Political History Being Molded As Man Launches Campaign Against Election

By JAMES C. KINKAID
Central Press Writer

EMPORIUM, Pa., Oct. 25.—For two decades C. Jay Goodnough of Cameron county has been elected and re-elected to the Pennsylvania state house of representatives. Today he is making political history by staging an active campaign for his own defeat at the polls in November.

Not content with having nominated him for the post on the Republican ticket, politicians of opposing factions, the Democrats and Progressives, also placed his name on their ballots. That was before a certain development occurred.

That development was Goodnough's appointment to the Pennsylvania public service commission by Gov. Gifford Pinchot.

Then Goodnough found himself in a peculiar situation. Under Pennsylvania's constitution no one can hold two public offices at the same time. Neither can he resign from one office to take up the duties of the other. Nor can he be appointed while in office.

The appointment of Goodnough to the service commission does not take effect until December 1, at the close of his present term in the house. But, if he is re-elected again, he can not accept the commission post.

Therefore, with only a matter of days before the election polls are thrown open in the county of Cameron, Goodnough is carrying on a vigorous sticker campaign for his own defeat. As there is a difference of several thousand dollars in the salaries of the two offices, and a great amount of political prestige attached to the public service commission post, Goodnough is making serious efforts to defeat himself.

The legality of the Goodnough appointment is questioned by several authorities on the Pennsylvania constitution. If it is found to be illegal, observers say, it is virtually a certainty that Goodnough will be reappointed December 1, should he be defeated at the polls.

Four Horsemen Of Republican Forces Fought

Destruction, Delay, Deceit And Despair Are Pictured As Mounts Of Republicans; New Deal Promised

(By The Associated Press)

BALTIMORE, Oct. 25. — In the final campaign address of his swing through the west and south, Governor Roosevelt declared here tonight he is waging a war "against the four horsemen of the present Republican leadership—the horsemen of destruction, delay, deceit, despair."

The Democratic presidential nominee again accused President Hoover of preaching a "doctrine of despair" and concluded with the shouted assertion that "the four horsemen have passed on their way. Destruction has done its worst."

Rise From Destruction

"We shall rise from destruction," he said.

"We shall conquer despair.

"We are facing new things. With confidence we accept the promise of a new deal."

Turning directly to the campaign, the governor said "no amount of hysteria on the part of a bankrupt Republican leadership will divert the American people at the eleventh hour from the decision they have already reached."

Policies Are Flayed

Mr. Roosevelt told his audience at the fifth regiment armory that the "horsemen of destruction" to which he referred was "the embodiment of governmental policies so unsound, so inimical to true progress that it has left behind in its

Berrie Convicted For Murder Of Wife

Life Term Is Given Pastor Late Tuesday

Unfrocked Minister Is Unmoved As Verdict Is Read; Young Wife Also Shows No Emotion In Courtroom

To Ask New Trial

Sentence Will Be Pronounced Next Monday And Berrie Is To Be Taken To State Pen At McAlester

(By The Associated Press)

MUSKOGEE, Okla., Oct. 25.—The Rev. S. A. Berrie, 52-year old unfrocked minister, stood unmoved this afternoon as a jury of his peers returned a verdict convicting him of murder in the death of Mrs. Fannie Berrie, his first wife, assessing a penalty of life imprisonment.

Ida Bess Berrie, the 19-year old Sunday school teacher whom the slender, dark-complexioned pastor married two months after the first wife died last March, likewise was unmoved.

Smiles At Wife

As the last word of the verdict fell from the lips of Jess Doyle, jury foreman, the pastor, worn from the trying eight days trial, looked at his pretty young wife, who had remained staunchly at his side during the proceedings, and smiled faintly. She returned the glance without smiling, but affection shone in her eyes.

District Judge W. J. Crump, who presided, announced that sentence would be pronounced next Monday. As the convicted pastor was returned to jail, his attorneys indicated they would present a motion for a new trial and if this is denied an appeal probably will be taken.

Go To State Prison

After being sentenced, Berrie will be taken to the state penitentiary at McAlester, where he will remain pending outcome of a possible appeal.

Immediately after the verdict was read, Mrs. A. C. Trottar, sister of the first Mrs. Berrie, who requested exhumation of the latter's body last summer for a poison test, sent a telegram to her aged mother, who lives on a farm near Seminole.

Iliff Berrie, the pastor's 26-year old son, and his wife, Ruth, also were in the courtroom when the

School Funds At Low Ebb In City

Second month's salaries to Lubbock public school teachers will be due the last of this week, and only about one-half enough of current taxes has been collected to pay for the first month's payroll, A. C. Jackson, schools manager, said yesterday in appealing for immediate payment of taxes.

"The second checks will be made out next week, being due the last part of this week," Jackson pointed out. "Everyone who can pay their taxes now, whether the amount is large or small, is urged to do so to meet the difficult situation the schools are facing."

The school payroll approximates $19,000 monthly, including salaries of teachers and all other persons connected with the system.

HARLINGEN, Oct. 25. (AP)—Walter Morris of Fort Worth today was elected district governor of Oklahoma and Texas Kiwanis and Enid, Okla., was chosen as the next meeting place Morris succeeds Dr. L. D. Hudson of Dewey, Okla.

Organization of Kiwanis clubs in Mexico was endorsed in a resolution. It was said Mexico has none at present. An amendment to the constitution abolishing district trustees was adopted, with presidents of clubs taking over the trustees' duties.

Garland Woodward of Big Spring and Bill Gober of Jacksonville were unsuccessful candidates for the district governorship.

Standard Oil Is Blamed For Court Ruling By Oklahoman

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 25. (AP) Governor W. H. Murray asserted in a statement today that he sees the hands of "two of the Standard Oil divisions" in a decision given by a three-judge federal court holding invalid Texas proration rules.

He declared "my move in Oklahoma has circumvented the move here" and added he hoped "they will not be enabled to get away with it in Texas."

Discussing the statement he named the Humble Oil and Refining company in Texas and the Carter Oil company in Oklahoma.

Fate Of Ruth Kane Likely To Rest With Jury Today

Fido Evidently Was A Hot Dog So He Set Up A Howl About It

(By The Associated Press)

SEATTLE, Wash., Oct. 25.—Roy Handley, telephone repair man, is not a fisherman—but he does the best he can with the material for stories that comes his way.

He probably has reached his zenith with the tale of a dog that served as telephone bell for its mistress.

A housewife called Handley, he said, because she was mystified by the fact that her telephone bell wouldn't ring, but that her dog, in the yard outside would howl every time someone called her number.

When the dog howled, she'd take down the receiver and sure enough there was a call for her.

Handley came, saw and conquered.

He found that the dog was tied, by a chain, to the telephone ground wire. There was a short circuit, and every time someone called his mistress' number, the dog received a shock.

The "trouble shooter" repaired the trouble and advised that the dog be tied elsewhere, so the bell and not the dog would receive the current.

Defense Rests Case Without Offering Single Witness

(Special to The Avalanche)

FLOYDADA, Oct. 25 — Testimony in the murder trial of Mrs. Ruth Kane of Graham ended dramatically late this afternoon when the defense closed its case without placing a witness on the stand.

At 5:15 o'clock the state rested its case against Mrs. Kane, on trial for the ax slaying of J. A. Cunningham, 74-year-old Motley county ranchman. A few minutes later the packed courtroom was stirred by the unusual strategy of the defendant's attorneys.

Arguments Open Today

Judge Kenneth Bain of 110th district court will charge the jurors Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock, and arguments of attorneys will begin at once. The case probably will be in the hands of twelve men late Wednesday afternoon.

Cunningham's will, executed eight days before he was killed at his home April 23, this year, was presented by the state. The wealthy cattleman willed his entire estate to Mrs. Kane, his housekeeper, and left Mrs. Nettie Weatherholt of Los Angeles, Calif., his daughter, only $10. Mrs. Kane was named sole executrix, to serve without bond. It decreed there should be no probate, and that only an inventory and appraisal should be taken. The will was voided in the event Mrs. Kane ceased to serve as his housekeeper.

Had Interest In Ranch

Part of the rancher's estate is a one-half interest in a 1,600-acre ranch. The will, drawn April 15, was witnessed by G. F. Hamilton, one of the defendant's attorneys, and Miss Connie Ross Browning, a stenographer.

Judge Bain will charge the jury on the laws regarding principals

Longhorn Star Seeks Divorce

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Oct. 25.—Bohn Hilliard, halfback of the University of Texas football team, whose work this season has set the tongues of fans wagging, entered suit for divorce from his wife today in Travis county district court.

The ace football performer charged "cruelty," in asking the court for a decree revoking his marriage to Sallie Hilliard. The petition said the wedding took place in San Antonio. A son was born to the couple a few weeks ago.

Hilliard's home is in Orange and he is a sophomore in the university.

Empty Bottle Used To Beat Death Victim

Wife Of Clerk At Penitentiary In Ohio Is Found Dead In Basement Of Home; Officers Open Investigation

(By The Associated Press)

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 25.—Beaten to death with an empty bottle, Mrs. Maureee Bonzo, 44, wife of the record and parole clerk at Ohio penitentiary, was found dead in the basement of her home a few blocks from Ohio penitentiary late today.

Warden Preston E. Thomas expressed belief that the slaying might have been the work of a paroled prisoner who held a grudge against Bonzo for some fancied wrong. Bonzo had been connected with the prison for some 19 years.

Probe Is Started

Police, however, began an investigation on the theory the slaying was the result of robbery.

An empty change purse was found on the floor of the kitchen. The money had been removed and paper stuffed into the purse.

Guards from the prison were rushed to the Bonzo home and police began combing the neighborhood for suspicious characters. Records at the prison were studied by officials in an effort to recall any paroled convicts who may have had a grievance against the clerk.

Had Expressed Fear

Close friends said Bonzo frequently during his many years at the prison, where the convicts greeted him as "Dan," had expressed a fear that some time some convict would harm members of his family.

"It may have been some one we have turned loose in the last few years," Warden Thomas said. "Dan has handled many cases and he may have caused hard feeling with some of the men."

