Weather Warning Sounded

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Cold wave warnings were out Thursday as a new blizzard headed toward Texas threatening heavy snows and zero temperatures for the Panhandle and South Plains.

The new front, racing down the eastern half of Colorado was due to extend into the northwest part of North Central Texas Thursday night and spread through the rest of the state Friday.

The snow was expected to reach deep into North Central Texas. Scattered showers were forecast for the rest of the state. Lows of zero to 15 degrees were predicted for the Panhandle and South Plains. 15 to 30 in other parts of West Texas, 12 to 20 in the northwest part of North Central Texas and 20 to 30 elsewhere in North Central Texas.

Except for patches of clear skies around Wink, Salt Flat, Midland and Childres, skies were cloudy across the state early Thursday with heavy fog along the coast and elsewhere.

Early morning temperatures were unseasonably high. In many places they were only a few degrees below the afternoon highs Wednesday.

The lowest overnight temperatures were Childress' 29 degrees and Lubbock's 30. All other minimums were above freezing.

They included Dalhart 35; Amarillo 39; Abilene 40; El Paso 43; Waco 49; Dallas 50; Texarkana 55; San Antonio 59; Del Rio 61; Lufkin 64 Corpus Christi 67; and Houston 69.

The mercury hit 90 degrees Wednesday at Laredo, highest reading in the nation. Alice had 83, Brownsville 82, Victoria 84, Lufkin 80, El Paso 60, Dallas 52, Wichita Falls 44, Dalhat 46, and Amarillo 39.

It was warm and windy near noon at Amarillo but local forecasters warned that temperatures down to 5 above could be expected before Friday morning, along with snow flurries.

Temperatures remained mild over the rest of the state Thursday.

Cold wave warnings were posted for the Panhandle and South Plains Thursday night and for the northwest portion of North Central Texas Friday. Snow flurries were predicted throughout the area.

The freeze line was expected to dip south to the Del Rio-Eagle Pass area where minimums of 30 to 38 were forecast for Friday.

FLOWERS FOR MAMIE—Cadet Roger Huggins of Elkadar, Iowa, presents a bouquet of roses to Mrs. Eisenhower as the President looks on following their arrival at Moultrie, Ga. The President and his party are spending a 10-day vacation at Milestone Plantation as guests of Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey.

Survey For Freeway Delayed By Council

At the insistance of 11 owners of businesses on highway streets here yesterday afternoon the city council voted to delay any action on the state highway departments request for city approval of state freeway survey which would aim at eventual freeway bypasses for Snyder.

The highway department had requested the City of Snyder, through the city council, and Scurry County by action of the commissioners court, to give approval to the highway department to make a survey from southeast of Snyder past or through east Snyder, and around to north Snyder for a 300-foot wide right-of-way for the proposed bypass.

The proposed bypass would connect the Sweetwater, and Roby highways southeast of Snyder with the Lubbock highway northwest of Snyder.

The highway department district office in Abilene had requested city and county approval by today in order to request funds for the project in this year's district budget.

Cost of the project has been estimated at about $2,250,000 by Jake Roberts, district engineer for the highway department's Abilene district.

On motion of Dr. Robert H. Hargrove the council voted to have the city planning and zoning commission study the request for the by-pass before the council takes any action on the request.

Present at the meeting were J .W. Phillips, mayor pro-tem who presided in the absence of Malven K. Stevenson, mayor, who is recuperating from a recent illness; council men G. W. Parks, Jr., Hargrove, Walter Hales, and Hollis Fields.

The presiding mayor pro-tem did not vote on the motion, and Hales did not vote, either for or against the motion. Hargrove, Fields and Parks voted in favor of letting the planning and zoning commission study the proposal before action is taken by the council.

Roy Dunlap, city manager, in a report to the council on his study of the proposed by-pass, said that the commissioners court and county judge had given 100 per cent approval to the highway department for the survey, and had sent a letter confirming their approval to the district highway engineer.

Parks, however, stated that it was his understanding that the county judge and two commissioners did not favor the survey at this time.

Dunlap said the state was studying the by-pass plan to coordinate it with other extensive highway improvements in this area which would eventually permit routing of much more traffic over U. S. Highway 180 which runs east and west through Snyder from Fort Worth to El Paso, and over U. S. 84 which goes north and south through Snyder from south Texas to the Panhandle.

"The State Highway Department believes the by-pass would mean more traffic through Snyder," Dunlap said.

Also present at last night's meeting were 11 business operators, or ex-operators of businesses located on Twenty-fifth Street, the East Highway, or Avenue S.

Ex-mayor of the city Harry Holbrook, owner of the Sunset Courts in west Snyder on U. S. 180, voiced dissapproval to the council concerning the survey. "A little businessman cannot pickup his business and move it to a new by pass," Holbrook said.

W. P. (Bill) Davis, owner of the Three D Motel on U. S. 180 in east Snyder, in voicing disapproval of the proposal suggested that the city of Snyder construct more through streets in Snyder to handle traffic leaving highway streets open to easier movement of through traffic, thereby eliminating the need for by-passes.

Mrs. Harold Brown, who stated that she and her husband had operated a grocery store for 10 years and an automobile agency for 10 years, both on highway streets here, said that "I'm anxious for growth of Snyder, but I am against by-passes."

She said that the money from tourist trade is the cash profit of highway-located businesses.

Dunlap quoted two different sources of information, one a magazine prepared by the Ford Motor Co., and the other a magazine prepared by the Caterpillar Tractor Co., both as saying that by-passes helped cities by reducing city-street traffic by about 40 per cent while at the same time increasing business in the city's stores by as much as 60 per cent.

Some of the other citizens present also voiced disapproval of the proposed by-pass.

The minutes of the commissioners court of Scurry County for Jan 23, shows that at a joint meeting of the court and city council held that day in which Jake Roberts requested approval of both the city and county, that all members of the commissioners court approved the request, and that all members of the city council present at the meeting also voted as favoring the proposal.

Yesterday's vote of the council apparently modifies the council's expression at the joint meeting.

Stock Group Opens Drive For Members

Officers of the Scurry County Junior Livestock Association today asked co-operation of merchants and other residents here as they begin their membership drive for the association.

The $10 memberships help the association to stage the annual Scurry County Junior Livestock Show, which will be held March 1-3 this year. The show is open to all members of the four Future Farmers of America chapters in the county and to all 4-H Club members.

The agriculture clubbers will show their calves, swine, and sheep in the show.

Max West, secretary-treasurer of the association, said the show annually has more than 100 boys' stock entered.

The association has as its goal about 500 members this year.

Morton Quits Top Position

THOMASVILLE, Ga. (AP) — The White House today announced the resignation of Thruston B. Morton as assistant secretary of state to seek the Republican nomination for U.S. senator from Kentucky.

Morton's resignation to bid for the Senate had been forecast. He will seek the seat now held by a Democrat, Earle Clements.

The letter to Eisenhower was dated yesterday.

In the State Department Morton has handled legislative matters and department relations with Congress.

There has been talk that John Sherman Cooper, a former Republican senator from Kentucky, might resign as ambassador to India to run again for the Senate.

Train Kills Men In State

HOUSTON (AP)—The Southern Pacific's inbound Owl killed two men today at the edge of the city.

The passenger train was moving at about 60 miles an hour en route from Dallas when its fireman spotted what he believed was a "cow or a big piece of paper on the tracks."

It was foggy and semi-dark at 5:55 a.m.

A car with Florida license plates was found two miles east of the accident on U.S. 290.

The dead were identified from papers as Ray Hamrick, 20, Dallas and J. L. Wells, 62, of Detroit.

An unusually large quantity of cigarettes in a variety of brands, sunglasses and notions were found nearby.

"Once I recognized the objects on the track as a man," said fireman F. A. Pellerin, 53, "it was too late. I hollered to the engineer to slam on the emergency brakes."

Engineer Arthur Grumoles, 67, acted at once, but the train rolled over the man, dragging one body 792 feet and the other 330.

In Hamrick's pockets deputy Sheriff W. L. Allison found parole papers. The Owl was 65 minutes late reaching Houston.

Work Is Started On Snyder Street

Work was started today by county road machinery on Avenue A in southeast Snyder in Doyle Parmer's commissioner precinct.

The work is preliminary to one-course pavement of the portion of the street.

The portion of Avenue A from the East Highway to the East Elementary School campus is calichied.

Burglary Of Sport Shop Is Reported

A .22 caliber pistol and several watches were stolen in a burglary last night of the Sport Shop in the 2400 block of Avenue S, Travis L. Steele, police chief, said.

Steele said that preliminary investigation this morning did not reveal an exact list of the articles stolen or indicate their value.

Investigation was to continue today. No arrests have been made so far.

Concession Granted For Offshore Venture

BOGOTA (AP)—A concession for a 20 million dollar offshore oil venture in Colombia's Tolu Bay and Morrosquillo Gulf has been granted by the Colombian government.

John Mecom of Houston is providing 75 per cent of the investment and the Colombian Oil Co. the rest.

Mecom, now in Honduras, is to return here within two weeks to direct operations. Drilling equipment is to arrive within two months.

Jail Breakers Are Captured

DALLAS (AP) — Two Fredonia, Kan., jail breakers were held today and a third was sought after police bumped over a railroad trestle to end a chase of the men in a stolen auto.

Patrolmen arrested one of the car in north Dallas after driving men as the three abandoned their over a railroad trestle trying to evade the officers.

Police identified the captured men as Marvin Igo, 23, and William O'Hanlon, 64. They said the pair agreed to waive extradition to Kansas where they escaped jail at Fredonia Tuesday night. The third man is James Guthrie, 23.

O'Hanlon told patrolmen the three had gone to Wichita after escaping the Fredonia jail and got an auto which they drove here. He said the car belonged to Guthrie, but Kansas officers reported it had been stolen in Wichita.

Indictments Returned

COLORADO CITY (AP) — Indictments were returned yesterday against three men in the slaying of a Negro who was shot July 17, 1947. Indicted were Haskell Miles of Colorado City, Bryant Dawson of Cisco and John Davidson. The victim was Israel Gardiner.

Senate To Start Probe Of Election Influence

Dr. Sainburg Gives Self Up In New York

ITHACA, N.Y. (AP)— Dr. Frank Sainburg of Big Spring, Tex., surrendered today and was charged at once with twice kidnaping his son from the custody of the boy's mother.

Sainburg, who previously had been fighting extradition to New York, did not explain his reasons for appearing.

He surrendered to Police Chief William Simmers, who charged him with kidnaping Phillip Sainburg II from the home of his former wife here Jan. 14, 1954, and from a nursery school here Nov. 14, 1955.

Sainburg's attorney, William Dicker, came to the police station minutes before Sainburg appeared to say that the physician planned to give himself up.

Sainburg was taken to county court where he pleaded innocent before Judge Norman Stagg.

He was accused of second-degree assault, burglary and kidnaping in the 1954 incident and with kidnaping in connection with the 1955 disappearance of the child, 4.

Sainburg was released on $10,000 bail to appear during the April term of County Court in Ithaca.

Dist. Atty. Frederick Bryant said in court he understood Sainburg had resigned as physician on the staff of the Big Spring Veterans' Hospital.

It was not disclosed what disposition had been made of the extradition proceeding, based on a fugitive charge in the November disappearance of Phillip.

The child was found with Sainburg in Yuma, Ariz., early in December and has since been returned to his mother, Miss Doris Blanchard, of Ithaca, who resumed her maiden name after her marriage to Sainburg was annulled.

MOTHER NAMED STUDENT BODY SWEETHEART — Mrs. Mina Wagoneller, mother of two children, and widow of a state senator, was named the University of Texas Law School's Portia-sweetheart of the student body. This is the highest honor the law school can bestow on a woman student.

Proposal Gets Unanimous Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — A three-member Senate Elections subcommittee decided today to undertake a broad investigation into any efforts by "selfish interests" to influence federal elections or legislation with campaign contributions.

"The subcommittee intends to explore this matter fully to the end that the American people may be advised of the facts," Chairman Gore D-Tenn) said in a statement he read to newsmen.

He added the subcommittee had "determined to conduct a study of contributions to elections campaigns, federal elections and such evidence of corrupt practices as may be revealed."

Gore said the statement had been unanimously adopted by the subcommittee. The other members are Sens. Mansfield (D-Mont) and Curtis (R-Neb).

Gore said the inquiry he had in mind would be "far wider" than any contributions or pressures involved in the natural gas bill and would "run throughout the year."

The gas bill, to exempt producers of natural gas from direct federal controls, was passed by the Senate last week amid complaints of pressure from both sides. It is now awaiting action by President Eisenhower.

A special committee, set up under the chairmanship of Sen. George (D-Ga), spent the weekend investigating whether a $2,500 campaign contribution rejected by Sen. Francis Case (R-SD) was designed to influence his vote on the gas bill. Case voted against the bill after telling the Senate about the contribution offer.

George told newsmen he felt the special committee already had developed all the essential facts about this incident and added he knew of nothing at this time to justify asking the Senate to continue its inquiry or to enlarge its authority.

He said he had told Gore that "unless something of a startling nature occurs which I do not now foresee, I hope we can make a report to the Senate next week . . . and ask to be discharged."

