White House Reported Aiding Lindberghs Decide On Capone's Offer To Aid

SENATOR SEES PLOT

Racket Ruler Held Incommunicado on Orders From Capital

HOPEWELL, N. J., April 25. (AP)—Al Capone was described tonight by a high official as being held incommunicado in his Chicago jail cell on orders from the White House pending the Lindbergh's decision on proposals of the gangsters to recover their kidnaped son.

The Lindbergh family was represented by the official as debating advisability of proceeding with the Capone offers.

Their concern for the baby, missing since March 1, was intensified by the failure of a $50,000 ransom payment, and the family has given much thought to the Capone problem.

Offered Bail Bond

The gang leader first publicly offered to post bail bond and endeavor to return the stolen baby. Later he was understood to have "guaranteed" the child's recovery in event of his release. Bail has been denied him by the courts.

Senator Bingham of Connecticut suggested Saturday in the senate the baby may have been kidnaped by an associate of Capone for the premeditated purpose of liberating the gangster.

The Lindberghs were described as willing that whatever "credit" might properly attach to Capone in event he could recover the child be given him, but did not wish to place themselves in the position of sponsoring his release.

"Sympathy" Theory

The official said another theory was that Capone might be gambling for a reduction of his sentence on the ground return of the baby would arouse sympathy.

In any event, it was deemed advisable that precautions be taken against Capone's communicating with his associates until some definite decision had been reached.

The suggestion also was made that repeated interjections of Capone's name into the case might be a part of a concerted campaign in his behalf.

New Clue Rises

A letter mailed to Colonel Lindbergh from Downingtown, Pa., and offering to give information as to the whereabouts of the famous flier's son, sent two New Jersey state police officials there to question a man and a woman today.

The man, who gave his name as Albert Lacher, Philadelphia, and the woman, who said she was Edith Crabbe, Detroit, told conflicting stories, Downingtown police said.

Col. H. Norman Schwarkopf of the state police would say only that the couple "have not been connected with the Lindbergh case as yet." He had received no report from his investigators, he said.

Curtis Absent

At the same time, he asserted Colonel Lindbergh had made no plans to move from his estate near here to the Englewood home of Mrs. Dwight Morrow, mother of Mrs. Lindbergh. It had been said they planned to move to Englewood this week.

Meanwhile, John Hughes Curtis, one of three Norfolk, Va., men seeking return of the child, was absent from his home on another of numerous tripe he has made in connection with the case. The yacht Marcon also was absent and it was believed he had boarded it.

9-Year-Old Wichita Girl Fatally Hurt When Struck By Car

Ida Joy Hanson, 9-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Hanson, 2123 Holliday, died at a local hospital at 9:05 o'clock Monday night from injuries sustained when she was struck by a coupe driven by Mrs. A. L. Ford, 1003 Warren, near the child's home at 7:45 o'clock.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete Monday night pending arrival of the girl's father from San Angelo. He is expected to return late Tuesday and funeral services will probably be held Wednesday. The body is in charge of the Hines mortuary.

The child was injured when she ran from behind a parked car into the path of the coupe, witnesses said. Two wheels of the machine passed over her body and examination at a hospital revealed a brain concussion and serious internal injuries, from which she died.

Mrs. Ford stopped at the scene of the accident and a passerby took the child and her mother to the hospital. Night Police Captain W. E. McDonald and Officer Fred Stengel investigated.

The child is survived by her parents; two brothers; her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Flemister, 2119 Holliday, and Mr. and Mrs. Hanson of San Angelo; and three

Darrow to Make Plea to Jury Today As 'Honor Slaying' Trial Nears End

Veteran Attorney, Weakened by Terrific Strain, Asks That Physician Be in Courtroom Tuesday

HONOLULU, T. H., April 25. (UP)—Fear that he might not be able to go through the session tomorrow led Clarence Darrow, famed Chicago attorney, to ask tonight that a physician be present when he makes what may be his final jury address—his plea for the defendants in Hawaii's honor slaying case.

Darrow's health has been poor recently and he obviously was worn today by the terrific cross-examination through which he put the last territory witness that attempted to break down the insanity defense Darrow constructed.

Fears Collapse

The United Press learned that Darrow requested Prosecutor John Kelley to have a physician in court in event the veteran "counsel for defense" suffered a collapse.

Darrow said he did not want his own physician present since it might look as if he was attempting to prejudice the jury.

Kelley agreed to meet Darrow's request. The prosecutor announced he would have Dr. Robert Faus, city and county physician, and a witness at the present trial, at court.

Darrow came out of retirement to face the mixed jury he must argue before tomorrow and he has said this would be his last case.

Spars With Alienist

His strength was greatly taxed today when he turned all his burning anger, sarcasm, wit and abuse on Dr. Joseph Catton, alienist who sought to disrupt the plea of insanity for the four white persons charged with the second degree murder of a half-caste.

Dr. Catton turned out to be a "fighting" witness and the Chicago attorney fought him right down the line on the question of whether Lieut. Thomas Massie, young naval officer, was insane when he shot and killed Joseph Kahahawai, an islander.

Shortly after Dr. Catton, a nervous man, left the witness stand both the territory and the defense rested and court adjourned until to-

DEPOSITORS TO REGAIN FUNDS

Defunct Archer City Bank To Pay 20 Per Cent

Special to The Record News.

ARCHER CITY, Texas, April 25.—Depositors in the defunct Peoples' Exchange bank of Archer City will receive a portion of their deposits May 3, it was announced here today by Judge Walter Nelson, referee in bankruptcy.

Judge Nelson notified depositors to appear at his office in Wichita Falls on that date, when, it was said, not less than 20 per cent of deposits would be paid.

The bank, a private institution, closed its doors on July 13, 1931. At that time it had over $1,300,000 on deposit.

In ensuing litigation, more than $700,000 in notes were sold or collected, thousands of acres of land and large herds of cattle were sold to satisfy claims against the stockholders of the bank.

Archer county, the largest depositor, bought the majority of assets sold to protect its interest.

Milwaukee Won't Parade, But Wants Its Beer

NEW YORK, April 25. (US)—Milwaukee has declined to put on a beer tax parade. But it wants back its beer. That city has voted almost 14 to one for repal of the 18th amendment, according to an announcement today by the Literary Digest.

Nine other cities tabulated today in its prohibition poll showed huge majorities against continuance.

Those listed included Wilmington, Del., Savannah; Lansing, Mich., Morristown, N. J., Rochester, N. Y., Columbus, Dayton, Portland, Ore., and Columbia, S. C.

Father Gets Life Term For Death of Cihld

DETROIT, April 25. (AP)—A sentence of life imprisonment "in solitary confinement and at hard labor," was meted out today to Theodore Liley, father of five children, who pleaded guilty to the fatal shooting last Friday of 8-year-old Billy Reynolds.

The boy died Saturday afternoon, 18 hours after he had interrupted Liley and Frank Mohr, also a father, in the holdup of a grocery store in Grand River avenue. Liley fired two shots at the child, one passing through both lungs and the other entering his abdomen.

Recognition of Soviet Urged by Congressman

WASHINGTON, April 25. (AP)—Agitation for American recognition of Soviet Russia may get formal consideration in the house as the result of a statement today by Majority Leader Rainey terming failure to recognize the Moscow government "an economic crime."

The Illinois Democrat made this assertion in an interview. A little later Chairman Linthicum said he would discuss tomorrow with members of his foreign affairs committee the advisability of taking up the Sabath Soviet recognition resolution.

ATLANTA, April 25. (US)—Gov. Richard B. Russell Jr., today named Major John S. Cohen, "president and editor of Atlanta Journal and Democratic National committeeman" from Georgia, to fill the unexpired term of the late U. S. Senator William J. Harris.

At the same time Governor Russell announced his own candidacy for senator next fall.

Three Die as Gangsters Try to 'Get' Man Who Refused Demands for Money

LANGLEYVILLE, Ill., April 25. (UP)—Art Bioni's eight-night vigil for the gangsters who tried vainly to "shake" him for $1,800 ended tonight when his co-defender was machine-gunned to death after he had fatally wounded the extortionists' alleged leader.

The body of another man, identified only as "Black Sam," was found later by state highway police who trailed the assailant's car. Bioni's rifle fire had killed him.

Henry Allegrucci, 55, who had sat in Bioni's home every night since April 16 when the gang first contracted Bioni, was shot to death through the heart. He had stepped to the door when Bioni said curtly: "They have come."

Peter De La Rocco, 40, Springfield, alleged leader of the gang, dropped mortally wounded when Allegrucci's shotgun fire hit him in the face and chest.

Rocco's two companions, waiting outside the home in an open automobile, opened fire on Bioni who stood in a window. They missed. But Bioni's rifle fire broke through windshield their glass and they fled.

Bioni's wife, Margaret, and their 12-year-old son, Arthur Jr., were unhurt, in their home.

The gang first approached Bioni with a demand for $1,800. He refused them summarily. Then the threat to "get him" was made. He called in his friend, and they started their long vigil, sitting armed in the home each night.

At 7 p. m. tonight the dark phaeton with drawn curtains drew alongside the curb outside Bioni's home. Allegrucci went to the front door which he opened just enough so he could push his shotgun through. He fired at the instant De La Rocco started his sub-machine gun fire. Allegrucci died instantly. The alleged gang head died an hour later in St. Vincent's hospital at Taylorville.

'BIG SURPRISE' PROMISED IN MARKET QUIZ

Mystery Witness to Take Stand in Senate's 'Bear Hunt'

COMMITTEE REVISED

Hoover Spokesman Left Off New Lineup In Investigation

WASHINGTON, April 25 (US)—Hastily summoning a committee meeting for tomorrow, Senator Peter Norbeck today promised a "big surprise" in the senate's investigation of Wall street.

This announcement was made after the committee had decided to postpone further hearings until Wednesday while new evidence was being assimilated and studied by a "steering committee" of four or five members.

Chairman Norbeck announced that Senators Glass, Democrat, of Virginia, Fletcher, Democrat of Florida, and Couzens, Republican of Michigan, would be members of the "steering committee," leaving one Republican vacancy yet to be filled.

Glass Is Authority

Glass is the outstanding authority of the senate on financial matters while Fletcher is ranking Democrat on the committee.

Cousens is looked upon as the "richest man in the senate" but is strongly independent in political matters. There was nothing said about filling the remaining Republican vacancy but indications were that Senator Walcott, Republican, of Connecticut, the administration spokesman who started the investigation, would be left off.

It was learned tonight that Representative LaGuardia, Republican of New York, will be the "surprise witness", referred to.

If either Blaine or Brookhart, insurgent Republicans are appointed, the investigation will be out of administration hands entirely.

One senator said the mystery about tomorrow's meeting would be cleared up by the appearance of a surprise witness, whose identity it was "impossible to guess."

Two Guesses Miss

He shook his head emphatically "no" when first John J. Raskob, Democratic national chairman, and then George Barr Baker, close friend of President Hoover, was suggested as the mystery witness.

In other quarters it was said that a New York congressman would appear to testify. He had some records sent down here from New York last week which were met at the station by a police guard.

The representative, it was said, has made serious charges against certain banking and brokerage firms in connection with the forged Kreuger bonds.

There were strong grounds today for believing that the committee has special investigators in New York, checking over clearing house records, in an effort to discover if the big "short operators" were engaged in a "bear raiding" pool during the downward swing of the market. Witnesses before the committee admitted pools to push up the market but they strongly denied the existence of short-selling pools. Without confirming the reports about investigators, Norbeck said:

"If it is necessary we will send to New York, or San Francisco, or any place else to get evidence."

Gray on Skids

Dissatisfaction with the work of William A. Gray, of Philadelphia, was expressed in today's meeting of the full committee, leading to reports that Samuel Untermyer, Max Steuer, or some equally famous attorney will be given the job. This was left for decision to the "steering committee" of which Norbeck was appointed chairman with authority to select the other four members.

Gray has done a pretty good job, in view of the fact that he was brought in hurriedly without much time to assemble the evidence, but some senators think his questioning too severe on the witness.

Matthew C. Brush, the big short-operator who testified last Saturday about the Wall street "racket," sent a letter to Norbeck asking an opportunity to re-appear and correct some of his testimony.

Brush said he stated incorrectly on the stand that he never participated in a "pool" when he meant to limit this answer to the period since the stock crash of 1929.

Punk Information

Norbect was asked what the committee intend to do about M. J. Meehan, who, according to the testimony, was the market "specialist" on Radio stock while his wife was in a pool to push up the price. Meehan has been subpoenaed but has not been located thus far, Norbeck said:

"I don't know what we will do. We have had so much punk information I don't want to mislead you."

Bandits Beat and Rob Rug Messenger of $2,130

CHICAGO, April 25 (INS)—Three bandits this afternoon beat Ernest Bell, messenger for a rug company, and robbed him of $2,130 cash which he was going to deposit in a downtown bank.

Anti-Bonus Witnesses Are Booed

WASHINGTON, April 25. (AP)—New money plans for cashing the soldiers' bonus were assailed by organized manufacturers as "economic bunk" today in a house hearing broken by the hissed resentment of veterans against former war comrades who opposed the $2,400,000,000 payment.

Shortly after James A. Emery registered the strong opposition of the National Manufacturers association before the ways and means committee, Fred C. Reynolds took the stand as a spokesman for a group of Baltimore veterans opposed to the bonus payment.

Reynolds said every justifiable claim of the able-bodied veteran has been met by the government and attacked the Patman bonus bill as "class legislation."

"We want you to know that there are some veterans who consider this appeal unpatriotic," he said.

This statement was hissed by other veterans who have been crowding the committee chamber at every hearing. A muttered "throw him out" was audible from the rear of the room.

CITY BUDGET CUT $100,000

Taxi Fares Raised to 15 Cents as Compromise

Adoption of a 1932-1933 city budget of $768,993.85, with the provision that further reductions and eliminations of expenses shall be made whenever and wherever possible, was voted by the city council Monday night upon the recommendation of City Manager V. R. Smitham.

The budget adopted for the ensuing year represents a decrease of approximately $100,000 from the 1931-1932 budget, and is more than $242,000 under the budget adopted in 1930. With the adoption of the new budget, city officials revealed the fact that the city finished the past fiscal year in better financial condition than that of one year ago. All debt service has been maintained punctually, and expenditures for the entire year were about $45,000 less than appropriations which had been made.

City on Cash Basis

Trimming of expenses which began more than a year ago has been continued up to the present day, Mr. Smitham explained, and has enabled the city to operate upon a strictly cash basis. Consolidation of various branches of work and

Fire Destroys Large Travis Street Residence

Fire of undetermined origin wrecked the two-story frame residence of Mrs. M. H. Silber, 1509 Travis, at 12:30 o'clock Tuesday morning. The residence was a vacant furnished home, neighbors said. Mrs. Silber is out of the city.

Brush said he stated incorrectly on the stand that he never participated in a "pool" when he meant to limit this answer to the period since the stock crash of 1929.

DEATH CLAIMS DR. R. E. HUFF AT KERRVILLE

Wichitan Succumbs Late Monday After Long Illness

SERVICES WEDNESDAY

Son of Pioneer of Wichita Loses in Battle For Life

Dr. R. E. Huff Jr., 38, son of Judge R. E. Huff, died Monday afternoon at Kerrville, Texas, after a long illness. Death had been expected for several days.

