IN HONOR OF THOSE WHO DIED
Veterans of America's wars and others observe Memorial Day

Adm. Quinn Describes Freedom Cost At Memorial Day Services

By JOE BEYER

The sacrifice and devotion of those who gave their lives for their country must be matched today if free world ideals are preserved, Rear Admiral John Quinn told a gathering of Big Spring citizens on this Memorial Day.

He spoke beneath the fluttering colors flown at half staff against a backdrop of broken clouds and the Veterans Hospital.

In the group were some two dozen World War I and World War II veterans who had asked to be brought down in their wheel chairs. Several other patients, in their robes, joined with American Legion members and other private citizens to pay tribute to the men and women who gave their lives in military service.

After the high school band had played martial music, there came a hush, then the Webb AFB Color Guard, and a moment of solemn silence while Taps were sounded for the hallowed dead.

Beside the admiral, in shining white uniform, stood his son Ensign Tommy Quinn, his official aide on his trip to his native Big Spring. This was, Adm. Quinn observed, the first time since he went away to school in 1922 that he has been privileged to be here on Memorial Day.

It is proper to look back to history to remember the heroic men who have given their lives while serving their country, the admiral said. In doing so, we obtain a clearer perspective for the future.

After the ceremonies at the VA Hospital, Adm. Quinn was honored at an open house reception at the American Legion Hall. He and Ens. Quinn were to visit the family ranch west of here this afternoon and will leave at 11 a.m. Friday for Washington where he is chief of the Navy's Pan American section.

"Great problems will face our country, both from within and from outside our borders. We shall need the same devotion to duty, bravery and willingness to sacrifice as that displayed by those we honor here today if we and other nations of the Free World are to protect our ideals and preserve our heritage of independence and freedom," he said.

The struggle goes on every day as members of our Army, Air Force and Navy stand guard duty in all parts of the world. There is nothing to justify relaxation of our vigilance or reduction of our military strength, the admiral said.

The U. S. Air Force has done a magnificent job, as is shown daily at Webb Air Force Base, Admiral Quinn said. The great traditions of our Army are in good hands. The Navy, together with the U. S. Marine Corps, constitute a flexible military force capable of sending a doctor to treat an injured merchantman on the high seas, landing a guard to protect American lives and property or, if the President directs, launching a nuclear weapon.

A look back at history shows that Memorial Day had its beginning 100 years ago at Columbus, Miss., when a small group of Confederate women went to their cemetery to lay spring flowers on the graves of their sons, brothers and husbands who had fallen in the conflict of the Civil War. The custom spread and in 1868 May 30 was designated as the annual date for the national decoration of graves of those lost in American Wars.

The program was opened by the Senior High School Band under the direction of Douglas Wiehe. A Color Guard from Webb Air Force Base presented colors. Invocation was by Chaplain C. O. Hitt of the VA Hospital and benediction by the Rev. Donald Kenning, pastor of the Trinity Lutheran Church.

AUSTIN (AP) — Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr added eight penalty suits Wednesday to a long list growing out of the East Texas slant hole investigation.

Filing of the new petitions brought the total to 79 suits.

The first 14 suits since Carr took office were lodged April 4 against 30 persons. Former Atty. Gen. Will Wilson filed suits naming about 100 defendants and seeking $25.5 million in penalties.

Judge Overrules Integration Try

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP)—U.S. Dist. Judge H. Hobart Grooms has held that the Justice Department does not have the right to sue for integration of Madison County and Huntsville schools.

The Justice Department filed suit in January seeking to integrate schools in federally impacted areas.

Grooms used as precedent an identical suit filed in Mississippi which was dismissed last month.

"I am of the opinion that the United States is without authority to maintain this action, and further that the complaint does not state a claim upon which relief can be granted," Grooms said.

Move To Restore Bracero Program

Toll Of Dead In Traffic Rises Slowly

By The Associated Press

The toll of dead in Memorial Day traffic accidents rose slowly today.

At 11 a.m. 38 fatalities were reported.

Most of the accidents caused only one death each.

But five persons perished in the head-on collision of a semitrailer truck and a pickup truck on U.S. 89 near Glendale, Utah.

The highway patrol said Samuel Garnett Brown, driving the pickup truck, tried to pass another north-bound vehicle, saw the south-bound semitrailer and pulled off the road. So did the semitrailer driver, Oday Vogelman.

The pickup truck went under the semitrailer, burned and exploded.

All the victims were in the pickup truck. They were Brown, who was observing his 21st birthday; his wife, Sandra, 22; a daughter, Michele, 2; and Mrs. Brown's sister and brother, Linetta Jeppson, 8, and David Jeppson, 18.

The Browns lived in Richfield, Utah.

Dry weather, favorable for motoring and often temptation to speed, prevailed in most areas of the nation on the first holiday of the warm season.

The National Safety Council estimated that between 90 and 130 persons will be killed in traffic accidents in the period that began at 6 p.m. Wednesday and will end at midnight today.

A RINGING HONESTY

MADISON, N.J. (AP — When 10 - year - old Allison Grimes stepped into a telephone booth to call her mother last week, she found it littered with nickels, dimes and quarters, all spilling over from a coin return slot.

Allison scooped up $6.30 worth of change. Then, after dialing the operator, she fed it back to the phone company.

"I never thought of keeping it," Allison said. "After all, a lot of people worked for that money."

Allison got a luncheon and a tour of the New Jersey Bell Telephone Company exchange at Morristown Wednesday as a reward for her honesty.

Youth Lost When Sailboat Is Hit

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—An outboard motor boat knifed through a 19-foot sailboat carrying eight teen-agers Wednesday night, and one of the group was lost.

Charles Hayes, 16, disappeared and presumably drowned after the accident on Eagle Mountain Lake. He was at the tiller of the $3,000 sailboat. All the others were rescued.

"I never saw them till we hit them," said Gibbs Slaughter, 24, who was piloting the motor boat for three companions. "I've been on the lake since I was a young kid, and I've always tried to be very careful, especially at night."

Surprise Move Votes Out Law

WASHINGTON (AP)—A senior member of the House Agriculture Committee will try to keep alive the law that lets farmers import Mexican field hands for jobs for which American workers are unavailable.

The House, in a surprise move, voted Wednesday to end the 12-year-old bracero program.

The action came on a 174-158 roll call vote.

Rep. E. C. Gathings, D-Ark., chairman of an agriculture subcommittee which recommended passage of the legislation, said he doesn't think the nation is ready to deny farmers "the right to have some labor."

Gathings said U.S. farmers need bracero labor to plant and harvest their fruits and vegetables, sugar beets and cotton.

Unless the law is extended, the program will expire at the end of this year.

Gathings expressed confidence Congress would approve at least a one-year extension. He said he will confer with Chairman Harold D. Cooley, D-N.C., and other members of the Agriculture Committee on possible steps to obtain another vote.

He blamed absenteeism for rejection of the two-year extension. All told, 102 members failed to vote. Fifty of them were paired for and against the bill.

The Kennedy administration had recommended the bracero law be extended for only one year.

The two-year extension was turned down after more than two hours of heated debate, which reached its peak when Rep. John E. Fogarty, D-R.I., charged "if there was ever a slave labor piece of legislation adopted by the Congress, this is it."

Fogarty and other opponents of the Mexican labor program charged it is immoral and depresses the wages of domestic farm laborers.

Religious groups and labor unions had lined up in firm opposition to extension of the labor-importing measure.

Advocates of the extension argued the Mexicans are called in only to handle work that American farm laborers will not do. They classisifed it as "stoop labor."

Under the law, the Labor Department is authorized to recruit Mexican farmhands and place them in temporary jobs in the United States.

But the law restricts Mexican workers to areas in which the secretary of labor certifies domestic workers are not available, and that employment of braceros will not adversely affect the wages and working conditions of American laborers.

Allied Chiefs Set To Sound Test Ban Ideas

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan were reported ready today to dispatch a proposal to Soviet Premier Khrushchev for a meeting of scientists to discuss ways of detecting nuclear explosions without having internal inspectors inside the Soviet Union.

Secretary of State Dean Rusk told a news conference Wednesday that the U.S. government considers it is important to "keep trying to achieve agreement" on a nuclear test ban treaty.

The message to Khrushchev which Kennedy, Macmillan and their disarmament experts have worked out constitutes the latest of a series of efforts to break the deadlock in test ban negotiations which have been bogged down at Geneva since earlier this year.

The immediate point of challenge in the new proposal, informants said, is Khrushchev's insistence that on-site inspections in the Soviet Union are not necessary because means exist to detect nuclear explosions from outside the territory of any country.

Rusk recalled Wednesday that the Soviets have long argued the existence of scientific equipment adequate to do this job and he said "we don't think so."

"But we think this is something which can be explored scientifically and technically to get a positive result," he said.

It is understood that Kennedy and Macmillan would be willing to have the scientific meeting in Moscow or anywhere else agreeable to Khrushchev. But U.S. officials had no real hope that Khrushchev would agree to have the meeting at all. They doubt the Soviets are interested in reviving active test ban negotiations at the moment.

Rusk said one reason for this could be that the Soviets were planning a new round of tests in their nuclear weapons development program. Another consideration in Moscow, he indicated, might be the re-examination of the split between the Soviet Union and Red China believed to be going on there.

Rain Cuts Crowd, But Rodeo Goes On

Jupiter Pluvius was the heavy winner at the first night performance of the 30th Annual Big Spring Cowboy Reunion rodeo Wednesday night, but the rain god's best efforts did not stop the top hands from sloshing through to the end of the night's program. Today's show starts at 8 p.m.

Rains, which began at 6 p.m. as a drizzle and built up about the middle of the evening into a hard shower, kept the crowd to a corporal's guard and left the stands nearly empty for the last of the show.

However, the performers moved through as scheduled with two or three exceptionally exciting times scored.

Despite the bedraggled setting and the dampness which forced spectators under blankets and quilts or into rain coats—if they had them with them—the applause for the riders was good.

FAST TIME

The more ardent and dogged fans stuck it out to the soggy end — sitting humped against the downpour as the cowboys and cowgirls moved through the contests of the sandy arena floor.

To get things off to a proper start, the best time of the night in the calf roping event was scored by a Big Spring rider. Kenny Thompson, Big Spring, had his calf pinned in 11.2 seconds in an event which saw fifth and sixth place ropers out of the running with what normally would have been good time — 12.9 seconds.

Another exceptional thrill came late in the show when a Whitewood, S. D., cowboy, Jerry Olson, took only 4.4 seconds to pin his animal in the steer wrestling event.

He was by far the leading performer in this event and the nearest competitor he had was Bussy Kaul of Hereford who had a 10.1 time.

ROUGH BULLS

The Brahma bulls were rough and not eager to submit to the riders. The upshot of this was that only two of eight contestants scored in this event. Squirley Northcutt, Colorado City, with 166, led the field. Ronny Rogers of Odessa with 162 was the other performer who scored.

The animals were tough and the cowboys adept in providing a show which would have well been worth a big crowd. Sponsors of the rodeo feel that the attendance on opening night would have been large had the weather been fair. They anticipate good turnouts tonight, Friday and Saturday.

Wednesday night's show slowed in getting off the ground by the formalities which must go with opening performance of rodeos—the formal introduction of officials, guests and riding clubs, queen contestants and others.

EARLY PARADE

These had appeared in the parade which opened the show Wednesday afternoon. A large crowd lined the parade route to see the procession which featured bands, floats, riding clubs, new and ancient cars and hundreds of kids on horses.

Specialty acts at the show—including Jerry Olson and his flying jets, J. W. Stoker and his fancy horse catches and Billy Buschbom and Mr. Nifty—were brighter than the millrun of interacts at rodeos, and the fans gave them a rousing hand.

Pope John Rallies, Crisis May Be Past

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope John XXIII rallied considerably overnight and his hemorrhaging has stopped for the present, a Vatican communique said today. There were signs the immediate crisis had passed.

From his sickbed, the pontiff, 81, expressed gratitude for the expressions of concern for his health and said this interest indicated new fervor for peace.

A Vatican communique quoting his words generated new optimism for the health of the Roman Catholic leader who had been near death 48 hours ago.

One of the pontiff's doctors said he got out of bed Wednesday against doctor's orders.

The communique issued at midday said the Pope had received messages of goodwill from around the world.

The communique said treatment of hemorrhages, provoked by an abnormal stomach growth, had produced good results "thanks to the strong fiber of the august patient."

Pope John had two medical examinations today: his usual one at 8:30 a.m. by his Rome physician, Dr. Piero Mazzoni, and a second one by his main personal physician, Dr. Antonio Gasbarrini, who lives in Bologna.

Gasbarrini was summoned urgently Sunday but packed his bags to return home today. The Vatican said his visit to the Pope was a farewell one.

Before seeing the Pope, Gasbarrini said the pontiff's "constitution of iron joined with his will of iron are a good sign."

Gasbarrini said he and Mazzoni and the Pope's surgeon, Pietro Valdoni, "believe the Pope will rally."

The Vatican's noon communique —in the form of a story to be published by the newspaper L'Osservatore Romano — said the Pope's condition indicated a marked rally.

The noon communique, following a morning statement that the Pope had an excellent night with perfect rest, said:

"Further signs of improvement ascertained yesterday and which are steadily being accentuated were noted at 8:30 a.m. in the daily visit. The hemorrhages which in the previous days caused concern have now ceased.

"The substitute therapy, thanks to the strong fiber of the august patient, has produced good results, and the general condition has indicated a marked rally."

Gasbarrini went from the Vatican to the railway station to catch a train for Bologna, indicating he had found no complication to prevent his return home.

He said the Pope was in good humor and serene and that there

Police Promise Instant Arrest For Demonstrators In Jackson

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Integrationists planned to step up demonstrations in this Mississippi capital city today even though police promised to continue their policy of instant arrests.

"We're not going anywhere but down on Capitol street," a Mississippi leader of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People told 600 cheering Negroes Wednesday night at a rally.

Mississippi does not observe Memorial Day. Stores will be open today.

Nineteen persons were jailed in four demonstrations Wednesday.

It brought to 27 the number of arrests since picketing and sit-in demonstrations started here Tuesday.

Two white youths were hurt Wednesday night when Negroes tossed bricks through the windshield of their car in a Negro section. But there was no violence during daytime demonstrations.

The previous day a mixed group which tried to desegregate a lunch counter was attacked.

Throngs of white persons gathered on Capitol Street—the main thoroughfare — when the first six pickets appeared Wednesday. A few white youths stepped in front of the pickets and attempted to halt them. Otherwise there were no incidents.

Demonstrators arrested for picketing were charged with displaying a placard without a permit—a new city law. When their City Court trials began Wednesday afternoon, Jack Young, a Jackson Negro attorney, contended the new law was unconstitutional.

City Court Judge James Spencer delayed the trials for one week and directed Young to file a brief on his claim.

Classes in non-violent, sit-in techniques were held Wednesday at the Jackson headquarters of the NAACP by the Congress of Racial Equality. Students were briefed on what to expect in demonstrations. More classes were planned today.

A variety store closed about 11:30 a.m. because of rumors its lunch counter was the target of a sit-in demonstration. Then, six pickets, carrying signs urging a boycott of downtown stores, were arrested within minutes after arriving in front of another variety store.

A half hour later, five more pickets who showed up in front of a department store were arrested. Four more pickets appeared at the same store later and were also taken to jail.

The last group of pickets went limp when police appeared. They were carried to the paddy wagon by Negro trusties who accompanied the officers.

"We used the trusties to haul the Negroes to the truck so that we could not be charged with police brutality," chief of detectives M. B. Pierce said.

FBI agents observed the demonstrations. Another agent was in Pierce's office most of the day checking arrests records.

Girl Goes Wrong

Joanne (Rusty) Bernard, 15, green-eyed and redhaired, finds her dreams of a trip to Paris ending in New York's Elizabeth Street police station. She talks over her troubles with policeman after being arrested while allegedly trying to hold up a downtown bank for $2,000 to finance a trip to Paris. The "gun" turned out to be a five and dime store type of toy. Joanne ran away from her home in Rumford, Me., last week after cashing a $40 check belonging to her father.

Memorial Day A Century Old

By The Associated Press

With gratitude to her war dead, and in loving memory of all her deceased loved ones, the nation today marks another Memorial Day—with its roots of observance now dating back exactly 100 years.

President Kennedy lays the presidential wreath on the Tomb of the Unknowns in Arlington (Va.) National Cemetery. And old soldiers, young soldiers and just plain citizens conduct ceremonies in most every city, town and hamlet.

In addition to wreath-laying rites are the parades, speeches and gunfire salutes. For millions of Americans it also is a day of rest, and for other millions it means the start of a long weekend holiday.

Most historians agree that the holiday dates to April 1863, when several women at Columbus, Miss. scattered spring flowers on graves of Confederate and Union soldiers.

At Rindge, N.H., ground-breaking ceremonies are scheduled for a memorial bell tower to honor all women war dead.

In Albany, N. Y., Harry M. Startup, 82, a Spanish-American War Veteran, leads the city's parade. It is Startup's third time to serve as grand marshal.

At Fort Banks in Winthrop, Mass., Mrs. Joseph P. Kennedy, the President's mother, takes part in ceremonies naming three streets in honor of fallen servicemen, including her son, Joseph P. Kennedy, Jr., who died in World War II.

The President, after his wreath-laying at Arlington, flies by helicopter to Camp David, the presidential retreat in the Catoctin Mountains of Maryland, for lunch, and then back to the White House for some office work and a little relaxation on the holiday.

At Arlington, President Kennedy was joined by Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, who in a prepared speech reminded all Americans that "we are leaders in a tense world who must meet serious issues with a calm, sober sense of responsibility."

Pointing out the tensions created by the Communists throughout the globe, Taylor paid tribute to the Americans lost in South Viet Nam, calling them "national heroes in every sense of the word."

"The conflict in Viet Nam typifies dramatically the new challenge we are facing in many parts of the underdeveloped world," Taylor said.

Among other observances:

At Pearl Harbor, scene of the United States' worst military disaster, on Dec. 7, 1941, about 200 military and civilian dignitaries attend services aboard the sunken battleship Arizona, sent to the bottom by Japanese bombs.

At Rock Island, Ill., from 8,000 to 10,000 persons were expected for the dedication of a memorial carillon at Arsenal National Cemetery, and for services at a nearby Confederate cemetery.

Off Ambrose Light, just outside the entrance to New York Harbor, memorial wreaths go into the sea as a tribute to the merchant seamen who gave their lives for their country.