Earlier, however, Sen. Bridges (R-NH) said in a statement he thought the special committee should seek Senate authority to inquire into what he called "a great deal of pressure" on senators in connection with the gas bill.

The other Republican member of the committee, Sen. Thye of Minnesota, similarly has advocated that its scope be broadened to cover all contributions "having any possible relationship" to the gas bill. Thye voted against the bill.

But Sen. Hayden (D-Ariz), the fourth member of the group, indicated he agreed with George that it ought not to go beyond the Case incident. Hayden voted for the bill, George against it.

Meantime, a federal grand jury suspended temporarily its investigation of the $2,500 offer to Case which the Senate Committee was told came indirectly from personal funds of Howard B. Keck, president of the Superior Oil Co. of California.

After spending two days on it, the grand jury today turned to other matters.

While Justice Department officials continued their silence, it was learned that the grand jury will resume consideration of the Case incident next week, probably Monday. Its purpose is to determine whether any criminal laws were violated.

Mollet Gets Approval Of Algeria Plan

PARIS (AP)—The French Cabinet endorsed Premier Guy Mollet's policies for Algeria today and authorized him to bring his proposals before the National Assembly this afternoon.

The Socialist Premier's plan was expected to hinge on his controversial proposal to set up a one-house Algerian legislature of both Moslems and French colonists as soon as possible. Mollet hopes this will produce Algerian leadership with which France can negotiate for an end to the 15 months of fighting between Moslem nationalists and French troops.

To quiet Algeria's French colonists who opposed such a proposal last week with riots and demonstrations, Mollet was reported planning to offer guarantees—as yet unspecified—against their being swamped. Algerian Moslems outnumber the French 8 to 1; at present each has its own legislative house with the French chamber dominant.

Presentation of Mollet's proposals was expected to furnish a respite from the filibustering and brawling in the Assembly by followers of antitax leader Pierre Poujade. They have brought the chamber to a virtual standstill for the past two weeks battling attempts to unseat 12 Poujadist deputies whose elections have been challenged.

The matter broke into open violence yesterday when Poujadist and leftist deputies disrupted an Assembly session with a slugging match for possession of the speaker's rostum. The session was finally uspended after six deputies had suffered bloody noses and cracked heads.

Mollet prepared to address the Assembly against a backdrop of french violence in both Algeria and Tunisia. French sources said 88 persons had been killed in the 24 hours ending last night.

British To Withdraw Troops From Japan

TOKYO (AP) — British Commonwealth forces in Japan will be withdrawn and those in Korea reduced to a battalion, it was announced here tonight. There now are 6,000 to 7,000 troops in the two countries — most in Korea. The battalion left in Korea would include Canadian medical personnel, Australian signal corp troops and New Zealand transport elements. It will have some other supporting troops.

The cutback marks another move in the shrinking of Western forces here and in Korea. The United States has withdrawn all but two of its former eight divisions in Korea and in ground strength is down to one division and two regimental combat teams in Japan. These are to be further reduced under plans already announced.

Soviets May Try For United Front

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Soviet high command appears to be planning a revival of the "united front" technique to try to gain power and respectability for the Communist parties of Western European nations.

The technique—used with considerable success in the past—is the establishment of working arrangements between local Communist parties and such non-Communist groups as the Socialists.

U. S. officials think they see a tipoff to renewed emphasis on "united front" drives in the speech given by Soviet Communist party boss Nikita Khrushchev to the party Congress now meeting in Moscow.

Another aspect of the speech which has aroused considerable interest here is its possible bearing on the fate of Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov.

Molotov said in a speech a year ago that only the foundations of socialism had been built in the Soviet Union. After he was officially criticized, he amended that to say Soviet Socialist (that is, Communist) society was already strongly developed in the Soviet Union. Molotov publicly confessed error.

Khrushchev, without naming Molotov, brought up his "erroneous" statement Tuesday and again denounced it as misleading. This renewed speculation that Molotov may be on the way out.

In general, Khrushchev worked hard through many thousands of words to establish two major themes, as his speech is read here. One is that Soviet communism is moving invincibly forward to cover the world. The other was that of peace.

He sharply modified Communist theories that war between Communist and capitalist states is inevitable and that violent overthrow of established governments is required.

Legislative Meet Is Eyed

AUSTIN (AP)—Atty. Gen. Shepperd said yesterday that if President Eisenhower vetoes the Natural Gas Bill, he will ask Gov. Shivers to call a special session of the Legislature to adopt an interposition resolution.

He sent a telegram to Eisenhower urging him to sign the bill.

Shepperd has said interposition may be the last resort in trying to head off federal control in such matters as regulation of wellhead price of natural gas, settlement of labor disputes and segregation in public transportation.

Interposition is a legal doctrine by which a state seeks to halt federal action which the state believes violates rights reserved for the states.

The attorney general told Eisenhower a "veto of the bill would reverse previous moves to take the federal government out of private business" and that the "oil and gas producing states are in a better position to regulate their own resources..."

Interest Rate Hiked By Bank Of England

LONDON (AP)—The Bank of England raised its interest rate for lending money to its highest level in 24 years — 5½ per cent — in a drastic new move to stem Britain's rising inflation.

The increase — one per cent — will have worldwide repercussions since the Bank of England is the keystone financial institution of the sterling area.

The rate increase was ordered by the new chancellor of the exchequer, Harold Macmillan. Some such move had been expected for weeks following a series of adverse trade figures and sharp criticism of Prime Minister Eden's government because it had failed to halt rising prices at home.

Two Snyder Girls Missing

Police reported today that two 14-year-old Latin American girls have been missing from here for more than a week.

The girls are Nancy Castro, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Castro, and Juanita Villneauva, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Pablo Villneauva.

The girls have been missing since failing to show up at home after going to junior high school on Feb. 7.

Preliminary investigations were made by the city police department, and current investigation is being done by the county sheriff's department.

The girls have been traced to a point south of Ira, where their trail was lost.

Parents of the missing girls said the girls had no money, and wore only light clothing.

Blaze Fatal To 5 Persons

DES MOINES (AP)—Five persons died early today in a fire that swept through a building at the Fort Des Moines veterans housing project just south of the Des Moines city limits.

The victims were identified as Mrs. Bernon Tedrow; a daughter, Rose Marie, 11; a son, Terry, 9; a daughter, Veronica, 7; and a neighbor girl, Margaret Ann Hutchinson, 11.

The Tedrows lived in an apartment on the second floor of the building which houses a tavern and a gymnasium on the first floor. Tedrow and a younger son were away from home at the time.

Firemen from several nearby towns aided in fighting the fire. The Des Moines department had its equipment at a major warehouse fire in the downtown section of the city.

Pentagon To Aid In Trade Inquiry

WASHINGTON (AP)—Sen. McClellan (D-Ark) said today the Pentagon has agreed under prodding to cooperate "to the limit" in an investigation of free world trade with Russia.

The Senate Investigations subcommittee he heads promptly called as a witness John Williams, a civilian machine tools specialist, in its scrutiny of the causes, effects and scope of U. S. agreement to a relaxation of the causes, effects and scope of U. S. agreement to a relaxtion of curbs on Western trade with the Soviets.

Ohio industrialist Ralph R. Baldenhofer testified yesterday that he and Williams protested in vain last spring against removal of embargoes on Western Allies' sales to Russia of machine tools he said could be used to produce "the most modern" of weapons.

"Far better to give them (Russia) the planes, munitions and, yet, even guided missiles," Baldenhofer exclaimed. A guided missile, he said, can be shot only once, but the tools in question could be used to produce many missiles "for years and years and years."

He named no names but said the State Department argued that the precision tools he and Williams said should not be sold to Russia also "could be used for peaceful purposes" and that "therefore they saw no harm in shipping them."

Baldenhofer then was a machine tools specialist on loan to the Commerce Department by the Navy, which he serves as a consultant. He is executive vice president of the Thompson Grinding Machinery Co., Springfield, Ohio.

McClellan contends government officials have tried to block his search into the story behind U. S. agreement to the easing of curbs on Western trade with Russia. Administration officials have said a "net advantage" to the free world resulted from the move.

Baldenhofer testified that a month after the curbs were eased in 1954 Britain accepted orders from Russia for six milling machines which he said could be used to build "a base of machine tools" for war plants. He said one of the machines has been delivered to Russia.

As the reduced list of embargoed machine tool items stands now, Baldenhofer said, it "is not worth the paper it is written on, if you want to bypass it."

Nixon Is Favored As Choice For Eisenhower Running Mate

WASHINGTON (AP) — A cross-section sampling of Senate Republicans and Democrats showed today most of them think that if President Eisenhower runs again Vice President Nixon will be on the GOP ticket.

Eisenhower has indicated he will give his second-term decision around March 1. If he says then he is available, there is little doubt the vice presidential nominee named at the August convention will be the man he wants.

Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ) said he believes Eisenhower will want Nixon to run with him despite what Smith termed "some opposition" within the party.

"I think most of the Republican opposition to Nixon is directed at him as a possible presidential candidate, if the President doesn't run again, rather than as a vice presidential nominee," Smith said.

Sen. Mansfield (D-Mont) said he thinks there is little likelihood of any move by Eisenhower to shelve Nixon.

Sen. Bush (R-Conn) said in view of Eisenhower's complimentary remarks about Nixon he thinks the ticket will be the same as in 1952. Sen. Curtis (R-Neb) agreed.

Sen. Sparkman (D-Ala), the 1952 Democratic vice presidential nominee, said he doesn't think Eisenhower is going to run again. But if he does, the Alabama senator predicted Nixon will be his running mate.

A novel suggestion for the 1956 GOP ticket came from Sen. Long (D-La), who reiterated his contention of a year ago that Eisenhower will not run again.

He predicted in an interview with the New Orleans States that Chief Justice Earl Warren will be the presidential nominee and that Eisenhower will run for the vice presidency so that the GOP can "get the greatest possible use out of the Eisenhower name."

AREA OIL ROUNDUP

Southwest Borden Wildcat Finds Oil

Tennessee Gas Transmission Co. No. 1 Fred Thomas, Southwest Borden County wildcat, found oil and gas on drillstem test of the Pennsylvanian reef.

Interval checked was from 9,049 to 9,059 feet, and tool was open an unreported time. Gas surfaced in two hours and 37 minutes. No gauge or estimate was made on the volume.

Recovery was 767 feet of water blanket and 172 feet of free oil, plus 20 feet of drilling mud. Flowing pressure was 375 pounds, and shut-in pressure in 30 minutes, 3,150 pounds.

Operator cored from 9,059 to 9,065 feet, and was pulling the sample on last report.

The Pennsylvanina reef was topped at 9,053 feet, minus 6,233 feet.

Location is 1,980 feet from north and east lines of section 7, block 33, T-3-N, T&P survey, three miles northeast of Ackerly.

Three-quarters of a mile southwest of the recently opened North Roby (Swastika) field of Central Fisher County, General Crude Oil Co. No. 1 Simpson, showed gas on drillstem test from 4,819 to 4,844 feet.

Tool was open 90 minutes. Gas surfaced in 36 minutes. Volume was not gauged or estimated. Recovery was 35 feet of drilling mud.

Core from 4,844 to 4,853 feet recovered sand and shale, with the sand bleeding gas and carrying an oil odor.

Operator was circulating for samples at 4,868 feet on last report.

Location is 660 feet from south and west lines of tract 22, Weekly subdivision of Bastrop County School Land survey, 4½ miles northeast of Roby.

Ambassador Oil Corp. of Fort Worth has completed No. 1 Tom Rutherford, project one mile north of the Tompkins pool and the same distance south of the Ruthkirk area of Stonewall County.

The well was finaled to pump 60 barrels of oil and 91 barrels of water daily.

Production was through perforations between 5,347 and 5,374 feet after fracturing with 12,500 gallons.

Location is 467 feet from south and west lines of section 140, block 1, H&TC survey.

Alamo Corp. of Lubbock is preparing to test its No. 1-G W. A. Gray, possible Glorieta discovery in West Garza County, two and one-half miles northwest of Post.

This operation is surrounded by producers from the San Andres in the Post field. It is 360 feet from south and 330 feet from west lines of the southeast quarter of section 1215, TTRR survey.

No. 1-G Gray drilled to 3,833 feet. It has 5½-inch casing cemented at 3,761 feet. The hole is now plugged back to 3,816 feet. So far no gauges or tests of the Glorieta pay in this project have been reported.

Wildcats have been plugged and abandoned in Gaines and Fisher counties.

Sid Richardson of Fort Worth has quit No. 1 Tobe Foster, venture in South Gaines County, at total depth of 9,499 feet after extensive tests through perforations.

Location was 9,259.2 feet from south and 4,620 feet from west lines of league 305, Dawson County School Land survey and three-quarters of a mile southwest of the Toby-Jo (Wolfcamp) field.

In Central Fisher County, U. S. Smelting Co. No. 1 J. A. Stewart was abandoned at 3,853 feet. It was 330 feet from north and 1,090 feet from east lines of lot 22, league 313, Bastrop County School Land survey and four miles south of Roby.

