilling wails of the sirens warning of air raids and the hoarse, excited roar of anti-aircraft batteries are now daily—and nightly—routine for Barcelona, like the crash of artillery shells for Madrid.

Life in the capital of government Spain adjusts itself around the Insurgent air raids just as it does for the hot sun of noon and the starry nights of Spain's third summer of war.

Despite the rationing of light, the 9 p. m. curfew, the scarcity of transport, the meagreness of wartime food, some of Barcelona's old life remains. The sidewalk cafes serving synthetic vermouth and coffee still are crowded.

Cinema theaters still are well patronized, although they are still showing pictures that came to Spain before the war began.

Dog racing and the various forms of jal alai, where betting is loud and complicated, are popular. There is amateur football, boxing, swimming. Six or eight theaters show drama, musical comedy and vaudeville.

Food for the man with a job is adequate, but not very tempting. Popular restaurants under state control sell meals for five or ten pesetas (nominal 30 or 40 cents). Almost everyone has some way of getting a little more than the official ration, either through an extra ration card or a friend in the country.

Yet outside factories, barracks and hospital there nearly always are little queues of ragged women and children with pots and pans, waiting for handouts or left overs.

Wine has almost disappeared, for lack of transport. Beer vanished months ago. Bread is strictly rationed. Rice, beans, vegetables and fruits in season and limited meat and fish make up the menu.

Despite the pegging of food and other prices, the value of the peseta abroad continues to fall. Hence imports are less and less. Great gaps appear in shop windows.

Newspapers after nearly two years of war print less war news than ever, nothing but the short communique issued nightly by the ministry of defense. They are rigidly censored and recently three papers were suspended for disobeying orders.

EUROPE TO STORE UP WHEAT FOR LIKELY WAR

WASHINGTON, June 30 (AP)—Foreign trade experts of the agriculture department said today unsettled political conditions in Europe might open new and larger markets for surplus American wheat during the next 12 months.

Prospects for larger sales in Europe were indicated, they said, by the recent decision of Great Britain and the Netherlands to accumulate reserve stocks of the grain in preparation for a possible outbreak of war.

Foreign trade authorities said other European powers were known to be considering similar action.

The Netherlands has begun the establishment of a system for maintaining at least two months' supply of wheat at all times. Grain importers and dealers would be held responsible for maintaining such stocks with subsidy assistance from the government. Little is known about the British plan.

Trade experts estimated that European wheat imports for consumption needs during the next year would be about 450,000 bushels, or about 50,000,000 more than during the last 12 months. Reserve stocks were not included in the estimates.

The British Museum contains between 3,500,000 and 4,000,000 printed books, 55,000 manuscripts.

'UNADULTERATED LIE,' KENNEDY CALLS STORY

NEW YORK, June 30 (AP)—Joseph P. Kennedy, ambassador to Great Britain, today denounced as a "complete unadulterated lie" an assertion in a current magazine that James Roosevelt, son and secretary to the President, helped get him his ambassadorial post and helped him, as well to become "the premier scotch whiskey salesman in America."

The article, by Alva Johnston in The Saturday Evening Post, dealt mainly with young Roosevelt and his career as an insurance salesman.

Kennedy commented on the story as he called for his London post. Reading the section applying to him he commented with a grin: "I admit I am the ambassador but I deny that I am the premier scotch whiskey salesman in this country. I do like, however, to be the best in everything."

Reading further in the article, he added he never had bought "one cent's worth of insurance from Jimmy Roosevelt." He had needed nobody's help in getting public positions, he said.

"Kennedy," he said, "is able to get along pretty well without help from anyone."

The Johnston article, he went on, "tries to make me out a phoney but if all of it is as true as the part I have read about myself is a complete, unadulterated lie."

TROUP NEGRO 99

TROUP, June 30 (AP)—Jim Tenson, born a negro slave in Nacogdoches County, claims he will be 99 years old July 6. He has a gun given him after the ambush slaying more than 60 years ago of Henry Reeves, notorious East Texan. Jim makes his living as herb doctor, water-diviner, well digger, and general handy man. He is an authority on the moon and its effect on weather and crops.

Two Japanese airmen recently flew two heavy, German-made passenger liners from Berlin to Tokyo.

USE YOUR HEAD

The ghastly day approaches. Everybody is now set to handle the firecracker with a 10-foot pole and then take the car for a 40-mile-an-hour spin in holiday traffic.

But don't—if you aren't quite ready yet to settle down into that eternal sleep—don't get caught napping on the 4th of July. And it might even be worth your while to keep your wits every day in the month.

For this is the most murderous month of the year. For five years more people have died of accidental causes in July than in any other month. July days are the hey-days for traffic accidents, for drownings, for fire-works injuries, of course, and for fatal falls.

More than two and a half times as many persons were slain by man's stupidity and carelessness last July as lost their lives during the entire Revolutionary War. One million were injured.

Yawn, brother—if you can—in the face of that!

MAN'S IMPROVEMENTS

"How far that little candle throws his beams! So shines a good idea in a naughty world."

News comes of an achievement of science that makes the unscientific mind reel with wonder. A vapor lamp has been developed whose light is so great that only the burning substance beneath the surface of the sun would equal it.

The lamp is a little column of vapor about as thick as the lead in a pencil, and scarcely longer. A man could hold in one hand enough of these lamps to light all the airports in the United States. We've come a long way from candles, but a good deed continues to shine with a brightness made doubly radiant by contrast with the vast and excessive darkness which surrounds it.

