The Woman's Day

By Allene Sumner

A lady bacteriologist is all excited because she took to her laboratory a powder puff from a vanity case which she had found, and discovered 20,000 different vicious bacteria on said puff. And yet—despite the serious lady's evidence, we've been using powder puffs for some years now and so far as we know, few, or none of us, have died from these same bacteria. Besides, as any one can tell you, a girl might as well be dead as have a shiny nose!

"SHAME ON YOU!"

A beautiful statue called "Kneeling Woman" has stood in the town plaza of Duisburg, Germany, for many a year. For some time now the town hoodlums and those who have hoodlum souls, but would deny it, have been offended by the naked sculptured curves of the kneeling woman's body, and have been wrapping her in bed sheets at night. Police were put on guard around the statue. The other night the public charged the police, knocked "Kneeling Woman" from her pedestal, carried the beautiful statue away and destroyed it.

REAL TEST

Someone has said that the test of character is a person's sense of humor. I am inclined to think it is their acceptance of truth, even that truth of nudity. Nothing so stamps a person's inferior, murky soul as his insistence that nudity is sin. I have always loved Michael Angelo for painting in the depths of hell his arch-enemy who objected to his undraped bodies in the Sistine ceiling.

WOMEN SUICIDES

Women suicides are increasing. So alarms a Berlin physician, quoting figures to prove that whereas years ago the female suicide rate was one to three men, today it is about 1 to 2.

He blames, of course, "woman's emancipation," explaining that today's woman is not happy as in the days when home, husband and children were her all in all.

Such nonsense! If there is any increase it seems reasonable to believe it the product of too-complex modern life in general. I wager that if women lived today as they lived a generation ago, the suicide rate would be two women to every man, at least!!

MAID OF HONOR

Queen Mary's newly appointed maid of honor must eat ham in the morning, ride over hedges and ditches on borrowed hanks; come home in the heat of the day in a fever, with a red mark on the forehead from too-tight a hat and other indelibly idiotic things found in old book of rules for maid-of-honor.

When one meets these legal leftovers of former days one wonders if women politicians, with their instinct for good housekeeping and cleaned out closets and attics, would let such litter and rubbish remain when their days of usefulness were outworn.

BAD WOMEN

Bad women are always much worse than bad men. It is almost impossible to reclaim a really bad woman, whereas few men are ever beyond redemption.

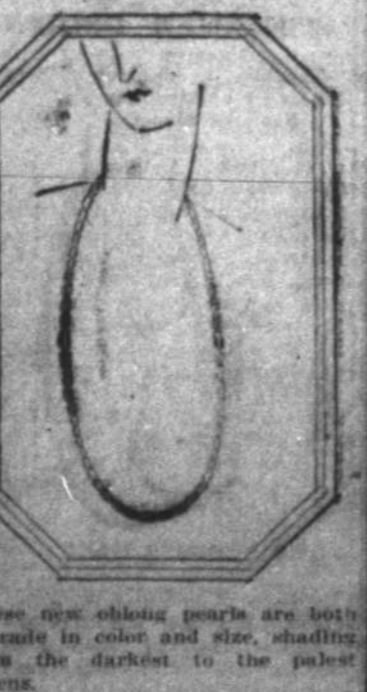

These pronouncements come from Sir William Joynson-Hicks, home secretary of Britain, in charge of criminal prosecutions. His explanation sounds plausible. He affirms that it takes so much more to make a woman bad than a man that when she once gets that way the thing is done and finished.

WOMAN RUNS INTO DITCH

Mrs. Abbot, while driving on 19th street lost control of her car and ran into the ditches on both sides, finally stopping in front of the residence of R. W. Hines, in the fifteen hundred block.

There was considerable damage done to her car.

Shaded Pearls

These eye-choosing pearls are both desirable in color and size, shading from the darkest to the palest greens.

A 2-REEL COMEDY

TEN PLAGUES OF CENTURY DISCUSSED BY REV. HOGG IN TABERNACLE SERMON

The Ten Plagues of the Twentieth Century were discussed at the tabernacle last night, as the evangelist brought a message to a large congregation on the modern sins of the nation.

