Catching up on the mail:

Ever hear of Orville Redenbacher?

Well, he's the fellow who spent so much time experimenting with popcorn and finally came up with what he calls a "gourmet" variety, and demonstrated once again that perseverance pays off. It took him 40 generations of fancy seed breeding before he found success, which meant a popping corn that explodes to 44 times its original size when it pops. The ordinary popping corn expands only to 24 times its size, it says here.

We hear a lot about plans for the celebration of the nation's bicentennial these days, which may lead some or ayle to wonder how the country celebrated its Centennial. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen reminds that 99 years ago this month, 150,000 people gathered in Philadelphia's Fairmont Park for the opening of the Centennial Exposition. He further noted that they were in search of a reason to celebrate, and despite a "vast array of social, political and economic problems confronting the young nation, these Americans celebrated their hundreth anniversary, not with despair, but with hope."

The country in 1876 was in its third year of slump and had its biggest unemployment problem in history.

So, what's new?

★ ★ ★

It may be credited to the upcoming Bicentennial, or to the addition of some popular attractions, but indications are that the annual Independence Day celebration here this year could well be the largest of the series.

Chamber of Commerce officials say they have never seen interest in the event so widespread. And it's less than two months away.

★ ★ ★

But, back to the mail.

The National Fire Protection Association reports that studies show the number and severity of fires usually rise during a downturn in business conditions. Experienced business observers attributed a significant number of these to arson. But this usually is difficult to prove, and many of them go into the records as being of "undetermined origin."—WACIL McNAIR.

April Wholesale Prices Up

Farm Costs Increase

By ROBERT A. DOBKIN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wholesale prices reversed a four-month decline and rose 1.5 per cent in April as farm prices increased sharply, the Labor Department reported today.

The April increase wiped out much of the 2.2 per cent decline in wholesale prices since last December. The December-March drop was the biggest four-month decline since 1951.

Skyrocketing prices for livestock and fresh fruits and vegetables drove agriculture prices up a seasonally adjusted 4.8 per cent last month to lead the over-all rise in wholesale prices. But not all the price news was bad. Industrial commodities rose one-tenth of 1 per cent, the same as in March.

Farm and food prices often change erratically from month to month, and because of this most economists regard trends in industrial prices as a truer measure of inflation. Nevertheless, the April increase in wholesale food prices seems to indicate a new increase is likely in retail grocery prices, which had dropped over the past two months.

The Ford administration has forecast an inflation rate of about 6 or 7 per cent this year, or about half the 12.2 per cent increase in all of 1974 in the Consumer Price Index, the key measure of inflation. The consumer index climbed 6.6 per cent at a seasonally adjusted annual rate for the first three months of the year.

Wholesale prices have risen at an adjusted annual rate of six tenths of a per cent over the past three months, compared with increases of 14.2 per cent during the final three months of 1974 and 34.9 per cent in the quarter ended last September.

In April, the wholesale index for farm products jumped 6.7 per cent following four consecutive months of decline. The index for processed foods and feeds was up 3.5 per cent, largely as a result of higher prices for meats and manufactured animal feeds.

The one tenth of a per cent rise in industrial prices at wholesale last month was led by increases for lumber and wood products, fuels and power.

Three of the 13 major commodity groups within the industrial index declined last month: metals; machinery and equipment, and hides, skins, leather and related products.

The biggest increases in the farm area were for livestock, which rose 11.6 per cent last month, and fresh fruit and vegetables, which advanced 12 per cent.

Prices of sugar and confectionary products fell sharply and cereal and bakery products, beverage materials and edible fats and oils, also declined.

The Wholesale Price Index moved up in April to 172.1, meaning that it cost wholesalers $172.10 to buy a variety of goods which cost $100 in the 1967 base period.

Europe Marks Anniversary

By The Associated Press

Europe today marked the 30th anniversary of the Allied defeat of Nazi Germany with wreaths, parades, speeches, and the Soviet Union declared an amnesty for war veterans.

The Kremlin said it would release an undisclosed number of Russians from jails and labor camps under a decree timed to coincide with the celebrations of the end of World War II in Europe.

In Czechoslovakia, occupied by Hitler's forces before the war began in 1939, the Communist party central committee met in Prague Castle for a V-E day ceremony. Speakers including party leader Gustav Husak praised the Soviet army for liberating the country.

But no mention was made of the American troops who liberated parts of the country to within 20 miles of Prague.

News reports said there was little jubilation among the Czechs on the anniversary.

East Germany's Communist party daily Neues Deutachland proclaimed on the anniversary: "We may count ourselves among the victors of history." Official celebrations were planned for Friday.

West Germany marked VE Day on Wednesday with a state commemoration led by President Walter Scheel. But the leadership of the opposition Christian Democrats, who feel such ceremonies are no longer necessary, did not attend.

Scheel said in Bonn: "Our former enemies celebrate (V-E day.) The sacrifices they made for their victory over injustice certainly entitle them to do so. We remember their sacrifices and all the dead of the war with profound respect. We do not forget that the liberation came from outside."

More than 25 million people, military and civilian, died in Europe during World War II — 20 million in the Soviet Union, four million Germans and 1.6 million among the Western allies.

The British government officially ignored the anniversary of V-E Day — when Nazi Germany surrendered to the Allies to end World War II in Europe. No special ceremonies were scheduled.

In France, President Giscard d'Estaing, a war veteran, took the salute Wednesday night at a military parade at Mourmelon army camp in the Marne. The 7,000 troops massed for inspection by Giscard included his old outfit, the 2nd Regiment of Dragoons in which he was a corporal at the end of the war.

Brezhnev Sends Ford Message

MOSCOW (AP) — Leonid I. Brezhnev sent a message to President Ford today marking the 30th anniversary of V-E Day saying the "further development of good relations between our two countries will continue serving the cause of strengthening universal peace," Tass reported.

At a Kremlin ceremony earlier, the official news agency said, the Soviet Communist party general secretary said the end of the war in Vietnam could help detente and lead to improved United States-Soviet relations.

"The elimination of the hotbed of war in Indochina creates conditions for a further improvement of the international atmosphere," Brezhnev was quoted as saying in his Kremlin remarks.

"This will bring benefits to the cause of international detente, including as we hope, detente in relations between you and the United States of America."

In his message to Ford, as carried by Tass, Brezhnev said tensions are lessening in the world and a trend toward peace and security is strengthening.

U. S. Team Wins Governor's Cup

SAO PAULO, Brazil—The United States Junior College basketball team, comprised of eight members of the Western Texas College Westerners and four All-Stars, won the Governor's Cup games here Wednesday night.

The U.S. team had the best round robin record at three wins against only one loss.

Mike Mitchell, coach of the Westerners, was head coach of the U.S. team. No previous U.S. team had ever finished higher than fourth in the Governor's Cup games.

The U.S. defeated Argentina in the first round at an arena 30 miles outside of Sao Paulo, winning 88-81, before a capacity crowd of 16,000. Eugene Harris of WTC was the outstanding player in the game, leading in scoring with 22 points.

The second game was against Canada, and the United States lost, 84-78. Harris again was high scorer with 18 points.

In the third game against Brazil, the United States won 87-79. The eight-point spread was the biggest margin of difference in any of the games. Bob Miller was high point man with 23 points.

In the final game, the U.S. defeated Puerto Rico, 70-69, in overtime. Down 2 points, Brian Minor stole the ball, dribbled the length of the court and dunked the ball in to tie it up and send the game into overtime. Alonzo Bradley, 6-7 forward from Utica, Miss., was high point man with 18 points.

Each game was a sell-out.

The host Brazilians invited the United States team to remain in Brazil to play one or more exhibition games. The remainder of the regular schedule includes three exhibition games in Rio de Janeiro, an exhibition game in Buenos Aires against Argentina, and another game in Sao Paulo.

The team will not return to the United States until about May 18 or 20.

"Eugene Harris was the crowd favorite down there, and was solicited by Brazil to remain and play on their Olympic team, but he probably will decline the offer," Mitchell reported.

The trophy the United States team won will be brought back to the U.S. and placed in the Basketball Hall of Fame at Springfield, Mass.

Harris, 6-7 forward from Hattiesburg, Miss., and Miller, 6-5 guard from Seaford, N.Y., both were named to the All-Tournament team at the national JC tournament in Hutchinson, Kansas.

Korea Assured US Commitments

By HOWARD BENEDICT
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — South Korean officials told President Ford today they believe North Korea would attack their country within six months if the United States withdraws its troops.

They said Ford assured them the United States will keep its security commitments to South Korea and will fight if there is an invasion from the North.

Chong Il-Kwon, speaker of the South Korean National Assembly, and Hahm Pyong-Choon, Korean ambassador to the United States, talked with newsmen after meeting with Ford for 15-minutes at the White House.

Asked what would happen if American troops were withdrawn, Chong said, "I believe that within six months there would be an attack from North Korea."

Hahm agreed with that assessment.

"If the United States pulls its troops out of South Korea," he said, "that's the surest invitation there is to the North. The United States, in effect, would be offering up South Korea for a takeover by the North."

Hahm said the President told him the United States has no intention of removing its 38,000 troops from South Korea.

"He said his administration will stand by its security commitments to the Republic of Korea," Hahm declared.

