ALUMINUM CANS FOR A NEW AMBULANCE--The Lockney Volunteer Fire Department has started a fund drive to purchase a new ambulance. Larry Mullins has donated a cotton trailer and a space on the Lockney Gin yard as a repository for aluminum cans. Cans can be left in the trailer and when it is full the fire department will sell the cans and add the money to the ambulance fund account at the Firat National Bank. Staff Photo

LVFD begins drive for ambulance

The Lockney Volunteer Fire Department is spear heading a fund raising drive for a new ambulance. In an effort to get the drive off and running, the City of Lockney became the first to contribute to the cause by donating $5,000.

"We are in need of a new ambulance," said Fire Chief Jimmy Kemp. "The one we have now is a 1974 Ford Econoline Van. It is in need of a complete drive train overhaul.

"The back-up ambulance is a 1968 Oldsmobile Station Wagon. There isn't even any room to carry medical supplies or equipment. All we can use that for is transporting people.

"We would like to get a modular type vehicle as a new ambulance. Whenever the cab and chassis wear out then you keep the modular (with all the equipment in it) and just replace the cab and chassis.

"The firemen have undergone extensive new training and upgraded their level of expertise in emergency medical care. With the higher level of training they can now carry more equipment."

Approximately $65,000 will have to be raised to purchase the ambulance needed by the city. An additional $30,000 will be needed to equip the ambulance.

"We (Lockney firemen) won't be going door to door, or standing on street corners, asking for money," said Kemp. "At least not yet.

"However, we have put a sign on the side of a cotton trailer (across from the Lockney Gin, on Main Street), asking for your donations of aluminum cans. We know that we won't be able to pay for the ambulance with just those cans, but it will help. The sign and trailer will also remind people everytime they drive by, that there is a fund raising drive going on for a new ambulance."

The Lockney Rotary Club has already joined in the fund raising effort. At their regular weekly meeting on Friday, the club voted to pass a can at every meeting to gather up donations from members.

Memorials or contributions from businesses, organizations or individuals, can be made to an account at the First National Bank in Lockney.

City council makes first contribution

The Lockney City Council met Thursday, February 8, at 9 a.m. in City Hall for their regular monthly meeting.

Mayor Dan Smith, explained to the councilmen that the Lockney Volunteer Fire Department had started a fund raising drive for a new ambulance. He said that the present ambulance had been purchased with revenue sharing money, but that money is no longer available.

City Secretary, Erma Lee Duckworth, was asked how much the county contributed to the upkeep of the ambulance, she replied that they received five hundred dollars a month from the county toward the upkeep of the ambulance. This is used for supplies, maintenance and repairs.

It was the concensus of the Council that they underwrite a sum of $5000.00 toward the acquisition of a new ambulance. The money will be included in the 1990-91 budget.

The council set May 5, as the date for the election of city councilmen. The terms of Gary Marr, Ronnie Aston and J.D. Copeland, will be up for election.

The three councilmen had no comments when asked of their intentions of running for re-election.

February 19, was set as the first day candidates can file their applications for a place on the ballot, and March 21, will be the final filing day. A drawing will be held on March 26, to establish the order of the candidates names on the ballot.

Absentee voting will commence on April 16, and end on May 1, for those voting in person at City Hall and on May 5, for those voting by mail.

Notice of the election will be printed in the Lockney Beacon and posted on the City Hall bulletin board.

A.C. Bowden, civil engineer from Lubbock, met with the council to announce his retirement and to introduce Rick Oller.

Bowden told the council that he had transferred his business to Oller. He also stated that he will continue to do consultations when needed.

Kenneth Wofford expressed the feeling of the council when he told Bowden, "We have enjoyed our relationship with you through the years and we wish you the best."

Oller told the council that he had been an engineer for 16 or 17 years. He said that he had worked for Parkhill, Smith & Cooper, before coming to work for Bowden. He is trained as an environmental engineer, and does work in wa-

C of C nominations due today for 'Citizen of the Year' award

Thursday (today) is the final day to submit nominations for the Lockney Chamber of Commerce "Citizen of the Year" Award.

Nominations need to be handed to Jim Bob Martin, Chamber of Commerce president, today.

A meeting to judge the nominations will be held at the First National Bank meeting room on February 22, at 7:30 p.m.

One representative from each organization is asked to be present to help with the selection.

Tickets for the banquet have gone on sale. They are $10.00 per person and can be purchased from Jim Bob Martin at J & K Insurance, Judy Jackson at the First National Bank, Jack Covington at The Tye Company, J.D. Copeland, Robert Delgado, Mike Mooney, Bill Anderson or any other board member.

The meal will be catered by Nielson's Restaurant and Catering of Floydada. The menu will consist of a charbroiled steak, baked potato, green beans, a salad bar and dessert.

The annual banquet will be held March 9, at 7:00 p.m. at the Lockney Elementary School Cafetorium.

The speaker for the evening will be Jerry Larned from Midland. He has been nicknamed "The Old Coach" and according to several who have heard him before, he has a humorous presentation with a great message.

FLOYD JACKSON

Floyd Jackson seeks second term in office

Floyd Jackson has announced his intentions to run for his second term as county commissioner of Precinct 2.

Jackson currently serves in this position after being elected to his first term in 1986.

He was born and raised in Floyd County and has been involved in farming and ranching all his life.

At the present time, he and his wife, Carolyn, live in Lockney.

When asked why he was running for the position of county commissioner again, Jackson stated, "Now that I am retired, I have the time to devote to the job, and I appreciate and enjoy working with people."

He continued, "If I am re-elected, I will do the best job I can."

School board sets spring election dates

The trustees for the Lockney Independent School District met Thursday, February 8, for a regular monthly meeting.

Two positions on the school board, those of D.K. Jackson and Dr. Gary Mangold, will be open for elections this year. The election date was set for May 5. The first day anyone can sign up to run for the position is Feb. 19. The last day is March 21, at 5:00 p.m., in the superintendent's office.

