Hospital Day—
The Stockholders—
Progress—
We All Read 'Em—

Open house at the Wichita General hospital today, National Hospital day, should attract a good attendance of city and county residents. Visitors may be surprised, and should feel no little pride, at the progress, efficiency and high standards of the institution.

The Wichita General hospital, at various times is subject to all the political misfortunes of any publicly owned and operated institution. It has triumphed over its handicaps, and through the efficient work of its board of managers and the loyal cooperation of its staff, has placed itself on a par with any similar institution in the state.

A member of the board of hospital managers once told this writer "nosey newspaper reporters" constituted the greatest handicap to the hospital. The statement was made in connection with a number of stories that had appeared regarding some dispute of officials concerning the hospital. Fortunately, such stories have no influence on the efficiency of the institution, and the hospital has continued to grow and extend its sphere of service over this county and section.

Activities of public enterprise, whether they be selling water, giving hospital service, paving, or operating shows, inevitably appear for discussion in the public prints. "Nosey reporters" often find pleasant things to report, however. Just as this newspaper finds it pleasant to report an open house at the Wichita general hospital today, an event that deserves the careful attention of the institution's stockholders, the tax-payers of this city and county.

Election of officers announced Thursday by two Wichita Falls institutions, the North Texas Building and Loan company and the Panhandle Refining company, call attention to the rapid growth of these companies. The North Texas Building and Loan had assets of $19,439 in 1923 and lists assets of $2,931,251 today. The Panhandle company had a capitalization of $200,000 in 1915 and an appraisal valuation of more than $11,000,000 for 1928. No advantages of Wichita Falls probably had much to do with the growth of the companies. Capable management and service to the public had more. This is the city of opportunity.

Perhaps the most universally read advertising appearing in Wichita Falls newspapers for the last several weeks has been that of the City National bank, which publishes a brief interview with some leading business man in each advertisement. Friday afternoon, however, W. T. Ravenscroft of St. Louis is quoted as saying "I have never visited a city where the big men worked as harmoniously and WITH AS MUCH EFFORT as they do in Wichita Falls." Mr. Ravenscroft was undoubtedly correct in the first part of his statement, but what did he mean by the last?

STORM MOVES CHURCH HOUSE AT FUNSTON

Hail Squalls Do Some Damage as Large Area Profits

FEED CROPS AIDED

Wheat and Cotton Also Benefit Materially From Moisture

A heavy windstorm, accompanied by equally damaging squalls of rain and hail, blew the community church from its blocks at Funston, 14 miles south of Stamford, in Jones county, Friday afternoon, as the climax of a general rain which affected the majority of the Northwest Texas area, according to reports received by the Record News from its correspondents in the area.

More than an inch and a half of rain is reported to have fallen at Funston. A sweeping hailstorm which followed is said to have done considerable damage to crops in the vicinity. Anson, 17 miles southwest of Stamford, also is reported to have had an inch and a half rainfall. No other localities are reported to have been visited with hail, and no one was reported injured.

In other localities less severity was reported, and the rains are regarded as highly beneficial to wheat and budding cotton. Feed crops, especially in Hall county where a general rainfall of one inch broke an intermittent drouth, were greatly stimulated, and faster growing is expected.

The rainfall, coming to many sections of the North Texas region which had suffered from long want, was worth thousands of dollars to the farmers.

Although the skies were clouded, no rain had fallen in Wichita Falls early Friday night.

ABILENE FLOODED BY DOWNPOUR

ABILENE, Texas, May 11. (AP)—The telephone company and the railroads here reported 22 toll lines out from El Paso to east of Abilene out of commission Friday night due to lightning and terrific windstorms.

LOCKNEY, Texas, May 11.—About an inch of rain fell in the Lockney trade territory last night, and this morning large wheat farmers report that prospects are bright for a fair yield on the summer fallowed land while most of the crop on land not prepared so well will be a total failure.

Local ginners and cotton oil mill operators are making every effort possible to secure plenty of good cotton seed as they anticipate a large acreage of cotton to be planted in Floyd county this year. Many farmers will plant the land prepared for feed and cotton in cotton only, while a large part of the wheat land will be planted in grain sorghums.

GOOD RAINFALL AT CHILDRESS

Special to The Record News.

CHILDRESS, Texas, May 11.—Good rains have fallen over Childress county during the past 18 hours. In most localities the moisture is sufficient to keep feed and cotton growing for some time. Farmers are feeling sure that cotton will come up to a good stand and feed is doing well. There is a good feeling among all over the conditions.

WHEAT AIDED BY FLOYDADA RAIN

RESCUE FLIER USES 'CHUTE

Army Planes Off For Greenly Island

WASHINGTON, May 11. (UP)—An expedition of two army amphibian planes with Maj. Gen. James E. Fechet, chief of the army air service, and two army pilots, took off from here at 4:38 p. m., eastern standard time, today on the first part of a flight to Greenly Island.

CHICAGO, May 11. (UP)—The German-Irish crew of the Bremen are considering flying the plane in which they traversed the Atlantic from east to west, back to Berlin with Boston as a starting point, they admitted here today.

where a pilot will be delivered by parachute to the stranded transoceanic monoplane Bremen.

Fechet plans to stop tonight at Mitchel Field, outaidde of New York. At Mitchel field Frederick Melchoir, Junkers pilot, will be taken aboard the planes, although it is not known definitely when they plan to resume the flight to Greenly Island. It is possible that with favorable weather the expedition will leave Saturday.

The Junkers pilot will land on the desolate, windswept island by parachute from an altitude of about 2000 feet. His feat will be an exceptionally dangerous one as snow and ice on Greenly Island is melting now and such landing would be hazardous in any weather.

This emergency expedition to the landing place of the three heroic men who first made a westward transatlantic flight, was authorized by Secretary of War Davis. His approval came after the German embassy had asked the Canadian government and the state department if U. S. army air corps planes could be flown to Canada soil to aid in removing the Bremen. Canada has authorized the flight into its territory, and the state department has asked similar authorization from the Newfoundland government.

The army planes expect to reach Greenly by Monday. Fechet plans to make stops after leaving New York at Pictou, Nova Scotia, and St. George, Newfoundland.

PAIR CHARGED WITH DROWNING MAKE BONDS

Murder Charge Filed On Companions of Lake Victims

COMPLAINT IN BAYLOR

Justice of Peace Hints Testimony Justifies Releases

A. M. Stewart, 1911 Polk street, and Woody Tarkenton, 2015 Collins, were at liberty in Wichita Falls Friday night on $1000 bond each. At a preliminary hearing at Seymour Friday afternoon on charges of murder in connection with the death at Lake Kemp last Saturday night of R. G. Irvine, local bricklayer, the two Wichita Falls youths were bound over to the Baylor county grand jury which meets on July 2.

A complaint charging murder had been filed against the two boys Thursday morning in Seymour before Nat G. Mitchell, justice of the peace, by George F. Preston of Amarillo, a brother-in-law of Mr. Irvine.

Rules on Powers

In reaching his decision Judge Mitchell Friday afternoon declared that a justice of the peace has no power to dismiss charges of murder. He intimated, however, that if the matter were in his hands he would release the two accused youths, according to Earl Kuntz, attorney for the defendants.

Mr. Kuntz and the two boys went to Seymour Friday for the hearing and returned immediately to Wichita Falls after the bond in the case had been set and made.

Mr. Stewart and Mr. Tarkenton were insistent that the deaths of Irvine and Bill Whitted, a negro, was the result of overturning of the boat from which the four men were fishing.

The state, in the preliminary hearing, introduced testimony to show that the body of Mr. Irvine had been badly bruised. The accused men declared that these bruises were results of efforts to revive Mr. Irvine after his body had been taken from the water. Mr. Irvine's body, Mrs. N. H. Marshall, proprietor of a hotel at the lake, testified, had been rolled over a barrel in an effort to restore the blood circulation after the accident.

Fishing Party

John Crawford, witness for the state, testified that the body bore many bruises.

The four men, the two survivors related, were fishing from a boat in Lake Kemp when the vessel capsized. Clinging to the overturned boat for about an hour, Mr. Stewart and Mr. Tarkenton finally were rescued by Harry McFall and Henry Marshall, who were on the lake in a power boat at the time.

The body of Mr. Irvine was recovered shortly after the rescue, entangled in the meshes of a trot line. The negro's body, however, had not been recovered Friday night.

Good Resents Some Of Questions Asked

WASHINGTON, May 11. (US)—The Hoover presidential campaign has cost about $235,000 to date, with total pre-convention expenses estimated at less than $250,000, James W. Good, his campaign manager, told the senate investigating committee today.

This was the largest primary fund revealed thus far by the committee's probe, but Good declared it was justified by the nation-wide campaign conducted for the commerce secretary.

Shap Quis

Campaign workers for Gov. Al Smith, the leading Democratic candidate, testified yesterday that they raised $103,310 and expended $93,090. The largest previous total for a Republican candidate was between $11,000 and $12,000 expended for the candidacy of Senator Charles Curtis, of Kansas.

Good was subjected to a sharp cross-examination by committee members during which he was asked to explain not only the financial details of the Hoover campaign, but also the activities of various political workers employed in his behalf.

Like Secretary Hoover himself, who appeared before the committee this week, Good at times showed resentment at the trend of questions, especially when he was accused of "apologizing" for the Californian's attitude on public matters in the past.

Virginia Scheme

Sharing interest with Good's explanation of campaign expenses, was a letter from Secretary Hoover, introduced into the record, in which he said that Senator George H. Moses, of New Hampshire, and Senator Frederick M. Sackett were the men who conferred with Senator Guy D. Goff regarding the possibility of Hoover being agreed upon as the second choice of West Virginia's delegates to the Republican convention.

Goff, who is opposing Hoover in the West Virginia primaries as a favorite son candidate, declared that he rejected this proposal and charged it was an "attempt at moral bribery."

KLAN FIGHT CAUCUS CALLED

Smith Democrat Issues Plea For Conference

DALLAS, Texas, May 11. (AP)—Fuel to political fires in Texas was added today when Maury Hughes of Dallas, former district attorney of Dallas county and a leader of the state forces favoring the nomination of Gov. Alfred E. Smith of New York issued a call for a caucus at Beaumont, May 21, the day before the Democratic state convention, to "all loyal Democrats who have the interest of the party at heart."

Yesterday V. A. Collins, chairman of the Constitutional Democrats, called a meeting on the same day at Beaumont of prohibition delegates who oppose the nomination of Gov. Smith.

"The caucus is to perfect plans by which Texas will let the world know she does not intend to turn the Texas Democratic convention over to the Ku Klux Klan," Mr. Hughes said.

