Exec says Midland is job-seeker's market

■ Unemployment rate dips to 4.5 percent, lowest in state.

By Mella McEwen
Oil Editor

Plentiful jobs awaiting takers have people flocking to the area as Midland's labor market remained strong in October.

The Texas Workforce Commission reported Friday that Midland's unemployment rate fell to 4.5 percent in October from 4.9 percent in September, the same rate in October 2010. Midland reported the state's lowest unemployment, followed by Amarillo with 5.6 percent and Odessa with 5.7 percent.

"Continuing unemployment claims continue to go down. Wages continue to be up; it's pretty well a job-seeker's market," said Willie Taylor, executive director of Workforce Solutions Permian Basin.

Midland added 500 jobs from September to October for a 0.7 percent growth rate. From October 2010 to October 2011, Midland added 2,100 jobs for a 3 percent growth rate. The majority of jobs were added in the mining, logging and construction sector that includes oil and gas operations. Strong growth also was in trade, transportation and utilities, professional and business services, education and health services, leisure and hospitality, financial activities and other services. The only sector to lose jobs was government, which lost 400 jobs during the 12 months. Taylor speculated those were lost education jobs.

"You will see that trend across the country," he said.

He added that his office already has received inquiries about Summit Power's planned Texas Clean Energy Project to be built near Penwell, even though an announcement on the plant's progress likely is a few months away.

"That gives us some idea of what may be ahead," he said.

Midland's current unemployment rate is above its low of 2.8 percent in 2008, but Taylor said the current rate is already tough enough.

"At 4.5 percent, you're looking at full employment," he said.

With plentiful jobs — skilled, unskilled and service — available, Taylor said the region needs to recruit workers to the community, but a lack of housing will hamper recruitment for

Former President George W. Bush said while he never was a great tennis player, the game reminds him of what is most important to him: family and friends.

"I always found that your friends, your family and your faith are your stability in life," Bush said.

The former president and his wife, former first lady Laura Bush, were in Midland on Friday to dedicate the Bush Tennis Center. Bush said his family members were honored to have the center named for them and added that Midland and all it stands for still hold a special place in their hearts.

"Midland, Texas, meant a lot to Mother and Dad just like it meant a lot to Laura and me," Bush said.

The more than 300 people who were invited to the event cheered for Bush and even whistled when Jim Henry, chairman of the Bush Tennis Center board, told the Bushes he

MDC OKs last payment for doctor recruitment

By Kathleen Thurber
Staff Writer

The Midland Development Corp. authorized its final payment to Midland Memorial Hospital on Friday, completing a partnership that resulted in recruiting 34 physicians during four years.

Russell Meyers, MMH president and CEO, told the board at its Friday meeting that the hospital recruited 10 physicians during the past year and 34 since signing a contract with the MDC in 2007.

"It's important to tell you thanks," Meyers said. "It's increased our capacity to recruit dramatically."

MDC will provide the hospital its final payment of $223,844.42.

MDC authorized a three-year contract in 2007 that would allow the hospital to receive up to $350,000 each year for physician recruitment. In 2010, the MDC extended the contract a fourth year and allowed the hospital to use any funds it had not spent from the initial allocation.

MDC Chairman Robert Rendall said its mission of economic development includes creating a certain quality of life in Midland, which is what the doctor recruitments help to accomplish.

"This is such an integral part, and we thank you for partnering with us to do that," Rendall said. "This is money well spent."

Money allocated from the MDC could be used for recruitment expenses, including items such as airfare, lodging and fees for recruitment firms, Meyers said.

During the past year, Meyers said the hospital attracted several specialty physicians.

"This may be the most interesting and best quality group," he said.

Dr. Rachel Chandler joined Dr. Russell Akin's dermatology practice this year. Meyers said both have schedules that are booked continuously.

"There's almost an infinite demand," he said.

Dr. Stephanie Beidler will move to Midland in the summer to work as a plastic surgeon. Dr. Terry Tubb presently is Midland's lone plastic surgeon.

Beidler will perform cosmetic surgeries and major reconstructive surgeries, a

Obituaries

Charlotte Ann Gunter

Charlotte Ann Gunter went home to be with her Heavenly Father, on November 17, 2011, after a long and courageous battle with cancer. She was born on July 5, 1951, in Lamesa, Texas, to Roy Allan "Hoot" and Mary Ruth Gibson. Charlotte was raised in Denver City, Texas, and was a long time resident of Greenwood and Midland.

Charlotte married Russell Gunter in Denver City, Texas, on June 13, 1970, and moved to Lubbock, Texas. They lived in Lubbock until they moved to Midland in 1973, where they resided until 1980. They then moved to Greenwood in 1980, and even though they moved back to Midland in 2003, Greenwood was and still is home.

There was never a doubt that Charlotte's life was her family. She loved them fiercely and unconditionally. Her husband, children, and grandchildren felt her love, compassion, and loyalty daily. Her grandchildren were completely devoted to her and her to them.

