

C. S. Bearden, Retired Orchard Owner, Dies

Charlie S. Bearden, a leading operator of fruit orchards in this area, died in St. Joseph's Hospital at 5:20 a.m. Saturday, November 30. He had been in ill health for a number of months, and his condition became steadily worse in recent weeks.

He brought his family to the county 26 years ago and he was known as a successful farmer even before he moved to the place east of town where he developed the fine peach orchard that was to become known throughout the Panhandle and western Oklahoma.

He recognized this area as especially adapted to fruit growing, both from his own experience and from long observation here and in other sections. For a number of years he had urged agricultural development along that line.

Last year he turned the operation of the orchard over to his two sons, but his interest in it remained as strong as ever.

Charlie Street Bearden was born at Webb City, Ark., on March 23, 1895, the son of Mose and Azlee Romans Bearden.

He served in the 142nd Field Artillery during World War I, with overseas duty in France. On March 8, 1921, he was married to Miss Ivan Mae Mitchell at Rudy, Ark. Upon moving to Texas, he and his family lived at Shamrock nine years before moving to the north part of this county. Later he farmed in the Wellington area.

Mr. Bearden was a member of the American Legion and served as a member of the school board at Lone Mound. He was a past director of the Collingsworth County Farm Bureau.

Funeral services for Mr. Bearden were conducted at First Baptist Church Monday at 2 p.m. with Dr. Glenn Hick-

Two Hurt en Route Here

A former Wellington woman and her daughter, now living in Lubbock, were injured early Saturday, Nov. 30, when their car was struck by a train near South Plains.

They were Mrs. J. M. Moore and Miss Lynn Moore, and they were en route here to attend a bridal shower planned in Miss Moore's honor Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Moore is in St. Mary's Hospital in Lubbock suffering from a cracked pelvis and numerous bruises, a sister-in-law, Mrs. H. L. Duncan said. It is not known when she can be released. She was the driver of the car.

Miss Moore received a broken nose and bruises. She was treated and released from the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Harper, parents of Mrs. Moore, went to Lubbock upon being notified of the accident.

The crossing where the accident occurred is considered dangerous by residents of the area, according to relatives here, and vision was further obscured by smoke from burning cotton burs that had settled on the ground.

Nearly 20,000 Bales of Cotton Crop Out

An estimated 20,000 bales of this year's cotton crop has been gathered so far, and county-wide, the crop is approximately half out, gin managers told The Wellington Leader Wednesday morning.

Approximately 17,350 bales is ginned, and although plants are operating around the clock, they are still from 12 to 36 hours behind in getting the crop processed. An estimated 2,000 bales has been received and is waiting on the gin yards.

Cotton is again getting good after the rains, and in most sections the grade is middling light spot up to strict middling light spot.

Most yields are a lot better than last year, and a few fields of irrigated cotton are producing as much as two and a half bales, The Leader was told. In the Wellington area, a considerable amount of bale-to-the-acre cotton has been ginned.

Most gimmers reported the crop in the central part of the county from 40 per cent to a half gathered.

Through the Dodson area, similar yields are reported—much dry land cotton up to a bale per acre and some irrigated cotton two bales or more.

Almost all cotton south of Salt Fork is now being machine gathered, and gimmers estimated that it would probably be difficult for transient pullers to find work from now on.

In the north part of the county, machines have just started. Here again, the crop is estimated at about half out. Around Quail, it is reported that around two-thirds of the cotton has been pulled.

An important factor in this year's production was the "top crop", cotton that was put on after the later summer rains, and which was able to mature into good cotton when the frost held off until an unusually late date. In some sections, this is estimated to amount to as much as a quarter of a bale to the acre, and this year the quality of this cotton is good, in contrast to the usual poor quality of the top crop.

Also unusual this year is the bottom crop—cotton low on the stalk, which matured early and resulted from the lack of flea hoppers in much of the county this summer.

One Rocket Starter Back

Experienced Rockettes Out to Win Another District Crown

A Rockette squad made up of juniors and seniors will bid for the District 2-A girls basketball championship again this season—an honor they won last year.

The Rockettes, who played their opening game Tuesday, Nov. 26, after only one practice session, have one starter back from last year, a junior, and four seniors. Coach James Stavenhagen said this week as he looked over the season's prospects.

Wellington has met only two schools so far—Class B Quail and Dodson. The boys lost to Quail but defeated Dodson in the last four minutes of the game. The Rockettes won both games.

Back with the Rockettes is Betty Courtney, who tallied

629 points last year to become the top scorer in District 2-A. Other returning starters are Jane Orr, and Jan Glenn, forwards, and guards, Carol Blain and Ann Orr. Stepping in to fill the other guard position is Karen Kildress. Each of these girls has lettered two years.

Other letter players returning are Frances Warlick, Lavelle Harper and Wynona Jones. Up from the B team are Joyce Holton, Glenna Taylor, Susan Sullivan and Joan James.