The body is being brought to Wichita Falls by the Merkle Undertaking company and is expected to arrive late Tuesday. The funeral will be held Wednesday, probably at 3 p. m. though definite arrangements had not been concluded Tuesday night.

Surviving are his father, Judge R. E. Huff; two brothers, William E. Huff of Wichita Falls and Arthur B. Huff of McAllen; and a son, R. E. Huff III, of Chicago.

Degree From Northwestern

Dr. Huff was born in Wichita Falls Dec. 20, 1893, and after attending local schools was a student at the Cooper school at Abilene, Peacock Military institute at San Antonio and Northwestern university at Chicago, receiving his degree in dentistry at the latter institution. For a number of years he followed the practice of his profession here. He was secretary of the local dental society.

Dr. Huff became ill late in 1930 following his return from a trip to Europe. He went to Kerrville for treatment and showed considerable improvement at first. Later complications set in and it was realized several weeks ago that he could not survive. Last week his condition became critical and his brothers were summoned to his bedside.

Many Friends

News of his death was received with sadness late Monday by a host of friends who will cherish the memory of a kindly, lovable young man, of unfailing courtesy. These will remember also the unusually deep affection that existed between him and his mother, and will find something of consolation in knowing that as consciousness began to fail him at the last, he seemed to be talking to her. She died in June, 1928. A younger brother, Marshall B. Huff died in July, 1920. Burial will be in the family plot in Riverside where these and the sisters who died in childhood are buried.

Dr. Huff was a life long member of the First Baptist church, joining during the ministry of his uncle, Dr. P. E. Burroughs. Dr. O. L. Powers, pastor, will officiate. Definite announcement as to the services will be made Tuesday.

AUSTIN, April 25. (UP)—Charles N. Shaver, 47, superintendent of schools at Huntsville, Texas, today was appointed state superintendent of schools to succeed the late S. M. N. Marrs by Gov. Ross S. Sterling.

Shaver was representative from Walker and San Jacinto counties in the 40th and 41st state legislatures and was vice chairman of the house committee on education. His appointment late today filled a vacancy caused by the sudden death of Marrs at College Station last Monday night. Marrs, who had served as state school superintendent for nearly a decade, was buried Thursday in the state cemetery here.

Shaver's appointive term extends through the remainder of this calendar year. His announcement as a candidate to succeed himself for an elective term is expected. Before the death of Superintendent Marrs, Jefferson G. Smith of Austin and L. G. Woods of Waco had announced as candidates. Superintendent Marrs was also an announced candidate for re-election.

EDITH M'COMAS FREED ON BOND AT MATADOR

Child Took Blame for Sake Of Other Children, New Statement Says

ENRAGED AT ATTACK

Cattleman's Housekeeper Takes Responsibility For Killing

Special to The Record News.

MATADOR, Texas, April 25.—Pretty Edith McComas was free on $1,000 bond here today after her mother, Mrs. Ruth McComas, 31-year-old divorcee, gave a statement to Sheriff Sterling Price in which she admitted the ax-slaying of J. A. Cunningham, 68, wealthy cattleman, at his ranch home near here Saturday.

Mrs. McComas collapsed after giving the statement. Both the comely mother and her young daughter previously had stated that the girl slew the rancher.

Because Enraged

In taking the blame for the killing, the mother, a member of a well-known Graham, Texas, family, told Sheriff Price that she was enraged when she returned to the ranch home after a brief errand to find Cunningham attempting an assault on the child.

The aged cattleman died from a number of blows inflicted on the head with an ax which Mrs. McComas said was kept in the kitchen, adjoining the room in which Cunningham met his death.

The woman told Sheriff Price that she and the daughter, after Cunningham's death, agreed that the child should take the blame.

Edith, the mother said, declared, "One of us is going to pay for this. I will take the blame so that you can take care of the children." After talking it over further, it was said, Mrs. McComas assented to that arrangement.

Mrs. McComas is the mother of two children other than Edith. They are 8 and 9 years old.

The mother's statement said that she had just returned from milking when she found her daughter struggling to get free from the rancher's embrace. The two younger children, she said, were attending to chores at the barn at the time.

Girl Attractive

The woman gave Edith's age as 13. However, C. C. Whitten, Motley county attorney, said the girl, an attractive child, appeared to be 15 or 16.

Both mother and daughter are charged with murder in connection with the death of Cunningham, by whom Mrs. McComas was employed as housekeeper.

The mother will appear before Justice of the Peace H. F. Pipkin here Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock for a preliminary hearing. Meanwhile, she is held in the Motley county jail here.

Mr. Whitten said that he and Farris Fish, Matador special prosecutor, would oppose effort to free Mrs. McComas on bond.

The woman had been in Cunningham's employ but three weeks. The rancher, also divorced, for a number of years had a standing offer that he would will his estate, a sizeable and valuable one, to a woman that would serve as his housekeeper until the time of his death.

Will Recently Made

The cattleman recently made a will in which he bequeathed his property to Mrs. McComas. Officials here today learned that the plainsman had expressly stipulated in the will that the beneficiary was not to profit by his death in the event his end was violent. According to Mr. Whitten, the will did not specifically state that the legatee should lose the estate if she caused his death, but provided only that the beneficiary not benefit if his death were violent.

H. H. Stephens of Graham, father of Mrs. McComas, took charge of the child after obtaining her release from jail.

Cunningham had resided in Mot-

Tie Vote in Senate Committee Keeps Oil Levy in Tax Measure

WASHINGTON, April 25. (US)—Tariff logrolling bore results today when the senate finance committee attached three tariff riders to the new revenue bill.

Meeting for the first time in executive session to revise the house measure, the committee voted down, 10 to 9, a motion by Senator La Follette, Republican of Wisconsin, to exclude all tariff items. Two Democrats, Connally of Texas and Gore of Oklahoma, joined the Republican protectionists. Three Republicans, La Follette, Keyes of New Hampshire and Metcalf of Rhode Island, voted against tariffs.

The committee then proceeded to keep the house levies on coal and oil, and to add copper to the tariff list. Proposed tariffs on lumber, shingles, woodpulp and logs were defeated.

A provision which would have meant a general upward revision of the tariff structure was defeated. It was an amendment to base tariff duties on depreciated foreign currencies, which have fallen as much as 40 per cent. The vote was 10 to 8.

The tariff votes were close. Copper went in, 10 to 8, coal, 9 to 8, and oil stayed in the bill, as a result of a 9 to 9 tie vote. Lumber and logs lost, 10 to 8, shingles, 10 to 7, and woodpulp, 11 to 6.

No rate was fixed on copper. The house oil duties are one-cent a gallon on imported crude and fuel oil and gasoline, while the coal duty is $2 a short ton.

Tariffs disposed of, the committee then began to go through the bill to pass on non-controversial items.

GIRL RECOUNTS SLAYING DETAILS

FLOYDADA, Texas, April 25. (AP)—Edith McComas today recounted the story of how J. M. Cunningham, 68-year-old Matador rancher met his death Saturday. The girl was released on bond today, while her mother, Mrs. Ruth McComas is in jail at Matador.

"Mother did it! She did it defending me when Mr. Cunningham tried to attack me," the girl said.

"I told mother I would take the blame because of the will which gave her the property," the girl said. "She was to get Mr. Cunningham's property in case she didn't kill him. I told her she had to think of the other children and raise them."

Mrs. McComas has two other children, a younger daughter and a boy, 6.

Doesn't Want Property

"I don't want the property, not a penny of it," the girl declared. "I would not accept it if it were handed to me on a silver platter, and I told mother I would take the blame.

"I was mopping the floor in another room from where Mr. Cunningham was and ran out of soap," the girl said in detailing the slaying at the ranch home 10 miles east of Matador on the Paducah highway. "I went into the room where he was and as I passed him he reached out and grabbed me. He tried to force me to the bed. I fought him as best I could and screamed for help.

Mother Enters

"Mother came into the room where we were struggling and saw what was happening. She got an ax and hit Mr. Cunningham over the left ear. I covered my face with my hands and I did not see what else happened."

The two younger children are in Graham with their grandfather, H. H. Stephens, who came for them when he was informed of the tragedy.

Mrs. McComas received an uncontested divorce from John McComas, a trucker, Nov. 20, 1930, in Lubbock.

Condition of Iowa Park Woman Is Critical

Attendants described as uncertain the condition of a Wichita county woman admitted to the Wichita Geheral hospital Sunday afternoon for treatment for a slashed throat. She was brought from Iowa Park, where emergency treatment was given. She was found by a daughter at their farm home south of Iowa Park shortly before noon.

Tornadoes Sweep Three Southern States, Taking Death Toll of 12

MEMPHIS, Tenn., April 25. (US)—Tornadoes swept today through portions of Tennessee, Kentucky and Arkansas leaving death and heavy property damage in their wake.

A dozen persons were believed to have lost their lives, but definite confirmation was difficult as the storm-ravaged areas virtually were isolated. Telephone and telegraph wires were down for miles.

Three were reported killed at Osceola, Ark. Seven were said to have met death in Shelby county, Tennessee. Two others were reported dead in Southern Kentucky.

Many were injured by collapsing buildings and flying debris. Farm buildings in many sections were completely destroyed.

Rescue crews were dispatched into the stricken area. It was not believed an accurate total of the dead and injured would be reached until their return.

Heaviest casualties were reported in Millington, Shelby county, north of Memphis.

The tornado which raged through six or more counties in Southern Kentucky was accompanied by lightning, hail and heavy rains.

Sooner G. O. P. 'Goes Hoover' Under Whip of Pat Hurley and Lew Wentz

Delegation Pledged to President; Wentz Cheered While Excoriating Murray's Highway Commission

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 25. (UP)—President Herbert Hoover was accorded the support of Oklahoma Republicans late today.

Oklahoma's 25 votes at the Republican national convention were pledged without qualification to the chief executive as the party's nominee in the next presidential election. Hoover carried Oklahoma, a rock-bound Democratic state, in 1928.

Secretary of War Patrick J. Hurley, convention keynoter selected to head the Oklahoma delegation, pleaded with the state to support the president again this year.

Hoover Called Bulwark

"In President Hoover and his constructive policies, the nation has its strongest bulwark during these days of economic stress," Hurley said in his address. He campaigned vigorously for Hoover throughout the middle-west last year.

"Democratic propaganda aimed to lead the American people to believe that the president is responsible for all economic dislocations has proved a complete failure," he said.

Turning the convention into a wildly cheering mob of 2,000, Lew H. Wentz late today bitterly assailed the highway commission and Gov. William H. Murray, over whom he won a district court fight in connection with his ouster from the highway commission.

Criticizes Murray

Outlining actions of the commission under Governor Murray, Wentz declared that they are "spending $60,000,000 of the people's money and doing their best to prevent public knowledge of where it is going."

"Chairman Sam Hawks told me he was going to build 5,000 miles of farm-to-market roads without machinery. I asked how they could do it. 'With a manure spreader?'"

Referring to his victory in court today, Wentz said, "I believe we have won the first battle of the itching palm."

Cries of "Lew Wentz for governor" arose all over the hall.

"The best way to disinfect the capitol would be to burn it down," he continued. "We have a more serious cement situation now than we had a year ago. They are paying 26 to 44 cents a barrel in Illinois for cement while Oklahoma pays $1.30 to $1.40."

Wentz said the commission plans to build a duplicate road to Wellston that will cost $100,000 when the federal government has ordered construction within a year of a highway just missing the town.

"They spend money for a road they know will be useless," Wentz said.

PENNSYLVANIA AND MASSACHUSETTS VOTE TODAY

WASHINGTON, April 25. (AP)—The long-awaited test on Alfred E. Smith's challenge of Franklin D. Roosevelt's bid for the Democratic presidential nomination tonight was in the hands of Massachusetts and Pennsylvania voters.

With 112 Democratic delegates to the national convention at stake in the two eastern primaries tomorrow—36 in Massachusetts and 76 in Pennsylvania—partisans of the two New Yorkers brought their furious campaigns to a close with expressions of confidence.

Smith chieftains predicted their principal gains would come from the Bay state, which gave the former New York governor its electoral vote in 1928. Roosevelt supporters looked to the Keystone state to provide the biggest boost in his delegate total—now 267—and to end the "Stop-Roosevelt" movement.

Alaska to Elect

In addition to the 112 delegates to be chosen in these two states, the Democrats also will name six in a primary tomorrow in far-off Alaska. The Roosevelt camp long has forecast victory there.

Affording less popular interest, the Republicans tomorrow will selected 119 delegates in three primaries and two conventions—34 in Massachusetts, 75 in Pennsylvania, two in Alaska, and four each in Arkansas and South Carolina.

President Hoover, who has 423 delegates pledged and claimed for him to date, faces little opposition in Massachusetts and Pennsylvania voting. A slate of delegates pledged to his renomination is opposed in only three district contests in the Bay state.

Virtually all of Pennsylvania's 75 emissaries to Chicago are expected to be friendly to the president and controlled by William S. Vare, who turned the tide for Hoover at the Kansas City convention in 1928.

Former Senator Joseph I. France of Maryland, Mr. Hoover's only avowed opponent for the Republican presidential nomination, is the lone candidate for the preference vote in Pennsylvania, where the Republican senatorial nomination race between Senator James J. Davis and Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler, of marine corps fame has stirred up the most din.

"Buffonery and rip-snorting tactics," have been denounced by Davis in his anti-prohibition campaigning. Butler has assailed "that damned Philadelphia gang" in championing the cause of prohibition.

First Clash Since '28

The Smith-Roosevelt clashes will be the first since the 1928 standard bearer inferentially charged Roosevelt with "demagoguery" in calling for aid for the "little fellow at the bottom of the economic pyramid" and Roosevelt's reply that he favored relief for all classes.

This phrase bobbed up in the Oklahoma Republican state convention today with Secretary Hurley, the keynoter, declaring every item in Mr. Hoover's program was "aimed at improving the lot of the little fellow."

Arrived in Richmond

The president announced a decision to speak Wednesday before the governors' conference in Richmond where his potential opponent for the presidency, Governor Roosevelt, arrived last night to deliver a speech on state problems.

While Republicans in Washington pondered suggestions for moist prohibition planks today, the Democrats received a surprise in a statement by Charles M. Hay, bone-dry candidate for the senate from Missouri in 1928, that he would favor resubmission of the 18th amendment in congress at the same time placed before the states a new amendment safeguarding against return of the saloon or of "unregulated and unrestrained liquor traffic."

Approved Byrd Plan

He approved the plan of former Governor Byrd of Virginia, another Democrat, for a constitutional amendment to allow the people a direct vote on the question, but said he would not make adoption of that plan a condition to submission of a proposal by congress in accordance with the present construction.

Hay warned the Democrats, however, not to submerge "bread and butter" problems in considering the prohibition situation and said the people of his state were demanding resubmission of all policies of the "present administration" in Washington, including the farm policy.

Grape Growers Favor Revision of Liquor Law

SAN FRANCISCO, April 25. (AP)—Representatives of 9,000 grape growers of California today unanimously adopted a program advocating revision of the 18th amendment to permit the sale of naturally fermented beverages.

