B. Davis of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce, who was present, declared was the largest he had seen in a city this size in more than 600 Chamber of Commerce campaigns.

Wednesday at 9 a. m. one hundred men will go out to raise the annual budget of between ten and twelve thousand dollars for the commercial organization, and secretary C. T. Watson, declares he expects the funds to be raised in two days at the most.

The meeting was held in the basement of the Methodist church. A local quartette sang, and a local orchestra played, the music being pronounced extraordinarily good.

PHANTOM SNIPER DENIES HE'S CRAZY

OMAHA, Neb., March 16.—Even though it may save his neck, Frank Carter, Omaha's phantom sniper, renounces being called insane.

On trial here for the murder of two men during his week of sniping with a .22 calibre pistol in the streets of the city, Carter almost upset his own defense Tuesday by leaping to his feet and shouting:

"I'm not a nut! I tell you I'm not a nut!"

James Walker, the double slayer's attorney, finally quieted the defendant and then went on with his argument which was an attempt to show that Carter in a maniacal suffering from an inferiority complex.

"The defendant is a great admirer of Czechoz, President McKinley's assassin because he overcame his inferiority complex by murdering a president," Walker told the jury.

"Carter's only God is luck. When luck deserted him he took a gun and went out to rob, the gesture of a womanizing man in a mistaken effort at self-preservation."

Carter is on trial for the murder of Dr. A. D. Searles and William McDevitt during his reign of terror here a month ago.

JERITZA OBJECTS TO BEING USED AS CIGAR BAND, SUES TOBACCONIST FOR QUARTER MILLION DOLLARS

BROOKLYN, March 16.—Maria Jeritza, who has been tossed into the footlights by temperamental tenors and suffered indignities in the course of her operatic career, finally has run up against the straw that broke the camel's back.

The prima donna could stand many things, but when Cohen Bros., cigar dealers of the Bronx, put her name and what purported to be her picture on their cigar bands, it was too much.

So Jeritza brought suit against the Cohen Bros. for $250,000 claiming damages under the civil rights laws of New York state. The diva, who has been under contract with the Metropolitan since 1921, is a Viennese by birth, her real name being Maria Poper Podhrany.

Since last December her complaint alleged, the name La Jeritza and a photograph of a woman in fancy dress has appeared upon cigar bands decorating the products of the Cohen Brothers.

METHODIST MEN'S CLUB FORMED AT TUESDAY BANQUET

PINK PARRISH AND GANG REGALE DINERS WITH SONG

175 PRESENT

TANLAC STRANGE QUOTES POETRY TO CHURCH GATHERING

The dawning of a tomorrow was symbolized last night when 175 men of the First Methodist church assembled in the basement of the Leader building and formed a Wesleyan Brotherhood.

For the past ten days the committee had been working hard setting a program arranged that would be an inducement for the tired business man to come out and their efforts were not in vain. The attendance was beyond all expectations and went away over the top. Long before the appointed time the men began coming in and a steady stream flowed past the reception committee preparatory to the starting of the program.

Hamilton's orchestra composed of the young people of the Methodist Church continually played during the time the men were assembling, as well as rendered several numbers during the program which were very well received by the audience.

Attorney Harrison Woodard presided at the meeting and after the singing of "America" and the invocation by Rev. M. S. Leveridge, Ralls, gave the military command to "fall to" and fall to they did. The banquet was served by the Mary Helm Auxiliary of the First Methodist church and was one of the most appetizing menus ever served by them. There was plenty in abundance and everyone ate and drank heartily.

The toastmaster opened the meeting with a fling of wit and humor at one, Pink Parrish, the so-called "biggest" man in the Methodist church and received a ready response from Pink, which was even more witty and wittier in his address welcoming the men to the banquet. Pink had eaten to his heart's content and was feeling fine, and kept the crowd in an uproar as he poured it on several others present.

Then the toastmaster introduced the main event of the evening. "Pink Parrish and his gang," Pink arose in all his glory and splendor and gathered his "gang" about him.

Consisting of "Bobby" Bob Murray, "Big Boy" J. B. Maxey, and "Cashier" C. E. Maedgen. Pink introduced his gang as the "Imperial Quartette" who had a surprise for the crowd inasmuch as nobody knew Pink had even organized a quartette—that is a singing quartette. Standing before the audience in gala array, the singers held their listeners spellbound as over the ethereal waves wafted the melodious refrain of "My Bonnie Lies Over the Ocean." Round after round of applause greeted the quartette as the song was finished.

Looks for Prowler, Sets Garage Afire

BROWNFIELD, March 16.—Hearing noises about his garage at an early hour Monday night, S. L. McDonald, manager of the Farmers gin company here, went into the garage to investigate and when he lighted a match to see what it was all about, gas fumes were ignited and the garage, and adjacent barn and this auto were destroyed by fire.

McDonald believes someone had made an attempt to take gasoline from a 30-gallon barrel in the barrel in the garage that resulted in the building being filled with the fumes. The loss was only partially covered by insurance.

GERMAN ENTRY MAY BE PUT OFF TILL SEPTEMBER

GENEVA, Mar. 16.—German entrance into the League of Nations will be postponed until September unless the Brazilian government orders complete reversal of its present policy on the league council dispute.

The decision to delay the action for which this session of the league was called, was announced Tuesday by Sir August Chamberlain, British foreign secretary. Premier Leger of France and Chancellor Luther and Foreign Minister Stresemann of Germany, their statement that "the postponement would be made under certain conditions" was taken to mean that only an eleventh hour cable from Rio de Janeiro could bring about admission of Germany at this time. But the fact that arrangements were virtually completed for official postponement gave the impression here that little hope is held for a change of front by Brazil.

The attempt to end the council dispute without completely scrapping the Locarno treaties was defeated by the leading Locarno delegates themselves. A Brazilian veto of German entrance into the council would have meant the breakdown of the Locarno agreements and a heavy blow to their already menaced position as international statesmen.

Upon the announcement of the decision the Locarno group gave out (Continued on Page 6)

No Clue to Slayers of Groveton Man

GROVETON, Texas, March 16.—Unable to break through the taciturnity that characterized the community, police are making little headway in finding the slayers of Frank Johnson, tenant farmer, living near here, who was dragged from his bed by the feet and shot to death as he struck the floor by a gang of masked men Monday night.

Johnson was in bed with a slashed throat, the result of a fight he and his brother, Harvey Johnson, had with Homer Gibson at Center Point Friday. Gibson was killed in the three-cornered fight and both Frank and Harvey were under arrest for the killing. Because of his condition Frank was allowed to remain at his home under surveillance of a deputy sheriff.

FIVE HUNDRED HEAR MRS. CHASE TELL OF HOME BUILDING

DOMESTIC EXPERT HAS HINTS FOR ADDED COMFORT

DICTATES MENUS

YAM PUFFS, SALISBURY STEAKS MAKE MOUTHS WATER

About 500 women attended lectures given on the second day of the Cooking School being conducted by Mrs. Florence Austin Chase, under the auspices of The Lubbock Avalanche. Many housewives dropped their work and arrived early in order to be comfortable and near the stage so that no part of the session would be missed.

The living room as a factor in the happiness of the family was the subject discussed by Mrs. Chase. The sense of harmony and contentment, she said, is not confined to the family alone, but to the relatives and friends as well who visit in one's home and are influenced by the quality of the atmosphere in the home.

Mrs. Chase reminded her audience that most of them had been in homes that repelled visitors.

"The second you entered the living room," she said, "you have felt the coldness of the house, the disorder and the lack of that warmth that goes to make a home."

The living room is the heart of the home. And for that reason must lend a bright spirit to the place. This influence should be so strong as to be felt all the time.

Furnishings of this room should be given the most intelligent attention. Draperies are very important. They may be of inexpensive material, but they must be harmonious. Too much red is bad for the nerves, so any psychologist will tell you. Garish colors should be avoided. Pastel hues with vivid touches here and there, with the proper lighting and window effects, are responsible for the satisfied people of the earth.

A case of a very restless housewife is cited to show the power of harmony. This woman was ill with no seeming cause. She hated her home. She told the doctor she did not know what was the matter with her. He questioned her and found she had bright red, garish purple, blue and every shade of earth emphasized in her draperies and wallpaper, with furniture just as bad as taste.

Mrs. Chase demonstrated in her domestic science lecture many new dishes for the luncheon and dinner menus. One of the striking new dishes is the vegetable pie. Another is the nut loaf with carrot timbales. This is not only appetizing, but is so colorful and attractive to look upon.

The sweet potato has made social strides. The yam puff is quite the thing. Mrs. Chase demonstrated this and served with chicken. Sounds very delectable to the great army of us who struggle with the daily dozen and the crust of bread now and then.

The rice ring is another new dish. Quite delicious when prepared as Mrs. Chase has worked out. Instead of being too moist and a counterpart of wallpaper paste, it is a cloud of perfection, fluffy and white and wholesome.

APPROVE BILL TO MAKE ANDREWS 'DICTATOR'

By THOMAS L. STOKES United News Staff Correspondent WASHINGTON, March 16.—In reporting favorably to the house the measure sponsored by the treasury for reorganizing prohibition enforcement, the ways and means committee has opened the way for the government's supreme effort to dry up the country, as this bill gives Lincoln C. Andrews a free hand that he has sought.

Wets on the committee made no objection to the bill, and it appears to have a good chance in both senate and house, although the provision for placing dry agents under civil service, inserted at the last moment may have to be cut out. Wets contend that the law can not be enforced, no matter what kind of a federal organization attempts it.

Chairman Green of the committee said Tuesday after the committee had approved the bill with minor changes that it probably would be taken up in the house within a week or ten days, and he thinks it will be passed after one day's consideration.

Meanwhile the appeal of the wets for a hearing on the flood of beer bills which have been poured into the house goes as unheeded as a voice in the wilderness. They may use threats of opposition to the administration measure as a lever to force a hearing on their bills, but have given no indication of such a course. Dries have a majority in both house and senate and this threat would not avail much actually, although it might be effective as a public appeal.

HUNDREDS STAGGER UNDER CROSSES AND BLEED BENEATH WHIPS AS LENT IS CELEBRATED BY FANATICAL SECT.

SANTA FE, N. M., March 16.—The Penitente brothers, perhaps the oldest religious sect in America, have begun their weird celebration of the Lenten season and the birth of Christ. Shortly after dusk Tuesday when the sun dropped behind the towering Rockies, hundreds of members of the strange order, half Christian, half pagan, began their procession.

Naked except for a loin cloth, the men left the morada carrying whips and crosses, some of which weighed several hundred pounds. Over cactus rocks and desert they marched chanting and yelling—a weird and eerie sight.