Bobby Hudson, the junior, is the only returning Rocket starter from last year. Seniors filling out the team are Kenneth Patterson, Bryan Hatch, Joe Henard and Danny Martin. Other members of the squad are Gary Bergvall, who was on the varsity team last year; and these juniors: Freddy Peters, Phillip Hughey, Bill Spillman, and Randy Woodbridge, up from last year's B team; Gary White, Wayne Barton and Roger Weems, one year lettermen; and Ronny Hurst, who played on both teams last year but not enough to letter.

Hootnanny Adds $550 to Cemetery Improvement Work

Approximately $550 was raised at the Hootnanny given as a benefit program for Wellington Cemetery beautification project, Nov. 25, and sponsored by the Business and Professional Women's Club.

Of the total, about $230 was raised in the cake auction.

The Hootnanny program was made up of skits and musical numbers presented by organizations and individual entertainers.

Raymond Horton was auctioneer and Paul Guthrie served as master of ceremonies.

Proceeds from this entertainment are being given by B&PW for beautification work, which is under the direction of the Garden Club.

The Cemetery Association pays the salary of the caretaker and other labor and of cemetery upkeep. This is derived from contributions and usually covers only the actual expenses. Improvement work has been adopted by the Garden Club as its project.

So far, that organization has spent $1,841, including a $500 award won from the Sears Foundation, for earlier work on the cemetery.

$634 is needed to complete present construction on the north cemetery, according to Mrs. Luther Gribble, president of the Garden Club. This does not include the planned entrances to the north cemetery.

Also, $1722 is needed to complete work on the entrances of the west cemetery and install a large granite marker bearing the name of the cemetery.

The marker will carry the name, Fairview Cemetery, the name which old records of the Wellington City Council show is the correct name. It has never been known as that. Until only a few years ago, it was simply known as the Wellington Cemetery, but upon the reactivation of the old cemetery on the north side of town, the two were designated West and North cemeteries.

Sen. Tower Expresses Grief Over President's Assassination

Senator John Tower expressed his deep sense of grief over the tragic death of President John F. Kennedy, and pledged his support for President Johnson in all things affecting the peace and security of the nation.

At the same time, Senator Tower asked the nation to "rally at this time of national crisis and to place both the events of the past weeks and our position in the world in the proper perspective."

Tower said that "there are those in our society who were quick to blame all Texans, to blame the people of Dallas, in fact, to blame everyone in the nation, including themselves, for the murder of our President."

"They have said, and, in fact, are still saying, that there is something wrong in our society that breeds men like Lee Harvey Oswald. These people overlook the simple fact, or they refuse to admit the simple fact that Lee Harvey Oswald was not fashioned by our society. His mind was in fact fashioned by the propaganda of Marx, an atheist who laid the foundation for Communism."

'64 Pontiac

Here's why you'll like it.

Here's why you'll tell other people you like it.

Wide-Track, for instance. Wide-Track is what does away with tilting your way around turns. Pontiac's smoother, quieter ride is another thing you might point out. A big 389-cubic-inch Trophy V-8 is standard in each and every Pontiac. You get to choose from 34 engine/transmission teams to harness all that power. (Happy choosing!)

Now then—on to more of the things that make the '64 Pontiac so thoroughly likeable. Frankly, we couldn't think of anything radical to do with this car. Oh, we made the styling even more stylish, as you can plainly see. We lavished even more care on the interiors. We even improved the light bulbs. But as for more vital things, why change? Improve, refine, sharpen—yes. Change—no. And you can tell that to your friends.

Alvina Roberts Weds Dean Marchant in Home Ceremony Thanksgiving

Miss Alvina Jo Roberts became the bride of Ronald Dean Marchant of Lubbock in a ceremony performed at three o'clock Thanksgiving afternoon, November 28, in the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Roberts, 1600 Dalhart St.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Marchant, 1711 Ellison, are the parents of the bridegroom. A hand-made lace cloth over blue covered the bride's table, and candles in crystal holders, with her bouquet, formed the centerpiece. Other appointments also were present.

White roses tucked into greenery covered the arch at the center of the wedding setting. Arrangements of white roses were at each side. Recorded music was played softly during the ceremony.

Mr. Roberts gave his daughter in marriage.

She wore a white wool suit, with blue accents on the box jacket, and her short veil was attached to a white pillbox. Her bouquet of white carnations and stephanotis, tied with satin streamers, was carried on a Bible which was presented to the bridegroom upon his graduation from high school, and covered with satin and lace for the wedding.

Miss Frances Hill was the maid of honor. She wore a blue wool suit and carried a heart-shaped bouquet of carnations and net.

Don Marchant of Lubbock, brother of the bridegroom, was best man and guests were ushered to their seats by the bride's brother, Roland Roberts of Amarillo.

After the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Roberts were hosts at the reception. A hand-made lace cloth over blue covered the bride's table, and candles in crystal holders, with her bouquet, formed the centerpiece. Other appointments also were present.

