Wellington FFA Wins Top Honors At Pampa Show

A livestock judging team from the Wellington FFA Chapter won top honors at the Top O' Texas Livestock Show and contests in Pampa Monday, February 4, while the Quail team placed fourth in the same contest. The Dimmitt team was second and the Plainview team third.

The Wellington team, composed of Calvin Lacy, Harold Moore, and Jimmy Hartman, won the silver cup awarded the first place winners.

The Wellington group was the high point team of the beef cattle division, and Lacy tied for second high point place in that section. Moore was high point man for the team as a whole.

The Quail team had the third high point boy, Alvin Homer, while the team was also fifth high in the hog judging contest. Members of the team were Homer, Gene Daugherty and Wayne Lacy.

Thirty-five teams from all parts of the Panhandle participated in the judging, each one judging six classes of animals, two of beef cattle, two hogs and two sheep.

Following the judging contest, the teams were honored at a banquet in the Palm Room of the City Hall by the Chamber of Commerce. Dr. Leon Hill, Baptist Evangelist from Amarillo and widely known after-dinner speaker, discussed "You Never Can Tell What a Boy Will Do."

Music was given by the Pampa high school girls sextette.

At the end of the program, the judging results were announced and the silver cup presented the Wellington boys.

The two county teams were accompanied by their advisors, Bennett Goodloe of Wellington and Frank Kennedy of Quail.

The meeting adjourned with the regular closing ceremony of the Future Farmers of America, with the Top O' Texas District Officers participating.

Norwood Eagles Meet Shamrock in Last Home Game

The Samnorwood Eagles and Eaglettes will play their last home game Monday night, February 11, against one of their keenest competitors, the Shamrock Irish and Lassies. This will be the first time the teams have met this year.

"It will be one of our best games. and we hope every basketball fan will be out to see our boys and girls play," Supt. Orville Cunningham declared.

Shamrock has defeated the only team that has been able to win over the Eagles, the Wellington Skyrockets, and they are expected to offer the boys as much competition as they have met this year.

The two girls teams are considered about evenly matched.

"We've played the best girls teams we could find, and lost only five games. McLean, which played in the state tournament last year, had lost and they had lost only one player, defeated us, as did Claude, state winner in their class, Mr. Cunningham said. Other teams that have defeated the Eaglettes are the Quail Bobwhites, considered equally as good as McLean or Claude, Hedley and Panhandle.

Most of the Samnorwood girls have another two years to play, and are shaping up one of the fastest teams in this region.

The games will begin at 7:30 p.m.

ACTOR JOEL McCRAE AND HIS NEW-MADE WELLINGTON FRIENDS

Actor Joel McCrae, long favorite of Wellington theatre goers, made an unannounced visit to town Saturday, February 2, when he came to see his son, Joel McCrae, Jr., a member of the New Mexico Military Institute Boxing team, take part in the Rocket-Pampa-NMMI fights that night. During the afternoon he visited down town, along with NMMI Coach Col. Bill Godfrey and Rocket Coach John Lee. Those who met him found him "just like one of us." Saturday night, the youngsters had their chance and nearly mobbed the amiable actor just to meet him, to get his autograph or just to say "hello." After the fights, McCrae came along to the Community building for the regular Youth Center Activities. Joel McCrae stopped autographing programs long enough at the matches for this picture, surrounded by a group who, it is safe to guess, are among his staunchest supporters. Reading from left to right are Michael Rainer. Donald Branch, Jerry Hurst, Phillip Cobb, Wesley Savage and Joel McCrae. In front are Judge Raymond Horton and Celia Ray Anderson.

Cost Could Be As Little as One Cent Per Acr e Per Year

Nine-County Farmers Hear Proposal For Increasing Available Moisture

An explanation of the work of the Water Resources Development Organization, known popularly to the public as "rainmaking," was given at a meeting of farmers, business men and ranchers of a nine-county area in Southwestern Oklahoma and the southeastern Panhandle, held at Hollis, Thursday, January 31.

The purpose of the meeting was to discuss a non-profit corporation to obtain Dr. Erving Krick, head of the organization, and his staff under individual contract to increase the rainfall in the nine-county area of approximately five million acres.

It was pointed out that such an operaton could get under way in from ten days to two weeks after the counties give the Water Resources Organization an okay to operate in the area.

The cost involved in the operation is one cent per acre per year of operation if the farmers, ranchers and business men co-operate 100 per cent. Some counties are charging 3c per acre for rangeland and 5c per acre for farmland, the cost being divided among those participating.

The organization would operate as follows: the members of each county form a non-profit corporation, and in such a non-profit corporation the member is not liable but the corporation assumes the liability.

The board of directors, three from each county, will determine when they want the rain increased and when they want operations to cease.

This explanation of the organization and its operation was given by Ford Hubbard, representing Dr. Krick at the Hollis Meeting. On the editorial page of this issue of The Wellington Leader is an editorial by Bill Hughes, Wellington rancher who attended the meeting.

Mr. Hubbard: The company works on large movements of weather and not on isolated cumulus clouds. They cannot produce rain from such clouds. In fact, they do not produce rain and are not rain-makers, but work on a rain line running along a cool or warm front. Thus involving three million to five million acres or even 10 million acres. The larger the area involved the better the result and more efficient the operaton for each individual involved. The cost per acre would be one cent if the people cooperated 100 per cent.

The subject of increasing rainfall is new, in it's present phase of operation. The use of Silver Iodide as a chemical to increase the weight of rain droplets was started by the General Electric Corporation in their laboratory. In a moisture free Deep-Freeze at 10 degrees Fahrenhite a cloud of moisture was introduced. This moisture hangs in the atmosphere and will not form ice chrystals until a 4 degree F is reached, but, when Silver Iodide smoke is introduced the moisture droplets at 25 degrees F to 4 degrees F a snow or ice chrystals form and the droplets become heavy enough to settle out of the atmosphere. Rockets Lose to NMMI

Irish Boxers Here For Match Saturday Night

The Skyrocket boxers will meet a Shamrock team here Saturday night, Februay 9, in bouts that have been scheduled to begin at 8:30, in order that Wellington merchants who support the team can see the fights, Coach John Lee said today.

There will be one section of 470 ringside seats, and these will go on a first-come, first-served basis, so Coach Lee urged that everyone keenly interested in the bouts to come early.

At least 14 fights are planned.

Four feature fights have already been matched. Probably the top bout will be between Floyd Hood Jr., one of the finest boxers to go into the Wellington ring in recent years, and a Golden Gloves winner, and the outstanding Bobby Campbell, Shamrock's pride and joy.

Jimmy Thompson will meet Kenneth Wood of Shamrock and Gene Baird will meet Ronald Settles. Both the Wellington boys are regional golden gloves winners. Dan Jameson will meet Paul Cooper in the other feature fight.

Jimmie Bowen will be the referee.

One of the largest crowds of the season, estimated at more than 1,000 witnessed the three-way fights between NMMI, Roswell, Pampa and Wellington Saturday night, and although the Rockets lost their match to Roswell, this was considered one of the outstanding boxing events held here in several years.

"Our own team was so cut down by flu that we didn't have a full team, so it was a very neighborly thing for the Pampa Boys Club to come down and help us put on this show, filling in with exhibition fights," Coach Lee said.

Paducah, Memphis to Meet Rocket Cagers

After dropping their first two district games, the Rocket cagers will meet Paducah here Thursday night, February 7, at 7:30 and Memphis will come here Tuesday night, February 12, for their second game with the Rockets in the District Play-off.

Two other games, both away from home, will close the season, with Childress February 15 and at Paducah February 18.

The Rockettes will play along with the Rockets with the exception of the Childress game.

"We expect Paducah to be about our calibre," Coach Maxey McKnight said. "The Dragons have lost to both Memphis and Childress and so have we. The Paducah girls have won over Memphis and so have our girls, so it all looks like there'll be some mighty close ball playing on the Rocket court Thursday.

The Rockets lost a close game, 53 to 49, to the Memphis Cyclone at Memphis Thursday.

The Bobcats, in the first district game here, Tuesday night, February 5, took a top-heavy victory 62 to 48.

"The Rockets didn't look as good as they have looked, and Childress looked better than they ever have. They were really hot. They just outplayed us," Coach McKnight

Games, Coronation Climax March of Dimes Events

The county's March of Dimes drive comes to a climax Saturday night, February 11, with the final games of the county basketball tournament and the announcing of the identity of the County March of Dimes Basketball Queen.

To date, $221.50 has been turned in from the drive to William W. McClaskey, treasurer. This includes the contributions to the miniature iron lungs in business houses on the north, south, and east sides of the square, and from the cards taken home to their families by the Wellington students, and the VFW Singing.

Not yet turned in is the money, more than $150 from the first set of basketball games, and the money from the Queen's race, which will continue through Saturday evening.

Quail will be host to the Saturday night basketball games, and coronation ceremony.

The Wellington Skyrockets will meet the Samnorwood Eagles in a game that will offer all the thrills of a basketball court. The two teams have met twice previously this year, with Wellington defeating the Eagles in a surprise upset the first time, but losing to the Norwood boys in the second game.

The Samnorwood Eaglettes will meet the Quail Bobwhites the same evening.

The games will begin at 8:00 p.m.

Jack Brewer Asks Re-Election

Jack Brewer, commissioner of Precinct 1, has authorized The Wellington Leader to announce his candidacy for re-election to that office subject to the action of the Democratic primary.

Mr. Brewer said that he was grateful for the support and co-operation that he had received in the past and that he would do his best to take care of the duties of the office. I will appreciate your consideration in the coming primary and will do my best to see all of you between now and that time.

Food Handlers School Begins Monday Morning

Plans are complete for the opening of the Food Handlers School, sponsored jointly by the City of Wellington and the State Department of Health, Mayor L. B. Bratten announced.

The school will open Monday, February 11, for all owners and employees of establishments handling food. There will be two sessions daily, at 9:30 a.m. and 4:00 p.m. These will be held in the community building.

W. R. Ritter, city sanitarian, is in charge of arrangements. The public is welcome to any or all sessions.

Robinson for County Clerk

David Robinson this week authorized The Wellington Leader to announce his candidacy for the office of county clerk.

Mr. Robinson states:

"I am taking this opportunity to ask the voters of Collingsworth County to elect me to the office of county clerk."

"I sincerely believe that my experience qualifies me to perform the duties of this important office.

"For the past four years I have been employed in the office of Tax Assessor and Collector. Prior to this time I worked for two years with the Fish, Oyster and Game Commission of Texas, and with the government for about three years."

"During World War II, I served with the armed forces, spending nineteen months overseas.

"I am thirty years old, married and have two children. We own our home in Wellington.

"I invite any citizen to investigate my record as to my qualifications and character. If you find me worthy I will appreciate your vote and support very much.

"If I am elected, I will give you honest and efficient service."

J. W. Roberson Funeral Held Here Tuesday

James William Roberson, 78-year-old Wellington man, died in a Houston Hospital Saturday, February 2, where he had been under treatment for several weeks. Mr. Roberson had been in ill health about six months, although he continued to be active until Christmas.

Funeral services were held at Faith Baptist Mission Tuesday, the first funeral to be held in the new building, with the Rev. Howard Jones, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiating.

Pall bearers were A. C. Parrigin, Joe Souder, C. R. Leggitt, Troy Gardner, Cap Davis and J. B. Goodnight. Flower bearers were Mrs. Lester Dodd, Mrs. Lonnie Dodd, Mary Roberts and Mrs. Lucille Baird. Burial was in the old Wellington cemetery under the direction of the Ellis Funeral Home.

Mr. Roberson was born at Midland, Tennessee October 16, 1873, and grew up in that state. He was married there to Miss Martha Bell Gilliam, and they lived there several years after their marriage. More than 50 years ago they came to Texas, living first at Wilmer. Forty-one years ago they moved to Wellington and Mr. Roberson had made this his home since.

Mrs. Roberson preceded him in death in 1942.

For the past five years he had been employed at the West Texas Gin, working as the engineer until the last season, when he was unable to continue this type of work, and was given lighter duties.