The program, drafted by Donald D. Conn, managing director of the California Vineyardists association, calls for a national liquor plan to permit restricted manufacture of wines for use in homes and hotels, under certain supervisory conditions.

The use of fortifying material to increase the alcoholic content would be forbidden, limiting the strength to that produced by natural fermentation.

YOUNG DEMOS TO MAKE FIGHT

Party Factions to Battle For Pledge

DALLAS, April 25. (UP)—Leaders of young Democrats of Texas called on their fellows today to meet at Houston May 23, the day before the state convention, to plan to thwart an "organized minority, whose leadership, selfish, narrow and bigoted, is determined to rule or ruin the party."

The call was interpreted as a move of the younger and liberal element to prevent party disruption by persons taking the presidential nominee-loyalty pledge and then breaking it in November because a candidate other than a bone-dry was nominated. The call also took cognizance of the growing demand for tax relief and governmental economy.

Leaders signing the manifesto represented supporters of the three leading presidential nominee possibilities. They were Senaor W. K. Hopkins, Gonzales, vice chairman of the state Garner organization; Harold H. Young, Dallas, vice chairman of the state Roosevelt clubs, and Alvin Romansky, Houston, active for Alfred E. Smith in 1928.

"The Democratic party in Texas is again threatened with disruption by an organized minority that is ignorant of the fundamentals of American democracy and contemptuous of the principle of majority rule," their call said.

"This minority's leadership, selfish, narrow and bigoted, determined to rule or ruin the party, scorns honesty and decency with the counsel that moral obligations be assumed with fingers crossed. This alone should call every member of the party to rededicate himself militantly to follow the principles of Jefferson, Jackson, Cleveland and Wilson."

'Big Bill' Thompson Wins Suit Involving Funds

CHICAGO, April 25. (US)—Former Mayor William Hale Thompson was victor today by a ruling of the appellate court which held that he cannot be made responsible for alleged misapplication of the Mississippi Valley Relief fund through a suit brought by a voluntary contributor to the fund.

The court said that only Oscar E. Carlstrom as attorney general of the state could maintain a suit for claimed abuse of a public charity fund.

A "Bat Child" No More!

(By NEA Service)

WASHINGTON, April 25.—Wise science and the mysterious, wonder-working processes of nature have made 13-year-old Edith Riley whole again.

The pitiful little human wreck that they called "The Bat Child" when they dragged her last November from a dark closet that was her prison in a Washington home, has been developed into a normal, healthy individual by treatment at Gallinger hospital here.

The child, victim of a hateful stepmother who confined her to a lightless "cell," weighed only 38 pounds when she was rescued by a policewoman. She had been fed only scraps. She had been given no opportunity to learn to talk and could answer only "Yes," and "No." She could barely walk upon her spindly legs. Her body was scarred. She blinked furiously in the light.

Today, physicians describe her as a child like any other child. She walks, runs, sings, shouts, and plays with toys.

Her intelligence, which examination early proved to be normal, has been given an opportunity to develop. Kind words and treatment have put to route the ugly fears which beset her. A long series of injections of pituitary extracts has enabled her bones to grow to normal size. Neglected muscles have grown stronger.

Nature, aided by science and kindness, freed of handicaps, has worked its miracles.

City Council Adopts $768,000 Budget; Taxi Fares Set at 15 Cents

reductions in payroll expenditures have been utilized to balance revenue reductions, it was shown.

According to the budget adopted Monday night, the city's anticipated revenue from all sources for the ensuing year is $779,097.41. Of that amount, $503,988.50 will be received through the collection of taxes, and $275,097.41 from various other sources including fees, licenses, water sales, etc.

Expenditures during the ensuing year are etsimated as follows: general fund (operating expenses), $274,962.25; street fund, $69,596.65; park fund, $41,350.95; library fund, $11,800; water fund, $107,008.26; bond interest fund, $169,610; sinking fund, $94,665.74. Total appropriation exclusive of interest and sinking fund, $504,718.11; interest and sinking fund, $264,275.74. Grand total, $768,993.85.

The budget adopted one year ago totaled $868,582.39; and that of the preceding year reached the sum of $1,011,017.29.

Felder Quizzes Council

Among the etsimated expeditures was listed that of $107,008.26 for operation of the water department. Estimated income sources list the water department as productive of $220,000 during the coming year.

C. B. Felder appeared at the meeting, and questioned the council at great length after reading a proposed revised budget prepared by himself after examination of the budget prepared by the city manager and city council. Judge Felder proposed salary cuts and elimination to the amount of almost $37,000, and entered a formal request that the council incorporate those proposals in the adoption of a budget for the coming year.

Taking up for the third successive meeting the matter of taxi fares in this city, the council approved for one week's trial the proposal of 10-cent taxi operators to increase their rates to 15 cents per passenger per trip. Representatives of Hamp's 10-cent taxi service, Williams' 10-cent taxis, and Hollis' 10-cent taxis, together with their attorney, Walter F. Caldwell, agreed that the price of 15 cents will become effective at 6 a. m. Tuesday, April 26.

The increased taxi rate was adopted as a compromise measure after Mr. Caldwell had endeavored to work out an agreement with the Wichita Falls Traction company and established taxicab companies here under which the 10-cent taxis could continue to operate. Action of the council upon an emergency ordinance could not be taken Monday night because of the absence of Alderman R. O. Harvey, such an action demanding a full attendance. Final action on the matter is set for next Monday night. The 15-cent fare was proposed in the form of a proposed ordinance amendment which in other respects agrees with that formerly proposed for the establishment of minimum rates. Sponsors of the proposed amendment heretofore have asked for a minimum fare of 25 cents.

E. F. Freuchte and W. N. Bonner, attorneys for taxicab companies and the traction company, respectively, voiced no approval of the compromise measure.

Allred, Lambert & Co., accountants, were awarded a contract for making the annual audit of the books for the city and Wichita General hospital for the past 12 months. Their bid was $775. Other bidders were J. E. Hutchison Jr., L. E. Nichols and M. E. Wallace, with bids of $2,000, $895 and $1,795, respectively.

City Clerk W. E. McBroom was authorized to advertise immediately for bids for designation as city depository for the coming year. The council also approved the transfer of $2,015 from the water fund to the interest and sinking fund to take care of several bonds.

After long agitation, Sunday games are to be permitted in the parks of Redcar, England.

CHARGES FILED IN KIDNAPING

Officers Fail to Identify Memphis Suspect

Ralph Fults, placed in jail here Sunday night in connection with the kidnaping of four Electra men and the theft of two cars in Wichita county April 14, was charged with robbery with firearms in a complaint filed by Police Chief J. T. Taylor of Electra Monday.

Two men who made captives of Chief Taylor and two other men in Electra two weeks ago took the police chief's gun before liberating the trio several miles south of Electra. The pistol was returned to him Sunday by Denton officers, who said they recovered it from one of several burglary suspects in that section last week. W. N. Owens, Electra mail carrier, subsequently was kidnaped and released in Oklahoma.

A second suspect in the Electra kidnaping, brought from Memphis, Texas, Sunday by Sheriff Perry Browning, was released Monday morning after the four victims of the offense failed to identify him as one of the kidnapers.

Chief Taylor Monday night told The Record News he believed Fults' companion in the kidnapings is now in the McKinney jail. The Electra officer said he would not return to McKinney for several days, however, and that the second suspect probably will be brought here to appear before the grand jury.

Fults, who sustained a broken left arm from a bullet in a gun fight with officers near Kaufman, has refused to identify his companions in the Electra case.

Little Hope Held For Poison Victim

The condition of a 17-year-old Wichita Falls school boy, admitted to the Wichita General hospital Friday night, was described as critical by attendants Monday night. Little hope is held for the youth's recovery. He was taken to the hospital from his home after he had taken four bichloride of mercury tablets and a quantity of iodine and mercurochrome.

Judgment was awarded Elliott about nine months ago in Judge W. W. Cook's court, as the result of suit filed by the plaintiff asking damages for injuries alleged sustained when a trolley wire broke and struck him as he was a passenger on a street car.

The plaintiff alleged that the accident resulted in disability.

Darrow Makes Last Jury Plea

morrow morning when final arguments to the jury of mixed races will begin.

Mrs. Fortescue Sobs

Mrs. Grace Hubbard Fortescue, member of a prominent society family in New York and Washington, was so overcome during the heat of the Darrow-Catton battle that she sobbed hysterically.

Mrs. Fortescue is one of the defendants, along with Massie and two enlisted men, A. O. Jones and E. J. Lord.

Both men shouted as Darrow heckled the alienist.

To show the basis on which he contended Massie was sane Catton insisted on giving a reportorial history of the case. Darrow objected constantly but Judge Charles Davis usually ruled with the prosecution.

At one point Darrow demanded that Dr. Catton stop waving his arms at the jury and putting dramatic emphasis on his sentences.

"Part of my speech comes out of my hands just as part of it comes from my tongue," the alienist said testily.

Cautioned by Judge

Judge Davis asked Dr. Catton to cross his hands and try not to use them. Later when he started an expansive gesture to illustrate a point, Darrow again objected and again the court ordered Dr. Catton to hold his hands.

"I found no evidence of chemical insanity," Dr. Catton continued after this second request. "In fact, I never heard of chemical insanity."

"Your honor," Darrow broke in, "I object to this testimony. If the witness never heard of chemical insanity how could he find it."

The courtroom spectators roared and most of the jurors laughed. Judge Davis pounded for order and threatened to clear out the spectators.

"First Massie was nervous," Dr. Catton told the jury in explaining Massie's actions. "Then he became angry. Then he discovered the populace was against him—"

Darrow broke in with a vigorous objection but was overruled.

Dr. Catton finished his direct examination by stating he found nothing to indicate Massie was insane.

"I feel free to say he was sane," he concluded.

Negro Youth Wounded In Knife-Gun Fight

Claude Frazier, 19-year-old negro, sustained painful knife wounds on his back, arms and neck at 7:30 o'clock Monday night in an argument involving use of pistols and a knife at the rear of 2005 Elizabeth. A second negro youth, figuring in the affray, was placed in the city jail for investigation.

When a pistol in the hands of Frazier snapped the second negro went into action with a knife and Frazier was unable to draw a second gun, according to information received by police.

DOHENY ASKS TAX REFUND

Oil Man Claims Error In Computation

WASHINGTON, April 25. (AP)—Edward L. Doheny, wealthy California oil man, today asked the United States board of tax appeals to determine $103,796 income tax deficiency assessed against him in 1929.

Doheny contended the commissioner of internal revenue erred in adding to his income in 1929 dividends and interest amounting to $518,802 from a trust he established in 1926 for his five grand children. He made an irrevocable trust in 1926 for his five grand children in which he set aside 166,660 shares of capital stock of the Petroleum Securities company. He told the board that he had never received any portion of the dividends or interest.

Doheny reported income of $561,649 in 1929 but the internal revenue bureau increased the amount to $871,070. It set Doheny's total tax at $166,783 of which he had paid $62,985.

In listing his income and deductions the oil man deducted $53,875 loss from operation of the Tresritos ranch in New Mexico, which he obtained through foreclosing of a mortgage given him by Albert B. Fall to secure the $100,000 which the government alleged Fall had accepted a bribe when secretary of the interior in return for oil leases granted to Doheny. Both Doheny and Fall contended the $100,000 was a loan, but the latter was convicted of accepting it as a bribe. Doheny was acquitted of giving a bribe.

Bull Fights Resume Soon at Matamoros

BROWNSVILLE, Texas, April 25. (AP)—After a lapse of 10 years big time bull fighting is to be brought back to the ancient city of Matamoros, just across the Rio Grande from Brownsville.

Formation of the Santa Cruz Amusement company, with J. A. Shore, veteran race track driver and sports promoter, as its head was announced here.

This company is now engaged in improving the dog track in Matamoros, turning it into a bull fight arena. It will have state, city and federal permits for bull fights and will start holding the fights during the present summer.

Bull fighting came to an end in Matamoros about 10 years ago, when the fourth bull ring burned to the ground in a period of about five years.

Matamoros once vied with Mexico City and Monterrey in presenting the best bull fighters of Mexico in the ring, drawing its crowds largely from the American side of the Rio Grande.

Such famous matadors as Rodolfo Gaons, who came out of retirement to enter the bull ring for Colonel Lindbergh, Juan Silvetti and others appeared in the old Matamoros ring. Sidney Franklyn, famous American bull fighter, fought in the ring there before he achieved fame.

Gunless Rabbit Drive Furnishes Sport at Goree

Special to The Record News.

GOREE, Texas, April 26.—Gunless rabbit drives are a new form of sport here and the business men of the town are joining the farmers in the drives in an effort to destroy the rabbits which are reported doing great damage to the small grain and other crops just coming up.

The first drive was too much of a show and the crowd which numbered several hundred scattered the rabbits instead of driving them into the net wire pens. However, the second effort bagged nearly 200. Drives are planned for each day this week. The county is paying a bounty of 5 cents for each jackrabbit scalp.

The plan being used is new here. Nearly a mile of poultry netting is used to form a triangular trap with a small pen at the intersection of the wings. When the rabbits are driven into the pens, boys with sticks finish the job.

That First Wet Day in Finland

The Finnish equivalent of "What'll it be, boys?" was being heard in Helsingfors that day. For Finland, after 13 years of prohibition, had gone wet again. This picture shows mounted police keeping order in the crowds that besieged a government liquor store in the Finnish capital on the first day of the new wet era.

Governor Murray and State Auditor At War Over School Land Department

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 25. (UP)—Gov. W. H. Murray today said he did not think the school land commissioners would "tear up a good department." He referred to State Auditor Frank Carter's plan to reorganize the school land department.

Carter said he would ask the commission at tomorrow's session to demand the resignation of A. L. Beckett, secretary, and the entire personnel of land department.

"The school land department has been engaging in pernicious political activity," Carter charged. "Doing that, and dominated by one man, Governor Murray, it cannot function in the best interests of the state."

"Beckett is in there at my suggestion," said Governor Murray.

"Of the appraisers, there is only one who is my friend. Other members of the commission appointed the remaining appraisers. We have the organization in the best shape it has ever been in, and I don't think they will tear it up."

Two members of the commission are anti-Murray and two, including the governor, are for the administration. State Superintendent John Vaughan, the fifth member, holds the deciding vote.

Vaughan refused to discuss Carter's proposal other than to say any action he might take would be for efficiency of the department.

"I'm not interested in the political aspects of the case, and it will not influence my vote," said Vaughan. "I am interested only in the efficiency of the department."

Locusts Lay Waste In South Africa

CAPE TOWN, Union of South Africa, April 25. (AP)—Countless billions of locusts, moving inexorably forward at the rate of 100 miles a day, are laying waste to great sections of West Africa and adjoining parts of the Union of South Africa.

In some places, farmers living in the affected districts said, the insects seemed to be moving in a cloud 500 miles wide and three times as long.

Attempts were made to attack them from motor trucks, but they soon outdistanced the trucks. Airplanes also were used, without effect, and the authorities declared all they could do was to wait until the locusts began to breed and then attack the swarms separately.

Russia Reported Sifting Sentiment On Japanese War

(Copyright, 1932, by Universal Service, Inc.)

GENEVA, April 25.—Chinese circles here revealed today that Soviet-Japanese relations concerning Manchuria are at such a delicate point that Moscow is polling the great powers for their policies should war break out on a large scale in the Orient.