Directed for the laws of the nation was one of the greatest curses of the land today, the respect for the lives of men and women and the lack of respect for womanhood, robbery, lust, drinking, gambling and the failure to teach the Bible in the homes were among the things he mentioned as being the outstanding hindrance that stand in the way of the progress of the churches of this land.

The great world war, which took our fine young men to other nations, where the standard of morals has far below those of America, has had much to do with changing the lives of many thousand young men who were taught to kill and hate and curse and crave the blood of human beings, the evangelist declared.

It was a great message that he brought to the people of this community, and it was laden with many things for the people to think about, and they were thinking seriously as they left the tabernacle, in a seemingly dazed condition, not knowing just what to do or say, but all resolved that they would await to the needs of the hour and do what they can to bring the nation back to Him who died that we might live.

Services again this morning at 10:00 o'clock.

This evening he will preach on the subject "How shall we prosper?" This is another one of Dr. Hogg's great messages, and you will want to hear it.

Fred A. Owens is in Childrens and Amarillo on business.

Miss Berle Lee Hicks left last night for Dallas to spend several months.

All nature speaks the voice of dissolution. The highway of history and of life is strewn with the wrecks that Time, the great destroyer, has made. We listen sorrowfully to the Autumn winds as they sigh through dismantled forests, but we know their breath will be soft and vernal in the Spring, and the dead flowers and withered foliage will blossom and bloom again. And if a man dies, shall he die, not live again? Is earth the end of all and death an eternal sleep? Not so, but beyond the grave in the distant Aion, hope provides an Elysium of the soul where the mortal shall assume immortality, and life become an endless splendor.—D. W. Voorhees.

BOBBY JONES IS LEADING FIELD IN TOURNEY

(By Associated Press)
MINNEAPOLIS, Aug. 23.—Bobby Jones showed again today that golfing ebriety cannot be counted until he has hatched his brood.

The British open champion stepped out in his second qualifying round of the National Amateur championship to shoot a 67 that left him with a score of 142, making him medalist for the third year in succession and placing him in a tie with D. Clarke Corkran for the best qualifying score ever made in the amateur.

Bobby's total of 142 was made up of his 67 today added to a 75 yesterday while the Philadelphia at the Merion Cricket club in 1924 reversed the scores, getting his 67 first and following with 75.

While Bobby was burning up the course, George Von Elm, the champion, who defeated the Atlanta winner for the title last year, was struggling desperately and wondering if he was to be left on the outside looking in when match play starts tomorrow. He finally collected his game to score a 75 for a total of 154, which eased him in to the select circle.

The blonde Pacific coast star was far off his game on the first nine of his match but recovered enough to stagger him in par and find his worry was unnecessary. A couple of birdies made him safe for continued participation.

Title Holder Slips

The title holder today was not much better than he was yesterday when he scored 75. He found consolation in reflecting that he could 135 to qualify last year when he went on to victory.

Contrary to expectations among some of the veterans, the youngsters refused to crack today. Eugene V. Homans, Phillips Finlay and Don Carriek, who showed the way in the first round, did well enough today to qualify for the tests to determine the title.

Jimmy Johnston, native son, who holds or has held many titles, although he has not yet won a major championship, pleased the home folk greatly by coming in with a total score of 145, good enough to make him second to Bobby. He was runner-up today with 71.

Three former champions, in addition to Jones, won their way to match play. Chick Evans, Francis Onstner and Max Marston while three others, William C. Fowner, Jr., Robert A. Gardner and Findlay S. Douglas failed to qualify.

Return Of Horse Racing To Texas Is Sought In Test

AUSTIN, Aug. 23.—Court action said to involve a test of whether old time horse racing can return to Texas under legal sanction of the "contribution system" of paying off the winners was instituted here today when attorneys for Jack Jarvis, facing betting charges in connection with Saturday's race at Brady, got a habeas corpus order for his release under $250 bond.

Criminal appeals court ordered Jarvis released pending a hearing September 3 of circumstances involving his arrest Saturday, after operating the "contribution system," at Brady.

G. B. Stewart who "donated" $2 on "four flush," the winning horse, and got $14.00 back, is the complainant in the case.

William P. Kye, California attorney, recently was granted rights to operate Texas state exposition races here in October on condition that a court test of the system proposed turns out favorably. He also has dickered with San Antonio and Dallas racing interests.

