Government Opens Way For Price Hikes

Increases To Offset Wage Raises Up To 33 Per Cent Can Be Sought

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5—The government, in an action which may have a bearing on some labor disputes, tonight told industry it could apply for price increases to offset wage boosts up to 33 per cent above the levels of January, 1941.

Previously wage increases up to 30 per cent above that date could be used as a basis for asking price rises.

Whether the action, taken by Stabilization Administrator John C. Collet, might eventually aid in settling such wage disputes as the General Motors strike was not known. General Motors corporation and the CIO United Auto Workers agreed tonight to resume negotiations Thursday in Detroit.

Basis For Application

Collet said in effect that if a manufacturer grants wage raises up to 33 per cent, as compared with January, 1941, wages, he can use the increases as a basis for an application to OPA to raise prices.

The Collet order did not say that the OPA would actually grant the price increases. (Some government economists expressed the view that OPA might want to wait to see whether expected high production and possible lower production costs might make price increases unnecessary).

Collet accepted a new Labor department estimate that living costs had increased 33 per cent since January, 1941, if deterioration in quality of some goods bought by consumers is considered.

Increased Living Costs

Hence, he said, the stabilization agency, which in most cases would be the War Labor board, may approve pay rises to compensate for the increased living costs, and the employer "may use these increases as a basis for seeking an increase in price ceilings or for increasing costs (of his product) to the government."

Price increases are to be limited "to the fullest practicable extent" to cover only wage increases which the employer already has put into effect.

The regulations provide that stabilization agencies shall not (Turn to Page 8, Column 6, Please)

'Total War' On GM Pledged

BUFFALO, N. Y., Dec. 5. (AP)—The United Automobile Workers (CIO) "is determined to fight a total war" in its struggle with General Motors Corp. over a 30 per cent wage increase, Walter P. Reuther, vice president of the UAW-CIO, declared tonight.

The struggle between the corporation and the UAW-CIO "is just as fundamental as the things for which we fought on the battlefields of the war," Reuther told a mass meeting of Buffalo area General Motors strikers.

"Gilded Frame" Slogans

"We believe in the four freedoms, we subscribe to the principles of the Atlantic Charter, but let's take the slogan out of the guilded frames and make them live in Buffalo and Detroit where the people live," he asserted.

Before entering the meeting, Reuther told a reporter "General Motors officials have agreed there will be no strings attached this time" when negotiations between the company and the UAW-CIO are resumed in Detroit tomorrow.

"Illegal" Picketing

The corporation previously had insisted that a general resumption of negotiations, including the UAW-CIO's 30 per cent wage increase demand, must await settlement of what it termed "illegal" picketing by its 175,000 striking production workers.

Reuther, who flew here from Pittsburgh where he participated in a secret union-company conference at which the decision was made to resume negotiations, told his Buffalo audience of about a thousand:

"I'm happy to report that tomorrow at 2 o'clock the General Motors corporation will sit down to negotiate with our union on wages without strings being attached."

Two Die When Truck Is Struck By Train

AMARILLO, Dec. 5. (AP)—Two person were killed and a 3-year-old boy was seriously injured this afternoon at a grade crossing, four miles south of Canyon.

The dead are J. M. Durham and his sister-in-law, Mrs. S. C. Durham, who lived on a farm 13 miles south of Hart in Castro county. Mrs. Durham's son, Clinton, was in a critical condition in an Amarillo hospital.

The truck in which they were riding was struck broadside by a southbound Santa Fe passenger train at 4:30 o'clock. The pickup truck was carried 150 feet before the train could stop. It was demolished.

Former Archbishop Of Canterbury Dies

LONDON, Dec. 5 (AP) — Lord Lang, former Archbishop of Canterbury and of York, and a key figure in events leading up to the abdication of King Edward VIII in 1936 to marry Wallis Warfield Simpson, died today at the age of 81.

He left his home, Kings Cottage, Kew Green, in apparently good health this morning, but collapsed near a railway station, and died before reaching the Royal hospital Richmond.

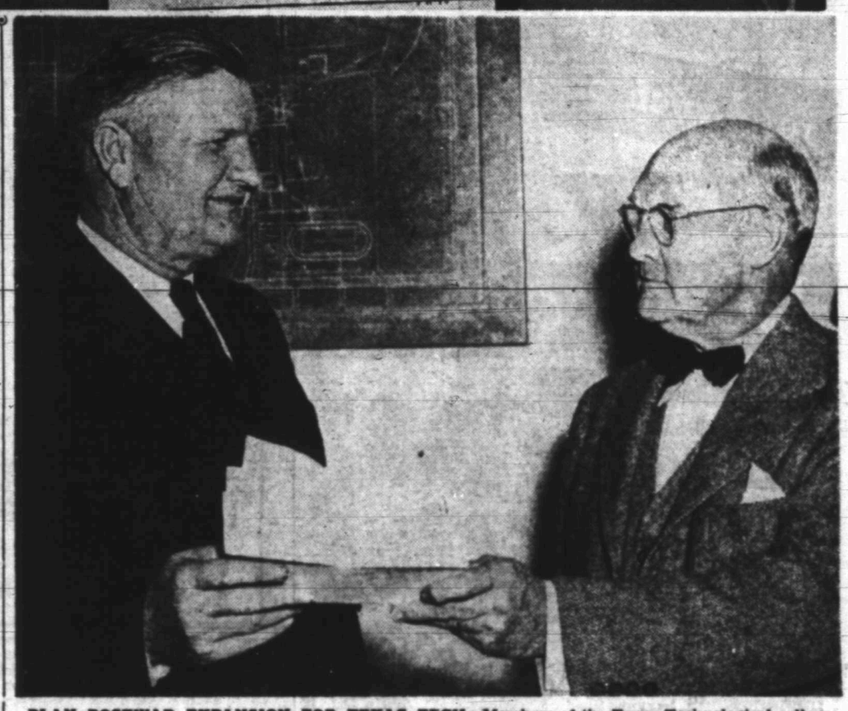

Cosmo Gordon Lang, as Archbishop of Canterbury, and the then Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin, were credited with leading the movement which resulted in Edward's abdication, and his subsequent departure from England as the Duke of Windsor.

The archbishop crowned King George VI and Queen Elizabeth in Westminister Abbey on May 12, 1937.

Hurley Flays Former Aides

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. (AP)—Snowy-haired Patrick J. Hurley, his voice flaring with anger asserted today that two career diplomats who favored "collapse" of the present government of China had been given vital assignments with Gen. Douglas MacArthur after Hurley sent them home from the embassy at Chungking.

Also, in the course of two and a half hours of impassioned testimony before the Senate Foreign Relations committee, Hurley made these major assertions:

Britain Opposed Plan

That Britain was opposing United States policy for the unification of China at the very moment that Maj. Gen. Hurley, then ambassador at Chungking, was trying hardest to negotiate an agreement between the Chinese Communist and Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek.

That some of the career men in China supported an imperialistic bloc of nations and were perfectly willing to use lend-lease to subjugate people contrary to the policies of the Atlantic Charter. Hurley named the "imperialistic bloc" as consisting of Britain, France, The Netherlands, to a less important extent Belgium and Portugal; and, before the war, Germany and Japan.

That at the moment none of the big powers, Russia, the United States and Britain, is helping the Chinese Communists and without such help the Communists are not, in Hurley's opinion, a major threat to the control of China by Chiang Kai-Shek.

"Leak" To Communists

That some American diplomat "leaked" to the Communist leaders in North China a policy agreed upon by President Roosevelt at the Yalta Big Three conference that the United States would arm either Nationalist or Communist troops when its forces invaded China, depending on what troops it found in the territory where the invasion occurred. As a result, Hurley said, he suddenly discovered that the Communists were concentrating troops toward one port so that they would be sure to get American arms.

That he resigned last week as ambassador to China because he discovered that the "career men" who had been fighting his policies in China were attacking him again even through speeches delivered by congressmen on the floor of Congress. "I was left naked to my enemies and the (Turn to Page 8, Column 4, Please)

Generals Debate Yamashita's Fate

MANILA, Dec. 5 (AP)—Five American generals pondered behind closed doors tonight the fate of Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita, after hearing the final arguments of counsel in his month-long trial on war crimes charges. Their verdict is expected Friday.

The penalty of death by hanging was demanded by chief prosecutor Maj. Robert M. Kerr, but defense counsel Col. Harry E. Clarke in an impassioned plea urged the commission to "exemplify the concepts and standards of American justice, the keystone of American democracy, by returning a finding of not guilty."

Sums Up Tragic Story

Kerr talked for nearly three hours, summing up the tragic story of mass murder, rape and other atrocities attributed to Yamashita's men by prosecution witnesses and hammering home the argument that Yamashita failed to prevent these crimes because he simply "did not care."

Kerr also assailed the defense contention that most of the atrocities were committed by battle-crazed men on an Army which had gotten out of hand in the confusion of disaster.

Capt. Adolf Reel of the defense staff argued eloquently against condemning Yamashita for the crimes of others. He insisted that the general "neither knew about, permitted or condoned" atrocities, which "in fact were in complete disregard of any of his orders about the treatment of the Filipino people."

Transfer Of Surplus Housing Approved

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. (AP)—Surplus Property Administrator W. Stuart Symington today signed an order authorizing federal agencies to turn over surplus housing to state or local governments for rental to veterans.

Effective immediately, the order making property available without charge to local and state governments also covers any surplus property adaptable to housing.

It applies to both permanent and demountable housing, as well as to nay buildings which can be converted to housing use.

UNRRA Medic Quits With Charge That . . .

Jews "Mistreated"

FRANKFORT, Germany, Dec. 5. (AP)—Dr. Leo Srole resigned today as an UNRRA public health official in American-occupied Germany in protest over "neglect and indignities" in Jewish refugee camps, and denounced the entire Army program for handling displaced persons.

Srole asserted that "a disastrous epidemic is expected to strike at any hour" in the Jewish camp at Landsberg.

Lt. Gen. Walter B. Smith promised a quick investigation, and said Jews from all eastern Europe were crowding into the U. S. zone, necessitating a return to simple "rescue" work and curtailment of the rehabilitation program.

Srole, a Hobart college sociologist, charged that UNRRA had "been placed in a weak position" because of Army policy, and that American Military government on lower levels "tends to protect and often coddle the Germans, and otherwise neglects the elementary humar needs of those who were first declard enemies of Nazism."

He said AMG policy "occasionally actively inflicts indignities" upon the Jewish refugees.

In a detailed statement, described by Smith as "a very serious indictment," Srole scored the Army's handling of displaced persons, and said that inadequately clothed Jews in the Landsberg camp were crowded into wooden shacks condemned as unfit for German prisoners.

HEALTH DIRECTORS SEE NO WINTER EPIDEMIC

LONDON, Dec. 5. (AP) — Dr. Andrew Topping, European health director for UNRRA, said today that no winter epidemic of disease was likely in Europe.

Even if disease did break out on the continent, he told a meeting of the Royal Sanitary institute, strict quarantine methods and emergency measures would prevent it from spreading.

Adolf In Last Hours Pictured As Madman 'Bossing' Phantom Army

By JAMES F. KING
Associated Press Staff Writer

OBERURSEL, Germany, Dec. 5.—A Graphic eye-witness account of Adolf Hitler's last hours today pictured the fuehrer as a raving madman, alternately rehearsing suicide and "directing" a phantom rescue army which had been wiped out days before.

The dramatic description, often bordering on comic opera, was given to U. S. Army investigators by Capt. Hanna Reitsch, German aviatrix who flew the last Nazi plane out of Berlin, and was released with the comment that it was "probably as accurate" an account as will be obtained. Her story was told today through an American interrogator.

Join In Suicide Pact

The blonde 33-year-old pilot said Hitler and Martin Bormann, his missing deputy, had joined in a suicide pact a few hours before the fall of Berlin, but said she had left upon the fuehrer's orders before the suicides were carried out.

Tracing Hitler's actions as he and a little group of associates huddled in a bunker under the Reichschancellery while the Russians closed in, she said the fuehrer, raving and ranting, repeatedly berated Hermann Goering, Heinrich Himmler and other Nazi leaders as traitors who deserted him in an attempt to save their necks.

As the intensity of the Russian artillery barrage increased, Capt. Reitsch said, the shaking fuehrer, on the verge of collapse, called repeated suicide rehearsals while special SS (Elite Guard) men, charged with destroying the bodies, stood by.

Still Hopes For Rescue

Until the last, however, she said Hitler pinned his hopes on the arrival of an army, commanded by a General Wench, which he believed was driving up from the south to rescue him. This army, she learned later, had already (Turn to Page 8, Column 2, Please)

Gerow Takes Full Blame On Pearl Harbor Warning Lapse

By WILLIAM T. PEACOCK
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. (AP)—Lt. Gen. Leonard T. Gerow, brushing aside a suggestion that "higher-ups" might share it, assumed full responsibility today for any War department failure to send additional warnings to Pearl Harbor before the Japanese attack.

In a dramatic moment of the Pearl Harbor inquiry, the tanned officer solemnly told the Senate-House committee:

"If there is any War department responsibility for failure to send additional warnings to General Short, it must fall on the war plans division and as chief of the division at the time, I accept the responsibility."

Heads Of Suggestion

William D. Mitchell, committee counsel, suggested that the reply of Lt. Gen. Walter C. Short, commander at Hawaii, to a warning from Washington "went higher" but Gerow interposed.

It was his job, Gerow said, to check operations messages from overseas stations and he had 48 officers to help him. He would take the responsibility.

Mitchell had developed that, from the routing sheet record and initialing, both Secretary Stimson and General George C. Marshall apparently saw Short's reply to a Nov. 27, 1941, message from Marshall saying hostilities with Japan might be near.

Short's message said he had altered for sabotage and established liaison with the Navy. It developed after the Dec. 7, 1941, attack that the command was alert only against sabotage.