Whipping themselves and each other until some fell by the roadside fainting, the Penitente brothers followed their leader up into the mountains where they hold their ceremonies.

Crosses were planted along the mountain side and their bearers were bound fast to them while around them the mad ceremony continued with its chanting, whipping and praying. Throughout the night the mournful creaked with the cries of the frenzied celebrants who beat themselves until exhausted "to mix their blood with that of the Saviour."

On Good Friday the ceremonies will last throughout the day and night. And in his manner the Penitentes believed to be the Third order of St. Francis, more than 200 years old, celebrates the Lenten and the birth of Christ.

PLUCKY GUN WOMAN CALLS AMBULANCE FOR HIM

"I told them to leave me alone," Miss Lee told police. "When the fellow I shot fell to the ground he asked me if I used a real pistol. I told him that it was certainly real.

"He then asked me to call an ambulance, that he was wounded."

Coolidge Too Busy To See Sick Father

WASHINGTON, March 16.—Although the president's father lies near death in snow-bound Vermont, his son in the White House must pay the price of high position by going through the daily routine of official and social routine.

Tuesday night the President and Mrs. Coolidge attended the official dinner given by Secretary of Interior Work who had invited some seventy guests from all parts of the country to come here for the party in honor of the president. Alanson R. Houghton, ambassador to Great Britain, has arrived for official conference on the European situation and is a guest at the White house in accordance with official etiquette.

City Federation and Club Home Planned By Lubbock Women Organization Meeting March 31 at First Baptist Church, 3 O'clock

One more step in the development of club life in Lubbock will be made when representatives of the women's clubs meet March 31 to organize a city federation. The meeting will be held at 3 o'clock in the First Baptist church, and Mrs. W. B. Price, president of the Seventh District, T. E. W. C. will preside over the meeting. "It is my earnest wish that every club organize for development or improvement in any way join in this organization," was the sentiment expressed by Mrs. Price when asked her opinion of the plan for a city federation and club house.

There are so many problems coming before the club women that certain far-sighted women see the necessity of the organization, the ultimate goal being to own their own club home. The time is come when the churches no longer have room for the clubs to meet, welcome as they may be, and progressive Lubbock club women are taking up the work of a club house with determination and enthusiasm. The Delphian club is taking the lead in the matter, representatives of all the club meeting at their call two weeks ago. Mrs. Temple Ellis, chairman of the committee, has received favorable reports from all the delegates except one, expressing their willingness to work in the new federation for a club house. At the meeting April 31 all the women's organizations of the city will be asked to join, and co-operate in the largest undertaking ever planned by Lubbock women.

Posey, and Mr. Colquitt Williams of Comanche were married at the Methodist church at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning in one of the most sweetly simple ceremonies of the spring months. Rev. E. E. White, pastor of the Methodist church read the ring ceremony as the bridal couple stood before the altar which was banked with sweet peas, snapdragon, carnations and fern.

Miss Posey wore a silver gray ensemble in satin, the dress being of chiffon over satin. All accessories were in harmony and she carried a Her attendant, Miss Evelyn had an arm bouquet of white roses. Posey was dressed in gold georgette.

The wedding march was played on the organ by Mrs. Mamie I. Neal, who also played softly during the ceremony.

The young couple left immediately in their car for Comanche, where a charming home delightfully furnished is awaiting them. They will stop for a few days in Abilene, where Mrs. Williams will visit friends in McMurray college which she attended last year.

The out of town friends who were present for the wedding were:

Mrs. L. C. Odom and daughter, Maxine, Slaton; Mrs. Percy Minor and daughter, Doris, Slaton; Mrs. Joe Moss, Slaton; Mr. and Mrs. Jim Benton and son, Slaton; Miss Verta Zuma McReynolds, Slaton; Mrs. E. O. Nichols, Plainview; and Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Robertson and son, Slaton.

LUBBOCK NEWSBOYS' CLUB ORGANIZING

There are at present some twenty-five or thirty newsboys in Lubbock, who, owing to their duties are not able to attend any of the regular organizations or groups for boys of their age, and a few persons who are vitally interested in these boys are starting a little Sunday afternoon society which is to be primarily for newsboys and their friends. This society will be known as "The Forum" and is to be a big brother organization where boys can come once a week for advice and encouragement in their daily problems, and they will always become one to help them over the rough places.

Not only will the "Forum" function as a help towards better citizenship, but will encourage clean athletics among the boys and will help them in securing equipment in this connection; it is also planned to have a "big time night" once a month, when the "Forum" will help the boys in having a good time. The first meeting will be held Sunday afternoon, March 21, at 4:00 p. m. at the First Christian church, 1601 Avenue J. Every boy is urged to attend this first gathering, as at this time you will find out what the "Forum" will mean to you, and during the afternoon refreshments will be served. Remember, there will at no time be any charges connected with the "Forum," and all boys are requested to come just as they are and not to dress up. All boys wishing to attend Sunday are requested to get free ticket for their self and boy friend at the Avalanche office, from Mr. Townsend or Mr. Dow.

Hedda Hoyt Talks HUSBANDS

By HEDDA HOYT
(Written for the United Press)
NEW YORK, March 15—Since "husband-holding" seems to be one of the indoor sports of the modern woman it's well to get home cat's view point on the husband-holding

In the first place, it's a good idea to find out whether the man is worth holding.

If he's the ordinary sort who has no vices other than smoking up the curtains, putting muddy feet on satins, crowing over newspapers, monopolizing the radio air-quoifs or looking over ankles (looking over—mark you) and if his vices are merely petty intrusions upon you Mid-Victorian or Flapper Era type of mind, save him—for yourself.

Personally I think most of them are worth holding. (This is merely among us ladies.) And I also think we could get more mileage out of love if we'd keep stepping on the gas. It isn't the dab of rouge we put on our lips when we chase the old boy to a theatre that holds him. No! It's the dab that's applied before breakfast! It isn't the gate things we find to say before smart friends that make a hit with him as much as it's the little purring word we whisper when he's feeling sort of low in the mind after a hard day's work;—the little word that bucks him up and makes him feel a new man.

And from a fashion writer's viewpoint let me say, that the wrapper you wear around the home has got a few tricks up its sleeve. A man can't get or keep romantic over a woman who looks like a bar or soap Homer-prosac he is, he's got romantic ideas about how women should look and if he thinks bright red is the correct thing in women's wear, don't try to change him because you can't. Wear red. Dress for him. There are men who like house-wifery wives in gingham aprons and though your soul longs for lounge robes cleave to gingham aprons. On the other hand, the gingham-soiled woman often marries a satin-soiled hombre and if she plans to hold him she'd better turn to satin and fringes. When a man sits all day beside a woolen-gowned stenographer it's a pretty safe bet he'll want to find a femininely dressed, femininely

Some of the greatest champions of all times held the titles in the other classes at various times.

Home Dressmaking

By FRANNE ROLAND
(Copyright 1926 by Pen-Art Service, Inc.)

A Superbly Fashioned Sports Frock

the value of the jumper-model increases. Here it is featured in a particularly smart way, the skirt being trimmed at the front with an inverted plait and the collar, tie and cuffs of the long sleeves being of plain silk in boldly contrasting color. To make this dress the home dressmaker will need 3 1/2 yards of material 36 inches wide, with 3/4 yard of plain silk.

The diagram shows how the kick plait appears from the wrong side of the skirt. This arrangement is one of the important details of the development of the model, for unless the plait lies very flat, it will not be graceful and will show that it is placed there to supply the fashionable fulness that the hemline needs—a service which plaits are supposed to perform with as little evidence of their purpose as possible.

After the seam has been creased, it is pressed with a very heavy iron. The front is faced and turned back to form small revers.

The Kick Plait From Wrong Side of the Skirt.

If necessary buste the plait in place and let the busting threads remain until the dress is ready to wear. First stitch the plait across the top, then blind stitch it to the dress to keep it in place.

Featured Among Spring Styles

Since the sports frock also serves many other purposes, it is now developed in a wider variety of fabrics. Chinese silk, printed crepe or novelty fabric may be used for this model.

The one-piece frock shows so much variety in the way of variation that its popularity is not threatened as long as it is in place.

TECH-NICAL TOPICS

Another elaborate article telling of the newest institution of learning of Texas appeared in the Intercollegian, the official publication of the Young Men's Christian association. The article gives a good history of the rise of the greatest commonwealth of all time—West Texas. The article was written by A. R. Elliott, a national "Y" worker.

The Cultural Center of a New Commonwealth

"Eighteen hours by train from Dallas, on the high Plains of West Texas, rise Spanish towers of Technological College. To understand the unique character and romantic mission of this institution whose doors were opened to its first classes only last October, one needs to learn something of the economic renaissance of this Plains country which until 1918 was considered the permanent range of longhorns and hereof. But the great ranches met their doom in the revolution in the cattle market which came at the close of the war and the one-time cattle kings found themselves under the necessity of turning their beloved llanos to new uses. "The Yellowhouse" and "Muleshoe" and a hundred other ranches are now being converted into thousands of small farms with cotton, kaffir and maize replacing the four-footed product of other days. These farms are being sold, not in acres and sections but in leagues and labors, according to the original survey made in the time of the Spanish possession! New towers are challenging the prestige of Amarillo and Wichita Falls. Ranch houses of two years ago find themselves Aladdin-lamped into busy towers like Amberst (the "h" is not forgotten in its pronunciation out here!) with buildings, paved streets and great white ways. Thus is the backbone of farmer-owned agriculture added to oil and commerce to build a new economic commonwealth on one of America's greatest frontiers.

It is in the center of this new commonwealth that the Thirtieth legislature established a college. It was called a technological college, but it is not surprising when one thinks of the character, ancestry and cultural aspirations of these people—perhaps the purest Puritan stock in the United States today—that over half of the students are enrolled in the department of Liberal Arts and about a third are taking courses in Education. The total enrollment in the first term is 914, with only freshmen and sophomore work being offered. Junior courses will be added next year and senior courses the year following.

"Even the man galloping on horseback these simple figures would indicate something of the future of Texas Tech. But even more significant is the spirit of the West Texans themselves toward this school. It is their own. One cannot ask a banker or a butcher within two hundred miles of Lubbock what he thinks of the "Tech" without seeing his face light up in a way that makes his reply mere addendum. And the college is of and for the common people. Two hundred and seventy-four students indicate that their parents are farmers; seventy are merchants, fifty-one ranchers, forty-two contractors and eighteen each for carpenter, physician, salesman, teacher, housekeeper, and miner. Every attention is given to students who need to work their way. Not only is there an employment department for positions in the city, but the college itself uses student help wherever possible in secretarial, janitorial and construction work, on the farm and in the dairy. In addition, the Acro Project plan places at the disposal of any student an acre of ground, rent free, which he may cultivate under the advice of the agricultural faculty and with water for irrigation furnished by the college. These projects can be made to produce as much as one thousand dollars, all of which goes to the student worker.

