Cotton Gins Under Fire

Of special interest to farmers and other agriculture-dependent persons is the OSHA (Occupational Safety and Health Act) hearings Monday and Tuesday, May 9-10 in South Park Inn in Lubbock.

The hearing concerns cotton dust standards for area cotton gins. More than 100 persons are scheduled to testify during those days.

As many persons as can are urged to attend these very important meetings. Passage of the pending proposals would pose extreme hardship on gins which, in turn, affects all residents of this agricultural area.

Anyone wishing to read the proposed legislature can do so by dropping by the Chamber of Commerce and Agriculture office, weekdays, 9 a.m. to 12 noon.

Hearing Clinic Slated May 16 At City Hall

May has been named "National Better Hearing Month." This brings into focus the need for greater public understanding of the problems of hearing loss and the need for hearing conservation.

The national Safety Council reports over 14 million Americans experience a degree of hearing loss.

In this connection, and to support "Better Hearing Month" Beltone Hearing Aid Service will hold a hearing clinic at City Hall Thursday, May 16, from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. All services are free of charge.

Scheduled are free electronic hearing tests; free service on hearing aids; and free information about hearing loss. A licensed consultant will be present.

Cemetery Ass'n. Seeking Land

Persons wishing to contribute special memorial contributions to Olton Cemetery Association for Memorial Day are invited to hand the money and memorial information to Mrs. Tom Sluder, Association secretary-treasurer. The contributions may also be mailed to the Association in care of Mrs. Sluder.

Names of donors and the person or persons they honor will be published, according to Mrs. Sluder. Memorial contributions are made throughout the year but this opportunity is being given persons who wish to make special memorial gifts.

The Cemetery Association is faced with the increasing evidence of the need of additional land. Lots are being sold at a rapid pace and space is not plentiful, note directors of the Association.

Persons who wish to purchase lots are advised to contact Parsons Funeral Home where they may see a map of available lots. Payment of the lots should be made to Olton Cemetery Association at the time of purchase. A deed, filled in by the Funeral Home, will be signed by Association president, Fred Hicks, and Mrs. Sluder. Inquiries have been made as to where lots should be purchased.

Police Report

Chief of Police Don Hatley received a report last week of the theft of a number of items from the wrecking yard of Roger Garza. Teletype of the missing items was sent to Beeville since the items were found to be missing after three employees of Garza had left Olton for Beeville.

The case is still open.

One man appeared at City Court Monday and was fined $32.50 for an offense which had occurred the week before. Police Chief Hatley was called to a local service station when a man struck a station attendant.

The suspect refused to get in Hatley's car after hearing his rights read. Lamb County II arrived and assisted in bringing the suspect to the police department. He was placed in the charge of a brother after promising to cause no more trouble and appeared before City Judge Audie Thomas Monday.

Hatley investigated a two-car accident April 27 which occurred at Avenue D and 2nd Street. Damages approximating $185 were reported to the left front of the 1971 Chevrolet pickup driven by Bill Nichols. The 1971 Datsun, driven by Daniel Rey, received front end damages estimated at $1,250.

An accident Saturday was worked by Patrolman William Hammon. Damages amounting to approximately $150 were reported to the 1976 Oldsmobile driven north on Avenue G by Monty Roberson.

A 1972 Ford, driven by Znedina Alvarez, received damages estimated at $500 when she failed to yield right-of-way at the intersection.

Furor Over Drugs

How do you as a parent and a citizen, feel about someone who comes into your city, and sells your children a harmful drug?

Tired of hearing about all the problems we are having controlling drug traffic? So am I! There has been so much controversy over our drug problem. We like to think it is only happening in the larger city. Well, think again -- it is here in Olton, and if we don't get busy and take care of the business at hand - we're going to be too late.

I have seen evidence of drug pushers being arrested and jailed for selling harmful drugs here in Olton. What happened? Do you know? Have you read about it in the paper? What do you think ought to be done about it?

It seems that some people in our community don't feel that these people were treated just right - someone in our community decided it would be best for these drug pushers to be set free!! They decided to see if they couldn't get the charges brought against these drug pushers dropped or reduced. If it happens - they will never be tried or punished for their crimes. They will be back on the street selling drugs to our children.

Is this what we want for our community? Just let the guilty go and pretend that it didn't happen in our city?