Commander In Europe

Maj. Gen. Sherman Miles, an earlier witness, had expressed the opinion that Short's reply was "totally inadequate."

Gerow left the war plans division early in 1942, later took part in the Normandy landings and commanded troops in Europe.

Marshall will be the witness tomorrow.

These other major points were developed from Gerow's testimony or documents introduced while he was in the witness chair:

1. The Army and Navy had been at odds since February, 1941, over proposals for attaining more unity of command at frontier positions, such as Hawaii. After Pearl Harbor, it was decided that the Navy should have the top post in Hawaii.

2. Gerow said he deleted from the Nov. 27 message to Short a reference to precautions against sabotage because he wanted the message "interpreted as warning x x x only of an attack from without." Separate warnings against sabotage were sent by Miles and the air corps.

Pre-Pearl Harbor Commitment

3. Gerow gave an unqualified "no" when asked whether he knew before Pearl Harbor of any commitment for the United States (Turn to Page 8, Column 3, Please)

New Stadium, Three New Dorms Planned

Dr. Jones Underwrites $100,000 Toward Up-To-Date Athletic Plant

By C. W. RATLIFF
Avalanche Staff Writer

SPEARHEADING a postwar expansion program for Texas Technological college, Dr. Clifford B. Jones, president emeritus, surprised a meeting of the college board of directors by agreeing to underwrite $100,000 toward the cost of a $300,000 athletic stadium and announcing that the principal sum of bonds in that amount eventually would become a gift to the college.

Jones' announcement highlighted a meeting which saw the directors approve proposed construction of three additional dormitories for the college to cost an estimated $1,900,000; accept an offer of the City of Lubbock for a lease on facilities at Lubbock Army Air field, if declared surplus; and appoint a committee to confer with Chairman Weaver Baker of the State Board of Control and Gov. Coke R. Stevenson in Austin Dec. 14, with a request that the board of control press its application to the RFC immediately for gift of the Pantex Ordnance plant to Tech.

Select Name For Stadium

In accepting Dr. Jones' offer to underwrite the first $100,000 toward construction of the stadium with the provision that the remainder of the money be raised by popular subscription within 90 days, the board unanimously voted to name the stadium the "Clifford and Audrey Jones Memorial stadium" and pay an interest rate of 5 per cent per annum on the revenue-bearing bonds Jones would purchase. Jones had previously suggested an interest rate of three and one-half per cent, in his prepared statement read to the board.

"At the opening of the board of directors of the college the bonds or any of them may be paid at any time and thus abate interest on such bonds principal as is paid," Jones' letter to the board stated. "This provision is solely in the interest of the college at such time as it might have excess funds and desired to stop further payments. I am not expecting bond principal ever to be paid," the letter continued.

Board Members Boost Total

Jones explained he hoped a stadium would help Tech become a member of the Southwest conference and added "I've always wanted to do something for the college." Chairman Thompson remarked earnestly "No man has done more for it than you have."

Immediately after voting to accept Dr. Jones' generous offer and tendering him the honor of naming the stadium in behalf of himself and Mrs. Jones, the board members agreed to raise $50,000 themselves and to accept the offer of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce and alumni of the college to raise an additional $150,000 for the stadium.

"I'll guarantee $10,000 of the amount," Board Member Karl Hoblitzelle of Dallas spoke up, and immediately Chanslor Weymouth of Amarillo said "I'll guarantee $5,000 and believe I can get another $5,000 from Amarillo."

Would Seat 15,000

The proposed stadium would be constructed of steel and concrete and seat an estimated 15,000. It also would include shower and locker facilities for both the home and visiting teams.

If the remainder of the necessary funds are raised within the 90-day period as set out by Dr. Jones, contracts would be let and construction started in time to have the stadium available for use by next fall, providing materials and labor are available, it was said.

Construction of three additional dormitories on the campus, for which a bonding agreement was discussed with J. Ervin Shilg of Dallas, representing Garrett and Company, would provide for housing of 1,000 more students. The dormitories, two of which are designed as combination girls' units with separate dining rooms served by the same kitchen and the other for boys, would be contracted for by March, 1946, under the agreement. Each would contain 164 (Turn to Page 8, Column 1, Please)

GOP Solons Draft Policy

By D. HAROLD OLIVER
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5 (AP) — House and Senate Republicans today approved a mid-term declaration of party principles calling for "open diplomacy at home and abroad" and for fulfilling United Nations pledges to small nations.

Participants in the closed meeting said approval was by an overwhelming vote.

The 1,000-word statement of "aims and purposes" designed to supplement the party platform of 1944 in preparation for the 1946 "great power domination of the world."

Collective Bargaining

On the subject of labor, it asserted collective bargaining contracts should be binding on both sides.

"Free collective bargaining and contracts resulting therefrom," it said, "must not be nullified or destroyed by resort on either side to wilful violence or unlawful destruction of property."

One major change was made by the House party members in the policy declaration as drafted by a seven-man subcommittee. This was to eliminate a clause which said:

"No organization of capital or labor should be permitted, directly or indirectly, to use its funds for any political party or candidate."

Members reported this section was debated at length and then removed because many congressmen are elected with the aid of local labor groups. A member of the drafting group asserted, however, that its elimination was "not a bid for support of the CIO-PAC."

National Defense

In addition to foreign relations and labor planks, the statement urged a strong national defense supported by science, industry, reserves and equipment.

It also called for government economy, lightening the burdens of debt and taxes, federal aid to citizens "unable to provide for themselves," stability of farm prices, a "fair return to both labor and investors if we are to have jobs for the workers, goods for the consumers and adequate revenue for the government," "drastic reductions of bureaucracy," and the "best" of care, training and education for veterans.

To Guarantee A Merry Christmas For City's Children . . .

Goodfellows Open Annual Drive

CHRISTMAS is just around the corner . . . And Lubbock's Goodfellows need $1,500 to see that every child in the city who otherwise might be forgotten, will be remembered.

As has been the custom for the past decade in Lubbock, the Goodfellows again are planning to see that no child 14 years of age or younger, living within the Lubbock city limits will be forgotten by Santa Claus on Christmas day.

First, the Goodfellows want the names of every child who may be forgotten unless remembered by the Goodfellows. If you know of any such children, please make use of the coupon which appears on Page Seven of today's Morning Avalanche.

Second, the Goodfellows need $1,500 to get the job done. The names of the contributors will be published from day to day in the Morning Avalanche and the Evening Journal.

The expectation is that the number of children to be remembered this Christmas will be about the same as last year, when they numbered 2,000. But the cost of everything is up, as everyone knows from experience. Consequently, it will cost a little more for each child on the list.

The money will be used to provide for each child a package containing, among other things, a new toy or toys selected especially for the boy or girl receiving it, as well as candy, fruits and nuts. Everything has been bought, but remains to be paid for.

There will be no distinction between children because of race, color or creed. All will be treated exactly alike.

A little further along, help will be needed in preparing the packages. Volunteers will be called for at that time. On Christmas day, more volunteers will be needed to distribute the packages to the children.

Santa Claus To Hundreds

This is the eleventh Christmas that the Goodfellows have been on the job in Lubbock. During that time they have played Santa Claus to around 34,000 boys and (Turn to Page 8, Column 4, Please)

Hurley Renews His Charges, But Welcomes Byrnes Policy Statement

By JAMES D. WHITE
Associated Press Staff Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 5. — Maj. Gen. Patrick J. Hurley, recently resigned ambassador to China, today made some charges against two foreign service men which will startle a good many people who are in the mood.

Their defense against these charges remain to be heard, and proof one way or another remains to be seen after all the evidence is in and has been shaken down.

WHITE

In the meantime Gen. Hurley qualified his earlier statement that American policy in Asia was "defeated" by such career diplomats as he named, and today told the Senate Foreign Relations committee that the policy was defeated only "to an extent."

This modification of his stand followed the statement of American foreign policy in China made yesterday by Secretary of State Byrnes. Gen. Hurley found it satisfactory enough that he said that he wouldn't have resigned as he did had it been issued earlier.

The Byrnes statement in general was a reaffirmation of the traditional American policy of promoting a strong, unified democratic China in the interests of Asiatic and world peace. But coming as it does just now, when opposing Chinese factions threaten a civil war that easily could involve American forces on the spot, the statement assumes great importance and may be open to two vitally different interpretations.

These are: 1. That it means unqualified support for the central Chinese government at Chungking, headed by Generalissimo Chiang Kai-Shek. 2. That it does contemplate strong support for the national government, but that such support will by no means be unqualified.

Internal Problems

Byrnes carefully says that "we deem it desirable and essential that China solve her internal problems." Perhaps the key word there is "esseneial." Perhaps not.

He goes on: "While we recognize that this is a task which China must carry out largely through her own efforts, we seek by all appropriate and practicable means to pursue such policies and action as will best facilitate China's achievement of internal unity and stability."

The question here is: What means are going to be found "appropriate and practicable?"

Man Dies While In Truck With His Son

MORTON, Dec. 5 (Special) —J. W. Smith, about 60, of Goldsboro, southeast of Abilene, died apparently of a heart attack about 2:30 o'clock this afternoon while riding in a truck with his son about 30 miles west of here.

The man and his son, Vernon Smith, had delivered a tractor earlier at Portales, N. His father was driving as they started back, but said his chest was hurting again and asked him to drive the son said.

About 30 miles west of Morton, his father slumped over against him. Thinking he had fainted, the son rushed him to Dr. J. A. Davidson in Morton, who pronounced the man dead.

The body was removed to Singleton funeral home here and will be taken to Abilene.

SANTA FE, N. M., Dec. 5. (U.P.)—Santa Fe residents were making plans today for launching a drive to raise $50,000 to provide city police with three new squad cars, a new patrol wagon and to hire six additional members for the force.

Escaped Soldiers Are Sought In Robbery

HOUSTON, Dec. 5. (U.P.)—Two youths, who robbed a middle-aged news vender of his clothes and $130 and dumped him in a roadside ditch clad only in shoes and underwear, were identified today as escapees from the Camp Hood military prison.

City police said the pair admitted they were Charles W. Taylor, 22, of Freeport and Wade Berryfield, 17, of California, who escaped from Camp Hood Monday where each was serving a five-year term for assaulting an Army officer.

J. R. Tiner, 49, said the pair approached him Monday afternoon when he was selling papers on the street and forced him into their car with a gun. They made him remove his clothes and dumped him into a water-filled ditch, Tiner said.

When arrested one was wearing Tiner's suit.

Watch Aboard Ship Recounted

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. (AP) — The night watch aboard the Cruiser Indianapolis in the hours before she was sunk between Guam and Leyte last July was described before a naval court martial today.

The witness, Lt. Cmdr. Richard B. Redmayne of Norwood, Mass., engineering officer, told the court that officers standing the 8 p. m. to midnight watch had been notified that a search was in progress for a reported submarine in the area.

The court is trying Capt. Charles B. McVay 3rd, skipped of the cruiser on charges of negligence and inefficiency in the loss of the vessel.

Search For Submarine

Redmayne, who was supervising the watch, said that at about 9:30 p. m. the ship's navigator informed watch officers a patrol bomber and a destroyer escort were conducting the search for a submarine ahead of the Indianapolis.

He added that he did not discuss with the officer of the deck the advisability of returning to a zig-zag course because it did not appear such a step was necessary.

Commander Lewis L. Haynes of Manistee, Mich., chief medical officer aboard the Indianapolis, testified that he was awakened by the first explosion and was on deck when the second explosion shook the ship.

He said that at no time did he hear a call to abandon ship.

Bus Firm Loses In Service Application

AUSTIN, Dec. 5. (AP)—Administrative authorities have more latitude of control in decisions involving privileges than they do in decisions involving property rights, the Supreme court hel dtoday.

This case, styled Railroad Commission versus Betro Bus Line, involved an effort of the bus line to obtain a certificate permitting it to carry passengers from Dallas into numerous communities in the Dallas-Fort Wort harea already served by another line.

The railroad commission rejected the application, and a trial court sustained the commission. The Courrt of Civil Appeals reversed the trial court, and the Supreme court's action affirmed the trial court.

Arnold Says Atomic Bomb Has Made U. S. Armadas Outmoded

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. (AP) — Gen. H. H. Arnold said today that the atomic bomb made the great aerial armadas of World War II "as outmoded as the Macedonian phalanx."

Writing in the Army and Navy Journal, the Army Air Forces chief said new weapons are being developed at such speed that present U. S. air supremacy "may prove to be as hollow as the legend of the Maginot line" if Americans become complacent.

The future, he said, will bring planes and guided missiles of immense range and great accuracy traveling at supersonic speeds.

Urges Strong Air Force

"The atomic bomb which fell on Hiroshima," he continued, "was a mere indication of the possibilities of its genre."

To avoid "another, infinitely more terrible and perhaps altogether paralyzing Pearl Harbor disaster," Arnold said, we must maintain:

1. An up-to-the-minute Air Force.
2. A nucleus of trained men to man the Air Force and "supply the experience needed for rapid expansion."
3. Research and development adequate to make our fighting equipment "the best in the world."
4. Strong industry capable of rapid expansion for war production.
5. Strategic bases.

Victory Collection Week Set In State

AUSTIN, Dec. 5. (U.P.)—"Victory collection of canned food week" from Dec. 17-21 was proclaimed today by Gov. Coke R. Stephenson

The victory collection of canned food on behalf of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation administration, the proclamation said, is being sponsored throughout the nation by the community canning program for overseas relief.

Canned milk, vegetables, fruits, juices, meats, soups and baby food are being sought, the proclamation said. People were urged to take their contributions to local schools, which have been designated as collection centers.

Reunion Of 36th Set In Brownwood Jan. 21

AUSTIN, Dec. 4 (AP)—The reunion of the 36th Division will be held at Brownwood, where the fighting Texans started their World War II training, Jan. 21.

