David Dallas, who is directing the feature, stated that all girls to appear in the style show held their final rehearsal at the theatre Thursday morning at 8:30 o'clock and that ladies in the prologue held their dress rehearsal at 1 o'clock Thursday.

"The event certainly offers a parade of the very latest fashions and styles," Mr. Dallas said, "and if for no other reason, it is well worth anyone's while to see the prologue. Both events are certainly an achievement and a tribute to the merchants of Wellington and the people of this county."

Gin Situation Is Topic Of Farmers Meeting Saturday

Childress Men Tell Of Co-Operative Gin History In Their City

Several Talks

F. O. Masten Makes Stirring Talk Favoring Farmer Ownership Of Gin

Farmers of Collingsworth County met Saturday in the courthouse to discuss the situation of the Farmers Co-Op Gin in Wellington. Judge C. A. Williams opened the major talks with an explanation of the legal steps that had already been taken to keep the gin running and while he admitted that the situation was still critical he predicted ultimate success in keeping the gin in the hands of Collingsworth County farmers.

Mr. Cox, manager of the Childress Co-Op gin recounted the history of that co-operative gin, which is now doing a thriving business. He explained that at one time the Childress Co-Op was in a condition that was just as critical as that of the Farmer's Co-Op Gin now is. He went on to tell of how the farmers in that county stuck together and pulled the gin out of the hole. With the result that last year the cooperative gin in Childress ginned over 10,000 bales of cotton.

Walter Watson, manager of the gin, made a forceful talk in which he discussed the present arrangement under which the gin was working. He also brought out the fact that patience was needed on the part of the customers as the office was handicapped in its operations by a lack of office supplies at the present time. He urged a continued and united support of the gin.

F. O. Masten, president, made a stirring talk in which he recounted the complete history of the gin during the past year. Frequent applause punctuated his address as he reiterated his deter-

Three of the four men working on the bubble tower when the explosion occurred were found charred beyond recognition. A fourth died soon after. Damage was estimated at $250,000. Arrows in the photo point to the two bodies.

Check Shows Youngsters Have Few Defects

Seventy - Nine Children Given Physical Examinations In Drive

With 79 six-year-old students examined during the P. T. A. Round-Up here, Mrs. R. H. Ball, president of the City Council P. T. A., said today that the event this year was more satisfactory than ever before in the history of the organization. Mrs. D. G. Ellis served as chairman of the movement and examinations were given by Dr. Jones, Dr. High and Dr. Orr.

"The greatest achievement from the Round-Up this year is the fact that the number of defects were smaller than ever before," Mrs. Ball stated. "Five children were found to be almost perfect and many others showed only slight defects. It was also encouraging to the organization to find that many of the children had already taken innoculations before the Round-Up, which shows that parents of this community are waking up to the fact that they can prevent the spread of disease in the schools.

"About 12 typhoid serums and 36 diphtheria serums were given during the round-up. Thirty-four children were examined at the West Ward School and 45 examined at the East Ward School. We wish to thank the doctors, the two ward school presidents and other persons who helped to make the Round-Up a success this year."

All - Star Team To Play Wheeler

At a meeting in the courthouse Monday night boys who plan to play on the Wellington All-Star football team chose Lester Benge as manager and named Glenn Anderson to negotiate with other towns for games.

The majority of the candidates were former stars on the high school eleven and the team is expected to make an effective bid for a victory over any team in this immediate section.

Postal Receipts Fall Off $472

Showing a decrease of $472.24, which was attributed largely to vacant boxes, fewer circulars and stamp sales for the past six months, Ernest Jackson, assistant postmaster, said today that the postal receipts for the City of Wellington were exactly that figure less than the receipts for the parallel six months in 1932.

The semi-annual report showed the first six months in 1933 to have receipts amounting to $6,166.23, as compared with receipts amounting to $6,634.47 for the first six months in 1932.

The quarter ending October 1, 1933, showed the Wellington office to have taken in $2,891.82, while the local office took in $3,274.41 during the first three months.

Receipts from permits during the first six months amounted to $98.19, while in the first six months of 1932, they amounted to $131.58.

Three Fires Here With Slight Loss

Prompt action on the part of the Wellington Fire Department Tuesday caused three fires to have little consequence and held the loss of property to a minimum.