The school calendar of the year 1990-91 was approved by the board. The following are school holidays and work days: Aug. 20-21, In-service Days; Aug. 22-23, Workdays; Aug. 24, In-service Comp Day; Aug. 27, First Day of School; Sept. 3, Labor Day Holiday; Nov. 21, In-service Comp Day; Nov. 22-23, Thanksgiving Holidays; Dec. 20-Jan. 1, Christmas Holidays; Jan. 14, Workday; Feb. 4, Snow day; Mar. 18-22, Spring Break; May 24, Last Day of School-Graduation; May 25, Workday.

School Superintendent Dub Hallmark brought the board members up to date with the cost of the cooling and heating in the school, compared to last year. Hallmark told the board that there was a substantial difference, but it is unknown exactly how much is attributed to the new heating and cooling system, and how much is the weather.

In the month of September 1989, the bill is 36% lower than last year. In October it was 11% lower; November, 15% higher; December, 10% lower and January 23% lower.

Hallmark did state however, that the upkeep and the maintenance of the new system has saved a substantial amount of money.

The board members discussed the new UIL alignment of LISD. Lockney will be a part of an eight team district. In non conference play, Lockney will compete against Ralls, Petersburg and Floydada.

In conference play, Lockney will be pitted against Shallowater, Abernathy, Hale Center, Hart, Springlake-Earth, Olton and Morton.

Hallmark also updated the board members on his recent meeting with TASA at the mid-winter conference. He stated that the rumor was the legislature, in their special session on Feb. 27, may try to come up with 200 million new dollars to satisfy the state judge, concerning equitable funding for the public schools.

"They are hoping to try and balance out the funding that way until the legislature goes into regular session in January 1991," said Hallmark. "That 200 million won't even scratch the surface. Nobody knows at this time what is going to happen. It is all up in the air right now."

Contracts were extended until 1992 for: Terry Ellison, junior high principal; Joyce Evans, Elementary principal; and James Poole, high school principal. Contracts were also extended for Phil Cotham, assistant principal and Jim Clark, athletic director and head coach.

Attending the meeting was Superintendent Hallmark and all board members: Dr. Gary Mangold, Dr. Paul Glasson, Lisa Mosley, D.K. Jackson, Dickie Lambert, Eddie Teeter and Jim Bob Martin.

Stock show banquet honors winners

A overflow crowd filled the cafetorium of the Lockney Elementary school on Tuesday, February 6 to enjoy a meal sponsored by the Floyd County Farm Bureau and honor those who have participated in the 46th annual Floyd County 4-H and FFA Junior Livestock Show.

The coveted sweepstakes award was received by Grant Cage. The honor is based on all around involvement in the stock show. Cage was recognized for his good leadership and character, and for always being willing to help younger individuals develop showmanship responsibility. Besides receiving $100.00 from the Dusty Burleson Memorial Scholarship, Cage also received a plaque and the traveling trophy.

A highlight of the evening was the presentation of the senior and junior showmanship and herdsman awards. An anonymous committee selects youngsters who do the best job of presenting and handling the animal for showmanship honors and for those who maintain their pens or stalls in a neat, tidy manner for herdsman honors. Names of the individuals are not revealed until the banquet.

Following are the exhibitors chosen:

Lamb Division - Junior showmanship, Michael Mercado, Floydada; senior showmanship, Sonya Campbell, Floydada; herdsman Bryan Henderson, Lockney.

Swine Division - Junior showmanship, Derrick Martinez, Floydada; senior showmanship, Kip Holt, Lockney; herdsman, Carrie Emert, Floydada.

Steer division - Junior showmanship, Tanner Johnson, Lockney; senior showmanship, Tracey Johnson, Floydada, herdsman, Todd Cage, Floydada.

Kristy Hinsley, of Floydada, was recognized as sweetheart of the county livestock show by Jon LaBaume. Miss Hinsley sold a total of $1645.00 in memberships to the association.

The four candidates - representing each of the county's 4-H and FFA chapters - sold $3055.00 in total memberships. The individual selling the greatest number of memberships is declared the sweetheart.

Plaques were presented to the owners of grand champions, reserve grand champions, breed champions and reserve breed champions.

Following are thes exhibitors (breed and reserve breed champs listed in that order):

Lambs - Grand Champion, Kevin Womack; reserve grand champion Kevin Womack; Finewool, Corbin Kellison and Amanda Henderson; Finewool cross, Kevin Womack and Ryon Smith, Southdown, Tanner Johnson and Ryon Smith; Hampshire, Kevin Womack and Ryon Smith; Suffolk, Kevin Womack and Aric Hendricks; Other Breeds, Corbin Kellison and Allen Martin.

Steers - Grand champion, Jennifer Crow; reserve grand champion, Jamie Crow; Angus, Kristy Hinsley and Zane Colston; Hereford, Rain McCandless and Melissa Faulkenberry; Cross, Jennifer Crow and Jamie Crow.

Presenation of awards was under the guidance of Michael Hinsley, president of the Livestock Show Association. Names were read out by lamb superintendent Warren Mitchell, swine superintendent Joe Neil Rexrode, and steer superintendent Mark Beedy.