Brownwood was selected because it was the only city in Texas that backed up its bid as site of the reunion with a delegation, said Col. H. Miller Ainsworth of Lulling, chairman of the division association's executive council.

Mayor Wendell Mayes, heading the Brownwood delegation, said the facilities at Camp Bowie would be ample to care for the veterans and so far as possible, wives. Col. Alfred G. Brown, camp commander, has offered to house the veterans free and feed them for minimum cost. Camp Bowie now has a population of about 8,000 but its capacity is 55,000.

Col. Ainsworth said that no doubt lack of ample hotel accommodations influenced many cities in not bidding for the convention. Bids were submitted by San Antonio, Abilene, and Fort Worth in addition to Brownwood.

Members of the executive council conferred with Gov. Coke Stevenson on plans to welcome the 36th when it arrives in port. Units of the division have started the voyage homeward from Europe.

Preliminary plans for the reunion include a dedication of the 36th division state park at Lake Brownwood.

UNRRA FUND VOTED

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. (AP)—The Senate today passed a $550,000,000 UNRRA appropriation minus a House provision which would have withheld relief funds from countries denying free access to American press representatives.

About $400,000,000 worth of silver, a good conductor of electricity, was loaned by the Treasury to the atomic bomb scientists during the war for completing electrical equipment, in place of extremely scarce copper.

CHRISTMAS BUYING

AMERICA'S first peace time Christmas in four years should be a happy one but we wonder how merry it will be in Lubbock for the numbers of women and men we have heard express actual dread at its approach. Noting the strained looks on the faces of the crowds thronging through Lubbock's downtown streets, trying to fill their Christmas lists, we've been wondering lately what has happened to the Christmas of yesteryears.

"I wish grown people would stop this giving and exchange of gifts," a friend complained the other day as we sat in a drug-store while she slipped a tired foot from her pump. "Why I can hardly afford to pay the luxury tax on gifts this year, the prices are so fabulously high. Anyway, isn't Christmas primarily for children?"

Well, we had always thought of the season as being one when all children should be made happy and grown-ups should turn from the responsibility of the adult world to enjoy the simple delights that mean so much to youngsters. We mean such things as gleeful anticipation of what is contained in a package under the tree that bears your name; listening to carols over radio, if your voice is not the singing type; making a batch of candy, baking gingerbread men; buying a surprise gift for someone; sending Christmas cards; making a costume for a youngster in a Christmas pageant.

The customs of the true Christmas have little to do with spending money you can ill afford on a gift you aren't proud to purchase for someone who won't want the gift anyway.

The Christmas season should be an occasion for gay lights, decorated trees, the reading of the Christmas story in the Bible and also of the traditional stories, such as "The Other Wise Man," Dickens' "Christmas Carol; a time for preparing traditional dishes, for seeing that no one goes hungry.

Last year we heard a man say he would like to "get tight" and spend the holidays in that state. We couldn't help but feel a tinge of pity for him. He, too, had lost the spirit of Christmas. Those who say (and surely they don't mean it) "I wish Christsmas could be postponed," are in danger of losing it.

ACCIDENTS

ACCIDENTS don't "just happen." Most of them are caused by carelessness, dangerous economy, poor housekeeping, haste or bad judgment.

Opening cans with a bread knife may open a gash in your wrist. Wrong use of tools causes one out of ten home accidents. Stew pans on the stove with handles turned out invite curiosity—and perhaps tragedy if your youngster grabs at them.

Remembering to do the simple things—like wielding a knife away from you, and buying new fuses instead of replacing old ones with pennies—will create the amazing difference between a safe, reassuring home life and one that may be filled with danger.

After noting that falls eventually follow the proclivity of many women to stand on stools or chairs and reach up to high shelves, we delivered an ultimatum against such practices at our house and so far we know it is being carried out. Of course the fact that our mother is only half as large as we are and twice as active, makes the warning absurd.

COMBAT TENSION

NERVOUS tension that results in irritability and contracted muscles usually can be traced to the individual's inability to relax. Some people never learn the importance of rest. There are countless places where one may go to take part in physical activities, but few where one can rest.

We believe a hobby is a great prescription for overcoming nervous tension. There isn't one job in a million that is interesting enough to occupy your full time and attention. Do something every day which differs radically from your job; get a good night's sleep and take a vacation once a year. And mind you, this advice is free.

AT LAST
We have decided what to do with our
NYLONS
Yes, our NYLONS will be coming in just any day now—Those gorgeous, kleer, sheer, nationally advertised Claussner NYLONS that are exclusive with the Jo Ann Shop in Lubbock . . .
We figured and figured on a plan for distributing these first NYLONS EQUITABLY. We did not want to favor our charge customers over our cash customers—or vice versa. And we wanted all of our loyal out of town customers to have a fair chance with our valued Lubbock patrons . . .
So here's what we finally decided and we think you'll all agree it's as fair as fair can be . . .
Every Jo Ann customer who is interested in obtaining a pair of NYLONS as soon as possible is asked to write a penny post card to the Jo Ann Shop, Lubbock, Texas, immediately. And the sooner you get this card into the mail, the sooner you'll get your Nylons. And here's why . . .

Greater Dissemination Of News Planned For World At Meeting

By LOUIS F. KEEMLE
United Press Staff Writer

Greater speed, lower cost of transmission and more freedom in the distribution of news are in prospect for international communications in the post-war world.

Important advances toward that goal were registered at the British-American telecommunications conference in Bermuda, which has just adjourned after two weeks of discussion. The agreements reached are expected to be broadened to include other nations at the next international conference, to be held probably in 1946 either in Canada or the United States.

Conference Makes Progress

The Bermuda conference directly concerned the United States, the United Kingdom and the British dominions and colonies, but it was regarded by the delegates as an excellent beginning toward world-wide improvement in the exchange of news as well as of business and personal messages. The results concern the average American, even if he does no more than read his daily newspaper.

One of the results of the conference of particular interest to the American public was a decision to reduce the tolls on press messages between points in the United States and the British empire—later, it is hoped, to be extended to other countries. It is a definite move toward a freer exchange of news. A ceiling press rate of 6½ cents a word was set, and the United States delegation aimed at an eventual goal of only three cents a word. At present, for instance, a San Francisco newspaper would have to pay 18 cents a word for news from its correspondent in India.

Other Rates Lowered

For commercial or private messages, a ceiling was set of 30 cents a word between United States and Empire points. That compares to a present rate, for example, of 58 to 60 cents per word between the United States and Australia. The ceiling rate for deferred or night letter messages would be cut correspondingly to 15 and 10 cents a word respectively.

A still more important decision was reached by the conference affecting the free flow of news between the English speaking countries. The United Kingdom delegation agreed to private reception of news transmission by United States agencies at their own receiving stations in the British Isles. This will result in much more rapid, efficient and economical news distribution. Hitherto the operation had to be done through British postoffice facilities and operators.

The point is important because the greatest part of world news exported from one country to another is by this radio method. The British delegation, in accepting the proposal as originally suggested by the United Press, took note of that organization's development of such facilities.

The United Press uses transmitters of Press Wireless, Inc., to transmit about 20,000 words daily to Latin America, and transmitters of the British postoffice to send about 15,000 words daily from London to New York and Latin America. United Press bureaus and newspaper clients in at least 25 Latin American points receive this news with their own radio stations and Morse operators. The system is so rapid that the D-Day flash from London on the Normandy invasion was relayed by the United Press in New York and received throughout Latin America within 30 seconds of the London announcement.

"Weeping Preacher" Holds Revival Here

Capacity crowds are expected to hear Evangelist Lee Krupnick of Tulsa, who began a series of revival services Tuesday which will continue through Dec. 23 at the First Assembly of God church, 2103 Ave. O, according to Rev. Mont M. Walker, pastor.

Known to thousands all over the United States and Canada as the "weeping preacher" because of his intense emotional appeal, and nationally known as a news photographer because of his work through leading metropolitan newspapers affiliated with the Associated Press and International News Syndicate, Krupnick was for 22 years associated with the Tulsa Daily World as manager of the photographic department. He is also known as Tulsa's best news photographer and was formerly associated with Metro-Goldwyn studios as movie camera-man.

Krupnick, who is in full time evangelistic work, is also an inventor and a religious writer of note, having had published 33 sermons in the world's leading religious periodicals. Formerly an Orthodox Jew who was trained to be a rabbi by the best teachers, he was disinherited by his father because he accepted Christianity.

Rev. Walker extends an invitation to the public to attend services conducted at 7:30 each evening, except Saturday, and at 11 a. m. each Sunday.

Creation Of Federal Housing Setup Urged

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5 (AP) — Contending that "unscrupulous speculators are piling profit on profit at the expense of the home seekers," Rep. Patman (D-Tex) has advocated creation of a federal housing stabilization office to deal with what he termed a "national crisis."

The Texan said 2,870,000 veterans require immediate housing and said the current treatment of returning servicemen seeking shelter 'should be a source of shame and disgrace to this nation."

Patman appeared before the House banking committee, of which he is a member, as the first witness supporting his bill which would:

1. Give first priority to returning veterans on every apartment and home that can be made available or built.

2. "Stop the uncontrolled inflationary pressure ballooning into our business economy" by holding down home prices to "fair and reasonable levels."

A builder would be allowed "a full legal price" on his materials and services, plus current labor costs, plus the same margin of profit that was made on comparable construction in 1941.

Moursund Proposed As Federal Attorney

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5 (AP) — Henry W. Mourund of San Antonio was recommended by Senator O'Daniel (D-Tex) today as federal district attorney for the Western District of Texas.

O'Daniel, making the announcement in a statement, said Moursund was "highly recommended by many outstanding members of the bar and other prominent citizens" of the district.

Moursund is 42 and has been an attorney since 1925. He served several years subsequent to 1933 as an assistant federal district attorney and entered the Army in 1940 as an officer of the 36th division which served in Italy.

He was discharged last January and became a special attorney for the Department of Justice in the criminal division, serving in the Western Texas district. Recently he has been a special assistant to the attorney general in the criminal division.

Temporary Closing Of LAAF Is Announced

In a telegram from Headquarters, Army Air forces, Washington, D. C., to Col. Harold N. Holt, acting commanding officer, confirmation was received Monday of the placing of Lubbock Army Air field on temporary inactive list Dec. 31.

Affected will be not only Lubbock Army Air field proper, but also three auxiliary fields on the Spade ranch and one near Abernathy.

Colonel Holt announced that a minimum number of personnel will be retained at the station to perform necessary maintenance work and to insure that facilities are properly secured. Civilian employes, who are understood to number around 500, will be released according to Civil Service regulations, Col. Holt said.

Officials requested all civilian personnel remain on duty at their respective assignments until they can be released in orderly fashion and that all work connected with the closing of the station can be effected as rapidly and efficiently as possible.

Supplies For Relief Of Chinese Stack Up

SHANGHAI, Dec. 5 (AP) — The United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation administration is purchasing river and coastal vessels in an effort to hasten movement of supplies inland, which deputy Director Roy P. Hendrickson said was so slow that curtailment of shipments to China might be necessary.

Hendrickson, who this week left for the United States after a three-weeks inspection tour, said supplies were piling up in Shanghai warehouses from eight large ships which had docked since Nov. 8.

Three Attempts On Hitler's Life By Anti-Nazis Shown By Records

By ANN STRINGER
United Press Staff Writer

NUERNBERG, Dec. 5.—Records in Allied hands revealed today that three separate conspiracies were launched by anti-Nazi German officers in an attempt to assassinate Adolf Hitler.

The plots culminated in the abortive July 20, 1944, assassination attempt which touched off one of the greatest blood purges in Nazi history.

First Effort July 13, 1943

The first effort to kill Hitler, it was revealed, was made July 13, 1943, and was never discovered by Hitler or the Gestapo.

This attempt was planned carefully by a group which attempted to eliminate Hitler about the time of the German disaster at Stalingrad.

It was undertaken by Oberlieutenant von Schlarbendorf who placed a time bomb under Hitler's seat in the plane the fuehrer was using to inspect headquarters of an Army group on the Eastern front.

Among the leading participants in the plot were Admiral Wilhelm Canaris, chief of the German intelligence service, General Oster, Canaris, chief of staff, Field Marshal von Kluge who committed suicide to avoid execution and Field Marshal Erwin Rommel.

Bomb Fuse Fails

The initial attempt to kill Hitler failed when the fuse of the bomb failed to work although it had been tested several times.

When Schlarbendorf discovered that Hitler had landed safely, he rushed to the airfield and managed to recover the bomb which had been disguised as a "secret courier package."

The second attempt on Hitler was made July 11, 1944. Hitler was planning to review a group of soldiers wearing a new type of uniform.

The plotters planned to put time bombs in the packs carried by the soldiers. The bombs would be timed to go off as the troops marched past Hitler.

Hitler Skips Review

The attempt failed when Hitler suddenly decided he wouldn't bother with the review.

A third plan was then set afoot for an attempt to be carried out later in the summer of 1944.

The plotters picked Col. Count Klaus von Stauffenberg, a one-armed officer who was liaison officer between Hitler's headquarters and the headquarters of the German replacement army to make the attempt.

Planted At Staff Meeting

When conspirators heard orders had been issued for the arrest of two members of the conspiracy, they decided to plant the bomb July 20, at a Hitler staff meeting.

Hitler ordinarily held his staff meetings in a concrete air raid shelter but the July 20 meeting, by chance, was in a wooden structure. This was believed to have saved Hitler's life since explosion of the bomb in the confined underground quarters, it was thought would certainly have killed him.

Lynn County Pioneer Is Buried Wednesday

O'DONNELL, Dec. 5. (Special)—Funeral services were conducted at 3 o'clock this afternoon at the O'Donnell First Methodist church for Waldo McLaurin, 53, pioneer Lynn county resident who died Tuesday. Rev. E. H. Crandall, pastor, officiated and burial was in O'Donnell cemetery.