I have a child who attends our elementary school. It scares me to think about the things that might happen to my child, if one of these dope pushers were to approach my child and give him some of this killing, and mind destroying drug. Being perfectly innocent of the situation, my child could be badly damaged.

I, am a citizen of this country, and of this city. I want something done, and I will do whatever I can to see that the people who are on our streets selling our children these drugs are properly dealt with.

Where is your child right this minute? Who is he or she with? What is he or she doing? Do you as a parent know for sure?

Help your local police officers - back them in their efforts to put a stop to this horrible menace that is destroying countless of young people everywhere.

Help protect your child and your community.

A very concerned parent

I am one of the undercover agents who made a felony sale of marijuana case against a resident of Lamb County. Exactly six felony controlled substance cases were made by another undercover agent against five residents of Lamb County.

I understand that four of these felony sales against two of the subjects were recently reduced to misdemeanor charges, and the subjects were put on probation with a fine.

The Littlefield Junior High School just recently started a closed campus policy. The reason? Narcotics.

A Lamb County resident just recently was arrested for delivering heroin to an undercover agent in Hale County.

Information from the Federal Drug Enforcement Agency in Lubbock is that any kind of narcotic desired is obtainable in Littlefield.

More work needs to be done in Lamb County concerning the problem of narcotics. But there definitely needs to be more of a deterrent if positive results are expected. What undercover agent is gong ing to risk his or her life when the narcotic dealer simply gets probation and a small fine which is easily paid out of the large profit of selling narcotics?

Young adults need a chance which narcotics takes away from them. There are enough opportunities to tear up their lives without adding narcotics to it.

Isn't it time something is done by the good people of Lamb County?

I am a concerned parent in the City of Olton and am confused as to the operation of our city officials. I am at a loss to understand how our city officials can testify as character references for people who have pleas guilty for selling narcotics. And then they are turned back on the streets to do as they please.

With punishment like this we are stopping drug officers from coming into our county and making investigations into the drug traffic. I think we should take a long look at our city officials.

Our children are the future leaders of our community and I think they should be protected while growing up and getting a needed education.

I think it is about time that the people of Olton wake up to the facts about the drug problem in this city and in our schools. The more we hide our eyes from it the worse it will become. Why not open up and see what is actually happening to the children of Olton.

If there was an epidemic of the plague in Olton would you just sit by and not do a thing? What many people do not want to understand is that the drugs are just as bad as any plague could ever be. Do you want your child to die of an overdose or have other related drug effects? Do you want your grandchildren to be born deformed or retarded? Why not get together with other parents and see what can be done about it.

It is a very sad thing to see our children on drugs and not able to have the law to do anything about it, as the city oficials have their hands tied. If anything is going to be done about it, we the people in this city have to do it.

I am writing this letter regarding the drug situation in Olton. I do not understand how the city government operates. Our officers arrested some drug pushers and in the process they plead guilty to selling drugs. Our elected city officials testified as character references and they were released with a fine and suspended sentence.

I think we should have an explanation from our city officials as to their reasoning and motivation.

Everything But The Kitchen Sink

BY MOZELLE TROTTER

"I love you, Mother."

This year, I can't say it to that very special woman - the one who gave me life, who cared for my needs, who rejoiced in my happy times and hurt with me when I hurt. But Sunday, that special day set aside for Mothers, I know she'll hear my heart calling out, "Happy Mother's Day, Mother."

"Blessed art thou among women."

That could be the Lord's announcement to me. I! The self-centered, look-before-leaping, speak-before-thinking, thoughtless child of His! Yet, He has caused me to be blessed among women!

Could I have searched the wide world over, seeking the right person to be my mother, I could never have picked one better than the one God chose for me. She wasn't the perfect Mother -- I was far from the perfect daughter! That's how God meant it to be.

But she was, and is, my Angel Mother and God blessed me with her!

He blessed me, too, when He picked my Second Mother. My blessings still abide in the woman whose heart strings opened to enclose me that long ago day when I said, "I take thee Gene to be my wedded husband, to have and to hold..."

Two Mothers! So blessed! And too seldom have I voiced my heart's message, "I love you."

My blessings overflowed when I, too, became a mother -- when I held in my arms those tiny squirming bundles who have since grown into manhood and who now know the wonder of parenthood.