He said Ford promised to do his best to speed up modernization of South Korean military equipment. In 1970 the United States agreed to a $1.5 billion military modernization program, Hahm said.

He said congressional foot dragging has delayed the modernization somewhat but that he expected the program to be completed within two or three years.

Banquet For Teachers Is Set Tonight

Some 450 local and area teachers are expected for the annual awards banquet of the Texas State Teachers Association and Classroom Teachers Association to be held at 7 p.m. tonight at the Scurry Coliseum.

The Snyder stage band under the direction of Don Ehring will provide entertainment.

Master of ceremonies will be Georgene Galoway, president of the Scurry County Texas State Teachers Association.

Personnel service awards will be presented by representatives of the county's school boards.

Bill Eiland, president of the Snyder School Board, and Pat Falls, retiring assistant superintendent of Snyder Schools, will present awards to Snyder personnel.

The banquet will have a Western theme. Buggies, surreys, wagons and numerous other Western artifacts will be on display.

Ned Underwood, president of the Classroom Teachers Association, also will be on the program.

The food will be prepared by Charles Ketchum and the cafeteria workers of the Snyder schools.

PHNOM PENH SAID DEAD CITY

Last Convoy In Thailand

By The Associated Press

The last 550 foreigners trapped in Phnom Penh crossed into Thailand today and several described the Cambodian capital as a dead city littered with decomposing bodies and abandoned household goods, populated only by stray pets and Khmer Rouge soldiers.

However, earlier evacuees in accounts released today told mixed tales of killings and kindness from the victorious Khmer Rouge.

In Bangkok, reliable sources reported that the U.S. government has imposed a freeze on any more Cambodian and Vietnamese refugees who want to go to the United States. An embassy spokesman said he had no knowledge of any such directive from Washington.

Associated Press newsmen George Esper, Peter Arnett and Matt Franjola, in a first detailed dispatch from Saigon following reopening of communications Wednesday, reported the city was quiet soon after it fell April 30 and that they were permitted to move about freely.

"I saw no bloodbath," Esper reported.

"I watched Vietnamese children curiously gather around North Vietnamese soldiers to see their weapons while the latter shyly looked away.

"I saw children playing aboard abandoned South Vietnamese tanks just as if they were toy weapons."

The AP newsmen said the morning of May 1 some markets were open and there was plenty of traffic, a shortage of gasoline and a run on bicycles. Peddlers were doing a bristling business in Viet Cong flags made of paper, cloth and plastic, and the flags appeared everywhere.

"The war was over softly," Esper said. "One realized how softly the North Vietnamese move through the night ... I saw clearly then how they were able to often escape massive U.S. bombing raids."

He said the main concentrations of North Vietnamese were at Independence Palace and all government and military installations in the city. Surface to air missiles were being deployed around Tan Son Nhut airport. The Viet Cong were visible only in front of the National Assembly.

The Caravelle and Continental hotels were functioning normally, both flying large Viet Cong flags.

Saigon Bank was closed, confiscated along with all American properties by the new regime.

The countryside was also quiet. Associated Press correspondent Matt Franjola reported from My Tho, 30 miles south of Saigon, that throughout the lush Mekong Delta commerce was booming and destroyed homes were being rebuilt.

HOUSE NIXES SMOKING

Rape Bill To Gov. Briscoe

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas legislators today sent the governor a bill sharply reducing defense lawyers' ability to interrogate rape victims about their sex lives.

The House passed 97-42 a Senate bill making it a crime to smoke in certain public places. The measure returns to the Senate for consideration of amendments added during House debate.

There also was a chance for decisions in both houses on a compromise bill setting up a presidential preference primary in 1976. A House-Senate conference committee approved the bill Wednesday.

Also high on the House calendar was a bill creating a system for preventing unnecessary hospital construction as a condition for Texas to continue receiving about $350 million a year in federal health care funds.

Senators finished the legislature's work on the rape bill by approving the House-passed measure 30-0.

If a defense lawyer wished to question the victim on the witness stand about her sexual experience, he would first have to convince the judge in a closed hearing that the interrogation would elicit information related to the defendant's guilt or innocence.

The bill also extends from one to three years the maximum time allowed between a rape and the indictment of a defendant, the same statute of limitations as all other felonies. Sponsors said there have been cases in which a man confessed to a rape but could not be indicted because a year had passed.

Sports May Thaw Relations

HAVANA (AP) — Sen. George McGovern said today American baseball and basketball teams may be flying to Havana soon because Fidel Castro is receptive to using sports diplomacy for warming up relations between Cuba and the United States.

McGovern told reporters that he recalled to the Cuban prime minister during their eight hours of talks here that "ping pong diplomacy" — the visit of an American table tennis team to China — had helped re-establish the links between the United States and mainland China.

The 1972 Democratic Presidential candidate said he told Castro that when he returns to Washington he plans to urge a similar approach to end the long freeze in U.S.-Cuban relations — using baseball and basketball, favorite sports in Cuba.

The senator said Castro liked the idea. As a result, McGovern said, "It is quite possible U.S. basketball and baseball teams would be flying here soon."

Briscoe In Closed Meet About School Financing

By DAN McDONALD
Associated Press Writer

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Dolph Briscoe met today in a closed meeting with superintendents and members of school boards of Texas' seven largest cities about public school financing.

A news conference was scheduled immediately after the session.

Briscoe's meeting comes after a Senate education subcommittee learned Wednesday that one of two school finance programs before the subcommittee had been apparently underestimated by about $150 million.

The governor, who is backing one of the two bills being considered by the subcommittee, was to meet with representatives of Dallas, Fort Worth, Houston, Corpus Christi, San Antonio, El Paso and Amarillo.

Tuesday the subcommittee heard testimony that indicated bills backed by Briscoe and the Texas State Teachers Association could each be financed with $500 million.

But Wednesday Lynn Mouk of the State Comptroller's office said his calculation of the cost of the TSTA measure was nearly $150 million more than that figure quoted the previous day.

Sen. Oscar Mauzy, D-Dallas, the subcommittee chairman, asked for another calculation of the costs of the two bills.

Mauzy has said he hopes to have a bill out of the full committee by next Tuesday.

In subcommittee hearings this week the emphasis has been on teachers' starting pay, which is currently $5,600 a year. The TSTA bill calls for an immediate hike to $8,000 with increases each year until $10,000 is reached in 1979-80.

Briscoe's bill, according to Dr. Richard Hooker of the governor's staff, would jump teachers' pay to $7,400 immediately and increasing to $8,200 in 1976-77. Hooker said, however, the salary level could start at $8,000 if the school maintenance and operations allowance were held to $80 per pupil.

The subcommittee decided Monday to try to create a bill that would fall within the $500 million the Legislative Budget Board says will be left after the next biennium's budget is set. Briscoe has said he will not raise taxes this session.

TSTA's original bill asked for a $10,000 starting teachers' salary. The total package would cost $2 billion. Briscoe's bill first had a price tag of $635 million.

In the House, the Public Education Committee last week approved a finance bill that would cost the state $1.8 billion over the next two years.

Mauzy, however, told members of his subcommittee that he had been advised that the "House leadership" wanted a version different from that of the House committee.

Mauzy, who told reporters he did not know who the identity of the House leadership involved, said it was his understanding the House will seek to pass a bill calling for a $7,600 base teacher salary.

Buddy Poppy Sale Set Here May 23-24

The annual Veterans of Foreign Wars Buddy Poppy Sale has been scheduled for May 23-24.

Nell Fowler is the VFW Auxiliary chairman for the sale here this year, while Roy Anderson is the VFW chairman.

Funds from the Buddy Poppy sale benefit long-term disabled veterans in Veterans Administration Hospitals and domiciliaries and in state veterans homes. They are the ones who assemble the Poppies, tie them in bunches of 10 pack them in boxes of 500 or 1,000 for shipment to the 10,000 VFW posts and Auxiliaries throughout the world.

The VFW pays the disabled veterans for their work. In most cases the money provides extra income for the disabled veteran to pay for little luxuries which make hospital life more tolerable.

Buddy Poppies also help provide care for widows and orphans of deceased veterans and for rehabilitation services on the state and national level.

Students Entertain Art Guild May 6

The Art Guild Study Club met on May 6 at the Martha Ann Woman's club. The fifth grade class of Mrs. Elizabeth McCloskey provided the basis for an interesting and informative program on the Presidents of the United States. It was brought out in the program the major events and achievements of our nation's leaders and how the events of the past have shaped our future.

Following the children's part of the program, Mrs. McCloskey continued the program and how the country was conceived and nutured under God's guidance. The beginning of our nation is recorded in the experiences of groups of people who left their homes and country confident that they were being guided by God to find a new country where they could worship Him in accordance with the dictates of their conscience.

It was pointed out that our Presidents have, to the man, called upon Almighty God to help them meet the awesome responsibility vested in them as President of the United States of America.

Mary Starnes was in charge of the program and Donnie Chorm was hostess.

VIEWPOINT

Schools Get Attention

Officials of the five biggest school systems in the state were due in Austin today on a lobbying mission. They had a conference scheduled with Gov. Dolph Briscoe to discuss public school financing, an item that has had the legislature in a turmoil and likely will keep it even more so in the days ahead.