Kye in a recent statement here declared that the donation system is not actually "betting" under existing state laws, and that high courts of 11 other states have held it legal. The plan is for race spectators interested in the outcome to donate some sum to the purse, which later will be divided proportionately among those favoring the winning horses.

PENNY PRINCESS

by Anne Austin

BEGIN HERE TODAY
VERA CAMERON, when told efficient private secretary, advised her to let JERRY MACKLYN, advertising manager for "Penny Princess," transfer her into a beauty through the use of the company's resources. She consented only after she falls instantly in love with a man who ignores her.

Jerry proposes to use her photographs in the company's advertising campaign, but the beauty specialist copies a picture Jerry finds in his desk. Vera wants to be beautiful so she can spend her vacation at Lake Minnetonka, and meet the man she loves, SCHUYLER SMYTHE.

At Minnetonka, Schuyler and other guests mistake Vera for the penniless VIVIAN CRANDALL, who, after a divorce in Paris, has disappeared. Vera's attempts to convince people of her true identity fail, and she puts further confession from her when she confesses to Schuyler that she is in love with him.

MAN FODDICK, who it is rumored Schuyler is engaged to for her money, begs Vera to leave the hotel, saying Schuyler loved her before Vera came. NAN and MRS. BANNISTER, another guest, go to the city and Vera shows they will notify the Crandalls. That night, Schuyler and Vera go to the end of the pier to be alone and Vera determines to confess to him. He tells Vera of his love for her. Vera puts off confession and begs him to tell her of his boyhood. When he admits he is a coward, she asks him if he would love her any less if he learned she was a nobody, without money. A bell-boy appears, summoning Vera to meet to men who await her at the hotel. Schuyler says he will not let them take her away, that she must marry him, tonight.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
CHAPTER XXVII
 "How can we get away?" Vera's teeth chattered with fear and excitement. "Your car is in the hotel garage, sir, of course."

"Listen!" he exclaimed sharply. "From among the birches you come to that little clump of three birches where I got that birch bark for you yesterday. Hide among the trees until you see a car coming. I'll blow a signal on the horn—one long and one short bark. Understand?"

"The moment you see the car," Vera-Vee protested, seizing his arm as he was starting down the steps. "I'll be waiting for you, sir, in the morning when they can pick it up." Schuyler retorted grimly, "I'm not going to let anything stand in my way. That automobile has my car's impetuous wife, and I'll take my car to get away in if I can find it. He usually keeps it waiting at the rear entrance. Now—run along and be sure it's me before you run out into the road. Darling! Kiss me, so that I'll know it's really you, we're actually going to be married."

"No! We must hurry!"

While she waited in the shadow of the little clump of birches near the lake shore road, her heart was beating so fast with excitement that she could not think. She could only pray wordlessly, pray that Schuyler would not mistake her for an impostor and a love-thief.

A roadster which she recognized as belonging to Thurston, the hotel manager, came suddenly into view around the curve of the road. Vera-Vee crouched behind a tree until the reassuring signal came—a long bark's bark. Then, followed by a short one. She scurried across the road, and was in the car before it had come to a full stop.

"Got it—Thurston's car!" Schuyler exclaimed. "I should have taken a closer car if one had been handy. Fortunately for me Thurston leaves his keys in his car. I started him once that it was dangerous business, but he laughed at me, said there were no thieves at the Minnetonka. He'll laugh on the other side of his mouth, until he hears from me in the morning. Do him good to worry a little," he added, with a short laugh that sent a shiver down Vera-Vee's overcast face.

She said nothing, but huddled low in her seat of the car, wrapping the white Spanish shawl about her head and shoulders, to protect her carefully set wave in her copper-colored hair from the breeze in the wind.

"I believe we're being followed," Schuyler said suddenly, after a pause during which he had increased the speed of the car to 40 miles an hour. "Look over your shoulder, darling."

"Vera-Vee obeyed. "There's a car behind us, but of course they can't be following us," she reported, trying to keep panic out of her voice.

"I'll lose them, whoever they are," Schuyler promised her grimly.

The speedometer climbed from 40 to 45, and then a moment later it started climbing to 50. "Vera-Vee glanced over her shoulder carefully, as the car swung at a precarious angle in taking the turn from the lake road to the state highway.