"The character and motive of the administration and faculty is aptly described by the inscriptions which adorn the entrance to the main quadrangle: 'Cultivated mind is the guardian genius of democracy; it is the only dictator that freeman acknowledge, the onl security that freemen desire.' and, 'Righteousness exalteth a nation but sin is a reproach to any people.'"

BLOOD AND SAND FROM EL TORO

The convocation Monday morning was rather warm, to say the least. We like our system of the student organization. Someone suggested that it takes three persons to run a convention—and a convocation. One to make a statement, another to make the motion, and the third to second the motion—then they all vote it. System, we call it—there, just ain't any efficiency expert running that could beat it.

Glances from the sideline revealed the fact that a hot necking party was being carried on by a "sun" and one of the daughters of the Tech. A rather concentrated ray of sunshine was falling on the nape of the fair damsel's neck, and it proved the ancient law of modification—warm, warmer, warmest.

The orchestra music was dandy, too. There's one thing that will make a gang of folks restless and that's sitting still for a long time—and there's another thing that will relieve that restlessness by action—a good rythmical strain of harmony. Anyway...it did!

We have been thinking about it for some time—but we hadn't realized just how acute the situation was until we saw two boys and one girl trying to walk together on the sidewalk from the "barn" to the Ad building. It isn't our fault, because we weren't here when the walk was laid; but we don't think that the architects of the College realized that the population would pop about seventy-thirty instead of fifty-fifty.

The Aggies got right rambunctious all at once when they challenged the Engineers to a game of anything from ping-pong to auto-polo. And the Engineers got up enough steam in their engine to come right back with the answer to that challenge—result: next convocation will see the contest in effect. Wonder if the Charleston's going to be included, too?

The Methodist Men of Lubbock "threw a swell feed down at the Leader building last nite."

Wonder if the cedar chest that the "One Must Marry" cast gave to the Sock and Buskin Club is going to be used to hold "dead" plays that have gone over the bar. It's guaranteed moth-proof, they say. And while they were saying, wonder if they didn't throw in a clause something like the allowing of sand from a West Texas rainstorm to settle in among the leaves (of the books) and from their ashes would rise some new plays perhaps embodying the spirit of the best elements? Alphonso, page Aladin.

Lieut. says his army (which he is reputed to have raised from a pup) is going to have some fast-stepping regimental music next term. Reorganized, the head is to be, on an entirely different basis. No more corns on the fellows toes from stumbling over some gigantic mole-hill while he's trying to walk and read and play the music "all to once". Four hours a week of music—and that'll be really nice, we think. But the Lieut. didn't say anything about the guarantee not to put some corns on the lips of the players. Perhaps that is to be included in the agreement.

But what would lige be worth, anyway, if there wasn't something to kick about. And then if it was all that way, what would there be to redeem it? It's about even, we suppose, so we dissent kick.

Speaking of traditions: we are of the mind that had the official adoption of our colors and names and all such never been announced or even voted upon, they'd have adopted them anyway without ever knowing anything else. But following action of the Student Body Monday, they are Tech's exclusively—and formally. The Matadors, The Torador, La Ventana, and our glorious colors—Scarlet and Black.

MUSICAL FESTIVAL TO BE HELD AT COLLEGE PAVILLION

The third annual festival of the South Plains Music association will be held at the Stock Judging pavillion, March 24, 25, 26 and 28. Many of the best artists of the nation will appear. Several noted musicians and singers will be in each concert. There will also be a contest of the different phases of music. Many of the Tech students will take part in this contest and it is expected that several prizes will be carried off by them. Tech student season tickets will be sold for one dollar. They must be obtained before the 20th or the price will be raised to the regular admission. This will be one of the best and most educational concerts of the year and it is hoped that every student in school will attend it.

DR. GRANBERY TO TALK TO PRESS CLUB TONIGHT

Dr. J. C. Granbery will be the main speaker of the meeting of the Press-club tonight. He will talk on some phase of newspapers. It is hoped that every member will be present as this will be one of the best talks to be given in the regular programs this year. The club presidents will be invited and will attend in a body after their meeting at the cafeteria. The meeting will be held at 7:30 in the library.

TENNIS TO CAPTIVATE STUDENTS SOON

As the warm days draw nearer, many of the students are getting out their racquets and limbering up, and preparing to play some fast-tennis. The college has no regular courts this year, but the dormitories have private courts and it is expected that a good squad will be developed. The boys at Cheri Casa spent most of the day yesterday preparing the ground for a court. The courts at College Inn are in use every afternoon. Several of the boys are good players and promise to give the neighboring school some close competition. The matter of taking tennis as a minor sport will be discussed with the Athletic committee soon.

The Tech will then be the 25th member in the state. The society is for the honor students of all the first class schools and a certain number of honor students are elected for membership each year.

The society is similar to the well-known Greek-letter honorary fraternity only it does not have a Greek name and is not secret. It is affiliated with a similar society of every state in the union. The letter invites students and faculty members of the Tech to come the next meeting of the organization which will be held at Texas Christian University.

UNIVERSITY STANDARD IS RAISED BY SOVIET IN NEW SCHOOL PLAN

MOSCOW, (United Press)—Another Soviet retreat from its proletarian methods, apart from its trade and financial policies, is seen here in the announcement that the Education Commissariat has ordered that from a total of 22,500 candidates, 10,000 are to be admitted to the universities and higher technical schools. Under the old system the greater majority of university admissions were assigned to candidates nominated by the communist party, the communist youth trade unions, and similar organizations.

The change eases the admission of non-proletarian students, and is attributed to a desire to raise the scholastic standards in universities by allowing the entrance of intellectuals.

Admission will be on a competitive basis by examination.

SCRIPPS GOES INTO 200 FATHOM GRAVE

By United News
MONROVIA, Liberia, March 16.—Two hundred fathoms below the surface of the sea, the body of E. W. Scripps, the American newspaper publisher, was buried at 7 o'clock Monday night.

While the officers and the crew of the Scripps yacht, Ohio, Scripps, personal staff and a Liberian official stood at attention, the flag-draped coffin was lowered over the starboard side. A brief religious service was conducted by captain T. I. Vatland, who concluded with the words "I cast thee into the deep."

One salute was given before the metal casket was lowered and one immediately afterwards. The sea was smooth at the time of the burial, but the skies were overcast. The casket was lowered with a 200 fathom line which found no bottom.

Scripps' burial at sea was in accordance with his own written orders. Since October, 1922 when the yacht was launched, the publisher had spent all of his time aboard. He had travelled 115,026 miles in his voyages over every sea to all the continents of the world.

Th Ohio will return to New York by way of Las Palmas.

Inordinate Thirst For Lemonade Is Cause for Divorce

WICHITA, Kan., Mar. 16.—It was her husband's thirst for lemonade that finally broke up their home, Mrs. Lucile Prehin testified today in behalf of her mother, Mrs. Edgar Watts, of Ashland, Kansas, who is being sued for $10,000 by her son-in-law Pierre Prehin.

The Prehins have separated pending outcome of a divorce suit. "He always wanted lemonade," Mrs. Prehin testified. "I was on an allowance and didn't feel like I could afford to buy so many lemons. Mother went to the store to buy them for him where she met his sister." When the sister found out what and why she was buying, the family fight was on.

The couple were married in June 1922 following Miss Watts coming to Wichita to represent Ashland as a duchess at the international wheat show.

EUROPEAN MIS-REPRESENTATION OF AMERICAN PROHIBITION.

The extent of the gross misrepresentation of American prohibition by the European press is revealed in correspondence just received from Dr. Robert Hercod, head of the International Bureau Against Alcoholism, with headquarters at Lausanne, Switzerland. Dr. Hercod is the director of a temperance press service, which extends to every country in Europe. While all local movements against alcoholism are assailed vigorously by the wet press of European countries, yet the majority of the mis-statements published "concern almost exclusively American prohibition," writes Dr. Hercod. "Now and then some notices appear as to the effect of the measures taken in Finland or Norway, but American prohibition is the favorite topic."

It is pointed out, in the correspondence, that the same kind of reports appear simultaneously all over Europe, from Turkey to Portugal, which causes the belief in the existence of some central agency, possibly in London or Paris, the headquarters of the International League Against Prohibition. There are strong indications that in practically all cases this agency wires to the foreign press, either directly or through a press agency, the notices it desires to have published. Besides the short notices, many papers publish frequent lengthy articles dealing with American Prohibition.

The campaign of mis-representations varies in intensity, but becomes particularly violent whenever some European country has under consideration a measure for the repression of alcohol. "The liquor people always represent the measure as being the first step to prohibition and accordingly they endeavor to show that prohibition as it has been experimented in America is a great evil," the correspondence states, and continues: "At present, for instance, the question is a very actual one in Germany where Parliament is discussing local option, and hardly a day passes without our receiving some newspaper article or clipping that we are requested to explain." Concerning the type of mis-statements being circulated, Dr. Hercod writes:

"The story of the chain of floating bars along the American coast has been many times repeated; smuggling, land smugling has formed the subject of many notices. For instance, we heard that before Christmas the roads leading from Canada to New York were blocked owing to the huge number of smuggling automobiles.

"If, on the one hand, we hear that smuggling by sea is practically free because the prohibition officers look the other way, on the other hand we read terrible accounts of sea battles in which the prohibition officers behave like true barbarians.

"As for the country itself, we hear that in every American home, beer is brewed by the house-wife, that every house has its still, that in every restaurant it is possible to obtain alcoholic beverages. The same theme is given in different versions.

Vivid stories of American crime are all blamed on prohibition, are prime favorites, and noticeable that the statistics quoted usually give figures only for the years 1920 and thereafter. "They are careful not to give the pre-prohibition figures," says Dr. Hercod.

As to social drinking he writes: "Statements frequently appear as to the bad effects of prohibition upon the youth of your country. From what we read it appears that no young man can go to a dance without a bottle of whiskey in his hip-pocket, for if he has no whisky-flask no girl will dance with him. They say another consequence of prohibition is that women have begun to drink stupidly; men, women of good society are often dead drunk at the end of a ball." It is a fact, we are told, that there are more drunken women in America than in any other country of the world.

The report of the Federal Council of Churches has had wide circulation. "Mr. Johnson," says Dr. Hercod, would probably have been surprised if he could have read all that he is reported to have written. It seems that special efforts are being made to show that the American churches are beginning to be disgusted with prohibition and that they are ready to vote for the return of wine and beer.

MUSCLE SHOALS.