Tuesday morning the fire trucks were rushed to Dallas Street, where a bale of cotton hauled by a farmer in a wagon, had ignited. The flame was put out immediately and not more than 10 pounds of cotton were lost in the fire.

Tuesday night at 7:30 the department answered a second call when grease on a cook stove at the Wellington Hotel ignited and smoke poured out through the windows. This fire was also of little consequence.

At about 12 o'clock Tuesday night, lint in a flume at the House Gin ignited and was also easily put out by the local department.

The three fires caused only a few dollars loss in property.

Need Few Pickers On Farms; Houses To Be Furnished

C. C. Bishop, head of the Wellington Re-Employment office, said today that there were at present places for 15 or 20 cotton pickers in this county.

"Farmers who need the pickers are interested in getting families to do their picking and can furnish houses for the families," Mr. Bishop said. "If there are any available families or pickers they can secure positions by registering at this office."

Fire Prevention Board Issues Statement As Campaign is Started To Decrease Fire Losses

Wellington will observe Fire Prevention Week with a city-wide inspection of all dwellings and business firms and an educational campaign that is designed to reach every citizen. The complete program will include talks by pastors, public officials and the distribution of printed Fire Prevention material to both the school children and the housewives. The Parent-Teacher Association and the American Legion as well as the Boy Scouts have been asked to co-operate in making the plan a success.

Firemen will inspect the residences of the city and leave material on how to avoid fires, and the city marshall will inspect the business section.

The Fire Prevention Board, headed by Judge E. H. Small, will be active in carrying out the details of the week's program. Other members of the board are J. E. Leggitt, E. D. Clay, B. F. Ford, Bura Handley and Paul Hardy. In an effort to carry out their plan of reducing the penalty that is now imposed on Wellington as a result of a bad fire record, the Fire Prevention Board has issued the following statement:

"Whether you go to an insurance office to pay premiums for fire insurance or not, you are nevertheless paying, just as you pay taxes although you may not necessarily go to a tax office or courthouse for that purpose.

"There is a saying that 'there is nothing certain but death and taxes, but it is also just about as certain—if you live in any kind of a dwelling—that some one is paying for the fire insurance to protect the money invested in that dwelling. The same is true of the store where you buy your food and clothing and of the factories where they are made. So, whether you are the landlord, the merchant or the manufacturer, or merely the tenant, the customer or the consumer, you pay the taxes and the insurance premiums because you pay the rent and the merchandise bill in which their cost has figured.

"Most people know that the cost of fire insurance is based on fire losses—but many of those who do not pay direct think the matter is not their concern; but it is. The cutting down of fire losses is the concern of everybody from the angle of direct financial interest to the moral angle of saving life and livelihood and this issue of 'Safeguarding America Against Fire,'

Officers Make 13 Arrests Here

Local peace officers spent a busy week end as 13 arrests were made here Friday and Saturday for minor offenses.

Saturday night Paul Hardy, city marshall, and G. N. Scruggs made six arrests on charges of gambling.

Sunday afternoon V. L. Williams, chief deputy and Ace Rainey, deputy, made five arrests for gambling. In addition to these arrests, Mr. Williams also made two arrests for drunkenness.

One of the arrests for drunkenness was a woman from Texola, Mr. Williams stated, and said that she was the first woman to be placed in the county in recent months. Her arrest followed complaints after she refused to get out of a car, which she had entered, and which was parked on the square.

MAKE REPAIRS NOW

Much could be done toward relieving the unemployment situation in this and every other community if all who are able to do so would have needed repairs made about their homes and other buildings now, instead of waiting until later.

Nearly every property owner could do some remodeling, renovating, painting and the like to his own advantage, at the same time giving temporary employment to those in need. This plan is being advocated by emergency committees all over the country as one of the most practical means of relieving the distressing situation which still exists .

The unemployed want work, not charity. The acceptance of outright charity lowers a man's self-respect, but he can work at any honorable task and still hold his head up. That is the idea which dominates the present nation-wide movement to make more jobs.

It is always good business to make needed repairs promptly, and a property owner today may have work done at an actual saving to himself, besides having the satisfaction of doing a worthy act in behalf of his less fortunate neighbor.

FOOD AND HEALTH

Popular ideas about food are a strange admixture of truth and fiction, according to a recent article by Dr. Lieb, an authority on diet. Particularly is this the case with respect to notions of what is good for people, or not good for them, under varying circumstances.