"I think we've lost them, if they were following us," she cried to Schuyler above the whistle of the wind and the hum of the motor. "Where are you taking me?" she asked.

"An car as I can drive tonight is out of the morning," Schuyler answered. "I'll try to make connections—later to get a marriage license in that state than in New York state."

"Schuyler," she began, desperate in taking her vengeance into her hands. "I've got something to tell you. Please stop! I can't talk against the noise and the wind."

"You mustn't be hurt," she smiled. "I don't know where to begin or how to convince you." She beat upon her breast with a clenched hand—and received the answer. For the moment of faded paper came to her faintly. "Jerry's letter." The letter that explained the whole miserable business was tucked away beneath the light blouse of her evening dress. She pushed aside the folds of the Spanish shawl and groped for the letter. Her fingers felt for grains the warm flesh of her breast.

"Have you seen Jerry's letter?" she asked him by calling me that you are Jerry?" Schuyler demanded in an odd voice. Then he seemed to fall himself together, laughed indifferently. "Darling, I don't give a damn about your precious money. You've lost 40 million dollars in four years of being a penniless, why, all the better for me. I mean, I can't have the pleasure of showing you how the backbone of America lives!" He laughed again, but there seemed to be a certain pleasure behind it.

"Don't laugh," she cried, out of her teeth. "I haven't been carrying for you that I've lost 40 million dollars!"

"I knew you were just trying to test me," he laughed with more assurance. "But I don't think you show much trust of the man who has loved you for five years."

"That's just it!" Vera-Vee cried. "You haven't loved me for five years, for you had never seen me before in your life when I walked into the Minnetonka dining room on Sunday. You did not see me at Palm Beach."

"Are you trying to tell me that you think I made up a fairy story to tickle your vanity, and to fasten my suit with you?" Schuyler's eyes flashed violently. "Then as suddenly as it had happened before, his voice changed, became low and rich with love. "Oh, my darling! Don't let's quarrel now. Just when I love you, you may think I am a romantic fool to have cherished a dream all these five years, for you can't quarrel with me for that, even if you have forgotten that I danced with you."

"I haven't forgotten, because I never had those. Schuyler, I have never been in Palm Beach in my life. I was not married to Prince Fran Polanski."

"Have you gone crazy?" Schuyler demanded, seizing her clenched hands and bending over her. "Five years ago Sunday night I felt that either you were crazy or that the guests of the Minnetonka were."

"You mustn't be hurt," she smiled. "I don't know where to begin or how to convince you." She beat upon her breast with a clenched hand—and received the answer. For the moment of faded paper came to her faintly. "Jerry's letter." The letter that explained the whole miserable business was tucked away beneath the light blouse of her evening dress. Cochran Co. Has Big Cattle Deals
 BLEDSON, Aug. 23—Cochran county, during the last three weeks, has seen cattle deals totaling almost a quarter million dollars. Many cars of stock have been shipped out, and many cattle have changed hands but still remain on the ranches here until next fall.

Although several small deals have been made, most of the recent cattle sales have been included in four large deals. The X-Ranch recently sold 1,200 head of calves at $20 per head. Six hundred calves were sold at $25 a head. J. C. London, local rancher, disposed of his cattle for a consideration of $25,000. The fourth big deal was made when W. T. Campbell sold a Dalhart rancher 811 head of cattle for $39,000.

LITTLEFIELD PLANS PICNIC
 LITTLEFIELD, Aug. 23—A western rodeo, carnival, horse race, baseball game, picnic and basketball game, picnic and basketball game are planned for Littlefield August 26 and 27. A purse of $12,000 is to be offered in prizes to winners of various events. The program will include bronco riding, steer riding, wild mule race, gear roping, wild cow milking, calf roping, a show, frog race, and other rodeo events. An immense feature will be a free-for-all "Nigger" fight, but this is being extended over a wide territory for attendance at the event.

THEATRE TAKES FOUR BARRELS GUM OFF SEATS
 BROWNWOOD, Aug. 23—Four barrels of chewing gum was the harvest reaped here when a local theatre overhauled its seats. The amount represented accumulation of gum chewers who have been collecting their "wax" under the seats for ten or twelve years. The management is wondering what attention to make of the deposits.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Sims, J. E. Sims, Miss Flora Sims, Jack Sims are leaving today for Dallas, Sherman, Rockwell, Groves and other points to visit friends and relatives.

