Davis Explains Local Railroad Situation

ROTARIANS HEAR STATUS OF CITY RAIL EXPANSION

A. B. DAVIS TELLS CIVIC CLUBBERS FACTS IN MUDDLED CASE

The report of Examiner E. C. Boles of the Interstate Commerce Commission, regarding rail extensions in West Texas, which has caused considerable comment, criticism and wonder here since its announcement several days ago, was clarified today at noon by City Manager A. B. Davis, in a speech before members of the Lubbock Rotary club.

Due to the manner in which it was presented to the commission Mr. Boles' report was practically unintelligible to the average citizen but Mr. Davis, who as manager of the Chamber of Commerce headed Lubbock's delegation to the Plainview hearing before Commissioner Boles last summer, has kept in close touch with the situation and is able to explain it fully.

His explanation given Mr. Davis explained the report as follows, turning over a text of his speech to the Journal to give every interested person in the city an opportunity to view the matter in a clearer light than that offered by Mr. Boles' recommendations:

"As I am not a prophet nor the son of a prophet, I am not attempting to tell you what the final development will be in the new rail construction for this section but to briefly explain the recommendations of Examiner Boles, who conducted the hearing at Plainview last July.

"He recommends that the T. P. & G. be given a permit of Public Necessity, and Conveyance to construct a new line from Tucuman, New Mexico to Seymour, Texas, provided they will construct certain lines or make arrangements for extending their services into Plainview and Lubbock.

"From Seymour, they will go over the Gulf, Texas & Western to Jackboro and Bridgeport or Salesville. They are to acquire the Gulf, Texas & Western by purchase or obtain trackage rights over the Gulf, Texas and Western and from Salesville, Jackboro or Bridgeport, they are to go into Fort Worth over some existing line such as the Rock Island by trackage agreements or to construct a line into Fort Worth.

"The Q. A. & P. is given permission to extend its line from McLean to Floydada and into Plainview provided they cannot make trackage agreement with the Santa Fe. The T. P. & G. from Paducah to Floydada and serve Lubbock and Plainview from Floydada as already outlined.

"Mr. Boles recommends that some major carrier other than the Santa Fe or Burlington shall obtain control of the line from McLean to Floydada.

"The prosecuting attorney moved for dismissal, telling the court the state would be unable to make a case against the defendant without testimony of his girl bride.

Headrick was arrested some months ago, after a state-wide search. He was alleged to have eloped with the Wilson girl.

After an effort by the couple to marry in JH was cut short by court action they obtained a mandatory writ from the court of civil appeals authorizing the ceremony and they were legally married two weeks ago in jail.

Alleged Slayer of Cop and Participant in Eight Robberies Arrested

CHICAGO, Mar. 24. (AP)—William J. White, alleged slayer of a motorcycle policeman and believed to have taken part in eight robberies which netted $224,000, is under arrest today.

He was identified as the leader of the band which recently secured $50,000 in a spectacular payroll hold-up at the International Harvester company. Three witnesses later pointed him out as the murderer of Edward Pflaum, suburban officer, slain last December 13.

White, known to the police as "three fingered Jack," as a result of his custom of wearing a glove with two fingers stuffed to conceal the missing digits on his hand, was arrested yesterday in a suburban roadhouse. He was armed with four revolvers and a shot gun but was taken by police before he could shoot.

After White's arrest, a police squad laid in wait at the roadhouse for his pal, Tommy Shupe. Shupe attempted to escape but was apprehended after a chase in which his automobile was wrecked.

Two other men identified as members of the harvester hold-up band were held to the grand jury yesterday. They are James Gentile and Joseph Leopold.

COURT PASSES ON THREE CASES

AUSTIN, Mar. 24. (AP)—Life sentence of Alex Foley, convicted of murder in connection with the slaying of Isasdo Matajek, was affirmed today by the court of criminal appeals. The fifty year sentence of Jack Moore, convicted in Milan county in connection with the killing of J. T. Davis, May 18, 1925, was reversed and remanded, because the court failed to instruct the jury that certain testimony of "the state" was admitted only for the purpose of impeaching the credibility of testimony given by Moore's wife, Davis and Moore were farmers. Moore worked for Davis. Mrs. Moore testified Davis had made insulting advances to her which she repulsed, not telling her husband for some time. She testified the killing took place shortly after she told her husband of Davis' actions.

Two state witnesses testified that shortly after the killing, Mrs. Moore, in answer to questions, told them "Davis had always treated me nice, as nice as could be expected of anyone."

Failure of the trial judge to qualify properly this testimony in his charge to the jury, won the reversal for Moore.

Clarence Mumphrey, under 15-years sentence in Cottle county for murder in connection with the killing of Jennie Jackson, a negro woman, October 10, 1925, won a reversal because the court failed to charge the jury on the issue of manslaughter.

Final examinations for the winter term at the Texas Technological college will close today, President Paul W. Horn told the Journal. Registrations for the spring term of three months will open tomorrow and classes for the new semester will be begun on Friday.

While little can be told concerning scholastic conditions at the college until the examination papers have all been graded, members of the faculty generally are pleased with the work being done.

BRITISH LEADER WINS IN DEBATE

Given Equivalent To Vote of Confidence for Actions At League Meeting

LONDON, Mar. 24. (AP)—Sir Austen Chamberlain, Foreign Secretary, "has ascended the scaffold" in the House of Commons to do penance for his alleged shortcomings at Geneva which culminated in the break-down of the League of Nations sessions at which Germany was to have been elected to membership.