For example, bananas and nuts were long thought to be hard to digest, but if the bananas are ripe and the nuts are chewed sufficiently they are among the most easily digestible foods.

The prejudice against raw foods is also unwarranted it is said. Raw corn, wheat and other starches in moderate amounts are completely digested, while raw potatoes are 78 per cent digestible. The craving of some children for raw potatoes may be indulged to a reasonable extent without harm, and the same is true of raw cabbage and lettuce.

Drinking water during meals was long thought to be harmful to the digestion, but for normal persons it is now declared to be beneficial if sipped in between swallows of solid food.

Forcing children to eat spinach or other foods which they do not like is not good for them, as the feeling of repulsion which they experience hinders digestion.

While the doctor does not say so in so many words. it appears that a rather safe rule of diet is to eat what one likes, provided it does not produce any disagreeable after effects. And regardless of advice, that is what most of us insist on doing anyway.

HOME DANGERS

Figures compiled by one of the largest insurance companies show that accidents in and about homes cause 23,000 deaths and three million injuries in the United States every year. Of these deaths about 8,000 are caused by falls; 5,400 from burns, scalds and explosions; 3,600 from asphyxiation, and 2,000 from poisoning.

To avoid such accidents, the National Safety Council recommends the following precautions:

Have rugs on polished floors anchored or rubber-lined.

Keep stairways properly lighted, free of objects on which one might stumble, with treads and hand rails in good repair.

Keep sharp instruments, such as scissors, ice-picks, pins and needles out of reach of young children.

Have all medicines, washing powders, insecticides and other household articles containing poison properly labeled and kept in a safe place.

Keep all open fires screened, chimneys cleaned, and all heating apparatus in safe condition.

Never allow an automobile engine to run with the garage door closed.

Keep steps and sidewalks clear of snow and ice.

CHINESE MEDICINE

In a magazine article, James W. Bennett former American vice-consul in China, tells of some wonderful "medicines" concocted and dispensed by native Chinese.

He tells of a prosperous pharmacy in Hangchow which keeps a herd of deer, whose carcasses are converted into all-healing pills as needed. Powdered and moulded into pellets, various parts of the deer are prescribed for various diseases.

Fevers are treated by pills made from the hoof; those made from the antlers are said to give strength to the weak; those compounded from parts of the entire animal, including the hide, are guaranteed to cure any ailment under the sun.

Deer are not the only contributors to Chinese curative agencies. A gout remedy is prepared from bear paws; a preventive of leprosy is derived from the baked brains of a human infant; dessiated lizards, snakes and centipedes, mixed with honey, were highly recommended for internal disorders; the powdered heart of a tiger was said to give great courage to those who portook of it.

Most efficacious of all in this respect, however, were pills made from the heart of a daring bandit, advertised thus:

"The famous bandit Ah Tsong is no more. Should you not like to eat of the heart of the brigand Ah Tsong and henceforth fear no man? Come with surprising promptness, for only three of these pills are in existence."

The longest straight stretch of highway in the United States is on Route 5 west from Dunseith, N. D. This road has no curves in it for approximately 50 miles.

Writing up an amateur theatrical performance, an Oklahoma editor commended a neighbor for his "clever impersonation of a gentleman."

Several successful authors have admitted that they dislike to write. We have long suspected that a lot of them write out of pure cussedness.

Commodity prices are rising in Russia, also. Divorces, which were formerly, free, now cost 25 cents.

Another paradox is that it is easier to carry a mortgage than to lift it.

BEULAH MAKEY YATES
Says Every Modern Home Should Have a Telephone -- Because

It's Indispensible--

Beulah Makey Yates, nationally known cooking school expert stresses the necessity of a telephone in the home in the saving of time and taking advantage of food bargains.

In Case of Sickness or Fire nothing can take the place of the telephone, which has in many instances saved hundreds of dollars—and lives of those loved ones, which are valueless.

An Extension Kitchen Phone was also recommended as a time saver and money saver for the perfection of the "Happy Kitchen" home, which every housewife should strive to maintain.

For Miss Yates convenience a telephone has been installed in the cooking school kitchen.

IT COSTS SO LITTLE—A few cents a day will pay for this service, which will save you dollars in the end.

Roosevelt Tells Veterans Relief Costs To Be Low

Says Warriors Must Serve On Equal Footing With Other Citizens

CHICAGO,—President Roosevelt got the cheers of the men of the World War today as he told the American Legion Convention in plain words but with a friendly smile that the veterans must serve on equal footing with other citizens in regard to government relief .

