Lane Slaps Daniel

AUSTIN (AP) — Sen. Wardlow Lane charged today that Gov. Price Daniel is impeding passage of a tax bill by loading it down with such controversial issues as liquor and the lobby.

The Senate sponsor of revised House bill 334 told a citizens tax group that the only way to pass a needed revenue measure is to strip it of such "side issues" as those he said Daniel is raising in his reports to the people.

CRITICIZED

Lane sharply criticized Daniel by name several times in his appearance before a subcommittee of the governor's panel of 19 citizens named to make a recommendation to the Legislature by July 10 on a revenue plan to solve the state's money problems.

Lane said the "more politicing you do, like bringing in the question of a tax on the long line natural gas carriers and liquor, the farther you get from solving the state's fiscal problem."

HITS COMMITTEE

Lane also accused the Senate State Affairs Committee i which he quoted the governor as saying that all of Texas money problems would be solved if the Leislature adopted four of Louisiana's revenue measures. Lane said the governor later in the same committee meeting said he hoped Lane would not take him too seriously in these suggestions.

Lane said that his procedure made it difficult for the committee to know exactly what the governor did want. Lane also criticized the governor for raising the lobby issue. He said the governor in one of his speeches emphasized the fact that lobbyists were calling members of the Legislature into conferences while tax debate was in progress.

GOVERNOR

The governor followed this practice himself, Lane said, adding that to his knowledge Sens. Preston Smith, Martin Dies Jr., and Neveille Colson had been called out of the Senate chamber by the governor. Lane added that those senators were among those that he was counting on for support of House bill 334.

Lane said he thought House bill 334—which was defeated on the final night of the regular session by the margin of House Speaker James Turman's tie-setting vote "is a good bill if you have to have a sales tax and it looks like we must."

FIRST

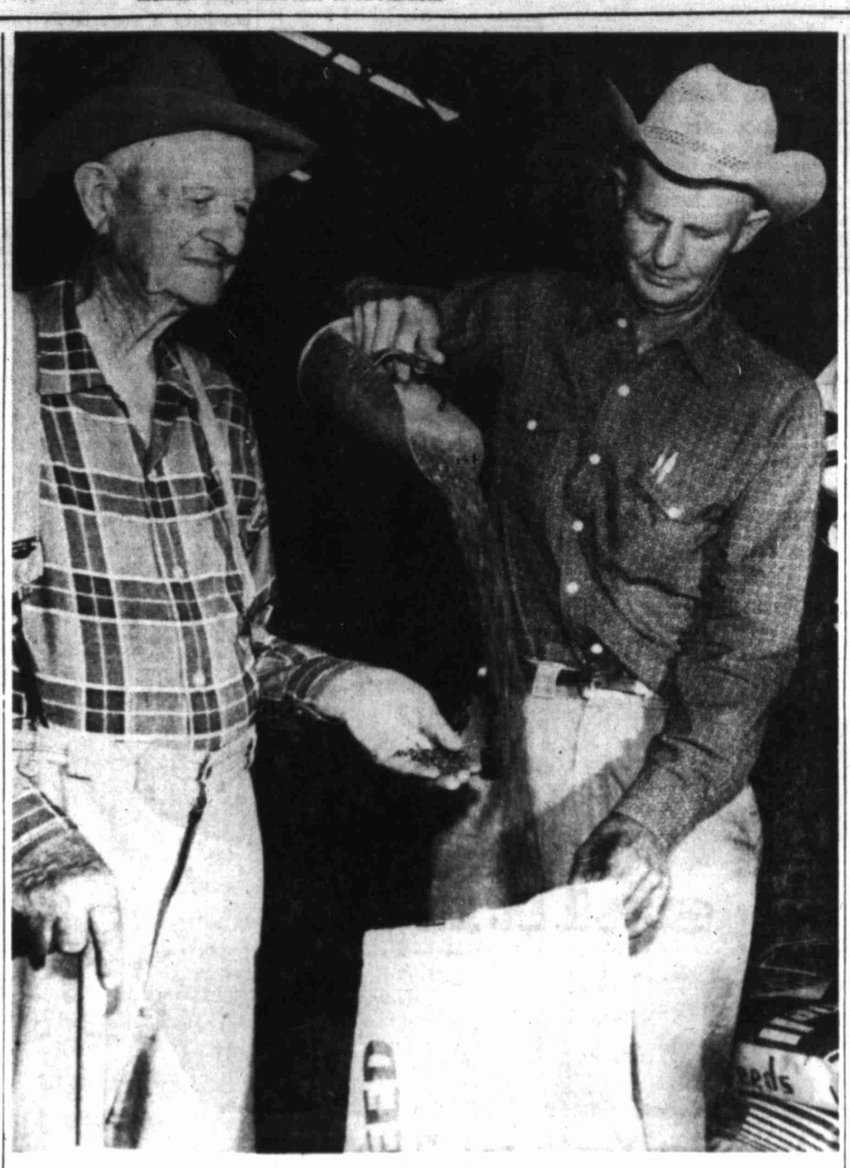
Lane, of Center, was the first of the pro-sales tax legislators to appear before either the subcommittee or the full committee. Three representatives who battled against sales taxation in the regular session, Reps. George Hinson, Tony Korioth and Franklin Spears, appeared before the full committee last Wednesday.

Reception To Honor Officials

AUSTIN (AP)—A reception honoring top government and Democratic party officials will be held Wednesday in Freeport after the dedication of the new salt water conversion plant, the State Democratic Executive Committee has announced.

The ceremony dedicating the plant will include a speech by President John Kennedy over a special television hookup from Washington. Vice President Lyndon Johnson will attend the dedication.

The reception will be at the Riverside Country Club in Lake Jackson under sponsorship of the Brazoria County Democratic party organization.



Planting Fever

W. M. Spears, 86, who has seen 70 summers come and go in these parts, was out early Tuesday to welcome another with a batch of seed. Mr. Spears has learned one thing about West Texas—and that's to get seed in the ground when moisture comes. With 3.1 inches soaking his place north of Coahoma last week, he got a good case of planting fever when the sun came out. R. P. Morton is shown filling the "seed prescription," the specific for planting fever. (Photo by Keith McMillin).

Summer Bows In Wednesday As Springtime Leaves Stage

By SAM BLACKBURN

Summer officially begins its tenure for 1961 at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday.

Spring, which has been in the saddle since March 20, bows off the stage.

Summer will rule until 12:43 a.m. Sept. 23. Fall starts on that date.

ON TIME

Summer always shows up on June 21. There is a slight variation in spring and autumn but not Summer. She comes to work on June 21 regardless. The only variation is in the actual minute her duties begin.

Usually, it appears, Summer prefers to move in during the morning hours. A check shows that only in one year in the past six has Summer made its debut in the afternoon. That was in 1958 when the official time was 3:57 p.m.

In 1960, Summer shoved in at 3:43 a.m. The year before, the time was 9:50 a.m. In 1957 it arrived at 10:21 a.m. and back in 1956, its hour was 4:24 a.m.

HOW IT HAPPENS

The World Almanac, in its classic explanation of how the seasons come about says:

"The oscillation of the earth's axis with respect to the sun determines the seasons. These are best marked in the North Temperate Zone where Spring begins at the vernal equinox; summer at the Summer solstice, autumn at the Autumnal equinox and Winter at the Winter solstice.

"In the South Temperate Zone the seasons are reversed.

"If the earth's axis were perpendicular to the plane of the earth's orbit around the sun there would be no change of seasons. Day and night would be of equal length and there would be equable conditions of temperature. But the axis is tilted 23 degrees and 27 minutes away from a perpendicular to the orbit and only in March and September are the axis at right angles to the sun.

EQUINOXES

"The points at which the sun crosses the equator are the equinoxes when day and night are most nearly equal. The points at which the sun is at the maximum distance from the equator are the solstices. Days and nights are then most unequal in length."

On Wednesday (June 21) the sun will rise at 5:40 a.m. It will not set for 14 hours and 16 minutes giving folk just about the biggest possible helping of day light possible.

Summer's arrival is sometimes out of step—from a temperature standpoint — with weather conditions. In other words, it is not uncommon for the first day of summer to be cooler perhaps, than some other days which technically were a part of Spring.

HOTTEST

Last year's arrival, however, of Summer was record breaking—it was the hottest June 21 in the 61 years that the weather record have been kept in Big Spring. It hit a zizzling 109 degrees replacing June 21, 1916 (when it was 108) as the hottest first day of summer on record.

Coolest first summer day was in 1932 when the minimum reading was 52 degrees.

For the past five years, the mean maximum temperature scored on June 21, has been 97.6 degrees. Mean minimum temperature for the same date has been 73.

WETTEST

The wettest first day of summer was June 21, 1919. It rained 1.10 inches in Big Spring on that date.

Of course, the sun could repeat the sizzling performance of 1960 on Wednesday and push the temperature up to an unbearable 109.

But there seems some good reason to doubt if it will be able to duplicate its all-time record job on June 30, 1907.

On that memorable day, the temperature hit 117 degrees for the hottest day in Big Spring's entire history.

Skies Clearing As Runoff Pours Into Coastal Area

By The Associated Press

Skies were clearing Tuesday above the sodden reaches of South and Central Texas as runoffs from cloudbursts poured down toward the waterlogged upper Gulf coast.

All along the coast from Freeport to Port Arthur, rains ranged up to 12 inches. The heaviest downpour Monday was in parts of Port Arthur, and in Houston, Galveston, Beaumont and Freeport. All got more water in a day than they usually get in two months or more.

POSE THREATS

From Central Texas where other earlier rains of 9 to 10 inches had been common, flooded rivers and creeks spread over unprotected lowlands and posed threats to numerous sections in their race to the sea.

Nearly all the hundreds routed from homes by floods were back cleaning up the mire.

The heavy rains had drifted into Louisiana and on eastward, but a new cold front already had moved into the Panhandle. Clouds, too, were moving north. The new front already was starting noisy thunderstorms.

The liveliest flood threat was along the Colorado River below Austin. Sheriff J. O. Walker for Colorado County sent out a warning from Columbus, prompting farmers to move livestock and farm machinery from low areas.

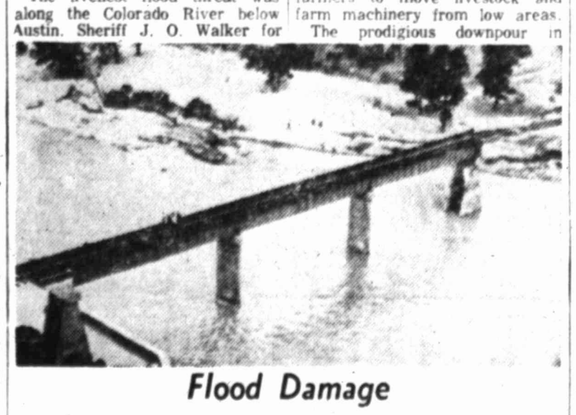
The prodigious downpour in Port Arthur and the rest of the upper coast snarled traffic and disrupted utility service. Stout winds sent high tides crashing over U.S. 87, closing the road between Sabine Pass and High Island. Many other roads were flooded and closed before the waters receded.

Reports from farmers and ranchers almost uniformly were enthusiastic about the rains despite isolated crop damage and the delays in field work.

Especially benefited were ranges in all sections of Texas, Rio Grande citrus and most row crops. The rains halted the wheat harvest in the Panhandle and South Plains.

Lower Rio Grande Valley points measured up to 8 inches of rain in the McAllen area. It was a little heavy for cotton farmers, who just were starting their harvest.

A survey of farm conditions in South Texas by the San Antonio Express concluded that the outlook was "immeasurably improved."



Flood Damage

Heavy rains in Southwest Texas sent creeks and rivers overflowing their banks and caused extensive damage. This railroad bridge across Las Vacas creek near Del Rio was damaged and tracks left dangling in space after flood waters washed out embankments on the bridge approach.

Take It Or Leave It Deal Offered Castro

Cuban Has Until Friday To Decide

DETROIT, Mich. (AP)—Cuba's Fidel Castro has until noon Friday to decide whether he'll accept 500 farm-type tractors as full ransom for 1,214 April invasion prisoners. Otherwise, any deal is off.

That was the Tractors-for-Freedom Committee's answer Monday night to the Cuban prime minister's revised demand for $28-million worth of tractors, if he doesn't get the 500 heavy-duty types he says he had in mind originally.

CABLE

In a take-it-or-leave-it cable, the committee told Castro it was prepared to ship only agricultural tractors and only 500 of them "for the two-fold humanitarian purpose" of freeing prisoners and helping Cubans win higher living standards.

Castro broached the tractors for prisoners deal in a television speech May 17. With White House approval, Dr. Milton Eisenhower, Eleanor Roosevelt and Walter P. Reuther formed as co-chairmen the Tractors-for-Freedom Committee to raise money for 500 tractors.

LEADERS

Dr. Eisenhower is an educator and a brother of former President Dwight D. Eisenhower. Mrs. Roosevelt is the widow of former President Franklin D. Roosevelt. Reuther is president of the United Auto Workers Union.

Castro told a team of four American technicians the committee sent to negotiate last week that he had in mind heavy-duty bulldozer-type tractors when he mentioned 500 in his speech. He said Cuba wanted $28 million for indemnification, in tractors or otherwise.

PROPOSAL CHANGED

The committee told him he had changed his original proposal and that his list of prisoners had fewer names than "the total 1,214 indicated by you in your original offer."

"Unless we have received from you clear, positive acceptance of our offer by noon, EST, on Friday, June 23," the cable said, "our committee will consider the purposes for which it was established are not possible of realization because of your failure to comply with terms of your own original proposal."

COST

A committee spokesman said the estimated cost of machines offered by the committee was between $3½ million, roughly nine times below Castro's demand.

"The committee probably would have to deliver more than 4,500 light tractors to meet Castro's $28 million price," the spokesman said.

At least 60,000 letters have poured into Tractors-for-Freedom headquarters here since an appeal for funds was issued. The letters will be returned unopened if the deal is called off.

WHO TO INVITE

Head-On Clash Expected In Disarmament Meeting

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States and the Soviet Union may run head-on into disagreement today as they go into the second round of talks aimed at reopening disarmament negotiations.

The problem is who should be invited to the conference, tentatively scheduled to open July 31.

CHIEF ISSUE

That's the chief issue expected to be taken up by John H. McCloy, President Kennedy's adviser on disarmament, and Valerin A. Zorin, Soviet deputy foreign minister.

The first meeting Monday was restricted to putting out feelers and to restating positions.

McCloy stressed the purposes of the U.S.-Soviet meeting is to establish the "framework and background" of the disarmament conference. Zorin made it clear that he wants to talk about "substance."

SUBSTANCE

U.S. sources said that what Zorin meant by "substance" is the agenda of the conference, including such Soviet demands as the merger of the nuclear test ban issue into the broader question of disarmament, and inevitably, Moscow's insistence on veto power over any actions.

The Soviets proposed that five Communist, five Western, and five neutral nations should be invited. The United States contends that the number of neutrals should be two.

SECRECY

A curtain of secrecy, thicker than usual, covered the initial meeting. Both U.S. and Soviet spokesmen refused to go beyond the joint communique which said only the two delegations opened "an exchange of views" on disarment.

Zorin is understood to have requested the news' blackout and McCloy agreed.

The prospect of making headway in any new round of talks seems dim in view of the stalemate at the Geneva conference on a nuclear testing ban.

COMPLEX

The United States has made it clear it feels there can be little hope for achieving anything as complex as world disarmament when the nuclear powers can't get together on a comparatively simple test ban.

Gen. Taylor Considered For Staff Post

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, former Army chief of staff, is being considered for a post on President Kennedy's staff, the White House said today.

Andrew T. Hatcher, assistant press secretary, declined to describe the nature of the job.

Taylor, who retired as Army chief of staff in 1959, is at present conducting an investigation of this country's capabilities in the field of paramilitary warfare. This includes intelligence activities and guerrilla combat.

Kennedy ordered the inquiry after the failure of the Cuban refugee invasion which had a degree of support from the U.S. government.

Hatcher was asked to comment on a report in today's New York Times that Kennedy is considering appointment of Taylor as White House military adviser. In effect that would make him a personal chief of staff to the President. Adm. William D. Leahy acted in that capacity for Presidents Franklin D. Roosevelt and Harry S. Truman.