The Senate finally concurred in the House plan of a joint committee to receive offers for the leasing of Muscle Shoals, not, however, without a strong opposition. Senator Smith of South Carolina, made a strenuous fight to secure the utilization of Muscle Shoals for the public generally by opposing the plan to lease out to private interests an area to be operated by the Government after several years. Senator Norris, of Nebraska, who sometime ago made a strong argument against the Ford offer at that time, also opposed the surrender of this $167,000,000 project to private interests. Government operation, he said, would provide cheaper electrical power and would protect the Government in time of emergency. Natural resources should be developed as far as possible for the benefit of the whole country as a means of building up private fortunes. There are many difficulties, however, in applying Government ownership. But some efficient and conservative method should be possible.

WORK OF AMERICAN CHURCHES BEARS FRUIT IN THE NEAR EAST.

The work of American churches has been a major factor in the spread of civilization and culture in the Near East, declared Dr. William W. Peet, Commissioner of the League of Nations in Constantinople, in an address at the Town Hall in New York before the annual meeting of the Near East Relief. As the head of the American Board for Foreign Missions in Constantinople, Dr. Peet has for 44 years directed a vast network of missionary, educational and humanitarian enterprises in that part of the world. Summing up the present and future problems of the Near East, he said: "Fifty years ago I lived out on the American prairies. Those were boom times. Railroads were building, towns were springing up, land was selling, and you felt that prosperity was in the air. There is that same feeling in the Near East today. "When I get into the midst of the new atmosphere in Greece or Turkey, I feel like taking off my coat, grasping an ox goad and taking out a yoke of oxen and a plough in the fields. The refugees are bringing prosperity to Greece. Piræus reminds me of New York City; its harbor is choked with shipping and its streets are swarming with buy people. In a lesser degree, the same thing is happening in Turkey, under the stimulus of a large influx of eager refugees and the general national inspiration of nationalism. Yet this whole situation is largely the result of the patient and long-continued work of the American churches. Their efforts have stimulated the native populations into a realization of their own shortcomings. While progress is slow and often devious, it is sure. America should know that the work which has been done for the refugees and orphans is a magnificent undertaking finely administered, economically carried out and producing marvellous results. Forty thousand children are now under American care in the Near East, either in orphanages or in subsidized and supervised homes, and the remarkable thing is that all these children are being given a sample of real home life. Greece is entitled to praise for her hospitality and generosity in taking in 1,350,000 refugees at an enormous sacrifice of comfort and temporary prosperity. But the unexpected has happened, and the bread cast upon the water will return. These Asia Minor Greeks are people of superior intelligence, and rapidly they are assuming a position of prominence. They have full citizenship in Greece, and the same privilege is being given to those Armenians who accept Greek naturalization. I have constantly urged the Armenians wherever I have met them to settle down on the land and become naturalized.

"Do not understand from what I have said that everything is rosy. There is still great distress among thousands of refugees. It will take still a few years to get them completely assimilated into the economic and social life of the country. The orphan children who are under American care must be supported for varying periods of years until they are able to look out for themselves.

"With the League of Nations administering the international refugee loan, and a charitable public in America, England and France assisting in orphanage work, it is inevitable that a new future is dawning for Greece, and in a lesser degree for the rest of the Near East. The Greek and Armenian churches are a strong bulwark of Christianity in that part of the world, and they are grateful and appreciative for the sympathy and interest which American churches are giving them."

CREATING LIFE.

A "graduate bacteriologist" in Loraine, O., maintains that he has created 16 different forms of life from chemicals and sunlight alone. He includes in his list of creations microscopic cells, weeds and snails. He can determine the type of life he is going to produce, he says, by the elements he combines and the method he uses. The life he creates survives and reproduces itself. "The fact that I have made living creatures and living plants," he says, "proves that life is nothing but a chemical and mechanical phenomenon. It arises spontaneously out of the earth." Other scientists promptly question his claim. They point out that the experimenter has little scientific education, never having completed the grammar school and having gained his "bacteriological" diploma in six months' study. A scholarly biologist of 50 years' experience says: "I am convinced that any life he has brought forth is the result of contaminated apparatus, as has been the case of many other bacteriologists who thought they had made discoveries." That is to say, "created" was already in the vessel used, or in the surrounding air. Most people will accept that explanation. There is no conclusive evidence of any human being ever having made life from lifeless matter. They can reproduce life, but its beginning remains a mystery.

INVITING DICTATORS.

S. K. Ratcliffe, an English publicist, tells an American audience that absolute dictatorship along the lines of Mussolini's control of Italy is not inconceivable in England nor even in America. That is hard to swallow. But it doesn't seem quite so far beyond the realm of possibility as Mr. Ratcliffe explains it. "A dictatorship can only be possible in those countries that have been unable to work the organs of self government," he says. "Those institutions of government that seem to us organic were created by people who never believed that they could run alone. If we neglect those institutions, if we become too much absorbed in our own business, if we heed those who say that politics is a bad game and that the right sort of people never go into them, then we are not free from the menace of dictatorship."

SO THINK WE

We think it is very fortunate that we are not a warlike nation for it takes nearly 68 per cent of our annual appropriations for war purposes as it is.

We think the New Jersey lady who ran twelve miles when she met a skunk in the woods in entitled to an endurance medal.

We think about the only difference between the customs of now and in olden days is that in Egypt the bull was held sacred while in America it is shot.

We think that the New York Judge who declared that a man is master of his own home must have been a bachelor.

We think the guy that said most good editors operated a typewriter with two fingers, smoked a strong pipe or black cigars and used a lot of profane language, possibly overlooked the fact that after all these were not the reasons why he was a good editor.

We think possibly the happiest people on earth are those who do not have time or sense to notice things.

We think that it is all a mistake about a man's descent being from a monkey. It may be, but we doubt if it has started yet.

We think the best way on earth for people to make a success in life is to live within their income.

We think that behind the pink of the cheeks of many of the girls in this day and time is found an entirely different kind of girl to the one you actually see.

We think if the prohibition forces do not wake up to the enforcement of the liquor laws that the Volstead law is in danger of repeal or modification to the hurt of the prohibition cause. The Anti-prohibition people are not going to enforce it.

We think that the number of Telephones in Lubbock, if the young lady at the switch makes a few wrong numbers that there need be no special grounds for complaint.

We think it is a good thing for the Democrats to get together but what are they to get together on.

We think the higher you fly the smaller you look to people on the level.

We think that women must be very jealous creatures. They are even jealous of their own nose.

SCISSORED EDITORIAL

NOT ALWAYS SMOOTH SAILING FOR BUSINESS MAN
The last report of the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas for the Eleventh district shows seventy-one commercial failures for the month. This is considered a low mortality rate. Taking it as a monthly average, the year's commercial failures in the district would number 852. This figure represents the business men who were forced to go into courts of bankruptcy and to turn their assets over to their creditors. It does not include the large number of business men who quit or who made private settlements with their creditors.

Many farmers, laborers, and a large class of workers who draw weekly or monthly salaries unthinkingly get a notion that the boss has nothing to do but to worry about what he is going to do with all the money coming in. Many have the idea that all merchants, bankers, publishers, and others worry more about how they are going to spend their money than they do about where they are going to get it, but only the business man himself knows how many hours he has lain awake nights trying to figure out how he is going to meet his payroll and how he can keep up a good appearance order to stave off his creditors.

It is quite the habit for many farmers to believe that because a man lives in town he is prosperous. Many also believe that the man in town is living exclusively off the labors of the farmer. They can make no greater mistake. As a general rule, the laborers and the clerks in town work more hours per week than does the farmer, and work under greater pressure. The cost of living keeps up with his earning power, and oftentimes just a little ahead. One month's idleness would place 90 per cent of them in want.

They would not know where the next month's rent was coming from, and many of them would not know where they were going to get the next meal without appealing to charity. Are farmers ever placed in this position? Very few, and yet, as previously stated, farmers do not work every day. Some do not work regularly every day more than six months in the year, especially the one-crop cotton farmer.

Farm and Ranch call attention to this because many letters are received that indicate a false conception of conditions in our towns and cities, and because some farmers seem to take a personal pleasure in belittling their own occupation, condemning the men in the city because they go about their business, accepting bad conditions along with the good without filling the press with complaints and calling upon the Government for help.

Conditions surrounding the agricultural industry are not always of the best. Undoubtedly, the farmers of the country do not always receive an even break with the men or institutions they deal with, but others who are not farmers can truthfully say the same thing. Life is just a series of competitions, and until human nature is made more nearly perfect, the man who combines energy with clear thinking powers is the man who gets ahead fastest.—Farm and Ranch.

There is a radical difference between sentiment and sentimentality. All heart and no head is a foolish and harmful combination. It usually connotes a want of emotional control. When we come in contact with people like that it makes us feel "jumpy."

She was a pretty young thing, he was a wises man clever,
He knew the ways of rweh to diets
He knew the ways of the world,
men made a fool of him never;
Seen at his desk through the day he kept full control of his senses,
Clear was his head as he talked and thought of figure receipts and expenses.

But in the evening when he sat by this young thing and pretty,
Could you have heard what he said,
you've have looked at him in pity,
For he talked of her marvellous eyes, and he raved o'er her marvelous blushing,
And you scarce could believe that a man could do such extravagant gushing.

You scarce could believe that a maid though pretty and young could abide it,
Though praise may be sweet to the ear, it was sickly the way he applied it.

For he raved and he raved and he raved in speech that had no sense whatever,
Which shows what a young girl can do to an old man who's said to be clever.

CHARLEY HOFF WINS ALL ROUND INDOOR TRACK AND FIELD TITLE OF WORLD IN MADISON SQUARE STREET

By FRANK GETTY
United News Staff Correspondent
MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, New York, March 16.—Charley Hoff, Norway's versatile athlete, won the all-round indoor track and field championship of the world at the Knights of Columbus games Tuesday night. He broke two world's records in doing so.

Two unfortunate accidents deprived his American competitors, Harold M. Osborn, of Illinois A. C., and Emerson Norton of Georgetown, of the opportunity of testing their full powers against the Norwegian opponent. Osborn sprained a tendon in his left heel during the high jump and was forced to retire from the all-round competition.

Norton knocked over two hurdles in the 60-yard high hurdle race and was disqualified in this event, losing 940 points.

Hoff won the 60-yard dash, starting slowly, but rapidly pulling up even and passing his American opponent 15 yards from the tape to win with ease.

The Norwegian's time was 6 6-10; Osborn was second in 6 8-10 and Norton a step behind in 6 9-10. Hoff scored 940 points, Osborn 880 and Norton 850.

Ray Robinson of the Boston A. A. came in from behind to win the famous "Casey 600" with Alan Helfrich of the New York A. A. second and F. H. McCloskey, of Boston college third.

The winners time was 1:13 4-5, two and a fifth seconds behind the record made last year by Helfrich.