Charlotte was one of the most wonderful people anyone could have ever known. Those that had the privilege of knowing her came away richer for the experience. She was kind to everyone, and accepted each person, warts and all. Her smile and laughter were contagious and her faith in God and inner strength were a source of inspiration for all that knew her. Through her employment at Greenwood schools, Charlotte touched the lives of all she came into contact with. A quality so rare in others, but was abundant in her, was her ability to make each person she loved feel that they were the most important person in the world.

Charlotte was a valued employee of Greenwood Independent School District for many years, until her retirement in 2006. She was also a proud member of the Greenwood Baptist Church.

She is survived by her loving husband of forty-one years, Russell I. Gunter; and her daughter, Tonia Deann and husband, Jimmy Martindale of Greenwood, Texas; her son, Russell I. Gunter, II, and wife, Sarah of Lubbock, Texas; and her daughter, Tiffany Dawn Gunter of Midland, Texas; and two grand-children, Kody and Kaci Martindale of Greenwood, Texas. She is also survived by her four brothers: Danny Gibson and wife, Carrie of Rice, Texas, Ricky Gibson and wife, Christine of Denver City, Texas, Mark Gibson of Odessa, Texas, and Kris Gibson and wife, Sharon of Midland, Texas; sister and brother-in-law, Cindi and Johnny Walker of Carlsbad, New Mexico. She is also survived by many adoring nieces and nephews.

She was preceded in death by her parents Roy "Hoot" Allan and Mary Ruth Gibson. She was also preceded by her mother and father-in-law, Willard and Charlene Gunter.

A funeral service is scheduled to take place on Monday, November 21, 2011, at 2:00 p.m., at Greenwood Baptist Church (10908 FM 307, Midland, TX 79706). Interment will follow at Resthaven Memorial Park.

In lieu of flowers, Charlotte requested that donations be made to the American Cancer Society, Hospice of Midland, or the Salvation Army.

Pockriss, writer of 'Itsy Bitsy' bikini song, dies

Associated Press

HARTFORD, Conn. — Paul Vance remembers calling his friend and fellow songwriter Lee Pockriss more than 50 years ago to share the lyrics of a song he had just written: "Itsy Bitsy Teenie Weenie Yellow Polka Dot Bikini."

"Lee, I said, I have an idea," he recalled Friday. "He went crazy. By the time he got to my office, he had 90 percent of the tune written."

The song, which was recorded by 16-year-old teen idol Brian Hyland, surged to No. 1 on the Billboard charts in August 1960 and has been pop culture staple ever since.

Pockriss, who wrote other hit songs for an eager, youthful post-World War II generation, died in Connecticut this week after a long illness. He was 87.

His wife, Sonja Pockriss, confirmed his death on Friday. She said he died at home in Bridgewater on Tuesday.

"Itsy Bitsy Teenie Weenie Yellow Polka Dot Bikini" — about a shy young woman in a skimpy bathing suit — has been used in such movies as "Sister Act 2" and "Revenge of the Nerds II" and was more recently revived in a yogurt commercial.

Pockriss, who also worked in musical theater, co-wrote several songs with Vance, including "Catch a Falling Star" in 1957.

Vance, 82, said Pockriss did an excellent job on their collaborations.

"He was a very talented composer, a great composer, the opposite of me," he told the Associated Press on Friday. "He knew music inside out. I don't know one note of music."

Vance was erroneously reported as dead five years ago because of the death of an Ormond Beach, Fla., man who had falsely claimed to have written "Itsy Bitsy" under the name Paul Vance. The real Vance was able to prove that it was he, not Paul Van Valkenburgh, who had written the song.

Vance, who lives in Boca Raton, Fla., said Pockriss also worked in musical theater and wrote the music for the 1963 Broadway show "Tovarich," for which Vivien Leigh won the Tony Award for best actress in a musical.

Pockriss was born in Brooklyn, N.Y., on Jan. 20, 1924, his wife said.

Man gets 80 years for using fake cash to buy movie snacks

A Texas man has been sentenced to 80 years in prison for trying to buy movie theater hot dogs with counterfeit cash.

Charles Cleveland Nowden was sentenced Friday, two days after he was convicted of forgery. He must serve at least 15 years before he's eligible for parole.

Two years ago, Nowden used a fake $20 bill when trying to buy hot dogs, popcorn and soft drinks at a movie theater. Prosecutors said after his arrest, a police officer found more counterfeit bills worth $120.

Prosecutors in Fort Worth presented evidence about other theft cases pending against the 48-year-old in Tarrant and Lamar counties.

The Tarrant County District Attorney's Office said jurors also heard about Nowden's federal convictions for bank fraud and being a felon in possession of a firearm.

Vela indicted on drug, immigration charges

A federal grand jury has indicted a 38-year-old man described as a principal leader of Mexico's Gulf Cartel on federal drug and immigration charges.

Rafael Cardenas Vela was arrested last month following a traffic stop in Port Isabel.

Federal officials said Vela is accused of participating in drug and money laundering conspiracies and procuring fraudulent Visa documents.

Cardenas Vela is the nephew of former Gulf cartel leader Osiel Cardenas Guillen, convicted of federal drug charges last year and sentenced to 25 years in prison.

The Gulf cartel is based in Matamoros, Mexico, across the border from Brownsville.

The cartel controls major drug smuggling corridors between Reynosa and Matamoros. Under Cardenas Guillen's leadership, the Gulf cartel spawned the Zetas, which evolved into a ruthless rival.