DAILY MARKETS

COTTON HIGHER

NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 23 (AP)—Publication of a bullish ginning total for the storm abating the Atlantic coast led to active covering in the cotton market today and considerable replacing by longs who had liquidated in advance of the report. Prices advanced to new high levels with December trading up to 21.39, 49 points above the previous close. That month closed at 21.34, approximately $2.35 a bale higher. The general close was firm at net advances of 36 to 44 points.

The opening was easy and first trades showed losses of 8 to 12 points due mainly to disappointing cables. The market continued to ease in the early trading until near the end of the first hour October had dropped to 20.42, 29 points under the previous close.

The market rallied sharply after the ginning total was received, October trading to 20.90 and December 21.20, 48 to 50 points above the lows. Around mid-session there was a recession of about 20 points on profit taking and selling for a reaction but in the early afternoon the publication of the Atlantic coast storm warning sent prices up sharply and before the demand had been supplied prices had made new highs for the season with the October option selling around 21.05, crossing the 21 cent line for the first time this season.

Additional realizing caused a minor recession in the late trading and the market closed firm a few points under the top.

Exports for the day totaled 5,538 bales.

COTTON OIL FIRM

NEW YORK, Aug. 23 (AP)—Cottonseed oil was quite active and firm again today, closing at new high levels for the movement. Strength of cotton, along with firmness of crude, steadiness of lard and a better cash demand, promoted renewed covering and commission house buying. Sales were 27,000 barrels. Prime grade October 1927, September closed 1921; October 1948; December 1927; January 1978; March 1190.

NEW YORK, Aug. 23 (AP)—Opening declines followed by an advance in the cotton market today. December contracts selling up to 21.50 or 43 points net higher, all positions making new high records for the season. December closed at 21.45, the general market closed at net advances of 23 to 40 points.

The opening declines of 8 to 15 points were attributed to liquidation and local selling in response to relatively easy Liverpool cables and expectations of larger ginning figures. October sold off to 20.58 and January to 20.54 net declines of about 21 to 25 points on active months in early trading.

These offerings were absorbed by covering or trade buying at the decline, however, the market turned upward on publication of the census report showing 457,031 bales of cotton ginned prior to August 16th compared with 182,255 last year and 579,291 two years ago. The figures evidently were lower than anticipated as they were followed by active covering and re-buying by recent sellers which sent prices sharply higher. As prices worked above previous high levels they met considerable realizing but the market held steady at some 28 or 30 points and the market turned up again during the afternoon on the unsettled weather outlook.

The feeling appeared to be that the tropical storm was not likely to do much harm to the crop but that its progress up the coast would probably be accompanied by showery rains in the Atlantic states, while the trade was fearful of cold rains in the southwest and a drop in temperatures in northern parts of the belt.

In addition to covering and re-buying, the market was supported by a number of large orders for the month of October.

SUGAR ACTIVE

NEW YORK, Aug. 23 (AP)—The raw sugar market was more active today. Prices advanced 1-32 of a cent to the basis of 452 for Cuban duty paid. Sales included about 22,000 bags of Philippines, due early next month at 4.49, and fully 50,000 bags of Philippines and 175,000 bags of Cuban at 4.52 to refiners and operators for August and September shipment.

Increased activity in the spot market and expectations of lower European beet sugar crop estimates from unfavorable weather caused a firmer rally in the raw sugar futures market. Active covering and increased trade and Cuban buying was promoted by these reports and prices were starting about unchanged continued upward throughout the balance of the session, closing at the highest and at net advances of 4 to 7 points. Approximate sales 11,500 tons. September closed 27; December 25; January 23; March 22, July 27.

Recent price advances were maintained and the tendency on many cloths was upward, due to the sharp cotton advance. Barriaps continued strong here and in California, with buying active in Dundee. Silk continued to show strength and there was more business offering in silk goods.

Exports today 5,738, making 217,446 so far this season. Port receipts 33,571. U. S. port stocks 880,978.