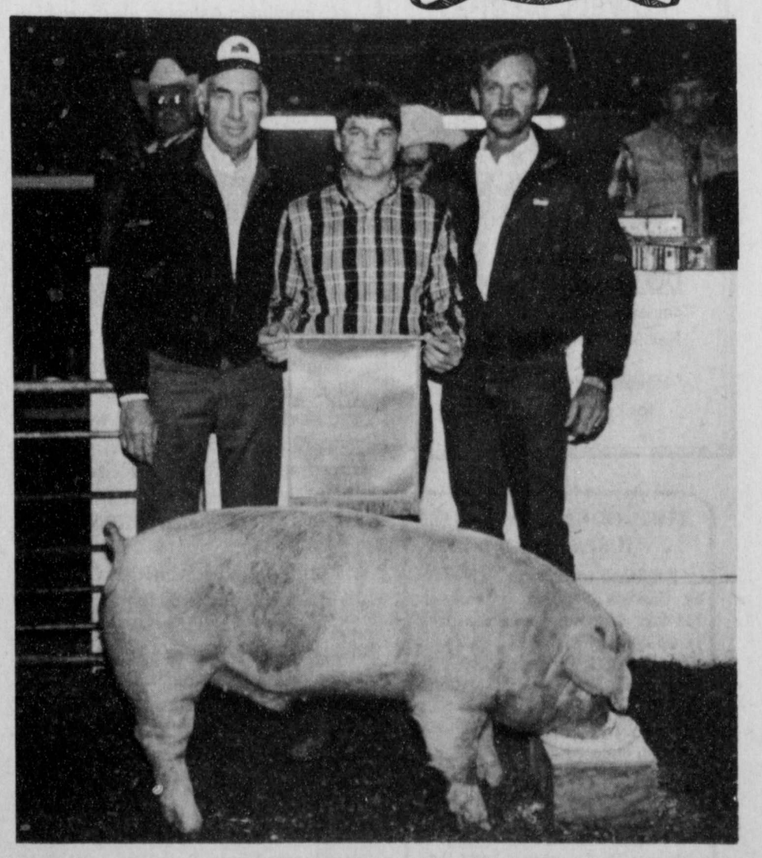

Mark Beedy served as master of ceremonies. The invocation was given by Grant Cage and the benediction was given by Rhanda Hickerson.

Nick Long was thanked for the good job he did announcing at the stock show.

A special presentation was given to Michael Hinsley at the end of the awards presentation. He was presented a plaque as outgoing president of the Junior Livestock Association.

Plaques were donated by the following business firms and individuals:

Mr. and Mrs. G.L. Fawver, Billy Don Colston, Richie Crow, Producers Cooperative Elevator, Jim Simpson, Larry Golden, Paul Glasson, Jon LaBaume Family, In memory of Charles Beedy Tubs Springs Ranch, Darrell and Janice McCandless, Choice Smith, Henry Hinton, Floyd County Soil Conservation District, Womack Brothers, Caprock Motor Parts and Hardware, CRH Systems, Morton Irrigation, In memory of J.O. and Geneva Elliott, Eddie Foster, Bill Hendrix, Elmer Dean Williams, Warren Mitchell Family, Kenneth Holt, Eddie and Cheryl Teeter Family, Buster Terrell, Joe Neil Rexrode, Ed Nutt, Gary Brown, James Hinton, John David Turner Family, Brent and Sara Sanders, Eugene Beedy, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Broseh, Pay-N-Save, Friend of Floyd County Junior Livestock Show and Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Pruitt.

Rotary helps with ambulance purchase

As guest speaker at Lockney Rotary on Friday, Mayor Dan Smith, updated those present on the condition of Lockney's ambulance service. He urged his fellow Rotarians to join with the City of Lockney and the Fire Department, and help raise money to buy the much needed ambulance.

Mayor Smith told the Rotarians that the city council had allocated $5,000 in the next fiscal budget, for a new ambulance. This money would start off the fund and the city hoped it would be added to by other organizations, businesses and individuals around the county.

MAYOR DAN SMITH

"The ambulance that is being used now is a 1974 model with approximately 50,000 miles. It is in need of a complete overhaul and is out of date in the area of medical care.

"The second ambulance that we have is a 1968 model and is only equipped with an oxygen tank. Its only use is for transportation. We hope to be able to buy a new ambulance, retire the '68 model and use the other one as a backup.

"It will cost $65,000 to buy a new ambulance and probably another $30,000 to equip it. We would like to buy the type of ambulance that has a cab and chassis separate from the body. Then when you need a new one, all you do is buy the new cab and chassis.

"An account will be opened up at the bank for anyone wishing to donate, and the fire department will be soliciting funds.

"The fire department has set up a cotton trailer on the lot of the Lockney Gin, directly across the street west of their office. Anyone wishing to donate aluminum cans can throw them in this module. The money from these cans will go for the new ambulance.

"Our firemen are strictly volunteer. They have been working very hard. Eight members just completed EMT training, and they worked very hard on their own time. They want to now try to the next higher rating of Special Skills and after that is training for Paramedic. I don't know how many could try for the classification of Paramedic. All the training is in Lubbock and would take a whole lot of time away from their work, but we are very lucky to have the dedicated men that we have on the fire department."

After speaking to the club, the Rotarians decided that every week, during their meeting, a can would be passed for donations from individuals. At the end of the year the money would be turned over to the ambulance fund. The Rotarians are estimating that approximately $1,200 will be raised.

ter, wastewater and solid waste. He has learned paving and civil engineering while working with Bowden.

Oller told the group that he has reviewed all the plans that Bowden has relating to Lockney going back to the 1928 water treatment plant.

The next item on the agenda was the landfill. Mayor Smith, told the council that the health department had given the city the 'green light' to accept trash from Petersburg at the Lockney landfill in order to fill up the pits before the December 31, 1990 or 1991, closing date.

Triple C, will have the trash from Petersburg and they are bringing a dozen to pack and bury. Triple C has also agreed to build a fence to catch blowing trash.

Gary Brown, city manager of Floydada has talked to Mayor Smith about hauling the trash from Lockney to the Floydada landfill after the Lockney closing date. The Council of Floydada are working on a Class A permit for their landfill. The council decided to further study this proposal.

A letter has been received from the City of Plainview Regional Landfill, quoting fees and start up costs should the council decide to haul Lockney trash to Hale County. The council agreed that more study was needed before deciding which route to take and the issue was tabled.

The council heard a request from the Iglesia del Rey Jesus Pentecosts for a street light to be installed on the corner of S.E. 6th Street (the former location of the cannery). J.D. Copeland made the motion to have the light installed and it was seconded by Sam Fortenberry.

The State of Texas has mandated that the City of Lockney must designate a records management officer to be in charge of and keep up with the records of the City of Lockney.