More Samples, But Cotton Classing Prompt

The farmers and ginners are actively engaged in harvesting and ginning this season's late cotton crop and this makes the Agricultural Marketing Service's cotton classing office a very busy place, says K. E. Voelkel of the Memphis office.

Until the latter part of the week, sample receipts were light. However, over the week end the larger gins were ginning around the clock and a back-log of trailers with seed cotton were crowding most gin yards.

The killing frost two weeks ago, and the second frost last Tuesday morning plus the high wind on Thursday did much to get the cotton ready for mechanical harvesting.

With heavy sample receipts anticipated this week the Cotton Division has assigned two additional classers to this office, making eight classing tables in operation.

We will also inaugurate a third micronaire set-up, which will mean the micronaire of over 4,000 samples a day.

All these additions will result in an increase in personnel, and this will make it possible to continue a prompt and efficient classing service for the farmers and ginners of the Memphis classing office territory.

This week, which was a short one, we classed only 8,841 samples for a seasonal total of 79,251. This represents roughly 40 per cent of the predicted production. As of the same date last year 72,002 samples had been classed.

As mechanical harvesting increased, samples reduced in grade because of Preparation, Bark and Grass also increased. More than 6 per cent of the cotton classed during the week was reduced in grade, compared with slightly over 3 per cent the previous week.

Several inquiries were made as to the CCC loan rate and penalty on cotton reduced in grade because of Bark, Grass and Preparation.

The bale will go into the loan on the basis of the grade shown in the grade box on the Form 1 or green card, and a penalty of 1¢ a pound is assessed against the bale because of Bark or Grass. There is no penalty against a bale that is reduced because of Preparation, and it is eligible for the CCC loan on the basis of the grade shown in the grade box of the Form 1 or green class card.

A Gin-Out bale, which reduces a bale 3 or more grades is not eligible in the CCC loan.

Statistical estimates showed very little change in quality this week, compared with the week earlier. 39 per cent of the cotton classed was White, with 18 per cent Middling; 61 per cent was in the Colored grades, with 35 per cent Middling Light Spotted.

The staple length ranged from 7/8 to 1-1/16 inches. Only 3 per cent of the samples classed this week stapled 1 inch or longer; 97 per cent stapled 31/32 inch and shorter, with 74 per cent stapling 15/16 inch. It was significant to note that none of the cotton was classed as Wasty.

The predominant grade and staple length was Middling Light Spotted, 15/16, with 26 per cent so graded.

The micronaire readings were again slightly lower than the previous week, with 3.4 and lower reading 9 per cent; 62 per cent of the readings fell in the grouping 4.0 to 5.0.

The market activity slackened some, with the sales amounting to 65 per cent of that of the previous week.

Average prices paid for the main qualities selling were: Middling, 15/16—30.75; Strict Low Middling, 15/16—29.70.

Middling Light Spotted, 15/16—29.80. Strict Low Middling Light Spotted, 15/16—28.95.

Cotton reduced in grade because of Bark was bringing 28 to 45 points above the CCC loan rates.

