Martin Dies Will Speak At Auditorium Tonight

Capacity Crowd Indicated by Big Demand for Speech Tickets

Martin Dies, former chairman of the House Un-American Activities Committee, will speak at the school auditorium tonight, and from all indications, a capacity crowd will hear him. The meeting, sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce, begins at 8 p. m.

MARTIN DIES

Lee Little, secretary-manager of the Chamber of Commerce, said Wednesday that 1,480 tickets for the Dies speech have been distributed and that all adjoining towns have written in for tickets.

Admission to the program is by ticket, however, the tickets are free and may be had at the C. of C. office. The auditorium seats 1,267 persons, which would indicate more than a full house, if all ticket holders appear.

The Chamber of Commerce officers for the coming year will be installed tonight at a dinner at the Hotel Coffee Shop, preceding the program at the auditorium. Only the outgoing and incoming board of directors will be present for this ceremony. Max W. Boyer will conduct the installation.

Irvin Buchanan, new president of the C. of C., will be master of ceremonies at the speech, and John Sammons, retiring president, will make a short talk.

The invocation will be by Rev. Lloyd H. Jones, pastor of the First Methodist church; W. H. Lance will introduce the out-of-town guests; Van W. Stewart will introduce the speaker; and Rev. O. C. Curtis, pastor of the First Baptist church, will give the benediction.

Dies is a native Texan, born at Colorado City on Nov. 5, 1901. He attended the University of Texas and graduated at Hickman College, Washington, D. C., and took his law degree at National University, Washington, D. C. He began his practice of law at Marshall, Texas.

New Front for Ellis Theatre Is Completed

The Ellis Theatre really has the "new look" these days. Completed this week was the giant new marquee which extends across the front of the theatre building and the two adjoining business houses.

The new marquee is 50 feet across and 12 feet deep, and is made of porcelain and glass. It contains many feet of neon tubing, has a row of flasher bulbs around the bottom, has giant light tubes inside the sign, and there are 16 floodlights that shine down through the sign to the sidewalk below.

There are foot-high letters that are placed on the white glass background, advertising each change of picture at the theatre.

New Chrysler Goes On Display This Week End

The 1952 line of Chrysler automobiles go on display across the nation this week end and the Hobbs Motor Co. will have one of the new models for display Friday and Saturday.

While few exterior body changes were made in the new Chrysler, there are refinements which contribute to performance, appearance, safety, economy and comfort, Chas. Hobbs, owner said.

The new line has 18 body styles and all models except the Windsor and Windsor Deluxe lines are powered by the 180-horsepower V-8 Fire-Power engine. The Windsor has a six cylinder engine.

Hydraguide steering is available on all models, and is standard on the Crown Imperial model. The Chryslers offer Oriflow shock absorbers and Fluid-Torque converter and the company believes this is the best engineered automobile ever built.

New Building Is Started By Lutherans

Work has started on the new building of the Lutheran church, at the corner of S. Grinnell and 7th avenue, with the first loads of material for the building unloaded this week. The excavation of the foundation has been completed and workmen are pouring concrete for the structure now.

It will be a 30 by 70 foot building, located on the north side of the corner lot. The building will be of frame construction, with a front of Roman brick, according to A. J. Seedig, chairman of the building committee. It is planned to add brick walls to this building in the future, when the large and long-planned church building is built on the corner, Seedig said.

The new church building was made necessary because of the crowded conditions in the present building.

Has Plenty Anti-Freeze For Cold Weather

Fortified for cold weather was a 56-year-old man arrested Saturday afternoon at the north end of Main street by Sheriff Ray Phagan. He was carrying four bottles of bay rum, two bottles of almond extract and a bottle of shaving lotion in a paper sack and had an undetermined quantity of the various alcoholic concoctions inside. He was booked on a drunkenness charge and lodged in the local jail.

Friday Meeting At Courthouse to Plan Radio Net

A meeting of peace officers and county officials will be held at the Ochiltree courthouse Friday afternoon at 2 o'clock to discuss the installation of a police radio system for this area.

The sheriffs, county judges and commissioners of Ochiltree, Hansford, Hemphill and Lipscomb counties have been asked to attend.

There will be representatives from other Panhandle counties present, along with a radio technician from the Department of Public Safety at Amarillo, Sheriff Ray Phagan said.

Need for a radio system of communication was emphasized by Phagan, who said, "This part of Texas is almost isolated so far as police communication is concerned. I have been interested in this matter ever since I have been here and believe it will decrease the expense of operations of law enforcement agencies and enhance the efficiency to a great extent, as there is plenty of room for improvement."

The public is invited to attend the meeting, Phagan added.

Park Christmas Scene Attended By Hundreds

In spite of the cold weather, the dedication of the Christmas nativity scene at the city park Monday night was a big success, with hundreds of people viewing the scene and listening to the Christmas music that night. Scores of cars jammed the street around the park, making a special city policeman's presence necessary for traffic duty.

Members of the Girl Scouts, Boy Scouts, Brownie Scouts, Cub Scouts and the high school choir, under the direction of Marvin Genuchi, presented Christmas carols.

The Christmas scene was prepared under the direction of the

Samnorwood Boys and Dalhart Girls Win Cage Tournament

The pre-tournament favorites, the Samnorwood boys and Dalhart girls, won the championship of the Perryton Invitational Basketball Tournament Saturday night before a capacity crowd at the school gymnasium. Dalhart turned back the Turpin girls, 57-36, while Samnorwood triumphed over the Dalhart boys, 29-26 in the finals.

Perryton won the consolation trophy in the boys bracket by defeating Follett, 29-22, while Darrouzett won the girls consolation trophy in beating Booker, 24-23.

The two champion teams had trouble in reaching the finals.

Samnorwood squeezed by Spearman, 32-31, in the semi-finals Saturday afternoon. Spearman held a four-point lead late in the game, and had a 2-point margin with only 28 seconds to play. However, Samnorwood stole the ball, made the field goal, and tied the game. Seconds later, Spearman fouled Overcast of Samnorwood just as the final buzzer sounded, and Overcast dropped the winning free throw into the basket after the game was over, winning, 32-31.

Dalhart had their hardest game in the semi-finals against Stinnett Saturday morning. Joyce

Beaver Flynn Well Blows In Wednesday; Flows 50 Barrels

The Flynn Oil Co. discovery well, located two miles north of Beaver, blew in Wednesday afternoon for an estimated flow of 50 to 60 barrels an hour. The gusher flowed over the top of the cable tool derrick after breaking loose long before the well was thoroughly cleaned out.