Hatcher would say only that Taylor "is being considered for a position in the White House." Under questioning, he would not even go so far as to say the position would be of a military character.

Cycle Billing Due For City

Cycle billing, for water meter customers, will be put into use by the first of October, Roy Anderson, assistant city manager, said Tuesday.

"We are in the process of setting up new meter sheets, with both the new and old tap numbers, making new tap numbers, and planning new ledger sheets," he said.

The purpose will be to spread the work load over each month instead of overloading readers and billers at one time. Bills will be sent to one-third of the meter customers on three dates during each month, Anderson said. Instead of all customers getting bills at the same time, some will get them on the first, some on the 10th and some on the 20th, or similar dates.

U.S. Offers To Remove Advisors

GENEVA (AP) — The United States today offered to take its military advisers out of Laos. Communist advisers also would have to pull out under the American plan for turning the divided Southeast Asian kingdom into a neutral nation isolated from the cold war.

The U.S. offer was made to the 14-nation conference on Geneva by Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, chief U.S. delegate.

He added that the withdrawal must be "phased and coordinated" under the supervision of neutral truce teams. All foreign forces except a group of French instructors would pull out. The French would remain as outlined under the 1954 Geneva agreements making Laos independent.

This would mean the removal of any Soviet or Communist North Vietnamese now with the pro-Communist forces.

Loan Announced

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Community Facilities Administration announced today a loan of $365,000 to Pan American College at Edinburg, Tex. The money will be used to build two dormitories, one for men and one for women students.

Kelley Heads Good Neighbor Panel

FORT WORTH—Frank Kelley, Colorado city, widely known oil man and civic leader, Monday was named chairman of the Texas Good Neighbor Commission, of which he has been a member for some time.

Kelley is the fourth chairman of the commission since its institution a number of years ago —and the fourth oil man to hold the position. He has been preceded by R. E. (Bob) Smith, Watson Wise, and Neville G. Penrose.

The commission has been active in studying and solving many racial conflicts involving Latin-Americans in Texas, and is credited with establishing a new high in cordiality between Latin and English groups.

Kelley, a native of Indiana, attended Indiana University and Columbia University, later taught school in New Mexico. He was in the Navy in World War I, then came to Texas as an independent oil operator. He joined Magnolia (now Mobil) in West Texas, and has maintained a home and office in Colorado City for more than a quarter century.

He has been a member of the school board there for 25 years, a director of the Red Cross and has been president of the Chamber of Commerce. He is director and past president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, and is a director of the Texas Cancer Society. He has been active in water studies, and has served on many special commissions to help solve the state's water problems.

Court Orders Gomez To Serve Sentence

V. A. Gomez's 4-year fight to escape being sent to the state penitentiary apparently had ended Tuesday.

Sheriff's officers were seeking him to take him to the state prison in Huntsville after a mandate had been received from the state Court of Criminal Appeals. The mandate requires that the 7-year prison sentence imposed aver his conviction in 118th District Court for receiving and concealing stolen property be carried out. Last week the appeals court denied a rehearing in the case.

Sheriff Miller Harris alerted deputies to locate Gomez and said once he was in custody he would be removed immediately to Huntsville. Gomez was reported to be in Houston but on his way back here.

In January Gomez was found guilty of receiving and concealing stolen property and his punishment fixed by a district court jury at seven years in the penitentiary.

CASE APPEALLED

He immediately gave notice of appeal and his final bid before the State Court of Criminal Appeals was rejected last week. Bill Eysser, his attorney, had submitted a motion for a second rehearing on the appeal. The court summarily rejected the motion.

A mandate was dispatched from Austin on Friday and reached the district clerk's office on Monday. This mandate ordered the findings of the lower court carried out.

As soon as District Attorney Gil Jones learned the mandate was in the hands of the clerk, he advised Sheriff Harris to pick up the defendant.

Gomez was charged with the offense for which he was convicted in late summer of 1957. The charges climaxed an investigation which Jones and his associates had begun several weeks earlier and concerned the disappearance of a large quantity of plumbing supplies from the Saunders Co. warehouse.

A week before the grand jury convened, which returned the first indictment against Gomez, the defendant had disappeared and remained a fugitive for three years.

When he returned at last, he was indicted on four other charges and was released on bond. Combined bonds totaled $50,000. Appeal bond on the conviction was $22,000. There are four other bonds of $7,000 each in the other indictments.

Eyssen, who was appointed to represent Gomez when his case was called last January and who has since been employed as his counsel in these cases, said no further legal opening exists at this time to prevent Gomez going to the penitentiary.

However, he said that he may take subsequent action.

Correspondent Beaten, Released

LEOPOLDVILLE, THE Congo (AP) — Sjoerd Rodermond, a Dutch radio correspondent, was released Sunday after being in the hands of Congolese security police for five days. He said he had been badly beaten during hours of interrogation. His left eye was split and blackened.

Rodermond was arrested at his hotel Tuesday by police and taken to security headquarters. He said he was questioned about contacts with politicians who follow the line of the slain leftist ex-premier, Patrice Lumumba.

THE NEW MILITANTS

Desegregation Has Added Fuel To Fire

EDITOR'S NOTE: Among the elements which have produced a rise in conservative militancy in the United States is the desegregation battle in the South. This second of five articles on the political action groups of the 60's deals with their attitudes toward racial issues.

By JULES LOH
Associated Press Writer

Racial segregation is not one of the announced aims of any of the nation's major political action groups in the conservative wing.

Yet the militant white supremacist finds an area of agreement in many pronouncements of, say, the Birch Society. The Birchers, for their part, may find little to argue with some key political concepts of the segregationists.

DESEGREGATION

Among the tensions giving impetus to political militancy today, desegregation is one. Communism's advances in the cold war is another.

On occasion, reactions overlap. Some segregationist action groups freely identify their opponents with the Communist conspiracy." Militant right-wing groups, while not concerned with integration as such, espouse states rights principles and opposition to federal intervention in that area—tenets also, of activist pro-segregation groups.

For example, Birch leader Robert Welch insists his society's efforts to impeach Chief Justice Earl Warren "is based on his attempt to change this (country) from a republic to a democracy, and we particularly stay clear of basing it on the May 17, 1954 segregation decision" of the Supreme Court.

ONE OF 20

"That's just one of about 20 different decisions," said Welch, "that helped to break down states rights."

By the same token, a tract printed in Greenwood, Miss., by the Association of Citizens Councils said the South has been unfairly called undemocratic "because it resisted the onward sweep of a centralizing governmental trend alien to our federal republic."

A broader base on which both groups stand, however, is their conception of the American way of life, which for many Southerners involves racial segregation in their bailiwicks.

TYPICAL

Typical of this tendency is a Citizens Council's pamphlet cartoon which shows a Southerner sleeping while insects labeled "red termites" eat away his home. "By the use of facts and truth," said the caption, "we can appeal to all Southerners for support."

In Birmingham, Ala., recently, a group of "Freedom Riders" was greeted with the cry, "You dirty Communists, why don't you go home to Russia?"

Obviously communism, being cordially detested by most Americans, may serve as a handy term of incentive. But the Rev. Joseph Fitzpatrick, S. J., a Fordham University sociologist, suggests a deeper connection:

SHOOK SOUTH

"The 1954 Supreme Court decision shook the South violently," he says. "The natural reaction was a desire to return to the tranquility of the old ways, the old customs, the past.

"Communism's aim is the direct opposite — to wipe out the past. So it became both natural and logical to some Southerners to regard integration as a part of a sinister Communist plot."

Throughout the South, there are more than 550 local groups dedicated to fighting integration, a smaller number than existed four or five years ago.

Even in Mississippi there were attempts to put a brake of state financial support extended to Citizens Councils.

FUNNELED MONEY

The State Sovereignty Commission has funneled funds to the Citizens Councils at the rate of about $5,000 a month since last July. The conservative Jackson State Times has criticized the practice, and State Atty. Gen. Joseph Patterson moved at a recent commission meeting to stop the payments. The motion failed, but it seemed significant that it was made at all.

Distribution of racist literature in the South likewise has diminished considerably—though it has by no means vanished.

A recent tract of the Elmore County (Alabama) White Citizens Council attacks "the ridiculous myth that the modern American Jew is a white man.

ANTI-SEMITISM

"The Jew has a colored background," the publication declares. He is a racial mongrel and not a white man," and "this fact explains why so-called American-Jews are very partial to Asiatic Communist Russia."

The council felt "this basic information should clear up a lot of muddy thinking for a great many American white men."

However, the Alabama Association of Citizens Councils has disavowed any connection with the Elmore group and repudiated its anti-Semitic activities.

The Alabama Citizens Councils, perhaps the best organized in the South, are affiliated with the Inter-State Citizens Councils of America which advocate nonviolent resistance to "Communist inspired" integration.

SMALL PERCENTAGE

Headquarters of the larger group is in Jackson, Miss. There are no Southwide membership statistics, but the Alabama group claims about 100,000 members, Mississippi about 80,000. Only a small percentage, however, could be regarded as extreme militants.

Another group operating in Alabama is the Alabama Knights of the U.S. Ku Klux Klan Inc., an organization of undisclosed membership led by Robert M. Shelton, 31, of Tuscaloosa.

Besides fighting integration, Grand Wizard Shelton also wars against water fluoridation ("A Communist plot to poison the American people") and mental health programs ("they can perform an operation on you, give you the mentality of a 3-year-old, and teach you to be an integrationist or anything else.")

GUTS

In the neighboring state of Georgia is another vocal crusader dedicated to fighting the Communist conspiracy" as manifested in integration efforts.

He is Lester Maddox, a bespectacled, balding cafeteria proprietor who heads a group called Georgians Unwilling to Surrender—GUTS.

Maddox claims a following of about 1,000 and hopes to form a nationwide organization. Atlanta police say about half the GUTS membership turns up at Georgia Klan rallies, though Maddox disclaims any association with the Klan.

At another point on the militant spectrum appears a second type of segregationist group—the black supremacists.

Best organized among this group, and the only one of much significance, is the well-disciplined racial-religious sect known as the Black Muslims. It preaches hatred of the white man, and adherence to the Moslem religion.

DISASSOCIATE

(True Moslems disassociate themselves from the sect, and point to a centuries old stand against racial discrimination as taught in the Koran).

Leader of the Black Muslims is an ascetic, 64-year-old, Georgia born Negro named Elijah Poole. One day, said Poole, he met a man named Fard Muhammad who revealed himself as "Allah on Earth," and from that time on Poole dropped his "slavemaster name" and became Elijah Muhammad.

His group is based in Chicago and is reported to have more than 100,000 followers. The Muslims have a membership goal of one million by the end of this year, five million by 1964.

REALIZE

Muhammad tells his followers their ranks will swell as more and more black men (they do not use the term Negro) realize efforts to integrate are a sham by "blue-eyed devils" (whites) conspiring with "so-called Negroes" of the NAACP whose real aim is "to subjugate the black man."

He urges Muslims to "fight like hell with those who fight like hell against you, and the world of mankind will respect us as equals and white rule in the United States will be overthrown by 1970."

For all their inflammatory speeches and publications, the Muslims have been strictly law abiding and insist on a rigid moral code for their members. For example: No smoking or drinking, modest dress, prayer five times a day.

Wednesday: Thunder on the Right.

Close Factories

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The Department of Health has ordered the closing of cheese factories in the State of San Luis Potosi on charges they have been sending out contaminated cheese. The order affects principally the factories of Huasteca.

Jaycees Filled With Four Tons Of Texas Barbecue

ATLANTA (AP)—Thousands of Jaycees, filled by four tons of Texas barbecue, settled down today to opening their national convention.

Gov. Bert Combs of Kentucky was the keynoter.

In a speech to Jaycee officers Monday, an official in the U.S. space program asked public support of President Kennedy's plan to get a man to the moon within 10 years.

Demarquis Wyatt said, "We can't guarantee that if the President's program is adopted it (the first man) will be an American. But if it isn't adopted, we can guarantee it won't be an American."

The entire convention of 8,000 delegates and guests was fed by the Chuck Wagon Gang of the Odessa Chamber of Commerce. The fixings included 4,000 pounds of beef.

The fare included pork and beans, cole slaw, onions, bread and soft drinks.

The Chuck Wagon Gang is a group of 25 businessmen. Many of them had worked all night to prepare the food.

Dressed in gold and tan western outfits, they cooked 4,000 pounds of choice boneless beef, 800 pounds of "pinto" beans and 250 pounds of salt pork.

There also were 1,000 pounds of onions, 80 gallons of pickles and cole slaw made with 1,500 pounds of cabbage and 300 pounds of carrots.

Twenty-eight members of the "gang," which includes bank presidents, merchants, oil executives, white collar workers, doctors, lawyers and engineers, flew to Atlanta to prepare the meal.

Their equipment and food traveled in a giant tractor-trailer "chuck wagon."

The Odessa group was aided by 50 Texas Jaycees in serving the meal.

Daniel May Request Tighter Lobby Laws

AUSTIN (AP)—Gov. Price Daniel is so upset about lobbyists and lobbying that he may ask the legislature for tougher control laws.

On the eve of today's first meeting of a subcommittee of citizens studying the tax problem, the governor went on radio Monday night to renew his attack on lobbyists. He charged they killed tax compromise efforts during the regular session.

MEETS TODAY

The tax subcommittee which meets today was selected last week from a larger group of 19 names by the governor. It will study and make recommendations on how to solve the state's money problems before the legislature meets in special session July 10.

The whole committee will meet July 6 after the subcommittee has done its spadework on possible tax solutions.

The regular session of the legislature adjourned without deciding how much to spend and where to find the money for deficit-retiring and budget-balancing.

AGAINST SALES TAX

Daniel continued his campaign against a general retail sales tax over a chain of 13 radio stations.

The governor charged that "at least a million" dollars is spent during a regular session of the legislature to influence members for or against proposed laws.

Daniel said the $60,000 lobbyists reported they spent on "direct contact" work with legislators last session is "only a small fraction" of the entire amount.

TIGHTEN LAW

The governor then said he is "thinking seriously" of recommending that the July 10 special session tighten the present lobby control law "so that we can have better and more accurate reports of the expenditures made in an attempt to influence legislation, and so that we can cut out some of these practices that are bringing a bad name to our state."

The present lobby law, Daniel said, does not require reports of salary or fee money paid to the lobbyists themselves, their office maintenance costs, their traveling expenses, or the money that is spent trying to line up support or opposition to legislation from people back home.

RENEWED ARGUMENTS

Daniel renewed his arguments against a general retail sales tax as one hitting hardest at those least able to pay. He said the big-time lobbyists of business and the natural gas pipelines want such tax only to relieve themselves of levies.

The governor said he felt that excise taxes such as he suggests on specific items are more adjustable to "the ability to pay" measuring stick for state revenues than are across-the-board retail sales taxes.

Child Takes Bank Deposits

HOUSTON (AP)—Police in suburban Baytown said Monday night they have a description—but nothing else—of a little girl who casually opened a bank's post office box and strolled away with more than 100 mail deposit envelopes full of money and checks.

One of many envelopes she threw away, Baytown police Sgt. Charlie Cowan said, contained a $30,000 check the Humble Oil & Refining Co. mailed to the bank.

Cowan said police have no idea how much money the child, believed to be 10 or 11 years old, took from the post office box. She took the mail Saturday, Cowan said, but details of the case were not made public until Monday.

Cowan said more than 250 envelopes were taken from the suburban postal station. Not all contained money or checks.

Jack Jacobs, vice president of the bank, and E. W. Froehner, an assistant postmaster, said there is no way to determine how much money was in the envelopes.

Froehner said the post office knows 102 of the envelopes were bank deposit envelopes because the bank pays their postage and the post office must keep a record of each such envelope it handles.

Postal authorities said the box was probably left unlocked by an employe when the envelopes were put in the box Friday night.

Market Shows Some Advance

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market advanced in active trading at the opening today.

Most key stocks made small gains. A few took small losses.

Montgomery Ward opened unchanged at 27¼ on 4,500 shares. Sperry Rand rose ⅝ at 27¾ on 3,500 shares.

JFK CANCELS ANOTHER MEET

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy stayed home to nurse his back injury Monday night while Mrs. Kennedy filled in for him at a banquet date with women reporters.