The children were in the house alone when their parents, working in a sugar beet field some distance from the house, noticed it was burning. The blaze was beyond control by the time they reached it.

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 25. (AP)—With three additional reports today of floggings authorities pushed their search for members of a whipping band reputed to have beaten at least 19 persons here recently.

Officers said they believed the floggers are members of one gang, "self-appointed guardians of the public morals," to quote Precinct Sergeant G. P. Watkins of the Riverside police station, in whose district most of the victims live.

Man Arrested And Accused Of Killing With Bare Hands

SPOKANE, Wash., Oct. 25. (AP)—Accused of beating a man to death with his bare hands, Earl Carr, 26, was arrested here today soon after the body of Thomas Smith, 44, was found in an apartment house.

Extra Session Of Legislature Is Considered

Governor Takes Action After Producers Open Wide Flood Gates Of Production; Court Decision Is Given

Rangers Mobilize

Lid Of Proration Is Ordered Clamped Tight; Legislation To Preserve Mighty Field Being Demanded

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Oct. 25 — Its tremendous flush production a menace to the entire oil industry since its unexpected discovery two years ago where geologists said no oil would be found, the vast East Texas oil field again tonight was the mobilization ground for the state's armed troops and Texas rangers.

Gov. Ross S. Sterling ordered them in late today after a number of producers, limited to 40 barrels of oil production a day, had accepted as final the decision yesterday of a three-judge federal court that the state was applying invalid rules against economic waste instead of legal rules to prevent physical waste and had opened wide the flood gates of production.

Wells Are Opened

The federal decision, handed down in a test cast at Sherman, left 15 days before entering the final decree in which the proration of the state railroad commission could be enforced. Anxious to reap the harvest of gold available with production increased far above the 40 barrels a day per well, the railroad commission's restriction under proration, a number of owners began drawing forth the oil.

To meet the situation Gov. Sterling directed Col. L. S. Davidson at Kilgore, in the heart of the oil field, to order as many national guardsmen as necessary to clamp down the lid of proration anew.

Session Is Urged

The governor felt pressure from many sources to call a special session of the legislature to devise new laws to govern oil production inside the 15 day limit marked out by the federal judges before the formal entering of their decree.

There already was a small group of militiamen in the East Texas field under command of Col. Davidson and a detachment of rangers also was there under a martial law order of more than a year ago when

Ninth Annual Affair Fostered By Local Newspapers Is To Continue Three More Days; Program Is Varied

WITHOUT ceremony, other than a brief introduction, Mrs. Leona Rusk Ihrig opened the ninth annual free cooking school to be fostered by the Avalanche-Journal Publishing company Tuesday afternoon at the Uptown Dance palace.

The second lecture and demonstration in the school will open promptly at 2 o'clock this afternoon in the same hall. Other classes will follow on Thursday and Friday.

Program Is Varied

Included in the program today will be a cake with a baked icing and a spiced lamb roll, using a palatable formula that is good for venison and other meats.

The program will be varied each day, Mrs. Ihrig has announced and, although she has a tentative outline it will be changed to suit the fancies and the wants of Lubbock women.

Despite inclement weather, several hundred women were at the hall early Tuesday. Fires had been lighted in the auditorium in the morning to create a comfortable warmth for the afternoon. This policy will be repeated to insure a pleasant hall for women who attend. Mrs. Ihrig's model kitchen has been placed on a raised platform and hundreds of chairs have been arranged so that all who attend may

County Jail Entry Book Is Showing Results Of Work

The entry book in Lubbock county jail shows what peace officers have been doing this month to rid Lubbock county of undesirables and to curb lawlessness.

A total of 192 have been registered in the jail since October 1, as compared to 94 during the entire month of September. At 10:30 o'clock last night there were 96 persons in the jail. Sheriff Wade Hardy said, adding that that was the largest number ever held there at one time.

Of the persons registered for the jail this month, 30 were in the building Sept. 30 which shows that 162 men and women have been arrested either for crimes or investigation to date in October.

There were seven persons in the city jail last night, making a total of 103 men and women in detention at the same time.

Bullington To Try For Record If He's Chosen

(By The Associated Press)

SAN ANGELO, Oct. 25. — If Orville Bullington, Republican nominee for governor, is the victor in the general election Nov. 8, he will not claim the "spoils" of office for the Republican party, he told an audience in San Angelo tonight.

"I have three reasons for such an attitude," Bullington said. "I am a Texan first, and there is no reason why I should want to disrupt the state's political machinery. I am just a pinch hitter from the Republican party, and there is no reason why I should want to sell off the old team.

"In the second place, I know who is going to elect me. You Democrats are going to do it. And the third reason is that I want to make a record during my two-year term that Democratic governors will be shooting at for 25 years to come."

Pickett Faces Eight Charges

Former Lubbock Man Indicted For Murder Of Student At Austin; Criminal Assault Also Is Included

(By The Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Oct. 25. — John M. Pickett, 29, former convict, was indicted for two capital offenses today. One accused him of the murder of Edgar C. Arledge, jr., senior of the University of Texas, shot to death on the night of Sept. 20, while parked in an automobile with a young woman companion. The other accused him of criminal assault on an Austin woman the night prior to the Arledge shooting.

Henry Brooks, Travis county district attorney, previously announced he would agree to a life sentence for Arledge. The killer refused to sign a statement about the Arledge shooting until assured the death penalty would not be inflicted.

TO ASK DEATH PENALTY

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 25. (AP) — John M. Pickett was indicted by the grand jury of the 37th district court today for criminal assault on Mrs. G. W. Dillehay. Walter Tynan, district attorney, announced that an early setting of the case will be asked and that the state will seek to have the death penalty imposed.

Another indictment for assault to murder on Mrs. Dillehay was returned. Mrs. Dillehay was shot three times by a burglar on October 12, but none of the wounds proved fatal. In a statement to police Pickett said his pistol was discharged accidentally while he was grappling with Mrs. Dillehay's husband.

Four burglary indictments were returned against Pickett.

Bitter Winds Whistle Across Texas Tuesday; Temperatures Go Tumbling

(By The Associated Press)

COLD winds whistled across Texas, from the Panhandle to the Gulf of Mexico, Tuesday, sending temperatures tumbling, but causing no damage to crops.

At Amarillo, a few flurries of snow were reported and the thermometer dropped to 34 degrees. A hard frost was predicted for the Lubbock area with benefit to cotton growers as a result of opening of bolls and stopping the growth.

Rain was reported at a number of places, including Lubbock, Dallas, Fort Worth, Wichita Falls, Temple, Beaumont, Corpus Christi and Harlingen.

At Dallas the thermometer registered 46 degrees at 4 p. m. About the same time the temperature was 43 degrees at Fort Worth, and 46 at Temple.

San Antonio reported a 30-mile north wind which brought the temperature down 23 degrees in 10 minutes from 76 at 11:30 a. m. to 53 degrees at 11:40 a. m. About .1 inch rain fell there.

Houston's experience was much the same. The norther rode into that city on a 25-mile wind, and the mercury fell from 85 to 52 in an hour. There was a trace of rain.

The temperature in Beaumont was 70 at 7:30 p. m., having dropped from a high of 85. In Galveston it dropped from 81.5 at 4 p. m. to 68.2 at 7 p. m.

PRAYER MEETING TONIGHT

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE E. BEAN
Avalanche Woman's Editor

ATTEND the cooking school this afternoon. The hour is 2 o'clock. The place is the Uptown Dance palace. The instructor is Mrs. Leona Rusk Ihrig.

OUR PRIVILEGE

THOSE of us who are on the staff of the newspaper have a happy privilege that is sometimes denied to others in the city. We get to know the women who come here to conduct our charm and cooking schools.

Monday morning Mrs. Ihrig's return to the Avalanche-Journal was a pleasant event to those of us who knew her two years ago. And, strange as it may seem since she goes into so many offices in her travels, this place is distinctive to her. She remembered cooking school events—a cold morning when she had to stand in front of the dance palace waiting for a man to arrive with a key, the arrival of a new baby in the home of one of the advertising men, a day when some of the groceries were left off the market list. Things like this happen in many of her cooking schools and to a lot of us it seems that she would forget which things happened in particular cities. But she doesn't. That made her return to Lubbock have the spirit of a home coming.

And we enjoy her, too, in the hours outside of class when we are associated together. The times that she stops by our desks to talk of what she has been doing the last few months, to talk about winter clothes, our hobbies, likes and dislikes and the other things that friends like to discuss together.

The privilege of knowing women such as Mrs. Ihrig is one that we enjoy down here.

We learned, for instance, the other day that there is a palatable way of preparing scrambled eggs of which we had not heard before. Add a couple of tablespoons of orange juice for each egg that is used, Mrs. Ihrig suggested. This gives a different taste. She said other fruit juices might be used in the same way.

VALUABLE ADVICE

IF YOU are missing the school, you are missing something that will help you in your kitchen. The suggestions for saving money, for eliminating waste in buying and preparing foods and for giving the family something with a new flavor are among the most valuable suggestions that come out of the school.

In preparing for the lecture, Tuesday, Mrs. Ihrig was using some celery. The colored maid started to throw away the tops, but was stopped by Mrs. Ihrig who said she never threw these away. "The best part of the celery," she exclaimed. "The green part has the vitamins and this is the part I use in sauces, in flavoring soups and in salads." One may wash celery leaves, tie them loosely in a paper sack or a cloth bag and when they have dried transfer them to a jar to be used as needed, she said.

To prevent curdling in making custards, take out three or four spoons of custard and stir this into the eggs before the eggs are added to the hot mixture, she advised.

ANY SHORTENING

IF YOU are entering the baking contest to be fostered by the City Parent-Teacher council Friday afternoon in connection with the Avalanche-Journal cooking school, you may assume that "butter" in the contest rules means "shortening."

Prizes are being offered for "butter cakes" and "butterless cakes," according to announcements. Shortening does not have to be butter, it has been announced by those in charge.

