

Sun To Drill Deep Wildcat In NE Loving

Sun Oil Company has filed an application with the Railroad Commission of Texas requesting permission to start drilling in the near future at its No. 1 J. B. Tubb, which is scheduled to be a deep wildcat in the extreme northeast corner of Loving County.

Sun representatives say that at present it is planned to drill to approximately 12,000 feet. The application filed with the Railroad Commission requests a permit to a possible bottom of 15,000 feet.

Location is 660 feet from north and 1,880 feet from west lines of section 7, block C-24, pal survey. It is two miles south of the north line of Loving County, which is the south line of Lea County, New Mexico.

On De Kalb Farmout
The wildcat will be one and one-quarter miles west of the east line of Loving County, which is the west line of Winkler County.

It is 24 miles northeast of Mentone and is on a farmout to Sun from De Kalb Agricultural Association, Inc., of Lubbock.

Gardner Brothers Drilling Company has the rotary contract.

The No. 1 Tubb is eight and one-half miles south of Sun and others No. 1 Harper-Federal, deep wildcat in Southeast Lea County, N. M., which has logged some interesting shows of oil and gas in the Bone Spring formation and which is now making hole below 13,574 feet in an unidentified hole.

To Test All Shows
Sun representatives expect to test all of the shows so far logged in the No. 1 Harper-Federal by the time the No. 1 Tubb digs to 12,000 feet.

The application for a 15,000-foot permit was filed to allow going on down to that level in the event it was advisable to do so by the time the hole gets to 12,000 feet.

Sinclair Oil & Gas Company has an interest in the No. 1 Tubb.

Globe Scheduled To Drill Pennsylvanian Wildcat In SW Kent

Globe Oil & Refining Company is to start drilling by March 1 at its No. 1 Spire, which is to be a 7,500-foot wildcat in Southwest Kent County to try for production from the Pennsylvanian reef lime.

It is to be 330 feet from north and 615 feet from west lines of section 35, block 4, H&GN survey. It is 10 miles southwest of Claiborne.

Location for this prospect was announced about 30 days ago as an operation of John H. Healey of Midland and H. J. Heartwell of Fort Worth.

It is being drilled on a 320-acre lease secured by Healey in a farm-out deal with Sunray Oil Corporation and Seaboard Oil Company of Delaware for the drilling of a reef lime wildcat.

It is understood that Globe has assumed the obligation to drill the well. Healey and Heartwell retain an interest in the deal.

The wildcat is about 25 miles north of Snyder.

Bankline Is To Drill Pennsylvanian Test In SW Hockley Area

Bankline Oil Company has spotted location for a 10,500-foot Pennsylvanian wildcat in Southwest Hockley County, seven miles southwest of the town of Levelland.

The prospect will drill at No. 8-1 Mallett Land & Cattle Company. Site is 660 feet from north and west lines of labor 5, league 24, Concho County School Land survey.

It is at the extreme east edge of the shallow Slaughter field. Operations are to start at once.

Bankline has secured a spread of 10,000 acres in the area.

Sinclair Completes Major Extension To Field In C-E Lea

Sinclair Oil & Gas Company has completed a major extension to the Denton (Devonian) field of Central-Lea County, New Mexico.

The new well is the concern of No. 1 Whitman. It was finished for a calculated 24-hour flowing potential of 2,500 barrels of 48.5-gravity oil. Completion was natural and through a three-quarter-inch choke.

World Outlook Pictured As 'Grim'

CHRISTMAS IN FEBRUARY—Recently discharged Sgt. Fred Harvey finally celebrated his first Christmas at home in two years at the family residence at 211 West New York Street Wednesday night. Fred, shown here with his mother, Mrs. Phillip Harvey, had been stationed with the Army in Germany.

It's Christmas In February For GI, Home From Overseas

Sgt. Fred Harvey, 22, recently returned from duty with the Army in Germany to celebrate a Christmas party, with all the trimmings at the family residence at 211 West New York Street in Midland.

Scores of relatives and friends dropped in to see Fred and give him delayed presents. What the young man liked best of all was the good home cooked meal prepared by his mother.

During Christmas of 1952 Fred, an Army cook, stayed up all night preparing turkeys for the GI's at his base in the French Zone in Baumholder, Germany.

A graduate of Midland High School in 1949, Harvey entered the service March 21, 1951, and trained at Fort Sill, Okla. In March, 1952 he was assigned to the 529th Field Artillery Observation Battalion in Germany.

While overseas the West Texan helped organize a hill billy band which played for the soldiers in cooperation with the Special Services. Fred was the band's singer and said favorites with the soldiers were "Don't Let the Stars Get In Your Eyes," "Jambalaya" and "China Doll."

Fred was employed by J. C. Penney in Midland before his Army tour and hopes to go back to work for that company soon as a sales clerk and display man.

Attending his Christmas party Wednesday besides his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Phillip Harvey, were his brother, Billy (a 1st Cavalry soldier in WW II); an aunt, Mrs. John Woods; nephews, Tommy and Ronny; and niece Linda; an uncle, Sgt. O. W. Roberts, Jr., on the Midland Police Force, and Mrs. Roberts; another uncle Jimmy E. Roberts and his wife; and a school chum, Elvis Vaughn.

Clinic Considers Suggestions For Improved McCamey Life

By BILL COLLYNS
Editor, The Reporter-Telegram
McCAMEY—The civic needs of this Upton County city were diagnosed and proven remedies prescribed at a community clinic held here Thursday.

The clinic was sponsored by the McCamey Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. Three sessions were held during the morning and three during the afternoon.

The clinic was conducted by "Doctor" Ralph E. Duncan, manager of the Community Services Division of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce. He was assisted by Charles Young, manager of the McCamey Chamber of Commerce. Ross Smith is president of the McCamey chamber.

The more than 125 persons attending the day's sessions voiced their ideas and suggestions as to the civic needs of the community, with the idea of developing a long-range program of work for the chamber of commerce.

Purpose of the clinic was to develop a sound program for the chamber of commerce in order that it might have a better track on which to run. Duncan explained in his opening remarks.

"By your suggestions here today you can chart the future growth of your community insofar as your chamber of commerce is concerned," he said.

Duncan also said a successful chamber of commerce must develop a program, a budget, interest and leadership and work. He said the people of the community must take the lead in planning and developing a work program.

Major suggestions offered at the morning sessions included: (1) Study of adequate water supply; (2) Trade extension; (3) Street paving; (4) Housing; (5) Development of park and recreation facilities; (6) City-wide sanitation and beautification; (7) Safety; (8) Store front modernization and business street widening; (9) Expanded medical facilities.

The West Texas Chamber of Commerce will study suggestions offered here Thursday and later will submit an analysis and recommendations for a five-year program of work.

'Door' Had No Hinges

Robert H. Martin, 1800 West Ohio Street, sauntered up to a glass panel Wednesday at the new Diamond Horseshoe Restaurant, thought it was a door and started through. But the "door" didn't open.

Martin, a geologist with The Texas Company, suffered deep lacerations of the right thigh and right hand.

SENATOR DANIEL
... Cites 'dangerous trend.'

Texan Says Tidelands Grab Akin To Steel Mills Seizure

WASHINGTON—(P)—Senator Daniel (D-Texas) said Thursday the Supreme Court's "paramount rights" theory in upholding federal claims to offshore oil lands is related closely to former President Truman's "inherent powers" theory in seizing the steel mills.

"Both disregard the constitutional concept that property rights are separate from political powers and cannot be taken by the government without due process of law and just compensation," Daniel said.

His remarks were in a statement to the Senate Interior Committee now conducting hearings on legislation dealing with the oil-rich offshore submerged lands.

The Supreme Court has ruled that the states do not own these lands and that the federal government has paramount rights over them.

Fears Nationalization
Truman, in seizing the steel mills last year to avert a steel strike, said he acted under his inherent powers as President. The seizure subsequently was set aside by the Supreme Court.

Daniel told the committee that both the paramount rights theory and the "Truman theory" could "lead to further nationalization of property and untold centralization of government."

They are, he said, part of a "dangerous trend."

The U. S. Chamber of Commerce, as it has several times in the past.

WEATHER PENS AIR TRAVELERS

Several hundred air travelers found their Thursday morning at Midland Air Terminal.

The travelers were passengers aboard half a dozen giant DC-6 transports which, destined for either El Paso or Dallas, flew on to Midland because of weather conditions.

City Aviation Director Clyde Sharrer said the passengers probably would be here until mid-afternoon, when the weather was expected to clear at the Dallas and El Paso airports.

issued a statement Thursday upholding the states' view in the years-long controversy.

Daniel testified in support of a bill by Senator Holland (D-Fla) which would specify that the coastal and Gulf states shall have title to all submerged lands within their historic boundaries. This would generally be about three miles with some exceptions, notably in the case of Texas which claims its historic boundary extends 10 1/2 miles.

The Texan told the committee oil leases granted by the states call for higher rentals and provide generally higher royalties than those granted by the federal government.

Cites Special Case

He said the fact that federal leases are so much cheaper than states leases gave rise to the entire controversy.

Applicants "blanketed the coast of California with their applications," he said, and hope to "cash in" if the lands are not restored to the states.

Biting Cold Wave Drifts Into Area

Mixed winter weather loomed for Midland Thursday night.

A frontal passage was expected to travel through the city Thursday afternoon, stirring 30-mile-an-hour winds. Blowing dust may cut visibility to less than a mile before dark, CAA observers at the Midland Air Terminal indicated in noon observations.

The slow-moving but apparently tough northerly drifted into Texas Thursday after kicking up new dust storms in Kansas, Oklahoma and other states. The winds cut into the nation's winter wheat crop.

The northerly may bring rain to West Texas and other parts of the state. Snow was a possibility for the Midland area with the mercury expected to dip below 30 degrees.

The Weather Bureau forecast snow and bitter cold—as low as 10 degrees—in the Panhandle and South Plains Thursday night. Stockmen were warned to take cold weather precautions for their herds.

Slower the Better

Light rains fell ahead of the front. The Weather Bureau said these came from circulation of Gulf air.

"The low-pressure area of the cold front keeps air rotating toward it," the Weather Bureau said.

"The longer the front takes to get into Texas, the more circulation we get and the more rain we're likely to get."

Light rains were falling Thursday morning at Corpus Christi, Waco, College Station, Victoria, Houston, Wichita Falls, Mineral Wells, Fort Worth, Junction, Del Rio, Tyler, Longview and Dallas. Corsicana had measured .80 inch.

The Weather Bureau said the front probably wouldn't drop Texas temperatures much below freezing east of the South Plains.

A few clouds of dust swirled in West Texas before dawn Thursday.

YMCA Drive Plan Formed

John B. Ashmun, Midland independent oil operator, was named Thursday to head the charter membership drive scheduled for some time in March, for the newly-organized Midland Young Men's Christian Association.

Appointment of Ashmun was announced by George Bush, chairman of the membership committee, following a meeting Wednesday afternoon of the temporary board of directors of the YMCA.

Bush pointed out that the campaign, in which five classifications of members will be sought, has been set tentatively for mid-March.

The five membership classifications and cost are Basic, $10; Contributing, $25; Patron, $50; Sustaining, $100; and Foundation, over $100.

Summer Program
Meanwhile, the board of directors, meeting in the conference room of the Shell Oil Company, approved a $20,000 budget to begin the operations of the YMCA here.

These funds will be used to employ a general secretary and a boys' secretary as well as purchase of equipment and supplies for a Summer recreation program in the city.

The budget was prepared by a committee headed by Tom Campbell.

A committee, headed by H. E. Chiles, was named to proceed with the screening of applicants for the two secretary posts, who will operate for a central headquarters office to be selected later.

They were briefed on Korean war strategy and the military and diplomatic situations elsewhere by Gen. Omar Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and by Allen W. Dulles, chief of the Central Intelligence Agency.

A presidential assistant, Robert J. Cutler, also took part in the briefing. He is in charge of liaison with the National Security Council.

After the session, Representative Halleck (R-Ind), House floor leader, told reporters:

"Everybody knows it is a grim picture."

'Hell Of A Fix'
Another Congress member who attended said no conclusions were reached, "unless you might say we are in a hell of a fix." He asked not to be named.

Senate Republican Leader Taft brushed by reporters, declaring he had "nothing, nothing at all" to say.

Then he tossed back over his shoulder as he strode from the White House:

"It was briefing on a lot of facts, military and diplomatic." Halleck called it "a very informative briefing" which he said covered the whole military outlook.

He added it dealt with both the Korean and the Indochina Wars, among other things.

When Halleck declared that everybody knows the world situation amounts to a grim picture, a reporter asked whether he meant on a military or economic basis.

Halleck said he meant both and added that the situation represented "a burden on the economy."

"The President said he wanted to tell us about the 'hot spots' generally," Senator Bridges (R-NH) said on arrival at the White House.

Nixon Sits In
Bridges, chairman of the Senate Appropriations Committee and president pro-tempore of the Senate, was one of 12 senators and 13 House members invited.

Vice President Nixon also joined the lawmakers for the meeting, which is likely to affect important decision and defense spending.