Man continues to be the most obstinate material for improvement that genius ever set its hand to.

INVESTMENT From the New Orleans Times-Picayune:

"Without a dissenting vote" the House passed an additional appropriation of $308,000 for federal bureau of investigation. Of this sum, carried in the fiscal deficiency bill, $50,000 was recommended by President Roosevelt to finance the quest for the kidnaper of Jimmy Cash, the little Florida boy whose body was found a few hours later by the G-Men assigned to that pitiful case. Another $150,000 was set up as an emergency fund for use when a "crime wave" or some other emergency occurs. During recent weeks the bureau, having exhausted its appropriations, was forced to lay off a number of its agents temporarily. Increase of its maintenance and emergency funds will be approved by the American public, we believe, almost as unanimously as it was by the House. The fight against the "public enemies" in the underworld—notably against the highly organized criminal gangs and the kidnaping fiends—organized and unorganized—has been waged during recent years in the national field with greater effectiveness than ever before. The efficiency of the FBI constitutes the country's best hope of putting an end to kidnaping that foulest of crimes, and to the activities of the gangsters and killers who do an interstate business in crimes of violence. Whatever appropriation may be needed to maintain this national crime-fighting force fully manned, equipped and compete it will be cheerfully approved by law-abiding Americans as a justified investment for defense of the public safety.

Behind the Scenes In Washington

WASHINGTON, June 30 — The German spy indictments in New York admittedly were achieved with "valuable assistance" from the British secret service. And all the really big fish in the spy ring got away.

A question frequently asked now in Washington is whether even any of the small fry ever would have been caught if the British hadn't been kind enough and self-interested enough to "assist."

One form of German espionage yet to be exposed is the effort of the Nazi government to check up on bank balances and investments held by German citizens in this country. Attempts to discover technical military secrets cause no surprise in Washington. Some of the highest officials, however, believe that Germany seeks to set up framework for an extensive program of sabotage in America during the next international war. German

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR: What Do People Read?

She writes in part: "I watched a group around the table last night during your news broadcast. Everybody ate in silence and listened attentively as the Japs and Chinese clinched in the Yangtze Valley, as bombs rained over Spain, as the stock market rose and fell, and as war broke out in South America—all without any show of emotion, but when you announced that the Franklin D. Roosevelts, Jr., were expecting a blessed event—everybody perked up, as much as to say, 'Ha—hear that?'"

Mrs. Breining continues: "The incident of the lady moving into the gentleman's home and refusing to move out until he married her also brought proof that the group around the table was made up of more than mere automatons. I don't think a Winchell edition of the news would prove too popular out here in the raw-boned Panhandle, but people by and large always perk up to news of human interest. I remember reading a story once of a professor in a large city asking his equally educated wife what was in the Sunday paper she was reading. She replied, 'Oh, nothing much. Just a story of a man who can eat several dozen fried eggs at one time!'"

By way of explanation, Mrs. Breining's letter came in response to a request for suggestions on how to improve the Final Edition of the News. . . Incidentally, I'm still waiting for a note from the lady who first mentioned that the Night Caps on the News were souring a bit. . . Are they still off key? . . . And, what do the rest of you think about a newscast via radio should be?"

Yesteryear In Pampa

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY The outlook for the success of the Pampa fair which was to be instituted in the fall was very good judging by the efforts at the various committee meetings.

Special rates to the Farmers' short course at A. & M. College were granted by the Santa Fe railway.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY George Briggs, who was assisting the county agent in helping farmers to become eligible for participation in the federal retirement plan, was inspecting fields of cotton.

Fight fans in Madison Square Garden, New York, were no more stunned than 1,000 Pampa fans at the NEWS' building when the Sharkey-Carnera battle ended abruptly in the sixth round with a knock-out for the Italian.

and other diplomats believe this country would inevitably be dragged into such a war, even if only to the extent of furnishing supplies to England and France.

DUMB LIKE FOXES, MAYBE Although some diplomats and officers of the military intelligence service profess contempt for the "stupid bungling" of German espionage, the military intelligence men admit that the best existent map of the United States during the last war was in the files of the German secret service. It had been made by German map-makers.

WHY SUPER-HIGHWAYS GOT NOWHERE Plans for a network of transcontinental super-highways, to cost up to eight billion dollars, got nowhere in the 75th Congress—partly because the proposed scheme was not practical or adjusted to national needs, partly because one of the lobbyists promoting it had a prison record and because another lobbyist related to the Roosevelt family failed to make any dent, and partly because the asphalt industry opposed it.

The Asphalt Institute, instead, has been promoting federal-state programs for more farm-to-market roads and more highway sidewalks designed to save human life. It has figures showing that 3170 persons were killed and 19,200 injured last year while walking on highways and proposes a national program of 100,000 miles of sidewalks which would cost more than $100,000,000.

About half as many persons have been killed at railroad crossings as have been killed while walking country roads, but Congress has appropriated $200,000,000 at one city for grade crossing elimination and nothing for highway sidewalks.

Anyone who is following the youth movements and the public school program for teaching citizenship and appreciation of the arts is assured of a higher plane of living for the future. It is evident the present standards for youth have already had their influence on the reading public, but I do not think we, as an adult world, are ready for a paper free from horror and taint. Contact With The Earth

A Greek myth tells of Antaeus, a huge wrestler whose strength was invincible so long as he touched the earth. But Hercules, knowing the source of his ever renewed strength, lifted Antaeus off the ground and kept him in the air until he was exhausted.