But there was no hanging. Instead, notwithstanding the taunts of the opposition enders, Sir Austen last night was given what was equivalent to a vote of confidence of 225 to 126, a majority of 100.

The action of the House of Commons in London was the second similar one of yesterday, for the Reichstag in Berlin adopted by a show of hands a motion approving the German government's course at Geneva. Likewise the Reichstag voted down an opposition resolution of non-confidence in the government and a motion demanding the withdrawal of Germany's application for entry into the League of Nations.

David Lloyd George and Ramsey MacDonald, former labor premier, led in the attack of Sir Austen.

Lloyd George's criticism was that the Locarno pact signatories were responsible for the break-down at Geneva and that this break-down had injured the machinery of peace to such an extent that many of Sir Austen's best friends despaired of its effect.

Mr. MacDonald criticized Sir Austen's work at Geneva as "the most lamentable fault that British diplomacy has faced for many years."

The Foreign Secretary attributed the failure at Geneva largely to advance publicity and consequent crystallization of national aspirations of countries seeking seats in the council, which made it impossible to arrive at any compromise for the election of Germany.

Germany's Reply
BERLIN, Mar. 24. (AP)—Replying to Sir Austen Chamberlain's statement in the House of Commons debate, the German government today made public its correspondence with Brazil regarding the League of Nations. The government argues that it is clear from this correspondence that Germany had the right to expect admission to the league council alone.

An official communique gives the text of the Brazilian reply of December 1, 1924, to the German memorandum of September 1, 1924, regarding Germany's entry into the league. The Brazilian note contains, among others, the following statement:

"Brazil had no objection to Germany entering the League of Nations as a member but on the contrary desires it. Neither is Brazil opposed in principle to Germany obtaining a permanent seat in the council."

NEW YORK—Another temple of jazz seems likely to replace a residence in the exclusive part of Fifth Avenue. Negotiations are under way for Samuel Untermyer's home which would be replaced with a night club. There is one cabaret for the socially elect on the avenue already.

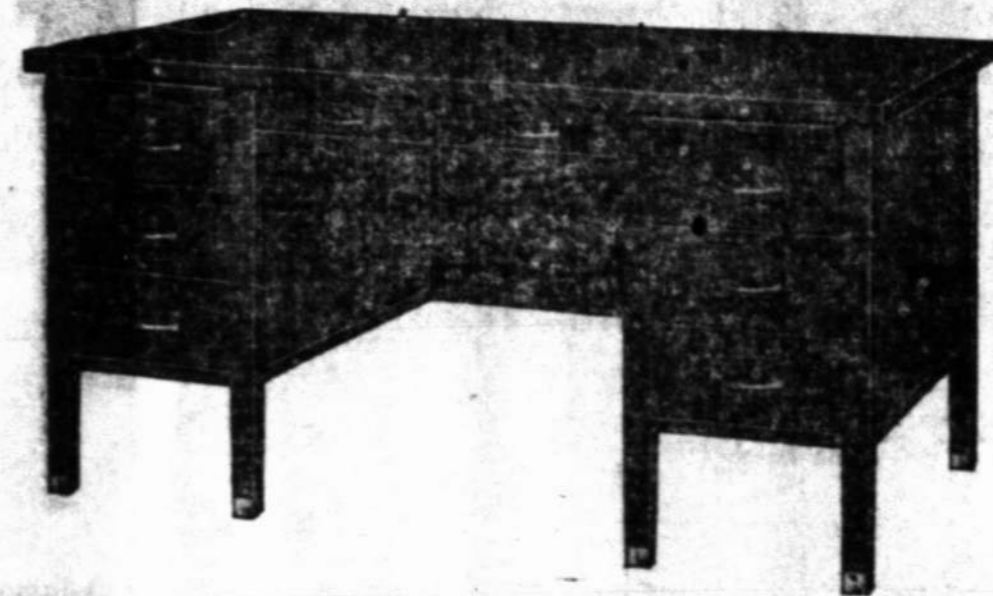

SAN JUAN—Some bullet! Accidentally discharged at an army target range, it wounded one private in the abdomen, another in the knee, bounced off a box, struck a third private in the neck, then after grazing a captain and a lieutenant, lodged in a fourth private's hip. Nobody was killed.

NEW YORK—Do not kiss. This is one precaution especially advised by Dr. Louis L. Harris, city health commissioner, because of influenza and pneumonia.

Huggins sent Cummins and Bloomer, pitchers, to Springfield, Mass. He released Albert, outfielder and Brennan, hurler, and is still watching a squad of 13 players.

Pirate Star Injured

Some anxiety is expressed over the injury suffered by Clyde Barnhart, Pirate star, in practice at Paso Robles, Calif., yesterday. Barnhart's right elbow stopped one of Morrison's curves. The Cincinnati Reds desist Orlando, Fla., today to meet the Yanks at Saint Petersburg and give Mays and Donohue an opportunity to limber up their arms. The youthful Reds will exhibit against Buffalo at Palmetto. Smith and Towell will probably share the mound assignment for Cleveland against the Boston Braves at Lakeland. Bancroft revealed at his St. Petersburg training field yesterday that his Bostonians needed only one thing—batting punch.

Reuther To Have Chance

Dutch Reuther of the Senators will have a chance against his former mates today in the game with Brooklyn at Tampa. The hurling staff of the Junior League champions, training at Tampa, will be augmented this season by Harry Kelly, Clarence Thomas and Willard Morrell, it seems. A three day barnstorming tour in the Carolinas was started today by Cobb's Tigers, conditioning at Augusta, Ga. The opposition will be the Toronto club.