TEXAS VETERAN

A, First Texas Cavalry, was a prisoner of war interned at Elmira, N.Y. After the Civil War, he moved to Tonawanda.

In Hartford, Conn., flowers decorate the grave of "Little Miss 1565," who was among 168 killed in a circus fire on July 6, 1944. The little girl never was identified.

Peace Plea Goes To Laos

VIENTIANE, Laos. (AP) — A Pathet Lao official flew to Khang Khay today to deliver to Pathet Lao chief Prince Souphanouvong an appeal from Britain and the Soviet Union urging all factions to meet and restore peace in Laos.

A copy of the message from the Geneva conference co-chairmen went to the coalition premier, neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma.

Diplomatic observers said the British-Soviet appeal will be a good test to see whether the Laotian pro-Communists will heed the request of the Soviet Communists to negotiate an end to the two-month-old Laotian crisis.

They have been following the hard line policy of the Red Chinese.

Tech To Honor Cal Farley, Founder Of Boys Ranch

LUBBOCK—Cal Farley, founder and still active head of Boys' Ranch in the Texas Panhandle, will receive an honorary doctor of humanities degree from Texas Tech during commencement exercises at 8 p.m. Monday in Lubbock Municipal Coliseum.

Farley' interest in boys dates before World War I when he coached young athletes in his home town in Southern Minnesota. He eventually made boys his full-time business.

An accomplished athlete himself, Farley played professional baseball. As a wrestler, he won the AEF and the Inter-Allied welterweight championships.

He was a wrestler when he moved to Amarillo. But in the early 1930's, he took over a defunct tire shop. Still a friend of the boys, sometimes their only friend, he organized the "Maverick Club" for neglected boys. The club, which still is in operation, was founded because other youth organizations "didn't reach the bottom 10 per cent."

But this wasn't enough. Many boys needed a new home.

The late Julian Bivins donated the first land for Boys' Ranch in 1939, and the site was Old Tascosa.

The ranch became a bigger operation, and in 1947 Farley sold his now-prospering business "because the boys come first."

In 1952, Farley received the special community service award from the Amarillo Daily News and Globe Times. He has been named man of the year by the Amarillo Rotary Club, of which he served as president and later district governor of Rotary International.

The Texas VFW gave him the Silver Citizenship Award, and he has received the George Washington Medal of the Freedoms Foundation. In 1961, he was added to the Panhandle Sports Hall of Fame.

R.R. Commission Order Tossed Out

AUSTIN (AP) — The Austin Court of Civil Appeals Wednesday threw out another Railroad Commission order allocating gas production on a "one-third-two-thirds" formula.

The order, setting one-third production for each well and two-thirds on the basis of acreage, was similar to orders voided by the state Supreme Court in two earlier decisions—the Normanna and Halbouty cases.

Honduras Asks Name Change

TEGUCIGALPA, Honduras (AP) —Honduras asked the British government Wednesday to stop calling British Honduras by that name. Honduras said the correct name is "Belice."

The request was made by Foreign Minister Carlos Perdomo Paredes in a note delivered to the British ambassador.

Americans Still Die On Battlefields

WASHINGTON (AP) — It has been a decade since the last of the nation's nine major wars ended, but Americans still die on battlefields, to be remembered on this Memorial Day.

Their names still come in, by ones and twos, to be added to the more than 602,000 who fell during the past 188 years at such places as Lexington and Taejon, at Gettysburg and Normandy, at the Battle of Lake Erie and on the Coral Sea.

The United States isn't an official belligerent in Viet Nam's war. But in the last 2½ years 36 Americans have died by "hostile action." They were with South Viet Nam forces in engagements against the Communist Viet Cong guerrillas.

Only Wednesday night, the Pentagon announced that a U.S. Army captain and a private were killed while on combat patrol in Viet Nam. The officer was identified as Capt. James Brodt, 30, Cocoa, Fla. Pending identification of the next of kin, the private was not identified.

The biggest battlefield death toll for the United States was the approximate 291,000 killed in action in World War II. This was approached by the Civil War, where about 215,000 died in action—140,000 of them Union soldiers, the others Confederates.

World War I brought 53,402 battle deaths, the Korean War about 33,600. The others fell in the Revolutionary War, the War of 1812, the war with Mexico and the Spanish-American War. The latter had the lowest battlefield death toll, 385, but—as in all wars—disease and accident took heavy toll.

Beyond the category of major wars, some battle deaths occurred in small but sometimes prolonged secondary conflicts. The campaigns against the Indians in the West in the second half of the 19th century brought death to troopers as well as settlers hit by Indian attack.

The dead of these many wars are buried in many places. They marble in groomed lawn at Arlington National Cemetery or beneath old, gray, titled stone slabs in a village burying ground or in great military cemeteries overseas.

The men who died on battlefields are only a fraction of the 13 million who served and still live—15,110,000 in World War II, 2,372,000 in World War I and 5,647,000 in Korea.

Spanish-American War veterans total about 31,000 and the Veterans Administration carries a list of about 20 surviving veterans of the Indian campaigns.

What are their memories on Memorial Day?

For some a frigid wind sweeping barren ridges in Korea, for others the slashing movement of armor and infantry, bomb wreckage of cities, planes hurtling up from carrier decks, the onset of atomic age.

CHARLES E. McDONNELL

New Registrar At VA Hospital

A new chief of registrar division began work this week at the Big Spring Veterans Administration Hospital. He is Charles E. McDonnell, 31, whose VA career has spanned 10 years.

McDonnell comes to Big Spring from the VA Hospital at Fort Bayard, N. M., where he was assistant registrar. Other VA assignments since he joined the system in January, 1953, have been at Altoona, Pa., his birthplace, and at the VA Center in Dayton, Ohio.

He replaces Phil Hanigan, who last month left on a new assignment to the VA center in Los Angeles. Hanigan had been here 3½ years.

The McDonnells arrived in Big Spring Sunday and are making their home at 601 Linda Lane. They have two children, David, seven, and Russell, four. David will be in the second grade next year.

McDonnell was born Sept. 19, 1931 at Altoona, Pa. He served with the U. S. Army from August, 1949 to December, 1952. A part of his tour was with the counter-intelligence service at Bayreuth, Germany.

The family belongs to the Baptist Church. McDonnell is a member of the American Legion. Among hobbies he lists bowling.

Air Service

HOUSTON (AP)—Alamo Airlines will start service Monday between Houston and San Antonio with two flights a day in each direction. There will be stops at Austin, Gonzales and Victoria.

MEMORIAL DAY

Although today is a national holiday rather than a Christian holy day, it is right that today we remember our dead and show appreciation for their sacrifice for us. It is also right that Christians remember Christ and show appreciation for it by observing the Lord's Supper, on Sunday, the first day of the week (Acts 20:7; I Cor. 11:23-26). It is not only right, it is Christian duty. The memorial supper of the Lord is a vital part of Christianity. Its observance is absolutely necessary to spiritual life. Christ said, "Except ye eat the flesh of the Son of man, and drink his blood, ye have no life in you" (Jno. 6:53).

While remembering our dead today, it is a good time for us to resolve to respect the Lord Jesus Christ, and to show appreciation for what He did in making the greatest and most important of all sacrifices.

By T. H. Tarbet, preacher for Christ's church, 2500 West Highway 80, where you are always welcome. —adv.

MRS. SHERRILL FARMER

She Had First Perfect Record

When it came to attendance, Linda Gilstrap had a perfect record during her 12 years in school.

Our record in reporting this event as the first of its kind in the history of Big Spring schools, was however, a little less than perfect.

The feat had been achieved before, and by a young mother who still lives here.

Mrs. Sherrill Farmer, who was then Beverley Jane Hill, was cited on May 29, 1956, for having gone all through school — 108 months— without ever having once been tardy or absent. The schools presented her a special certificate signed by W. C. Blankenship and R. D. Worley, then superintendent and principal.

Mrs. Farmer is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hill, Big Spring, and was the youngest of seven children. She was married in 1958 to Sherrill Farmer, who is a member of the Big Spring police force. They have a 3-year-old daughter, Shanna Kay. Marriage interrupted Mrs. Farmer's studies at Howard County Junior College, but last year she returned to complete work she had started. At the present time she is secretary for the Texas Liquor Control Board district office. Her next big job, in three years, will be to get Shanna started off on school attendance.

New Night Phone Rates

Reduced long distance telephone rates for most evening station-to-station calls after 9 p.m. within Texas will be introduced by Southwestern Bell Telephone Company on June 15, Harry Sawyer, manager of the company, has announced.

The new rates will provide a maximum charge of 80 cents for a three-minute call anywhere within the state, he said.

Reductions up to 50 cents on the longest calls within Texas will result from the new schedule.

Along with this reduction there will be a slight increase in most person-to-person calls within the state, Sawyer announced. This will amount to five cents in the basic person-to-person rates on most day and evening calls.

The new reduced station-to-station rates for three-minute calls will fall into three brackets, according to Sawyer.

Calls of 83 to 202 miles will cost 50 cents, a reduction ranging from five to 25 cents under present rates.

Calls of 203 to 360 miles will cost 60 cents, a reduction of 20 to 40 cents.

Calls of 361 miles or more will cost 80 cents, a reduction of 20 to 50 cents.

Station-to-station rates will not be reduced on calls made between 6 p.m. and 9 p.m., nor will the reductions apply on collect calls or on calls charged to a third telephone.

Interstate rates on station-to-station calls after 9 p.m. were announced early in April.

Spy Scandal Rocks Russia

MOSCOW (AP) — The scandal of a western spy in the Soviet secret archives broke out anew today with the demotion of a former artillery marshal and new attacks on the U.S. and British embassies.

Sergey Sergeevich Varentsov, 62, Soviet marshal of artillery until 1961, was reduced in rank for having opposed separation of Oleg Penkovsky from the army and for pushing him into a job in the state committee on coordination of scientific research.

From that committee, it was testified in a trial early this month, Penkovsky poured 5,000 photographs of secret documents into British and U.S. intelligence. For that crime Penkovsky was shot May 16.

A British businessman, Greville Wynne, 44, was sentenced to eight years confinement for helping deliver the espionage material.

The announcement of punishment for those involved one way or another with Penkovsky was made in the government newspaper Izvestia in an interview with the prosecutor at the trial.

The prosecutor, Lt. Gen. Artem Gorny, said the marshal was reduced in rank and Major Gen. A. Pozovny, Col. V. Buzinov and others were demoted and punished. The nature of the punishment and demotion was not given.

Western embassies, particularly U.S. and British, were accused again of espionage, an activity which Soviet officials almost never admit.

Gorny said British and U.S. intelligence services "use for their espionage activities members of various delegations, scientists, businessmen, cultural figures, students and tourists who come to our country."

Gorny mentioned 12 British and U.S. Embassy staff members who had been named in connection with the case. All have left the Soviet Union.

Gorny conceded that "Penkovsky handed over to U.S. and British intelligence important information, a part of which constituted a U.S.S.R. state secret."

He insisted it "could not deal any serious damage to the defense potentiality of the Soviet Union." He said Penkovsky managed to get some information on old rockets while he was still in the army, and passed this over during his espionage operations.

Mrs. Fortson Dies Today

Mrs. A. L. Fortson, 70, 1106 Sycamore, died at 5:25 a.m. today at her home following an apparent heart attack.

She was born April 15, 1893 in McLennan County. She married A. L. Fortson May 8, 1910 at Brownwood. The family moved to Melvin in 1921, and to Howard County in 1942. Her husband was a farmer in the Vincent Community for several years. They moved to Big Spring from Vincent. She had been a member of the Baptist Church since childhood and was active in the Baptist Temple Church in Big Spring. She was known affectionately as Mother Fortson.

Funeral services are pending at Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Surviving relatives are the husband, Big Spring; five sons, Otha Fortson, Melvin, Cecil Fortson, New Braunfels, Milton Fortson, Houston, Joe Fortson and Ray Fortson, Big Spring; two daughters, Mrs. Irene Johnson and Mrs. Mildred Taylor, Big Spring; two brothers, Amon Holcomb, Fort Worth, and Bill Holcomb, Brownwood; a sister, Mrs. Betty Nicholson, Houston; 20 grandchildren, and two great-grandchildren.

Titan Blast Under Study

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) —Flight films and radio data were studied today as project officials sought the reason for the first explosion here of a Titan 2 intercontinental range missile.

The 103-foot-tall rocket, which is being groomed as this nation's most powerful military missile and as the booster for the Gemini two-man spacecraft, blew apart spectacularly Wednesday 20,000 feet above the Atlantic Ocean. It was supposed to have flown 6,000 miles.

Early evaluation indicated a fire started in the first stage engine about 40 seconds after launching and within 10 seconds enveloped the Titan 2. The second stage shot away from the erupting booster and seconds later was destroyed by the range safety officer.

A few pieces fell harmlessly onto the Cape, but most of the shattered rocket plunged into the sea just offshore.

The failure was the seventh in 16 Titan 2 launchings and could further hinder the big missile's development.

Investigation Of Shooting Goes On

David Driscoll, 34, who has been in the city jail since Monday for investigation in a shooting on Big Spring's northside Saturday, is still being questioned, Big Spring Police Detective Wayne Tollett said Thursday morning.

Tollett said the 17-year-old boy, Arturo Rodriquez, Colorado City, who was shot in the stomach during a disturbance at Jalisco's, 300 N. Bell, is recovering in a Colorado City hospital. His story about the shooting has been changed.

"We will continue our investigation until the matter is cleared up one way or another," Detective Tollett said.

No Mexican Comment On Bill

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The Mexican government had no official comment Wednesday night on failure of the U. S. House of Representatives to extend the bracero farm labor program.

Highway Closed

AUSTIN (AP)— The Highway Department said today Texas 283 is closed four miles north of Rule in Haskell County by high water.

Traffic will be detoured over Farm 2407 until the road is opened.

Progress Made Over Chamizal

WASHINGTON (AP) — Top American officials said today good progress is being made toward settlement of 50-year-old border dispute with Mexico.

Despite the progress, however, these sources said there was no prospect of negotiating a mutually satisfactory solution to the squabble before President Kennedy travels to the vicinity of the disputed territory next Wednesday.

Neither, they said, was there any chance of a meeting at that time between Kennedy and President Adolfo Lopez Mateos of Mexico, even though the American chief executive will be just a river bank away from Mexican soil.

The source of the border trouble is 450-acre area which the United States claimed as part of El Paso, Tex., when the Rio Grande, the traditional border between the neighboring countries, abruptly changed course early in this century.

A White House announcement Tuesday that Kennedy would spend the night of June 5 in El Paso led to speculation in some circles that a settlement of the territorial question was imminent.

However, it was learned on very high authority, that despite progress no settlement was possible by then.

At one point, there were reports that Lopez Mateos would be in Juarez, Mexico—just across the river from El Paso—on June 5.

However, Mexican officials said Wednesday night that this was not true; that Lopez Mateos will be in Jalisco Province at the time. The capital of the province is Guadalajara, some 730 miles from El Paso.

The disputed territory, little known outside Mexico and parts of southwestern United States, is called El Chamizal. Until the Rio Grande changed course, El Chamizal indisputably was part of Mexico.

At a news conference on March 6, Kennedy noted that the United States once rejected the decision of an International Arbitration Commission that the 450 acres be declared a part of Mexico—despite the area's present location on the northern side of the river.

The President said he hoped for an early settlement "to wipe out a black mark against the United States."

At the time, Kennedy said the two nations were close to agreement on the question.

POPE

had been no hemorrhages since Wednesday.

The doctor said the Pope, feeling better, had ignored his physicians' advice and had gotten out of bed for several minutes Wednesday.

"He is a man who never listens to the advice of his doctors," Gasbarrini said with a smile.

Pope John has said in the past that his duties as spiritual leader of Roman Catholicism demand sacrifice and cannot be put aside.

Despite Gasbarrini's departure, the Pope remained under constant attention from his Roman doctor and from a special Vatican medical staff.

One of his doctors said Wednesday night that the Pope might be able to get out of bed in a week or 10 days if he continues showing improvement.

That statement indicated optimism. But it also pointed to the fact that the next week or 10 days might be crucial, with the threat of new hemorrhaging still present.

The report was the most optimistic since the Pope's abnormal stomach growth sent him to bed 10 days ago and brought him close to death.

The sources said the doctors spoke today of renewed color in Pope John's face and expressed the hope that he would gain strength little by little in coming days.

A spokesman at the Vatican press office said Wednesday night that the Pope had been able to read, pray and meditate.

Amleto Cardinal Cicognani, Vatican secretary of state, who has been seeing the Pope daily, wrote a nephew of the pontiff saying he was improving gradually, informed sources said.

The reports indicated that the blood transfusions which carried him through his worst crisis Tuesday apparently were having an effect.

With its progress reports, the Vatican acknowledged for the first time that Pope John was gravely ill and had undergone a dangerous ordeal.

The communiques told of "acute moments of crisis" from the gastric heteroplasia. The term means an abnormal growth which could be a cancer or a benign tumor.

The Vatican said the Pope's mind was clear and that he had suffered no "lapses or bewilderment."

OIL REPORT

Three New Projects For Howard

Sawnie Robertson has slated three new projects for fields in Howard County. In the Iatan-East Howard field, No. 10 Percy Jones spots 990 feet from the north and 1,650 feet from the west lines of section 13-30-1s, T&P survey, about five miles southeast of Coahoma. No. 18 Percy Jones is 990 feet from the north and 2,310 feet from the east lines of the section. Both are projected to 3,000 feet and are on a 320-acre lease.

In the Howard-Glasscock field, the new project is No. 15 W. N. and L. R. Reed, with a projected bottom of 2,500 feet by rotary tool. It is 990 feet from the south and 330 feet from the east lines of the northwest quarter of section 142-29, W&NW survey, on a 160-acre lease about five miles east of Forsan.

DAILY DRILLING

GARZA

Humble No. 39 M. A. Fuller, C SE NE, section 111-5, H&GN survey, is a new oiler in the Dorward (San Andres) field. It pumped 40 barrels of 38.1-gravity oil, with 71 per cent water, on initial potential. The operator drilled to 2,700 feet and plugged back to 2,676 feet. Pay topped at 2,488 feet was perforated between 2,488-625 feet and acidized with 500 gallons and fraced with 20,000 gallons. Elevation is 2,342 feet and 7⅝-inch casing is at 2,694 feet. The well is on a 4,135-acre lease about three miles northeast of Justiceburg.