The hole filled up to 4,000 feet of fluid Tuesday while the crew was swabbing. Bottom of the hole, according to the electric log, is 5,349. The pipe was set at the top of the pay zone at 5,440.

The well is located in SE SE of section 35-5n-23 ecm. on school land. Production is from the Des Moines formation, a lower strata of the Pennsylvanian.

Towers Dotting the Country Help the Geometric Survey; Party Here Until April

What are all these wooden and steel towers doing scattered around this area? Why, these are part of the equipment used by the U. S. Dept. of Commerce Coast and Geodetic Survey in making a geodetic survey of this part of the Panhandle.

And what is a geodetic survey? That, readers, is a more difficult question to answer. Briefly, the way Walter R. Helm, senior geodetic engineer with the party headquarters in Perryton, explains it is that the geodetic survey is one made with relation to the curvature of the earth. The common, ordinary survey which we know about is made from one point to another on the ground, taking for granted that the earth is a flat plane.

Section Not Square Not so, says the Geodetic Bureau. The curvature of the earth, while slight in a small area, is enough to require a special kind of survey to make mapping absolutely accurate. Thus an ordinary 640 acre piece of ground, known as a section, is not actually a square, although it may appear that way on the map. Actually, the north part of the section should appear a little bit more narrow than the bottom, at least in the northern hemisphere.

The word geodetic comes from geod, which means the earth, Helm explains. A geod, of which there is only one—the earth—is a form of oblate spheroid, meaning a sphere or globe flatter at the ends than in the middle.

OH, MY ACHING BACK!—Them's the sentiments of Lindsay McWilliams and the rest of the workers at the post office during the Christmas rush. Take n Monday afternoon, this picture shows approximately 80 sacks of mail, plus scores of assorted packages, a ll to be sorted and delivered before the next truck load arrives. This is one reason the post office urges "Mail Your Christmas Parcel Early!"

Geodetic Survey Operation

Geodetic surveying means surveying with relation to the earth as a whole.

What the geodetic survey party does is to measure land by triangulation, which should prove to school boys that plane geometry is not a useless subject. The way they do it is to get an exact measurement from one point to another, as a starting point, taking into account the curvature of the earth, and once they have determined the length of this one line, they're off. No more measuring is necessary. The rest is done by triangulation.

Watch the Lights

Having marked this known line, they put a tower at both ends of the line, and another tower out from it. Two of the towers of this triangle have lights on them; the other one has an observation team, with an instrument called a theodolite, with which to look at the lights on the other two towers.

These lights, which are operated from ordinary dry cell batteries, do not appear very powerful, but can be seen for amazing distances through the theodolite, a powerful telescope. While the towers here are only from 8 to 15 miles apart, Helm said that in Arizona he once viewed lights placed 120 miles away.

The crews measure the angles of the triangle this way, and by geometric formula, arrive at the length of the other two sides of the triangle. Then they start another triangle, using a known side as a basis.

This process is repeated across the section of the map that they are surveying, and their work sheets show a series of adjoining triangles marked across the map.

Work at Night

To avoid refraction from the sun's rays and to avoid other atmospheric hindrances, the surveying is done at night. An observation team, consisting of an observer and two recorders, set up the theodolite and look at the lights on towers around them, measuring angles. They measure from one light to another 16 times, and then average up their readings to get the exact angle.

TRAILER FAMILY—Mr. and Mrs. Al Critchlow and children are not exactly typical of the trailer families with the geodetic survey party in Perryton—they have the largest family in the group. Above are shown, left to right, Ann, 5, Mrs. Critchlow, Tom, 16, months, Mr. Critchlow and Margie, 3, and Bee, 7. He has been with the crew 5½ years and they move four times a year. Their 27-ft. trailer has a bunk for the four children and the living quarters are converted at night to a bedroom for Mr. and Mrs. Critchlow. They say they like trailer life and like moving around, seeing the country.

The observation crews put a tent around their tower. This is not merely for the comfort of the crew, but the theodolite is a delicate instrument and must be protected from the weather when making observations.

The light keeper has a rather lonely job, and at this time of year, a cold one. He stands on top of the tower, making sure that the light is burning, and in case it needs to be brighter or dimmer, makes the adjustment with the dry cells. He also signals the observation party, to let them know that they are looking at a signal tower and not a farm house or some other kind of light.

Tower to Tower

He spends several hours at night on top of his tower, and while sometimes he takes a tarp with him, often he has nothing to break the cold winter wind.

When the observation party gets through working from one tower, they move to another one, where the light has formerly been, and the light is moved to a new tower.

These towers are of wood, for the smaller ones, and are of steel, when they need to get higher than 37 feet off the ground. Object of the towers, of course, is to get the observers away from the curvature of the earth and to enable them to see over objects on the ground.

The towers are placed from 8 to 15 miles apart, and the construction crews are constantly putting up new towers.

Abandon the Towers
When a wooden tower ceases

to be used, the crew moves off and leaves it standing there. The bureau finds it cheaper to leave a wooden tower than try to tear it down and salvage the lumber. Difference in the cost is in the labor bill, Helm explains. The steel towers, of course are torn down and erected for each observation point.

Underneath each tower is placed a concrete marker, with a bronze tablet imbedded in it, giving the exact location where the survey was made. Two reference markers are also placed nearby, in case the first marker is destroyed or moved.

These towers, whether they are made of wood or steel, are constructed the same way—with one three-legged tower inside another one. Purpose of this is to insure absolute accuracy in measuring. The theodolite is placed on the inside tower, and the observation crew walks around on the platform of the outside tower. The two towers are not connected, since the weight of a man's body on the ground around the instrument is enough to throw the measurements off.

Lots of Computing

The recorders put all their data in a field book, and the computations are made later at the field office. Later, these are re-computed at the Washington office, and after being checked and double checked, the data is compiled into volumes for reference use.

Primarily, the geodetic survey is used as an aid for mapping. It is also a permanent record with survey points for use of surveyors in determining boundary lines of any piece of property in this area at any later date.

A geodetic survey is a particular one of another government or some outside agency who requested the survey being made.

Results of the survey are available on request to the Perryton, Helm said.