The big city schools have their problems, but not necessarily to any greater degree than the small districts—that is the districts who make an effort to do something for themselves. The big districts have one thing going for them, however, that the smaller districts are lacking, as of the past 10 years or so. That is political clout.

Dallas School Superintendent Nolan Estes was quoted recently as saying that Dallas Public Schools faced dire financial difficulty unless a favorable state plan for public school financing is established. Otherwise, he said, Dallas schools would see costs soar by several million dollars per year to simply maintain the programs they have now. Without additional help, they might have to reduce or cut some programs, or take other drastic measures.

A new system of financing public education must come, of course, but the form it ultimately will take still is a matter of speculation. One thing the big city schools as well as smaller districts that have diligently sought to provide the best possible schools for their youngsters will be watching closely is the base of the financial support in the new legislation. Will districts who have been apathetic in efforts to do for themselves be required to bear their share of the burden? Will those who would strive for excellence be permitted to embellish their own programs without any cries of discrimination?

Meanwhile, as the legislators and the governor ponder these and other questions on public education, they might take a look at the proliferation of new mandatory "programs" that seem to spring up every season, each adding to the financial burden and in some cases even fragmenting the educational process to the point that benefits may be questioned.

Some educators have, half jokingly perhaps, but possibly with some genuine concern, commented that the plain, average student—the one without any program devised for this special benefit—is in the minority in public schools today.

What Price Cavities?

The rich get richer and the poor—well, at least they seem to get fewer cavities.

Such is the surprising finding of a tooth-by-tooth computer analysis of 10,000 young people between the ages of 5 and 20 by a University of Michigan research group.

Recalculating data from a 1968-70 Ten-State Nutrition Survey conducted by the federal government, the researchers discovered that "malnutrition" and low resistance to tooth decay showed up not among the poverty-afflicted but among more pampered youths.

"In general, it can be stated that poverty protects against dental caries," says Dr. Nathaniel H. Rowe, U-M professor of dentistry.

The precise reason for higher decay rates among children from more affluent families has not been defined by the study, but apparently it is the result of overindulgence in the wrong kinds of food and-or poor eating habits.

While eating sweets is not limited to the rich, the frequency of contact with such food seems a very probable explanation, says Dr. Rowe. Also, where food is in short supply it is more likely to be ingested in large quantities only two or three times a day, whereas more affluent kids are constantly nibbling.

Average Family Can't Afford Common House

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The president-elect of the American Bankers Association thinks the average family no longer can afford to buy the average single-family house. It costs too much to buy and maintain, he says.

"We've been pushing the limit for years, but recent events have pushed housing costs over the edge relative to the average man's ability to buy," said J. Rex Duwe in an interview.

The figures tend to bear out the assessment of Duwe, a Lucas, Kan., banker who this October takes over the reins of the 100-year-old association of commercial banks, a group that has 12.5 per cent of its loans in home mortgages.

Government figures, he said, showed that in 1973 the average family headed by a man had a median family income of about $13,000, and the average family headed by a woman had an income of about $5,800.

Statistics also show, he said, that the median sale price of a new, one-family home, excluding mobile homes, was $32,000 in the same year.

"Using the rule of thumb that you shouldn't spend more than 2½ times your annual income on a house, the average household headed by a man could spend $32,500 for a home; a household headed by a woman, about $14,500."

Duwe concedes that rules of thumb make good pointers but poor measuring sticks. They lead you in the general direction of the truth but they're too imprecise to measure it exactly. Nevertheless, his point is made.

There is nothing imprecise about the operating expenses of a house. Fuel costs have risen. Taxes are rising. Repairs costs are rising. AGS values become inflated, homeowners must buy more insurance protection.

"The consumer price index already shows that one-third of every dollar we take home is going to housing," Duwe said in a much-discussed speech at a real estate conference in Denver last week.

"How much more can we afford?" he asked.

Duwe had his reasons for discussing housing costs. "I've become tired of interest rates being the whipping boy for the housing problem," he said. "I'm weary of hearing in Congress and the media that interest rates are the total villain. It isn't so."

He had a secondary reason also. It's about time, he suggested, that the American people re-examine the type of housing they want — and can afford.

Bills Aid Pregnant Pupils

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — The problems facing a pregnant teenager can become those of society unless the problems are faced early says Rep. Mickey Leland.

Leland, D-Houston, who, along with Rep. Wilhemina Delco, D-Austin, is sponsoring three bills that would give special assistance to pupils faced with pregnancy, spoke Wednesday night before the House Public Education Committee.

He said the problems caused by pregnancies among teenage students should not be ignored by the legislature. "We should not allow early parenthood to keep a person from getting as much education as anyone else," he said.

Leland said the $10-million-a-year cost of the proposed programs would be regained from the savings that would occur in other areas such as public welfare.

Mrs. Patricia Shell of the Houston Independent School District said each year there is an average of 6,000 pregnant teenage girls in Houston.

Mrs. Shell said the majority of these girls encounter tremendous problems with their educational process as a result of the pregnancies.

The committee chairman, Rep. Tom Massey, D-San Angelo, said all three bills would be sent to a subcommittee with a request that they be acted on within a week.

Social Security Heads Deny System Is Broke

By EDMOND LeBRETON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Taxes for Social Security are likely to go up to keep the retirement system solvent, but employees and employers may be spared an immediate tax increase, congressional testimony indicates.

In any case, Social Security Commissioner James B. Cardwell and Rep. James A. Burke, D-Mass., agreed there is no prospect that workers already retired or planning to retire in the future will have their benefits cut off.

Burke is chairman of a House Social Security subcommittee which heard Cardwell testify Wednesday that there is no justification for what he called alarmist predictions "that Social Security has gone broke."

The system's deficit is estimated at $8 billion this year and due to increase unless financing is changed, Cardwell testified.

But he said the reserves of more than $46 billion would carry the system without reduction in benefits until 1980 or 1981 even if nothing were done.

Cardwell left no doubt that the administration wants corrective measures, but suggested that these might safely wait until the economy struggles out of recession.

Burke said, however, he expects his committee to produce legislation this year. Neither Cardwell nor Burke suggested what the corrective measures might be, agreeing that more study both by the administration and Congress is needed.

The choices being studied include increasing taxes on higher-income workers and their employers or increasing taxes on all those covered by the Social Security system or tapping some general tax revenues to help finance Social Security.

The administration opposes the general revenue approach, but Burke has long advocated that the treasury make some contribution to the system thus far financed by its own special tax.

At present the tax rate is 5.85 per cent on both employer and employe on wages up to $14,100. This means that those with higher incomes are not taxed on all their earnings. There have been proposals to increase the taxable earnings limit to as much as $25,000.

Cardwell, elaborating on the findings published earlier this week by the Social Security trustees, said the system's immediate problems are caused by unemployment, reduced contributions from the payroll tax, inflation and increases in the level of benefits through the automatic cost-of-living hikes.

WON'T RECOMMEND REGISTRATION

Reactions Are Varied On Ford's Gun Decision

By EDMUND PINTO
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Some of those who favor gun control object to President Ford's decision not to recommend handgun registration and say registration is a compromise approach compared to proposals calling for a flat ban on the manufacture of cheap handguns.

On the other hand, a major opponent of gun controls, the National Rifle Association, said Wednesday it was heartened by Ford's statement on gun control at his Tuesday night news conference.

Ford said he "was not going to recommend the registration of gun owners and I am not going to recommend the registration of guns or handguns ... If we can find some responsible ways to do it other than this approach, we certainly will consider them."

A congressional expert on gun control said Ford was still looking at the gun control issue "the same way as when he was a representative and registration was an extreme.

"That's not right," he continued. "Extreme is the Hart-Bingham bill. Registration is the compromise."

The bill introduced by Sen. Philip A. Hart, D-Mich., and Rep. Jonathan B. Bingham, D-N.Y., includes language that would ban the manufacture, sale, transportation and ownership of handguns.

A leading congressional Republican supporter of handgun registration said he was disappointed with Ford's position against registration.

Rep. Robert McClory, R-Ill., a member of the House Judiciary subcommittee on crime, which held hearings on gun control earlier this year, said he wants to see a registration bill passed.

McClory said he has been in touch with the White House Domestic Council on the gun control issue and intends to communicate again with the council and the President. McClory said he will tell them that the federal government already requires a form of registration under the 1968 gun control act.

The 1968 law requires handgun manufacturers and dealers to keep records of salesat their places of business.

Subcommittee Chairman John Conyers Jr., D-Mich., had no comment about the President's remarks.

At his news conference Ford described as a "unique approach" Atty. Gen. Edward H. Levi's recent proposals that handgun ownership be prohibited in high-crime areas.

Ford said Levi's approach "is being discussed with the Department of Justice within our own Domestic Council. But there is no firm decision on whether that approach or any other approach is the right way to meet the problem."

The National Rifle Association said it was "heartened by the fact that the President has not endorsed the proposal of Mr. Levi or any other antigun proposal.

One of the most fragrant spices blended in incense, cinnamon was burned at the funeral of Poppaea, Nero's second wife. The city of Rome had to relinquish its entire annual supply for the show of grief.

Brazil Seeking Ties With Texas

By JAN CARROLL
Associated Press Writer

DALLAS (AP) — Brazil's minister of planning says his country is interested in branching out from "coffee, cocoa and cotton" to more diversified exports.