MITCHELL

Robinson Drilling Co. No. 9 W. W. Watson pumped 60 barrels of 30-gravity oil on initial potential in the Iatan-East Howard field. Total depth is 3,250 feet, pay was picked at 3,009 feet. 4½-inch casing is at 3,250 feet and perforations are between 3,009-225 feet. They were fraced with 800 barrels and acidized with 500 gallons. It is 1,650 feet from the north and east lines of section 20-29, T&P survey.

Standard No. 3 O. Handley is a new well in the Westbrook field. The old well was worked over to 3,065 feet for a pay topped at 2,810 feet. It was completed for 62 barrels of oil, with 10 per cent and a gas-oil ratio too small to measure. The gravity was 24.2 degrees and the well was fraced with 60,000 gallons. It spots C SW SW SW, section 12-28, T&P survey.

COMPLETIONS

GARZA

Sunland Oil No. 1 J. R. Wood, wildcat in Garza County, is a duster at 4,283 feet. Operator drilled to that depth from elevation 3,005 feet and set 5½-inch casing at 4,278 feet. The hole was 467 feet from the south and 660 feet from the west lines of section, 1,259, abstract 309, J. H. Gibson survey.

HOWARD

C. D. Turner No. 2 A. J. Hooks, C NW SE SW, section 140-29, W&NW survey, pumped 48 barrels of 30-gravity oil with 40 per cent water as a new oiler in the Howard-Glasscock field. MONAHANS RIDER INJURED
Diana Pittman, 19, being taken from arena to ambulance

Diana's Adventures With Nugget Getting Monotonous

Diana Pittman, 19, member of the Ward County Riding and Roping Club, escaped with what are believed to be minor injuries last night when her horse fell on her as she prepared to ride in the grand entry at the Howard County rodeo opening performance.

Diana is in the Malone-Hogan Foundation Hospital. She hopes to be able to go home today or Friday but doctors plan to X-ray one of her feet to make sure no bones were broken.

Miss Pittman said her horse, Nugget, reared when another horse backed into him. She fell from the saddle and the horse fell on her. She was taken to the hospital in a Nalley-Pickle ambulance.

"This is the second time this year that Diana has been hospitalized as result of being hurt while riding Nugget. Early in January, she broke a leg as she rode out of the arena at Monahans. Diana spent considerable time with her leg in a cast. Furthermore, when she returned to college —walking on crutches — she slipped and fell down a flight of stairs.

Her family, Mr. and Mrs. S. G. Pittman, Monahans, and her brothers and sisters, including Sandra Pittman, Monahans' candidate for Rodeo queen, are beginning to wonder if Diana isn't jinxed.

"Nugget," said Diana, "is just three years old and full of pep and vinegar. He doesn't mean to get me hurt."

Roman Carriage Drivers Finally Get Public Support

ROME (AP)—The 120 carriage drivers of Rome, last of a dying band of modern charioteers, have a jauntier air this spring.

There's more to it than the tourists who began flocking to the Eternal City with the Easter sunshine, making the carriage meters click to the clop-clop of hooves.

The carriage-for-hire men have been subsidized at last—and that means spaghetti on their plates and hay for their horses when winter winds blow through tourist-empty piazzas.

The city of Rome, with an eye to keeping tourists happy and maintaining the ranks of the vanishing carriage drivers, has agreed to supply off-season support.

Back in 1918 there were 3,500 of the oat-burning taxis. For less than 25 cents, the botticelle—hired carriages—would take you on a tour around the city from the Colosseum to the Northern Gate.

By 1948, only 350 of the highly polished, well-preserved carriages were left. The number has held at 120 for the last two years.

The carriage drivers are among the most tourist-conscious of all Romans.

A young student priest took a carriage tour one fine day in 1903 when Pope Leo XIII was gravely ill. The driver inquired solicitiously about the aged pontiff's health.

"I, too, hope God will preserve the life of His Holiness," the carriage man, in apparent piety, agreed with the seminarian.

Then the driver continued: "If the Pope should die, they will make another Pope, of course—but who can say whether the new Pope will attract so many tourists from the world over, as Pope Leo has done, that there will be work for all the carriage drivers of the capital."

The student priest was Angelo Roncalli, later to become Pope John XXIII.

There are more tourists in Rome these days of Pope John than the old carriage driver could have dreamed of—but rising living costs have taken a toll in the carriage trade.

Break In Water Line Gouges Hole In Fourth Street

A 6-inch water line, across East Fourth in front of the Central Fire Station, ruptured about 9:30 p.m. Wednesday and sent water rushing into the streets around the station.

Firemen reported the break about 10 p.m. when they found water around the front.

A six-foot crack in the line allowed water pressure to wash fill-in dirt from under the pavement. When the water was cut off, the street caved in over the break.

A new section of line was installed by city crews and water was turned on again about 2 a.m. today, but traffic was kept in the south lane on East Fourth while the street was being repaired.

Car Was Gone, And It Still Is

An automobile parked on Scurry at the Permian Building, was reported stolen at 4 p.m. Wednesday. Dee E. Roberts, Midland, told police that he went to the Permian Building on business at 1:15 p.m., parked his car with the keys in the ignition, and remained in the building until 3:50 p.m. When he came out, the car was gone. It was still gone today.

Mrs. Logan Grider, cafeteria employe of the Big Spring Schools, reported the loss of four hubcaps from her car while it was parked at Washington Place Elementary School Wednesday.

Emzie Woodard called police at 3 a.m. Thursday and reported a burglary while he was out about 30 minutes. He said he locked the place up and when he came back the cigarette machine was open.

Pool To Open

The Big Spring Country Club swimming pool will open Saturday, Ty Allen, manager, said today. The pool will be open from 11 a.m. to 9 p.m. A lifeguard will be on duty from 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. at the pool.

Torch Slayers Receive Stay

AUSTIN (AP)—Convicted torch slayers Carolyn Ann Lima and Leslie Ashley, scheduled to die Friday in the electric chair, have received a stay of execution until July 30.

Gov. John Connally granted the reprieve after Dist. Atty. Frank Briscoe of Houston asked a delay, pending action by the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals on an appeal.

The federal court issued an indefinite stay March 29, four hours before the two were to die for the February, 1960, slaying of a Houston real estate man, Fred Tones.

Testimony showed the two shot Tones during a sex party in his office, carried Tones to a ditch, poured gasoline on him and set the gasoline afire.

City Files Nine Paving Lien Cases

The City of Big Spring has filed nine suits seeking to foreclose paving liens against as many residents. The suits were filed in the 118th District Court Tuesday by John Burgess, city attorney. He said the suits involved paving in numerous sections of the town.

The suits filed named the following defendants:

Billie G. Hooper; Mrs. Leona Biggs; Mrs. Isla N. Huddle; Earl Reagan; Delano Shaw and others; Thomas E. Albie estate and others; E. H. Sanders; Gus Fredrick Heckler, and D. W. Powell.

There was no indication when the cases may be set down for trial.

Expansion Key To Salvage Of Bankrupt Estes Assets

PECOS (AP — "Expansion is the key to success in salvaging the empire of a bankrupt," says Bob Boyd, manager of the American Grain Corp., which took over the remaining assets of Billie Sol Estes.

Boyd spends much of his time traveling between Pecos and the Plains area, where Estes, now under prison sentence for his financial manipulations, had widespread interests.

In a recent interview here, Boyd said the grain interests of the one-time financial offer the best chance for expansion.

The corporation recently purchased 647.5 acres from W. W. Watkins of Abilene, according to the county court records there. The purchase is of a farm adjacent to one of the former Estes farms now operated by the corporation.

The corporation also obtained the cotton allotments assigned to the farm.

Cotton allotments involving the former Estes farms still are tied up in Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service hearings and re-hearings. The Agriculture Department cancelled 3,500 acres of allotments which are subject to appeal.

On one farm, American Grain did not wait for further allotment hearings and planted cantaloupes. Lettuce also is being planted on an experimental basis.

Boyd said, "It even looks like we're going to be in the pecan business in future years."

He referred to 47,000 young pecan trees planted on a former Estes farm, and to a 1,200 acre pecan orchard which the corporation has obtained in Eastland County near Cisco. This formerly belonged to A. B. Foster Jr., former Estes general manager.

The farms are a combination picture of Estes' collapse and of the renewal efforts of American Grain.

At Girvin, rows of broken-down trucks, rusting equipment, idle cotton trailers and straight lines of real anhydrous ammonia tanks remind the onlooker of the vast farming operation under the former owner.

However, American Grain, Boyd says, is actively seeking avenues of expansion in every direction.

Boyd said the firm plans to expand the grain storage business once operated by Estes, but details have not been announced.

PASO Chief Praises Bill On Braceros

SAN ANTONIO (AP) —Action by the House of Representatives to halt the bracero farm labor program was praised today by state President Albert Pena Jr. of the Political Association of Spanish - Speaking Organizations (PASO).

Similar reaction came from San Antonio's Mexican Chamber of Commerce.

"In many instances in Texas, the bracero has been treated a lot better than our own American citizens," Pena said.

"I certainly don't have any quarrel with braceros working and wanting a job, but I also believe we ought to take care of our own citizens first."

Many Americans who work on farms are of Latin American origin.

Braceros are Mexican nationals brought across the border to work on U.S. farms.

Pena said ending the bracero program would help the economy of Texas and solve some problems raised by the northward migration of farm workers each year.

"There will be more incentive to pay the American a higher wage," Pena said. "If he's paid a higher wage in Texas he's not going to migrate."

Pena said braceros are guaranteed a minimum wage of 70 cents an hour, adequate and clean housing, sanitary conditions and safe transportation.

"American citizens don't have these guarantees," Pena said. "If the bracero program is eliminated the American worker can insist on them."

Light Rain Visits Area

Showers which fell late Wednesday are likely to return again tonight, the weather forecast for Big Spring and vicinity promises.

The rains which began as a drizzle and built up around 9 p.m. into a brisk shower, handicapped the rodeo performance, gave lawns and shrubs another drink and added a few worry wrinkles to the furrowed brows of cotton farmers. Some farmers are fretting over the continued moisture which is keeping them out of their fields. Many acres of Howard County cotton must be replanted and the time is at hand to get the seed in the ground.

Rains last night were not heavy. The U.S. Experiment Station reported .10. Webb AFB weather station had .12 inch. Wilkerson ranch 10 miles west had .75 of an inch.

The forecast calls for continued cloudiness, gusty winds, late afternoon and evening thundershowers.

Lakeview Y Is Busy Place

One of the many activities at the Lakeview YMCA is the craft class, upper left. Here children put finishing touches on decorated baskets, while in the center picture an assortment of handicraft is shown. Much of the activity for young people is in the hands of the youth program committee, upper right, shown making plans for a talent show. Physical fitness is another vital service, as the weight lifters, lower left, and the wall weights, center, show. A mighty popular place around the place is the pool table where youngsters sharpen their eyes and hands. Many other things are going at the Lakeview Y, too, for it has become a community center.

Yankee Violence May Mean Attack On Race Bars

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Picket line violence in the city of brotherly love, prompted by Negroes' demands for the right to join labor unions, may have spawned a mass assault on segregation barriers all across the North.

Demonstrations which started peaceably two weeks ago with a sit-in in the mayor's office erupted into violence for the second time Wednesday.

Ten persons were hurt as pickets, laborers and police clashed at the North Philadelphia site of a $6-million school project.

The National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, prime mover in the local demonstrations, has charged labor unions with failing to hire non-white skilled workers. The unions have denied it.

After Wednesday's outbreak during which massed police faced as many as 500 pickets, national officers of the NAACP wired support of local leaders and promised an all-out effort to break down labor segregation barriers in other cities.

Herbert Hill, national NAACP labor secretary, said in New York demonstrations will begin very soon in such cities as New York, Washington, Chicago, Cleveland, Boston and St. Louis.

Negro ministers in Philadelphia joined demonstrations for the first time Wednesday. Two of 15 at the school site were hurt but not seriously.

During the morning, the ministers spoke to the crowd over a loudspeaker and said that Sunday they will call from their pulpits for a demonstration Monday that will be the largest this city has ever seen or that ever has been staged north of the Mason-Dixon Line.

They estimated 20,000 to 200,000 will turn out.

Phillip Savage, a local officer of the NAACP, said picket lines probably will be thrown around all city projects, with state and federal projects to follow if the matter isn't settled soon.

The Negroes' clamor for admittance to unions has been rising steadily since some 15 demonstrators trooped into the mayor's office two weeks ago, sat down and refused to move until work was stopped on the $22-million municipal services building and the matter of job discrimination was taken up by the Human Relations Commission.

Mayor James H. J. Tate yielded and work stopped. The unions and city announced several days later agreement was reached with the NAACP, but Cecil B. Moore, local NAACP leader, denied it. He said the Human Relations Commission didn't even attend negotiations. There are no talks going on.

Wednesday's picketing started with about 75 demonstrators on hand and about 200 police standing shoulder-to-shoulder around the block square site.

A group of patients from the Big Spring State Hospital will attend the rodeo performance Friday through the courtesy of the Rodeo Association and Howard County Junior College. Roundup Of Racial Items: And Not All Are Bad News

By The Associated Press

Major racial developments over the nation included:

The Justice Department announced it will appeal a ruling by a federal judge in Birmingham, Ala., that the department does not have the right to sue for desegration of two Alabama school systems which receive federal funds under the impacted area program.

Negro pickets scuffled with policemen at a public school construction site in Philadelphia and 10 persons were injured. The pickets were unable to stop most of the workers from getting to their jobs. The mass picketing was started Monday by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People in protest of alleged job discrimination by some craft unions. NAACP officials in New York announced that similar demonstrations will begin soon in such cities as New York, Washington, Chicago, Cleveland, Boston and St. Louis.

Negroes and white persons lunched together in public dining rooms of five leading Charlotte, N.C., hotels and motels for the first time. Dr. John R. Cunningham, chairman of a biracial committee named by Mayor Stan Brookshire, said eight hotels and motels are beginning a program of opening their sleeping accommodations to both races.

Breaking with the tradition of the Southeastern Conference, the University of Kentucky announced it will integrate its athletic program. The 12-member group is segregated athletically by tradition, not rule.

A compromise agreement ended an Alabama Senate filibuster over a resolution endorsing Gov. George Wallace's promised defiance of a court order to integrate the University of Alabama. The Senate at Montgomery adopted an amendment appealing to citizens to prevent mob violence, then sent the measure back to the House where it originated.

The Atlanta Chamber of Commerce asked all businesses in the city serving the general public to do so without regard to race. Mayor Ivan Allen said that Atlanta's 12 swimming pools will open June 12 on a desegregated basis in compliance with a federal court order.

Four hundred Negro students sang and chanted demands for ending segregation in the Tallahasee, Fla., business district while 500 white persons watched. It was the ninth protest in as many days. Police moved in briefly when several white youths jeered the Negroes.

Negro and white civic officials reached a two-week truce agreement in High Point, N.C. Under the truce, Negro leaders promised to halt demonstrations and a biracial committee promised it would do everything in its power to bring about integration of downtown businesses and eating places.

Police arrested 14 white and Negro college students at Daytona Beach, Fla., on charges of trespassing when the students conducted a sit-in at a restaurant. They were released without bond.

U.S. Dist. Judge E. Gordon West said a year-old injunction prohibiting mass demonstrations is still in effect in Baton Rouge, La., where Negro leaders warn of new antisegregation protests. A threatened massive demonstration failed to materialize Wednesday.

Pickets paraded briefly outside four elementary schools in Englewood, N.J. Inside one of the predominantly white schools 29 Negro children completed their third week of a classroom sit-in. Negroes are protesting racial imbalance in the city schools.

Churchmen Urge Board To Stay Out Of Politics

DALLAS (AP)—Members of the North Texas conference of the Methodist Church called Tuesday for the denomination's National Board of Christian Social Concerns to stay out of politics.

A resolution approved over mild opposition proposed that the board restrict its legislative activities to areas in which the church has taken a specific stand, such as temperance, gambling, capital punishment and desegregation.

It stated that the board, in issuing statements of principle on any public problems, should not endorse specific legislation "which may be only one of several partisan solutions to a problem."

"Christians are all under the same imperative to be concerned for the welfare of the brother," the resolution said, but they "may readily disagree politically and economically as to how that welfare should be implemented and preserved."

Lakeview Y Drive At Halfway Mark

Lakeview YMCA is half way toward its membership goal of $1,500, and during the next two weeks workers will turn on the steam in an effort to go over the top.

Approximately $800 is in hand in pledges, and over half of this is in cash, reported Clinton Muse, general chairman of the campaign.

Represented in the 40 signed to date are more than 40 individuals and families. A much larger number than this have not yet been contacted or signed, and Muse indicated that this was the big job.

The next report session is scheduled for June 7 and by that time leaders hope to be in the home stretch. Deadline for closing the campaign is the middle of June.

An Air Force theme is being used in the membership enlistment, and Carrie McManus' flight was leading at the first report with about half of the total raised. Mrs. Jim Smith, wife of the executive secretary, was the top individual with $205 raised. Ralph Ross was in second place and Jim Woodruff was in third.

Woodruff is leader of one of the flights as are Muse, I. G. Baucham and Nick Banks.

Although the Lakeview branch draws some support from the United Fund, the success of its program is dependent upon the success of the membership campaign, Muse pointed out. He and other workers urged residents in the Lakeview area to back the Y where it counts — in memberships.

Chic Trick

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — Guards, finding discarded prison clothes in a courthouse restroom, learned too late that the "woman" who calmly walked past them was their male prisoner — a pro-Communist held in the half-million-dollar theft of French art.

The guards waited outside while Winston Bermudez Machado, 26-year-old university student, went to a restroom Tuesday. Police said an accomplice apparently had hidden women's clothing and makeup there. He had been brought to court for questioning.

GOES TO QUINCY, ILL.

Jeff Brown Is Signed To Met Bonus Pact

By TOMMY HART

Jeff Brown, hard-hitting first baseman for the Big Spring High School Steers the past season, has been signed to a bonus contract with the New York Mets' farm system.

Jeff, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. O. Brown of 2202 Main Street, leaves this weekend to join Quincy, Ill., of the Class A Midwest league.

The speedy 200-pounder, who hit .388 and clubbed 12 home runs for the Longhorns this spring, attached his signature to a Met contract at his home Wednesday evening by Red Murff, who scouts the Texas-Louisiana-Arkansas area for the Mets.

Jeff lettered three years in baseball and two years in basketball at the local high school. He was the team's catcher most of his junior year and divided time between that position and first base this spring. He hit .340 in 1962. This season, he drove in 27 runs.

Jeff is the younger brother of Wayne Brown, who lettered three years in basketball at Big Spring High School — in 1948-49-50.