Facing the soldiers of 1918 who felt the swing of the administration's economy axe in the drive to assure national credit, the President dramatically pointed his finger at them and backed up his program.

There were a couple of dramatic hushes in the triple tiered oval stadium as Mr. Roosevelt drove home his points but a ripple of applause swelled into cheers on each occasion.

The same generous reception awaited the smiling President at each turn during his hurried hours in this Midwest metropolis.

Visits Mayor's Grave

He motored through milling lanes of citizens from the stadium to A Century of Progress for luncheon and again in the bright sunshine out to the grave of Anton Cermack, late mayor of Chicago and victim of an assassin's bullet intended for the President in Miami last February.

Heavy details of secret service men and police guided him back to the La Salle Street Station late in the afternoon for the return journey to New York City.

Before detraining at 11 A. M., Mr. Roosevelt talked over the Cuban situation with Secretary Hull in Washington. There was no comment but his decision not to change plans here indicated his belief that things were in hand.

Member of Lgeion

Mr. Roosevelt, the second in command of the Navy during the World War, and a member of the Legion smiled broadly as he walked amid waves of applause to the speaker's stand.

He spoke with obvious feeling but nevertheless firm conviction as he told the vets that those who incurred disability after the war had no more right to government aid than others.

But he assured them that if any disabled veteran were unable to care for himself the government would give the necessary care just as it would other citizens in the same position.

Here is the administraton attitude on its relations with the veterans as outlined by Mr. Roosevelt.

Outlines Attitude

First—"The government has a responsibility for and towards those who suffered injury or contracted disease while serving in its defense."

Second—"The fact of wearing a uniform does not mean that he (the veteran) can demand and receive from his government a benefit which no other citizen receives. It does not mean that because a person served in the defense of his country, performed a basic obligation of citizenship, he should receive a pension from his government because of a disability innated, and not connected with that cured after his service had termiservice."

Third—"If the veteran has not the wherewithal to take care of himself, it is the duty of his community to take care of him and next the duty of his state. Only if under these circumstances his own community and his own state are unable, after reasonable effort, to care for him, then, and only, should the federal government offer him hospitalization and care and the government stands ready to do that."

To Increase Benefits

As for those men who were injured or disabled during actual war service and their dependents, the President said he hoped to increase their benefits.

And in conclusion, he summoned the veterans once more to the collors for the recovery battle and the preservation of national unity.

Two P. T. A. Divisions Begin Work Here Monday

The High and Junior High Parent-Teacher Organization began their year's work with their first monthly meeting held in the High School Auditorium, October 2.

Program Presented

Mrs. Andrew Colvin, one of the city's most talented music instructors, very graciously presented some of her pupils in a program for the entertainment of the group.

Business Meeting

The business meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. Pink Sullivan. She stated that starting and closing the business meeting on time should be one of the first objectives of a P. T. A., and that she hoped to establish this as a motto for this year's work.

Executive Council

To eliminate a lengthy business meeting, the routine business is taken care of by the executive committee. The executive committee has important work to do in each local association. A small group can talk over the details of projects and often prevent lengthy discussions at business meetings whic sometime proves tiresome to a big body. The committee submits a report at each regular meeting for the approval of the membership, and does not conduct business without such approval.

The Personnel of the executive committee of the High and Junior High P. T. A. consists of some of the most experienced and conscientious P. T. A. workers in Wellington. Several have served as presidents of the various P. T. A. units and all have held offices for the past five to ten years in different capacities.

The executive committee met in regular monthly session, September 18, in the office of Mr. Farrar. At this meeting the year's work was outlined. A goal of 200 members for this year was set for the membership drive.

The chairmen of all the standing committees told in detail of their plans for the year's work that comes under their special supervision. The committee decided not to put so much stress on "Standardization" but work more for the welfare of the local P. T. A. The committee voted to give $20.00 to the Junior High P. T. A. to buy playground equipment. They also voted to sponsor a school paper.

Over 300 New Members Join Dodsonville P. T. A.

The Dodsonville Parent-Teachers membership drive closed on last Friday night with an enrollment of 343 members for the ensuing year. The play, "The Red-Headed Stepchild," which concluded the drive and was presented by several patrons and teachers and sponsored by Miss Celia South and Mrs. W. F. Roberts, both teachers here, was attended by possibly one of the largest crowds ever to attend such an entertainment here. Practically every person, parent and pupil in the district were present at this play.