The Cleveland Indians Invade the Sarasota Camp of the New York Giants tomorrow for the Indians' final exhibition game in Florida.

The Chicago Cubs walloped the Missions at San Francisco yesterday in a game which revealed batting strength long awaited by Manager McCarthy. The White Sox at Shreveport were divided for a practice affair which went to Catcher Schalk's man.

The Browns, now at Clearwater, host a pitching staff which improves daily. The Cardinals, training at San Antonio, displayed their wares yesterday for A. M. Diaz, a heavy stockholder in the club.

Manager Ficht sent his Red Sox batters against the best his hurlers had, at New Orleans.

WESTERNERS WILL OPEN SEASON TODAY

In spite of the strong wind which swept down upon the city this morning, Manager Sled Allen, of the Lubbock Hubbers, and coach of the Lubbock high school Westerner nine will drive his charges into their first diamond battle of the year today when the youngsters will be pitted against a pick-up team of local veterans.

Just what his lineup would be the Skipper did not know. On the city team will appear such familiar figures as Gilbert Jackson, Chester Shepard, Gober, Barney Blackburn and Red Gaither.

RELAY ENTRIES INCREASE

AUSTIN, Tex., Mar. 24.—The number of high school entries in the University of Texas relay games to be held March 26 are increasing daily, according to L. Theo Bellmont, director of athletics. Among the high schools participating will be Lumbago, Flatonia, Main Avenue of San Antonio, Corpus Christi, Orange, Yoe, and Yarrington of Cameron, Smithville, Rockdale, Bartlett, and many others.

CHILDRESS—Natural gas from the Shamrock field is expected to be available in this city by the middle of the summer.

(Special To The Journal)
AUSTIN, Tex., Mar. 24.—At least four times as large as any other similar state organization, the Interscholastic League of the University of Texas has an enrollment of 4,920, according to Roy Bedichek, chief of the League. That the closing date for enrollment in the Interscholastic League, in effect for the first time this year, has been successful is shown by the fact that on that date, February 15, the registration was approximately 300 more than at the same time last year, said Roy Bedichek. Membership in the League now includes 98 per cent of all the high schools of the State. Of this number 3,300 are rural schools, or one-third of all the rural schools in the State. This year there are 200 county organizations, which means, Bedichek pointed out, that some 1,400 teachers and college of the State are shown by the fact that the judges for the various League meets are chosen from the nearest higher educational institution, Mr. Bedichek said. These institutions are glad of the opportunity to send members of their faculties as judges because it is a service to the people which they are glad to perform. It increases the acquaintance and spreads the news of their schools, and promotes personal contact with the people Bedichek explained. Faculty members and students of the University are also in great demand as judges.

LOCKNEY READY FOR INTERSCHOLASTIC MEET

LOCKNEY, Mar. 24.—All is in readiness for the Floyd County Interscholastic League meet which will be held here March 26-27. Indications are that this will be one of the largest attended meets ever held on the South Plains. Twenty-seven out of thirty-one schools in the county have entered, and all schools are ready for the soundings gone.

Lockney merchants are offering special bargains for both days. 2900 programs and circulars are being distributed throughout the county and it is expected that 6000 visitors will be in Lockney for the event.

ATHLETIC STARS GRADUATE

AUSTIN, Tex., Mar. 24.—Baseball stars at the University of Texas usually complete the work for a degree, despite the fact that many people say that college athletes do not graduate, declared Billy Ditch, veteran baseball mentor at that school. At least seven men from last year's squad have been lost by graduation, he said.

Wins Cue Crown

Presenting the new world's billiard champion, Erich Hagenbacher of Germany. He came into the honors recently by defeating Jake Schaefer in a 1500-point match. Schaefer, champion several times, was unable to overcome the sensational early lead the German star compiled. Hagenbacher's victory came as a surprise in cue circles.

MIDDLETON IS TO LEAD AMARILLO BALL TEAM

"Lefty" Middleton, veteran West Texas portside hurler, will manage the Amarillo Gassers this year, reports from the North Plains metropolis indicated today. Middleton is well known here, having appeared against the Hubbers on numerous occasions.

"Liz" Smith, another pitcher, was to have managed the Gassers but he recently decided to join Tony LaSalle's semi-pro, leaving the Amarillo managerial post vacant. Those who know Middleton here believe he will make a successful skipper for the strong Amarillo entry.

TRAILING THE BIG LEAGUERS

John Risko With 51 Kayos In 98 Battles is Heavyweight Contender
"How about Dempsey?" I put that question to John Risko a few days after he had surprised the fistie world by chasing Jack Delaney all over the Ring at Madison Square Garden for 10 rounds.

"Sure! Anybody! I like to fight!" John Risko isn't much on talk but strong on fighting. The name Jack Dempsey has no fear for him. I doubt if he thinks he can beat Dempsey but I am sure he believes he could make it most interesting for the champion. Dempsey is just a heavyweight fighter to John Risko. The fact that he is champion means nothing to him. A destroyer of championship bubbles.

That one sentence best tells the ring history of John Risko of Cleveland.
Gene Tunney, generally regarded as the logical contender for Dempsey's title, and Jack Delaney are two wiser but sadder men for having met Risko.

ON THIS TRAIL
Three years ago John Risko was an unknown amateur performer. Today he stands out as one of the heavies almost certain to get a shot at Dempsey's crown.