AG cites owner after South Texas tires fire

Associated Press

SAN BENITO — The operator of an unauthorized waste tire storage facility in South Texas has been cited over a blaze that burned about 22,000 tires.

Authorities said one San Benito firefighter was treated for heat exhaustion following the Aug. 1 fire.

Texas Attorney General Greg Abbott on Friday announced Bobby Ray Waldrep, of Waldrep Salvage, has been accused of numerous violations of the Texas Solid Waste Disposal Act.

Investigators said Waldrep allowed dangerous conditions to persist, leading to the fire.

Abbott's office seeks civil penalties of up to $25,000 for each day the facility operated in violation of state environmental laws, plus a court order requiring Waldrep to clean up the tire dump.

No working phone number was located for Waldrep.

San Benito is about 15 miles northwest of Brownsville.

9 indicted in Houston-area bank robbery spree

Associated Press

HOUSTON — Nine men have been indicted for their alleged roles in a string of Houston-area bank robberies that included the shooting of an off-duty Harris County sheriff's sergeant.

U.S. Attorney Kenneth Magidson said the 18-count indictment unsealed Friday alleges the crime spree began in 2007 and ended in September when eight of nine suspects were arrested. The other suspect remains at large.

The charges range from conspiracy to interfere with commerce through robbery to possessing and/or discharging a firearm during a violent crime.

Authorities said the robbers brandished Uzi-style weapons, pistols and shotguns and targeted credit unions and banks inside grocery stores.

Sgt. Michael Ellison was shot when he confronted two suspects after a robbery in Sugar Land in August. He has recovered and attended a news conference announcing the indictments.

Drought continues lowering reservoirs

Associated Press

FORT WORTH — The severe Texas drought continues to affect reservoirs that supply water to scores of municipalities.

Some 96 percent of the state's major reservoirs were below 60 percent capacity as of the end of October.

The Texas Water Development Board said that average is the lowest since the agency began keeping records in 1978.

The agency said water levels aren't available for the other 4 percent because those reservoirs aren't monitored.

Ten reservoirs are below 10 percent storage capacity. Five of those are all but empty — including Lake Meredith in the Panhandle.

Last month, the Canadian River Municipal Water Authority, near Amarillo, voted to stop using Lake Meredith.

Officials have said the lone remaining water supply is plentiful but that peak demand may put stress on its delivery.

Coming Sunday

Midland's water usage is down, but the city still exceeds winter levels.

11 indicted in cocaine ring

Associated Press

MEMPHIS, Tenn. — Authorities say 11 people have been indicted in Memphis on drug conspiracy charges, accused of running cocaine from Texas to Tennessee.

Edward Stanton, the U.S. attorney for West Tennessee, said a federal indictment unsealed Friday charges the 11 people with conspiracy to possess cocaine with the intent to distribute.

The defendants are charged with buying $1.6 million worth of cocaine in Texas and bringing it back to Memphis for packaging and sale.

If convicted, those charged could face 10 years to life in prison.

"With Autumn's connections in the Permian Basin, along with her demonstrated vision for the future, we all feel that she is a perfect fit to lead our world-class museum to even greater heights."

City installs first flashing yellow, left-turn signal

The Transportation Division will install today the first flashing yellow arrow at the intersection of Midland Drive and Briarwood Avenue. Drivers traveling north on Midland Drive and turning west on Briarwood Avenue will see four arrows on the traffic signal.

The red arrow means stop.

The solid yellow arrow means the turn signal is about to turn red and drivers should prepare to stop.

The flashing yellow arrow means drivers must yield to oncoming traffic and pedestrians (oncoming traffic has a green light).

The green arrow means drivers have a protected left-turn (oncoming traffic has a red light).

City officials said the flashing yellow arrow signal offers a safer, more efficient way to handle traffic waiting to turn at busy intersections.

Work should be complete by mid-afternoon.

Police charge woman in sexual assault of boy

By James Cannon
Staff Writer

A 20-year-old woman is being held on a $50,000 bond after she was arrested Wednesday for allegedly sexually assaulting a male under the age of 14.

Shaydon D. Young, of Hampton, Va., is in custody at the Midland County jail on a first-degree felony of aggravated sexual assault against a child.

Midland police began investigating Young after a complaint was filed on July 21. The child, whose age has not been released — but is known to be under 14 because of the charge — was brought to the Midland Rape Crisis and Children's Advocacy Center for a forensic interview on Aug. 4. During the interview, the boy said Young "had looked (at) and touched his private parts," according to the arrest warrant.

Young

The child also told case workers that he and Young had sexual intercourse. He said it started when she began kissing him and it progressed until the two were engaged in intercourse, the warrant stated.

The boy told investigators that before they began "making out," he had told Young his age.

A guardian of the child told authorities the last time the pair had sex was at the end of February. The guardian said Young was warned about continuing the relationship and told her that charges would be filed if the encounters did not end. The sexual relationship continued, so the police were contacted, the guardian told detectives.

Cellphone text messages between the pair acknowledging the sexual relationship were turned over to police. After reviewing the forensic interview and text messages, detectives issued a warrant for Young's arrest.