Twenty-One in Perryton consists of 21 men, 15 families. They plan Perryton until about 1952, Helm said. All of the live in trailers, and the single men also live in trailers, and each time they move, about four times a year, on average.

The party worked in the Panhandle, south of the Red River, and in the senior STEEL TYPE TOWER—This 37-ft. steel tower is used by the geodetic survey party when they need to get higher off the ground than they can go with a wooden one. These steel towers come in 37, 64, 77, 90, 103 and 116 foot heights, and a steel tower crew can erect one in less than a day. This one is located two miles east of Darrouzett. Both the light and the observation party use the tower.

ON LOCATION—Ready for the night time job of observing and recording angles for the geodetic survey are W. M. Johnson and Dick Hanson. These men set up this theodolite instrument in a pasture north and west of Lipscomb last Friday, and have the tent around to protect the delicate instrument. They will measure angles to lights on towers in several directions and their data will be computed in the office in Perryton.

Picture of a man making a smart decision

HERE is a man who's been doing a lot of thinking.

Someday, he's told himself, I'm going to turn in my old car and get a new one.

And he said, still talking to himself, when I do that I'm going to size up the field—give 'em all a real going over.

You see him here at the wheel of a Buick. He hasn't bought it—yet. It's a demonstrator, and he's trying it out.

But the more he tries it, the more he knows he's been wasting a lot of time.

From the moment he looked inside, he said: Here's the room—and the comfort—and the style I've been looking for.

Then he nudged its Fireball Engine into action. It's a high-compression valve-in-head, as you probably know.

He eased out into traffic. Stopped and started for a couple of traffic lights, and said something to the effect that this Dynaflo Drive[®] is a honey. Why don't they all build 'em this way?

He saw a bump ahead. Place where the pavement had been torn up. Other cars were braking down to a creep to cross it. He held back—rolled right across at regular speed with barely a bobble.

It's hard to believe, he said, but what they say about Buick's ride is right.

Ten minutes later he was out on an open stretch of road. Tried an experimental push on the gas treadle.

Boy—what a take-off! You couldn't want more power than that.

Ten minutes more—and he knew something else. You don't really steer a Buick. It just about steers itself. Stays right on the beam on the straightaway. Even straightens itself out after a curve.

To make a long story short—he's found out that nothing else he's tried out can hold a candle—not even a little Christmas candle—to this bonnie beauty.

Back at the Buick showroom, he's going to get one more surprise. The price of a Buick is a lot less than he'd guessed it would be.

Moral: Smart Buy's Buick—right now.

Dear Santa Claus,
We are five years old and we have been good little boys, most of the time. We would like to have a big truck, tractor and a big tool box. Bring our little brother, Terry, a truck too. Don't forget the other little boys and girls. Bring lots of candy, fruits and nuts. We live twenty miles southwest of Perryton. You will see our tree lights. Bye.

Lynn and Glynn Pattison

Dear Santa,
I am a little girl 5 years old. I have been a good girl and am mother's helper.

Would you please bring me a Toni doll, a doll buggy and some dishes.

Remember all the other little boys and girls.

I'd like to have some nuts and candy too.

And Dear Santa I'll have mother bake a cake and I'll leave you some on the table. Bye, bye for now.

Love,
Judy Reimer

Dear Santa,

Haywood Wins Royalty Suit In District Court

The petit jury decided in favor of the defendant in the civil case of John C. Daum vs. Paul M. Haywood, tried Tuesday in 84th Judicial District court under Judge Jack Allen. The case, a suit for $14,250, was brought by Daum, a Lubbock insurance man, against Haywood and concerned oil royalty in Beaver county, near the Campbell No. oil well, drilled last year by Richardson and Bass. The well was declared dry and abandoned. Daum alleged that he bought 95 acres of royalty from Haywood for $150 per acre on May 27, 1950. He charged that Haywood told him the well had an oil showing and that more wells would be drilled around it. However, Haywood denied every allegation brought by the plaintiff when he took the witness stand Tuesday. The jury deliberated over two hours Tuesday afternoon, then brought in their findings in favor of Haywood. Daum was represented by Max Boyer and W. L. McConnell; Haywood's attorneys were the firms of Correll and Brownlee of Perryton and Hoover and Cusens of Canadian.

Entomologist to Work Full Time On Greenbugs

A full time entomologist is being assigned to the Panhandle to study greenbugs and black beetles on the wheat crop through the efforts of the National and Texas Wheat Growers Association. W. H. Lance of Perryton, a member of the board of directors of the state association, said that a federal grant of $40,000 has been appropriated for greenbug research and that Dr. L. R. Chada of the U. S. Experiment Station at Denton has been in Perryton twice recently doing research in local fields. The Santa Fe railway and the International Harvester Co. are also contributing money toward insect research in the wheat growing areas, Lance said. The greenbug population seems to be less this year than the past two years, when the insects virtually wiped out the wheat crop. The REA finished lighting the remainder of the houses this week.

HALIFAX, N. S. (AP)—Flowers blossomed in many parts of Nova Scotia in November. Grafton residents picked pansies and buttercups, and others found daisies in bloom.

Dressing Better

ELDER J. B. HARDY From Texas to Kentucky

Perryton Circuit Rider Minus Horse Covers 2,500 Mile Route

Along with the buffalo, mustang, longhorn and Wild West rode the circuit rider into history. Or so it seems. But on the second Friday in October a small, farmerish man of 82 in a blue suit, with burning brown eyes and a drooping gray mustache got on an early bus at Perryton up in the Panhandle of the Oklahoma line. At dark he was in Fort Worth where at 7:30 he began an hour long sermon. Saturday morning he came to the Mohawk Drive Primitive Baptist church of Dallas where he preached Saturday and Sunday. Friday he hitched Indiana ponies to a buggy, left before daylight, drove all day, arriving Friday night. Then he held services on Saturday and Sunday then drove back Monday. In 1925, after his father's death he went to Rison, Ark., farmed and formed another church. Then for a circuit he added the Goshen church at Lewis county, Tenn. about 60 miles southwest of Nashville. Some years later he moved to North Carolina, formed another church there, but continued his Tennessee work. To Perryton in 1925. In 1925, a horse at Perryton kicked his son, so Elder Hardy moved there, helped his son recover, formed a local church and continued his Tennessee ministry. In fact, he continued to serve the Tennessee churches, 36 years in all, until he baptized a preacher. Six years ago he accepted the Kentucky call which he now holds with Perryton and Dallas, a latter day circuit rider armed only with faith and riding the iron horse or a monster of a bus. A total of 49 churches has he formed in 60 years on the circuit. And standing in pond, farm tank creek or river in the little nooks and eddies of the backwoods, he has baptized a total of 2,684 people. There is no telling how many miles he has traveled, how many sermons he has delivered free, save travel expenses. Wants No Salary. "If a church offered to hire me, I would not go about them," he said. Added the octogenarian who can preach five times a day, sing a stout tenor without a waver and whose brown eyes burn with the old time religion, "I'd like to make it 50 churches and 3,000 people." The buffalo, the longhorn long since are history, but the circuit rider, it seems, is still with us. (Ed. note: This article was written by Kenneth Foree of the Dallas Morning News in October and is reprinted in the Herald by request.) Erection of new stables for White House horses cost $20,000 in the administration of President Pierce. There are six federal penitentiaries in the United States.