Other Congress members present at the meeting were:

Senate—Chairman Bridges (R-NH) of Foreign Relations, Millikin (R-Colo) of Finance and Saltontail (R-Mass) of Armed Services; Democrat Leader Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas; and Senators Knowland (R-Calif.), Clements (D-Ky), George (D-Ga.), Russell (D-Ga.), Hayden (D-Ariz) and Ferguson (R-Mich).

House—Chairman Chipferfield (R-Ill) of Foreign Relations, Short (R-Mo) of Armed Services and Taber (R-NY) of Appropriations; Democrat Leader Rayburn of Texas, and Representatives McCormack (D-Mass.), Wilson (D-Ga.), Richards (D-SC), Cannon (D-Mo), Wigglesworth (R-Mass) and Mahon (D-Texas).

New MIG Kill Makes 'Double Jet Ace' Of McKinney Texan

SEOUL—(P)—U. S. fighter-bombers Thursday blasted the smoking ruins of a Communist training center with tons of high explosives in their third devastating strike in two days.

Screening U. S. Sabre jet pilots shot down two Russian-built MIG's and possibly a third, the U. S. Fifth Air Force said. Col. Royal N. Baker of McKinney, Texas, shot down his tenth MIG and became the second double jet ace of the Korean war.

The Air Force said 195 Thunderjets and Shooting Stars unleashed tons of bombs, following up a 360-plane raid Wednesday on the sprawling area near Pyongyang, North Korean Red capital.

Thursday's toll of MIG's brought the six-day bag of Russian-built warplanes to 17, nine of them in two days. Additionally, five others have been probably destroyed and 16 damaged. With revaluations, the

The raiders said they knocked down at least 14 buildings Thursday, started several raging fires and set off seven secondary explosions.

Other American fighter-bombers ranged far and wide across North Korea in smashing attacks on Red road and rail facilities. The Air Force said Thunderjets destroyed 39 rail cars at Songchon, four locomotives south of Chaeryong and a rail bridge at Huichong. Trucks and supply dumps also were hit.

Thursday's toll of MIG's brought the six-day bag of Russian-built warplanes to 17, nine of them in two days. Additionally, five others have been probably destroyed and 16 damaged. With revaluations, the Air Force said, the February score now stands at 20 destroyed, seven probably destroyed and 20 damaged. Davis destroyed his tenth Communist plane of the war last Saturday, but one of the 10 was an LA-9 prop-driven fighter. Thursday he changed his status from "double ace" to "double jet ace."

Baker's score is topped only by Maj. George A. Davis, Jr., of Lubbock, Texas, missing in action since Feb. 10, 1951. Davis destroyed 11 MIG's and three Communist TU-2 bombers.

On the frozen battlefield, Allied soldiers hurled back six small-scale Communist ground probes in brief pre-dawn clashes.

Court Delays Trial Of Police Radioman

The trial of 21-year-old Charles Lee Jenkins, former police radio dispatcher, has been postponed until March 5.

District Judge R. W. (Bob) Hamilton said he had postponed the trial of the former police officer on charges of assault with intent to murder on motion of defense attorneys.

Jenkins was scheduled to go on trial Thursday in the shooting of his girl friend, Louise Hutchins, last December.

Internal Revenue
Office Here Lists
Monday As Holiday

The Midland office of the Bureau of Internal Revenue, located in the West Building, will be closed Monday due to a legal holiday, Jos F. Wilson, senior agent, announced.

Washington's birthday falls on Sunday but Monday has been set aside as a special day of observance. Wilson said that otherwise the tax office will be open from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m., every day except Saturday and Sunday up to March 15.

The agent stressed that no appointments may be made for persons desiring help at the office. Individuals are served as they come, he said, and pointed out that on the average everyone is handled within 15 minutes after they arrive.

The primary function of the office is to assist the public in filing returns and answer inquiries concerning income tax.

Other agents working in the office are William B. Hill and C. M. Kriedler. Another agent, Bill Latta of Abilene, is due to arrive at the office March 1 and will assist for two weeks.

Territory served by the local office includes all of Midland and Martin Counties.

Work Started Here
On Another Church

Work started this week on a new church of Christ at 1508 North Fort Worth Street, and Wednesday night, trustees for the new church were selected. Plans call for completion of the building by August 15.

Named as governing board for the church were Goodrich Hejl, Kenneth Durham, Leslie Hinds and John Jordan.

A. H. Kennamer, minister of the North Side Church of Christ, from which the new group will draw first membership, said Thursday organization of the new church would not take place until the new building is completed. A minister for the church probably will not be selected until that time, he said. About 200 persons are due to leave the North Side Church and enter the new group. Some members of the South Side Church may transfer their membership.

Contract for the new building was let to Felix Stonehocker of Midland.

'Cheers For Chubby'
Scheduled At Ritz

"CHEERS FOR CHUBBY," a colorful, animated short on how and why overweight people should lose weight, will be shown at the Ritz Theater Friday and Saturday, according to Delmar J. Aday, manager. The film has been highly recommended by the Texas Medical Association.

Physicians of Texas for a long time have advocated that people who are overweight should reduce. They have pointed out that obesity is not only unfashionable but also unhealthy. Excess weight is frequently associated with such serious illnesses as heart disease, diabetes and arthritis.

"CHEERS FOR CHUBBY," which will be shown as a public service at the Ritz Theater, is cosponsored by the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company, the Public Health Service of the Federal Security Agency, the American Medical Association, and the Texas Medical Association.

KENNON CALLS FOR NEW LOOK

DALLAS—(P)— Louisiana Gov. Robert Kennon says Texas Gov. Allan Shivers "is an extremely able man and just the right age to consider for president."

Kennon made his statement in a question-and-answer session Wednesday following a speech before a Dallas Junior Chamber of Commerce luncheon.

"I feel that America will want a new look in government four to eight years hence," Kennon said, "and I can think of no better man as a candidate."

Mrs. W. O. Spence

Abilenian Is Bride Of William Spence

Kaye McEntire, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. C. D. McEntire of Abilene, and William Oral Spence, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Spence of Midland, exchanged vows Saturday in the Elmwood Baptist Church in Abilene.

The ceremony was solemnized in a candlelight service read by the bride's father, Elmwood pastor. Decorating the altar was a pink heart made of carnations flanked by candelabras holding pink tapers. Baskets of pink gladioli and fern were used.

Mrs. Charles Welch of Midland, aunt of the bride, presented pre-nuptial selections and the traditional wedding marches. Given in marriage by her uncle, Myrtle Welch of Denver City, the bride wore a dress of white imported organdy and white silk imported lace over tulle. The neckline was scalloped and the long pointed lace sleeves were trimmed in seed pearls. She wore a seed pearl crown with a silk illusion fingertip veil and carried a white ivory-backed Bible, a gift of her sister, Darlene. The Bible was topped with a bridal bouquet of pink and white rosebuds. The bride wore a gold coin necklace which had been worn by her great grandmother when she was married.

Attendants Named

Darlene McEntire was the maid of honor and Ginger Lane of Sterling City was bridesmaid. They wore white embroidered organdy dresses and carried heart-shaped nosegays of white and pink carnations.

Candlelighters were Neta and Bettie Welch, cousins of the bride. They wore floor length dresses in shades of pink and flower girl, Janie Foster, wore a pink organdy dress. Rickie Cauble, cousin of the bride, was ring bearer.

E. J. Tarbox of Lubbock served as best man. Ushers were Steve McEntire, brother of the bride; Joe Paul Owens and Q. R. Traylor.

The mother of the bride wore a white and black crepe dress topped with a black linen jacket. Her accessories were black and her flowers, white carnations. The mother of the bridegroom chose a grey dress piped in navy with white accessories. She also wore a corsage of gardenias.

The reception was held in the church following the ceremony. An embroidered linen cutwork cloth decorated the table which was centered with a double heart wedding cake topped with a miniature bridal couple. Presiding at the table were Mrs. Buster Welch, Mrs. R. C. Cauble of Midland and Mrs. Roy Lane of Sterling City. Mrs. Fred Jones of Midland registered guests.

Other members of the houseparty were Mrs. Myrtle Welch of Denver City and Mrs. E. M. Spence.

For traveling the bride selected a maroon suit piped in black with a corsage of white rosebuds and black and white accessories. The couple will live in Lubbock where Spence is a junior student at Texas Technological College. Mrs. Spence expects to complete her high school work in Lubbock this semester.

Out-of-city guests, in addition to those previously listed, were Clinton Fencher and Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Durham of Sterling City; Mr. and Mrs. Quincy Traylor of Winters; the Rev. and Mrs. Guy Killian of Lake View; Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Purcell of Snyder; Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Spence of Gorman; Mr. and Mrs. Travis Spence of Gorman; Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Spadlin of Sweetwater and Tommie Brawley of Littlefield.

A Sobering Factor

Holding power is a sobering thing. We can see fresh evidence in the behavior of many leading Republicans now that they are in control of the government.

A good example is Senator Taft. Senate majority leader. Recently he has cautioned against applying a full naval blockade against the Chinese Reds on the ground that it would put us at sharp odds with a major ally, Britain, whose ships still bear goods to and from Chinese ports.

A year ago, with the Republicans peering wistfully through the iron fence around the Democratic White House, Taft would not have been so careful in assaying the Far Eastern outlook.

Many times in the years from 1950 to 1953 the senator called for Far Eastern action without clear regard to the full risks involved or the effects upon relations with our allies.

Similarly, Taft now is one of those most prudent in insisting that we must have reduced expenditures before we can have lower taxes. And while he often called for both in the past, he did not consistently make it plain that he would hold off on cutting taxes until expenses were pared.

These earlier attitudes reflect the desperation that often overcomes even the most principled leaders of a party long out of power. Many of them come to feel, in all sincerity, that a change is so vital that almost any means is justified in bringing it about. So the subtleties and the qualifications tend to vanish.

The opposition talk in such a period has all the earmarks of campaign oratory. It hardly is inaccurate, indeed, to say that a party long deprived of government responsibilities inclines toward continuous campaigning.

American campaigns have through time immemorial featured the extravagant charge, the rash claim unencumbered by documentary proof, the bold program stripped of embarrassing detail. So none of what we have observed in recent years should have come as a surprise.

That doesn't mean we should condone excesses in political statement. We all undoubtedly agree it would be wonderful if politicians confined themselves to sober, statesmanlike utterances at all times.

But since they won't, we ought to realize that their campaign talk, especially when they have been out of power many years, is not necessarily a good measure of their value to their country. The real test is how they act when they have the reins.

By this gauge, a good many Republicans (although not all) come off with a pretty good score so far.

One of the things that gets you in hot water is being under a shower of criticism.

If it weren't for hard luck, a lot of your friends wouldn't have a thing to bore you with.

Enough Fuel To Get It Rolling Again

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By Drew Pearson

Copyright, 1953, By The Bell Syndicate, Inc.
Drew Pearson says: Army-Navy feud was behind blockade furor; Admiral Radford and General Bradley clash again over proposal; Bradley warns China blockade could bring Far East war.

WASHINGTON—One of the most important factors behind all the headlines over blocking the China coast was an age-old rivalry that periodically has torn Washington apart—the Army versus the Navy. This was not the only reason for the blockade furor, but it was probably the biggest. The cast of characters included some of the top brass of the armed services, and here is how the drama unfolded.

The man who first enthused President Eisenhower re a blockade of the China coast was able, red-headed Adm. Arthur Radford, stormy petrel of the Navy, who was banished to the Pacific from the Pentagon four years ago when he helped organize Operation 23 to propagandize against the Air Force and mobilized a Navy drive on Congress against the B-36 bomber, against Secretary of Air Symington, and against the Air Force generally.

Since then the dynamic Radford has been more or less out of the headlines as commander of the Pacific Fleet. This would be enough to occupy most men but not the restless Radford. Meeting Eisenhower at Iwo Jima on the latter's hop to Korea, Radford spent one hour pacing up and down the island while the plane refueled, made such an impression that he asked him to fly on to Korea.

Back from the Pacific, the new President lifted the embargo on Chiang Kai-Shek which meant little because of Chiang's impotence, and definitely considered blocking the China coast, which would have meant much. Certainly it would have meant much for the Navy.

"Uncle Omar" Bradley. At this point there entered another well-known and important figure. Mild-mannered, slow of speech, seldom out of temper, Gen. Omar Bradley of Moberly, Mo., once had spoken out in no uncertain terms against Admiral Radford and his Navy cohorts. Called before the House Armed Services Committee to testify in the Navy-Air Force row, Bradley let loose with some real Missouri language.

"Fancy Dan" was what he called Radford and his admirals. Last week, "Uncle Omar," as he is affectionately called in the Pentagon, was called back to Capitol Hill to testify on another Radford idea—blockading the China coast. This time Bradley testified in secret and before the Senate. This

All this testimony was given very quietly and behind closed doors. This time Bradley didn't refer to "Fancy Dan Admirals." But by the time he had finished, he had just about demolished any of Adm. Arthur Radford's ideas about getting the U. S. Navy back into action in any blockade of the China coast.