The back strain that caused Kennedy to miss the annual banquet of the Women's National Press Club also contributed to cancelling his scheduled flight to Hawaii next week.

Both dates were called off Monday. The White House said Kennedy's recuperation had advanced to a stage where he did not want to risk aggravating the condition.

Week's Fines Total $1,400

Eighty-five fines were levied in corporation court during the past week, with the total amount running to $1,406. Of these fines, 11 were appealed in the amount of $240. Five of the appeals were for creating disturbances, each carrying $25 fines.

Drunkenness topped the list with 29 cases amounting to $709. Two were appealed for $50. Seven for speeding will pay $85, and six for failure to yield right of way were assessed $60, with one appealed for $10.

Other charges and fines levied were: Five vagrancy $67 (two appealed $30;, six disturbances $140 (five appealed for $125), two excessive noise $15, improper lane change $10, two for improper turns $15, five no driver's licenses $75, improper registration $5, permitting dancing without permit $25, defective steering $5, two for theft under $5, $25: consuming liquor, after hours $25 (appealed), two improper backing $30, three violations of dog ordinance $15 (same person), no valid registration $5, two minors in possession $20, two running red light $10, violation of Code 1 (glasses) $5, three for following too closely $10, passing without sufficient clearance $10, improper start from parked position $10.

On Schedule

EL PASO (AP)—Secretary of the Army Elvis Stahr says the Nike Zeus program is on schedule and fully founded for its present development. Stahr said everyone concerned with the program is optimistic about the progress of the Zeus.

Striking Unions In Rough Waters Among Themselves

NEW YORK (AP) — Unions in the national maritime strike, already in stormy seas in negotiations with company representatives, now are finding rough waters in relations with each other.

Important military cargoes appeared today as a dividing element as the paralyzing walkout increased its grip on the nation's shipping as well as industrial concerns ashore.

OVER 100

Slightly more than 100 ships—about one tenth of the nation's merchant fleet—lay immobilized in more than 30 ports on the Atlantic, Gulf and Pacific coasts as the strike entered its fifth day with no indications of an early settlement.

In San Francisco, marine engineers aboard American ships were scheduled to walk off their jobs today, following stepped-up picketing by striking seamen.

A number of oil refineries in the state of Washington, in Texas and on the East Coast have been forced to shut down because workers refuse to cross maritime picket lines.

MILITARY

The military cargoes question jumped into the picture Monday when Joseph Curran, president of the National Maritime Union accused an officers' union of refusing to clear ships for movement of the cargoes.

Curran told his union that the Marine Engineers Beneficial Association had not sent a delegate to meetings of a clearance committee that decides on legitimacy of armed forces requests for movement of defense cargoes.

He said that the failure is giving labor a "black eye" and added that it endangered the cause of all unions involved in the strike.

DENIED

Curran's charge was denied by a spokesman for the engineers' union. The spokesman said the union last Saturday made arrangements of its own with the Military Sea Transport Service for the movement of defense cargoes.

Shipping sources reported that four United States Lines freighters were held up in Baltimore and Philadelphia. They were scheduled to carry military cargo out of New York.

Ship company men characterized the immobilization of these ships as another sign of the power struggle they say is going on between the MNU and the rival Seafarers International Union.

The MNU is allied with the American Radio Association, another union involved in the strike, and the SIU has close ties with the engineers' union.

Famine Could Follow Attack

DAVIS, Calif. (AP)—Famine is one definitely possible result of any nuclear war, a consultant to the Atomic Energy Commission said Monday night.

To avert the possibility, food should be stockpiled in many more locations across the country than at present, Dr. Albert Bellamy, emeritus professor of biophysics at the University of California's Los Angeles branch, told a symposium here.

Dr. Bellamy proposed storage of enough food at each community to last several months — through the end of the growing season that followed a nuclear attack.

A Devotional for Today

One God and Father of all, who is above all, and through all, and in you all. (Ephesians 4:6.)
PRAYER: O Lord God, Thou who art our Creator, we thank Thee that Thy Son, our Lord Jesus Christ, has taught us to call Thee Father. As we approach Thee in prayer, be Thou very near to us, comforting and strengthening us with Thy presence; through Jesus Christ, our Savior. Amen.

Courteous But Cool

Adlai Stevenson has decided to tarry a day longer in Ecuador after receiving one of the more spirited welcomes of his current Latin American tour. Although on the whole he has been courteously received, and in some cases with a degree of enthusiasm, his trip has reflected a certain pulse beat in the southern hemisphere. Our neighbors are eager for financial aid but they are cool toward helping squelch Castro in Cuba.

The United States cannot sit back and allow communism's strength to be increased daily, 90 miles from our shores.

A brief AP news item from Havana gives just one more evidence of the growing bonds between Castro and Moscow. A thousand young Cuban peasants left for the Soviet Union where they will be for a year on collective farms, studying the Soviet Union's methods of cultivation.

They left on the Soviet ship Gruzia, which recently brought 300 Soviet technicians to instruct Cuban farmers.

Both groups are being sent under an agreement signed recently in Moscow by an organization of young Soviets and the Cuban Institute of National Agrarian Reform.

Russian intrusion in Cuban affairs is an open affront to the United States and a thumbing of the nose at the Monroe Doctrine.

To employ a current idiom, the situation is sticky and Mr. Stevenson should make this amply plain upon his return. Some definite policies of containment are clearly indicated.

Colleagues Praise Mr. Sam

Colleagues on both sides of the aisles, and in both Houses, recently eulogized "Mr. Sam," the durable Texas Democrat, as he set a record for longevity that's liable to endure a spell.

Last week the 79-year-old Sam Rayburn of Bonham completed 16 2-3 years as speaker of the House of Representatives. That's twice as long as Henry Clay of Kentucky served more than a century earlier.

Speaker Rayburn has served continuously in the U. S. House since 1913, just two years short of a half century. That covers more than one-fourth of the nation's total history.

Mr. Rayburn became speaker in 1940, succeeding the late William Bankhead of Alabama. He has been speaker since except for two 2-year stints in which the Republicans held sway in Congress.

For two hours, Rayburn's associates from both parties in the House spoke glowing tribute to his service.

President John F. Kennedy, himself a former member of the House, joined in the tribute by letter. The President wrote that service records may be measurable, but "immeasurable . . . is your devotion to cause and country."

Rep. John McCormack of Massachusetts characterized Rayburn as "one of the greatest men in American history."

Responding to the eulogies, Mr. Rayburn said: "I thank you from the bottom of a grateful heart."

He said he felt it "a great and towering honor to be a member of the House of Representatives," even for one term.

Mr. Rayburn is the second Texan to have risen to the powerful post of House Speaker. The first was John Nance Garner of Uvalde, later vice president of the U. S.

If Rayburn ever finds time to reflect on his career, he can view in retrospect the transition of his nation into a position of top world influence and power, and its involvement in a procession of crises including two World Wars and the Korean conflict, the Great Depression and, the last 15 years, the most crucial time of all, the cold war era.

Khrushchev's Defiance Of The U.S.

WASHINGTON—All around the world the Communist propaganda war continues to fill the press and the air waves with words that twist and distort the peaceful purposes of the United States.

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has just taken advantage of the publicity buildup which President Kennedy gave him by going to a conference with him alone at Vienna. A nationwide television speech inside Russia—something rare—is used by the Soviet ruler to stir up animosity against the United States. It was broadcast by radio at the same time throughout the world.

COINCIDENTALLY, Fidel Castro, coached by Moscow, has heaped insult after insult on the United States increasing his demand for "indemnity" for the "invasion" of Cuba. Hence, the ransom price for releasing the prisoners has gone up from around $2.5 million, which was supposed to be the value of the tractors Castro wanted, to approximately $28 million. America's prestige will take another nosedive if the United States government encourages any more efforts to appease Castro.

Coincidentally, also, there are anti-American demonstrations in Venezuela and Chile which are inspired by Moscow and conducted by Communists. In some instances these manifestations of hostility are directed against officers of the United States embassies and, in some, against Adlai Stevenson, the U. S. ambassador to the United Nations, who is making a so-called "goodwill" trip to Latin America.

COINCIDENTALLY, moreover, the conferences at Geneva on a nuclear-test ban and on Laos drag on without tangible result. The Communists have issued an ultimatum—they demand that the nuclear-testing issue be merged with the disarmament question, which means many more months of futile negotiation. They insist also that the West surrender on Laos and let the government there be turned over to a so-called "neutral" government—which means one dominated by the Communists.

BUT THE outstanding propaganda stunt is the Khrushchev speech. It was billed as a "report to the nation" paralleling that of President Kennedy. There were noticeable differences in the Soviet viewpoint as presented to the American people by Mr. Kennedy and that which the Soviet Premier gave last Thursday to the people throughout Europe.

It is apparent that Mr. Kennedy's euphemistic statement that "no major decision was either planned or taken" and that there was no "ultimatum" presented on Berlin must be taken now with a grain of salt. For the Soviet Premier in his speech sets forth a deadline—the end of the current year. At that time, if no surrender has been made on West Berlin by the West, a peace treaty between Moscow and the East German Republic will be signed.

SUCH A STEP means a challenge to possible war. For the West has said it will resist any attempt by the East German authorities to interfere with the access routes that must be used by the West in order to get in and out of Berlin.

The situation is well summed up in a dispatch from Reuters news service from Moscow, as follows:

"Western observers in Moscow said it seemed evident that all Kennedy's arguments in Vienna for the Western viewpoint had made little difference to Khrushchev's thinking."

INDEED, the Soviet premier clung to the same points he made before the conference with President Kennedy. The Russian ruler professes, of course, to be pleased with the idea of "summit" meetings. He says his meeting with Mr. Kennedy "was a good opportunity for the first personal contact and exchange of views on basic problems between myself as chairman of the Council of Ministers of the Soviet Union and the new President of the United States."

But what the Soviet ruler no doubt really meant was that the occasion gave him a theatrical setting for the subsequent delivery of his diatribes against the United States. It gave him a world-wide forum thereafter in which to repeat his false statements about the Western position on disarmament, nuclear testing and the Berlin issue.

NIKITA KHRUSHCHEV, like Adolf Hitler, knows that the West wants peace now—at almost any price. Western governments again give the impression that they are willing to make concessions through "negotiation" rather than take steps that could lead to war. History shows that, in the end, the effort to avoid a showdown brings on war itself. "Miscalculation" of the ultimate extent of Western resoluteness is still the danger that faces the world today. Premier Khrushchev's speech has shown his defiance of, as well as his indifference to, the arguments of the President of the United States at Vienna. Acts, not words, will be decisive now in avoiding war.

Controls Block Compromise

WASHINGTON AP() — Bernard Baruch, representing the United States, made a proposal to the United Nations on June 14, 1946, when this country alone had atomic weapons.

"We are here," he said, "to make a choice between the quick and the dead. . . . The peoples of the world long for peace and security and in that desire the United States shares ardently and hopefully.

"THE SEARCH of science for the absolute weapon has reached fruition in this country. But she stands ready to proscribe and destroy this instrument, to lift its use from death to life, if the world will join in a pact to that end."

Among other things he proposed that any agreement banning the bomb would provide for an inspection system to prevent cheating.

But there was no agreement. Russia went on and developed both the atomic and hydrogen bombs. The United States developed the hydrogen bomb, too. In time Britain developed a bomb. France is working on it. So is Red China.

There was endless talk of outlawing such a weapon. But as the years passed the United States, Russia and in time Britain tested their nuclear devices.

NEAR THE END of 1958 the United States had had 134 nuclear explosions, Russia 55, Britain 21. Scientists began to worry for the future of mankind because of the danger of radiation from fallout.

The world pressured the big powers to cut it out. Then Oct. 31, 1958 became a memorable day not because it was on that day the United States, Britain and Russia met at Geneva to work out agreement to ban tests altogether.

This kind of talk had been going on for years. But it was on Oct 31, almost three years ago, that the United States voluntarily stopped testing. Four days later, Nov. 3, the Russians, so far as this country knows, made their last test.

MORE TALK and no progress. Then on March 21, 1961, the United States and Russia began talking in Geneva to agree on two things:

1. To ban tests altogether.

2. To work out an inspection system that would prevent cheating. For instance: through underground tests.

The months have gone by and the result is still zero. Just as the two sides have never been able to agree on disarmament, they haven't been able to agree on the nuclear test ban.

On this one, just as on disarmament in general, the United States and Russia could never agree on how to set up a police system that would prevent either side from getting an advantage over the other by trickery.

WHILE THE TALKS on nuclear test ban were getting nowhere in Geneva, Monday in Washington the United States and Russia began talking about beginning talks on disarmament, too.

Yet the Kennedy administration, despite this implied warning about resuming tests if the Russians don't agree on inspection system which would prevent them, will have to think hard before going ahead.

The reason: world opinion. The same goes for the Russians, of course.

Pretty Good Indication

NEW YORK (AP)—"Dear pavement Plato:

"I have been going steady with a girl for three months, and now I am afraid she is losing interest in me. On the other hand, she may just be playing coy.

"How can I tell for sure?
Worried"

Well, my boy, there are many ways. But she probably has no serious interest in you if—

She never closes her eyes when you kiss her good night.

She'd rather go to a concert with her brother than a ball game with you.

She talks constantly about what she has been doing lately but never bothers to ask what's new with you.

She remembers the date of the sinking of the Spanish armada, but can't for the life of her recall your birthday.

When you take her to a restaurant, she never orders the $2.50 table d'hote dinner — but always selects the highest-priced item on the a la carte menu.

She sees a loose thread on your sleeve, and doesn't bother to pick it off.

She keeps your picture on her dresser, but has the face turned to the wall.

When you borrow $5 from her until next payday, she insists on getting a signed "IOU."

She doesn't get around to giving you your Christmas present until eight weeks after Easter.

She complains about the way you dance.

She doesn't care how many drinks you have at a party.

She'd rather ride on a yacht with someone else than take her turn at the oars in a rowboat with you.

She thinks bow ties look cute on other men, but doesn't like them on you.

During a taxi ride home, instead of pitching woo with you, she launches into a long political discussion with the driver.

You are of draft age, but she never broods about when Uncle Sam will claim you.

She never notices when you gain or lose weight.

You go golfing during a thunderstorm, and she doesn't worry about whether you'll be struck by lightning.

If most of these things are true, you'd better strike her off your list. Give her the gate—before she can hand it to you.

Smoking Not Good For Heart Attack Victims

By JOSEPH G. MOLNER, M.D.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Several of us belong to the Heart Attack Club. There seems to be a wide difference of opinion among doctors relative to smoking by people who have suffered a heart attack.

"Some say that one package of cigarettes or less a day is permissible, others say no smoking at all. We would like your comments.—E. E. H."

Yes, there's a divergence of opinion on tobacco and heart attacks, and I'll give you mine, and the reasons I hold it.

Smoking can cause an increase in blood pressure, a quickening of the heart rate and extra beats, all of which add up to some added strain on the organ.

Hence I think that smoking should not be indulged in after a heart attack. A little leak may not sink a ship, and a little extra strain may not cause another attack, but isn't it good sense to play the percentages? I think so.

At the same time, remember this: Non-smokers have coronary attacks, too. The causes are deeper than simply smoking or not smoking. Let's not think that smoking is THE cause and ignore all the other important factors.

I'd go this far: A casual cigarette after meals, perhaps, or midway between, may be relaxing and cause no ill effects. Indeed, if it really is relaxing, it thus becomes helpful.

But a package a day, 20 cigarettes, would in my opinion be heavy smoking for a heart patient, and my answer is a definite no. If you can't have an occasional cigarette and keep it down to that, as a physician I say quit entirely.

"Dear Dr. Molner: A friend of mine with ulcers was told not to drink instant coffee, but that regular coffee was all right. Please explain why?—Mrs. B."

I don't know any reason for this. It sometimes helps such patients to stick to the de-caffeinized kind of instant coffee. Caffein is a stimulant. Stimulants are the opposite of what many ulcer patients need.

• • •

"Dear Dr. Molner: I am much underweight, 5 feet 6 and 106 pounds. My doctor says, 'If you want to gain, eat more.' Recently someone told me that it helped if you ate normally, but drank one glass after every meal of: One quart of milk, one cup of chocolate syrup, three eggs, 9 tablespoons of peanut oil. Two years ago I had my gall bladder removed, with no ill after-effects, but I am concerned about all that oil.