If convicted of aggravated sexual assault of a child, Young could face between five and 99 years in prison.

James Cannon can be reached at jcannon@mrt.com.

BUSH

From 1A

wished they still were in the White House.

Bush shrugged a bit at this remark and later said it's men like Henry, who worked toward the creation of the tennis center for numerous years, who make a difference in communities.

"Henry's been given a lot because of hard work and smarts, and he's given back a lot," Bush said.

When thinking about tennis, Bush said his father is the first thing that pops into his head because former President George H.W. Bush taught the children how to play when they were young. The younger Bush added that his father was the one who had a talent for the sport.

"It really ought to be named the George H.W. Bush Tennis Center," Bush said.

He said the game not only gave them time together as a family, but it also taught him about life, which he hopes it will do for children who frequent the tennis center.

Bush said the game also can teach life lessons; it can teach people how to handle "bad bounces" in life and the importance of rules and bounds.

He said tennis also reminds him of his pals in Midland who never were tennis stars but had a lot of fun playing together.

Henry said in addition to the values and athletic skills they aim to teach at the center, the fun of the game also is a priority.

"The most important thing about tennis, like life, is you've got to have fun," Henry said.

Those who have watched the fundraising and design process for the tennis center said it was because of Henry's efforts that it became a reality.

Tim Fischer/Reporter-Telegram

George and Laura Bush look on as Hannah Rey, a young tennis sensation, is introducted Friday during the Bush Tennis Center dedication.

"It's like Texas Hold 'Em with Jim. He's all in," said Charlie Spence, who emceed the event at the Bush Tennis Center site near Briarwood Avenue and Holiday Hill Road. "This project was made possible by Jim Henry."

Luis Valdez, executive director of the tennis center, said the center will be a place for much more than just tennis, just as Henry envisioned.

Valdez said its staff will continue community outreaches to make tennis available to everyone. The center already has worked with the Boys and Girls Club, the YMCA of Midland, Rays of Hope and Campfire USA.

In addition to the 18 full-size courts, stadium and eight quick-start courts, the organization is building an education area where children can be tutored. Cement already has been poured for a quick-start court, which is a half-sized court to make learning the game easier.

Valdez said staff hope to have the project's first phase completed by August 2012.

"A court is nothing unless there's people, unless there's kids, unless there's you," he said.

The band from Laura Bush's alma mater, Lee High School, played during the Bushes' entrance and exit.

Other dignitaries also were in attendance included Ken McAllister of the United States Tennis Association, Midland Mayor Wes Perry, Odessa Mayor Larry Melton and the Rev. Tim Walker, of First United Methodist Church, where the Bushes were married.

JOBS

now.

"I just hope we continue to build affordable housing," he said.

David Diaz, executive director of the Midland Community Development Corp., said Midland is in a critical housing shortage situation. For years, the Midland and Odessa chambers have gotten people to relocate to the area. He said it has gotten to the point that now there is no housing for new residents.

The booming economy and resulting rise in housing costs make it difficult for low-income families to afford market rates and apartment rents, he said.

"Property owners who have rental properties are raising rates because demand is so strong. The low-income families are the most affected. People coming in from other parts of the state or parts of the country, because they're getting good wages, can afford market rates."

For a number of years, the MCDC has developed single-family housing for low-income families and has received funds to build a 96-unit apartment community that Diaz said should break ground in the spring or summer 2012.

"We need rooftops in all price ranges," he said. "High-end housing brings more inventory online. Families that are moving up to higher-end homes will make lower-price homes available. The builders that are putting rooftops up, even the high-end homes, are helping put inventory online."

Statewide, the unemployment rate dipped to 8.4 percent in October from 8.5 percent in September. The state added 2,500 jobs in October. From October 2010 to October, the Workforce Commission said Texas has had 286,200 new jobs for a growth rate of 3.4 percent.

While Midland had the lowest unemployment, the highest was in Brownsville-Harlingen at 11.9 percent.

service that has not been available in Midland. For example, if a woman who had breast cancer wants to undergo a reconstructive breast surgery, she now can do that in Midland instead of traveling to Dallas or Houston, Meyers said.

Dr. Afim Ladha was recruited to practice neurosurgery and will be the third neurosurgeon in the area.

"It's no small thing to get a neurosurgeon here," Meyers said. "He's a great, engaging young man."

Dr. Sandeep Musunuru, originally of Wisconsin, agreed to practice general, vascular and thoracic surgery. She's working with Dr. Shelton Viney, and in addition to her general surgery training, she also completed a fellowship on breast surgery that will allow her to remove cancerous cells in breast cancer patients.

Dr. Aaron Strike was recruited as a urologist. He and his wife, Dr. Reagan Viney, who was recruited as an obstetrician/gynecologist, were trained in robotic surgery, Meyers said.

Others recruited during the past year include Dr. John Blevins, a hospitalist; Dr. Li Li, a pediatrician; Dr. Sanjay Patel, a pediatrician; and Dr. Kevin Stewart, who works in emergency medicine.

In other business, the MDC board:

■ Authorized up to $67,000 to pay the Midland-Odessa Transportation Alliance. The payment is an annual one the MDC makes toward MOTRAN's operation. The Odessa Development Corp. also provides $67,000.