We don't intend to fall into Francis Bacon's error of regarding all ancient myths as parables. But the story of Antaeus holds a lesson for every man, and it amounts to this:

Contact with reality in its primitive forms, contact with the earth through our elementary senses, can afford us new strength.

Vital to every age, this lesson is perhaps most so to our own. Never before in history has so much been interposed between mankind and his life source, the earth.

There are countless young children whose experiences have led them to believe that the earth is an asphalted desert, dotted sparsely by green patches bearing the sign, "Keep Off the Grass."

There are many adults who have forgotten the soothing effects of verdure, of flowing streams, of the breathless silence of a summer's midsday, of the inspiring vastness of the heavens scanned at night.

Goaded by everyday cares, many seek refreshment in stimulants, competitive games and time-killing entertainment, who would do better to touch earth again.

Earth need not be taken literally, though tending to one's garden is a great satisfaction, as Voltaire's Candide found. Rather the earth—that is, the simple, the direct, the most meaningful, the palpably significant—activities are intended by the expression "to touch earth again." Such activities make for health and are an antidote to much that is inescapably unwholesome in present day life.

Precisely how you may "touch earth again" is a problem which you must solve for yourself.

Some who work with their brain solve it by working with their hands. Others who perform one repeated act in a chain of activities, the beginning and end of which they cannot encompass, find satisfaction in creative accomplishments in which they do all the planning and executing.

The point is to know that the earth is a source for renewed strength, and to find ways to gain its benefits.

LIGHTNING KILLS 17 WARSAW, Poland, June 30 (AP)—Seventeen persons were killed by lightning today and more than 100 injured as the severest thunderstorms in recent memory raged in several parts of Poland, ending a heat wave.

of news you are because that is what the people want.

Then, too, we are living in a world of realism in which people of all types must face facts, whether they want to or not; however, you might try seeing in a little more of a saner type of news. Some, at least, are sick of the disillusionment of this age and the seeming hopelessness of things in general. It has eaten away at the roots of the church, I know. There are more staunch citizens with their backs against the wall fighting against the trends of the time than one would suppose.

So anything you can edge in to remind people that God's in His heaven and human nature can be depended upon will be a real help.

Sincerely, Mrs. W. A. Breining, Pampa.

People You Know

By ARCHER FULLINGIM.

If you happened to come to Pampa because of a job and never left town except on a paved highway, you wouldn't dream that there are near here certain cases whose towering, windy trees and wild life would lift your heart, and again could make you aware of the peace and satisfaction that such things give. . . The Indians when they owned this country were keenly aware of these timbered cases that are located along creeks—White Deer Tallyhock, Chicken creek, Wolf creek, Cantonment, Sweet-washer. You would be astounded at the number of mocking birds, red birds, mourning doves, wood peckers, robins. . . Captain R. B. Marcy in his diary of his exploration of this country in 1853 for the government said that they "found many old camps along the streams, and the ground for several miles was thickly sown with cottonwood sticks, the bark of which had been eaten off by their animals. The prairie tribes are in the habit of feeding their favorite horses with the cotton-woody bark in the winter. . . We found the stumps of the trees they had cut from year to year in various stages of decay—some entirely rotten, and others that had been cut during the past winter. . . the cotton-wood is a never-failing resort when the grass is gone. . . Game is abundant in this vicinity. . . Seven deer and one antelope were killed today."

The Capital Jigsaw

BY HOWARD C. MARSHALL

AUSTIN, June 30 (AP)—The Washington County Democratic Executive Committee thinks something should be done to prevent publicity seekers, commercial self-adventurers and jokers from running for governor in Texas.

It adopted a resolution urging that candidates for governor be required to pay a fee of $1,000 to get their names on the party's primary ballot. The filing fee now is $100.

Although 14 persons actually fought over the money, only 13 names were certified as candidates by the state committee, but this number was believed to be an all-time high. The name of Vernest O. Thompson was withheld by the committee.

Secretary Vann M. Kennedy of the state committee is of the opinion the filing fee should be $250 for state offices.

He believes this amount would keep insincere persons off the ballot and at the same time would provide what he says is needed revenue for committee expenses.

"Nearly everyone can raise $100," he said, "but $250, I believe, would stand off all but the bona fide candidates."

In the past, candidates for state office have had to pay as much as $250 and more. That was when the law required them to file with the counties and pay a fee of $1 to each.

The chief argument advanced against high filing fees is that they bar poor men.

In some foreign countries, officials say, a candidate is required to post a bond of considerable amount. If he does not poll a certain number of votes, he loses the bond.

Around Hollywood

By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD — Not too many years ago your heard producers whining because the fans stayed away from POOR pictures. Today's cheering thought is that they take it for granted the fans will stay away. . . from that kind!

One producer, viewing world conditions, sets $650,000 as top production cost on any feature expecting to show a profit. . . With some exceptions, of course, like "Snow White" and "Robin Hood."

Jeffrey Lynn, the Worcester, Mass. boy who is making good in "Sister Act" has seen his rushes is afraid he's in for some of the ribbing that pursued Robert Taylor so long. . . "I've been photographed very, very pretty in two or three scenes," he confides, "but if it comes—I can take it."

Together Again Life seems normal again on the RKO lot. . . Ginger Rogers and Fred Astaire are working together again, with Mark Sandrich directing. . . and Irving Berlin music. . . It's Old Home Week. . . "Carefree" has a new twist in plot, which ought to make the reunion happier.