By the way, enter that contest. It will give you an opportunity to measure your cooking ability with that of other women and at the same time help out a worthy cause. The P.-T. A. council will use proceeds from that sale in helping children whose parents are poor. Spectacles will be bought to aid eyesight and make school work easier — or even possible. Tonsils will be removed, ears will be treated, teeth will be given medical attention.

Doctors of the city donate their services but medicines and operations cost some money. This is the sort of thing that the P.-T. A. money is used for. It helps the children of needy families here in Lubbock.

Recipes From School Chosen

Meat Loaf, Short Cake Are Among Choice Recipes To Be Given In Cooking Class Tuesday Afternoon

Among the choice recipes given by Mrs. Leona Rusk Ihrig in her first free cooking school lecture Tuesday afternoon was one for meat loaf. Seasoning may be varied to suit the individual, she stated, but suggested the following formula:

In two tablespoons of shortening, saute two tablespoons each of onion, celery leaves and green peppers and add two teaspoons of salt, one teaspoon of paprika and one-eighth teaspoon tabasco salts. Add one can of tomatoes or a can of tomato juice, one can of peas and three-fourths cup of minute tapioca. Mix and stir into two pounds of ground lean beef and cook in hot oven.

A vegetable sauce, to be used with the loaf is as follows:

Saute in two tablespoons of shortening one-half cup celery leaves, one-fourth cup onion, one tablespoon prepared mustard, one teaspoon horseradish, one teaspoon salt and a dash of other seasonings to taste. Add a can of tomatoes or tomato juice and cook slowly until it thickens.

The short cake recipe given was as follows: Sift together three cups of flour, four teaspoons of baking powder, one teaspoon salt and cut in three-fourths of a cup of shortening. Beat one egg, add one and one-fourths cups of milk and add to dry ingredients.

If this recipe is to be used for a fruit cake, one-third cup of sugar is added to the dry ingredients.

Variations in this recipe and ways of using it with chicken, cheese and fruits were suggested from the platform.

Ice cream, salad dressing, ice box cookies, sauces were among the other recipes dictated and prepared.

It Was Just A Friendly Kiss!

It was just a "friendly kiss' that Charlie Chaplin, the screen's foremost comedian, bestowed upon Paulette Goddard, platinum blonde film actress, when she left Hollywood by plane for New York, according to Miss Goddard herself. Nevertheless, the movie colony is wondering whether she isn't to be the next Mrs. Chaplin.

Oklahoma Seeks Removal Of Cox

HOUSTON, Oct. 25 (AP)—Albert Thomas, assistant United States district attorney, this afternoon was preparing an order for the removal of S. E. J. Cox, oil promoter, from Laredo, Tex., to Oklahoma City, where United States District Attorney Herbert K. Hyde claims Cox has violated terms of a $10,000 appeal bond.

The order will be presented to Federal Judge T. M. Kennerly for his signature.

The request for the order, which arrived in Houston today from Oklahoma City, was accompanied by a certified copy of an instrument in which Judge Edgar S. Vaught of the western district of Oklahoma set forth that District Attorney Hyde had shown cause why Cox should be returned to Oklahoma City.

The interest of the federal court here lies in the fact that Laredo is in the southern district of Texas over which Judge Kennerly presides and the removal order would have to come from him.

Cox was convicted in Oklahoma City about a year ago on a charge of using the mails to defraud and assessed a 10 year penitentiary sentence.

He appealed, at which time the $10,000 bond was set.

A bench warrant issued by Judge Vaught for Cox's arrest accompanied the papers here.

Gentlemen:

Word has just reached me from General Executive Offices that Ward Week was the most gratifying sale of its kind ever held.

This sale, the greatest event of the year in the Ward organization, was held in 500 Ward stores reaching from coast to coast. This event is generally conceded to be the greatest sale of its kind and scope in America.

You will be interested in the success of the sale because of the fact that approximately 90% of the advertising appropriation for Ward Week was spent in local newspapers.

The amazing total of almost 9,000,000 lines of space in about 800 newspapers carried the Ward Week message to 50,000,000 people.

We feel we owe you a word of appreciation for the splendid manner in which THE AVALANCHE co-operated in making Ward Week a success. Your publication has again proven its value as an outstanding advertising medium.

Best wishes for continued success.

Tech Gridders Keep Warm As Winter Sweeps Gridiron

Notre Dame To Send Big Team Here Friday

Matadors Show Good Spirit In Fast Workout; Team May Be Surprise To South Bendites Here Friday Night

Warning blasts of winter swept over the practice fields from the north yesterday afternoon, but if they were intended to slow up the Matadors in their practice work the plans went awry.

The Matadors, upon whose husky shoulders lies the responsibility of upholding the football standards of Tech and the southwest in an intersectional game with Notre Dame B gridsters this Friday evening, shuttled through a practice that would have been more or less disheartening to even the toughened footballers of Notre Dame.

Clark Still Ails

With nearly every man in top physical trim, the Bullfighters scampered through a punting and passing drill that indicated strength in those particular departments if in no others. Adrian Clark, sophomore quarterback who leaped into prominence by punting and quarterbacking the Matadors to a victory over S. M. U., still is hampered by an old knee injury, and the probabilities of his extended playing against the Micks are not great.

Asked if he did not think that Notre Dame was "stepping out of its class and taking too much for granted" by sending a B team to battle the Matadors, Head Coach Cawthon wig-wagged a bit and spake thusly:

"Coach Anderson could keep sixty of his best men at South Bend, and send a team picked from the rest of the squad that could—er, ah, well, make it pretty tough for us."

The wily mentor did not hazard a prediction. "I picked us to beat Texas A. and M. and lose to Arizona; it came out just the other way, so I'm not picking anybody anymore," he said.

Probably with Tommy Yarr, all-American center and Notre Dame captain last year, in charge, the Ramblers will invade Lubbock tomorrow or early Friday. It is believed that they leave South Bend some time today, or perhaps tonight. No definite announcement concerning the time of leaving and arriving has been received.

Rain And Cold Keeps Frogs Indoors For Skull Practice

FORT WORTH, Oct. 25. (AP) — Rain and cold today chased the T. C. U. Horned Frogs indoors for their workout in preparation for Saturday's conference game with the Baylor Bears.

Handicapped by the indoor workout, the Frogs had to be content with running through their plays and formations.

Texas Aggies Next On Gents Schedule; Play On Saturday

COLLEGE STATION, Oct. 25 (AP) Cooler weather gave the Texas Aggies added vigor as they went through a brisk workout in preparation for the football game at Shreveport, La., with the undefeated and untied Centenary College Gentlemen.

General line and backfield drills were followed by a dummy scrimmage.

Salvation Army Drive Continues

With only five of 30 service club men who Tuesday solicited donations, outright and by pledge, having made reports, a total of more than $250 to enable the Salvation Army to continue its work had been accounted for last night, Paul Hardwick said.

A total of $3,302.95 is the goal of the annual financial campaign which was scheduled officially to last through yesterday only. Persons taking part in the drive today will make second calls and visit persons whom they failed to see yesterday.

Appeal For Support

"Every Lubbock citizen who can should aid the work of the Salvation Army here during its next fiscal year," Mr. Hardwick, treasurer, said last night. "The need is urgent, now that winter is here. The Salvation Army reaches a group of needy people which is aided by no other one organization."

A total of $1,265 was the amount scheduled to be raised in Salvation Army services here and in adjoining towns, in a budget drawn by Harry L. Purdum, general secretary of the Texas division, of Dallas. Total operating expenses, including salaries, of the Salvation Army here through the year ending September 30, were 3,874.70, leaving a balance of only $1.05 from the total income. An income totaling $5,089 is needed for the current fiscal year, the divisional secretary, said.

Reports of other solicitors will be made Wednesday.

QUEEN OF HIKERS MARRIED

Just before Miss Ivy Springeet was married in a park near Sydney, N. S. W., she was elected "queen of the hikers" for the day. Ten thousand people then watched the wedding, when she became Mrs. H. H. Hillier. Hikers came for miles to see the double ceremony. Nine special trains carried 6,500, while thousands rode by regular trains or hiked.

Local Fans May Get Ducats Now

Only about a thousand grandstand seats remain unsold for the Texas Tech-Notre Dame football game here Friday night, officials have announced. These are on sale at the Hotel Lubbock and Hotel Hilton, and are selling fast.

Local fans are urged to buy tickets in advance—today if possible—in order to avoid a last minute rush. Mail orders and telegraph orders are coming in from distant towns, and about half the tickets sold have gone to out of town fans.

Bleacher seats, of which there will be an adequate number to take care of late arrivals, will be sold only at the gate.

Corsicana And Waco Meet In Grid Feature

Pampa And Amarillo To Battle In District One, Winner To Be Favorite; Lubbock And Borger In Important Go

BY BILL PARKER
Associated Press Sports Writer

A district eleven battle Friday at Corsicana between Waco and Corsicana will feature this week's Texas Interscholastic league Class A football program of 27 championship games. The Waco Tigers and Corsicana Tigers are two of the bitterest rivals in the scholastic league for football honors, and always their annual combat is colorful and a banner attraction. Another fine battle will be the Pampa Harvesters and Amarillo Golden Sandies team in district one which brings together the two district leaders, each with a perfect percentage.

Last week in the only district one battle, Amarillo whipped Plainview, 65 to 0, to share top position with Pampa which has two district wins. The other district one game Saturday will find Borger at Lubbock.

Abilene Meets Brownwood

The district two race started last week when Breckenridge walloped Brownwood, 18 to 13, and Ranger stopped Abilene, 20 to 0. Friday, Abilene will seek revenge against Brownwood, and Eastland will battle Breckenridge.

Sweetwater and Colorado, leaders in District three with two wins and no defeats each, will not play district games this week. Big Spring at McCamey, and Midland at San Angelo will be the fireworks in this district. Both games are scheduled Saturday. Last week, Colorado beat Midland, 26 to 0; San Angelo beat McCamey, 7-0, and Sweetwater beat Big Spring 13-0. The San Angelo victory counted only a half game because these two teams meet twice this season, each counting a half game.

Ysleta Holds Lead

Ysleta holds the lead in district four with one win. In the only game last week, El Paso beat El Paso Bowie, 9-0. Ysleta and El Paso Austin battle Friday in the only scheduled game.