No doubt there are some experts who will scoff at the very idea. They point to the fact that Risko lacks class, is just a tough baby who can take it.

All of which may be true, but the fact remains that Risko has met the class of the heavyweight division. Dempsey and White accepted, and has made a most remarkable showing.

"From baker boy to champion" may some day be the title of a series featuring John Risko. As an amateur John mixed batter for bread during the day, also did a little mixing in the ring during the evening.

When John turned professional he quit the bakery for the gymnasium. Each day he works with but one thought in mind, getting a chance at the heavyweight championship.

MADE GOOD SHOWING
For a year he cherished the hope of some day making his debut in New York as a performer for Tex Rickard at Madison Square Garden. That ambition has been realized. He met the much vaunted Jack Delaney and acquitted himself most creditably.

Now he is pointing for a championship bout. Sounds like big stuff for a fighter who is little more than a novice, yet it is more than a mere possibility.

Risko began fighting in 1922 as an amateur. He took part in 59 bouts, winning 39 of them over the knockout route.

On March 18, 1931, he made his professional debut with Wild Bill Reed, a veteran trial horse of the heavies. He has had 30 bouts as a pro, winning 12 by kayos.

Fifty-nine knockouts in 89 fights is the rather remarkable record of the quiet but persevering John Risko.

HOUSTON—Progress on the gas pipeline of the Houston Gulf Gas company toward this city is reported to be rapid. The local company is prepared to receive natural gas when it is delivered.

CITY HEALTH AND SANITATION TO BE IMPROVED

Plans were discussed for Clean-up week in Lubbock beginning Monday, April 4, and lasting throughout the week at a meeting in the office of Miss Ann Bruckner, county health nurse, Monday evening. Dr. T. D. Bennett, director of the bureau of child hygiene of the state department of health, and Vic M. Ehlers, sanitary engineer, met with a group of Lubbock citizens and discussed the sanitary conditions in the city.

Clean-up week in Lubbock will be subsequent to the State clean-up week, but the program followed will be virtually the same, except that it will be adapted to Lubbock.

Sanitary conditions in Lubbock are in need of attention, the two state officials said in their talks. The city has grown to a size that makes it difficult to prevent epidemics of disease here, they said. The influx of college and high school students makes it doubly imperative that steps shall be taken to improve the existing conditions, they stated.

School Children To Help
All phases of health and sanitation will be included in the clean-up week program, according to Dr. J. W. Rollo, city health officer. The school children and Boy Scouts are to be enlisted in cleaning up the city.

The need of a city health nurse, in addition to the county health nurse, was stressed at the meeting Monday evening and it is thought probable that efforts will be made soon to secure the services of a city nurse.

All of the pastors of the city will be asked to talk on the clean-up campaign on the opening day, Sunday, and the Parent-Teachers Council, under Mrs. E. M. Smith, will have charge on the following day, which has been designated health examination day.

Those who have reached the age of 18, especially, will be urged to have a physical examination by the family physician paying particular attention to the condition of their teeth and kidneys.

General Clean-up Tuesday

Tuesday is to be general clean up day with the Boy Scouts in charge. The town will be divided into sections and inspected, for surface toilets, horse and cow lots that are unsanitary, vacant lots covered with rubbish, refuse of any kind and ditches or culverts where there is not free drainage and where unhealthful conditions are found.

Wednesday is to be safe milk and water day with the church federation of women's club in charge, and Thursday is to be child health and birth registration day with Superintendent M. H. Duncan, of the city schools in charge. Parents will be urged and told the necessity of having children examined before they enter school each fall and of having births registered.

Friday Pure Food Day
Dr. Rollo and Chief of Police T. E. May will inspect the alleys, restaurants and other sections of the city on Friday, which has been designated as pure food day.

Dr. W. L. Baugh, county health officer, and Superintendent Duncan, will visit communities in the county on Saturday, rural sanitation day.

It is necessary that the town be cleaned up and made free from sources of infection for diseases and for the water supply now before the flies come back and before the hot weather. Dr. Rollo said in stressing the importance of the campaign. All civic organizations of the city, as well as the citizenship, are being urged to help in the

Maine Democrats Are United In Session

PORTLAND, Me., Mar. 24. (AP)—Maine democrats went into their biennial state convention here today with united ranks. There were no indications of dissension among the delegates such as developed over the Ku Klux Klan and prohibition questions two years ago. Neither subject had been discussed at the pre-convention meeting of the delegates, although leaders were of the opinion that the platform to be adopted today would carry a plank for strict prohibition enforcement.

STEWART'S WASHINGTON LETTER

INDIANS OBJECT TO BALL AND CHAIN AS MEANS OF PUNISHMENT

By CHARLES P. STEWART NEA Service Writer.

WASHINGTON—Chains are being worn again this season.

This fashion note comes from the Fort Peck (Mont.) Sioux Indian reservation.

It's on the authority of a couple of the tribesmen—Meade Steele and Rufus Hicker—who are here as the Indians' representatives, trying to protect their rights in Congress.

Steele brought one of the chains along, to show how the style looks.

For some reason or other, the Indians are unappreciative.

For an out-and-out dangerous criminal, Steele and Hicker admit, a good strong log chain, firmly riveted on, perhaps with an iron ball attached, may be all right.

But they don't think it ought to be washed onto an Indian at an agency superintendent's whim, for breaking some rule that he wouldn't think, as a white man, of paying the least attention to.

To be sure, the sentences are passed by Indian judges of the reservation "courts of Indian offense," but the superintendent appoints the judges and can remove them when he likes.