"Uncle Omar" was like Eisenhower's top combat commander during the Normandy invasion. But he never did a better job of political invasion than when he testified behind closed Senate doors the other day.

Note—Uncle Omar got three as Cross-examined by Senator Humphrey. General Bradley also warned that stepping up supplies to Chiang on Formosa would set back the NATO defense program by several months.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

What does an expert think about when he goes into a long huddle? Does he just sit at the table and wonder what he would like to eat for breakfast the next morning, or does he really apply himself to the problem at hand?

I cannot deny that some experts go wool-gathering at the bridge table. In general, however, the expert does keep his mind on his business and does a good deal of his reasoning along the lines of "If he had, he would." Let's see how this works out in the hand shown today.

West opened a low heart, and declarer played low from dummy, not knowing that East had a singleton king. East won with the king of hearts and shifted to the king of diamonds, whereupon South took the ace of diamonds and returned the suit to force out East's queen.

East plugged away at diamonds, returning the nine. South let the nine of diamonds hold, but took the next trick with dummy's jack of diamonds. Declarer's next step was to lead the four of spades from dummy and finesse the six from his own hand, ducking the trick to West.

This gave the enemy their fourth defensive trick, after which South needed the rest of the tricks to make his contract.

West returned another heart, and declarer cashed in order the ace and queen of hearts, the ace of clubs, the jack of hearts, and the king of spades.

The queen of spades dropped on declarer's king, and declarer next led a spade toward the dummy and wondered whether to finesse the ten or to go up with dummy's ace of spades. East very cleverly had played the jack and the king of clubs, saving the ten of clubs.

East was known to have one diamond, and the idea was to make it seem that he had no more clubs in order that South would believe that East still had the jack of spades.

South recognized the possibility that East's unknown card was the jack of spades, and he thought about it. If East's unknown card happened to be a club, all of East's plays were deceptive, but quite logical.

If East's unknown card happens to be the jack of spades, however, this meant East, holding Q-J-5 of spades, had played the five of spades from his hand when the suit was first led from the dummy.

Since his play was quite illogical, South decided that East could not possibly have held this combination of cards. On the basis of this reasoning he finessed dummy's ten of spades and made his game contract.

WASHINGTON COLUMN

Worried Cattlemen Ride Herd On Congress For Price Boost

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Recent drops in beef cattle and other farm prices have put Congress in a somewhat jittery mood. Letters, telegrams and telephone calls are beginning to snow down from the farm belt. Individual farmers and representatives of the farm organizations are demanding personally that something be done about it.

All this pressure isn't necessary to impress some of the farm state solons. Take the case of Senator Clinton P. Anderson of New Mexico, who used to be a secretary of Agriculture himself.

Last year he bought range cattle averaging 400 pounds at 24 cents a pound—$96 a head. Fattened to 800 and 900 pounds at a cost of $50 or more a head, these feeders now are ready for market. The current offering price is 16 cents a pound—$128 to $144 a head—or a net loss of $2 to $18 on each steer.

This experience, repeated with variations in feed lots all over the country, is what bothers the farmers and the congressmen.

From the livestock men it has brought charges that this is a packer's holiday. With prices dropping, there is extra heavy marketing. It is charged that the packing houses are using this to depress prices further.

Meantime, consumers' retail prices have not dropped proportionately. Beef prices have come down somewhat on the eastern markets, but the drop nowhere near covers the decline in livestock prices. This further heightens the charge that the packing houses are making two or three killings instead of the usual one.

The Packers' Story
As if anticipating criticism of this kind, the packers already are putting up their defenses. The annual report of Armour and Company, for instance, is cited to show that this packer lost 7/100 of a cent on each dollar of food sales last year. The company ended the year with a total profit of 33/100 of a cent on each dollar of sales only because of the profit on by-product operations, so it says.

A letter which F. W. Specht, president of Armour, has sent to all congressmen, cites price controls as one of the main reasons why the packers have not made more money on food sales. Nevertheless, under these same controls in 1951, Armour reported profits of 18/100 of a cent on every dollar of food sales and

As if in support of Secretary Benson's statement, O. V. Wells, head of the Bureau of Agriculture Economics appeared before the Senate Agriculture Committee and presented a picture of just what has happened to the cattle market.

In June, 1950, before the Korean war started, beef cattle were selling to the packers at an average of 25 cents a pound. The price rose to almost 32 cents in April, 1951, dropped gradually to 20 cents in December, 1952.

The index on all prices received by farmers stood at 247 before Korea, rose to 313 in February, 1951, and has declined since then in 1951 in January. Farm income in 1953 may be as much as five per cent below what it was in 1952, Wells told the senators.

The reasons for the decline, he says, are bumper crops in 1952, an improved foreign agricultural supply situation creating less demand for American farm products, a drop in the foreign aid programs and a general shift from inflationary to deflationary economy.

While farmers would like to believe all these reassuring things, a falling market, as in beef cattle prices, has to take. Consequently, agitation already is beginning for increased price-support programs, government subsidies on agricultural exports, or other props to restore higher prices. All this in spite of President Eisenhower's plan to stop inflation by a return to a free market.

IMPORTANT BIRDS
Experts calculate that six to 10 years without birds would bring to a close the earth's entire system of animate nature. Insects would increase to such proportions that everything would be devoured, or smothered.

The Lapps, who average four to five feet tall, are the smallest people in Europe.

daily, almost as much as they want you?"

And that simplified the matter of the missing records. Two of them, anyway. With their pictures and photographs, Mia Jacobs could have had Rudi's two men deported any time. Deported to a Russian prison camp where they might live for a whole week. Even I could guess what kind of a weapon that gave her.

"And you, Mia?" Rudi said. "You do this to your own people?"

"I have no people," she said, not bitterly, only with a sort of emptiness in her voice. "Once, I had people. We were concerned with survival then. Mere survival was enough when death was with us every day. It is not enough now. Why should I watch you, Lida, him, with a scornful gesture at Jack, with a content and fat and easy when I had nothing."

"Always in the old days," Rudi said in a dull whisper, "always there was someone who sold out."

WITH Rudi, everyone would always be too late. He was down in a low crouch and spread his full length in a swift little leap before I noticed he had moved. The small black automatic sounded twice in sharp spiteful cracks in the room. They must have hit Rudi but they didn't stop him. His hands reached Mia Jacobs.

Erlich had his gun pointed straight at Rudi and he couldn't shoot. Or didn't shoot. The heavy wetting on the tip of my shoe caught the small bones at the side of Erlich's wrist. The gun bounced up to the wall above his head and hit the floor behind me. I took one measuring stride toward Erlich and swung.

One was enough, probably, but this wasn't a gentlemanly bout. I slugged him three more times before he sank to the floor.

Mia Jacobs lay still on the floor, her knees drawn high and her head twisted back as though she wanted to look out the open door. Jack pulled a knitted laprobe from a couch and spread it over her. He looked up toward his father and shook his head.

"Broken neck," he said softly. (To Be Continued)

AND that was just the moment old Eli had to choose to come into the room, walking stiffly with Mia Jacobs on his arm. He saw the gyves on Rudi's wrists.

"Well, Carney?" he asked in the coldest voice I had ever heard.

"I'll take too long to explain right now, Mr. Jonas," I said.

He shook his head instantly. "Take those off at once," he demanded, pointing to the handcuffs. "You will leave this house unless I know the meaning of this outrage."

Connolly turned to Grodnik for instructions, saw him nod. The cuffs made a thin jangle in the quiet room.

Grodnik said harshly, "I'm in charge here and I'm taking over right now. I've got questions for you, Wilde. Do you know who is responsible for these killings?"

"Yes," I said slowly. "Jacobs changed his jacket after he left the store. That means he went home." I pointed down the room. "There's your killer."

Everyone turned with my finger. Everyone except Mia Jacobs. She sat erect in the corner seat of the couch, looking squarely back at me with a short black automatic held level in her hand.

She smiled thinly at the stunned faces moved the gun in a slow arc that froze everyone. Tension made her face old and ugly. With no warning at all, she pursed her lips and whistled shrilly toward the open French windows.

Lida Jonas half rose from her seat. "Mia! Mia, dear, what..."

Mia Jacobs didn't hesitate even a fraction of a second. She snapped a shot toward Lida and swung the muzzle back to a mid-position almost quicker than I could see. The small slug hit the arm of Lida's chair just below her hand. That proved the game was being played for keeps.

That little automatic held eight shots and Mia Jacobs handled it like a veteran. What particularly impressed me was that she hadn't said a word after I pointed to her. She wasn't risking any distractions.

"You can't get away, you know," I said in a strained voice. "We left two men outside when we came in."

Mia Jacobs smiled a distant, polite smile. She whistled in a high piercing note again and this time she got an answer.

A WIDE heavy man slid through the window quickly and moved to get his back against the wall between the two high windows. That gave him command of the room. I didn't see him come in, but I saw Mia Jacobs and that was even better. She relaxed at once. I think just then she would have gone down with a touch, but it was too late to move, even if her pistol wasn't at the ready. The man between the windows was control enough. He was the short member of the team that had visited me. He held a gun in his hands.

"Erlich!" Rudi's voice was almost a sob. "Is it to murder that you came to America?"

The man at the windows blinked twice and licked his lips. He forced his eyes away from Rudi and looked at Mia Jacobs. She had circled the room and stood a few yards away from Erlich. She said something in a low voice to him.

"No, only one," Erlich answered. "A driver. I tied him in the car when I heard you whistle."

Mia Jacobs smiled gently at me. "Then I think we shall leave," she said pleasantly.

Rudi ignored her completely. He shook his head slowly. "Erlich," he said sadly.

Mia Jacobs sneered at him. "You think he wishes me to have him deported to Poland, Rudi? When the Russians want him so

AND that was just the moment old Eli had to choose to come into the room, walking stiffly with Mia Jacobs on his arm. He saw the gyves on Rudi's wrists.

"Well, Carney?" he asked in the coldest voice I had ever heard.

"I'll take too long to explain right now, Mr. Jonas," I said.

He shook his head instantly. "Take those off at once," he demanded, pointing to the handcuffs. "You will leave this house unless I know the meaning of this outrage."

Connolly turned to Grodnik for instructions, saw him nod. The cuffs made a thin jangle in the quiet room.

Grodnik said harshly, "I'm in charge here and I'm taking over right now. I've got questions for you, Wilde. Do you know who is responsible for these killings?"

"Yes," I said slowly. "Jacobs changed his jacket after he left the store. That means he went home." I pointed down the room. "There's your killer."

Everyone turned with my finger. Everyone except Mia Jacobs. She sat erect in the corner seat of the couch, looking squarely back at me with a short black automatic held level in her hand.

She smiled thinly at the stunned faces moved the gun in a slow arc that froze everyone. Tension made her face old and ugly. With no warning at all, she pursed her lips and whistled shrilly toward the open French windows.

Lida Jonas half rose from her seat. "Mia! Mia, dear, what..."

Mia Jacobs didn't hesitate even a fraction of a second. She snapped a shot toward Lida and swung the muzzle back to a mid-position almost quicker than I could see. The small slug hit the arm of Lida's chair just below her hand. That proved the game was being played for keeps.

That little automatic held eight shots and Mia Jacobs handled it like a veteran. What particularly impressed me was that she hadn't said a word after I pointed to her. She wasn't risking any distractions.

"You can't get away, you know," I said in a strained voice. "We left two men outside when we came in."

Mia Jacobs smiled a distant, polite smile. She whistled in a high piercing note again and this time she got an answer.

A WIDE heavy man slid through the window quickly and moved to get his back against the wall between the two high windows. That gave him command of the room. I didn't see him come in, but I saw Mia Jacobs and that was even better. She relaxed at once. I think just then she would have gone down with a touch, but it was too late to move, even if her pistol wasn't at the ready. The man between the windows was control enough. He was the short member of the team that had visited me. He held a gun in his hands.

"Erlich!" Rudi's voice was almost a sob. "Is it to murder that you came to America?"

The man at the windows blinked twice and licked his lips. He forced his eyes away from Rudi and looked at Mia Jacobs. She had circled the room and stood a few yards away from Erlich. She said something in a low voice to him.

"No, only one," Erlich answered. "A driver. I tied him in the car when I heard you whistle."

Mia Jacobs smiled gently at me. "Then I think we shall leave," she said pleasantly.

Rudi ignored her completely. He shook his head slowly. "Erlich," he said sadly.

Mia Jacobs sneered at him. "You think he wishes me to have him deported to Poland, Rudi? When the Russians want him so daily, almost as much as they want you?"

And that simplified the matter of the missing records. Two of them, anyway. With their pictures and photographs, Mia Jacobs could have had Rudi's two men deported any time. Deported to a Russian prison camp where they might live for a whole week. Even I could guess what kind of a weapon that gave her.

"And you, Mia?" Rudi said. "You do this to your own people?"

"I have no people," she said, not bitterly, only with a sort of emptiness in her voice. "Once, I had people. We were concerned with survival then. Mere survival was enough when death was with us every day. It is not enough now. Why should I watch you, Lida, him, with a scornful gesture at Jack, with a content

Children's Play Is Adaptation Of Fairy Tale

"Prince Swineherd," to be presented in Midland Saturday, is a play adaptation for children from a story by Hans Christian Andersen, whose fairy tales have delighted children the world over.