He was a member of the Baptist Church.

Surviving are a son, Dwight L. Roberson; a grandson, James M. Roberson; and a great-grandson. Steven Carrol Roberson, all of Wellington.

Cubs, Scouts, Observe Boy Scout Week Here

Wellington Boy Scouts, Cubs and Explorers will observe the 42nd anniversary of the founding of the movement with a series of observances during the week beginning Wednesday, February 6, and continuing through Tuesday, Febraury, 12.

On Sunday, February 10, all groups will attend services at the First Methodist Church in Wellington, beginning at 11:00 a. m.

Scouts will be honored by the Welington Rotary Club, their sponsors, at the luncheon meeting Tuesday, February 12.

Members of Troup 32 will also present the program at this meeting.

Later in the month, February 25, the Cub Scouts will observe the birthday of cubbing with a banquet, to be held at the community building, Mrs. Lee White, one of the den mothers, has announced.

In connection with the 42nd birthday anniversary, the Boy Scouts of America will launch a new three-year program known as "Forward . . On Liberty's Team," a program of action designed to help keep America strong and free.

The Boy Scout birthday will be observed throughout the United States, its territories and wherever American families live, either in service in the Armed Forces, or as representatives of the Government and business.

This year's celebration will honor the organizations and institutions whose sponsorship make possible the existence and growth of the nation's 80.298 Packs, Troops and Explorer Units.

At public ceremonies, the Scouts and leaders will express their appreciation to the religious bodies, school organizations, veterans' associations, fraternal groups and service clubs which sponsor them.

The Units will then review all the ways in which the sponsoring institution has helped the Unit as a whole as well as the individuals in it. The Scout Units will announce the goals of their three-year program to help achieve the goals of the "Forward . . On Liberty's Team" program, which is to make the boy, the Scout Movement and the Nation — physically strong, mentally awake and morally straight.

Observed in every city and town and most villages and hamlets by more than 80,000 Units, Boy Scout Week is the largest single birthday observance by young Americans.

Norwood Eagles Win 2-B Crown at Claude Tourney

By CHARLES DOUGHERTY

The Samnorwood Eagles won the District 2-B basketball championship in the tournament which closed Saturday night, February 2, by defeating in the finals their traditional opponent, the Quail Quails.

The tournament was held at Claude and began Wednesday, January 30.

The Samnorwood boys played their first game Thursday night against Hedley, winning an easy victory, 69 to 26. Lawrence Overcast was high point man with 23 points, and Billy Alexander was next with 22 points. Quinsenberry was top man for Hedley with 7 points.

The Eagles met the Claude Mustangs Friday. The Mustangs played the Eagles a close game during the first half, and only about 5 points separated them at the half. During the last half, however, the Samnorwood boys found the hoop and won 51 to 28.

Quail and Samnorwood met for the finals Saturday. Quail took an early lead and at the end of the first quarter lead 12 to 8. By the half, Samnorwood had a meager three point lead.

With only four minutes to go, Overcast, top scorer in the other games, fouled off, and Quail made

Lloyd Tipton Receives Combat Infantry Badge

With the 7th infantry div. in Korea — Pvt. Lloyd M. Tipton, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Tipton, Route 1, Wellington, Texas, recently was awarded the Combat Infantryman Badge for excellent performance of duty in combat with the 7th Infantry Division.

The badge, a symbol of the front line fighting man, distinguishes the combat soldier from rear area and service troops. It consists of a miniature replica of a Revolutionary War flintlock rifle mounted on a blue background and superimposed on a wreath.

Titon, a wireman in Headquarters and Headquarters Company of the 31st Infantry Regiment, entered the Army in March 1948.

He attended Wheeler school, Wheeler, Texas, and farmed for his father prior to entering the Army.

Hunters Co-operation Asked

PANHANDLE SPORTSMEN FURNISH INFORMATION IN QUAIL STUDY

Panhandle and Lower Plains Sportsmen contributed almost half of the total information to the Texas Bobwhites Quail study carried out by the Texas Game and Fish Commission during the 1950 hunting season.

Hemphill County, with a total of 498 quail wings turned in, led the State. It is believed that almost this many wings are needed from each county each year if the effects of local weather and other factors controlling quail population are to be properly measured. The wing analyais last season reflected a good hatch and a healthy outlook for the coming seson opening December 1st .

Game technicians need to know the ra.e of quail turnover or what the life span is for a given generation of quail. When and only when these things are known about a quail crop can the relatives importance or hunting as a limiting influence be measured.

What hunters need s a sustained yield with fair good hunting every season. To provide this kind of hunting is the purpose of game management.

Bobwhite hatched the precering spring and summer carry their age within ten day limit on certain feather patterns found on their wings. The sex is of course eaisly determined by the different color markings on the head and neck of males and females. By use of these indicators, the quail biologist can determine the make-up of fall quail populations as surely as the rancher knows the make-up of his range herds.

Last hunting season, for the first time, hunters throughout Texas were asked to help in a State-wide inventory of the quail population. Panhandle and Lower Plains Counties were the source of almost half the wings turned in. Even so, many counties in good quail range were not represented at all, and others could not be treated separately because of insufficient information.

Among 1,964 quail from the hunter kill in the Lower Plains Counties last year 85.6 per cent were young birds hatched the preceding spring and summer. Among 1,663 quail from the Panhandle Counties, 85.2 per cent were young birds. In both cases, the percent of adult cocks bagged was almost twice the percent of adult or parent hens. It is plain, therefore, that the incubating or brooding hen is subject to heavy losses during the nesting season. The result is shown in the ratio of young quail to old hens in the winter population. By December first last year, there were approximately 14 young quail to each adult hen.

Panhandle and Lower Plains reported finding four-tenths of a covey per man-hour of hunting. They killed one quail per man-hour, and took an average of 2.7 quail for each covey flushed. These are average and include of course many beginners at quail hunting.

In every region of the State, the bulk of the 1950 bobwhite hatch came off prior to August 15th.

The study confims that the bobwhite quail ordinarly has a short life span — off — set by a high rate or replacement when things go well with the breeding season. When the breeding season is poor, the population of bobwhites falls off rapidly. And, this happens weather or not hunting has been allowed. Thus, the hunter is always dependent on young birds each year for his sport.

The assistance of hunters is again solicited in carrying on this study. Postage paid envelopes for use in collicting quail wings can be had from the local State Warden or by writing direct to the Texas Game and Fish Commission in Austin, Texas.

Common Colds On Increase

AUSTIN — "At this time of the year health officers and practicing physicians always expect an increase in the common cold," Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, reminds residents of Texas. "Although good personal hygiene-adequate sleep, suitable clothing, moderate exercise and good nutrition — may help the individual to develop resistance to infections, colds frequently develop in spite of all normal precautions. The seasonal rise in colds and other respiratory diseases during the fall and winter months certainly suggests that the shift to cooler weather is partly responsible for their prevalence.

"The unhappy victim of a cold should make every effort to prevent spreading the infection to others. He can help by covering coughs and sneezes with a disposable paper handkerchief, by staying out of crowds and avoiding close contact with others — especially invalids, young children and old people. Evidence indicates that colds are readily transmitted from person to person.

"For his own sake the patient should rest as much as possible in order to help his body to fight the cold. If there is any fever it is advisable to go to bed and stay there. There is some question as to the effectiveness of the large quantities of water and fruit juices generally recommended in the past, but they can do no harm and may help to some extent.

"If a cold persists for several days the patient should by all means consult his family physician, especially if there is an accompanying fever. Although, as is generally known, there is no specific cure for the common cold the doctor can prescribe medicines that will afford safe relief. Consulting the physician is strongly advised, also, because a number of communicable diseases have early symptoms similar to those of the cold and only a doctor can decide whether the patient has a simple cold or some more serious disease."

It's Time to Plan for Family Living in 1952

COLLEGE STATION — If family living in 1952 is to assure comfort and adequate food, clothing and shelter, plans must be made to meet the shortages in materials and labor, as well as rising costs.

Gladys Darden, home management specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, recently attended an Outlook Conference in Washington, D. C., at which farm and home economists made the following recommendations:

Whatever can be done for greater efficiency and labor-saving in the home and on the farm should be emphasized during the winter, thereby making fuller use of hours per worker.

Families must plan for more home food production and preservation in order to maintain health and reduce expenditures.

Each family must anticipate its needs far in advance and plan accordingly.

Increasing the amount of savings and reducing debts as much as possible should be encouraged in the family.

Thomas Speaks At 4-H Club

The Wellington High School 4-H Club met recently with J. W. Thomas, county agent, as speaker. He discussed the importance of having balanced rations for projects and told the four basic elements of a balanced ration: proteins, carbohydrates, minerals and vitamins.

John Thomas, president of the Club, presided and Barton Groves, secretary, read the minutes of the previous meeting. Each member told the amount of scrap iron he had turned in. The total was 2,500 pounds. This is to be used for defense purposes.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Reynolds were in Dallas and Fort Worth recently attending the spring merchandise markets and buying for the Dodson Dry Goods Co.

"DON'T YOU DARE!"—Roger Donahue of Yonkers, N. Y., seems to brace himself for a boost over the ropes as Johnny De Fazio cocks a menacing right hand during their eight-round fight at Madison Square Garden in New York. De Fazio, of Bayonne, N. J., won the decision.

Quail Juniors Defeat Hedley

Quail junior high school girls and the seventh grade boys basketball teams defeated two Hedley teams in games played during the week end, while the Quail junior high boys lost in an exhibition game played with the high school team from Hedley.

The girls won their 8th out of 11 games, with the score being 23 to 9. Nancy Stephens was high point player with 15 points and Mary Jo Phipps was second with six. Jo Ann Sanders with high for Hedley with six points.

The Seventh grade boys took a 23 to 11 victory, with Ruben Thomas, Quail high scorer with 8 points and Bill Gibson high for Hedley with 4 points. This was the first game the seventh grade boys have played.

The junior high boys lost their game 36 to 46. The latter team will play in the Childress Junior High tournament this week, meeting Quanah Friday in their first game.

Bobwhites Win Over Claude

The Quail Bobwhites defeated the Claude Girl's basketball team February 2 at the Claude gym by a score of 49 to 38. The game was played at the final night of the boys District 3B tournament that was held in Claude last week end.

Jo Helen White was high point scorer for the Bobwhites with 30 points. Betty Duckworth was next in line for scoring honors with 13 points and Fern Neeley made 6 points for the Bobwhites in addition to playing a good floor game. Betty Duckworth scored five field goals for the Bobwhites and sank three free tosses to help her team win.

The guards for the Bobwhites, Jo Blevins, Ginger Miller and Fayteen Peeples played an outstanding defensive game for the Bobwhites. The largest number of field goals made by any one player of the Claude team was six. Jo Blevins played a very god game for the Bobwhites and intercepted several passes to gain possesion of the ball for her team.

The Bobwhites play Samnorwood girls in the Quail gym Saturday, February 9 for the benefit of March of Dimes program.

Juanita Boen replaced Fayteen Peeples who was eliminated from the game by fouls.

News of Men in Service

Lonnie Hollingsworth, who has been serving as a storekeeper on the USS Burlington in Korean waters for the last nine months, is here for a 30 day leave with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Hollingsworth, who returned to Wellington recently from Corpus Christi to make their home.

Hollingsworth has been overseas 13 months, the remainder of the time having been in Japan. The Burlington, a patrol craft, has been escorting supply ships of Task Force 95. "We were just there, like everyone else," he said in regard to his duty.

The ship on which he is serving is one of those given Russia under Lend Lease during the war, later returned to the United States and recommissioned in Japan.

"The way people live in Japan makes you appreciate the U. S." Hollingsworth said in describing the country, but he added that conditions in those ports in Korea where he had been were "awfully bad."

An honor graduate from Wellington high school with the class of 1949, he attended college a semester, then volunteered for service in the Navy a year and a half ago. Hollingsworth has two and half years yet to serve on his enlistment.