The young women who became my "chosen children" are lovely daughters and as dear to my heart as though I had done their choosing. They bless my life!

A darling little girl and a precious little boy, not yet seen, have abundantly multiplied the blessings of my life. Typically the proud and boastful grandmother, I am super blessed among women.

My heart cries out for the ones who never knew the love of a mother and, out in this wide world, there are countless numbers who have missed that wondrous gift. And, there's ache in my heart for the hundreds and hundreds of women who have not know the joy of being a mother.

Ah, yes, as Mary said, "For he that is mighty hath done to me great things;" KJV Luke 1;49a]

"Blessed.. Among Women"

By Rex Boyles

The woman, "blessed among women", was a woman of purity . . . (Luke 1:27). She refused to allow a world of passion and lust to abuse her. She kept herself pure for love . . . for the Lord. Such is my mother and the mother of mine.

The woman, "blessed among women", was a woman of purpose . . . (Luke 1:38). She allowed the will of God use her body and her life. She surrendered her rights and her reputation for the Lord. Such is my mother and the mother of mine.

The woman, "blessed among women", was a woman of prayer . . . (Acts 1:14). She faced a world of cruelty and pain with certain and steadfast prayer. She cast her every care on Him who cares. Such is my mother and the mother of mine.

THE PERFECT PAIR

FOR THE SOUTH PLAINS

PIONEER® BRAND 8311 — The Proven One

PIONEER® BRAND 8272 — The New One

This matched pair of heavy yielders can produce a profit in spite of increased cost of farming. They both have in-bred yield potential which gives you a profit even with expensive water and fertilizer. 8311 has dominated yield results in this area for three years. 8272 promises even more. They both have sturdy stalks and good roots . . . they can take a lot of punishment and still be standing at harvest. And if you split big acreage between the two, you're going to have as pretty a field as you've ever seen. . . good exsertion of heavy, uniform heads, all at the same height . . . beautiful . . . and profitable.

PIONEER 8311

A four-year-old, disease-safe, high test weight yellow endosperm hybrid which is now a proven champion. Bushel weights normally run two to five pounds above other hybrids . . . and that's pure profit. Classified as a medium-late variety, it adjusts its maturity to make full use of growing seasons. A relatively short hybrid with good standability, 8311 has sturdy stalks, good roots and good head exsertion. It has outstanding height uniformity and semi-open heads of golden bronze grain. This great hybrid has good tolerance and good resistance to post-freeze lodging.

PIONEER 8272

This new full-season Pioneer hybrid is recommended for this area where adequate water and fertilizer are available. And though it responds to water with super yields, it can also take a little moisture stress and still produce well. It has good roots and stalks and excellent tolerance to MDMV. It has a beautiful appearance . . . the grain will be dark red on semi-compact heads. Plants are short like 8311 with good exsertion and uniform head height for easy combining.

'Green Thumb' Cook Scolds Plants

Proclaimed a good cook by her family, Mrs. Pedro "Pete" Villanueva prepares the tasty dishes favored in her home by the "bit and dab" method of cooking. With the help of a daughter-in-law, Hortencia, she arrived at guides for preparing a main dish meal of chicken with rice and garbanzos plus her own version of chile rellenos.

Lupe and Pete moved to Olton nine years ago from Lorenzo. They were married in Lubbock 27 years ago, celebrating their anniversary Friday the 13th.

The Villanuevas are parents of two sons and a daughter. Tony, the eldest, is married and lives in El Paso where he is employed with the department of welfare. Mary Lou (Mrs. John) Nava lives in Slaton and is the mother of a little son, Christopher, seven months old. Joe, the youngest, makes his home in Olton. He and Hortencia are parents of one-year-old Carlos.

Keeping Carlos, while his mother works as a teachers' aide, is one of Lupe's pleasures which she shares with the little boy's maternal grandmother.

Needlework is a favorite pastime of Lupe's. She has numerous pieces of pretty crochet work and lots of beautiful embroidery. A particularly pretty work is a bedspread with many hours of work and many yards of embroidery thread. She also enjoys making quilts.

The possessor of a "green thumb", Lupe says she just plants with "plain dirt". She smiles when asked if she talks to her plants and laughingly adds that flowers blooming at present had not bloomed the past two years and had been "scolded" for their failure. She says she tends the potted plants and flowers and leaves the gardening to Pete.