No championship games were played last week in District five, where Vernon and Quanah are leading with a victory each, but there will be action Saturday when Electra invades Quanah, and Wichita Falls goes to Vernon.

In District six, Sherman with two wins, and Denison and Denton with one, are pacing the field. In three championship games last week, Sherman beat Gainesville, 33-0; Denison whipped McKinney, 19-0, and Denton nosed out Dallas Highland Park, 21-20. Friday, Denton goes to McKinney for the only conference game.

Three Fort Worth teams, Masonic home, Polytechnic and Central, each with two wins, are leading in District seven where last week, Polytechnic beat North Side, 26-0, in the only title game. Friday, Stripling and Masonic Home battle, and Mineral Wells meets Central. Both games at Forth Worth.

Leopards Lead At Dallas

District eight, the all-Dallas division, is paced by the Oak Cliff Leopards with two wins and no defeats. Last week, Woodrow Wilson beat Dallas Tech, 9-7, Forest beat Sunset, 12-6, and Oak Cliff defeated North Dallas, 37-6. Saturday, Dallas Tech battles Sunset.

Greenville and Marshall, with a victory each, are leading in District nine, both earning their victories last week when Greenville beat Texarkana, 31-6, and Marshall stopped Paris, 14-0. Thursday, Texarkana battles Paris, and Friday, Marshall goes to Sulphur Springs.

Athens, with two wins, and Palestine with one, are pace setters in District ten. Athens clicked last week with a 20-0 decision over Nacogdoches, and Lufkin beat Longview, 34-0. Tyler at Lufkin Friday is the only district game this week.

The Corsicana and Waco battle in district eleven will bring together the two district leaders, both having defeated Hillsboro. The other district game Friday carries Cleburne to Temple.

The San Antonio teams, Breckenridge and Thomas Jefferson, each with three wins, are leading in District twelve. A full program was played here last week when Thomas Jefferson beat Harlandale, 14-8; Brackenridge beat Kerrville, 14-10; Austin walloped San Antonio Alamo Heights, 31-0, and San Antonio Tech beat Del Rio, 20-0. Friday, San Antonio Tech plays Thomas Jefferson, and Austin plays Brackenridge. Saturday, Del Rio invades Harlandale.

Two Houston Teams

District thirteen has two Houston leaders in Sam Houston and John Reagan. Sam Houston boasts two wins against one for John Reagan. Last week, Sam Houston beat Houston Jeff Davis, 13-0, and Houston San Jacinto battle Bryan to a scoreless tie. Friday, Bryan plays Sam Houston, Jeff Davis battles Milby, and Saturday will see John Reagan playing San Jacinto.

Beaumont, with one victory, leads District fourteen. This race started last week when Beaumont beat South Park, 32-0. Friday, Goose Creek invades Galveston, and Port Arthur plays South Park.

Robstown and Kingsville are tied in District fifteen. Both boast one win. Last week, Robstown beat Laredo, 33-0. Friday, Robstown plays Alice.

In District 16 Brownsville plays Harlingen on November 24 for the district championship.

Westerners Get Ready For Borger Bulldogs And First Conference Battle Friday

Noble Atkins Brings New Class A Team Here For Game

Shivvering excitedly at first, the Lubbock High school Westerners soon forgot the cold and yesterday afternoon scampered through a serious workout as part of the preparation for Friday afternoon's game with the Borger High school Bulldogs.

The game will be Lubbock's first Class A conference tilt of the season, and will go far in determining Lubbock's potential standing in the District 1 race of the Texas Interscholastic league.

Coach Chapman will place his strongest team on the field Friday afternoon in an earnest endeavor to take as many conference games as possible before the Thanksgiving clash with the Amarillo Sandies at Amarillo. There is talk of that game now, but the Westerners have been ordered to forget the future and pay attention to the present. A victory over Pampa or Amarillo, a vague hope, will be all but lost if a defeat comes at the hands of the Bulldogs, newest members of the District 1, Class A family.

Lubbock Is Favored

Noble Atkins, former all-Southwest conference athlete at Texas Christian university, is head coach at Borger High. His team was knocked over by Pampa's Harvesters, 19 to 0, earlier in the season. The Bulldogs are not doped to go very far in the race, but they are in a good position to catch somebody napping and make it hard for an ambitious opponent to shag a flag.

Decision to play the game Friday afternoon, the date on which it was originally scheduled, came after negotiations between the two schools Monday. Due to the Tech-Notre Dame game on Friday night, it was deemed useless to play the high school contest on that date. Another college game on Saturday afternoon, however, between the Tech freshmen and the Amarillo College Badgers, killed Saturday, and Borger authorities were not in favor of having the game transferred to Borger.

The contest will start at 3:30 o'clock Friday afternoon. A low rate of admission will be charged, fifty cents being top price, and a large crowd is expected.

Here's Your Twelve-Man Grid Team

Occidental College To Put Dozen Players On Field Against Santa Barbara Twelve In Novel Football Idea

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 25. (AP)—Football enthusiasts have talked about twelve-man teams, but it remains for Occidental college of Eagle Rock and the Santa Barbara state gridsters to put the plan in vogue.

Announcement was made by athletic authorities at Occidental college today that each team will put twelve men on the field when they meet at the Rose Bowl, Pasadena, the night of November 4.

The twelfth player will be termed a field general. On the offense he will go into a huddle with the other eleven players to decide what plays will be employed. When the formation moves forward he will drop back with the referee to see just how his brain-child works out and to detect weaknesses of the oppositon.

One Side On Defense

On defense, the field general will stand with the head linesman, taking no active part in the functions of his team. The plan is to have the field general dressed differently, so that in the excitement of the game he cannot become involved in the play without being detected easily.

The step is considered by Occidental athletic authorities as another in their plan to give the game back to the students. Before the season opened it was announced the team would be run by a board of strategy, with players in entire control. The team lost its first three games, but then staged the surprise of the Southern California conference by defeating Whittier, considered as the probable champion.

Longhorns Fear All Will Not Be Smooth Against Mustangs

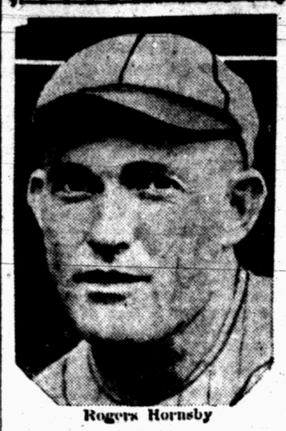

AUSTIN, Oct. 25. (AP)—After resting yesterday, the University of Texas Longhorns today plunged into the serious business of preparing themselves for their second Southwest conference clash of the season with the S. M. U. Mustangs here Saturday.

Coach Clyde Littlefield stressed perfection of an airtight pass defense in the practice session, obviously of the opinion that the Ponies have saved their famed "aerial circus" for the exclusive benefit of his team.

The squad, working out in a cold, drizzling rain, appeared in good condition. All members are expected to be ready for service Saturday.

Norther Strikes Houston But Owls Stick To Grid Training

HOUSTON, Oct. 25. (AP)—A norther blew in today and enlivened the Rice Institute football squad, which went through a stiff drill on fundamentals in preparation for Saturday's game here against Creighton of Omaha, Neb.

The Owls will be in fine physical condition, barring anything unforeseen, and doubtless will be hard to stop. They had been undefeated this season until last Saturday's 18-6 victory rolled up by Texas.

El Ranchito Polo Tourney Postponed Till Tomorrow

FORT WORTH, Oct. 25. (AP)—Inclement weather today marred the annual fall polo tournament at El Ranchito polo field and the doubleheader scheduled for today was moved over until tomorrow, when, weather permitting, El Ranchito and Dallas will meet in the first half of the semi-finals. Fort Sill Okla., will engage Georgetown in the second game. The winners will meet Saturday afternoon in the championship final.

Rogers Hornsby To Play With Cardinals Next Season; To Be Candidate For Second Base

"Rajah" Signs One-Year Contract With No Strings; To Be Given Release At End Of Next Season

(By The Associated Press)

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 25.—The return of Rogers Hornsby to the St. Louis Cardinal fold, after a somewhat hectic trip around the National League circuit, may solve some of Manager Gabby Street's problems in reorganizing the former world champions for next year's pennant race.

Losing the powerful batting attack of Chick Hafey, and with Sparky Adams on the injured list, Street was confronted with the problem of organizing the team.

"Hornsby sets off the club mighty nice for next year," Street said in discussing the announcement today of the signing of the "rajah" by the Cardinals on a one-year contract.

The hole at third base, with Adams gone, is wide open. But Hornsby is a second baseman. President Sam Breadon predicted that if Hornsby wins the second sack berth, Frankie Frisch, a Cardinal mainstay, will be shifted to third base, and, with Jim Bottomley at first, complete the triumvirate. If Adams comes back physically fit, it will be difficult to bench him, however.

If the Rajah makes good his comeback it will give the Cardinals a former league batting champion who may supply the lack of the heavy hitting Hafey.

Should Hornsby fail to make the infield, there is a chance he might be kept as a pinch hitter, despite his late mediocre showing with the bat.

"Rogers Hornsby is far from being through as a baseball player," Street said at his Joplin, Mo., home. "I think he's got a lot of good baseball left in him and that he'll be of real help to the Cardinals. I've always liked Hornsby and I know he likes me, so I don't anticipate any trouble from him."

Street said Hornsby "will have absolutely nothing to say about running the club."

Many fans remember the heroic work he did for the Cardinals in 1926. Bought for $15,000, he rose in value to a peak of $150,000. He figured enormously in the financial and baseball success of the Cardinals.

Salary terms of the contract were not announced. It was made known, however, that under its terms Hornsby will receive his unconditional release at the end of the 1933 season, subject to the rules and regulations of the National league.

Hornsby signed the contract with the understanding he was not considered a possible future manager of the Cardinals. He said he would subordinate himself to Manager Charles E. Street, and that he expected to be released if Street decided he was unable to help the club as a player.