There was intolerable delay in running off the septathlon due to the difficulty experienced by the officials in figuring out the elaborate point score. Hoff was the first to fail at the high jump, leaving Norton and Osborn to continue jumping at five feet, 11 1-4 inches.

Osborn the national high jump champion, injured his left ankle during his special event, and was barely able to hobble away from the standards after each jump. He failed at heights which ordinarily he would have cleared with ease, but stuck gamely to his task.

The Illinois A. C. star was in obvious distress every time he took off. Norton, on the other hand was jumping better than usual.

Osborn was like a punch drunk prize fighter, as he staggered pluckily away from the standards following each painful effort.

Owing to Osborn's injury, Norton won the high jump, and added 944 points to his total. Osborn scored 860 points and Hoff 762.

Norton cleared 6 feet 1 3-4 inches; Osborn 6 feet 1 4 inches, and Hoff, 5 feet 9 1-2 inches.

Chet Bowman, former Syracuse sprinter, won all three events in the special sprint series, scoring 15 points. Frank Hussey of Boston college was second with 8 points and De Hart Hubbard, the colored jumper, third, with 7 points.

Norton also won the shot put with a heave of 45 feet, 9 7-8 inches. Osborn was second with 36 feet 5 5-8 inches and Hoff, third, with 33 feet 1 1-8 inches. After the shot put, it was announced that Osborn had sprained a tendon and would be unable to continue.

The points scored in the shot put were as follows: Norton 777; Osborn 694; Hoff 485.

Hoff led Norton by an eye lash in the 60-yard hurdles, the fifth event of the septathlon.

The Norwegian's time was 8 2-10; Norton's time was 8 3-10.

Hoff's time was only one fifth of a second behind the world's record.

Norton knocked over two hurdles and was disqualified.

Like a true sportsman, the Norwegian offered to run "over."

The officials decided that the result must stand, and that the Georgetown athlete should be deprived of all his points in this event. Hoff scored 960 points and Norton, who would have scored 940 otherwise, got nothing.

The Norwegian's leap of 23 feet and 7 3-8 inches won the event for him giving him 901.6 points. Norton leaped 21 feet and 6 1-4 inches, scoring 745.2 points.

Following the broad jump, Norton led Hoff by 227.6 points.

Georgetown university's crack relay team, running against a picked quartet, shattered the world's record for the mile relay by 2 1-5 seconds. Georgetown's time was 3:22 3-5. The previous mark was established by Holy Cross on January 23, last.

As expected Hoff won the pole vault, Norton failing after clearing 12 feet.

Hoff cleared the bar in the pole vault at the world's record height of 13 feet 7 inches.

Hoff also won the 400 meter race, leaving Norton far behind.

July 4 Fight For Walker and Dundee Is Talked About

NEW YORK, Mar. 16.—An independence day bout between Mickey Walker and Joe Dundee for the welterweight crown was rumored in fistie circles today.

Dundee is to tangle with Willie Harmon on May 7 and Jess McManis, who closed the contract for that match, also holds Dundee's signature to fight with the champion. If Dundee wins over Harmon, it is logical to suppose that Walker can no longer fail to meet the challenger and a fight sometime during the summer is probable.

BULLDOG NINE SHOWING UP AS NEAT CLUB

Special to The Avalanche.
PLAINVIEW, Mar. 16.—"Ducky" Allen is still whipping his ball team into shape an dit is assuming some form, in fact better than he expected. One or two times he has been heard to compliment a player, which is indeed very rare, because he is very close mouthed and a compliment from him goes as far with a player as a dozen from anyone else. The infield is particularly strong and are reeling off double plays and eating up the easy man chances with dazzling speed.

In a practice game Friday between the players, many of the new players had a chance to make good, and one of them in particular performed before the bewildered eyes of "Ducky" showing he had everything necessary to make a real third baseman. His name is Gamble and has been out only two days but at that he is liable to oust Teague the other candidate for the hot corner. Teague is still out but is expected out Tuesday or Wednesday.

Manager DeJarnett showed his old time ability in flinging the agate and when the seven innings were over he had ten strike outs to his credit. McDonald, the youngster who pitched for the other side showed some real form in the hot corner. Teague is still out but is expected out Tuesday or Wednesday.

Mormons Sink Kansas Quintet

By United News.
KANSAS CITY, Mo., March 16.—The steady grinding process of elimination continued Tuesday in the National A. A. U. basketball championship race with some of the favorite teams falling by the wayside.

Perhaps the biggest upset came in the first game on the afternoon schedule when the Utah Apex A. C. quintet from Bingham, Utah, smashed the championship hopes of the strong Southwestern University cagers of Winfield, Kansas.

The score 28 to 27, the closest margin of victory in any games played thus far in the tournament.

At the end of the first half the Kansas team lead 14 to 1. But the Utah players came back with a change of offensive tactics, and after a brilliant sweeping attack, came out with a victory.

Another strong team to be eliminated was the Baker University of Baldwin, Kansas, which was defeated 37 to 32 late Tuesday night by the sparkling five from La Fayette, Ind.

The Werner-Werner five, Municipal champions of St. Louis turned in their second victory of the tournament by walling the Auburn Cubs, from Auburn, Calif. The score was 39 to 31. Many fans expect the St. Louis team to win the championship.

Other results for Tuesday's round follows:
Indians, Fla., 36, Junior College Kansas City 28.

Goodyear Rubber Co., Akron, Ohio, 28 Young Men's Hebrew Assn., New Orleans 19.

Pittsburg, Kansas, 37, Fairmount college, Wichita, Kansas, 34.

FORMER LUBBOCK MAN MAKES HOLE IN ONE

A clipping from one of the Los Angeles papers describes the shot made by Dr. George Reed, formerly of Lubbock, on one of the Los Angeles golf courses some few weeks ago.

Dr. Reed before leaving Lubbock was considered among the best of Lubbock's golfists. The "hole-in-one" shot that the doctor made was 230 yards.

The account is as follows:
"On entering a dentist's office one may naturally expect to gaze upon forceps, drills and other pain-provoking instruments, but if one looks a bit closely in the office of Dr. G. S. Reed, in the Masonic Temple building, these days, it is not hard work to see a piece of gold-plated metal, in which are engraved the words: "Hole in one."

To those readers who do not play golf, the As Isler, who admits having once had that habit, will explain that this piece of metal is in the form of a miniature club used in the game, and that Dr. Reed, who is considered more than SOME player of the Scotch game, received the wee gold-plated club for doing that most unusual stunt of making a hole in one. In other words, he took one shot off the tee of the ninth hole at the Westward Ho Country club, not long ago, and before the ball had stopped it had rolled into the hole on the green.

The distance for this hole is 230 yards, and par is three, or players who can hole out in three shots are playing a mighty good game.

But Dr. Reed did it in one.

"It was a pretty shot," the doctor admitted to the As Isler. "I drove off with an almost perfect swing and no ball could have gone any straighter toward the green than did that one."

"There were three or four players on the green, but one of them saw my ball coming, and called to the rest of them to get out of the way. They did, and the ball rolled right up and into the hole although the flag was still there."

"All of which goes to show that dentists can do things with metal instruments other than the kind they stick in your mouth."

BERLENBACH WILL FIGHT DELANEY THIS SPRING

NEW YORK, March 16.—Paul Berlenbach, light-heavyweight champion of the world and Jack Delaney who stopped Mike McTigue in the fourth round Monday night, have signed for an out door fight next spring.

The title holder, meanwhile, will tune up on heavyweights, meeting the first of a rather bad lot next Friday night in Johnny Risko, the chubby Lithuanian lad from Cleveland.

Delaney, having clearly established his claim to a return match with Berlenbach, probably will keep his hand in shape by clubbing a few big boys.

This means that in the light-heavyweight class there will be little doing until June, unless the impending bout between Jimmy Slattery and Young Stribling a week from next Thursday could be considered.

Jack Delaney's right hand uppercut has written fins to the honorable career of Mike McTigue. It now is to be anticipated that the aged Celt will retire to county Clare where he can live very comfortably for the rest of his days on the money he has made in the ring.

FANNING WITH FARRELL
By HENRY L. FARRELL
NEW YORK, March 15.—Commercialization of amateur tennis became a big issue in southern France before the first meeting between Mlle. Suzanne Lenglen and Miss Helen Wills and there was a lot of agitation in this country that something should be done about it.

American, who protested that the innocent and unsophisticated young American champion, was being used as a sort of piece of merchandise to further the interests of the hotel people in the Riviera district, were answered with the charge—"So's your old man."

The French critics, who made some caustic comment when the townspeople of Berkeley gave Miss Wills an automobile when she returned from her Olympic triumph in 1924, went after her again because she was writing some articles for the press and flatly declared that amateurism, as defined by the United States Lawn Tennis Association was the bunk.

The demand was made in this country that American tennis officials should swing a couple of fists to get Miss Wills out of the grasp of the money interests but the international affairs committee of the association ruled that Miss Wills was on her own in France and that there was no just reason for the government of the game in this country to step into what was a private fight.

It was pointed out in this column at the time that if tennis in France was under the same strict supervision it is in this country that no such situation could occur.

Just a few days later an incident arose that proved the point.

Bill Tilden, rather innocently, arranged a series of exhibition matches between French and American players, planned to be staged on Tex Rickard's Garden.

The receipts were to have been devoted to the French-American constitution any American player who played in the matches would have become liable to suspension. Tilden became rebellious and said that he, Vincent Richards and Francis Hunter would play in defiance of the association on the grounds that the association had no right to exercise the dominance of a slave holder over a player.

The members of the French team refused to play because they were the guests of the association in this country and because they didn't know a lot about the Good Will Association and what it was all about.

Tilden was forced to call off the matches with a protest about red tape and misguided zeal of the association but it was not until later that the association indirectly explained its zeal.

According to a prominent official of the association, the broad spaces of Rickard's big arena were offered for the charity show but the Garden staff was to get 25 per cent of the receipts and the Garden staff was interested primarily in seeing how many spectators tennis would draw in the arena.

ENGRAVER BARES COUNTERFEITING SCHEME

WICHITA, Kan., Mar. 16.—Justice came today to Walter E. Hodson following his confession of attempting to counterfeit. He had obtained plates from the Wichita Engraving Company for making $5, $10 and $20 federal reserve notes. After Hodson, who is a retired Oklahoma farmer, had paid for the plates, an employe of the engraving company notified federal authorities who arrested and obtained the confession from Hodson January 25. At first a commission of aliens was appointed to inquire into his sanity. When pronounced sane, Judge Pollock today sentenced him to serve three years in the federal prison at Leavenworth. Hodson, his sister and daughter heard the verdict without any show of emotion.

an official communique which said: "Unsurmountable obstacles may render Germany's present entrance into the league impossible. We are happy nevertheless to recognize that the work of peace attained at Locarno is still in existence."