Mr. Hughes and some other Smith supporters were not given places on the Dallas county delegation to the Beaumont convention, but will attend the convention as a delegate from another county.

JURY VERDICT FREES WOMAN ON KILLING

Suspended Sentence Given After Four Hours Of Deliberation

SELF DEFENSE PLEA

Defense Sought Complete Acquittal on Grounds Of Threats

Mrs. Clara Nichols was given a suspended sentence of five years in the penitentiary when found guilty of the murder of her husband, J. C. Nichols, by a jury in the 78th district court at 8:25 o'clock Friday night.

The verdict was reached exactly four hours after Ben F. Allred, district attorney, had made the closing plea for conviction and the jury had filed out of the court room to consider the testimony.

Mr. Nichols, a cement contractor, was shot to death at his home here on the morning of Easter Sunday. He was dead before officers reached the scene. Mrs. Nichols, arrested immediately, made a signed statement of the shooting to Sam B. Spence. This statement, contents of which were kept from the defense until the trial, was one of the factors in the woman's conviction.

The state had not pressed the point of suspension of the sentence during the trial or in the closing arguments but merely had asked for conviction. The defense, on the other hand, sought acquittal on the grounds of self defense.

Mrs. Nichols, her daughter, Lorene, 19, and her son, H. L., 13, remained in the courtroom throughout the day Friday and awaited the jury's verdict in the courtroom. The woman wept as she thanked the jurors.

During the trial Mrs. Nichols had remained unmoved except for a short time while testifying of treatment she had received. She watched the entire proceedings closely. When cross-examined by Mr. Allred she answered every question calmly in a monotonus tone.

Allred Uses "Trump."

Holding back his trump card until the last, Mr. Allred, in the state's final argument to the jury Friday afternoon, for the first time called the attention of the jurors to the manner in which Mr. Nichols had fallen when shot, according to the signed statement of Mrs. Nichols.

The entire statement previously had been submitted as evidence.

"I ask you, men," Mr. Allred

Nagie May Seek Delay in Trial While Search is Made for Foster-Mother

Trial of Jack Nagie, 24, on charges of murder in connection with the fatal shooting on April 13 of Theodore Zimerman, Lee street groceryman, probably will be continued when the case is called in district court on May 23, it was learned here Friday.

Ralph Pittman, local attorney whom Nagie asked to represent him Friday morning, declared that a continuance would be asked, if the defense deemed necessary, until Nagie's foster mother, now touring Europe, could be brought to Wichita Falls.

After a long talk with Nagie Friday, Mr. Pittman promised to get in touch with the accused youth's relatives in Corrigan. He said that he did not know that he would represent Nagie here.

Nagie, born in Pennsylvania, was left an orphan when four years of age. A woman whose name was not revealed by Mr. Pittman, took the boy into her home and cared for him until 1919, when he left Pennsylvania for the Texas oil fields, he told Mr. Pittman. Nagie was arrested at Corrigan May 1, by Sheriff W. G. Bralley. Almost immediately following his arrest Nagie is alleged to have given Ben P. Allred, district attorney, a statement of the shooting.

Moody Irked at "Inferences" In Love Statement Issued at Dallas

AUSTIN, Texas, May 11. (AP)—Resentment at "inferences" contained in a statement issued in Dallas Friday by State Senator Thomas B. Love, head of the "Constitutional" ultra-dry Democratic faction, was expressed early Friday night by Governor Moody.

Senator Love declared that he would withdraw as leader of the group "if my personality should be keeping the prohibitionists of Texas apart in their efforts to prevent the nomination of Governor Al Smith."

"I am anxious," Love added, "to prevent Governor Moody from making the mistake at Beaumont that John Davis, C. C. Renfro and others of the faction did in our Dallas convention—namely combining with the Smith forces."

Governor Moody's statement in reply:

"I have seen Senator Love's statement. His claims of anxiety to prevent me from doing at Beaumont what he says certain men did in Dallas county, I regard as a base and insincere effort to create the impression that someone other than himself is willing to betray public confidence. I will say more about this later."

The governor did not comment on Mr. Love's offer to quit the fight.

OPEN HOUSE AT HOSPITAL

Wichita General Invites Visitors Today

The Wichita General hospital will hold open house Saturday between 2 p. m. and 9 p. m. for the inspection of the public facilities, aims and problems of a hospital, in observance of National Hospital day, May 12.

The history of the Wichita General hospital dates back to 1914 when the city of Wichita Falls and Wichita county voted bonds for the erection and equipment of the institution. With the oil boom which struck North Texas, the facilities of the hospital became inadequate, and in November, 1926, additional bonds were voted to increase its capacity. The hospital is now value at $225,000 and is said to be one of the best equipped institutions in the entire southwest, with a capacity large enough for the needs of a city of 75,000 population.

The institution has a staff of 34 physicians, surgeons and specialists, with departments in medicine, surgery, obstetrics, eye, ear, nose and throat, baby specialists and others. The hospital is thoroughly modern and is endorsed by the American College of Surgeons as a standardized hospital. Equipment includes three operating rooms, two for major and one for minor operations, an obstetrical department and a nursery. The hospital has an accredited school of nursing and offers an interneship for medical graduates.

Besides attending those who pay for services at the hospital, the same service is given by the institution to the poor of the city without remuneration. Each physician on the staff is on call four months out of every year for care of free patients at the hospital, with two on call for each class of service of all times. Patients in all walks of life are cared for every day at the institution.

Memphis Woman Hurt in Collision

MEMPHIS, Texas, May 11.—Mrs. Angus Huckaby was painfully injured Thursday evening when their car, being driven by Mr. Huckaby, was run into on highway five, just this side of Hedley. Mrs. Huckaby sustained two large wounds, one above the right eye and one above the left, which required several stitches. Neither Mr. Huckaby nor their baby were injured. A wrecker from Memphis brought the Huckaby car into town, the other car being taken to Hedley. Mrs. Huckaby is reported resting well today and her injuries are not thought to be serious.

SERVICES FOR AUTO VICTIM

Thrift Boy Dies Here Of Injuries

Funeral services for Bernard Williamson, 17, of Thrift, who died in a Wichita Falls hospital Friday morning at 2:15 o'clock as a result of injuries sustained when struck by an automobile near Burkburnett, were held at 3 o'clock Friday afternoon from the Thrift Baptist church with the Rev. Joe Miller, pastor, officiating. Burial was in the Burkburnett cemetery.

Pallbearers were selected from the freshman class of the Fairview high school, of which the boy was a member. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Rufus Williamson.

The fatal accident occurred Wednesday afternoon while he was returning from school. Near his home he jumped from a truck loaded with pipe into the path of a car driven by G. E. Cauthorn. A fractured skull, wrist and jaw-bone was sustained. Mr. Cauthorn took the boy to Burkburnett where first aid treatment was administered, after which he was taken to the Wichita General hospital by a Burkburnett ambulance.

Mrs. Nichols Is Found Guilty

said, "How this man, who the defense has attempted to show was leaping at his wife with his arms outstretched when shot, could have fallen on his back, if facts were as the defense has said they were."

Mrs. Nichols had testified in court that her husband was leaping at her when she shot him, repudiating a signed statement to Mr. Spence that the man was leaning over a gas stove to light a cigaret when her first shots were fired.

Cedric Taylor, leading counsel for the defense, in his argument to the jury Thursday afternoon had cautioned the jurors against the "too fervid "desire of the state's attorneys for Mrs. Nichols' conviction.

Attorneys Sarcastic.

"I love Sam Spence," Mr. Taylor almost tearfully told them. "He knows—everybody knows I love him, but he is using his eloquence in this case to convict an innocent woman."

The uproar in the courtroom following this statement interrupted the attorney's argument for several minutes. Time after time Judge W. W. Cook rapped his gavel, calling for order.

Mr. Taylor brought another laugh when he asked the jury not to consider the eloquence of voice, but merely the facts in the case.

'What have I, a poor country boy, in the way of education to compete with the brilliant state's attorneys?" he asked.

"This poor uneducated country boy," Mr. Allred began his argument, "was practicing law in Wichita county while I was court stenographer. He pleads lack of education, and yet he quotes more poetry and more scriptures than Bill Shakespeare wrote."

All through the trial the defense and state's attorneys barked protests and flung personalties at opposing counsel.

About an hour after the jury had left the courtroom to consider the case they called upon the judge to furnish them with a copy of the statement taken from Mrs. Nichols by Mr. Spence. At 6:30 o'clock they were taken to dinner, returning to the jury room and resuming deliberations 30 minutes later.

ALTUS HOST TO OKLA. EDITORS

Newspaper Folk Gather At Jackson Capital

ALTUS, Okla., May 11.—Approximately 150 newspaper men and women of Oklahoma and panhandle of Texas had registered for the 37th annual convention of the Oklahoma Press association here Friday when the convention opened its two-day session.

Employing of a field manager for Oklahoma, publication of the state laws pertaining to the newspapers, placing the Editors club house at Medicine park on a sound financial basis, and co-operation with the University of Oklahoma school of journalism through its investigating committee were outlined as the four major accomplishments of the association during the past year in C. S. Storms' presidential address Friday morning. Storms is editor of the Wauriks News-Democrat.

Two Towns Bid

Bids for the 1929 convention of the association will be made by Guthrie and Ardmore, according to early indications in the convention with Ardmore seemingly having the greater strength. Jim Biggerstaff, publisher of the Wagoner Record-Democrat, is slated to succeed C. S. Storms as president of the association upon election of officers Saturday morning.

GREAT RESULTS FROM COMPOUND

Brainerd, Minn.—"I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in a newspaper and I have got great results from its tonic action at the Change of Life. Before I took it I was nervous and at times I was too weak to do my housework. I was this way about a year. But now I do all my housework and do chores outside also. I must say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done wonders for me and no woman should be without it. I sure can speak a good word for it."—Mrs. Jim Smith, R. R. 7, Brainerd, Minnesota.

Ramblin'

with Marie Theresa

A CLEVER columnist in a newspaper of the state maintains that the present accepted idea of masculine proposing and feminine coyness in evading at the same time leadin' 'em on, is all wrong.

She says it puts this question of marriage on the same basis as fishing. While this column doesn't know a great deal about the problem of matrimony, still, it seems that fishing is a pretty tame occupation, comparatively speaking.

MUSSOLINI, Italy's all powreful Duce, is after all a mere youth. He possesses two frisky pets, kittens, that he likes so well that recently he posed them in his bedroom slippers and had a photo snapped of 'em. Pretty stiff job to fill Mussy's shoes, don't you think?

Remember, Mussolini said that Mount Vesuvius had begun to erupt again, because he would tolerate no laziness on the peninsula.