■ Passed a resolution allowing 10 percent of the MDC's revenues to be used for promotional purposes. It's estimated 10 percent will be about $505,743. Laura Roman, MDC treasurer, said she will determine what can qualify as a promotional incentive with the hope the MDC can invest some of its promotional funds next year.

■ Agreed to consider discussions about a water line extension to the MDC's property near Interstate 20. Eric West of Parkhill, Smith and Cooper presented the MDC with a possible extension plan that would not only serve the MDC property but also make it possible for nearby land owners to connect to the city's water line.

Dallas dad convicted over death of newborn

Associated Press

DALLAS — A Dallas man who shaved "it's a boy" into his hair after the birth of his son has been sentenced to 25 years in prison over the newborn's beating death.

A jury in Dallas earlier Thursday convicted 22-year-old Shelton Alexander of injury to a child.

Investigators said 5-week-old Adriel Alexander died in 2009 after being punched and dropped on the floor.

The Dallas Morning News reported Alexander said he was trying to sleep when the baby started crying and he struck his infant son.

Alexander had been charged with capital murder, but jurors opted to convict him of the lesser charge. Prosecutors did not seek the death penalty.

Man accused in sex cases caught in Texas

ROCKPORT — Officers in South Texas have captured a Georgia fugitive who's facing more than a dozen counts related to the alleged abuse of children.

Ward William Currier was held without bond Friday in the Aransas County Detention Center. No attorney was listed for the 48-year-old Currier, who was captured Thursday outside a business in Rockport, about 185 miles southwest of Houston.

Currier is wanted in Oglethorpe County on 13 counts related to suspicion of rape, enticement of minors for indecent purposes, cruelty toward a child, sexual assault of a child and molestation of a minor. Investigators in Georgia said the time frame goes back to 2007.

Several arrested during Occupy Austin protest

AUSTIN — Police say five people have been arrested after chaining themselves to a tree and refusing to leave during an Occupy Austin protest.

Police Chief Art Acevedo said a sixth person chained to the tree Thursday night agreed to leave peacefully and was not detained.

200 abused dogs will not be returned to owners

Associated Press

FLOYDADA — A judge in West Texas has refused to return more than 200 neglected dogs to the owners.

A Floyd County justice of the peace on Thursday ruled that Mark and Sandra Smith, of Lockney, had treated the animals cruelly. The Smiths were ordered to pay nearly $237,000 to Floyd County for the cost of caring for the animals, which were seized in late September.

Deputies found feces-covered doors, dirty water bowls and fly-covered food at Alpha Tex Kennel.

Ownership of the dogs has been transferred to the Humane Society of West Texas.

The Smiths, who have 30 days to appeal, declined comment following the hearing.

Perry shifts focus to Obama, criticizes Asia trip

Associated Press

NEW YORK — Republican presidential hopeful Rick Perry assailed President Barack Obama anew Friday — this time on an arms-trafficking probe and jobs — as part of a recent push to shift the focus from his GOP rivals and his struggling campaign to the Democratic incumbent.

But several of Perry's claims against Obama have been exaggerated, misrepresented or flat out wrong.

As the day began, Perry, in New York City to accept an award from the Federal Law Enforcement Foundation, said that inadequate funding and "bureaucratic bungling" by Washington had made the southern border more dangerous. He cited Operation Fast and Furious that was run by the Justice Department and allowed AK-47s and other weapons to leak into the black market.

Perry singled out Attorney General Eric Holder and the Obama administration for criticism.

But the Associated Press has reported that an investigation into the operation has turned up Justice Department documents indicating that the so-called "gun walking" tactic at issue also was used during the Republican administration of George W. Bush.

Perry also did not acknowledge that Immigration and Customs Enforcement has more agents on the Southwest border than ever or that Homeland Security has unmanned drones covering the entire border from California to Texas for the first time.

In an interview later Friday, Perry incorrectly said Obama was in Myanmar to ship jobs to Asia.

"We've got huge issues facing this country today, and he's in Burma talking about relations with a country that — I'll be real honest with you — I don't know what America's interest is there," Perry told Fox News Channel.

Obama was actually in Indonesia, where he signed a trade deal that will send Boeing planes to an Indonesian company and create jobs in the U.S. It's Boeing's largest order for commercial planes. Perry said it meant nothing for America's workers.

"How about scoring a big deal for Boeing in South Carolina?" Perry said. "We ought to be creating jobs in America. We ought to be putting tax policy, regulatory policy in place. We ought to be creating markets for what we build in America for foreign markets."

The Texas governor's campaign fortunes have fallen in recent weeks, and his advisers hope his stepped-up criticism of Obama and Washington could help reinvigorate his campaign less than seven weeks before Iowa's caucuses on Jan. 3.

Polls show Perry badly trailing several of his rivals in Iowa, including former Massachusetts Gov. Mitt Romney, former House Speaker Newt Gingrich, Rep. Ron Paul and Georgia businessman Herman Cain.

Perry's comments Friday came just days after his campaign released an ad that took out of context a comment Obama made and gave viewers the impression that the president had said all Americans are lazy. Obama was talking about the U.S. record of attracting foreign investment.