Inspirational re-christening of the week: Dorothy Comings (the girl admired by Chapin as Carmel) is re-titled Kay Winters, just as if the screen wasn't filled with Kayes already, including Francis.

The screen return of Mitzel Green has met delay. . . Gask in "Fishes' sticks," which was a combination of music and nutty comedy (the two film types presently in disrepute), she'll go instead into "The Mad Miss Manton" with Barbara Stanwyck.

The friendship of Bob Burns and Lew Ayres dates back to Lew's stardom and Bob's obscurity. . . Lew was making a picture with Anita Louise ("Heaven on Earth") in which Bob had an extra role.

What ever-talk-of, department: All that talk about "grand opera" on the screen? And the "Shakespearean cycle" of pictures? And Charlotte Henry, the nice little girl of "Alice in Wonderland"?

That unfortunate, unfortunally short Elaine Barrie made during a forgotten spat with John Barrymore has been unearthed for doubling on Los Angeles showings of a "sensational," but dull, feature on the dope evil. . . But the ads were toned down after the first editions.

Siraw-Hat Troupers While Broadway is sending Hollywood's stars back for the summer, many of the local lights are hitting it east for summer stock. . . Candidates include Fred Stone, Douglas Montgomery, Mary Brian, Onslow Stevens. . . And Franchot Tone may get back to New York for that play he's been talking about.

1,000,000 Children Whimper In Terror

By BRUCE CATTON

A state of civilization which permits the bombing of thousands of inoffensive civilians has become commonplace and accepted during the past 10 years.

But perhaps there is still a capacity to be shocked at a civilization that permits children to go homeless and starving down the path to squalor and disease and death.

When the history of this era is written, perhaps the blackest blot upon it will be its treatment of children. When adults are bombed and massacred and driven by marching men from their homes, it is bad enough. But after all, it is their world, and it is as they order it.

But the children, brought into the world without a will of their own, living amid circumstances which they have not yet had a chance to affect—they are the blackest tragedy of all.

Such a picture comes back from Spain through workers for the Spanish Child Welfare Association, which, with backers like the Unitarian Church, the Quakers, and other humanitarian groups, is trying to help the children left helpless in the backwash of both sides of the Spanish civil war.

A million children, whose parents are either dead, or lost, or fighting on one side or the other, deserted and sick, whimpering in terror of things they do not understand—that is the most terrible toll of war in Spain. Quaker relief workers tell their tales of others standing in lines carrying their hot, feverish children, every one a hospital case, weak with dysentery or Malta fever. The three 50-bed Quaker hospitals in the Alentejo region tried to serve 50,000 helpless mothers and children who needed help desperately.

Advancing or retreating armies have slaughtered the cattle; there is no milk for these Spanish babies. Practically no meat, and very little rice and wheat. If the brave Quaker volunteers can supply them with a bowl of greens and a chunk of bread in the morning, and a dish of beans at night, they have done what all Spain is now unable to do.

Such relief workers cannot forget 9,000 refugees huddling in a single deserted factory building in Murcia amid indescribable filth, mere chattering animals with everything stripped from them that made life human and livable.

Even should the Spanish war end tomorrow, thousands of these deserted children would have to be cared for. Their parents are dead or missing. They have never had decent food or clothing. They have had nothing but starvation, and misery, and terror. What will they mean to Spain and to the world when they shall have grown up?

Let those who talk lightly of civil and class warfare consider what it has meant to Spain. It will take brilliant social results to repay Spain for these wasted and whimpering children.

MOORE, BILLS SCORE KAYOES AT BORGER BOXING MEET

PAMPANS WIN FOUR MATCHES IN RING CARD

Pampa amateur boxers last night looked stronger than in recent exhibitions when they divided a dual meet with Borger amateurs in the Borger arena. The count was 4 and 4 when the final bout ended.

Quick knockouts by Benny Moore and Frankie Bills, the Shamrock Aces of the Pampa team, featured the card. Moore registered probably the quickest knockout in ring history when he stepped from his corner and planted a right to Bud Young's mid-section and the youth went down for a count of 10. However, he and his seconds objected on an alleged quick count so Moore returned to the ring and a half minute later had Young on his back this time for a full count and then some.

A lightning right to the button ended the Bills-John Harvey bout in the second round after a fairly even first stanza. Bills rushed in the second to crowd his opponent and then land the telling blow early in the round.

Little Richard Stephens opened the card with an easy victory over Henry Ray of Borger in the 85-pound class.

Warren King, Pampa 112-pounder, gave his best exhibition since joining the Pampa team when he decided Bob Brown, bounding, dodging, dodging Borger youth by the technical knockout route in the second round.

Borger's first victory came when Odell Martin and Frank Brown, of Pampa, each played a waiting game. Martin landed a couple of telling blows to win the decision as Brown refused to lead and Martin did likewise.

Little Jimmy Hammill hit Louis Ford hard and often while doing some beautiful defensive work to make Ford miss 90 per cent of his swings but the Borger got the decision.

Virgil Praly, 118-pound Borger football prospect, rushed all the time and did some beautiful infighting to decision J. M. Calhoun.

Although unmarked by a single blow, Cleve Drake lost the judges decision to Micky Simpson in the final bout of the night. Drake kept his left in the Borger boy's face round after round while taking Simpson's blows on the gloves and elbows in the prettiest exhibition of defense on the card.

A return match will be held in Pampa sometime in August.