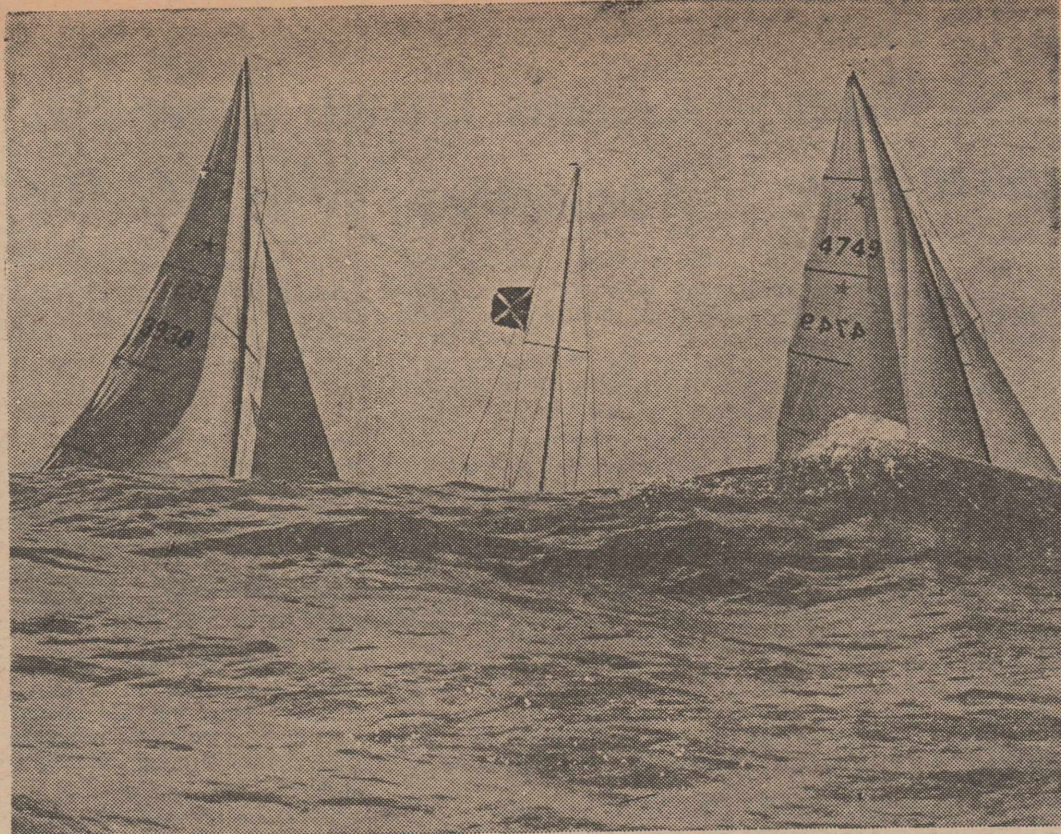

Cottonseed prices at gin points were generally $51.00 per ton.

Norwood Season Record Given

An un-defeated and untied record lies behind the Samnorwood Eaglettes, coached by Loyd Stephens. The season record of Samnorwood's Eaglettes and Eaglettes, along with the junior high teams, was announced this week.

Neither team played last week. Junior high girls have a 2-2 record, while the junior boys also are undefeated, having won four and lost none.

Hormones Can Help Produce Twins in Sheep

COLLEGE STATION.—The birth of twins or triplets is always welcome by sheepmen, and science has now discovered how to increase these multiple births, says Dr. A. M. Sorenson, of the animal husbandry department of Texas A&M University.

He explains that gonadotropic hormone, when injected into test ewes has caused a decided increase in the number of twins, triplets and other multiple births. The hormone stimulates the ovaries of the ewes to produce more eggs and thus there are more chances for fertilization and thus more young.

Lambs born from ewes receiving the injections were as strong, healthy and vigorous as lambs produced by uninjected animals, according to the tests.

This means that the method is a natural easy way to increase the number of lambs born with no harm to the ewes or the lambs.

Dr. Sorenson predicts that this method will gain wider acceptance and use in this country as our agriculture becomes more intensive and as land must produce more and more.

England, a country now being farmed intensively, is using hormone injections to increase lamb crops, he explains.

This is another example of how science is helping to increase the productivity of our resources, says Dr. Sorenson.

Quail FFA Aids Boys Ranch

Quail Future Farmers voted in a recent meeting to participate in the Boys Ranch program this year, in which they will make a contribution to the Ranch's vocational agriculture department.

There are a number of chapters in the Panhandle who take part in this program, and money donated by them goes to buy equipment and finance the projects of the boys living at the ranch.

Quail has participated for several years, according to Frank Kennedy, vocational agriculture instructor.

Cut Holding Time to Minimum

Elimination of stress and holding the period of unavoidable stress to a minimum in marketing of animals is a safety measure that can mean dollars to the owner.

Stress induces excessive shrink and weakens the animal's resistance. It also makes them nervous and difficult to handle, increasing the chances for carcass damage from bruise injury and death or cripple losses.

Do We Have a Farm Surplus or Is It a Needed Reserve

The nation's farm surplus is a well known story, but it is not a well understood story.

Is it really a surplus, or is this food and fiber in the storehouses a reserve which we should never be without and which we could need desperately?

Compare our farm surplus to another surplus we have, the Armed Forces and its supplies. No one denies that we dare not be without the latter. We do not complain about the fact that over 50 cents of every tax dollar goes into military spending.

But the farm surplus we have is just as important to our defense reserve as our military might. Neither do we dare be without it. Yet only 6 cents of the nation's tax dollar goes to promote a healthy farm economy. And this 6 cents has performed production and defense miracles that are the envy of the world.

The attitude that has prevailed about our Farm Surplus for the last 30 years obscures the fact that this abundance of food and fiber is our greatest asset. Without it, we are wide open and vulnerable. We could not fight a sustained war and we could not sustain a table peace. Certainly we could not enjoy the level of prosperity we enjoy today without this surplus.

John C. White, Texas commissioner of agriculture, points out that when viewed in the same light, guns and planes and military men are in the armed forces today are actually surplus items. Yet no one would suggest that we dispose of them. In that same category are wheat and corn and cotton in our warehouses. They are certainly defense items.

Commissioner White continues. "It is surprising to see how many politicians and business leaders look on food as a non-strategic item. Yet, it is an admitted fact, that agricultural failures in Russia are the main cause of the breakdown of the communist time-table to enslave the world."

"So it appears that farmers are continually being 'city-slicked' in regard to telling everybody the difference between surpluses and strategic reserves. And those who criticize agricultural program costs are completely unaware of the enormously greater expense which the government incurs by subsidizing the post office, the air lines, the shipping lines, the railroads, and hundreds of other businesses and industries. Food, after all, is the mightiest weapon for war and peace that we have."

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

I see where a university professor has been nosing around and he says research has proved that rich men are generally happier than poor men.

Which is a discovery that is bound to be a boon to society, because now any rich people feeling like they would be happier if poor, can use this scientific revelation to help them reconcile themselves to their condition.