The play will be presented at 7:30 p.m. in the Midland High School Auditorium by the Edwin Strawbridge Productions and sponsored by the St. Ann's Mothers Club.

As Anderson's stories were based on remembered impressions from his childhood, his language is a universal one that speaks to adults as well as the young.

Adults who accompany children to the play will also enjoy the evening's visit to fairy land. They will appreciate the careful artistry that has assembled the production, the color and taste in costumes and music, the scenery, the mystery of magic and the dances.

Tickets for the production are 75 cents for adults and 35 cents for children. They may be purchased from members of the sponsoring organization or at the public schools.

Mike Scobey Is Award Winner

Mike Scobey, North Elementary student, received a gold football at the school's Parent-Teacher Association meeting Tuesday in recognition of his achievements as outstanding athlete of the year.

The award was presented by Robert Milam who also introduced the boys who played basketball and football and the girls who participated in kickball and volleyball.

Tugboat Jones, Midland High School football coach, was the guest speaker. The group presented a life P-TA membership to Ruth Pearce, third grade teacher at North Elementary, and a president's pin to Mrs. B. B. Seawright, W. D. Ladd, principal, explained certain bills now before Congress concerning teachers. Announcement was made of the Heart Drive.

The devotional was led by five members of Cub Scout Pack 5. Serving refreshments were Mrs. C. L. Glass and Mrs. A. A. Jones.

Wild Hobbs Gasser Finally Is Capped

HOBBS, N. M. —(P)—A wild gas well here was capped Wednesday after 14 days of blasting forth a stream of highly inflammable natural gas.

Cost of the operation in capping the well was estimated at $300,000 not counting value of the gas which was escaping at the rate of 130 million cubic feet a day.

The well choked to a stop after four giant pumps started forcing heavy drilling mud down into the escaping gas stream.

Bills On Municipal Issues Set Aside By Texas Solons

AUSTIN —(P)—Slum clearance and annexation problems of larger cities have been shunted to subcommittees of the Legislature for two weeks.

Action came in committee meetings Wednesday. The next controversial question was up in the House Thursday—a bill aimed at preventing required membership in the Texas State Teachers Association as a basis for getting a teaching job.

It was second on the House calendar. San Antonio citizens pleaded Wednesday night for help in getting rid of the tin can shacks in the slum areas of their city.

"We have blocks where one water spigot serves 50 families," Rep. Stanley Banks, Jr., San Antonio, said at a hearing before the House State Affairs Committee. "That's where our high tuberculosis, dysentery, diarrhea and infant death rates come from."

Redevelopment Urged

Banks asked for passage of his bill that would allow larger cities to set up redevelopment agencies and use funds appropriated by Congress to acquire the land of slum areas. The city would sell the land to private concerns for redevelopment.

The Senate State Affairs Committee sent the annexation problem to a subcommittee after it listened to a bitter clash between spokesmen for quarrelling cities and suburbs.

City officials called the bill "an iron curtain" against future growth of Texas' home-rule cities. Proponents contended it was a fair solution to a long sore problem, midway between unlimited annexation and no annexation.

City officials from Austin, San Antonio, Fort Worth, Palestine, Lubbock and elsewhere joined the parade of opponents.

A bill to reduce to zero the state property tax for the benefit of Confederate veteran pensions was approved unanimously by the House Revenue and Taxation Committee.

The Taxation Committee agreed that tax bills will be sent to subcommittee for one week's study following public hearing by the full committee. An exception could be made by two-thirds majority vote.

Tax Action Dims

This meant no highly controversial tax proposal is likely to win immediate committee approval at the time of public hearing.

A resolution by Rep. Doug Bergman of Dallas asking Congress to let state legislatures vote on a constitutional amendment limiting the per cent of income tax was set for public hearing Monday.

One bill to make a jail sentence of at least three days mandatory on a driving while intoxicated offense was approved by the Senate Committee on Criminal Jurisprudence. But another bill to set standards of alcoholic content to show drunkenness of drivers was killed. Several members protested that the tests were not infallible.

A bill to make dog owners liable for damages caused by their biting dogs went to a friendly Senate subcommittee Thursday after mail carriers at a public hearing urged relief from torn pants and flesh.

The bill would make the owner liable for actual damages and subject to a fine of $25 to $100.

Youth Has His Reasons

DENVER —(P)—An eight-year-old boy, who has been a patient at Children's Hospital because of brain inflammation, appeared at a mid-Winter clinic of the Colorado Medical Society Wednesday.

The presiding doctor asked the boy to leave his wheel chair and walk. The boy obeyed but held his hands tight against his waist.

"Can't you move your hands, son?" asked the doctor.

"No," said the boy.

"Do your hands hurt?"

"No."

"Will you try and move them for me?"

"No," said the boy. "I've got to hold up by pajama pants."

22 Escape Safely When B-36 Burns

ROSWELL, N. M. —(P)—Twenty-two airmen escaped unhurt when a B-36 caught fire near the end of its landing roll shortly before midnight Wednesday and burned.

A spokesman at Walker Air Force Base said the commander of the giant, six-engine bomber told him two engines burst into flame as the craft rolled to a stop.

The big bomber, of the 28th Strategic Reconnaissance Wing, was on a routine training flight from Rapid City Air Force Base in South Dakota.

A board was appointed at Walker AFB to look for the cause of the fire.

CAN'T REMEMBER NAMES—

Call House Madam Tells About Jelke

NEW YORK —(P)—A 28-year-old alleged call house madam took the witness stand Thursday to tell what she knows about cafe society vice.

"I can't remember any names," said red-haired Erica Steel in advance of her appearance at the trial of oleomargarine heir Minot (Mickey) Jelke III.

The ex-dancer made this comment as she left another courtroom with a rich mink coat tucked over one arm.

The state claims she is the madam in the case against Jelke, 23, who is accused of inducing three young women into prostitution and of living off the earnings of one.

She was in Special Sessions Court Wednesday to be sentenced on her guilty plea to running a public nuisance—a plea she entered after being accused of operating a bawdy house. Sentencing was postponed until March 18.

Meanwhile, a onetime movie bit player was testifying in the Jelke trial.

Richard Short, 39, an admitted procurer, testified of his checkered life and of relationships with Jelke. The state claims he cooperated with Jelke in allegedly promoting a prostitution career for 23-year-old Pat Thompson, Short's fourth wife. Short has pleaded guilty.

Short testified he was with Miss Thompson when he first met Jelke in 1952. He conceded spending time in jail.

Democrats Cite Farm Price Dips As Victory Hope

WASHINGTON — (P) — Democrats displayed quiet confidence Thursday that they have found an issue which may win them the 1954 elections and perhaps lay the basis for a return to national power in 1956. Many Republicans take issue with that appraisal.
The issue is falling farm prices and the views of Republican Secretary of Agriculture Benson, which Democratic lawmakers assert are opposed to high-level, mandatory price supports.
GOP Senate Leader Taft of Ohio conceded Wednesday that "if the Republicans don't do better than the Democrats did in the last two years" in checking farm price drops, "we probably will lose the next election."
But Taft scornfully added this should not be a hard task because, he said, "under the Democrats, farm prices have been going down for the last two years."
The Agriculture Department, meanwhile, reported an advance in hog prices and officials there cited it as evidence supporting their contention there is a firm foundation under the agricultural situation.
A department market survey showed prices of hogs paid producers on eight major Midwestern markets have gone up an average of $1.76 for 100 pounds since mid-January. That is about 9.7 per cent. Further, the department said, hog prices on those same markets now average about $2.55 for 100 pounds above those of a year ago.
Democrats from farm states say they already are getting letters from dirt farmers attacking Benson, some demanding that he be fired.
Senator Fulbright (D-Ark) came to the floor Wednesday with a 3,000-word speech sharply critical of Benson's utterances as secretary. Taft remained on the floor for Fulbright's talk and repeatedly engaged in heated exchanges with him.
The GOP leader said the Democrats must take responsibility for falling farm prices of the last two years.
The Arkansas retorted that the sharpest price drops came after the Republican triumph last November.

Exclusive Store For Men Opens Its Doors In City

The Model Shop, a new exclusive men's clothing store located on the West Wall Street side of the Scharbauer Hotel, will make its Midland debut Friday.

John Summers, operator of the store, has been in the clothing business in West Texas since 1927. One of his stores has been located in Odessa since 1932 and sells both ladies' and men's wear.

Harold Summers will manage the Model Shop which has been thoroughly stocked with the finest men's apparel available featuring a varied selection of suits, sports clothing, hats, shoes, belts, hosiery, and furnishing goods.

Imported materials have gone into the tailoring of such outstanding clothing as Fashion Park Suits from Rochester, N. Y., and Lebow Clothes from Maryland.

For informality, Midlanders may select sportswear fashioned by Duncan-Stuart of California and Jackman of California.

Available at the Model Shop are suits and sportswear in fabrics ranging from pure silk to 100 per cent wool.

Men will find that casual wear, matching leisure jackets and pants by Jackman are dressy and comfortable, and for formal wear, the "Tony Martin" After Six tuxedos are more than appropriate.

Two of the leading brands of shoes which will be handled by the Model Shop are the Bostonian and the Edwin Clapp creations. Since the Edwin Clapp Shoe Corporation is celebrating its 100th anniversary this year, a display of every shoe style manufactured by that organization since 1853 will be shown at the Model Shop next week.

Seasonal and special occasion headwear can be seen at the men's store which will feature fashionable Dobbs, Stetson, and Barstano hats.

Manhattan, McGregor, and Barney Beller of California, are famous brand names which customers will find on the shirts at the Model Shop which has a large assortment of all styles.

For men who desire distinction in neckwear, the store has stocked all original ties by Bronsini and Damon. Hosiery is by Westminster. For belts which look unique as well as doing a job, Midlanders may select from the Hitchcock, Swank and the new Colonial brands.

Members of the present staff of the Model Shop are all Midlanders and include Ray Trammell, clothing; Jack Little, shoes; D. C. Stewart, furnishing goods; Mrs. W. H. Wesson, alterations; and Mrs. Doris Walsh, cashier.

Permian Basin Oil And Gas Log— Sinclair Is Running Intermediate Pipe At Glasscock Test

End through perforations at 12,350-415 feet.

Gas-oil ratio was 540-1 and tubing pressure 470 pounds.

The extender is three-quarters mile north of production in the Denton field.

Exact location is 330 feet from south and west lines of the south-west quarter of section 18-12S-38E.

34-1.

As soon as that job is finished, operator will make more hole below 6,800 feet.

The test, originally slated for the 6,800-foot bottom, failed to find production in drilling to that depth, and now will continue drilling to one of the lower formations.

Location is 660 feet from south and east lines of section 32, block 33, T-4-S, T&P survey and four miles southeast of Garden City.

Operator was cementing intermediate casing at 2,555 feet in Sinclair Oil & Gas Company No. 1 Cox, wildcat in East-Central Glasscock County.

Production was from open hole between 3,945 feet and 4,340 feet, plugged back depth.

That formation was acidized with 3,200 feet.

Arvanna has been suggested as the new reservoir.

Location of No. 1 King is 2,355 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of the northwest quarter of section 2, block 35, T-6-N, T&P survey and four miles northeast of Lamesa.

It is eight and one-half miles northwest of the nearest San Andres production in the Spraberry two-pay field of Central-East Dawson County.

HOUSTON—(P)—That somebody who doesn't like late model Lincoln automobiles struck again Wednesday.

A 1932 Lincoln was found in flames in suburban Bellair. It was the sixth such case reported since January 28.

Dr. Lester A. Walsh and George Pelletier left Thursday for Oklahoma City, Okla., to attend a three day meeting and post-graduate course sponsored by Oklahoma State Chiropractic Association.

Dr. Walsh will give a series of lectures and surgical demonstrations during the meeting.

HOUSTON—(P)—James H. Snowden, Fort Worth oilman, said he's going to drill a wildcat oil well test on Galveston Island.

Snowden said Wednesday he was assembling a block of Galveston Island leases. He said the planned test would be to a depth of 8,500 feet. He wouldn't say when the test would be drilled.

"That all depends on when and if I'm able to get the rest of the tracts lined up," he said.

Snowden said the tracts he is leasing are located seven to eight miles west of the City side of the island.

Previous wildcat tests on the island have failed to produce oil.

NIT Sends Invitations To Seattle, Manhattan

NEW YORK —(P)—Invitations have been extended to Seattle and Manhattan to join the National Invitation Basketball Tournament opening in Madison Square Garden March 7.

H. A. Brightman, coach of Seattle, which features high-scoring Johnny O'Brien and his twin brother, Eddie, announced Tuesday night school officials have received an invitation but had not acted on it.

And from an authoritative source here it was learned Manhattan also has been invited to participate in the 12-team tournament, which will extend through March 14.

These are the only two invitations that actually have been sent out, the source said, although others have been extended to a number of other schools.