Yankees Flatten A's By Big Scores In Twin Bill

By BILL BONI, Associated Press Sports Writer.

Volunteer medics who have been keeping their fingers on the pulse of the puzzling New York Yankees are heading for the safety of the sidelines. For the Bronx Bombers seem about ready to start blasting their way to the top and, when they're in a blasting mood, the sidelines are the only safe place for anyone.

The world champions have looked oddly unfitted for that title on more than one occasion this season. But they looked like nothing so much as a high-geared army tank when they returned to the stadium yesterday and flattened the Athletics into 10-0 and 13-1 submission.

With the three out of four they won at the end of their western trip, that gave the Yanks a record of five victories in their last six starts, four of them in succession. Yesterday's production, which included five four-baggers, two by Flash Gordon, hit a new high of 27 hits for 49 bases.

Coupled with the Yanks' twin triumphs came the Cleveland Indians' 4-0 defeat by Detroit—a combination which cut Cleveland's first-place margin to three games.

Gotham's other entry also climbed a notch. The league-leading Giants, whipping the Phillies, 9-1 and 6-2, increased their lead over the Cincinnati Reds to three games. After Hal Schumacher had tossed a six-hitter that kept the Phils blanked for eight innings, Cliff Melton followed up by scattering 10 hits so well the Phils could score in only one inning.

The Reds were nosed out 5-4 by the Pirates, the third and fourth-place teams changed places. The Bucs' victory, accomplished largely through Bill Swift's one-hit relief pitching, moved them four points ahead of the Cubs, who were beaten, 10-5, by the Cardinals for their third straight defeat.

In the other National League game the Dodgers, despite two homers by Dolph Camilli and another by Goody Rosen, lost to the Bees, 7-6, and thus kept intact a record that has seen them lose every league night game they played.

Three four-baggers helped the White Sox rout the Browns, 9-5. The Red Sox thumped Washington 6-4.

Budge To Play In Net Finals At Wimbledon

WIMBLEDON, June 30 (AP)—Don Budge, an unchallenged champion, makes what probably is his final appearance on the center court at Wimbledon tomorrow in the singles final with Bunny Austin.

Though he is loud in his denials, Wimbledon is convinced Budge will turn professional after the Davis cup matches and the United States championship this fall.

He'll get a hero's farewell when and if he walks off with the challenge cup early tomorrow evening.

Everywhere it is recognized that the match is more a case of "when" than "if."

No man in the past fortnight has been able to take a set from him. All told he has lost only 44 games in six matches and the most anybody has been able to take has been eight.

This record, despite Austin's excellent form in the semi-finals yesterday, has put Budge at the unprecedented and forbidding odds of 1 to win.

Same Old Babe

(By The Associated Press)

Strange things have happened around the Dallas ball park this season, but a gang of Oklahoma City base robbers came to town last evening and, aided by a stumbling Dallas nine, put on one big inning the natives won't be forgetting.

Most important, the Oklahomans scored two runs in the weird sixth inning without the aid of a hit—getting the job done with five stolen bases, four walks and a balk.

The Indians stole everything but first base in setting a modern league record for one inning. Not since 1914, when Houston moved in on a sleepy Austin nine and pilfered seven sacks in one frame, has such a thing happened.

The inning is worth preserving. Here it is:

McLeod walked and went to second on Dobernick's balk. McLeod stole third. Monaco struck out. Corbett walked. McLeod and Corbett worked a double steal. McLeod getting the first run. Hack and Shelley walked. Corbett scored on Brower's infield out. Stols third. Shelley's theft of second was a cinch. Priar finally struck out. Final score: Oklahoma City 9; Dallas 3.

Elsewhere league leading Tulsa slaughtered Fort Worth 12-3; the Houston Buffs trampled San Antonio's Missions 14-1, and Beaumont walloped Shreveport 3-1.

San Antonio's loss dropped the Missions into third place, behind Oklahoma City and Beaumont, still deadlocked in second position.

BOSTON, June 30 (AP)—The great War Admiral, reputedly invincible under all conditions, revealed his inability to carry top weight in the oud against crack rivals yesterday when he trailed Hal Price Headley's victorious Menow by about nine lengths and two others by narrow margins in the Massachusetts handicap at Suffolk Downs.

A crowd of 60,000, largest in New England's racing history, was doubly disappointed, first by the last-minute scratching of C. S. ## Dauber Scratched And Lawrin Wins INGLEWOOD, Calif., June 30 (AP)—Herbert M. Woolf, owner of Lawrin, which ran to an easy and almost uncontested victory in the American three-year-old championship stakes at Hollywood Park yesterday, debated today whether to head east for other turf engagements or remain in bountiful California.

Woolf's Kentucky Derby champion had no trouble capturing the winner's purse—halved by pre-race agreement from $40,000 to $20,000—after his choice foe, Dauber, was scratched because of a lame leg.

While a disappointed crowd of some 50,000 offered sporadic boos, Lawrin galloped in seven lengths ahead of his only rivals, Wing and Ring, and Rommy, who teamed as one entry and earned $5,000 and $2,500 respectively.

Sports Roundup

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK, June 30 (AP)—They are already calling for crying towels at Pitt. Coach Doc Sutherland not only lost 17 by graduation, but no less than nine of his hopefuls were declared ineligible by the new athletic regulations. Sutherland now is wrapped up in a tour of Scotland, trying to forget. One report says he'll bring back a bride.