Mrs. H. P. Scott, Mrs. Fred Boyd, Mrs. Dink Abernethy and Miss Ruth Boarman, who were the very wealth and aristocratic city people were very artistic in their respective parts which show up the very plainess and crudeness of Miss Faye Allen who acted most perfectly the stepchild from a Montana Ranch. Mrs. Hugh Painter and Miss Martha Dixon also were very excellent in their parts as aristocrats and prude snobs concerning the very rudely appearing stepchild. Walter Fred Hill, who played the half-brothers part was very excellent and showed more than merely an amateur in stage arts. Raymond (Pete) White, the very smypathetic and considerate old dad was excellent. Jack Miller, the very dignified butler, played his part perfectly.

Next Friday night the first program of the Parent-Teachers Association to be presented by pupils and teachers will be given at the high school auditorium. This will make the beginning of a series of programs to be presented during the school year.

Central Texas Is Rich In Building Stone Deposits

AUSTIN, Texas—Development of a considerable industry devoted to building materials and other ornamental and monumental stones is in prospect for Central Texas, according to a preliminary survey of the area of older rocks in central Texas which has been completed recently by the Bureau of Economics Geology and Engnieering Research of the University of Texas. The investigation, which is far from being inexhaustive, embraced an area of about 4,000 square miles in the counties of Llano, Mason, Burnet, Gillispie, Blanco and San Saba. One hundred fifty localities, each one of which has the capability of becoming a commercially profitable quarry, were examined and sampled.

The investigation apparently has demonstrated that this area possesses a diversity of stone resources not known to be excelled anywhere on earth. No two of the 150 stones sampled are exactly alike, and there is no doubt that many other commercial stones can be found within the territory. The area has produced stone, principally granite, for the last 50 years, but there has been heretofore no realization of the real richness of its stone resources. One of the unexpected results of the survey has been the discovery of good quality blue-gray and gren-gray slates.

One advantage possessed by central Texas is its mild winters and small amount of rainfall, which permits quarrying operations almost throughout the year. An abundance of cheap Mexican and Negro labor is always available. The geographic situation is very favorable, the district being in the heart of a very large area, averagng about 250 miles from a deep harbor on the Gulf of Mexico and enjoying the advantage of part water 'ransportation into the heart of the Mississippi basin. Considerable Texas granite has been utilzed n New York city. An important market will develop ultimately within the state itself, in which the present per-capital consumption of structural materials is but one-fifth that of the United States as a whole. The supply of good quality lumber in Texas is now virtually exhausted.

PLANT FALL TURNIPS IN MIDLAND COUNTY

MIDLAND, Tex.—Farmers in this section are planting a larger acreage to fall turnips than in recent years, owing to timely rains at end of August and early this month and because of poor gardens, most of which dried up during the summer. A small acreage of late food will benefit from recent moisture. Pastures are slowly improving.

Wedding Bells Halt Girl's Effort To Enter Texas A. & M.

BRYAN, Texas, —Wedding Bells instead of school bells rang out, and today there was one less of a group of girls and young women storming the masculine gates of Texas A. & M. College.

Miss Evelyn Stanford was married yesterday to Dr. R. M. Searcy and was honeymooning today in New Orleans, with all thoughts of study at A. & M. or any other institution permanently. banished.

With eleven other would-be Aggie co-eds, Mrs. Searcy last week petitioned President T. O. Walton and the college board of directors for permission to nroll at the traditionally male college.

When the petition was denied the petitioners and their parents retained counsel and filed a mandamus suit in District Court here. Judge W. C. Davis will hear arguments in the case next Tuesday.

The petitioners include several young married women, most of whom want to attend A. & M. to complete work for degrees.

Sentiment among the 2,000 male students seemed to be divided.

"I'd like to see girls admitted," said M. F. Erwin, a senior from Charlotte, Texas. Erwin was calling on Miss Frances Locke, one of the petitioners, when a reporter arrived to get her views.

....Col. C. C. Todd, A. & M., '97, and former commandant cadets at the school, is not in accord with the sentiment of a large number of former students against making his Alma Mater coeducational.

Todd is counsel for the petitioning young women.

"Iam in high hopes that we shall be able to convince Judge Davis that the mandamus should be granted," said Todd.