New Marines Boss Is Hero Of the Corps

By ROY ESSOYAN Newsfeatures

PEARL HARBOR — Lt. Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd, Jr., will have to give up his surfing and spear-fishing when he takes over as commandant of the Marine Corps Jan. 1, but he won't stop fighting. Shepherd's fighting career started when he landed in France as a young second lieutenant in the summer of 1917. He has been part of the modern Marine legend ever since—Chateau Thierry, St. Mihiel, Guadalcanal, Guam, Okinawa, Inchon, Chosin reservoir.

Shepherd led the Marines who captured Guam and later commanded the Sixth Marine division on Okinawa. An Army officer who served with them said, "The Sixth was the most professional outfit I ever saw. All they wanted was to attack." Shepherd turned up at Koto-ri when the first Marine division was pulling back from the "frozen hell" of Chosin reservoir last year. The word got around: "We're O. K. now, Shepherd's here."

He's Stretching Leathernecks. In between battles Shepherd has kept busy fighting for the Marine Corps. One of his first remarks after he was named their top boss on Nov. 6 was that he would keep fighting to have a Marine added to the joint chiefs of staff.

In his 17 months as commander of the Pacific Fleet Marine Force, Shepherd has earned a few superlatives. He is probably the most travelled high-ranking officer in any of the services—nine trips to Korea, 900 hours in the air, 165,000 miles behind him since July 2, 1950.

Shepherd at 55 has flown in everything from a jet fighter to a four-engine transport. That includes helicopters. His appearances at the front have become a commonplace. Visits with wounded Marines at Tripler Army Hospital are part of the daily routine at his Pearl Harbor headquarters.

Everybody Likes Him. The general is friendly and informal. He is soft spoken, hard working and universally liked. Shepherd is an Episcopalian and hasn't missed a service since he's been here. His friends say he is devoted to his wife and family, two sons and a daughter, all married.

His tastes are simple—from vanilla ice cream to baseball. He was a polo player in his youth but sold his horses when he left Quantico for Pearl Harbor last year.

About the only things Shepherd hasn't quite mastered yet are surfing, and driving a car. Surfing, as the Hawaiians will tell you, requires years of concentrated experience, and pref-

Man Bites Octopus

Shepherd however is an old hand at the Polynesian art of spear fishing underwater. During a practice landing in the Pacific War the Seabees were temporarily stumped by the appearance of an ugly, giant octopus. Shepherd walked over, picked up the octopus and bit it between the eyes. That was the end of the octopus.

Shepherd joined the Marines right after his days at the Virginia Military Institute. He was in the Fifth Marine regiment in France in 1918, and was twice wounded at Belleau Wood and once again soon after. In World War II he was assistant commander of the First Marine division in the New Britain campaign.

Shepherd was born in Norfolk, Va. His father was a doctor. During flight at tremendous speeds, "outerskin" temperature of missiles rises to as much as 1,500 degrees, the heat increasing as much as 80 per cent Fahrenheit per second.

Christmas Music Festival Set By Methodists

A choral festival of music will highlight the special Christmas activities at the First Methodist church during the week of December 16-23.

On Sunday, Dec. 16, at 4 p. m. the Wesleyan Choir will open the festival with the Christmas section of the powerful oratorio, the "Messiah," by G. F. Handel. On the following Thursday night, Dec. 20, at 7:30 p. m. a special Christmas Carol program will be presented by the Wesleyan, Singing Men, Youth and Girls choirs. It will include special choral arrangements of traditional carols and other well known seasonal music, and as an added feature, the harp solos of Mrs. T. B. Henshaw.

January 3, 1945. He was a member of the Rules committee for eight years, and in 1938 introduced a resolution creating the Dies Committee to investigate and expose Un-American Activities. He was chairman of this committee until Jan. 3, 1945.

He exposed Nazi, Fascist and Communist activities and propaganda, and uncovered the activities of Fritz Kuhn, German American Bund; William Dudley Pelley, Silver Shirts; and Earl Browder, head of the Communist Party.

A recent survey disclosed that 98 per cent of the findings of the Dies Committee have been confirmed by events of the past three years. The committee exposed 2,000 Communists who were on the federal payroll and tried without success to get them discharged.

The recommendations of the Dies committee were not put into effect until 12 months ago.

The committee compiled and made available to the government the names and addresses of 165,000 subversives in the United States.

Dies has been the subject of much ridicule and persecution as the result of his committee's work, but events of later years have proved him right, and greatly increased his stature as a statesman and an American. He has a message of vital interest to all Americans.

ent building, said Rev. R. Martin, pastor. The church has plans for a $0 by 83 foot brick building on the corner, but were financially unable to construct it at this time, Rev. Martin said. The building now under construction will be tied into the proposed brick building as an educational building in the future, Rev. Martin added.

The building will have an auditorium capable of seating 160 persons, and there will be a mother's room, enclosed by glass, at the rear of the church. There will be an office room and a smaller room for classes, Rev. Martin said. New fixtures are to be added throughout the church.

Estimated time of completion for the building is three months, provided the weather is favorable, according to Seedig. Much of the work will be done by volunteer labor within the church. Estimated cost of the building is $14,000.

Members of the building committee are A. J. Seedig, chairman, Rev. R. Martin, Carl Sargent, Fred Huebner, Mrs. Sid Johnson, Mrs. Rolland Shearer and Mrs. R. Martin.