THE office wit must have his fun. Today he extended his hand as a Western Union messenger boy entered the Times office and inquired "Douglas Fairbanks?" The lad looked at the telegram with a puzzled expression on his face and answered, "No, it's for the Times." Reminds me of the sweet young thing who came to the city to work in the office of an oil man. She announced to her employer one day that Mr. Morgan wanted to see him. "Is it J. P. Morgan?" he asked facetiously.

"I don't know, but I'll go ask him," the girl responded as she edged toward the door.

STUNDENTS at Brigham Young university, Ogden, Utah, cut the Gordian knot between choosing a blonde, a red haired, and a brunette beauty. This tangle about external coloring has always amused me. There should be easier ways for choosing the appropriate beauty other than resorting to a war of chemistry.

SOME women can afford to be different while a great number must conform with accepted ideas and customs in order to "get by."

Four young women have occupied the attention of the public for a few days past just because they dare to digress from the beaten path. One is Miss Myrtle Dillingham, an 18-year-old girl from Ponca City, Okla., who is interested in sports, but has never been to a dance, never taken a puff at a cigaret and never has been to a picture show. Your comment might be. "Well, why be young and good looking?" but my idea is that judging from her photograph, she can get away with even that large number of "thou shalt nots."

Another miss is Miss Margaret Barton of Butler, Pa., who has made a success of writing letters for others, and will get results from writing business, sweetheart and even letters from son at school requesting Dad's financial aid in a pinch. She is ably assisted by Miss Margaret Laun of Milwaukee. And you should see the ladies. They could succeed at occupation even less lucrative than that.

The fourth is the 17-year-old girl who has taken up plumbing as her life work because she wants to work with her hands. She says that too many women miss the vim and vigor that comes from doing manual things. And after seeing her picture reproduced in a national newspaper, I s'pose she won't be doing wholesale plumbing long.

Members of Friday Literary Club End Year With Luncheon

The season's program for the Friday Literary club was brought to an end Friday with a four-course luncheon at the Woman's Forum. The luncheon table was attractively decorated in a color scheme of yellow and pink, yellow tapers in crystal holders and larkspur in blue and pink forming the motif.

The program included informal numbers and a business meeting during which routine business was taken up. The club adjourned until September 28.

Members present were: Mesdames D. K. Bell, H. S. Davis, J. Will Gray, Herbert Gray, Frances Hansen, Harvey Harris, R. H. Hughes, Thelbert Martin, W. A. McCarty, Durward McDonald, J. J. Thomas, W. B. Whiting, J. C. Whittenberg, Travis A. Baker, J. E. Canatser, and J. E. Zihlman.

The person who doubts Miss Bruton's popularity need only take a look into the lobby of the William-Mary hotel just about any time in the day. Jean keeps 'em busy doing favors, and she grants 'em, too. Of all all the young ladies who make their home at the hotel, she is by far the most popular and most profusely entertained.

The pretty baby has blue eyes and curls—too bad you can't see 'em in the picture. She can say almost anything she likes and generally does express herself. But she isn't spoiled yet.

Hoarded Gifts In White House Attic Burdens Spring Cleaning Problem

By ALFRED P. RECK
United Press Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, May 11. (UP)—Along with a million other households, the White House has its spring cleaning problem but the general renovation in the executive masion presents a more complicated situation for it probably will be the last one of the Coolidge administration.

In less than a year, unless present expectations are changed, Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge will have to move and they must devise some way of disposing of hundreds of gifts sent by admirers during the past five years.

Attic Crowded

In the attic—the White House also has an attic—are countless pictures, books, statues, canes, trinkets and odds and ends showered on the president and the first lady by admirers and publicity seekers.

It is said President Coolidge has received more gifts than any president since Roosevelt's time. Harding was given many during his short term of office—so many that it took Mrs. Harding several weeks to remove them from the White House—but the Coolidges have had a few years longer in the public eye.

Every desire the president expresses or every move he makes is followed by a shower of gifts. Scarcely a day passes but what a present of some kind is received at the White House.

When the president was quoted as saying he was going to spend some times whittling after his term of office was over, jack knives began to arrive in every mail. Whittling fans sent intricate samples of their own handicraft. When the news of the avalanche of jack knives became generally known, more than 20 written requests for every knife received showered in with the president's letters.

Breakfast Gifts

Reports of buckwheat and sausage breakfasts, to which members of congress were invited, brought donations of buckwheat flour and various brands of sausage meat in addition to gallons of maple syrup.

President Coolidge's fishing expeditions caused trick tackle and scores of artificial baits to flood the White House mail box.

The president's greeting to Charles A Lindbergh brought a regular deluge of Lindbergh pictures, statues and poems.

Every food show or fair of any size brings the prize winning fruit or edible to the White House.

When Mr. Coolidge started taking morning walks, numerous canes and walking sticks were received.

If the gifts are practical or can be used they are placed in the White House of the executive offices, otherwise they are relegated to the White House attic. Edibles, when received in great quantities, are distributed to Washington hospitals.

Old Custom

Animals, also, are numerous among the White House gifts. President and Mrs. Coolidge have received four dogs, a pigmy hippopotamus, a wallaby, a pair of lions, a duikar and two racoons.

With the exception of the dogs and raccoons, the animals were sent to the national zoo.

And all of this custom of sending unsolicited presents to the occupant of the White House originated in the early days of American independence when the king of Spain sent the president of the United States a jackass.

SAYS INCREASED STRENGTH FOLLOWED USE OF CARDUI

"I have found Cardui to be a fine medicine," says Mrs. Ida E. Crawford, 1618 Charleston avenue, Huntington, W. Va. "After I took it, I was much better in health. My experience with the Cardui Home Treatment has extended over 29 years, and I have thoroughly tested its merits.

"My use of Cardui was followed by an increase of strength. Shortly after I was married, I was run-down and grew weak and thin. I was worried and did not seem to get on my feet.

"I had read of Cardui, and so I began to take it. My health soon began to build up, and I improved rapidly.

"From that day to the present, whenever I had felt in need of a tonic for weakness, or for run-down vitality, I have always returned to Cardui as a trusted friend.

"Two years ago, when I needed a tonic. I took Cardui for several months, and afterwards felt better than I had in a long time."

Cardui is a purely vegetable medicine, and may safely be taken by the most delicate young girl or feeble old lady. (K-28)

Dorothy Dix Articles Daily--Advice To Women

IT'S WIFE WHO DOES ADAPTING

Man Loves, Weds And Divorces Quickly

Advice to a Cynical Man Who Found Marital Unhappiness Within a Half Year—The Sporty Girl Who Intends to Stay "Wild" Until Marriage. Why Miss Twenty-two Should Not Be Family Goat.

Dear Miss Dix:—I tried to be careful in selecting a mate and thought I knew women. I loved, courted, married and am being divorced all in five months, although I tried to please my wife and show her that my life was an open book and everything aboveboard. I do not believe there is a woman living who would take a man as is, nor do I believe there are women who can or will adapt themselves to men. If I should again consider matrimony, I will take nothing and give less. I tried to be considerate, companionate and generous, but now I am fast developing into a hard-as-nails being. Can you show me where I am wrong?

A. B.

Answer: You are wrong, A. B., when you say there are no women who can or will adapt themselves to men. There are millions of them all about you, or else there would be practically universal divorce.

For in ninety-nine cases out of a hundred, if there is any adapting done in a family, it is the woman who does it. It is nearly always the wife who fits herself to the husband, not the husband to the wife. It is the wife who caters to the husband, who tries to please him and keep his fur rubbed the right way. It is the wife who cooks the dishes husband likes, who gum-shoes around the topics that are like a red flag to a bull to him; who sits at home, or goes out, as he prefers; who tries to cultivate the same tastes as his.

Haven't you seen women, married to high-tempered men, who spend their lives walking on eggs trying to keep from riling them? Haven't you seen married women, married to grouchy men, working like coal heavers trying to wheedle them out of their ill humor? Haven't you seen women, married to tightwads, who use up enough diplomacy to settle a Mexican revolution, or run the League of Nations on, trying to get the price of a dress out of them?

But you very rarely see a man who doesn't run roughshod over all of his wife's pet prejudices, or who tries to make himself over in order to please her. He is there. Just as he is. And she can take him or leave him as she likes. And if she don't like it, she can lump it.

But you are right in saying that there are not many women who can take a man as he is. Nor are there many women who can take a woman as she is. And that is the great trouble in matrimony. Both men and women delude themselves into the belief that they can change the man and woman they marry into something different. And it can't be done.

A woman will deliberately marry a man who drinks, because she believes that she can cure him of his thirst and make his as dry as the Volstead act. Or she will marry a lazy, good-for-nothing man who has never even supported himself, under the delusion that she can turn him into a go-getter. Or she will marry a philanderer thinking that she can blind him to every other woman except herself.

And then she torments the poor man to death about his intemperate habits, or nags him about his lack of energy, or faithlessness, which is certainly an unreasonable and unjust thing to do. For if she married him knowing of his weakness, she should certainly accept him as he is, with all his faults thick upon him.

And same way with men. Every day we see men marrying the beautiful but dumb, marrying the girls who are nothing but living fashion plates, marrying the gold-digger, and then bewailing themselves that their wives bore them, or that their wives are extravagant, or that their wives are cold and selfish.

But my friend, don't try marriage again until you are in a better frame of mind. We get out of marriage just what we put into it, and if you go into it giving neither love, nor pity, nor tenderness, you will get no happiness out of it.

DOROTHY DIX.

Dear Miss Dix.—You speak of girls who smoke and drink and pet as "wild" girls. I contradict you. I do all those things, yet I do not consider myself wild. A girl must do these things to get dates. Perhaps there are some fellows that don't demand those things, but they are the kind who take you on the street car to a show, or else expect you to sit home of an evening with them. Just as a fellow picks out a girl who knows how to dance and can stand a few drinks and is willing to pet, etc., for a good time, just so does a girl pick a fellow with the same idea in mind.

Naturally, if she intended to marry, she positively would not pick such a man. When I contemplate matrimony, I shall go looking for one of those fellows you call "nice." Then I shall cut out the booze, the smoking and late hours, and play square with him, and eventually settle down to a home and babies.

M. A. T. Z.

Answer:—Well, if drinking and smoking and petting do not make a girl a wild girl, what does? You tell me.

Doubtless you girls, who get dates at any cost, have your own deadline that you never intend to cross, but the trouble is that when a girl and boy are on a booze party, they get pie-eyed and cannot see clearly to tell how far they have gone.