There are 50 such courts in the country. The judges get $10 a month each.

The Unreasonable Wife.

From the Chronicle-Telegraph: Senator Borah said at a dinner in Washington: "There are some foreign nations that give us a raw deal and then reproach us for not loving them. It's like the woman whose husband said: 'Talk about inconsistency! My wife chased me out of the house with a rollin' pin this mornin' and then hauled me over the coals at supper time because I went off to work without kissin' her booby!'"

No Stopping Needed.

From the Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph: A man went to his tailor's the other day to order a new pair of knickerbockers. While the tape was being applied he said: "Where is Jenks, who used to measure me?" "Jenks," said the tailor, "has got chronic rheumatism and can't stoop low enough to measure for knickerbockers any more."

Funerary Spirit.

Jensen, smiling in pain, had fallen back, but now he crowded slowly forward toward Rand, his glass paw outstretched, bidding his time, waiting for a look for not having kept the weapon himself, cursed himself again and again for having taken this man so lightly whom he had chanced to thrash when they had met before.

"Dancin' master, eh?" Jensen sneered. "Well, you won't find any room up here for your fancy steps." He reached out a long arm, and Jimmie, surprised to find there was no wall behind him, but the doorway to the room Jensen had just left. He felt space behind him, and he stepped back into the pitch blackness of the room. Jensen, framed in the doorway, was a shadowy bulk. He kept on suddenly he was inside the room and the door slammed shut behind him.

"Now, cocky, let's see you try and get out." He laughed that throaty rattle of his. "One of us is goin' out, see, but it ain't gonna be you."

Jimmie, retreating to the end of the room, beside the window that opened on foggy blackness, said sharply: "Look here, Jensen, if you take another step, I'll fill you full of lead."

"You're a liar. You ain't got no gun. I'm gonna strike a light."

"Jensen, so help me, if you strike a light I'll shoot."

But the other laughed, crazily, and Jimmie realized that he had to deal with a man gone berserk with liquor.

"Go on, shoot," he taunted, and Jimmie could hear him fumbling through his pockets.

He thought of making one mad rush, of knocking Jensen to the floor and then grabbing for the door. But what if he should miss the door?

"Hell!" said Jensen, and Jimmie knew he must have discovered he was out of matches. He dared to breathe again.

Jensen said: "No use, son, you're gonna get yours. Plenty of time. I'm not goin' against the door. Plenty of time to say your prayers."

"Jensen, I'm not afraid of you. Devils is out of the way now. And I can lick you. I licked you once before." He

HOJI THE YELLOW STUB by Ernest Lynn

BEGIN HERE TODAY Jerry Rand, 35, a business man, is found murdered in a cheap hotel in Grafton. Police find a woman's handkerchief and the stub of a yellow theater ticket. Janet Rand, his daughter, breaks her engagement with Barry Colvin, because of the "disgrace" Jimmie Rand, his son, goes to Cleveland, where the theater is. The stub is traced to Olga Maynard, a cabaret singer. Jimmie meets and falls in love with Mary Lowell. Later he encounters Olga. She faints at hearing police want her for murder. Mary, out with Samuel Church, a wealthy lawyer, sees Jimmie lift Olga into a taxi and misunderstands. Barry Colvin tells Jimmie that Mary Lowell has broken with Sam Church. They are walking along the street. They see Mary Lowell approaching. Just as Jimmie is raising his hat he spies a familiar figure running for a street car. He wheels suddenly and runs like a mad man. Jimmie, walking with Barry, suddenly sees Kid Davis, a known intimate of Jensen, heading in a street car. He runs in pursuit, swings aboard the car. When Davis gets off, at the end of the line, Jimmie follows him through lonely streets and a dead fog. He sees Davis enter a house, and after the door-closes behind him, he approaches the house himself. He is walking with Barry when he suddenly sees Kid Davis, a known intimate of Jensen's, board a street car. Jimmie follows him, and trails him to a lonely house. He goes inside and from a darkened hallway sees Olga Jensen and Davis in a room. Jensen goes upstairs to answer the telephone. Then Jimmie, with a broken emotion that he has found in the hall, moves swiftly into the room. Jensen has just left. Jensen sees him and draws a revolver, which Jimmie wrests from him and kicks down the stairs. Now Go On With The Story

And then the stair rail gave way, and Jensen went crashing through.

CHAPTER XLIX Jensen, smiling in pain, had fallen back, but now he crowded slowly forward toward Rand, his glass paw outstretched, bidding his time, waiting for a look for not having kept the weapon himself, cursed himself again and again for having taken this man so lightly whom he had chanced to thrash when they had met before. He continued, craftily: "Why don't you go down and see what's happened to Davis?" "Hell with Davis." Again that crazy laugh. His whisky-laden breath reached Jimmie across the room. And then he said something that Jimmie Rand had waited months to hear: "I killed your old man... now I'm gonna finish the job." Jimmie felt suddn cold-like ice against his heart—and with it came a steady calm. He said, between tight lips: "I know you did, Jensen. I've been waiting to hear you say it before I killed you. I've known for weeks that you did it." He felt that, after all, it made little difference to him what happened, so long as he could bury his fingers in the other's throat and choke the brutal, drunken life out of him. "You did, eh?" and Jensen's voice was a sneering taunt. "How'd you get an smart? Hell, kill me? Huh?" "You don't believe I've got a gun?" "I'm waiting, too, Jensen, waiting to have you tell me what I want to know before I use it." "What a gigantic crazy bluff, he thought, and what a still crazier thing to be doing—to sit and bawly words with a man who had him trapped in a dark room, patiently waiting for him to make a move, biding his time to get him in his crushing hands. Still he thought, and was surprised at the calm with which he was able to contemplate it, if the other was going to rat him he would go down fighting, armed with a hatchet he had never felt before. Meanwhile, if Jensen would talk—well, he would find out what he could. "What I want to know," he said "is who hired you to kill my father. I've known all along you did it. You thought you were shrewd, Jensen, but you didn't intend to have that stub of a theater ticket. That wasn't so smart. Come on, tell me who was behind it." "You'd like to know, eh? There was a smart fink to Jensen's voice. "Well, I'm not tellin' you, I bumped him off, sure..." Called him up at his office. Told him I had news of his father— continued, craftily: "Why don't you go down and see what's happened to Davis?" "Hell with Davis." Again that crazy laugh. RABBIT MENACE TO CROPS CAUSES BIG KILL