Cpl. J. W. Gray, who is in Korea, recently finished a six-weeks course in Morse Code with a grade average of 98, and now has a low-speed radio operator's M. O. S. He wrote recently that he is going back to his unit in artillery, but did not say what his duties will be.

Gray is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Gray of Shamrock, formerly of Wellington.

Mr. and Mrs. William Barjenbruch and son and Mrs. A. N. Hutcherson visited recently at the Alday Ranch near Fort Worth and attended the Fat Stock Show.

John Graves at Mill Iron Office

John Graves, who formerly took care of one of the Mill Iron Ranches at Cee Vee, has been transferred to the local office of the ranch, following a major operation which he underwent a short time ago.

Mr. Graves will be here for at least a year, according to present plans, Bill Hughes, ranch manager, said.

A World War II veteran, Mr. Graves is also a graduate of Texas Technological College. Mrs. Graves is from Montana. They have three small children, two daughters and a baby son.

Deck's DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

The main reason this column has been missing the last two weeks is an epidemic of flu, cold and sinus at our house. Doctors and druggists say that it is in the most virulent form that we have had since 1918. Better take care of yourself for weeks after you have an attack this year.

* * *

Ed Crawford is one of the most faithful and acidious critics of this column. He stopped me at a local implement dealers plant and told me to resume it or he would stop his paper. That threat leaves me a little cool. I happen to know that his wife makes him buy the paper so she can read the ads regardless of whether Ed is mad at me at that particular time or not. Oh well, I had rather be cussed than forgotten.

* * *

The town was thrilled to have Joel McCrea of movie and radio fame attend the boxing meet in Wellington last Saturday. The children just loved him; for he is most gracious and it seems to me that he has more charm in person than he has on the screen or on the radio. This can't be said of nine out of ten of the women stars of Hollywood. They do not have the glamour. Neither do about two out of three of the men stars. Joel McCrea has color and charm in the flesh.

* * *

While all the other people were thrilled over the visit of the movie star, I was thrilled over the visit of an old boyhood playmate. This was Col. L. T. Godfrey, director of athletics at New Mexico Military Institute. He is better known here as just plain Bill Godfrey and I saw him visiting with a lot of his old friends such as Polly O'Neil, Luther Sullivan, Bob Bowen and a lot of other people. It seems that this was the first time in twenty years that he had plenty of time to visit in Wellington.

* * *

A lot of people living here now do not know anything about Bill Godfrey. I have written it before: but it is worth repeating. The L in his name is for Lola, the name of his mother. The Bill is of Wellington origin. Even in the twenties he was known as Babe Godfrey at NMMI and later at Louisiana State.

* * *

Bill did not graduate from Wellington High School. He entered NMMI as a junior in the high school and graduated when that institution offered two years of college instruction instead of four as they do today. He went on to LSU.

* * *

Here is part of the record of the greatest all round athlete to come out of Collingsworth County. He lettered in five major sports at New Mexico Military Institute — namely football, basketball, wrestling, track and baseball. He was captain of the football team in his senior year and captain of the baseball team for three years. At LSU, he lettered in football, basketball and baseball and was captain of both the football team and the baseball team.

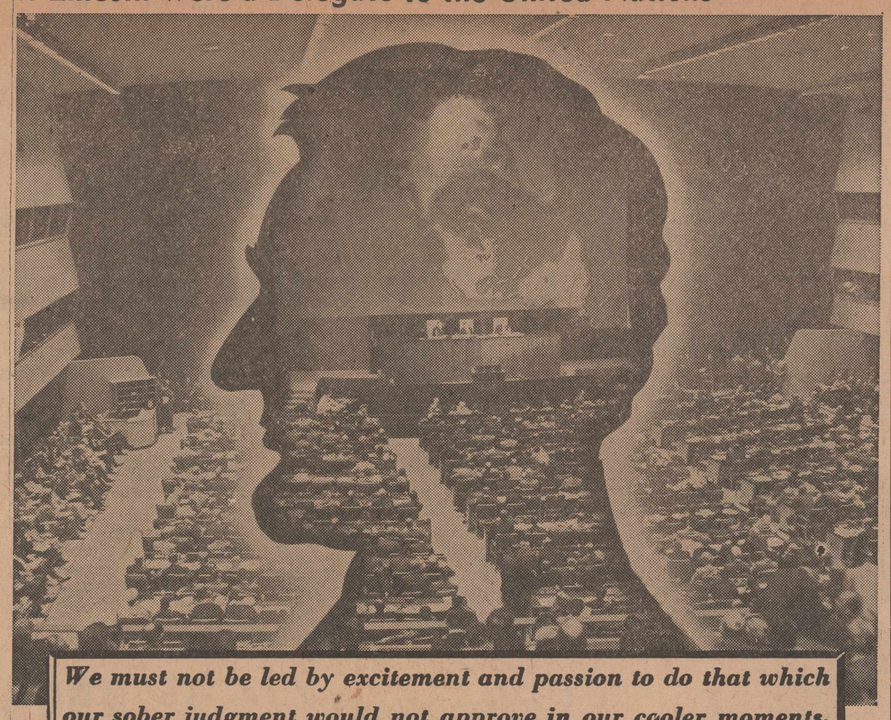

* * *

Here is an interesting sidelight: Bill Godfrey might never have played football if it had not been for Polly O'Neil. On the eve of his departure, Polly sold Bill on the idea that he was the type of an athlete who could play football. Bill had it in his mind that he was good at wrestling and baseball, which he was and that was what he wanted to do. By all records Polly is the man who convinced him that he could do a lot of other things.

* * *

Better make your plans to see "Lone Star" which shows at the Ritz on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday of next week. The feature players are Clark Gable and Ava Gardner and those who have seen it tell me that it is a show that is above the average.

If Lincoln Were a Delegate to the United Nations---

We must not be led by excitement and passion to do that which our sober judgment would not approve in our cooler moments.

--Abraham Lincoln

Early County Settler Dies

A man who came to Collingsworth County 60 years ago, George B. Dunn of Mobeetie, died Friday night, January 25, in a Pampa hospital, following a short illness. He was 85 years old.

Mr. Dunn, with the late Mrs. Dunn, came to this county in 1892, settling in the Needwood community. In 1899 they moved to Mobeetie, where they remained for the rest of their lives.

He engaged in the cattle business and was a stockholder and officer of the First State Bank of Mobeetie. Mr. Dunn was a 32nd Degree Mason, Knight Templar, Scottish Rite, and an active member of the Masonic Lodge.

He was born at Holly Spring, Mo., September 23, 1866.

Survivors include a son, John Dunn of Mobeetie, and a daughter, Mrs. Ernest Lee of Wheeler, and nine grandchildren.

Visiting recently with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Capps were their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Capps and children, Dickie, Nancy and Joe, of Deport.

Cpl. and Mrs. V. L. Vaughan Jr. are the parents of a daughter, Donna Lee, born January 29, in San Antonio and weighing seven pounds and eight ounces. Cpl. Vaughan is stationed at Brooks Field. The baby's relatives here include the paternal grandmother, Mrs Earl Epps, and her maternal grandmother, Mrs. H. T. Sears.

A daughter, Janice Kay, was born February 3, to Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Biter of Wichita Falls. The baby, who is the granddaughter of Mrs. J. L. Hays, weighed five pounds, one and one fourth ounces.

Amarillo visitors with relatives recently were Mr. and Mrs. Dave Walker of the China Grove community.

Mrs. Minnie Gibbs and Letha Mae Gibbs visited Mrs. Gibbs' sister, Mrs. Betty Windham in San Angelo recently and from there went to Ballinger to visit other relatives.

Staff Changes at McMillin Lumber

Herman Harris, an employee of the McMillin Lumber and Building Supply, resigned recently to become assistant manager of the Shamrock Lumber Company in that town.

His place has been taken by Sandy Parsons III.

Mr. Harris began work with the Wooldridge Lumber Company about five and a half years ago, and remained with the firm when Mr. McMillin purchased the business four and a half years ago. He is moving his family to Shamrock.

Mr. Parsons, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sandy Parsons Jr., has been a student in Texas Technological College, where he has completed the first semester of his sophomore work.

Student Librarians Attend Conference At Texas Tech

Student librarians from Wellington high school attended the Teen-Age Conference at Texas Tech Saturday, February 2. The group included Nell Hurst, Delores Ward, Patsy Patton, Mary Stall, Virginia Lacy, LaVena Murdock, Janice Davis, Mary Hagler, Mr. and Mrs. John Justice and Mrs. Tommy Stall.

In addition to attending the student librarians conference, the group visited points on the Texas Tech campus, the city libraries and schools.

The next trip for the group will be another Teen-Age Conference at Dallas March 28 and 29.

Lord Jim Says--

By Bill Hughes

Permit me to introduce my latest competition. Come in Tony.

"What?"

I said come in.

"Hello."

Hello yourself, you feathered jerk; and do you like the Panhandle?

"Hadacol?"

See what I mean, folks. I don't know whatever possessed the boss to inflict that yellow headed, green-feathered, beady-eyed twerp on an otherwise harmonious family. Life sure does possess some puzzlers.

For instance what on earth possesses freedom loving people with an ounce of independence and pride to tolerate anybody telling them whom they can have or cannot have as head man?

What makes 'em believe a politician (incidentally also a human being) when he promises them heaven on earth for nothing. Yet none of 'em would believe his neighbor or best friend if that neighbor or best friend tried to hand 'em fifty bucks just for free and the fun of it.

Take this business of competition, freedom, and individual worth. It created America and a standard of living never equaled before by man. Of course a tremendous store-house of natural wealth was at hand, but so has it been in other places and still exists untouched in the heart of ancient but living people today. But these people have had no freedom, have no individual worth except as fodder for the state that tolerates no competition; and they are poor as church mice in spite of potential wealth.

Certainly, America's wealth of natural resources has been diminishing and its population increasing which eventually puts the squeeze on the standard of living at some point, called the point of free economy becomes critical. At this point ingenuity, science, technocracy, brain power by necessity displaces brawn in importance.

But these are not valid reasons for attempting to strangle competition and replace it with government paternalism which history has shown inevitably destroys every nation that has tried it. These are not valid reasons for abandoning freedom for centralized government dictatorship which just as inevitably has always enslaved the people and destroyed individual identity. These are not valid reasons for embracing socialism, because socialism never has and never will promote, produce, or maintain any such standard of living as we know in America.

Socialism is anti-competition, anti-freedom, and anti-individual determination; and competition is a basic element if not an actual basic law of life.

Since man has never yet changed natural law to suit himself, until he can, he had ought to try to better understand natural law and adapt himself to it rather than to murder himself fighting it.

Hence, what America needs to do is to individually spend time understanding the changes that have taken place and are taking place, not only in his immediate environment, but all around him. He needs to understand what the changes are and what brought 'em about. He needs to do this on his own time and for himself so that he can elect and direct his leadership and not be a tool fooled to support his own down fall.

People have got to understand that the environment which gave reality and morality to the old system of "laissez-faire" has been changed substantially by the very success of the system itself. Hence the changed environment calls for a change in system, but the necessity of change in the system does not call for substituting dishonest non-existing elements for real and honest ones. Rather, it calls for a reorganization, a redistribution, a re-emphasis of the same old elements to produce a new system to meet the advanced needs of an improved environment.

Just in case you think this is all more incomprehensible than Tony, let me put it this way. No sunrise, no sunset, no daylight, no night is exactly alike. The shades and intensity of light, color or lack of same constantly change and vary, but the basic elements are always there — red, blue, yellow and/or the lack of color white and black. The changes in shades and hues do not change or add to the basic elements. The change is made by a different arrangement, a different amount, but always of one or more of the same old tried and true basic elements.

And this ain't no hadacol, either!

Report From Europe

By WILLIAM B. DILLINGHAM
Special Correspondent For The Wellington Leader

Paris (By William B. Dillingham) — Pigelle, the vice section of Paris, is probably the only area in the world about which people have bothered to write books, music and poetry. Although it is not the kind of place the conservative guide tours include on their itineraries (it looks a bit odd listed in with the Cathedral of Notre Dame, the musums and art galleries.) most tourists get around to making at least one visit to the place — even if they don't mention it when returning home.