Foreign Commissar Maxim Litvinoff, prior to his departure for Moscow today, was commissioned to take soundings of the great powers to determine if Poland and other eastern European countries would be prevented from attacking Russia's western frontiers.

This was also the purpose, it is learned, of M. Litvinoff's attempt to contact Secretary of State Stimson and members of the American disarmament conference delegation, feeling that American Neutrality would influence France in keeping her eastern European allies out of the ring.

Russia is hurrying the best divisions of her army to Manchuria, including highly-trained technical units and medical corps, with equipment for an aggressive campaign, it was learned.

Apartments erected in Switzerland last year totaled 12,913, twice as many as in 1926.

'MOTORS' HAS SICK REPORT

Earnings Drop Sharply During Quarter

NEW YORK, April 25.—(INS)—Net earnings of General Motors corporation for the quarter ended March 31, 1932, including equities in the undivided profits or loss of subsidiary and affiliated companies not consolidated, amounted to $9,693,027, it was revealed today.

This is equivalent to $0.17 per share on the common stock and compared with $0.61 per share in the first quarter of 1931.

Cash, U. S. government and other marketable securities, on March 31, 1932, amounted to $186,777,639, compared with $205,029,119 on Dec. 31, 1931, and $179,133,114 on March 31, 1931. Net working capital on March 31, 1932, amounted to $271,536,282, compared with $273,915,923 on Dec. 31, 1931 and $292,723,601 on March 31, 1931.

During the quarter ended March 31, 1931, General Motors dealers in the United States delivered to consumers 143,514 cars, compared with 231,881 cars in the corresponding period of 1931.

Armored Cars Guard Against Delhi Riots

DELHI, April 25. (INS)—Armored cars carrying government troops today patrolled Delhi to prevent further Nationalist demonstrations, while the city's jails were packed to capacity.

Five hundred stubborn Nationalists who evaded police lines to enter the city were arrested Sunday for attempting to hold the all-India Nationalist congress in defiance of the government's ban. The arrests brought the total for two days to 800.

To prevent the holding of the congress, the government previously had jailed every Nationalist leader in India, from Mahatma Gandhi down to minor lieutenants.

Boy, 13, Kills Father And Escapes on Pony

GILBERT, Ariz., April 25. (AP)—Robert Merrell, 13, was sought today by officers on the story of his mother that he slew his father and wounded a brother and herself.

The mother said the youth arose from his bed last night, grabbed a pistol and after the shooting rode away on his pony. She was unable to give any reason for his act.

Neighbors who heard shots and ran to the Merrell home, said Mrs. Merrell was hysterical and cried out "Bobby did it."

The father, R. W. Merrell, was formerly mayor of Gilbert. He was shot through the heart. Mrs. Merrell was wounded in the neck. Charles, 11, was shot in the hip.

Missouri Pacific President Pleads For Coordination

ST. LOUIS, April 25: (AP)—Transportation on highways and waterways has made serious inroads on the revenue of the Missouri Pacific Railroad company, President L. W. Baldwin said today in commenting on the company's annual report.

"The coordination of the country's transportation facilities under the proper regulation is an essential factor in the stabilization of business conditions and consequently of vietl interest," said Baldwin. "I am convinced that we can, by applying sound economic principles to the competitive situation, go a long way problems arising from the present toward restoring the prosperity of the country."

Missouri Pacific 1931 total operating revenues, $95,268,192, were less than the previous year by $24,919,496, president Baldwin pointed out, and blamed bus and truck competition for much of this loss.

"There is unquestionably a place for bus and truck transportation," he said, "provided it is properly regulated and restricted to economic operation." He cited Texas as a state which has adopted effective highway traffic regulation.

Grain Rate Hike To Be Asked of I. C. C.

CHICAGO, April 25. (AP)—A 15 per cent increase in freight rates on wheat will be asked by the four grain carrying railroads of Kansas, it was learned today from a reliable source.

It was understood the application would be made some time this week before the Interstate Commerce commission, now taking evidence on the grain rate structure here.

Rates on coarse grains would be advanced to the wheat level under the railroads petition making the increase on the grains 25 per cent.

BORGER RECALL VOTE ORDERED

Court Upholds Petition Signed by 420

BORGER, Texas, April 25. (AP)—District Judge E. J. Pickens today ordered the Borger city commission to call a recall election for Mayor John R. Miller and members of the city commission. His decision was made in connection with a suit by the state.

Judge Pickens said he later would order the election called before some certain date.

The movement favoring a recall election started Feb. 4, when a petition was circulated. The names of 420 persons had been affixed to the petition Feb. 22, when it was presented to the commission.

The commission refused to call the election on the ground that its members were interested in the outcome and were, therefore, disqualified to sit as judges.

The state filed a petition for a writ of mandamus April 5.

J. H. Aynesworth, city attorney, said he could not tell whether the commission would appeal Judge Pickens' decision.

Cure Believed Found For Addicts of Drugs

WASHINGTON, April 25. (AP)—A treatment which its discoverers believe will cure any drug addict who has no complicating illness and who wants to be cured was reported today to the National Academy of Sciences.

It consists essentially of treating the drug addict with chemicals which counteract the effects of the drug on his system. The announcement was the first public indication that the treatment, already used successfully in experiments, could be applied to addicts in general. It was made before the academy's annual meeting by Dr. Wilder D. Bancroft, Dr. R. S. Gutell and J. E. Rutzler Jr., of Cornell university.

American Pianist Succumbs in Paris

PARIS, April 25. (US)—Leo Tecktonius, two years ago lionized by European musical circles, is dead here today. He died in the Neuilly hospital Sunday night, virtually a pauper according to his friends.

Tecktonius, born in Kenosha, Wis., but claiming Racine as his home town, was a pianist of great promise. But his lavish gifts to friends proved his undoing. Until he was removed to the hospital, he had remained in bed in a splendidly furnished Bois du Boulogne apartment, unable to find a market for his furnishings.

The apartment has been sealed by the United States consulate until the arrival of Tecktonius' brother, Fred, from Racine, who sails from New York April 30 on the Ile de France. The brother is arranging for the funeral.

With the opening of a road over the highest mountain, Tablas Island, in the Philippines, has its first highway.

"B.C." Relieves Periodical Pains In Three Minutes

It is so unnecessary to suffer month after month from inorganic pains, because "B. C." will bring soothing relief in three minutes. "B. C." is prepared by a registered pharmacist, compounded on a different principle from most relief-giving agencies in that it contains several ingredients, used by many physicians, so blended and proportioned as to accomplish in a few minutes what we believe no one drug formula can do in so short a time. "B. C." should also be used for the relief of common colds, headaches and neuralgia, muscular aches and pains, reducing fever and for quieting a distressed nervous system without opiates, narcotics or such habit forming drugs. Get "B. C." in 10c and 25c packages, wherever drugs are sold.—Adv.

PEEPS AT PEOPLE

By MRS. L. N. CASON

Wichita Falls is in bloom again; Sunday, it looked as if the old name, "the sandstorm center of Northwest Texas," might fit once more, for the sky was brassy with threatening clouds of sand. We could smell it in the air. But somewhere between us and the golden sandstorm, (golden in name only), the sky cleared and the stars came out in the high blue Texas heavens.

◆ ◆ ◆

Red roses cover the corners of the house just across the street from us—a splash of glory in color; and around the corner on Brook, there's a long bed of old-fashioned phlox, rich in varied color.

◆ ◆ ◆

Speaking of old-fashioned things, we remember the beauty and interest of our grandmother's silk crazy quilt as it was pointed out to us. There were satin triangles from her own wedding gown; wine velvet strips from her "second day" dress; bits of brocade from the "frock" she wore in her uncle's box when she heard Jenny Lind sing. And there was a zigzag strip of gray velvet (believe it or not), taken from the coffin in which her first born was buried. That quilt is folded away with her cashmere shawl in an old Tennessee attic.

◆ ◆ ◆

Such were the touching mementos of that day. They were in keeping with the watch chains which widowers wore, woven from fading locks of their angel (we hope) wives; and the wreaths of immortelles in shadow boxes that, taken from the graves of their dead were ornaments on parlor walls.

◆ ◆ ◆

But back to our muttons. (Just an old expression, my dears). We have been within the past week, one grown woman wearing a waist-long jacket made from a silk crazy quilt and one wee girl wearing another such Joseph's coat. We wonder if you get the connection; the old-fashioned flower beds, of phlox reminded us of the phlox and pinks and bachelor's buttons in our grandmother's garden, and brought to mind the old-fashioned handiwork.

◆ ◆ ◆

Quite different, and quite alien to anything our grandmother knew, is a cactus bed we saw this morning. It is laid in the form of a triangle in the rear of the M. P. Albritton home on Dayton street; there are pincushion, rat-tail and other cactus numbering 60 in variety, that are budding and blooming in rose, red, green touch with brown and deep maroon. They are gathered from Arizona and New Mexico and Oklahoma; from Mineral Wells and down on the border of Mexico and flourish in their gravelly bed, smiling into flower when the warm sun reaches them. We believe that men might almost use the fishhooks from one large specimen to catch a fighting fish.

◆ ◆ ◆

Wichita Falls is full of beauty just now—beauties too numerous to mention. At 2005 McGregor, we caught a glimpse of peonies and slipped back for a better view (some day we will get shot snooping). There were 22 great white fluffy flowers on one peony bush and another almost ready to blossom.

◆ ◆ ◆

Then there are the purple iris that guard the western border of Mrs. Walter Campbell's grounds; the pink and white roses that climb to the roof of the Fred Gates home; the delectable bed of double pink and purple larkspur and deep blue cornflowers at Mrs. C. E. McCutchen's home—and oh, the sweet smelling golden Spanish broom there!

◆ ◆ ◆

And speaking of Spanish broom, when you are out for a ride, go by the Walter Cline home. There are 50 of the shrubs, fragrant and rich in color, bordering the drainage canal to the west of their grounds. And near the street, pink and white briar roses grow in rank profusion, filling us with nostalgia for country roads in Tennessee.

Floral Heights W. M. S. Studies Korean Topics

Barton, president, called the meeting to order and the song service was led by Mrs. W. J. Stuckler with Mrs. W. M. Hawley at the piano.

Mrs. Marvin Smith, leader in the mission study program, gave a brief resume of outstanding characters in the mission fields today, particularly mentioning Miss Hattie Stallings, a former teacher in the Wichita Falls schools, who is now in Korea. Mrs. Smith closed her talk by reading two interesting letters from Miss Stallings to Miss Kate Burgess, principal of Ben Franklin school.

Mrs. T. R. Boone, who was in charge of the day's program, presented Mrs. C. L. Bounds of Grant Street Methodist church, who gave an inspiring devotional on the true and great life, which was closed with prayer by Mrs. Finis Crutchfield. Mrs. Bounds then discussed chapter two of the text book, entitled "The Great Life," in an interesting manner. Mrs. Merle Waggoner sang "Sweet Hour of Prayer," at the close of Mrs. Bounds' talk, with Mrs. Lester Jones accompanying.

"The Coming of Christianity in Korea" was discussed by Mrs. Hal Yeager and "Factors in the Spread of Christianity in Korea," were discussed by Mrs. E. D. Malone.

The circle count showed Mrs. O. W. Harvey's circle, number one, leading.

The Lord's prayer, said in unison, dismissed approximately 50 members.

Our Children

Touch and See

Almost every mail brings me a note like this: "My baby was the best child in the world until this past month. Since then I have no peace. He insists upon touching everything he sees and I am in constant terror lest he pull something down on his head. He has broken more dishes, vases and toys than I'll ever be able to replace. What can I do with such a child?"

Teach him to see. Help him to see. That is what he is trying to do. He is a stranger here and everything about him is interesting. He wants to know what things are. His eyes are not enough. A child cannot see things as he must see them to know them, by his eyes alone. His hands must help him. He learns about solid things, about roundness, thickness, corners, temperature, weight, texture, by touching things. He cannot know things without touching them. He will need to smell them and taste them too. All his senses are called in to help but his hands are the most dependable.

This is a trying stage for the household. It is always best, unless there is a nursery, to put away fragile family treasures when you have a creeper or toddler about. Then set about this job systematically. Carry him about the room. Let him touch the things he wants to touch while you are with him. If he wants to handle a precious vase take it in your own hands. Sit on the floor and let him stroke the things, put his face against it, lick it, if he likes (You can see that it is clean first) and so satisfy his desire to know that thing. If you do that he is not likely to pull it down and smash it. He isn't trying to smash things. He is trying to see them. This is the time to teach him that some things are to be touched and some left alone. If you take him on daily excursions about the house this way he will soon learn what you mean. The fact that you help him touch things will make him quite willing to accept your "No. Don't touch," when you feel obliged to say it, as you sometimes must.

It helps such children to have a toy box or basket. In this you put a mass of objects that you call junk. Odds and ends interest children of this age. A large glass marble, too big to swallow—a rubber ball, a tin cup with rounded edges, a spoon, a bell, a wooly toy, a little doll, a string of colored wooden beads, some scraps of colored materials, a few blocks. Every day at about the same time, he is to be set on his rug, or his own armchair, if he can in one, and investigate this treasure chest. From time to time you extract a bit and put in something new. This will teach him to see things, train him to be self sufficient, and save your possessions and your nerves.

Don't forget to carry him about the house and garden, on your shoulder every now and then, to give him a view of the world above his head. You see his eyes are only about three feet from the floor and much of what is above that level is out of his understanding sight. Accustom him to being carried about in this way and he will adjust himself sooner.

When children know about the things in the house and grounds they are not so likely to be afraid of them. Mysterious things, things half seen and scarcely known, are what create fears. The child who has explored his world is a braver child than the one who has seen little of it and has guessed much. Guesses are soon turned to worries and they bring fear. A child must touch in order to see, and he must see in order to understand.

Mr. Patri will give personal attention to inquiries from parents and school teachers on the care and development of children. Write him in care of this paper, inclosing stamped addressed envelope for reply.

Program On Africa Follows First Presbyterian Lunch

Members of the Lucy Hansell society were hostesses to the Woman's Missionary society of the First Presbyterian church in the church dining room Monday at a beautifully appointed luncheon. The tables were decorated with a profusion of colorful spring flowers, and a delightful menu was served.

Mrs. B. L. Fain, president of the Woman's Missionary society, presided in the program of the afternoon and song opened the meeting, with Mrs. Cunningham at the piano.

Mrs. J. W. Culbertson was in charge of the program on Africa and two songs showed the rich music possible to that country when Comelette McCullough, supervisor of music of Booker T. Washington school, accompanied by Alma Holland, daughter of the principal of the school, sang "Nobody Knows the Trouble I See," and "Bye-Bye."

Mrs. H. B. Patterson told of the laying of the corner stone of the Presbyterian church in Elat Cameron district, East Africa, in the building of which church the First Presbyterian church had a large part. The late Rev. R. H. Evans represented the Wichita Falls church during the laying of the corner stone. The services at that time were beautifully described by the speaker.