"The basic idea is not to rely too much on one product or one market," Joao Paulo Dos Reis Velloso told a meeting of Dallas business executives Wednesday.

In keeping with Brazil's philosophy of economic expansion, Dos Reis Velloso said his country wants "to establish direct economic relations with Texas, particularly the Dallas metropolitan area."

Brazil is one of the fastest growing economies in the world, the minister of planning said, and his government has started programs to keep "accelerated growth" and encourage foreign investment.

"Brazilian legislation allows foreign companies to enter any area which is not monopolized. And the tax treatment is the same for foreign countries and Brazilian companies," he said.

Dos Reis Velloso said a foreign investor could either establish a business in Brazil or go for a joint venture with a Brazilian company on a minority basis. If a foreign investor opts for the minority partnership, the Brazilian government provides an incentive of one third support.

"The domestic company would invest one-third, the foreign investor would provide one-third, and the government would provide support in the other third."

Dos Reis Velloso said the government plans to sustain its efforts to develop the country.

"For example, we have just begun to use our mineral and natural resources. We have 17 billion tons of iron ore and plenty of bauxite, and we are just scratching what we have."

Now, he said, the government has started programs for self-sufficiency for other products, including silk, nonferrous metals, particularly aluminum, fertilizers and oil.

"As to oil, we hope to be self-sufficient in the medium run. God knows what the medium run is," Dos Reis Velloso said. "For example, we produce only 25 per cent as much oil as we use—that's 200,000 barrels a day and we use 800,000 barrels a day."

Contractors Set To Shut Down

DALLAS (AP) — Spokesmen said contractors involved in deadlocked contract talks with 26,000 union workers stood ready today to shut down North Texas construction projects with a total worth of $154 million.

About 200 members of the North Texas Contractors Association and 27 labor unions are affected. Their contract expired last Thursday.

NTCA General Manager Harold E. Moore said, "We're proceeding to close down all jobs except those necessary for the health and wellbeing of the public, such as hospitals." He added that "most of the workers aren't showing up for work anyway."

Most of the large construction jobs in Dallas and Tarrant counties will be shut down, including the Dallas City Hall, expansion of Miller's Brewery in Fort Worth, the University of Texas at Dallas in Richardson and the Mesquite Municipal building.

Moore said the contractors had offered to raise pay $1.05 per hour over three years and the unions have demanded $2.30 under a two-year agreement.

Student Arrests May Solve Thefts

ARLINGTON, Tex. (AP) — Apprehension of two University of Texas at Arlington students Wednesday is expected to solve numerous campus thefts, authorities said.

Boyce Megason, chief of the UTA police department, said an officer on patrol stopped the two on a campus parking lot and discovered a number of stolen items in their vehicle.

Police also found several key rings in the students' possession. Megason said it has not been determined what the keys will unlock but some are to university properties.

He said the recovered items were valued at about $2,000.

The students were expected to be turned over to county authorities.

Azle High Sets Rock-A-Thon

AZLE, Tex. (AP) — High school students here will rock and roll for 28 straight hours Saturday and Sunday in a rock-a-thon to benefit the March of Dimes.

The rock-a-thon, sponsored by the Future Business Leaders of America chapter at Azle High, will begin at 9 a.m. Saturday in Seminary South town hall and continue until 1 p.m. Sunday.

Money raised in the benefit dance marathon will be donated to the national FBLA, which is attempting to raise money for a joint FBLA-March of Dimes program, Project HELP (Health Education Leads to Progress).

CONSERVATION TEACHER — William R. McMullan Of SHS will be honored for his conservation education work at the Region I, Conservation Awards Banquet to be held in the Main Ballroom, University Center, Texas Tech University, beginning at 7 p.m. this evening.

REGION I RESIDENT CONSERVATION FARMER—Ray Herring admires the farm pond on his farm. In addition to providing livestock water this pond will furnish many hours of recreation for the Herring family. Herring will be honored for his conservation work at the Region I, Conservation Award Banquet to be held on the Texas Tech campus beginning at 7 p.m. this evening.

FARMER AND TEACHER HONORED

2 In Area Due Conservation Awards

Editor's Note—Two regional conservation awards go to Snyder area residents this year. Ray Herring of Fluvanna has been named Outstanding Resident Conservation Farmer in the Texas Conservtion Awards Program's 51-County North and West Texas Region. William R. McMullan, vocational agriculture teacher at Snyder High School, has been named Conservation Teacher of the region. They are scheduled to receive their awards at a banquet tonight in Lubbock.

Farmer

Conservation and wise use of soil, water and plants, and his genuine concern for the general welfare of the community and county in which he lives, has earned Ray Herring the title of Outstanding Resident Conservation Farmer in the Texas Conservation Awards Program's 51-County North and West Texas Region I for 1974. He was nominated for this honor by the Board of Directors of the Upper Colorado Soil and Water Conservation District.

The Herrings' farming operations are located at Fluvanna, on the edge of the Caprock, between Snyder and Post.

Ray Herring was born in Dawson County, near Lamesa in 1930. In 1946, Ray's family moved to Dermott, where he assisted his father, Bill Herring, in his farming and ranching operation.

After graduating from Fluvanna High School, Ray served his country as a paratrooper in the 82nd Airborne Division, where he made 17 parachute jumps.

Ray and his wife, Gwen, were married on June 5, 1953. After marriage, Ray attended Texas Tech University in Lubbock, where he received his degree in Agricultural Education with an Animal Husbandry minor in 1955.

After graduating from college, the Herrings moved back to Fluvanna. Ray was the Vocational Agriculture teacher at Fluvanna for many years, where he coached several outstanding FFA teams. He taught at Fluvanna for five years.

In 1956, in addition to his teaching duties, Ray leased the 240 acre cotton farm that now serves as the headquarters for his farming operation. He purchased this farm in 1962. Ray has now expanded his farming operation to 2000 acres, of which 1800 acres are in cropland. He presently owns 1160 acres and leases the remainder.

The Herrings' have four children: Mike, 20, a student at Tarleton State University in Stephenville; Debbie, 17, and Cole, 12, students at Gail school in Borden County; and Jon, 3.

Ray is very active in community affairs, having served as the first President of the Fluvanna Chapter of the Young Farmers of America, and President of Area II of Young Farmers in 1965. He was honored as the Outstanding Area Oficer for the State of Texas in the Young Farmers in 1965. He has served as an officer of the Fluvanna Co-op Gin Board of Directors for several years. He is currently vice President of the Borden County Junior Livestock Association. Ray was also selected as the Outstanding Farmer of the Year by the Snyder Jaycees in 1968.

Ray and Gwen are active supporters of the Borden County 4-H Club, and have hosted the annual "Play Day" at their home. Their interest is evidenced by their childrens' performance at the Odessa Livestock Show, with Cole winning 3rd Place and Debbie winning 7th with their show calves.

The Herrings' are active in the Fluvanna Baptist Church, where Ray serves as Chairman of the Board of Deacons, and Gwen is a Sunday School teacher. During the Spring Revival for the Church, the Herrings' hosted an old-fashioned "Dinner on the Grounds" at their attractive home.

Ray and Gwen enjoy hunting, fishing, and traveling with the kids to livestock shows. Gwen is also a member of the Fluvanna Bridge Club and the Gail Parents Club.

Ray is complementing his cotton farming with a cattle operation, plus grain sorghums and small grains. He is planning to change from a yearling livestock operation to a cow-calf program. He also raises about 50 ewes. He will have about 500 acres of wheat and grain sorghum this year and hopes to experiment with about 100 acres of sunflowers.

Ray became a member of the Upper Colorado Soil and Water Conservation District in 1962. He entered the Great Plains Conservation Program in 1966. He was among the first to install parallel terraces in this area. Since Ray became a Cooperator, he has installed 185,000 feet of parallel terraces, installed a well and livestock water storage facility on his grazing land, and constructed a four-acre waterway. In addition, he has maintained a balanced cropping program with soil improving crops in rotation with his cotton.

He also constructed an earthen reservior to hold runoff water for his livestock and provide recreation for his family and community.

Ray, besides being known as a community leader, is also known as a farmer that will do a little bit extra to achieve the best results. He set goals in his farming operation in 1965 to improve the stability and productivity of his land. Ray has exceeded his goals and has already started conservation work on land that he purchased this year.

Teacher

William R. McMullan, vocational agriculture teacher at Snyder High School in the Snyder Independent School District is a conservationist at heart. His conservation activities have earned him the title of Conservation Teacher in the Texas Conservation Awards Program's 51 county North and West Texas Region I for 1974. He was nominated for this honor by the Board of Directors of the Upper Colorado Soil and Water Conservation District.

"Mr. Mac," as he is affectionately known to his students, was recently presented a Conservation Teaching Citation from the Texas Advisory Committee on Conservation Education for his conservation education work. He was also the first winner of the Harrie Winston Award, presented each year by the Snyder Chamber of Commerce for outstanding achievement in agriculture.

McMullan teaches the conservation of natural resources and the importance of soil, water and plants, and their relationship to the environment as a major part of his vocational agriculture classes.

In instilling in his students a deeper understanding of the plant-animal relationship to the environment, he has his students carry out many kinds of activities. Listed below are a few examples of his varied classroom activities.