A crime center dealing in illegal money exchange, narcotic sales, pronographic movie reels, lewd exhibitions and a general black market depot, Pigalle is more popularily noted for it's hundreds (and perhaps thousands) of prostitutes patrolling the streets and packing every nightclub, bar, restaurant and entertainment place.

The center of this area is Place Pigalle from which the famous Rue Pigalle branches off. Three or four blocks in all directions makes up the general section. Within this area a tourist cannot walk down the street without being approached by a "saleman" every few moments. Some of these shady types are agents for exchanging currency on the black market. No matter what kind of money one has — Egyptian, Argentine or South Afarican — these street operators can give you the last minute quotation right off hand. Of course, the operator's idea is to steal as much of the customer's money as possible without actually making any exchange at all. Other agents might be selling pronographic photographs or often an entire reel made up in some enterprising makeshift studio with a few of Pigalle's prostitutes supplying the cast of stars. But probably the most common is the fellow who is just an agent for his "girls friends" from whom he receives a salary.

From an outward appearance Pigalle (English and Americans call it Pig Alley) looks like an amusement center with a few shooting galleries, many bars and night clubs and people selling ice cream and sandwiches in out door stands. Mixed in with all this are a huge number of Arabs who have come up from Casablanca to help run the vice businesses. Then there is added the bulk of the square foot of the area.

These girls range in age and appearance from one extreme to the other. Some obviously have spent their entire lives in the section while others are just beginning their careers. Sometimes the tourist will see a brief quarrel on the street between a "boss" and one of his "girl friends". In these relationships it usually ends up with the fellow becoming very rough and either slapping or punching his sweetheart in the face she responds affectionately embracing him with the feeling "that's my big strong man".

The police are constantly surveying the entire area to keep things from getting out of hand and to pick up wanted criminals who seem to take a fancy to Pigalle. Generally plain clothes men are specially chosen for the Pigalle patrol. They must understand the nature of the figures that make the area famous. It would not be a wise policy on the part of a policeman to interfere with a personal quarrel between one of the girls and her boy-friend-boss. The gendarme, under such a situation, would be under attack from both sides. More than one surprised new policeman on the beat has heard a girl say: "Leave me alone; I like it!"

Palo Duro Canyon A Tourist Meca

Canyon — Palo Duro State Park, "The World's Most Colorful Canyon", was the outstanding tourist mecca in Texas for the trabel year ending August 31, 1951, a compilation of the Texas State Parks Board House Organ "S-Parks" reveals. In the period beginning September 1, 1950, and ending August 31, 1951 there were 6,077 out of state cars registered at the park. There were 22,059 Texas cars and periodic checks reveal that 50 per cent of the Texas cars came from 200 miles or farther. These to all intents and purposes are classified as tourist cars. Paid attendance for the travel year was 105,104.

Extremely bad winter weather and a flood with resulting road damage slowed attendance during the spring months of 1951. However, with the completion of paving on an eight mile stretch of road into the canyon there has been a steady increase in attendance over a comparable period in previous years since June.

Among Texas Parks and historical Shrines San Jose Mission in San Antonio was second in attracting out of state cars with 5061 to its credit. Kerrville State Park with 4983 ranked third.

Palo Duro Canyon also topped Big Bend National Park in attendance by a considerable margin. Big Bend reported an attendance slightly in excess of 82,000 for the travel year.

The attendance by calendar years shows the vaulting popularity of Palo Duro Canyon State Park. In 1948 the attendance was 51,488; in 1949 it was 85,336; in 1950 it was 110,050 and in 1951 indications are the calendar year will show an attendance of close to 125,000 persons.

How "big" should government be?

Lincoln was President at a time when the federal government had to take away from its citizens more rights and liberties than ever before.

But he didn't like it. He believed, with the writers of the Constitution and the Declaration, that our government should protect people's independence, not push people around.

"In all that the people can individually do as well for themselves, government ought not to interfere," Lincoln once said.

Lincoln never let Americans forget that. He kept reminding the nation that the government's vast wartime powers must be only temporary.

He made powerful enemies. For there are always those who want to see the government run things —and run people—permanently.

We have them today. They think up all kinds of reasons why the federal government should take over this or that business, industry, or service. They never say they want socialism. Maybe they don't even realize it. But that's actually what they propose.

Most Americans don't want socialism any more than you do. The job is to recognize it—and halt it—no matter what disguise it wears!

* * *

The people who plan and work for a socialistic U. S. A. know that permanent control of a few key industries and services will give government the power to take over just about everything. One of the key industries that they're trying to take over is electric light and power.

E. Patented Silver Iodide but are not enforcing the patent so that experimentation with the chemical in the atmosphere may go on.

This principal is the same as with natural rainfall. Clouds in the upper atmosphere at 4 degrees F cause moisture to react wth dust particles and other foreign material, forming water droplets and hanging there. The physical fact is that Slver Iodide will act at 25 degrees on down to 4 degrees F then nature takes over. In between which nature will not act and moisture may remain in the atmosphere. It is a question of where the chemical will attract water droplets. Finally making the droplets heavy enough to fall as snow or ice.

The first operation conducted in June 1950, from a practical angle, got results. Three questions are involved;

1. Can Rainfall be increased?
2. Under what conditions can it be done?

These two are left to the Scientists.

3. Expense involved in experimentation. Will results finance the expense in increased production for the producer.

In Horse Heaven, Washington, State, Mr. Harrigan began the experiment with 1000 acres of Wheat land and it was profitable to the extent that in the area involved, three million acres under contract. The practical result was that they doubled the yield per acre. Now Dr. Krick has 300 million acres of land in 17 states and San Salvador under contract.

In Southeastern New Mexico, Mr. Moore ran a successful experiment for a year and a half but last year no moisture in the atmosphere ventured over the area and the rainmakers produced no rain. In a meeting held by Dr. Krick and the Farmers, and Ranchers of the area the contract was renewed for five years.

In another area with a milo production of 16.9 bushels per acre. Production increased the first year to 25 bushels per acre and increased in 1951 to 35 or 36 busels per acre. This area is still under contract and the amount of moisture falling in the area did increase due to the acts of God and or the acts of the Rainmakers of Dr. Krick.

An association, called the Weather Improvement Association was formed, with the National Headquarters at Sterling Colorado, to compare weather and Rain data. They determined from reports of mebers that they were getting smaller drops, more soaking rains, less soil erosion, and a better storm spread in areas under contract than had been previously experienced in the area. Therefore even if the rainfall didn't measure up to normal the results woul dbe better due to less run-off of the water.

Those who are interested in more information may hear Dr.Krick at Mangum, Oklahoma Thursday, February 14, when he speaks at the high school.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Bailey of Proenix, Arizona, are here attending to business and visiting with relatives and friends. The oil test being drilled by Laan-Tex Company northeast of town is on land owned by them. After being in business here for a number of years, Mr. and Mrs. Bailey left in 1936 and have lived at Phoenix since 1942. He is a real estate broker there.

Vagabond Kings Play at Quail Late This Month

The famous Vagabond Kings of Dearborn, Michigan, will play at the Quail gym Tuesday night, February 19. Their opponents will be a group of former college players from the Panhandle and South Plains area.

Some of these players include: Earl Dodd, player-coach, 6'5", Northeast Missouri Teachers College; Jim Cascia, Team Captain, 6'3", Manhattan College, New York; Andy Fowler, 6'4", New York; Paul Lindy, 6'3", Hillsdale College; Ben Saul, 6'0", Columbia University; Lou Black, 5'8", Albion College; Gilbert Riechert, 8'4" Giant from Cleveland, Ohio.

Also an added attraction is Bobby Late, Prairie Troubadour, and his singing guitar who entertains with hillbilly and western songs. His home is Albuquerque, New Mexico.

Coach Earl Dodd has assembled a fine group of former Major League and College All Stars to represent the Vagabonds this year. Jim Cascia, former Manhattan star who played three years with the Philadelphia Spahs as part of the Saperstein Globe Trotter combine, is the new captain of this year's squad. Cascia imitates the great "Goose" Tatum in the ball handling act, which the Vagabonds put on in the pre-game warm-ups.

Benny Saul, another New York product and who rates among the best as a set shot artist, replaces Ross Lundbeck in the line up. Andy Fowler, a 6'4" clever ball handling pivot man, joined the squad early in December when "Pappy Ormond went back to his home town in Decatur, Ill.

Little Lou Black, "JoJo" as he is called by his team mates, continues to catch the fancy of the cheering fans with his clowning antics and clever, sensational dribbling, which puts him in a class by himself as a crowd pleaser. Coach Dodd is always on the lookout for new talent to aid in building the greatest white ball club on the road today.

The admission will be 60 cents for adults and 40 cents for children.

summed up the game.

There was little difference in the playing of the two teams during the first quarter which ended with a 11-11 tie. Then in the second, the Bobcats, paced by fast Perry Morren shot ahead 37 to 18, and in the third at one time they had a 34 point lead on the Rockets.

The Wellington boys picked themselves up during the third, and held the Cats to only a few scores, but it was too late to overcome the big lead Childress had piled up.

In addition to the A team games, Coach McKnight said that the Junior high boys and B team Rockets will play Shamrock there Wednesday, February 6, and a return game will be played here February 13.

The seventh grade team will participate in the Childress Seventh Grade Basketball tournament during this week end.

Colored Section Stages Clean Up Campaign

Residents of the colored section of Wellington have completed a clean-up drive of their part of town, which they initiated and carried out themselves with only a small amount of help from the city, Mayor L. B. Bratten said Tuesday.

The drive was spearheaded by Web Washington, colored leader, and Mr. Simpson, principal of the Booker T. Washington School. These two laid their plan before Mayor Bratten and W. R. Ritter, city sanitarian.

Clean up work was done throughout the flats early this week and two city trucks were assigned for two days to haul away the debris.

"It is remarkable how clean the people of this section were able to get their area in this short time, and the city is indeed proud of them. We hope this will encourage them to keep the area clean from now on," Mayor Bratten said.

A City-Wide Clean-up will be held within a short time, he added.

Rockets Attend District Banquet At Childress Mon.

CHILDRESS — The Texas "Football Coach of the Year for 1951" — Leo (Dutch) Meyer of TCU — said that small colleges which have dropped out of football recently for financial reasons have only themselves to blame for the downfall of the sport at their schools.

Speaking before a football crowd of 400 fans, coaches and players at the annual Childress Quarterback Club banquet, Meyer explained that the small-college plight was brought on by a futile attempt to "keep up with the Joneses" and, he commented, "it was just too fast company."

Meyer, whose Frogs were defeated in the Jan. 1 Cotton Bowl classic by Kentucky, also blasted the critics of football.

He pointed out that, not only is football a game for the "intelligent man," but it is "good training for life later on—and education in itself."

Meyer was the featured attraction on the program which was held in honor of the regional champions Childress Bobcats and the All-District 2A-3 football team.

Awards were presented by Quarterback Club President Aubrey Rogers on behalf of the sponsoring newspapers of the district.

Those All-District griddes honored included 11 from Childress, six from Wellington, four from Memphis and three from Paducah.

Skyrockets included Farrell Kent, Floyd Hood, Hoot Gibson and Vesta Lee Orr. Others going were Maxey McKnight, Donald Briggs, John Lee and Aubrey Frazier of the Wellington coaching staff, and Billie Earl Wallace of The Wellington Leader.

Dodson Juniors Give Murder Mystery Friday

"Drums of Death, a three-act mystery, will be presented by the junior class of Dodson high school Thursday night, February 7, at the high school auditorium, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

Spooks, ghosts and monsters add to the eeriness of a murder mystery, and the juniors are playing the story for all it is worth. Mrs. Floyd Roberts is the director.

The story centers around the disappearance of Mr. Bailey, owner of a deserted house and a magic stone that his enemy "Thompson" is trying to get. Bailey never appears on the stage, but "Thompson" is revealed as one of the highly respectable characters of the play.