Members of St. Peter's Catholic Church, the Villanuevas met at Rosebud. Lupe was born at San Benito; Pete, in Mexico.

Lupe has a cousin who grows cactus which he tediously cleans and pickles and ends up as a tasty addition to beans or chile.

A long, lengthy process, Lupe makes her own tamales. She grinds the meat herself and grinds the corn for the masa. It must be soaked the day before.

Lupe prepares refried beans by cooking pintos with their seasoning until well done, mashing and frying them, adding jalopeno peppers and chili powder to taste.

Munelos (pronounced moon-way-los) are a treat similar to sopiapillas. Lupe takes 3 cups flour and enough hot water to make a dough of pie crust consistency. She works in a beaten egg yolk and rolls the dough very thin. After frying, she sprinkles the goodies with a cinnamon-sugar mixture.

STUFFED PEPPERS
6 bell peppers
3 eggs
onions and cheese or hamburger meat salt
pepper
garlic salt

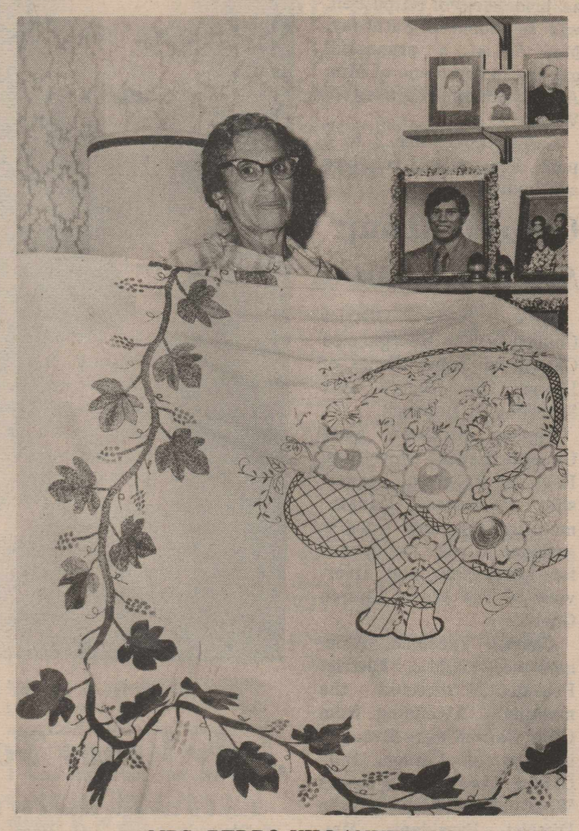

Toast peppers over flame till skin will slip off. Remove seeds and inner membrane. Beat egg whites and fold in beaten yolks. Fill with browned hamburger meat which has been seasoned with salt, pepper, garlic salt, cumino and onions, according to taste. OR fill with grated cheese and onions. Fold pepper together and close with toothpick. Sprinkle with flour and dip in egg mixture. Brown in hot shortening.

CHICKEN, RICE AND GARBANZOS
1 chicken, cut up
1 c. rice
1 can (15 oz) garbanzos (chick peas)
1 bud garlic (fresh)
¼ t cuminos
1 t salt

Winning Letter

'My Very Own Flip Wilson'

Dear Judges,

I have a lovely Mother of my own and a wonderful Mother-in-law that I should be telling the world about every day of my life. But I must tell you about a Mother and a little girl's dream of making her mother the Mother of the Year. I would let the little girl tell her own story, but she can not because of the death of a brother-in-law. In fact, I can't even ask her for her approval of my action in resubmitting her original (1976) entry.

Last year, on May 3rd, exactly a year ago today, Delores Johnson submitted a letter to the Olton Enterprise nominating Blanche Johnson for Olton's Mother of the Year. I remember the date well because it was Blanche's 50th birthday.

I teach in H.P. Webb Elementary School, and last year Delores asked me to type her entry letter. I did type her letter for her - and being a teacher - it was hard, "just like pulling teeth," not to make corrections and fill in details left out. Example: Delores wrote, "She's had a few sons on the football team and she's backed them up." It would have been so easy to say, "Delores, you should mention the fact that Glen was the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal Football Player of the Year for two years," or "Mention the fact that three Johnson boys played on one team," or any of the other many honors. But who can improve on the simple, sincere sentence "But when you have problems, she sits down and gives you a big push . . ."