Jeff's manager at Quincy will be Sheriff Robinson, a former big leaguer who Murff praised as being an ideal man "to work with kids."

Murff, who visited here on four occasions to watch Brown play, said the factors that sold him on Jeff's potential were his speed and his tremendous power. Some of Jeff's home runs were tape-measured blows — among the hardest ever hit here. Murff waited until after Jeff received his high school diploma before extending him his bonus offer.

Murff said he regarded Brown as definite big league timber.

"As a matter of fact," Murff stated Wednesday, "we are not permitted to sign a boy unless we are sure he will go all the way to the big leagues."

Murff turned to scouting with Milwaukee after ending an illustrious playing career, highlighted by his 1955 season with the Dallas entry in the Texas League. That season, Red won 27 and lost 11 games with Dallas and enjoyed an earned-run average of less than 2.00 per game.

Murff later was employed by Houston as a scout and signed John Bateman, the young catching star for the Colt 45s, among others during his employment by the National League club. He has been employed in various capacities in organized baseball since 1950.

Brown is the second boy in the area signed to a pact by Murff and the Mets this spring. The first was Wilbur Huckle of Sul Ross College, Alpine, a San Antonio boy with a good pair of hands and, in Red's words, "a great desire to play."

Brown is a native-born Big Springer. Now 18 years of age, he was born Armistice Day — Nov. 11.

Jeff said he hoped to continue his schooling even though he was turning professional. He plans now to attend college one semester a year.

Brown is the second Big Spring boy to sign a big league bonus pact in recent years. The other was Hubert McCoy, who inked a Boston Red Sox contract about four years ago. He is no longer in pro ball.

Athletics Prospering Despite Dire Forecast

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

They may have picked us for ninth place, but we're taking our time getting there," says Ed Charles, the poet laureate of the Kansas City Athletics and the author of their latest triumph.

The 28-year-old second baseman with the quick pencil and the big stick stroked a bases-loaded single in the 11th inning that gave the fifth-place A's a 5-4 triumph over American League leading Baltimore Wednesday night and cut off the Orioles' winning streak at nine games.

One of the more consistent elements on the surprising A's, Charles came to Kansas City last year in a trade with Milwaukee. He immediately chased Wayne Causey to the bench, hit at a .288 clip in his first season in the majors and proved a valuable hitter in the clutch.

Now that Causey has pushed his way back into the line-up with a .350 batting average, the A's have a solid 1-2 punch at the top of the batting order and have held onto their place in the first division despite prolonged slumps by Norm Siebern and Jerry Lumpe.

Lumpe stroked a three-run double and Siebern connected for a homer against the Orioles, but it was Causey and Charles who combined singles in the 11th for the clincher. Charles wound up with a 3-for-5 performance and raised his average to .296.

The loss, the Orioles' second in the last 16 games, trimmed their edge to three games over the second-place New York Yankees, rained out at Boston. Baltimore's streak had been the longest in the majors this season.

Minnesota's Twins equalled that, getting No. 9 in a row by walloping woeful Washington 10-1 as Vic Power hit a grand slam homer and Earl Battey a three-run shot in support of Dick Stigman's two-hit pitching.

In the only other AL game scheduled, Charley Dees' three-run double powered the Los Angeles Angels to a 4-2 victory over Detroit.

The A's struck in the 11th on a walk, Causey's single, an intentional pass to Gino Cimoli and Charles' game-winner. That gave the victory to reliever Bill Fischer, who stopped the Orioles on one hit for 4 2-3 innings to bring his record to an eye-opening 7-1.

Stigman, now 4-5, was touched only for a first inning triple by Minnie Minoso and a third inning double by Ed Brinkman. He got all the support he needed from Power and Battey as the Twins put together their longest victory string since they won nine in a row in 1949 as the old Washington Senators.

19 TEAMS NEEDED

One Flight Full For Golf Open

The True Amateur division in the June 8-9 Big Spring Golf Open is 'chock full,' Big Spring Country Club officials revealed yesterday.

A waiting list is ready to take spots in that flight in event there are any last minute cancellations, pro Jefry Green stated.

The Open division, in which a pro can team with an amateur or two amateurs can play together, still has places for 19 teams or 38 players, Green said.

Deadline for entry is a week from today (June 5) at 5 p.m. and tournament director Obie Bristow said he anticipated having to shut down the entry office before that time.

Bristow said he expected a lot of enthusiasm to be generated for his unique meet but wasn't prepared for the interest shown thus far.

A maximum of 288 players, equally divided into two flights, will compete in the partnership-style tournament, which will extend over 36 holes.

Open flight players will use no handicaps, the True Amateur division entries will make use of theirs.

Entry fees are $15 for Open flight players and $5 for True Amateur division competitors.

Foy Fanning, Abilene; Stone Wells, Houston; and Charley Hopkins, Post, are among the most recent entries in the meet. Fanning is pro at the Maxwell Muny course in Abilene. The other two are well known amateurs.

Gallery tickets are now being sold at 50 cents each by members of the Country Club.

JERRY GREEN

A buffet dinner will be served to the entries Saturday, June 8.

Cash and merchandise awards valued at several thousand dollars will be given winners.

It will be possible for the leading pro to win as much as $500. The amateur on the winning tandem will earn $150 in merchandise awards.

Club officials are predicting that this will be the most successful tournament ever staged in Big Spring, if the weather cooperates. The course is in excellent condition and is ready to extend a serious challenge to any and all entries.

Snyder Loses Again, 16-13

DUMAS—Benefitting from eight Snyder errors, the Dumas Demons defeated the Tigers, 16-13, in the rubber game of a three-game baseball series to determine the Class AAA Regional champion here Wednesday.

Dumas now becomes eligible to take part in the State tournament at Austin next week.

Snyder booted the ball five times in the third inning.

A ten-run outburst in the third all but salted away the decision for the Demons.

Julian Miller and Robert Moffatt clubbed home runs for Dumas in the big third, each with a runner aboard.

Leslie Brown clubbed a home run for Snyder in the seventh. Only three of Dumas' runs were earned.

Locals Nudge Kent, 3 To 2

In a game shortened to four innings by rain, the Locals defeated Kent Oil, 3-2, in Texas Little League play here Wednesday night.

Lupe Lara struck a bases-empty home run for the Locals in the fourth and Ricky Thomas scored what proved to be the winning run after singling a short time after. A stolen base and an error at third base enabled him to get home.

The win was the fourth in ten starts for the Locals. The two teams wound up first round play in the circuit with the game.

Andy Gamboa fashioned the mound win. Felix Martinez, who leads the Locals in practically all departments of hitting, had two singles.

Willie's Catch Saves Decision

By The Associated Press

Imagine' Willie Mays with the "good field, no hit" tag.

Wondrous Willie is suffering through what is undoubtedly the roughest slump of his career at bat. But the San Francisco Giants' brilliant center fielder still shows the old-time sparkle on defense.

After a third straight hitless game Wednesday night that dropped his average to .243, Mays made a clutch contribution with a spectacular catch in the bottom of the ninth inning at Cincinnati. He crashed into the wall in center holding on for a one-handed grab of pinch hitter Ken Walter's long drive that helped preserve the Giants' 5-4 decision over the Reds.

Slugging sensation Ed Bailey rapped a three-run homer and Billy Pierce did a tight bit of relief pitching in the Giants' victory, which boosted their National League lead to 1½ games over the Los Angeles Dodgers.

The Dodgers' game with the Braves at Milwaukee was called because of heavy fog in the top of the seventh inning with the score tied 3-3 and will have to be replayed as part of a doubleheader July 21.

Dallas Track Meet May Attract 200

DALLAS (AP) — Two hundred athletes are expected here for the first Texas Track and Field Federation Meet Saturday.

Texas A&M, Richardson, Abilene Christian, Prairie View, Texas Christian, North Texas State, Baylor and Houston track clubs have sent in lists. These include some of the top collegians.

Outstanding individual entries include Jim Lancaster, Baylor weight star; Al Lawrence and Pat Clohessy, Houston distance runners, and Colin Ridgway, Lamar Tech high jumper, who will get stiff competition from TCU's Jacky Upton of Texas Christian.

James McLatchie of Lamar Tech will be in a field of crack milers headed by Clohessy, who has run the distance in 4:04.1. McLatchie has done 4:07.7. Richard Romo, University of Texas freshman star and another entrant, he has run a 4:08.4.

Earl Young, Abilene Christian College Olympian, will try the quarter-mile. There'll be competition aplenty from Lynn Saunders of Abilene Christian and Brian Davis of Lamar Tech, both with times of 46.9.

Jerry Dyes, Abilene Christian's great javelin thrower, is another in the field, along with three fine 880-yard men from Texas — Loy Gunter, Preston Davis and Charles Frawley. Gunter has run a 1:50.4.

There will be a high school division but some of the schoolboys are choosing to compete in the senior division. Rio Vista's state broad jump champion, Charles Clifton, who leaped 23 feet 11½ inches, is among them.

There will be only three events in a girls' division—the 100, 80-meter hurdles and 440-yard relay. Abilene Track Club, Texas Track Club, Mont Belvieu Track Club and Brown Junior High School of Dallas have entries.

LOOKING 'EM OVER

With TOMMY HART

Some of the disgruntled stockholders in the Ruidoso racing plant in New Mexico have taken director-manager Gene Hensley to court, asking that a receiver be appointed to manage corporate affairs of the track during the current season and, in addition, seeking judgment of $415,800.

The state of politics in New Mexico being what it is, anything could happen in the suit. Hensley has been given a bad time by the state legislature in the past. There are elements in and around Santa Fe which have been jealous of the manner in which Hensley and Ruidoso Downs have prospered.

They took Hensley to court a few years ago and forced him to part with some of his stock in the track. This could very well make additional inroads into his empire.

The suit's petition charges that Hensley "has been guilty of various illegal and fraudulent acts in conducting the corporation's business."

Interpreted, that probably means that the plantiffs in the case probably reason that Hensley has been guilty of plowing too much of the track's income back into the corporation, thereby improving its facilities.

Bradley Mills, head coach at Odessa High School, here for the football game between the Seniors and the 1963 Steers the other night, also sat in on the scrimmage ending the San Angelo spring workouts earlier in the week.

The Bobcats didn't particularly impress him, says Mills, although he knows the potential is there.

Bradley reasons Ronnie Henson will play a lot at quarterback next fall for the Bobcats, even though Pascuel Piedford took over there in the spring and showed to advantage.

The former Big Spring coaching aide, Mitchell Malouf, has his dander up over the state of athletic affairs at his alma mater, Hardin-Simmons University in Abilene.

Now a gentleman farmer near Plainview, Malouf recently wrote a letter to the H-SU chairman of the athletic board protesting the de-emphasis of athletics at the Abilene school.

Without qualification, Malouf said he thought the decision was wrong, adding that he reasoned such a program was instituted when Allard Reiff was brought in as college prexy several years ago.

"What athlete wants to go to a school that cannot make up its mind on whether it wants something or not?" Mitchell asked the board chairman, meaning a solid athletic program.

Malouf says the athletic board at H-SU has made no effort to solicit funds from ex-students, rather, has resorted to a succession of notes crying about the plight of school athletics.

"This situation should have been brought to the attention of the exes years ago," Malouf complained, "before it got so bad. It could not have gotten this way overnight. This is what makes me think it was a planned piece of work—gradually kill it while you completely eliminate the program, no one will care and you will go blameless . . ."

Mitchell is one of the all-time football greats at H-SU — and a man who always believed in the right of free speech.

A lot of H-SU exes are silently grieving over the low estate of H-SU athletics now, see no hope for the future. No coach of repute would touch the job, they say.

Golfers entered in the Odessa Pro-Am Tournament this year are going to have to remap their strategy. So says scribe Spec Gammon.

Course officials installed an automatic sprinkling system on the layout not long ago. The spring rains have brought out the grass all over the course, with the result that it is much more difficult to play.

The old pitch-and-run shot isn't going to work very often, says Spec. The linksters are going to have to get more loft on their drives and play their approach shots more carefully.

Merchants Decision Webb, 7-2, Behind Billy Thomas

The Merchants won their first game in three Big Spring Fast Softball league outings on the city park diamond here Wednesday evening, defeating Webb by a score of 7-2.

G. FITZ

The defeat was the first in three efforts for Webb.

Rain forced postponement of the second game, which would have sent Morton's Foods against E. C. Smith Construction.

Billy Paul Thomas, on the mound for the Merchants, gave up seven hits but kept them well scattered. He fanned ten and issued a solitary walk.

Bob Pekar, the losing flinger, was tagged for ten hits and all the runs he surrendered were earned.

Pekar drove in his team's only two runs with a fourth inning round tripper.

Jimmy Roger, Oakey Hagood and Marion Tredaway of the Merchants all smashed four-masters and Hagood powered home a total of three tallies.

Roger and Ted Gross each banged out two hits for the Merchants, who have been slow to get started this spring.

Gordon Fitz of Webb and Bernard McMahan of the Merchants each accounted for doubles.

Kentucky Will Accept Negroes

LEXINGTON, Ky. (AP) — Kentucky's decision to integrate its athletic teams probably will have little effect on the rigidly segregated Southeastern Conference for at least a year.

The university's Athletics Board announced the decision to integrate athletically Wednesday, but noted that all scholarships in major sports currently are committed.

This means that Kentucky, under SEC rules, could not recruit a Negro for its football program until December, or for its basketball team until next April. It is possible that a Negro now enrolled at the university could participate without a scholarship next season but this is highly unlikely.

The Southeastern Conference has no written rule prohibiting the use of Negroes on athletic teams, but its members, several located in the Deep South, have never recruited Negroes.

How some members of the conference will react to the decision is unknown but Kentucky President Frank G. Dickey indicated previously that his talks about integration with officials of other SEC schools led him to believe it would be accepted by most.

Georgia and Vanderbilt officials said Wednesday the decision would cause no changes in their relationship with Kentucky.

Officials of most schools could not be reached for comment.

Midland Hosts Houston Club

MIDLAND — The Midland Ramblers, a woman's softball team, will oppose the Houston Rebels at Hogan Park here in a doubleheader Saturday night. Admission fee will be 50 cents.

The Ramblers are the only team to win the State ASA tournament three years running. They turned the trick in 1959-60-61. Ten All-State players decorate the roster of the Midland club, some of which have earned the honor as many as five times.

The team entered the TAAF tournament last year and won first place. In addition, five of the girls won all-state awards.

The club also won second place in the Fort Worth invitational tournament in 1962 and picked up four all-tournament awards.

The squad had a team batting average of .289 last year and figures to improve in that department this year.

The Houston Blues visit Midland June 8 for a doubleheader with the Ramblers.

The Midland management has also entered the team in the Fort Worth Invitational June 15, the Oklahoma City Invitational June 22, the State ASA tournament at Lake Jackson July 5, the Houston Invitational July 12 and the Regional ASA meet at San Antonio July 26.

The Ramblers now have an 8-5 won-lost record. The club split with the Fort Worth Royals in Fort Worth last week, losing the first one, 6-1 and winning the second, 9-4.

The gate fees Saturday will go toward the purchase of new uniforms for the Ramblers.

A. C. (Doc) Perry coaches the Midland club.

Club Barbecue Is Soggy Deal

Weather played havoc with the plans for the Kiwanis Club Rodeo barbecue. Omnious clouds which rolled up around 4 p.m. turned to a drizzle which began shortly after 6 p.m., slowing the demand for barbecue plates at the City Park.

Ernest Welch, general chairman for the event, said that a considerable part of the beef was still on hand when time to shut down shop rolled around. He said the meat had been frozen and would be used later on.

Bill Pool, who kept a count on the diners at the park and at the rodeo grounds, where the club served as caterer for the Howard County Rodeo Association's special guests, said the combined total served was around 900. Approximately 525 plates were served at the park and the remainder at the rodeo grounds.

Just how well the club came out financially is uncertain, Welch said. Ticket sales have not been tabulated, and some may still be out.

This is the third year the club has served the rodeo barbecue. Profits are used to further the club's work with underprivileged children.

Two Americans Killed In Asia

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — Two U.S. Special Forces advisers were killed Wednesday in a Communist guerrilla ambush patrol in mountainous Quang Ngai Province, an American military spokesman said today.

The two were with a patrol seven miles out of a Special Forces base at Son Ha, in central Viet Nam, when it was hit by a guerrilla platoon.

(In Washington, one of the two was identified as Capt. James Brodt, 31, Blue Earth, Minn.)

The casualties brought the number of U.S. advisers who have died in Viet Nam's war to 78.

Carter Draws 25-Year Term

A jury of nine men and three women deliberated two and a half hours Wednesday before giving Roosevelt Carter, 27, a 25-year prison term. He had been charged with murder with malice.

Carter, indicted for the murders of Jerry Johnson and Arthur Roland Williams, two young Big Spring Negores, had pleaded guilty in 118th District Court Wednesday, to the first charge.

As in all capital crimes, it was necessary to pick a jury to hear the evidence and fix the punishment.

Gil Jones, district attorney, asked the jury to fix the punishment at 35 years.

The shooting climaxed a Jan. 15 disagreement between Carter, Johnson, Williams and a fourth Negro, according to testimony. The quartet engaged in a quarrel in a beer tavern. Later Carter went to his employer's home, where he borrowed a rifle, telling the owner he planned to go hunting the following day.

He returned to the tavern and when the trouble flared again the shooting occurred just outside the building.

Carter took the stand as his own witness in the hearing. He told of the shooting, his story being almost identical with the written statement he had given officers at the time of his arrest.

He waived his right to 10 days grace and asked to be sentenced at once, which Judge Caton did. The sheriff will take Carter to the penitentiary soon.

The second indictment against Carter — that of killing Williams—still hangs over his head. Jones had indicated he may dismiss the indictment now that Carter has been convicted and sentenced for one of the two slayings.

Homage Paid To Submariners

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (AP) — This old Navy port pays homage today to 129 men lost seven weeks ago aboard the nuclear submarine Thresher and to 26 who died in 1939 in the Squalus.

Both undersea craft went out of this shipbuilding yard to their doom.

A wreath of flowers cast by school children on the outgoing tide will symbolize the remembrances of widows, children and friends left behind.

The simple memorial day service at the naval shipyard has become traditional in the 24 years since the Squalus went down.

Old Indictments Against U.S. Red Leaders Dropped

NEW YORK (AP) — Fifteen-year-old federal indictments against eight convicted top Communist leaders have been scrapped.

The eight already have been punished for plotting against the government.

U.S. District Court Judge Edmund L. Palmieri granted the Justice Department permission to drop the indictments Wednesday.