Ruling On Desegregation In Louisiana Draws Criticism

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Defiant segregation leaders declared today that "the people of Louisiana will not integrate" to comply with a federal court's ruling ordering desegregation in public schools.

State Sen. W. M. Rainach, segregation leader in the Legislature, criticized the three - man court which gave the ruling yesterday and the Orleans Parish (county) School Board said the next step would be to appeal the decision.

Rainach said the three judges "took an oath of office to uphold the Constitution of the United States, not an oath to uphold the palpably unconstitutional decision of the (U.S. Supreme Court) justices."

U.S. Dist. Judge J. Skelly Wright ordered desegregation of Louisiana schools in the opinion, but he emphasized this did not mean that the mixing of classes would come "overnight or even in a year or more."

Wright granted a temporary injunction against continued segregation in New Orleans public schools and told the School Board to integrate classes "after such time as may be necessary to make arrangements of children to such schools on a radically nondiscriminatory basis with all deliberate speed."

Rainach aimed his criticism at Wright and his two fellow jurists, all natives of Louisiana. Judge Wayne G. Borah of the 5th Circuit and U.S. Dist. Judge Herbert Christenberry shared in the ruling.

Wright cautioned that "the problem of changing a people's mores, particularly those with an emotional overlay, is not to be taken lightly."

After the U.S. Supreme Court decision in 1954 abolishing segregation in public schools, the Legislature passed a series of laws placing segregated schools under the state's inherent police powers.

The District Court ruled that the laws were unconstitutional.

New Reserve Of Government Aides Okayed

THOMASVILLE, Ga. (AP)—President Eisenhower today created a national defense civilian reserve for the training of up to 4,000 top flight executives from business and labor for government service in any emergency.

At his vacation headquarters here, Eisenhower signed an executive order implementing a law enacted by Congress last year.

The order directs the Office of Defense Mobilization to get the training program under way on a full scale basis. Actually ODM already is operating a pilot training program under which about 40 key executives have been recruited from all sections of the country.

James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, said ODM Director Arthur S. Flemming hopes that from 3,000 to 4,000 executives will be recruited eventually.

Participation in the reserve pool is on a voluntary basis and those who enroll must have permision from their employers, Hagerty said.

In response to questions, Hagerty also said that so far as he knows there would be nothing compulsory about serving in a government job in event of war or other national emergency.

The enrollees are being drawn from the ranks of labor organizations as well as business.

Those taking part in the program would serve in one of three categories—without pay, on a $15 a day allowance, or on a regular government salary at full time.

As examples of the fields from which the government wants to recruit executives, Hagerty mentioned communications — newspaper, radio and television officials, and transportation — airlines, railroad and motor vehicle industry executives.

Definition Given Of Night And Day

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—State Atty. Gen. Thomas M. Kavanagh has told Michigan policemen the difference between night and day.

State Police Commissioner Joseph A. Childs asked Kavanagh to define day and night hours for enforcement of Michigan's new speed laws. The Legislature left the definition out when it adopted a 65-mile-an-hour limit for daytime motoring and 55 miles at night.

Kavanagh said "daylight" hours start with the rising sun and end when it sets.

"Night hours are those when there is not enough light without moonlight to distinguish a man's countenence," he said.

University Admission Tests Are Scheduled

AUSTIN (AP)—Admissions tests to the University of Texas will be given March 10 in 11 Texas cities.

Dr. Herschel Manuel, testing and guidance bureau director, said today high school seniors who take the tests should make applications before Feb. 28.

Manuel said the tests were scheduled because many students who applied for Feb. 4 tests were unable to take them due to inclement weather.

Cities in which tests will be given are Abilene, Amarillo, Austin, Dallas, Fort Stockton, Kerrville, Midland, San Angelo, Tyler, Waco and Wichita Falls.

Ike Having No Success In Hunting

THOMASVILLE, Ga. (AP)—Vacationing President Eisenhower put bird hunting ahead of politics today and hoped for better luck in a new quest for elusive quail.

With the nation waiting for his answer on a second-term bid, the President for the time being is intent on relaxing in this piney woods area of south Georgia. It's his first hunting trip since suffering a heart attack Sept. 24.

He arrived from Washington yesterday afternoon for about a week of rest and outdoor exercise at the plantation estate of Secretary of the Treasury Humphrey, who accompanied him.

Within 15 minutes after getting to the Humphrey place, the President and the Cabinet officer had changed to hunting togs and were off to the fields aboard a green-wheeled roadster drawn by two white mules. Behind was another hunting roadster with red wheels carrying the bird dogs and some of the Negro beaters whose job it is to flush the quail.

Eisenhower and Humphrey rode around the big estate for two hours but sighted birds only twice. And neither brought down any quail.

Tuesday, physicians told the President he has had a good recovery and concluding that he is physically able to seek and serve a second term.

The cheering medical report has convinced political supporters of the President that he will run again. If he has not already made his decision, he quite likely will do so here.

He has indicated he will announce his plans around March 1.

Before the doctors spoke out Tuesday, a majority of newsmen who cover the White House regularly felt the President would not run again. Now the majority has swung heavily the other way.

RAISING THE MOST in each of their classrooms during a March of Dimes solicitation campaign at Lincoln Elementary School this week were these three. Diana Sanders, center, fourth grader, led the entire field by raising $3.35. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Sanders, she was a polio victim when she was three years old. The others are Joe Arthur Phillips, left, sixth grader who raised $1.50, and Buford Thompson, right, fourth grader who raised $2.94. The children solicited the donations in their neighborhoods after school hours. The total amount raised in the Lincoln School was $40.60. Mrs. Eunice Johnson's fourth and fifth grade classroom led classes with $24.80, according to Daniel Johnson, principal. (Lee Watson photograph)

Westinghouse Strike Enters Its 123rd Day

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Westinghouse Electric Corp. strike entered its 123rd day today and an early settleme seemed remote after the firm's rejection of a public inquiry into the walkout.

Gov. George M. Leader of Pennsylvania, in cooperation with four other governors, had set up a two-man fact-finding board to study the strike wich has idled 44,000 workers at 30 Westinghouse plants since Oct. 17.

Gwilym A. Price, Westinghouse board chairman and president, sent telegrams to the governors rejecting the plan.

"Westinghouse cannot delegate to outsiders . . . the right to determine the fundamental terms of the union agreement under which Westinghouse must live for some years," he said.

In Washington, th AFL-CIO International Union of Electrical Workers said Westinghouse should "abandon its futile attempts to adjust this dispute by million-dollar propaganda campaigns" and try to achieve settlement by presenting its case to the fact-finding board.

The IUE, which already has accepted the governors' proposal, charged Westinghouse management with a "campaign of lies, duplicity and misrepresentation".

Gov. Leader, who previously said the probe would go on even without Westinghouse, had no immediate comment on Price's rejection.

Meanwhile, more violence at the firm's Sharon plant was reported. One auto was overturned and other cars were stoned yesterday. Some windows in the plant were broken No arrests were made and no injuries were reported.

The union originally asked a 15-cent hourly increase under a two-year contract which expires this October. Westinghouse offered a five-year contract which it said would boost wages a minimum of 23½ cents an hour during that period.

The IUE says it has since scaled down its demand to a 7-cent hourly boost for the first year of a proposed three-year contract. Under the old contract workers averaged $2.10 an hour.

Truman Says Adlai Missed Many Votes

WASHINGTON (AP) — Harry S. Truman's own version of the 1952 election campaign:

Adlai E. Stevenson would have gained millions of votes if he had listened to Truman's advice—in particular, if he had accepted when the then President picked him in January 1952 as his choice to head the Democratic ticket.

And Dwight D. Eisenhower, in Truman's view, should be ashamed of himself for knowingly permitting a Republican "campaign of distortion and vilification."

In the final installment of his memoirs, Truman accuses Eisenhower of exploiting the Korean War for partisan gain and of hampering cease-fire negotiations with his famous "I shall go to Korea" campaign speech.

"No man," Truman declares, "had less right to use this crisis for political purposes."

In his memoirs, as serialized in Life magazine, Truman says he favored the late Chief Justice Fred Vinson at first for Democratic nomination, but turned to Stevenson when Vinson declined it.

Stevenson, says Truman, was "flabbergasted" at the offer and—even as the nominating convention was opening—was unwilling to accept.

So, as Truman tells it, he picked Vice President Alben W. Barkley (now junior senator from Kentucky) to head the ticket. And he says "the Veep" would have been nominated if he hadn't backed out in too big a hurry when labor leaders meeting in Chicago refused to back him.

Stevenson later accepted the nomination, but Truman contends:

"I am sure that if Stevenson had accepted in good faith the proposition I made to him on Jan. 30, 1952, and enabled us to make the proper buildup, there would have been no contest to speak of at Chicago, and I think he would have received at least three million more votes."

Benson Hits Wage Boost

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Secretary of Agriculture Benson declared today that less than half the increase in wage rates in food industries granted since 1947 was justified by increased productivity.

Expressing concern over the spread between farm and retail prices, the secretary said wage increases that reflect a corresponding gain in labor productivity are "clearly justified — are indeed highly desirable."

"But when wages outrun labor productivity, they result in increased costs," he said. "Somebody has to pay the bill. Frequently it is the consumer. On equipment and production supplies for which he is a consumer, the farmer pays the cost."

In a speech prepared for a meeting of the Western States Meat Packers Assn., Benson said that between 1947 and 1955 wage rates in food processing and distribution increased 43 per cent.

"Less than half of this increase was offset by gains in labor productivity," he said. "More than half became an increase in the labor cost per unit of food handled. In these years the retail price of food rose 11 per cent but the wage cost per unit of food processed and distrubuted rose 26 per cent. Clearly farmers absorbed some of the difference — and their prices were correspondingly depressd."

Gulf Coast Gets Rain

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

More rain doused the heavily soaked areas along the Gulf Coast and in the southern and middle Atlantic Seaboard states today.

Torrential rains (about 6 inches in 7 hours) flooded parts of New Orleans and Hot Springs, Ark. yesterday. Heaviest falls were reported through the lower Mississippi Valley and along sections of the east Gulf Coast.

The downpour at Hot Springs sent floodwaters five feet deep streaming through the streets of the resort city. One death was attributed to the storm. Damage was estimated from $250,000 to 1¼ million dollars.

Sections of Florida and Georgia also reported heavy rain. More than 1½ inches fell at Tallahassee and about 1 inch at Alma, Ga.

Snow and freezing drizzle spread northward into the central and northern plains from a storm centered in Colorado early this morning. Falls were generally light but Laramie, Wyo., reported 4 inches of fresh snow while an inch fell at Cheyenne, Wyo. Snow flurries were reported around the Great Lakes region and in the northern Rockies.

Cold air moved eastward from the Ohio Valley and Great Lakes region. Temperatures dropped 20 degrees in Pittsburgh, which had an early morning reading of 24, and more than 10 degrees in many New England cities.

McMurry's Cox To Brownfield

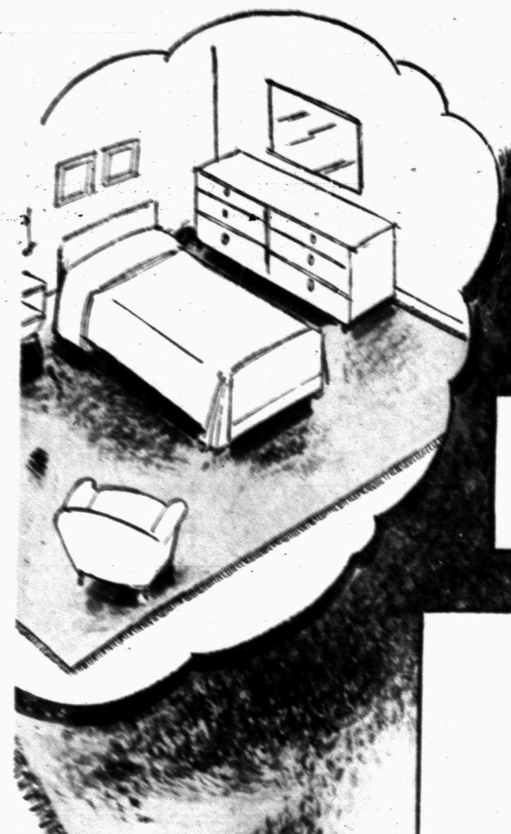

ABILENE, Tex. (AP)—Doug Cox, athletic director and football coach at McMurry College who led the Indians to the 1955 Texas Conference football championship, resigned yesterday to become coach at Brownfield High School.

THE MUHLENBERG TRAVELER, a custom-built mobile display unit under sponsorship of the United Lutheran Mission will visit Snyder from 5 p.m. to 9 p.m. Friday on the property of R. H. Odom, adjoining the education building of the First Methodist Church. The display includes new and lasting furnishings and supplies for the congregation. In connection with the display, a film, "Shield of Faith," will be shown at the First Methodist education building at 6:45 p.m. Friday.