"Also can you tell me why the only answer to a thin person's problem is 'eat more' when it seems as though every thin person I know doesn't gain from eating?—L. K."

If you really do continue to eat normally—and also take in an extra quart of milk, cup of syrup, and three eggs, that many calories is bound to get some results—that is, if you keep it up. There's nothing in the mixture to harm you. If the peanut oil is too much fat for you, omit it.

I guess the reason that "eat more" doesn't help thin people is about the same reason that "eat less" doesn't help fat people. Very few of either the thins or the fats really change their eating habits. The fat ones diet at one meal—and make it up at the next, or by nibbling. And the thins force themselves to eat a hearty lunch—say they "aren't hungry" at supper time.

Around The Rim

The Shooting Of Bill Dalton

The notorious Bill Dalton, one of the outlaw gang which ran into a mess of trouble trying to rob two banks simultaneously in Coffeyville, Kans., was shot to death a few miles outside of Ardmore, Okla. I think it was back in 1897.

He had holed up (literally) in a dugout on a ranch near the town. Residents were providing him with food and keeping him posted on the activities of the innumerable posses who were seeking his trail.

Someone talked, though, and a U. S. marshal at Ardmore got a tip on where he was hiding. This was in the days when Oklahoma was Indian territory and U. S. marshals were the top lawmen.

THIS OFFICER organized a group of fellow officers and they moved by horseback to the ranch where the outlaw was reported to be in hiding.

They formed a circle about the dugout during the night and waited for daylight.

Sometime after dawn, the door of the dugout opened and a man emerged carrying a waterbucket.

He set out for a spring to get water. Near this spring were several members of the posse. One of the officers recognized the man with the bucket as Dalton. Ordered to surrender, he dropped the bucket, pulled his pistol and began firing as he raced back to the dugout.

He didn't make it. The fusillade from the encircling posse brought him down.

HIS BODY was loaded into a farm wagon and driven to town. Old timers told me how it was left in the wagon for several hours after reaching town and of the endless line of men, women and children who walked by to stare at the dead outlaw.

I have talked to a number of the posse-men who were on that job. In general, their stories jibe but like many other accounts of incidents which have transpired in the long ago, certain discrepancies occur.

The best I can figure out, only one man's bullets actually killed Dalton. I have talked to at least five men who assured me they were that man.

A number of years ago, an old time lawyer of the territorial days who later served as a county prosecutor, wrote a book about this life in early times. He told some pretty tall tales, too,—many of which I could not fit into the versions that I had heard from participants.

ONE OF HIS stories was that he was a member of the posse which killed Dalton. Indeed, as I remember it, he related he was one of the leaders in opening fire on the outlaw.

If he was a member of the posse, not a single member with whom I discussed the episode ever mentioned it. In view of the somewhat sensational incidents of his latter life, I am sure these old-time peace officers would have mentioned it if he had been a member of their group.

Since I have been in Big Spring, several have asked me if I knew the author of the book I mentioned. They have asked me if he was the rugged character he pictures himself to be.

I have had to reply that he may have been but that the contemporaries of his time did not describe him to me as being quite as rough as he says he was.

I wonder, in view of the other material he had, why he included this version of the slaying of Dalton. It didn't help his book and it resulted in my tossing the volume to one side, unfinished.

The Mounting Price Of Blackmail

Blackmail always comes high. Usually the blackmailer accepts the first payment which, in the classic pattern of blackmail, he declares is the first, last and only tribute the victim will ever have to pay.

It is only after the first payment that the fall guy discovers that it was, after all, only a down payment and that now he is expected to pay and pay and pay.

AS A BLACKMAILER, Fidel Castro has broken the classic mold to smithereens. the Cuban, with the confidence of a man in full control of an international badger game, has upped his original demand by more than ten-fold before he even has the first or down payment in hand.

I hesitate to say that such confidence in dealing with us soft-headed Americans must be merited. But what can Americans expect after addled elements in this country jumped at the chance to pay the Cuban's demand for tractors in exchange for Cuban invaders captured in the ill-advised, ill-managed and ill-starred invasion of the island?

WHAT DID Americans think would be the result of the President's request that three distinguished Americans, Mrs. F. D. Roosevelt, Dr. Milton Eisenhower and Walter Reuther, pass the hat to raise the money to buy tractors in exchange for men?

The committee thought to pass the hat throughout the nation for $2,500,000 to pay for the machinery to meet Castro's crude demand for tribute. But now, after negotiating with an American committee in Havana, Castro has upped his demand to $28,000,000 worth of farm machinery. Here is inflation with a true vengeance.

HEAVEN FORBID that a second American committee be sent to negotiate with Castro, or the demand is apt to jump to $50,000,000 as simple indemnity and no prisoners in exchange. On what meat hath this, the Cuban Caesar, fed except confidence that we Americans are the world's prime suckers?

It might have been possible for the American Tractors for Freedom Committee, a soothing-syrup designation if ever there was one, to raise $2,500,000 for blackmail. But $28,000,000 is another matter. Furthermore, I am convinced that the longer the public contemplates this humiliating deal, the more unhappy is it about paying blackmail and the less inclined to support the sorry affair. The volume of mail I have received on this matter is strongly anti-blackmail.

NOT ONLY has Castro multiplied the sum of the original blackmail demand, but he has changed the conditions. He has reduced the number of prisoners he is willing to trade from the original offer of 1,214 to 1,167.

In addition he has the effrontery to stipulate, as part of the deal, an exchange of the three invasion leaders for "political" prisoners.

In exchange for the three invasion chiefs he wants Henry Winston, an American Communist party official convicted under the Smith Act; Pedro A. Campos, a Puerto Rican revoluntionary, and Francisco Molina, a Castro adherent who, in a cafe shooting spree in New York, killed a child.

SO IT IS NOW revealed that the sugared messages of sympathy sent the child's parents by Castro at the time of the tragedy were the work of a lying hypocrite.

As usual, blackmail is always astronomically more expensive than at first anticipated. I wonder if the American people will hold still for this infamous deal. I hope not.

How's That Again, Gentlemen?

WASHINGTON—The best of doctors will differ both on diagnoses and cures, but when two spokesmen of the New Frontier contradict each other on the same subject, on the same day—well, you wonder if it's intellectual diversity or intellectual confusion:

U.N. Ambassador Adlai Stevenson indicated to President Stroessner of Paraguay that Paraguay would receive more U. S. aid if that nation restores democratic procedures. (Wall Street Journal news dispatch 5-13-61).

U. S. INFORMATION Director Ed Murrow told a graduation class that "we must not fall into what I call a 'fallacy of forms.' Other lands will seek forms and institutions of their own conjuring. . . We must neither impose our forms and methods nor expect others to imitate us in every respect. We cannot afford the folly of believing that our way is the only way . . ." (Commencement speech at Johns Hopkins University, same date).

WELL, STEVENSON is doing one thing. Murrow is preaching the opposite, both presumably with White House knowledge and consent. Is it now our policy to use foreign aid as a reward for the restoration of "democratic procedures" in dictatorship nations? Or is it now our policy, quoting Ed Murrow, further, to encourage other nations to "choose forms and ways which we could not choose for ourselves"?

I do not raise these points in mockery of the New Frontier, for the sight of an administration coming so early to its wits' end is no laughing matter.

BUT SOMEBODY should tell Ambassador Stevenson that the criterion for receiving American aid ought not to be whether these foreigners love their mothers and practice "democratic procedures," but whether they wish to be allies in the war against Communism. If they do so wish, then these countries should be asked to prove it with deeds and not with words. Senator Wayne Morse, chairman of the most important subcommittee on Latin America, tells me that they should prove it in practical ways—by taxing themselves to the extent of their ability to pay.

And somebody ought to ask Ed Murrow to follow his logic to the reasonable conclusion. He was talking, by the context of his speech, about the new, emergent, under-developed nations of the Southern Hemisphere. "To these peoples," he said, "we have much to show and to say. We would elevate their crushing way of existence into a more bountiful society."

BUT, SURELY, if these backward peoples have a right to run their countries as they see fit, the great civilized and successful nations whom we call the Western Allies deserve the same freedom from American nagging and hectoring, do they not? As events are developing, the self-determination of the very advanced, most cultivated, longest established nations on earth is at stake in our foreign policy.

Current in policy decisions is the problem of Portugal and its West African province of Angola. The mother country lately celebrated its 800th anniversary of independence from the Moslem Empire, and the 500th anniversary of the death of Prince Henry the Navigator who discovered Angola a decade before Columbus sailed the ocean blue. A small agricultural country with a fine literary culture, famous wines and a genius for staying out of other people's wars, Portugal's way of life is built upon offshore possessions, of which there are eight separate areas in Africa and Asia which add up to 22 times the size of the European area.

ANY COUNTRY as old, as successful in inventing and maintaining its peculiar system, as deeply civilized and independent as this certainly ought to be free of American advice and interference. More than that, I think, such a country ought to have the moral and material support of the USA as an alleged believer in national individualism.

BUT IN THE United Nations we find the Kennedy administration putting the USA in the position of lecturing Portugal on how to live after eight centuries of independence, siding with the Afro-Asian bloc against our Western Allies and voting for "immediate" action for democracy in Angola where, as I learn from some Commerce Department figures, there are only about three persons per kilometer in population, and only one per cent of literacy among the indigenous peoples.

I don't know if Messrs. Kennedy, Stevenson, Murrow and the rest take any time off to think things out—but I wish they would.

Practical Heel

The practical heel, reflecting fashion's new "smartly suburban look," gets design emphasis in these new fall shoe styles. For a comfortable and almost dressy look, the shoes are fashioned with the pointed toe and a low heel that is comfortable and safe from sidewalk gratings.

Low Heel Is New Fashion

With a tendency toward a relaxed easy look in women's clothes, a look sometimes referred to as smartly suburban, it naturally follows that the walking shoe comes into its own as an integral part of a shoe wardrobe.

This should be good news for the fashion-conscious woman who wants the pointed toe and slim heel for dressy occasions, but for day-in and day-out activity looks for toes that are more rounded off, and in some instances squared, with heels that can't get stuck in sidewalk gratings. The walking heel is decidedly in.

This type shoe is a beautiful example of the tailored city-suburban look interpreted in footwear. Stacked heels on a variety of types, from spectator pumps down to walking flats, are featured in a line which prides itself on the fine fitting qualities of its shoes.

A similar wide range of styles is offered under many of the famous brand names. Here, too, much attention has been given to unlined upper leathers and construction features that insure softness and flexibility.

The trend in "flats" for the over 20 set is reflected in an increased number of styles, well-made, high-styled but moderately priced; these designs are everywhere and have ever-increasing acceptance.

For the fun - loving teens, who lay first claim to the flat and the little heel, there are many new styles. A trend is to be noted in the two-tone flat, from a "spat" in corduroy and leather combination to shoes with contrasting trims.

The popularity of "spat flats" has dictated a wide range of color combinations which are priced so low that the fashionable teen can have her favorite style in several colors and still be well within her budget.

Miss Smith Is Bride Of J. Doyle

COAHOMA (SC)—Jennie Smith became the bride of Jerry Doyle of Midland at the home of her grandparents. Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Tindol at 5 p.m., Saturday in a single ring ceremony.

The Rev. Harold C. Perdue, pastor of the Methodist Church, presided at the single ring ceremony. Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Shelby Pelton of Coahoma; his parents are Mr. and Mrs. George Doyle of Midland.

Given in marriage by her stepfather the bride wore a white linen suit with white accessories and carried a yellow corsage. Her maid of honor, Janice Smith, the bride's sister, wore a yellow dress.

Best man was Brant Doyle, the bridegroom's brother.

The bride is a senior at Midland High School, and Doye is a graduate of Midland High School. He also is employed in Midland.

A reception was held for the couple after the ceremony with Carol Ann and Janice Gibson serving. The two tiered wedding cake was made by the bride's grandmother, Mrs. Tindol.

From out of town were the bridegroom's mother and sister, Bertha Doyle of Midland, and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Ficklin of Big Spring.

Sets Example

Mona Freeman believes that children are imitative and parents best help them by setting a good example. She shares her grooming secrets with her daughter, Monie.

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Helps Pre-Teen's Grooming Ideas

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD — Mona Freeman is an actress who takes motherhood seriously. When I visited her on the "Checkmate" set, she had Monie, her 13-year-old daughter, with her.

"I want Monie to understand why I'm sometimes exhausted when I come home," Mona explained. "When she gets up with me at 5:30 and stays on the set with me until 6:00 p.m., she is as ready for bed as I am."

"Is she planning to be an actress?" I asked when Monie left to talk to a friend.

"I don't know," she said. "I started my career as a teen-age model, and my classmates were interested in everything I learned about grooming, dieting and make-up, and so is Monie. I think it is helpful for a parent to realize how important these subjects are to a growing child.

"Monie has never been too heavy, but I try to direct her appetite without being obvious. There is no use talking to a child about nutrition and eating for energy when she has all the energy she needs. But if I catch Monie with a candy bar that I know she doesn't need, I try to appeal to her vanity with a quip such as, 'I hope you don't mind being fat.'

"I feel the best help I can give is not to have anything in the house I don't want her to eat. We always have balanced meals and few desserts.

"Cleanliness has to be dramatized to be appealing," Mona continued. "I try to have bath oil, bubble bath and scented powder to make bathing fun. Monie is naturally neat and has a knack with hair. She gives herself a shampoo twice a week in the shower, and she sets her hair herself. But I make sure that she gets all the soap out.

"Monie washes her face with the same soap that I use and has had no trouble at all with her skin. Acne is a result of glandular changes in adolescents, but I think following the rules of cleanliness and nutrition helps to prevent a problem skin."

"What do you feel is the age for a girl to start wearing make-up?" I asked.

"It should be started when the other girls in her class are using it, but within reason. This varies in schools and locales, but it causes an unhealthy reaction to force your child to be different. Monie asked to wear lipstick before I would have liked her to, but I gave her a very pale one and controlled the amount she used. Really, it was so light it was scarcely noticeable, but she was content because she had one.

"I believe a mother should help her child apply make-up properly," Mona declared. "If she's allowed to practice around the house, she's more prepared when she starts to wear it in public. I suggest a lipstick brush, and I approve of rouge, too, if it's needed. A little of it can add a healthy glow to a sallow skin.

"Posture cannot be improved with nagging," Mona observed. "But nothing will make a girl stand up straight better than seeing someone else slump. Fashion shows in school help. The girls who carry themselves best will be chosen as models first, and the other will want to improve in time for their turns.

"You may not realize it," Mona pointed out, "but a parent's appearance is very important to the adolescent. They take natural pride in their mother's looks. I remember overhearing a little boy telephoning his mother saying, 'Please put on some make-up and look nice when you pick me up.'

"Even when the budget is limited, a mother should not feel guilty when she spends a little money for grooming. It is not an extravagance but an investment which the husband and children will appreciate. When you look well, it affects your disposition, and this renewed interest in yourself is felt by others."

Ford's Money Goes For Daughter's Debut

By EVELYN AUGUST

GROSSE POINTE, Mich. (AP) —Auto heiress Anne Ford made her debut in a flower-bedecked fairyland—an 18th century rose-scented garden. A pavilion protected her 1,200 guests from a sudden summer downpour.

The scene for the 18-year-old blonde's $280,000 coming-out party Monday night was the Lake St. Clair estate of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Ford II, in this exclusive Detroit suburb.

Guests stepped from chauffeured limousines, flashy new convertibles and sports cars and even some compacts through the rain to a red-trimmed white carpet leading into the main hall of the Ford mansion.

From there on they were in a fairyland. But for a time guests and gold-jacketed waiters dodged past rain-filled buckets and pans while the latter hastily mopped up water seeping through the turquoise roof of the white trellis dance pavilion, bandstand and twin summer houses. A 50-foot fountain sent its spray up to meet the rain halfway.

Inside the pavilion were dozens of crimson-cushioned chairs and gilt tables, centered with bowls of pink carnations, red roses, purple grapes and apples. Each table was lighted by tall candles in silver sticks. Overhead hung gleaming crystal chandeliers.

All the decorations were designed by Jacques Frank of Paris, who also designed an 18th century French chateau for the 1959 debut of Anne's post-deb sister, Charlotte, 20.