DENVER, Mar. 24. (AP)—To the East Side New Yorker who buys none too fresh rabbit meat out of barrels, the annual slaughter on the western plains would seem a waste. To the Easterner, whose "bunny" hunting is limited by law, it might seem a blessing to have so much game about.

Rabbits are not game to westerners, however. They are considered a pest. Consequently, more than 50,000 "jacks" have been killed in Colorado this winter, and the other western states have followed suit. Thousands of them are killed annually.

Rabbits are herbivorous, and enormous eaters for their size. Contrary to some opinion, they do not subsist altogether on tender lettuce leaves, parsley and carrots.

They eat almost everything that grows in the fields or gardens. They mow down beans, peas, lettuce, celery, beet tops and even corn and wheat. When they can not get anything else they eat grass. They have been known to ruin groves of young trees in nurseries.

The annual crop loss because of rabbits runs into millions of dollars. As a result, the last Colorado legislature passed a law permitting county commissioners to offer bounties for dead "jacks." Several counties this year paid a cent to a cent and a half for every pair of ears. Boys earn pocket money killing them, but nearly all the casualties are accountable to drives by farmers.

Townpeople join in, and the drives, usually held in Sundays, resemble old time basket dinners. Men, women and children bring their dinners and stay all day. Rabbit campaigns have become community institutions.

Washington County's drives are representative of Colorado. More than 50,000 have been killed here so far this winter and it is estimated 25,000 more will die before summer.

A successful drive requires an army of hunters. Near Akron, 1000 persons herded the rabbits into a V-shaped woven wire trap half a mile across at the mouth. Not a gun was used, or allowed, the trapped rabbits being dispatched with clubs and stones.

Every Christmas thousands of poor families throughout the state dine on rabbit meat, provided from the drives. At this time of year most of the rabbits so obtained are turned into hog feed.

Next year, the East may get a shot at some of the long eared creatures. The Colorado American Legion plans to advertise the west by turning loose 5,000 on the city of Philadelphia at the Legion convention next fall. Previously, the farmer soldiers will catch them alive by means of the wire trap and ship them east in box cars.

GRAVITY BLAMED FOR DIFFERENCE IN WEIGHT

DALLAS, Tex., Mar. 24. (AP)—A man may not weigh exactly the same in New York as he does in San Francisco. Discovery of this and similar facts regarding weight has enabled geologists to apply new methods to the age old quest for oil.

Likewise, wealthy families of bugs which became extinct many thousands of years ago, are being brought up from their nameless graves to guide man in his search for the liquid wealth.

These discoveries in the scientific development of the oil industry are to be explained at the meeting of the American Association of Petroleum Geologists here March 25-27.

The difference in the weight of bodies at different places on the earth's surface is explained as due to the varying intensity of gravity. An instrument invented a quarter of a century ago by Prof. Roland Lotvos, Hungarian scientist, only recently has been given practical application in measuring the specific gravity of the instrument is the torsion balance.

This balance is described as so delicate that it will measure the direction and intensity of gravity at any point where it may be set up. The fact that objects do not weigh the same at different localities is attributed to the variation of the density or specific gravity of the rocks below the surface. Where the rocks are very dense or have great specific gravity, objects above them weigh more than where the rocks have a smaller specific gravity.

If the torsion balance is set up at a number of places in a certain area and the intensity of gravity is measured at each point, it may be found that the force of gravity will register considerably less within a definite radius. This may indicate the presence of a salt dome, the specific gravity of which is less than that of surrounding rocks. Oil frequently is found in salt domes. A torsion balance operated across what is now the great Powell field in Texas showed the exact position of the fault which controls the accumulation of oil there.

The "bugs," which tell their story of the ages of rocks, are scientifically known as "foraminifera." They are tiny species of sea life, almost germ-like in size, which existed in the dead geological ages. To the naked eye they appear to be grains of dust, but under the microscope they are seen to be tiny shells of myriad forms.

Paleontologists have classified these forams according to the geological age in which species lived. By examining a group of forams he can identify the stratum of rock from which they came. Geology teaches him, also, what depth this stratum should lie beneath the surface. If the rock actually lies at some different depth he knows that a disturbance has occurred, and this tells him to be on his guard for oil.

Within recent months virtually all large oil companies have adopted these methods of oil finding.

LAW UPHELD WASHINGTON, Mar. 24. (AP)—The Indiana Oil Inspection law was upheld today by the Supreme Court.