Razorbacks Listen To Coach Lecture; Meet Rice In Next

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark., Oct. 25. (AP) — Head Coach Thomsen spent most of this afternoon talking to the University of Arkansas football players on football subjects in general when freezing, rainy weather cut short a scheduled practice session.

The Razorbacks have no game this week-end but play Rice Institute on Nov. 5.

Stout, a regular tackle, was the only injured player on the squad today. He was suffering from an infected arm.

Garner Declares That Hoover Is No Longer Able To Give Own Contentions Logically Or Honestly

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25 (AP)—Speaker Garner said today that President Hoover and his associates "have become so involved in 'would have,' 'if,' and 'but' apologies for a task poorly done that they are no longer able to present their own contentions logically or honestly."

"President Hoover," he said in a statement issued through the Democratic national committee, "whips himself into a self-righteous fury because the Democrats have promised a saving of a billion dollars in governmental expenses and in the very breath in which he denies the possibility, says that he himself will save a billion and half if allowed to remain in office."

Taking issue with the Republican contention that economic troubles spread to this country from abroad, the vice-presidential candidate said unemployment figures "reveal ng a ratio of unemployment nearly twice as great here as in Europe, hardly justify the theory that foreign infection has poisoned our economic blood stream."

"It is hard, indeed, to escape the conclusion, judging by some of the defensive speeches made by the Hoover leaders," he continued, "that they seek to be more familiar with conditions abroad than at home.

"Particular emphasis, clothed only in vague statements, has been laid on the horrible conditions in Europe which contributed to our downfall.

"In order to form an estimate of those conditions, let me present a comparison between th ngs as they are in the United States and abroad at the present time.

"On October 11, the American federation announced that 11,000,000 of the 122,000,000 residents of the United States were unemployed. On that same day unemployment in England, France, Germany and Italy, having a total population of 182,000,000, embraced 9,161,000 persons. The percentage of unemployment in the United States was nine per cent, for the four leading nations five per cent."

Garner said President Hoover and Secretary Mills "have recently been more than ordinarily plaintive in their contention that critics of the Hoover regime have not used the right figures in setting forth the stupendous cost of the country of the past three years of maladministrat on."

He cited figures from the Republican campaign text book, which he said "show an increase in the cost of government of $1,213,700,000" from 1930 to 1932.

"Hoover figures justify every Democratic accusation," he said. "No matter how the figures of the past three years are juggled the record of futility and deception cannot be changed."

A New Economic Problem

IT IS PERPLEXING to discover such a student of economics as Alexander D. Noyes intimating that the United States has failed in the role of creditor nation, and pointing out that when Great Britain held the world's purse-strings "London invariably re-entered the field of foreign investment, taking its lessons practically to heart, and not only the world's financial and industrial development, but England's own economic prosperity, were promoted by it."

The fact is that England never had to deal with a foreign investment problem such as confronts America today. There was never a time when the whole world was prostrated by war, either foreign or civil, as it is now; never a time when the world, having wasted its substance and mortgaged the future for two or three generations, was so torn between the desire to honor its commitments and to repudiate them.

London never faced that situation. When British money poured into America after the Civil war, it is true that this nation was heavily in debt; but our public debt in 1869 was only $77.69 per capita, whereas in 1919 it was $240.09 per capita, and nevertheless we were the richest and most solvent nation on earth. Furthermore, in 1869 we had enormous resources to be developed; and then our raw materials and manufactured goods could be shipped to free or lightly-taxed markets all over the world—plenty of them to England in English ships, for consumption or further manufacture and sale. Today those trade avenues are closed, or allow but a small trickle to pass through.

After the Battle of Waterloo there was no large-scale international war in the world for 99 years. There were plenty of conflicts, but they were relatively short and rather closely confined, and they did not interrupt trade. No great nation was left impoverished or economically crippled. Money seeking investment abroad was comparatively safe. If the same safety were visible today, surely American wealth would flow out to those places that offered security and good returns.

WHEN WILL WE LEARN

That indefatigable sifter of the Gobi sands, Dr. Roy Chapman Andrews, is bound again for China, this time to seek some evidence of the First Man. The Gobi Desert, he has always held, is the true cradle of the human race.

From recorded testimony that put man's first days at about 4,000 B. C., the date of his beginning has been steadily pushed back by the evidence of science to eras more and more remote. In 1833, the fossil remains of the Men of Engis were found in a Belgian cave, mingled with the bones of the mammoth and wooly rhinoceros. Thus the birthday of the race was automatically put back some 20,000 years. Thence, it receded with the finding of the Heidelberg Man, the Man of Piltdown, and, four years ago, the Peking Man, until our tenancy of the earth is now thought to be at least 1,000,000 years.

If the deserts of China yield evidence of even greater antiquity, it will but add to the humility which all of these discoveries entail. It is quite enough to consider that the race has lived a million years, and learned so little that it now starves in the midst of plenty; that it still wars among itself as it did beside the lake which once covered the Gobi, that its cities are still infested with gorillas with guns as its forests were with tigers whose teeth were like sabers, and the greater part of its public expense is still given over to the extermination of the neighbors.

Evidence that put the dawn of man at 6,000 years ago was much more comforting. At least we could say to ourselves, "The race is still young; it will learn as it grows old." But sending us back a million years—or more, as Dr. Andrews proposes to do—assails us with sensations of profound futility, that we have lived so long and learned so precious little.

CAMPAIGN MILEAGE

Whether or not Governor Roosevelt is striving to set a record for campaign mileage, he will have had glimpses of most of these United States before this campaign ends. Short journeys to Chicago and New England were followed by the 8,000-mile "swing around the circle" which extended to the Pacific coast, another "swing", through the Middle West, the Border states, the South and along the Atlantic seaboard.

In this respect he is perhaps the closest rival to William Jennings Bryan, who virtually initiated the "swing around the circle" in 1896, when in two months he covered almost every section of the United States. But Bryan was defeated by McKinley, who conducted a "front-porch" campaign. In this campaign will be a more reliable indicator, through mileage, of the voting strength of a candidate.

Little Hope For Solution

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 25.—Distinguished as is the membership of ex-President Calvin Coolidge's unofficial, non-partisan commission, chosen to plan relief of the country's railroads, no particular enthusiasm is evident in Washington in anticipation of a generally satisfactory solution, by the new board, of the transportation problem.

Calvin Coolidge

Almost everywhere the inquiry appears to be looked on somewhat askance as too distinctly representative of only a single interest—railroad bond-holders.

Five outstanding men of high integrity and achivemtnt form the commission. They undoubtedly had to be "drafted" to give up so much of their time to what may be a thankless task.

There has been no concealment about it. The five commissioners — Mr. Coolidge, chairman; Bernard M. Baruch, financier, and head, under President Wilson, of the War Industries board; Alfred E. Smith; Publisher Clark Howell of the Atlanta Constitution, and President Alexander Legge of the International Harvester company, former chairman of the Federal Farm board — were picked for their task by the big insurance companies, savings banks and certain educational institutions, with enormous investments in railroad securities.

THE MANAGEMENTS of these great financial reservoirs put their funds into transportation bonds at a time when the leading rail systems were regarded, from the standpoint of safety, almost on a par with the federal government itself.

Today the most powerful of them are in straits; saved from receiverships, in several instances, only by the Reconstruction Finance corporation's aid.

Moreover, even a recovery from the depression does not promise rehabilitation of the railroad industry.

Seemingly the roads cannot meet present competition and make ends meet, too.

The situation is an anxious one for holders of their bonds. The owners dare not unload their securities, however left they slump the market. They do not know where else to trust their money, either.

IT IS UNNECESSARY to have any sympathy with the railroads in order to realize that their bankruptcy, attended by enormous losses to their mortgagees, would be a terrible disaster.

Indirectly, tens of thousands of insurance policy holders, beneficiaries of annuities and savings banks depositors would be affected.

Officials responsible for the welfare of all these folk naturally feel an intense concern for the stability of the railroad companies. Their adoption of measures to prevent a catastrophe, if possible, is perfectly understandable.

NEVERTHELESS, there are many others, who have stakes involved in whatever railroad policy may be hit upon, fully as important as that of the bondholders.

The railroad workers are one group.

The industries, with practically no exceptions, have intimate interrelationships with the general movement of commodities.

Agriculture's concern in transportation is vital.

The assorted rights of the public are entitled to consideration.

Obviously a settlement solely to the bondholder's advantage may be distinctly to the disadvantage of some or all of these alternate interests.

ILLUSTRATIVELY, the suggestion most frequently advanced contemplates the handicapping of autobus, autotruck, water and air transportation, by such regulation and taxation as materially to increase its cost, to prevent the underbidding, by these agencies, of the rates which the rail lines must charge, to operate profitably.

But if railroading is decadent to an extent (it assuredly is not, as yet, for certain classes of business), is it justifiable to preserve it, by penalizing its rivals, simply to protect its security holders?

Besides, it is well recognized that over-valuation of the properties is largely to blame for the roads' inability to make expenses now; they must yield profits on much more money than ever went into them. The difficulty is that their over-valuations date so far back that it admittedly is a hopeless undertaking to readjust them today.

THERE ARE competent authorities who maintain that only through governmentalization on a true cost basis (no one believes that private ownership ever will agree to it) can fair rates be arrived at, after all the hokus-pokus that has gone before.

Advocates of governmentalization contend that, thus reorganized, the roads would pay, and take care of their bonds as well.

The stockholders, however, would suffer.

What of it?—answer the governmentalization folk; the stock is so low already that its owners virtually are dispossessed.

ON ALL THESE grounds the prospects of any very basic results from the efforts of ex-President Coolidge's commission are regarded by genuine railroad experts as slim.

There is talk of obtaining a leave of absence for Interstate Commerce Commissioner Joseph B. Eastman from the I. C. C. to put him at the head of a board of inquiry, in the hope of solving the transportation puzzle for the benefit of everyone concerned, rather than the bondholders alone.

It probably will be attempted when congress meets in December.