Anne, an image of her pretty blonde mother, wore a gown of white organza with a tussor weave. It featured a halter neck embroidered with three tiers of gold thread, pearls and turquoise. A large, pale turquoise sash accented the tight-fitted bodice, low back and full, slightly bell-shaped skirt.

Charlotte's dress, which she brought over from Paris after finishing her studies at the Sorbonne and Maxim's Academie, was fashioned of silk faille with a pale pink bodice and tangerine skirt. Flowers were embroidered on the fitted bodice and bell-shaped skirt.

Mrs. Ford's dress was of pale green lace over layers of white organza with a matching belt and looped bustle at the rear.

Anne and her parents received movie actress Merle Oberon and her husband, G. Bruno Paglai, Mrs. Gary Cooper and daughter, Maria; muralist Constantin Aalalov, and designer Igor Cassini.

Other guests ushered through the flower-banked main hall included Lord Richard Lumley of London, heir of the Earl of Scarbrough and reported to be Charlotte Ford's favorite European escort, and the industrially famous Du Ponts, Firestones, Lloyd Smiths of Houston and Virgil Sherrils of New York's Wall Street.

Big Spring Man Weds In Midland

A former Big Spring boy, Terry Fullen, wed a Midland girl, Darla Adamson at 10:30 a.m., Saturday in the First Baptist Church of Midland with Dr. L. L. Morris, pastor officiating.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. James Adamson of Midland, and his parents are Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Fullen, 707 Willa.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a street length sheath dress of lace with an over skirt and cumberbund of silk organza.

Matron of honor was the bride's sister, Mrs. Richard Wright of Lubbock. A reception was held in the church parlor following the ceremony.

After a wedding trip to New Mexico and Colorado the couple will reside in Odessa where he is employed with the West Texas Electric Company.

Fraziers' Guests

Mrs. David Barlow and children, Kenneth and Jane, are here from New York for a visit with her mother, Mrs. Nell Frazier, 1601 Owens, and her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Bruce Frazier, Virginia and Cedar Ridge.

YWA Takes Name

A name was selected by the newly-organized YWA of the Northside Baptist Church Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Richard Tucker. The six attending chose the name, Janet May, in honor of a missionary in Colombia. Regular meetings will be held each Monday at 2:30 p.m.

Eliot Williamses Parents Of Daughter

Mr. and Mrs. Eliot Williams, 1414 Sycamore, became the parents of a daughter at 6 a.m., Monday at Malone and Hogan Foundation Hospital. They have named the girl Debra Sue.

Maternal grandparents of the new daughter are Mr. and Mrs. Harry Montgomery, 805 Aylford, and paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Bill Williams of Odessa.

What About Her Hairdo And Hat?

WASHINGTON (AP)—A new official picture of Mrs. John F. Kennedy has been made public.

It shows the 31-year-old First Lady from the waist up in a light hued wool dress. She looks straight ahead and smiles softly. Her right elbow rests on the back of the sofa on which she is seated and her chin rests on her right palm. Her left arm is draped over the top of the sofa back.

The new official picture was taken by New York photographer Mark Shaw in the White House living quarters at the end of May.

Shower Is Given

Mrs. Phillip Riddle Jr. was the honoree at a pink and blue shower Saturday in the home of Mrs. H. Huestis. Other hostesses were Mrs. James Grantham, Mrs. Jim Woodard, Mrs. D. Armstrong and Mrs. M. Daniels. Fifteen attended the party.

APOSTLES' DOCTRINE

By T. R. Tarbet, preacher
Church of Christ, West Highway 80
P O Box 1383

The true church is a body of penitent believers, who have been immersed for the remission of sins, and who are subject to the teaching of the apostles of Christ. Read Acts 2: 36-42.

It is said that the early church "continued steadfastly in the apostles' doctrine" (Acts 2:42). The word "doctrine" is the old English for "teaching." Thus the early church followed the teaching of the apostles.

Since the apostles were the ambassadors of Christ, and inspired of the Holy Spirit, their teaching is nothing more or less than the teaching of Christ; and we are told to abide in the "doctrine of Christ" (II Cor. 5:20; Jno. 16:13; II Jno. 1:1-11).

In other words, to follow the doctrine of the apostles is to follow the New Testament. The true church is the New Testament church. Negatively it is not an Old Testament church. Positively, it follows the New Testament; it is the Scriptural church. It can justify its doctrine, organization, name and worship by New Testament Scripture. Any church which cannot do so, is not the true church.

Back from a vacation trip to points in Mexico are MR. and MRS. PAUL HOLDEN SR., and their daughter, BEVERLY. The trio drove to Mexico and were a little disappointed when they first got over the border. Everything looked dry and unscenic but as they got deeper into the country they were enchanted with the beauty of the scenery. They spent five days in Mexico City and three in Acapulco. Near Mexico City they took a boat trip, and Mrs. Holden says the boat traffic was as congested as our highway traffic is. They took a guided tour which included an afternoon at the bull fights. The travelers said this was an experience but not a pleasant one . . . they'd much rather enjoy the flowers that were blooming in profusion and were being sold at street markets.

THINK

By HALVARD T. HANSEN, D.C.

Think for yourself and reason the proposition in your own mind. What is the logical result when the nerve supply is reduced to any particular organ of the body, or when these vital forces of health are unable to follow their normal channels due to interference?

Chiropractic adjustments not only restore health; they also build health. The old adage: "An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure," may be considered trite, but it is sound truth.

The Chiropractic principle briefly stated, is this: The cause of disease is in the person afflicted. Adjustments correct conditions that produce illness.

The junction of every organ in the body is controlled through the brain, by mental impulses, which are transmitted over nerves. Any impingement or pinching of the delicate nerve fibers, interfering with the free flow of vital nerve forces causes impaired or abnormal function. This is disease. This nerve interference is produced by a vertebral subluxation.

The chiropractor — expert in his knowledge of the spine — locates the point of nerve pressure, and by adjusting the subluxated vertebrae, releases the pressure. Normal condition — Health — is the result.

Eichmann Takes Stand To Begin Defense Case

JERUSALEM (AP) — Adolf Eichmann swore under oath today he never realized what the Nazi party intended to do to the Jews when he joined it in 1932.

By the time the extermination plot unfolded, Eichmann said, he was powerless to influence it.

TAKES STAND

The former Gestapo officer accused of a key role in the Nazi extermination of six million Jews during World War II took the stand in his own defense this morning after hearing 10 weeks of prosecution evidence against him.

Eichmann, now 55 and wearing horn-rimmed glasses, snapped to ramrod attention when presiding Judge Moshe Landau announced the start of the defense.

His mouth pinched for lack of teeth, his chin out and his shoulders squared back, Eichmann swore "to tell the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth."

"BY GOD"

As he swore "by God," the audience made up mostly of Jewish survivors of the wartime pogrom rumbled in surprise and resentment. Eichmann said he preferred not to swear on the Bible but rather "by the Almighty God."

"I am not bound by any confession, but I do believe in God," he told Landau.

Eichmann's first testimony was a blast at Israel for kidnaping him in Argentina. He said a prosecution statement that he came to Israel voluntarily was false.

CHAINED

The defendant said while Israeli agents held him on the outskirts of Buenos Aires, "I was chained to my bed."

It was demanded of me to sign a voluntary declaration that I wanted to stand trial in Israel," he continued, speaking in German in a deep baritone. "I said I preferred to be turned over to Argentine police. They said no. Later the letters were taken off and I was told to sign a document that I wanted to come to Israel to stand trial. Then the fetters were replaced and I was tied to my bed. This cannot be called a voluntary declaration."

COULD DO NOTHING

Defense counsel Robert Servatius of West Germany told the court he would prove through Eichmann's testimony that the whole Nazi apparatus was responsible for the pogrom and that Eichmann could do nothing about it.

Eichmann said he joined the Nazis in 1932 because their slogan was "War against Versailles." He blamed the Versailles treaty after World War I for "the tragedy of the German people," the economic distress gripping his country.

At that time, Eichmann said, "the struggle against the Jews was a secondary problem — the main struggle was against the regime in power which was administering the terms of the Versailles treaty."

SENSELESS MEASURES

After Hitler became the supreme power in Germany, Eichmann continued, World War II "was thrust upon Germany," and out of that period came the "senseless measures" that paved the way for the extermination of the Jews.

"I could not anticipate. I could not influence. My status was too modest. I could not anticipate all this when I joined the Nazi party," Eichmann declared.

Eichmann testified that he held his rank of obersturmbannfuehrer (lieutenant colonel) in the SS from 1941 to the end of the war without a promotion and tried during that time to be transferred to the Waffen SS, which were fighting units at the front. His efforts were fruitless, he said.

DENIED

Eichmann flatly denied responsibility for the mass slaughter and said he "had nothing at all to do with the confiscation of Jewish property" either.

In his first assignment to "Jewish affairs", in Austria, Eichmann claimed he actually helped the Jews considerably. The best evidence of that, he said, was the fact that "two-thirds of the Austrian Jews were enabled to emigrate."

Orientation Wednesday For Hospital Volunteers

An orientation for adults and junior volunteers is scheduled for 9:30 a.m. Wednesday, according to Dr. Frankie Williams, clinical director and acting superintendent of the Big Spring State Hospital.

Dr. Williams pointed out that the orientation will encompass more than it usually does for junior volunteers and that some new material has been added. For this reason, she said, even some persons who have attended a previous course may want to attend again.

The indoctrination course will begin in the dayroom of Ward 3 with an invocation by Rev. Donald Hungerford, acting chaplain, and a welcome by Dr. Williams.

Included in the program will be discussions of the various types of treatment which patients may receive at the hospital and a demonstration of electro-shock therapy. For the benefit of the group receiving indoctrination, Dr. Williams will interview a patient who is undergoing the treatment.

Speakers include Dr. Paul C. Young, chief, psychology department; Shelby Parnell, alcoholic counsellor; Mrs. Ottilie Jolley, R.N., director of nursing service; L. K. Miller, business manager; Rev. Hungerford and Mrs. Lou H. Bonin, volunteer coordinator.

After lunch, participants in the orientation will tour the hospital to see where they may be working.

A film entitled "Someone Who Cares" will be shown to those wishing to remain after the orientation.

Center Closed For Repairs

While work is under way to restore the Crippled Children's Center (now Howard County Rehabilitation Center), it is necessary to close the building, directors of the association said today.

Rains which carried a tremendous drainage underneath the building have caused it to settle to a marked degree, and crevasses have opened in the walls.

Workers were at the site this morning drilling test holes, that engineers might determine how the foundation may be shored up and walls restored.

Bruce Dunn, the city's public works director, said the building is not entirely safe while this excavation is going on, and advised that it be closed. For a few days, the Center's therapist, Jim Thompson, will do what work he can with patients at the YMCA building.

The Center, built by volunteer labor and donated materials last year, was erected on a site made available by a lease from the city. It is on filled land, and the settling has resulted.

Center directors said the occurrence is unfortunate, but one of those emergencies that must be faced. While many volunteers are assisting, it appeared likely that restoration of the building may cost several hundred dollars.

Officials Work On Care Plan For Cemetery

Bruce Dunn, director of public works, and A. K. Steinheimer, city manager, were at work this morning organizing a perpetual care program which may be instituted at the city cemetery.

Although the proposal could be ready for presentation to the City Commission in about a week, Steinheimer said they are going to work slower and should have it ready for the first meeting in August.

"We want to work out all the problems first," he said, "and have policies, costs, design, etc. ready to present to the commission at one time."

The perpetual care program would set aside a portion of the cost of each lot for a fund to pay for maintenance. Under the present system, the lots must be cared for either by the families or at additional expense.

At the same time, the cemetery will be re-designed to eliminate the rectangular blocks of the old plot, Dunn said.

Roads in the unopened area should be surfaced from the perpetual care fund. Even in the sections presently in use, surfacing should be accomplished, he said.

The changes should make the cemetery self-sustaining and not dependent on the city budget and at the same time make it more beautiful, according to Dunn.

Rites Thursday For Brother Of Roy M. Bruce

Services will be held at 10 a.m. Thursday in the St. Paul Methodist Church, 4501 Thomson, Midland, for Andrew H. Bruce, 44, brother of Roy M. Bruce of Big Spring.

Mr. Bruce died at 12:40 a.m. Tuesday in the Midland Memorial Hospital. Following the rites, the body will be taken to Brady for graveside rites at 4 p.m. Ellis Funeral Home of Midland is in charge of arrangements.

Mr. Bruce leaves his widow, Louise; one son, Andy Bruce; a daughter, Dixie Bruce; one brother, Roy Bruce, Big Spring; five sisters, Mrs. J. E. Coleman, Freer, Mrs. E. L. Campbell, Alice, Mrs. J. L. Arrendall, Snyder, Mrs. L. J. Patterson, Brady, Mrs. Bill Maxy of Indiana.

Mr. Bruce was born Jan. 5, 1917, in Hondo and spent his early life in Alice and Freer, Tex. He was in the Sea Bees during World War II. Following the war he was employed with Halliburton in Big Spring.

He attended McMurry College in Abilene and pastored the Wingate, Justine and Lambkin churches before moving to Brownwood where he took classes at Howard Payne and Daniel Baker colleges. He moved to Midland in 1952, where he was employed as an appliance salesman.

Decorations Group Talk Season Plans

The Christmas decoration committee of the Chamber of Commerce was to meet at 4 p.m. today at the Chamber office to discuss this year's decoration plans.

Committee members were to discuss plans with representatives from Lone Star Display Company, Dallas.

On the committee are Adolph Swartz, Gilbert Gibbs, John Currie, Sid Mellinger, Oliver Cofer, Herman Bauer, Darrell Wright, Randall Polk, Cuin Grigsby, Ed Fisher, Fred Gebert, Gus Barr, Herman Taylor, R. H. Weaver and Cecil Hamilton.

Heads IOOF Lodge

STANTON (SC)—Lewis Carlile has been elected noble grand of the Stanton Odd Fellow Lodge. Johnnie Myrick was elected vice-grand. Installation of officers for the ensuing term is set for July, at which time the appointive officers also will be installed.

Retail Group Sets Meeting

A meeting of the retail committee of the chamber of Commerce, rained out last Thursday, has been scheduled to meet at 9:30 a.m. Wednesday at the chamber office.

Both the downtown and shopping center committees will discuss promotion ideas for Big Spring. This is the first meeting of the year for the committees, Gilbert Gibbs, chairman of the downtown committee, said.

Gibbs said he would bring up better buy days as a possible form of promotion. James Lewis, chairman of the shopping center committee, said he would point out a need to discuss handling of bad checks.

The meeting should cover a wide range of suggestions, Gibbs said, as local merchants offer their ideas on promotion of Big Spring business.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks for the food, floral tributes and all expressions of sympathy from friends, neighbors, relatives and visitors we were unable to see, at the time of our sudden bereavement. Your thoughtfulness and kindnesses will always be remembered.

Dillon Sees Budget Going Back In Black

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon today predicted the nation's economy will grow by a whopping 8 per cent next year and put the federal budget back into the black.

In a talk prepared for the National Press Club, Dillon said "we should keep this long-range prospect of prosperity clearly in mind" when accessing the budget deficits currently being recorded.

"It is probable that by this time next year our economy will be rolling in high gear," Dillon said. "We may well be in the midst of an economic boom."

Dillon said the nation's total output of goods and services—the gross national product—will approach $515 billion this year compared with $503 billion in 1960. Noting this would mean an economic growth rate of 2¼ per cent, he added that 1962 "gives promise of being a year of accelerating growth."

Looking ahead, he said: "From something like $540 billion in the first quarter, we can reasonably hope for an increase to about $570 billion by year end. This would give 1962 an annual level of some $555 billion, an increase of nearly 8 per cent over 1961."

Saying that chances for such a performance are good, Dillon asserted that this would mean enough federal revenues "to meet all of our national needs, with something left over."

Dillon said revenues in the 1963 fiscal year, which begins July 1, 1962, should approximate $90 billion.

For fiscal 1962, which begins next month, the Treasury looks for revenues of $81.4 billion and a deficit of $3.7 billion.

For the current fiscal year, ending June 30, the Treasury now is forecasting a deficit of about $3 billion.

Larger Jury Panels Ordered

Anticipating that summer vacations will aggravate the difficulty of obtaining jurors for service in the court, Judge Ralph Caton, 118th District, has ordered four panels of 125 members each for the new term which opens Monday.