But my senior whittler neighbor says if any further proof of this conclusion is needed, he volunteers as an experienced poor man, to live a while as a rich man, expenses paid, and report back which way he is happiest.

I see where on that Ugly Friday in Dallas, our Mr. Johnson closed his first message to the people as President with a solemn invocation of God's help in his new job.

Which likely will be considered by dedicated atheists and certain types of legal minds, as unconstitutional mingling of affairs of State and Religion. In fact, this matter may cause litigation in the courts, so that every time the President feels like any help he is getting comes from the Lord, he will have to turn it down.

I see where it says in the news that Russia is dickering to buy enough U.S. alcohol to

New Walks at Quail Church

Improvements at the Quail Baptist Church were announced this week by the Rev. Fred Porter, pastor.

Curbing was put in to regulate parking. A five-foot sidewalk was laid to the rear door and a narrower walk to the front door.

This work was done by Rev. Porter, Jim Lowe and Frank Kennedy. The sign to the church will be painted.

This is part of the Quail Church's work in participation in the state-wide improvement program.

John Jay was the first chief justice of the Supreme Court.

New Features

New Texas Almanac Encyclopedia of Texas

Many new features in the 1964-1965 Texas Almanac, just published by The Dallas Morning News, have been added to material that has made this 106-year-old publication the "Encyclopedia of Texas."

Texas' increasing urbanization is emphasized in special pages containing photographs and comparative statistics for 21 metropolitan areas, including the cities of Abilene, Amarillo, Austin, Beaumont, Port Arthur, Corpus Christi, Brownsville, Harlingen, San Benito, Dallas, El Paso, Fort Worth, Galveston, Texas City, Houston, Laredo, Lubbock, Midland, Odessa, San Angelo, San Antonio, Texarkana, Tyler, Waco and Wichita Falls.

Maps of 254 counties and data on all counties and cities of Texas have been brought up to date, including population and other figures from the 1960 U.S. census. New features are a County Economic Index, and maps showing leading Texas counties in production of crops and livestock.

Texas who like to brag will find ample ammunition in two pages showing the rank of Texas among states, and in proportion of the United States total, in leading categories.

Other data appearing for the first time include carlot shipments of fruits and vegetables and added information on export-import trade.

Texas landmarks are listed by counties in a special section, revised through information from authorities on county histories.

All Governors of Texas and Presidents of the Republic of Texas are pictured in the historical section.

Agricultural information has been completely revised, with the help of authorities of Texas A&M, the U.S. Department of Agriculture and others. For this and other sections, several thousand Texans have supplied information and photographs, according to Walter B. Moore, editor.

Election returns, the text of the Constitution of Texas with amendments adopted through 1962, a list of wet and dry counties, maps of Texas Senatorial, Representative and Congressional Districts, lists of state, county and municipal officials, and other information are found in the discussion of politics and elections.

Water, soils, plant life, weather, wild life, minerals, employment and labor, manufacturing, service industries, and hundreds of other topics are summarized in the 688 pages. A widely-used section is the list of more than 500 statewide civic organizations, with their chief executives and home addresses.

A comprehensive index increases the usefulness of the Texas Almanac's data for schools, businessmen, public officials, writers and speakers, and others. While it is primarily a reference publication, more than 400 illustrations, including a 4-color photograph of the Alamo on the cover, are expected to make the publication popular as a gift item for individuals and business firms.

Quail to Meet District Winner Paducah Dec. 6

The Quail Quails and Bobwhites will play the Paducah Dragons and Dragonettes in the Quail gym Friday night, Dec. 6, Coach Don Lacy announced. "Both Paducah teams won district titles last year and are expected to be real tough," Lacy said.

The Quail teams play Wellington in Rocket gym Tuesday night, Dec. 10.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Hill and sons, Greg and Scott, of Amarillo visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Watkins during Thanksgiving. Other visitors in the Watkins home over the holidays were her sister, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Shields of Amarillo.

Mr. and Mrs. Jake Leach returned Saturday of last week from a visit to South Texas. They visited with Mr. and Mrs. Bill Leach in Houston, and with other relatives.

Quails Down Rockets; Rockettes Win 46-28

The Quail boys and the Wellington girls won their games played at Quail Tuesday night, Nov. 26. The Quail Quails dropped the Wellington Rockettes 64-41, after the Wellington Rockettes had defeated Quail Bobwhites 46-28.

Bobwhites vs. Rockettes
The Wellington girls, district winners last year, took an early lead but had the pressure applied for three quarters by the Bobwhites.

After trailing by six points at the end of the first quarter, the Bobwhites tied the score at 11 all early in the second period. However, the Rockettes again went in front and were leading by five points at the half.

The third quarter was a nip and tuck affair with neither team being able to gain on the other and the quarter ended with the Wellington girls still four points ahead.

The fourth quarter was all Wellington as the Rockettes, led by Betty Courtney's 10 points, rallied for 20 points while holding the Bobwhites to only six.