Mission Book Reviewed

Mrs. Culbertson introduced Rev. J. W. Wright, pastor of the East Side Presbyterian church, speaker for the day, and after Dr. George P. Horst had led in prayer, Rev. Wright spoke in an inspiring manner on the theme of the day, work in Africa. Conceding that there are people who believe that money should be kept at home and not sent into foreign fields, he repeated the missionary command of Jesus and pointed out the comfort received in this life when one takes Christ and his commands into his heart. The talk was concluded with a brief but interesting review of the new mission study book, "African Trails."

Mrs. Culbertson gave a touching tribute to the work done by Rev. R. H. Evans on the mission field in Africa, speaking of the sorrow felt by all who knew him at his passing and urging her hearers to aid in carrying on the work. A beautiful tribute was also given by Dr. George P. Horst to Rev. Evans, and at the close of his talk a few moments were spent in silent prayer, closed with prayer by Mrs. H. P. Dunlop.

The meeting was dismissed with the Mizpah benediction. There were 52 members present and out of town visitors were Mrs. J. M. Blankenship of California, Mrs. E. L. Goff of Tyler and Mrs. Earl Eldridge and Miss Mertie Keller of New York.

Expert Frowns On Eating With Fingers

By EMILY POST

I have a letter today from A. L. asking: "Is it proper to take a chicken bone between two hands or in just one?"

Answer—Properly, chicken bones should never be eaten in the fingers, except at picnics! Whether in the fingers of one or two hands is of no importance.

A second letter on this subject says, "I have two little children and the one thing they love better than anything in the world is to pick up a chicken wing in their finger. Do you think this may ever be permitted?"

Answer—As I answered in the foregoing letter, picking up chicken bones in the fingers is not the proper way to eat, and children should not be allowed to get into bad habits. But whether you sometimes let them eat a chicken bone, as a picnic treat when they are quite alone, is a matter which you must yourself decide. Under no circumstances, ever, a whole drum stick covered with meat, and not even the pinion of a wing, in the belief that holding bones in fingers is proper. But when children are little, and skill in cutting is very inefficient, it does seem cavilling to deny them the delight of a wishbone or occasional other bones.

The truth is I don't want to take the responsibility for approval of what is really advice, to be used at your discretion. On the other hand occasional spears of asparagus and occasional ears of corn are part of their table training and they should learn to eat these difficult things as nicely and unsmearingly as possible.

Another letter asks, "After one has eaten an appetizer, which is served on a toothpick, such as an olive wrapped in bacon, how can one gracefully dispose of the toothpick which remains in one's fingers?"

Answer—There is no rule about this—leave it in your cocktail glass or throw it in the fireplace or leave it on an ash tray.

Why So Many Take BLACK-DRAUGHT

Texas are good reasons why so many people prefer Thedford's Black-Draught—why it is their favorite laxative:

They like its thorough, cleansing action.

They like that "better feeling the next morning,"—a refreshed feeling after the release of intestinal poisons.

And the low cost of Black-Draught is another point in its favor. You are really buying medicine when you buy Black-Draught, as the sealed container, in which the medicine is sold, costs only a small fraction. Its light weight has saved expensive freight bills. Black-Draught is packaged, weighed and sealed by machines. It can be sold for less because of these savings in your favor.

Two Romances of Ivar Kreuger Revealed in Paris and Stockholm

By STANTON B. LEEDS

PARIS, April 25. (US)—When Ivar Kreuger committed suicide, his friends did not tell a mysterious French woman whose Mona Lisa smile is framed by auburn hair and whose blue eyes sparkled for Kreuger alone for more than 10 years.

She was ill in a Paris hospital when the Swedish match magnate shot himself. Her friends took her to the Riviera, where she is recovering farm from the talk of Kreuger's Italian bond forgeries and altered accounts prevailing here.

NORTHEAST OF NEWCASTLE

Little but My!

TACOMA, Wash.—Tiny Bernice James, 25, doesn't look any more like a deputy sheriff than Mary Pickford—yet this officer, said to be the smallest deputy in the country, makes some of the biggest "pinches" in town. Her latest was Mrs. Margaret Green, weight 170, who was found with three pints of liquor in her possession. Bernice is only four feet six inches and weighs but 82 pounds.

STOCKHOLM WOMAN BEQUEATHED $98,000

STOCKHOLM, April 25. (AP)—A tale of romance of 20 years standing turned up today in the tangled affairs of Ivar Kreuger, Swedish match king, who committed suicide in Paris last month. It was disclosed he bequeathed about $98,000 to Mrs. Ingeborg Eberth, Stockholm society woman.

Asked if she were "the woman" in Kreuger's life, Mrs. Eberth said: "If I answer that question it will be telegraphed all over the world. I will only say that he willed me the most."

The money probably will not be available, for investigation showed no cash among Kreuger's assets. Mrs. Eberth said, however, he made a last promise to her which leads her to believe the money is deposited for her somewhere. He was a "fine, noble man," she said.

His death, she told a correspondent for the newspaper Politiken at Copenhagen, was still a mystery, with unanswered questions in every direction.

She was convinced, she said, there was some secret in connection with the financier's death. "Why did his brother and sister, Torsten and Greta, announce they were going to Paris and then not do so?" she queried.

She said he gave her about $37,200 before he left for the United States early this year in case she should need money, but that it was in the form of debentures which she did not cash and which now are worthless.

Heart Balm Suit Of Miss Salazar Settled

LOS ANGELES, April 25. (INS)—The heart balm suit Dolores Salazar won from Ferdinand Pinney (affinity) Earle had been settled finally today.

The note became overdue and Miss Salazar won through default her suit to recover the amount. The note was secured by Los Angeles real estate and judgment today was satisfied.

The baby swallowed the pin after unfastening it from her clothing. It lodged in her throat and was removed by Dr. William Field.

HITLER OFFERS CO-OPERATION

Prussia May Be Cornerstone Of Coalition Rule

BERLIN, April 25. (US)—President Von Hindenburg's hopes for a coalition "government combining Adolf Hitler's nationalism and Chancellor Bruening's conciliatory foreign policies, built upon Prussia as the cornerstone, is envisaged today as the result of the state elections.

At the same time, the otherwise inconclusive Prussian elections established definitely and eloquently that popular feeling is veering away from Communism. The Social Democrats, long-dominant, who flirted with the Reds in trying to check Hitler, have had a sad awakening.

Prussia's Choice

With the greatest economic distress in history prevailing, Prussia did not heed the blandishments of Moscow's internationalism, preferring Hitler's fighting nationalism.

The slogan "Whoever controls Prussia rules the reich" has been reversed, possibly forcing Chancellor Bruening's Centrists to come to terms with Hitler's Fascists to fulfill Hindenburg's desire for a strong, moderate, rightist government not only in Prussia but in all Germany.

Cooperation Offered

The Centrists and Nazis (Hitlerites) indulged in olive-branch generalities today in post-election commenting, unwilling to commit themselves specifically in advance of their coming parleys. Hitler in Munich, declared:

"We are ready to take over the Prussian government, and are willing to cooperate with everybody. But we are equally determined to fight, fight, fight any illegal attempt of the present government to remain in power.

"Our first parliamentary move will be to force non-confidence votes in all state diets. If these are defeated through the cowardice of the middle parties, we are going to make it hot for all state governments, and will corner them by all sorts of investigations and resolutions."

Contracts to Be Awarded For Panhandle Roads

AMARILLO, Texas, April 25. (AP)—The longest strip of paving in the Texas Panhandle will extend over state highway No. 33 from Higgins, in the northeast corner, to the Deaf Smith county line near Hereford by the summer of 1933.

A few remaining gaps on the 163-mile strip have been financed, and contracts for surfacing most of them will be let within a few weeks, said W. J. van London, state construction engineer, located in Amarillo.

Continuous paving already extends from Canyon through Amarillo and Panhandle to Pampa, a distance of about 75 miles. Contracts for extending the road from Pampa east through Gray and Roberts counties will be let at the May meeting of the state highway department, Van London said. Contracts for two unpaved strips in Hemphill county and to extend the paving west from Canyon to the Deaf Smith county line will be let at the April meeting of the commission.

Paving at the northeast end of the line has been completed.

Jailed for Zeal

ROCHESTER, N. Y.—Roy McCormick 34, walked into police headquarters and asked: "What's the bail for Nick?" Just a few minutes before Policeman Quetchenbach had locked up Nick Tascione, 24, for attempted robbery. He knew the news hadn't time to spread. "Nick who?" he asked. McCormick stammered around so much that Quetchenbach held him for questioning. He finally acknowledged he was an accomplice of Tascione.

Pampa Celebration To Revive Frontier And Buckboard Days

PAMPA, Texas, April 25. (AP)—The era of the buckboard, stage coach, and chuck wagon will be recalled when Pampa stages its first annual frontier days celebration here May 26-28.

Relics, costumes, customs and entertainment of pioneer days will furnish the background for the big celebration. Those who came to the Panhandle-Plains region before 1900 are being invited to attend as special guests. They will be dined and feted royally.

A special committee is busy collecting relics and equipment, and they are being stored in a vacant warehouse. An old stage coach has been obtained from a rancher near Dumas. The Hay Hook ranch will furnish a chuck wagon. Two prairie schooners are being brought in from Oklahoma City. Ox teams and buffaloes have been arranged for.

Harvester park, which seats 10,000, will accommodate the entertainment attractions. A rodeo will will be held twice daily. Some of the nation's leading riders and ropers will be on hand. One of the first rodeo stars to enter was Bob Crosby, holder of the Roosevelt trophy for his ability in the rodeo ring.

There will be parades, free barbecues, pistol shoots, old time dances, story telling, and other contests in which the pioneers will be featured. One of the parades will be led by the Panhandle citizen who has lived here longest, with others following in the order of their arrival in this country.

Divers to Search River For Missing Student

EAST PROVIDENCE, R. I., April 25. (INS)—A reward of $200 for the finding of the body of his son Floyd, missing Harvard student, was posted this afternoon by Joe Stewart of Garden City, Kan.

Stewart, who flew by airplane from Colorado Springs, Colo., to Boston, asked Chief of Police James R. Crosby to secure a good-sized boat and hire a driver to explore the bottom of Providence river and its tributaries.

Two Indicted For Slaying at Dallas

DALLAS, April 25. (AP)—Acting speedily through fear that state witnesses might be intimidated, the county grand jury today returned murder indictments against Frank (Red) Callan and R. S. (Sam) Murray for the killing of King Watson, asserted "bouncer," at a resort near Bachman's dam the night of April 17.

The true bills were returned shortly after Mrs. Harry Goodman, 29, wife of the resort operator, appeared before the jury and related her version of events leading to the shooting.

Mrs. Goodman spent the weekend in the women's ward at the county jail at her own request. She told officers her life had been threatened and she wanted to be safe until the two men had been indicted.

Big Bend Fruit Crop Safe After Freezes

ODESSA, Texas, April 25.—So far as can be ascertained the fruit crop of the Big Bend country is practically safe. Some anxiety was felt during the past month on account of the low temperature but there was not sufficient frost to damage the fruit. Farmers believe that there might be some danger to be apprehended from hail later on. Apples in the Fort Davis section are reported to be in splendid condition and a normal crop is expected.

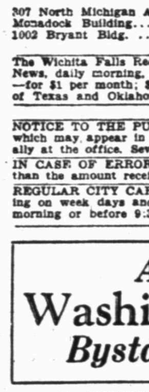
A Washington Bystander

By KIRKE SIMPSON

WASHINGTON, April 25.—If Mr. Hoover is renominated without any convention row whatever, Dr. Joseph France of Maryland will be a disappointed man.



JOSEPH I. FRANCE

Unless, of course, developments along the prohibition front at Chicago should be such as to make an eastern anti-prohibitionist the most desirable running mate for Mr. Hoover, and Dr. France should get the call.

Under such circumstances it is to be assumed the Marylander would take a more kindly view of the Hoover candidacy.

An Optimistic Doctor

Dr. France viewed the fruits of his western tour just before the half-way mark in the primaries was reached as highly satisfactory.

He declared that he had brought back some 76 Republican convention delegates legally bound to support him, and looked forward to annexing as many more within the next few days in states where Hoover's name was not on primary ballots.

That being his view of the situation, the doctor was surprised, not to say indignant, over the fact that press tabulations were calmly ignoring his claims.

Dr. France might be right and the Washington political prophets wrong, of course, but if any of them thought it possible that France would actually be credited on a convention roll call with any substantial part of the strength he now claims, they would be making as much fuss about that as they are doing daily about the Roosevelt-Smith mix-up, say, on the Democratic side.

"I dispute the moral or legal right of Mr. Hoover or his followers to claim delegates from those states which have primary election laws and where I have filed and he has not," is the burden of Dr. France's case.

Mr. Hoover's name has been filed in very few states to date and probably will be filed in not many others.

Yet so far as memory now serves, the only Republican primary to which political commentators in Washington have given any particular heed except as to registration figures in comparison with the Democratic showing, was that Wisconsin affair.

Dr. France's goings and comings have not figured in their calculations.

It Would Change Things

Apply the France thesis of how various state primary laws enacted, as he says, since "certain notorious political scandals" of 1912, actually were supposed to work to the 1932 nomination races generally and you might have a wholly different picture.

Inactive candidacies, the outstanding characteristic of the show this year, would have been nowhere. Probably nobody expecting to figure in the race at convention time would have dared keep out of the preliminary canters on a nation-wide scale.

If China and Japan ever get in a real fight, the league ought to make Japan use 12-ounce gloves.

Playing Into the Radicals' Hands

MAY DAY used to bring thoughts of happy children dancing around a May pole. Nowadays it brings thoughts of unhappy radicals dancing around a city square to dodge the clubs of busy policemen.

On the May day that is at hand there will probably be a good many demonstrations by Communists, near-Communists and the like. And there is one thing that we need to remember about these people. Every last one of them has a martyr complex.

Nothing pleases the radical agitator better than to have something happen to him which will enable him to call himself a martyr. It gives him a talking point, it helps him to gain converts. He actually wants the police to club him and drag him off to jail. A long prison sentence is even better. An actual execution is best of all.

As an example, consider the case of Tom Mooney.

That decision turning down his plea for a pardon had hardly been given to the public when Mooney was announcing:

"This makes me the outstanding figure in the world's labor movement, and a symbol of the struggle of labor for its rights."

And you can depend upon it that that cry will be repeated by radical agitators all over the world. If Mooney had been pardoned a decade ago he would have been forgotten by now. As it is, he has furnished "the cause" with another martyr.

The point of all this is that May day will provide the radical group with an excellent chance to enroll some more martyrs, unless police chiefs and city authorities everywhere use good judgment.

Wherever a radical parade is broken up, wherever a radical agitator is thumped on the skull and tossed into jail—right there the Communists' most ardent wishes have been satisfied.

The answer, obviously, is to abstain from clubbing and jailing. Let them parade, let them talk, let them demonstrate. When you use force against them you are doing precisely what they want you to do.

A Sensible Program

THE Hudson County Medical society, in New Jersey, said to be the United States' oldest association of physicians, has started an interesting newspaper campaign against quacks.

This group has advertised in the Jersey City newspapers, listing all of its 450 members. The idea is to let the public know just what doctors are affiliated with the society—the point, of course, being that no one but a reputable and fully-qualified M. D. can be a member of the group.

Here is a wrinkle other medical societies might well adopt. A new resident in a city usually knows nothing whatever about the local doctors, and when illness comes he is apt to pick one by chance. Unless there is available some listing of the genuine doctors, he is apt to fall into the hands of a quack who will do him more harm than good.