Heretofore, the maximum size of a panel has been 100. With these large panels on occasions it has been difficult to get enough qualified jurors to serve the court.

Judge Caton, Wade Choate, district court clerk, and Sheriff Miller Harris were drawing the four panels from the jury wheel on Tuesday afternoon.

Judge Caton has appointed Ed Fisher, Mrs. Reba Baker and Jack Smith as grand jury commissioners. They have been instructed to meet at the court house on Wednesday and draw 20 names to comprise the grand jury panel for the term. From this panel, Judge Caton will select 12 jurors on next Monday morning.

Dist. Atty. Gil Jones said that he had 20 to 25 felony matters to lay before the grand jury.

Instrument Group Wins Top Award In Maintenance

Maintenance & Supply Group's instrument shop racked up 487 points out of a possible 560 to take the "Shop of the Month" award for May. Eighteen shops in field maintenance were competing for the award.

Started at Webb in April, the SOM plaque is awarded for outstanding achievement in management of manpower, materials, and facilities. The egress shop, responsible for maintenance of seat and canopy ejection systems on aircraft, took the April honors.

The winning instrument shop carries a 11-man crew and is charged with performing maintenance on instruments in Webb aircraft. Capt. Nolan F. Young, field maintenance officer, presented the award to T. Sgt. Harold W. Clark, shop NCOIC.

Included on the instrument shop crew are William H. McKinney, shop foreman, Jean S. Berry, Don B. Bishop, Maurice Bradford, Robert H. Carter Jr., Bryon D. Hill, Donald W. McKee, S. Sgt. Franklin R. King, Airman 1 C. William C. Kurashige, and Airman 1 C. Junior W. Watson.

Special Services At Church Of God

Special services are set for 7:45 p.m. today at the Church of God at Fourth and Galveston.

The Rev. and Mrs. David Ellis, El Paso, will be here for the service. The Rev. Ellis, who is pastor of the Church of God in El Paso, is a singer like his father, the Rev. Vep Ellis, widely known as a composer and singer.

The Rev. J. T. Milton, pastor of the church, invited the public to participate. He and his family have returned from a week's state encampment of his denomination at Weatherford.

Attends Parley

STANTON (SC) — Mrs. Nellie McMorries, postmaster at Tarzan, has returned from the state convention of postmasters, held at Galveston.

Held On Bombing Charge

Dale C. Jensen, 23, and Bernard J. Brous, 51, were arrested by authorities in Ensenada, Mexico on information furnished U. S. Justice Department in connection with the dynamiting of a microwave tower in Nevada. Mexican officials seized them aboard their yacht and turned them over to FBI agents who brought them to San Diego.

24-HOUR RUN

Rash Of Thefts Occupy Attention Of Officers

Police and detectives were called to investigate six breaking and entering, and thefts, in the past 24 hours.

Some time over the weekend nine junk batteries disappeared from an enclosed pen at White's Store Inc., 202 Scurry. Al Smith, the manager, said the high wire pen was locked, but that some one climbed over the fence and took the batteries.

Capt. James G. Jay of the Salvation Army reported a London-made cornet, Salvation Army brand, valued at $100 taken from the headquarters over the weekend. Capt. Jay said he last saw it when he played for a church service the latter part of last week.

A set of assorted hand tools, valued at $35, a smoothing iron, $2.50, a rod and reel, $10, and percolators, $12, were missing from the Reece Appliance Store, 81. W. 4th, between June 15 and 19th. Police said there was no sign of the manner in which the store was entered.

Around 300 sheets of black, gypsum sheating was taken from the site of Parkhill apartments on Marcy Drive, over the weekend. Jacobus Construction Co. said it appeared to have been taken by some one in a pickup truck.

Truman Mason of Universal Auto Sales, 801 E. 3rd, reported a spare tire and wheel missing from a '57 model car. He said a man came in Monday, drove the car around with the intention of buying it. When the car was returned the tire and wheel were missing. The driver came in a car of the same make but an older model, and police are watching for this car.

The Foremost Milk Distributor, Frank Mote, called police for investigation of a breaking and entering at 907 E. 3rd. Monday. Investigating officers reported that the rear door was beaten in at the bottom with a piece of pipe. Money was usually kept in a desk drawer, the manager said, and this drawer was opened and three empty money bags thrown on the floor. A fruit jar, containing an uncounted number of pennies, had been emptied. The file box was open, but the office safe, which had not been used in six to eight months, was not touched.

OIL REPORT

Vaughn Stakes Six New Projects

Vaughn Petroleum Company has staked six new locations in the Howard-Glasscock field in Howard County and the same field had two completions. A third completion was logged in Garza County.

Vaughn projects Nos. 15-C-C, 11-C-C, 16-C-C, 10-C-C- and 14-C-C Sarah M. Hyman are all set for 1,500 feet. Vaughn No. 5-A Sarah M. Hyman is set to bottom at 2,500 feet in the San Andres. The sites are 10 miles south of Coahoma.

Royal Oil and Gas Corp. No. 19 Dora Roberts, an old well worked over, pumped six barrels of oil on initial potential in the Howard-Glasscock field in Howard County. Standard Oil of Texas No. 1-20-Y Dora Roberts, also in the Howard-Glasscock field, pumped 90 barrels of oil initially.

The Garza County well is Humble Oil and Refining Co. No. 51 M. A. Fuller, five miles southeast of Justiceburg. It pumped 152 barrels of oil on initial potential from the Glorieta in the Dorward field.

Dawson

Sinclair No. 1 Kent CSL Survey, a prospector trying for the Devonian, is making hole below 7,700 feet in lime and shale. The venture is C SW SW, labor 19-26S, Kent CSL survey.

Conoco No. 6 L. G. Thuett is drilling in lime below 6,627 feet. The site is 1,011 feet from the north and 974 feet from the west lines of survey 3, Scrap File 8,370.

Humble Oil and Refining Co. No. 51 M. A. Fuller pumped 152 barrels of 37.5 gravity oil, with 21 per cent water, on initial potential. The Dorward (Glorieta) field well bottomed at 2,570 feet and 2⅞ inch casing was set at 2,564 feet. Perforations are between 2,426-78 feet. The gas-oil ratio was 757-1 and the project was fraced with 14,000 gallons. It is 1,100 feet from the north and 1,920 feet from the east lines of section 113-5, H&GN survey, on a 4,064 acre lease five miles southeast of Justiceburg.

Shell No. 1 C. A. Bird is still on location with the site too wet to begin operations. This explorer spots C NW NW, section 23-8, H&GN survey.

Glasscock

Huber No. 1 Reed is digging below 3,385 feet in lime, sand and chert. The project is C NE NW, section 197-29, W&NW survey.

Standard Oil Co. No. 1 Tom Currie and Others, a wildcat projected to 1,400 feet, has been plugged and abandoned at 60 feet. The duster is 1,980 feet from the north and 330 feet from the east lines of section 190-29, W&NW survey, 2½ miles south of the Howard-Glasscock field and 12 miles northeast of Garden City.

Texas National No. 1 Tom is drilling in lime and shale below 8,762 feet. Location is C SW SW SW, section 44-35-1s, T&P survey.

Howard

Vaughn Petroleum Co. No. 15-C-C Sarah M. Hyman is projected to 1,500 feet in the Howard-Glasscock field. The site is 990 feet from the north and 1,155 feet from the east lines of section 88-29, W&NW survey, 10 miles south of Coahoma.

Vaughn Petroleum Co. No. 11-C-C Sarah M. Hyman, spotting C NE SE NE, section 88-29, W&NW survey, is a new location in the Howard-Glasscock field. It is projected to 1,500 feet and is 10 miles south of Coahoma.

Vaughn Petroleum Co. No. 16-C-C Sarah M. Hyman is due to bottom at 1,500 feet 10 miles south of Coahoma. The Howard-Glasscock field venture is 330 feet from the north and 1,155 feet from the east lines of section 88-19, W&NW survey.

Vaughn Petroleum Co. No. 10-C-C Sarah M. Hyman has been filed for 1,500 feet in the Howard-Glasscock field. It spots C SE NE NE, section 88-29, W&NW survey, 10 miles south of Coahoma.

Vaughn Petroleum Co. No. 14-C-C Sarah M. Hyman is due to bottom at 1,500 feet in the Howard-Glasscock field 10 miles south of Coahoma. Location is 1,650 feet from the north and 1,155 feet from the east lines of section 88-29, W&NW survey.

Vaughn Petroleum Co. No. 5-A Sarah M. Hyman, spotting C SW SE NW, section 88-29, W&NW survey, is projected to 2,500 feet to bottom in the San Andres in the Howard-Glasscock field. The site is 10 miles south of Coahoma.

Royal Oil and Gas Corp. No. 19 Dora Roberts, an old well worked over, pumped six barrels of 26.2 gravity oil on initial potential in the Howard-Glasscock field. The gas-oil ratio was nil and no water was produced. It bottomed at 2,891 feet and pay was picked at 2,540 feet. The operator set seven inch casing at 2,935 feet and perforated between 2,540-85 feet. Location is C SE NW NW, section 136-29, W&NW survey, on a 160 acre lease two miles southeast of Forsan.

Standard Oil of Texas No. 1-20-Y Dora Roberts was completed for 90 barrels of oil on initial pumping potential in the Howard-Glasscock field. Gravity was 31 degrees and the gas-oil ratio was nil. The well was drilled to 1,360 feet and 5½ inch casing was set at 1,279 feet. Pay was topped at 1,291 feet and an open hole section is between 1,279-360 feet. The oiler spots 960 feet from the north and 1,140 feet from the east lines of section 137-29, W&NW survey, on a 240 acre lease two miles east of Forsan.

Planning Begins To Retire Y Debt

Forces were being marshaled today for "operation wrap up" for the YMCA.

Division leaders and their section chiefs met Monday afternoon at the Y with R. W. Whipkey, executive director of the campaign aimed at freeing the YMCA of all indebtedness.

Target for what is envisioned as a brisk appeal is $56,000. This represents the residue of debt resulting from construction of the YMCA, plus miscellaneous items including completion of landscaping.

Whipkey lauded the community for its support of the original building campaign three years ago when approximately $270,000 was raised. As a result of this expression of faith, the YMCA erected its new plant and has be serving the community with a broadened program.

"It was generally understood at the time we staged the first campaign that we would follow through after the 3-year period and clean up the remaining debt," said the campaign leader. "Already many people have volunteered to continue their annual pledge for just one more year and see the job through."

Clyde McMahon and K. H. McGibbon are leading the two divisions. Each will have five sectional chiefs who will enlist captains who will recruit team members.

The direct appeal for freeing the Y from even the shadow of debt will start early in July.

In addition to the new plant and its equipment, the YMCA supporters are pointing to a $20,000 addition for all purpose and handball courts provided by the Dora Roberts Foundation.

Police Checks Run The Gamut

Police were kept on the alert Monday afternoon and night by dog calls, reports of thefts, speeders, cars improperly parked, juveniles, a couple of accidents, fights, and windows and doors being opened.

Two accidents were reported. The first at Third and Gregg, involved drivers Maria S. Granados, 1106 W. 4th, and Arnold M. Lee, 2210 E. 12th, Odessa. The second was at 1300 Nolan, and drivers were Curtis Reynolds, 1300 Nolan, and Morris Ray Busby, 212 N. Johnson. One car was parked.

Fifteen calls were answered involving dogs and cats. Three calls about speeding cars were investigated, and one ticket issued.

Checks were made on calls to 1226 E. 15th about juveniles, who were turned over to the juvenile officer; about a boy going south on Main carrying a rifle; and on the report of a fight behind Carlos Restaurant.

A call, requesting investigation of a car which has carried more than one set of license plates within a few days, gave officers information about improper licensing.

An open window was reported by a patrolman on East Fourth street. Capt. Walter Eubanks, and Patrolman Walter Johnson found a door open at the E. C. Smith Construction Co. building at 1110 Gregg. Officers reported that equipment, TVs, typewriters, furniture, and a $100 check seemed undisturbed.

Identity Of Heart Attack Victim Now Established

Funeral arrangements are still pending for Johnny Howard Glenn, 55, who was found dead in a room in the Downtown Motor Motel Saturday. The body is being held at the Nalley-Pickle Funeral Home.

Positive identification of the man was made on Monday. He was a cook at the Manhattan Cafe, and had lived in and out of Big Spring for about two years. He has an estranged wife living here, two former wives in other towns in West Texas; one son, Johnny Howard Glenn Jr., Monahans; two daughters, Mrs. Cecilia Ann McDonald and Mrs. Betty Sue McAnally, both of Pecos. All of the relatives have been contacted.

Johnson Named Stanton Principal

STANTON (SC)—Bill Johnson of Silver has been named principal of Stanton High School, it is announced by Supt. L. M. Hays. Johnson is a native of Brownwood and a graduate of Brownwood High School. He received his B. A. degree from Howard Payne, and is to receive is master's degree there this summer.

Fire Alarms

The Big Spring Fire Department made two runs late Monday. One was a false alarm to a slush pit fire at the Steere Truck Lines lot on the Andrews Highway. The second call, at 10:45 p.m. was to 206 Gregg where the wiring on a car caught fire due to a short. The car was not damaged badly.

Services Set For Dr. G. H. Wood

Services for Dr. G. H. Wood, 56, who died here unexpectedly Saturday evening, will be held at 3 p.m. Wednesday in the First Methodist Church.

Arrangements were completed late Monday after the family was in contact with a son, Lt. G. H. (Woody) Wood Jr., who was stationed with the U. S. Navy in Formosa. He is en route home but will not arrive here until the end of the week. Ensign Harris Wood, the other son, arrived Monday from Guantanamo Bay naval base on Cuba.

The casket will be removed from Nalley-Pickle Funeral home to the sanctuary of the First Methodist Church at 2 p.m. and will remain open until 3 p.m. The Rev. DeWitt Seago, pastor of the First Methodist Church where Dr. Wood had served as chairman of the board of stewards, will officiate, and burial will be in the Trinity Memorial Cemetery.

Pallbearers will be Dr. Clyde Thomas, Champ Rainwater, T. L. Free, Dr. Arch Carson, Dr. J. H. Fish, Joe Burrell, Jasper Atkins, Clyde Waits Jr.; also Dr. G. T. Hall, Dr. E. O. Ellington, Royce Satterwhite and all members of the Permian Basin Medical Society.

Dr. Wood, who had practiced here since 1933 as a specialist in eye, ear, nose and throat, leaves his widow; two sons; and a daughter, Lynn Wood.

Yankees Find Going Rough In The West

By ED WILKS
Associated Press Sports Writer

The New York Yankees are back to playing the patsies again in that American League pennant race, but the patsies won't play ball.

After splitting six games against Detroit and Cleveland in their three-way fight for first place the Yankees were no worse than third, just a game behind. Ahead lay nine road games, all against the "third" division — Kansas City, Minnesota and Los Angeles—while the Tigers and Indians each played seven, squaring off against each other in four.

It figured to be a quick ride to the front for the Yankees, but they ran into a quick detour. Their kissin' cousins up and smacked the Yanks right in the kisser Monday night, coming from behind on consecutive ninth-inning home runs by Norm Siebern and pinch-hitter Wes Covington for a 4-3 decision that made ex-Yankee Hank Bauer a winner in his debut as manager of the Kansas City A's.

It was the only game played in the AL and dropped New York 1½ games behind first-place Detroit. The only other game scheduled, Cleveland at Chicago, was rained out, leaving the second-place Indians a half-game behind the Tigers.

No games were scheduled in the National League, where Cincinnati has won five in a row for a 1½-game lead — the biggest bulge any NL leader has had in three weeks.

Bauer, 38, taking over after Joe Gordon was fired in a surprise move by A's owner Charles Finley, was backed by a couple of ex-Yanks and picked the right man at the right time for Kansas City's third victory in nine games with New York.

Siebern, like Bauer a one-time Yankee outfielder, collected half of the A's six hits. He drove in their first run with a fourth-inning single, then singled and scored their second run in the seventh on a triple by ex-Yank Deron Johnson before finally chasing starter Roland Sheldon with his ninth home run in the ninth.

The homer squared it 3-all, and Yankee Manager Ralph Houk brought in relief ace Luis Arroyo, a left-hander. Bauer met the challenge by picking Covington, a left-handed hitter, and Wes walloped his fifth homer. It was little Luis' third defeat, second by the A's.