When the late Henry Ford decided to restore Dearborn Village as an early American community he looked about for someone to boss the job. He chose a young man then in one of his training groups for mechanics, a man with a liberal art education. Confessing himself no expert on Americana, Ford told the young man in substance:

"I have noticed that you can think; I would give a hundred, however skilled in how-to-do-it, for one like you. A sound liberal education will make you a top executive or a top scientist if you want to go into the sciences."

For this and other evidences of the late automaker's belief in the efficacy of a liberal arts education the editors of Who's Who in America have included in the forthcoming 1956-1957 edition of Who's Who a "Letter to Henry Ford."

The citation reads: "For outstanding furtherance of higher education Henry Ford is posthumously awarded this citation on the occasion of the Ford Foundation making the most substantial gift of record to higher education in America."

For 18 years the editors of Who's Who have been making biennial awards citing individuals for significant gifts to education, with emphasis on the liberal arts colleges. This is the first time a corporate entity, the Ford Foundation, has been so recognized, but from here on out "Biennial Citations for Corporate Educational Philantropy" will be included in Who's Who regularly, in addition to individual givers.

The Ford Foundation's unprecedented half-billion-dollar gift to education a few weeks ago specifially stated: "From the beginning the emphasis of the College Grants Program has been on the liberal arts and sciences."

The new edition of Who's Who coming out later this month will make eight citations and thirteen honorable mentions to corporate benefactors of American education.

Mr. Benson's Stand

Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson said at least one significant thing while being interviewed on "Meet the Press" Sunday. Without elaboration, and almost in an aside, Benson remarked in effect that "you can't control production by controlling acreage."

At least once the interviewers skated close to this subject without seeming to sense its importance. One observed that the soil-bank proposal, which Mr. Benson and the administration supports, was a form of acreage control, and wondered if it would be more effective in keeping down surpluses unless the use to which acreage withdrawn from specified crops was rigidly controlled.

Mr. Benson hemmed a little, and opined that the less control there is the better the farmers would like it.

His expressed belief that President Eisenhower would veto the farm bill if rigid mandatory high price supports are included, as approved by the Senate Agriculture Committee in an 8-7 vote, brought from its chairman, Ellender (D-La) and a committee member, Young (R-ND) the declaration that they are willing to risk a veto. Ellender called "just poppycock" Benson's contention that the soil bank plan would empty warehouses of surpluses and that a rigid high price support would only fill them again. He contends Benson has authority to control production of basic crops if he wishes to do so.

Young declared the farmer would get very little from the soil bank bill this year without higher price supports.

Of course there is politics in the farm program issue, on both sides of the political aisle. But the pressure isn't all coming from the farmers. Urban dwellers, especially those in the large cities and industrial centers, raise Ned about "subsidizing" farm producers. They look at their food and clothing bills and can see little or no decline in the prices they pay. Like gas consumers, they blame the producers. Yet farm prices are sorely depressed, and not only the producers but the people who depend on them for food and clothing have a stake in the farm bill. If the farmer gets to where he can't eat and wear clothes, the city dweller will be in the same shape.

President Will Be A Lonely Man Until He Makes His Decision On Political Plans

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP)—Until he decides finally whether to run again President Eisenhower will be a lonely man, living with his conscience. Because his decision is a matter of conscience, no one can really help him make it.

He said recently, "I could devoutly wish there were some method by which the American people could . . . point out the path of my true duty. But . . . people this is a question that first I alone must answer."

It would have been easy and necessary for him to decide against seeking a second term if his doctors, after their checkup this week, had said he could not physically endure another four White House years.

They said the opposite yesterday. In doing so they put the decision entirely up to Eisenhower.

It is not unusual for active men like Eisenhower to have a sense of indestructibility. They can never again feel that way after a heart attack. It is piercing and tangible evidence of mortality.

No one who has ever had an attack can forget this:

The attack was the result of deterioration in a blood vessel. Something in his body caused that deterioration. So a man who has had an attack has more reason to believe that there is deterioration which will cause another attack than has a man who has never had an attack.

There was no reason for Eisenhower's doctors to think he might have a heart attack, up to last Sept. 24. Now, as he knows, he physician Maj. Gen. Howard M could have another tomorrow even though his doctors tell him, from what they can see, he could serve actively for 5 to 10 more years.

The uncertainty of the President's life, or any man's, was illustrated Tuesday by his personal physician, Maj. Gen. Howard M. Snyder, who told a news conference:

"I thought he was in very good health just prior to his heart attack—I would say we were a little led astray in our estimate that he was as well as we thought he was . . . We don't know that he won't have another cardiac accident."

That possibility, and what it might mean to the country, will be on Eisenhower's conscience as he turns over the problem in his mind. He has emphasized his decision will be based on what he thinks is good for the country.

He doesn't think it's good for the country for a president to die in office or become unable to carry on his job. He has said it is a "very critical thing to change governments in this country at a time that it is unexpected."

At the same time he knows that a man who has had a heart attack may never have another. Since that is a possibility he may feel that it is good for the country for him to take a chance on serving a second term.

Monroe Does It Again And We Can't Help But Yawn

By INEZ ROBB

Dear me! What a toilsome, dedicated life is led by the young actress who doesn't know where her next newspaper picture or press puff is coming from!

Just think of all the merl and terl to which the late Miss Anna Held subjected herself, when Uncle Horace was a boy, in rounding up enough milk to fill a bathtub! And dwell for a moment on the bravery of the lady in dunking herself in the nasty, sticky stuff just for a line in the public prints!

But here am I who never saw Miss Held but who knows the milk-bath legend, all of which proves that the lengths and self-sacrifice to which the Misses Marilyn Monroe and Jayne Mansfield will go to get a line in the public prints are not in vain.

It fairly shakes my heart when I think of Miss Monroe all alone by the telephone (she says she hasn't got a feller as of now), patiently loosening or weakening the straps on her decolletage before each public appearance.

There she sits, working her fingers to the bone, worrying a stitch here, unravelling a thread there, and for what? Just for another li'l ole picture in the newspapers. For each public appearance, she pours herself into a skin-tight sheath, and, believe me, it isn't easy for a girl of Miss Monroe's ample proportions to get all of herself into the type raiment she wears.

Then on her way from her apartment to the public gathering she is to grace, Miss Monroe has to hold her breath. Because even if Skinnie Winnie took a good breath in the kind of clothes Miss Monroe favors, with the weakened straps, pop would go the weasel.

So Miss Monroe gets to the public rendezvous, takes a good breath, the strap slips its mooring, pandemonium reigns and bingo! Photograpers once more immortalize this mise en scene.

Nor is it easy for a girl to do her hair with an egg-beater as Miss Monroe does. It takes time and egg-beaters. But the broken-strap and the egg-beater coiffure are Monroe trademarks. So is the old familiar pic with her eyes half-closed and her rosebud mouth slack and at half-mast as if she had a cold in her head and her nasal passages were blocked.

It is a rich, ripe pic that always convinces me that the role at which Miss Monroe is secretly aiming is not The Brothers Karamazov, as she insists, but that of Ellie May, the turnip-eating, debutante daughter of Tabacco Road's Jeeter Lester.

It has been difficult for Miss Mansfield, a girl also richly endowed as to frontispiece but a Jaynie-Come-Lately, to whip up a space-stealing act to rival Miss Monroe's. However, Miss Mansfield's press agent has just sent me—via the mails and a plain wrapper—a picture of Miss Mansfield indicating that calendar art did not die with Miss Monroe.

This rivalry between the two has already exposed both to pneumonia, head colds and chilblains. No sacrifice, obviously, is too stark for either, as long as it is in the public domain. And why I am yawning beats me.

Hollywood Today

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Meet Buddy Adler, the personable, handsome movie maker who is filling the shoes of the film giant Darryl Zanuck.

Last week it was announced that Zanuck was stepping out of his post as production chief at 20th Century-Fox and Adler was filling in for four months. There's no official word on what will happen after that, but trade sources say that to increase his take-home pay Zanuck will go into independent production. He will be taxed only 25 per cent on profits from independent films, whereas his studio salary puts him in the 90 per cent bracket.

At any rate, Adler takes over the reins of the gigantic studio with apparent ease. His present concern is for the four months of his announced tenancy. After that—who knows?

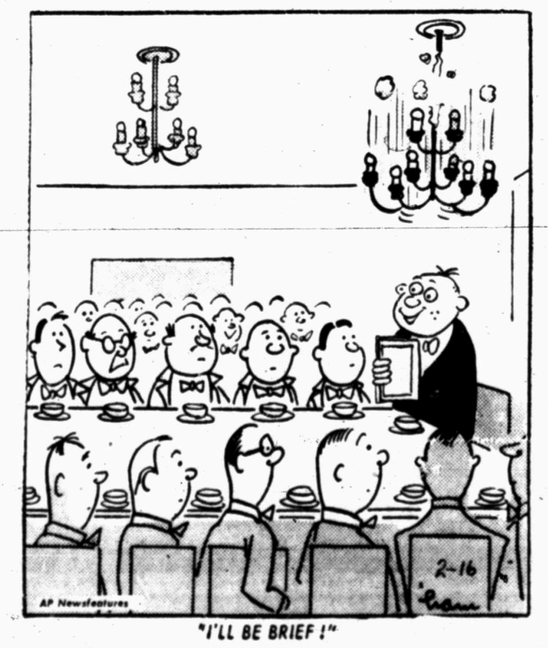

Adler operates smoothly and with little of the histrionics that are associated with film producers. His formula?

"Luck plays a big part," he remarked. "Luck and the ability to take a chance."

His biggest chance was the making of him as a top-rank producer. That was "From Here to Eternity."

Many producers had been interested in the James Jones novel since it first became a best-seller. But it was filled with sex, four-letter words and digs at the Army. Movie men couldn't see how the story could be whipped into shape to win both Army and Johnston office approval.

"I'LL BE BRIEF!"

Many Texans Thought They Received Bad Bargain When State Went Into The Union

By TIM PARKER
Associated Press Staff

By proclamation of Gov. Shivers, Feb. 16-21 is Statehood Week in Texas, the 110th anniversary of the state's admission to the Union.

The state's admission wasn't an easy thing. Many people in the United States 110 years ago counted it a bad bargain indeed to admit Texas.

The Republic of Texas' first emissary to the United States was sent to Washington ostensibly to get Uncle Sam's recognition for the new nation.

But William Wharton also carried other instructions. He was to tell Secretary of State John Forsyth that what Texas really wanted was to become a part of the United States.

Did the U.S. welcome with open arms this vast and wealthy land?

No. Forsyth bluntly turned down both the plea for recognition and any suggestion of annexation. The Republic hadn't established its independence from Mexico yet.

The United States, declared Forsyth, was "bound to Mexico by a treaty of amity and commerce, which will be scrupulously observed on our part."

The glories of the new republic in its first years consisted principally of bad debts, lawlessness and desperation.

Sam Houston, after his election to a second term as President of the Republic, complained the country was "utterly destitute of credit, without a currency, without means, and millions in debt. There are not jails and prisons for confinement of the accused, nor are counties in a situation to pay a tax sufficient to insure the safe keeping of culprits."

Houston's minister of finance complained the government didn't have money to buy writing paper for his correspondence. Houston once complained the Republic's treasury had never held more than $500.

Citizens of the new republic, in their first election of officers, also expressed their opinions on whether Texas should be annexed by the U.S. They favored annexation by 3,000 to 91.

This was in 1836. In March, 1837, the U.S. House of Representatives refused even to recognize the new republic. In August, 1837 Texas' new charge d'affairs in Washington, Gen. Memucan Hunt, formally proposed the U.S. annex Texas. He was turned down.

Legislatures of Rhode Island, Vermont, Ohio, Massachusetts, Maine, Connecticut, New York and Pennsylvania passed resolutions opposing annexation of Texas largely because the new state would be a slave state.

The United States' repeated refusals to accept Texas irked Dr. Anson Jones when Jones was a member of the Texas Congress. Jones introduced a resolution directing President Houston to withdraw the offer. The resolution passed the House decisively and missed passage in the new republic's Senate by one vote.

Jones became the Republic's minister to Washington only on condition he be allowed to withdraw the annexation offer. His first act in Washington was to advise the Secretary of State of Texas' "formal and absolute withdrawal" of her offer to join the U.S.

But the obvious and powerful arguments for admitting Texas, plus the fact she whipped Mexico and won recognition as a separate nation from the world's great powers, turned the tide. Congress in 1845 adopted the annexation resolution and Texas quickly accepted it.

Even the Republic's debts, which had grown nightmarish, were converted by history to a blessing. The United States, which had taken over public debts of other new states, decided to let Texas keep her debts. As consolation, Texas was allowed to keep her public lands. Those lands include the tidelands and their oil wealth.

Anson Jones, last president of the Republic, issued the call for the special convention at which Texas voted to join the Union. Jones hauled down the Lone Star Flag, hoisted the Stars and Stripes, and saying simply "The Republic of Texas is no more."

Death Rate Drops Rapidly Since Turn Of The Century

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

NEW YORK, Feb. 16 (AP)—Death is taking a partial holiday in the United States.

Death was a grimly busy agent back in 1900.

If the same death rates prevailed today, there would be:

Five times as many little caskets bearing infants under 1 year old; 12 times as many for babies 1 to 5.