In the old days before prohibition made drinking common among women, the test of a girl's character was whether she drank or not, because it was recognized that under the influence of liquor a girl would do things that she would not think of doing when she was sober. So it was said of a girl that she never touched drink, people believed the best of her, just as they believed the worst of her if she did.

I note that you say that when you get ready to marry you are not going to marry one of your playfellows who has spent his all on wine, women and song, and he been a pet hound, but one of the "nice" fellows who has saved his money and kept himself sober and decent, and who has got along in the world. But what makes you think that kind of a man will want to marry you?

A clean man wants for a wife and the mother of his children a woman who has kept herself pure and innocent. He isn't looking for damaged goods. He doesn't want the girl who has been manhandled, whose lips have been soiled with a thousand kisses, and who has nerves and a body wrecked by dissipation and bad booze.

Of course, plenty of girls marry men who have been rounders who promise to settle down and reform when they are married, but not many men yet, thank God, are willing to accept the double standard in marriage. Most men demand purity in their wives and it is a good thing for the race, because morality in women is a biological as well as a moral necessity.

DOROTH YDIX.

Dear Dorthy Dix:—Some six years ago my father died, leaving me the sole support of my mother and my five younger brothers and sisters. Up to now eveything I have made has gone to them, but recently a brother has started to help along. This is my problem: I have fallen in love with a splendid young man and we were counting on getting married, but my mother thinks I should stay at home and devote my entire time to her. She isn't even willing for me to go out once or twice a week with my friend. She says I neglect her. It it my duty to give up my entire life to my mother?

TROUBLE TWENTY-TWO.

Answer:—Certainly not. Your mother is utterly selfish and ungrateful to ask such a thing. Don't let her enslave you. Go on and marry your sweetheart and live your own life. As long as you support her and give her a reasonable amount of your time, that is all she has a right to ask. Make the other children go to work and do their part as soon as they are able to work. So many older sisters are made the family goat.

MODISH MITZI — By Jay V. Jay

The children are off together for the circus or the zoo or the latest dance floor. It's a relief to Mitzi and the Goofer. They don't have to feel guilty because they are good friends and not really dying of love for each other. Marie is so romantic—now she has a coat trimmed with black and white polka dot silk, drapery on the skirt and—

The bodice has a one-sided cape effect both fore and aft. Just above you can see her new black crepe coat trimmed with black and white polka dot silk. Her hat is black, too, with a facing of white. Her modernistic envelope carries out the color scheme. The Goofer is even more appreciative than usual of how entirely charming she appears.

Later on (how pleasant it is to have the children entertaining themselves!) Mitzi appears for tea in a broad brimmed hat of natural bakou bound in satin and trimmed with pads of speckled feathers. The brim has flat pleats on either side. They are both being very jolly and telling each other how nice it is not to be in love with each other.

Because, of course, Marie made them feel as though they ought to be in love with each other and of course they have decided long ago that they are not. Not really. And yet as they dance off together (Mitzi in a printed chiffon frock with a drape from one shoulder) we have our own suspicions. Was Marie really so wrong as they both say she was?

The crystal clear color tells how good it is

"You can tell how good anything is to eat, by its color" . . . A rule of thumb test perhaps, but what housewife doesn't instinctively apply it?

Certainly, it is one of the reasons why Wesson Oil has become such a general favorite for salad dressing. The crystal clear, pale straw color of it tells you instantly what it is—a notably pure and wholesome salad oil.

Indeed, Wesson Oil is made from the finest oil obtainable and refined until just the pure nourishing food part of it is left. It's so good to eat that you can use it plain, if you like, on salads or vegetables. . . And it is exquisitely delicate in flavor.

Of course, it makes quite the most delicious French Dressing imaginable. And blends perfectly with those other ingredients that go to make this delightful dressing so piquant an addition to your salads...

Incidentally, thousands of modern women are using Wesson Oil for frying and for baking. It's very convenient—and you can easily understand why it makes food taste better.

HATCHET BURIED.

Former Governor Oscar B. Colquitt and Former Lieutenant Governor Lynch Davidson have buried the hatchet. Colquitt's $350,000 libel suit against Lynch Davidson and others, growing out of alleged "Ferguson-Moody campaign utterances in 1926" was dismissed by agreement in a Dallas district court. There are no birds in last year's nest. Colquitt and Davidson were personal and political friends and members of the same religious denomination. Colquitt published a newspaper while the campaign was on and Davidson paid his respects to Colquitt from every platform in Texas where he could obtain a foothold. Colquitt is a vitrol thrower in heated campaigns and Davidson knows how to hurl ugly charges at his political opponents. This is presidential campaign year. Colquitt led the antis of Texas for many years and filled many offices. Then he turned ultra-pro and declared against the nomination of Al Smith. Davidson has been a pro from boyhood. He is one of the leaders of the harmony Democrats. He is apposed to the nomination of Smith, but if Smith is nominated he will vote the ticket straight. Why not hurl stink pots at Republican grafters and looters of the type of Fall and Sinclair and Daugherty and others of the tarred tribe? Moody gave the boys something to think about when he read the records of official servants of the people, high in office and high in the councils of the Republican party, who betrayed their trust.

LOOKING BACKWARD.

"Looking backward" is pleasant pastime. In the month of May, 1916, Boss Love and his lieutenants lit in the city of San Antonio. On the day before the convening of the state convention to send 40 delegates to St. Louis, they gave to the public prints their slate of delegates and announced that they would control the convention by a majority ranging all the way from 85 to 150. Let the record speak for itself. The opponents of Boss Love controlled the convention. They defeated every name on the Love delegate slate. They defeated Love for national committeeman and they named the late William Poindexter of Johnson county for the Texas place on the national committee. It never pays to count political chickens before they are hatched.

One by one, the seconds run;
The minutes slip away.

Too soon—a life is done.

One-Minute Sermon

And when the sixth hour was come, there was darkness over the whole land until the ninth hour. And at the ninth hour Jesus cried with a loud voice, saying My God, my God, why hast thou forsaken me?—St. Mark, xv, 34.

Sinner Among the Saints.

A KANSAS CITY dispatch carries the news that Rev. George A. Cooke of Wilmington, Delaware, in Kansas City in connection with the general conference of the Methodist church, said he lost approximately $200 when a pickpocket lifted his purse, which was taken in convention hall where the conference is meeting. The devil has his angels everywhere. But who would suspect a hard working and poorly paid preacher of carrying $200 in his pants pocket?

Port Arthur On the Map.

PORT ARTHUR is one of the fast growing cities of Texas. And now the war department has approved application of the Neches Canal company and the City of Port Arthur to build a dam with a pass canal to permit the passage of water craft across the Neches river, six and a quarter miles above Beaumont. Arthur Stillwell and John W. Gates knew what they were doing in the long ago. Men of vision, they saw in the future a great city, a great gulf port, a railway center as well as an industrial center with agricultural development in keeping with all the rest. Their dreams are coming true.

MAYOR JIMMIE WALKER of New York never gets away from the headlines and his face never disappears from the picture. Now it is said that he sold $48,000 worth of Stone Mountain coin emblems to swell the fund for the famous Stone Mountain monument to Robert E. Lee as well as all the heroes who battled and lost for the southern Confederacy. Furthermore, a grandson of the illustrious Christian soldier of the Confederacy, was named a member of Mayor Jimmie's personal staff. A very clever personage is this mayor of New York. Heflin of Alabama pays him this tribute, "He is as slippery as an eel." Yes, and he gets there just the same.

Nebraska Republicans in Doubt.

NEBRASKA Republicans in state convention assembled, gave indirect approval of the McNary-Haugen farm relief measure "but tempered its approval with the suggestion that a thorough trial of co-operative marketing be made before the principles involved in the McNary-Haugen bill are adopted." Nebraska Republicans are of the opinion that Herbert Hoover is to be their standard bearer. Well, Hoover does not believe in the principle of the McNary-Haugen bill. He stands with Coolidge. He is committed to the Coolidge policies. Practical politicians know the road to take.

Discouraging? No!

A WRITER in a current issue of Harper's Magazine waxes very bitter in a discussion of America's present spiritual and mental development.

The writer, an Englishwoman, declares that the great prosperity of the mass of American people is having a deadly effect on the country's literature. Newspapers and popular magazines, she asserts, have to cater to "the masses;" these masses do not want to read profound discussions of their civilization and do not care to have their faults pointed out; instead they insist on having their writers repeat the old platitudes and harmless truisms.

As a result, the magazine writer feels that our future is dark. Intelligence and freedom of thought are being smothered; candid criticism of the native scene is impossible, and all of our thinkers, having their mouths stuffed with gold, are being induced to say only what the unthinking public wants to hear.

This sounds rather discouraging. It is perfectly true that the level of prosperity is very high in this country; likewise, a writer who cares to cater to the whims of the semi-educated can roll in wealth.

Yet does that mean that we have no intelligent self-criticism in this country? Does it mean that a writer who wants to spend his time pointing out our faults can have no audience?

Not at all. On the contrary, there never has been a time when our literature—our books, our magazines and our newspapers—was so filled with articles discussing our defects and our shortcomings. If a man can grow rich by giving us mental soothing syrup, so can a Sinclair Lewis grow rich by furiously attacking our most revered institutions. H. L. Mencken has spent his life assailing the very class that the magazine writer believes stifles free discussion; and he is eminently plump and well fed.

Indeed, one of the surest ways to success in the literary world today is the pathway of criticism. If you can make a fortune by writing "honesty is the best policy," you can also make one by writing "America is a land of sap-heads." Never did the critic, the satirist, the iconoclast, have so wide an audience in this country as today.

There is no need to grow discouraged. Admittedly, this land is not the sort of place to which English writers are used. It is not a land where only an educated leisure class reads. It is a land in which the common man—which means you and I and the rest of us—is coming to power. Naturally, it is bewildering to many. But it isn't disheartening.

Texas-Oklahoma Press

THIS AND THAT IN POLITICS

The political pot is boiling over, it seems, in some localities. There is hardly a doubt but that Hoover will be the republican choice and many democrats will support him for they believe him to be a real man. Frank Lowden will be a fairly close second, it appears, with the republicans. The democrats have many runners in the field, but it appears that Smith will be nominated. Some few democrats believe that Smith will be elected. Many believe that he will have the empty honor of running at the head of the ticket, and that will be all.

SO HE ASKED HIS LAWYER

Some time ago the Illinois Bar association declared that "the subject of law reform is technical and the lawyers must deal with it, yet they do nothing, or are hopelessly divided." No less an authority than Chief Justice Taft condemned our present system of criminal procedure. A similar expression was made in a resolution of the American Bar association. Congress and state legislatures are dominated by lawyers; all laws are framed by lawyers, (many of them to be later, declared unconstitutional by other lawyers acting in the capacity of judges); all court procedure is established by lawyers—yet the highest authorities among them admit that they have made a sorry mess of it all. What is the remedy? We don't know. Ask a lawyer.