Blanchie has been valuable to our community as well as her family. Because of her quick, honest smile and ready welcome, she is living proof of the Brotherhood of Man.

I hereby submit Delores' understated - yet beautiful - tribute to her mother - written one year ago, but still valid today - on Blanche's 51st birthday.

Sincerely,
Pat Criswell

Dear Judges,

I am the baby of the family wanting to enter my mother for Mother of the Year. I am a fifth grade student. The way I feel about my mother is: in sports she backs you up and gives you a good send off.

She is a mother of ten and still going to do all she can. It's hard to put on paper the way you feel about your mother in your heart.

But when you have problems she sits down and gives you a big push and the way she does is she tells you, "Well, just keep on pushing to the top in school, don't let your problems get you down." Then she pats you on the back and gives you a boost. She's had a few sons on the football team and she's backed them up.

Blanchie Benson Johnson was born May 3, 1926, in Grant, Oklahoma. She went to school in Hugo till about the ninth grade. She met my daddy in school, and they got married.

My mother has known the Good Lord to heal her when she was sick. She goes to church and prays for whoever is sick. She would back the children to go to high school because she had it hard. My mother tells me how hard it was growing up during the depression. It was hard on everyone, but it was especially hard on blacks in those days. But no matter what, she's happy all the time. All of my brothers and sisters are gone except for the last ones. We give her a little trouble, but she still loves. She loves people, and people love her very much.

Some of her children have graduated from college, some are going to college, and some are going to go to college. My sister Virginia graduated from Jarvis Christian College. My brother Kenneth went to Snow College in Utah and graduated from Southern University in Oregon and is coaching in Oregon. Katherine graduated from South Plains College in Levelland and is working as a secretary in Levelland. Clarence is going to East Texas State University in Commerce. Next fall, Glen will be going to Eastern New Mexico University at Portales. Tommy, Collin and Brenda have good jobs. Next year, David and I will be the only ones home.

Mother has known all the troubles and happiness that goes with raising a big family -- and that's saying a lot - losing a child, a son losing most of his fingers in an accident, and a daughter having serious brain surgeries, besides all the little things that happen -- to the thrill of seeing her children do well. In sickness and even in death, my mother has looked for the best. She says the Good Lord helps her. She laughs all the time!

Ma treats all kids just like they were her own.

Today, May 3, is my mother's 50th birthday -- so I have two big reasons for wanting her to be Mother of the Year -- for her birthday and for Mother's Day.

If you all could just know my mother like I know her, you'd know what I mean. Or, if you could just hear her laugh, you'd know what I mean. She's my very own Flip Wilson.

Sincerely,
Delores Johnson

Planting delayed by RAIN?

PIONEER® BRAND 3780

YOU CAN PLANT IT LATE IN MAY AND STILL MAKE A VERY PROFITABLE CROP

AN EXAMPLE FROM THE TOM WILLIAMS FARM, FARWELL, TX:

Planting Date	Harvest Date	Yield Per Acre	% Moisture at Harvest
May 22	Oct. 17	163.5	24.8

Pioneer brand 3780 is no ordinary corn hybrid. It matures 12 to 15 days earlier than most hybrids grown in this area. It is several points drier at maturity than the average. It has roots and stalks that allow it to take some rough treatment late in the season.

This is the corn we call "the cost cutter" because it takes one less irrigation than later hybrids, saving you that big fuel and labor cost.

We think you'll be glad that the rain forced you to plant this fine short-season hybrid. You may discover you've made more net profit than you would have had you planted any other variety.

Home Ec Program In Third Year

High school students sixteen years of age or older, who are classified as juniors or seniors, are eligible to participate in Home Economics Cooperative Education (H.E.C.E.), the newest cooperative education program at Olton High School. In its third year, it is coordinated by Mrs. Carol Seaborn.

Students who enroll in the program as a junior get the advantage of a two-year training program. Applicants may or may not be employed at the time they are admitted to the program. In some instances the work may be strenuous, therefore students who have physical defects or serious weaknesses should be carefully screened before entering certain occupational areas. The program is not designed for students with major learning disabilities.