The indictments were dropped on the grounds that it is too late now to conduct a successful prosecution and that the defendants have served time in prison after conviction on other indictments.

The scrapped indictments, under the Smith Act, charged membership in a party teaching and advocating violent overthrow of the government.

The eight Communist leaders were convicted with three other first-string party eladers and were sentenced to prison in 1949 for conspiring to teach and advocate overthrow of the government by violence.

The indictments dismissed Wednesday were returned at the same time as the conspiracy indictments, but never were tried.

As the eight men completed their prison terms they were rearrested on the second charge, and released in 5,000 bail each.

The eight released from indictments are Gus Hall, Benjamin J. Davis Jr., Henry Winston, Robert G. Thompson, Jacob Stachel, John Gates, Gilbert Green and Carl Winter.

Hall, 52, is the top ranking officer of the party as national secretary.

Gates quit the party in 1958. Winston, once the party's organizational secretary, went blind in prison and now spends much of his time abroad.

The eight were convicted of conspiracy along with Irving Potash, John Williamson and the late Eugene Dennis. A twelfth defendant, the late William Z. Foster, had been granted a separate trial because of a heart ailment, but never was tried.

Storm Front Still Moving

By The Associated Press

Thunderstorms moved across parts of Texas Thursday as a storm replete with tornadoes and floods Wednesday night continued to sweep through northern portions of the state.

The Weather Bureau alerted Fort Worth to possible flash flooding in low places as the thunderstorm line moved in.

The storm line was headed toward Northeast Texas.

Some of the heaviest rains poured down on Abilene and Haskell.

At least one person suffered injuries in the Lubbock sector and a large oil field tank, hit by lightning, exploded and burned near Andrews.

TORNADO FUNNELS

Tornado funnels bounced through rural districts or spun menacing overhead at half a dozen or more points.

The Haskell downpour, measured at 6 inches at the city hall and an official 4.65 inches in the northern edge of town, caused Rice Springs Branch to flood.

About 30 Haskell homes and businesses suffered water damage. Horace Woodard, owner of a tractor and implement company, waded waist-deep to capture canned oil and grease floating out of his business place.

At one time Rice Springs Branch was 75 feet wide as it swept through town. The ravine normally is dry.

Sheriff Garth Garrett evacuated Mr. and Mrs. Neal Hudspeth from their home on the edge of the draw. Mr. Hudspeth is bedridden. The sheriff also used a winch truck to save the Hudspeth car before the flood waters carried it away.

FLOOD RECEDED

The sheriff at one point prepared to evacuate the Haskell county jail, but the flood began receding after rising to within a few feet of the structure.

Haskell power plant transformers were hit four times by lightning. Ben Roberts, city water works supervisor, reported.

Cotton in the Haskell area may have to be re-planted. Wheat is about 75 per cent harvested.

As much as 5 inches of rain fell in Abilene, most of it within an hour. Similar heavy rains occurred in the Abilene vicinity.

Police kept cautious watch on one tornado which struck in open country miles south of Burkburnett near Wichita Falls at about 1:45 a.m. Thursday, writhed on the ground for one-half mile and pulled back into the clouds. It churned up grass and debris in a path 100 yards wide.

One or more tornadoes hit in a South Plains triangle formed by Lubbock, Brownfield and Levelland. Injuries suffered as a twister wrecked a farm home sent a small girl to the Brownfield hospital.

HOME WRECKED

Officers reported a tornado destroyed the home and barn of Robert Baumgardner, 3 miles south of Needmore, and several other homes were crushed about eight miles north of Brownfield.

Broken power lines and high water blocked the Levelland - Brownfield highway for a time. Power failed in Sundown for two hours.

Mrs. H. B. Wright, who lives near Levelland, said a garage was plucked from its foundation and smashed in a field.

Police reported a funnel cloud whirled overhead close to Ropesville near Lubbock about dusk. Hail the size of golf balls pelted Ropesville.

At Lubbock, winds overturned a trailer home, sent a gas station canopy sailing into an auto supply store, snapped power lines and shattered plate glass windows. Rain accompanied the blow.

Lightning set fire to a storage tank on a Pan American Oil storage tank on a Pan American Oil Corp. lease 25 miles southeast of Andrews. It blew up, spreading the flames to several other tanks.

PILOT'S REPORT

Another report of a tornado staying aloft came from a pilot who told state police he spotted the funnel 8 miles north of Amarillo slightly before 9 p.m. A lumber yard roof caved in and numerous power lines went down as strong winds buffeted Amarillo.

The Weather Bureau placed half a dozen counties in North and Central Texas under a severe thunderstorm alert that expired at 6 a.m.

Young, Jack, Stephens, Palo Pinto, Wise and Cooke counties were warned of heavy rain, possible hail and damaging winds in a line of heavy thunderstorms moving southeastward along a line from 20 miles north of Abilene to 20 miles east of Wichita Falls.

Opening lead: King of ◇

The hand presented today produced a variety of interesting results when it came up during the Open Pairs of the National Championship tournament held recently in St. Louis. The North-South pair, whose bidding sequence is presented above, achieved a tie for the best score on the deal.

South's opening one spade bid, West's double, and North's redouble were fairly standard procedure. So, for that matter, was East's rescue to two diamonds. If he passed the redouble partner was apt to run to another suit himself and, furthermore, there is no assurance that the one spade bid can be defeated. In fact at one table, one spade doubled became the final contract when North passed instead of redoubling and East elected to play for a penalty. Warned of the bad trump break, declarer handled the hand with great skill and succeeded in fulfilling his bid with an extra trick.

To return to the table in question, East's bid of two diamonds was permitted to revert to North who doubled for penalties. South's hand possessed little defensive merit and he ran to two hearts. North was unwilling as yet to consign the deal to a part score, so he made a try for game by bidding two no trump. South's three club call at this point is well chosen, for it provides an accurate description of his distribution. With the diamond void clearly pinpointed by South's sequence of calls, North's hand acquired added lustre and his raise to five clubs was fully warranted.

West opened the king of diamonds which declarer ruffed. From the bidding it did not appear that any suit would break well, so South decided to establish a spade trick before playing trumps. A spade was led to the ace in dummy and a small one returned. East put up the king of spades and West discarded a heart. A diamond came back and declarer ruffed.

The king of clubs was led but West held off. South was obliged to abandon trumps temporarily for he was down to the lone queen, and another club lead would put West in to cash the setting trick in diamonds. Declarer led the queen of spades instead, West discarded another heart, and dummy threw a diamond. Declarer switched to hearts now, and on the third round of the suit he was able to get rid of North's last diamond as West helplessly followed suit and East took a discard.

It was now safe to lead the queen of trumps. West was in with the ace of clubs, but North was able to ruff West's return, draw the remaining trump, and claim the balance.

Dry Weather In Most Areas

By The Associated Press

Wet weather dampened Memorial Day activities in scattered sections in the West and the eastern quarter of the nation today but dry weather was reported in most other areas.

The Weather Bureau said fair weather was indicated for most of the Midwest, the Middle Atlantic Coast states, the southern Plateau region and most of the Pacific Coast except the extreme north.

Showers were forecast in the Plains, the Rockies, the north and central Plateau region, parts of the Ohio Valley and along the Gulf Coast. Showers also were in prospect in scattered sections along the coast of the Carolinas, in Florida and in the Lower Great Lakes region.

Fairly heavy rain fell during the night in New England, with a shower belt extending along the Atlantic Coast from Maine to Florida. Showers also sprinkled areas in the Lower Great Lakes the central and southern Plains and in the Pacific Northwest.

Tornadoes struck the Lubbock area of West Texas Wednesday, destroying farm buildings and toppling power lines. One person was injured.

Warmer weather advanced into the northern Plains, the Middle Mississippi Valley, Great Lakes region and in the central and southern Pacific Coast area.

Rings Believed From Thresher

PORTSMOUTH, N.H. (AP) — The man in charge of the search for the sunken submarine Thresher said Wednesday there is every indication the small metal rings found on the ocean floor came from the lost ship.

Capt. Frank A. Andrews told a newsman at Woods Hole, Mass.: "Of course we can't be sure the gaskets—known as o-rings—came from the Thresher."

But he added: "It looks more and more like Thresher."

A research vessel pulled up 15 small boxes of the rings while working drag lines near the last known position of Thresher when she sank April 10 with the loss of 129 men.

The search is concentrated in a 700 by 200 yards area of the Atlantic about 200 miles off Boston.

The gaskets have been sent to Portsmouth Naval Shipyard to determine if they were of the type used on the Thresher.

Special Service

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The American colony observed Memorial Day with a special service at the U.S. National Cemetery. U.S. Ambassador Thomas Mann was principal speaker.

Cast List For 'Harvey' Headed By Unseen Bunny

When the Little Theatre's presentation of the Broadway comedy, "Harvey," opens at the city auditorium June 7-8, Art Clonts will be seen in the leading role of Elwood P. Dowd, the mild sweet inebriate who took up with a large rabbit six feet one and a half inches tall, and named him Harvey—because that was Harvey's name.

Jean Clonts will be playing Elwood's sister, Veta Louise, who is baffled by her brother's insistence that his closest friend is an over-sized rabbit, and Jo Ann Arnold will be seen as his equally distressed niece, Myrtle Mae. It is Veta Louise's decision to have Elwood committed to a high class sanitarium so that she and Myrtle Mae might have a normal social life, uncomplicated by an illusory rabbit's presence, that sparks the chain of uproarious situations in the comedy.

One of the hilarious scenes in "Harvey" comes when the doctors at the sanitarium decide that it's Veta Louise who needs committing, partly because she had begun to see Harvey, too. Elwood, on the other hand, seems merely pleasant and reasonable—even though he does carry around a man's hat with two holes punched in the top for Harvey's ears.

Others in the cast include Donna Lee, Pamela Hayward, John Arnold, Phil Rankin, Richard McClurg, Harlan Sandidge, and Randy Ryan. Director is Bob Aldridge.

Cub Outing On Saturday

Cub Scout olympics have been set for 2 p.m. Saturday at the Scout Roundup grounds southeast of the City Park.

There will be six contests by age groups, said W. D. Broughton. There will be awards in each event in each age division. The contests are divided between those of speed, endurance weight, etc.

After the contests, there will be a family picnic, by packs, and each family is asked to bring a basket dinner.

Officer Killed

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Lt. Clark Knowlden, 30, at Keesler AFB in Biloxi, Miss., was killed in a two-car crash Wednesday night. Witnesses told police Knowlden's car ran a stop sign and collided with one carrying two teen-agers. Occupants of the other car escaped serious injury.

Three Leave Police Posts

Three Big Spring police patrolmen are leaving the department, Chief Jay Banks said this week. One has left and the other two resignations are effective June 5.

Jackie E. Jennings, who has been a patrolman since Jan. 7, is leaving to continue his college education. He lacks one year of completing a degree in petroleum engineering at Texas Tech. Jennings was with the Lubbock police department for five years before coming to Big Spring. He was with the U. S. Marine Corps for eight years and was discharged as a corporal. He is a native of Aiken. He is married and the Jennings have a daughter, Mickie Sue.

Weldon Myrick, a native of Jayton, has been with the department since April 1, 1960, and now plans to take up his musical profession. He attended the Baptist Bible College, Springfield, Mo., for one semester, taking a theological course. Mywick worked with orchestras in Big Spring. The Myricks have a daughter, Terry Diane.

Tiny Ellison, who has been with the police department since July 8, 1959, is a former football player on Big Spring Steer teams.

He is a native of Crosbyton. The Ellisons have two sons and two daughters: Donald James, William James, Diana Lynn, and Carolyn Sue.

"It is always with regret that we lose men from the force," Chief Banks said, "but when they try to better themselves we hope we can lend encouragment at all times."

Good Condition

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Hank Brown, state president of the AFL-CIO, was reported in good condition today after a minor operation.

Dr. Young Joins Staff Of TCU

Dr. Paul C. Young, head of the psychology department at the Big Spring State Hospital since June 15, 1960, leaves today for a new assignment. He will join the testing and guidance center at Texas Christian University.

In his new position he will be psychological counselor for students and will teach a class in abnormal psychology. Dr. Young will work with Laurence Smith, vice counselor for student life.

Academic circles will be nothing new for Dr. Young. Before joining the staff here, he was a member of the faculty at Louisiana State University for 31 years, serving as chairman of the psychology department for more than a decade.

"I feel that I have learned much about clinical counseling as a member of the staff here. You might say I was serving an internship for the work I will be doing at TCU," Dr. Young said.

DR. RICH SUCCEEDS

Dr. Young will leave officially June 6. His position will be filled by Charles Rich, who gets his doctorate from Texas Tech Monday. Rich has worked at the hospital previously and has been with the staff in another position the past month.

"We knew Dr. Young would be leaving, but we certainly hate to see him go," Dr. Preston E. Harrison, superintendent, said.

Dr. Young had a busy schedule. He sometimes spoke as many as 20 times a month in an effort to stimulate interest in mental health. This was in addition to his regular work.

"There has been a tremendous upsurge in the interest toward mental health," he said. "Mostly it is due to better education about mental health, guidance and testing in schools and especially the good treatment available to patients during the past few years."

THERAPY

While he was at the hospital increased emphasis was placed on treating patients with a friendly approach. Although the approach was in effect at the time of his arrival, since he came here this has become even more firmly established.

Group therapy was another program which grew under his hand.

The volunteer program received numerous boosts through Dr. Young's strenuous speaking schedule. He was assisted in this effort by Chaplain Max Maguire and Mrs. Hila Weathers, volunteer coordinator.

All was not happiness while Dr. Young was here, however. On Sept. 29, 1962 Mrs. Young died while in Baton Rouge, La., where she and Dr. Young had gone shortly before her death. Baton Rouge was for many years their home.

NATIVE TEXAN

Dr. Young was born Oct. 29, 1892 at Whitewright. He graduated from North Texas State College in 1913 and received his doctorate from Harvard in 1923. He has contributed numerous articles to scientific and popular publications.

Professional affiliations include the American Orthopsychiatric Association, the Texas Psychological Association, of which he was once president, and the American Association of University Professors.

World Feeling

GENEVA (AP) — Judges, lawyers and law professors from 90 nations have appealed to American lawyers to back President Kennedy in efforts to "right the deep wrongs" inflicted on Negroes.

The International Commission of Jurists, an independent body, issued the plea Tuesday and praised the President, the Supreme Court and Americans in public and private positions for "working to remove these blots (segregation) upon their land."

Z. DALTON GILL

Gill To Attend Math Clinic

Z. Dalton Gill, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Gill, Vealmoor, has been chosen as one of 50 teachers to attend the 1963 Summer Institute for junior and senior high school teachers of mathematics.

The institute will be held at Oklahoma State University. He and the other 49 were selected from 476 applicants from 42 states, Puerto Rico and Saudi Arabia.

Gill was born July 2, 1939 at Vealmoor. He was graduated from Ackerly High School in 1957, received an AA degree from Howard County Junior College, attended Abilene Christian College, Hardin-Simmons University, and North Texas State University, and received his BS degree from Sul Ross State College in August 1962.

The institute, sponsored by the National Science Foundation, is offered to help up-date high school mathematics teachers with newer mathematical concepts and programs. A series of lectures, group and individual studies of teaching problems of secondary schools, and modern approach studies, will be given to the participants.

Gill is married to the former Geraldine Caughey of Knott, and has taught mathematics at Old Glory for four years.

Takes Job 6,000 Miles Away But Doesn't Even Leave Home

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—When the U.S. Weather Bureau transferred Jack Wheeler 6,000 miles to a new job he didn't even leave home.

He merely made sure his wife, three youngsters and the cat were aboard, cast off the mooring lines of his 48-foot ketch and headed from the Pacific island of Truk to San Francisco.

Wednesday, two months later, the Wheelers arrived—with a boatful of dirty clothes, a flag with two dancing gooney birds and nothing very exciting to tell.

"I'm going to find a laundromat," said Mrs. Wheeler.

"If there was a used-car salesman here this minute, he'd have a sale," said Wheeler, 43.

Steve, 3, sucked his thumb.

The Wheelers spent about two-thirds of their voyage aboard the Poseidon—named for the mythological Greek king of the sea. They stopped at Kwajalein and Midway en route from Truk, in the Carolinas Islands.

"There were not enough exotic ports," Mrs. Wheeler noted. And the voyage "wasn't very pleasant."

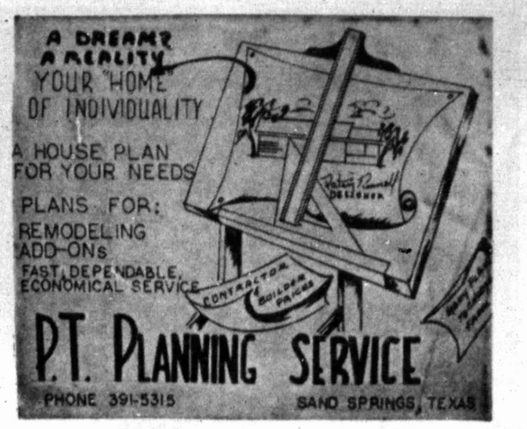

The Wheelers, including Linda, 5, and Sharon, 7, spent most of their time below decks. The Poseidon found no suitable winds until the last two days of the trip, so Wheeler had let the automatic pilot and engine do the work.

The gooney bird flag and a pair of Navy pants for Wheeler came aboard at Midway. Navy wives made the red and black flag and Capt. George Davis donated the trousers when Wheeler said he couldn't find a pair that fit.

The 4-year-old ketch has been the Wheeler home intermittently, including the 18 months they were at Truk. Now Wheeler will be working across San Francisco Bay at Alameda.

So where does his wife want to live?

"On the boat—tied up to a nice firm dock."

Commencement Time

Cindy McAlister shows her mother, Mrs. G. A. McAlister Jr., the work which enabled her to graduate recently from the St. Mary's Episcopal Church kindergarten. Cindy, who has a street named in her honor, is looking forward to being one of the first students in the new elementary school now under construction in Kentwood.

Much Revolves Around The McAlister Kitchen

By JO BRIGHT

Just as the custom-made lazy-susan revolves on the big round table in the G. A. McAlister Jr. kitchen, so do many of the family's activities revolve around this work center.

The Formica-topped table, obtained through a supply house, seats eight people comfortably for dining or table games. It has served as a study or work area when papers need to be spread out, and can be used as a place to cut patterns when Mrs. McAlister sews. By planning the spacious kitchen to accommodate the sewing machine, she saves steps, time on garment construction, and perhaps a dinner from being burned.