SOLDIERS DRIFT IN SEA SIX DAYS WITHOUT FOOD

ST. THOMAS, Virgin Island.—Two United States soldiers serving with the coast artillery in the Canal Zone who were picked up 150 miles from Colon after they had drifted six days in a small open boat, were landed back here last week by the Dantzig motorship, Franz Clasen.

The men—Privates John J. Callahan of Lynn, Mass., and Solomon H. Churchill, New Haven, Conn.—were suffering from exposure and were sent to a hospital.

When they were picked up they were dressed in bathing suits. For six days they had been without food, and they were almost dead from exposure and thirst.

"an Experience I'LL NEVER FORGET"

NRA MEMBER U.S. WE DO OUR PART

Louise: "You know, Ruth, I use the car so much more than Joe does, so I've been buying the gas and oil. I thought Joe was spoofing me when he told me of the 'Hidden Quart' of Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil—that is, until last Wednesday night. He said it stayed up in your motor and never drained away, or something like that." Ruth: "What has that to do with your experience, Louise?" Louise: "Oh, a lot—it saved me at least from an embarrassing situation—one which might have been even dangerous, for it was a lonely road—miles from any place.

"Oh, of course, I could have stopped at another gas station, but the motor was behaving so splendidly and was not getting hot and I was so anxious to get home, I drove direct to my familiar Conoco station." Ruth: "Well, that is an experience and I'm very much impressed. I am going to have our car greased and change to winter grade oil tomorrow and I am going to try out your 'Hidden Quart' oil—especially since you say it is more economical in the long run. I'll probably never have your experience, but it's a comfort to know I'll have that protection."

CONOCO
at the sign of the Red Triangle

Full motor protection, especially in cold motor starting, can be found only in Conoco Germ Processed (Paraffin Base) Motor Oil because the penetrative oiliness, called "The Hidden Quart" stays up in your motor and never drains away. Costs a total of only one-fifth of a cent a mile.

We neither encourage "dry crankcase" experiments nor guarantee success under all conditions. But unsolicited letters from motorists, now in our files, tell of this and hundreds of other runs with empty crankcases but without damage to motors.

Instant Starting and Lightning Pickup can best be obtained with Conoco Bronze Gasoline, and without sacrifice of Long Mileage, Greater Power and Anti-Knock advantages. For cold weather starting it cannot be excelled—all the possible fuel needs of modern cars have been fulfilled at no increase in price.

It can be easily identified by its bronze color but you must be sure it is Conoco Bronze Gasoline for only in this way can its advantages of unusual performance and greater economy be obtained.

Childress Farmers Saved Their Gin--Will Collingsworth County Farmers Do Less?

A unified front has a last been developed on the part of the members of the Farmers CO-OP Gin and the cotton growers of Collingsworth County. The meeting in the court house last Saturday served to present a clear cut picture of the present situation and to outline the prospects of a profit in the future—PROVIDED WE STICK TOGETHER.

The picture in brief is this: The Childress CO-OP was at one time in a situation that was just as bad as the one the Farmer's CO-OP Gin of Collingsworth County is now in, but they stuck together. They pulled their gin out of the hole and last year they ginned over 10,000 bales of cotton and paid a handsome dividend. They are ginning cotton this year as fast as their gin can turn it out by careful ginning and are on their way to paying another. The same thing can be done in Collingsworth County.

The Goal is in sight. It is possible for the Farmers Co-Op to pay off its entire indebtedness this year if the farmers gin their cotton at the Farmer's Co-Op and will ask their neighbors to do the same thing.

The gin is still running and it will continue to run, but it has taken a terrific struggle to keep it running. If we can continue to operate as we have been operating for the past few weeks, victory is in sight and the Gin will belong to the farmers. No one can step in and tell us what we have to do and when we have to do it. Our gin can be run for the profit and the welfare of the entire community.

And if it continues to operate successfully, every cotton grower in Collingsworth County will profit by it. Every person who works for a salary will be better off for business and living conditions will be better if the ginning money is our own. The merchants will profit and the entire county will have a better foundation upon which to operate.

We ask and we ask now the immediate effort of every man who is interested in the welfare of the cotton growers of Collingsworth County in this effort to save this gin. It will take unified action and action now. And while we leave it up to you as to what your part is, we ask you to do that part now.