Lubbock And Meadow Readers Comment Upon Present Political Problems

SINGLE OFFICE TERMS

Editor, The Avalanche: The office of president and the office of governor seem to have become so attractive in recent years that it suggests needed legislation fixing the term of office. I mean that the time has come when the Constitution fixing the number of terms and the time of service should be changed. From now on, it seems to me, we could best be served by a one term president and a one term governor.

When an election to office shall be the selection by the voters of one of their number to assume for a time a public trust instead of his dedication to the profession of politics; when the holders of a ballot, quickened by a sense of duty and of justice, shall avenge truth and confidence betrayed and pledges broken, and when the suffrage shall be entirely free and uncorrupted, the full realization of a government by the people will be at hand. Of a means to this end, no one would in my judgment, be more effective than an amendment to the Constitution of both nation and state, disqualifying the president and the governor from re-election.

When we consider the patronage of these great offices, the temptation to retain public place once gained, and more than all, the availability a party finds in an incumbent whom a horde of office holders with zeal born of personal benefits received and fostered by the hope of favors yet to come, stand ready to aid with money and trained, political service, we recognize in the eligibility of the president and governor for re-election a most serious danger to the calm, deliberate and intelligent action which must characterize a government by the people.

Our reflections on this matter and the importance of such a change can be illustrated by reference to the stubborn determination of President Hoover and Governor Sterling in their vigorous attempts to succeed themselves. The campaign management of these two ultra Big Business Men, was unique in design, skillfully conceived and mendaciously prosecuted two and four years ago. The ills of the country, or a major part of them, is attributed to the selfish administration of those political groups that designed the election of the aforenamed. If we are to protect our interest and preserve our integrity in state and nation it is apparent that a Constitutional change fixing the tenure of office of the president and governor or to resort to the initiative, referendum and recall.

When government is properly administered there will be no robbery of small landowners by major oil compañies; when government is properly administered there will be no banker or business man in Lubbock or elsewhere who will be permitted to charge more than a legitimate rate of interest or percent of profit on those who desire protection; When our government is properly administered there will be no special interests fattening upon the government's adversities, after they have brought the adversities upon the government; when government is properly administered it will recognize these fundamental principles set forth in the Declaration of Independence; that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their creator with inalienable rights, that governments are instituted to preserve these rights, and that governments derive their just powers from the consent of the governed. When these principles are applied, then government will be what it ought to be. Jackson said there were no necessary evils in government. That evils existed only in its abuses. It is against these abuses we fight every four years in the selection of a president and likewise every two years in the selection of a governor. We are in the finals of just such conflicts now and our people must be advised that the conflict is grave and the problems serious.

The two major parties have a leader and each party its organization and a candidate. It should be the plan and purpose of the party to stand by their respective organization but let no Democrat feel that party fealty is so flexible as to permit its members to desert at will. The Republican party is attempting to persuade the political eunuchs of the Democratic organization to desert their army and play traitors to their party. Now, if there be those who feel that they have cause to bolt—let him and them do so. We hope they will find their reason for so doing in their heads or in their hearts rather than in their purse. We want them to be honest enough to say that is where the reason is and not that Roosevelt and Garner and the state Democratic ticket headed by Miriam A. Ferguson is insufficient.

If a Democrat is bound up with the trust and loves the trust more than his country, let him say so, and we will bid him God-speed. If there is any Democrat connected with a corporation and prefers to retain that connection rather than stand with the Democratic party in its efforts to bring the government back to Jefferson, Jackson and Wilson, let him say so. But let them understand that they must not delude themselves with the thought that they may separate now and come back hereafter to assume positions of command. Any Democratic son who desires to leave the house of his fathers may do so, but let him understand that when he gets tired of the husk and wants to come back we may not kill the fatted calf for him. Let him associate with those who would undo what Jefferson and Jackson did, but he must remember that the penalty must be the woodpile, the buck-saw and the backyard for aeons before he can shove his toes under his father's table.

ROOSEVELT-GARNER FIRST

Editor, The Avalanche: Your editorial of the 20th under the above caption would be amusing if it was not pathetic, in one who personally expected to support the nominee of the party regardless of whom it might be.

Your tirade on the Democratic State committee which you declare is "Owned and Controled by Ferguson" should not call forth such denunciation in a paper that was supposed to support the ticket after the August primary whether it should be Sterling or Ferguson. Did you expect the committee to desert the nominee? The committee is undoubtedly as much concerned for the welfare of the national ticket as the editor, in fact, more so. They are true and tried Democrats and don't use the prefix "independent," which really means maybe-so when applied to Democratic newspapers in Texas. Independent is a misnomer the old handle used by the Dal-Gal when I was a youth 60 years ago. She was always on the other side, is yet.

No large newspaper in Texas is Democratic if supporting the ticket under all conditions is the measure of their loyalty. When the wind blows away from them, they bolt.

In the present instance the national ticket has an organization of its own and none of the state committee are members of the organization and it is pretty certain that many of the speakers for the national ticket will not insist that the voter takes the ticket straight from constable to president.

There isn't a doubt that every supporter of Mrs. Ferguson will support the national Democratic ticket. Then why this blubbering about the committee putting the state ticket first? It should be first. It is the state that will have the problems that affect us most severely to deal with. You appear to doubt the supporters of Mr. Sterling for the Fergusons are sure fire haven't got any better sense then to "Vote 'er Straight."

Better look after that Bolters league, led by Sterling, Moody, Crane, and other so called independents. The Lovites in whom there is no guile.

I have Voted 'er Straight from Roberts to Sterling, inclusive.

Come down and I will fix you a bromo-soda, and myself a cocktail, and we will "Take 'er Straight."

Cotton Cotton Prices Firm Up Late Livestock Steady, Higher Trend On Steers Grain Sharp Decline Seen In Wheat

Cotton

NEW ORLEANS COTTON

NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 25. (AP)—Cotton moved narrowly in a quiet but erratic market today, recovering a dip on grain weakness to show net advances for the day of 3 to 6 points on the active months when shorts covered in the last hour. The October option expired at all American markets at noon, going out here at 8.96.

The census bureau report of ginnings to October 18 of 7,311,208 running bales was slightly larger than expected, but had no great influence on prices.

The market opened steady with Liverpool cables 4 to 5 penny points better than due although Sterling was considerably lower. Private cables reported Bombay bought on weakness in Sterling and there was general speculative buying. Manchester cabled there was a fair cloth outlet generally. First trades here showed gains of 3 to 4 points and the market continued to advance after the call on covering by shorts and some trade buying, December advancing to 6.20 and March to 6.21 or 8 to 10 points above the close of yesterday.

Later in morning prices turned easier owing to weakness in stocks and grain and some hedge selling and continued easy into the afternoon, making the day's lows at 6.08 for December and 6.10 for March or 11 to 14 points down from the early highs.

Late trading prices rallied on short covering, recovering 6 to 8 points, December closed at 6.14, up 4 points net, and March at 6.25 up 3 points net.

Liverpool is due on New Orleans to-morrow unchanged to 1 penny points up.

Port receipts 24,921, for week 121,954, for season 3,098,837, last season 3,091,318. Exports 19,587, for week 66,375, for season 1,835,508, last season 1,385,155. Port stock 4,091,983, last year 4,159,933. Combined shipboard stock at New Orleans, Galveston, and Houston 145,804, last year 146,230. Spot sales at southern markets 71,995, last year 44,256.

NEW YORK COTTON

NEW YORK, Oct. 25. (AP)—While an early advance in cotton today was followed by reactions under a moderate volume of southern selling combined with liquidation or local selling prices firmed up again in the late trading on a continued trade demand and covering.

December contracts after easing off from 6.11@6.08 closed at 6.16, with the general market closing very steady at net advances of 5 to 7 points.

The opening was unchanged 4 points advance in response to the fairly steady showing of Liverpool and reports of cold rains in the northwestern part of the belt. Houses with Liverpool, continental and Japanese connections were moderate buyers and active months advanced about 7 to 8 points during the early trading.

Prices reacted during around midday under southern selling combined with western selling on the decline. Wheat prices worked off from 4.12@6.22 for March making net declines of a point or two on the general list but this dip seemed to meet more active trade buying, while the failure of southern hedging to become more active in the later trading appeared to stimulate covering. Last prices showed rallies of 7 to 9 points from the lowest.

The census report showing 7,311,208 bales ginned prior to Oct. 18 was considered about in line with expectations, although there was some comment on the Texas ginnings of 2,344,667 bales as relatively light in comparison with the last official crop indication. The report on the grade and staple of the carry-over from last season in this country seemed to attract no special comment in connection with the immediate market.

Berrie Trial

jury returned.

Courtroom Is Filled

When word that the jury was coming in reached the courtroom, only a few persons were in the courthouse, but by the time the verdict was read, the courtroom and corridors outside were filled with spectators. There was no demonstration when the verdict was announced.

The pastor was convicted on circumstantial evidence, the jury's verdict in effect finding him guilty of poisoning his first wife to pursue a romance with the young Sunday school teacher who also was his secretary.

Tell Of Love Trysts

State witnesses told of alleged love trysts between the pastor and his secretary; ardent love poems ascribed to his pen and addressed to her were read; frequent visits made by the girl to the pastor's home while the first wife still was alive were mentioned.

But defense witnesses told of "vicious gossip without foundation" and medicine, which physicians admitted contained a quantity of poison, which was prescribed for Fannie Berrie.

Iliff, the son, told of a bottle of tablets which he took for use against hay fever disappearing in his mother's home. He said the medicine contained poison.

Note Is Presented

A "suicide note" allegedly found by the pastor in the family Bible while he was reading it in jail, was a prominent defense exhibit. The defense claimed Mrs. Berrie wrote the note because she was "tired of living." The wife's nervous disorders were cited as leading to mental distraction.

The swarthy preacher bore up with confidence throughout the entire trial and never flinched as the chain of circumstantial evidence was introduced.

He was not placed on the stand, but during the trial he told newspapermen he would never accept another pastorate but would turn to evangelism. However, only last Saturday a synod committee of the Cumberland Presbyterian church upheld the action of the Muskogee Presbytery which recently unfrocked Berrie.

Bitter Winds

A minimum of 60 degrees was forecast.