Heart Of Peach Belt Waits Bursting Buds

PORT VALLEY, Ga., Mar. 24. (AP)—Fort Valley, the heart of the Georgia peach belt, is awaiting the time of bursting buds and blossoms to stage its annual spring festival.

The clouds of pink and white bloom, reaching in many sections as far as the eye can see, frequently remain unshaken on the trees for more than a week. The festival will be held when the orchards are at their loveliest.

The Creek Indians, middle Georgia aborigines, used to dance here against a background of pines, their thanks to the Great Spirit, giver of maize, health and good hunting. Nowadays, in similar annual rites, middle Georgia youth interprets the coming of spring, midwinds and peach bloom, the backdrop being a horizon-wide expanse of shell pink petals and fringed peach tree green.

Miss Dorothy Hale, high school girl, in the title role "The Prodigal Peach", will re-enact the history of the fruit for which Georgia has become famous.

Records in Taylor Murder Said Stolen

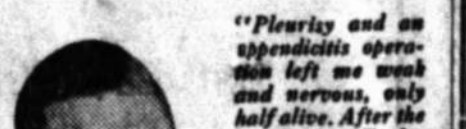

CHICAGO, Mar. 24. (AP)—The Chicago Daily News said today that the William Desmond Taylor murder mystery records were stolen from the hotel room of Harold L. Davis, assistant to district attorney Asa Keyes, of Los Angeles county, California.

Keyes and Davis came here from the east after a tour of investigation, declaring that an apparent development of the inquiry into the shooting to death of Taylor, motion picture director in 1922, could be expected in thirty days.

The records, the Daily News said, were contained in a brief case. It was left in the room of which Davis said the door was locked while he went out with friends last night.

Stocks And Money

WALL STREET TRADING

NEW YORK, Mar. 24. (AP)—Pronounced reactionary price tendencies developed at the opening of today's stock market. General Electric dropped 3 points to a new low record for the year at 20 1/4 in reflection of speculative disappointment over the 1925 report showing smaller earnings than the year before. New 1925 lows also were established by Sears-Roebuck, Montgomery Ward, American Can (new) and Coca Cola. Initial losses of a point or more also were recorded by DuPont, American Locomotive and Central Leather preferred.

Selling assumed huge proportions soon after the opening with sharp breaks taking place in a number of the high priced industrial specialties.

Bearish sentiment was created by reports of a slowing up in various lines of business and by the government's investigation of recent oil mergers. DuPont and General Electric each extended their early losses to six points touching 20 1/4 and 28 1/4 respectively. Sears-Roebuck, Woolworth and Savage Arms slumped 3 to 4 1/2 points and May department stores, Pressed Steel Car, Hudson Motors, Mack Trucks and Case Threshing Machine were among the issues to sell off two points or more in the first outbreak of selling.

Grain Markets

CHICAGO QUOTATIONS

CHICAGO, Mar. 24. (AP)—With optimistic crop reports from practically the entire domestic belt, wheat values took an early selling downward today. Opening prices, unchanged to 1/4 lower. May (new) $1.54 to $1.57, and July $1.45 to $1.48, were followed by material set backs all around.

Corn and oats displayed relative strength. After opening 1/4 off to 3/4 up, May 72 1/2 cents, corn underwent a slight general sag.

Oats stated unchanged to 1/4 higher, May 39 1/2 to 39 3/4 cents and later eased back somewhat. Provisions held about steady, aided by comparative firmness of corn.

"The application of the Santa Fe to build from Plainview to Dimmitt is to be denied.

"The next step in this procedure is that the various interested railroads shall be given twenty days in which to file their objections. Then, the case will be docketed and a date set for hearing oral arguments before Division Four of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

"The best information we can get is that this hearing of oral arguments will more than likely be in May or June.

"After the hearing of oral arguments, Division Four will render a decision which may or may not be in accordance with Mr. Bolos' recommendations.

"It further understands that appeal may be taken from the decision of Division Four to the entire Commission, whose decision will be final. It may be well to state that ordinarily a decision of a Division of the Commission is taken as final.

"The Railroad Committee of the Chamber of Commerce has purchased the necessary amount of property. They secured the money for this through a loan from a Fort Worth bank. The notes given by local citizens in the total sum of around $175,000 were due and payable last November and December.

"The Railroad Committee has collected on these payments from a number of the makers of the notes and at this time are attempting to collect these first payments from additional subscribers that they may repay the loan to the Fort Worth bank.

OUSTED ATTORNEY SEEKS OFFICE

AUSTIN, Mar. 24. (AP)—Declaring that he "will whip the gang behind those charges in the court and at the ballot boxes," Harris Bell, Austin, resigned corporation judge, indicted Tuesday by the Travis county grand jury on a charge of swindling, today announced as a candidate for district attorney of Travis county.

Bell and George W. Boring, grand juror, have been involved in sensational bribery charges which the grand jury here substantiated.

Bell is under $2,500 bond in connection with an alleged land deal.

In his announcement, addressed to the voters of Travis county, Bell charges that the indictment returned against him was the result of an effort to sidetrack issues that would involve one of the jury's members.

AUSTIN, Mar. 24. (AP)—After being indicted by the Travis County grand jury Tuesday afternoon and making good of $500 on his return to Austin from embe from midnight, Harris Bell, young Austin attorney today issued a statement in which he demanded immediate trial and promised "stunning revelations."

The indictment is said to have been returned in connection with a land deal in which Jesus Ramirez charges the attorney with obtaining deed to 121 acres of land in Bastrop County "by fraud and misrepresentation."

A civil suit is pending on the deal in which Bell had declared the allegations.