McLaurin had been ill several months. Mrs. McLaurin died in May, 1944.

McLaurin came to Lynn county in 1903 as a boy. Old-timers here recalled that his father plowed a straight furrow from his house to the old T-Bar school so that the children could follow it to school as there were no fences in the county at that time.

McLaurin, owner of considerable Lynn county land, served as county commissioner from 1930 to 1942.

He is survived by a daughter, Mrs. J. T. Middleton, jr., of O'Donnell; two sons, Waldo (Tech) McLaurin, jr., former Golden Gloves champion now in the Navy and Charles, a student at Schreiner institute, Kerrville; one brother, Joe, of O'Donnell and a sister, Mrs. John Etter, also of O'Donnell. Two other sisters residing elsewhere survive him also.

In 1918, the military forces of the Allies consumed about 39,000 barrels of gasoline a day. In World War II, the total was 800,000 a day.

Pastors Retreat To Start Today

A Pastor's Retreat, one of three similar meetings for the Northwest Texas conference of the Methodist church in the interest of evangelism, second phase of the Crusade for Christ throughout Methodism, will open this morning at Asbury Methodist church, 20th and Avenue T.

Ministers from the Plainview and Lubbock districts are to be present for the two-day meeting, according to Dr. L. N. Lipscomb, Lubbock district superintendent. Rev. W. C. Hinds, former Asbury pastor, now superintendent of the Plainview district, joins Mr Lipscomb and Dr. C. A. Bickley, Asbury pastor, as official hosts for the session.

Meals To Be Served

Lunch and evening meal will be served at the church each of the two days.

Morning and afternoon sessions of the Retreat are to be confined to ministers, Mr. Lipscomb said, but night services are open to the public, and an urgent invitation was extended the public to hear visiting speakers.

Opening the Retreat at 10 o'clock this morning, Rev. W. E. Peterson, of Plainview, former Asbury pastor, will lead devotional, followed by an explanation of the Retreat by Rev. Frank Beauchamp of Abernathy, secretary of the board of evangelism.

At 11 o'clock, Dr. Hazen Warner, from Drew Theological seminary, is to speak.

Afternoon Session

After lunch at the church, the afternoon devotional will be led by Dr. A. W. Hall of Lubbock. Speakers are Dr. John McCormick, of Little Rock, from the board of evangelism, and Dr. Warner, who will include a round table discussion in his address.

An evening meal will be served at 5:45, and the evening service, open to the public, starts at 7 o'clock with a sing-song, followed by an address by Dr. Warner.

The same program outline will be followed Friday, with Rev. J. B. Baker, Amherst pastor, and Rev. I. A. Smith, of Post, leading morning and afternoon devotional, respectively. Dr. Warner will speak again Friday evening in a general public service to close the Retreat.

A similar meeting was held last week at Sweetwater, for that part of the conference, and the third is scheduled next week at Clarndon for the eastern part of the conference.

Executives Maintain Plant After Crews Walk Out On Strike

STAMFORD, Conn., Dec. 5. (U.P.)—Fourteen executives began the third day of their canned salmon and soup diet inside the strike-bound plant of the Yale & Towne Manufacturing company today.

The executive were firing boilers to keep pipes from freezing after the union withdrew a skeleton maintenance crew which had been left in the plant. Pickets said if the executives left they would not be allowed to return.

The executives reported by telephone that they were prepared for a long stay despite the monotonous diet of salmon and soup from the plant's cafeteria pantry.

"It's a kind of a reverse sit-down strike," Mark Miller, assistant general manager, said.

The company's 3,500 workers struck Nov. 7 for increased wages and the closed shop.

Demands For Jobs In Area Showing Boost

Job openings in Lubbock dropped to 141 and persons registered for jobs hit 197 during the week ending Wednesday according to a report released by the U. S. Employment Service. This report marks the second time in about three months that jobs have exceeded prospective workers.

There were 303 persons referred to jobs and 129 hired, according to the report for the week. Veteran contacts jumped to 596. Eighty-one veterans were registered for work.

Demands for labor came from skilled trades, requesting 22; unskilled asking 64; clerical and sales wanting 17; and services asking 38.

The world to date has produced more than 46 billion barrels of oil, with the U. S. accounting for about 64 per cent.

Four Large Eastern States Vote Heavily For Military Training

By GEORGE GALLUP, Director American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J.—If referenda were held today on the question of peacetime military training, voters in four of the most populous Eastern states — New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Massachusetts—would give it an overwhelming vote of approval.

This fact is brought to light in a series of special polls in each of the four states. Questioning was among voters representing a cross - section of the voting population in each of the states, as follows:

GALLUP

"In the future, do you think every able-bodied young man should be required to take military and naval training for one year?"

Here are the replies from the four states translated into votes. Purely for illustrative purposes, the total number voting in each state in the 1944 elections is used to show the comparative number of votes.

The majorities in the four states favoring the idea of a peacetime conscription program exceed quite markedly the majorities which back in 1940 expressed themselves in favor of compulsory military conscription for training in the Army, Navy, or Air Forces for one year.

	Favor Peacetime Military Training Now	Favor Compulsory Military Training
New York	78%	44%
Massachusetts	75	47
New Jersey	79	48
Pennsylvania	74	44

Sentiment throughout the nation as a whole is at an alltime high in approval of peacetime military training. Latest surveys find 75 per cent favoring a peacetime program, 21 per cent opposing, four per cent with no opinion.

Eyewitness Account Of Sinking Of Big Cruiser Is Given

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5. (U.P.)—Here is the first eyewitness account of the death of the cruiser Indianapolis, sunk with the loss of 880 men in the Philippine sea last July 30.

It was given in testimony of Lt. (JG) Charles B. McKissick of Dallas, Tex. before a general court martial trying the ships' skipper Capt. Charles B. McVay, III, for alleged incompetence and neglect of duty. McKissick said:

Was Thrown To Deck

"I was asleep in my bunk below decks in the Indianapolis at about midnight on July 30 when a terrific explosion threw me to the deck.

"A rumbling noise was quickly followed by a second explosion just as powerful. I groped my way out of my compartment into the passageway. It was blocked aft and filling with smoke.

"I tried to open a port hole in a stateroom but it wouldn't budge. Then I hurried forward until I heard a voice from the powder magazine below the number one turret calling to me.

Followed The Voice

"I followed the voice through the darkness and a man led me up a ladder through a narrow hatch into the turret and we made our way to the forecastle deck.

"I was so sick from the smoke I could hardly move. When my head cleared, I went to a place where they were issuing life jackets. I used my flashlight until a voice from the bridge said: 'For God sake, put out that light. It's liable to bring enemy subs.

"Then I joined a group of men under a lieutenant trying to rescue more men trapped below decks and put out a fire on the main deck. It was useless.

Many Badly Burned

They got some men out. Many of them were badly burned. We couldn't get up any water pressure.

"The ship didn't cut through the water right. Something seemed to cause the bow to drag. Fifteen minutes after the explosion the ship started to list heavily and to settle by the bow, on the port side.

"I gave the order to the men to prepare to abandon ship. Water covered the bow now back past the number one turret.

"Then we went over the side. I swam as hard as I could to get away from the suction of the sinking ship. There were men in the water all around me.

"The water was choppy and a heavy swell was running. Clouds obscured the moon most of the time but I could make out the hull of the ship in the darkness.

"I estimated about 850 men got off the ship. Only about 300 to 350 were trapped below decks or killed in the explosion, I think.

"Any man not in the explosion area had ample time to get off the ship. The men were calm. There was no confusion. And we were in the worst hit area."

rooms, similar to present structures.

The new girls' units would be situated in the area between the present girls' dormitories and the president's home and the new boys' building would be located north of the present boys' structure. As one of the boys' dormitories is now being utilized by women, the new construction would make available an additional dormitory for boys as soon as the new buildings are completed.

The board voted to approve the bond purchase contract provided the insurance firm making the loan would make certain changes in the contract allowing redemption of any of the bonds after a five-year freeze period on payment of a 1 per cent premium for the bonds which would bear three and one-quarter per cent interest over a 35-year period.

Financial Standing Praised

Shilg praised the excellent financial standing of the college and the manner in which it is retiring its present obligations.

Tentatively the directors plan to start construction as soon as the contract can be let as plans have already been drawn by Wyatt C. Hedrick, Fort Worth architect, who was present for Wednesday's meeting.

Previously in the meeting, the board heard Mayor Ribble and Homer D. Grant present the City of Lubbock's offer of use of the 1,700-acre Lubbock Army Air field by the college. Mayor Ribble, in presenting the offer, pointed out that barracks and other buildings there have a capacity of up to five or six thousand students and in addition there is a hospital, power plant, sewage disposal plant, machine shops and other improvements.

Could Use Extra Room

"We could use it tomorrow," Chairman Thompson immediately declared, and President Whyburn explained that the housing thus made available would relieve congestion now when the school has an enrollment of 2,500 and next semester will probably exceed 3,000, including 1,000 G. I. students already enrolled for postwar training.

The board voted to accept the LAAF offer and lease the buildings on a dollar-a-year basis and in a resolution requested Lubbock city commissioners to submit to the city in the next election a proposal to sell the field to the college for the nominal sum of $1,000.

Pantex Report Given

Mark McGee of Fort Worth pointed out that the college properly could not use funds for improvements on land it does not own.

After hearing a report from Weymouth, who recently returned from Washington where he presented the Pantex plant gift proposal to RFC officials, Dr. W. M. Whyburn, Tech president, explained the possibilities of use of the plant, followed by W. L. Stangel, dean of agriculture.

The board directed a committee composed of its Chairman Charles C. Thompson of Colorado City, Weymouth, Mark McGee of Fort Worth and President Whyburn of the college to confer in Austin Dec. 14 with Chairman Weaver Baker of the State Board of Control and Gov. Stevenson.

Wants To Help Tech

"There is no desire on the part of Amarillo or its chamber of commerce to take anything from Lubbock, but on the contrary to do everything possible to make Tech a bigger and better school to serve the entire West Texas area," Weymouth said.

Weymouth is the Tech board member responsible for the original idea of Tech taking over the Pantex plant and said he had been motivated solely by the idea that the college could benefit greatly from use of the vast acreage and maelstrom of buildings on the layout.

The directors' session was open to representatives of the press, who sat at a nearby table throughout the entire proceedings.

Attending the session were: Chairman Thompson, Weymouth, Hoblitzelle, McGee, Kyle Spiller of Jacksboro and O. B. Ratliff of Lubbock, Hedrick, W. T. Gaston, Tech business manager and board secretary, and President Whyburn. Absent were John B. Collier, jr., Ft. Worth and Robert Price of El Paso.

Two Troop Ships In Distress In Atlantic

NEW YORK, Dec. 5 (AP) — Two ships carrying more than 1,000 U. S. soldiers home from Europe were in distress tonight in a storm-tossed sea off Bermuda, while a third troop carrier was under tow in the same waters an da merchant ship was aground off the Virginia coast.

Rescue craft were en route to the two stricken transports, the Libert ship Henry Ward Beecher and the merchantman George W. McCrary. The Navy said neither vessel was in immediate danger.

The Beecher — its propellor sheared off while en route from Marseilles to Norfolk, Va.—rolled heplessly in the heavy sea some 500 miles north-northeast of Bermuda, its meat supplies running low.

The Navy tug, Restorer, was ploughing along at 10 knots in an effort to reach the ship, carrying 541 homeward-bound war veterans. Several other vessels also were en route.

The McCrary, with 586 troops aboard, radioed it had boiler trouble about 900 miles from Bermuda. A patrol craft was dispatched from the naval operating base at Bermuda to take her in tow if necessary.

been destroyed by the Russians.

"He would stride about the shelter waving a road map that was fast disintergrating from the sweat of his hands, and planning Wenck's campaign. He was the picture of a man running almost blindly from wall to wall in his last retreat, waving papers that fluttered like leaves in his nervous twitching hands, or sitting stooped and crumbled before his table to represent his non-existent armies . . . like a young boy playing at war."

Goebbels Waxes Theatrical

No less dramatic than Hitler's actions were those of the group gathered in the besieged bunker with him. The fuehrer's propagandist, Josef Goebbels, surrounded by his wife and six children, launched into bursts of oratory with all the theatrics of a ham actor.

Hitler's mistress, Eva Braun, engaged most of the time in changing clothes and polishing her nails, remarked over and over again: "Poor, poor Adolf, deserted by everyone, betrayed by all."

Bormann, now being tried in absentia at the war crimes trial in Nuernberg, sat at his desk, "recording the momentous events in the bunker for posterity."

Children Enjoy "Cave"

Goebbels' children, ranging in age from three to 12, sang for "uncle fuehrer" and seemed to enjoy being "in the cave."

With the report that the Russians had launched an attack to overrun the chancellery on the morning of April 30, Hitler's face went "chalk white," she said, and he declared:

"Our only hope is Wenck. And to make his entry possible we must call up every available aircraft to cover the approach."

She added that the fuehrer came to her and in a low voice said, "Hanna, you belong to those who will die with me. Each of us has a vial of poison such as this." He handed her one for herself and one for von Greim.

Each Must Destroy Body

"I do not wish that one of us falls to the Russians alive, nor do I wish our bodies to be found by them," he told her. "Each person is responsible for destroying his body so that nothing recognizable remains. Eva and I will have our bodies burned."

At the end, however, Hitler changed his mind and ordered Captain Reitsch and von Greim to make a getaway to deliver an order calling for air support for the phantom army. A small armored vehicle took them through shellfire and they took off on a broad street to leave the doomed city, Captain Reitsch said.

Norther Abates, Damage Heavy

(By The Associated Press)

The coldest norther of the season was abating today but it was too late to save part of the lower Rio Grande valley winter vegetable crop, nipped by frost and freeze Wednesday.