Four times more funerals each year for adults 25 to 34; three times as many for men and women 35 to 44.

That is one way of expressing the huge dividend of extra years of life won since this century began. The figures come from a survey by the Health Information Foundation.

The death rate, from all causes, per 100,000 people has been chopped nearly in half, as an average for all age groups. The greatest area for death's holiday is among babies, but there still are dramatic extensions of life for age groups over 55.

At the 1900 rates, death would be claiming 500,000 infants under a year old each year, instead of 100,000. Death would be taking 260,000 children aged 1 to 4, not 18,000. Disease and accident would be claiming 195,000 young adults of 25 to 34, instead of 42,000; 220,000 aged 35 to 44 instead of only 77,000.

Mortality has been cut 40 per cent among men and women 45 to 54, and 30 per cent among those 55 to 64. It's down 20 per cent for people 85 and older.

Medical science and improved living standards mainly brought the dividend of longer life. Antibiotics, blood transfusions, skillful surgery, better medical and hospital care, X-rays, vaccines, better health knowledge; all helped to make life better and more productiv as well as longer.

Throughout the half - century, women have enjoyed longer life than men, their death rate still is declining faster than that of men.

Business, Money Managers Awating Decision By Ike

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Business and the money managers—like everyone else—are waiting to see what will happen when President Eisenhower announces his second-term plans.

The decision might affect some business planning and some financial thinking. It might tilt the economy a little from its present delicately balanced position, in either direction, depending on whether he says he will or won't run.

And Wall Street figures that the money managers aren't likely to move until they see what the President's announcement does, if anything, to business psychology.

Right now there are signs that credit is getting a little easier again. The Federal Reserve Board has made no new move to tighten it up. At the same time, there are signs that business may be about ready to turn downward. And again, the Federal Reserve Board is making no move to help loosen up credit, as a stimulant.

Like the stock market, the money managers appear to be marking time while the President thinks over the doctors' reports.

Mortgage money is becoming more plentiful, the Federal Housing Administration reports. That market tightened up last fall and new home building fell off. Builders say they're finding money easier to come by now, and some expect building to pick up pleasantly when the weather improves.

The construction industry looks for a new record this year. H. E. Forman, managing director of the Associated General Contractors of America, meeting here, predicts spending on new building will reach 44½ billion dollars, a gain of more than two billion over last year. He thinks spending for maintenance and repairs will also rise.

But predictions for business in general aren't uniformly that optimistic. The layoffs in the auto industry have given some optimists pause.

If the revival in home building and auto production doesn't come along shortly, as some expect, business will get nervous. And if the consumers start to save more and spend less, a turndown from the present high peark of prosperity might follow—with the extent of the turndown the thing that worries all forecasters, in and out of government.

WASHINGTON LETTER

New Glass Creations Are Shown To Public

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON—What would you select as a fitting gift for an emperor or a queen if you were President of the United States?

Both President Truman and President Eisenhower have often chosen American crystal especially engraved by leading American artists.

President and Mrs. Truman gave the then Princess Elizabeth a beautiful "merry-go-round bowl" designed by Amercian sculptor Sidney Waugh upon her marriage to the duke of Edinburgh in 1946. They also gave a "Stephen Foster bowl" to the then Queen Wilhelmina of the Netherlands at the time of her jubilee celebration.

President and Mrs. Eisenhower gave to Queen Mother Elizabeth of England what is known as the "crown cup," handsomely engraved with her coat-of-arms by George Thompson. It was presented to her on the occasion of her visit to this country in November of 1954.

The Eisenhowers also gave a crystal piece to Emperor Haile Selassie of Ethiopia on his visit to the United States. It is engraved with a gazelle design by sculptor Waugh. On the first anniversary of his inauguration, Jan. 20, 1954, the Cabinet gave President Eisenhower the "Eisenhower cup," engraved with episodes of his eventful life.

Currently the public is getting a close-up look at an exhibit of Steuben glass creations at the National Gallery of Art here. This is the first exhibition anywhere of American crystal engraved with designs by artists of 16 nations of the Far and Near East. The collection, titled "Asian Artists in Crystal," includes 36 forms of crystal—vases, bowls, plates, urns and plaques.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles opened the official preview, which was attended by most of the ambassadors of the 16 countries represented.

Selected mainly because it is representative of some of the better works of American contemporary art, crystal is not just for the bigwigs. Even I received a small vase for a Christmas gift. Tap it lightly with your finger and it rings bell clear.

LITERARY GUIDEPOST

THE MAN WHO WAS NOT WITH IT. By Herbert Gold. Atlantic—Little, Brown.

Bud Williams, son of a Pittsburgh trucker, goes off on his own and joins a carnival where he meets and to the end of the novel stays with Grack, a barker, and beautiful Joy, the palmist's daughter. When Bud gets the drug habit, Grack snaps him out of it. It means a tremendous indebtedness, and the younger man feels the weight of it more and more as Grack unexpectedly requires an incredible amount of help himself.

It's a story of sowing wild oats, or the prodigal's return, or the redeeming power of love; at any rate the material is older than novels themselves. But the language in which it is couched is too often baffling — mark, with it, mittcamp, countstore, sugar, pusher, carnie, habit, kick the habit. Gold has a good story, but for me his jargon gets in the way of it.

STARS NIGHT. By Erico Verissimo. Translated from Portuguese by L. L. Barrett. Macmillan.

This novel opens with a man wandering through nighttime streets, not knowing who he is, where he's from, what he's fleeing, what crime he may have committeed. He keeps on wandering through a long night, mostly in the company of a pair of ruffians with evil designs on him and on his well stuffed purse. The eventual explanation for it all doesn't justify the night he has spent, nor the couple of hours we've spent reading; and if his experience terrified him, none of the terror is communicated to us. This seems curiously unimaginative and uninventive for a Verissimo.

Four Out Of Five Men Are Worried About Losing Hair

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't read his mail:

That nearly four out of five American men over 25 years of age are worried about losing their hair.

That while a majority of baldies think it would be a good idea for their bald friends to wear a toupee, they are afraid to do so themselves, mostly because of a fear of being kidded. But for some reason they don't feel President Eisenhower — or Adlai Stevenson, for that matter — should don a toupee.

That 76 per cent of the custom-firm in this growing industry are bought by men under 40—and the biggest demand is for the Ivy League crew-cut style.

That you can be identified by your "brainprint" now as well as by your fingerprints. Medical research has established that the patterns of electrical energy given off by your brain are as individual as the whorls on your fingerprints.

That you can make money in the average tavern by betting no one at the bar can name the seven U. S. presidents who died or were assassinated while in office. They were W. H. Harrison, Taylor, Lincoln, Garfield, McKinley, Harding and Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Firemen Start Young

KNOXVILLE (AP)—If Jimmy and Gary Fox want to be firemen someday, they know where to get a good recommendation. The boys, 15 and 11, held a fire in their basement under control with a garden hose until firemen arrived. A city official said they probably saved the house from buring down.

Sweetheart Banquet Held At Union Baptist Church

"Lifted Hearts" was the topic of the Rev. Roy Womble, guest speaker at the annual sweetheart banquet of the Union Baptist Church which was held Tuesday night at the church. A valentine theme was used.

The guests entered through a long hall, softly lighted in blue to simulate a moonlight setting, into the banquet room under an archery of white roses entwined with red climbing roses. The banquet room was also lighted for a moonlight effect. Red climbing roses were used on the columns through the building with a white background.

The tables carried the red and white motif with bud vases filled with red roses. Red candles and red valentine place card favors were used.

Directly behind the head table was a large seven foot heart and it featured Cupid and his traditional arrows.

J. E. Woodson was master of ceremonies and Mrs. Roy Womble led the invocation. Mrs. R. C. Lunsford welcomed the sweethearts and Dorris Carmer gave the response and cupid's advise was given by Roy Redman.

Mrs Truman Daves sang two songs, accompanied on the paino by Miss La Nell Woodson. A comical skit was given by R. C. Lunsford and Buck Woolever, to the 25 couples present.

WHAT'S GOING ON

ANOTHER LOCAL BASKETBALL season is nearing an end what with the Tigers winding up their 1955-56 campaign with games tonight and tomorrow night.

It's been an up and down season for the Bengals but all in all they've come up to expectations for their season's work.

As it was in football, District 1-AAA, undoubtedly, is the toughest basketball district in the state. We're speaking of overall strength, not just one or two teams.

Our sprawling district had only one weak team in the lot--Vernon's Lions--and they were strong enough to upset two of the finer teams in the loop, Plainview and Lamesa.

We trust the fans are planning to turn out in big numbers for the final two Tiger home games. The Bengals need these two games coming up if for no other reason than personal pride.

A little backing may put them over the hump.

Then, at tomorrow's game, an extra-curricular show is on tap. Snyder High School is bringing in three top notch trampoline artists from Lubbock to perform at halftime. Two of the trampolinists are Texas Tech students, the other a student at Monterey High School.

From what we hear of the act these fellows put on it will be worth your while to take a look see at them.

Steers Will Probably Show Up, But—

We suppose Big Spring will show up for tonight's game. Tommy Hart, Big Spring sports scribe, vowed that the Big Spring club was going to check with us before making any future trips.

Hart, of course, was referring to our column several days ago when we ridiculed the Big Spring club for making the trip to Amarillo during the state's worst snow storm in history.

To which Hart followed up by saying that "coach Johnny Johnson of the Steers would check with us before making any future trips."

Well, at this writing, Johnson hasn't called to get our OK on making the trip here. Maybe we'll hear from him later on in the day.

Hart went on to explain that Johnson checked with the highway department before leaving for Amarillo and again at Lubbock. He wasn't discouraged to make the trip on the first check but at Lubbock the highway officials advised the Steers against continuing on to Amarillo.

The Steers went on, anyway. We have one eye-witness account of the Steers' jaunt to Amarillo that day. Guy Sullivan, local school teacher, went to Borger the same day to referee the Pampa-Borger game and he said he passed the Big Spring bus enroute and said the Steer bus was "having its troubles."

Still Contend Trip Was Dangerous

We still say the game wasn't that important to risk getting several youngsters stranded in the snow drifts. All other teams postponed their games on the same night and all have already been made up with exception of the Tiger-Plainview game.

We might correct Hart in a statement he made recently.

It's only a dubious honor, we suppose, but Hart said the 71 points Big Spring scored against Monterey was the most points scored by a losing team in 1-AAA this season.

T'aint so, though. The Tigers have bettered this mark twice, losing 76-77 to Monterey and 72-78 to Levelland. Then the Bengals tied it on another occasion, 71-89, to Monterey but the latter was played after Hart's statement.

Souchak Eyes Texas Open

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Big Mike Souchak, the long driver from Grossingers, N. Y., set out today to defend his Texas Open golf championship and the touring professionals thought he had a good chance of doing it.

E. J. (Dutch) Harrison, the tournament veteran fom St. Louis, liked Souchak in the run for the $4,999 first money because the Ft. Sam Houston course is so open and puts a premium on the long hitter.

But there were favorites aplenty as the field of 159 moved out in the opening round of the $20,000 tournament. Final tune-up rounds yesterday indicated that the par-72, 6,476-yard course would take a hefty hammering.

Bill Nary of Wayne, Mich., had the best pretournament score, laying down an 8-under-par 64 while Jimmie Demaret and Jack Burke, both of Kiamesha Lake, N. Y., had 66s. There were plenty of 67s and 68s.

Souchak said there would be plenty of par busting if the weather was good, but added:

"A strong wind will make those scores soar. The wide course will be tough under such circumstances."

Fists Fly In WF-NC Tilt

CHAPEL HILL, N.C. (AP)—A flare-up of tempers between players after last night's crucial Wake Forest-University of North Carolina basketball game here spilled over into the big crowd and caused some tense moments.

Spectators swarmed onto the floor and took the fight away from the players. Uniformed police got the indoor scrap under control quickly, but more fist fights broke out outside.

Thousands of students and fans milled around in the street in front of the gym. No one was reported injured as the result of several fights. No arrests were reported.

The melee made it difficult for many of the 5,500 basketball fans to get away.

The flare-up started on the playing floor as the final whistle sounded, ending a game that North Caroline won 77-73. The win gave the Tar Heels the lead in the Atlantic Coast Conference basketball chase.

TWO TO GO—Shown are the 1955-56 Tiger basketeers who will wind up their season with two games the next two nights, meeting Big Spring tonight and Plainview tomorrow night. Both games will be played at Tiger Gym. From left to right, the Bengal squadmen are: FRONT ROW—Jerry Taylor, Ronnie Smith, Powell Berry and Tommy Prichard. BACK ROW—Carl Burns, student manager; Alan Snead, Dwayne Prince, Robert Dabbs, Milton Ham, Jack Spikes and Coach J. P. Ward. (Lee Watson photograph)

Tigers Host Big Spring In 1-AAA Tilt Tonight

The Tiger roundballers took their final workout of the season yesterday as they wind up their 1955-56 campaign tonight and tomorrow night.

Both of the remaining games are set for Tiger Gym. Big Spring's Steers move in tonight to be followed by the Plainview Bulldogs tomorrow night.