A local shop made the matching lazy-susan which is large enough to hold the main course platter, side dishes and condiments.

The McAlister home, at 2403 Cindy Lane, was planned with spaciousness the prime requirement. "We decided to get room to really live in first, feeling that we could add the niceties later on," said Mrs. McAlister.

IMPROVEMENTS

A great many of those "niceties" have already been added. McAlister did his own contracting and much of the actual labor when the home was built. Additions and improvements to the home and five acres of land surrounding it have continued ever since. Actually, the lawn covers only one acre of land which is rimmed with over 100 cypress trees. Four pecan trees are already bearing, and perhaps by next year there will be fruit to gather from the apple, peach, plum and apricot trees that dot the grounds. Overlooking them all is the second floor balcony where geranium plants and a pink wrought iron railing add color to the area meant for relaxing.

Besides Mr. and Mrs. McAlister, the family consists of Mike, 16, Kyle, 12, Clint, 9, and Cindy, 6. Mike has just finished a stint in the quick guard position during spring football training. Both Kyle and Clint are playing baseball on Little League teams and Cindy has just participated in a dance recital at the YMCA.

BARBECUE SPECIAL

Primarily beef-eaters, the McAlisters like to barbecue. They have been using an outside unit for some time which will be placed in a brick pit this summer. The men of the family like to hunt so there is usually venison in the freezer for steaks or sausage.

McAlister was a member of the Howard County Junior College faculty for 14 years before entering the business field. He is now president of Math-Master Labs and Gamco, Inc. Mrs. McAlister is a member of the Big Spring Garden Club and First Methodist Church WSCS. When not too involved with home projects, they play bridge or bowl occasionally.

FROM GEORGIA

This recipe from Atlanta, Ga., is from a woman who was once a cook for Bobby Jones, the golfer.

SOUTHERN CHICKEN

1 chicken, broiler size
¼ lb. butter
1 small can mushrooms
½ tsp. Worcestershire sauce
1 tsp. cooking sherry
Salt and pepper to taste

Cut broiler in half. Put wet in hot pan on fire and braize. Put chicken in pan with cover. Melt butter in pan used to braise chicken. Let butter brown slightly and add water in sufficient amount to half or 3-4 cover chicken. Bake in covered pan in hot oven about 425 degrees. As chicken starts to cook cut heat to 325 degrees and cook until tender. Thicken sauce with flour for gravy. Serve with wild rice or baked potato.

SALAD DRESSING

½ cup tomato catchup
1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
1 clove garlic
1 medium sized onion

PIE CRUST

3 cups flour
1¼ cups shortening
1 tsp. salt
1 egg, beaten
4 tbsps. water
1 tbsp. apple vinegar

Mix flour, shortening and salt as usual then add egg, water and vinegar. Roll out to fit pan. Bake at 425 degrees.

CHOCOLATE PIE

3 egg yolks

RHUBARB TARTS

'Pie-Plant' Stalks Are Sure Sign Of Spring

Be sure to include tangy fresh rhubarb on your marketing list these days. From May through July, pink satiny stalks of "pie-plant" are at their peak of goodness.

For a fresh tasting dessert or teatime treat, make up a batch of these delicately pink, tantalizingly sweet Rhubarb-Lemon Tarts. Calorie - trimmed for the scale-scanning set, these delectable tarts have been sweetened the modern "no-calorie" way, with a sugar substitute. Are You Tired Of Using Mixes? Make This Like Mother Did

A joy to serve—a delight to eat—is this dark and delicious chocolate cake. Rich in chocolate flavor and fine of texture, it will remain fresh and moist because it is made with soft cake flour milled especially for the feather-like quality you expect in a home-made cake.

RICH CHOCOLATE CAKE

4 sqs. unsweetened chocolate
½ cup hot water
½ cup sugar
2 cups sifted cake flour
1 tsp. soda
1 tsp. salt
½ cup butter, margarine or vegetable shortening
1¼ cups sugar
3 eggs, unbeaten
Milk (x)
1 tsp. vanilla
Chocolate Butter Frosting

(x)-With butter or margarine, use 2-3 cup milk. With vegetable shortening use ¾ cup milk.

Place chocolate and water in top of double boiler. Cook and stir over hot water until chocolate is melted and mixture thickens. Add ½ cup sugar; cook and stir 2 minutes longer. Cool to lukewarm.

Measure sifted flour, add soda and salt, and sift together three times. Cream shortening. Gradually add 1¼ cups sugar, and cream together until light and fluffy. Add eggs, one at a time, beating thoroughly after each. Then alternately add flour and milk, beating after each addition until smooth.

DARK AND DELICIOUS

Add vanilla and chocolate mixture; blend.

Pour batter into two round 9-inch layer pans which have been lined on bottoms with paper. Bake in moderate oven (350 degrees F.) 35 to 40 minutes, or until cake springs back when touched slightly. Cool. Spread frosting between layers and over top and sides of cake, swirling frosting attractively.

CHOCOLATE BUTTER ICING

Cream ½ cup butter; add 2¼ cups sifted confectioners' sugar gradually, blending after each addition. Add 1 teaspoon vanilla; ¼ tsp. salt, and 3½ squares melted unsweetened chocolate. Mix well. Add 2¾ cups sifted confectioners' sugar, alternately with about 7 tablespoons milk, beating after each addition until smooth. Then beat vigorously until mixture is creamy.

Bologna Makes Vegetable Cups

If you leave the casing on bologna slices, they'll curl when you heat them in a skillet in a little butter. You can fill the bologna cups any way you like — with a little thick cheese sauce, scrambled eggs or creamed vegetables. The cups won't hold very much so you can sometimes use up odds and ends of food this way and have an attractive dish.

Good Buys This Week

By The Associated Press

Supplies of soft fruits, many vegetables and melons increased at Texas food markets this week the Agricultural Marketing Service reports.

Local plums are in good supply. Peaches arrived regularly. Blackberries, cherries, mangoes and papayas are readily available at many markets. Strawberries were in modest volume. Bananas are ample. Cantaloupes and watermelons sell for less at many points.

Fresh vegetables in heavy supply at attractive prices include cabbage, carrots, celery, beets, sweet corn, cucumbers, lettuce, okra, onions, blackeye and purple-hull peas, potatoes, radishes and squash. Tomatoes are liberal at lower prices.

Lower wholesale price tags are attached to corn, cucumbers, lettuce, okra, field peas and limes. Priced higher than last week are small avocados, green beans and onions.

Sugar prices remain high but the U.S. Department of Agriculture foresees no acute shortage. Ample supplies are either in hand or in sight. Excessive buying and hoarding are unwarranted, USDA says.

Beef and chickens are plentiful at modest prices. Pork is some higher than last week but still reasonable. Production of eggs and all dairy foods is running seasonally high.

Questions On Beauty Answered By Actress

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD — Editor's Note: Lydia Lane invites your letter but regrets that a personal answer cannot be given. From time to time, she will answer beauty problems in her column. If you would like your question and answer to appear in this space, write to Lydia Lane, Questions & Answers, P.O. Box 1111, Los Angeles 53, Calif.

Q—I have a problem that is very disturbing. I have had to do some very heavy work around the ranch and my hands are disgusting. I have absolutely no extra cash to spend on cosmetics, so I hope you can help me get my hands back into condition.

A—Sophia Loren, who made a picture in Greece, reported that one of the cooks on location used to rub left-over mashed potatoes on her hands. She said, "It has a surprising quality of softening and cleansing. It is a famous beauty secret to place raw slices of potatoes on your face to clear and soften the skin. And before doing a job that will stain your nails, dig them into a cake of soap to pack them underneath so they can't be filled with anything undesirable."

Q—I need help desperately—at least I feel desperate. I am almost 18 years old, and it seems that overnight my pores are clogged with blackheads. I hate to look in a mirror. What can I do?

A — Gigi Perreau was a little girl when she started her career, and so she has had to use much stage make-up. She attributes her beautiful skin to her cleansing routine. "I wash my face with a soapy lather three times a day. Once a week I put a gallon of steaming water in a washbowl and hold my face over it to open the pores. Then I make a good lather with soap and massage my pores, paying special attention to the area around my hairline, nose and mouth. Then I rinse until my face is squeaky clean. I always finish with cold water to close my pores. Then I put the yolk of an egg all over my face and let it dry. After that I rinse with tepid water and pat my face dry with a clean towel."

Cancer Death Estimate High

An estimated 25,000 women will die this year in the U. S. of breast cancer and 64,000 new cases will occur.

Now, though, there is hope that new diagnostic techniques can lower this mortality rate.

The technique that is in growing use is mammography, the use of X-ray films to discover and diagnose lumps and tumors in the breast.

IN MEMORY

Tribute Paid Past And Present Day Heroines

EDITOR'S NOTE—Memorial Day, like war, generally concerns men who have died for their country. But women, too, have given the supreme sacrifice.

WASHINGTON (AP)—War, they always used to say, is man's business.

But as far back as the Revolutionary War, when Molly Pitcher in a petticoat, gunner's jacket and battered cocked hat—grabbed a gun, women have been leaving their kitchens to help fight their country's enemies.

American women, too, have given their lives in service to their country.

During World War II, for instance, in 1944 on the beachhead at Anzio, Italy, two Army nurses had just finished giving blood plasma to a soldier when a shell hit. They were killed at the patient's side. In their honor, the Army named a hospital ship after one of them, Lt. Blanche F. Sigman of East Akron, Ohio.

In honor of these and all American women whose lives were sacrificed in war service, a bell tower will be dedicated "in grateful tribute" today, Memorial Day, at Rindge, N.H.

President Kennedy sent his official wreath to be placed on the altar at the groundbreaking services.

The 65-foot tower will be a part of the Cathedral of the Pines, an outdoor nonsectarian place of worship founded by Douglas Sloane, a retired Rindge businessman.

Statistics at the Department of Defense show that 1,088 women died while in uniformed service to their country during the first and second World Wars and the Korean conflict.

The American Red Cross lists 300 women workers dead in the two world wars.

ARMY NURSE

Officially, American women did not join their brothers in uniform until 1901, when the Army NSE Nurse Corps was authorized in 1908.

Then, during World War II, more women put on the uniform of their country to man the switchboards in North Africa, pound typewriters on Guadalcanal and sail the seas as radio operators.

These were the new Molly Pitchers, the skirted soldiers of the Women's Army Corps, the Waves of the Navy, Spars of the Coast Guard and the women Marines.

THE SISTERHOOD

Later, in 1948, the Women's Air Force was formed.

During the second World War, about 350,000 women saw active military duty, with 65,000 serving overseas. They accounted for about 3 per cent of the 12 million in active service. And 586 women gave their lives to their country.

Of these, 257 were nurses who waded ashore at Normandy after the troops; they ate horse steaks on Bataan and were bombed for days on end at Corregidor. They crashed with airplanes that were evacuating wounded.

An Army hospital in Chicago was named for Capt. Ruth M. Gardiner of the Army Nurse Corps, who was killed in an Alaskan plane crash in July 1943, on a mission to evacuate patients. The largest hospital ship afloat was named for Lt. Aleda E. Lutz, Army Nurse Corps, killed while flying the last of more than 150 missions from forward areas.

THE WACS

The WACS suffered 225 deaths in World War II. 12 of whom died of wounds recorded as battle casualties. There were limitations against their service on the battlefield.

The first WAC to receive any decoration was Pvt. Margaret H. Maloney of Rochester, N.Y., given the Soldiers Medal for outstanding heroism and self-sacrifice on Sept. 11, 1943, in North Africa. She saw a soldier fall into a flaming pool of gasoline, rushed in, dragged him out and smothered his burning clothing with her body. She received severe burns.

In World War I, 236 Army nurses and 36 Navy nurses died. Many of these were casualties of the 1918 influenza and pneumonia edpidemic.

A special plot is set aside in Arlington National Cemetery for Army nurses, who are buried with full military honors. More than 150 lie there, 45 of them from the Spanish-American War.

THE SISTERHOOD

Nurses served, too, in the Civil War under contract. After the siege of Vicksburg, Miss., the Union Navy outfitted a confiscated Confederate steamer, Red Rover, as a floating hospital. Nuns of the nursing sisterhood went aboard to care for the patients.

The Union had its Dr. Mary Walker, a New York surgeon who worked in field hospitals under contract. She wore pants, vest, frock coat and a tall silk hat.

Dr. Walker was given the Medal of Honor for her tireless service. But this was rescinded, along with many others, in the congressional review and re-statement of standards for the medal in 1916.

The Confederacy had its Sally Tompkins, matron of a hospital in Richmond who was given a captain's commission for her services. There also was Lucy Mina Norvell Otey, who founded the Ladies' Relief Hospital in Lynchburg, Va., and also was given a captain's commission.

EARLY HEROINES

Many are the stories and the legends about women who dressed as men and went out to fight in the Revolutionary and Civil wars.

Deborah Sampson Grant (or Gannett, one version says) is supposed to have fought and died in the Revolutionary War. Her husband, it is said, received a widow's pension after her death on the battlefield.

Molly Pitcher, who lived beyond the Revoluntionary was really Mary Ludwig, who, like many other wives of that day, joined her husband in camp, cooked and washed. She carried pitchers of water to the men on the firing line and thus got her name.

At the battle of Monmouth, in 1778, one version goes, when her husband fell from a heat stroke, she took his place at his gun and "thundered death and defiance at her country's enemies."

Motleys Return From Monahans

KNOTT (SC)—Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Motley have returned from Monahans where they attended graduation exercises for their grandson.

Mrs. W. J. Hogue is receiving medical treatment in a Big Spring hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Harrell were called to Abilene because of the illness of his father.

Philip Stovall of Big Spring, who will serve as president of the Ex-Student Association this year, has announced homecoming for June 30. Mrs. Calvin Hughes is treasurer of the organization. Guest speaker for the homecoming will be N. Y. Burnett of Windom.

Farewell Party Given For The Aragon Family

Mr. and Mrs. Davis G. Aragon and family were honored Wednesday evening when a party was given for them by friends.

M. Sgt. and Mrs. Ruby Hernandez, S. Sgt. and Mrs. Paul Della Rocco, Mr. and Mrs. Pedro Vasquez and Mr. and Mrs. Orange Bolson surprised the Aragons on the eve of their departure to El Centro, Calif.

Aragon, employed with the Foreign Labor Division of the U. S. Department of Labor, has been transferred to California after a two-year assignment in Big Spring.

Beef Economical Dish This Holiday Weekend

By The Associated Press

Beef is hard to beat for economical eating this holiday weekend. In some markets, prices are lower than they have been for any May in years.

The flow of fed cattle to market accounts for most of the lower price level.

One national chain offers sirloin steaks at 79 cents a pound and rib steaks at 69 cents in its New York area outlets this weekend. Rib roasts are another widespread feature. Many grocers are featuring hamburger as a holiday weekend item.

Pork prices have moved up a bit after several weeks at low levels. Canned hams, ideal for picnic eating, are offered at bargain prices at many shops. Short-ribs for holiday barbecues are another standout. Smoked picnics and bacon are also featured.

Many supermarkets are running specials on franks, with one chain tagging them at 49 cents a pound.

Poultry fare continues economical.

Southeastern shops feature baking hens. Broiler fryers are almost a universal feature, with Midwest stores especially pushing them.

Corn on the cob and watermelon, two seasonal favorites, currently lead their departments at many grocers.

Joining watermelon at fruit counters are pineapple, strawberries and in the Southwest, such delights as blackberries, plums and cherries.

Prices of raw sugar have declined and there were some downturns in wholesale prices. This could mean sugar prices in stores will come down off the peaks they recently attained.

Pretty Cake Frosted Pink

Want a pink frosting for a small-fry party cake? Add enough maraschino cherry juice to confectioners sugar to make spreading consistency. Add a garnish of the cherries (well dried so they won't "run") and be sure there's a whole cherry for every young one present!

Add Poppy Seed

Ever add poppy seed to buttered egg noodles? A delicious combination to serve with chicken paprika or beef goulash.

Fruit Flavors Blended In A Tropical Punch

Punctuate party refreshments with a deliciously different fruit punch. Inspired by the rhythm of Caribbean music, Calypso Punch is a perfect blending of compatible fruit flavors created with tangerine instant soft drink mix and pineapple juice. Crushed pineapple and fruit slices add extra eye and flavor appeal.

CALYPSO PUNCH

1 envelope Tangerine Kool-Aid
¾ cup sugar
2 cups pineapple juice
6 cups water with ice cubes
1 cup (8½-oz. can) crushed pineapple, drained
Fruit slices
Mint leaves

Dissolve tangerine instant soft drink mix and sugar in pineapple juice and water. Add crushed pineapple. Serve in a punch bowl. Garnish with fruit slices, mint leaves, and crushed ice, if desired. Makes about 17 servings.

BUTTERY CHOCOLATE

Cookies For Coffee Time

Just because it's spring, and because we happen to love home-made sweets, we decided to bake a batch of butter cookies. No sooner were they out of the oven and properly decorated than we called in a few neighbors, fixed a large potful of coffee and had ourselves a kaffeklatch.

The informal, spur-of-the-moment-visiting time of year is with us again. Since these Chocolate Butter Cookies are the company kind, they're likely candidates to keep on hand to serve with coffee. The designs on top, swirled on with pink and yellow frosting, look as pretty as spring roses against the dark cookies.

As far the coffee, it's naturally fresh and fragrant to match the season. And let there be plenty of it—enough for hours of relaxing coffee talk.

CHOCOLATE BUTTER COOKIES

¾ cup sifted all-purpose flour
¼ cup breakfast cocoa (not a mix)
½ cup cornstarch
½ cup confectioners sugar
1 cup butter or margarine

Mix and sift flour, cocoa, cornstarch and sugar. Cream butter to consistency of mayonnaise. Add flour mixture a little at a time, blending well after each addition. Divide into 4 portions. Wrap each in foil. Chill thoroughly. Work with one portion at a time, keeping others in refrigerator. Shape quickly into 1-inch balls or force through pastry tube in desired shapes. Flatten balls by pressing with floured tines of fork in both directions. Bake at 300 degrees for about 20 minutes, or until done. Cool on racks. Decorate with tinted frosting. Makes about 2 dozen small cookies.

Frosted Favor Of Chocolate

Melted semi - sweet chocolate may be mixed with undiluted evaporated milk or cultured sour cream and used as a frosting for cakes.

When you are adding grated semi - sweet chocolate to a cake batter or cookie dough, grate it coarsely so it will stay in tiny flecks.

Terminology Varies

Sugar terminology varies. The variety used in most cake and cookie frostings is known as confectioners sugar in some parts of the country and as powdered sugar in others.