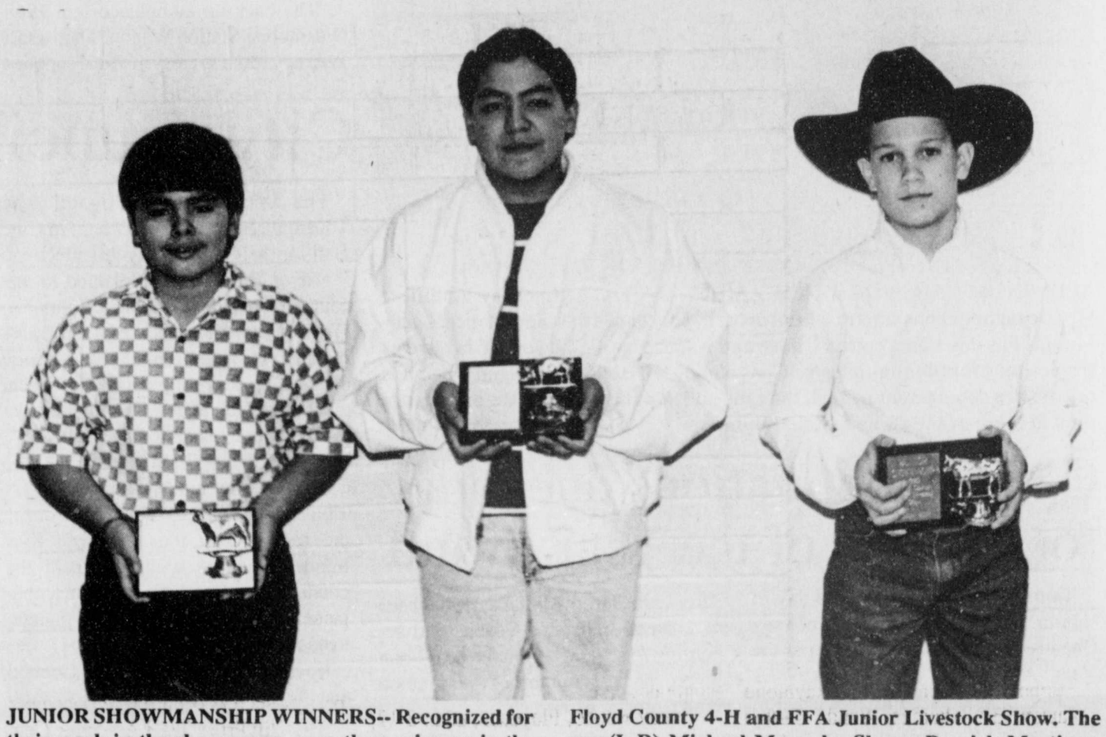

Councilman Aston, made the motion that City Secretary Erma Lee Duckworth, fill the position and that each succeeding city secretary will automatically fill the post in compliance with the Local Records Keeping Act. The motion was seconded by Councilman Copeland.

Discussion was held on changing the cities long distance telephone service to another company. The council voted to keep the current system.

The council went into executive session to discuss employee sick leave and sick pay policy along with personnel salaries and job performance. These items will be placed on the agenda at a later date.

In regular business the council heard the reading of the minutes, voted to pay the bills and discussed the financial statement.

Present for the February council meeting were: Mayor Dan Smith; Councilmen, Kenneth Wofford, Ronnie Aston, Gary Marr, J.D. Copeland, and Sam Fortenberry; City Attorney, Paul Lyle; City Secretary, Erma Lee Duckworth; A.C. Bowden, Rick Oller, and the Beacon reporter.

JUNIOR SHOWMANSHIP WINNERS-- Recognized for their work in the show arena were three winners in the Junior Showmanship division of the 46th edition of the Floyd County 4-H and FFA Junior Livestock Show. Energas announces management changes and consolidation

Energas Company's newly-named president, Gene Ehler, announced recently that the company has restructured its operations and will be consolidating certain support functions into its Lubbock office. All customer service operations will remain in place as they currently exist. As a result of the restructuring, three of the company's senior vice presidents have assumed new or expanded responsibilities.

Robert W. Kirk, senior vice president, operations has assumed responsibility for the company's operations in the Littlefield, Plainview, Hereford, Amarillo, and Pampa districts and will be relocating to Lubbock from Midland.

Anthony J. Looney, senior vice president, operations in Lubbock, has assumed responsibility for the operating districts in Lubbock, Midland, Odessa and Big Spring.

J. Dale Young is now senior vice president, technical services. In his new role, Young will be responsible for all of the company's engineering, measurement and training functions and will be relocating to Lubbock from Amarillo.

The company will be consolidating the engineering services, accounting and gas control operations into its Lubbock office. These changes will occur during the next 18 months.

"Centralization of support functions in no way affects our customer services," said Ehler. "Customers will continue to receive the same quality service they expect from us and from the same offices. However, internally, these changes will streamline our operations, enabling us to provide better, more efficient service to our customers. Our customer operations in Amarillo and Midland will continue to operate under their respective district managers."

Energas Company is a division of Atmos Energy Corporation which provides natural gas distribution service to more than one-half million customers in Texas, Louisiana and Kentucky through its operating companies — Energas, Trans Louisiana Gas Company and Western Kentucky Gas Company.

Happy 100th Birthday Floyd County!

CARD OF THANKS

The Lockney Businessmens and Farmers Association

Dear Sirs:

I would like to express my sincere appreciation for the purchase of Will's lamb at the Floyd County Stock Show. Not only for Will's, but for the tremendous amount of time and effort that you guy's put into assuring that not just the kids of Lockney, but all of those in Floyd County are assured a very, very fair price for their animals.

The parents of the kids involved in the county shows should consider themselves fortunate, to have individuals such as yourselves, that will take on such a task of procuring funds each year. Making sure that this program not only continues, but grows with the increasing cost of feeding out animals for show and the increasing number of animals entered each year.

Thanks again for your support, it is appreciated.

Sincerely yours,
Wayne Taack

Lockney Care Center News

By Jane Martinez

Hello! Here we are again, how has everybody been this week? As for us here at the Care Center, we're just fine. As for news we have a new resident, Ada Colson came to live with us until she gets better. We have also had birthday parties this week. Monday, Mrs. Foster's daughters, Nina and Barbara, brought cake and punch to celebrate her birthday, along with Zora Reecer and Billie Huggins. Billie played the piano for us after the party. We enjoyed the music.