Both games will commence at 8 and each will be preceded by a "B" game between the schools.

The Black and Golders will be shooting for a .500 finish for their year's work. Their current record stands at 11-13. By winning the two remaining games, too, the Tigers would likely finish in a tie for fifth place in the sprawling 9-team District 1-AAA.

In the previous games with their two remaining foes, the Tigers bowed to Plainview, 62-55, December 17, and edged Big Spring, 47-46, Jan. 20. The Bengals came from behind in the last two seconds to defeat the Steers in the first game.

Milton Ham, 6-1 junior forward for the Tigers, pumped in 29 points in the game against Monterey Tuesday night to move within 11 points of the 400 scoring mark. Ham has tallied 389 points in 24 games for a 16.2 average.

While Ham is shooting for the 400 mark, two other Tigers will be eyeing 300. Jerry Taylor, with 271 points, needs 29 in the two remaining games to reach 300 while Alan Snead, the third leading Tiger point-maker, has 269 points, 31 shy of 300.

These three will start tonight's game along with Jack Spikes, 231 for the year and Powell Berry, 113 over the season.

Three Tigers will be winding up their schoolboy cage careers in the games tonight and tomorrow. They are Snead, Spikes and Taylor.

Robert Dabbs and Dwayne Prince, 6-4 juniors, are expected to see plenty of action tonight for the Bengals.

Top scorers for the two Tiger visitors this week are two big sophomores, Jan Loudermilk of Big Spring and Bill Taegel of Plainview, both 6-5.

Loudermilk will be shooting for 400 also tonight, having scored 374 in 27 games to date for a 13.8 average. Loudermilk has only tonight's game to achieve the 400 mark since the game here will wind up the season for the Steers.

Taegel's season scoring is unavailable but the Plainview lad is eighth leading scorer in district play with 209 points in 12 games for a 17.4 average.

Loudermilk, although he easily tops Big Spirng for the season, holds only a one point lead over Charlie Johnson, one of two seniors on the Big Spring squad (sub LeRoy LeFevre is the other) in 1-AAA scoring. Loudermilk has scored 204 points in district play to 203 for Johnson. Johnson has scored 322 for the season.

All 1-AAA teams will wind up their regular season tonight with exception of the Tigers and Plainview who clash here tomorrow in a make-up game. Tonight's schedule sends Monterey to Sweetwater, Vernon to Palo Duro, Plainview to Lamesa and the Tiger-Big Spring game here. Levelland has already finished her season.

Palo Duro, by defeating Vernon tonight, will clinch the 1-AAA crown and represent the district in the playoffs.

Following is the 1-AAA Calendar:

Moore New Tom S. Coach

LUBBOCK (AP)—Wilford Moore, former head coach and athletic director at Abilene's McMurry College, was named head football coach of Tom S. Lubbock High School last night. He replaces Pat Farris who resigned two weeks ago.

Three times named Coach of the Year, Moore was head football coach at McMurry for eight seasons and athletic director the last four. His last year at the Abilene school was 1954. He ran a dry cleaning business at Clovis, N.M., last year.

Moore is a 1941 graduate of Hardin-Simmons University. His salary at Lubbock will be $7,500 a year.

Moore was assistant coach at Abilene High School for one season and in 1942 enlisted in the Air Force and served overseas. He joined the staff at McMurry in 1946.

2 Ex-Champs Fight In State GG Tonite

FORT WORTH (AP)—Two former champions are to see action tonight as 26 bouts will cut the field to the quarter-finals in the 20th annual Texas Golden Gloves here.

Nearly 4,000 fans were on hand for the first 23 bouts that opened the state contest here last night. Amarillo boxers won four bouts to take an early lead for team championship.

Among those who did not see action last night were the lone defending champion, lightweight Jake Martinez of El Paso, and the 1953 state and Chicago flyweight champion, Pete Melendez of El Paso. Melendez will make his start tonight against Don Roberson of Lubbock.

The semi-finals are set for Saturday and the finals for Monday.

Robert Espinosa, Odessa, who weighed in at 119, scored the most spectacular victory of the opening night by knocking out Pete Camacho, 118, of El Paso in the second round.

Amarillo winners were flyweight Leroy Hernandez, featherweight Tom Crump, welterweight Bill McFarland, and light-heavyweight Carroll Stafford.

Augustine Reyes, Odessa middleweight, scored the quickest victory when he stopped James Pritchard of Lubbock midway in the first round.

First night results included:

Flyweights: Everett Hartman, 113, Fort Worth, beat Billy Pina, 113, Odessa (3). Bryan Daugherty, 113, Dallas, beat O. C. Parker, 110, Wichita Falls (3). Leroy Hernandez, 111, Amarillo, beat Charles Hilburn, 113, Abilene (3). Robert Espinosa, 119, Odessa, knocked out Pete Camacho, 118, El Paso (2). Claudio Trujillo, 116, Brownwood, beat Sidney Turner, 118, Beaumont.

Featherweights: Tom Crump, 127, Amarillo, beat Joe Perez, 126, Houston (3). Oscar Ortegon, 126, Corpus Christi, beat Woody Roark, 125, Tyler (3). Donald Barnett, 127, Wichita Falls, beat Bonifacio Aldaco, 125, Abilene (3).

Lightweights: Arlen Fair, 132, Houston, beat Benny Pippen, 135, Abilene (3).

Welterweights: Bill McFarland, 148, Amarillo, beat Richard Maxwell, 145, Odessa. Paul Patin, 147, Beaumont, beat Jerry Jones, 146, Wichita Falls.

Middleweights: Augustine Reyes, 153, Odessa, scored TKO over James Pritchard, 157, Lubbock (2).

Light heavyweights: C. J. Helms, 175, Tyler, scored TKO over Frank Schlunts, 173, Beaumont (2). Carroll Stafford, 169, Amarillo, scored TKO over Walter Bray, 173, Dallas (3).

Heavyweights: Ronny Fearell, 190, Fort Worth, beat Warren Tuckness, 190, Amarillo (3).

St. Francis Racks Up 18th Straight

By ED WILKS
The Associated Press

Is St. Francis of Brooklyn really one of the neglected giants of college basketball? Or are the Terriers, rated No. 13 in this week's Associated Press poll, simply pulling a fast one by knocking off a few "big names" which aren't what they used to be?

The Terriers barged past Brooklyn College 94-74 last night—giving them 192 points within 24 hours—and stretched their unbeaten string to 18 games. NIT-bound St. Francis and San Francisco are the only major unbeaten teams.

Some were ready to rank the Terriers right behind top-rated San Francisco—nursing a record major college winning streak of 45 games—after watching St. Francis walip Manhattan, a so-so contender for a postseason berth, 98-75 Tuesday night.

And some New York observers, maybe a little eager to end the famine of standout local players and teams, were even comparing the Terriers' 6-7 Al Inniss favorably with the Dons' All America Bill Russell.

Inniss, a sophomore, took the raves in stride against Brooklyn College and came down with 37 rebounds, a Terrier record, while scoring 17 points. Capt. Dan Mannix, a 6-1 senior, was tops with 29 points.

The Terriers, whose only "name" victims have been St. John's, Seton Hall and Manhattan, have three regular season games left—against tourney hopeful St. Joseph's (Pa.) Saturday and Iona and Siena next week.

While St. Francis was rolling along last night, second-ranked Dayton, also headed for the NIT, made it 19-1 by shaking Memphis State's tourney hopes 84-74. And fourth-ranked Louisville, dealt a 40-point drubbing by Xavier (Ohio) Monday after accepting an NIT berth, righted itself with an 84-74 victory over Kentucky Wesleyan.

Bill Uhl, Dayton's seven-foot center, scored 18, followed by Carmen Riazzi and soph Arlen Bockhorn with 16 each, as the Flyers played what Coach Tom Blackburn termed their best game since beating Utah and Kentucky last December.

Elsewhere, once-beaten and ninth-ranked Temple won its 18th, shutting out La Salle 12-0 in the last 5½ minutes for a 60-57 margin; North Carolina, rated No. 10 nationally, took the undisputed Atlantic Coast Conference lead by defeating Wake Forest 77-73 as Len Rosenbluth counted 33 points; and St. Louis, making it 8-for-8 on the road this season, gained a share of the Missouri Valley lead with Houston by smacking Bradley 73-62.

The toughest game of the night was played at Fort Worth, where Southern Methodist, rated 12th in the nation, showed championship form in overcoming Texas Christian's surprise possession tactics 26-22 to bolster its Southwest Conference lead.

Stalling Frogs Bow To SMU In 26-22 Debacle

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Texas Christian Horned Frogs couldn't beat the Southern Methodist Mustangs Wednesday night but they sure put a dent into Southwest Conference leaders' scoring average.

The Frogs, whose conference record of eight losses in nine starts firmly entrenches them in the loop's cellar, dealt the Mustangs plenty of misery before the Ponies could pull away for a 26-22 victory.

The Mustangs had averaged 87 points per game in the conference and in an earlier encounter had shellacked the Frogs 105-64.

By passing the ball at least 25 times before taking a shot on each possession, the Frogs managed to rattle the Ponies. TCU moved into a 6-2 lead and at the intermission had a 12-11 edge.

In the second half, however, the versatile Ponies were able to handle the TCU zone defense and edged into the lead.

Dick O'Neal, TCU's 6 foot 7 center, was high scorer of the game with 13 points. Rick Herscher, an SMU substitute, was high for the Ponies with 10 points.

The TCU-SMU game was the only Wednesday night tilt. Saturday night SMU (8-0) meets Texas A&M (3-5) at College Station, Arkansas (7-2) plays Texas (2-6) at Fayetteville, and Baylor (2-7) hosts TCU (1-8) at Waco.

16-B Playoffs Set; Fluvanna Home Tonight

IRA, Feb. 16—Ira and Westbrook will open their series for the District 16-B girls title at Westbrook Friday night. Second game has been set for Ira either Monday or Tuesday night.

Ira will carry a 23-0 season's record into the series and will be heavy favorites to win the playoff.

In the boys division, Westbrook and Fluvanna will continue their series tonight at Fluvanna. Westbrook won the opener, 50-39, at Westbrook Tuesday. A win tonight will give Westbrook the title.

Social Outcast Eyes Upset Over Nashua

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—If any horse is to beat Nashua in the Widener Handicap Saturday it will be Alfred G. Vanderbilt's Social Outcast, in the opinion of clockers and trainers.

Four clockers cast their vote for Vanderbilt's Social Outcast as the one with the best chance of trimming Nashua in his debut as a 4-year-old, while one voted for Brookmeade Stable's Sailor.

Clocker Hal Kiser explained that Trainer W. C. (Bill) Winfrey has been sharpening Find, the other Vanderbilt entry, in speed tests in the hope of extending Nashua early and softening up the million-dollar horse for Social Outcast's challenge in the stretch.

Three Returned To Odessa JC Squad

ODESSA (AP)—Three of the six basketball players that were dropped from the Odessa Junior College squad for "lack of interest and breaking training rules" were returned to the team yesterday.

Coach L. E. McColloch said the three returned were co-captain Virgil Trower, Bob Trower and Jimmy Spence.

INCLUDES NATIONAL POWERS

23 Intersectional Tilts Set By SWC

SPORT SHOTS
HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

The Southwest Conference football schedule for 1956 shows 23 intersectional games and includes such perennial national powers as Oklahoma, Notre Dame, Maryland, Georgia Tech and Mississippi.

Those schools are listed primarily to point up the fact that while the conference's overall record is quite good in intersectional warfare it hasn't been able to do much with Oklahoma, Notre Dame, etc. Until it does it can't brag about its national standing.

Since World War II—or rather from 1946 to the present time, a period of 10 years—the conference has won 136 intersectional games, lost 90 and tied 10. That sounds good but let us examine the record:

Oklahoma has won 17 and lost 5 against the conference's teams. Notre Dame has a 5-1 record, Georgia Tech 7-1, Maryland 1-0 and Mississippi 7-3. And to make it look worse than ever, Louisiana State, which seldom beats anybody else, has taken down Southwest Conference teams 13 times and failed only six times.

Baylor has the best intersectional record of any Southwest Conference school, winning 19, losing 7 and tying 1. Baylor, however, never beat Georgia Tech or Maryland. It hasn't played Oklahoma, Notre Dame or Mississppi.

Southern Methodist has the next best intersectional record with 25 victories, 12 losses and 2 ties. Texas is third with 25-13 and Rice is fourth with 20-12-2. SMU is the only school to beat Notre Dame but the Methodists lost to the Irish three times. SMU also beat Georgia Tech but lost to the Yellow Jackets five times. Texas has lost to Oklahoma seven times while winning three times. Rice is the school contributing most to Louisiana State's glory. The Owls have lost to LSU six times and won just once.

The conference has a golden opportunity to make up some lost ground this season. But it will be squarely up to Texas, Baylor and Southern Methodist. Texas is the only school playing Oklahoma, Baylor is the only one meeting Maryland, while SMU is the only one tackling Notre Dame and Georgia Tech. Not since 1951 has Texas licked Oklahoma. Baylor, of course, lost the only game played with Maryland—last season. Maryland will have a new coach this year, with Jim Tatum having moved to North Carolina. Maybe the Golden Bears can turn the trick because of the adjustment the new coach must go through.