Chilled Avocado Cream: Select a medium sized avocado (alligator pear)—one that feels soft when pressed with the fingertips, but does not feel mushy. Peel it by stripping the skin off in small pieces, which leaves more of the green part. Mince the avocado fine and put on the ice until you have whipped (not too stiff) a half pint of cream which may be sweetened slightly with about two tablespoonfuls of maple syrup. Fold in the minced avocado, and about one third of a cup of chopped, toasted almonds. Pack the bowl in ice and salt for about an hour before serving in sherbert cups. Sufficient for six or eight persons, according to size of avocado.

Questions and Answers

Question—Mrs. L. H. writes: "I have been told that falling hair is caused by thyroid gland trouble. Is this correct?"

Answer—There is, no doubt, a close relationship between the growth of hair and the function of the thyroid gland. Those who have an insufficiency of the thyroid secretion usually become fat and have a poor growth of hair, while the thin person usually of the hyperthryroid type and has plenty of strong hair.

Question—V. K. writes: "Is uncooked plain bran good for curing constipation?"

Answer—The best bran to use is that contained in real wholewheat flour, where the bran is completely pulverized. The plain bran is liable to be "scratchy" and, although the intestines are excited by its irritation, the inevitable result will be only more constipation and colitis.

Question—Alice W. writes: "A blood specialist told me that I had pernicious anemia. I lost 25 pounds and was too weak to walk upstairs. Now after treatments and dieting, I am very much better and am gaining weight, but I still have a burning and tingling feeling in my hands and feet."

Answer—Your symptoms will disappear as soon as the anemia is entirely overcome. Your heart is probably not functioning properly, but will do so as soon as the new blood has time to strengthen it.

The Day Book of a New Yorker

By CLARK KINNAIRD.

NEW YORK, May 12.—Broadway is certainly no place to believe your eyes or ears. Motion picture companies hire crowds of extras to mill around the theater entrance the night a "super-special picture" opens, to give the impression of tremendous interest in the photoplay. And at least one company dresses some of the extras in clothes that may be torn easily, so that resultant rips and tears will arouse comment in passeraby. Word of mouth advertising of a picture is considered the best, and Mrs. McGoffey's report to a neighbor that she saw the sleeves torn off three persons at the opening of Sylvia Silly's new picture is supposed to be the most effective publicity.

Motion picture companies have also adopted a device of opera companies and employed claques to arouse the enthusiasm of opening night audiences. The handclapping is supposed to impress the critics, too!

There's nothing unusual about the revelation that waitresses in at least one Alice Foote MacDougall coffee shop are required to pay the proprietor $10 a week to hold their jobs, but you would think there was from the way local newspapers headlined the item. In scores of other places in New York the waitresses do not receive salaries, and are required to give the shop a percentage of the tips. In still others, the girls are paid salaries and are required to turn in all tips. In these places the girls wear pocketless dresses and are searched each evening for possible concealed caches of coins.

The tipping evil is at its worst in New York. Free spending visitors and spurging residents are responsible.

The difference between a New York tearoom and a restaurant is that in the tearoom a cup of tea costs 25 cents and is served by a waitress who expects a half dollar tip.

Incidentally, the coffee is better in the one-armed lunches frequented by taxi drivers and such than it is in the tiny coffee shops with Spanish names, where a cup of "java" costs 15 cents more, plus a tip. And in the latter place it takes half an hour longer to get it. The taxi men and other workers demand good coffee, and patronize the places that have it.

One of the strangest occupations in New York is that of cat-meat supply man. The cat-meat man makes the rounds of residential districts, giving bits of liver, catnip and other feline hors d'oeuvres to toms and tabbies of persons who pay him by the month for the service. The cats know the hours when the cat-meat men make their rounds, and are always awaiting them.

The height of something or other is achieved every time Elsie De Wolfe, the famous interior decorator, who is Lady Mendl, writes a check. One who professes to have witnessed the ceremony says that her checkbook is bound in rich leather, and is placed upon a rare Italian piece which, elevated as an altar, dominates her sanctum sanctorum. When she writes a check, she mounts the altar, draws on a pair of gloves which match in shade the checkbook, then gravely pens the document.

PHILO VANCE
JOHN F.-X. MARKHAM, District Attorney of New York county.
MARGARET ODELL, (THE "CANARY")
CHARLES CLEAVER, a man-about-town.
KENNETH SPOTSWOODE, manufacturer
LOUIS MANNIX, an importer

ERNEST HEATH, Sergeant of the Homicide Bureau.

THE STORY THUS FAR

The jewel case had been opened with a steel chisel after being battered with a poker. This leads Vance to the theory that the real murderer had not opened it, but someone after him, someone who was hiding in the closet when the murder was committed. That man, he thinks, was Skeel, whose fingerprints were found in the apartment of the strangled Margaret Odell. Markham ridicules the theory and Vance painstakingly explains his reasons for thinking the crime was not one of robbery but the work of a highly intelligent man who wanted the girl out of the way.

CHAPTER XXV.
(Wednesday, September 12; evening)

When Vance finished speaking there was a long silence.

Markham, impressed by the other's earnestness, sat in brown study. His ideas had been shaken. The theory of Skeel's guilt, to which he had clung from the moment of the identification of the finger-prints, had, it must be admitted, not entirely satisfied him, although he had been able to suggest no alternative.

Now Vance had categorically repudiated this theory and at the same time had advanced another which, despite its indefiniteness, had nevertheless taken into account all the physical points of the case; and Markham, at first antagonistic, had found himself, almost against his will, becoming more and more sympathetic to this new point of view.

"Damn it, Vance!" he said. "I'm not in the least convinced by your theatrical theory. And yet, I feel a curous undercurrent of plausibility in your analysis. . . . I wonder—"

He turned sharply, and scrutinized the other steadfastly for a moment.

"Look here! Have you any one in mind as the protagonist of the drama you've outlined?"

"'Pon my word, I haven't the slightest notion as to who killed the lady," Vance assured him. "But if you are ever to find the murderer, you must look for a shrewd, superior man with nerves of iron, who was in imminent danger of being irremediably ruined by the girl—a man of inherent cruelty and vindictiveness; a supreme egoist; a fatalist more or less; and—I'm inclined to believe—something of a madman."

"Mad!"

"Oh, not a lunatic—just a madman, a perfectly normal, logical, calculating madman—same as you and I and Van here. Only, our hobbies are harmless, d' ye see. This chap's mania is outside your preposterously revered law. That's why you're after him.

"If his aberration were stamp-collecting, or golf, you wouldn't give him a second thought. But his perfectly rational penchant for eliminating declassees ladies who bothered him fills you with horror: it's not your hobby. Consequently, you have a hot yearning to flay him alive."

"I'll admit," said Markham coolly, "that a homicidal mania is my idea of madness."

"But he didn't have a homicidal mania, Markham old thing. You miss all the fine distinctions in psychology. This man was annoyed by a certain person, and set to work, masterfully and reasonably, to do away with the source of his annoyance. And he did it with surpassin' cleverness.

"To be sure, his act was a bit grisly. But when, if ever, you get your hands on him, you'll be amazed to find out how normal he is. And able, too—oh, able no end."

Again Markham lapsed into a long, thoughtful silence. At last he spoke.

"The only trouble with your ingenious deductions is that they don't accord with the known circumstances of the case. And facts, my dear Vance, are still regarded by a few of our old-fashioned lawyers as more or less conclusive."

"Why this needless confession of your short-comings?" inquired Vance whimsically. Then, after a moment: "Let me have the facts which appear to you antagonistic to my deductions."

"Well, there are only four men of the type you describe who could have had any remote reason for murdering the Odell woman. Heath's scouts went into her history pretty thoroughly, and for over two years—that is, since her appearance in the 'Follies'—the only welcome ones at her apartment have been Mannix, Doctor Lindquist, Pop Cleaver, and, of course, Spotswoode. The Canary was a bit exclusive, it seems; and no other man got near enough to her even to be considered as a possible murderer."

"It appears, then, that you have a complete quartet to draw on." Vance's tone was apathetic. "What do you crave—a regiment?"

"No," answered Markham patiently. "I crave only one logical possibility. But Mannix was through with the girl over a year ago; Cleaver and Spotswoode both have water-tight alibis; and that leaves only Doctor Lindquist, whom I can't exactly picture as a strangler and burglar, despite his irascibility. Moreover, he, too, has an alibi; and it may be a genuine one."

Vance wagged his head.

"There's something positively pathetic about the childlike faith of the legal mind.

"It does cling to rationality at times, desn't it?" observed Markham.

"My dear fellow!" Vance rebuked him. "The presumption implied in that remark is most immodest. If you could distinguish between rationality and irrationality you wouldn't be a lawyer—you'd be a god. . . . No; you're going at this thing the wrong way. The real factors in the case are not what you call the known circumstances, but the unknown quantities—the human x's, so to speak—the personalities, or natures, of your quartet."

He lit a fresh cigaret, and lay back, closing his eyes.

"Tell me what you know of these four cavalieri serventi—you say Heath has turned in his report. Who were their mamas? What do they eat for breakfast? Are they susceptible to poison-ivy? . . . Let's have Spotswoode's dossier first. Do you know anything about him?"

"In a general way, returned Markham. "Old Puritan stock, I believe—governors, burgomasters, a few successful traders. All Yankee forebears—no intermixture. As a matter of fact, Spotswoode represents the oldest and hardiest of the New England aristocracy—although I imagine the so-called wine of the Puritans has become pretty well diluted by now. His affair with the Odell girl is hardly consonant with the older Puritans' mortification of the flesh."

"It's wholly consonant, though, with the psychological reactions which are apt to follow inhibitions produced by such mortifications," submitted Vance. "But what does he do? Whence cometh his lucre?"

"His father manufactured automobile accessories, made a fortune at it, and left the business to him. He tinkers at it, but not seriously, though I believe he has designed a few appurtenances."

"I do hope the hideous cut-glass olla for holding paper bouquets is not one of them. The man who invented that tonneau decoration is capable of any fiendish crime."

"It couldn't have been Spotswoode then," said Markham tolerantly, "for he certainly can't qualify as your potential strangler. We know the girl was alive after he left her, and that, during the time she was murdered, he was with Judge Redfern. . . . Even, you, friend Vance, couldn't manipulate those facts to the gentleman's disadvantage."

"On that, at least, we agree," conceded Vance. "And that's all you know of the gentleman?"