While studying grasses which take up approximately one-half of a semester in his Vocational Agriculture II classes, each of his students make a collection of a minimum of 50 grasses, forbs, woody plants, and legumes. Numerous field trips are made to study these plants in their natural habitat. After the classroom work on grasses has been completed, students interested in becoming members of the grass judging team practice for this team one night per week. This is generally about half of the students in the class.

Emphasis is also placed on soils, crops, range and pasture work. Judging teams are selected from students that wish to put forth extra effort in these fields.

His success in these fields is very evident by the accomplishments of his students in major competition. The 1973 Grass Judging team scored a total of 1,339 points out of a possible 1,200 points at the Houston Livestock Show. A city girl, a member of the crops judging team, was high individual at several major identification contests. Prior to taking vocational agriculture this young lady didn't know the difference between a cotton seed and a watermelon seed.

Conservation exhibits prepared by this vocational agriculture classes for the annual Scurry County Fair are prepared in an excellent manner and promote new ideas in better resource management.

Born on a farm northeast of Snyder, Texas, McMullan has always been close to the soil and dealt with the problems that face those who produce the food and fiber that makes America the best fed, clothed, and housed nation in the world.

The primary crops produced on the McMullan farm were cotton and grain sorghum. In helping with farm chores, "Billy Bob", as he is known to many, developed an early appreciation of the importance of soil and water in man's environment.

McMullan graduated from Snyder High School and received a BS degree in Animal Science from Texas Technological University in 1955 and a Master of Education degree also from Texas Tech in 1957.

He began his vocational agriculture teaching career at Hermleigh High School in 1955 and moved to Snyder High School in 1962.

He cites many changes and improvements during his 25 years in the Snyder Independent School District, from the one room termite-eaten shack to the new air-conditioned vocational agriculture department that is near completion.

When asked what other changes he especially noted, he replied, "The most obvious change is the improvement of facilities, but I guess the biggest change was when girls started taking vocational agriculture. I really didn't think it would work, but now my grass team is almost all girls."

The majority of these girls live in the city of Snyder rather than on surrounding farms and ranches. However a number of these young ladies have been the high point individual on various grass, crops, soils and range and pasture teams.

Because of the guidance and opportunities offered these young ladies through McMullan's vocational agriculture classes these voters and homemakers of tomorrow will have a greater appreciation of agriculture and the problems related to producing the food and fiber needed to fee and clothe our country.

The McMullans have four daughters, Mrs. O.L. (Shelly) Lane of Killeen; LaTrix, a second-year elementary education major at Western Texas College; Mrs. Wesley (Janis) Key of Snyder; and Jessica, a junior at Snyder High School. Mrs. (Jo Alyce) McMullan teaches the first grade at East Elementary School in Snyder.

Active in church and community affairs, Billy Bob is a substitute Sunday School teacher at the First Methodist Church. He is a member of the Scurry County Junior Livestock Association and the Scurry County Fair Board. At the present time he is also serving as a Director of the Texas Vocational Agriculture Teacher's Association.

He is a former member of the Snyder Lions Club and has coached Little League baseball.

In addition to church and community activities he enjoys fishing as a hobby and has some farming interests. On his farms he has controlled mesquite by rootplowing and established the rootplowed area to desirable grasses. His mother became a cooperator with the Upper Colorado Soil and Water Conservation District on one of the farms he now owns and operates in 1964.

Dr. Lamb

Says he has brain tumor

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB—My 24-year-old son thinks he has a tumor in his brain. He has all the symptoms of a nervous breakdown, but I can't get him to consult a physician, neurologist or a neurosurgeon. He just talks about his brain tumor but does nothing about it.

He needs lots of information about brain tumor or brain damage as he has had many head injuries since infancy and was born prematurely. In spite of his head injuries he was real bright in school and was offered three scholarships. He has been a very nervous person since childhood.

Worrying so much about his unreasonable attitude and new withdrawn personality, I would like more information on any kind of brain damage, tumor, etc., so he can read it and find for himself if the symptoms are there.

DEAR READER—Your son is not as unusual as you might think. Many people who believe they have a serious illness, rightly or wrongly, avoid seeing the doctor because they don't really want to face the reality of of the illness. A good example is the woman who has a lump in her breast and thinks it is cancer but can't bring herself to go to the doctor to have something done about it.

This is an unfortunate quirk of human nature, because in many instances the person does not have a serious problem and finding this out can be an enormous relief. If there is something wrong the quicker the diagnosis is made the better the results from treatment.

Most people don't seem to realize that there are no specific signs or symptoms of a brain tumor. Almost all signs that do occur can be caused also by other diseases. A good example here is headaches are from other causes. Incidentally, the headache of brain tumor may actually be mild and intermittent, not different from many other forms of headache.

A tumor causes symptoms on the basis of its location. If it is in an area of the brain that controls walking, then the walking will be affected. One located where the nerves to the ear are may cause ear symptoms. If it is located where it affects nerves to the eyes, it may affect them or cause visual defects, such as seeing double. A tumor in the front part of the brain can grow to a large size and not cause any noticeable changes for sometime. It may cause personality changes. Vomiting may be a symptom of a brain tumor, but again there are many reasons for vomiting totally related to brain tumor.

The chances are slim that your son really has a brain tumor, but he must have some symptoms that have made him think this. He should see a doctor to evaluate the symptoms.

If his personality changes are anything more than depression from his fear that he has a brain tumor, he may actually have a psychological problem and need professional counseling.

Whatever is causing his problem it is more likely to be benefited if he will have an examination. He does need professional help but probably not for a brain tumor.

For more complete information on headaches, write Dr. Lamb in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, N.Y. 10019, and ask for The Health Letter on headaches (number 2-9). Send 50 cents and a long, self-addressed stamped envelope.

Carlyle Predicts Passage Of Bill

GRAND PRAIRIE, Tex. (AP) — State Rep. E. Carlyle Smith of Grand Prairie predicts passage of a bill he co-authored to create Mountain Creek State Park in West Dallas County.

In a telephone interview from the House floor in Austin, Smith said the bill was approved by the House last week and has been referred to the Senate Natural Resources Committee.

He said he foresaw no modifications to the bill.

"I don't think they want to change the boundaries" of the proposed 700-acre park, he added.

The park would include land in Irving, Grand Prairie, Dallas and Dallas County. It is primarily in the flood plain of Mountain Creek and the West Fork of the Trinity River. Most of it is owned by public entities, which often allow use of the land at minimal fees for park purposes.

The park would be the first state park ever created virtually within an urban area.

Yul Brynner In Weatherford

WEATHERFORD, Tex. (AP) — Yul Brynner visited this home town of his friend Mary Martin and recalled appearing with her in 1945 on Broadway in "Lute Song."

Brynner is in Fort Worth to take the lead role in "Odyssey," which opens tonight at the Tarrant County Convention Center Theater.

The actor said he remembered Miss Martin's home town was near Fort Worth and she recently was here for groundbreaking for a new public library. It will house her personal library and mementos of her stage career.

Brynner was welcomed by Mayor Burett Robson to the city library. Here the actor viewed some still photographs from "Lute Song," "The King and I" and other mementos of productions in which he appeared with Miss Martin.

Laver Eyes Net Crown

By DENNIE H. FREEMAN
AP Sports Writer

DALLAS (AP) — Rod Laver proved Wednesday night that old age isn't going to keep him from capturing the only tournament that has eluded him in a great career that includes two grand slams.

The 36-year-old Laver traded shots for three hours against youthful Harold Solomon in a World Championship of Tennis quarterfinal match and somehow staggered away with a five-set victory.

"The 'Rocket' outlasted Solomon 4-6, 6-0, 6-2 3-6, 6-3, and confessed, "I've got to be honest with you—the legs were really getting weak at the end."

Laver's victory followed a straight set success by Sweden's Bjorn Borg, who downed Raul Ramirez of Mexico 7-6, 7-6, 6-0. Each time the tie breaker was decided on points 7-5.

Borg and Laver will meet Friday night in the semifinals of the $100,000 event.

Quarterfinal matches tonight include Australia's John Alexander against America's Rosie Tanner and Britain's Mark Cox jousting No. 1 seed Arthur Ashe of the United States. The two winners also play Friday night.

Laver has been matched in this tournament, twice losing to fellow countryman Ken Rosewall in the finals. The defending champion, John Newcombe, did not join the WCT tour this year.

"I'll be just fine with a day of rest," Laver said. "I got a lucky draw this year. Of course I want to win this tournament. I've heard people say I have to win it to make my career complete.

"But I don't think if I lose I can't say I didn't have a great career. Now if the WCT had been going on for 15 years and I hadn't won it, that might be different.

"If I lose, I lose. I can't say I won't be disappointed but I think I'm fit—I think I can do it."

The finals for the $50,000 first prize will be played Sunday, starting at noon, in Moody Coliseum on the Southern Methodist campus. They will be televised nationally.

Borg, the 18-year-old heart throb of the teen-age set, said, "I was lucky to beat Raul in those tie-breakers. You have to be lucky to do that. But I also played well, I'm looking forward to meeting Rod."

Laver owns a 2-1 advantage in head-to-head duels with Borg, who ousted the Australian here last year before losing to Ramirez.