Southern Methodist beat Notre Dame in 1951 but lost to the Irish in 1953-54-55. SMU beat Georgia Tech in 1950 but has lost five games to the Jackets since then.

It's a fine schedule with these intersectional games:

Texas A&M — Villanova, LSU; Arkansas—Oklahoma A&M, Mississippi, LSU; Baylor—California, Maryland, Nebraska; Rice—Alabama, LSU, Floida, Utah; Southern Methodist—Notre Dame, Georgia Tech, Missouri, Duke; Texas Christian—Kansas, Alabama, Miami; Texas— Southern California, Tulane, West Virginia, Oklahoma.

Texas Tech, which would dearly love to get into the conference, plays three of its teams this fall. That's one more than last season. The Red Raiders meet Baylor at Waco Sept. 29, Texas A&M at Dallas Oct. 6, and Texas Christian at Lubbock Nov. 10. One thing about it: The Techs are going to play the best. TCU, A&M and Baylor probably will be picked to finish one-two-three in the conference.

At least one was killed in the explosion and two were missing.

Flood And New Cold Wave Hit Europe And Parts Of Mid East

LONDON (AP)—Raging floods and a new cold wave struck much of Europe and parts of the Middle East today, piling misery on misery in a 17-day freeze-up which already has cost 568 lives.

Torrential rains and melting snows brought Turkey new disasters of the worst winter on record. The known dead there totaled 72.

Ice jams and a brief thaw sent the Rhine and scores of rivers rampaging over their banks in central Europe.

Yugoslavia estimated its flood damage from the Strumica River alone at a million dollars.

The Netherlands reported the coldest night since 1942, with temperatures down to 13 below zero.

Even sunny Spain froze up again after warmer weather yesterday.

Behind the cold wave lurked the specter of famine. Crop losses already ran into millions of dollars.

Scores more were feared lost in villages still snowbound across the Continent. And nine men were aboard the 359-ton Norwegian ship Sagvaag, missing since Sunday off Norway's icebound south coast.

Relief organizations rushed food and clothing to more than 250 persons left homeless by floods in Turkish Thrace. The raging waters swept away bridges and railroad lines. Thousands of acres of rich farmlands were inundated.

Delayed reports from the Turkish mountain hamlet of Aga Kumus said 20 persons were killed and six were missing after a huge avalanche. Cave - ins caused by floods in the Zonguldak - region killed nine miners.

Central and southern Italy with scores of villages still snowbound, shivered in temperatures down to 5 below zero. Fuel shortages and rising food prices were reported across the country.

Three boys drowned after falling through thin ice at Skorpen, Norway. A fourth was rescued by his mother.

Some German cities reported their coldest night of the freeze-up. Bonn had 8 below zero and Nuernberg 13 below. Floods from the Whisper River isolated the town of Lorch.

Communist East Germany reported snowballing troubles in transport and industry. Some plants went on to night work to ease the daytime burden on power resources. Fog covered Berlin with a temperature just over zero.

Princess May Plan Change In Church

LONDON (AP)—A new rumor is going around about Princess Margaret—that she may soon be converted to Roman Catholicism.

Neither Buckingham Palace nor other official sources had any comment so far on the reports published in some continental and London newspapers that such a religious change is contemplated by the 25-year-old princess whose sister Queen Elizabeth II is the "defender of the faith" of the Protestant Church of England.

But the Duke of Norfolk, Britain's leading Roman Catholic layman, denounced as "sheer nonsense" rumors that his audience last week with Pope Pius XII was to discuss the conversion of a "noted English personality" to the church.

Vatican circles said they knew nothing about any plans for Princess Margaret to become a Catholic. They also said there was no basis for reports that the duke had discussed the question with the Pope.

There were published reports in 1953 that Princess Margaret had embarked on a new and fuller religious life after the death of her father King George VI. One report that she was considering entering a religious order—presumably an Anglican group—was denied by Buckingham Palace.

Margaret's religious outlook was generally considered to have played an important role in her decision last fall not to marry RAF Group Capt. Peter Townsend, who divorced his wife.

The Church of England opposes the remarriage of divorced persons, even the "innocent" party, if the former mate is still living.

The New York Daily News, in a copyright story from London today, reported that the princess may soon announce she is entering the Catholic Church. It said the Duke of Norfolk discussed Margaret's "spiritual problem" personally with the Pope and reportedly contacted the princess as soon as he returned from Rome.

The news said Margaret's "decision is the culmination of soul-searching consideration over the past several years. It is not a result of the unhappy ending of her romance with Group Capt. Peter Townsend. In fact, there are indications the princess is purposely delaying any announcement . . . so the move will not be connected in the public mind with the Townsend incident."

Airman Tells Of Slaying

STOCKTON, Calif. (AP)—Airman Roy Hunter has admitted killing Jack Spangler near Wichita Falls Dec. 16, the district attorney's office said yesterday.

Dep. Dist. Atty. James Willett said Hunter, AWOL from Sheppard Air Force Base, told him he shot Spangler three times after immoral advances were made by Spangler.

Spangler, 26, Wichita Falls city employe, was found later in a roadside ditch.

Willett said Hunter, 18, of Saline-ville, Ohio, was captured Monday night in Spangler's auto. Hunter agreed to waive extradition to Texas.

Hunter was charged here with two counts of auto theft, carrying a concealed weapon and impersonating an officer. He has been absent from Sheppard AFB since Jan. 3.

Willett said officers questioned Mrs. Joyce Hunter, 18. She told officers she married Hunter nine weeks ago. She was not detained.

San Francisco Bank Robbery Prevented

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—A red-haired bank teller outbluffed a would-be bank robber in a mid-town branch of the Bank of America yesterday.

The robber walked up to the cage where Marilyn Dinubilo was working and demanded: "I want fives, tens and twenties."

Miss Dinubilo decided the pistol he laid on the counter wasn't real. She slammed her cash drawer shut, jumped away from the counter and exclaimed:

"I'm sorry. I haven't any money."

The robber hesitated, then put the gun in his pocket and hurried from the bank.

WATCH CHEF LYNAM CREATE THIS SEAFOOD DELIGHT!

First, the chef places the halibut fillets in a saucepan with water and lemon juice. You may substitute other fish if you prefer.

Next, chopped spinach and onions are stirred into previously prepared white sauce. You may use either frozen, canned, or fresh spinach.

The final touch... casserole is slid into a hot oven until topping is a golden brown. Then, presto!..."Halibut Florentine"!

Master Chef Don Lynam beams, displaying a sizzling platter of "Halibut Florentine", ready to serve to a group of lucky guests at Tarantino's. (Chef Lynam has a special way with seafood as you'll discover when you try his recipe! Get your free copy at Safeway now).

Pancake Time Spans Clock With World Wide Recipes

Our round the clock recipes go almost around the world with pancakes suitable for breakfast, lunch, supper or midnight snacks.

Our nomination for breakfast eating is a quick-to-prepare pancake made with cereal, mix and canned fruit.

PLUM PANCAKES

1 cup pancake mix
2 tablespoon crushed wheat cereal
½ cup canned plums, pitted and cut up
About 9 tablespoons milk

Combine pancake mix, cereal and plums. Add milk (you may need to add a bit more or less depending on whether you want thick or thin pancakes). Stir smooth. Bake on hot, lightly greased griddle, turning only once. Makes 4 servings.

PLUM SYRUP

1 cup plum juice from the can
½ cup honey
3 tablespoons white corn syrup
⅛ teaspoon cinnamon
Speck nutmeg
2 teaspoons lemon juice

Combine all ingredients; cook over high heat 5 minutes. Serve either hot or cold over pancakes. Makes 1½ cups.

WAIKIKI CRAB PANCAKES

Crab Filling:
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1 tablespoon soy sauce
2 small onions, minced
½ cup chopped green pepper
4 halves canned bamboo shoots, sliced
1 seven-ounce can crab meat, drained, boned and flaked.
¼ teaspoon salt

Melt butter in frying pan and add soy sauce, onion, green pepper, bamboo shoots, crab meat and salt. Cook over low heat for about 30 minutes or until bamboo shoots are tender.

Pancakes:
3 eggs, beaten
½ cup milk
½ cup pancake mix

Combine beaten eggs and milk. Add pancake mix, stirring until smooth. Place about a teaspoon of butter in a small frying pan and heat until the butter bubbles. Pour in enough batter to barely coat bottom of the pan with a thin layer. Tilt pan from side to side until evenly covered. Bake until delicately browned on underside; turn and bake on other side. Place about ¼ cup crab meat filling across center of each baked pancake. Roll up and serve with pineapple sauce.

1 tablespoon cornstarch
¼ teaspoon ground ginger
1½ cups pineapple juice
1-3 cup pineapple chunks

Combine cornstarch and ginger in saucepan; add about ¼ cup of the pineapple juice. Stir until all of cornstarch is dissolved. Add remaining pineapple juice and bring to a boil. Simmer about 10 minutes. Add pineapple chunks. Serve hot.

ITALIO-AMERICANO PANCAKES

Pancakes:
2 cups pancake mix
2 cups milk
1 egg
2 tablespoons melted shortening

Add milk, egg and shortening to pancake mix, stirring lightly. (Somewhat lumpy batter makes light fluffy cakes.) Pour 1-3 cup batter for each pancake onto hot lightly greased griddle. Bake to a golden brown, turning only once.

Chicken Sauce:
2 cans cream of chicken soup
2 five-ounce cans boned chicken
½ cup milk

Combine cream of chicken soup, chicken and milk in pan; bring to boil. Simmer about 10 minutes. Follow directions on package for cooking broccoli.

For each serving stack two pancakes with ½ cup cream chicken between. Top with a spear of broccoli. Pour ½ cup cream chicken over pancakes.

⅛ cup flour
2 tablespoons sugar
½ teaspoon salt
2 eggs, well beaten
1/3 cup milk
1/3 cup fresh orange juice
2 tablespoons melted shortening
1 teaspoon grated orange peel

Sift flour, sugar and salt together. Combine beaten eggs, milk, orange juice and shortening. Add dry ingredients and orange peel; beat until smooth. Pour enough batter on a hot greased griddle to make one pancake 4 to 5 inches in diameter; tip skillet, pour in batter to coat bottom; tilt skillet to cover evenly. Cook 1 minute, turn in skillet or onto heated griddle to finish browning. Spread with filling. Roll as jelly roll and arrange in a hot casserole or chafing dish. Pour sauce with orange chunks over pancakes; keep hot until serving time. Makes 7 to 8 pancakes.

FILLING

1 3-ounce package cream cheese
2 tablespoons evaporated milk
1 tablespoon sugar
¼ teaspoon cinnamon

Soften cream cheese with milk. Add sugar and cinnamon; mix well.

ORANGE SAUCE

1/3 cup sugar
1/3 cup light corn syrup
½ cup orange juice
Dash salt
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
4 to 5 oranges, peeled and cut into chunks (2 cups)

Mix sugar, syrup, orange juice and salt. Bring to a boil. Add butter and boil 8 to 10 minutes. Remove from heat. Drop in orange chunks and pour over rolled pancakes.

CHOCOLATE MILK PANCAKES

1 cup pancake mix
¼ cup sugar
¼ teaspoon cinnamon
1 egg
1¼ cups chocolate milk
2 tablespoons melted shortening
1 pint vanilla ice cream

Combine pancake mix, sugar, cinnamon, egg, and milk and shortening; mix only until blended. Drop by large spoonfuls on hot greased griddle. Bake until browned on both sides. Place scoops of ice cream on pancakes. Roll up jelly-roll fashion; fasten with toothpicks. Serve with chocolate milk cause.

Chocolate Milk Sauce: Heat 1¼ cups chocolate milk to boiling point. Combine ¼ cup sugar, 2 tablespoons flour and dash salt. Gradually add chocolate milk mixing well. Cook over low heat, stirring constantly until thickened. Add 2 tablespoons butter and ½ teaspoon vanilla; mix well. Serve warm or cold.

SKEWERED CHERRY ROLL-UPS

1 No. 2 can dark sweet cherries with juice
1½ tablespoons cornstarch
1½ tablespoons lemon juice
3 tablespoons sugar
1 recipe prepared pancake mix using 2 cups mix and 2 cups liquid

Drain and pit cherries. Combine cornstarch and sugar thoroughly and add to cherry juice and lemon juice. Cook over low heat until thickened, stirring constantly. Add cherries and heat through.

Prepare pancake mix and make six cakes about 6 inches in diameter. Keep in oven until ready to serve. At that time, spread each pancake through center with cherry sauce, bringing opposite sides together and securing with a long skewer. Sprinkle tops with powdered sugar and serve warm.

BRAZILIAN BANANA PANCAKES

Pancakes:
2 cups pancake mix
2¼ cups milk
1 egg
2 tablespoons melted shortening

Add milk, egg and shortening to pancake mix, stirring lightly. Pour ¼ cup batter for each pancake onto hot, lightly greased griddle. Bake to a golden brown, burning only once. Fold pancakes in half.