Later it was stated by Foreign Minister Stresemann that a public demonstration would be made at Wednesday's session league assembly, to bear witness to the fact that postponement of Germany's admission was not due to the Locarno statesmen.

"Only a miracle can now prevent postponement of Germany's entrance into the league at this session," said one observer of the week-old league council dispute.

"That miracle would be an order from Rio De Janeiro withdrawing Brazil's announced intention to veto German council membership unless Brazil is also admitted."

The announcement of official agreement to postponement was preceded by another announcement along the same lines which was retracted. The first announcement was made in the hope that it would frighten Mello Franco into withdrawal of his threat. When the Brazilian representative failed to change his position the official statement was issued.

The morning was made hopeful by the impression that Brazil would change its instructions. Premier Briand went so far as to state early in the day that only secondary difficulties remained in the council dispute and there was reason to believe these would be settled during the day. It was felt generally that Brazil, in the interest of aiding a troubled European situation, could consent to temporary sacrifice of her claims to league council membership.

Mello Franco, in an address to the Latin-American delegates, declares that Brazil demanded first of all the creation of a permanent council for a Latin-American nation. He indicated that there would be no change in this position, and reiterated opinion of leading Latin-Americans that "Brazil's desires must be put aside in favor of peace in the league and throughout the world."

On continued presence from the Latin-Americans, the Brazilian delegate agreed to transmit their opinion to his government. He admitted that if anything would change his attitude of the Brazilian government it would be this unanimous expression of opinion by other Latin-American delegates. It was believed that President Pacheco of Brazil would cable a reply on the Latin-American appeal by Tuesday night.

The course, 350 yards long by 175 yards wide, is now under construction. A charge will be made for entry of dogs and for admission to the grounds.

TILSON HITS CREAGER IN PATRONAGE FIGHT

WASHINGTON, March 16.—R. B. Creager, republican national committee for Texas is further criticised in a letter sent him by majority leader Tilson who is supporting Representative Wurzbach, Texas, republican, in a factional fight against Creager. The trouble arose over patronage, it being alleged that Creager has distributed federal jobs in a way that injured Wurzbach politically.

Interested homemakers exclaimed as the demonstration proceeded. This is a new treatment of the important item of the average man's menu and in the manner of preparation is so unusual and so very tempting that the most fastidious and exacting would beg for another serving.

To get back to the vegetable pie. Something quite a meal in itself with the flaky pie crust as the base, then bright discs of carrots, rings of green peppers, asparagus—really this pie could reach any possibilities. There are other ingredients, which complete its appeal. You must attend the lectures or be on very good terms with your neighbors to get the recipes in their entirety.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE DIRECTORS CALLED INTO SESSION TO BOOST APPLICATION FOR U. S. DISTRICT COURT; COMMITTEE REPORT

The Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and Board of City Development yesterday held a special called meeting at the office of the manager when plans for furthering the application of Lubbock for a United States District Court were explained by the committee, which reported that the brief that has been prepared on behalf of the application had been forwarded to Congressman Marvin Jones and Senators Mayfield and Sheppard.

To further advance Lubbock's interests in connection with the application, committees were appointed to go to the various towns over the district to receive endorsements of the establishment of the court here. These endorsements are required at Washington, and the matter of securing them will not be difficult inasmuch as towns throughout this district are in accord in a desire to see the court established here, and will derive some benefits from securing it.

Confession Read In Marshall Trial At Philadelphia

PHILADELPHIA, March 16.—A story of illicit love, jealousy and murder was detailed yesterday when the second confession made by David L. Marshall, the chiropractor who choked to death and dismembered the body of Anna May Dietrich, was introduced in Marshall's trial as evidence by the state.

After hiding the body in the swamps, Marshall was forced to return to his office to procure Miss Dietrich's head, which he had forgotten to take with him on his first trip according to his confession. A verbatim statement of 17 pages, made by Marshall to District Attorney Edwin Fox shortly after his arrest for murder.

Marshall made a previous confession at Media, Pa., where part of the girl's body was found, in which he said that the girl had committed suicide in his office.

The second confession was introduced Monday afternoon. It described Marshall's relations with Miss Dietrich over a period of eight years.

The first serious trouble to some between them occurred in 1925 when she demanded money. In July 1925, she threatened to tell his wife of their relationship, according to the confession. Marshall gave her $100 and $15 at intermittent periods to keep her quiet. In September and October, 1925, she began to ask for larger sums and he was forced to give her $45 or $50 at a time. Then Marshall went broke, the confession said.

In the United States nearly ten million people work on Sunday newspapers, stores, factories railroads, etc.

HOUSE LEGISLATES WARNS AGAINST TOO MUCH COTTON ACREAGE AGAINST RADIO PESTS

WASHINGTON, March 16.—Legislation designed to protect the long suffering radio fan has been passed by the house and now goes to the senate.

The White bill, which was passed Monday by a vote of 218 to 124, seeks to regulate radio so that every fan who listens in will have the best service possible and be protected against evils which have appeared.

The secretary of commerce, who now regulates radio, would have under this measure a commission of five men, representing five geographical divisions of the country to aid him to protect further the public interest.

If the broadcaster or any other cog in the system does not like the decision of the secretary he might appeal to the members of the federal radio commission, from each he also would have the right of appeal to the courts.

The bill contains provisions to protect the public against these evils:

- 1—Monopoly of radio apparatus which might bring exorbitant prices for sets and parts of sets.
- 2—"Radio pests" such as have interfered in the past with legitimate broadcasting or have transmitted false distress signals.
- 3—Inefficient broadcasters.

EPAMINONDAS IS YOUNGEST EXPLORER

WASHINGTON, March 16.—A 19 year old "bell hop" will leave here Monday to join Commander Byrd's Arctic expedition as the youngest member of the party. Epaminondas J. Demas, the boy, succeeded in persuading Byrd to take him along.

AUSTIN, Texas, March 16.—In an appeal to all farmers and business interests to reduce cotton acreage and do everything in their power to produce enough feed to supply the state, George B. Terrell, commissioner of agriculture today, pointed out that disaster would follow in the path of an over production of cotton in the south this year.

"There are 5,000,000 bales of cotton to be carried over," he said, "and the price of middling cotton is only 17 cents to 18 cents, with no market for low grade cotton. Should the south produce 15,000,000 bales this year we may expect the price to go as low as 12 cents per pound.

Prospects for a bumper crop in Texas this year are good, Terrell said.

ST. PAUL, Minn., March 16.—Four bandits who confessed to a series of robberies were given sentences totalling 1,000 years by Judge R. D. O'Brien. They had been indicted on several different counts.

BUREAU OF STANDARDS RULES FINEST LINES

WASHINGTON, March 16.—The Bureau of Standards made two "perfection" last year, according to Director George K. Burgess.

A screw in which no errors can be found and a length scale without errors in any of its subdivisions were made at the bureau.

In addition to these two accomplishments, the Bureau made the thinnest solid films that were ever made and ruled the finest lines that were ever ruled.

Farm Management Offers Modern Woman Profitable Career, Says Estate Manager

STOCKHOLM (United Press)—It is often easier to manage 100 men than one, says Miss Elizabeth Tamm of Fogelstad, one of the first women members of the Swedish Riksdag, and a descendant of one of the oldest noble families in the country.

In addition to her political work she takes complete charge of her ancestral estate in the lovely province of Soedermanland, immediately south of Stockholm, where she manages 10 men in the care of 500 cows, 100 horses, 2,000 chickens and 6,000 acres of land.

Miss Tamm personally knows not only all her employees but every animal she owns and every morning she plans the work for the day and then drives around to see that it is carried out.

A new and attractive profession for women, she said in a recent address before the Swedish Women's Citizens' Union, is the management of dairies and small country estates. She admitted that they must have men to do the heavy work, but she said, women could often do better than men and she therefore urged more of them to take courses at the agricultural colleges at Ultuna and Alnarp.

Stock farms, Miss Tamm said, women could manage as well as men or better, just as they now run other institutions, hospitals, orphanages, old age homes or other asylums. It would be a distinct benefit, she said, to cattle raising if more women would take charge of it. With the installation of modern machinery, much of the old time drudgery has been taken out of farm work and the proprietorship of such an agricultural plant is something at which modern women should not scold.

Absentee landlordism is bad for the land, she continued, and as a rule farming does not pay unless the owner can superintend the work himself.

In the Swedish Riksdag, Miss Tamm has taken an active share in the debates on agricultural and equal rights questions. For the education of women in political questions she has opened on her estate a special school of citizenship.

SLATON WILL NOT BE ONE CROP COMMUNITY

SLATON, Mar. 16.—There never was a brighter prospect nor better outlook for a bumper crop than presents itself at the present time. The morale and spirit of the people was never more intent on doing things than at the present.

Hundreds of acres of farm lands are already prepared and ready for planting and all farmers are doing their best to get pure cotton seed of every kind.

Slaton's Commercial club is fostering one of the most practical and far-reaching programs ever fostered in this section. It has for its purpose those material propositions that enter into the building of home and community life. This program not only means prosperity and wealth but means the building and developing of both home and community life. Secretary J. R. Ross, co-operating and in conjunction with the agricultural departments are making this diversified farm program one of the great features for 1-926. Hundreds of pure-strain chickens, eggs and baby chicks are reaching every community. The association is now busy making up a car of pure bred hogs that will greatly relieve the meat situation in this section.

There will be more meat, more chickens, eggs and butter and more of those perishable products for the upkeep and maintenance of home in 1926 than any two years of past history.

This program means the awakening and developing of the natural resources of Slaton's productive life. There is being organized sub-units in every community which will seek under contestant rules to make this program one of the outstanding features of the year.

All communities are lending their co-operation in the making of this program. All communities surrounding Slaton will gather at the City Hall, Friday, March 19, to listen to men and women discuss every feature and outlying interest of this wonderful program.

this real program that means not only the protecting and caring for home but prosperity and progress for all community life.

There will be no one-crop system surrounding Slaton but every nature of diversified farm products that are natural to climatic conditions will be planted through the effort of this program. This program not only means increased production of home maintenance but it has the power to show to every man the true meaning of both his living and of using credit.

No man cares for credit whose table is satisfied with the necessities of life. Then why should any man place himself in that peculiar condition as to rob his own interests. That old speckled hen and the old spotted cow and the grunting hog is capable of bringing both prosperity, peace and comfort to every man's home.

Watch Slaton's farmers move forward under the spirit of this program. Men, boys and women alike are interested etoainq1soMii. Lkdu are inspired and filled with that spirit to do something that would better both the conditions of home and community life. This is all so simple and yet so wonderful in its purpose to see every man going forward with a fixed program for a fixed purpose to better conditions for his home and community.