Perry defended the ad in an evening interview with Fox News Channel: "That's a fair ad. Absolutely."

"I think he's talking about America. ... If he believed that Americans were hard working, that they were ready to ignite this economy, then we wouldn't have the tax policies and the regulatory policies in place that are killing jobs in this country," Perry said.

In an interview earlier with the network, Perry wrongly claimed that Obama came from a privileged background and didn't understand ordinary people's problems.

"He never had to really work for anything. He never had to go through what Americans are going through," Perry said. "We need a president who has been through their ups and downs in life and understands what it's like to have to deal with the issues of our economy that we have today in America."

Obama was raised by a single mother who, at times, used food stamps, and his grandparents, who lived in a modest apartment in Honolulu.

Firefighter burned, 25 homes damaged in Reno fire

Associated Press

RENO, Nev. — A cloud of grayish-white smoke settled over upscale homes and horse pastures at Reno's edge Friday as firefighters from across Nevada came close to taming a sudden wildfire that sent 16 people to hospitals and destroyed or damaged 25 houses.

The unexplained blaze also gave a firefighter first- and second-degree burns and was blamed for the death of a 74-year-old man who had a heart attack while trying to flee, but authorities said the worst was likely over as growing snow flurries and falling temperatures stoked hopes that the remaining showers of ember and ash would die down.

Reno Fire Chief Mike Hernandez said firefighters had largely contained the blaze that sent nearly 10,000 people from their homes in the middle of the night and sent flames licking the edges of the region's mountain roads.

"We are actually backtracking and going over areas that have burned and extinguishing hot spots," Hernandez said.

The cause of the blaze is not known.

House says no to mandating balanced federal budget

Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Rejecting the idea Congress can't control its spending impulses, the House turned back a Republican proposal Friday to amend the Constitution to dam the rising flood of federal red ink. Democrats — and a few GOP lawmakers — said damage from the balanced-budget mandate would outweigh any benefits.

The first House vote in 16 years on making federal deficits unconstitutional came as the separate bipartisan "supercommittee" appeared to be sputtering in its attempt to find at least $1.2 trillion in deficit reductions to head off major automatic cuts. The lead Republican on that panel said members were "painfully, painfully aware" of its Wednesday deadline for action and would work through the weekend.

The House voted 261-165 in favor of the measure to require annual balanced budgets, but that was 23 short of the two-thirds majority needed to advance a constitutional amendment.

Democrats overwhelmingly opposed the proposal, arguing that such a requirement would force Congress to make devastating cuts to social programs.

Most Republicans favored the measure, but there were prominent exceptions.

Budget Committee Chairman Paul Ryan, of Wisconsin, the party's point man on budgetary matters, agreed with GOP colleagues that "spending is the problem." But he added that "this version of the balanced budget amendment makes it more likely taxes will be raised, government will grow and economic freedom will be diminished."

Likewise, Rules Committee Chairman David Dreier, R-Calif., said lawmakers should be able to find common ground without changing the Constitution, and he expressed concern that lawsuits filed if Congress failed to balance the budget could result in courts making decisions on cutting spending or raising taxes.

In all, 235 Republicans and 25 Democrats voted for the amendment, four Republicans and 161 Democrats opposed it. The other two Republicans voting no were Justin Amash, of Michigan, and Louie Gohmert, of Texas.

Later in the day, the top Republican on the deficit-reduction supercommittee indicated no deal was near but efforts would continue through the last weekend before Wednesday's deadline.

"We are painfully, painfully aware of the deadline that is staring us in the face," said Rep. Jeb Hensarling, R-Texas. "When we have something more to report, we will report."

With the national debt now topping $15 trillion and the deficit for the just-ended fiscal year passing $1 trillion, supporters of the constitutional amendment declared it the only way to stop out-of-control spending. The government now must borrow 36 cents for every dollar it spends.

Conaway reacts

"It's disappointing that while Americans clearly seem to understand that Washington has a job-crushing spending problem, my colleagues across the aisle do not. This week our national debt hit $15 trillion and regrettably, this news came as little surprise.

"Gloomy numbers aside, Republicans and Democrats had a chance this week to change our nation's course by passing a balanced budget amendment that would have produced a better environment for private-sector job growth.

"Unemployment has been above 8 percent for more than two years, and that figure alone should have been staggering enough to convince my colleagues across the aisle that passing a balanced budget amendment is right our country's future. Unfortunately, it was not and even though I am disappointed that the balanced budget amendment failed, I will continue to fight for a permanent solution to our nation's debt crisis."

Investigators reopen investigation into Natalie Wood's death

Associated Press

LOS ANGELES — Investigators reopened the case of Natalie Wood's 1981 drowning after receiving new information they deemed credible enough to warrant another look at one of Hollywood's most enduring mysteries.

The three-time Oscar nominee's husband, actor Robert Wagner, was not a suspect, a detective said Friday.

Los Angeles Sheriff's Lt. John Corina said nothing has yet changed the official view that Wood's death in the chilly waters off Southern California's Santa Catalina Island was an accident.

"Right now, her death is an accidental drowning," Corina said.