"I think that's all, except that he married a well-to-do woman—a daughter of a Southern senator, I believe."

"Doesn't help any. . . . And now, let's have Mannix's history."

Markham referred to a typewritten sheet of paper.

"Both parents immigrants—came over in the steerage. Original name Mannikiewicz, or something like that. Born on the East Side; learned the fur business in his father's retail shop in Hester street; worked for the Sanfrasco Cloak company, and got to be factory foreman.

"Saved his money, and sweetened the pot by manipulating real estate; then went into the fur business for himself, and steadily worked up to his present opulent state. Public school, and night commercial college. Married in 1900 and divorced a year later. Lives a gay life—helps support the night clubs, but never gets drunk. I suppose he comes under the head of a spender and wine-opener. Has invested some money in musical comedies, and always has a stage beauty in tow. Runs to blondes."

"Not very revealin'," sighed Vance. "The city is full of Mannixes. . . . What did you garner in connection with our medico?"

"The city has its quota of Doctor Lindquists, too, I fear. He was

Favorite Jokes of Famous People

As Told by Them to

FRANK ERNEST NICHOLSON

By CORINNE GRIFFITH

There is a certain Texas man who claims the distinction of having hired Corinne Griffith as his stenographer—and firing her the same day.

He claims that Corinne wasn't so hot when it came to doing a hunt-and pick act on the typewriter and he fired her just because the Orchid of the Screen transcribed eight out of eight telegrams wrong.

Be that as it may, he is still a one-horse business man, while Corinne is a movie star of the higher magnitude.

Corinne was born in Texarkana, Tex., where her education was begun. Soon her father, a physician, moved the family to Mineral Wells, Texas. Later, while Corinne was in a girls' school in New Orleans, her photograph was entered in a beauty contest, and Corinne was unanimously elected to be the Queen of the Mardi Gras.

A motion picture official saw her and suggested to Corinne that she take a fling in the galloping tintypes. Today Miss Griffith is included among the six most successful screen stars whose beauty is a by-word wherever pictures are shown.

She gets a laugh out of the following joke:

"'An old Hebrew was dying,' Miss Griffith began, 'so his family gathered at his bedside, and as the old man was breathing his last they asked him to tell them the names of the people who owed him money.

CORINNE GRIFFITH

"This he did, naming one by one about a dozen debtors.

"' Now, father,' said the son, as he bent over the old man, 'tell us the names of the people to whom you owe money.'

"The old Hebrew sighed. 'They should die and tell you,' he replied."

ELDRED AND JENKINS BAT SPUDDERS TO VICTORY IN TENTH

CHAMPS TAKE LEAGUE LEAD

Cvengros Hurls Great Ball To Defeat Bears, 3-1

SAN ANTONIO, May 11.—You take a ball club that has hitters, those fellows who are apt to clout in the well known clinch at any time, and there is a ball club. F'rinstance the Wichita Falls Spudders.

Thomas Jenkins and Brick Eldred smote two-base hits in the tenth inning today and the champions won the first game of the series from the Bears. The score was 3 to 1.

Mike Cvengros and Newman engaged in a pitchers' battle and the honors were all in favor of the mite southpaw of the Spudders. He held the Bears to five scattered hits and until the ninth not a local reached third base. The Spudders had tallied in the third and looked like winners until the ninth when the Bears tied the count, only to lose in the tenth.

Spuds Win in Tenth

The Spudders won in the tenth when Eldred, their new outfielder, doubled to center and scored on Jenkins' two base smack to left. Luciano bunted and Newman threw wild to first, Jenkins tallying.

Wichita Falls counted in the third after two were out. Turgeon swung at the third strike, a wild pitch and reached first before Meyers could recover the agate, apple or whatever one is pleased to call the ball. Fitzgerald walked. Eldred beat out a hit to deep short, filling the bases. Jenkins single to short left scored Turgeon. It thus will be inferred, and correctly, that Messrs. Jenkins and Eldred were very much in the ball game. Which they were. In fact, they accounted for all the Spudders' runs.

Bears Tie in Ninth

Najo saved the game in the ninth when he made a sensational snatch of Turgeon's drive against the fence. That is, he saved at least a two-base hit and probably a run. He got a big ovation when he came to bat and responded with a hit to deep short. Griffin sacrificed him to second. Grimes lifted to Fitzgerald but Najo respected Howard's riflelike arm and held second. Taylor rolled to Luciano but Joe pegged wild to first and Najo scored. Much rejoicing from the natives, which, however, was shortlived, the Spuds winning in the extra round, as narrated above.

The Spudders are leading the league, with a mathematical margin over the Houston Buffs, though virtually tied by the Snydermen for that honor. Anyhow, they lead. Fort Worth and San Antonio are one game behind the pace-setters in this hectic chase.

Hagen Captures British Open Golf

Walter's 292 Leads Sarazen Two Strokes

Special Cable

SANDWICH, Eng., May 11. (US)—After several lean years of cruel exile, Walter Hagen returned to his golfing throne today by winning the British open championship with a 72- hole score of 292. In the second place was Gene Sarazen, two strokes behind his traditional rival. Archie Compston, British star, who recently humiliated Hagen in a special 72- hole match by the score of 18 and 17, finished with a total of 295.

Two more Englishmen, Fred Robson and Percy Allis, tied for fourth position with 296, and next in order came Jim Barnes of the United States, Jose Jurado, of Argentina, and Aubrey Boomer, of England, with 301. Wild Bill Helhorn, the fourth American who survived for the final rounds, finished in sixth position with 302.

The four Americans were among the first nine finishers, and a margin of only 10 strokes separated Hagen and Melhorn It was a showing equal to any in the past five years, all of which have been American.

Jose Jurado, the little Argentinan who led the field yesterday with 145, a three-stroke margin over Hagen and Sarazen in second place, blew up today as had been predicted. He finished with a 76 and and 80, while Hagen was shooting two sparkling 72's, and Sarazen was nearly matching him with two rounds of 73.

Barnes also finished with a rush, recording the low score of the day, a 71, on his final round. But an opening round 81 on Wednesday had made his hope of winning almost fantastic. Melhorn was neither good nor bad today, his 76-77 being scarcely fast enough to compete with the brand of golf that always characterizes the final rounds of the British open.

Victorian Captures Rich Preakness Race

PIMLICO RACETRACK, Md., May 11. (US)—Victorian, owned by Harry Payne Whitney, won the $50,000 Preakness stake here this afternoon. Toro was second and Solace third.

The winner's time was two minutes and 1-5 of a second.

The winner, which was ridden by Workman, paid $20.70, $9.90 and $7.50.

Toro paid $22.70 and $14.20, and Solace $19.50.

HAGEN HONORED

Prince of Wales Gives Trophy for Winning British Open

SANDWICH, Eng., May 11. (INS)—The prince of Wales this afternoon presented Walter Hagen with the huge silver cup which the American golfer won with his score of 292 in the British open golf championship. Wales made an informal speech.

"We are getting rather jealous of this cup," he said. "We'd like to see it back in England."

"It would be a long story to tell how happy and how lucky I am to win it." Hagen replied.

Hagen touched the prince's arm and whispered something as he took the cup, and the prince smiled broadly.

Texas Aggies Loom as Threats In Conference Track and Field

AUSTIN, May 11. (AP)—Texas A. and M. college developed a serious bid for supremacy in the dash and hurdle event of Saturday's southwest conference track and field meet, in the qualifying heats run off at Texas university memorial stadium Friday.

Texas university, which has won the meet for five consecutive years, is depending on A. and M. college to so divide points in the running events with Rice institution of Houston, that Texas can cash in on its undisputed advantage in the field numbers.

The Aggies qualified 11 men, Rice 7, and Texas 8.

The fleet Bracy of Rice, who recently equalled the world's record in the 100-yard dash, equalled the conference record in the 220-yard dash with 21.6 seconds Friday.

AGGIES NINE WINS.

COLLEGE STATION, Texas, May 11. (AP)—The Aggies defeated the Southwestern University Pirates, 5 to 1, in the first of a two-game series here Friday.

DAILY DOPE

By LARRY DAILEY

MR. ALEC ROSS calls attention of this writer to his wrestling match Monday night at The Gym. Mr. Ross also calls attention to the fact that he has provided interesting, closely contested grappling for several months and that he is staging the feature of them all in his next show. Matty Matsuda, the Jap, is to defend the world junior welterweight championship belt against Gipsy Smith, the globe-trotting Englishman, in what Mr. Ross is pleased to view as "the battle of the season."

It is not clear by what process Matsuda became junior welterweight champion of the world. Nor is Mr. Ross exactly clear on that score. But Matsuda has a belt that says he is junior welterweight champion of the world. Therefore, to all intents and purposes, he IS junior welterweight champion of the world. Indeed, from what I hear of Matsuda, he is as good or better than any of the other junior welterweight champions of the world. He may be the best for all I know. I mean, I don't know anything about the junior welterweight wrestlers—or much about any wrestlers.

ANYHOW, OUR MR. ROSS says this is a junior welterweight titular match and as evidence of that fact Matsuda will defend his belt. I wonder if Matsuda would lose would he give the belt to Gipsy? But Mr. Ross is very serious about the championship angle of the match. They will weigh in at the junior welterweight limit of 140 pounds at ringside. This injects the championship angle without any doubt. Weighing-in is a very important matter and only occurs when a crown is at stake. So it IS a championship match, with a belt at stake and weighing-in called for in the "articles of agreement," with, as Mr. Ross asserts, the principals posting a weight forfeit of $150.

POSSIBLY I AM too skeptical about wrestling championships, though it occurs to me that such titles are about as numerous as swimming championships. But I reiterate that the evidence indicates Matsuda is as good, perhaps better than all the junior welterweights. Wichita Falls mat enthusiasts know him for what he is—a great wrestler, possessed of all championship attributes, such as a mastery of many holds, speed, cleverness and endurance. Smith, in two appearances here, established himself as a very capable exponent of ground and lofty tumbling. Meeting a man of his own poundage he will be enabled to used his strength and agility to good account. This is enough about wrestling. Perhaps it is too much.

DOMINANCE of American golfers over British experts of the royal and ancient game is maintained. Walter Hagen, in winning his third British open championship after two consecutive victories in that event by Bobby Jones confounds the British critics who predicted a triumph for one of their stars. Hagen was decisively beaten by Archie Compston, the runner-up in the British open, a few days ago. This was taken as an indication that "The Haig" is not the golfer he once was. But they failed to take into account various matters.

HAGEN HAD PLAYED little competitive golf this winter. He engaged in his match with Compston the day after arrival from New York. Of course Hagen was not "right" for his match with Compston. With the exception of Jones there is no golfer who can arise to the heights as Hagen. He is at his best under fire—debonair, of flawless golf temperament, and well-nigh invincible.