Starting the game for the Bobwhites were Sue Saunders, Shirley Horton and Lonetta Neeley, forwards, and Mary Katherine Conner, Mary Ann Lindsey and Patricia Kimbro, guards.

Wellington starters were Betty Courtney, Jane Orr and Jan Glenn, forwards, and Carol Blain, Ann Orr and Karen Childress, guards.

High pointer of the game was Betty Courtney with 20 points, while Sue Saunders made 18.

The score by quarters:
Bobwhites 4 14 22 28
Rockettes 10 19 26 46

Quails vs. Rockets
The Quails took an early lead over the football-minded Rockettes and were never threatened throughout the contest.

Leading by five points after the first period, the Quails widened the margin to 15 by halftime and 22 by the end of the third quarter. Both coaches played every man on their squads as 30 boys saw action in this game.

Starting the game for the Rockets were Bryan Hatch and Bobby Hudson, forwards, Danny Martin and Kenneth Patterson, guards, and Freddy Peters center.

Quail starters were Robert Russell and Bruce Ward, forwards; Dale Morris and Joe Harris, guards, and Carroll Kennedy, center.

The leading scorers were Dale Morris with 14 points, and Carroll Kennedy with 13 for Quail, and Freddy Peters with 10 for Wellington.

The score by quarters:

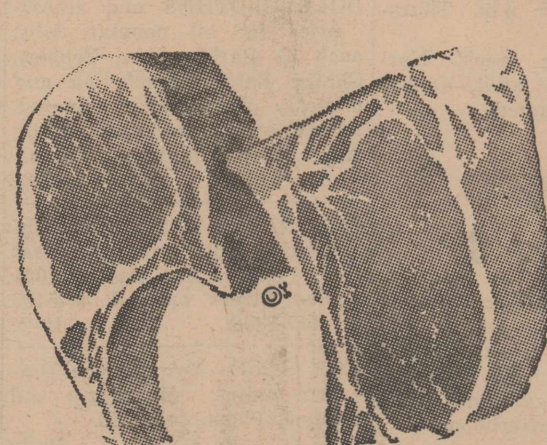

Quails 14 29 44 64
Rockets 9 14 22 41

The teams will meet again in the Wellington gym Tuesday night, Dec. 10, with the girls game starting at 7 p.m.

In 1910 there were only 348,088 employees in the U.S. Civil Service.

Lonnie Hollingsworth

FORMER CITY MAN DIRECTOR OF TEXAS FIRST TRAILER BANK

A former Wellington man, Lonnie F. Hollingsworth, now a Lubbock pharmacy owner, is on the board of directors of "Texas' First Trailer Bank," the Security National in that city.

The bank held open house on Sunday afternoon, Dec. 1 and was open for business on Monday morning, Dec. 2. It is located at Five-Points Corner on the Brownfield highway. It is complete with a drive-in window.

"Because of the fact that it takes time to build a bank building, and because we are anxious to start rendering service to our customers, we have secured a completely equipped bank trailer house," a brochure from the new bank explained.

"Plans are now on the drawing boards for a beautiful modern permanent building which will be completed next spring on our two and a half acre site adjacent to our temporary location."

Hollingsworth is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hollingsworth, who operate the OK Motel. He graduated from Wellington high school in 1949, attended Midwestern University a semester, then served in the Navy from 1950 to 1954.

He received his degree in pharmacy from the University of Texas in 1957, and entered business for himself at Lubbock four years ago. He is married to the former Nancy Barrett of Mangum and they have two children, Heather Lea and Lonnie Jr.

Quail FFA in District Contest

Quail Future Farmers placed second in the Greenbelt District junior farm skills contest held recently in connection with the leadership contests at Childress.

Members of the team were Garland Boyce, Coy Stephens, and Earl Feemster. The skill was reversing the direction of pull on an electric motor.

The senior farm skill team placed third, with Bruce Ward, Reed Souder and Royce Mitchell as members, and their demonstration was the same as that of the freshmen.

Third also was received in radio broadcasting. Team members were Tommy Needham, Don Morris and Paul Gollighugh.

Another third was received by the senior chapter conducting team. Participating were Dale Morris, president; Rodney Hill, vice president; Stanley Gosnell, reporter; Denzil Phipps, treasurer; Jerry Boyce, secretary; Herman Mitchell, sentinel; and Frank Kennedy, vocational ag instructor, served as advisor.

CARPENTER SAYS "GO!"

"When it comes to Christmas Seals," says spaceman Scott Carpenter, "I want to get right down to earth and tell you how much I believe in supporting 'em!" The astronaut is appearing on TV and radio in behalf of the annual Christmas Seal Campaign.

Ag Yearbook Stresses Changes in Rural Areas

College Station. — The 1963 Yearbook of Agriculture, entitled "A Place to Live," focuses attention to the many changes occurring in rural areas throughout the country as a result of urbanization.

Gerald F. Vaughn, extension resource development specialist at Texas A&M says the book has many applications to Texas and Texas conditions and should prove a valuable aid to leaders in keeping abreast of changes.