Temperatures dropped to 30 degrees in the semi-tropical tip of Texas yesterday, killing some beans and squash, and damaging tomatoes, peppers, eggplants and other tender crops.

Extends To Rio Grande

Henry Kawahata, McAllen grower, said the frost extended throughout the upper valley to the banks of the Rio Grande.

However, most of the tomato, bean and pepper crop has been harvested. The citrus crop was believed unharmed.

The severest cold of the season hit Laredo and some loss to the tomato crop was expected. The temperature dropped to 30 degrees there also.

Coldest spot in Texas was Marfa, where 17 degrees was reported.

Other Temperatures

Other sub-freezing temperatures were Pyote and Wink, 21, Guadalupe Pass 22, Gainesville 23, El Paso 24, Dallas and Texarkana 25, Amarillo, Big Spring, Sulphur Spring, and Dalhart 26, Del Rio, Lubbock, Tyler, and San Angelo 28, Wichita Falls and San Antonio 29, Fort Worth, Abilene, Waco, Beaumont and Laredo 30, Navasota 21.

Other lows were Houston 32, Austin 33, Corpus Christi 34, Brownsville and Pampa 35, and Galveston 36.

to go to war.

Mitchell asked:

"When you were in the war plans division, did you ever see or hear of an agreement by an executive office of the United States, War or Navy, including the President, to bind the United States to engage in war before Japan attacked the United States?"

"No, sir," the three-star general replied emphatically.

A brisk - spoken witness, Gerow related that months before the Japanese attack of Dec. 7, 1941, military conversations were held with the British here in Washington, with the British and Dutch in Singapore, and with the Canadians here.

The purpose was to determine what would be the best disposition and use of each nation's armed forces in event the United States should become involved in war, Gerow said, but "no political commitment" was implied.

Three Plans Drawn

Three separate plans were drawn. Gerow said the Washington action on each was:

Canadian - American defense plan. Endorsed by top officials here and approved by President Roosevelt Aug. 29, 1941, with the notation, "O. K., F. D. R."

British - American plan, dealing particularly with the Atlantic. Approved by Secretary of War Stimson and Secretary of the Navy Knox, but returned from the White House June 7, 1941, without the President's approval.

The Singapore plan. Gerow said this was never approved by Gen. George C. Marshall, Army chief of staff, or by any other top Washington official. To the best of his knowledge, he said, the President never saw it."

Agreement Reported On Loan To Britain

NEW YORK, Dec. 5 (AP) — The British Broadcasting company, quoting "Washington correspondents," said tonight that an agreement had been reached between the United States and Great Britain for a loan of $4,400,000,000.

The London broadcast, reported by NBC, said the loan would be announced in both capitals tomorrow.

Three Communities Surpass Bond Quotas

LORENZO, Dec. 5 (Special)—Residents of Lorenzo, Robertson and Estacado went over the top in their Victory Loan campaign at a big rally in the Lorenzo High school gym here tonight by oversubscribing both their "E" Bond and other bond quotas by a substantial margin.

The three communities had a quota of $33,000 in "E" Bonds and $15,800 in other types of bonds for the Victory Loan for a total of $48,800. With tonight's sales during the intermission between the Lorenzo-Robertson boys and girls basketball games at the school, the residents of the communities pushed their "E" bonds sales well past the $33,000 quota and other type of bond sales past $50,800. The final total now stands at more than $83,800 for both types of bonds.

Fred Wiese of Lorenzo is chairman for all three communities with Roy J. Terrell handling bond sales in Lorenzo, John A. Wheeler handling sales in Robertson and "Bunch" Fullingim handling sales in Estacado.

In the baseball games, Lorenzo and Robertson split their games with the Lorenzo boys winning over the Robertson boys and the Robertson girls winning over the Lorenzo girls—and with Uncle Sam winning all the way around.

enemies of America," Surley proclaimed to the committee, "and I decided to begin fighting."

That in January 1945 he received a telegram signed with the name of Secretary of State Stettinius ordering him to stop negotiating for settlement between the Chinese Communists and the Nationalists. He said that he had been told that Stettinius did not actually send the telegram and anyway he ignored it because he did not believe there could be such a reversal of policy.

He naved five men as having been "disloyal" to him. They included the two now serving with MacArthur. These two are George Atcheson, jr., who was counselor of embassy in Chungking and is now diplomatic advisor to MacArthur, and John S. Service who was second secretary in Chungking and is now with Atcheson on MacArthur's staff.

The other three men whom Hurley named in this connection were John Davies, formerly second secretary at Chungking now on duty at Moscow; Fulton Freeman, former third secretary under Hurley and now in the State department; and Arthur R. Ringwalt, former second secretary at Chungking and now in the Chinese division of the State department.

WORKERS AND GM TO RESUME NEGOTIATIONS

DETROIT, Dec. 5 (AP)—General Motors Corp. and the CIO United Auto Workers agreed tonight to resume negotiations, as the government flashed the auto industry a green light to seek new car prices in line with wage increases.

Philip Murray, CIO president, announced at Pittsburgh that negotiations on all disputed points will be resumed Thursday in Detroit between GM and the UAW-CIO. The session is scheduled for 2 p. m. (est).

The corporation confirmed his announcement, adding that today's unheralded meeting at Pittsburgh, between company and union leaders had been kept secret at the union's request.

GM's Contention

General Motors has insisted that it cannot meet the union's wage increase demands within its present new car pricing structure.

The UAW-CIO, in return, has demanded that any wage increase be excluded as a basis for raising prices.

The corporation made—and later withdrew—an offer to raise the rates on all jobs by 30 per cent over 1941, which C. E. Wilson, company president, estimated would amount to a 10 per cent wage increase.

The UAW-CIO has bitterly denounced President Truman's request for a fact-finding body to intervene in the two-weeks-old strike. GM also has been cool to the President's proposal, expressing a hope that the strike may be settled before the government fact finders move in.

Contract Terminates

Meanwhile, the UAW-CIO and the Chrysler Corp. broke off their negotiations and the working contract terminated after both sides rejected offers for its continuance.

Swift moves along the automotive dispute front brought these developments during the day:

1. After termination of the Chrysler contract which covered more than 50,000 employes, leaders of UAW-CIO workers who had voted 8 to 1 to authorize strike action if necessary, met to consider their position.

2. Reuther told a citizens committee assembled at union invitation to study the GM dispute that the strike involved not only wage demands but also the workers' rightful place in the economic structure.

Executive Session

3. The committee, having received no reply to its invitation for General Motors to send a representative to meet with it, started an executive session to consider possible recommendations.

4. UAW-CIO Ford Local 600 asked its 51,000 members to join "Detroit's largest mobile picket line" Saturday, planning an automobile cavalcade about Detroit GM plants and the General Motors building during the hours when delegates from GM local unions meet to consider President Truman's back-to-work appeal.

5. George F. Addes, UAW-CIO secretary-treasurer, urged presidents of more than 1,000 union locals to telegraph their congressmen and Mr. Truman expressing opposition to the President's legislative proposals for dealing with strikes. He said the proposals were "designed to weaken and eventually destroy labor."

Hirohito Abdication Suggested In Diet

TOKYO, Dec. 5. (AP)—A Diet member shattered precedent today by asking if Emperor Hirohito would abdicate, bringing a quick government response that "such a thing could not occur."

Kyodo news agency said the question was put to Minister of State Joji Matsumoto in the House of Representatives by Isanji Tanaka, independent member.

"Even to express in public such a thing as abdication is too awesome," Matsumoto said, adding that those who harbored such a "mistaken idea" as abdication were the exception.

A plenary session of the Diet's budget committee was told meanwhile that the Japanese government expected to be out of the red after 1947.

Death Of Bejewelled Officer Said Suicide

BELMAR, N. J., Dec. 5. (AP)—The strange death of Capt. Robert J. Wallace, 36, whose bejeweled body was found hanging two days ago in the closet of a boarding house room, was termed a suicide today by Monmouth County Prosecutor J. Victor Carton.

A rosary and crucifix were suspended from the officer's neck, his legs were padlocked with chains, jeweled bracelets circled his arms and he wore earrings. Carton said no motive nor explanation for the jewelry had been determined and both civilian and military authorities were continuing inquiries into "several unusual angles" of the case.

The new Soviet note came during a tense political situation, with Iranian Premier Hakimi threatening to resign unless the dispute over the province was settled by direct negotiation with Moscow.

British Labor Officials Making Progress On Indian Situation

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press World Traveler

LONDON, Dec. 5. — Britain's new Labor government has tackled John Bull's greatest imperial problem—Indian independence—with a flying wedge which looks as though it might go places.

Not only has the promise of self-government for India been reaffirmed before Parliament, but the mother country has given its word that the vast India sub-continent will be allowed to cut loose entirely if it wants to.

Herbert Morrison, leader of the labor majority in the House of Commons, has made the categorical declaration that Britain will not impose any restrictions on the power of India to decide her future. This was in response to the blunt question whether India would be permitted to withdraw from the British commonwealth if her leaders so desired.

The laborites didn't stop with words. They announced that a non-partisan parliamentary committee will proceed to India immediately to make independent observations. This would be in preparation for the formation of an assembly to frame an Indian constitution next spring after the provincial elections.

Lest there be any misunderstanding, however. The government at the same time announced it will resist "any attempts to resolve the constitutional issue by force."

This may have been inspired by the remark made last week by the Indian leader. Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru, that if Britain didn't take the initiative for India's independence, "other people" might do so.

It would be foolish to believe that there aren't many obstacles to overcome. One of the greatest of these has been the failure of the various Indian political factions to resolve their own differences.

During my last visit to India in 1942-43, I talked with numerous great Indian leaders who expressed the belief that the easiest road to success would be for the British government to establish a provisional Indian government immediately, doing so arbitrarily if necessary, and letting the factions iron out their differences later.

Smallest Cotton Crop In 25 Years Is Seen

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Dec. 5 (U.P.)—Cotton industry leaders estimate the 1945 cotton crop will be the smallest in more than 25 years, falling below 9,000,000 bales, a survey by the Memphis Commercial Appeal revealed today.

A poll of leading cotton men brought a forecast of only 8,978,000 bales, or 390,000 bales less than the Department of Agriculture's last estimate on Nov. 1.

Industry spokesmen reduced their crop estimates in all states except Alabama, Texas and Louisiana. Arkansas showed the greatest estimated loss with a forecast of 150,000 bales less than the last industry estimate and 100,000 bales less than the Agriculture department's last prediction.

The big four of the cotton belt—Texas, Mississippi, Arkansas and Alabama—had a combined estimate of 5,475,000 bales, as compared with the 5,585,000 bales forecast by the government.

Woman And Son Face Murder Charge After "Triangle" Slaying

VIENNA, Mo., Dec. 5 (U.P.)—An Ozarks hill country love triangle which culminated in the slaying of one of the principals, brought the filing of first degree murder charges today against a 15-year-old youth, his mother and a neighbor.

Hamp Rothwell, Maries county prosecutor, charged 15 year old Gene Westerman, with the slaying of his father, Henry Westerman, late Thursday. Similar charges were preferred against the mother of the youth, Mrs. Edna Westerman, and a neighbor, Ben French.

Money Is Hidden

Rothwell said Gene had admitted the slaying of his father and had said he was following a plan devised by his mother and the 45-year-old French.

Rothwell said that the youth led officers to a spot where he had hidden $65. The prosecutor said he had been unable to determine whether the youth had received that amount to be the murder scheme tool or whether he had been given it earlier by his mother.

Branded Triangle Slaying

Rothwell said French is married and that the slaying of Westerman was "an eternal triangle affair." He said the boy told him French supplied the gun used in the murder.

Gene told Rothwell that he had killed his father because of threats Westerman had made to his mother and to him. Rothwell said the youth told him that his mother and father argued about French and that his father had claimed that French spent the night in the Westerman home while Westerman was working as a carpenter in Kansas.

He said French showed him a rifle hidden under the hay in a barn, and they devised the plan for slaying Westerman, Rothwell said.

Rothwell said Gene told him that the plan began when he went outdoors and called his father to the door to "see a man who wanted to talk to him about a job." He allegedly told Rothwell that he shot his father in the chest with a single shot .22 caliber rifle. His father staggered into the house and, according to Rothwell, the son reloaded, following his father and shot him through the temple.

The Westerman and French homes were about 1½ miles apart. Westerman came here about 16 years ago from St. Louis, married and settled down. They had five children.

"French has a wife and a whole houseful of kids," Rothwell said. "He's got eight children."

NAME ON HARD BOILED EGG LED TO ROMANCE

VIENNA, Mo., Dec. 5 (U.P.)—The name of a 12 year old girl written on the shell of a hard boiled egg served in a St. Louis restaurant led to the marriage of Henry Westerman and Edna Adkins Westerman, the woman held in slaying.

The story of their meeting began when Edna and a cousin, Lena Bartlett, were gathering eggs in the farm yard of Edna's father's home. The two girls decided that Edna should write her name and address on the shell of an egg.

Westerman ordered a hard boiled egg in a St. Louis restaurant and saw the name and address. He began corresponding with Edna.

Three years later, Westerman went to the Adkins home and met 15 year old Edna. They were married in the fall of that year, 1929.

Father, Son Charged In Cushing Slaying

NACOGDOCHES, Dec. 5. (A.P.)—A father and his 16 year old son were free on bond today on charges of murder in connection with the fatal shooting last night of Charlie Lucas at Cushing, 20 miles northwest of Nacogdoches.

Making bonds in the case were J. Elmer Holsomback and Elmer Bruce Holsomback who were charged with using a shotgun and a pistol in killing Lucas as the latter sat in a theater.