Assa Bushnell, chairman of the selection committee, said feelers were sent to 15 schools, including those already named, but he declined to identify the others.

The group, however, is believed to include Duquesne, St. Johns of Brooklyn, Louisville, Miami of Ohio, Niagara, Oklahoma City, St. Louis, North Carolina, North Carolina State and Holy Cross.

Most of the schools under consideration, including Seattle and Manhattan, also are eligible to be selected either as a conference representative or a competitor at large for the National Collegiate Athletic Association's 23-team tournament opening March 9. Under NCAA rules, teams competing in its tournament cannot enter any other postseason competition.

Bevo Francis Denies Plans To Leave Rio

RIO GRANDE, OHIO —(P)—Clarence (Bevo) Francis, the hottest thing in college basketball Thursday, says he will stick by Rio Grande College and the coach who pushed him into national prominence.

Bevo denied he was going to leave Rio Grande and blamed misinterpretation of statements he made over a radio station for the report he might quit.

On a Portsmouth, Ohio, radio station, Bevo had been asked if he intended to remain with the Redmen for his entire college career. He replied:

"Yes, if they're going to have a bigger schedule, I'll stay there."

Asked if that meant he would go elsewhere if a schedule with big-time teams wasn't provided, Francis, who leads college game scores with 1,646 points in 35 games, answered:

"Well... if I know Coach Oliver, we'll have a bigger schedule."

"Well... if I know Coach Oliver, Bevo promised. 'I owe him everything for my success. I'll play for him even if he wants to schedule high school teams...'

Hornets Drop Final Tilt To Blackshear

SAN ANGELO—Carver High of Midland closed out its district cage season here Wednesday night bowing to Blackshear of San Angelo, 46-32.

The San Angelo club finished in a first place tie with Odessa while Carver failed to win in four games. James Price led Midland Wednesday with 10 points while Melvin Brown hit 15 for Blackshear.

The Hornets are idle Thursday night while the girls team and the Hornet juniors entertain McGamby in the Hornet gym. The girls are co-holders of their district championship and go to Odessa next Tuesday for a playoff game.

West, Sam Houston Cagers Scrap Over Elementary Title

Midland's elementary school cagers round out their season of basketball with final games Friday afternoon but a win for West in its game could mean nothing was settled through seven weeks of play.

West is host club to unbeaten Sam Houston and needs a victory in the 2:15 p.m. game to grab half a share of the title.

Sam Houston, which has won six straight, can claim the title outright in the game by winning.

DeZavala, if West wins over Sam Houston, can edge into the top-place tie by winning in its home game against North.

While the first place battle is complex, it hardly compares to the middling quintet. Four are tied for fourth place, Lamar, Crockett, North and South schools; each has won two, while losing four.

Lamar and South will be fighting at South to stay in fourth place while Crockett is favored to remain there in a game at Terminal with the six-time loser Air Base unit.

Sam Houston took command in the league last week by handing DeZavala its first setback, 55-36; South won its second straight at Crockett's expense, 18-9; Lamar edged Terminal, 14-7, and West nosed by North, 19-18.

The standings:

Team	W	L	Pts	Ope
Sam Houston	6	0	282	147
DeZavala	5	1	239	145
West	5	1	220	174
Lamar	2	4	139	218
Crockett	2	4	136	173
North	2	4	121	139
South	2	4	91	121
Terminal	0	6	60	171

Friday's schedule: Sam Houston at West, North at DeZavala, Lamar at South, Crockett at Terminal.

Faulk-Bisplinghoff Team Suffers Upset In Mixed Tourney

ORLANDO, FLA. —(P)—Such favorites as Sam Snead, Babe Zaharias, Betsy Rawls and Jacquelyn Pung were still around for Thursday's second round of the International Mixed Two-Ball Golf Tournament, but they had a reminder or two to keep bearing down.

The big reminder came in Wednesday's first round defeat of one of the three medalist teams—Don Bisplinghoff, Orlando, and Mary Lena Faulk, Thomasville, Ga. They were upset by Marilyn Smith, Wichita, Kan., and Lou Barbaro, Deal, N. J., 2 and 1. Just a day earlier Bisplinghoff and Miss Faulk, two of the best young amateur golfers in the South, qualified at 68 and Miss Smith and Barbaro had 74.

Mrs. Zaharias and George Bolesta, Tampa pair who also shared the medal at 68, had to go 19 holes to get by Vonnie Colby, Hollywood, Fla., and Eddie Bush, Hammond, Ind.

Other favorites came through a little easier.

Major Loop Clubs Open Spring Drills

By BEN PHLEGAR

By The Associated Press
Eddie Stanky fined himself $9 and for the thirty-seventh time somebody predicted the Yankees are the ones to beat in the American League.

It's baseball Spring training time again.

Baseball players tend to pile on pounds during the winter when they switch from a game a day to a fireside-and-slippers routine. So weight naturally is a big topic as the training camps open.

Stanky leveled a 32-a-pound weight fine against his St. Louis Cardinals. When the Red Bird pitchers and catchers showed up at St. Petersburg, Fla., Wednesday, Cliff Chambers had to dig up $13. Stanky himself was four and one-half pounds over and paid $9.

The Dodgers, who have switched their official opening date several times during the hot-store season, decided to put in their first regular drill Thursday although some of the players have been around for a couple of weeks.

Clem Labine, almost a dead loss because of arm trouble last year, threw fast and hard Wednesday and said his arm felt fine. Ralph Branca, another 1952 sore-arm casualty, reported ready for full-scale work.

The news wasn't so pleasant at the West Palm Beach camp of the Philadelphia Athletics. After only one workout Pitcher Harry Byrd, last year's American League Rookie of the Year, went to bed with the flu.

Out in San Bernardino, Calif., the St. Louis Browns, rounding out a full week of training, spent the day practicing rundown plays between home plate and third base.

In other developments Wednesday Billy Pierce, ace left-hander of the Chicago White Sox, picked the Yankees as the class of the American League but warned the folks not to overlook the revamped Chicago entry.

The Chicago Cubs open Thursday at Mesa, Ariz., and the first of the New York Giants leave for Phoenix by train.

Flanakin To Coach At Kilgore College

KILGORE —(P)—Jasper E. Flanakin, line coach at Tyler Junior College, has been named head football coach at Kilgore College.

Flanakin, a graduate of Baylor, succeeds Woody Johnson, who resigned two weeks ago.

Statisticians Named

ABILENE —(P)—George Hine, director of sports publicity and statistician of the Border Conference, has been appointed statistician of the West Texas-New Mexico and Longhorn Leagues by Hal Sayles, president of those two leagues.

Peso-Hunting Pros Put Off In Mexico Go

MEXICO CITY —(P)—A trio of torrid threesomes stole the spotlight Thursday as the four-day Mexican Open Golf Tournament got off to a fast start under warm, sunny skies.

A total of 162 golfing greats of five Western Hemisphere nations are entered in the $9,400 peso ($9,450) tourney staged at the semi-tropical 6,804-yard, 72-par Chapultepec Course.

But interest centered in three threesomes, teeing off minutes apart.

Red-hot Tony Holguin of Midland, Ill., fresh from his sensational 20-under-par victory in the Texas Open at San Antonio last week, was matched with Jimmy Demaret of Klamath Lake, N. Y., and Lloyd Mangrum of Niles, Ill.

Twenty minutes later Byron Nelson of Roanoke, Texas, was scheduled to swing into action against Tommy Bolt of Maplewood, N. J., and Antonio Cerdas, one of Argentina's champions from Buenos Aires.

Julius Boros of Mid Pines, N. C., Jimmy Turnesa of Briarcliff, N. Y., and Roberto de Vicenzo, another Argentine star from Buenos Aires, formed the other trio expected to draw a big following.

Nations represented in the Mexican Open include the United States, Mexico, Argentina, Venezuela and Canada.

Representing Venezuela is its champion Manola Bernaldes of Caracas, who was scheduled to tee off shortly after noon against Al Bessink of Grossinger, N. Y., and Dave Douglas of Newark, Del.

Canada's Pat Fletcher of Saskatoon got off to an early start, matched with Antonio Pedrosa of Torreon, Mex., and Ignacio Dias of Mexico City.

Although the mountain-rimmed Chapultepec Course is well over a mile high—about 7,300 feet—the altitude hasn't seemed to bother the players. In practice rounds many broke the course's par 72, some by as many as eight strokes.

MHS Netters Nip Pyote, Try Broncs

The Midland High tennis team sought to square away its record by entertaining Odessa here Thursday afternoon after Jim Wolfe and Ellen DeChicchia led the Bulldogs by Pyote, 7-5, there Wednesday. It was Midland's third triumph in seven outings.

The Odessans, who won over Midland, 6-4, in December, were to arrive to start the Thursday matches at 3 p.m.

Wolfe's triumph was Midland's feature win Wednesday. He put down one of West Texas highest-ranking schoolboys, Joe Strayhorn, in a rugged duel, 3-6, 6-3, 6-3.

Midland might have extended its margin except that three matches were stopped because of darkness. Those included Midland's Ken Freeman leading Wade Bledsoe, 6-1, in boys singles, the Carolyn Faris-Dona Ingham duo's leading Trudy Berford and Julie Holliday, 6-0, and the Wanda Murray-Dot Black team's tying Mary Coursey and Ann Sifton, 6-0, 5-7, before postponement.

Ellen DeChicchia stopped Ann Sifton, 6-4, 8-6 in the No. 1 girls singles battle.

Midland victories included these: Boys—singles, Charles Bleiker over Jimmy Bright, 6-1, 6-4; doubles, Clayton Tatum and John McGuigan over Dan Chrane and Jesus Neria, 6-3, 2-6, 6-1; Bleiker and Freeman over Odie North and Joe Holt, 6-2, 6-4.

Girls—singles, Carolyn Faris over Rudell Jackson, 6-2, 6-2, and Dona Ingham over Edna Holliday, 6-0, 6-1.

For Pyote, these wins: Boys—singles, Leon Dulin over Bill Vandeventer, 3-6, 8-6, 6-4; doubles, Joe Smith and Jesus G. Neria over Jimmy Garvin and Johnny Godwin, 6-3, 6-0, and Strayhorn and Dulin over Wolfe and Vandeventer, 6-3, 6-2.

Girls—singles, Mary Helen Griffin over Dot Black, 6-3, 6-1, and Linda Lassiter over Janna Murray, 6-3, 8-7, 6-3.

Dykes Drops Decision To Army's Joe Miceli

MIAMI, FLA. —(P)—Joe Miceli, aggressive New York solidie, chopped out a 10-round decision over Bobby Dykes in the Coral Gables Coliseum Wednesday night.

The tough Army private piled up a heavy point margin against the favored Dykes in the early rounds.

H-SU Loses Griddler Because Of Classwork

ABILENE — Roy Halliburton freshman from Austin who earned a letter last season for Hardin-Simmons, has been lost to the 1953 football team.

Coach Murray Evans announced this week that the griddler failed to keep up in his class work and has become ineligible.

Hardin-Simmons at present is holding Spring training.

King Harold the Hard founded Oslo, capital of Norway, more than 900 years ago.

Averill Transferred To Three-I League

ABILENE —(P)—The contract of Umpire Bruce J. Averill has been assigned outright by the Longhorn League to the Class B Three-I League.

Averill umpired in the Longhorn League the last four years.

Abilene Whips Angelo

ABILENE — The Abilene High School cagers earned a third place tie with Odessa and Borger in the final District 1-AAAAA standings here Wednesday night with a 49-45 victory over San Angelo. Jerry Turner hit 17 points leading Abilene to its seventh district win in 14 games.

Woodard Put In SMU Post

DALLAS —(P)—Chalmer E. Woodard of McPherson College of Kansas Thursday was named head football coach of Southern Methodist University.

Woodard succeeds H. N. (Rusty) Russell, who resigned as coach on February 1 while under fire from alumni.

Woodard is director of athletics and head coach of football, basketball and track at McPherson. He compiled an outstanding record.

He will not report until Sunday to take up his duties at SMU and probably will start Spring practice Monday.

Russell, who resigned with three years left on his contract, was paid off with an estimated $36,000.

Woodard was one of six men considered for the job, which pays a reported $12,000 a year.

Mike Brumlow, coach of Texas Western, said Saturday he didn't want the job after he was given a better contract at the school in El Paso. He had been considered the leading candidate.

Woodard will bring to SMU, traditionally a single-wing school, the T formation.

Dr. H. D. Mouson, chairman of the faculty athletics committee, announced the selection of Woodard at a press conference. Dr. Mouson said the committee unanimously voted to offer the job to Woodard at the recommendation of Matty Bell, athletic director.

Woodard was given a three-year contract.

"I think we are very fortunate in obtaining the services of a man with a personality and qualifications possessed by our new coach," said Bell. "I have never seen a man with better recommendations from those who have known him intimately and have watched his teams over a period of years. He possesses a keen football mind and is fundamentally sound in football thinking."

Spiritual Diary for Lent

Let this mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus . . .
—Philippians 2:5.