"Bjorn is a good player, but they all are when you get this far," said Laver. "But boy am I ready for a day of rest."

A lenient linesmen's call was the only thing that marred the give-no-quarter battle between Laver and Solomon, a former star at Rice University.

The linesman changed his call in Laver's favor on a ball that Solomon had appeared to hit long in the deciding fifth set. After a hard Laver stare, the linesman finally signaled "out."

Solomon said later, "I had been trying to get that guy to change his mind all night."

Laver smiled for the first time and said, "You've got to know how to give him the right look. You learn that in your old age."

JOINS WESTERN—Snyder High School golfer Richard Turnbow (right) signs a letter of intent with Western Texas College while a happy Coach Bob O'Day of WTC looks on. Turnbow was runnerup district medalist and was named to the All-Region team.

Turnbow Gets WTC Scholarship

SNYDER—Western Texas College has awarded a golf scholarship to Richard Turnbow, a three-year letterman on the Snyder High School golf team, Bob O'Day, WTC golf coach, said.

Turnbow was selected for the All-Region UIL team this spring, turning in scores of 74 and 76 in the regional tournament in Andrews. The top five players are named to the All-Region team.

He also was named to the All-District 3-AAA team and was runner-up district medalist. He was named to the All-District team during his junior year as well, and turned in his best score in high school competition that year, a three under par 68 at Snyder Country Club during a triangular match with SHS, Abilene High and Abilene Cooper High. Snyder competed in Class 4-AAAA that year.

Last summer, Turnbow won a city junior golf tournament at Amarillo with scores of 73 and 72 at Amarillo County Club and Tascosa Country Club. He won two Junior PGA tournaments at Sweetwater and Odessa.

During Turnbow's high school career, the SHS team finished second in district play in 1972-73, won the 4-AAA district title and placed third at regional in 1973-74 and placed second in district and third at regional in 1974-75.

Turnbow, the son of Mr. and Mrs. James Turnbow, plans to major in pre-pharmacy at WTC.

Coach O'Day stated that it was good to sign another Snyder golfer. "Richard hits the ball a long way and has a good attitude on the golf course," O'Day said. "He should make a good college golfer if his short game improves."

Little League Play Set

The Snyder Little League inaugurates the 1975 season Friday night in Towle Park.

President Ira Riggs said members of the county commissioner's court and the county judge have been invited to participate in opening ceremonies, which begin at 6 p.m. Managers, coaches, umpires and players of the various teams will be introduced.

The first game in both the Little League and Farm League begins at 7 p.m. In both instances, the Athletics will meet the Giants followed by a clash between the Cardinals and Indians.

State Schoolboy Track Meet Set

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Superstar Charles Whigham of Fort Worth Dunbar and high jumper Greg Lambdin of Galveston Ball have longshot chances at national records at the Texas schoolboy track and field meet Friday and Saturday.

Whigham has run 100 yards in a wind-blown 9.2 seconds, one-tenth of a second faster than the national record. He also has run the 120-yard hurdles in 13.5 seconds, equalling the national record.

Whigham's time of 37.7 in the 330 hurdles is the best in the state, so he could win three events.

He is Dunbar's only entry, however, and Lamar Consolidated—near Houston-Ball, Odessa Permian and Abilene ranks as the favorites in Class 4A.

Lambdin's leap of 7 feet ½ inch is Texas' all-time best for a schoolboy and is 1¼ inches shy of the national record.

Sprinter Steve Sims of Tuloso-midway, with a 9.5 in the 100 and 21.7 in the 220, appears to be the Class 3A standout. Monahans, Odessa Ector, Jasper or Gilmer should win the team championship.

In 2A, five schools—Van Vleck, Floydada, Floresville, Breckenridge and Hearne seem to have the potential to win.

George Woodward of Van Vleck is the leading shot putter in the state with a heave of 63 feet 2 inches, which would break a 15-year-old 2A record of 62-8½ by Richard Inman of Belton.

Schulenburg is favored to capture Class A with entries in the 440 and mile relays and four other events, including the 100 where Myron Hardeman has run 9.6, one-tenth slower than the conference record.

Timpson could challenge Schulenburg as it has the best time in the mile relay and second best time in the 440 relay.

Moody or Wortham should win Class B.

Two athletes—Ricky Marquez of Sanderson in the mile and Kenneth Thomas of Wortham in the 440—will be trying for their fourth consecutive state titles. Woody Lyons of Sayer, improving each year, will be seeking his third consecutive high jump championship in B.

Smyer won as a sophomore with a leap of 6-8, won last year at 6-8¾ and has jumped 6-10 this year.

Team championships in Class 2A and 3A will be decided Friday night, and the team titles in B, A and 4A will be determined Saturday afternoon.

SHS Baseballers Can Win District

The Snyder High School varsity baseball Tigers will be seeking the District 3-AAA championship when they take on the Brownfield Cubs at 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon in Moffett Field.

A victory will give the Tigers undisputed possession of the title. If they lose, they will still have a chance to win it if they beat Lamesa there at 2:30 p.m. Saturday. Should Snyder lose both games, the district race would end in a 3-way tie and a playoff would become necessary.

Snyder is 15-11 for the season and 6-4 in district play. The Cubs are 5-6 in the league, and Lamesa also is 5-6.

The Tigers have improved considerably of late. The emergence of Robert Alderete as a quality starting hurler has been instrumental in the Tigers' march to the top of the district. He has won all three games that he has started this season and has a 3-1 record.

Also contributing to the success has been some clutch hitting by the Tigers in recent games as well as overall sound defensive performances.

Coach Speedy Moffett of the Tigers said he expects either Losada or Jerry Sullivan to start for the Cubs. Both are right-handers. If either starts, then Coach Moffett will start a lineup that includes Randy Gressett at first, Kelly Ragland at short, Richard Tovar in left [illegible] Robert Alderete at pitcher, Sid Perry at second, Phil Robinson in centerfield, Danny Brumley at third base, and Barry Blalock in right field.

Should the Cubs start Randy Rozean, their left-handed pitching ace who has beaten the Tigers three times this year, Snyder still would start the same boys, but the batting order would be different. The lineup would be Alderete leading off, followed by Ragland, Tovar, Simons, Perry, Robinson, Brumley, Gressett and Blalock.

Rozean probably won't start since he was bombed, 11-3, by Lamesa last Tuesday.

This year's Tiger team is one of the most experienced Coach Moffett has ever fielded in over 20 years of coaching here, but the pitching hasn't been as strong as was expected.

Concerning the contest here Friday, Coach Moffett said: "I think we can win it."

Fifty-three players, including 28 seniors, received Penn State letters for playing varsity football in 1974.

Bullets Have 3-1 Advantage

By GORDON BEARD
AP Sports Writer

LANDOVER, Md. (AP) — The Washington Bullets, with a tenacious defense and Wes Unseld a titan on the backboards, stand poised to eliminate Boston's defending champions from the National Basketball Association playoffs.

"We're in a deep hole, but we're not counted out of it yet," Boston's John Havlicek said after Washington won 119-108 Wednesday night and took a 3-1 lead in the best-of-seven Eastern Conference finals.

Trying to rally his slumping mates, Havlicek recalled past heroics when the Celtics overcame a similar deficit to beat Philadelphia and tied New York before losing a deciding seventh game.

But this time, unless a freak injury to Washington guard Jimmy Jones intercedes, the Celtics appear disorganized against a team hungry for its first NBA title.

Only a spirited comeback prevented a complete route before a capacity 19,035 fans in Capital Centre after the Bullets had taken a 21-point lead early in the third period.

Don Nelson, like Havlicek a 12-year veteran, conceded that the pressure would be on the Celtics when Game 5 is played in Boston Friday night.

"But if we win that one," Nelson said, "the pressure's got to be on the Bullets back here on Sunday because they don't want to go back to Boston."

Unseld, the NBA rebounding champion who was overshadowed when Paul Silas grabbed 25 rebounds to key Boston's lone victory last Saturday, hauled down the same number on Wednesday.

Dave Cowens snared 17 rebounds for Boston before fouling out with seven minutes to play and Silas pulled down nine while playing only 34 minutes because of foul trouble.

Phil Chenier paced Washington with 27 points, Elvin Hayes had 22, and Kevin Porter 21.

Jo Jo White scored 32 points to top the Celtics. Havlicek scored 23, Nelson 21 and Cowens 15.

House Action Set Next Week On Refugee Aid

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford's emergency aid request to help up to 150,000 Indochina refugees start new lives is on an accelerated timetable for House action next week, following unanimous subcommittee approval.

The House immigration subcommittee approved the bill Wednesday night after Judiciary Chairman Peter W. Rodino, D-N. J., took the extraordinary step of publicly telling the subcommittee to get moving.

"When this country forgets its immigrant heritage and turns its back on the homeless, we will indeed have written finis to the American dream," Rodino said.

The House foreign operations appropriations subommittee scheduled hearings today on the measure. No Senate action has been scheduled.

There is no money figure in the bill but authorizes such sums as may be necessary. Ford's advisers estimate the programs which it includes would cost $507 million.

Actual money would have to be appropriated in a separate action and members of the President's Indochina task force said they need that appropriation quickly to keep the refugee airlift operating.