Coffee Flavored

★★ YOUR STARS TODAY ★★

My argument is that War makes rattling good history; but Peace is poor reading.

DAILY GUIDE — Keep concentrated on realities today. There may be a tendency to delude one's self into make - believe for the real thing. Enjoy recreations but do not forget necessary precaution against accidents.

Mercury changes direction today and accounts for the extra emphasis on travel. Taureans born around the middle of May will have extra activity and many details coming up for attention. President Kennedy will undoubtedly make news since he has a special planetary accent now.

Virgoans have some emphasis today, but this is just a curtain raiser to the main show coming in early June. They can be swept off their feet with surprises. Some of the unexpected events can bring great excitement, and opportunities to be free from past ties, to be more individual, to take a gamble on something new and different.

Tomorrow is one of those in-between days. It has little individuality of its own. However, the evening hours promise to be pleasant for hospitality and good companionship.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY, GEMINI! You may have had a taste of the upsets at home base last year, but now there will be some extra excitement which could make things hectic in your domestic affairs.

Do not break with tradition merely for the sake of doing something; you will have other times to break away.

If a change is inevitable, accept it with the knowledge that this is progress in the end. Social friends and loved ones will stand by you this year, and you can still count on older ties to give you support and help.

In the summer months you will have a chance to get things working smoothly, and to enjoy some recreation.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Jerry Lewis and his wife, Patti, are expecting their sixth child in January.

Georgetown Loses Suit In Race Case

AUSTIN (AP)—The Third Court of Civil Appeals has enjoined the Georgetown School Board from building new segregated schools.

The opinion said, "The Georgetown Independent School District is enjoined from spending any funds for the purpose of construction of any building or other facility which is designed, planned or calculated to provide segregated schools within the district where such segregation is based solely upon the race or color of the students segregated."

The action reversed a trial court decision.

A bond issue of $525,000 was authorized in a July 7, 1962 election for the purpose of "purchase and construction and repair and equipping public free school building." The opinion today said the board made plans to erect a new junior high school for white pupils exclusively and to expand the white high school facilities to which Negro children are not admitted and to erect an entirely new segregated Negro high school.

"There can be no question but that the school board plans two school systems according to the testimony of members of the board who testified respectively that they were going to build a segregated system, a school on the west side for Negroes exclusively. To be a 12 grade school," the opinion said.

The suit was brought by C. J. Kreger and members of a group known as a "better schools group."

Pending in federal court now is a suit brought by several Negro students who were denied admission to Georgetown schools last fall. The federal suit has been delayed until a decision is reached on the state court suit.

Warren Ire Is Defended

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — The president-elect of the American Bar Association declares Chief Justice Earl Warren was justified in his criticism of the bar's failure to speak out on three proposed constitutional amendments.

"We got our tails in a crack," said Walter E. Craig, who will become head of the 115,000 member organization this August. "Even though we did act, the bar was slow in acting and thus appropriately subject to some criticism."

In a speech to the American Law Institute last week, Warren said the bar's silence on the proposals—which would drastically alter the federal-state relationship—"is almost an abdication of its responsibility to the public."

The controversial proposals, put forward by some state legislative leaders, would set up a "Court of the Union" made up of state chief justices with authority to overrule the U.S. Supreme Court on matters affecting state-federal relationships; give state legislatures the primary responsibility now held by Congress to propose constitutional amendments; and deny federal courts jurisdiction over state reapportionment cases.

Just a day before Warren spoke, the board of governors of the association had announced opposition to the first two and referred the apportionment question to a committee.

Craig said in an interview: "generally, the bar felt the Court of the Union and amendment proposals were so unworthy that action wasn't necessary.

"We felt they were not to be taken seriously, and their passage was a surprise."

So far this year, 16 state legislatures have completed action on resolutions proposing at least one of these amendments.

A Devotional For The Day

Rekindle the gift of God that is within you . . .; for God did not give us a spirit of timidity but a spirit of power and love and self-control. (II Timothy 1:6-7. RSV.)

PRAYER: Our heavenly Father, we see many things that need to be done to promote and strengthen Thy kingdom. Help us to dedicate to Thee ourselves, our talents and all we have. Give us the courage to stand for what we know is to be right, confident in Thy power to strengthen and sustain us; through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

(From The 'Upper Room')

Project Expresses Confidence

A project first mentioned several months ago has now been firmed with the issuance of a building permit for a major motel on IS 20 (US 80) at the eastern edge of town.

The project will cost over $350,000 before it is completed. In conjunction with it there will be some commercial space, a restaurant with meeting room, swimming pool and other facilities. This makes it more than a tourist facility and ties it in closely with the community.

Selection of Big Spring as a location is an evidence that out-of-town interests see our city as one with a vigorous future. Businessmen do not lay this kind of money on the line unless they are convinced that it is a sound investment.

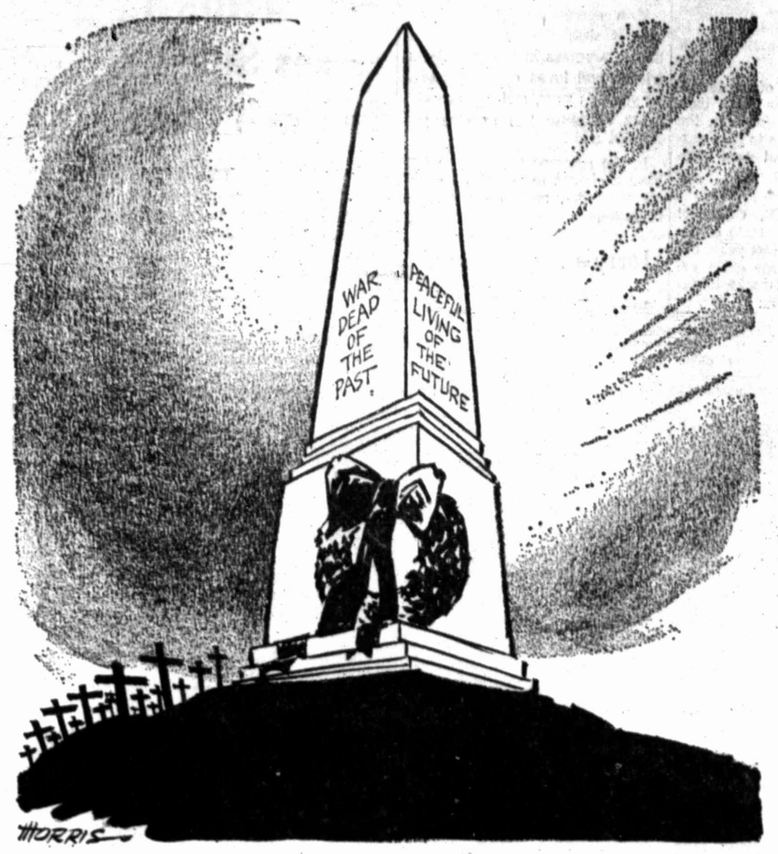

Doing The Real Job Well

One of the impressive things about the graduating class of Big Spring High School is its record of scholarship.

Twenty-five of them, or over 10 per cent of the class, completed four years of high school work with average grades of 90 or above. The valedictorian, Kathleen Morton, had a 95.24 average for her entire high school career.

This percentage of A students is substantially above the national average, and this speaks well for the students. Such a record sets a tone for the entire class and upgrades its scholastic achievement.

After all, this is one of the chief businesses of education—to produce young people with a demonstrated mastery of basic fields of learning. All other accomplishments are secondary to this.

Sweet Talker

Sometime you've got to take sweet talk with a grain of salt. Especially when the person doing the talking is a character as colorful as Bill Sweet, announcer for the National Air Show which appeared in Big Spring Sunday.

Bill has been around a long time announcing air shows. In 38 years of telling about aircraft and aerial performances, he has acquired much information about his favorite subject, and he does not mind bending your ear to pass on some of it. Some of his revelations were startling: Like:

"FLYING IN AN airplane bores me stiff.

"Don't get me wrong, now. I'm talking about flying as most persons know it today. You go so high and so fast that you can't see anything around you."

Bill is of the old school. For him flying must be a personal adventure, not a ride in a marvel of speed.

"I recall years ago flying low down a valley in the quiet of evening. Just the plane and me and the earth and sky spread out around me, floating along at maybe 70 miles an hour. It's a kind of satisfaction not available anywhere else on God's green earth.

"YOU CAN'T BEAT the modern airplane for transportation or fighting wars or whatever purpose they serve. Especially the jet. It is a good way to get from here to there in the shortest time possible. But, for pure enjoyment, you can't beat the old bipe.

"Everyone says you fly those planes by the 'seat of your pants,' but that isn't true. You fly them by sound—the hum of wires. Each flying position means a slightly different tone in the hum of the bowstrings between the wings. A bank gives a particular sound; dropping down for a landing has another.

"When those wires quit humming you better be darn sure you're on the ground or you've got troubles," he said.

BILL CONTINUED chattering about his beloved bipe. To him it was an infant to be coddled and loved and not allowed to grow up into a machine. I could have listened to him talk for hours, but forced myself to say adieu.

As a parting shot he threw out a bit of information which I had heard before, but which had never landed with the impact with which he threw it.

"Do you realize that only 13 per cent of the population of the earth has ever ridden in a plane?" he asked.

"It seems almost unbelievable, doesn't it? It has been 60 years since the Wright brothers lifted their first flying machine off the ground," he said.

IT DID SEEM incredible. I can barely remember when the airplane was not comconplace.

But something else has tugged at me ever since that conversation. I wonder if I missed something valuable by being born into an age of marvelous machines whose main purpose is to create time by using less of it. I don't know and probably I never will. Maybe others who grew up in the same era as Bill can tell me how much of the Sweet talk is sour.

Richard Starnes

The Plight Of Mary Rockefeller

We now turn the lectern over to a young woman, well and favorably known to us, who propounds an original and ardently feministic theory on what's wrong with the remarriage of Gov. Rockefeller.

"People," she writes, "who say Gov. Rockefeller's chances have (or have not) been mortally hurt by his divorce and remarriage never use the correct reason. The real reason is a guilty unmentionable in America's masculine-oriented society, so it hasn't been mentioned.

"THE SAD TRUTH is that Mary Rockefeller now has no place to go. She is the ghost at the feast of Rock's and Happy's well wishers. The moralizers who contend that all divorce is wrong, or that New York's divorce laws are medieval, have no place for her. The real wrong in this case (and in thousands of heartbreaking cases like it) is that it leaves a lonely older woman with small chance at a new marriage partner, and no profession to pursue and thereby to lose herself in. Mary Rockefeller's fate is the secret dread of too many good wives in the United States, and maybe they'll take their dread with them to the polls if Gov. Rockefeller is nominated for President.

"IT IS ARGUED, by you, sir, as well as by others, that it isn't Rocky's 'fault.' Maybe not, but the fact remains that Mary Rockefeller is a tribal outcast now because of a younger, prettier woman. It isn't fair, and that is what's troubling the American conscience.

"This is doubly bad because I happen to think Gov. Rockefeller would make a terrific President, and I imagine he'd like with all his heart to give it a try. But the fumes from his first wife's funeral pyre create an unpleasant odor in the voters' noses, no matter how much they might try to overlook it.

"LET'S BE HONEST. If Mary Rockefeller went off tomorrow and married a fine man, the curse would be removed from the Governor's divorce and remarriage. It isn't really a question of the divorce, per se, and I wish people would quit talking about it. The real question is that our society now has no room for the first Mrs. Rockefeller. It knows in its heart that she is now alone, and that's what troubles it. Ask any psychiatrist what comes first in building a happy, full life, and if he knows what he's doing he will tell you it is a man and a woman living together in a good union.

"IT WOULD NOT be so bad if Mary Rockefeller were a different sort of woman, a woman who had committed herself to the outside world, say, as Eleanor Roosevelt did. Her life would still be full and the rest of us could stop worrying about her.

"The first Mrs. Rockefeller chose to follow the path society pointed out for her. She was a good mother and she stayed home. It isn't that she didn't have the money or the fine intelligence to train herself for a profession that would have suited her temperament. But you can't fight city hall, and most women know it.

"RAISING CHILDREN and sinking yourself in your husband's career too often doesn't work. The majority of educated women secretly wish they could hedge their bets; not only for the positive reasons of making a contribution to 'civilization's bridges,' as Margaret Mead puts it, but also for the reason that they don't want to have happen to them what happened to Mary Rockefeller.

"Our society subtly denigrates a woman's gifts. Who in his right mind would say 'a wonderful housewife is now free and on the market'? So Mary Rockefeller has no place to go, and you can blame the society that makes this a fact for too many lovely and virtuous older women. All of us are to blame for this, and to punish ourselves we'll very likely punish our able and talented Governor on Election Day."

Billy Graham

I know that I should be a Christian but there is something within me, which simply won't let me take the step of acceptance. What is it?

G. V.

There is something within everyone which hinders them from living at their highest and best. You are no exception. With some it is a reluctance to 'pay the price.' By that I mean: laying your life on the line for Jesus Christ, come what may. With others it is 'fear of the crowd'; the fear of being different from the mob. With others, and let me be frank with you, it is plain laziness. That may never have occurred to you as a reason for not being a Christian—but in reading the New Testament I find that Christ didn't have a lazy one in His group.

Professor George Palmer of Harvard tells the story of a boy who slept late every morning, and when his mother called to him: "Aren't you ashamed to be lying in bed so late every morning?" He replied, "Yes, mother, I am ashamed, but I would rather be ashamed than get up."

Christianity calls from us the highest and best, and many a person just hasn't got what it takes to respond.

But the basic hindrance is the sin of selfishness and pride. Jesus said if you are going to follow Him you must deny "self". This is the greatest stumbling block on the road to heaven.

POSTAL SERVICE: Neither heat nor hail nor budget cuts will keep the mailman from his appointed rounds.

The Post Office Department announced it will not have to go through with drastic reductions in deliveries now that a compromise budget has been worked out.

The compromise was hammered out by a Senate-House conference committee which restored $35 million of the $69 million the House had slashed from postal operating funds.

CRISIS INFORMATION: The chairman of a House committee says that after questioning Pentagon information chief Arthur Sylvester he is convinced the Kennedy administration sought in good faith to keep the public informed during the Cuban crisis.

"I cannot now say that during that period it would have been possible to pursue a course that would have produced more information," Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., said.

Sylvester appeared before the House group at a closed session and Moss said the assistant secretary of defense underwent four hours of "the most detailed questioning" about information policies during the crisis of last October.

SMOKING: The Welfare Department has announced another delay in turning out a study of the impact of smoking on health.

A spokesman said the report will not be ready until the end of the year because of the mass of data confronting the 10-man advisory committee.

Originally the report was expected to be ready by spring or early summer. Later the committee set the time for late summer or early fall.

He Once Was The Pope's Barber

CHICAGO (AP) — Joe Mangano spends most of his days praying for the recovery of Pope John XXIII, as do many of his neighbors on Chicago's near West Side and millions throughout the world.

But if Joe prays a little bit harder, he has a special reason.

Joe once was Pope John XXIII's barber, although then the Pope was known as Master Sgt. Angelo Giuseppe Roncalli.

That was in 1915. Mangano, now 66, and retired, was a private in the Italian army and Father Roncalli was a priest attached to the medical corps in World War I.

"I WAS HIS personal barber for two years. I shaved him twice a week and cut his hair every 15 days," the proud Mangano recalls.

"He had thick black hair and a bushy mustache. It was a pleasure to serve him," he said in an interview.

"He would joke and tease me a lot and was always telling me I was the best barber he had ever had."

"He wasn't tall but he was a big man. Very husky with rosy cheeks.

"But best of all was his sense of humor. Always cheerful."

Mangano said he was 18 years old when he was mobilized into the army in 1915. He said he had gone to a barber school in his home town of Messina, Sicily, and had been a barber at a seminary at Messina.

"SO WHEN I got in the army I wanted to be a barber. I thought I'd get to shave all the big shots that way."

"I was sent to Traviso near the Alps as a barber and there I met Angelo Giuseppe Roncalli for the first time. He was a priest then," Mangano said.

"I went up to him, introduced myself and told him I had shaved all of the priests in Italy."

"He laughed and told me if I had shaved that priest — and he pointed to somebody I didn't know —I must be a good barber."

"He always tipped me, sometimes as much as 4 cents. We were only getting $3 a month in those days," Mangano recalled.

"He did other things for me, too. He fixed it so I got extra rations—I think he thought I could use it. I weighed only 125 pounds."

"Sometimes he would see me off the base and he would laugh and ask me how I was doing. He was always nice to me."

WITH THAT, Joe began to cry. "I'm crying because I feel for this Pope as if he were my own father," he explained.

"In 1917 I was transferred to Belgium and I never saw Roncalli again.

"I learned he was Pope when I saw an old army photograph of him in one of the magazines shortly before his coronation in 1958.

"I went to Italy in 1959 to visit my sister Rosa in Messina and I tried to get an audience. No one in the secretary of state's office at the Vatican seemed to care about his old barber."

"But I'm sure the Pope would have remembered me."

Mangano retired last year after more than 40 years as a barber in Chicago. He and his wife, Elizabeth, have two married daughters.

Civil Rights Brain Trust

WASHINGTON (AP) — As the Kennedy administration steps up the pace of its drive for civil rights, a small group of behind-the-scene advisers is quietly working overtime, mapping plans to combat discrimination.

This is the subcabinet committee on civil rights headed by Lee White, presidential adviser on civil rights.

"There's no problem now about goals or objectives, only means," White said in a recent interview. "The administration is now sweeping up a lot of gains. We have no reason to believe that we have exhausted our well of ideas. It may be even the reverse."

The spotlight in the civil rights battle is on President Kennedy and his brother, Atty. Gen. Robert F. Kennedy.

They are making an effort to persuade businessmen who operate hotels, theaters, variety stores, drug stores and the like in the South to band together to avoid possible racial violence by providing for peaceful desegregation.

Wednesday, at a White House meeting, the President urged the Democratic governors of nine states to exert leadership in wiping out civil rights inequalities and providing jobs for minority groups.

Gov. Frank Clement of Tennessee said the President appealed to all the governors to "take the leadership in this field."

Gov. Otto Kerner of Illinois said the President asked the governors to move forward "in all our areas" in removing civil rights inequalities.

The attorney general and Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson attended the session.

The Kennedy brothers must make the final decision about new legislation now being drafted to provide new federal weapons against racial discrimination.

But the ideas for the legislation and other new moves in civil rights, plus plans to carry them out, often come from the subcabinet committee on civil rights.