As for weekly happenings, Monday, we had singing with Rock Creek Church of Christ. After dinner, we had the party for Mrs. Foster.

Tuesday, we had devotional with Main St. Church of Christ. After dinner, we just decided that the residents needed a rest.

Wednesday, we watched a movie before devotional. The ladies of the Methodist Church came to sing for us. After dinner, we had our residents birthday party. Residents celebrating birthdays this month are: Bonnie Julian, Zerah Meriwether, Grace Foster, Helen McLead, Ada Colson and Lena Pratt.

Thursday, we had devotional with the First Baptist Church. Carla was also doing some of our ladies hair. We did not get anything done this afternoon.

Friday, we listened to some gospel music. We also had a snack, cookies and tea. We played bingo, attending bingo was: Grace Foster, Faye Sams, Bessie Jackson, Leta Teague, Adolfo Burrell, and Oga Applewhite. Calling bingo this week was Margie Hernandez. Thank you Margie.

We would like to thank Mr. Horace Hunter for the cake he brought for us. Thanks to everybody that takes their time to come out to visit with us.

Well, I guess this is all for now, until next week. So long!

Peanut Butter turns 100

Mothers should regularly give thanks to the unknown St. Louis physician who invented peanut butter. Their children eat about two-thirds of the 800 million pounds consumed every year in the United States, most of it between two slices of bread. Not only do youngsters like peanut butter, it's good for them. The combination of peanuts and the grain in bread provides the same complete protein found in animal products.

This March will mark 100 years since the doctor, whose name is yet to be uncovered, ground peanuts to make a paste. Ironically, he was aiming for a high-protein food source for the elderly, probably never thinking it would become the food of choice for millions of children.

The physician probably was not the first person to grind peanuts. The nutritious legumes have been around since 750 B.C., and centuries ago "somebody is sure to have put them between two rocks," said Mary Webb, executive director of the Texas Peanut Producers Board in Gorman.

The doctor, however, added oil to his product so it would spread easily on bread. The resultant texture was grainier than most of today's commercial preparations, and the oil in the butter separated and rose to the top.

Most modern-day peanut butter is homogenized for smoothness and contains sugar and salt for flavoring.

Cold weather causes fatalities each year

Although Texas is not among the states noted for severe winters, the Texas Department of Health (TDH) warns that extreme cold can be a killer. Residents should beware of dangers, especially during unusually cold, windy periods such as occurred in December.

Dr. Clift Price, TDH Associate Commissioner for Personal Health Services, said, "Already this winter, people have died from the cold in Texas, despite health agency warnings and more accurate weather forecasting from the U.S. Weather Service."

According to Leland Carmichael, of the Health Department's Vital Statistics Bureau, "Two persons died in Texas from excessive cold in 1988, and 27 died the year before. Final figures for 1989 will not be available until the middle of 1990. Of the two 1988 fatalities, one of the victims was less than a year old and the other was between 50 and 54 years old," Carmichael said.

Dr. Price explained that the most frequent victims of hypothermia—dangerous loss of body heat—are extremely young children, the sick and the elderly. He said children's small bodies radiate reserved heat faster than adults'.

"People who are chronically ill, using medications, drugs, or excessive alcohol may have lower resistance to sharp temperature changes, and may react slowly in emergencies," he added.

Homeless people are further at risk where temporary shelter is not available. Also, beyond age 65, some persons begin to lose their natural reflex to shiver, which is both an automatic warming mechanism to stimulate the circulation and a means of alerting the individual to dangerous temperature.

Hypothermia starts when the deep body temperature drops to 95 degrees, just less than four degrees below normal. The victim becomes lethargic and confused. Drowsiness, slurred speech, falling blood pressure, shallow breathing and a bloated or pinkish tint to the skin develop. Unless the individual receives warmth, coma and death are imminent.

"Some victims die quietly in their own homes, before anyone realizes the danger," Dr. Price said.

Very few people "freeze to death," since death occurs long before the body temperature reaches the freezing point, although extremities may freeze if exposed to severe cold, Dr. Price explained.

"Even people who work outside in dangerously cold weather often underestimate the elements, particularly wind-chill," Dr. Price added. "A brisk wind combined with a temperature slightly below freezing can increase the chilling effect on exposed skin by almost 50 degrees below the thermometer reading," he said.

Dr. Price warned that anyone who must be outside in extremely cold weather, especially when it is windy, should wear loose-fitting layered clothing, gloves and face covering. They also should have emergency plans for staying warm if conditions worsen.

Dr. Price added that common sense and at least a fundamental understanding of wind-chill are essential for anyone outdoors in severe cold. "The best advice is to stay home and stay warm. But if you must go out, know the dangers and prepare them," he cautioned.

Entry form may be picked up at the local newspaper offices and at the High School Offices. The sponsor must pay a $15.00 fee which is to accompany the entry form.

Crispy Baked Chicken

Summertime means picnic fun. Fill the basket with this low-fat, low-cholesterol, finger-licking chicken. Add biscuits and coleslaw and have a day you'll remember.

1	frying chicken (2 1/2 to 3 pounds), cut into serving pieces	1 cup	cornflake crumbs
		1 tsp.	rosemary
			freshly ground black pepper
1 cup	skim milk

Remove all skin from the chicken; rinse and dry the pieces thoroughly. Dip in milk, mix cornflake crumbs with rosemary and pepper, and roll in the seasoned crumbs. Let stand briefly so coating will adhere.

Place chicken in an oiled baking pan. (Line pan with foil for easy clean-up.) Do not crowd; pieces should not touch. Bake at 400° F. for 45 minutes or more. Crumbs will form a crisp "skin." Yield: 4 Servings

We must finish closing out our store inventory. We will consider any reasonable offer on the following:

2 - Bedroom Suites; 2 - 16" Refrigerators (Ice Maker Available); 1 - 30" Electric Range; 5 - piece Dinette Set; 1 - Brass Bed (reg. size); 2 - Headboards, bedrails; Office Desk; Swivel Office Chair; Plus lots of Miscellaneous Items.

"The Lockney Legacy"

The history classes at Lockney High School taught by John Ballew, have written, edited and printed a book entitled "The Lockney Legacy."