Cards Get Philly Catcher Wilson

Homer Peel Included In Deal for Receiver

ST. LOUIS, May 11. (AP)—The St. Louis Cardinals today obtained Jimmy Wilson, veteran Phillie catcher, in a trade for several minor league players. Wilson will replace Bob O'Farrell, traded to the Giants yesterday.

The trade was announced after the second inning of today's game with the Phillies. Wilson, who was catching, immediately changed uniforms and went to the Cardinal bench.

In exchange for Wilson, the Cardinals gave up Virgil Davis, catcher. They also transfer their option on Homer Peel of Houston to the Phils, the transfer to be completed at the close of the season.

As another part of the deal, Donald Hurst, first sacker for the Rochester club, another Cardinal farm, will go to the Phils immediately, in exchange for Pitcher Decatur and First Baseman Kelley of the Philadelphia club.

Public Golf Course Links Get Dressing

VISIT WICHITA GENERAL HOSPITAL

Today, National Hospital Day, May 12

EVERYBODY WELCOME TODAY

FROM 2:00 UNTIL 9:00 O'CLOCK P. M.

WHAT IS HOSPITAL DAY?

May 12th has been designated since 1921 as National Hospital Day. It is a day for open house, when the institution's doors are thrown open to the public. It is an occasion for public investigation of the facilities and the activities, the aims and ideals, and the problems and needs of the hospital.

For the hospital considers itself not an institution set up entirely for private purposes. It feels itself a community asset deserving of community support and encouragement. Therefore, a special day, National Hospital Day, has been set aside when people may learn at first hand what the hospital is doing and how it does it.

Wichita General Hospital Now in Fourteenth Year of Service to This City and Wichita County

February 15, 1914, the city of Wichita Falls and Wichita county voted $50,000 to build the Wichita General Hospital. For some time the facilities were adequate for the demands made by the public, but with the coming of the oil boom and the influx of thousands of people, and the general development of the city and county, the hospital became too small to serve the numerous patients who came to the hospital for relief.

In November, 1926, the city and county in a bond issue voted additional money, and more than doubled the capacity of the hospital. The Wichita General Hospital is now valued at approximately $225,000. It is declared by physicians and others who are familiar with such institutions to be one of the best equipped institutions, and most modern in the southwest and is sufficiently large to meet the needs of a city of 75,000 population.

There are many special features of the institution which have been the cause of comment from visitors, who are loud in their praise of the well equipped operating room. Physicians of the city and county pronounce the Wichita General Hospital one of the best in the southwest.

County and City Have Standardized Hospital

The Wichita General Hospital is a Standardized Hospital approved by the American College of Surgeons. It is due to its excellent laboratory and X-ray facilities that it is given their indorsement.

The hospital and its staff of thirty doctors is adhering to the principles of hospital standardization, as laid down by the American College of Surgeons.

The hospital functions under a Board of Managers, who are responsible for the formulation of all policies of administration. They have a vision of service community wide.

The General Hospital is a teaching institution, with an accredited school of nursing. It also offers an internship for the young medical graduate.

The hospital cares for patients from all walks of life, and its aim and ideal is scientific service to all.

There are three operating rooms, two for major and one for minor operations. The operating rooms are well equipped; there are between one hundred twenty and one hundred thirty operations every month.

The obstetrical department is on the top floor. It has bright, sunny rooms, and the nursery on the same floor has ten baby beds. The department has modern equipment, electrical breast pump, etc. The method of identification used is the stamping of the baby's footprint on the birth certificate at the time of the birth.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, May 11. (AP)—Apprehensions of unfavorable weather developments in the South seemed responsible for an advance of about 40 points from an opening decline in the cotton market today. July contracts sold up from 21.11 to 21.51, and closed at 21.33. The final tone of the market was easy under realizing, but last prices showed net advances to 7 to 13 points.

The market opened steady at a decline of 2 to 13 points and sold about 13 to 16 points net lower in early trading under liquidation, combined with local and Southern selling. These offerings were promoted by relatively easy Liverpool cables and reports of showers in West Texas. There was some trade buying at the decline, howver, and the market firmed up later on covering or rebuying by early sellers with a renewal of support from local and commission house interest.

Prospects that the western belt showers would work eastward, accompanied by lower temperatures, were a factor on the advance which carried prices up to 21.74 for May and 21.50 for October in late trading, or about 26 to 30 points net higher. The close showed reactions of 15 or 20 points from the best under profit taking.

Private cables reported liquidation and continental selling in the Liverpool market owing to reports of rains in Texas, but said there was an improved demand for cotton cloth from South Africa.

Exports today 26,020, making 6,648,827 so far this season. Port receipts today 18,524. U. S. port receipts 1,421,911.

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, La., May 11. (AP)—Cotton rallied over $2 a bale on the market here today following an earlier decline of from 11 to 12 points on poor cables, but in subsequent trading eased off and closed with a net gain of only 12 to 15 points. The general market closed steady.

Reports of beneficial rains in Texas supported the downward movement in the early trading that started with the arrival of Liverpool cables that were 11 to 13 points worse than due. July contracts sold at 20.84, a loss of 12 points from the previous close.

Promise of cooler weather and showers in the central and eastern sections of the belt caused the market to rally near midsession, July reaching 21.23, October 21.04, and December 20.99, 39 to 40 points above the lows and 27 to 29 points above the previous close.

The advance was supported by reports that a private authority soon would issue bullish consumption statistics. Some realizing was attracted at these figures, causing prices to sag 12 to 15 points. The market soon recovered on fears of rain in the central belt and new crop months made new highs with October at 21.06 and December at 21.00, 40 to 42 points above the early lows. July did not make a new high. The close was 13 to 16 points from the best.

Violent Hurricane In Hungary Takes Lives

LONDON, May 11. (UP)—More than 50 persons were injured and extensive damage was caused by a violent hurricane in Budapest yesterday, according to a dispatch to the Daily Mail. The wind reached a velocity of 80 miles an hour. Thousands of windows were shattered.

ANCIENT HISTORY

WASHINGTON, May 11. (UP)—Humans first lived on this continent 400,000 years ago according to Dr. Oliver P. Hay, paleontologist of the national museum.

The "Canary" Murder Case.

brought up in a small Middle West balliwick—French and Magyar extraction; took his M. D. from the Ohio State Medical, practiced in Chicago—some shady business there, but never convicted; came to Albany and got in on the X-ray-machine craze; invented a breast-pump and formed a stock company—made a small fortune out of it; went to Vienna for two years—"

"Ah, the Freudian motif!"

"—returned to New York, and opened a private sanitarium; charged outrageous prices, and thereby endeared himself to the new rich. Has been at the endearing process ever since. Was defendant in a breach-of-promise suit some years ago, but the case was settled out of court. He's not married."

"He wouldn't be," commented Vance. "Such gentry never are. . . . Interestin' summary, though—yes, decidedly interestin'. I'm tempted to develop a psychoneurosis and let Ambroise treat me. I do so want to know him better. And where—oh, where—was this egregious healer at the moment of our erring sister's demise? Ah, who can tell, my Markham: who knows—who knows?"

"In any event, I don't think he was murdering any one."

Grain

By THOMAS TEMPLE HOYNE
Universal Service

CHICAGO, May 11.—After selling off early the grains came back and closed generally higher, but the gains in western corn were small. Neither of these looked particularly promising on the bull side at the end, but Friday is often a startling day—usually an erratic one.

At the finish wheat was 3-8 to 1 better; corn was ¼ lower to ¼ higher; oats were up ⅝ to 1; rye was up 1¼ to 1½.

If wheat is strong and goes up early tomorrow it may be a dangerous market to follow on the buying side. The big ups and downs of late have been too severe, probably, to allow the market to get back to reasonable normalcy yet.

Corn was very weak early in today's session. On a break that carried the July future down to 106¼, the September down to 106½ and the May down to 103, there was heavy covering.

BRADSTREET'S REVIEW

NEW YORK, May 11. (AP)—Bradstreet's tomorrow will say:

The advent of better weather in some areas, particularly the north, northeast and northwest, has given a slight lift to retail trade buying and sentiment. Effects or memories of past spells of cold, rainy or unsettled weather are still present, however, hence a rather irregular trend of retail trade advices, which concededly good progress in crop work also has not entirely made up for. The past week stands out on the farms as one of little rain, the southwest, however, is an exception to this, and a continuance of good weather promises to make comparisons with a year ago, when flood troubles beset a large area in the west and south, tend to increasingly favor the current year. Wholesale and jobbing trade is naturally less active than is final distribution but, where weather has permitted, a fair volume of future business is coming to view.

The automotive industry has seemed to hold the leadership that was possessed by steel, but passed as buying in the latter trade has tended to lag.

Weekly bank clearings $12,222,488,000 an increase of 25.3 per cent, over last year.

Poultry and Produce In Marked Price Changes

Numerous week-end changes were made in produce prices Friday, especially in poultry and eggs. Spring chickens of various weights were put on the market, ranging from 23c to 30c in price for weights from 1 lb. to 2 lbs. The price of No. 1 turkeys were lowered from 20c to 18c, with eggs increasing from 21c to 22c per dozen and from $6.75 to $7.00 per crate.

New onions of the crystal wax and Bermuda varieties were lowered 50c per crate, crystal wax from $2.75 to $2.25 and Bermudas from $2.50 to $2.00.

Citrus fruits took a jump, both oranges and lemons increasing in price. The increase in the price of oranges has been more or less steady for some time. Lemons were changed from $7.50 per box to $8.50 and oranges from $6.00@8.00 to $7.00@8.50.

Steel In Strong Demand While Motors Lag and Oils Rally Appreciably With Richfield in Van

BY BROADAN WALL
Universal Service Financial Expert

NEW YORK, May 11. (US)—Maintenance of the rediscount rate at a 4 per cent level influenced new buying of stocks today, that increased in volume as the day progressed and closed most groups in new high ground.

General Motors did not benefit as much from the $2 extra dividend as many expected, but steel was taken in heavy volume again, while standard industrials were even stronger than in recent sessions. Missouri Pacific and Wabash were leaders in the rail group with the Van Sweringen stocks enjoying better demand also.

Richfield led a further rally in the oils, while Greene Cananea was the feature of the metal shares.

Easing in the call money market enhanced bullishness, for while the rate held at 5½ per cent throughout, there were quite large loans made on the outside at 5¼ per cent. Foreign exchange turned stronger with sterling and other European currencies closing near top levels. Cotton, wheat and other commodities moved higher as covering developed.