An amendment by Rep. Elizabeth Holtzman, D-N.Y., to write a $507-million limit into the bill was rejected 4 to 3. She said she did not seek to limit the money for the refugees but wanted to require that any spending over $507 million get new approval from Congress.

James M. Wilson, deputy director of the task force, testified that $85.6 million of the $98 million the administration already has for refugees has been spent and the rest will be obligated by the weekend.

He said there is no danger of a cutoff of food and other needs of the refugees, but the airlifts would have to be curtailed, causing overcrowding on Guam and Wake islands and forcing hundreds of refugees to remain on board ships headed for those islands.

Lawrence A. Marinelli of the State Department said that when current funds run out the government can continue to provide food and other essentials, but cannot contract for air transportation or buy any large quantities of new food or medical supplies.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., said on the CBS radio's "Capitol Cloakroom" that Ford will get "substantially all that he seeks."

"There will be some cuts but I think it will take care of the problem ... Not to do it would be contrary to all of our traditions," said Jackson. The Americans for Democratic Action, a liberal oganization, also endorsed the refugee funds.

As of Wednesday the number of refugees was 113,340. This included 71,884 on the Pacific islands, 9,446 on their way to the islands, 19,346 at U.S. refugee centers and 12,664 cleared to begin life in this country.

Fight Set On Plan To Cut Education Benefits

WASHINGTON (AP) — A battle is developing over President Ford's plan to eliminate veterans' education benefits for persons joining the armed forces after July 1, a move military officials fear might reduce enlistments in the volunteer army.

Ford made the proposal Wednesday when he announced that with the end of the Vietnam war several other special benefits were being eliminated for new members of the armed services.

The wartime benefits eliminated by presidential order include primarily pensions for nonservice connected disability and burial allowances. The dollar value of these allowances and the education benefits varies according to a veteran's financial circumstances.

Ford stressed that his actions "will not affect the eligibility of the millions of Vietnam veterans already discharged, or those presently serving in the armed forces.

But while Ford ended the minor benefits immediately by order, he will have to get congressional approval to end post-service education benefits, and opposition is already developing there. He suggested removing the benefits for anyone joining the Army, Navy, Marines or AirForce after July 1.

A bill to eliminate the education benefits is being introduced by 23 House members.

But Chairman Vance Hartke, D-Ind., of the Senate Veterans Affairs Committee, protested that the move would be "short-sighted" and "contrary to the best interests of the nation."

Hartke noted that an armed forces testing report last fall indicated that one out of every four servicemen said they would not have enlisted if GI education benefits were not available.

Defense manpower chief William K. Brehm said last February that "the major reason most people come into the service is to be trained and for the educational benefits they can earn while in the service."

The recession probably will keep enlistments at a high level for as long as it lasts, and all of the services have been topping their enlistment quotas since last November. But defense officials are concerned that halting government-financed education and training opportunities may cause a dropoff in enlistments after the economy recovers and jobs become plentiful again.

The Pentagon is known to have opposed ending GI education benefits when the proposal was circulated among government agencies for comment.

Info On Sponsoring A Refugee

By ANN BLACKMAN
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Want to sponsor an Indochina refugee?

Here's how: Call a toll-free telephone number in Washington where you will be asked for the following information:

—Are you calling as an individual or for a group?

—Are you calling about a specific family or in general?

—Are you offering temporary or long-term assistance

—Are you offering food, housing, clothes, a job? What skills are involved in the job?

This information will be fed into a computer and matched with information gathered from interviews with refugees at the resettlement centers around the country.

So far, hundreds of calls have been received. A firm in Connecticut needs a secretary or clerk. A town in South Carolina needs a town doctor and some laborers. A church in Louisiana is offering to sponsor three individuals.

A spokesman for the Inter-Agency Task Force which is coordinating the effort said, "We're asking people to think of something they can offer — free rent, food or something that will help put these people on their feet."

Such efforts have been done many times in the past, the spokesman said. "We took in about 40,000 Hungarians in 1956, about 650,000 Cubans in the early 1960s, about 1,700 Ugandan-Asians in 1972. In a few months or, in the outside, a year, these people have been taxpaying members of the community."

The toll-free number is 800-368-1180. In the District of Columbia, you can call: 632-9600. There are 16 phones, and operators answer calls from 8 a.m. to midnight EDT.

School District Has Filed Suit

LAKE WORTH, Tex. (AP) — The Lake Worth Independent School District has filed suit in 48th district court to recover $19,718.17, in what it says are misappropriated school funds from one of its employes and her husband.

The district claims school bookkeeper and secretary Wilma Mason and her husband George Mason of Hurst diverted $16,123.17 in payroll checks to their bank account and that Mrs. Mason converted $3,695 in school district cash to her own use.

At the request of the school district's lawyer, District Court Judge Walter Jordan issued a temporary restraining order telling the couple not to make use of any payroll checks they might have in their possession.

Lawyer Henry Simon Jr. said school officials chose civil rather than criminal action against the couple in an effort to recover the lost money.

Shah Tours Ciudad Guayana

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP) — The Shah of Iran toured Ciudad Guayana, Venezuela's steel city on the banks of the Orinoco, then flew back to the bustling capital for an evening of folk dances.

While Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi and Venezuelan President Carlos Andres Perez visited the recently nationalized ironworks, Empress Farah and Mrs. Perez toured the headquarters of a foundation which supplies textbooks to needy Venezuelan school children.

The Shah and the Empress will wind up their four-day stay in Venezuelan with a banquet tonight and will leave for Mexico on Friday.

Couple To Present Recital, Operetta

A recital and one-act operetta will be presented by Mr. and Mrs. Tim King of Lubbock at 8 p.m. Friday in the Fine Arts Theatre at Western Texas College. The recital is open to the public and there will be no admission charge.

Mrs. King, the former Jana Bullard, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Bullard of Jacksboro. She is a 1971 graduate of Snyder High School and will receive the bachelor of music education degree with a specialization from Texas Tech University this month. She will continue work toward a master's degree at Tech next fall and will be a graduate teaching assistant.

King received the bachelor of music education degree from Tech and is presently choral director for Lubbock High School.

Both Mr. and Mrs. King have played lead roles with the Tech Music and Opera Theatre. Mrs. King starred in the recent production of Gilbert and Sullivan's "Trial by Jury" and appeared in the fall production of "Carmen." She was cast as one of Tevy's daughters in the Lubbock Theatre Center production of "Fiddler On the Roof" as well.

Included on the program here will be arias, solos and duets from "Die Fledermaus" and Il Barbier de Seville" and other selections by well known composers.

The operetta to be presented is "The Telephone" by Menotti, a 30-minute comedy about a young couple whose courtship is interupted by the telephone calls received by the young lady.

While a student at Tech, King was president of the Tech Choir for two years, a member of Phi Mu Alpha, honorary music fraternity, and Sigma Phi Epsilon. Mrs. King was one of 30 Tech seniors named to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities this year, is a member of Mu Phi Epsilon, honorary-music sorority, Mortar Board, Junior Council, and Pi Beta Phi.

An informal reception honoring Mr. and Mrs. King is planned in the lobby of the Fine Arts Building immediately following the recital.

Lawyer Released On Bond

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — A New Orleans lawyer accused of stealing $2.4 million worth of $100,000 U.S. Treasury notes has been released under a $500 personal recognizance bond.

Federal and state charges were filed Wednesday against Earl J. Schmitt Jr., 30, a 1973 delegate to the Louisiana constitutional convention.

Meryl Rabideau, a private security guard, told police he found the notes in a black sock on a back street and turned them over to Schmitt, asking him to check on the possibility of a reward.

Schmitt says he doesn't know where they are.

The Orleans Parish grand jury indicted him Wednesday on theft charges and he was charged in U.S. district court with conspiring to defraud the federal government.

The bills were stolen last year from the home of Robert R. F. Werk of New Orleans, inventor of a process to extract oil from cottonseed.

Werk's lawyers filed a federal court suit Wednesday seeking to forbid Federal Reserve officials from "honoring, redeeming or paying on presentation" any of the 24 bills.

In a separate action, the U.S. attorney went to court asking that Schmitt and others be prohibited from transferring any of the bills.

U.S. Dist. Court Judge R. Blake West granted temporary restraining orders in both cases.

Named in the anti-transfer order were Schmitt; Rabideau; a friend of his, Carlos Ayestas; Schmitt's lawyer, George Gicobbe; and Giarrusso Security Service Inc., where Rabideau worked when the bills disappeared.

The suit filed by Werk revealed that one of the $100,000 bills was presented for redemption Tuesday at the First National Bank in San Antonio, Tex., by the Monterrey, Mexico, National Bank.

Earlier, three bills were purchased by FBI undercover agents in Houston, Tex.

Bentsen Bill Removes JD From Politics

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Lloyd Bentsen of Texas, a candidate for the 1976 Democratic presidential nomination, says he is introducing legislation designed to remove the Justice Department from politics.

"It is time to assure the American people that law enforcement decisions will not be determined by partisan politics — either Democratic or Republican," Bentsen said in a Senate speech Wednesday.

Citing former Presidents Richard M. Nixon, John F. Kennedy and Harry S. Truman, Bentsen said presidents should be prohibited from appointing their election campaigners to top positions in the Justice Department.