Where Slashing Is Needed

THE idea that tax reform is chiefly a matter that concerns the federal government is a mistake that seems peculiarly prevalent at this time. So much publicity has been given to the current attempts to reduce the federal budget that the spending proclivities of city, county and state governments tend to get overlooked.

That being the case, a few figures are worth attention. It has been reliably estimated that the total sum collected in taxes in the United States each year is between 12 and 14 billion dollars. Of this, only a little more than four billions go to Uncle Sam. The rest is taken by local and state governments.

Relief from the heavy tax burden, then, is not chiefly a matter of reducing federal expenditures. Unless city, county and state officials can be induced to slash their budgets very materially, we shall continue to be over-taxed—no matter what the government at Washington does.

The Schwab Philosophy

CHARLES M. SCHWAB'S asseration that America, having enjoyed five or six years of great prosperity, must not complain at having to endure five or six years of depression, hardly seems the best of all possible consolations for our six or eight millions of unemployed workers.

It is not hard for a multimillionaire to adopt a philosophical attitude like that. Things do even up in this world, of course, and the man whose yearly income ran into the millions, toward the close of the last decade, can hardly complain if it is substantially less now.

But the jobless man, who lives on charity and who has seen his home, his possessions, his security and his hopes for his family all destroyed by protracted unemployment, may not be able to look at things with quite the same measure of urbane detachment.

SO THEY SAY!

Hoover won't dare to veto this bonus bill. The ex-service men are yelling for it; and the merchants to whom they are indebted are asking for it.—Congressman Wright Patman of Texas.

* * *

The armaments forbidden to Germany, submarines, tanks, heavy field artillery, gas and fighting aircraft, must be regarded under international law as offensive armaments.—Dr. Walter Simmons, ex-foreign minister of Germany.

* * *

The Democrats have demonstrated they are unable to govern themselves and therefore it stands to reason they cannot be expected to govern the country.—Congressman Will Wood, Republican, Indiana.

Walter Winchell On Broadway

(Copyright, 1932, Daily Mirror, Inc.)

(During illness of Mr. Winchell this column is being conducted by Paul Yawitz)

Suicide Room!

I live in a suicide room
High over Washington square,
Where the sun peeps in every morning
To see if I'm still there.

And the moon looks in every evening
In the stealth of its silver barrage;
And chuckles and lingers a moment
To wish me a bon voyage.

And all through the day there's a south wind
That darts through my muddled domain;
And it taps me and turns me and whispers—
Why go on with the pain?

Yet down in my heart there's a clamor
To live and to laugh and to sin;
But the sun and the moon and the south wind
Are stronger than I—and they win!

The Rueful Roue!

When I was 16 my ambitious parents encouraged my association with girls.

Now that I am 60 my precautious children warn me against it.

I've searched zealously, but nowhere in the Ten Commandments is one admonished to obey his children. Accordingly, I shall continue to obey my parents.

Broadway . . . where the only time they praise you is when it will do you no good.—Milt Gross.

De Name, Pliss?

Right after his "24 Hours" smashed the lit'ry marts, Louis Bromfield was hurriedly hailed to Stallywood by the screemie interests, assigned to an office, and, according to Rube Wardell, was immediately forgotten by the execs, who hired him.

After three months of oblivion, the author protested to the studio head. "Dunt worry," he was told. "Come beck at five this hafternoon and I'll have news for you."

On the dot, Bromfield reappeared. "Wal, it's everything hall sat," he was assured. "You seeting pretty. We'll gonna take fool adventige from you raputation. We'll gonna make a super-hextraspashil wot'll be by you de name in latters 10 fitt high. So go beck in your huffice and dunt worrying. Goot bye, Meester Bloomborg."

Simileads!

Yoo-hoo Mr. Wilstach! Idwal Jones: Hind wheels whirring like egg-beaters . . . Sax Rohmer. Gleaming teeth like combers on a moonlit sea . . . Hildegarde Bolson: He was waiting patiently, like a puppy that wags his tail and then sits back hoping for attention . . . Andrew Pentland: His intentions were as transparent as celophane pajamas . . . Ted Cook: Indifferent as an actor reading another's press clippings.

Burns Mantle: Funny as the American widow trying to count francs in Paris . . . Arthur "Bugs" Bear: Clothes are like whiskers. No matter in what shape they are in they're still a barometer of years that have gone by . . . Arthur Brisbane: To investigate the stock exchange now is as sad as looking into a nest full of young robins when the cat has killed the mother bird—you see nothing but beaks wide open and little yellow throats pleading for worms.

Broadway . . . where 90 per cent of the girls are working girls and the other 10 per cent are working men.—Irving Weissler.

The Marital Arena!

Dave Murray vows that nowadays a widow is a lady whose husband died before she could divorce him.

On Exhibit!

Grant Withers ran into Alice Joyce for the first time in several years at Phil Rosen's celeb party Sunday afternoon and the screen stars began reminiscing.

"When was the last time you saw me?" inquired Grant.

"Oh, it was less than a year ago," replied the lovely Alice. "I saw one of your pictures in Philly—"

Grant interrupted with a fullface beam.

"—on a speakeasy wall!" she concluded.

Spring Fever

Spring has come and I must hark
To the lovers in the park
To the growing things that flood
Wonder in my sluggish blood;
I must sniff the air and cope
With this restless thing called "hope."
Wish and want for God knows what . . .
Will I get it? I shall not!

—JANE SAYRE.

Broadway . . . where they slap you on the back in the hope that it's sunburned.—J. Levine.

The New York Scene:

She was old and wrinkled and the rags hung from her withered form like the faded leaves of a willow tree. Shuffling into a Madison avenue coffee-pot, she begged a bowl of soup.

The proprietor sat her down in a far corner. Tears streamed down her cheeks. "They buried me old man in potter's field today, gawd knows he was a louse, a downright louse," she sobbed, "but he was the only company I had."

Sotto Voce

Mildred Lorimer: The advertising dep't opposes it.

Franklin Wolters: Keep trying.

Theodore Thorpe: Yes, it's his code and in every drawing he sends her a message.

Ann Harding Won't Contest Divorce Suit

RENO, Nev., April 25. (INS)—Ann Harding, film star, will not come to Reno to contest the divorce suit of her husband, Harry Bannister, screen writer and actor, plans to file within two weeks, he said today.

In bed at a dude ranch cottage with a sprained back suffered in a fall from a horse Bannister declared:

"Miss Harding certainly isn't comin' here. Whether there will be a cross complaint to my divorce suit will be up to the lawyers. I understand it wouldn't be necessary for her to come to Reno even if a cross-complaint were filed.

"We have not discussed a reconciliation."

Bannister said his injury was not serious.

EXPLANATION OF YESTERDAY'S CARTOON

A BLUSHING CURE—Madame de Maintenon (1635-1719), who became the second (morganatic) wife of King Louis XIV of France, was born in jail. Her father was serving a sentence for a political crime and her mother was the daughter of the jail warden. She spent her youth in a convent of Usulines, whence she emerged to marry Scarren, the French dramatist, at the age of 17. After the death of her husband she succeeded in being united to King Louis in a secret marriage ceremony. She wielded a strong influence at the French court, her attitude being marked by a proud dignity. According to her own memoires (Lettres de Mme. de Maintenon) she had herself bled regularly twice a week to be able to listen without blushing to the stories circulating in the gay circles of the French court.

The Story of an Unemployed Girl

By Ethelda Bedford, Author of Broadway Bride

CHAPTER XXXVI

"One agency told me to come back in three months . . . another said their lists of applicants was so large they didn't want any more names on it . . ." Eve's voice broke. She hid her face in her pillow.

Lillian put her bundle on the table and sat on the bed beside Eve.

"Please, don't cry, Eve. Something will turn up for you."

Eve turned her tear-stained face up. "I know. You're trying to make me feel better. No use. One of the agencies I paid to register with sent me to see about a job this afternoon. What do you suppose the manager said?"

"What?"

"When I told him I hadn't been fired, that I was laid off from a job I'd had three years he said, 'So, you're another one of those sad stories are you? I suppose you've got a crippled grandmother, a widowed mother and you have to support your five little brothers and sisters'."

"What did you answer?" Lillian wanted to know.

"Why he was interviewing me if that's the way he felt about unemployed girls. He said then that the job had been filled an hour before. That he just wanted to know what kind of a story I had to tell."

Eve sat up and Lillian noticed her chin tremble as she made an effort to set it determinedly.

"Oh, I'll keep on trying—even if I have to scrub floors for a job. What if that had been true—that I had a sick mother and kids to clothe and feed? Would that be a crime?

"What about young girls like us—well, we have to live, don't people realize that?"

Eve was unnerved, desperately trying to solve the problem of the unemployed girl. She was a trained worker, intelligent, personable. She had paid numerous registration fees to employment agencies. But still, after months, she was unable to secure employment. She had reason to feel desperate.

"Oh, heaven may protect the working girl, but what does it do about the one without work?"

Lillian had to laugh. Eva was getting herself in hand. She bathed her face and smoothed her hair.

They spread the little table and made stacks of cheese sandwiches and poured the milk.

"I guess Laura is seeing Sam," Eve said, when 7:30 came and without Laura.

"Sam? A boy friend?" Lillian asked.

"Did you wonder why we never had any dates?" Eva seemed to get the thought suddenly.

"Not exactly. Only, I've wanted some myself—"

"New York is nothing without interesting men to take your places," said Eva, "but when the most interesting and the only one you like loses his job, why—well, anyway, that's my case. But with Laura it's different. Sam would give her a Park avenue apartment, but he wouldn't buy a marriage license.

"Is she in love with him?"

"I think she could be."

After a little pause Eve said thoughtfully: "One night I brought this fellow I like up here. He's been out of work for nearly six months. So you see I was better off at that time than he was. I fixed some food here and had him in. But the landlady had a fit. Came in and said this was a respectable house."

"Where is he now?"

"I don't know. He said there was no use seeing me. Couldn't help. That it was embarrassing for both of us, being without employment. . . . I guess he was right," a little wistfully.

Wasn't there anything but unhappiness in New York, Lillian wondered. She thought New York was all gayety, brightness. But all she found was distress . . . in herself and her friends.

"Sam knows Laura is—is all right, doesn't he?"

"Of course," answered Eve, "but I always have thought that Sam held to the belief that—well, some day she wouldn't be so proud, if you know what I mean?"

Lillian nodded. It seemed fictional to Lillian.

"Yesterday, when we came out of one of the agencies, a girl who had been in line just ahead of Laura and me turned to us and said: 'Walking the streets would be swell beside this'."

Lillian became thoughtful, serious.

"It worried me. The way Laura looked at the girl as she said that. I knew Laura was thinking of what her father had told her—and that's why she left home. Her stepfather. He wouldn't have cared if she had walked the streets—the way he insinuated she had. Just so she brought home money."

The pride which had been bred in Lillian rebelled at the thought. But her contact with the seething, calloused life of the great city had certainly seasoned that pride with understanding.

Eight o'clock. But no Laura.

Both girls listened for her steps on the long, narrow stairs.

Lillian sensed that Eve didn't want to talk any more. That she was on the verge of tears.

Everywhere she turned there were deserving young girls, suffering real privations because of unemployment . . . girls she never would hear about, that no one would hear about because they would not complain.

Lillian felt that Eve and Laura would not beg charity, even if they were starving.

Laura had been made to feel that being jobless was something to be ashamed of. That was the fault of some of those smug, economically secure women in employment agencies!

Eve lay across the bed and traced figures on the cheap wall paper with her finger.

"If Laura never came back," Eve said, "maybe we shouldn't feel too badly for her. Just think, Lillian. She would be one of the leisure class—then."

Lillian felt her throat tighten. She thought, with a little pity, of herself. A few weeks ago she was of the leisure class, but a different class from that to which Eve now referred.

A wave of self-pity swept the lonely little room.

Lillian, for the first time, was regretful. She had set out for big adventure, romance. She really had wanted love. She had not wanted work . . . work, the kind doled out by the agencies to a favored few.

Lillian knew in her moments of self pity she had been in search of young love . . . which would be sweeping, throbbing, all absorbing . . . and she believed from the stories she had read that she would be certain to encounter it in the heart of the big city.

Eve, with her face still turned to the wall, said:

"We could stay awake all night . . . we aren't slaves to jobs. Not bending out backs to toil." She laughed mirthlessly.

"No—," said Lillian, and felt strangely depressed.

"Canned! Fired! I wasn't, but I might have been. All the same—now."

Lillian wished for words of consolation for Eve, forgetting her own worry for Eve's. Eve always had been so calm before.

"Maybe, tomorrow, Eve, you'll find something—like I did today," Lillian offered.

"What's the use? I was just taking inventory of my clothes. The sum total of which is as follows: One pair of stockings, with a short run in one and a darned heel in the other, one wool dress, which needs dry cleaning, and a shabby 3-year-old coat . . . I can't get a job in those . . ."

Lillian realized in a flash that even Eve's clothes were better than Laura's . . . poor proud Laura.

"Laura couldn't stand it any longer . . ." Eve said.

Seaman Held in South Africa For Kidnaping of Kansas City Woman

NEW YORK, April 25. (UP)—John Long, seaman, who deserted the freighter City of New York in South Africa and is now held by police in Johannesburg, has been identified as Martin Depew, wanted in Kansas City in connection with the kidnaping of Mrs. Nell Donnelly, E. T. Osborn, port captain of the American-South African lines said today.

WOMAN IDENTIFIES MAN AS KIDNAPER

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 25. (INS)—Arrest of Martin Deputy, alias Marshall Depew, in Johannesburg, South Africa, resulted from months of under cover work by Kansas City authorities who bought Deputy since last December for the kidnaping of Mrs. Nell Donnelly, wealthy apron manufacturer of Kansas City.

After trailing Deputy east from Kansas City detectives learned from relatives of the man that he had shipped on the freighter City of New York. Through the ship's officers the detectives learned that Deputy deserted the boat at Durban, South Africa, early this month. A full description of Deputy was sent South Africa authorities, resulting in his arrest.

James R. Page, Jackson county prosecutor, and Gov. Henry S. Caulfield were reported in Washington arranging with the state department for return of Deputy to the United States.

Deputy has definitely been identified from photographs by Mrs. Donnelly as the ringleader of the gang that abducted her from in front of her home last December. She was released 36 hours later without a demanded ransom of $50,000 being paid. Two members of the kidnap group are under arrest here and, according to authorities, made confessions implicating Deputy.

Eastern Oklahoma Gang Blamed for Robbery

A total of 2,600 pounds of pistol ammunition, 1,200 pounds of army rifle ammunition, several holsters and medical supplies were taken but no rifles or pistols were missing.

SPUDDERS WIN THRILLER FROM STEERS IN 11TH INNING, 4-3

The Rambler's Corner

By FRED THOMPSON

Privileged Class

The only working men in the world, probably, who not only can get by with giving their boss a good cussin' out, but can actually raise themselves in their boss' estimation by so doing, are baseball players.

This didn't occur to us until one of the Fort Worth players Sunday afternoon walked over to the mound and told Manager Dick McCabe just where to get off.