Jim Archer, a stubby southpaw, won his third in a row with a seven-hitter. He gave up a pair of solo homers, Bill Skowron's 14th in the fourth, and Roger Maris' 25th, in the ninth, while beating New York a second time. Archer, now 5-1, is the only lefty to pitch a complete game against the Yankees this season, and he has done it twice.

For what it's worth, Maris, the major league home run leader, now is seven games ahead of Babe Ruth's record-60 pace of 1927. But he's exactly even with his own pace of a year ago, with 25 in 63 games. He finished with 39 last season.

JIM TURNER, Cincinnati pitching coach:

"The slider and the 'nickel curve' they talk about are two different pitches. The nickel curve is just a small curve; the ball rotates and breaks only an inch or two. It usually is a slow pitch, sometimes used as a change-up. The slider has to be thrown hard to make it work right. A fast one just "slides" away from the batter, not much but sharp and hard to see coming."

MITCHELL MALOUF, former coach here, now looking after farming interests around Plainview:

"They may wait until the ninth grade to start kids playing football here but, believe me, they'll play like seventh graders."

COOKIE LAVAGETTO, manager of the Minnesota Twins:

"With a good club, you have more players who can do more things well but in a way it's tougher than being a second division manager. When you have a weak club not much is expected of you and the newspapers, for one, give you a better break. I played or coached for such managers as Casey Stengel, Leo Durocher, Burt Shotton, Pie Traynor and Charlie Dressen and I think I learned something from each, but I haven't patterned myself after any of them, Like Dressen, I don't think I'm a "book" manager but I don't run a ball club like Charlie because our personalities are so different."

HERB ELLIOTT, Australia's champion distance runner:

"Americans lead a warm, soft, synthetic existence which has led to a decline in their distance running. I'm glad I was born an Australian and not an American. Their existence leaves a real doubt about their future. I visited Hawaii in 1958 and found that many wealthy Americans are 'fat and flabby.' My admiration for the average American's big thinking, initiative, commercial enthusiasm and charm is boundless. In so many spheres, he is decades ahead of his Australian counterpart, but in basic things he has lost his sense of proportion. The fact that the Americans in recent years have not produced many outstanding distance runners is directly attributable to their soft way of life."

OLIVER E. KUECHLE, Milwaukee scribe:

"Wisconsin's football team is going to find itself in a very favorable position come fall, not only because it will again have the best passer in the Big Ten, Ron Miller, but also because the rest of the schools except Michigan and Iowa have lost, through graduation or defection, the established passers they had. Spring practice was almost a mass hunt for passers."

JOHNNY MACK BROWN, former Alabama football great and later a movie actor, now 56 and a greeter at a restaurant in Beverly Hills:

"It's hard work, but I like it. I'm learning the restaurant business and I get to see a lot of my old friends. I've got a lot of them around here, having lived 30-odd years in Beverly Hills. I figure my contacts in the movie and sports worlds pay off for the restaurant. Besides, it gives me something to do. It keeps my mind active and takes up the slack between acting jobs. You can't just sit home and wait for the phone to ring."

Legion Visits Denver City

Stopped by the rain in their last game, the Big Spring American Legion baseball campaigners start a busy week in Denver City this evening at 8 o'clock.

The locals were to have played Lamesa last Thursday but a downpour washed out the contest. It has been reset for Thursday.

Big Spring defeated Denver City handily in the teams' previous meeting and is a strong favorite to turn the trick again.

The provincials currently lead their zone in District 19 with a 3-0 record.

Manager D. R. Gartman can call on any one of five pitchers tonight. However, he is apt to start either Roy New or Bowman Roberts. New got a late start in practice but benefited from a busy spring of campaigning with the Big Spring High School team.

The locals play their next home game Saturday, at which time they host Brownfield. On Sunday, they entertain Tahoka. Both games are booked for the afternoon, since the local park is not equipped with lights for nocturnal activity.

Local Man Lucky At Lake C. City

T. E. Underwood of Big Spring, fishing near Earl Richardson's Lake View Camp at Lake Colorado City recently, caught a yellow catfish weighing seven pounds and seven channel cat, weighing up to two pounds each. He was fishing with a trotline and using grasshoppers and perch as bait.

Owen Kelly of Stanton is another who has experienced good luck near Richardson's place. He ran his trotline and discovered he'd caught a yellow cat weighing 25 pounds. He was using minnow as bait.

Caddo Matthews, a Colorado City coach, caught two bass ranging in weight from 2½ to four pounds each.

Richardson says the bass are feeding in the shallow water on the weeds that have been covered by the recent rise in the lake water, which makes for excellent plug fishing.

Met, Colt Player Problems Aired

CHICAGO (AP) — A National League expansion committee met Monday to discuss plans on stocking the New York Mets and Houston Colts with player talent but reached no conclusion, it was learned today.

The eight Negroes withdrew from the Meet of Champions June 9. In all, 20 Negroes withdrew to protest what they called segregated seating in the stands.

Texas Southern was temporarily suspended June 12.

SEC Losing Tackles To Grades, Offers

By VERNON BUTLER

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A few more defections and Southeastern Conference football coaches will be hiring security guards to save what is left of their tackle prospects.

In rapid-fire order, three of the top tackles in the conference succumbed to books or the lure of playing for cash in the past week. Tulane's No. 1 tackle prospect was a scholastic victim several months ago, and a strapping youngster who played on Mississippi's freshman team last year signed a baseball bonus contract the other day with the Milwaukee Braves.

"I wish we could find a vaccine for this sort of thing," said an assistant coach at one of the SEC schools. "It could get to be an epidemic."

Ken Frost, rated as Tennessee's most valuable lineman in 1960, encountered a scholastic roadblock and announced last Friday he would detour to the Dallas Cowboys of the National Football League. Frost, 6-feet-4 and 240 pounds, and father of four, was held out one season and was thus eligible for the professionals when felled by classroom shortcomings.

Two days later, Georgia Tech's right side caved in a bit when Ed Nutting, 240 pounder, announced he would forego his last year of college eligibility to try his hand with the Cleveland Browns.

Nutting satisfied the professors but he explained, "I have to look at this thing in the light of what will be best for me in the five years."

Florida lost a big one Monday when 260-pound Frank Lasky was denied permission to enter summer school to make up scholastic deficiencies. Lasky, a star on Florida's undefeated 1959 freshman team, failed to make the grades last year but coaches had hoped he would get by this time. He was a first stringer in spring practice.

End Reynolds of Tulane, who made the all-SEC sophomore team last year, failed in the winter quarter at the New Orleans school. Reynolds displayed great talent last fall as an offense wrecker. He was a top-grade blocker, too.

Ole Miss wasn't counting heavily on sophomore Dickie Smith, the 210-pound teen-ager who signed a bonus agreement with Milwaukee for more than $50,000. Smith is a pitcher who obviously feels there's more future in throwing than in tackling.

AS A'S BOSS

Hank Bauer Off To Fine Start

By SKIPPER PATRICK
Associated Press Sports Writer

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — Hank Bauer, off to a booming start as manager of the Kansas City Athletics, says he's going to let the "fellows kind of play their own game for a while," at least until he gets his feet on the ground.

The A's greeted Bauer as replacement for fired Joe Gordon by beating Hanks' old New York Yankee teammates 4-3 on successive home runs by Norm Siebern and pinch hitter Wes Covington in the bottom of the ninth Monday night.

"A game like that (Jim) Archer threw and successive clutch homers can make a manager look pretty smart," Bauer said.

"I don't plan to change anything, at least for the present," he said. "I just expect every player to keep hustling like they did against those Yanks.

The A's are eighth in the American League, 11½ games out of first place.

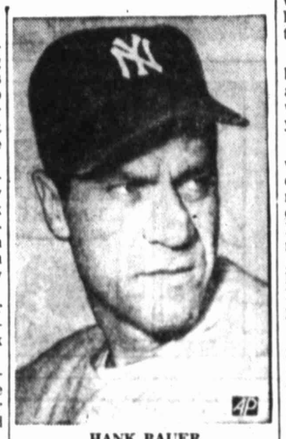
Bauer, who will be 39 next month, was with the Yankees 13 seasons before coming to Kansas City in December 1959 in a 7-player deal. His first official act as manager, directed by General Manager Frank Lane, was to name rookie shortstop Dick Howser team captain.

"Lane said name Howser captain and I did just that," Bauer said. "That Howser is a great little battler."

Club owner Charles O. Finley took Lane off the hook in the firing of Gordon.

"I was the man behind that move (firing Gordon) and I think the heat should be taken off our general manager," Finley said in an interview.

Finley said Lane and Gordon like each other but "seemed to have trouble working together" and that one or both had to go.



HANK BAUER

As general manager of Cleveland, Lane hired Gordon as manager, fired him, then rehired him and finally traded him to Detroit for manager Jimmy Dykes last season.

Bauer has a contract—terms not disclosed—that runs through next season. He'll be listed as a playing manager until an outfield replacement is obtained.

Lane said Gordon's contract, reportedly calling for $30,000 per season through next season, will be honored.

Bauer, pushing time on his playing days, said he had hoped to become a major league manager.

"But man, not this fast," Hank said.

Houston Team Is Tottering In NCAA Golf Tournament

LAFAYETTE, Ind. (AP)—Defending champions Dick Crawford and his University of Houston team were tottering today, going into the second and last round of qualifications for the 64th annual National Collegiate golf tournament.

Crawford shot a 4-over-par 75 Monday, opening his bid for an unprecedented third straight NCAA individual title. Fifty-six other collegians equalled or bettered his score, and 12 others were only one stroke behind him.

After today's shooting only the low 64 of 199 starters will go into the four days of medal play.

Houston's Ron Weber, Southern intercollegiate champion, floundered with a frightful 8-over-par 12 on the 18th hole of Purdue's North Course and wound up with an 81.

Homero Blancas of Houston, Texas open champ and recent winner of the All-American college crown, contributed a 3-under-par 69 on the North layout of two courses used in the trials. But Houston still was eight strokes off the 289 pace of Purdue's team leaders.

Houston has won the team title, based only on the qualifications, for five straight years.

Jack Nicklaus of Ohio State, the tourney favorite, was in no danger of elimination. The high amateur in last week's U.S. Open stroked a 1-under-par 70 in the South Course where all match play is scheduled.

First Baptist Is Triumphant, 13-1

First Baptist decisioned College Baptist, 13-1, in a YMCA Church Softball League game here Monday evening.

West Side Baptist accepted a forfeit from Phillips Baptist in what was to have been the other contest.

Ex-Owner Dies

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — Abraham Watner, 70, former owner of the Baltimore Colts of the National Football League, died Monday. He was a director of several corporations, including railroads, real estate companies and insurance firms.

AAU Postpones Its Decision

HOUSTON (AP)—The registration committee of the Gulf Amateur Athletic Union spent four hours behind closed doors Monday night but postponed any further action on the temporary suspension of eight Texas Southern University track men.

The Pirates, a team composed of boys who have completed their eligibility at the local high school, defeated the Warriors, 52-48, in the YMCA Summer Basketball League here Monday night.

The contest was close all the way. Three of the winners hit in double figures, with Bob Andrews leading the way with 14 points.

Dick Ebling and Baxter Moore each tossed in 14 for the Warriors, who trailed at half time, 27-18.

The Celtics forfeited to the Royals in what was to have been the other game.

On Thursday night, the Royals will oppose the Warriors at 7 p.m. while the Pirates tangle with the Celtics at 8:15.

Winders To Stage Poker Run Monday

Manifolds and heads for the club car, donated by Alvin Moore of Thurmont, Maryland, were accepted by members of the Winders Auto Club at their regular meeting Monday night.

Moore is a brother to the club president, Autry Moore.

Plans were discussed for a drag strip here and Larry Bailey was elected to assemble more information on the procedure for obtaining a National hot Rod Association charter.

The club will sponsor a "poker run" following the club meeting next Monday and everyone is eligible to take part.

Entry fee was set at 50 cents. A set of moon wheel discs will be awarded the winner.

Those who would like to compete can report to the Winders Club House at 15th and Lexington Street at 9 p.m. next Monday.

Mosley Is Low In Publinks

Paul Mosley, 35-year-old billing clerk for Cosden Refinery, led qualifiers for the 36th Amateur Public Links Championship, held Monday at The Municipal Golf Course.

Mosley's two rounds of 75-70—145, was one-under par for the 36 holes. His three-under-par 70 in the afternoon round was made despite a two stroke penalty for playing the wrong ball on the 17th hole.

Mosley called the penalty on himself after discovering that he had inadvertently played a ball that was not his.

2.	Bobby Bluhm	78-72—150
3.	Charles Bailey	74-77—151
4.	Jimmy Newsom	77-77—154

Others who played included Jimmy Patterson, Bobby Rutherford, Tommy Wilkerson, Dan Lewis, Moe Madison and Eddie Acri.

Funds are needed to help defray the expenses of Big Spring's qualifier to the Amateur Public Links Championship to be held at the Rackham Golf Course, Detroit, Mich., July 10 through 15, 1961. Those who have donated include: Daryle Hobertz, Jack Cook, Joe Clark, John A. Burgess, Marvin Saunders, Obie Bristow, Novis Womack, R. H. Weaver, Harold Rosson, Gil Jones, Bill Haggerty, R. S. McCulbah, Hull & Phillips Food Stores, G. F. Gideon, J. W. Atkins, Gibbs & Weeks Mens Store, Jimmy Jones Shell Station.

Contributions may be sent to Bill Crooker c-o Cosden, Shorty Gideon at Municipal Golf Shop or John M. Pipes at P.O. Box 1144.

Daggers Rally To Defeat Talons In Int. League

The Daggers charged from behind with three runs in the fifth inning to defeat the Talons, 9-7, in an International Little League game here Monday night.

Mike Sullivan sparked the fifth inning outbreak for the Daggers with a double, his second of the game. Eddie Faubion of the Daggers and Wayne Turner of the Talons also hit doubles.

Benny Chaverria was the winning hurler. Although he gave up only four hits, Ambrosia Sanchez was charged with the defeat.

The Cabots withstood a fourth inning uprising on the part of the Stars and went on to register an 11-5 victory in an American Little League game here Monday night.

Wesley Ballou, third of three Cabot hurlers to see action, did the most effective job of staying the Star power and notched the mound win. Ricky Olson and Gary Chrane also saw mound action for the winners.

In all, the Cabots crashed out ten hits, four of which were off the bat of Charles Macklin—all singles. Phillip Bartlett collected two hits, including a double, for the winners.

Pat Armstrong had a triple and a single for the Stars.

Mexicans Win, 8-5

PUEBLA, Mex. (AP)—Mexican players belted four pitchers from a foreign selection with 16 hits to win the first all-star game of the Mexican League 8-5 Monday night.

Steen Pitches Devils To Win

The Devils, benefitting from the stellar one-hit pitching of Ronnie Steen, exploded their heavy artillery in the first two innings to defeat the Dodgers, 3-0, in a National Little League engagement here Monday night.

Russ McEwen scored the Devil's first run in the opening frame on a hit by Charles Russell.

The Devils picked up two more tallies in the second when Steen and Ralph Choate spiked the dish. Both had walked.

Richard Cauley had two of the Devils' five hits, both of them singles.

In all, Steen fanned 11 and surrendered four walks. He also hit a batter. The only hit he yielded was a sixth inning double by Mike Hall.

In the minor league engagement, the Aces outlasted the Red Sox, 16-14. The Aces started off with an eight-run first inning and were never headed.

IOC Okehs '64 Olympic Dates

ATHENS, Greece (AP)—The International Olympic Committee today approved the dates for the 1964 summer Olympic Games in Tokyo—starting Oct. 9 or Oct. 10 and ending Oct. 25.

The winter games will be held in Innsbruck, Austria, from Jan. 29 to Feb. 9.

The reason for uncertainty on the exact starting date of the Tokyo Olympic is that the summer games, for the first time, will have a full day of rest following opening day ceremonies.

Originally the Japanese proposed that the games open Oct. 11. Monday the IOC ruled there should be a day of rest.

Five More Contestants Sign For Jaycee Beauty Pageant

Five more contestants have signed for the Junior Miss Big Spring contest and one for the Miss Big Spring competition, a preliminary to the Miss Texas and Miss America pageants.