The forecast at Corpus Christi was fair and colder following arrival of the norther about 6 p. m., accompanied by a light rain.

FROST CHANCES GOOD

Chances last night for a killing frost for the South Plains were excellent, with a diminishing wind velocity, clear skies, and a falling temperature.

The mercury stood at 32 degrees at Municipal airport at 9 o'clock last night. The reading there usually is from one to two degrees higher than at the state experiment farm.

Don L. Jones, substation superintendent, said last night that a killing frost would benefit the South Plains cotton crop, halting growth of cotton and causing bolls to open. He reported maximum temperature at 48 degrees and the minimum at 34. At 6 o'clock the mercury stood at 44 degrees. Rainfall of the previous 24 hours was .56 of an inch.

Stock Market Spends Rather Quiet Day Awaiting U. S. Steel Dividend

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
Associated Press Financial Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 25. (AP)—The stock market spent a quiet day today, waiting for the meeting of U. S. Steel Corp. directors to determine the fate of that company's preferred dividend an action not taken until after the close.

Prices drifted rather aimlessly. Here and there some special selling, largely for professional account, appeared in response to earning statements, or reports as to current sales. An early rally, which lifted prices of many leaders about a point, was wiped out toward midday with losses replacing gains. This decline, which ran from fractions to 3 points, was considerably reduced in the closing hour of trading when prices sluggishly crept forward. At the close, most stocks registered fractional losses, and a few were down as much as 2 points.

Trading fell for the second successive day under the 1,000,000-share-a-day level, which is accepted in Wall street as fireomely low. The total was 614,860 shares, a shade over yesterday's total.

easily hear and see.

All Asked To Register

There is a registration table at the entrance and all who attend are asked to register there. A question box is on this table, also, and questions placed there will be answered by Mrs. Ihrig.

Formulas for cooking in this school are to be practical and adaptable, Mrs. Ihrig states. Her opening program included a meat loaf with vegetable sauce, ice box cookies, a pork roast, ice cream, salad dressing and chicken short cake. Ways of varying these recipes were discussed from the platform and suggestions were given as to measurements, seasoning and temperatures.

Use Originality

"Use originality in your cooking," Mrs. Ihrig instructed her class, in regard to seasoning and flavoring dishes. "Do it the way you like it or your husband likes it.

"There are some ingredients that must be measured accurately but others may be adapted to the tastes of individuals," she asserted. The uses of different fruits, sauces, condiments and flavorings were suggested for the recipes that she gave to make dishes more appealing.

Buy food to fit the purpose for which it is intended as this will save money, she suggested, saying that cheaper vegetables may often be used in cooking, saving the higher priced brands for serving alone. Economical and practical cooking are being stressed in the school this fall.

The chicken short cake discussed Tuesday can be made into fruit short cakes and other dishes to add variety to the menu during the year, she said, telling ways of varying the recipe.

CHICAGO GRAIN

CHICAGO, Oct. 25. (AP)—Wheat pitched headlong downward today to within 1-2 cent of the lowest price any future delivery of the grain had ever sold at in Chicago.

Abrupt withdrawal of Canadian government support for the Winnipeg wheat market was the main immediate reason offered for the break. A steep new tumble in British exchange also was blamed. In some quarters, slashing of wheat values at Winnipeg was construed as an effort to hold the world wheat export trade for Canada until the new Argentine crop would seriously compete.

Corn, oats and rye fell with wheat. All outside season bottom price records. December corn selling under 25 cents a bushel the first time since 1896.

Wheat closed unsettled at almost the day's bottom, 2 1-8@2 3-8 under yesterday's finish, corn 7-8 to 1 3-8 down, oats 3-8 to 1-2 off, and provisions unchanged to 5 cents lower.

Armed Troops

the first determined effort was made to regulate the flow of oil from the vast pool. The troops, dwindled to a "corporal's guard" from an original strength of 1,200, supported the railroad commission in the administration of conservation rules.

Price Drop Sensational

Gushing its vast volume of "black gold" at a time when oil was selling for comparatively large sums, the East Texas field flooded the world market with such potency that the price dropped like a plummet to as low as five cents a barrel. The price was at that low point when the state took control, clamping down rigid rules. The price immediately started an upturn, reaching its peak of above $1 a barrel within the last fortnight.

The federal court pointed out that the railroad commission apparently had based its proration orders on evidence of economic waste rather than physical waste.

Legislature Upheld

The tribunal upheld the power of the legislature to enact regulatory laws directing administration by the commission but pointed out there was no authority to consider any factor save physical waste.

Gov. Sterling said he instructed Colonel Davidson to "assemble as many additional men as needed." The governor said he did not believe "as many men as a full company" will be needed.

Governor Sterling, who has the constitutional power to convene the legislature in special meeting, declared he could not find anything in the present situation demanding convocation of the lawmakers.

Both the governor and Terrell said they would employ all the authority vested in them to keep production in the field under control.

Expresses Opposition

Governor Sterling expressed opposition to any legislation that would have a "tendency to fix prices of any commodity."

"I will swim or sink on the proposition that the state has no business enforcing laws that would fix prices or permit consideration of market demand in limiting the production of our oil fields," he said.

Meanwhile there came to R. D. Parker, chief of the oil and gas division of the commission, reports that some wells in the field had been "opened wide" after news of the court's holding had been disseminated.

"We have ordered our men to shut the wells in and enforce all proration orders," Terrell said. "We asked the governor to use such means as proper to support our employes in enforcement of the laws."

Office Is Besieged

Governor Sterling's office was besieged with telegraph and telephone requests for additional rangers, urging him to convene a special session of the legislature to enact necessary legislation to preserve the field. The chief executive said he would exercise every constitutional power at his command to "keep the East Texas oil field from getting away from us."

"We have saved the producers of oil in East Texas millions of dollars and we do not intend to let that pool be lost if we can prevent it, but it seems to me only a special session of the legislature can save it," Terrell said.

Kane Trial

alibis, circumstantial evidence, murder with malice, and murder without malice, and rights of a parent to defend a child against attack.

Case Circumstantial

The state's entire case was circumstantial. Carroll Evans, a tenant on the Cunningham ranch, testified Mrs. Kane and her 15-year-old daughter asked him to crank their car after the slaying. Mrs. Kane Evans said, told him the daughter had "killed a man while I was out of the house."

Mrs. Kane's first statement to officers was that the daughter killed Cunningham; later she confessed the slaying, declaring she struck the aged man in defending the girl.

Others On Stand

Other witnesses were Sterling Price, Motley county sheriff; Dr. A. C. Traweek, who examined Cunningham's wounds; Mrs. Carroll Evans; E. N. Jones, Paducah cattle buyer; Marvin Potter, officer of the Matador First National bank, and Mrs. B. L. Robertson, a niece of Cunningham. Defense attorneys, headed by C. C. McDonald of Wichita Falls, closely examined the witnesses.

Cunningham was killed at his Motley county ranch home. He was struck several times on the head with an ax. Mrs. Kane surrendered the same day.

Highway Aid Being Sought

Negotiations Ordered Opened Toward Reconstruction Of A Break In Floodway In Cameron County

AUSTIN, Oct. 2. (AP)—Negotiations were ordered opened today by the state highway commission toward reconstruction of a break in a floodway in Cameron county that caused considerable damage to state highways in Willacy county during the recent Rio Grande flood.

Application for relief was made to the commission by Willacy and Cameron counties, a delegation reporting that parts of the highway from Raymondville to Harlingen still were under water. Approximately 500 feet of the levee washed out, they reported.

The negotiations will be carried on with Cameron county and the Missouri Pacific railroad, whose tracks were damaged when the levee broke.

Fear that another flood would do considerably more damage was expressed by the delegation.

The commission indicated a willingness to pay a portion of the reconstruction cost if Cameron county and the railroad would aid.

The highway will be repaired as soon as the water has receded.

Further investigation of a requested designation from Albany to Coleman was ordered. W. R. Ely, highway commission chairman, indicated he might vote favorably on the proposal, but asked additional time in which to study the matter. Ely pointed out the highway commission's funds were sharply curtailed and held out little hope that the highway could be constructed in the near future.

Ely said the commission would exercise extreme caution in adding any new mileage to the state system because it would be futile to make designations and then not be able to construct the highways.

Application of Limestone county for a designation from Teague to highway 32, south of Fairfield was taken under advisement.

Action was deferred on the request of Willacy county for an east-west designation from San Perlita to Raymondville. The delegation stated the right-of-way could be obtained for the highway but Ely insisted that construction of highway 96, delayed because of inability to obtain right-of-way, should come first. Construction of an east-west road might permanently block construction of highway 96, Ely stated.

Survey was ordered of a proposed highway between Bronte and Ballinger. Ely again pointed out that the commission was unable to hold out any hope of construction because of lack of funds with which to construct state highways.

Nationalist Leader Is To Try For Debt Discussion

PARIS, Oct. 25. (AP)—Louis Marin, leader of the extreme right nationalists, said tonight he would seek to bring the question of the American debts again before the chamber of deputies in an effort to open immediate debate on the issue although the chamber voted 500 to 78 to give prior consideration to domestic matters.

This vote was expected to postpone debate on the debts until after the Nov. 8 election in the United States.

"Next," he said, "comes the horsemen of delay. . . . It is no time for delay when eleven millions of honest, industrious and willing men and women are tramping the streets and roads of our country looking for work.

"It is no time to wait when the prosperity and happiness of this country is at stake. And we of the Democratic party will not wait.

The "horseman of deceit," he said, is to "cover the trail" of the horsemen of destruction and delay.

Tells Things Untrue

"He tells you things that are not true," said the governor. "He attempts by misrepresentation and distortion of facts to blind your eyes, to destroy your sense of direction, to paralyze your power of motion . . .

"The fourth 'horseman' is the 'horseman of despair.' He tells you that economic conditions must work themselves out. He tries to close the door of hope in your face."

FREEDOM OR FARM

PITTSBURGH, Pa. — Charles W. Crouthers, 42, is undecided whether he wants a divorce or a farm. He told Justice of the Peace George C. His wife says she'll consent to a divorce, but she wants his farm if the divorce is granted.