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a bottle of "Wyneth's Sage and Sulphur Compound," which is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully, besides, no one can possibly tell as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.

COOLIDGE VISITS PARK

Griefs of Yellowstone Inspected By President and Fishing Trip Is Taken On Way

YELLOWSTONE NATIONAL PARK, Wyo., Aug. 23 (AP)—The grandeur of this wonderland of America surrounded President Coolidge tonight as he settled down in the picturesque old faithful inn after a fifty-mile drive into the heart of a region of unspoiled nature.

His arrival at the inn with Mrs. Coolidge and their son John was the signal for a long round of applause as they proceeded through the pine-scented lobby and again as the president set out after lunch on a fishing expedition nearby.

In going to Fire Hole creek for a few hours of angling, Mr. Coolidge again upset the carefully prepared program which called for an afternoon of sightseeing. Mrs. Coolidge and John, however, upheld this part of the itinerary.

The president did not put on the high rubber boots he wears when fishing in the black hills. He wore a dark gray business suit and felt hat. H. M. Allright, superintendent of the park, carried the fishing tackle and went to the creek with him. Mr. Coolidge had been told that better fishing awaited him at Yellowstone lake tomorrow but on his way here from Mammoth he caught sight of some vacationers casing in the stream which flowed by the inn.

More than 100 Sacco-Vanzetti sympathizers paid small fines in the municipal court today for violating city ordinances by picketing yesterday in front of the state house, and last night in the Charleston district. A few who were fined, 10 each, appealed.

ROME, Aug. 23 (AP)—The execution of Sacco and Vanzetti, says the Giornale D'Italia, "proves that the fine democratic republic of the United States punishes by death in the electric chair political crimes, not hesitating to carry out its sentences even against the brother of the entire civilized world and even in the presence of doubt about the truth of the accusations and the responsibility of the condemned men."

The Tribune says: "What is most important is that this tragedy has been possible in a country governed by a so-called liberal and democratic system, despite agitation in the name of liberty and democracy."

RAIN DISPERSES CROWD
DENVER, Aug. 23 (AP)—A heavy downpour and drizzling rain which started sometime after midnight tonight led to the dispersal of a crowd of about 1,000 people.

ROBBERS NOT CAUGHT

Three Young Men Who Held Up University Bank of Austin Make Good Their Escape

AUSTIN, Aug. 23 (AP)—The three young robbers who held up the bank here yesterday and made off with $25,500, largely in securities, had not been caught tonight.

Officers who pursued the sedan in which the flight was made and found it abandoned with a flat tire in the Bull Creek hill country, are what is customarily termed baffled, so far.

They entertained theories today that the robbers must have had another car waiting somewhere when they deserted the sedan about five miles northwest of Austin in the hills, or may have had a fourth man to run the sedan out there and leave while they escaped in some other direction.

National guardsmen and Texas rangers have through the brush covered hills last night for several miles in the neighborhood of the abandoned car and patrolled the vicinity of springs without avail, and returned at 7 a. m. today empty handed.

WATER ARGUMENT

The Brown county irrigation company, it was a foregone conclusion that any resolution unfavorable to the power company in this could be passed.

"Inasmuch as the irrigation company is unwilling to leave the decision as to their rights to the constituted authorities and have appointed to the West Texas chamber of commerce for relief it is only proper and right that all the people of Texas know the real facts involved in this controversy."

Mistakenly Claimed
FORT WORTH, Aug. 23 (AP)—Several errors are claimed by E. H. Whitehead, publicity director of the West Texas chamber of commerce, in a statement of Jay Alexander, Dallas, at Austin Tuesday with reference to a meeting held at Abilene at which resolutions were adopted that were aimed at water rights on the Colorado river held by the Syndicate Power company of which he is secretary.

Fifty Towns Represented
"More than 50 towns of West Texas were represented at the meeting and of approximately 400 people present not more than 100 were from Brownwood," Whitehead said.

Mr. Alexander at the meeting said his company was not opposed to Brownwood having all necessary water for municipal and domestic uses, but when asked on the floor he was unable to define those uses. He explained that his company had rights on water and had reserved the right to sell it for irrigation purposes.

"As to the three business men he said opposed the resolution, they explained that they were in favor of the resolutions as directed against the Syndicate Power company."