Davis, the all-state forward of Dalhart, was limited to two field goals by Stinnett, and the Dalhart girls were pressed to eke out a 27-25 victory.

The finals saw the Dalhart girls wear out the baskets, as Miss Davis dropped in 26 points, most of her field goals coming on long set shots. Although the Turpin girls had a lead in the early part of the game, Dalhart soon overcame that and won going away.

Samnorwood held a lead throughout the game against the Dalhart boys, staying off a late game rally to win, 29-26.

Members of the boys all-tournament team were Overcast (10) and Alexander (3) of Samnorwood; B. R. Pletcher of Perryton; Sanborn (11) and Langhorn (9) of Dalhart; DeArmond (44) and Gibner (00) of Spearman; Williams (1) of Booker; Hamilton (1) of Folett; and Altmiller (2) of Darrouzett.

HEALTH FOR ALL Christmas and the Feet

Your feet and your pocketbook are the parts of you most likely to bear the brunt of Christmas shopping. By careful planning and budgeting ahead of time, often you can relieve some of the pocketbook strain, and a little foresight will also help where your feet are concerned.

Everyone gets dressed up to go Christmas shopping but the ladies really needn't wear their very highest heels in order to be stylish. Those who have worn high heels from their early teens never taking to a flat heeled shoe will probably be more comfortable in some kind of heel but it should be a solid, broad heel of not more than two inches when the time comes to pound the pavements day after day. If your feet and legs are adjusted to a heel of some height, you are likely to develop aches and pains if you put on flats or unaccustomed low heels for the shopping expedition. So you wear sensible shoes, not at great variance with what you normally wear. And you point your feet forward. If you develop a pain on the inner side of the long arches, you are probably pointing your feet outward instead of forward.

"Sensible shoes" doesn't mean ugly shoes. It does mean that the shoe should fit the foot, not the foot fit the shoe. Some people cannot wear narrow-toed shoes; it may be a pretty shoe but if the toes get scrouged up in an inadequate space that causes rubbing and cramping, those toes get un-pretty in a hurry with such growths as corns, bunions, and callouses.

Watch the heel fit of your shoes, too. Narrow-heeled shoes on a wide-heeled foot can rub against the heel bone in such a manner as to lead to painful spurs.

You also have arches in your feet. Not only shoes but also the improper fit of your stockings may cause an arch strain, a persistent foot pain, or calluses under the balls of the feet.

There are 26 joints among the bones in each foot from ankle to toe tip, each one having a definite duty to perform to keep your foot flexible and get you around on your daily dozen, which becomes a daily two-dozen during the Christmas season. If your shoes, your stockings or your posture do not bring all those joints and the accompanying parts into proper play with the increased exercising, you are probably going to feel it in your feet.

If they just ache and throb like they might from friction against the pavement, the best treatment may be a contrast bath. Take two tubs of water, one hot and one cold. Put both feet in the tub of hot water for one minute; then stick them in the tub of cold water for one minute. Ten minutes later, after five hot and five cold dunkings, rub your feet briskly with a towel. Then rub the "hurting" spots with your fingers, massaging them gently for awhile. Bend your feet up and from the ankles and work in a "bye-bye" type of waving with the toes.

If your feet have developed corns, bunions, calluses or spurs you may get relief by padding the toe to relieve the pressure at that point where the growth developed or have the shoe stretched over that area. But don't cut those growths. If they must be trimmed, let your doctor do it. Paring a corn is flirting with danger. Don't do it.

If the arch is your point of foot complaint, you probably need medical advice as to how to overcome the aches and pains. Arches do not fall by themselves; fallen arches result from some injury to one of the main bones of the foot. It may be that an arch support of the proper sort and special exercises for your foot will overcome the muscular weakness that is causing pain in the arch. It may take X-ray to detect the point of faulty weight distribution which shows up in the foot and correct padding of the shoes may be used to eliminate the harmful stresses on the arch.

If your feet burn and itch at the end of your shopping expedition, it might be athlete's foot. Athlete's foot, which is a form of ringworm, usually starts up between the toes with a scalliness and sogginess and tiny blisters. Then the soles of the feet and the sides of the toes burn and itch. All these symptoms may then disappear. Like ringworm of the scalp, you think athlete's foot has gone away when the symptoms disappear, but like ringworm, it can suddenly flare up again, worse than before. There may be large, raw, blistered areas of the feet along with severe swelling when athlete's foot makes that return appearance. Then the skin scales off and leaves a thickening of the skin beneath.

It often takes a long time to get rid of athlete's foot and sometimes the cure can make matters only worse. The medicines must be strong enough to kill the persistent seeds of the plant life which is plenty strong. Therefore, the medicine itself may do harm and for that reason you should have the advice of your doctor as to what medicine is strong enough to kill the ringworm and yet not too strong for your particular skin.

Athlete's foot, by the way, is the fifth most common skin disease during the winter.

Pittman, Master of the Union No. 294 Subordinate Grange, has announced a national-wide essay contest on "Conservation Farming for Abundant Living," to be conducted by the National Grange and the American Plant Food Council, beginning January 1, and ending March 31, 1952, with state and national prizes totaling $10,000 for young men and women thru 20 years of age.

"All young men and women, regardless of Grange membership, who are not more than 20 years of age on March 31, 1952, are eligible to compete for prizes," Mr. A. E. Pittman explained. "All entries in this area should be sent to Union Subordinate Grange at Gray, Okla. for processing not later than April 25, 1952."

The following national and state prizes are offered by the American Plant Food Council: National—First Prize, $1,000; Second Prize, $500; Third Prize, $400; Fourth, Fifth and Sixth Prizes, Each $300.

State—First Prize, $100, Second Prize, $50; Third Prize, $25. Contest judges explained that each entrant's essay "may be based upon data from textbooks, bulletins, interviews or personal experience," but expressed the hope that all entrants would "give special consideration to the practical application of the subject to the soils of their communities."

Entries must not exceed 800 words and will be judged on the basis of 40 points for practical application of subject matter, 30 points for effectiveness of presentation, 20 points for originality, and 10 points for spelling, punctuation, and grammatical correctness.

For the purpose of the contest, the 48 states have been divided into six regions and winners of each region will compete for the six national awards.