Leroy Haynes, negro heavyweight, returned yesterday after a disastrous tour of Europe. Connie Mack says the Yanks and the Indians have it on the Tigers. Robert W. Madry and Horace Renegar, demon press agents for North Carolina U. and Tulane respectively, are giving the town a thorough going over. Stanley Woodward, sports editor of the New York Herald-Tribune, is off on a tour of Europe. North Carolina State is going around

EXPEDITION FAILS TO SCALE MOUNT EVEREST

KALIMPONG, India, June 30 (AP)—Another attempt to scale Majestic Mount Everest has ended in defeat some 2,000 feet short of its 29,141-foot peak.

Captain P. R. Oliver, member of the British expedition led by H. W. Tilman, arrived here today from the expedition's base near Rongbuk glaciery with word that the effort to scale the world's highest mountain had been abandoned.

The Tilman expedition is the seventh attempt to scale Mount Everest in the last 20 years. No one has ever reached the top.

UTE INDIAN WHO WORE WOMEN'S CLOTHES DIES

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo., June 30 (AP)—Death has taken Yogi, aged Ute Indian whom tribesman forced to wear women's clothes because, as a youth, he once hid with squaws rather than go to battle against white men.

Even in death he was an outcast, and his passing went unreported for weeks.

Only today an Indian brought word of it to the little western Colorado town of Atchewa, where the bent, embittered old man in squaw's garb had been seen occasionally—always alone.

CAST OF CHARACTERS JOSEPH SANDHAM—hero; he thought he was on top of the world until he was snatched into KILLY ARCHER—heroine; she thought she was headed for the altar until she was snatched into ED, the WEASEL—gunster; he thought he was headed somewhere, too, but affairs somehow got mixed up.

Yesterday: The Weasel escapes the police and the bride arrives on while Kelly banks $54 for an "entertaining" evening!

CHAPTER VIII

WITH this remark conversation lapsed. For mile after mile Joe drove on steadily, with Kelly sleeping peacefully at his side.

Two o'clock in the morning found the Ford west of Albany proceeding swiftly toward Syracuse. The Weasel had directed Joe as to what roads to take to his hideout across from Niagara Falls. Shortly they stopped for gas and the Weasel obtained a New York tabloid from the all-night station.

As they moved on again he searched for news of his robbery. "Here it is," he announced.

"Bank robber ee-ludes po-lice! Stop a second so's I can read it."

The account was brief. It stated merely that the bank at North Colistion, Connecticut, had been held up by a lone bandit early that morning; that the robber was believed to have gotten away with approximately $20,000; that his car had been found abandoned, but the man himself appeared to have made a clean getaway; that there was no clew to his identity.

"No clew to his identity," quoted the Weasel, brimming with self-satisfaction. "I'll say dey ain't. I pulled dat job clean an' neat. I . . . hey, wot da hell?"

The paper had been suddenly twitched from his fingers. And Joe Sandham, eyes popping, was staring at the reproduction of a photograph that occupied almost the whole of the back page.

Below the picture was the caption: SOCIETY GIRL MISSING—KIDNAPING FEARED.

The blurb read: Up to a late hour last night nothing had been heard of Miss Caroline Archer who disappeared from the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George K. Archer of 895 Park Avenue, on Tuesday. Members of Miss Archer's family could not be reached by reporters today. But detectives in charge of the case fear that Miss Archer has been kidnaped.

The Weasel was leaning over Joe's shoulder breathing stertorously down his neck. Suddenly he emitted a low cry.

"Hee dat, dat's . . ." He broke off, as if at a loss for suitable words, and gestured first at the picture, then at the sleeping Kelly.

"Yes," said Joe composedly, "you've got something. It's the same girl."

"But kidnapin'?" The Weasel seemed unable to go on. He was floored.

All at once something bright raced across Joe's eyes. He glanced at Kelly, stirring a little in her sleep. He screwed his head part way around and looked at the Weasel, who sat on the candy case with his mouth hanging open.

Then, very quietly, he started the car.

"Weasel," he said in a whisper, "punks like you sure hand me a laugh."

The Weasel stared incredulously at the back of Joe's head.

"You mean," he said, drawing a long breath, "dat you're kidnapin' dis baby?"

"What else would I mean?"

THE magnitude of this idea so impressed Ed the Weasel that for a full minute he sat silent and wondering. Then he pulled himself together and gave vent to a subdued whistle.

"I tought day wuz something screwy wid dis setup," said the Weasel shaking his head.

"Nothing screwy at all. I'm only doing what any other fellow with a brain between his ears would do. Listen, Weasel, I met this girl by accident. But as soon as I found out who she was, I saw my chance. She was on her way to Boston to marry some bird up there. But her car got wrecked so she asked me to drive her. Well, I had about as much intention of driving her to the moon as to Boston. And I was just—just—figuring things out when you came along. And now"—he sighed regretfully—"I suppose I'll have to cut you in."

The Weasel grasped this. This was the kind of language he spoke. He thrust his gun against Joe's back.

"You're tellin' me," he said, "I'll say you're gonna cut me in—and how. 'Cause I got a gun, see? An' I'm runnin' the show, plenty."

"There you go," said Joe disgustedly. "Gettin' tough. You gun guys have no art, no finesse. All you know is rough stuff."

"First of all you might tell me what kind of a place you and this Cissy Jane have in Canada?"

"Ain't much of a place," the Weasel told him. "It's a kinda shack."

"Shack, eh? Well, that sounds all right. Where is it?"

"Pretty near St. Catharines, Ontario?"