Place three banana spears (made by cutting bananas into fourths lengthwise, then cutting each in half) in each folded pancake so that tips of bananas stick out. Pour mocha sauce over top.

Mocha Sauce:
1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons cornstarch
1 tablespoons cocoa
1½ cups coffee (strong)
2 tablespoons butter

Combine sugar, cornstarch and cocoa in saucepan. Add coffee; bring to a boil. Simmer about 10 minutes. Stir in butter. Serve hot.

SWEDISH PANCAKES

1 cup milk
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
2 beaten eggs
½ cup sifted all purpose flour
1 teaspoon baking powder
½ teaspoon salt

Heat milk and butter; cool slightly and beat in eggs, flour baking powder and salt. Let stand at least 2 hours.

SHRIMP SAUCE

2 6½-ounce cans shrimp
1 teaspoon dried dill
½ cup white table wine
½ cup butter or margarine
4 egg yolks
¾ cup boiling water
Paprika
Salt
2 cups grated American Cheese
Butter

Clean shrimp under cold running water; chop and sprinkle with dill. Pour wine over shrimp; let stand in cool place until ready to bake pancakes. Meantime, cream butter with egg yolks thoroughly; add boiling water, and cook, stirring constantly, over hot water until mixture begins to thicken. Remove from heat and add 1 tablespoon of the wine that's been standing over shrimp; season to taste with paprika and salt. Cool slightly; drain shrimp and add to sauce. Heat 6-inch frying pan until water dances when sprinkled on surface; add butter or margarine and bake pancakes, using about 2 tablespoons batter for each one and tilting so batter runs; pancakes should be very thin. Brown on both sides and lift to oven-proof platter or pie plate. Put a spoonful of shrimp mixture down the center. Roll pancakes around it. Repeat until all are browned. Sprinkle with cheese; dot with butter. Bake in hot oven (400 degrees F.) about 10 minutes, or until cheese melts. Makes 18 pancakes, about 6 servings.

SPICE PANCAKES

1¼ cups sifted flour
1¼ teaspoon double acting baking powder
¾ teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
¾ teaspoon cinnamon
¼ teaspoon nutmeg
¼ teaspoon cloves
1 egg, well beaten
1 cup milk
3 tablespoons melted shortening

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder, salt, sugar, and spices and sift again. Combine egg and milk; add gradually to the flour mixture, stirring only until smooth. Add shortening and mix thoroughly. Bake on hot greased griddle. Makes 10 to 12 pancakes.

Snyder Man Fined On Driving Charge

A fine of $73.50, including court costs, was paid in county court yesterday by Paul DeHoyos, 30, of Snyder, who pleaded guilty to a charge of driving while intoxicated.

DeHoyos, who was arrested by George Lloyd, city policeman, on the day before, was also given the mandatory three-day jail sentence by County Judge Edgar Taylor. Prosecutor was Wayland Holt, county attorney.

The port of Antwerp is 50 miles from the sea.

Racial Bill Is Requested

AUSTIN (AP) — Reuben Senterfitt wants Texans to urge Sen. Price Daniel to introduce legislation in Congress which would void the U.S. Supreme Court desegregation ruling.

Senterfitt is an announced candidate for governor, and Daniel has indicated the strong possibility he also will enter the race.

Senterfitt said Tuesday that Texans should send messages to Daniel concerning what he called the need for opposing forced federal integration. He said the suggestion was not necessarily because he (Daniel) is a prospective candidate for governor, but because for months he has been energetically soliciting messages from the people of Texas as to what they want him to do."

"I believe the majority of our people want Sen. Daniel to be equally as active and concerned about the future of the rights of the majority of Texans as he has been active and concerned about the rights of the oil companies and the gas companies in the tidelands and the Harris Gas Bill," said Senterfitt.

No Authority

MEXICO CITY (AP) — Declaring Mexicans had the right to go anywhere they wanted to live and work, the Interior Ministry said yesterday it had no authority to stop Mexicans from going to the United States. Various groups had complained the flow of workers north of the border was harming Mexico's economy by creating a labor scarcity.

...to making good coffee!

... and the secret is MARYLAND CLUB! For no matter what strength you like your coffee ... mild, medium or strong ... you can't make a really good cup unless you use a coffee that's rich in flavor. And rich flavor comes only from rich coffee ... the kind that actually costs more ... the kind you enjoy in every cup of MARYLAND CLUB, the world's richest flavor in coffee! Also, because of this extra flavor richness, you use much less coffee per cup when you make it with MARYLAND CLUB than with a less-flavorful brand ... so, actually, MARYLAND CLUB costs you no more, cup for cup! Why serve your family and friends "just any" coffee when, for just a penny or so more, you can serve them the very best ... MARYLAND CLUB!

Try it, in either vacuum-pack or instant ... you'll be proud that you did.

Measure Maryland Club against all other coffees!

Measure MARYLAND CLUB, either vacuum or instant, against any other coffee. Measure its richer flavor ... its more cups per can or jar ... its true cost. Here's what you'll discover ... Measure for measure, no other coffee offers you so much real value for your money ... because with MARYLAND CLUB you actually can use less coffee per cup than with less-flavorful brands. And no other coffee offers you so much real flavor satisfaction. For MARYLAND CLUB is not "just another" coffee ... it's a celebrated blend of the world's finest coffees. Try it; and you'll agree ... measure for measure, MARYLAND CLUB is matched by none!

The coffee you'd drink if you owned all the coffee in the world!

Integration Plans Facing Stiff Fight

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—A hot legislative fight loomed today between the Roman Catholic Church and segregation leaders seeking a law that would halt church plans for integration in Catholic schools.

Four state representatives asked last night for measures to prevent mixing races in private schools. Catholic Church officials have said integration in their schools may come by September.

The four legislators were from the New Orleans area, where more than half the schoolchildren attend Catholic schools.

The request came shortly after a special three-judge federal court threw out state laws aimed at retaining segregation under the state's police powers.

The law created a controversy when passed four years ago. The House originally passed a bill banning integration in all schools, but later changed the wording to make the ban apply only to public schools after Archbishop Joseph Rummel of New Orleans intervened.

The U. S. constitutional guarantee of separation of church and state was involved.

The request last night came from Representatives Cyril Broussard, Joseph Casey and Frank Huerstel of New Orleans and E. W. Gravolet Jr. of adjacent Plaquemines Parish (county). It was made in a letter to State Sen. W. M. Rainach, head of the Legislature's committee on segregation.

They urged the 1954 laws be amended to include private schools.

Their statement said, "It is unthinkable that the State of Louisiana would not afford the same protection to the children in its private schools that it affords to the children in its public schools."

Cotton Trade Threat Posed By Egyptians

WASHINGTON (AP)— Egypt has told the United States any sharp reduction in the amount of long staple cotton this country permits to be imported might mean the end of U.S.-Egyptian trade relations.

The Egyptian embassy, it was learned today, gave that word Friday to Herbert Prochnow, deputy undersecretary of state for economic affairs. Prochnow is understood to have promised the case would be carefully considered.

Egypt supplies nearly all of the U.S. imports of long staple cotton —for example, about 40 million pounds of this year's quota of 45,656,420 pounds.

There are two new factors. One is development in America's Southwest of a new extra long staple by growers who assess themselves $3 a bale to pay for a marketing campaign. The other is the rate at which the United States is exporting its government surplus low grade cotton. In one month it has exported two-thirds of the year's total of one million bales.

Egypt depends almost entirely on long staple cotton as her source of dollars. Even so, the United States has the better of the trade balance with Egypt, sending about 70½ million dollars worth each year and importing about 22 million dollars worth.

Egypt had a cotton surplus last year. The United States was partly blamed because of indecision on whether to unload surplus U.S. cotton on the world market caused some Western buyers to hold off on purchases in hopes of a better price.

Long staple cotton is used in broadcloth shirts and other quality garments. It is strong and silk-like. made from ordinary cotton. It is Garments made from it are generally more expensive than those grown in the El Paso area.

New Orleans Rain Forecast

NEW ORLEANS (AP)—Forecasts of more rain added to the city's woes today as special crews worked to clear sewers and prevent waters from rising higher in flooded parts of the city.

A heavy downpour yesterday, termed as "almost unprecedented in recent history" by Mayor deLesseps Morrison, sent more than a foot of water in homes in suburban sections and turned late afternoon traffic into lines of abandoned cars.

Sewage and Water Board officials blamed the flood on debris left from the Mardi Gras celebration Tuesday. E. F. Hughes, the board's assistant general superintendent, said the trash clogged water mains, making drainage of some streets almost impossible.

The cloudbursts also crippled transit service.

The Weather Bureau said no relief was in sight and forecast thundershowers for the next two days.

Almost 6 inches of rain fell in seven hours, beginning at 2:45 p.m., with 2.85 inches coming in the first hour.

Rising waters in one subdivision washed a cottage off its foundations and carried it several feet.

There were no injuries reported and damage has not been estimatd.

Commie Boss Sounds Like New Dictator

LONDON (AP)—British commentators pictured Nikita Khrushchev today as the new dictator of the Soviet Union. They credited him with all the might of the late Joseph Stalin, and the undisputed authority to revise basic Marxist doctrine.

They said his behavior at the opening of the 20th congress of the Soviet Communist party in Moscow yesterday and his marathon speech confirmed his position and ended once and for all the "rule by committee" which followed Stalin's death.

"Khrushchev the Dictator," headlined the Conservative Daily Mail, whose diplomatic correspondent wrote:

"Mr. Khrushchev, the 61-year-old Soviet Communist party leader, has won the struggle for supreme power in Russia . . . With Stalin-like authority he showed he intends to exercise full control over both home and foreign affairs."

"Khrushchev makes it clear he's boss," said the Laborite Daily Herald. The Daily Sketch echoed: "Khrushchev shows he's boss."

Said the Daily Express: "The ex-millworker, son of a miner, stands in the floodlights of the Kremlin's white and gold palace and speaks with all the authority and assurance of the supreme boss of Russia. The New Stalin."

The independent Times commented: "By delivering the report of the Central Committee (of the Communist party) in his capacity of first secretary, Mr. Khrushchev appears to have gained increased stature. It was Stalin himself who delivered the congress reports until just before his death. It was this appearance by (Georgi) Malenkov at the previous party congress (in 1952) that indicated he was in line for succession as prime minister."

Virtually all the papers emphasized Khrushchev's revision of Marxist tenents — his pronouncements that war is not inevitable, that violence and revolutions are not necessary to install communism worldwide, and that the world is not divided into two irreconcilable camps.

It's Official Now, U.S. Had Good Year

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Commerce Department has put its official stamp on a statement that comes as no surprise: The United States was more prosperous in 1955 than ever before.

Final figures released by the department showed that total production of goods and services hit 387¼ billion dollars last year — 26½ billions, or 7½ per cent, more than in 1954.

Production thus topped the previous peak, set in 1953, by 22¾ billions, or 6 per cent.

National income also hit a record high, the report said, with all segments of the economy except agriculture sharing the gains.

Threat Used In Robbery

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP)—A young gunman used threats against the life of a 3-year-old girl to help him execute a $15,680 robbery at a branch of the Southern Arizona Bank and Trust Co. here yesterday.

Police said late last night that they had some good leads but had not made any arrests.

The gunman walked up to the window of teller Eunice Dossett and handed her a note instructing her to put all the money she had in a heavy paper folder.

When another bank employe, unaware of the holdup, started to leave the room, the gunman ordered her to stop. When she hesitated he threatened to shoot 3-year-old Mary Kay Vezino, who was in the bank with her mother.

Before he fled with the money the gunman warned:

"Count to 300 before you move. There's a man across the street ready to blast you. Don't move or the little girl will get hurt."

No one saw whether he made his escape in a car.

Fisherman Is Fined Two Cents By Judge

LAGUNA BEACH, Calif. (AP)—Convicted of catching 15 abalone, 10 over the legal limit, Charles Cleary paid his fine—2 cents.

Justice C. C. (Gabby) Cravath, onetime Philadelphia Phillies baseball player, assessed a $25 fine but suspended $24.98 because, he said, he doesn't approve of the methods Game Wardens Robert Decker and Robert Terwilliger employed. They testified they saw Cleary make his catches, observing him through binoculars from a distant cliff.

ICE ART IN FREEZING GERMANY—Artists work on the ice sculpture of a Roman two-wheel cart drawn by four horses in a park in downtown Frankfurt, Germany, with assurances from weather forecasters that their efforts will endure. Cold and snow which have plagued Europe for three weeks are expected to continue.

Soldier's Trip Home Brought To Quick End

TEXARKANA, Tex. (AP)—A lieutenant colonel ran into a private last night and brought a quick end to the soldier's trip home.

Highway Patrolman Doc Evans said Pvt. Robert J. Davis, 17, Yakima, Wash., was attempting to hitchhike a ride on Highway 67 when he was struck by a car driven by Lt. Col. Clarence W. Reddin of nearby Red River Arsenal.

Davis was only slightly injured. Evans said that on being questioned Davis said he had left Ft Campbell, Ky., without permission and that he was en route to his home in Yakima. Police are holding him for Ft. Campbell officers.