The book is a compilance of stories on such subjects as "Businesses in Lockney", "Churches in Lockney", "Cultures", "Farming", "Gins", "Hospitals", "Schools", "War" and "Weather."

Janet Sherrill, Becky Rodriguez and Ladonna Butler were editors and the assistant editors were Angelica Bernal, Elizabeth Garcia, Brandon Poole, Jason Robnett, John Torres and Abdiel Tapia.

The book has a total of 90 pages and is on sale at the high school office, from John Ballew or the Floyd County Museum in Floydada. The cost is four dollars.

A copy of the book has been donated to the Floyd County Historical Museum in appreciation for the help the students received.

"The Lockney Legacy", is dedicated to "the past, present and future generations of Lockney."

EDITOR'S NOTE: The following story is taken from the book "The Lockney Legacy".

THE GOOD OLD DAYS
By Jennifer Anderson

"I've seen many changes come through Lockney. But, one thing's for sure, it is not like the good old days."
Charlie Carthel

Since it's birth, some ninety-six years ago, the city of Lockney has progressed greatly in business, industry, and citizenship.

In 1894, J.F. Lockney founded and named Lockney, Texas. Soon after, houses and businesses began popping up in and around Lockney. The first business in Lockney was the Baker Store, which was started by Mr. J.A. Baker. The Baker Store's stock consisted of fresh produce, yarn goods, and a large variety of miscellaneous items. Although it was the first business here, it is not the longest running.

Brown's Store, which was founded in the early days of Lockney, is still running today. It is located at 106 N. Main and is run now by Bob Brown.

Soon aftr Brown's was established, the first newspaper made its debut. Despite the fact that its 50 years old, the Lockney Beacon was not the first newspaper. On April twenty first, eighteen ninety eight, the first edition of the Lockney Ledger made its appearance. Mr. Jno Hendrix, the founder, as well as the editor, however, stayed long enough to get the paper started.

Four years later, Frank N. Oliver, moved his family to Lockney and purchased the Lockney Ledger from Mrs. Claude V. Hall of Hale Center. The Ledger, was from then on known as The Lockney Beacon, which made its appearance April 14, 1902.

Lockney business was not the only sign of progress. Education, for Lockney's youth began with the establishment of the Lockney Christian College. Construction on the college began in 1894. The two story structure measured 24' x 48' x 18'. It opened in 1894 and closed a few years later because of the depression.

Charlie Carthel, Dub Hallmark, and the fire department tore it down by knocking in the walls and burning it to the ground. Soon after its demise the football stadium and parking lot was built on the land.

Public school growth began in 1894 when D.F. Davis taught the first school in the community. Lockney High was built in 1929 with the adjoinment of the Jr. High in 1956. Fire destroyed the elementary in 1946, but it was re-established in 1963.

Until it was mandatory that every child attended school, participation was low. Floods, blizzards, and other weather conditions sometimes made it impossible to get to school.

Charlie Carthel told me about school days when he was young. I learned quite a lot from him. When I asked him if he ever had trouble getting to school because of the weather, and he replied, "I remember back in '56, it rained so much, that sis and I had to go to school in a stock trailer. My dad would load us up and take us to the bus, since it couldn't get to us on account of the flood."

When asked what he and his friends did for fun Charlie said, "Just innocent mischief. You just made it up as you went along. We didn't tear anything up like these kids sometimes do here." His wife Barbara Carthel helped me out a bit with ideas.

"They used to ride the dryers," she said. "Back then, the girls had to be in by ten from their dates. The guys didn't have to be in until eleven or twelve. Well, one night, Charlie and his friends were up at the laundromat drinking cokes, and they decided it might be fun to ride the dryers. Well, they got one of his (small) buddies to get in the dryer. Next, they would push in the safety button and pop in a quarter."

One time Charlie said, "we had a guy in there when the cop came in. Well, I shut that door and we tried to act natural. The policeman just sat himself down drinking a coke while the kid in the dryer was getting 'slightly' hot, but he wasn't about to come out, cuz' we would be in BIG trouble!! Well, after about five or six minutes, the guy had had all he could take! He kicked that door open and fell out on the floor. The cop just looked at us and said, 'I was just wondering how long you was gonna stay in there'. We didn't get arrested, as we thought, but we did get one heck of a chewing out!"

'Let's see . . . Oh yes!' One time we were out at the grave yard. We had taken this old boy out there and we had Dwight Cox up in a tree. Dwight had his face covered with white shoe polish and red coloring around his eyes and mouth. Since he was dressed in black, the other guy didn't see him until Dwight jumped on his convertible. That old boy jumped out of the seat into the back seat and over the trunk and ran until he heard us laughing. When he came back, he had no boots on. He had been so scared that he jumped clear out of his boots. I never would have believed it, hadn't I seen it with my own eyes!

Oh, we used to go out to the junk yard and shoot rats. There'd be about six or eight boys out there and when the rats would stop moving, we'd stop and tell ghost stories till we got too scared or, the rats started up again. Well, one night, two were out there, and we got pretty scared so we started to town. As we passed the grave yard, we began seeing lights flashing out there. That scared us even more so we high-tailed it to town to get the police. It took us nearly an hour to convince them that we were really seeing something out there. Finally, we took one out there and when that cop saw the lights, he got a shotgun out of the trunk and gave it to me while he loaded his pistol. (He was just as scared as we were!)

We figured out an explanation for the source of the lights. It's the reflection of the street lights on to the foot markers. It was the only thing the policeman could come up with and it sounded good to me, so I believed him! The only thing is, the foot markers face east and when you see them, your looking at them from the west. If you go out past the Brock's house on Lone Star highway, and turn around as you go by the grave yard, look at the ground and you can see them today."

Mr. and Mrs. Carthel's device to future generations is to study, be yourself, and to put 100% into everything you do. "It never hurt to try, just look what past generations have accomplished."

I would like to thank the following, for the effort they put into helping me write this paper: Al Bigham, the women at the Floyd County Museum, and the Lockney Beacon.

A special thanks goes to Barbara and Charlie Carthel for all their time and useful information. Thanks!