Lucas, 45, was tried in district court recently for the hammer slaying of Green Holsomback, father and grandfather of the man and boy charged today. A mistrial resulted after Lucas pleaded self-defense when the jury foreman became ill after 12 hours of deliberation.

Bonds were set at $3,500 for the father and $2,000 for the son.

High-Frequency Radio Project Is Planned

AUSTIN, Dec. 5. (A.P.)—The University of Texas and the Navy department will coordinate research on a $162,000 project to study ultra-high-frequency radio waves.

Dr. E. W. Hamlin, professor of electrical engineering at the University, said a staff of 20 radio engineers, meteorologists and technicians is already engaged in preliminary phases of the work.

The number of research workers is expected to increase to 40 within the next two months.

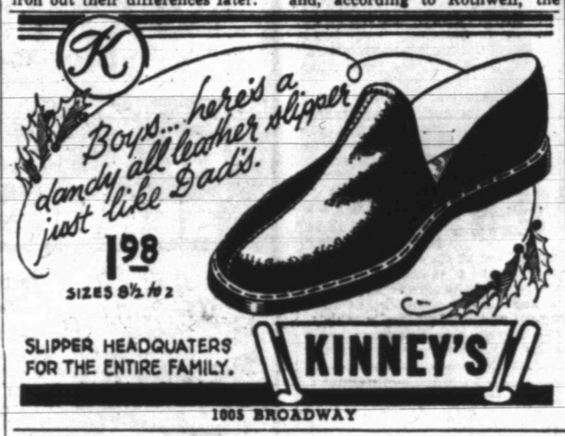

Measurements are to be made of the various characteristics of radio waves of very short length. In order to observe the effects of terrain, climate and soil conditions on such radio waves, the studies will be carried on in various parts of the United States, said Dr. Hamlin.

The research is being conducted for the office of research and inventions of the Navy department by the electrical research laboratory of the university. The contract provides for a maximum expenditure of $162,000 before July 1, 1946. In addition the Navy department will furnish radio and meteorological equipment and vehicles for transportation, valued at more than $150,000, for use in the investigations.

Buying Public Is Now "Economy" Conscious

The average American household stretches pocketbooks for added savings by buying big sizes in most everything and it works the same way when you buy the 100 tablet size of St. Joseph Aspirin for 35c as you get nearly 3 tablets for 1c. For handy pocket use, remember world famous 12 tablet package for 10c. None finer, faster or more economical. The choice of millions. Always demand pure St. Joseph Aspirin.

Red Raiders Open Cage Play Tonight With Portales Five

The 1945-46 basketball season for Texas Tech will be inaugurated at 7:30 p. m. tonight in the Tech gym when the Red Raiders clash with the rangey quintet from the Eastern New Mexico State college of Portales.

Coach Polk Robison is hopeful his charges can mark up a win in the opener. He is sending four veterans and a 6 foot, 8½ inch freshman against the visitors and feels the Raiders will at least make a good showing.

Three Letterman Start

Gene Hardey and Jiggs Jackson, lettermen from last year, will be at the forwards, Jay Kerr, letterman, and Bill Kelley, member of the team the first semester last year, are to work at guards and Tilley Sneed, towering Idalou freshmen, at center.

The quintet has been working together since practice opened two weeks ago and has acquired considerable polish. Kerr and Hardey, particularly, are said to be much better than last year, while Sneed has made material progress in working into the Tech scheme of play.

Squad Of 40 Boys

Almost 40 lads have been candidates for the Raider team, most of them freshmen. Robison has not had sufficient opportunity to classify each aspirant and may use many men tonight in efforts to see how they function under fire.

Certain of seeing action will be: Rabbit Pardue, Lubbock freshman; Ardis Barton, Spring Lake frosh; Clayton Roberts, Portales sophomore; Jim Putnam, Throckmorton fish; Don Dollar, Dumas freshman; and Leon Sckoup, Dublin first-year man.

The Eastern New Mexico team, coached by Al Garten, won its only game of the year when it upset New Mexico Military institutte by a close score last week. The visitors will remain in Lubbock for a second game Friday night, also at 7:30 p. m.

Dan Topping Moves To All-America Loop

NEW YORK, Dec. 5. (AP)—The new All-American pro football conference scored an important victory today when Dan Topping, part owner of the New York baseball Yankees, announced he was transferring operations from the National Football League to the new curcuit in 1946.

Topping, who owns the Brooklyn franchise in the National loop, which was merged with Boston for the 1945 campaign, said his team would be known as the New York Football Yankees and would play its home games in Yankee Stadium.

Announcing that he was ready to cast his lot with the new league because he had failed to reach an agreement on playing dates with Tim Mara of the New York Giants, the wealthy sportsman said there was "no question of the success" of the All-America.

Baylor Bears Take Second Cage Victory

The Bears grabbed a 28-17 halftime lead, then held on grimly. Poppe of PDC was higher scorer for the night with 17 points, while Hailey of Baylor racked up 11.

Baylor whipped Randolph Field 53 to 40, here Tuesday night.

Signing Schoolboys Discussed By Minors

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 5. (AP)—A proposal to permit baseball clubs to sign high school players under certain conditions — a proposal that met with one warning of the possibility of "conniving" — was laid before the minor leagues meetings today as baseball's great lobby-sitting sweepstakes started official business amid brisk talk of ivory trading.

After three days of the doldrums, the trade winds began to blow up a real storm with the opening of the convention of the National Association of Professional Basebtll Leagues, an opening that Minor League Czar Judge W. G. Bramham sparked with a blunt warning to club owners to avoid any "wild scramble to win a pennant" by going on spending sprees for talent.

Leading the ivory market stock reports was one that a deal had just about been completed sending Jeff Heath, Cleveland's "bad boy" outfielder, to the Chicago White Sox in trade for another flychaser. The Tribe, however, was reported to have turned down the veteran Wally Moses and asked for Taft Wright or Thurman Tucker.

Tulsa, Georgia Play In Oil Bowl

HOUSTON, Dec. 5. (AP) — The University of Tulsa and the University of Georgia, with records of seven and eight victories against two defeats for the season respectively, and each ranked with top teams of the country, will meet in the Oil Bowl football game Jan. 1.

Georgia this morning accepted an invitation to appear in the bowl subject to approval of the Southeastern Conference. Tulsa gave its acceptance this afternoon subject to approval of the Missouri Valley Conference. Approval in each case was considered only a formality.

Tulsa's Fifth Bowl

It will be the fifth bowl game for Tulsa in five years—the Golden Hurricane having defeated Texas Tech 6-0 in the Sun Bowl in 1942, having lost to Tennessee 14-7 in the Sugar Bowl in 1943, having lost to Georgia Tech 20-18 in the Sugar Bowl in 1944 and having defeated Georgia Tech 26-12 in the Orange Bowl of 1945.

It will be the third bowl engagement for Georgia. The Bulldogs appeared in the Rose Bowl in 1943, defeating University of California at Los Angeles 9-0. They played in the Orange Bowl in 1942, beating Texas Christian 40-26.

Dr. Harmon W. Caldwell, president of Georgia, made the acceptance for that school to play in the Oil Bowl. President C. I. Pontius of Tulsa accepted for the Missouri Valley university.

The fledging Oil Bowl thus came up with one of the country's top attractions. It will be the second game to be staged by this organization. In 1944 Southwestern Louisiana Institute and Arkansas A. and M. met in the inaugural. Last year the Oil Bowl had the undefeated, untied Randolph Field Ramblers on the line but the War department ruled against the Fliers playing in the game, so the Oil Bowl decided not to stage a contest for 1945.

Georgia, one of the best teams in the nation down the stretch, lost to Louisiana State and Alabama, one of this year's Rose Bowl teams. But with the addition of the great harley Trippi, discharged from the service in mid-season, the Bulldogs started rolling and at the close were going like a house afire. Georgia holds a 27-21 victory over Miami, which plays Holy Cross in the Orange Bowl.

Tulsa lost two close games—7-2 to undefeated Indiana and 12-6 to undefeated, untied Oklahoma A. and M.

This year Rice Institute granted use of its stadium to the Oil Bowl with the plan that proceeds from the game would be used in erecting a stadium in Houston to seat 50,000. Rice field's capacity is 30,000.

Rice is a member of the Southwest Conference whose champion each year is committed to the Cotton Bowl. There have been reports that the conference faculty committee, meeting at Dallas Friday and Sautrday, mgiht discuss the move o nthe part of Sice in giving over its stadium to a competing bowl but officials discounted this, pointing out that there was no conference rule forbidding a member from allowing use of its stadium.

Olney, Burkburnett Drop From Class AA

WICHITA FALLS, Dec. 5. (AP)—Burkburnett High school and Olney High school will drop out of District 2-AA in Texas schoolboy football competition, it was announced at a meeting of District 2-AA coaches here today.

It was believed that both schools will enter a Class-A district.

Burkburnett has been out of football competition for the last two years. It is in class 2-AA basketball this season.

Region Two Battles In Grid Spotlight

West Texas grid interest shifts this week to Littlefield and Sweetwater gridirons, where four mighty Class A elevens clash headon, with the winners of the two games moving into the finals of the Region Two playoff, the highest honors possible for a Class A school.

The fireworks starts at 2 o'clock Friday afternoon at Littlefield, where the greatest offense meets the greatest defense in the region playoff. The scene will then shift to Sweetwater, where the Roscoe Plowboys and Monahans Loboes play a night game on the neutral field.

Officials of the winning schools will likely hold a meeting Friday night at Sweetwater to set the date and site for the regional final game.

Cats '44 Finalist

Littlefield will be seeking its second trip to the regional finals, playing Merkel last season at Littlefield, and losing to the Badgers' great little back, Billy Wayne Frazier.

The chances of getting another glimpse of Frazier this season was blanked out when Roscoe came up with a back rated as even greater than the Merkel Myth, and Roscoe's Wild Walter Maloney is the big noise in the south half of the regional territory.

Littlefield goes into bi-district play Friday afternoon with one of the best records in West Texas, challenged only by the high geared Ballinger Bearcats. Littlefield has scored 428 points this year, bettering in ten games what the high scoring team of last year did in 11 games. Littlefield obtained the scoring habit last season by counting 362 points.

Stour Mustang Defense

Denver City is 209 points behind the Wildcats in scoring, showing 219 for the season. But the Mustangs haven't had to do much scoring to finish the season with nine wins and one tie. The combined opposition of ten foes could muster only two scoring forays across the Denver City goal line, for 12 points.

Levelland's Lobos scored once in a 6-6 tie with Denver City in the second game of the season. Sundown's Roughnecks scored in the last game of the season, but Sundown lost a 6-39 decision.

Littlefield played three other Class A district winners, beating two of them, and losing only to Ballinger in a tight 19-14 battle. The Wildcats nosed out high scoring Hereford, 13-6, and walloped the District 4-A champions, Floydada, by an 85 to 0 score.

The only other mar on the Wildcats record was a 20-20 tie with Sudan, which Littlefield won by penetrations to gain the district title.

Roscoe has won ten games, lost none, and piled up 330 points to 31 for the opposition. The only team to press the Plowboys was Merkel, with Roscoe winning 14-12 in a duel between Maloney and Frazier.

Monahans record is unknown, but were beaten by McCamey, Class B bi-district winner, and tied by Pecos. McCamey won 7-6, and Pecos tied the Loboes, 14-14.

Mustangs Picked To Defeat Brownsville

(By The Associated Press)

The team that made the biggest bounce — upward — in Texas schoolboy football finds itself favored to advance to the state quarter-finals this week.

Thomas Jefferson of San Antonio didn't look like a district champion a month ago. It had dropped game to Temple and Goose Creek and its first major conference test to Corpus Christi. Then something happened that sent the Mustangs to a surprising string of victories, including favored Austin—a team generally picked to cut quite a figure in the state race.

The Mustangs closed out with a rush, blasting Kerrville and San Antonio Tech and clipping archrival Brackenridge by a touchdown.

Thus this resurging team, although it meets an unbeaten, untied outfit in this week's bi-district court, is the general choice to drive into the quarter-finals.

Brownsville's Eagles offer the opposition. Rio Grande Valley teams never are looked upon as strong threats in the state race. However, in the Valley they think it's going to be different this year. Brownsville hasn't been tested as yet and doesn't know its real strength. The Eagles have rolled up 353 points in 10 games and the closest any team has come to them has been two touchdowns.

Brownsville and Thomas Jefferson play at San Antonio Friday night and a crowd of 20,000 is expected.

Outside of the clash of Milby (Houston) and Goose Creek at Houston Saturday night, this game is due to draw the largest attendance in the state. Milby and Goose Creek anticipate 22,000.

Other games of the state bi-district round send Amarillo to Wichita Falls, Odessa to El Paso High and Breckenridge to Waco on Saturday following Highland Park (Dallas) at Paris, Crozier Tech (Dallas) at North Side (Fort Worth) and Marshall at Lufkin Friday.

Hood Pins Trejo In Weekly Mat Feature

The Hood, the masked grappler, returned to winning ways here last night, pinning Charley Trejo in the main event of the weekly grunt and groan show at the Lubbock Horse and Mule Auction arena in straight falls.

The Hood and Trejo were paired after the two had successfully survived the wrestle-royal that named the pairings of the six grapplers for the card.

The wrestlers "ganged" Milt Olsen first, and Olsen was pinned in five minutes. Two minutes later, Gorilla Poggi was pinned, pairing these two for the opening preliminary.

Four minutes later, Tont Ross was pinned, and Ivan Jones went out a minute later, pairing this pair for the semi-final.

Olsen won the one fall preliminary, beating Poggi in 17 minutes with a leg split.

Jones came from behind to win the semi-final of the card, after Ross had won the first fall in 16 minutes with a leg split. Jones evened the match in another 18 minutes with a giant body swing, then took the deciding fall in six minutes with a flying body block and pin.