Wall street had been tense with excitement. Probably no group of men could be assembled in Wall street whose combined opinion would be more highly respected by the financial community than the steel directors, representing as they do, the strongest banking interests in the country. It was not surprising that the stock market all but stood still for two days in advance of the announcement, made after the close of today's trading.

Interesting Bits Of News And Comment From Austin

BY R. W. BARRY

AUSTIN, Oct. 25. (AP)—Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, Democratic nominee for governor of Texas, receives on an average of one hundred letters daily from men and women requesting employment.

The applicants are taking it for granted Texas will not break her custom of electing a Democrat as chief executive and are pinning their hope for jobs on that long-standing habit—and Mrs. Ferguson.

It always is an annoying task for a governor, or one elected to any state office, to handle applicants for positions. Every time there is a change in department heads there is the problem of picking from a very large group of persons, all of whom claim some part in having put the administrator of the office in power, a limited number of employes.

Governer R. S. Sterling, defeated for a second term nomination by Mrs. Ferguson, has not been convinced that Mrs. Ferguson will have any places to fill.

He still believes that Orville Bullington, Republican candidate, will win the election and be inducted as governor next January. He has declared himself against the election of his primary opponent, and expressed the opinion that Mrs. Ferguson had not been elected "by a long shot."

The employes in the governor's office were exhibiting an air of indifference, or resignation.

Pat Dougherty, private secretary to former Governor Dan Moody for four years before the Sterling regime, and serving in the same capacity for Governor Sterling, says he has had enough political training and is ready to resume the practice of law. He was city attorney of Temple before he came to Austin.

Major Paul Wakefield, newspaper man with wide experience gained in Houston, New York and Europe, confesses he has had enough of politics for a period. He has not decided if he shall return to newspapering.

Mark Wiginton, attached to the secretarial staff of both Moody and Sterling, has a going chicken farm near Austin and can assert his independence at a moment's notice.

Mrs. Ethel Roberdeau and Miss Jessie Ziegler, other members of the secretariat, have not exhibited any fear of bread lines. Mrs. Roberdeau went to the governor's office six years ago with Dan Moody when the latter moved in there from the attorney general's department. Miss Ziegler came from Houston at the start of the Sterling term. She likes Austin and said she intended to stay in "the friendly city" if she had to resort to "waitin' on table."

Clayton Urges An Adjustment

Prominent Figure In Cotton Industry Sums Up Application Of Railroads At Hearing In Dallas

DALLAS, Oct. 25 (AP)—Will L. Clayton of Houston, one of the most prominent figures in the cotton industry, summed up the application of the Burlington-Rock Island railroads for a readjustment of rates on uncompressed cotton shipped to gulf ports at a hearing before the Interstate Commerce Commission and the Texas railroad commission today.

The Anderson & Clayton company of Houston and other port interests have supported vigorously the proposed change, against contentions of interior compress, warehouse and other interests that the alteration would ruin the economic structure of the inland market setup.

The applicants seek a freight rate on 32,500 pound, or 65-bale, shipments, asserting that compress charges thereby would be shifted from the interior farmer to the ports. Opponents have claimed they would be unable to assemble as much cotton as would be required if the Interstate Commerce Commission should grant the rate change.

Clayton claimed the proposed new rate would change the compress business from a sort of monopoly to open competition between the interior and the ports, to the ultimate advantage of the farmer. He gave figures intended to disprove the accusation that his firm had a virtual monopoly on the Texas-Oklahoma cotton business.

He said the Burlington tariff would divorce the compression charge from the freight rate, where it never should have been placed and pointed out recompression of bales is made necessary to his foreign business, after opening the bales for sampling, "since the American bale has a bad enough reputation abroad anyway."

Clayton denied statements of interests opposed to the change that loss of the compresses to a town ruined that point as a market. He expressed his belief that interior compresses would be on a par with those at the ports, if the application were granted. The shipper then could take his choice of any compress points along the route to gulf, instead of being forced to use the first compress to which his cotton arrived in transit.

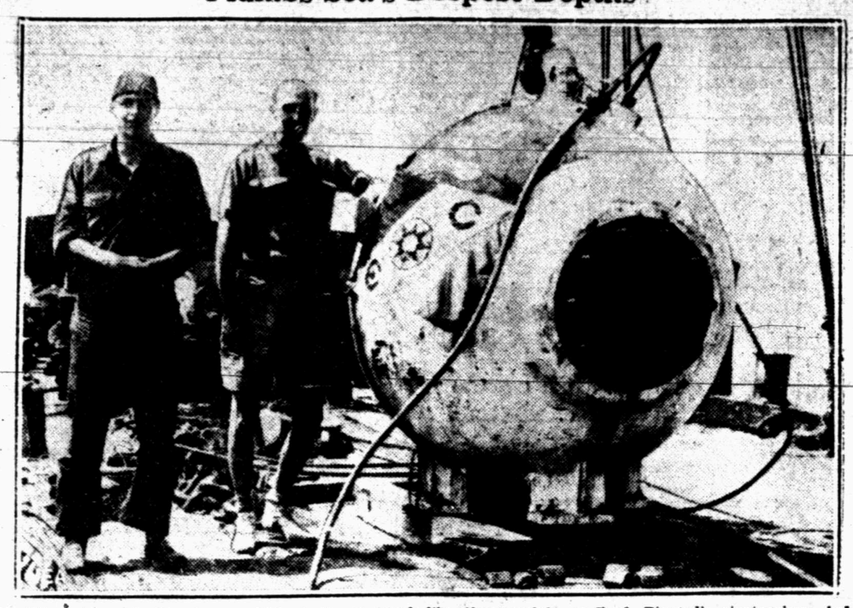

The "Arkansas" adjustment, presented by interior interests as a compromise between the widely-divergent pleas, was termed by Clayton as "an economic monstrosity" in the scheme of transportation, compression and merchandising. He declared it would put out of business the port compressor and concentrator.

The Arkansas system of rates now in effect provides for rates on shipments ranging from 25,000 to 65,000 pounds, instead of the 32,500-pound figure sought by the applicants.

Clayton said his firm had been forced into the trucking business to meet the rates, plus compression charges now in effect on the railroads, but said trucking was unsafe and full of annoyances and his firm, along with other cotton merchants, would prefer to carry cotton by rail.

Still Loves Spouse After 16 Years

Billie Sadler Asserts Her Marriage Was Unusual In Two Respects; Actress-Wife Is Comparable To Ideal Mate

BY EVELYN BABB
Avalanche Staff Writer

"MY MARRIAGE was unusual in two respects," explains Mrs. Harley Sadler. "I met Harley on Thursday and the following Tuesday I was Mrs. Sadler." The other "respect" is that now, sixteen years after such a sudden courtship, she still loves her spouse.

"Billie" Sadler, as she is known generally, is "just like anybody else." She is not theatrical. Rather she is comparable to the ideal Texas wife. She is charming, affable, and interested not only in her husband's work but also the education of her 10-year-old daughter, Gloria.

Started In Box Office

She had never had any stage experience before her marriage. She was born in Cameron and lived there until she joined the Fox Stock company as the wife of the leading comedian. Here she got her first taste of the business, selling tickets at the box office.

When Mr. Sadler became a partner in the Brunk Stock company, Billie was promoted to the position of secretary-treasurer. It was not long until she became an "extra" in the show and by the time Mr. Sadler became owner of the company she was appearing in leading roles.

"I like the show business," she says. "To me there is nothing more fascinating than trying to entertain people." She never gets tired and seldom takes a vacation. Less than a year ago the show closed for three months after a continuous run of 12 years.

Home In Sweetwater

The Sadlers have a home in Sweetwater where Gloria lives with her grandmother and goes to school. On week-ends, when the show is playing within a reasonable distance, they drive home after the Saturday evening performance.

Gloria, according to her mother, is the "image of her father." She dances, sings, takes roles, and plays musical instruments. During the summer months she travels with the show. She plays during the winter when the company is in either Sweetwater or Abilene. She is small for her age, pretty and a perfect blonde.

Mrs. Sadler has no idea how many plays she performs in a single year. Often they have engagements lasting as long as three months where they produce three or four plays a week. They have no definite time for rehearsal. The cast often learns and interprets the play, under Mr. Sadler's direction, as it is performed. Many of the members have been with the company since its origin and one play—who live here.

Constitutional Amendments Are Talked At Lions Club

Constitutional amendments which will be voted on in the general election November 8 were discussed by J. W. Jackson of Texas Technological college history department at Lubbock Lions club luncheon Tuesday at Hotel Hilton. Dr. S. S. McKay was chairman in charge of the program.

Wm. H. Evans, chairman of the Christmas theater party committee urged members to aid in arrangements for the affair. Boy Scouts will gather the toys and members of the fire department will repair them.

Pupils in Jackson county, N. C., last year were transported to the public schools at a cost of $9.45—$1.40 cheaper than the state average.

THEY SAID . . .

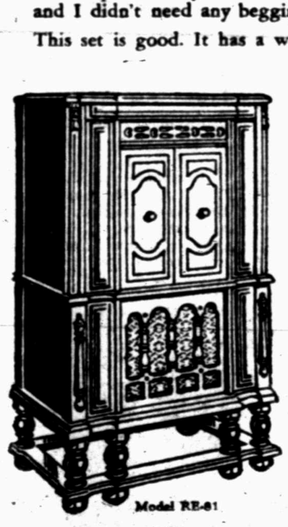

and so . . .

I'M TELLING ALL!

RCA Victor brought out a brand new instrument...a radio phonograph combination. They wanted a good judge of tone to recommend it, so they came to me. I've been sitting in my trademark for ten years now, waiting for a radio that could reproduce my master's voice perfectly. Well, it's here, and I didn't need any begging to say a few words for it.

This set is good. It has a wonderful radio . . . supreme tone quality. Further, it has an all-electric phonograph, and I know that's good. More than that, they have also included Home Recording...a gadget that enables you to make your own records at home. If that isn't worth talking about I'd like to know what is. Why not drop in and see it?