For example, chapters are included on topics such as "The Family Farm in Transition," "Farming on the Urban Fringe," "The Small Rural Town," "Water Is Always a Critical Factor," "Encouraging Industry in the Country," and many others that are of concern to Texans.

Copies of the Yearbook, "A Place to Live," may be obtained from the U.S. Government Printing Office for $3.00.

Soybean Yield of 57.8 Bushels at High Plains

Delbert Langford, agronomist for the High Plains Research Foundation at Halfway, reported that by applying the practice of skip-row farming, he received a high yield of 57.8 bushels per acre of the HINN soybean. The HINN soybean is the new bean bred by the Foundation and is the first soybean bred for this area of Texas.

Barry Love, associate agronomist for the Foundation, in charge of developing the HINN bean, said that the chemical analysis of the HINN was 18.5 per cent oil and 34.9 per cent protein. Barry reported that along with the other qualities of the HINN bean, high yield, non shattering, and high tolerance for lodging, it has something that both the farmer as well as the processor can benefit from.

The HINN variety was developed in the Foundation's accelerated research program in keeping with the idea of the Foundation's creed of doing today what the farmer will need tomorrow. With this in mind, the HINN soybean was tested this year throughout the Texas Panhandle and South Plains in an effort to check production in a variety of locations.

In all of these tests, ranging from the top of Texas at Farnsworth, near Perryton, down to Ralls in the South Plains, the HINN bean out-yielded the

Farms of Future Fewer but Will Produce More

By 1975 farmers and farms will be fewer but they will be called on to produce more food for more people.

This will mean that the farmer, who is now producing enough food for 26 people, will have to increase production about 50% to produce food for 42 people by that year.

Hill and Lee beans, which are the soybeans that have been grown here in Texas.

Dr. Earl H. Collister, director of the High Plains Research Foundation and a plant breeder who has worked with soybeans for over 17 years, reports that "the HINN soybean has some of the finest qualities that I have ever seen in a soybean. One of the most important, aside from the high yielding ability, is the inherent tendency of the HINN of heavy branching. This will help to insure a good yield in a case of a poor stand due to adverse weather. This branching will compensate for stand, in case of a hail or other bad weather."

Foundation seed of the HINN variety is being released to Certified seed growers. Contributors and supporters of the foundation are being given priority in allocation of seed. If the farmers are interested in the HINN soybean they may contact Barry Love, Box 1267, Plainview, Texas.

LOOKING AHEAD

by Dr. George S. Benson

OUTMODDED METHODS

In these days of exciting changes, when many traditions, institutions, and older ways of doing things are being challenged, it seems to be time for American labor to hold up to the light of reason its oft-used dependence upon the wasteful, lawless, and undisciplined strike as a method of forcing economic compliance.

Violence, force, and riot accomplish no lasting changes in our social, economic, and political scene. Our system provides no moral basis for use of such tactics.

The American way should require us to debate issues as calmly as possible, in lawful order. It is possible that we have been too much obsessed with forcing favors for minorities, in our desire to advance the underdog and protect the lowly from predators. Most Americans want to help the underprivileged. But instead of encouraging them to take to the street, to riot, picket, or strike, we ought to teach a point of view more consistent with the Christian ethic. We should then perhaps reach the point, in time, when even "compulsory" arbitration would not be needed in settling disputes.

If violence and bloodshed in senseless battles over race relations on the changing social scene hurt the image of America as we look at ourselves and as foreigners see us, so also do riots, destruction of property, and violence in the economic area.

If company property is in jeopardy, the rights that are involved are no less human because the property belongs to corporate stockholders. Losses to workers' payrolls in dollars during unnecessary strikes are very human losses, as are the losses in profits, when viewed in terms of doctor bills and babies' milk. It is time to put strikes and rioting aside as relics of a former age.

Two recent examples from the state of Florida will suggest the need for progress in labor relations. Without determining the right or wrong of the issues in dispute, an impartial person would surely declare these events unjustifiable.

The first involves a Florida railroad which moved ahead to eliminate featherbedding, during a walkout over wages. Its strike has been going for more than seven months. In this period more than $5 million in wages have been "saved" by the company—or "lost" to the workers, depending on how you look at it.

With its unions on strike, the line has kept going and despite at least 130 instances of vandalism and sabotage it has managed to reach 95% of capacity. Union officials say that they will win this strike, but the railroad says it will continue to operate no matter how long the strike goes on.

It finds it necessary to run a station wagon equipped with flanged wheels ahead of each train in order to prevent any wrecks from damaged track.

On Florida's west coast, a telephone company since early July has been experiencing bitter labor resistance to an effort to keep its lines open and maintain phone service to its public.

Despite violence and sabotage, a skeleton crew of non-strikers and supervisors is keeping most of the wires open, with the use of automated equipment.

Cables have been cut and dynamited, bombs and fires used to destroy facilities, and telephone poles sawed down.