The cast includes Edel Bonneau as Gregory Sheldon, manager of the affairs of the missing man; Buddy Cornelius as Jules, the negro servant; Lavanda Hudson as Celeste, a medium who can send her spirit wandering as she wills it; Jimmy Rippetoe as Dr. Cameron; Marilyn Hunt as Mrs. Gellette, sister of the missing Bailey; Mary Bogle as Amelia, her niece; Peggy Tipton as Eugenia, another relative; Chester Lemons as the sheriff; Ferna Faye Royal as Mrs. Oakley, the housekeeper; Nellie Pearl Underwood as Paula Bailey; and Jack Lennon and Eugene Newton as spirits.

Proceeds from the entertainment will go toward financing the junior-senior trip in the spring.

Fire Destroys Epps Furniture

Fire destroyed the furniture of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Epps and the large semi-trailer on which it was loaded recently as they were moving from Wellington to Amarillo to make their home.

The fire occurred near Lelia Lake. The driver of a moving van, who had been behind Mr. Epps from the time he left Wellington, first saw the blaze and signaled to Mr. Epps to stop.

Although they were unable to save any of the furniture, Mr. Epps did save his truck and part of the tires from the trailer.

The loss, including both furniture and trailer, was more than $5,000, Mrs. Epps said. It was partially covered by insurance. The origin of the fire has not been determined.

Mr. and Mrs. Epps have returned here and will remain for the present.

Miss Wallace Weds Clive McClelland in Denton Rites

New Wellington residents are Mr. and Mrs. Clive McClelland, who were married in a ceremony at the Little Chapel-in-the-Wood on the campus of Texas State College for Women, Denton, Wednesday, January 30, shortly after the groom had come to Wellington to become director of the high school band.

The bride is the former Miss Mary Elizabeth Wallace of Jefferson, the daughter of the late Captain and Mrs. Cecil Wallace. The groom's parents are Dr. and Mrs. C. W. McClelland of Brownwood.

Dr Joseph J. Copeland, minister of the First Presbyterian Church, Denton, read the double ring ceremony as the couple stood before an altar decorated greenery, arrangements of white tulips, and lighted tapers in tall candelabra. The wedding was solemnized at three o'clock in the afternoon.

The bride was given in marriage by the Rev. Gordon Collier, assistant minister of the Presbyterian Church, Denton. For her wedding she chose a cream satin dress, fashioned with a fitted bodice featuring an off the shoulder neckline effect, and built up yoke of illusion, a pointed waistline and long fitted sleeves coming to a point over her hands, and closed at the wrist with tiny buttons. The full skirt fell to a chapel length train. Her headdress was a band of satin across her head, with pearls over each ear, and to this was attached the fingertip veil of illusion. She carried a bouquet of white tulips centered with a yellow orchid.

Miss Bettye Jo Bost of Pine Bluff, Ark., was maid of honor. She wore a yellow net dress with strapless bodice, a matching stole and full skirt. Her head dress was of yellow net, similar to that of the bride, accented with ivy. She carried a bouquet of orchid tulips with ivy tips.

Phil Elliott of Fort Worth was best man, while the ushers were Gene Ford of Dayton and Carvel Mills of San Saba.

A reception at 1302 West Oak Street followed.

Miss Marjorie Broughton of Dallas served the wedding cake and Miss Kate Nealey of Brownwood the punch. Miss Magie Sewell of Monahans registered the guests.

Later, the couple left for Wellington to establish their home.

The bride is a graduate of Texarkana high school and will return to Denton in the summer to receive her degree from Texas State College for Women in August.

The groom is a graduate of Brownwood high school and received his bachelor of music degree from North Texas State College at mid-term. He was a member of Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia, honorary music fraternity; and Aces of Collegeland, the college dance orchestra. He also served three years in the United States Navy as a musician second class.

Miss Austin Weds Sergeant Donald Smith Here Saturday

Vows spoken at eight o'clock Saturday morning, February 2, at the First Baptist Church united in marriage Miss Zo Dell Austin and Sgt. Donald R. Smith of Sheppard Field, Wichita Falls. The bride's brother, the Rev. Tommy Austin of Duncanville, officiated at the double ring ceremony, while the Rev. Howard Jones, pastor, gave the closing prayer.

Parents of the young couple are G. T. Austin and the late Mrs. Austin, and Mrs. Effie M. Smith of Greencastle, Indiana.

For the recitation of their vows, the couple stood before an altar banked with greenery, while the altar steps were covered in white satin. Cathedral tapers in double candelabra provided the only light for the setting.

Wedding music was provided by Benny Karnes, North Texas State College, Denton, organist, who played as a pre-nuptial concert "White Orchids Wedding Prelude," "Because," "I Love You Truly," and "Venetian Love Song." The traditional wedding marches were used. The violin soloist, S-Sgt. Chester Newland of Kansas City, Kansas, played "Indian Love Call," "Dreams of Love," and "Tramauri," and at the end of the ceremony Miss Carlene Anthony of Denton sang "Saviour. Like a Shepherd Lead Us."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory slipper satin, which she had designed and made. It was fashioned with a fitted bodice and Queen Ann collar, covered with Italian lace and embroidered with scattered seed pearls. The long sleeves came to a point over her hands and tiny self-covered buttons extended down the front of the bodice. The full skirt was ballerina length. The tiny half-hat was covered with Italian lace and seed pearls, and held the finger-tip lace veil.

She carried a white Bible topped with a purple throated white orchid, from which fell white satin streamers, tied with stephanotis.

As "something old" the bride wore the wide gold wedding band belonging to the groom's mother, and her "something borrowed" were diamond earrings belonging to her sister, Mrs. Roy Watkins of Amarillo.

Maid of honor was Miss Sue Bynum of Amarillo, niece of the bride. She wore a mint green taffeta dress, styled with a fitted bodice and Queen Ann collar. The ballerina length skirt had an overskirt of ivory marquisette, and this material was duplicated in her short veil. She carried a bouquet of salmon rosebuds.

Cpl. John Collett of Concord, N. C. was best man, while Tommy Wood, Joe Lynn Moore and Rogers Melton were ushers. Lighting the candles was Mrs. Gaston Williams, who wore a rose knit dress with green accessories. Her corsage was of cream colored gladiolus. Four year old Carla Sue Choate, great niece of the bride, was ring bearer, carrying the rings on an ivory satin pillow.

For the ceremony, the bride's aunt, Mrs. L. A. Moore, wore a black dress with black accessories and a corsage of pink carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the church parlors. The bride's table was centered with a heart of floral foam, holding a miniature bride and groom, and outlined with pink flowers and greenery. Pink satin streamers extending from each side of the heart had printed in gold "Zo Dell" and "Donald."

After the bride and groom had cut the first slice of the three tiered wedding cake, a gift to the bride from Mrs. Frank Thomas," the guests were served by Mrs. Roy Watkins of Amarillo, while Mrs. Arthur Dakil presided at the silver coffee service.

Mrs. H. L. Duncan, cousin of the bride, registered the guests. Mrs. Robert Cole of Wichita Falls, Mrs. Ed Cherry of Big Spring and Mrs. Ray Slatton of Olton assisted at the reception.

As the couple left for Wichita Falls, where they will make their home, the bride was wearing an aqua shantung taffeta dress with black and winter-white accessories. Her corsage was the orchid from her wedding bouquet.

The bride, who was reared at Wellington, is a graduate of high school here and attended Wayland College, Plainview, and North Texas State College, Denton. She is now enrolled in Midwestern University, Wichita Falls.

While a student at Wayland, she worked in the speech department and was Freshman Queen. At Denton she was assistant organist of Grace Temple Baptist Church, and a member of the staff of Radio Station KOED, North Texas State College. She was also active in the BSU of Grace Temple Church.

She formerly was employed by the Southwestern Associated Telephone Company here, was organist of the First Baptist, and was sweetheart of the Lions Club.

The groom is a graduate of Greencastle, Indiana, high school and Spartan School of Aeronautics, Tulsa, Okla. He is now an instructor in the B-36 Branch at Sheppard Air Force Base. At Wichita Falls he is also active in the work of the Lamar Baptist Church, serving as counselor of the Royal Ambassadors, and working with the Youth for Christ in that city.

Sgt. and Mrs. Smith are making their home at 1500 North 9th St., Wichita Falls.

Practical New Fashions for Today's Housewife

Versatile Dresses for the Busy Homemaker at a Moderate Price

BY EDNA MILES

CLOTHES that are designed especially for the housewife aren't easy to come by. Ideally, fashions for housework should combine good looks with practicality, washability and a moderate price.

They should also be versatile. That is, they should be pretty enough to put in an appearance at the front door, to go to market, to go out for a walk looking neat. They should, in addition, be easy to put on and take off. The housewife's time has many demands on it and fussy clothes that are complicated to don aren't for her.

With the requirements of a busy housewife well in mind, one house has come up with new designs meant especially for her. One, in a turquoise embroidery-designed woven chambray, has a zippered front, tailored collar and full, flared skirt. Belt ties in a neat front bow and there are large pockets set in at each side of the skirt.

Another of these Nali-Bee designs is in a domino pattern, with stripes worked in deep V's. A single waist button, the only fastening, makes it possible to don this dress in a matter of seconds. And, even after many launderings, the set-in waistband can't stretch. It's done in a clear lime woven chambray.

Easy to slip into and easy to iron, this coat-dress fastens with a single waist button. The pattern is domino in deep V stripes.

This woven chambray with zippered front is designed especially for the housewife. Deep pockets are set in at each side.

The Aim Toward More Effective Rainfall Distribution

By BILL HUGHES

Representatives from nine counties; Kiowa, Greer, Jackson, Harmon, Tillman, Donley, Hall, Childress and Collingsworth somewhere between 75 and 100 persons met in the LaVista Theatre Hollis, Oklahoma, Thursday, January 31, 1952 at 2:00 P. M. The purpose was to explain the Water Resources Development movement offered by Irving P. Krick, Meteorlogical Consultant and his associates; and to find out of the people of this area covered by these counties in particular and others in general would be interested in trying a new method of increasing the amount and greater effectiveness of water from the oldest source, the clouds.

Although commonly known as "rain makers" this is not their claim nor what they attempt to do. They are simply attempting to better understand God's reservior of moisture, the laws governing it and by doing so build a vehicle by which man can better utilize what God has created and put in the sky for him to find and to use.

It is unnecessary and indeed beyond my ability to explain in detail and technically what they have learned and how exactly they have put their knowledge to work. There are still many who do not understand fully what makes or just how a car runs or an airplane flys. Yet none question that there is an auto and plane, that they do run and will fly and are useful. Thus, these people only desire to be allowed to show us their vehicle which like the horseless buggy in its first stages, tho balky, not always reliable, and sometimes inconsistant, nevertheless, can run and can be of tremendous value to man even in its infancy. That we do not understand it, that they cannot yet prove it scientifically is not so important if after their work is done our yield per acre is increased to as much as doubled, as it has been in cases of some who have already tried it and who will so testify.

Irving P. Krick is nationally known and one of the very top men in his field of knowledge. He is no humbug practicing black magic. He makes no wild claims but bases the continuance of his efforts and his work not on whether he can prove or disprove increased rainfall which only time and cumulative evidence will scientifically permit, but he bases his appeal on the tangible results of increased yield in areas where he has been hired to work a reasonable length of time. Usually a year.

Since experience has proven greatest success working on major weather movements, they prefer to work in whole areas rather than in isolated sections. A block of 4 to 10 million acres being their goal. In addition to greater chance of success, these blocks of large areas permit the price to the individual of 1c per acre if there is 100 per cent participation. If only 50 per cent participation the cost per acre rises to 2c and so on.

The total cost for Collingsworth County to join these eight other counties will be $5700. for a one year contract.

The first step is to organize a non-profit corporation and secure enough members who will put up the cash in escrow to underwrite the $5700. Then apply for a non-profit corportion charter, elect three directors to represent Collingsworth County on the area board of directors, who iron out problems and differences rising out of local need. The money is held in escrow and on the provision that it will be returned to the individual if the joint nine county venture fails to develop.