OUR HATS ARE OFF TO THAT FARMER WHO DROVE TWENTY FIVE MILES TO BRING US A BALE OF COTTON TO GIN

Keep in touch with the Government Classer on our grounds. He can give you first hand information regarding the 10 cents a pound loan on your cotton that the Government proposes to pay.

Ten Thousand Police After Mail Robbers

CHICAGO, Ill.—Ten thousand policemen, ordered not to restrain their trigger fingers, rombed the Chicago area last week for a sextet of desperadoes who executed an apparently profitless mail robbery and killed a policeman.

Authorities in adjacent states were asked to be on the alert for the machine gunners who waylaid two bank messengers and two guards in the financial district of the Loop, snatched two bags of mail, and sped away in an automobile from which belched a curtain of smoke.

Wrecking their automopile a short distance from the scene, they shot and killed one of two policemen who rushed up to investigate the crash, commandeered another car, and disappeared.

Following one of the welter of clues found in an automobile abandoned by the killers, police arrested for questioning Charles Phillips, owner of the garage where the machine was purchased.

Authorities held varying theories concerning the possible identity of the bandit group. Maps of the nation, smudged by fingerprints, about the Kansas City--Oklahoma region, were found in one of the abandoned automobiles. This induced Capt. Patrict Colins to the belief that the robbery was perpetrated by members of the Verne Miller-Harvey Bailey gang of Southwestern bandits.

Chief Schoemaker, however, said he thought the crime was committed by local gangsters.

A "mistaken enterprise," W. C. Lachman, assistant deputy governor of the Federal Reserve Bank, called it.

"One bag contained financial periodicals and newspapers, the other cancelled checks," he said. "The leader of the gang is probably hearing about it right now from his associates."

Maurice Fitzgerald, companion of Miles Cunningham, the slain policeman, escaped the blast of bullets from the bandits' guns by leaping behind a steel sing.

Oil Field Worker Goes On Job With Radium Needles

SAN ANTONIO. — Somewhere in South Texas Saturday, possibly in San Antonio, J. W. Boatwright, oil field worker, is going about his business with a radium needle worth $3,500 sticking in him.

Physicians at a Victoria hospital, where the needle was attached when Boatwright applied for treatment, fear that the patient doesn't know the needle is in him. It was applied, as usual, with a bandage, and is not visible.

Apparently unaware that the needle was in him and without knowledge of its value, Boatwright walked out of the hospital Friday night after the treatment had been administered. He had gone there for treatment from Refugio, where he worked in an oil field.

Because football may incapacitate them from public duties, policemen should not play the game, declares the chief constable of Berkshire, England.

Five Go On Trial For Plot To Burn German Reichstag

LEIPZIG, Ger.—Five men start a court fight for their lives Thursday when their trial opens on charges that they participated in the plot to burn the Reichstag in Berlin.

The defendants, who have been in jail, are:

Ernest Torgler, for many years member of the Communist Reichstag party.

Marinus Van Der Lubbe, 24, a Dutch stonemason.

Georgi Dimitroff, 51, a writer.

Blagoi Ropoff, 31, a student.

Wassil Taneff, 36, a shoemaker.

The last three are Bulgarians. Like Torgler, they admit being ardent Communists, but they deny they had anything to do with the fire at the Reichstag, which the Nazi authorities—violently opposed to Communism in any form—charge was Communist-inspired.

The international interest aroused in their trial was indicated by the fact that last week there were 122 newspaper correspondents in Leipzig, half of them representing papers abroad.

Diptheria Takes . . . 800 Texas Lives

AUSTIN, Texas—Texas lost over eight hundred of its children last year from one preventable cause. The cause responsible was diptheria. Dr. H. N. Barnett, Director, Bureau Child Hygiene, in commenting of this loss, said, " Diptheria could be practcally eliminated if parents would take their children to their family physician and have them immunized as soon after they reach six months of age as possible. Parents would not allow them to run the danger of of a moving car, so why will they allow them t orun the danger of contracting diptheria. This immunization should be done as soon as possible as the winter months are the ones in which the most deaths occur and it takes some time for immunity to occur."

Change Name Of Interscholastic League System

AUSTIN, Texas—The Interscholastic League Bureau of the University of Texas will hereafter be known as the Bureau of Public School Interests, according to T. H. Shelby, dean of the University Division of Extension. The change of name has been approved by the Board of Regents, and goes into effect immediately.