PAGE'S ACTIONS ON TARIFF BOARD EXPLAINED

WASHINGTON, Mar. 24. (AP)—The senate committee investigating the tariff commission was told today by Thomas Walker Page, who became the second chairman of the commission in 1922, that he quit the commission to the principle of the flexible provision of the tariff law.

Although he submitted his resignation, he added, it never was accepted. He left the commission after the flexible provision had been enacted but before it had come into effect. The flexible provision of the law was decided upon, Mr. Page declared, at a White House conference with President Harding, attended by Secretary Hoover, Senator Smoot, Republican, Utah, and others.

The discussion at that conference, he continued, centered around the expediency of fixing the tariff on domestic rather than foreign valuation.

"It developed that members of the house and Senate were alarmed over the foreign exchange situation although prices were then rising rapidly abroad," he added. "The situation was greatly exaggerated."

The witness contended that his apprehension over the flexible tariff provisions have since been justified.

"It is impracticable and a bad policy as tariffs should not be of a flexible nature but the rates should be fixed," he said.

State Grants $8,970 Rural School Aid

A total of $8,970 has been granted to rural schools of Lubbock county by the state department of education from the state fund set aside, according to a report received yesterday by P. Brown, county superintendent of schools.

This grant follows the visit here of a state rural aid inspector and requests sent to the state department by the rural schools of the county. A fund in the state school treasury is available annually to rural schools that need financial aid in order to maintain a second term of six months or longer and to make necessary improvements in the schools. Rural schools must be of certain standards in order to receive the help of the fund.

The detailed grants, as represented in the report are as follows: Slide $339; Center, $498; Union, $425; Grovesville, $224; Hedden, $125; Caldwell, $499; Blyden, $489; Lindsay, $100; Liberty, $297; Monroe, $230; Wolfarth, $225; McClure, $175; Posey, $100; New Hope, $450; Woodrow, $450; Carlisle, $400; Foster, $380; Hardy, $350; Canyon, $320; Shallowater, $317; Anuff, $260; County Line, $220; Estacado, $150.

Reuben Morris, Unkleback's companion in his room, was arrested on suspicion of aiding in the recent robbery of Reuben's restaurant on Broadway, where $25,100 was stolen.

Three other men, suspected of participation in the hold-up of Reuben's were arrested yesterday during a daring robbery at the Owl Restaurant nearby. They were captured after police had been called by several hot check girls who slipped out an unguarded exit while the orchestra was playing on the robbers' orders. Mrs. Isaac George Waterman of Philadelphia concealed a pearl necklace valued at $92,000, in her stocking and the robbers obtained only a small amount from her. Richard Reese Whittemore, leader of the band, is wanted in Baltimore, Md., on a charge of murdering Robert Holtman, 49-year-old prison guard, during his escape two weeks after beginning a penitentiary sentence of ten years a year ago.

CRIMINAL GANG IN GOTHAM IS CAPTURED

BAND OF SIX MEN AND WOMAN HELD AFTER MANY ROBBERIES

NEW YORK, Mar. 24. (AP)—Three witnesses today identified Richard Reese Whittemore, escaped convict from Baltimore, who was arrested here last week, as one of the men who robbed an armored car of the Marine Trust company of Buffalo, N. Y., of $22,000 last October in a hold-up in which two guards were killed.

All Members Held.

NEW YORK, Mar. 24. (AP)—All the members of what is regarded as the most desperate criminal gang caught in years were in custody today.

The loot of the band of six men and a woman known as "The Tiger City" is estimated at $1,000,000, obtained mostly by sensational jewel robberies. In addition, at least two murders are laid to them. Members of the gang were dressed in the height of fashion and had expensive automobiles.

Caught While Leaving Club.

They frequented night clubs and exclusive cabarets of the class frequent by well-to-do and in them planned some of their biggest coups. The first members of the band to be arrested, were caught while leaving a club. A round-up of the so-called Whittemore gang, however, has not connected them with any of the sensational recent robberies of three night clubs and restaurants near Broadway.

The last man, William J. Unkleback, sought for participating in two diamond robberies amounting to $150,000, laid to the band, was arrested last night in a furnished room.

The police say Unkleback told them that Simon Gilden, once a member of the gang, was killed last December for talking at a syndicate. His body was found propped against a tombstone in Trinity church yard, Joseph Ross, believed to be another member of the gang, was murdered in Elizabeth, N. J.

Whittemore, the detectives quoted Unkleback as saying "has a way of doing away with subordinates who talk at orders."

PROHIBITION AND RAILWAYS ARE DISCUSSED

A. B. Davis, with a detailed explanation of the railroad situation as it is following the report made the I. C. C. by Examiner E. C. Boles, and Dr. John C. Granberry, head of the department of history at the Tech, with a speech on the recent attacks on the prohibition law, were the featured speakers before members of the Rotary club at that organization's regular weekly meeting Wednesday.

Doctor Granberry, who several years ago toured Europe and Asia while making a world-wide survey of prohibition for the World League Against Alcoholism, made a fine address, showing his familiarity with the subject. He took the stand that enforcement of the present law would clarify the troubles now arising over the liquor problem throughout the nation.

The club went on record, at the request of Chief of Police T. E. May, in favoring the coming city-wide clean-up campaign and a committee made up of Byron C. Dickinson, as chairman, Ross Allison McWhorter and Chas. A. Guy was named to take charge of the drive to send as many members of the local club as possible to the district meeting of Rotarians at Amarillo next month.