"Cutten stocks" held a leading place all day with Montgomery-Ward and Armour in the foreground. A special survey of the former was put out by a leading firm presenting a highly exuberant survey of earning power telling of the possibility of income jumping to the equivalent of over $50 a share on the present stock in the next eight years.

Armour's further advance reflected continued operations by the "Big Ten," as Chicago's leading operator and his associates are known. The tremendous turnover of late Thursday, it was stated, was due to participation in the operation by Cutten's associates, the stock changing hands in the open market.

Richfield registered a new high as it jumped to the forefront of the oils with activity credited to the same group that has been working in the shares for almost two months. There were private brokerage advices coincident with the activity that indicated the group interested had revised upwards their ideas as to earnings. Standard Oil of New York, however, continued to present the best picture in the oil group, moving quietly but steadily higher. From all accounts the gasoline sales of the company this quarter will run well above what is generally expected. Greene Cananea's sudden sky-rocketing followed advice from those associated in the former move that announcement would soon be forthcoming giving definite idea of the value of a new ore body.

BURKBURNETT

Special to The Record News.

BURKBURNETT, Texas, May 11.—On Monday afternoon Mrs. R. D. Owens entertained 40 odd boys and girls in honor of her daughter, Wynona Owens', tenth birthday.

The home was prettily decorated in pink and white streamers and roses.

The amusement program included games indoors and out and the "pinning of the donkey's tail" furnished the greatest fun; these were ended by the presentation of a prize to Bettie Jo Gilchrist in form of a box of candy. The frolics were directed by the mother, hostess, assisted by the honoree's teachers, Miss Mozelle Brothers and Miss Bertha Curley; also a friend, Mrs. Charles Kirsh.

There was a delicious service of pink and white brick cream and angel food cake served during the closing hour to the following guests: Edna Cropper, Rupert Frye, Kathleen Hennis, Margaret Boden, Harrison Gwinn, Dennis Key, Loreta Stacey, Bettie Jo Gilchrist, Tex Allen, Letha Fay Minnick, Joy Kifsh, Jacqueline Kirsh, Lois Philpy, Louie Anne January, Marvis Harvey, Marian Boden, R. G. Gwinn, Martha Kate Alexander, Maurine Goodwin, Jewel Mae Miller, Mansell Lee Watts, Helen Gloger, Snookie Gloger, Margaret Coats, Katie Mae Taylor, Elizabeth Conley, Marjetta Owens, Donald Roberts, Wayne Roberts, Guinn Brumley, Bobby Trask, Clifton Jones, Ned Jones, Billie Bob Williams, Lloyd Whitlock, Billy Dace, Bobbie Chamberlain, Virgie Lee Skipwith, Mildred Skipwith, Zearl Forest, Wayne Roberts and the little honoree, Wynona Owens. The latter was the recipient of many pretty little gifts from her admiring friends.

Mrs. Lottie Gleeson, formerly of this city, but for the past two years in Wyoming, is in Burkburnett for two weeks and enjoying a reunion with her mother, Mrs. F. M. Sanders, other relatives and friends, all of whom are pleased to see this popular young matron again.

Curb

Leading Issues on New York Market

NEW YORK, May 11. (AP)—Encouraged by easier call money rates and satisfied that the New York federal reserve rediscount rate is safe at the 4 per cent level for another week, the bulls resumed their activities in the curb market today. Scores of issues, particularly utilities and industrial specialties, went soaring to new high price records. Successive waves of profit taking failed to cause any major reactions.

American Gas & Electric was boosted to a new top at 184, allowed to slide to 178 and then shoved back to 182, up nearly 6 points. American Light & Traction, Electric Investors, Northern Ohio Power and Penn Ohio Edison also were lifted to new peaks. Electric Bond & Share, United Gas Improvement and [illegible] moved up 3 points or more.

Ford Motor of Canada soared 37 points to a new top at 630. Subsequently it dropped back to 600 and then recovered 12 points. Niles Bement Pond was lifted 20 points on a wave of buying officials of the company say they cannot explain, unless it be on expected big earnings by subsidiaries. It opened at 89, a new peak, slid down to 83, and then climbed back to 88⅝. The Aero Supply issues, Atlas Plywood, Bendix, DeForest, Radio, Galesburg Coulter Disc, Lehigh Coal & Navigation and Northwest Engineering also reached new peaks during the advance. Such issues as Bancitaly, Columbia Graphaphone, Todd Shipyard, Warner Brothers Pictures and others gained as much as 3 points.

Darby Petroleum, reaching a new top at 26½, led the oils upward.

NEW WELLS IN COLEMAN AREA

Conoco-Chaney Comes In Good Producer

COLEMAN, May 11.—Completion of two wells in Coleman county for a combined production of slightly more than 600 barrels, both of which extended previously discovered horizons substantially, featured a week here, but numerous new locations and acreage transfers predicted a quickened pulse in the development program during the summer months.

By far the largest most prolific well in the county was brought in during the week by the Continental Oil company-M. G. Cheney interests when the No. F-1 Overall, which is located in the R. H. Overall survey No. 66, encountered a shallow sand at 1,492 feet, gassing increasingly to 1,503 feet where the oil sand was topped, drilled to 1,507 feet where the well flowed initially 30 barrels hourly, later settling to 20 barrels per hour for the first 24-hour test. During the last 24 hours the well flowed naturally 410 barrels. Near the close of the week, one foot of sand was cored in the well to a total depth of 1,508 feet, but did not increase the flow perceptibly.

After the core test, the Continental et al started skidding the rig from the F-1 Overall to the location for the Continental Oil company et al No. 6 Overall which is 900 feet northeast of the new well. At the same time, surveyors were making the location for the No. 7 Overall approximately 900 feet southeast of the new well forming a triangle from the producer. More than one mile southwest of the No. F-1 Overall the same interests have production from the same horizon in the No. C-1 Overall which is pumping slightly more than 50 barrels daily. Same company's No. 1 Sealy and Smith which is located 150 feet from the east and south lines of 40-acre lease in section 13, G. H. & H. survey, block 1, just 525 feet west of the No. C-1 Overall is drilling below 600 feet and will likely top the new sand late next week.

W. J. GRISHAM-TEXAS
Grisham and Texas company No. 1 R. S. Taber, located in the Dallas county school lands, southwest Archer county, is drilling at a depth of 1328 feet.

PETROLEUM PRODUCERS
The Petroleum Producers company and associates have made location for a test to be drilled 756 feet east and south of northwest corner of Isaac Hughson survey, G. L. Jones land, south and east of the Panhandle Refining company's No. 1 Daugherty producer, in Jack county.

HINES-CARTER
Harry Hines and E. B. Lawson have abandoned as a dry hole at a total depth of 2440 feet their No. 1 Carter, located in section 35, block 6, H. T. C. R. R. survey, about three miles southeast of production in southeast Wilbarger county.

SIMMS OIL—J. CONNER
Simms Oil company No. 1 J. Conner is a new location made 150 feet north and 150 feet west of the southeast corner of the north 50 acres of the east 100 out of the northwest quarter of J. Tomlinson survey, abstract 452, Archer county.

MAKING 150 BARRELS DAILY
C. Kleiner and associates completed their No. 9 Langston in section 1490, T. E. L. survey in north Young county, as a 150-barreler from the sand at 561-85 feet.

BURTON-MARSHALL
C. P. Burton and associates will put down a test 150 feet north and 760 feet east of the southwest corner of section 3401, T. E. L. survey, Marshall lands, north Young county.

JACK COUNTY DEEP TEST
Standing with approximately 2000 feet of oil in the hole from a sand topped at 3350 feet, Carl Leidecker No. 1, located in the O. P. McKinsey survey, block 2, in west Jack county, may mean the uncovering of another producing horizon in this portion of the county. The well, which sometime ago picked up a good sand at 3300 feet which had the earmarks of a nice producer, had considerable trouble in landing pipe due to the caving of the hole. Later this was eased off and the hole deepened to the present depth. The new well is also located about three miles south of the Panhandle-Daugherty producer which is still producing 200 barrels from a sand at 2975 feet.

Young County Holds Second Rank in Texas

OLNEY, Texas, May 11.—Young county maintained its place as second in the state during the month of April in number of applications to drill, according to George W. Tilley, deputy supervisor of the oil and gas division of the Texas railroad commission for this district. During the month of April there were 75 applications to drill filed in the local office for wells in Young county. Winkler county led with 79 applicants.

During April Young county registered 34 producers. Archer county filed 61 applications in the month of April and Jack county nine, making a total of 149 applications to drill filed in this district.

WICHITA FILES BID FOR OPERA

Guarantors Ask Program Here Next Year

A reply as to whether Wichita Falls will have grand opera in 1929 is being awaited by Harry Hines, chairman of the grand opera committee, following the sending of a telegram to the Chicago Civic Grand Opera company Friday afternoon and the announcement at the business council luncheon Friday noon that the wire would be sent.

J. W. Chatham, traffic and industrial manager of the chamber, announced at the Friday noon meeting that the guarantors of the recent grand opera season had met Friday morning and decided to sign up the opera company for next season if it were possible before all the dates were taken.

Mr. Hines said Friday night that he expected some communication from the Chicago orgnaization Saturday.

The national conference on city planning at Dallas was discussed by Hubert Harrison, manager of the Wichita Falls Chamber of Commerce. Mr. Harrison told of present day tendencies to build buildings of average height instead of skyscrapers in order to decrease the traffic congestion wherever such a thing is possible as it is in Texas.

The city plan for Wichita Falls which was prepared a number of years ago but which was never put into use, and the legislation of the intervening years which has made its use possible was discussed by Mr. Harrison.

Mayor J. W. Akin advocated setting neighborhood stores the same distance back from the sidewalk as homes. W. S. Curlee said he believed the time has come to put a complete zoning ordinance into effect. Dr. J. W. Cantwell, superintendent of schools, said that one of the most important items in connection with city growth was to provide for future traffic handling in the city. The council adopted a resolution recommending that Wichita Falls adopt a zoning ordinance.

Next Friday's meeting of the council will be in charge of the Wichita Falls Safety council.

A 72-year-old woman was arrested for the second time in connection with seizure of alleged home brew by members of the constable's department in a raid conducted about 2 o'clock Friday afternoon on a residence in the outskirts of Wichita Falls.

Ordinarily on a second offense in connection with seizure of intoxicants charges are filed against the person. Out of deference to the age of the woman, however, she was allowed to plead guilty to charges of vagrancy and pay a small fine.

Four other persons were arrested and about 15 gallons of mash, several hundred empty bottles and a few dozen bottles of beer were seized in the raid. All persons arrested were fined on vagrancy charges.