"Huh?"

"Skip it. I guess it's Ontario, all right. Now then, do you think that Cissy can handle this girl? She's a redhead, you know. They're plenty tough."

"Listen, fella, Cissy can shoot da light out a candle at 50 yards."

"Well, before you do anything else when we get there," said Joe decisively, "you'll take Cissy's gun away from her. We can't afford to have her—er—this girl hurt or anything. Not even scratched. They don't pay off on dead bodice, you know."

"Wot you gonna do," inquired the Weasel heavily, "write a ransom note?"

"Yup."

"Wot'll we say? I ain't much good at writin'."

"Don't you worry, Shakespeare," said Joe. "I'll do the literary work. Is this shack of yours decent at all? This girl's got class. We can't keep her in a rathole."

"Aw, da shack ain't so bad," said the Weasel. "It's good enough for Cissy."

"That," said Joe, with imperceptible scorn, "makes everything okay. Well, how about going straight there? We better get out of the country before we fool around with ransom notes or anything. Time enough for that later. I suggest we drive like hell for Niagara Falls."

"Sure," said the Weasel. And he added: "Dis here's a natural, ain't it?"

"You spoke that time. By the way, we haven't said anything about the cut. How would fifty-fifty be?"

"Fifty-fifty," said the Weasel, "is okiedoke wid me."

Joe bent his attention on the road. Presently he reached over and switched on the dashboard light.

"I can see the road better without it," he explained. "We've got to make time now."

"Yeah," agreed the Weasel. And then, for a long period, a beautiful silence reigned. It was as if two souls in perfect harmony and understanding shared the gloom that now pervaded Chandler & Sandham's Ford delivery truck. But, under cover of darkness, Mr. Joseph Herendeen Sandham began to do things.

SWEDISH PRINCE TURNS OUT TO BE AN ORATOR

PHILADELPHIA, June 30 (AP)—The broad shoulders of handsome Prince Bertil of Sweden bore the burden of royalty alone today as Pennsylvania said tribute to its hardy Swedish and Finnish settlers of three centuries ago.

His father, Crown Prince Gustaf Adolf, lay in a New York hospital, ill with a kidney ailment. His stepmother, Crown Princess Louise, was at the bedside of the ailing prince.

The 26-year-old prince, thrust by chance into the major role in Delaware, Pennsylvania and New Jersey tercentenary events, received the acclaim of his entourage for the sturdy "pinch hitting" he is doing.

One of his aides asserted the prince would be "a new figure to reckon with in the royal family when he gets home."

"The Crown Prince didn't know he was an orator until he came to America 12 years ago," one of the Swedish delegates said. "And now this visit to the United States has shown there is another orator in the royal family."

"He has given himself what you call the 'build-up,'" another added. "From now on back home he will be a sought after speaker."

COUNT TO FACE CHARGES MADE BY HEIRESS-WIFE

LONDON, June 30 (AP)—An arrangement was understood to have been made today for Count Court Haugwitz-Reventlow to face a British court on the charges of his heiress-wife, the former Barbara Hutson, that he wrote a letter she regarded as threatening.

Attorneys for the count and countess met in a private, half-hour hearing with a Bow street magistrate.

No date was set, however, for the hearing, to be held when the count returns from Paris. It was arranged at his request for an opportunity to clear up his wife's allegations.

OKLAHOMAN ELECTED KIWANIS PRESIDENT

SAN FRANCISCO, June 30 (AP)—H. G. Hatfield of Oklahoma City was chosen president of Kiwanis International by acclamation today at the 22nd annual convention of the organization here. He succeeds F. Trafford Taylor of St. Boniface, Manitoba.

Results of the written ballot on other officers, some of whom were unopposed, will be announced by the Kiwanis house of delegates tomorrow.

The giant reptiles of ancient times depended on their great strength to overcome their prey, as do our larger reptiles of today, such as crocodiles and larger snakes. It is the small species that depend on a quick strike with poison fangs to win their battles.

TWO DECISIONS WILL AFFECT WHEAT, COTTON

WASHINGTON, June 30 (AP)—Agriculture Department must make two policy decisions within the next six weeks that may strongly influence exports of cotton and wheat during the coming year.

The decisions will be on rates at which the government will make loans to producers desiring to withhold their crops from market.

Under "every normal" granary storage provisions of the new farm act, the government is directed to provide such loans when surpluses accumulate or prices drop below $2

AT THOMPSON RALLY NEAR BEEVILLE

Ernest Thompson, candidate for governor, talked to 5,000 citizens of Bee, Karnes, Goliad, Victoria, Refugio, Nueces, San Patricio, Kleberg, Live Oak and other counties when he was the honor guest at a barbecue on Refugio County Sheriff Ira Heard's ranch near Beeville Thursday. A part of the big crowd is shown at top.

Left center Thompson is shown receiving from Haven Head of Corpus Christi, chairman of his Nueces county forces, the signatures of 2,000 Nueces voters, charter members of the first Thompson for Governor club in the state.

Lower left, the candidate is shown dining on barbecue with Miss Clara Driscoll, prominent former Austin resident, national committee woman and known throughout the state as "the savior of the Alamo." Miss Driscoll warmly endorsed Thompson's candidacy from the platform.

Lower right is 12-year-old Johnnie Barnhart of Beeville, who astonished the crowd with a fluent speech in which he stated that "nine years from now, when I am old enough to vote, I want to find the state in good condition, and I know it will be if we turn it over to Col. Ernest Thompson."