Well, it was the seventh inning, and the Spudders were right in the middle of a juicy rally that eventually netted six runs, and came within two tallies of winning the game. Old Dick McCabe until then had pitched a four-hit game, and he appeared to be in his best form, for all the Spudders had done was biff a few measly singles and poop up to the infield.

But our Spudders started blasting away at McCabe in that seventh and the air was littered with singles and doubles, and runs started oozing over the plate in a constant stream. Just at that moment First Baseman Hooks of the Cats walked deliberately toward the mound with a look as ferocious as a city editor's glare and said in a voice so loud it was perfectly distinct even in the press box:

"—— —— it, Dick, get in their pitch . . . !!" And he continued in the same vein for several breaths.

Now if that had happened in any other business, Mr. Hooks would be out looking for a job. Never have we heard the boss of any going concern given such a blessing out as Manager Dick McCabe received from a man who stays on the pay roll solely by his, McCabe's consent.

Hooks, in crawling on his manager, proved he was "hustling," and then McCabe probably realized, deep down in his heart, that he had a "bawling out" coming; for from the Fort Worth point of view he was doing a pretty lousy job of pitching, although us Spudder fans thought it was just perfectly lovely.

Well, anyway, Hooks can sure sling the he-man lingo, and he doesn't mind telling his boss where to get off, and somehow we admire him for that. Our ears were perfectly astounded Sunday afternoon when we heard his verbiage. It was more audible profanity at Athletic park than had been detected since Carl Williams turned toward a booing crowd near the last of the 1931 season, and let loose a terrific "Go to hell!"

Reduced Baseball Prices

It is the aim of the Fort Worth Baseball club, according to an announcement appearing in Sunday Fort Worth papers, to support any move which might lead to "two-bit" baseball.

Of course, if I wanted to get smart I could say we've seen a good deal of two-bit baseball already, and with the season just in its second week—but the Fort Worth announcement has to do with tickets to the games, you understand.

The Fort Worth club took the first step in this direction by posting a lower scale of prices effective yesterday. Actually, the prices remain the same, because prices to ball games are fixed by the Texas league and cannot be changed by individual clubs at will—but the league doesn't prevent a club giving its customers more for their money than they have been accustomed to—and this is exactly what the Fort Worth club is doing. A bleacher ticket, under the new plan, will admit one to the grandstand, and so on.

Panther officials said they hoped the league would change the rule which fixes existing prices, in order that "two-bit" baseball may be a fact.

The Fort Worth club is the first to focus attention on what the general baseball public has been thinking several months—that present rates, considering existing conditions, are too high. Cheaper admission prices probably would be a great help to Texas league baseball this year. In the end, we believe the greater patronage would make up for the slash in ticket prices.

But more than that, a reduction in prices will do much to increase baseball's good will. It will prove the league is human. Everything else is coming down, so why shouldn't the fans pay less to see a ball game? Six bits, after all, is a pretty stiff price in these days for an ordinary ball game.

If the league does not make some readjustment in keeping with the predicament Mr. Hoover is largely credited with being responsible for, we predict this much—that the Texas league in general and each and every club in particular is going to incur the enmity of a baseball loving populace which, under economic pressure, is beginning to feel it is unjust to keep on paying war-time prices for baseball during a postwar depression such as besets all of us.

Ticket prices in other sports have been scaled downward. Baseball remains the only sport to maintain its high prices. Ticket prices for the Max Schmeling-Jack Sharkey bout for the heavyweight championship of the world were announced no later than Sunday as being "lower than those for any heavyweight championship fight under Marquis of Queensbury rules." Madison Square garden announced the public will see a title bout for the lowest prices since James J. Corbett knocked out John L. Sullivan at New Orleans in 1892.

College football has joined in the trend toward lower admission prices. Illinois university has already announced a cut. So has the University of Southern California and the University of California at Los Angeles. Fordham also has cut prices. So will Western Reserve, Notre Dame, along with scores of other colleges and universities throughout the land, are considering reductions, according to a summary of the situation by The United Press.

Baseball may dodge the issue temporarily, but sooner or later it must face the music.

Europe's largest dam, 600 feet long, has just been completed at Kleinan Belliloch, in Thuringia.

CONLAN AGAIN TAMES HERD

Fuss Slams Homer in Ninth To Save Day

Rookie Tom Conlan of the Spudders shaded the veteran Spec Erickson of the Dallas Steers in the series opener here yesterday afternoon, and with the aid of a timely ninth-inning home run from the bat of Bob Fuss and a juicy break later in the contest the home town boys smashed the Steers 4 to 3 in a hair-raising 11-inning battle, the first extra-inning game of the 1932 season at Athletic park.

It was a tense battle from start to finish, featured by brilliant fielding on the part of both teams, with the Spudders reaping most of the defensive laurels.

Pitchers' Duel

The element of anxiety on the part of the home folks was present from the very start, for after the Spudders had chalked up two runs off Erickson in the first, the Steers tied the score with a pair of tallies in the second, and from then on the hurlers tied up in a torrid pitchers' duel. A single by James, Brower's sacrifice, and Langford's single in the eighth gave the Steers a 3 to 2 lead, but Fuss put the Spudders back in the game in the last of the ninth when he led off with a hard-hit homer over the scoreboard.

After Conlan had pitched himself out of a hole in the 10th and a fast double play had saved him in the 11th, the Spudders, in the last of the 11th won the ball game mainly because of the failure of the Dallas infield to handle a mere pop fly. Both Scharein and Fuss led off by grounding out, second to first, but Badgro was awarded a walk by Umpire Palmer over the loud protest of the Steers. Green then shot a pop fly in the air between first and the mound, and the outlook darkened for the Spudder cause; but Erickson, Second Baseman James and First Baseman Bonura, all of whom had run down to catch the pop, thought the other man had it, with the result the ball fell for a clean single and the alert Badgro legged it all the way to third before the discomfited Steers had realized what it was all about.

Badgro Scores

Apparently unnerved by the boner, Erickson, pitching to Severeid, let loose a wild heave, and Badgro scampered home with the run that won the game.

The youngster Conlan, who was poison to the Steers last week in Dallas when he beat them with a five-hit job, more than matched Erickson, who last year with Shreveport won fame by pitching a no-hit, no-run game. Each pitcher allowed nine hits to come out even on that score, but the fact remains that had Erickson not lost control in the 11th, any number of things might have resulted, even a Dallas victory.

The Spudder infield must not be left out in the cold when the plums are passed around, for it came to Conlan's rescue with four double plays, the last one in the 11th inning. Oddly enough, the much-heralded Zeke Bonura, reputed to be one of the best sluggers in the loop, hit into three of the double plays—one in the first, one in the third, and the last in the sixth. On his fourth trip to the plate he lined out to left and on his fifth, in the 10th, he was purposely walked.

James, Brower Star

The Steers contributed two double plays themselves, one in the first and another in the seventh. The defensive playing of James, Steer second baseman, was outstanding, as was that of Brower, young shortstop. The Spudder outfield, featuring Fuss and Garms, played sensationally.

Garms and Scharein were the only Spudders to get two hits, while the remainder were distributed between Fuss, Badgro, Green, Severeid, and Clift. One of Scharein's nicks was a triple in the first that drove in the first Spudder tally. For the visitors, James, Langford, and Powers got two hits each.

The two teams resume the series this afternoon. The game will start at 4 o'clock.

Spudders Score Two

To start things the Steers got two on base without a hit, but failed to score. James was hit by a pitched ball and advanced on Brower's sacrifice. Langford walked, but Bonura hit into a double play, Scharein to Green. In their half the Spuds scored a pair and were prevented from possible further scoring by a great stop by James, Steer second sacker. Garms, first up, blazed a single to right and Scharein scored him with a triple down the left field foul line. Fuss rolled out to first, unassisted. Badgro singled to right, scoring Scharein. Green hit a hot line drive just to the right of the second sack, but James came up with it neatly and doubled Badgro at second to retire the side.

The Steers tied the count in the second. Successive singles by Radcliff, Loepp and Holman packed the sacks. Powers fouled out to first. Erickson forced Holman at second, second to short, but was safe at first when First Baseman Green dropped Scharein's throw of the double play ball. Radcliff scored on the play. James doubled to center, scoring Loepp and advancing Erickson to third. Brower grounded out, short to first, retiring the side. In the last half, Severeid and Euller went out on infield rolls and Clift struck out.

Another Twin Killing

Langford started the third with a line drive single to center but Bonura hit into a double play, Euller to Clift to Green, and Radcliff rolled out, Clift to Green. With two out in the home half Scharein beat out an infield hit to third but was out stealing a moment later, catcher to short.

With two out in the first of the fourth, Powers shot a beauty to right for what he considered a double, but he was out trying to stretch it, Fuss pegging from deep right to Scharein, who made the putout. In the home half Erickson again mowed the Spuds down in order, Fuss popping to short, Badgro lifting to center, and Green grounding out, short to first.

Conlan treated the Steers in the same manner to open the fifth. Erickson popped to short. Green lost James' pop fly in the sun but Clift was backing him up and took it neatly. Brower grounded out, Clift to Green. The Spudders muffed a great chance to break the tie in their half. Severeid opened it with a hot single to left, Euller skied to center. Clift shot a single between Erickson's legs, Severeid taking second. Conlan grounded out, second to first, both runners advancing, but Garms grounded out, short to first. Brower, Steer shortstop, made a great play on Garms' grounder.

James Stars Again

Langford walked to open the sixth, but Bonura hit into a double play, Euller to Clift to Green, and Radcliff grounded out, Clift to Green. The Spuds went down in order, Scharein grounding out, short to first; James, Steer second sacker, coming up with a great stop of Fuss' hard grounder; and Badgro striking out.

With two out in the seventh, Powers beat out a bunt down the third base line for a single, the first hit off Conlan in four innings, but Erickson hoisted to left, retiring the side. Green walked to open the home half but Severeid hoisted to right and Green was doubled off first, right to first. Euller then grounded out, third to first.

The Steers broke the tie finally in the eighth. James opened with a single and was sacrificed to second by Brower. Langford lined a single to right, scoring James. Bonura lined out to left and Fuss made a great catch of Radcliff's high fly against the right field fence. With two out in the last half Garms singled but Scharein popped to short.

Fuss Rescues Spudders

The Steers went hitless in the ninth. Loepp popped to Clift. Holman walked, but Powers also popped to Clift, and Erickson grounded out, Clift to Green. Bob Fuss, with a home run smash over the right center field fence to start the last of the ninth, put the Spudders back in the ball game. Erickson throttled further hostilities however, fanning Badgro and Green, and forcing Severeid to ground out, short to first; and the game went into extra innings.

James was safe at first to start the 10th when Clift made a bad throw to first of his grounder to second. James took second on Brower's sacrifice, Green to Clift. Langford skied to center. Bonura was intentionally walked. Radcliff fouled out to first, retiring the side. The Spuds also failed to register. With two out, Conlan walked but Garms swung at the third one.

They Win It

Loepp walked to start the 11th, but Holman hit into a double play, Scharein to Clift to Green. Powers also walked but was forced at second by Erickson, Euller to Clift. Green's pop fly fell between James, Bonura and Erickson just to the right of the box, when all three thought the other had it. The result was a single for Green, and Badgro legged it all the way to third. The boner proved just the right break for Wichita Falls, for a moment later Erickson let loose with a wild pitch and Green scored from third with the winning run.

Hooks and Baker Slam Out Home Runs

FORT WORTH, April 25. (AP)—George Grant held the Shreveport Sports to seven scattered hits here this afternoon and the Fort Worth Panthers grabbed the first game of their Texas league home stand, 3 to 1. Home runs accounted for three of the four runs, Alex Hooks and Ulmont Baker getting four-baggers for the Panthers and Best clouting out one for the Sports.

Charlie Biggs hurled for the Sports and was effective most of the afternoon. Outside of the first inning, when Jeanes' double scored Krause from first, Biggs was master of the situation except for the two home runs. Best's homer hit the flag pole in left field and dropped outside the park. Score:

EXPORTERS STOP REDSKINS

SAN ANTONIO, April 25. (AP)—Back from their double triumph at Houston, the San Antonio Indians were halted by the Beaumont Exporters in the opening game of the series here today. The score was 4 to 2.

It was a pitchers' duel between Bob House and Luke Hamlin. In the sixth inning, Reiser walked and Clifton singled to center, and as Fitzgerald threw the ball to Schofield Reiber went on to third and scored as Schofield threw to Brewer, beating the ball to the plate on Brewer's belated throw to Bradbury.

President J. Alvin Gardner of the Texas league was in the stands on a tour over the circuit. Score:

Saint Jo Wins Third Game From Nocona

Special to The Record News.

SAINT JO, Texas, April 26.—Playing in a high wind at Nocona, Saint Jo drubbed Nocona 15 to 5. Claud Sewell started for Nocona but had to be relieved when he was struck on the hand by a batted ball. Pemberton, Birch and Storey saw service in the box after Sewell but were not able to hold the Saint Jo hitters. This was the third straight win for them and the third loss for Nocona.

Brogden worked in the box for Saint Jo allowing eight hits and five runs. He is a new and inexperienced man in this league and has possibilities of developing into one of the best hurlers in the league.

Caps Corner team went over to Spanish Fort and took another whipping from the hands of Pig Howard. Davenport worked nicely for Caps Corner but his mates did not give him enough runs. The score was 3 to 2 Spanish Fort.

Wooden Leg Williams let Montague down with one run while his club was pounding over 10 runs at Bulcher. Bulcher played jam up baseball despite the high wind. This game gives Bulcher three victories and one loss for the present season. Montague has one victory and two losses.

Highway Garage Beats Dixon Sign Nine, 6-3

Highway Garage upset the dope bucket Monday afternoon on Harrison field and bumped Dixon Sign company 6 to 3 to register their first win in the Commercial league. "Popeye" Powell was sailing along with a two-run lead until he blew up in the sixth inning when two hits in a row followed three walks for four runs. Joe Walkup supplied a thrill in the seventh by walking, then stealing second, third and home in succession.

Hank Cissel gave up three hits and three runs in the first two innings, then steadied down and blanked the sign painters the rest of the way. Only one hit was made off the automobile doctor's ace with only 17 men facing him the last five innings. Cissel fanned seven to Powell's five and walked four while Powell passed six. It was the first week day game of the year to go the full seven-inning route. Score:

CARDS WHIP REDS, 4 TO 2

Champions Climb Out Of League Cellar

CINCINNATI, April 25. (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals and the Cincinnati Reds swapped places on the National league cellar steps today, the Cardinals mounting one by virtue of a 4 to 2 victory, and the Reds slipping farther down.

Until the sixth inning it seemed Cincinnati would get the best of a pitching contest. Chick Hafey's triple in the second, followed by Morrissey's double, gave the Reds a run which Lucas seelmed able to hold.

Then in the sixth, Frisch singled, and Bottomley followed suit past Harry Heilmann. Collins doubled and Mancuso's pop out and Gelbert's single were enough to make it three runs for the inning.

Late game rallies went to the well too often for the Reds. Hafey walked and Heilmann singled in the eighth but the lineup went down in order still two runs short.

The Reds played without two aces, Babe Herman and Mickey Heath. Herman was out with a cold and Heath was found to be ill and underweight after his poor showing yesterday.