THE WELLINGTON (TEXAS) LEADER Thursday, December 5, 1963

By late August damage to the company had amounted to more than one million dollars and at least that much had been lost in wages.

Many friends of labor in the area, reports say, have turned unsympathetic toward the local unions involved.

Columnist Victor Riesel compared the havoc in the Tampa area with a Venezuelan revolution. Though a victim of labor violence himself, Mr. Riesel is known as a friend of the workman. He is concerned lest this kind of havoc hurt both labor and America. He remarked that Tampa resembled Caracas at dawn: "There were fires. Men and women manhandled. Noses were broken. Ribs were cracked. Masked men raided private property. Dynamite was planted. Shotguns were fired."

But—wrote Mr. Riesel—they "harmed whatever cause they fought for in so brutal a manner."

Boys Game Close

WHS Takes Double Header from Dodson

The Rockets and Rockettes won over the Dodson Mustang boys and girls Friday night, Nov. 29, here, but it was only in the last four minutes of play that Wellington was able to pull away and cinch the game, 51 to 40.

The Rockettes won 68 to 28 over the smaller Dodson girls. Lots of the Wellington girls were in on the scoring, and the high pointer was Betty Courtney with 21. Jane Orr made 14.

As the score mounted, Rockette guards scored for the first time in their high school career, among them Carol Blain, Karen Childress, and Ann Orr.

No Wellington starter played during the last half, according to Coach James Stavenhagen.

Three Dodson girls tied for high with 9 points each, Linda Sexton, Carol Sexton and E. Lemons.

"Dodson is considerably improved over last year and they do lots of things well," Coach Stavenhagen commented.

The Rockettes looked better than in their opening game with Quail Tuesday night, too, and continued improvement is indicated.

The score by quarters:
Wellington 21 40 55 68
Dodson 10 16 21 28

Skyrockets-Mustangs

This game remained close until the closing minutes of play.

The Rockets, Coach Stavenhagen pointed out, are still trying to recover from the football season, and it will be several weeks yet before they are at peak performance.

So far, Coach Stavenhagen has been running two teams, one composed mostly of seniors, and the other of juniors—and there's not much difference in the performance of the two.

"The defense of our kids is real tough for this early in the season," the coach said. "I think we'll have a good club once we move out a little bit."

High point honors for Dodson were tied by Willie Riley and his brother Foster, with 12 each.

"They have a pretty fair ball club. Coach Lackey has done a good job and they are smoothing out real well. He has some young kids who bring the ball down the floor for him. Right now they lose the ball some, but they're going to be real tough for him later," the Wellington coach said.

Used Toy Drive to Give Holiday Joy

Wagons with a wheel gone and dolls without an arm — these are just part of many toys to be repaired that already have come into the ag building at Wellington high school, toys that will spell out happiness for the town's needy children this Christmas.

Friday, Dec. 6, has been designated as Toy Pick-up Day, and Wellington Future Farmers will cover the town to gather used toys that may be repaired.

Those with toys to give are asked to cooperate by putting them in boxes and setting them in front of their homes.

The annual toy repair work is a joint project of the FFA Chapter and the Wellington Rotary Club, and both boys and men will distribute the gifts to needy children in Wellington on Christmas Eve.

Man Fined on Liquor Count

Johnny Lee Nash, colored, was arrested by sheriff's department and city officers Saturday, Nov. 30 about 9 p.m. when 27 pints of wine and 81 cans of beer were taken, according to Sheriff John Rainey. He worked with Police Chief Donald Nunneley and Deputy Kenneth Hodge to make the arrest. Nash's home is in the flats.

Sheriff Rainey filed a complaint against Nash for possession of beer and wine for the purpose of sale. Tried before Judge C. C. Bishop in county court Monday, Nash was fined $100 and costs, which he paid, according to officers.

Monday, also, State Liquor Control officers came here and filed a second complaint against Nash alleging sale of beer in a dry area, Chief Nunneley said. Nash pled not guilty and is free on $1,000 bond, he added.

The raid Saturday night unexpectedly netted officers 11 dice shooters. They were charged with gambling and pled guilty in Justice Court that same night before Claude McKinney. Fines of $1 and cost of $27.50 were levied. Nine have paid and two are laying out their fines in Memphis jail, Sheriff Rainey said.

SALT FORK SOIL CONSERVATION DISTRICT NEWS

Conservation reserve land, that is not seeded to permanent grass, can now be seeded with cost-share, under Great Plains, 80 per cent of cost, or ACP 50 per cent, primarily on sandy land planted to sorghum alnum that has since died out and has invading grasses and weeds.

Some of the farmers who have seeded are W. C. Harwell, 110 acres under the Great Plains program;

Douglas Coleman, Emmett Ware, plan to seed grass next spring.

Marvin Knoll is in the process of developing a Great Plains program to seed most of his soil bank back to switch grass and side oats grama.

For a while it was not possible to follow this plan, but regulations have been changed to make it possible.

It is suggested that if a farmer plans to leave his land in grass after it comes out of the soil bank, he should seed it now, so the grass will have time to become established.