God guides, supports, and protects man, and this relationship cannot be broken, stresses the Lesson-Sermon to be read in Christian Science churches next Sunday. "God the Preserver of Man" is the subject borne out by the Golden Text from Psalms: "In God is my salvation and my glory; the rock of my strength, and my refuge, is in God."
The Bible offers this promise: "The Lord shall deliver me from every evil work, and will preserve me unto his heavenly kingdom" (II Timothy 4:18). The Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Keys to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy contains these passages to be included in the Lesson-Sermon: "Divine Principle is the Life of man. Man's happiness is not, therefore, at the disposal of physical sense. . . . The relations of God and man, divine Principle and idea, are indestructible in Science; and Science knows no lapse from her return to harmony; but holds the divine order or spiritual law, in which God and all that He creates are perfect and eternal. . . . have remained unchanged in its eternal history."

BOOK OF BOOKS

You In The Church The Church In You.
Form a combination for good. We should attend church regularly. Every man, woman and child needs the influence of the CHURCH. Be Faithful! Be a Churchman.

Come! Let us also go to the House of the Lord! Back to the Sanctuary where men meet the living God! Never before have women and men and children so filled the churches of our land. More than half of our population have signed on the dotted line. They have committed their lives to the keeping and guidance of the Great Leader. They belong to the Church. Why?

People go to church for many reasons, to be sure. Some go because it has become one of the good habits they learned from Godly and honored parents. Some of us go because we must have help for the difficult tasks we have undertaken. Other men have knelt at the altars of religion to have their strength renewed. The hour of worship has been like a warm bath of the spirit, from which we rise refreshed and relaxed and ready for whatever duty lies ahead.

The ideal reason for going to church is to become a part of that Life which is greater than our own. We really belong to the Whole of things and we are our best selves only when our single person is caught up into divine fellowship. We find that we live and move lost and frustrated until we become one with the Cosmic Life... until we find ourselves in our God. Let us go into the Church.

This page made possible through the generosity of the firms and public-spirited individuals listed here.

Not Sure Now About Americans Overseas

thousand interviews made by The Texas Poll in every section of the state during mid-November. Adults in every walk of life were interviewed, a representative cross section of the population.

These questions on shipping men abroad were asked a year ago and again last month. Here are the results showing the change in the public's temper.

"Are you for or against sending more American troops to Europe?"

Against	19 33

Total	100% 100%

During three consecutive years The Texas Poll has measured opinion on this question: "Which do you think is more important—for the U. S. to fight the spread of Communism in Europe, or in Asia?"

1949	1950	Now
Europe	29%	19% 30%

Note that opinion is now just about back to where it was in 1949. Following the 1949 survey the outbreak of the Korean war obviously had its impact. The 1951 poll was conducted as cease-fire talks in Korea were in progress.

Dear Santa: Make Me Beautiful

By BETTY CLARKE
Newsfeatures Beauty Editor

You can get in the Yuletide mood by developing a holiday look.

Start with your topknot and get it to the easy grooming stage—either with a new permanent or a new coiffure or both. There are lots of perky hairdos, whether you are in the up-sweep or long-hair camp. And for something really new in coiffures, the short angel or poodle coil is charming. It is the ideal hairdo for girls with naturally curly hair.

Every good woman deserves at least one gala dress a year. This year it could be one of the low-the-calf bouffants worn with a crinoline petticoat. Red seems to be the most popular color in gowns designed for holiday wear.

If you are hippy, the full skirt can be flattering, providing you have a slim waist and bustline. If you choose black or another dark shade, pin some glitter clips to your dress for extra glamor. This is the season for brilliants, so comb your jewel box for pretty baubles.

Take the attitude that a good makeup is hard to find, and when you've found the perfect composition for your own looks, stick to it. Often you will notice a friend looks perfectly dreamy on a particular night. Everybody tells her so and she admits that it is a shade of makeup she just has discovered. The next time you see her chances are she will be wearing an entirely different shade.

If you feel you need improvement in respect to your makeup, it might be that more careful application will help. Or sometimes the texture of the makeup is not right for your skin. Oily skins need drier makeup than do normal or dry skins. But insofar as makeup shades go, once you've hit the right combination stick to it. Some girls can wear two or three shades of makeup and find them all becoming. But usually it is true, even with these girls,

Talk Won't Get It

The United States Chamber of Commerce totaled up the figures the other day and discovered that President Truman has collected more taxes than all other presidents combined, most of the taxes being collected since the end of World War II.

This calls for much more than tongue-clicking. It calls for positive "doing" by every citizen in the United States.

Getting people to do more than talk about the government spending is another proposition, however. Especially when a lot of the federal spending is done to benefit one group or another of our citizens, who naturally can't quite bring themselves to cut it off.

To cut down the unnecessary domestic expenditures, Americans must refrain from pushing pet federal projects in their area. Americans must assume responsibility for federal economy at the local level, since big government spreads as quickly as a contagious disease.

People in the 48 states must quit pressuring for "matching grants" from the federal government. Washington may promise to match every dollar paid by the states, but it is the taxpayers' money coming back, minus deductions.

People should write their congressman every time they see an example of federal waste and inefficiency.

Another good remedy would be to change the administration shaking out some of the dead timber that has laid in Washington for 18 years. Americans will have a chance to do this in 1952.

Drive Scared

There is little hope of postponing the millionth traffic death, a National Safety Council spokesman said the other day, unless motorists "start driving scared."

Driving scared—not a bad idea!

Now that doesn't mean we recommend putting your car in storage, or quaking with fear to the extent that you become hesitant and indecisive at the wheel. A too-fearful driver may easily contribute to an accident by his erratic behavior.

We mean the kind of "scared" that makes you realize the life-and-death responsibility of driving in modern traffic; the tremendous physical forces involved; the consequences of careless or heedless behavior.

Driving scared would keep motorists from going too fast.

They wouldn't pass unless there was plenty of room, nor drive after drinking, nor follow other cars too closely. They would keep a sharp lookout at intersections and grade crossings. They might even stay home if the weather or traffic conditions made motoring extra hazardous.

However, there is no indication that the approach of the millionth fatality has scared anyone yet. Mr. Million still is going toward his doom right on schedule—probably the third week in December predicted by the Council many months ago.

It is bitterly ironic that the gaiety and festivity of the Christmas season should provide the backdrop for one of the most tragic events in modern history—to prevent this mockery of all that Christmas stands for will not be easy. The holiday rush always adds to the normal hazards of bad weather and more hours of darkness.