A Code of Living

In these days when the evidence points to a widespread weakening of the American moral fibre, with major crimes climbing faster even than the increase in population, it is encouraging to note that a great moral force in America is growing even stronger.

The Boy Scouts of America celebrates its 42nd birthday during Boy Scout Week, February 6 through 12. It is an occasion when we can pause and consider its mark on the youth of the nation. Since 1910, more than nineteen million American boys and men have been influenced by this Scout Oath:

"On my honor I will do my best —
To do my duty to God and my country, and to obey the Scout Law.
To help other people at all times.
To keep myself physically strong, mentally awake, and morally straight."

For its young men members, known as Explorers, the Boy Scouts of America has this dedication pledge, which could well be adopted by all Americans:

"I will live the Scout Oath and Law. I will be familiar with the Declaration of Independence, the Constitution, and the Bill of Rights of the United States of America. I will respect and obey the law in order to have security and freedom.

"I will share the responsibility of my home ,school, church, neighborhood, and community; and when legally of age, I will register and vote in all elections. I will deal fairly and kindly with my fellow-citizens of whatever race or creed, in the spirit of the Scout Law and America's tradition of equality of opportunity.

"I will work to preserve our American heritage of liberty and responsibility. I acknowledge that the privileges we enjoy were won by the hard work, and sacrifices, faith and clear thinking of our forefathers. I will do all in my power to pass on a better America to the next generation."

The Buck Creek Philosopher

Editor's note. The Buck Creek Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Buck Creek is worrying again, his letter this week reveals.

Dear editar:

I have been noticin lately the trouble some prospective candidates for various offices have been havin in makin up their minds, from president on down, some of em sayin they already know but ain't gonna tell, others sayin they just can't reach a decision. I can appreciate the latter, as I feel the same way every year about my farmin activities, I just can't reach a decision, and frequently by the time I get my mind fully made up it's too late to plant.

But about the best case of indecision I've noticed is by a prospective candidate who says he will run for Senator if the people of the state contribute $150,000 to his campaign fund.

I will go him one better. If the people of Texas will contribute $150,000 to me, I believe I'd be willin to forget any political aspirations, of which I have none, and settle down to a steady life of farmin, especially since it would be necessary to serve in the U. S. Senate at least 10 years to even gross $150,000.

As a matter of fact, I do not understand a lot of things about politics. For example, the opponents of Senator Taft claimed he'd spent 5 million dollars in his last race for the Senate up in Ohio, but he said that was nonsense. the race had cost only about $700,000 all told, which means he'll have to serve 46 years to ever gross that much at the goin salary of $15,000 a year, just to break even.

But I ain't singlin out any one person or party. Take nearly any office, north or south, outside of public weigher and justice of the peace and a few court house jobs. There probably ain't a major race to be run this political year where the candidate or his friends won't spend ten to one thousand times as much gettin elected as the office pays.

I do not understand this. I can understand how a man can farm year after year and go in the hole every time, because I have done it for fear, am probably doin it right now, but how a man can want to serve so bad he'll pay ten times what the office pays to get elected, has always been a source of great puzzlement to me. You mean to say politicians are as dumb as us farmers? I don't believe it.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Good Shepherd Sacrifices for His Flock

Probably the most familiar and most popular of passages from the Old Testament is the 23rd Psalm — "The Shepherd Psalm."

The Psalm draws an ideal of joyful and beautiful living "in green pastures . . . beside the still waters." It is a message of consolation in the sadness of death. "Yea though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil."

When Jesus spoke of Himself as the Good Shepherd all who listened understood that He was identifying Himself with the Lord of the 23rd Psalm. Some accepted His words; others thought Him blasphemous.

Did any of them, believers or unbelievers, notice that Jesus had added something to the original Psalm? He referred to the sacrifice of the Good Shepherd himself. "The good shepherd giveth his life for the sheep."

He added, "I am the good shepherd." And in those words He predicted that He would sacrifice His life for His flock, the human race.

Though it seems bewildering, a law of sacrifice governs life. It is an unexplained mystery, but it was the law of the Good Shepherd and it should be the law of our lives if we would emulate Him.

Ours need not be a sacrifiie made on the cross, nor need it be a sacrifice of blood. Above all, it must be a sacrifice of devotion if we are to justify what so many others have done and given so that we may live. That is the challenge of the Good Shepherd who laid down His life to purge the world of evil with His blood so that His flock might live in peace.

Looking Ahead With George S. Benson

THE POWER OF YOUR VOTE

One morning in 1844, a grain miller is De Kalb county, Indiana, was walking toward his mill. It was election day but he had work to do that would keep him busy all day and he had decided to forego casting his ballot. Before he reached his mill, however, he was stopped by friends who persuaded him to go to the polls. It so happened that the winning candidate for the De Kalb county position in the Indiana Legislature won by just one vote — and the miller had voted for him.

When the Indiana Legislature convened the De Kalb man cast the deciding vote that sent Edward Allen Hannegan to the United States Senate. (Until 1912, the legislatures elected U. S. Senators.) And then in the U. S. Senate the question of Statehood for Texas came up for vote. The result was a tie vote. But Senator Hannegan, who was presiding as "President pro tempore" of the Senate, cast the deciding vote, from the chair, in favor of admitting Texas.

IN 1948 TOO

These incidents clearly demonstrate the potential power of a single vote. The miller's act of voting affected the destiny of the whole state of Texas. What happened in the last presidential election in Ohio is another illustration. Ohio's 25 electoral votes went to the successful presidential candidate in 1948 by so slim a margin that a single additional vote in each of Ohio's voting precincts could have reversed that result. One single person who didn't vote in each voting precinct thus had the power to change the political destiny of Ohio, and it might well have affected the destiny of the nation or even the world.

In that 1948 presidential election only half the American people of voting age voted — 48,000,000 out of a possible 95.000,000. The percentage of people who vote regularly in all elections — local, state and national — is drastically lower; only 20 per cent, or one out of every five of the eligible, vote regularly.

GET-OUT-THE-VOTE "TOOL"

These and other equally challenging facts are presented in a new Harding College "flannel-board" presentation entitled "The Power of Your Vote." The purpose of this new illustrated talk is to get more people to vote and to assist all voters to become intelligent voters in their measuring of candidates and issues. It is the third of a Harding College series designed to develop a better informed and more responsible citizenry throughout the nation.

More than 2,000 "flannel-board" speakers scattered through the 48 states, including clergymen, industrial training directors, civic club members, club women, labor union stewards, teachers, etc., have been giving these "flannel-board" talks. Since the recent public announcement of "The Power of Your Vote" a great many local organizations have begun to use it, several national organizations are advocating it as a "tool" to get out the vote. It is non-partisan. It is developed in the Harding College Freedom Forums, with a number of people working together on it.

HONORING THE VOTERS

Probably the most appealing feature of "The Power of Your Vote" is the suggestion of a "Tag Day" on all election days. Each citizen who votes would wear a little red-white-and-blue lapel tag bearing the challenge: "I Have Voted! Have You?" Those who didn't vote would thus be conspicuous and feel very "sheepish." Some local group — a woman's club, patriotic society, chamber of commerce or other civic club — could sponsor "Tag Day" whenever an election is held, local, state or national. Newspapers would cooperate with helpful publicity. The tags would be given out at the polling places after each citizen voted.

Anything that will stimulate more people to vote and to want to know more about candidates and issues would be worth trying. The act of voting, and voting inteligently, is the most important single responsibility of American citizenship. The surest way we have of improving the character and usefulness of our government, on all levels, is for every citizen to inform himself on the issues and candidates and vote on the basis of what's best for the community, state and nation.

Additional information on "The Power of Your Vote" may be obtained by addressing a request to me at Harding College, Searcy, Arkansas.

This Is Your Junior High School

STUDENTS OF 7TH GRADE CLASS TELL OF ONE DAY'S ACTIVITIES

(In order that school patrons, particularly parents of junior high school students, may know better the day to day activities of their boys and girls, Principal Lee Plante is directing a series of articles, the first of which is given here. The students themselves wrote the article. Similar articles will appear from other junior high classes during the coming weeks.)

By STUDENTS OF 7-1

We began classes in Junior High at 8:45. Our home room period ended at 9:00. We played 20 questions, which were related to science.

At 9:00 o'clock Lee Plante, principal, made an announcement over the inter-communication system telling us to keep our basements clean. We had a class meeting and elected two representatives. The two elected were Wanda Shinn and Denzil Lacy. They are to report on the cleanliness of the basements. The committee consisted of two representatives from each section, and they will report on the basements once a week. At the end of the week, they will decide whose basement was the cleanest; the boys or the girls.

At 9:10 we went on with our math project. It started last week when the class drew floor plans. Today, we had discussions on the three phases of homes. Sonja Stall interested the class by showing a miniature home that was overcrowded. Sallie Murphy, Mary Beth Kelso, and Elizabeth Hurst brought colored pictures on the furnishing of the home. Jo Ann Whitten, Bonnie Duke, Sandra Smith and Nina Harrison gave an interesting talk on the size of homes. A. C. Gray, Clyde Powell, and Don Crawford gave a discussion on the location of homes. Donald Branch, James Lee, and Roy Gene Moxly gave interesting talks on types of homes. At 10:10 Mr. Clement showed us a new science book that tells of science long ago and today, and our eyes "bugged out" when we saw that two objects of different weight yet same material fell at the same rate of speed. At 10:25 the bell rang and we went to P. E., clubs and library class.

At 10:30 the girls in 7-1 start their P. E. class. Today we had physical education and clubs. Clubs is where we are in different groups to sew, paint, stencil, and other things. In physical education we have just started a new schedule. Miss Lile handed out the rules for basketball, volleyball, and softball. We have formed separate teams of softball and baskteball and we learn the rules when we play the games.

At 10:30 the boys start their P. E., clubs and library class. Today we had football and library. We went to the football field and played football for 45 minutes. Two people chose about 17 boys on each side. Neither side scored but we had plenty of fun. In library we checked out and read library books and magazines. Four boys taught the girls how to braid plastic.

The afternoon classes began at 12:35 p.m. This afternoon we decided to have a panel discussion and use the wire recorder. We recorded reports on Louisa May Alcott and her "Little Women." The reports were given by Gwendolyn Davis, Mary Beth Kelso, Barbara Hackler, and Jo Ann Whitten. Emma Abney told why she liked "Little Women." Sallie Jo Murphy, Sonja Stall, and Sandra Smith told a chapter from the book "Little Women" in their own words. We played the recording and found our discussion had not recorded since the wire was old. Our class decided to use some of the money from our class treasury to buy a wire to be used only by us. For spelling class, we copied words from our readers. This was also used for our penmanship class. Stretch period was from 2:30 until 2:35. For English class, Denzil Lacy, Glenda Epps, Elizabeth Hurst, Wilma Dennis, Roy Gene Moxley, Don Crawford, and Glenda Anglin read the poem "Hiawatha" chose the verbs and told what tense each was in. After our assignment the bell rang ending our day.

Panhandle Area Farming Improves

COLLEGE STATION — Panhandle farmers made excellent use of wheat land this year for growing grain sorghums, points out Knox Parr, district Extension agent at Amarillo.

Wheat has been the one crop in this area for more than 10 years. However, extremely low wheat yields were produced in 1950 and 1951 because of the disastrous effect of drouth, severe cold, insects and disease. Wheat farmers turned to grain sorghum as a crop for their bare land.

In 1951 approximately 65 per cent of the wheat land in the area was planted to grain sorghums. Hansford and Ochiltree counties each planted approximately 225,000 acres to grain sorghums. Moore county produced 5,000 tons of sorghum silage. Similar situations existed in many other counties.

Farmers used the same machinery for planting sorghum they used for wheat. When the crop matured, they harvested it with wheat machinery, stored it in wheat elevators and sold it to wheat buyers.

"This is a big change, which probably will remain with us and help stabilize agriculture in the Plains area," says Parr. "Farmers with more than one crop to depend upon are a much better financial risk."