Home Economics Cooperative Education combines classroom instruction with 15 hours per week on-the-job training. Occupations approved for the program must (1) be classified as a home economics occupation requiring knowledge and skills in one or more of the following home economics subject areas: child development, clothing and textiles, consumer education, family living, food and nutrition, home management and housing, (2) provide a minimum of 160 hours of class instruction for Quarter Unit Plan and 525 hours of supervised on-the-job training and work experience per school year in an approved home economics occupation.

Approved occupations include art and craft aide; bridal consultant; child care aide; clothing assistant; companion to elderly; consumer aide; dietition aide; fabric coordinator; fashion coordinator; floral designer; food caterer; food service employee; home furnishings aide; housekeeping management assistant; physical fitness assistant and tester of foods, equipment or textiles.

Home Economics Cooperative Education students learn well that there is more to homemaking than food and clothing.

More and more stress is being placed on household planning which includes financing, family problems, child care and development, consumer education, money management and home furnishings, according to Mrs. Seaborn.

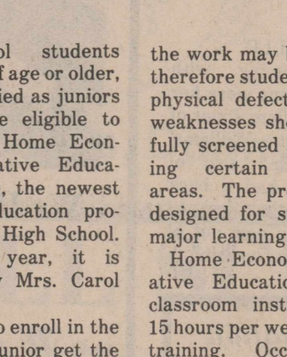

The overall program provides insights into all these phases and also prepares students for other careers. It is designed to open fields that a young person might otherwise never consider.

"One of the best points about the program is that students get a chance to see if they would like to continue in a field. If they find they would rather be doing something else, then it's still a positive result," Mrs. Seaborn points out.

Under the Quarter Unit Plan (55 minute periods) students may earn six quarter units upon satisfactory completion of 160 hours of classroom instruction and 525 hours of supervised work experience per school year. No student can receive credit for less than one year in the program. Twelve quarter units are received for two years.

Students are members of Future Homemakers of America and participate in all FHA activities such as area and state meetings, FHA banquet, socials, assembly programs and FHA projects.

Agriculture Co-op Gives Experience

Olton High School's Agricultural Cooperative Training Program offers students opportunity for first hand experience and provides on-the-job training in operations of farms, ranches, cattle industries and farm support businesses.

Experience the ag students receive in the co-op program prepares them to exist in the agri-business world. "there's no teacher like experience," claim most educators who prepare students for vocations.

On-the-job work supplements classroom teaching and thus experience is the key to the ag co-op program.

The high school program of vocational agriculture education is designed to meet the needs of youth who plan to enter farming, ranching or other agricultural occupations.

Cooperative part-time training courses provide instructions for high school students who have interest in and/or a vocational need for becoming established in an off-farm agricultural occupation. It is also designed to provide technical instruction, on-the-job training and work experience for high school vocational agriculture students preparing to enter employment in agricultural occupations.

Students are given opportunities to spend part of their school time in on-the-job training with local agricultural business and industrial firms. Participating students are enrolled in regular high school courses, including one period of related agricultural instruction, during which time they study information related to their on-the-job training.

Fifteen hours each week is spent in on-the-job training, learning the skills and management practices involved, under the guidance of a skilled instructor selected from the firm in which the student is working.

Steve Fraze, vocational agriculture instructor at OHS, is conducter of this phase of the vocational agriculture program.

Students Learn Variety Of Trades

Students earn two credits per year in the Coordinated Vocational-Academic Education program which is coordinated by Dennis Black. High School students may enroll two years. Seventh and eighth grade students may also enroll in CVAE courses.

Primary aim of occupational experience programs is the development of occupational competence. The programs are, therefore, vocational in essence rather than general education.

Two kinds of occupational experience programs are available, work-study and cooperative. Both incorporate real-life job employment as a fountain of learning.

Primary difference of the two programs is that work-study programs have as their purpose general occupational education. Basically, cooperative experience programs are training programs.

Objectives of cooperative part-time training are to fit students for useful employment in occupations of their choice in which there are available openings and to permit them to earn credits toward high school graduation while training on a part-time job.

The program also provides additional medium for learning and student motivation while establishing a cooperative relationship with local businesses or farmers.

Coordinated Vocational-Academic Education is Texas Education Agency's vocational program designed for students with special learning needs. It is intended for in-school youth possessing academic, socio-economic or other handicaps to such extent as to prevent them from succeeding in traditional educational endeavors.