Come every one, farmers and merchants on Friday, March 19, and join in that great community spirit that means, wealth, prosperity and happiness.

IMPROVEMENTS MADE IN UNIVERSITY RADIO STATION

AUSTIN, Texas, March 16—Improvements are being made in radio broadcasting station KUT in an effort to obtain better results, according to Dr. S. L. Brown of the department of physics.

Connection between the studio and broadcasting station has been placed under ground, as it was found these wires were absorbing much of the energy put out by the station, Dr. Brown said. That station KUT bids fair to become one of the most popular in the country is shown by the numerous letters of appreciation which have been received after recent concerts, it is said.

African Premier Pushes Bill to Bar Blacks From Trades

CAPE TOWN, South Africa, Mar. 16.—"The blacks of South Africa are protected by law against oppression by the whites," said General Hertzog, premier of South Africa, in an exclusive interview granted the United Press. "and it is our purpose to protect the white against oppression by the blacks."

Thus the fiery head of the government, who was elected in opposition to the famous General Jan Smuts, explained the government's "Color Bar Bill," which has made the race question a hot issue here.

The bill would reserve to the whites employment in the "skilled trades," chiefly mining and work around machinery. Hertzog, who holds office by virtue of a combination of Dutch Nationalists and organized labor, is pressing the bill largely at the instance of labor.

General Smuts, on the other hand, protests against such legislation on the grounds of unfair discrimination against the Negroes. He especially demands that its provisions shall not extend to the Cape Province, where the blacks, who have long enjoyed the franchise and have considerable political influence, are up in arms against it. There is also much hostile agitation in Natal.

"General Smuts complains that we are throwing a firebrand into a haystack," continued the premier, "but as he very well knows; the haystack has long been on fire, as race conflicts at Bullhoek, Port Elizabeth and Bloemfontein in the last few years testify. We hope that the new bill, giving the whites the protection they need, will reduce the area of disorder."

"Our statute books are fairly teeming with laws protecting the natives from encroachments by the white man. If it had not been for these laws, the blacks would never have been able to hold their own against the whites."

"I do not see how it can be claimed that the Negro has a 'fundamental' or so-called 'natural' right to employment in mines and around machinery. If he has, then the white man has equally a 'fundamental

CHILDRESS, March 16.—Ira Johnson and E. L. Jackson of Mineral Wells were in the city Thursday seeking a location for a plumbing shop. These men are especially prepared to do gas pipe work and intend to move their shop here within a few weeks.

Jackson stated the Upham Company will begin work on the pipe line from the Wheeler county gas field within a few days. The forman for laying the service mains in Childress is Kirk Crow, who will arrive here within a few days.

Johnson believes that gas will be available for use in Childress by early September.

Insulating Attic Insures Comfort Through Summer

(Article 2 in a series of spring remodeling suggestions)

Home owners often overlook two insulate their houses to reduce their things about insulation. They may winter fuel-bills without realizing that they get another benefit—greater comfort in the summer.

For insulating materials prevent the passage of heat through walls, roofs, ceilings, and other parts of the home. They prevent it from passing out of warm rooms in winter, and from entering cool rooms in the torrid days of summer. So insulation is a hot-weather proposition, too.

Secondly, many owners think that home can be insulated only when it is first built. They do not realize that a simple remodeling job will lay a cooling blanket over rooms that tend to get too warm in summer.

This applies especially to the bungalow or small two-story house with unfinished attic. The whole roof is exposed to the sun; so the attic becomes "as hot as an oven" and this heats the living quarters below.

One way to improve this condition is to finish this attic, if it is large enough, to provide extra rooms. If this is done an insulating quilt or fiber-substance can be nailed to the rafters before lath and plaster are put on. Or an insulating rock lath may be used in place of wood lath as a base for plaster, or an insulating mineral wallboard can be used to provide walls and ceilings for the attic room.

These means of insuring comfort in the rooms below are all right if the owner wishes to make new rooms of the attic. But how can the home be insulated when this rather extensive improvement is not desired?

It can be done by putting insulating material directly on the upper side of the lath and plaster which form the lower-story ceiling. In houses with unfinished attics the lath and plaster are exposed through the ceiling-rafters. The work of installing the insulation is so simple that it can be done by the householder himself in a short time.

There are several types of insulators that may be used in this way. One should be chosen which is so light that it will not make the lath and plaster sag, which is dry so it will not stain the plaster, which is fire-resistive and has high insulation value. Such a material is granulated cork but, while it is of excellent insulation value, it is the most costly of insulators. Another is a powdered gypsum filler intended especially for thermal insulation. This is so cheap that a whole house can be insulated with it for $50.

Board or quilts also may be used, but they are best to lay over the rafters when it is intended to put in an attic floor.

POULTRY INDUSTRY IS DEVELOPING RAPIDLY

Chicken fanciers of this section have been looking forward with little anticipation to this season of the year. It is now time to get off the spring hatch and poultry raisers are beginning to get busy.

The incubators have all been overhauled and put in ship shape for the work ahead of them, and are now running full tilt.

Some of the fanciers here have in years past put out some very creditable birds for which a ready market has been had. Others have contented themselves with raising good breeds for egg and eating purposes. And then there are some who just raise chickens.

They take a lot of interest in their pet hobby, and in some cases the hobby has proven a very profitable one. There is a ready market for chickens and eggs all the year round, and some who have paid more attention to this industry find that in the course of a year a real nest sum of money can be realized, whether they operate on a large or small scale.

OLD-STYLE TABLE-CLOTH RETURNING TO FAVOR

LONDON. (United Press)—The old-fashioned tablecloth is returning to favour in Mayfair and Belgravia. For the last ten years Bond Street has been selling small table-mats of linen and lace, or the larger mat of a size to fit the dinner-table exactly; but this year there is once more a demand for the wide spread of double damask with hanging ends on all four sides.

JAPAN AND RUSSIA INVOLVED IN SECRET, BITTER STRUGGLE OVER CHINESE EASTERN R. R.

By RANDALL GOULD
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

PEKING, Mar. 16.—A disorganized and poverty-stricken railroad in North Manchuria, the Chinese Eastern, may prove the central factor in deciding Soviet-Japanese supremacy in the Far East.

The iron horse of the Occident has been a disturber of Oriental calm from the beginning. It has drawn in its brain the diverse elements of war, revolution and economic development. But of all the disturbing and history-making railroads in the Far East the Chinese Eastern has been the most important. It is now the object of a silent and slow moving test of strength between Japan and Russia which may never be finally settled except by war.

In 1897 the Russian Czarist Government obtained a concession for the Chinese Eastern—a grant which was only one phase of the battle of concessions following the Chinese-Japanese War and benefiting not only Russia but France, Germany, and England as well. In turn this concession period brought about the wave of anti-foreign feeling in China which culminated in the Boxer Uprising.

Following the Chinese Revolution which overthrew the Manchu dynasty and resulted in the establishment of a Republic the railroads of China were nationalized. The Chinese Eastern and its Japanese controlled companion line the South Manchurian were not affected by this nationalizing program because they were in the hands respectively of Russian and Japanese interests.

The South Manchurian runs north from Port Arthur through Mukden to Changchun, a total distance of 439 miles, where it joins the southern extension of the Chinese Eastern. The Chinese Eastern proceeds north to Harbin, 152 miles, where it forms a junction with the portion which itself is an eastern continuation of the trans-Siberian trunk line. This east-west portion is 921 miles long, giving the Chinese Eastern a total mileage of 1081, but it is the shorter 152 mile Changchun-Harbin section which primarily interests Japan.

Japan has desired to add this section to her South Manchurian Railway since before the Russian Revolution. Once added it would give her a practically straight line under Japanese domination and military guard from the ports of Port Arthur and Dairen clear up to the junction with the trans-Siberian railway.

Japan wants this for both economic and military reasons. For both reasons Russia is against it. And the only event which might bridge the difference may be a resort to arms.

The most recent outbreak in the long smoldering controversy was the insistence of Ivanoff, the Russian manager of the Chinese Eastern, that General Chang Huang-hsiang, Chinese military subordinate of the Mukden War Lord, Chang Tso-lin, pay for the movement of troops over the line. Military domination over all railroads in China has been in effect so long it seemed but natural for General Chang to ignore the demand.

However, Ivanoff declined to operate trains carrying troops, Chang Huang-hsiang then seized certain trains and Ivanoff next stopped operation of the entire Harbin-Changchun division. General Chang Huang-hsiang arrested Ivanoff and began a general campaign to arrest all the Russians in sight and particularly to break up their unions.

More serious complications followed immediately. Soviet Ambassador Karakhan in Peking fired protests at both the foreign Office there and at the Mukden War Lord, Chang Tso-lin, Chang Huang-hsiang's superior. Next came a three day ultimatum from Foreign Minister Tchitcherin at Moscow accompanied by the threat of Russian troops. Thereupon General Chang yielded, at the instance of the Foreign Office and his Mukden superior. He released Ivanoff and agreed to discontinue other objectionable actions.

It is no secret that the Soviet authorities regard the whole affair as a provocative action on the part of the Chinese militarists at the instigation of Japan. A high Russian official explained the Soviet attitude toward the situation as follows:

"We have no idea that the Japanese want to seize the Harbin-Changchun line of the Chinese Eastern Railroad at this time. To do so would be to court intervention by the other powers."

"But what Japan does want to do and is determined to do if possible is to push the Soviet out of its position of joint control of the railroad and to install Marshall Chang Tso-lin in charge as the Japanese tool. That would have all the merits of Japanese operation and none of the immediate risks."

Meanwhile the Japanese and Russian railroad interests in Manchuria are waging open war in the economic field. Both are cutting rates in an effort to divert the major portion of traffic to their respective ports, Dairen and Vladivostok. And at the same time Japanese capital is negotiating in spite of equally secret Russian objections for the right to construct a cut-off railroad which will tap territory now served by the western section of the Chinese Eastern and connect it directly with the South Manchurian.

LUBBOCK FIRM SECURES PAVING AT MEMPHIS

MEMPHIS, TEXAS, March 16.—The City Council is to be congratulated on the unusual favorable terms secured from bond buyers and paving contractors at the meeting of the body Tuesday, when the municipal paving bonds were sold to H. C. Burt & Co. of Houston, and the paving contract let to the Panhandle Construction Company, of Lubbock.

Bond buyers and paving men here to bid on the bonds and contract, were frank in stating that never had any city north or west of Fort Worth received such splendid terms on a street improvement campaign, and that the city should deem itself indeed fortunate in the matter.