The Hood had little trouble in handling Trejo in the main event, taking the first fall in 14 minutes with a knee lift and body pin, then taking the second fall in 30 minutes with a body slam and full nelson.

Stagnation Vs. Progress

Lubbock Stands At Crossroads

ON Dec. 11, Lubbock will stand at the crossroads.

On that day voters must decide between stagnation and progress. Approval in its entirety of the $5,894,000 bond issue means the city will go forward. Rejection of any of the fourteen propositions in the election means that progress will be retarded and repection of a greater portion of the bonds means that Lubbock will face stagnation.

Lubbock has its postwar projects charted by careful study. These improvements have been weighed carefully and discussed thoroughly by various committees and city officials. They have been adopted for action in the next five to 10 years, but will serve Lubbock for more than the life of the bonds before additional facilities will be needed. All of the projects are needed to make Lubbock a great regional metropolis. They will have action quickly if voters give the green signal by approving the bonds.

Many cities voted bonds just prior to the war for municipal improvements and are now voting additional bonds. Dallas, Houston, Beaumont, San Antonio and a host of other regional metropoli of Texas are preparing for great expansion in the next ten years. Lubbock must not fall behind.

The biggest item on the Lubbock bond program is the water improvement program. For several years Lubbock has been on the borderline in its water supply and only through hurried drilling of additional wells has a crisis been averted the past few years during summer peak months.

Another item of importance is the auditorium-coliseum, which would undoubtedly place Lubbock in the fore in West Texas as an entertainment center, not only from the cultural angle, but from livestock and agricultural development and to serve recreational needs. It will not be a mere show place but has been designed to serve pressing needs of a rapidly-expanding South Plains and Eastern New Mexico population.

Other items such as parks and playground improvements, streets, sewers, street lights, water softening, additional fire stations, enlarged police facilities and other projects are just as important in the city's scheme of expansion. To cut one out would be to upset the entire plan.

The bonds can be sold now at low rates, and the projects they finance over the decade ahead will serve all of the city. Adoption of this program will put Lubbock in line for federal aid that may become available later for civil improvements. Only cities that have their plans and local financing ready will be able to obtain federal grants for such purposes.

The spirit of the pioneers who brought railroads and highways to Lubbock and later its institutions to build this community from a frontier cowman's village to the city it is today can have but one answer to the bond issue to be submitted for popular approval Dec. 11.

Late Shopper Gets Break

THE late Christmas shopper heretofore has always got the wrong part of the chicken. But he may get the choice pieces this year.

The situation is this: Since the Japs folded up, manufacturers of popular goods which were scarce during the war, have been trying like mad to get their products into stores for the Christmas shopping season. Despite labor troubles and other reconversion headaches, they have succeeded in getting a scattering of goods on the counters. In late weeks, deliveries of radios, electrical appliances, nylon stockings and other pre-war plentifuls have steadily increased. The increase will sharpen at a fast pace right on up to Christmas day, and, of course, on after that.

Many textile items are woefully scarce. Underwear, men's shirts and pajamas are the blackest spots. Women's slips are sold on a hand-to-mouth basis because the materials of which they can be made are still controlled by Washington, while negligees, which can be made of almost anything are fairly plentiful.

Metal toys are back on the market, a few of them. But it looks as if most youngsters will have to put up with another Christmas of fragile, unworkable wooden toys, which seem to be much in evidence. And kids can snuggle up to an almost unlimited volume of stuffed teddy-bears and the like.

Small hard goods—electric mixers, pressure cookers, decorative aluminum ware, are beginning to be substantial. Costume jewelry, handbags, perfume, toilet goods and such articles are reported in better supply than at any time during the war.

Though it can be safely said that supplies of everything, with few exceptions, will be more plentiful as time goes on, it still is a good idea to do your Christmas shopping early. For one thing, there is nothing in the world that gives a person as much satisfaction as the knowledge that he has done up completely the arduous and nerve-wracking job of gift buying. Like hitting yourself on the head with a hammer, it sure feels good when it's over.

If you think men are smarter than women, how do you account for the fact that 50 per cent more widowers than widows re-marry?

Marshall's Report On The War

By Gen. George C. Marshall
Wartime Chief Of Staff

(This is the 18th of 42 installments of material selected from General Marshall's report on the winning of World War II).

ORDNANCE PROBLEMS

THE following extract from a report by General Eisenhower indicates the severity of the campaign in France and illustrates the tremendous needs of our armies during this campaign, in addition to the routine consumption of huge quantities of gasoline and rations:

MARSHALL

"Losses of ordnance equipment have been extremely high. For instance, we must have as replacement items each month 36,000 small arms, 700 mortars, 500 tanks, 2,400 vehicles, 100 field pieces. Consumption of artillery and mortar ammunition in northwestern Europe averages 8,000,000 rounds a month. Our combat troops use up an average of 66,400 miles of one type of field wire each month. The AEF during the entire First World war expended less than 10,000,000 rounds of artillery and mortar ammunition)."

The British 21st Army Group liberated Brussels on 3 September and Antwerp the next day. They crossed the Dutch frontier on 12 September and by the 15th the Channel coast was cleared as far north as Zeebrugge with the exception of the isolated enemy forces holding out in key ports.

On 9 September 1944 General Eisenhower reported:

"The hostile occupation in force of the Dutch Islands at the mouth of the Schelde is certain to delay the utilization of Antwerp as a port and thus will vitally influence the full development of our strategy."

Again on 21 September he wrote:

"Right now our prospects are tied up closely with our success in capturing the approaches to Antwerp. All along the line maintenance is in a bad state—reminiscent of the early days in Tunisia—but if we can only get to using Antwerp it will have the effect of a blood transfusion."

The efforts of the British forces on the north flank were to be devoted for several weeks to clearing the enemy from these islands. After bitter fighting involving heavy losses, featured by river crossings and amphibious landings, the last of the positions was cleared on 9 November. By 27 November the port of Antwerp was in operation but under heavy fire of the vicious German V weapons which fell at one time at the rate of one every 12½ minutes and caused thousands of Allied civilian and military casualties and cast grave doubt for a time as to the advisability of continuing the operation of the port.

Opening of Port Facilities

The ports of southern France were vital to the U. S. Seventh Army and the French First Army in the Southern Group of Armies. Toulon and Marseille were in operation late in September. Since then 14 divisions were moved through Southern France ports, in addition to an average daily unloading of over 18,000 tons of supplies. Two railways were placed in early operation, including the double-track main line through Lyon and Dijon, and thousands of tons of supplies moved daily to forward railheads. Port capacities and transportation facilities were sufficient to meet the requirements of the entire Southern Group of Armies and also to assist in the supply of the Central Group of Armies until the stubborn defense of the water entrance to Antwerp was reduced.

After the port of Antwerp became operational, it handled on an average of over 25,000 tons of stores daily, despite the V bombs. This tremendous increase in our over-all port capacity made it unnecessary to devote more precious time and manpower to reopen the shattered ports in Brittany, which although now in our hands, were much more distant from the front lines than Antwerp.

Having overcome the acute shortage of port facilities, the primary bottleneck in the supply line then became transportation from the port supply dumps to the front lines. To improve this situation our Engineers, Transportation Corps, and other supply troops in Lt. Gen. J. C. H. Lee's communications zone performed miracles in repairing and building railways, operating large high-speed truck convoys, and extending fuel pipelines from the ports and terminals of 16 cross-Channel pipelines to the forward areas. At one time 70 miles of pipe were being laid in a single day.

As the Siegfried Line was approached, and the port and enlarged transportation facilities became adequate, General Eisenhower advised the War Department that tactical plans for the final assault of this fortification required greater ammunition resources than those provided, and requested a maximum production effort in the United States.

The Westwall

Field Marshal Montgomery struck through the air at the northern flank of the Siegfried Line on 17 and 18 September. The U. S. 82d and 101st and one British airborne division, all elements of Lt. Gen. Lewis H. Brereton's newly formed First Allied Airborne Army, landed in Holland astride the Meuse, Waal, and Lower Rhine rivers in the Eindhoven-Arnhem area. This was the largest airborne operation ever attempted, requiring the employment on the first two days of 2,800 planes and over 1,600 gliders. Several airborne operations had been planned for the period following the break-through in Normandy, but so rapid was the Allied advance that events overtook the plans in each instance. The operation in Holland achieved only partial success. The American 82d and 101st Airborne Divisions, landing near Eindhoven, seized crossings of the Meuse and Waal rivers. The British Second Army was able to establish contact with these divisions after the second day. The important bridgeheads were held in the face of desperate German counterattacks. The British airborne division, landing in the more remote and exposed Arnhem area north of the Lower Rhine, was subjected to concentrated attacks by superior enemy forces. It was finally forced to withdraw south of the river.

Meanwhile, to the south, our First Army was forcing its way into Germany. Aachen was strongly defended, and a bitter battle ensued before it fell on 21 October. On 3 October the Ninth Army had been brought up from the western coast of France and entered the line between the First and Third Armies. Then on 23 October the Ninth Army was moved to the northern flank of the First Army above Aachen. By the end of November the Third Army, driving toward the Saar, had reduced the formidable Metz area and the defenses along the Moselle and Seille Rivers. A Southern Army Group offensive into Alsace-Lorraine brought the 2d French Armored Division of the U. S. Seventh Army to Strasbourg on the Rhine in late November and the First French Army to the river between Mulhouse and the Swiss border. Between the two armies remained a sizable portion of the Alsace known as the Colmar pocket.

LOANS INCREASE

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5 (AP) — Commercial, industrial and agricultural loans increased $27,000,000 during the week ended Nov. 28 at member banks in 101 cities, the Federal Reserve board said today. Total loans increased $362,000,000 during the period.

Looking At Life ------ By Erich Brandeis

"AMERICAN women today are very curious-looking critters", remarked a serviceman who has just returned from several years in the Pacific, where all the soldiers dreamed of the beautiful women they had left behind. "Our girls, the same creatures who kept our souls alight when we were sleeping in the mud and being ill on destroyers, look like something Salvador Dali might muster up after a midnight snack of welsh rarebit and raw onion."

BRANDEIS

This returned serviceman, who voiced his displeasure in one of New York's newspapers, does not confine himself to generalities, but knows exactly what he does not like about the woman of today.

The new up-swept hairdo, he says, "hangs down the back like a beaver's tail and is hauled tight with a windless and screwed into a silly top-knot."

He hates the built-up shoes with spiked heels that "make our girls totter like unreconstructed Chinese women and those long, painted fingernails remind him of animals' claws.

And the hats—well, he just has no words for the hats.

I do admit that the hats of this present season are about the craziest concoctions I have ever seen and those long, red fingernails—

But then a couple of days ago I had to write something about George McManus, who is just finishing a third of a century of drawing that popular comic strip "Bringing Up Father."

So I browsed through the old picture files and I came across drawings and photographs made anywhere from 1900 to 1913. You should have seen them!

One of them was one of the original Floradora girls. A figure like an hourglass—I don't see how the poor creature ever breathed—a long trailing dress that must have caught every bit of dust and dirt, a feather boa which looked as if it had been plucked out of a sick chicken, and high-button shoes.

There were many others like it — the famous Gibson girls, the early Maggie and what not.

And yet even in those days men were fighting for their women and dreaming of them and marrying them.

YES, today's girls are rather "curious-looking critters" and, as a long-married man remarked, "women are certainly funny creatures."

But aren't their very craziness and their incongruity their most potent charm?

Dont we love them just because we don't understand them and because they are completely incalculable to us men?

A twenty-one-year old fellow said to me a couple of days ago: "I'm all through with women. I know all about them and they bore me."

Well, I am a bit older than twenty-one and I have met very many of them in my years of newspaper work. Furthermore, I have been married to a woman for more than twenty years.

But I know absolutely nothing about women. And, I dont want to learn anything about them.

To me they are a "to-be-continued" story — with the climax always ahead

Nothing To Cheer Over

Pearl Harbor Probe Sad Affair

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

THE House-Senate investigation of Pearl Harbor has degenerated into the shabby level of a night police court, with the exception that the scowling and bickering participants in this instance happen to be august members of the United States Congress assigned to ascertain the root cause of the most disastrous naval defeat in our history.

Witnesses, reporters, the gallery of from 400 to 500 and committee members alike feel most sorry for the individuals supposed to be the villains in the case—Adm. Husband E. Kimmel and Lt. Gen Walter C. Short. Sitting on the sidelines in mufti at each drab session, they make neither villainous nor heroic figures.

The two Pearl Harbor commanders seem to be—and have been—only minor cogs in a wild world machine which, until V-J Day, apparently ran without the guidance of a human or providential hand.

TUCKER

The Congressional investigators have behaved from the first fall of Chairman Alben W. Barkley's gavel like politicians angling for votes for their respective parties rather than impartial judges trying a historic case.

The Democrats snarl and object and equally partisan Republicans seek to elicit testimony that might befame President Roosevelt. At executive sessions their language sometimes approaches the sulphurous epithets which Cordell Hull hurled at Special Emissarics Nomura and Kurusu on the noon of Sunday, December 7, 1941.

Indeed, the direct or indirect responsibility for the success of the Japs' sneak attack has been forgotten while President Roosevelt stands trial before the bar of political history. He and his personally managed foreign policy are the defendants in absentia.

AMUSED: Detailed examination of the distinguished witnesses has been left almost entirely to Senators Homer Ferguson of Michigan and Ralph Brewster of Maine, the Republicans' top legalists. Their questioning is interrupted by their political adversaries only when it threatens, however remotely, to pin primary blame on President Roosevelt, former Secretary Hull or their aides at the capital.

Key actors in the drama, such as Adm. William D. Leahy and former Ambassador Joseph C. Grew, have amused the audience.

The naval officer who served as FDR's Chief of Staff, a responsibility that requires keen senses and mind, could remember every sharp word which Admiral J. O. Richardson shot at the late President during the luncheon at which he protested against keeping the weakened fleet at Pearl Harbor. But he could not recall any statement made by the former Chief Executive.