Defeat sent the Reds to seventh place in a steady slump from the heights, St. Louis just above them in sixth place. Score:

Heath and Diet Advice

Asparagus

Asparagus was cultivated by the Romans and was considered a delicacy on their tables. Only the young and tender shoots are used in most households, but some of the poorer peasants in Europe also use the seeds as a substitute for coffee and the berries as the basis for a drink.

Asparagus may be obtained fresh most of the year, although at certain times it is very expensive. The canned product may, however, be used during the months when you cannot obtain the fresh in your market. Although asparagus does not contain much nutritional value, it is valuable in the diet because it serves as an appetizer and because it is rich in mineral elements, especially sodium, calcium, potassium and sulphur.

For Kidney Elimination

Asparagus is especially good for those who are suffering from dropsy, Bright's disease, or rheumatism, since the asparagin which it contains has a stimulating effect upon the kidneys. It will often be noticed that those who are suffering from heart palpitation or from a too rapid heart beat will have a distinct slowing of the pulse an hour or two after a meal containing asparagus. Asparagus contains vitamin B and for this reason is helpful in nerve troubles.

In preparing this vegetable, it should be washed carefully to remove the grit. Sometimes a small amount of dirt sticks under the larger scales, and they should be removed, as well as the toughest part of the fibrous end.

The best way to cook asparagus is tie it in bunches which are set in a tall cooking vessel and in boiling water which does not cover the tips so that the delicate tips do not boil to pieces. A good plan is to use a tall coffee or tobacco can and keep it for this purpose. Cook for 15 to 20 minutes, but no longer. When served, the spears will be tender and soft and they may be dipped in butter before being eaten.

Good Bulky Food

Asparagus may be used by those who want more bulk in the diet in order to aid the bowels; it should be freely used by those who are reducing in weight and are looking for a food which may be eaten in large quantities to satisfy the appetite. It is usually relished by children.

Various sizes are canned and it is possible to buy the choicest tips in this way. In opening a can of asparagus it is best to open the bottom, as the tips are always at the top and, when the top is cut, the can opener may injure them. All of the canned asparagus is hand packed and vacuum sealed so that the product will come to the table with its fresh flavor and without being crushed too tightly in the can.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Kelp as Food

Question—J. J. N. writes: "In reading one of your articles you mention kelp as a food. Is it a misprint or is it really a food, and inform me if it is the long streamers coming from a hollow bulb."

Answer—Kelp is a seaweed which contains a large amount of mineral matter principally sodium, iodine, chlorine and potassium. It contains, however, very little carbohydrates and protein. It is not a necessary addition to the diet, but may be used to advantage when other alkaline-forming vegetables are not readily obtainable. Both the streamers and the bulbs may be used. The small bulbs and streamers next to the leaves are the parts most commonly eaten. The plant may be used raw, dried, boiled or roasted. The plant has a rather pronounced odor which is not appealing unless one becomes accustomed to it.

Proper Weight Variable

Question—Mrs. G. writes: "Will you please tell me what a woman should weigh, age 74, height 5 feet 5 inches?"

Answer—For a woman of your age and height I believe 130 pounds may be considered a good weight. Ten per cent more or less could be considered normal. The proper weight may vary slightly depending upon build, nationality, etc.

Sterilizing Clothes

Question—Mrs. Vivian Y. writes: "A friend's little boy died of spinal meningitis about six months ago. I would like to know if it would be injurious to my little boy to wear his clothes. Is there some sort of chemical disinfectant which could be used?"

Answer—It is quite probable that there is no danger of contagion from the clothes after this length of time; however, in order to sterilize clothes worn by a spinal meningitis patient, it is not necessary to use antiseptics as merely washing them in dry cleaning fluid or boiling them in water would sterilize them.

Man's Second Trial For Patricide Is Opened

SAN SABA, Texas, April 25. (AP)—Charley Lankford, charged with the murder of his father, Rufe Lankford, near Goldthwaite last fall, went on trial in district court here today. The case was transferred from Mills county, where a previous trial resulted in a hung jury.

Lankford, a middle aged farmer of the Evant community, Mills county, was charged by the state with having struck his father with a car tool in the hope of collecting the elder Lankford's policy, of which the son was a beneficiary.

The defendant claims his father died from injuries received when an automobile wheel being repaired fell on him.

DRY GOODS MARKET

NEW YORK, April 25. (AP)—The cotton goods market opened erratically this morning and conditions were still unsettled at the close of the day.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, April 25. (AP)—A slight early decline in cotton under a renewal of near month liquidation was followed by rallies on covering and trade buying which carried the price of July contracts from 6.11 to 6.21 in today's late trading.

May liquidation was less in evidence after the early offerings and the close was very steady at net advances of five to seven points.

Fluctuations were rather nervous and irregular, but the undertone gradually improved, with the market showing increased strength in the late trading when covering became more active. May advanced to 6.03 and October to 6.45 making net gains of six to eight points and the close was within a point of the best levels.

Tomorrow will be the first May notice day in the local market.

Relatively steady Liverpool cables attracted very little attention at the start. Private advices said that continental liquidation had been taken by covering and some buying. Easier sterling in that market, and reported a small turnover in cotton cloths and yarns. Exports today 19,409 making 7,369,076 so far this season.

Futures closed very steady, 5-7 higher. Spot steady; middling 6.15.

BOSTON WOOL MARKET

BOSTON, April 25. (AP)—The wool market continues dull and nominal quotations are weak owing to the absence of trading in volume. A continued unsettled condition of the goods market and determined price basis in the country are cited as the underlying causes of the quietness of the wool market. Receipts of domestic wool at Boston, during week ending April 23, estimated by the Boston grain and flour exchange amounts to 2,148,000 pounds, as compared with 2,960,000 pounds the previous week.

Relations of U. S. and Canada Cited as Basis of World Peace

Political and commercial relations between the United States and Canada provide an example which if followed would lead the world into a real and lasting peace, O. E. Nicholls said before members of the Kiwanis club Monday noon at the Wichita club in a talk observing Canada-United States week.

Mr. Nicholls described the organization and procedure of the Canadian parliament, told of that country's relations with England and with the United States. Canada is the best friend and customer which this nation has, Mr. Nicholls declared.

Only two county schools have closed thus far. City View held school for almost seven months, and the Rocky Ford school continued for a period of eight months.

Appointment of two new trustees at last Saturday's meeting of the county board was announced by Mr. Hood. W. F. Johnson at City View and A. E. Bailey at Rocky Point are the two new officials.

CHARGES FILED AGAINST SEVEN

Police Accuse Pair Of Burglary

Felony charges were lodged against seven persons Monday as a result of alleged offenses committed during the past several days including Sunday, according to District Attorney Sam B. Spence, through whose office all complaints were filed.

Four complaints were filed by city detectives after alleged offenders of Sunday afternoon and evening had been taken into custody. Ted Martin and Delmar Guynn were charged with robbery of a private residence at night. They were apprehended Sunday night by City Detectives Joe B. Moore and Bob Miller a few minutes after a Tenth street residence had been entered and robbed. With about $300 worth of property in their possession, the two defendants were arrested as they emerged from an alley at the rear of 2306 Tenth.

James B. Rogers was charged with driving a car while intoxicated, and with failure to stop and render aid, in connection with an accident which occurred on the Burkburnett highway Sunday. Mrs. Flora Vaughn of Burkburnett suffered a fractured arm when the machine in which she rode was struck by a car. Rogers gave his address as Frederick.

D. Kennedy, Arlie Bain and Philip Bain, arrested Saturday by Electra and county officers, were charged with burglary in complaints filed Monday morning. They are accused of having robbed a smokehouse on the Sidney Patterson farm near Electra last Friday night.

Ellis Bonham, charged last week with burglary of a store at Burkburnett, was charged in a second complaint filed Monday with robbery of a farm near Burkburnett. Police Chief W. I. Garland of Burkburnett signed both complaints. He said recovery of stolen property lead to the second charge.

Stolen Car Recovered By Wichita Owner

When automobile thieves took the Ford sedan owned by T. J. Allison, 903 Grant, Sunday night, Mr. Allison secured use of another automobile and located the missing car Monday morning at the Denver tank on the Henrietta road. The car was taken from Tenth and Austin and thieves had taken two tires from the machine.

A bicycle taken from the home of Price McCleary, 1639 Elizabeth, was located in a vacant garage in the 1900 block on Eighth Monday, Detective F. M. Dowdy reported. The bicycle was taken Saturday night.

T. P. Norwood, 1302 Britain, told police Monday prowlers had taken an electrical switch and three water faucets from a vacant house at 305 Bluff.

H. R. Knotts, 1008 Hamilton, told officers he would give a $3 reward for recovery of a woman's coat taken from a car parked at 1408 Eleventh Sunday night.

Reports of a prowler at the M. A. Chambers residence, 711 Baylor, Saturday night had not been booked Monday at request of occupants of the house.

Big Crowds View World's Largest Tire

Hundreds visited the Rio Tire Co. Monday to inspect the world's largest tire, giant replica of the tires Vic Wisely sells, which weighs over a half ton, and is inflated to a pressure of three pounds.

A. J. Gentele, who pilots the monster tire, has dubbed it "Big Bertha." It's an interesting responsibility, he explains. Trundled along behind the specially built bus, she will buck and leap if he drives too fast over rough or wavy roads.

Wherever he goes, Mr. Gentele relates ruefully, he becomes a target for the national sense of humor. The first sight of the giant tire invariably brings forth a barrage of wise cracks—and they are always the same. "Hey, mister, you've got a flat! "Boy! how would that tire look on this car!" or "I'll buy four of them."

The tire is 12 feet high, four feet wide, and is inflated to a pressure of three pounds. If it were carrying the 25-ton load for which it is built, it would be inflated to six pounds pressure.

Accused of whipping his wife with a pair of curling irons, a local man was jailed Monday after a complaint charging aggravated assault had been filed, according to L. V. Abernathy, county attorney.

Another man, said to have passed more than $50 worth of worthless checks here recently, was placed in jail after a complaint charging swindling by check had been filed.

A man who figured in a traffic accident here Sunday afternoon was charged with drunkenness after his arrest by City Officers Luke Hart and O. A. Roberson.

BOOM STRIKES SLEEPY TOWN

Spanish Rio Grande City Is Scene of 'Rush'

RIO GRANDE CITY, Texas, April 25. (AP)—This sleepy little border town, one of the last strongholds of the "siesta hour" and other old Spanish customs, is now faced with the prospect of going the way of so many other Texas and Oklahoma towns where oil has been hit.

For Rio Grande City now has an oil boom.

While there is a rush of activity in one section of the city throughout the day, including the siesta hour from 1 to 2 p. m., the part of the city still remains unaffected and holds to its custom of centuries' standing.

The little town with its large percentage of people of Mexican extraction, who speak the Spanish language, is witnessing a steady flow of Americans with the coming of the oil boom.

Struck Gusher

The boom started when Wood-Goodrich No. 1 struck the oil sand at 1480 feet and the black gold went spouting up close to the top of the derrick.

The crowd started for Rio Grande City in a mad rush, the oil men being followed by real estate men, lease men, hotel builders, and others, until now there is a first rate boom on in the town.

Just what will be the outcome is still unknown, as the field remains to show its production. However, scores of other tests are going down all over Starr county, and there is a rush to get leases, and to start drilling.

Developing Field

Starr county has been quietly developing a shallow oil and gas field for the past year or more. This field is eight miles directly north of Rio Grande City, and is known as Los Olmos field. In this field there are a dozen or more oil wells which will produce from 25 to 50 barrels as pumpers. There are as many gas wells, which are now supplying Rio Grande City with gas. These wells all came in at 500 feet or less.

But little excitement was created until the Wood-Goodrich deep test struck the oil sand, and loomed as a gusher producing from 200 to 500 barrels a day. Then the excitement started.

Rio Grande City is one of the historic towns on the border.

Lee Home Stands

Next to it is Fort Ringgold, old border post that has been the scene of many battles between bandits and soldies.

The old house where Gen. Robert E. Lee lived while he was a young officer at Fort Ringgold still stands. The buildings at the army post are reminiscent in their architecture of another era in the history of America.

The buildings in the city are mainly adobe and brick, and are typically Mexican and Spanish.

The old courthouse is one of the few in Texas where records appear in both Spanish and English.

All that is old and typically Spanish in the city is resisting the change coming with the boom, but to little effect. In a short time Rio Grande City will probably resemble some East Texas oil town and another remnant of the old frontier will be gone.

Victim of Murder Unknown in Wichita

Wichita police Monday were unable to locate any person recalling Nellie Mae Cook, who was murdered near a college in Juarez, Mexico, the night of April 20, after investigation of three leads furnished by W. C. Woolverton, chief of detectvies at El Paso. The woman was first reported to be Billie Carroll of Graham but a later check indicated she was Nellie Mae Cook, formerly of Wichita Falls.

Papers found in her effects gave the name of a local cafe and instructions to notify Ed S. Morgan or J. B. Morgan, in Wichita Falls or Petrolia. No trace of the two men was found in this city by police and the cafe proprietor told officers they did not recall a woman of the description furnished.

Change of Venue Denied In Fee Extortion Case

AUSTIN, April 25. (UP)—District Judge W. F. Robertson tonight overruled a motion for a change of venue of the trial of Sheriff A. J. Remmert of Austin county, charged with fee extortion. The trial is to open here in 126th district court tomorrow.

A plea to transfer the trial to some other place was made on the ground of convictions of five former sheriffs here. A published interview with Gov. Ross S. Sterling commending the work of ferreting out fee irregularities was also cited as a reason why the trial should be moved.

U. S. Opposes Capone Case Going to Supreme Court

WASHINGTON, April 25. (UP)—The government today filed its brief with the supreme court clerk opposing a review of Al Capone's conviction in Chicago on charges of failing to pay his income tax.

The government papers were filed by Solicitor-General Thomas D. Thacher who said the circuit court of appeals had properly decided the Capone case and that there was no substantial question for the supreme court to decide. It was urged that the petition be denied.

Two Married Couples Kidnaped and Robbed

OKLAHOMA CITY, April 25. (UP)—Two married couples were kidnaped at Spring Lake park last night by bandits, forced to drive over lonely roads and robbed of their car.

"Two of three roughly dressed men walked to our car and threatened us with their guns," Mrs. Homer Locke said.

Mrs. Locke, her husband and Mr. and Mrs. Kelly Fielder were in the party.

The bandits then ordered the party into a car, threatening members with death. One bandit argued his companions out of beating Fielder and Locke and taking the women. Five miles from the park, the bandits forced the four victims from the car and took the machine.

After All

it does matter . . . the kind of cigarette you smoke!

YOU DON'T pay so much for your cigarettes but what you can afford to smoke the best. It's a question then, of what is the best.

CHESTERFIELD Cigarettes are different from other cigarettes. They're unlike all the others, in that they're milder.

CHESTERFIELD Cigarettes taste better. That's to say . . . they are not raw . . . and neither are they over-sweet.

CHESTERFIELD Cigarettes have a fine aroma and a taste that's altogether right.

CHESTERFIELD Cigarettes are pure. Everything that science knows is done to make them pure. They are just as pure as the food you eat . . . just as pure as the water you drink.

CHESTERFIELD Cigarettes come to you just as fresh as if you went by the factory every morning.