Host families are being sought for international high school students

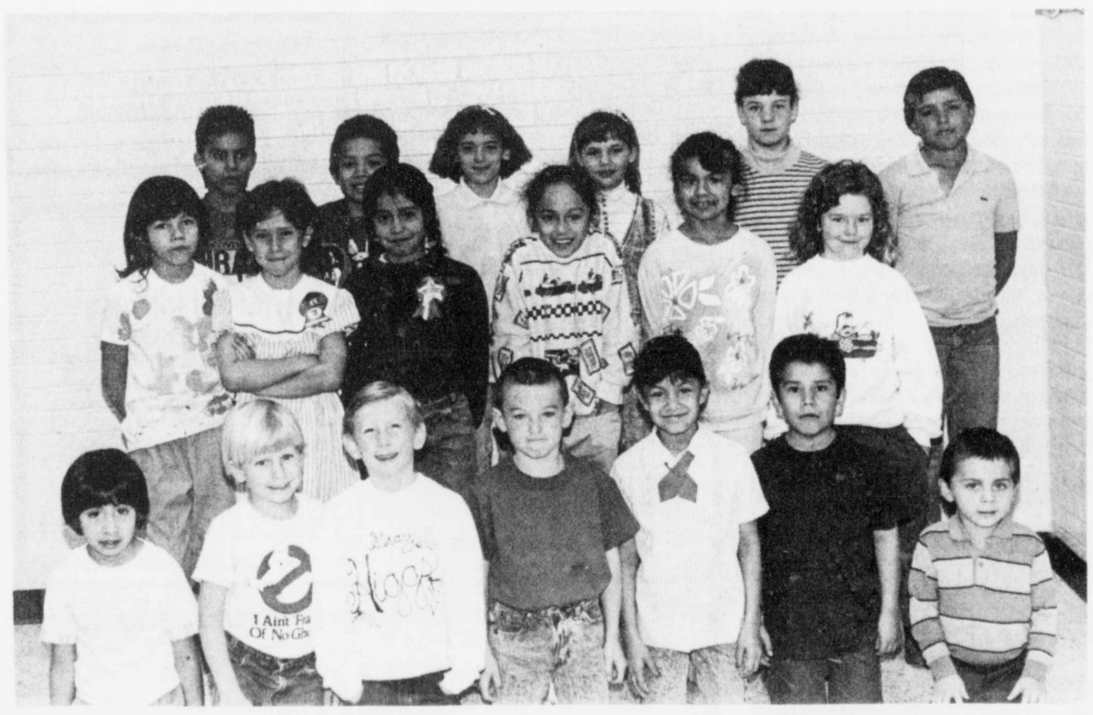

Host families are being sought for high school exchange students from Sweden, Norway, Denmark, Finland, Holland, Austria, Switzerland, Germany, Spain, Portugal, France, Italy, Brazil, Ecuador, New Zealand, Australia, Japan, Thailand and Yugoslavia for the school year 1990-91 in a program sponsored by the American Intercultural Student Exchange (AISE).

The students, age 15 through 17, will arrive in the United States in August, 1990, attend a local high school, and return to their home countries in June, 1991. The students, all fluent in English, have been screened by their school representatives in their home countries and have spending money and medical insurance.

Host families may deduct $50.00 per month for income tax purposes.

AISE is also seeking American high school students, age 15 through 17, who would like to spend a high school year in Sweden, Norway, Denmark, Germany, Switzerland, France, Spain, New Zealand or Australia or participate in a five week summer host family stay throughout Western Europe.

Families interested in either program should call toll free: 7-800-SIBLING.

Kramer graduates Tech's School of Law

Evan Nicholas Kramer, son of Nicholas and Thanet Kramer of Lockney, recently graduated from Texas Tech School of Law. The graduation ceremony was held December 16, in the University Theater.

Sequel to How the West Was Won

When the first nippy days of fall came, my father would announce that it was cowchip picking time.

The team was hitched to the wagon. Gunny sacks were provided for each of us children who was old enough to pick and drag a sack. Sometimes an old worn-out washtub was pulled by one of the older children using a rope tied to a handle. The rest followed along, choosing the chips that had been "cured out" by the hot summer sun. When the tub was filled, it was dumped into the wagon until the wagon was heaped with chips.

Some pioneers had a little lean-to-built on the side of their sod houses or dug-outs in which to store the chips.

The fire made by the chips burned hot and quite fast and kept one person adding and stirring them up so they would burn better.

Biscuits could be baked quickly in the hot oven and light bread baked to a golden brown. Slow cooking on top of the stove fueled by the chips made for tasty food.

My grandmother told about the cattle trail that ran near their home. One fall they gathered the cowchips and made two small mountains of them. Cowboys riding through the area would go out of their way to see what the mountains were made of and would ride away laughing.

When she was being courted by a young gentleman, one woman told of covering the wooden box containing the cowchips with her mother's prettiest tea towel.

When settlers came West, they made up this little jingle that they sent to realtives back East.

We have moved to the far west,
We never had it so good.
The windmills pump all the water,
The cows chop all the wood.

This jingle was written hopefully to encourage others to come West.

The Senior Class Concession Stand

EDITORS NOTE: The following is an English IV class assignment. These stories, written by Phillip Glasson relate modern people to characters in the story, "Canterbury Tales."

By Phillip Glasson

The event was slated for a Tuesday night. Compared to basketball, it was a better sight.

Our opponents were weary Kangaroos from Kress, and the Lockney Longhorns made them a mess.

But behind the scenes was a different look. In the cafeteria the concession stand shook.

The Sr. Class was stuck with the job, and behind the counter stood an aproned mob.

Halftimes and endings were the busiest times. We sorted out quarters, nickels, and dimes.

Over the counter flew candy and coke, and from the grill came a cloud of smoke.

After the games, we all sat and laughed at the exhausting moment now in our past.

But if I were offered that job again, I would look them in the eye with a great big grin.

I'd skip all the bull, and go straight to the talk, and politely reply that I'm taking a walk.

For you see, this job is very hard. It's ten times worse than mowing the yard.