He points out that wheat and grain sorghums are planted and harvested in different seasons, which eases the farm labor situation to a certain extent.

The development of a livestock feeding program is another change which Parr thinks might take place as a result of growing grain sorghums in the area. Grain sorghums or sweet sorghum silage can replace wheat pasture when cattle have to be taken off wheat pasture for any reason.

Parr reports that grain sorghum yields on dry land in 1951 probably averaged better than 20 bushels per acre, with some around 70 bushels. In irrigated areas yields ranged up to 100 bushels per acre.

An appreciable number of wheat farmers are now planning to plant one-third or more of their land to grain sorghums each year, says Parr. Grain sorghum stubble is good insurance against the blow hazard during winter months.

Record Number of Bob White Wings

AUSTIN — The Director of Wildlife Restoration for the Texas Game and Fish Commission reported the receipt of a record number of bob white quail wings during the 1951-52 season.

The total has not been tabulated and will no be known until next month when wildlife diogists assemble at San Marcos to study the wings.

The Directors said the wings for the season are fairly representative of th entire state but that the greatest number was received from the Panhandle and from Southeast Texas.

He attributed the splendid return to the "better cooperative attitude of sportsman and of the fine help from newspapers and radio stations in informing hunters how they could help scientific studies by forwarding the quail wings."

The subject of sportsmen-biologist teamwork in gathering and studying the wings is covered in an article in the Januray issue of TEXAS GAME AND FISH magazine.

This article breaks down the results of the 1950-51 season studies and indicates the benefits of this teamwork toward "advancing studies of breeding, feeding and migration habits."

The Director of Wildlife Restoration points out in the magazine that quail wing feathers tell the approximate age of the birds. He adds that acquiring sex and age data on a good sample of birds from a locality indicate rather definitely the extent of hatch and survival for the year.

Mr. and Mrs. Grady Cochran and three of their children spent the past two weeks at Brilliant, Alabama visiting another daughter, Mrs. Troy McDuff.

Extension Service Helps Women in 181 Counties

COLLEGE STATION — More than 41,000 organized Texas rural women in 185 counties had opportunity to study and use homemaking information originating with the A. & M. College Extension Service. This information was provided by county home demonstration agents to the 41,282 members of 2,317 community home demonstration clubs who in turn gave it to 344,753 other families. Clubs meet 12 to 24 times yearly for practical demonstrations of homemaking methods and discussion of current topics.

The rural women, through 181 county home demonstration councils in the state, advised with home demonstration agents in planning their programs, carrying homemaking information to non-club members, and learning how to function in organizations to get homemaking information. At the same time they headed public support, financial and otherwise, for Extension work in counties. An example was obtaining salary increases for home demonstration work in six of the 18 counties in one Extension district largely through the vigorous cooperation of councils.

Subject matter leaders who attended 2,983 training meetings during the year repeated the training at 15,446 meetings of local home demonstration clubs. Six hundred and forty five of the training meetings were to prepare leaders to work in organized groups.

Club women also appreciate their responsibility as citizens. In Cameron County, for instance, each club had a program on cancer control. A surgeon addressed a group of members, and a pamphlet, "What You Should Know About Cancer", in Spanish text was distributed through clubs in Latin American families. Club members contributed $360 to furnish a nursery in the Fisher County Hospital and in addition gave a full set of linen and accessories.

In 1950 the Texas Home Demonstration Association, with which all home demonstration clubs are federated, increased the scholarship awarded yearly to a 4-H Club girl from $300 to $500 and added a second scholarship in like amount. The awards went to Beverly Runnells of Brazoria County and Betty Jean Blackerby of Grayson County. The two former 4-H members are in college and majoring in home economics. To assist in developing their programs, the Association held one state and 14 district meetings during the year. Meanwhile, 19 members attended the annual convention of the National Home Demonstration Council at Biloxi, Mississippi.

According to Bonnie Cox, Extension Service organization specialist, rural women have developed interests and latent talents through home demonstration club activities. Twelve counties have formed choral groups. While these choruses are popular on programs their real value to the women is the pleasure they get from singing together. She explains, too, that the program of the work of the Texas Home Demonstration Association is designed to strengthen home and community activity, and complements that of the Extension Service.

Miss Cook to Norwood Faculty

Miss Dolly Cook, who came to this county from Arkadelphia, Arkansas, began work recently as homemaking teacher of the Samnorwood school, Orville Cunningham, superintendent, has announced.

Miss Cook had been attending Arkadelphia College in that city.

Reared in Texas, she has taught school for two years and had three years with the Extension Service in this state.

Miss Loretta Barnett was home from West Texas State College at Canyon this week end. She was visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cortez Barnett from Dozier.

Farm Records A Big Help in Many Ways

COLLEGE STATION — Farm records are a big aid to farmers in many ways. They are a must for figuring income tax returns and should be the basis for changing practices and cropping systems on the farm.

The present economic situation calls for expert management and the use of practices that will lead to more efficient production on the farms of the state, says John G. McHaney, economist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, and farm records can be used to find the weak points in present operating plans.

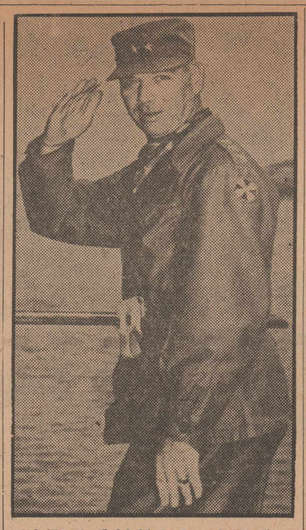

Farm records, he continues, are a kind of mirror. They reflect for study the year's business. And, too, records will show what farm enterprises should be expanded or curtailed. Cost of production figures on the various crops and livestock grown on the farm may reveal that operations now considered minor should be expanded so as to more fully utilize the equipment and labor available.

When it comes to getting credit, farm records will reveal for representatives of loan agencies the productive capacity of the farm and a list of the assets, in inventory form, located on the farm. Records also indicate that the farm is being operated on a business-like basis.

McHaney says many good farm record books are available but he especially likes the one that has been prepared by the economists and farm management specialists of the Texas A. & M. College System. The Texas Farm Record Book was designed especially for Texas conditions. It contains inventories for land, farm improvements, machinery and equipment, livestock, crops and feeds on hand, farm sales and expenses, farm products used at home, and a summary of the year's farm business.

Inventories, says McHaney, are check-ups on what a farmer owns at the start and finish of each year. Farmers who prepare income tax statements — and that gets nearly everybody — often find deductions not previously claimed after keeping records that include inventories.

Complete and accurate farm records can be had points out McHaney, if only a few minutes each day are devoted to record keeping. He says local county Extension agents can supply information on how to order the Texas Farm Record Book or it may be bought direct from the Exchange Store, College Station, Texas.

Eagles, Eaglettes Down Hollis Teams

Samnorwood Eagles and Eaglettes won a double header over the Hollis, Okla., Tigers and Tigerettes in a recent game on the Norwood Court, with the boys taking a 41 to 22 victory and the girls winning 36 to 21.

Lawrence Overcast and Billy Alexander tied for high point place for the Eagles, with 13 each, and Charles Dougherty added 11 more points. These three were on the all district team this year, and fans never know which one is going to be high point man, for they all score against anybody's team.

Meeks of Hollis was high point man of the game with 14 points.

Hollis lead until just before the half-time, then Samnorwood took over in their style that never leaves any doubt who is going to win.

The Eaglettes avenged a defeat handed them by Hollis 31 to 26, three weeks ago, and in this game showed themselves the best team from beginning to end.

Bonnie Kidwell was high scorer with 26 points. One of the outstanding scorers of the 2-B district, she has a game average of approximately 22 points. High scorer for Hollis was Castle, with 11 points.

District Scout Leaders Plan 1952 Operations

The first 1952 meeting of the Southern District Executive Committee was held at Jay's Drive Inn, Wellington, last Thursday night, January 31, to organize for the year, and lay plans for operation. D. E. Scott, District Chairman, presided.

In attendance were the Chairmen of five of the six Operating Committees, the District Commissioner, Eli Smith of Shamrock, District Executive John H. Pound, and Adobe Walls Council Scout Executive, Paul L. Beisenherz. Chairmen of the Operating Committees for the Southern District for 1952 are: Dr. Tom R. Hunter, Wellington, Health & Safety Chairman; Henry Sullivan, Wellington, Camping and Activities Chairman, Grainger McIlhany, Wheeler, Organization and Extension Chairman; Gerald Mayfield, Shamrock, Leadership Training Chairman; Jimmy Faulkner, Clarendon, Finance Chairman; and Guy Wright, Clarendon, Advancement Chairman.

Discussions were held concerning the job of each of the six Operating Committees, the manpower needed on each Committee to give the program of Scouting to the boys of the District, the present condition of the District, and tentative plans for activities of each Committee for 1952.

The Executive Committee set the date for their regular meeting as the last Thursday of each month, and decided that the next meeting would be a meeting of the complete District Committee to be held in Wellington, Thursday, February 28.

Kill Skunks To Fight Rabies

AUSTIN — Texas farmers and ranchers in the Red River Valley region and in Southwest and Central Texas have been warned to begin killing skunks lost of them before cold weather brings an increase in rabies cases.

The grim warning is contained in an animal morbidity report complied by the State Department of Health. The idea is to pin point rabies infected areas as warning to people in adjacent areas.

State Health Officer W. Cox said Texas had areas "bigger than most states" which are completely free of rabies.

"From now on we're going to call our shots by county of occurrence. It isn't going to be 'Texas rabies' any more." The health official declared.

"Livestock owners should have active skunk killing programs, especially in the Red River Valley area, when winter approaches and skunks hole up with livestock in dilapidated barns," the report cautioned.

Current focal points of skunk rabies are, the report indicated, in Harris, Matagorda, Fort Ben, and Lavaca Counties. Another focus exhists in the region of Comal and Hays Counties, and in Central Tex. in Travis, Bell, Lampassas, and McLennon Counties.

"The trend is eastward in Central Texas," the report said.

Titus and Hopkins, an area hit hard last year, continues to have a serious problem, causing health officials to caution livestockmen in the eastern part of the Red River Valley to be especially vigilant against skunk invasion of barns and outhouses.

The rabies morbidity report is something new in disease control. Modeled after the method used to keep tab on cases of human communicable disease, it is part of the general protection the state health agency is providing.

For July the report shows: 77 dogs, 6 foxes, 6 cats, 4 skunks, 4 calves, 3 pigs, 2 civil cats, and 1 cow were diagnosed as rabid at the state Bureau of Laboratories.

Bexar and Harris Counties were hardest hit during July. Each report came one of dog rabies each day of the month.

Many 18-Year-Olds Fail to Register Under Draft Law

AUSTIN, Texas, August 18., the number of 18-year-old Texans failing to register under the federal draft law is increasing, Brig. Gen., Paul L. Wakefield, state Selective director, said here today.

State draft headquarters records indicate that registration has been falling off since the end of March. General Wakefield esimated that 2,000 to 2,500 18-year-olds currently are unregistered.

We're been watching this situation closely since late spring with the hope that the trend would stop." the state draft director said. "We're asked the local draft boards to act under a provision of the regulations whereby a letter will be sent to men in their communities suspected of being delinquent under the law."

General Wakefield reminded males subject to registration of penalties if convicted of failure to comply with the law. He quoted from a section of the law providing maximum penalities of fine up to $10,000 and imprisonment up to five years.

Under the draft act, all 18-year old males are required to register with the nearest draft board on their 18th birthday or within five days thereafter.

"It's up to local boards weather or not they want to turn any man over to federal district atorneys for prosecution," the state Selective Service director said. "Our board members are patient, considerate men, and usually give a man better than a fair chance, if he's willing to co-operate.

"If the registration record doesn't improve within the next two or three months, we're going to advise the boards to be a little tougher than in the past. After all, the man who doesn't register on time isn't pulling his share of the load our people are carrying. He isn't being fair to the man who does register on time.