So perhaps the only remedy is to start driving scared—scared enough to realize that an accident can happen to you, but that if you don't you're to your driving all the skill and common sense you have at your command.

WARPLANE OUTPUT UP AGAIN

An AP Newsfeatures Pictograph

From the SIDELINE

with HAROLD HUDSON

It turned out that our local TCU supporters would have enjoyed the Ranger Club football banquet Monday night, after all. Jack Mitchell, the Texas Tech backfield coach and main speaker, didn't bring the Tech-TCU game pictures, but brought the Tech-Arizona game instead. The game which Tech trounced TCU, 33-19, is a source of deep humiliation to Frog partisans, quite naturally.

Mitchell is quite enthusiastic about Tech's prospects on the gridiron next season, and for the next few years. He points out that only two tackles and a quarterback were lost through graduation, and that the team this year was loaded heavily with freshmen. Quite talented freshmen, too, and while most of them are West Texas boys, some wandered in from as far away as New Jersey and Georgia.

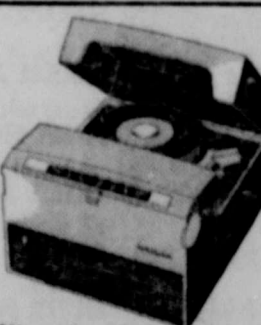

It was a very democratic election that the Ranger Club held. All candidates were elected by acclamation, and the whole process took approximately three minutes. They didn't even need a nominating committee. Bill Holdeman, Jack M. Allison and Bill Herndon were railed into office in a cloud of steam.

A youngster's faith in Santa Claus receives a severe test along about this time each year. The standard Santa is a big, fat, jolly fellow, with a bright red uniform and real whiskers. What do the kids think about a skinny Santa, with a face not only obviously false, but so ill fitting that about four inches of bare neck are easily visible below the mask? The Chamber of Commerce needs a uniform fitting service if the Perryton Santa is really to impress the kiddies.

We received an encouraging word this week from the State Bar of Texas, regarding the election of appellate judges for Texas. Now the lawyers of Texas are going to be so kind as to take a poll, determine which judges should be elected to the Supreme Court, Courts of Criminal Appeals and the Courts of Civil Appeals, then announce their findings to the public.

This will be helpful, but perhaps not so democratic, after all. Since all appellate judges are lawyers, isn't this a bit strange, that they should be selected by their fellow lawyers, many of whom will later appear in their court with cases?

We quote from an article in the "Texas Bar Journal," written by lawyer J. Chrys Dougherty of Austin: "When the present method of electing judges was adopted, in the Constitution of 1876, the present plan of nominating party candidates by popular election was not contemplated. The lawyers were able, with little trouble and less expense, to control the selection of judges."

Wolf Creek Philosopher Says Move Bomb Tests to Korea

(Ed. note: The Wolf Creek Philosopher has a brain storm this week, his letter reveals.)

Dear editor: I found a week's supply of newspapers out here the other day, somebody had rolled em all up and thrown em out in a ditch, must have gotten em mixed up with a bunch of circulars, and took em home and have been readin' steadily for two days and have noticed that in nearly every issue there was a report of a new atomic explosion out in Nevada. As I understand it, the experts have been testin' out every kind of atomic bomb we got, usin' the desert for a practice ground.

Now I'm not a military expert, don't know any more about what's happenin' in Korea than Washington does, but I've been thinkin'.

Here we've got all these different types of atomic bombs and naturally we want to see how they function, if I had a new polw more'n likely I'd like to see it work once anyway, and while I have always been one to recommend tradin' at home, it looks to me like it's a waste of desert sand to set these things off in Nevada.

Why blow up good sand out there when we got North Korea? As I understand it, the experts spot guinea pigs and various other animals around in the vicinity to see what happens when the bomb goes off, but I say why waste our guinea pigs when there's plenty of good Communists in North Korea?

I will appreciate you takin' this up with Washington. You understand, it would be purely for practice, we wouldn't be actually startin' to drop the atomic bomb as a warlike measure, it would be just that from a scientific standpoint, or whether people go around in a haze when they are in love anyway, and glasses fail to make a difference. Actually, this is foolish. About the time a girl, or man, sees someone he really wants to know better, he or she is supposed to throw away the glasses. Once the glasses are off, the object of affection might turn out to be a french poodle or a telephone post and right there's where the glamour ends.

Occasionally, in magazine fiction, and sometimes in the movies, the heroine starts out wearing glasses. She is always a shy studious type and frequently a librarian. Anyway, the hero in these cases is full of rare discernment. He's primarily interested in her mind, and before the show is over, he tenderly removes her glasses and informs her—his voice full of wonder and love—that under them specs she's really a beautiful girl.

And she promptly throws away or smashes the things, and goes radiantly lovely and apparently never misses them. It's never been certain whether this is meant to prove that love cures by different modes of transportation in a new game with a polarized map. School room routine, stock trading, oil prospecting, crime detection and many other "real life" situations inspire varied forms of new parlor competition.

The trend toward games that give the youngsters who can't read or write a chance to compete happily with older brothers and sisters and their parents are featured. Skatterbug, for example, is a new variety of spinning game that's designed to appeal to all ages. Each player spins a top by holding it directly over a hole in the center of the board. The top dances in and out of various opening and scatters the playing disks all over the field. When the top stops spinning, the score is made by adding together the numbers upon which the disks have landed; younger children quickly learn to recognize numbers in the process of playing.

The Wild West craze is reflected in a variety of board and target games utilizing cowboy and Indian heroes.

A new twist to horse racing games is offered by Phony Ponies which offers race horses powered by Mexican jumping beans strapped under each saddle.

Rook, the classic card game, is featured in a deluxe party kit with four different colored packs and a gala set of scoring aids. Another old timer in new dress is jackstraws, now featured with an electric angle. Players grope for straws through a perforated metal box top. Jack straws must be obtained without touching the metal; when fingers fumble, the electricity makes a loud buzz. New version of chess and checkers are among the season's new offerings. Monopoly, the real estate trading game, continues to be a top favorite. Pin the tail on the donkey has a 1951 off-shoot—pin the nose on Rudolph, the Red Nosed Reindeer is the objective.