He gave the impression that the White House conference was merely a monologue, which it could never have been with such a sparkling conversationalist as Mr. Roosevelt within talking distance.

FORGETFULNESS: The ambassador whose "Ten Years in Tokyo" depicted him as a diplomatic Pepys developed an acute attack of forgetfulness regarding the tragic hours before the "day that will live long in infamy." For a man who had been our "listening post" in such an exposed and dangerous sector so long, his loss of memory was more painful to others than to himself.

He described in picturesque terms his midnight call on Foreign Minister Togo to present FDR's last, desperate appeal to Emperor Hirohito. But he was vague on embassy preparations for hostilities even after he was morally certain that war would eventuate. He could not remember whether he took precautions—burning the code, packing secret documents etc.—on his own initiative or whether he was tipped by Washington.

HAZED: The committee's counsel cannot seem to make up their minds whether they are working for the offense or defense. Senior Lawyer William D. Mitchell, can hardly be blamed for his indecision.

Although he was Attorney General under Herbert Hoover, GOP partisans on the board have hazed him so violently that he hardly dares to speak above a whisper. Messrs. Ferguson and Brewster give the impression that they which he were slightly more aggressive for the prosecution.

Gerhard Gesell, assistant counsel, 35, and brilliant, has been an ideological New Dealer from the days when he served as legal man-of-all-work for the Corcoran-Cohen "brain trust." He opens each session with a few perfunctory questions directed to the person on the stand, and then lapses into an observant silence. He earns his Congressional stipends the easy way, for the law firm of Ferguson, Brewster and GOP seem content to substitute for youngster.

BAROMETER: Big, boyish and handsome Scott W. Lucas, of Illinois, is the man to watch to determine whether the Democrats or Republicans are ahead at any particular moment. He is a human political barometer.

When his hostile colleagues sweat and dig and strike no pay dirt in the mud of Pearl Harbor or the murk of Washington, he leans back comfortably, a faintly cynical sneer crosses his florid face and he escalades a fat, expensive cigar from lower to upper lip. But when "Judge" Ferguson shoves out his chin and shakes his always disheveled white mop of hair, Scott rears and roars!

TEXAS
By Gordon Shearer

AUSTIN—Texas Centennial of Statehood will have a decidedly different form of observance from that given the state's 100th anniversary of independence from Mexico.

There will be no "exposition," no markers at historic sites, no erection of a monument like that at San Jacinto battlefield and no expense to the state.

The observance will be in full swing from Dec. 29, 1945, to the end of Feb. 19, 1946. A decision of the U. S. Supreme court in a tax case fixed Dec. 29, 1845 as the date of annexation because it was on that day that President Polk of the United States signed the joint resolution.

February 19 is the closing date of the celebration. It was on that date in 1846 that the Texas flag was run down on the staff of the state capitol and the United States flag hoisted. Then President Anson Jones of the Republic of Texas turned over affairs ot Gov. James P. Henderson.

Appropriately the federal government will place a Texas statehood centennial postage stamp on sale December 29. First to be issued will be the Austin post office and likely will become a collectors' item. It is presumed there will be some sort of celebration, too, in Austin on Feb. 19—probably at the site of the 1845-46 capitol which is about where the present city hall stands.

PLANS: Steps toward an official observance were taken in 1941. The Senate and House of the legislature in session that year adopted separate resolutions each designating Garland Adair, curator of the State Historical museum as "Centennial of Statehood commissioner."

Despite the fact that he was barred from receiving any salary for the job—and it was provided he should incur no expense in it for which the state should be liable—Adair set to work with enthusiasm. The resolutions empowered him to name associate commissioners. Through them the expenses have been financed.

At the last session of the Legislature, House and Senate members got together on one concurrent resolution that confirmed the former separate action, and ratified the general outline of observance recommended by Adair and his associates.

Karl Hoblitzelle, Dallas, has been made chairman of the commission directing the observance; Jesse H. Jones, Houston, chairman on Federal participation, and Paul Wakefield, Austin, executive secretary, with Wm. Lois Hudges, as executive assistant treasurer. Adair retains his title of "commissioner."

Party Needs To Take Stand On Issues

GOPs Need Definite Program

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON—Recent developments have emphasized anew the need for the Republican party to come to some broad decisions on party policy, with appropriate action.

STOKES

Among these is the revolt of 39 first and second-term House members against elder party leadership. They want it understood that every pronouncement from that leadership, or from individual Republicans, is not gospel to them and does not necessarily represent them.

They mentioned two issues specifically. One was the compulsory military training bill which is regarded skeptically by some Republican Congressional leaders. The other was the Pearl Harbor investigation. They explained that the party leadership has not tried to influence them on these two issues.

Particularly interesting was their comment on the Pearl Harbor investigation. They want a thorough inquiry to bring out all the facts, but they added: "We emphatically reject any suggestion that our government should have acquiesced in Japan's program of aggression." This was in reference to some interpretations of a statement by Rep. Gearhart (R., Cal.).

Plan Backfires

There are evidences of a public reaction against the attempt to exploit the Pearl Harbor investigation for political purposes, with which some Republicans have become identified in the public mind. It has done the party no good. The issue seemingly has boomeranged.

It is becoming increasingly doubtful, with all the troublous domestic problems, that the Republicans can win next year's Congressional elections merely by digging back into the past to try to blame President Roosevelt personally for the Pearl Harbor disaster, or even by exploiting such events as the resignation of Maj. Gen. Pat Hurley as ambassador to China.

THERE are other issues which affect the rank and file of voters more directly.

Republicans have had a hard time trying to reach a decision on them. This is indicated by the weeks they ave given to drafting a sort of in-between National convention platform for the party in Congress. They hope to have it ready for the National committee meeting in Chicago this week-end.

The revolt of the 39 newer House members and the sour reaction on the Pearl Harbor issue give added point to the meeting.

But, however far they go at Chicago, there are some matters right now in Congress on which the party could take a stand effectively, or clarify their position to good advantage.

Could Fulfill Pledge

The leadership could exert itself to carry out a platform pledge of last year's National convention. This was for a permanent Fair Employment Practices commission to check discriminations in employment on racial or religious grounds. The need for such a permanent agency is growing, according to reports from various parts of the cvountry.

The Republican party has a splendid opportunity here, for the Democratic party is split by opposition of the Southern Conservative wing to such legislation. At present, of the 150-odd signatures on a House petition to force a vote, only about a third are Republicans. Republicans could put this petition over, for possible Democratic signatures are virtually exhausted because of the southern opposition. It takes 218 signatures.

THE Republican party also has got itself identified with some discriminatory labor proposals because of the sponsorship by one of its whips, Rep. Arends (Ill.), of provisions in a bill soon to come before the House. These would further restrict political activity by labor unions and punish labor for strikes in violation of "no-strike" pledges without imposing equal penalties for the employer who might provoke strikes.

More constructive is such a proposed bill as the Hatch-Ball-Burton measure in the Senate, two of whose sponsors were Republicans, Senators Ball (Minn.) and Senator Burton (Ohio), now a Supreme court justice.

The field of action is large. Whatever is done at Chicago, there's plenty waiting to be done here.

Army Nurses Protest Trip From West Coast

FORT WORTH, Dec. 5. (AP)—First Lt. Amy Armstrong Cushing of Fort Worth and 45 other Army nurses from overseas today had filed a strong protest with the Army against the manner in which they were brought from the west coast to separation center at San Antonio. They arrived in San Antonio Wednesday.

They shared, Lt. Cushing said, two dirty chair cars with enlisted men and all the footlockers and duffle bags of both groups. Their meals for three days consisted of: Sunday, one piece of bread and jelly in the morning, and a small portion of stew in a paper plate in the afternoon.

Monday, a small spoonful of scrambled eggs.

Tuesday, two crackers with a thin slice of cheese between.

Protest Food

"The crackers and cheese did it," Lt. Cushing said today. "We went to the train officer and told him we were hungry and wanted something to eat.

"We also told that we wanted some water to wash our hands and faces. More than half the time up to then all hadn't had that. And we wanted some drinking water.

"We offered to get off the train at the next stop and pay our own fare. He told us we'd be court-martialed if we did."

Able To Buy Meals

At El Paso the two cars of nurses and enlisted men were detached from the troop train and attached to a regular schedule. During the remaining day's run the nurses were able to supplement their army rations with meals they purchased with their own funds in the train diner. At San Antonio, Lt. Cushing said, their request for refunds was refused

"Our washroom simply stank," she said.

Lt. Cushing was sent to the Philippines last April in an emergency quota of nurses.

The other nurses have overseas service ranging from eight months to two years, she said.

Fire-Gutted Atlanta Returning To Normal

ATLANTA, Tex., Dec. 5. (AP) — Atlanta, population 3,500, gradually returned to normal today with resumption of electric power and telephone service, cut off yesterday by a $200,000 fire which gutted the heart of the town.

Fire departments from four communities sought to control flames which broke out at 4:45 p. m. yesterday, destroying the main business section.

Razed were two barber shops, an electric supply firm, a drug store, two cafes, a beauty parlor, a plumbig company, a jewelry store, a grocery store, a furniture store and the Woodmen of the World lodge hall.

Mayor John Hanner said as soon as an accurate estimate of damage is completed, plans for rebuilding would be made. He estimated the loss roughly at $200,000.

Cause of the fire is believed to have been faulty electric wiring.

One Killed, Five Hurt In Jump From Truck

GALVESTON, Dec. 5. (AP) — Ramon Ribera, Galveston laborer, was killed and five companions injured today when they jumped from a moving truck at a railroad crossing as a passenger train approached.

The truck cleared the path of the train in time to avoid a collision. Ribera suffered a fractured skull.

RALLY WIPES OUT LOSSES

NEW YORK, Dec. 5 (AP)—Advances of 1 to 8 points to new yearly highs in aircrafts and rail equipments stimulated a last-hour rally in today's stock market and erased or sizably reduced earlier extreme lows in a good number of issues.

Most of the rails and utilities failed to respond to late buying although losses were cut considerably. Some of the liquors, rubbers, ois and metals were off fractions. A lot of securities were unchanged. Motors improved a bit, General Motors ending off ⅛ and hrysler unchanged.

Transactions totaled 1,860,000 shares against 2,310,000 Tuesday. The Associated Press 60-stock composite rose .1 of a point to 76.2.

At tops for 1945 and longer were Boeing, United Aircraft, Grumman, Republic Aircraft, International Telephone, Lima Locomotive and American Locomotive — the latter two on reports France soon would place huge orders.

Off fractions were Bethlehem, Goodrich, American Telephone, Anaconda, Northern Pacific, Baltimore and Ohio, Chesapeake and Ohio, Texas Co. and Schenley.

Bonds were irregular.

Gainers in the curb included Brewster Aeronautical, Niagara Hudson Power and Root Petroleum. Volume totaled 1,100,000 shares compared with 1,280,000 yesterday.

State To Continue Fight For Island

AUSTIN, Dec. 5. (AP)—The state's fight to obtain title to at least a part of Padre island will be carried to the United States Supreme court.

Attorney General Grover Sellers said today that his office would seek a writ of certiorari from the court, following the recent final rejection by the state Supreme court of the state's contentions.

Sellers said that under the agreement between Texas and the United States, under which Texas became a state, the state was entitled to all vacant and unappropriated lands.

The state contends that of Padre island's approximaely 30 leagues of land, 19 leagues were vacant and unappropriated under the original Mexican grant, and thus the state should have title.

Need Of Improvements Here Cited By Speaker At Rotary Luncheon

Need of improvements in Lubbock's water supply, sewers, streets and traffic lighting, airport facilities, parks, city hall and the erection of an auditorium and coliseum was pointed out Wednesday by W. C. O'Mara in a talk to the Rotary club luncheon at the Hilton hotel.

O'Mara spoke in support of the city's five-year expansion and improvement program which will be voted in a bond issue Tuesday. "I know the business men are sold on the plan and believe in its future," he said.

Saving Is Cited

The speaker reminded the club that the total amount for each improvement is the maximum figured on present prices, but in case of drop in cost of materials and labor in the next few years, the maximum will not be required. In that event, a portion of the bonds would not be sold with resultant saving to taxpayers.

"Air transportation is the transportation of the future and if Lubbock is to participate, we must have better airport facilities," O'Mara said in regard to the proposed airport improvement program. Two airlines are operating through Lubbock and on Feb. 15 another will start flights here. "At present there is not sufficient lobby, ticket office, radio and baggage space," he explained.

Would Produce Revenue

It should be emphasized that such airport facilities would be revenue producing to the city . . . the airlines not only pay for office and other space, but also for the privilege of landing at the field and use of facilities.

He expressed the opinion that if the water supply proposal doesn't pass that we might as well not pass the others . . . "so great is our need for more water."

"The only objection any of us could have to this program is the estimated cost of $5,894,000, but city officials have informed us that if all the propositions carry and all the money is spent, our tax rate would be increased only 40 cents on the $100 valuation," the speaker explained. Valuations are going up every year and it is possible that the tax rate will never reach 40 cents.

Dallas Pastor Speaks

The speaker was introduced by A. B. Davis, Dr. W. A. Criswell, pastor of the Dallas First Baptist church, spoke on "History's First Imperative" and pointed out that the fundamental thing in life as a nation and as a people concerns morality. He was introduced by Lattimore Ewing.

George Brewer of Lubbock High school was introduced as junior Rotarian for the month of December and Robert E. Maxey was presented as a new club member.

Visiting Rotarians were Nat D. Heaton of Slaton, R. P. Webb of Vernon, Floyd Stock of Seminole, F. H. Miller of Dallas, Charles T. Lanter and Tom Popplawell, both of Fort Worth, and Riley W. Carlton of Brownfield.