Corina said Friday that two detectives would delve into the case and interview witnesses, including some who have come forward since the announcement a day earlier that the actress' death is being reviewed again.

Corina declined to say whether all the new information came from Dennis Davern, who was a captain of the yacht that Wagner, Wood and actor Christopher Walken were sharing on Thanksgiving weekend in 1981. Davern said on national television Friday that he lied to investigators about events on the yacht Splendour when he was interviewed after Wood's death.

Davern accused Wagner of having a fight with Wood before she went missing and delaying the search for her.

Natalie Wood: Los Angeles County sheriff's officials say they received credible information leading them to reopen investigation into actress' death.

On Nov. 29, 1981, Wood drowned after spending several hours drinking with Wagner, fellow actor Christopher Walken and Davern. Davern told NBC's "Today" show on Friday that he made mistakes by not telling the truth about events leading to the death and had urged Los Angeles County sheriff's homicide investigators to reopen the case.

It is Davern's latest attempt to change the official account of what happened.

"Was the fight between Natalie Wood and her husband Robert Wagner what ultimately led to her death?" show host David Gregory asked.

"Yes," Davern replied.

"How so?"

"Like I said, that's going to be up to the investigators to decide," the captain said.

Davern said he believes Wagner had intentionally kept the investigation into Wood's death low profile and didn't do everything he could have done. When Gregory pressed Davern for supporting details, he said that was the duty of investigators.

In a 1992 appearance on a Geraldo Rivera special and in a 2000 Vanity Fair article, Davern said the official account of Wood's disappearance was not what really happened. He also worked with author and friend, Marti Rulli, on "Goodbye Natalie, Goodbye Splendour," a book released last year.

Wagner spokesman Alan Nierob said Friday a statement he released Thursday spoke for itself. It said that Wagner's family supports investigators' efforts and trusted that they would evaluate the new information and determine whether it came from "a credible source or sources other than those simply trying to profit from the 30-year anniversary of her tragic death."

Davern denied he was motivated to speak out for profit.

Sheriff's spokesman Steve Whitmore said Thursday the renewed inquiry was prompted by unspecified new information about the case.

BRAZIL

Oil spills into Atlantic from Chevron site

RIO DE JANEIRO — More than 2,600 barrels of oil may have spilled into the Atlantic ocean because of a leak at an offshore Chevron drilling site, Brazil's environmental protection agency said Friday.

Officials think 200 to 330 barrels of oil leaked each day from Nov. 8 through Tuesday, the Ibama agency said in a statement on its website.

Chevron said 400 to 650 barrels of oil leaked into the ocean. Officials are investigating the exact cause of the leak, which has been almost entirely contained.

A spokesman for Brazil's federal police said Chevron "drilled about (1,640 feet) farther than they were licensed to do."

The leak occurred at a drilling site about 230 miles northeast of Rio de Janeiro.

Rio state Environment Minister Carlos Minc said the leak was larger than Chevron estimated.

"We can't trivialize this," he told the Globo TV network. "It's really serious, and we don't yet know the consequences."

The oil slick, which is moving away from the coast, grew to 11 miles, according to Ibama. Most of the oil is concentrated around the drilling rig and is about 3 feet thick.

Chevron said "current estimates place the volume of the oil sheen on the ocean surface to be less than 65 barrels."

The company, which has 18 ships working on a rotating basis to collect oil off the surface and monitor the slick, said cementing operations are taking place so that the well is plugged.

The drilling contractor for the well is Transocean — the owner of the Deepwater Horizon rig that BP was leasing at the time of last year's Gulf of Mexico oil spill.

UNITED NATIONS

UN resolution 'deplores' alleged plot

The U.N. General Assembly overwhelmingly approved a resolution Friday deploring the alleged plot to kill Saudi Arabia's ambassador to the United States and pointed a finger at Iran.

The 193-member world body didn't directly accuse Iran of involvement, but it called on the Islamic Republic to comply with international law requiring protection of diplomats and to cooperate in bringing to justice those responsible for the plot.

Last month, the United States said agents linked to Iran's powerful Revolutionary Guard were involved in a plot to kill Saudi Ambassador Adel al-Jubeir at a Washington restaurant. Charged in the incident were a U.S. citizen who holds an Iranian passport and an Iranian described as a member of the Revolutionary Guard, who is still at large.

Iran, which has vehemently denied any involvement and called the allegations "laughable," tried to have all references to the Islamic Republic removed from the Saudi-sponsored resolution. But it received support from fewer than a dozen countries, and its attempts to amend the draft were defeated.

The General Assembly then approved the resolution by a vote of 106-9, with 40 abstentions. Those joining Iran in voting "no" were Armenia, Bolivia, Cuba, North Korea, Ecuador, Nicaragua, Venezuela and Zambia.

U.S. Ambassador Susan Rice said the vote showed "Iran is increasingly isolated," and that none of the countries that joined Tehran in opposing the resolution was a predominantly Islamic or Arab nation.

NORWAY

Newspaper: Killer targeted politicians

STOCKHOLM — The right-wing extremist who killed dozens of teenagers in Norway told police he had planned to capture and execute leading Labor Party politicians whom he viewed as traitors, a newspaper reported Friday.