WESLEY

As for now, I'll start with Wes. He's the guy that always made a mess.

At his station, he served customers drinks, and Wes certainly doesn't care what people think.

The cups were lined up neat and nice. They were filled to the rim, and cold with ice.

Some were mixed, but most were straight, and we only had one complaint.

He shoveled ice with all his might, and when the crowd came, he did everything right.

No little fowl-up would stand in his way, and he worked so hard without any pay.

Wesley served well and served to please, and in the end he was found on his knees.

Exhausted from the heat and full of pain. We weren't quite sure if Wes was still sane.

His eyes were black and big as a ball, and he couldn't walk, so he had to crawl.

But I heard him mumble as he moved out of site, "Will you be having Coke, Dr. Pepper, or Sprite?"

CHAD

Next in line is a guy named Chad. He couldn't pour drinks, and he cooked real bad.

He tried to serve people standing in line, but instead he found a job where he could shine.

He became the cooks right-hand-man, throwing hamburger patties into the pan.

He fought through all the grease and smoke, and a couple of times I thought he had croaked.

But Chad stood brave, and he stood tall. Knowing where each pattie was going to fall.

He threw with stature and lots of grace throwing each pattie at his own pace.

Underestimated was his ability to throw, but with his great talent he put on a show.

He pitched with his left and then with his right, tossing each disk with all his might.

But in the end his arms went lame and was awarded into the Hall of Shame.

He left the grill with his head hung low taking each step very slow.

But Chad is still our pattie man. Without him, we'd all be in the can.

VALENCY

My next character is quite a gal. She's tall and thin, and her name is Val.

Val handed out napkins and sorted out money. But she never griped because she thought it was funny.

Valency moved very quick and wrote down orders. She wouldn't take anything but bills and quarters.

Her nachos were dripped with lots of cheese, and no one complained because they were pleased.

When the big crowd came, her speed was at full, she threw them their food and didn't take any bull.

Although she was in a hurry, she was still polite. Valency held back her anger with all her might.

But after it was quiet, and the smoke had cleared, Val's hair was tangled and her make-up smeared.

The shoes she wore were dirty and untied. From her appearance she looked like she had died.

She eventually left and went into the stands. She had cheese, grease, and Coke all over her hands.

Val then walked home with a look that was crazed, and ever since then, she's been in a daze.

SHEA

The next one on the list is a girl named Shea. She made sure that all the customers had paid.

Shea worked diligently in the vegetable department, where she filled us with joy and lots of excitement.

Often she goofed, but always with an apology. The tunes she sang were always in harmony.

Never once did the stress make her tense. She could handle it because she has good sense.

She threw on lettuce, pickles, and cheese. And through the cloud of smoke, you could hear her sneeze. Yuck!

But after her task, she sat for awhile. Never once, was she able to crack a smile.

She then left us all without saying a word. Shea's somewhat changed, but still a nerd.

The effect from our event touched her none. She only looked at it as having fun.

MRS. WILLIAMS

Mrs. Williams I must say is quite a trip. She's always fun but never takes any lip.

Her job at our stand was being the boss. She made sure we wouldn't take any kind of loss.

Mrs. Williams thought of everything we'd need. I guess because she always had so many kids to feed.

Throughout the night she would relieve us all, and she never grew weak she always remained tall.

Through the good and the bad she would stand by our side never discouraged and full of pride.

At the end she sat and never gave a frown. She looked as if she were a smiley clown.

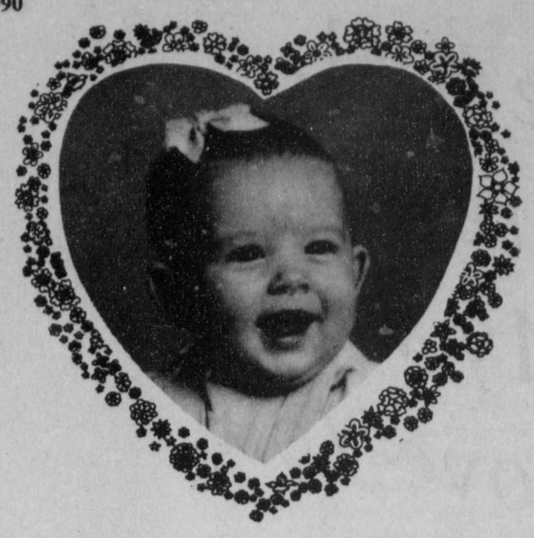

And for her help, we give her thanks, so from now on don't get mad at our pranks.

The Sr. Class now will never be poor. Thanks to the teacher of English Four.

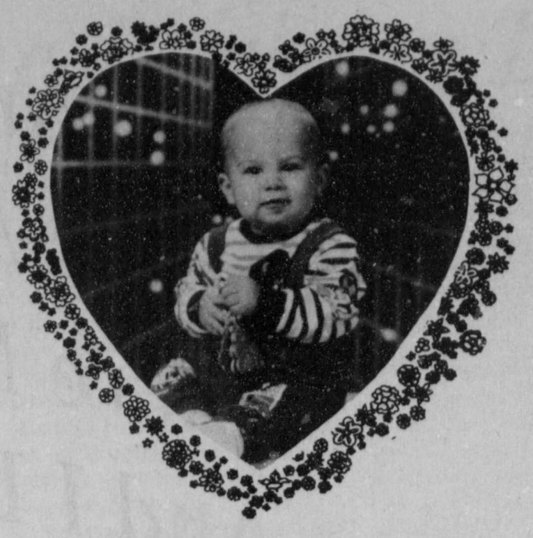

Now that it's over I'm full of relief. We were all glad, especially our chief. And now I vow to never do it again. I think it should be put in the book of sin, but it pulled us together, my friends and I. And to our jobs we say good-bye.

Brandon Lee Bownds, 3 1/2 months, is the son of Kenneth and Rhonda Bownds of Rowlett. Grandparents are Jim and Beth Reynolds, Tulia, and Sammie and Billie Bownds, Ralls. Great-grandparents are Willis and Bernice Reynolds, Lockney; Harold and Jewel McLaughlin, Plainview; and Inda Bownds, Ralls.