Trotsky, hiding thus in his Mexican exile, is many things to many men. To his devoted followers, he is a figure of heroism, persecuted, menaced, but indomitable.

To the adherents of the Stalin brand of Communism, he is about what Clarence Darrow was to William Jennings Bryan, a heretic, a spoil-sport, and a gnawing menace.

Careful inquiry seems to bear out that Trotsky has strictly adhered to the promise he made when he came to Mexico—to keep entirely out of Mexican politics. His secretaries insist he sees no one active in such affairs, and will not even discuss the local situation with them.

His private secretary, Rae Spiegel of New York, was a happy solution to a difficult problem. To find a qualified secretary with a thorough knowledge of Russian who was not either a White Russian or a Stalinist, was difficult.

Trotsky is austere with his assistants, as with himself. His phenomenal memory makes him at once a trial and a delight to assistants. Recently there was occasion to translate a speech Trotsky made in 1925.

Mrs. Trotsky, though a constant companion of her husband in the blue house at Coyocan, is not well either. The death of their last son, Leon Sedoff, in Paris in February, was a shock which hit both the exiles, but left especially severe marks with the mother.

TROTSKY IN EXILE—STRANGE FIGURE WHO IS MANY THINGS TO MANY MEN OVER ALL WORLD

By WILLIS THORNTON NEA Service Staff Correspondent

MEXICO, D. F., June 7—Mexican housewives in sunny, sleepy Coyocan pause on their way to and from market as they pass a plain blue-painted plaster house with faded red trim.

They know that inside the closely-guarded house is Leon Trotsky, who once commanded Russia's Red Army and sat at the right hand of Lenin, and who now works and writes and dreams inside the blue house, once more the exile he was before his meteoric career in revolution.

Suffering from a long-standing illness which has bettered only slightly in the healthful climate of the Mexican plateau, Trotsky keeps the rigorous schedule of a semi-invalid who must make every minute count. He cannot go to the United States for the climatic treatment he needs.

Always a Revolutionary Trotsky himself is an erect, alert, white-haired man who helped make one great revolution and spends all his walking hours in planning and working for its extension throughout the world.

With his pen, his only remaining weapon, he works methodically now for the revolutionary cause that has been his almost since he was born Lev Bronstein in 1879. He is in constant touch with friends and supporters in many countries.

It sounds like a pleasant retired life. But not entirely. That dark, heavy object weighting down the pile of papers on his desk is a pistol. Trotsky always carries it, and he can use it quickly and accurately, as befits a former militarist and a confirmed hunter and sportsman.

But there is no more duck-shooting and almost no more afternoon auto rides. Callers approach the door only under police escort. When it opens a crack, the big automatic of the inside guard is the first thing seen. All Trotsky's secretaries go constantly armed.

Elaborate Precautions From the Trotsky's have come recent stories of threatened assassination that would curl the hair. There is a mysterious George Mink and a sinister Roland Abbiatte, one hears, who are both professional cut-throats in the pay of Stalin's GPU and have been unleashed in Mexico to shed Trotsky's blood. Hence the elaborate electric-alarm system, the guns, and guards, the floodlights that make the former home of Mrs. Diego Ri-

OREGON TOWN HAS AN OLD-TIME STAMPEDE

MCLALLA, Ore., June 30 (AP)—An unscheduled throwback to the old wild West shocked this village out of its early morning sleep today when 150 head of wild horses and steers, corralled here for a rodeo, stampeded through the streets.

The horses and steers, corralled at the edge of the town, smashed through the heavy corral gates and charged the village after becoming frightened by firecrackers.

Horses, manes streaming, ran flank to flank with lumbering long-horn steers. Windows flew up and startled townspeople, after one look, gived to safety.

Care Keeps Enamelware Avoid using strong abrasive powders or harsh metal scrapers on enameled utensils. If food sticks stubbornly and will not come off with ordinary washing methods, boil a mild soda solution in the kettle, wash again with suds, rinse and dry. Should a scouring agent be necessary, rub with whitening.

LARGE CROWD ATTENDS RITES

Funeral services for Mrs. V. E. Fatheree, 67, were conducted Tuesday afternoon in the First Christian church, filled with friends and relatives from many parts of the Panhandle. The entire front of the pulpit, part of the choir and the organ were banked with floral offerings.

Services were conducted by the Rev. Robert Boshen, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, and the Rev. John Mullen, pastor of the First Christian church of which Mrs. Fatheree was a member and worker.

In closing the service in which Mrs. Fatheree would not want him to mention her many kindnesses because she was the type of woman of "never let her left hand know what her right did" in her many philanthropies, he read her favorite poem "The Cross."

Mrs. Fatheree died at the family home Monday morning of a lingering illness. She had been a resident of Pampa since 1919 and was prominent in club work, musical circles and her church.

Survivors are the husband; two sons, Gene and Clyde, and three grandchildren.

THOMPSON RALLY WILL BE HELD AT AMARILLO

AMARILLO, June 30 (AP)—Ernest O. Thompson will return his campaign for governor to the Panhandle the week of July 9.

fashioned political rally for the Panhandle candidate the night of July 9 in Amarillo. Thompson will be the main speaker and his speech will be broadcast over Radio SIA-KGNC at Amarillo from 8:30 to 9 o'clock. The candidate plans to remain in the Panhandle a few days.

In announcing his plans to return to his home section, Thompson expressed gratitude for the support of the cattlemen in the Panhandle and elsewhere.