A new thrill in hobbies is a tile kit designed to help junior and his sister make useful coasters and plaques for the family. There's a big increase in kits for making costume jewelry from beads and shells. Junior dress-makers have their own sequin kits. New plastic materials make belt weaving easier for small fry. Electric woodburning kits include paints and instructions for making varied types of smartly styled plaques. For collectors there is a wide variety of old-fashioned car models.

According to this new law it is NOT COMPULSORY that you carry automobile liability and property damage insurance. More Penalties For Motorists Under New Law

AUSTIN—Public Safety Director, Homer Garrison, Jr., reminded Texas motorists today that they will be subject to additional and much more stern penalties if they are convicted of serious traffic law violations under the state's new Motor Vehicle Responsibility Law goes into effect on January 1.

If an operator's license is suspended or revoked for violating any traffic law carrying that penalty, under the new Safety Responsibility Law the Texas Department of Public Safety must also suspend the registration of all motor vehicles registered in the name of that person, unless he gives proof of future financial responsibility in the amount of $15,000. The same proof must be furnished and maintained before an operator's license can be re-instated, if it was suspended for violation of a traffic law.

Proof of financial responsibility is also required in the following circumstances:

1. For forfeiting any bail or collateral that was given to secure appearance in court for trial on a charge of violating any law that provides for suspension or revocation of an operator's license upon conviction.

2. For operating a motor vehicle without being legally licensed to do so.

3. For operating an unregistered motor vehicle.

Proof of financial responsibility for the future may be furnished by depositing with the Texas Department of Public Safety a certificate showing ownership of an insurance policy that will cover damage claims resulting from a traffic accident, up to $15,000; by depositing $15,000 in cash or securities with the Department; or by posting bond with the Department in the same amount.

"I think it must be evident to the public by this time that our new Safety Responsibility Law really means business in assuring greater safety and security on our streets and highways," Director Garrison said. "The requirement of permanent proof of financial responsibility is, of course, in addition to the penalties that are provided by the traffic laws themselves. This is one of the provisions of the new law that is going to help us put chronic law violators and accident causers off the road permanently."

There were 16,133 women arrested for drunkenness in the United States in 1949.

High School Grads Eligible As Air Cadets

The door to aviation cadet training, both pilot and observer, was opened this week to airmen who are high school graduates, reports T-Sgt. E. R. Sinner of the local recruiting office.

Selected applicants in this category will be selected from active duty personnel and will be sent for training on April 15, Sgt. Sinner said.

The requirements were formerly two years of college for air cadets. Now, only a high school education is required, but the airman must have completed at least 18 months active federal service. Further information may be secured at the recruiting office.

Sgt. Sinner reported that the Air Force is accepting only three enlistments a day from the Texas Panhandle. Men who have received their pre-induction mental and physical examination have until December 31 to select the service of their choice.

Alfred L. Tusing, 210 S. Indiana, enlisted in the U. S. Air Force on December 8 and has been sent to Lackland Air Force Base for processing and training.

NEW WATER LINES—Residents of east Perryton, in the Faries addition, will have more water pressure when these new mains are completed to that area. New water lines are being laid to sections in the south and east parts of town, bringing every residence close to a fire hydrant. Above are city employees Junior Lacy and Les Albright working on the new lines.

Unusual Birthday Celebration for Mrs. Pletcher

When Mrs. Susanna Pletcher went to church on Sunday morning, Dec. 2, she little knew that her son, Harvey, had planned an unusual surprise in honor of her birthday.

When her children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren marched into the church in a body, she was overjoyed that they had chosen this way of celebrating her 83rd birthday anniversary.

Rev. Richard Showalter, pastor of the Mennonite church, preached the sermon that day on the story of Ruth and Naomi, showing the influence and example a good Christian mother can give her children.

Three selections were sung by a quartet, composed of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Pletcher and Mr. and Mrs. Tommy Pletcher, her grandchildren.

Allen Wagner, Roberta Pletcher, Geneva Peterson and Marjorie Pletcher, grand daughters, great-grand daughters and great niece of Grandma Pletcher, also sang several selections.

Following services at the church, a basket dinner was served in the community hall to Mrs. Pletcher, Mrs. Lydia Holdeman, George Pletcher and family, Noah Pletcher and family, Paul Pletcher and family, Harvey Pletcher and Larry, Mr. and Mrs. Worley Adair and J. T.

Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Leicht and children, Clarence Peterson and children, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Kile and children, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Pletcher, Billy and Janie, Mr. and Mrs. Allen Wagner and family, George Rogers, Carol and Ronnie.

Frank Holdeman and Judy, Mrs. Harold Holdeman and Dolby, Mrs. Andrew Reitz and Nancy, Mr. and Mrs. Byron Pletcher and family, Rev. Showalter and the entire congregation of the Mennonite church.

Mrs. Pletcher has lived in Ochiltree county for 44 years. Besides eleven children of her own she also reared a step-son, Henry Pletcher, and two grandchildren, Mrs. Allen Wagner and Bill Pletcher. She has 36 grandchildren and 52 great grandchildren.

She said this is one of the happiest birthdays she has ever spent.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. McMillen were in Amarillo Tuesday visiting their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Oxford and J. Mack.

Vice Cost Rises

SINGAPORE (AP)—The cost of vice is increasing in Singapore. Young girls and women are going up in price on the market.

Racketeers are paying as high as $550 for the purchase of a 17-year-old girl for prostitution purposes. Plenty of easy money and the soaring cost of living have resulted in increased sales of women by poorer families.

"We cannot wipe out prostitution," said an anti-vice officer, "but we can make things difficult for the operators." There have been many cases of girls under 18 used for prostitution. Reports tell of 14 and even 7-year-old girls found in brothels. They had been sold into prostitution.

Perryton at Work . . .

FREIGHT AGENT—O. P. "Hap" Graves has been local agent of the Canadian Truck Lines since April 30 of this year and says he likes this kind of work. He was born 20 miles north of town and has lived in Perryton since an early age. He says the heavy lifting around a freight depot doesn't bother him—he knows how to do it, and takes care not to strain himself. The best thing about this kind of business, says Hap, is that he gets a chance to talk and visit with lots of people while delivering freight. He is married and has two daughters.

FIRST LOAD OF MATERIAL—The Lutheran church congregation started on a new building this week, and this was the first load of material put on the site at the corner of S. Grinnell and 7th avenue. Standing by the truck is A. J. Seedig, chairman of the building committee. The new church structure is expected to be completed in about three months.