Today's Message

Without a Christian mind an effective Christian life is impossible. The Christian life is infinitely more than a plan of action, a series of performances or a collection of good deeds. It is primarily a way of thinking about persons and things, about oneself and others, and about life and God. Without a peculiarly Christian way of thinking, Christian living, in any full sense, is impossible.

That, I take it, is what the Apostle Paul had in mind when he said to the Philippians, "Let the mind be in you, which was also in Christ Jesus." That is to say, learn to think the way Christ thought, feel the way Christ felt; see yourself, other people, life and God, as He saw Himself, other people, life and God. Play the part of Christ in the drama of life, on the stage of the world, in the theater of your own times. Acquire His mind and spirit so completely that you may accurately re-enact for your own generation and your own city the presence of Christ. Do it so sincerely and well that men may feel and sense in your presence, in some measure, what they sensed and felt in His presence.

—DONALD B. BLACKSTONE

Today's Prayer

Eternal Spirit, draw near to us in these moments of meditation. Remove from us the veils which we have hung between ourselves and Thee. Grant to our spirits the privilege of feeling Thy presence, and discover for our souls the capacity to see Thee everywhere. Amen.

Criminal Docket Trials Postponed

The opening for the second week of a 70th District Court criminal docket has been postponed from Monday until Tuesday, Judge R. W. (Bob) Hamilton said Thursday. Judge Hamilton said he had postponed the date for a special jury venire to report since he will be out of the city on Monday.

He has been summoned to testify before the House Judiciary Committee in Austin on proposed legislation to set up another district court in Ector and Midland Counties.

LEGAL NOTICES

Notice is hereby given that the partnership between Ray Trammell, J. B. Jennings, B. L. Mason and Wayne Merriman, under the firm name "Yellow Checker and City Cab Companies," was dissolved on February 3, 1953.

All debts due to said partners are to be paid and those from the same discharged at 107 N. Colorado in City of Midland, Texas, where the business will be continued by J. B. Jennings, B. L. Mason, Wayne Merriman and Joe Sheldene under firm name of "Yellow Checker and City Cab Companies."

Ray Trammell no longer has an interest in the partnership and will not be responsible for debts or liabilities incurred by the new partnership.

Mystery Of Suicide Stalls; Grid Star's Note Was Hoax

HOUSTON —(AP)—A Rice Institute football player from Lubbock told police Thursday someone was playing a prank on him by leaving a note hinting at suicide in his dormitory room.

"It's a prank pulled by somebody," Mac Taylor, 19, son of a Lubbock grocery chain operator, told police and reporters. "I can't imagine why anyone would write it."

Taylor ended the brief police mystery when he reported to his dormitory Thursday. Eddie Rayburn, 18, freshman football and basketball star from Houston, called police six hours earlier when he found the note on Taylor's bed. Taylor and Rayburn are roommates.

Rayburn told reporters Taylor left the dormitory around midnight but he had not seen his roommate leave the note on the bed.

Taylor said he spent the night in his Houston apartment instead of at the dormitory.

The 180-pound halfback has been running on the first team Coach Jess Neely has been using during Spring training. Taylor was ineligible last season as a sophomore because of scholastic difficulties. He reestablished his eligibility at midterm.

San Angelo, Midland Firms Get Contracts

Bids on the construction of more than 37,000 feet of sewer lines in the south side of Midland were opened Wednesday afternoon.

Cage Brothers Construction Company of San Angelo submitted the low bid of $30,849 for the laying of 17,126 feet of pipe in Southern Addition, Lindsey Acres and Haley Heights. Other bids ranged up to $51,847.

T. and L. Construction Company of Midland submitted the low bid of $41,252 on 20,164 feet of pipe in Haley Heights, Hines Addition and Stockard Addition. Other bids ranged up to $65,828.

'Buslift' Operation Departs 300 Daily

LAREDO —(AP)—A "buslift" operated by the U. S. Immigration and Naturalization Service is returning an average of 300 aliens daily to Mexico. Most of the aliens are Mexican farm workers.

John W. Holland, Immigration Service district director, said the "buslift" is more successful than an airlift two years ago and a "trainlift" last year.

REPORTING THE TOP NEWS
IN REAL ESTATE

BREATH-TAKING IN BIGNESS is this 4-bedroom, 2-bath home. Room sizes are 13x13, 11x16, 14x16, 14x16.
Spacious living room, separate dining room, and over 50 feet of Mount Vernon porch which overlooks the attractive rear yard. Four separate heating units, centrally air-conditioned, some wool carpeting, water softener, electric stove and washer connections. Tile floor, attractive landscaping, paved street. Close in. Constructed about 5 years ago, and in excellent condition. Owner transferring. ONLY $19,750.

DO YOU LIKE IT RUSTIC in design, solid in construction, and up-to-date in the inside? And on a large lot?
And would you like to trade your old home? You can, on this new, 3-bedroom Grandbury rock home located on Louisiana. Tile kitchen and ceramic bath, luxuriously carpeted thru-out, central heating and air-conditioning. Even the attached garage is finished and painted, and could be easily converted into a huge den. We have big ears—the better to hear your trade-in offer.
$16,500.

ISN'T IT STRANGE that those people who talk most vociferously of a coming business depression are the ones who have the least to lose?
Tiny things to them are big, only because they have tiny minds. But if a depression does come, where will they live? Why not provide for it now? Drive by 3201 DELANO attractive living room, convenient kitchen with pantry, attached carport and storage. Full down payment is only $1,900, with $54 monthly payments.

2507 NORTH BIG SPRING STREET is brand new. It's got 2 bedrooms and den or 3 bedrooms, living room, big kitchen, and attached carport.
8x12 utility room with water well, tile floor, paving. Can be handled for as little as $2,000 down. Priced at ONLY $8,500.

GO OUT OF YOUR WAY if you have to, but see 102 West Cowden.
Even in semi-rural West Texas, your mouth will water when you do.
Two lovely bedrooms, invitingly nice living room, and attached garage.
Some carpeting, washer connection, water softener. Fenced yard—and it's got trees and grass. $12,200.

THE LIVES OF YOUR CHILDREN are not expendable at any cost—neither should their environment be neglected.
We sincerely suggest this larger home located in an area of luxurious residences and almost no traffic. Built by Dean Slaven, it has 3 large bedrooms, 2 ceramic tile baths, huge living room, separate dining room with French doors leading out to huge, tile fenced yard.
Central heating, central air-conditioning, completely carpeted, and Disposal unit. A home that was built for adults, also. $24,950.

IT'S COMFORTABLY QUIET on Nobles Street. And you'll never have to worry about the tax being on time for school—it's 2 blocks from the David Crockett. Surrounded by cute homes, this one has 2 large bedrooms, living room with dining area, convenient kitchen, and attached carport with storage. It's nice. $9,900.

Ward Jurors Study Charge

MONAHANS—A special grand jury was considering aggravated assault charges Thursday against District Clerk J. C. Avery and his wife, Helen.

Velma Powell, 22, a telephone operator here and Korean war widow, charges that as she was going on duty at the telephone office late Saturday night, the Avarys forced her into their car, took her to their home and beat her severely.

A tight-lipped district clerk's office employee Thursday refused comment on the case. When asked if the grand jury was considering the Avery charges she said, "I really don't know." The district clerk's office, however, has the responsibility of recording the agenda and proceedings of a special grand jury.

The county clerk, however, said she believed the charges still were under study late Thursday morning. Several witnesses, she said, were awaiting their appearance before the grand jury.

Miss Powell, who assumed her maiden name after her husband was killed in Korea, now is at her parents' home in Monahans. She remained in the hospital there from early Sunday until Tuesday afternoon.

County Attorney Tom White, who filed the charges, said he had been told the Avarys believed Miss Powell had circulated a rumor involving their family—a rumor she was supposed to have learned while working at the telephone office.

Sealcoating Work Slated For Midland County's Highways

State highways in Midland County are due for a face-lifting this Spring.

Seal-coating projects for three of the highways were included in more than $5,000,000 worth of low bids opened Wednesday by the State Highway Department in Austin.

On the Midland-Odessa super highway, the edges of both roads will be sealcoated to protect them from crumbling.

The entire surface of the Garden City Highway to Glasscock County and the Rankin Highway to Upton County will be sealcoated.

The work will be undertaken in April, highway department spokesmen said here Thursday.

$120,000 Fire Rips Houston Warehouse

HOUSTON —(P)—Merchandise valued at $120,000 was destroyed Thursday in a warehouse fire south of the Houston business district.

Mrs. Laurel Novo, 30, manager of the Moore Paper company, estimated damages to that firm at $45,000. Orville Koss, 33, manager, placed Mine Safety Appliance Company's damages at $75,000.

AUSTIN DOINGS IN A NUTSHELL

AUSTIN —(P)—Legislature-in-brief:
House—Passed bills prohibiting forced membership of teachers in a teachers organization, allowing transfer of tuberculosis patients from the Weaver Baker Sanatorium at Mission to other hospitals at Kerrville and San Antonio. Both bills go to Senate.

Senate—Passed bill permitting mayors of towns less than 5,000 to appoint corporation court judges. Goes to governor.

Governor—Signed into immediate effect a law leaving in the hands of the jury or court trying the case the question of forfeiture of hunting or fishing license.

Father Of Midlander Dies At Farm Home

MERKEL—Norman Lee McLeod, 72, father of Mrs. T. K. Mayfield, Midland, died Wednesday afternoon on his farm near Trent following a heart seizure.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p.m. Friday in the Trent Church of Christ. Interment will be in Trent Cemetery.

McLeod was born March 9, 1880, at Ennis, Texas. He had lived in Nolan County since 1921. He was a member of the Church of Christ for 46 years.

Young Soldier Held In Officer's Death

FORT DIX, N. J. —(P)—A young Brooklyn soldier, described as a former mental patient, was held Thursday in connection with the death of a lieutenant who at first was believed killed accidentally while on training maneuvers, Army authorities said.

Capt. Harry Lapham, public information officer at this Army post, said Pvt. Edgar Owens, 21, has admitted shooting the lieutenant in a signed statement, but that no motive was determined.

An investigation into the death last week of Lt. Richard M. Davenport, 22, New London, Conn., determined that he "apparently was murdered," said Maj. Gen. Homer W. Kiefer, commander of the 9th Infantry Division.

"Owens will be charged with murder in the next 48 hours," Lapham said.

The first announcement of Davenport's death termed it a freak accident, because it was thought he was killed by fragments from a shell that exploded 225 feet away, far beyond the safety limit in training maneuvers.

But an autopsy later disclosed that it was a .30-caliber M-1 rifle bullet.

Owens had been treated at the Pilgrim State Hospital about five months. He joined the Army three months later, his father, William, told reporters in New York.

The father said the Army "should have spotted him when he enlisted" and never should have accepted him. The soldier has a five-year record.

San Angeloan Dies In Anchorage, Alaska

ANCHORAGE, ALASKA —(P)—James M. Reid, 30, San Angelo, Texas, died Wednesday after suffering a heart seizure.

Reid was stricken while awaiting a bus to go to his residence here from his work. He had been employed by an Anchorage trucking firm about six months.

Survivors include the widow and three children.

Former FBI Agent Tells 'Battle Plan' Set By Communism

Communism's "battle plan" in America was outlined for Midland Rotarians Thursday by former FBI agent Hugh Steger of Dallas.

Steger, now a prominent lawyer in Dallas, served with the FBI from 1941 until 1946 and was concerned primarily with a study of Red activities in the U. S. He told the Rotary Club of his investigations of the complex Communist machinery during that time.

Steger is a native of San Angelo and, after his term with the FBI, joined the law firm of Storey, Armstrong and Steger of Dallas. R. G. Storey of that firm is president of the American Bar Association.

Visiting Rotarians and guests of Rotary Club members were introduced by Dr. Garland Lang.

Richard S. Brooks, president of the Midland group, announced that a teacher and student from each of Midland's school will be guests at the next Rotary meeting. Members were appointed to accompany the guests to the meeting.

Billy Yeatts was in charge of the Thursday program.

Insanity Defense Hinted In Murder Trial At Dalhart

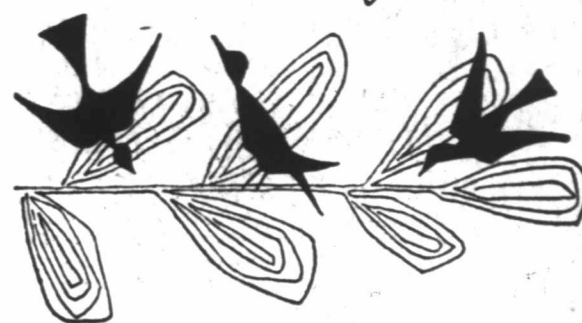

DALHART —(P)—Testimony continued Thursday in the murder trial of Gottfried Joseph Young, charged in the tourist court slaying of his wife here last Christmas Eve.

Although Young pleaded innocent Wednesday, there was a hint that the plea might be changed to insanity. Start of testimony was delayed while defense counsel studied what it termed "new information bearing on the defendant's sanity."

Young's wife, Naomi, 44, was found dead in the couple's cabin after she had been killed in what Sheriff W. L. Stout called a "violent sadistic attack."