Locally the program is conducted with emphasis on pre-employment shop training and a modified academic program. Students learn six trades, carpentry, cement finishing, bricklaying, plumbing, painting and electrical work.

First year students have classroom and shop work with much time devoted to the proper use and care of tools. Safety rules are also stressed.

Second year CVAE students go out and perform simple repair jobs for townspeople as well as building and repairing tasks about the school. The group does considerable cement work.

The program, by including a combination of vocational and modified academic instruction, provides opportunities to acquire saleable vocational skills while also acquiring basic knowledge in the fields of math, science, English and social studies.

Seventh, eighth and ninth grade students have recently completed an addition to the teacherage home of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sivley, which includes a bedroom, bath and closet. They also have done work on the high school patio.

CVAE Programs Are Diversified

Olton High School has two units of Coordinated Vocational Academic Education, better known as CVAE. It is a program for diversified work and is directed by John Paul Jones.

Students in the CVAE program, as with the other cooperative programs offered at OHS, go to school half a day and are required to work at least 15 hours a week on-the-job. Any wage earning job qualifies.

Objectives of this program are (1) to fit boys and girls for useful employment in occupations of their choice in which there are available openings; (2) to permit boys and girls to earn credits toward high school graduation while training on a part-time job; (3) to provide additional medium for learning; (4) to provide more opportunity for student motivation; (5) to establish a cooperative relationship with local business; and (6) to provide high school boys and girls with valuable training, experience on real jobs under real working conditions.

Students involved in this program receive many advantages. Opportunity is provided to learn a trade or occupation while earning a high school diploma. The program also offers the opportunity to learn technical information of an occupation as well as the manipulative skills.

Through related instruction, a student is enabled to better understand the nature of the work he is performing. It also provides opportunity to establish a reputation on the job through two years of experience.

CVAE is the Texas Education Agency Vocational program including a combination of vocational and modified academic instruction that provides the dual educational opportunities of acquiring a saleable vocational skill, while also acquiring basic knowledge in the fields of math, science, English and social studies. This dual phase approach enables students enrolled to reach maximum personal development potential, within their ability in the shortest possible time.

Presently there are 18 students working for 18 different employers. The jobs range from farm helpers, mechanics, clerks to other phases of work.

In preparation for this on-the-job program, Jones' class is studying how to apply for a job; writing application letters; good grooming; good manners; attitude on the job and with fellow workers; personal effectiveness; managing money; balancing the budget; buying goods and services; income tax and Social Security; credit and installment buying; and improving conversation ability.

This program has been extremely fruitful because of good cooperation of businesses and farmers, Jones said.

Taking A Vacation?

Taking a vacation this summer? Are you going to visit relatives, maybe go to Disney World or Astroworld, visit Dallas or San Antonio. Maybe you are going on a long fishing trip, or camping to get away from it all. You will use the time well and it is very likely someone else will enjoy your vacation and use the time you have given him well. He is called a Criminal and he specializes in burglary, theft, fraud, robbery or whatever strikes his fancy.

Your regional law enforcement agencies would like to share with you some suggestions to keep the criminal away and help you protect your property.

There are a number of things you need to do, but starting now if you haven't already, you need to participate in Operation Identification and mark your property. You can obtain an engraver on loan from your police or sheriffs department and they have a Crime Prevention Officer to advise you of the type of property you should mark. For jewelry and other items like paintings, antiques and guns that you do not want to mark you should take a colored photograph of the property and on the back of the picture write a full description and price. If the property should be stolen you can then give this to the police or sheriffs department and they will be able to conduct a better investigation.

Also if you are going on vacation utilize your neighbors, close relatives and the police or sheriffs office. Your neighbor or relative can help keep an eye on your place, collect mail, ensure grass is kept mowed and yard neat. They can also enter your house from time to time and switch on different lights, put their car in your driveway awhile and most importantly notify the police or sheriff of suspicious persons and activities around your home. The police or sheriff should be notified of the times you will be away, who has a key and will be around the home, information on cars and lights. They will check your home and be able to respond better to a burglary if they know what is going on.

These are some of the things you need to prepare for now, but there are many things you can do. This is the first in a series of articles to help you protect your property and ensure your vacation is pleasant.