"A man is dealing fairly with his neighbor if he obeys the law just as they do. We hope parents and public-spirited citizens will keep 18-year-old men reminded of their responsibilities under the law," General Wakefield concluded.

Carl Akeley, the American explorer, was buried on Mount Mikeno in Belgian Cong, Africa.

Texas Motorists Hike Gas Tab By $222,500,000

Impatience, negligence and incompetence — the three cardinal sins of the gasoline wastrel are costing Texas motorists more than $222,500,000 annually or about $87 for each vehicle owner, according to a recently published study by one of America's topflight automobile engineers.

After a series of controlled mileage tests lasting more than a year, Delmar G. Roos, former president of the society of Automotive Engineers, has concluded that the average motorist gets less than half the motoring miles he should out of a gallon of gasoline.

The primary causes of gasoline wastage says Mr. Roos, who is also vice-president of Willys-Overland Motors, are speed, mechanical negligence and sloppy driving habits.

"Speed alone cuts milage almost in half," Mr. Ross says. "In rigidly controlled tests over a measured mile, a Willys station wagon consistently averaged 31 mile per gallon at 30 miles an hour. However, at 60 miles an hour, milage was cut considerably.

Heading a list of mechanical sins lumped in Mr. Roos' study under "negligence" are faulty spark setting, cylinder compression and tire pressures. Each of these factors cut gasoline efficiency between three and six per cent and costs the motorist between one and two cents extra for each mile he drives.

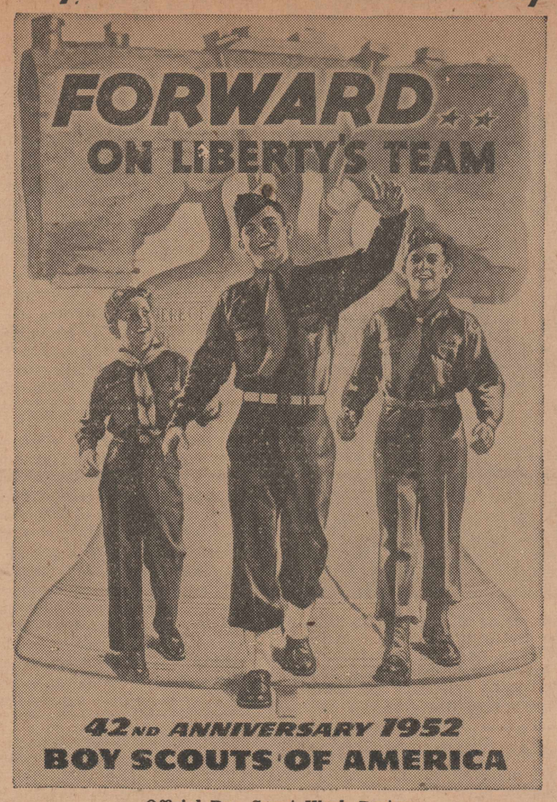

"Tire pressure is a good example of the high price of carelessness," Mr. Roos says. "When tire pressure were four pounds lower than they should be, the station wagon averaged one mile less per gallon of gas. At average gasoline prices this bit of carelessness alone would cost the motorist more than a penny a mile.

Other common mechanical faults affecting feul milage are dirty air filters, dragging brakes and improper wheel alignment.

"As for driving habits," Mr. Roos declares, "the two worst gas wasters outside of habitual speeding are jack rabbit starts and quick stops. Violent pressure on the accelerator squirt gasoline into the cylinders faster than it can be used efficiently, while sudden stops waste momentum already built up by expensive fuel, in addition to wearing out brake linings."

Mr. Roos' figures on gasoline wastage in Texas were based on current gasoline prices in the state. number of miles "got" per gallon of gas by the average motorist and the latest available state-wide mileage figures released by the National Safety Council.

University Loan Library Available To All Residents

AUSTIN — The University of Texas Package Loan Library, largest of its kind in the U. S., circulated during the last fiscal year 31,854 package libraries of material on topics of current interest.

Collections of pamphlets, bulletins, reports and articles provided through this service bring the library "as close as the mail box to every man, woman and child in Texas," the annual report pointed out.

"It provides a library for the schools and communities that are unable to provide one for themselves," the report continued, "and it increases the resources of the small libraries in the State by making available to them the vast collection of material which has been collected, classified and indexed through the years this library has been in operation."

Now 37 years old, the Package Loan Library is one of five Division of Extension bureaus. Schools were the primary users of the service last year, borrowing 11,972 package libraries, or 38 per cent of the total. Women's clubs were second with 11,914, and other libraries accounted for 6,273. The remaining 1,695 libraries were used by civic organizations, county agents, Parent-Teacher Associations and individuals.

During the year, 248 counties used the Bureau's services — all except Borden, Kenedy, Loving, Real, Somervell and Zapata. Miss Imogene Thompson, director, said special efforts will be made this year to reach every county in the State.

Social Security Man Here Feb. 13

Regularly employed farm workers, and household employees who came under Social Security last year need social security account number cards, according to John R. Sanderson, manager of the Amarillo Social Security Office.

"If the worker does not have an account number, or has lost his original card," Sanderson says, "he should get one from our office".

Sanderson points out that farm and household workers who became covered under Social Security now earn Old-Age and Survivors Insurance benefits along with other workers in business and industry. "Benefits are based on wages and the worker needs to get credit for every dollar he earns up to $3600 in a calendar year. So that he may obtain proper credit for his wages, the worker should show his social security account number card to his employer the first day he goes to work," Sanderson concluded.

A representative from the Amarillo Social Security Office will be in Wellington at the County Court Room on Wednesday Feb. 13 at 9:00 a.m.

The President of the United States should be addressed as Mr. President, or Sir.

Burns More Likely As Winter Changes Living Habits

Your habits change a great deal when the cold winds put a damper on lots of the outdoor activities. And even such outdoor fun as you do seek is quite a bit different from that of the balmy fall days.

Fires, outdoors and indoors, are the biggest change in living habits during the winter and fires can also be one of the biggest threats to health. A fire is one example of the idea that a little bit of a good thing in its proper place is a blessing whereas too much of a good thing in the wrong place is a great danger.

From infancy to old age, playing with fire is one of life's most dangerous habits, whether the fire be in a cooking stove, heater, camp fire or just on the end of a match. There are few accidents that leave deeper scars than those caused by fire, affecting not only the person burned but also those who love him. Injuries from fires are greatest during the month of December.

Burns are classified medically as first, second, and third degree burns. First degree burns are those in which the skin is reddened. They are painful but there is slight danger of scar or infection since only the top layer of skin is burned. Butter or some bland salve applied gently to the burn will usually relieve the pain and a loose bandage over the burn will cut down on any possible infection.

Second degree burns are the kind where blisters form and third degree burns are those that have destroyed several layers of skin. Since the skin, which forms a protective layer for the body, is destroyed to some extent in these two kinds of burns, it is easy for the germs to grow there and cause infections.

Second and third degree burns that cover 10 per cent or more of the body are considered major injuries and should receive medical attention as soon as possible. If medical attention is not immediately available, wet packs may be applied to the burned area. You mix three tablespoons of baking soda or Epsom salts with a quart of warm tap water and dip clean strips of cloth into the liquid; place that over the burns and cover the whole area with dry, clean towels.

Burns that cover a large portion of the body are called massive burns, and the person should be wrapped in a large clean sheet, covered with as much other wrapping as the weather demands, and taken to a hospital as quickly as possible. If the person is conscious, your doctor may advise you to give him a glass of salt water enroute to the hospital.

There is a state of shock which accompanies bad burns that cover a lot of the body. The body loses a lot of plasma, that yellowish salty part of the blood, when burns sear the skin, and salt water, if your doctor advises it, may help replace some of the plasma until real blood plasma can be given at the hospital.

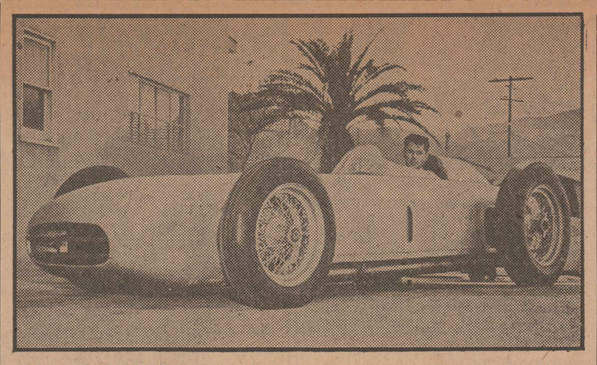

In minor burns, the greatest danger lies in infection. In major burns, there is always danger of infection and also danger to the person in a state of shock.

Fire is essential to life but all precautions must be observed to keep fire in its place. Just like the family car. Life is much easier with an automobile but if that car isn't handled properly it can be a robber of life. Added to the year-round hazards of an automobile are the winter risks involved in starting the car in a closed garage and riding in the car with all windows up.

That air coming out of the exhaust pipe of your car contains carbon monoxide gas, a deadly poison. In an open place it is quickly thinned out in the air and is made harmless. In a closed place, however, it accumulates and when breathed into the lungs it causes suffocation. If all the windows of the car are up and no air is coming into the car, that carbon monoxide gas may accumulate in the car without your knowledge. It takes just a little circulation of air to make the odorless gas become harmless.

Suffocation by carbon monoxide poisoning is one kind of asphyxiation and the automobile is not the only source of the poisonous gas. Without proper ventilation, the gas heaters in the home can cause asphyxiation if they are not properly adjusted. Clogged chimneys and improperly operated dampers with an open fire can cause enough carbon monoxide to be pushed back into a tightly closed room to be a danger.

So you want adequate ventilation without draftiness to ward off the threat of asphyxiation, whether you're at home or in the car during the cold winter months. It's as simple as that.

DIESEL SPEEDSTER—Fred Agabashian "gets the feel" of the new Cummins diesel special in Los Angeles. A veteran of five previous 500-mile races, Fred is slated to drive the diesel-powered car which is only 29 inches high at the cowl, in the 1952 Indianapolis classic on May 30th.

NO OLYMPIC CHAMP, BUT—After taking off her skis, 80-year-old Kristina Burman lights her pipe and bids a hearty welcome to visitors of her home town of Stibbma, Sweden. A widow of 25 years, she hasn't been sick since losing her husband. She treks six miles daily to a nearby town, delivering eggs over the snow-covered hills of northern Sweden.

Big Job Ahead For Farmers During 1952

COLLEGE STATION — Farmers the nation over are asked to produce more in 19'2 than ever before. The demand for agricultural products is great and seems likely to continue that way. Factors behind these great demands are our fast growing population, the needs of the military and a margin for exports and safe reserves.

According to C. H. Bates, farm management specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, the job at hand calls for wise planning and the efficient use of farm labor, equipment and materials. He says that allocations of steel, copper and aluminum for farm machinery and implements for the first quarter of 1952 are sufficient to turn out about 70 to 75 per cent of the estimated equipment needed by farmers during the period.

The items most likely to be in short supply are large tractors, automatic balers, combines, field chippers. cotton pickers, power sprayers, fencing, metal roofing, portable irrigation systems, and galvanized pipe. Bates urges farmers to get machinery repaired well ahead of the time for using it; keep a few extra parts on hand; use the best possible maintenance methods for they will add years of the life to machinery and equipment and last but not least get all scrap metal back on the defense job by selling it.

The goals for all major crops have been set as high as USDA specialists consider it sound and practical to set them, says Bates. They have aimed to provide a balance of crops to meet the greatest needs. Available crop land is limited and every acre should be put to its best use.

Bates says more nitrogen fertilizer is expected to be available but substantially less than farmers need. There'll be about 10 per cent less phosphate than last year. The outlook for chemicals for pest control indicates that supplies will be adequate though some substitutes may need to be made.

Bates believes the labor situation may be even tighter than in 1951 and especially during the harvest season.

These are but a few of the problems ahead and are the reason why Bates says the solution will call for expert management and greater efficiency on every farm job. He says the entire family has a part to play in this great drive for more production, for defense farming really begins in the farm home.