Four Midlanders Hurt In Road Crash

Four persons were injured Wednesday night in a two-car automobile collision at Andrews Highway and Ward Street.

Admitted to Midland Memorial Hospital for treatment of lacerations were John Weldon Overholt, 19, Holiday Hill, and his wife, Clydia Lou Overholt.

Police said Overholt was driver of one of the automobiles while the other was driven by Robert Turner Drummond, 27, 925 North Edwards Street.

According to police, two passengers in the car—Mary Nell Drummond, 26, and Robert Paul Drummond, six—suffered minor injuries.

Catty-Cornered Jaywalking Legal On El Paso Streets

EL PASO—(P)—Jaywalking, especially catty-cornered jaywalking, is legal these days in El Paso—at one of the city's busiest intersections.

What's more, the cops are planning to make such jaywalking legal at other intersections.

After two weeks trial of the so-called "Denver Plan," El Paso police are loud in their praise of the system, although it wasn't easy to teach milling thousands at downtown Mesa and Texas intersection to ignore old traffic rules and learn new ones.

A three-way light control, the new system permits pedestrians to walk only when the "walk" sign appears.

But when it's time to walk the pedestrians are urged to go every-which-way, while all vehicle movement is stopped both east-west and north-south.

Traffic Capt. J. C. Risinger says the new traffic system is "working just fine," and Police Chief Roy Johnson plans extension of the plan to other busy intersections in the near future.

Headaches Admitted

Risinger admits he had headaches when the new system went into effect.

Between 50,000 and 60,000 pedestrians cross the Mesa-Texas intersection in every 24 hours.

When the new system went into effect the vast majority of them flatly refused to do any jaywalking, even though officially encouraged by police officers standing by.

Maybe many pedestrians couldn't believe their ears when a police loudspeaker informed them:

"Watch the bottom signal light. When 'walk' goes on take the shortest possible route. Cross diagonally if you wish."

For a time many persons couldn't resist the automatic reflex to start walking on the green—which isn't proper under the new system.

Big Worm Industry Grows In Stature

HAMILTON, CANADA—(P)—The lowly earthworm is beginning to turn—into big business.

Nick Christopher, graduate of McMaster University, has hired two students to care for his current batch of six million wigglers. And the McMaster students, basketball players Ernie Darragh and Lorne Wigglesworth, are making enough money at it to help pay their way through college.

Nick sells the worms to fishermen in a patented worm container. An insurance salesman, he started in the worm business in a small way with only about 10,000 wigglers. He recently purchased a greenhouse, installed an oil furnace and a sprinkling system to keep his products fat and healthy.

FIREMEN USE SNOW

ALBANY, N. Y.—(P)—Firemen didn't bother with an extinguisher—they just used snow—when called to put out a fire in a mailbox recently. Several burned letters were the only damage.

TECHNICOLOR TEETH—

No Kisses Tempt Aztec Aphrodites

By DOROTHY ROE

Associated Press Women's Editor
Pity the ancient Aztecs. They didn't know about kissing.

This, thinks Samuel Baggett, author of a new novel of old Mexico, "Gods on Horseback" (McBride) may be the reason for the eventual downfall of the ancient civilization.

While doing research on the modes and mores of the original inhabitants of Mexico, he found many love stories but no kisses.

For Baggett, whose main job is vice president and general counsel of the United Fruit Company, this is a first novel, and he is enjoying the experience.

His story of the conquest of the Aztecs by the Spaniards is packed with descriptions of customs and dress in old Mexico. The Aztec girls, it seems, were well-guarded, had their own schools, and wore bare-midriff styles seen now at our best beach resorts.

They were skilled in fine needlework, fabric dyeing and design—but they didn't know how to kiss. Presumably the invading Spaniards taught them.

But the lawyer-author discovered one thing about Aztec women which might give a new idea to cosmetics manufacturers. They used to paint their teeth in bright colors to attract the boys.

A new fad to match tooth lacquer to nail polish might be a bonanza. But that might discourage kissing.

Jewelry Industry In Britain Fades

BIRMINGHAM, ENGLAND. —(P)— Britain's jewelry industry is slowly being forced out of business by taxation, Robert Pringle, president of the British Jewelers' Association said here.

"Our best workmen and designers are losing their skill because retailers dare not stock anything in the nature of an innovation on which 100 per cent tax is payable," he said.

★ DR. JORDAN SAYS ★

Alert Parents Can Help Stop Spread Of Scalp Ringworm

By EDWIN F. JORDAN, M. D.

Written for NEA Service

"I have a little grandson" writes Mrs. C. D., "who has had ringworm of the scalp for four months. He has lost all his hair. What causes it and how do you get it?"

Ringworm of the scalp, or tinea capitis, is a fungus infection generally involving the root of the hair and that part of the hair which is close to the scalp. Sometimes there are scattered semi-bald patches on the back or sides of the head, but complete loss of hair is the exception. These patches are scaly and the infected hair has a dull luster and often is broken off rather short.

It often is necessary for the physician to use special equipment in order to make a diagnosis. A light which consists of ultraviolet rays filtered through a special type of glass is used and examination must be carried out in a darkened room. Under this special light the infected hair usually gives a bright glow.

Other tests, such as looking at the hairs or scrapings from the scalp, are sometimes made.

The treatment for ringworm is not easy, but in time usually is successful. The ointments containing chemicals which have worked on other types of fungus infections may not prove effective for this, so treatment may seem discouraging for a time. Some success has been reported with X-ray treatment.

When ringworm of the scalp really is epidemic in a community, a tempt should be made to find all of the cases by making a survey of school children and pre-school children in families where an older child is found to be infected.

Watch For Signs

Children living in institutions are even more likely to be exposed than children in homes. Also, barbers can be helpful if they watch for any such conditions of the scalp, and they should refrain from cutting the hair of a child having this infection.

This problem is of serious concern to skin specialists. Parents can help enormously by being on the lookout for any disease of the scalp and reporting it immediately, for it is most important to recognize its infectious nature and to stop it from spreading.

Midlander Returns From Cleveland Meet

James McCain of Fashion Cleaners has returned from Cleveland where he attended the 44th annual convention of the National Institute of Cleaning and Dyeing.

A new method of dry cleaning was introduced and explained to more than 10,000 dry cleaners at the convention, McCain said. The new process is being rapidly adopted by many dry cleaners throughout the United States.

Cleveland's Municipal Auditorium had more than 55,000 square feet of floor space devoted to display of the latest developments in modern dry cleaning equipment at the NICD convention.

SO SOLLY TOO LATE

CHICAGO —(P)— "Teenicide," is a new word used to cover teenage suicide by automobile.

When Lumbermen's Mutual Casualty Company translated it into Japanese for its safety film, "Last Day," it came out jidousha ni yoru miseenasha no jitsui.

The Japanese translation says—"automobile by miners of killing self."

Coronation Film Due As Color Documentary

LONDON —(P)— "Elizabeth the Queen," a 5,000-foot color film of Queen Elizabeth's coronation, will be on show throughout Britain six days after the coronation, and will be available in the United States shortly afterwards. A shorter version will be shown in foreign-language countries.

Associated British Picture Corporation said it would be an historic record rather than a news film. The story will be told in as few words as possible.

Marine Reservists Will Meet Thursday

Volunteer Marine Reserve Unit 8-11 will meet Thursday instead of Tuesday as originally published. The Tuesday date was given in error. The meeting will be held in Room 310 of the Midland Building here. Harold L. Davis, Howard County Junior College athletic director and public information officer for the unit, said Wednesday.

Marine reservists from the Big Spring, Midland and Odessa areas will map a three-month training schedule for the newly-organized unit.

When eggs first are laid, they have a protective film covering them. This is known as the "bloom" and it seals the pores and helps to keep odors out of the eggs.

Youth Center Chatter

By NANCY LOU KLINGLER

Time has come again for that dear old sand to be blowing again. Seems as though it doesn't have to have a time but it always blows this time of the year so why should this year be different? Just settle back in your chair and let the sand blow (not much else you can do is there?)

Tuesday night was the last basketball game for this year. The Bulldogs played Odessa and it was the most thrilling game of the year. It was a very close game and at several times the Bulldogs were tied with the Broncos, but they always pulled out in front a little bit. We know that Midland will have a good team next year because of the two junior high's coming up.

Were you at the dance last Friday night? Were you expecting the unusual to happen? We kind of doubt if it did, but maybe it did. The largest crowd was on hand that we have had in a long time. They were there mostly because of the suspicion aroused. Seemed as though everyone had a good time and that is what it was for.

No Dance This Week

While on the subject of dances there will not be a dance this week-end because Myrt will be out of town.

There were many teen-agers on hand, as usual, at the C. M. A. program Tuesday night. The Festival of Song was the program and it was thoroughly enjoyed by everyone. Congratulations to the Midland High School Volleyball team on winning a game from Crane last Thursday night in the MHS Gym.

The team will play here this Thursday night, so let's all come out and cheer them to another victory. Saturday, they will journey to Grand Falls for a tournament. Lots of luck.

Even though the ground didn't see his shadow, that doesn't keep Spring from having a little effect here and there. Time has rolled around once more for Spring Training. The football boys you will see next year now are engaged in training.

Remember, Girls! To the Girls of MHS. Remember what Coach Jones told you after assembly Tuesday? Please try and heed what he said because if you stop and think how important it is you will see his point. Spring training lasts only 30 days!!!

Congratulations to Tommy Johnson, the new pong champion of the Youth Center. He beat Don Roderick one game the other day so that made him champion, and Don runner-up. Congratulations, and keep up the good work.

There was quite a mix-up Sunday on the picnic. Every time someone started to go out there the people out there would give up on someone else coming and leave and that went on all afternoon. There will be no picnic this week that we know of.

Ash Wednesday started Lenten season for many members of the Youth Center. You can see various members, staying miles away from the snack bar. They probably gave up candy, cold drinks, or eating between meals, so please don't tempt anyone.

Last Saturday the Valentine's

Dance went off almost as well as the Bulldog Stomp.

Would you like to see some great women golfers? All you have to do is just pass by the Midland Country Club in the afternoon after school and you will see them in action. Yes, Barbara McMillan, Ardith Campbell, Judy Edwards and Fatsy Yeger are the great golfers we are talking about. These girls, along with others, are out for golf and believe it or not they will represent you later on in tournaments. They are really good though, with all kidding (?) aside.

Since when did skating become such a popular sport among Midland teen-agers? Well, it all started about two or three weeks ago. We have some Saturday skaters in our midst. If you want to go, just get yourself to Odessa and meet the rest of the Midland kids over there. They all say they always have a wonderful time.

What were Pat Walker, John Petty and Harold Paden laughing at Tuesday morning? They were in English class when someone was telling about the book he read, and all of a sudden they burst out laughing. What was so funny? Why not tell us or show us so that everyone can laugh. John is the best imitator, so get him to show you.

As you probably have noticed, there haven't been any picture shows for about a month or so. Myrt thought everyone was getting tired of them so he stopped them for a while. Now he thinks everyone will enjoy them more, so he is going to start ordering them again. Those of you who always are fussing about what kind of show it is, all you have to do is tell either Myrt or Fern which type you prefer and they will be more than glad to get it. It is just as simple as all that.

To Dallas, Maybe? We sure do hope Pat Curran gets to go to Dallas this weekend. She has been worrying everybody to death about getting to go, so now that she has a chance we sure hope she gets to go.

There were quite a few from Odessa over Tuesday night to attend the basketball game, and afterwards it looked as if all of them came to the dance for there surely were lots of them. We were more than glad to have them and they are welcome any time.

This is a warning to everyone for the next few days. The floor has been waxed recently so we will warn you now to proceed at your own risk, especially outside on the front porch.

To Bill Mayfield What did you do with Othanna Gadberr's Senior ring? She would like to have it back if at all possible. Bill claims he lost it, but other sources say he is just trying to fool her. Bill, you can't fool a woman so give it back to her.

To the Freshmen of both San Jacinto and Cowden: We extend to you a cordial welcome to the Youth Center.

Believe it or not the sand has stopped blowing for a short while and we are out of news so bye until next week.

Midlander Trains As Marine Recruit

Marine Private William D. Craft, 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. William M. Craft of 711 South Weatherford Street is now training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego, Calif., where raw Leatherneck recruits become Marines in nine weeks.

In addition to schooling in basic military subjects, Private Craft will receive intensive training in the use of the Marine Corps' modern firearms. During a three weeks stay at the rifle range, he will fire the 30 caliber Garand and Browning Automatic rifles, light and heavy machine guns, and be schooled on the use of bazookas, mortars and flame throwers.

After climaxing his basic training with four weeks of individual combat tactics at Camp Pendleton, Calif., he will be given a 10-day leave. He then will be assigned to a Leatherneck unit in the U. S. or abroad, or to a Marine Corps school for further technical training.

Prior to his enlistment in the Marine Corps, Private Craft was employed by the Southern Geophysical Company of Fort Worth.

TINY FELLER PACKS PUNCH

PHILADELPHIA —(AP)—The fiercest animal on earth, says Alan Devos, writing in "Frontiers," is not the tiger or grizzly bear but the tiny shrew.