The senator said Americans showed "a growing lack of confidence in the Justice Department's ability to impartially enforce the law" and this was evidence of the need for his legislation.

"This practice only contributes to a growing perception of the Justice Department 'as a political instrument,' he said.

Bentsen's bill would prohibit the president from appointing anyone from his election campaign to the positions of attorney general, deputy attorney general, solicitor general or assistant attorney general.

New Storms Predicted For Texas

By The Associated Press

Damaging winds injured at least three persons in a Bell County village and tornadoes menaced several other localities in Texas' latest round of stormy storms.

By this morning a mass of violent thunderstorms had surged out of state toward the east [illegible] inches of rain in places and again battering many points with hail, concentrating the assault on Central and East Texas.

Fresh storms developed, meanwhile, around Del Rio on the Mexican border and over the Gulf of Mexico south and east of Galveston early today. Additional thunderstorms were predicted again by evening across the central and east parts of the state.

Sheriff's officers in Temple reported vicious winds injured two girls and a woman at Nolanville while wrecking three trailer homes and damaging two others. About the same time, they said, a funnel cloud spun close to Heidenheimer. Both communities are in Bell County.

State police relayed word of several other tornadoes being sighted northwest of Austin between Leander and Cedar Park in Williamson County. These twisters apparently caused no injuries or serious damage.

Hail the size of baseballs was reported at some points in the Central Texas Hill Country, and the National Weather Service said winds gusted up to 60 miles per hour in places.

Clouds still covered most of South Central and Southeast Texas early today and moist air enveloped the coastal plains as a weak warm front dallied across the south part of the state. It was clear to only partly cloudy in North and West Texas.

Temperatures near dawn ranged from 38 degrees at El Paso — eclipsing the record low of 44 there first registered in 1882 and the far West Texas city's chilliest ever for this late in the season — up to 79 at Brownsville and Corpus Christi on the coast.

Turns the Other Cheek

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1975 by Chicago Tribune-N.Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: I am from Houston, and the women down here do not ask the men to dance. At least I've never seen it done.

I date a man who takes me to a place where people sit around and drink beer. There's music, and every now and then one of the women will ask one of the men to dance.

Last night I was feeling pretty good, so for the first time I asked my man friend if he would dance with me. He said he didn't feel like dancing. In less than a minute, a strange woman came over and asked him to dance with her. He said "yes" without batting an eye. (The woman didn't know that he had just turned me down, so it wasn't her fault.)

When he started for the floor, I said, "Okay, you just turned me down. Now there's gonna be big trouble!"

I really blew my top and asked to be taken home. He said I acted like a baby. (I'm nearly 50.)

I say, a man's lady friend should be more important to him than a stranger. He said he was just being polite. We may break up over this although I'm sure we love each other. Who was wrong?

HURT IN HOUSTON

DEAR HURT: Your man friend owes you an apology for accepting another woman's invitation to dance after having turned you down. And you owe him one for having made a scene in public. Kiss and make up. Maybe you both learned something.

DEAR ABBY: Having just read your answer to "NEEDS A REAR," I feel I must make a correction.

A foam rubber fanny is not "the living end"—it's the dead end!

BAINBRIDGE, N.Y.

DEAR BAIN: Touche. . .which is also "the end."

DEAR ABBY: How do you feel about a man kissing another man—on the cheek?

When my daughter and her husband come to visit us, I first greet them by kissing my daughter, then kissing my son-in-law on the cheek. It seems a natural, friendly thing for me to do, and my son-in-law never seems to mind it.

My wife now tells me to cut it out. She says it isn't right for a man to kiss another man.

Will you please tell me what is wrong with it? I do not go around kissing men as a rule, but my father used to kiss me (on the cheek), and I never thought anything of it.

AFFECTIONATE FATHER

DEAR FATHER: I think genuine affection, and any demonstration of it, is not only permissible, it's beautiful.

CONFIDENTIAL TO THE MATURE TEENAGER: The May issue of "Teen" magazine now on the newsstands has an excellent article entitled, "Your Body/His Body." I recommend it highly.

Everyone has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply, write to ABBY; Box No. 69700, L.A., Calif. 90069. Enclose stamped, self-addressed envelope, please.

For Abby's new booklet, "What Teen-agers Want to Know," send $1 to Abigail Van Buren, 132 Lasky Dr., Beverly Hills, Calif. 90212. Please enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped (20¢) envelope.

Midcontinent Hit By More Storms

By The Associated Press

Wind and rain lashed parts of the Midwest and South again today as more violent spring storms churned through the midcontinent.

Tornadoes dropped out of thunderstorms from South Dakota to Louisiana late Wednesday and early today. No injuries were reported.

One twister destroyed several houses at Welsh, La., northeast of Lake Charles, early today. The winds hurled the roof of one house onto Interstate 10.

Farm buildings were wrecked and homes were damaged Wednesday night as a tornado dipped into an area near Harlan, in west-central Iowa. Other tornadoes were sighted over South Dakota and Iowa. Des Moines was under a tornado warning for a time.

Torrential rains set off flash flooding in sections of Texas, Louisiana, Missouri and Illinois. Nearly 3 inches of rain swamped Alexandria, La., in one hour late Wednesday.

Runoff from recent rains in North Dakota pushed the Souris River upward to the point where Minot City Manager John Arnold ordered Wednesday night that 3,000 residents be evacuated. The evacuation involved some 700 families northwest and southwest of the downtown area.

In the West, snow diminished in the northern Rockies. Rain showers with some snow at higher elevations lingered in scattered areas. Stockmen's advisories remained in effect only in northern and central Wyoming.

Showers ranged eastward over the Dakotas and into Minnesota. Thundershowers and storms extended through most of the lower tio-thirds of the Mississippi Valley and east into Alabama and northwest Florida. Light rain sprinkled southern New England.

Skies were clear from the Far West into the central and southern Rockies and Plains, and from the Ohio Valley through the Middle Atlantic States.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 20 at Philipsburg, Pa., and Laramie, Wyo., to 81 at Key West, Fla.

Alien Pupils Costly To District

HOUSTON (AP) — Opening free public education for illegal alien children will cost the Houston Independent School District as much as $1.5 million annually for each 1,000 pupils, school officials report.

Linus Wright, superintendent for administration and support services, says the high costs could lead to reduced services for pupils who are legal residents of the district.

Atty. Gen. John Hill has ruled that illegal alien children are entitled to attend free public school and the Texas Education Agency said this week it will allow school districts to count aliens in enrollment figures to compute state funds for schools.

School Trustee David Lopez has said about 2,000 illegal alien children are now in the district.

Wright suggested it will cost $1,572 to educate one illegal alien for one year. That compared to $800 for a regular pupil who is a legal resident, not in a Title I school and not taking free clothing or lunches.

Special Mass For Trio Slain In Church Robbery

EDGARD, La. (AP) — "Good Pope John said that any day is a good day on which to be born, and any day is a good day on which to die," the Roman Catholic archbishop of New Orleans said after a church robbery in which a priest, a nun and a housekeeper were killed.

Slain in this Mississippi River community 30 miles north of New Orleans were the pastor of St. John the Baptist Church, the Rev. J. Alcide Clement, 47; Sister Mary Patrick Harrington, 43, and Leah Lejeune, 58. They died after two robbers entered the church rectory Wednesday, authorities reported.

In a special Mass for the victims on the day they were killed, Archbishop Philip M. Hannan said:

"The priest, the good sister and the elderly lady who was the housekeeper, although they met an untimely death, were all prepared to go to meet their Redeemer.

"Nobody expected such a tragedy to happen here in Edgard."

Archbishop Hannan was in the area on church business and rushed to Edgard, a community of 750 in Louisiana's broad, flat sugar belt, when he learned of the tragedy.

Sheriff Lester J. Millet said the two robbers escaped with $800 after shooting Father Clement, killing the two women with knives and pistol-whipping sexton Leopold St. Pierre.

Millet said an extensive search was under way for the slayers. He said descriptions were furnished by St. Pierre, who suffered a head gash which required 27 stitches to close.

The sheriff said St. Pierre was in the church when the men walked in about 3 p.m. When the sexton told them he was, they beat him unconscious with the butt of a pistol, Millet said.

He said they then entered the rectory and stabbed Mrs. Lejeune with a butcher knife. They found Father Clement in his upstairs bedroom and shot him and then they encountered Sister Mary Patrick at the front door as they were leaving and stabbed her, Millet said.

The sheriff said Father Clement, 47, a quiet, slender man who had ministered to the parish's congregation of mostly poor, black sugarcane workers for the past four years, had been shot in the back of the head at close range. Millet said the killers apparently used a pillow to muffle the sound of the shot.

Sister Mary Patrick, who had just returned on a Mississippi River ferry from a visit to neighboring churches, was found in a hallway inside the front door, stabbed in the neck, he said.

Mrs. Lejeune was apparently cleaning an upstairs room when the men entered, Millet said. She was found in a chair, her throat slashed.

Several money boxes, open and empty, were scattered about the floor of Father Clement's office in the rectory.

Millet said St. Pierre reminutes after he had been attacked and sprinted 100 yards to the courthouse to sound the alarm. He was released in satisfactory condition after treatment of his injuries.