Both local contests will be held June 29 in the city auditorium; the program is sponsored by the Big Spring Jaycees.

Girls between 16 to 18 years of age are eligible for the junior division, while girls 18 to 28 may enter the senior division and have a chance to compete for Miss Texas at Beaumont later in the summer. Further information and applications may be obtained from Winston Wrinkle, KBST radio.

STATISTICS

Vital statistics on the six girls were released by Bill Mancill, chairman of the pageant. Jan Theresa Gentili, 17, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Gentili, Allendale Road, entrant in the junior division. Height 5' 5½", weight 117 pounds, 35-23-36, blond hair, blue eyes, fair complexion. She is sponsored by First Federal Savings and Loan and her talent is ballet and modern jazz. She plans to attend University of Texas after completing high school next year.

Barbara Ann Bahn, 17, entered in junior division. She is the daughter of T. Sgt. and Mrs. Arthur G. Bahn, 2302 Marshall. Brown eyes, black hair, fair complexion; height 5' 3", weight 131 pounds, 36-25-37. Her talent is voice, and she plans to attend North Texas State College or the University of Arkansas to continue her education.

Conservation District To Enter National Contest

The Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District has entered the National Soil Conservation Awards program sponsored by the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company, Akron, Ohio, Jack W. Buchanan, district chairman, announced today.

Members of the Martin-Howard District will compete against other districts in Texas. Committees selected from the state's outstanding exponents of the soil conservation movement, will determine the winning district for May 1, 1961 through April 30, 1962. Selection will be on the basis of total points scored in performance of regular district duties.

Ben Day, work unit conservationist, explained that the extent of conservation practices instituted in the district counts heavily in the scoring. Participation by members in soil conservation activities, meetings, etc. is important also.

"Our men have entered twice before and have not won," Day said. "This time they are going all out to win it."

The grand award for one member of the winning district's governing body will be an expense-free vacation to the Wigwam Guest Ranch on Goodyear Farms, Litchfield Park, Ariz. The top cooperating farmer or rancher in the district will also receive the award.

Members of the Martin-Howard District competing for the award are Jack W. Buchanan, Bernard Houston, J. D. Crawford, Bob Cox and Larry Shaw.

Does Not Agree With Rickover

ANNAPOLIS, Md. (AP)—The superintendent of the U.S. Naval Academy says he does not agree with Vice Adm. Hyman G. Rickover that the military academies should be reformed or closed.

Rear Adm. John F. Davidson, through the academy's Public Information Office, Monday released a "no comment" statement which also said, "in general, he does not agree with Adm. Rickover's views regarding the Naval Academy, as stated in the newspapers the superintendent has seen."

Rickover, 61, in secret testimony before the House Appropriations Committee last month, called for the abolishment of the service academies unless drastic steps are taken to improve them.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John Tower, R-Tex., appointed Monday Jim Clay, 37, staff member of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, his legislative assistant and press secretary.

Bids To Be Opened

Bids for the construction of a shop building and fueling center at Webb Air Force Base were to be opened Tuesday afternoon at Fort Worth. Local office of the U.S. Corps of Engineers said that details on the bids would probably be available here on Wednesday.

LETTER

What About Empty Seats At Stadium?

To the Editor:

It's good to know that the members of our school board are not so petrified that they cannot enact legislation which disturbs many and feathers the pens of a few bolder ones. However, it seems to me that the disturbed ones are looking only at the gridiron, and that the grandstand is completely absent, not even in the picture.

Memorial stadium seats 10,000 people, but we never have lured more than 7,000 paying customers into it at one time. We boast that we have a population of 43,000 people. In my book, that means there are 25,000 people in our town who do not love and respect the athletic program of our school enough to support it at the gate, win, lose or draw.

So it seems strange to me that the disturbed ones can see the importance of an athletic program in our high school, and then apparently overlook the importance of supporting the boys in Gold and Black at the gate. No one seems to get disturbed about the rows and rows of empty seats in the grandstand.

TOWER BOMBERS

Haystack Search Finally Yielded Missing Needle

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—The FBI says a needle-in-the-haystack search led to the arrest in a Mexican harbor of two men accused of blasting three communications towers last month.

In jail here are Bernard Jerome Brous, 51, leader of what he called "the American Republican Army," and his lieutenant, Dale Chris Jensen, 23.

They were turned over to the federal officials at the border Sunday by Mexican police, who arrested them aboard an arms-laden yacht at Ensenada Saturday night.

FBI officials in Los Angeles Monday told this story of tracing the men:

Before and after the three American Telephone & Telegraph Co. towers in Nevada and Utah were blasted May 28, crank letters telling of a grudge against the company were mailed to various U.S. newspapers.

Some asked for recruits in Brous' so-called army—which may have consisted just of Brous and Jensen—and were signed "John Brown of Harpers Ferry." (Like the John Brown hanged for the pre-Civil War raid at Harpers Ferry, Va., Brous is bearded.)

The letters were postmarked Los Angeles, and the search centered here. Agents traced them to Brous, who had been living in the harbor city of Wilmington under the name of Robert Hill (How he was traced wasn't disclosed).

"It was a needle-in-the-haystack search," said Los Angeles special agent in charge William G. Simon.

"We learned he had purchased a 47-foot yacht, armed it heavily, and departed with his wife, Minnie, and Jensen, for Ensenada," Simon said.

He said FBI agents arranged with Mexican authorities to arrest the men Saturday.

Brous told Mexican authorities he devised the plot to blast the unmanned towers as a part of a movement against big business. He said Jensen, a miner from Reno, Nev., did the job.

The two men were arraigned here Monday on conspiracy charges. Held for questioning are Brous' wife, who is 40, and Robert Gerald Bortoli, 28, a Reno, Nev., gambling dealer, who were aboard the yacht Monsoon when the two alleged plotters were seized.

Education Bill Has Slim Chance

WASHINGTON (AP) — House Speaker Sam Rayburn today described as not very good the prospect for passage of President Kennedy's aid-to-education program in this session of Congress.

He also said there is a country-wide campaign against the administration's foreign aid program, but said he believes Congress in the end will decide "we need it."

Rayburn talked with newsmen following the weekly conference of Democratic legislative leaders with Kennedy.

Rayburn said he does not know just who is behind the campaign against foreign aid, but remarked there are "some hate societies running in the country." He said they are against everything.

Baptist Church Merger Complete

ODESSA (AP) — The Mexican Baptist Convention of Texas became a part of the Baptist General Convention of Texas in unification ceremonies Monday.

The merger, climaxing several years of negotiations, was effected at the 51-year-old Mexican group's convention which ends Thursday.

Speaking for the 1,500,000-member Baptist group were its president, Dr. James Landes of Wichita Falls, and its executive secretary, T. A. Patterson.

Rescued After Night On Sandbar

ANAHUAC, Tex. (AP) — Mrs. Faye Riley and her young son John were rescued Monday from a windswept Trinity Bay sandbar after spending 18 hours vigil near the body of her husband.

John H. Riley, 45, of Pasadena apparently died of a heart attack while trying to start the stalled motor of their boat. He slumped into the boat as Mrs. Riley and the boy, 6, watched helplessly.

A fishing camp operator found Mrs. Riley and her son huddled behind a log. The boat with Riley's body was beached.

Inter-Club Council Gains Momentum

The Inter-Club Council being sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce appears to be gaining impetus after a dismal showing at the first organizational meeting. Fifteen clubs and civic organizations were represented at the second meeting held Monday at noon in the Settles Hotel.

Goals of the council were outlined and Joe Pendleton, representing the American Legion, was appointed temporary chairman. A permanent chairman will be appointed at the next meeting. After that, chairmanship will rotate from club to club on an alphabetical basis.

CLEARING HOUSE

"The council will be a central agency to coordinate dates for club events so there will be no conflicts and each event can be as successful as possible," Carroll Davidson, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, said in outlining the purpose of the new organization.

"It will not be a governing body," he stressed, "and members of it need not abide by any decision it makes. It will only try to help civic organizations plan dates for their events to be most beneficial for them."

Any organization may become a member if it wishes to select a representative to attend the meetings, Davidson said meetings would be held each month.

NEXT MEETING

The next meeting will be held July 17, Davidson said. It will be a breakfast meeting and the place will be announced later.

Present were Mary E. Brown and Mrs. A. F. Gilliland, Rebekah Lodge 284; Josephine Smith, Rebekah Lodge 153; Horace Smith and Wayne E. McDade, IOOF 117; Mrs. O. S. Womack, Big Spring Garden Club Council and Hyperion Council; Charles Lusk and T. A. Thigpen, Optimist; Ralph McLaughlin and W. C. Blankenship, Rotary; and J. C. Eudy, Masonic Lodge 1340.

Others are Ernest Welch, Kiwanis; David Hopper, Knights of Pythias; W. L. Thompson, Evening Lions; Joe Pendleton, American Legion; A. F. Gilliland, Mullin Lodge 372; Eugene Thomas, ABC Club, and Roscoe Cone, independent.

Not present at this meeting was Edith Gay, Business and Professional Women's Club.

Col. O'Donnell To Be Speaker

Speaker for the graduation exercises to be held Friday night for members of Class 61-G-1 will be Col. John C. O'Donnell, assistant director, airman personnel, headquarters, Air Training Command.

Wings will be presented to the 35 new jet pilots during the exercises which begin at 7:30 o'clock in the base chapel.

Born in Oakland, Md., Col. O'Donnell started his military career 21 years ago and was commissioned in the Air Corps at Maxwell AFB, Ala. in 1941.

During World War II he flew 40 missions in the Southwest Pacific—logging 100 combat hours in a B-26 and 75 combat hours in a B-25. He is credited with the destruction of four enemy aircraft.

Col. O'Donnell received his BS degree from Antioch College, Ohio, in 1947 and attended the Army Language School at Presidio, Calif. in 1952.

After serving as a staff planning officer at headquarters USAF, Col. O'Donnell served in the Caribbean Air Command until 1955 as an advisor to the Chilean Air Force. He has since served as base commander of Hondo Air Base.

Rated a command pilot, Col. O'Donnell's decorations include the Air Medal, Distinguished Flying Cross and the Air Force Commendation Medal.

Lt. Col Henry G. Victor, commander, 3560th Pilot Training Group, will present diplomas to the graduationg pilots and the instructors will pass out wings.

Domestic Crude To Be Increased

WASHINGTON A(P) — A Bureau of Mines revised forecast says production of domestic crude oil this year will be 7,144,000 barrels daily, or 1.5 per cent more than during 1960.

The forecast Monday was a reduction from an estimate last December that production would run 7,210,000 barrels daily this year, or 2.7 per cent more than the estimated 1960 output.

At that time output was estimated at 7,020,000 barrels daily during 1960 and actually it turned out to be 7,035,000 barrels daily.

The revised forecast for total demand of all oil for this year is 10,036,000 barrels daily or 1.6 per cent more than the actual 1960 demand. The original forecast was for total demand of 10,054,000 barrels daily.

Yancey Takes Walker's Post

AUSTIN (AP) — Maj. Gen. Thomas Yancey, a combat veteran of World War II and the Korean War, has assumed command of the 110,000-man 8th Army Corps.

The corps has headquarters here and controls all Army Reservists in Texas and New Mexico.

Maj. Gen. Edwin Walker originally was assigned to command the corps. He was reassigned after a reprimand.

Offered Rebates

KERMIT, Tex. (AP)—An indictment of Homer Trimble, Austin engineer, on charges of offering cash rebates to two Kermit city officials to help him secure contracts was disclosed Monday. Trimble is accused of offering Mayor Burt Stevens and Councilman Joe Merlett $15,000 on April 10 to help him obtain city contracts.

This Lad Used His Head Twice

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (AP)—Jerry Newton, 12, used his head to get his pop a Father's Day gift.

His mother almost cried Saturday when she saw the haircut she thought he had paid $1.50 for.

"Uh, I went to the barber school and got it for 75 cents," Jerry said.

"Looks like he did it himself," said Jerry's older sister.

Then Jerry confessed. He had cut his own hair and used the money to buy his father a gift—a shining can opener for Newton's fishing cabin.

Moppet, 2½, Now Proud Owner Of A Library Card

WEST NEW YORK, N.J. (AP)—Florence Jacobs is the proud owner of public library card No. 4536.

The card will enable her to pursue such favorite subects as rocketry and the geography of outer space. It will bring her an endless supply of the long, tongue-twisting words that she likes to spell.

2½ YEARS

Florence is 2½ years old.

The brown-eyed, 39-pound bundle of answers applied for her card Monday, but it took a little doing to get it. Library regulations are that card holders must be at least seven years old.

But after a meeting with Florence, Mayor John J. Armellino made an exception to the rule. "She's probably the youngest card holder in the country," the surprised mayor said.

Her mother, Marie Jacobs, said Florence already has read some 60 books through the seventh-grade level. She learned the alphabet when she was a year old and now spells more than 300 difficult words. Florence's father, Jerome, is a business consultant.

DICTIONARY

"I tell her that words are beautiful," said Mrs. Jacobs. "I pronounce new words with great excitement. And Florence uses the dictionary to learn new ones."

Skeptical newsmen, attending the special card-granting ceremony, started questioning Florence.

"What happened May 5, 1961?" she was asked.

"Alan Shepard Jr. was the first American to shoot into space. And that was a magnificent achievement," Florence replied.

"What are the hazards in outer space for a spaceman?"

"Cosmic rays and ultraviolet radiation," chirped Florence, "and you call a spaceman an astronaut."

She volunteered that rockets have several stages and are propelled by "liquid, solid, exotic and metal" fuels.

NAMED PLANETS

To cap her performance, she named the planets and their satellites and ticked off, in alphabetical order, all the 50 states in the United States.

Florence then lettered her name on a library card presented by Florence Osiensky, librarian, and strutted out the door, card in hand.

But one newsman had one more question to ask.

"What do you want to be when you grow up?" he shouted.

"A mother," Florence called over her shoulder.

Garden Work

MEXICO CITY (AP)—The government plans to spend five million pesos ($400,000) to improve Xochimilco, a network of canals between lush gardens built by the Aztec and a prime tourist attraction. The work will take about two years.

DEAR ABBY

Where Children Have Failed

DEAR ABBY: Our daughter just finished her freshman year at a good eastern school. She brought home a habit that her father and I do not approve of. She smokes. Here is her "excuse": She said that when she started dating boys from some of the fine eastern schools, she learned that if she had a cigarette in her mouth, they couldn't kiss her. Now, Abby, please don't think this is a joke. She told us this in all seriousness. We would like your opinion of her explanation.

DEFEATED

DEAR DEFEATED: Don't you believe it. She just likes to smoke. A little thing like a lighted cigarette would not discourge some of the men in those "fine eastern schools." They are fire-eaters.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I recently had a baby girl. After three boys, you can imagine our joy. We named her Deborah Susan. She is only a few months old, and people are calling her "Debbie."

If I had wanted her called "Debbie," I would have named her "Debbie." Her name is Deborah Susan and I wish people would call her that. My relatives say that when she starts school, everyone will call her "Debbie," whether I like it or not, so I had better get used to it. Is there any way I can get people to call her by her proper name?

DEBORAH SUSAN'S MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: You are fighting a losing battle. Deborah Susan is a lovely name, but it is quite a mouthful. Relax and get used to "Debbie" because by the time your daughter is 4, if you call her "Deborah Susan," she will think you are annoyed with her.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: My parents and my husband's parents have a key to our home, which we gave them in "case of emergency."

My in-laws have never used their key, nor have they entered my home without being invited. My parents use the key whenever we are not at home, or when we do not answer the door. My husband has never said anything about it, but I know he is annoyed. I don't blame him. I am annoyed, too. Can you suggest some way to stop this without making a major issue of it? I resent knowing we have so little privacy.

NO PRIVACY

DEAR NO: Call a Summit Meeting with your parents. There's no need to include your husband. They're YOUR parents—not his. First define "emergency," and then tell them you would appreciate it if they used the key only in case of emergency.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I liked your answer to the girl who felt she was cursed because she was unusually tall. It reminded me of this story.

A friend of mine lost two fingers from his right hand. An awkward defect for a business man who must continually shake hands. This man adjusted to his defect magnificently. I once asked him how he did it. He replied, "All persons have defects—it just happens that mine shows."

BEN