Some species of the shrew are so small that they come 14 to an ounce. A shrew is so tough it will attack and devour almost any animal up to twice its size and so voracious it eats its own weight in meat every three hours.

Without food, it starves to death in less than a day.

It dies of old age in about 18 months.

Daddy Ringtail And Bird Seed

Old Mr. Hungry had eaten some chicken feed. Now he was sitting on the chicken roost in the chicken house to pretend he was a chicken. "Cut-cut-cudaw!" said Mr. Hungry, like the chicken he was pretending to be. He was visiting at Miney Moe's house when he did this.

Miney Moe, too, had eaten some chicken feed. Now he was sitting on the chicken roost in the chicken house too pretending he was a chicken. "Cut-cut-cudaw!" said

SIDE GLANCES

"We ought to punish him some other way—now that he's in bed, I can't enjoy these cowboys myself!"

By Wesley Davis

Old Mr. Hungry laughed with the hearing of these words. Miney Moe laughed with the saying of them. They would never, never eat any bird seed, they said. Daddy Ringtail would have to think of something else.

But really, he had already thought about it. The bird seed he brought back was not for them to eat. It was magic bird seed, like the magic beans that Jack once planted to grow up into a beanstalk. Daddy Ringtail planted the bird seed in the ground, and then and there immediately, the bird seed grew and grew and grew up big into a great big bird.

"What kind of bird is that?" Miney Moe and Mr. Hungry asked together.

"It's a chicken hawk," said Daddy Ringtail, and because chickens are afraid of chicken hawks, Miney Moe and Mr. Hungry stopped right then their being of chickens. I am happy to say. Happy day!

Lonesome, Blank TV Screen Fascinates Crowd Of Germans; Language Terrorized

By GRACE HALSELL
Reporter-Telegram
Special Correspondent

MUNICH, GERMANY—TV has come to Germany. The other day in Heidelberg, I saw a mob of people congregating. Rushing over and squeezing through dozens of Germans, I found what was causing their rapt attention:

One lone television set, just being displayed in a window, along with some radios. The television set wasn't even turned on. It had a blank, dark screen, which looked to be about 15 inches.

It's interesting to me that all the overseas air lines I've ridden use American-made planes, with the instructions, such as "Fasten Your Seat Belt" always in English. Europeans have to know English if they get along in the world today.

Riding on the Scandinavian Air System the other day, I noticed that not only was the plane American-made, but that all announcements were given first in English. However, the steward had trouble with one announcement. He said: "Please distinguish your cigarettes."

European airways outside American lines for "serving" the customer. All the time you are in the air you are being offered something, magazines, chewing gum, canapés, brandy, liquors. American-made cigarettes, all in addition to the usual meals they serve you.

On the same Scandinavian Air System plane mentioned above, I noticed a European in front of me take everything which was offered him. When a stewardess came by with more food, speaking to him in English, the European replied in probably what was his best English: "No, thanks. I'm already fed up."

It's always shocking to see these "AMI GO HOME" signs around Europe. One can never quite get used to the idea. We think of fellow Americans as such good, generous guys, it's hard to conceive some Europeans would like to boot the entire lot of us out.

There are several of the signs around air bases such as the one at Nancy, France. Along the French Riviera, I spotted one painted in large letters on a hillside. It was between Marseille and Nice. The last one I saw was near Mannheim, Germany, where one CID investigator told me there was a tight knot of Communists.

Met Jockey Eddie Arcaro, the "rider of the year" for 1952, who was doing a little celebrating in Paris nightclubs. His wife was quite proud of a belt she was wearing. It was from Dallas' Neiman-Marcus, a store everyone over here seems to know about. So, it's not only the President's wife who goes down Texas-way to get something unusual in women's clothing...

In Munich I went to see a ballet, the first German ballet I have seen. Decided the Germans aren't built for it. Their legs were too short and fat as mine, and I'm not the long, angular "Maria Taltchik" type. The German dancers apparently had been eating too many sausages for they appeared to me to be having trouble getting off the ground.

No One's Starving

Although his mess hall, which has won the division commander's mess hall award for three consecutive months, a cook, Sgt. Melton D. Sharp, says "I never have prepared any dish the men said they liked."

Sergeant Sharp says he thinks that is because "the boys just like to gripe."

"They complain about everything and never leave a single bite on their plates," he related. "I sure haven't seen any of them starve."

What do they like most? We asked.

"Nothing," the unhappy cook replied.

Look At It This Way

"If everyone takes the opportunity to travel while he is over here, Army life isn't so bad," Pvt. Carol G. McDonald, native Texan believes.

The supply clerk specialist with Headquarters Company, Combat Command A of the Second Armored Division says, "I intend to see Europe" at the same time he is serving a tour of duty.

He is stationed near the industrial center of Mannheim. "It was once a city of 400,000. Now it has 200,000," the private commented, although it reportedly is infiltrated with Communist workers and there is an occasional "AMI GO HOME" sign. "Americans in uniform are treated a lot better there than we have a right to expect," the Texan believes.

He says the Americans are more popular there than the English because of the "night bombings by the British."

The private, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. T. McDonald of Big Spring, attended Big Spring High School and Howard County Junior College where in March, 1951, he says he was "abducted" (as he jokes about it) into service. He is 22, and single.

Pvt. Francis W. Greer, Texas native, is a head butcher at the big American commissary near Heidelberg. The commissary is the Army equivalent of the super-market back home—it's where all the wives congregate to buy their groceries.

English, French, German and American women shop there. They are all buying groceries, however, to feed the American soldier.

In selling the women meat, Private Greer has made quite a few observations on human nature.

"The higher the rank, the easier they are to wait on," he says. In other words, he believes a general's wife generally has less to complain about than a corporal's wife.

"I treat 'em all the same, though," he continued, "whether they're French or what, and regardless of whether their old man is a bird colonel or a corporal."

He said Germans liked wiener schnitzel. "You know what that really is?" he asked. "It's just tenderized steak with a German name."

American women, on the other hand, "always want filet minons, and always gripe about the price."

Private Greer formerly was assistant manager of the B&B Food market in Snyder. His grandmother, Mrs. Mabel Y. Greer, lives in Lubbock.

And what does Private Greer miss most so far from home?

"A few sandstorms," he says.

MEN AND WOMEN TAKE OFF UGLY FAT

Many men and women have reported amazing results with this home recipe. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs less than most reducing preparations. Just go to your drugstore and ask for four ounces of Barcetrane. Pour this into a pint bottle and add 12 ounces of grapefruit juice. Then take two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose belly fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles, just return the empty bottle for your money back.

ABILENE MAN LOST 15 POUNDS

Mr. Paul Gordon, 528 Chestnut St., Abilene, Texas, wrote us as follows: "I have lost 15 pounds taking Barcetrane. I take a bottle or two occasionally to keep my weight down and I have never found anything any better for keeping down gas on the stomach."

SAN ANTONIO LADY LOST 20 POUNDS

"Before taking Barcetrane, I weighed 160 pounds," writes Mrs. Nellie Browning, 817 King Ave., San Antonio, Texas. "I now weigh 140, a loss of 20 pounds, and feel like a new person."

Harris Heads Crane Council

CRANE—David Harris has been elected president of the Elementary Student Council for the second semester. Other officers are Cary Edmiston, vice president, and C.B. Curry, secretary-treasurer.

Class representatives of the school governing body are: Charlotte Caskey, Mike McAfee, Jerry Evans, Cindy Scott, Judy Baxter, James B. Williams, Bobby Gage, Nancy Garner, Fern Owens, Joyce Woody, Don Bardin, Nancy Bower, Sammy Chaffin, Sandra Jean Box, Beverly Blount, Jimmy Leo, David Curry, Ann Uechert, Bruce Boyd, Faye Jone, Charles Wilmoth, Doris Marlowe, Roger Liverman and Patsy Brown.

With Bill Helm as the new sponsor, the first activity planned will be annual Western Day February 25. The entire student body will appear at school in full western regalia, and a program will be given during the day. An added attraction this year for a part of the grades will be a social and a chuck wagon dinner.

The Student Council also will serve as guides and hosts to parents during the visitation week, March 1-7. March 4 has been designated as the special day, but parents will be welcomed throughout the week. A $5 prize will be given to the room entertaining the largest number of parents.

Year-Old Child Learns Fast But He Refuses To Be Pushed

EDITOR'S NOTE: For new mothers—and new mothers-to-be—nothing is more reassuring than the wisdom of experienced mothers. Here's the last of six articles of just such wisdom, written by a mother whose own mother is a well-known child-care specialist. The articles are condensed from "Parents' Magazine Book of Baby Care," a mother's guide to the first six years by Eleanor S. Duncan with the counsel of Clara Savage Littlefield, editor of Parents' Magazine, published by McGraw-Hill Book Company Inc.

BY ELEANOR S. DUNCAN
Although you still have a cuddly, bouncy baby, at this age you catch a glimmer every now and then of a little boy or girl. One minute you are surprised by an infantile act; the next minute you are equally amazed by a more mature expression or action.

He isn't getting much bigger now but his intelligence is growing by leaps and bounds. Your baby will be a definite individual by the time he is 18 months old.

Watch For Mischief
If you haven't a playroom—and most families haven't these days—block off a large enough portion of a room to give the runabout sufficient space to range about a bit. You can hide his toy box behind a chair and cover it with a square of attractive material at the end of the day.

You will find this play space quite necessary, as the baby can't remain in his pen all day, nor can you spend all your time watching to see that he doesn't get into mischief.

Need Sunshine
For outdoor play, we should like to stress again the desirability of a fenced-in portion of yard near a tree or some other object furnishing shade. Of course, all children need sunshine but during the hot Summer there should be shaded areas where they can play.

The different kinds of equipment for the play yard are innumerable: sandbox with bucket and shovel, blocks to climb on, wheeled toys, a swing with a safely seat, play garden tools, a small wheelbarrow or wagon. Families who have animal pets are lucky, because a friendly dog or cat or perhaps a rabbit in the play yard with Junior keeps him occupied much longer than inanimate toys.

Starting To Walk
Many babies start walking and talking at this age, some a month or two earlier. No matter how many parents tell you that their children were walking and talking at a much earlier age than yours, don't let it upset you.

It is bad for a baby physically and emotionally to be pushed into anything. Walking and talking early is no indication of high intelligence nor is slowness in these accomplishments a sign of stupidity.

Year-old babies surprise you one minute with an infantile act, a minute later amaze you with a more mature action.

Sign Language

There are these rugged individuals who, although normal in other phases of development, don't talk until they are close to three years old. Talking, from their standpoint, is an unnecessary bother; why should they talk when they can get what they want by sign language?

This is more often true of a baby who has an older brother or sister. The older child often knows what the baby wants and translates to the parents.

Hearing Difficulties
But before you take it for granted that your baby is just being lazy about talking, you should look into the possibility of his having a hearing deficiency.

This is often difficult to detect in a baby, but if you suspect anything of the sort it should be brought to the attention of your doctor immediately. The sooner a deaf child is treated, the better the chance of developing his full hearing powers.

Ignorance Hampers Reds

HONG KONG —(AP)—Chinese Communist cadres in state-owned businesses have been warned to get busy and learn advance business methods. A spokesman of the financial-economic ministry said there was considerable confusion and loss due to ignorance. His warning was carried by the Red news agency.

Oliver Goldsmith, 19th Century man of letters, was a habitual gambler.

Furniture houses were first in the United States to start the installment plan early in the 19th Century.

The first American course on plant disease was taught at the University of Illinois by T. J. Burrill in 1873.

The Scottish poet and novelist Sir Walter Scott, could speak French and Italian fluently when he was 15 years old.

CORAL CHARMS

Among the Romans, branches of coral were hung around children's necks to preserve them from danger, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

In England, the practice of holding "wakes" over a dead body seems to be older than Christianity and in pre-Christian times was designed to guard the body against evil spirits.

FOR MILKING
SQUARE COWS

NEW YORK —(P)—After many centuries of use the ordinary pail has been redesigned by a British firm which now makes pails with one flat side, reports the British Information Service here.

It is claimed that this feature makes it easier to carry the pail and makes it more suitable for use on steps or ladders. It can be used as a scoop or dustpan and the corners make convenient pourers.

GI's Marry German Girls
At Rate Of 500 Each Month

BAD OEYNHAUSEN, GERMANY —(P)—A British passport is not the good marriage bait it used to be in West Germany, but American soldiers still are regarded as the most eligible bachelors in this bachelors' paradise.

American GI's are taking German brides at the rate of 500 a month. There were only 56 marriages with Britishers in the last six months of 1952.

Since 1947 British soldiers have married 6,528 German girls and Americans about 13,000.

The difference is partly due to the larger number of American troops — some 1,500,000 have been stationed in Germany for varying periods since the war. Furthermore, Americans can marry Germans only six weeks before going home and there was a big rotation of American manpower in 1952.

British officers do not believe the decline reflects increasing unpopularity of Britons in Germany. On the contrary, staff officers here say, the British soldier has never, in general, been better liked than he is today.