"The Interscholastic League Bureau" is a term that is not broad enough to cover the functions the Bureau and makes ineligible any pointed out and the bureau has frequently been confused with the University Interscholastic League itself. The bureau administers and directs the affars of the League but its scope is broader, since it also publishes bulletins on interscholastic relations and competitions, and also issues the Interscholastic Leaguer, a monthly newspaper devoted to League news.

DRUDGERY IN THE HOME

Although much progress has been made in improving the American home, millions of women still lack the equipment that would lessen their drudgery and at the same time effect savings which would soon repay the outlay.

For example, a national survey reveals that only two out of every five wired homes have washing machines. Only one-sixth of all out farm homes have no washer of any kind. Almost half the washers in use everywhere are declared to be obsolete, and should be replaced with the more convenient and economical ones now available.

Women are awakening to the situation, however, according to J. R. Bohnen of Chicago, secretary of the American washing machine manufacturer's association, who is quoted as saying that never before has he received so many requests for the organization s bulletins on money and time saving in household washing methods.

Perhaps the women are realizing that many husbands who demand the most modern equipment for their business and industrial establishments are neglectful in providing similar advantages for the home. Certainly the home-keepers should get a better break than most of them are getting in this respect.

COACH DOG SLOW THINKER

The head of the coach dog is broad through from ear to ear, which is indicative of strong bodily forces, is always slow in developing the super or judgment areas. This type of brain thinks slowly, is ponderous in its processes and results in the type that is indecisive and overcautious. It seems hard for them to center enough energy to drive through to a conclusion. They have a love of ease and incline to accept what is told them rather than to think for themselves.

BLUE MOON

Although the moon appears in all shades from white through yellow to orange and red, there is no record of it ever appearing blue. The expression "once in a blue moon," therefore means, "never," or "hardly ever."

Homer Jacob, manager of the meat department, also extended his thanks to the people of this county for the manner in which they received the new store and stated that hot, cooked meats; baked ham, and salads were available at all times through their market division. He also stressed the fact that the store would carry only the best of meats and stated that the dispensing system used in their meat department was of the most modern and sanitary types available.

Mr. Hale also announces that he has arranged for the lots back of the Furr Store to be cleared off. They will be used as a free parking space and customers are invited to make use of it.

mination to keep the gin in the hands of the farmers. He recounted the efforts that had been made to foreclose on the gin since last spring and explained how each move had been counteracted. He explained that he had had the opportunity of buying the gin at a bargain price, but that he did not want it as he considered it much more important if it remained in the hands of the farmers. He closed his spirited talk with an offer to buy five fat steers and pitch a big farmers barbecue if they would stick together and continue the present pace for the next five weeks.

Fire Prevention--

will help guide the way for you to participate actively in national fire prevention work being headed by the President.

"Let's do our share."

Mayor's Proclamation

The destruction of property by fire in America has steadily increased until the annual loss now is approximately 500 million dollars.

Those hundreds of millions of dollars have gone beyond reclaim; the money has been worse than wasted.

But more significant than the national loss is the fact that Wellington now has a fiften per cent penalty due to a bad fire record whereas a good fire record would entitle the town to a fifteen per cent credit making a total saving of thirty per cent to the people who insure their property in Wellington.

Nearly all of this could be avoided if greater care were taken in constructing buildings, if litter and rubbish were removed from homes and places of business and premises in connection therewith, if children and grown people were thoroughly educated in handling fire and taught the importance of extreme carefulness.

NOW THEREFORE I, Deskins Wells, Mayor of the City of Wellington, Texas, in cooperation with the nation-wide movement for the elimination of preventable fire waste, do hereby designate Otc. 8th to 14th, 1933, as Fire Prevention Week in this City.

On those days let our civic and commercial organizations, school officers and teachers, and our people as a whole, arrange meetings and exercise for the study of our fire problems, as well as to impress the seriousness of the wastage caused by fire, and the need for utmost care for the protection of life and property. During Fire Prevention Week let a complete inspection be conducted of the entire city for the purpose of locating and removing fire dangers, and let us thereafter, individually and collectively, make the prevention of fire a part of our daily routine.

Witness my hand officially and the seal of said City Attested by the City Secretary this the 3rd day of Oct., A. D. 1933.

Deskins Wells,
Mayor City of Wellington.

Attest: Jack Knight City Secretary.