This is an informal group made up of top advisers from various government agencies. Its membership includes Burke Marshall, head of the Justice Department's civil rights division; Chairman John W. Macy of the Civil Service Commission, and staff director Berl I. Bernhard of the Civil Rights Commission.

The committee has a dual job:

1. To serve as a brainstorming task force for examination of new ways to make the influence of the federal government felt in the field of civil rights.

2. To serve as an action agency so that administration civil rights policies penetrate to the lowest ranks of the federal bureaucracy.

"It's not as simple as giving an order and having it obeyed," White said. "It has to penetrate bureaucracy. An awful lot of hard effort has to go into one of these things to make it work. It's pure drudgery at times."

Not Too Sympathetic

ALPINE, Calif. (AP) — Two Arizona teen-agers were picked up for car theft and sent back to Phoenix to face Superior Court Judge Kenneth C. Chatwin, newly named juvenile judge.

The car they were charged with stealing belonged to Judge Kenneth C. Chatwin of Phoenix.

Staph Germ Causes Boils, Skin Infections

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

Dear Dr. Molner: My daughter had a carbuncle on her chin, and then three or four boils at a time. She went to one doctor for several months. The boils broke out worse than ever. She has been to another doctor for six months and has now gotten rid of the boils.

You once described this as a staph infection (which the first doctor said it was). What is the treatment? And will she get boils again from her clothing? —Mrs. R. C.

The staphylococcus (or "staph") germ comes to us, not like an invading army, but like a swarm of sneak thieves. It doesn't sweep into sudden epidemics like flu. It just hangs around all the time, waiting for a chance to cause trouble.

It has the contrary ability of developing resistance to some of the antibiotic drugs which are so helpful with other germs. Some of the drugs retain their powers better than others, and some strains of the germ have more resistance to the drugs.

Perhaps we could compare the staph germ to rats. Civilization readily conquers wolves and tigers and such dangerous beasts, but rats sneak under our guard and flourish almost under our noses.

So with the staph germ — in fact, our noses are a common breeding place for this pest.

Whether your daughter gained anything by changing doctors is doubtful. Maybe the first one started the job — and the other one just carried on the battle. But that's neither here nor there.

The point is that the staph germ is all around us all the time. Some of us have very good resistance to it. Some don't. Some people are "staph carriers," who may give the germ to others but not suffer from it themselves. Others may infect themselves from time to time.

The staph germ can be very virulent, and hospitals (nurseries especially) are constantly on guard against it. Occasionally on guard the bloodstream and causes blood poisoning. It can be deadly. But more often it causes boils and other skin infections.

Boils and the like can leave scar tissue afterward, and soreness.

When a series of boils starts, utmost cleanliness — measures to keep the germ from spreading— is mandatory. Drugs will help. In extreme cases, however, special vaccines may be used (to suit a particular strain of germ) but this is a complicated task.

As to reinfection from clothing, no. Normal laundering will provide protection. But while the boils are active, keep the infected area covered with a sterile bandage.

Dear Dr. Molner: What about birth pills? Do they cause blood clots and do you recommend them?—V. L.

I don't recommend any medication in wholesale fashion. These pills, like any drug, should be taken only under direction from a physician who knows the patient's needs and condition. As to clots, I've heard of such contentions, but at a recent conference on the subject the conclusion was that the risk of vein clotting has not been proved.

That Credibility Crisis Again

WASHINGTON—The House of Kennedy is having credibility trouble again. On two of the highest matters of national concern—our financial and military postures—the New Frontier is once more hearing from its unbelievers.

Sen. Harry Byrd, the most respected man in Washington, gave Treasury Secretary Dillon a real tongue-lashing in an open meeting of the Finance Committee. Byrd pointed out that the administration had predicted a balanced budget for this year, with a surplus of half a billion dollars, but is ending the same year with an $8 billion deficit.

"I DON'T SEE how your estimates could be so erroneous," Byrd told the squirming Secretary. The Finance chairman left no doubt that the Treasury had destroyed believability in its own plan to raise revenues by lowering taxes and increasing its spending. Under this weird system of planned deficit, the Treasury says it can achieve a balanced budget by 1967. Byrd thought it more likely the annual deficits would keep building.

BY CHANCE, on this same day, the Baltimore Sun, whether by accident or design, front-paged two stories of opposite content. One story cited Mr. Kennedy's press conference statement that he had no evidence of any increasing build-up of Soviet strength in Cuba. The other was an Associated Press dispatch headlined, "Russian Arms Aid to Cuba Grows." The yarn said U. S. intelligence sources had information that Castro had received $300 million worth of Soviet arms since November and will get $250 million in economic aid during 1963. It is hard to see how both can be true, but the administration no longer finds it easy to muster a vote of confidence.

EARLIER THE SAME week, a group of House Republicans, headed by Congressman Jim Battin of Montana, produced an analysis of the Stennis Preparedness Subcommittee's report on the Cuban crisis. The appendix of the Stennis report lists, in parallel column, "inconsistencies" between administration statements on Cuba and the later-discovered facts.

FINALLY, the latest revelations of the McClellan subcommittee about the TFX aircraft have gone very hard against the character of Secretary McNamara. He now appears to be frantically trying to build up an ex post facto case for his choice of General Dynamics to build this plane in the Democratic State of Texas rather than having it built by Boeing in the Republican State of Kansas. In order to win this fight, McNamara and his information chief, Arthur Sylvester, are conducting guerrilla warfare against anybody in the Pentagon, the Senate and the Senate staffs who oppose them.

WITH THE HEARINGS still secret, with the testimony heavily censored at the Pentagon on security grounds and with the whole matter obscured in the Sanskrit language of technicalities, we may never know the unblushing truth about this contract. But the gloss has gone from Secretary McNamara's once-shining reputation on Capitol Hill.

It is now a tenable prediction that within a year the TFX program will be cancelled. The reason given will be that new technologies have made it obsolete. But the historical post-mortems may very well show—and this is the growing opinion on Capitol Hill — that this weapons system perished because faith in the Secretary perished first.

Is The Moon Trip Worth The Cost?

WASHINGTON — Is it worth while to spend $20 to $40 billion of borrowed money just to get a man to the moon, while neglecting necessary projects on earth?

This is one of the questions which the American people will be asked to decide in the presidential election in 1964. The Republican party in Congress has drawn up a document arguing the merits of this question. It says:

"THE QUESTION is not then, whether man will ultimately reach the moon and beyond. The question is rather, how shall it be done, and whether other aspects of human needs should be bypassed or overlooked in the one spasmodic effort to achieve a lunar landing at once.

"Space exploration must and will come. But what priority should be applied to it in the total national effort? The decision of priorities must be made on the basis of over-all benefit to the free world and not on the adolescent desire to beat the Russians in a space race."

IN THESE DAYS when the public-debt limit is being raised to $309 billion and when the Treasury deficits are estimated to run about $12 billion a year, there are still many other demands on the pocketbooks of the taxpayers. These arguments will be pointed out in the coming campaign. The comprehensive memorandum on this subject, prepared by a staff of specialists under the direction of Sen. Bourke Hickenlooper, Republican of Iowa, raised such questions as these:

"Is it more important to have a man on the moon than to conquer cancer which will take the lives of 40 million Americans now living?

"IS LUNAR EXPLORATION more important to mankind than freeing ourselves from the tragic chains of mental illness, which now accounts for one of every four American hospital beds?

"Is a fistful of lunar dust meaningful to the 17 million Americans who we are told go to bed hungry each night?

"Is a pathway to the moon more vital than a highway system devoid of the slaughter which now claims 40 thousand lives annually?

"IS SEEING the other side of the moon more important than seeing our children free of leukemia?

"Is being there first more important than insuring an adequate water source for our great metropolitan centers?

"Is putting a man on the moon more important than developing techniques for making use of our stored natural resources?

"Is manned lunar flight of more value than bringing order to a world of emerging nations?"

THE SPECIALISTS argue that a propaganda triumph over the Soviets is not worth the $40 billion it may cost. The project of the administration is to place three astronauts on the moon before the end of this decade, but the critics say this will be of momentary value only. It is being argued that the so-called military advantages are negligible and that the advances in science can be made much more cheaply by research on earth.

As for missiles placed on the moon, they would have to be aimed at the earth, which is 240,000 miles away, and with little chance of accuracy. Scientists say the cost of such a missile would be a thousand times more than a missile located on the earth. By the end of fiscal year 1964, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration will have spent $8.6 billion on the moon project, and the total cost is estimated at around $20 billion, with the possibility of its going as high as $40 billion.

THE IDEA of placing a man on the moon is not opposed, but the question raised is when and how and at what expense. The document further states:

"Summing up, opponents to a $20 billion to $40 billion crash lunar program maintain that the arguments for such a program are either specious or not important. They do say that eventually man, if he follows an orderly and logical course, will reach the moon. However, they contend that there is no hurry and that it would be a lot less costly, and far greater values would accrue to mankind, if we take it easy and try to accomplish our ultimate purpose step by step."

THERE IS ONE important point which will be widely discussed. Supposing the Soviets really try to get to the moon ahead of us? The answer being made to this is that it would cost the Soviet government tremendous sums, and might be the very thing that would break the Communist hold on the Russian people. For the Soviets are greatly in need of expenditures for public welfare, and, if the Soviet government diverts huge sums for a race to the moon, this is likely to hasten its downfall.

DEAR ABBY

Much Smoke In The Air!

DEAR ABBY: In a recent column I noted the rather vitrolic letter from DOUG concerning his dislike of tobacco smoke. What amazed me was your approval of a device that would retaliate with and equally disgusting odor. On the basis of this, if the odor of garlic is offensive, why not use a logger's peavy to cram a couple of dozen buds down the throats of garlic eaters? And if you don't like the beehive hair-do, simply bust the wearer over the head with a hickory ax-handle. If you are annoyed because your linoleum is being pitted by ladies' steel heels, take a scythe and slash off their feet at the ankles. Heaven knows we all have to put up with a lot of things we don't especially like, but why not try to tolerate it with grace? If smoke is bothersome, stay away from people who enjoy smoking. BILL

DEAR BILL: You rattled the wrong cage. A beehive hair-do harms no one. One can step back a foot or two from another who has eaten garlic. And when you discover that your linoleum is being damaged, you can ask the lady to remove her shoes. BUT, the air belongs to everyone. And no one has the right to pollute it. Many people become physically ill from smoke but, sadly enough, the smoker is usually so enslaved by the habit that he neither asks nor cares whether he is offending the next person.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: In the absence of a "retaliator" for non-smokers, I'll tell you how I defend myself against the smoke thoughtless smokers send my way. I pick up a menu or a newspaper and fan it back at them. If there is none handy—I simply BLOW it back to them. My wife tells me it is extremely rude, but it is no more rude than those who would choke me with their smoke. ED R. F.

• • •

DEAR ABBY: It's only a hunch, but observing the recent tirade you launched against smokers, I'll bet ten bucks you were recently told to give up cigarettes and are dying for a smoke. AL

DEAR AL: Send the ten bucks to the Cancer Society, Sport. I have never smoked and never will.

Some Prices Trail Sugar

A secondary development growing out of the soaring price increases for sugar is making itself felt in food stores, according to merchants.

The high price of sugar which has housewives talking to themselves is now forcing the price of numerous other foods to higher levels.

Store operators point out that some foods have already increased their prices due to the additional production costs involved in the increased sugar prices. Prices of other canned and frozen foods, where sugar is a basic factor, will have to follow unless the sugar price returns to normal, dealers warn.

No indication is at hand of any break in the price of sugar. It still holds at from 15 to 16 cents a pound in Big Spring stores.

The other price increases are already showing up on certain items where the supplies are being replaced with new orders.

Look At The New Movies

By BOB THOMAS
AP Movie - TV Writer

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — The new movies—

"Come Blow Your Horn" is a pleasurable comedy that should ring-a-ding-ding the box offices this summer. It has Sinatra, sex, sumptuous settings and most of the elements for escapist entertainment.

It is not a perfect comedy, nor a very new one. The theme of rebellious children vs. traditionalist parents has been played since "Abie's Irish Rose."

"A Gathering of Eagles," is the answer to the question: Whatever happened to military movies? Long a film staple, they have been missing from the screen.

It's refreshing to watch simple, heart-warming heroics uncomplicated by Freudian motivations.

"Save Sam" offers nothing new to the literature of the Western, but it's a good, plodding chase of Indian marauders. Sam is a dog that is savage only to the Redskins. He helps rescue three captured youngsters, and the Apaches get what is coming to them. Mark it down as family entertainment.

Jerry Lee Has The Beat

A Louisiana boy has the fervor of a music-with-the-modern-beat. He is 21-year-old Jerry Lee Lewis of Ferriday, La.

Jerry Lee gained notoriety with a number entitled, "A Whole Lotta Shakin' Goin' On," and now he is cast by Warner Bros. in "Jamboree."

The film introduces Jerry Lee and a song written especially for him—"Great Balls of Fire." The song was written by Otis Blackwell, the tunesmith who gave Elvis Presley "Don't Be Cruel" and other top-sellers.

The Louisiana singer portrays himself in "Jamboree," highlighting a music convention and a national telethon where he introduces his "Great Balls of Fire" rendition.

He appeared on television last July with his "Shakin'" song on the Steve Allen Show.

Former Aggie Is Scientific Leader

By TEX EASLEY
AP Special Service

WASHINGTON (AP)—Dr. Charles C. Bates, a 44-year-old Texas-educated Ph.D., ranks as one of the government's top men in seeking ways to improve the detection of underground nuclear explosions.

What Bates and his associates learn through research has a bearing on efforts of negotiators at international conferences in Geneva seeking eventual agreement on a nuclear test ban.

Bates, whose doctorate in oceanography was the first ever issued by Texas A&M college, testified recently before a House Merchant Marine subcommittee. He told of underwater research off the California coast and then discussed a year-long study expected to start soon near the center of the Gulf of Mexico.

The water in that area, he said, has a depth of 12,000 feet.

TO THE BOTTOM

In the Gulf of Mexico tests, he said, highly sensitive recording instruments — made according to government-provided specifications by two firms in the Dallas area—will be encased in a container and let down by cable to rest on the bottom.

The instruments, which record earth shockwaves on tape much like a seismograph, cost about $50,000 each. In earlier tests in the Pacific, only one was lost. Heretofore they have been built to submerge to 4,000 feet but the newer devices are capable of taking recordings at 20,000 feet.

In connection with the Gulf tests, Bates said, a 5-kiloton nuclear device will be detonated at the bottom of a 2,000-foot well drilled into a salt dome near Hattiesburg, Miss. When the explosive material is set in place, he said, the detonation mechanism connected in the well will be cemented so that the shock waves will radiate through the earth.

"With the advent of the Geneva nuclear test ban negotiations in 1958," Bates told the committee, "it becomes evident that there was a strong requirement to develop a more sophisticated understanding of seismic phenomena."

Pointing out that there are about 40 measurable earthquakes annually in the United States alone, he said it is now virtually impossible to distinguish them from nuclear explosion shock waves. One of the main purposes of his research, he said, is to learn how to distinguish them, and to more nearly pinpoint the location and determine other details of the violence.

Bates, a native of Illinois and a 1939 graduate of DePauw University, first went into oil exploration work in Mississippi and Kansas.

WAVE AFTER WAVE

As a field artillery private in World War II, he was ordered to take courses in meteorology and oceanography at UCLA, from which he received a masters degree. He then was assigned to England as a wave forecaster in connection with the planning of the Normandy invasion.

The end of the war found him in the Pacific area as an Air Force captain, specializing in wave forecasting for the planned invasion of Japan which never took place.

During the war Bates was a buddy of Dale Leipper, who founded and still heads the A&M oceanography department. Thus it was natural that Bates should go to College Station for advanced studies, and was one of the two to get doctor degrees in that field in 1953.

"They were presented alphabetically, so I got mine first," chuckled Bates. "My colleague's name was Thompson."

DIVERSE PROGRAMS

In 1960 Bates, formerly with the Navy Hydrographic Office, joined the Advanced Research Projects Agency which handles such diverse programs as the development of anti-missiles and research into guerrilla warfare tactics and high energy fuels.

As chief of ARPA's research into improved means of detecting underground nuclear blasts, Bates said his unit of the agency keeps close tabs on studies done at Texas A&M and other schools.

Takes A Lot Of Words To Pay For A Dead Cow

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (AP) — The following proposal is awaiting action by the Florida Legislature:

"Whereas, W. L. Richardson is a farmer, and

"Whereas, farmer Richardson had a cow, and

"Whereas in November of 1961, farmer Richardson had his cow tested for Bang's (disease) by the county agent, and

"Whereas, after the testing needle went in and came out of that cow's vein, all the blood came out too, and the cow died, and

"Whereas, at the time of demise of said cow, it was worth $150, and

"Whereas, since that time the other cows in farmer Richardson's herd have had yearlings, and the dead cow has not, and

"Whereas the value of such a yearling is $150—

"Now therefore: be it enacted by the legislature of the state of Florida the comptroller is authorized to draw his warrant in the sum of $300 upon the general revenue fund in the state treasury in favor of W. L. Richardson."

Help Stamp Out Mail Ducks

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — While making his morning rounds, postman Herbert Cosen was bowled over by a quacking in a corner mailbox.

He unlocked the box and pulled out a full-grown white duck, friendly as could be.

"I've found kittens, puppies, dead fish, even pizza pies, in these boxes, but never before a live duck," said Cosen.

A woman came by to mail a letter, and the duck trailed after her. She called the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, and the duck wound up in the society's pool for stray fowl.

A Nasty Trick To Catch Fish

LONDON (AP)—Artificial mating calls may one day tempt fish into the nets, the second world fishing gear congress was told.

Dr. Donovan B. Finn, fisheries director of the United Nations Food and Agriculture Organization, said much still had to be learned about behavior patterns of fish.

Discovering the sounds that fish make when they are feeding or mating is an aspect now under study. Dr. Finn suggested that tactics similar to the use of artificial mating calls in wild game hunting might one day be used in fishing. Then, he said, it might well be possible to detect fish by unmanned apparatus, to herd them like cattle, to fence them in and harvest them at will.

His Surprise Didn't Slow Him

EUREKA, Calif. (AP) — When jailer Tom MacDonald came around to Robert Winsor Robideau's cell in the Humboldt County jail recently and said, "Your time's up. You can go now," he got a speedy response.

Robideau was dressed in an instant and checked out in the wink of an eye.

It wasn't until later in the day MacDonald recollected that the 25-year-old Yuroc Indian still had over four months to serve for his petty theft conviction.