Big Bonus for Bonds. Representatives were present with bids from ten investment companies, and, without exception, all bids were above the average, all bids offering a substantial bonus for the bonds. The bids ranged from a bonus of $300 to one of $1875.00, which figure was offered by H. C. Burt & Company of Houston, the successful bidder.

The Burt Company, which has purchased a number of Hall County bond issues offered a bonus of $1875, and agreed to pay all expenses of having the bonds printed, attorney's fees, etc., and also agreed to make all payment of principal and interest payable in this city, thus saving the city the cost of exchange.

The representative of the Burt company stated that this was the highest bid recently made by his house for municipal bonds of any kind.

Four Bids on Paving. Although there were twelve representatives of paving construction companies present to submit bids on the paving, only four bids were submitted for consideration, and the contract was awarded to the Panhandle Construction Company of Lubbock, which is just completing a million dollar paving contract in that city.

It seems that the fact leaked out among the contractors that several of the contractors were going to submit bid-rock bids on the work, and eight of the companies represented could not stand the pressure, and did not submit their bids.

The bid of the Panhandle Company was $2.60 per square yard for paving, on a concrete base, excavation, and gutter and headers, bids on which were on a par with that of the paving work. Authorities present said that they believed this was the first time in the state that a bid of less than $3.00 per square yard had been submitted on a contract of this size, and was the lowest bid ever made on paving of this type west of Fort Worth, irrespective of size of contract.

To Pave With Brick. The type of paving selected was brick on a concrete base, the specifications being identical with that of the other paving in the city. Bids were received on several types of paving, including the asphaltic types and concrete, but the council felt that the brick paving was far superior to the other types, and selected the brick on concrete base.

The engineer will finish his surveys, the clerical work will be done, and it is believed that actual work on the paving can be started by not later than the fifteenth of May, and probably earlier.

Mexican Governor Wrathful. San Diego, Calif.—Out of patience with attacks upon his administration Gov. Rodriguez, Mexican governor of Lower California, threatens to recommend the closing of the ports which might hurt the produce trade from the Imperial Valley.

BOBS WILL BE THE VOGUE THRU THIS SEASON

The "bob" will be in vogue for at least another season longer.

This was the announcement of local milliners and hat shop proprietors when a representative of the Avalanche called to take a look at the advance Paris models of feminine headgear for the Spring season. It was hinted some weeks back that the big picture hat with a generous share of flowers in the decoration scheme would be the thing this Spring. But this is now taboo, if the hats on display here now are to be taken as any indication of what is to be worn by the fair sex this season.

And right here, it might be well to state, that when it comes to being right in line and perhaps a little in advance on matters of style, the local dames enjoy an enviable reputation. They know what's what and there is no use trying to fool them. And so an inspection of the hats for this season was indulged in, not that the reporter is any authority on the subject, but just to satisfy his curiosity, and if possible give a little information to the readers of what is to be expected.

The bonnets were all constructed on lines which conform to the "bob." Of course there were a few for women who still cling to long hair, but in the main, the hats are so made as to fit snugly about the head, and on this account, they can be worn only by those of the shorn locks. And in matter of coloring, the shades this spring will be of the Pastel and Crayon colorings. These are to be found in all kinds of combinations. While there is a great variety of colorings, the predominance shade seems to be green. While this stands out prominently all the way through there is Marie Antoinette, a soft rose; Maintenon, a salmon rose; Italian blue, phantom red, with of course Chantilly green. Tilluel, which is neither green nor yellow, yet blends pleasingly with both is found in pleasing combinations in many of the models.

In the materials used it is to be found Visca a straw-like silk which is used to advantage with velvet ribbon. Sisal grass is also a popular material in the hats this spring.

While there is a late announcement from Paris to the effect that egg shell trimming is to be used both in hats and gowns this year, up to this time, the new models with these decorations have not been placed on display.

Dainty designs with tiny bits of the shell are worked out, and the shells are colored in all of the latest hues to conform with popular materials.

These shells are first subjected to a treatment with vinegar which renders them pliable, and they can then be stretched on the cloth without breaking.

J. W. Parker of Arkansas has had a remarkable run of ill luck. In five separate accidents he lost a leg, an eye and an arm, had his thigh fractured and two ribs broken. To round out his misery he was elected to the legislature.

COMPETITION FOR ONION RAISERS ON PLAINS

HEREFORD, March 16.—Missouri Louie Huckert, living in the Summerfield community has served notice on onion "sharks" of Deaf Smith County that she intends to try for the best record in the raising of onions during the coming year, and judging from her record of last year, those who expect to beat her will encounter some keen competition.

Last year Mrs. Huckert planted sixty-five cents worth of seed and sold $101.00 worth of onions from the patch, in addition to supplying the family and a number of her neighbors with onions for table use. She raised a number of onions last year that weighed better than a pound each. Mrs. Huckert plans a larger patch for the coming year, and will keep exact records on the stuff raised.

It is being planned to have Slaton become one of the pure seed distributing points of West Texas.

FLOWERING TREES SAY SPRING IS HERE

PECOS, March 16.—Flowers and sunshine mean spring. Fanciful nature has smiled, and the world is happy. Song birds are returning to warble their cheery carols, and the green grass grows all around.

Fruit trees are vying with each other in their colorful radiance, peach and cherry, iridescent and luscious. Spring must be here.

Several of the most daring have broken the ice, and dived into the old swimming hole, declaring the water to be fine. Golfers are now in active swing, swinging down the fairways and out of the roughs. They are now ordering knickers, so you just know that spring is here.

RALLS ICE PLANT WILL BE READY BY APRIL 15TH

RALLS, March 16.—The ice plant now under construction here will be completed and ready for operation by April 15th according to a statement made Saturday by H. L. Allen, district manager for the Texas Utilities Company.

The very latest machinery and equipment is being installed and the construction is such that additional machinery can be installed as the demand requires. This is the only ice plant in Crosby County and a big demand will be made on the plant from the start.

MISSOURI FEEDERS BUY SOUTH PLAINS BEEF CATTLE

Special to the Avalanche. HEREFORD, March 17.—Missouri feeders seem to have a liking for Deaf Smith County cattle, judging from the number that are purchased from local ranchers and the price paid for them.

W. E. (Billy) Hicks, Deaf Smith County rancher has just received the highest price that has been paid in this section for 1,300 steer yearlings since the war. Men from Missouri bought the steers at $9.35 per hundred pounds, the steers to be weighed at the ranch and delivered April 15.

This is an index to better times for cattlemen all over the country, it is believed. And it also advances the idea that Panhandle cattle condition better and faster than the average stuff that is shipped to northern feeders.

E. WALTER MCKELER

Financial Editor
New York Commercial

NEW YORK, March 16—Tuesday's real market developed in the last hour and the one was undoubtedly weak. For the better part of the day the market was quiet but with an easier undertone. High class industrialists were fairly firm in the early hours but the background of this buying was apparently short covering and nothing more. For some time the market has given evidence of this thinness and it was apparent that shorts were covering in the better class industrialists while maintaining an openly bearish attitude on less well balanced issues. For this reason stocks like steel and General Electric show fair rallying propensities and where the issues are sold, there has been plenty of shorts willing to absorb the offerings.

Another sign of fundamental change in the market has come with the winding up of various pools. The latter seldom make their operations or their formation public, but the financial community has a very fair idea as to the identity of the inspiration for certain movements. Apparently pool operators feel that current developments and improvements have been fully discounted and that there is little reason to expect a following on any further up swings. It has been this sign of lessened public support which has spelled the doom of the present market.

On Monday and Tuesday it was evident that buying forces were exhausted when short covering operations had run their course. There has been no outside buying worthy of the description.

New indications of good business are not lacking but these have been coming in along the same lines as the counting. The market is willing to grant that most basic lines of business are good and were exceptionally good last year. Further proof of high 1925 earnings is simply so much more water over the dam. What the market war's now is a definite indication that conditions will continue good and also wants proof of potent improvement before granting that stocks are a buy for still higher levels.

News from outside the market continued somewhat discouraging. Wall street does not presume to exercise omnipotent judgment on foreign affairs, but it always will to gamble.

on the judgment of the foreign exchange markets. For this reason the continued weakness in the Belgian franc is, at least a source of worry. This feeling may not have been translated into actual selling of stocks but it is practically certain that it has been exercised as an influence against the market insofar as it has curtailed support.

So far as can be learned, the reactions of the franc decline may not be severe. On the other hand it reports that Belgium exhausted its private credits in a vain endeavor to peg the rate were true it may be more serious. Credits ranging upward of $55,000,000 were granted Belgium for stabilization of the franc. Such operations in paper currencies are always dangerous inasmuch as natural support is discouraged by the operation of the pegged rate. The latter is always above the natural level of the market, otherwise the peg is removed or the ability to hold the peg breaks down, the reaction is all the more severe for having been penned in.

Repor's Monday that Florida had boom was on the verge of cracking which served as the basis for Monday's selling, apparently were exaggerated as the tell-tale evidence of the stock ticker indicated renewed confidence Tuesday. The heavy pressure against the Atlantic Coast rail way lines and those operating in Florida was reduced materially.

All news can be made bearish news and this flurry is but one more in bit of proof for an old age.

A Frank Statement By Mrs. Florence Austin Chase

"In all of my travels I have never been in a baking plant possessing the outstanding features: flooded with sunlight, generous ventilation, cleanliness and sanitation facilities, to a superior degree than that of the Martin Baking Company plant in Lubbock. Surely I have never visited a plan of equal size and with more modern facilities in any city near the size of Lubbock."

A Modern Baking Plant And The ## Finest Baking Equipment!!

To the left is a picture of the new home of the Martin Baking Company. Into this building and equipment $65,000 has been judiciously spent. Every modern convenience is found here: the finest of ovens, high speed mixing and other perfected machinery. The entire structure was built for no other purpose than that of assisting in the manufacture of a loaf of bread which all people of this section would be proud of. But machinery and building alone will not produce the quality that we seek.

Mrs. Florence Austin Chase is nationally recognized and renowned in her life-work, Domestic Science and Art. Surely she is well equipped to give women of Lubbock good, sound advice!

Backing this Modern Baking Plant is an Ideal--That of Creating The Finest Bread Possible

Behind any venture—whether successful or unsuccessful there is a personality—a guide either to the development or detriment of that business.

If the Martin Baking Company management had only the profits of bread baking in mind—that management could well afford to take the course of procedure followed by it—for profits can't come unless there is business. But R. H. Martin's ideal-pride—and life's work has been spent in the baking business. He prospers—only in proportion that he serves. R. H. dreamed of the day when he would produce a loaf of bread that reflected his greatest desires for quality. Though those dreams may not have yet been realized—the public approval and acceptance of BUTTER-NUT today expresses beyond a question the outstanding quality of Martin's bread.