The Norwegian VG tabloid, citing leaked police interrogations with Anders Behring Breivik, reported that Breivik's aim was to kill former Norwegian Prime Minister Gro Harlem Brundtland, Foreign Minister Jonas Gahr Stoere or Eskil Pedersen, head of the Labor Party's youth wing.

But only Pedersen was present when Breivik arrived July 22 at the Labor Party youth camp after setting off a bomb that killed eight people in Oslo. Pedersen survived, but 69 other people were killed at the island camp.

The newspaper's account paints a picture of a determined killer who planned the attacks in minute detail and who became even more determined to carry out the massacre once he realized that the Oslo building didn't collapse.

VG said Breivik's plan was to take one of the party officials hostage at Utoya and read a death sentence before carrying out an execution.

Reviews of recently released films

"HAPPY FEET TWO" — The dancing, singing penguins are as adorable as ever. Yet a couple of shrimplike krill almost steal the show in this animated sequel that sticks to the formula of the original while adding enough variety to give it a life of its own. It helps to have Brad Pitt and Matt Damon voicing the krill with great companionability as they join a vocal cast that includes returning stars Elijah Wood and Robin Williams. Wood's tap-dancing penguin now is a dad dealing with a misfit, runaway son embarrassed over his own lack of rhythm. Director and co-writer George Miller, who handled the same chores on the 2006 Academy Award-winning first film, keeps the focus on penguins in peril while adding an interesting nature-in-perspective angle with the side journey of those tiny krill trying to find their place in a world of bigger, hungrier things. The sequel delivers the key ingredients that made its predecessor such a hit: lovable characters, a rich blend of pop tunes employed in showstopping song-and-dance numbers and remarkable Antarctic landscapes whose bleak beauty pops off the screen even more than in the original, thanks to some of the finest use of 3-D animation since the digital age brought an extra dimension to the screen. PG for some rude humor and mild peril. 99 minutes. Three stars out of four.

— David Germain
AP Movie Writer

"JACK AND JILL" — Very much like one of the faux Adam Sandler movies of Judd Apatow's "Funny People," "Jack and Jill" stars Sandler as both sides of male-female identical twins. A gleefully stupid movie more in line with Sandler's earlier comedies than his later, more adventurous films, it's like a joke trailer stretched into a feature film. Sandler plays Jack Sadelstein, a family man (Katie Holmes plays his wife) and TV commercial producer, whose twin sister (Sandler) visits for Thanksgiving. Sandler plays Jill as he might have for a "Saturday Night Live" sketch: She's less a real character than a walking punch line. Jill proves useful, though, because she's surprisingly fetching to a handful of men, most notably Al Pacino (as himself), whom Jack is trying to get to make a donut commercial. Pacino, chasing Jill with ga-ga eyes, gets most of the laughs. His commitment to character applies even to a movie such as this, where he's lovesick for Sandler in drag. PG for crude material including suggestive references and comic violence. 90 minutes. One and a half stars out of four.

— Jake Coyle
AP Entertainment Writer

"J. EDGAR" — A riveting, noble attempt by director Clint Eastwood, now 81, to wrestle with big American questions, many of which have obvious relevance to today's politics. It's another largely fascinating, if disappointingly flawed chapter in Eastwood's fantastic late period. "J. Edgar" is a biopic framed around longtime FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover (a thoroughly committed, engaging Leonardo DiCaprio) dictating his life's tale to various typists. This is Hoover's story, mainly told through his perspective — and therefore a somewhat claustrophobic view of history. R for brief strong language. 137 minutes. Three stars out of four.

Review: Beginning of the end in 'Twilight' saga's 'Breaking Dawn'

By Christy Lemire
AP Movie Critic

"Laughable" probably isn't the word the makers of "The Twilight Saga: Breaking Dawn — Part 1" were aiming for, but there it is: laughter, at all the wrong places.

The fourth movie in the freakishly popular girl-vamp-wolf love triangle series is so self-serious, it's hard not to cackle at it. The dialogue is, of course, ridiculous and the acting ranges from stiff to mopey. But moments that should be pulsating with tension are usually hilarious because the special effects are still just so distractingly cheesy.

This latest installment has yet another new director — Bill Condon, a man capable of both panache ("Dreamgirls") and serious artistry ("Gods and Monsters"), little of which you'll see here — and yet again, the werewolves look jarringly out of place with their surroundings. In a technological age in which Gollum from the "Lord of the Rings" movies blends in seamlessly with everyone and everything around him, how are such sloppy visual effects still possible? Adam Sandler played opposite himself more convincingly in "Jack and Jill."

But we digress, because other movies are more fun to discuss. "Breaking Dawn — Part 1," the first of two films adapted from the final book in Stephenie Meyer's series (with part two coming next year), serves as a placeholder for the ultimate finale but is jam-packed with developments in its own right. (Melissa Rosenberg once again wrote the adapted screenplay.) So much happens that you wonder, how can there be another entire film after this? Alas, there will be.

Part one begins with Bella Swan (Kristen Stewart) and her vampire beau, Edward Cullen (Robert Pattinson), marrying in a lavish, romantic outdoor ceremony. Bella's childhood best friend and the other man in the equation, werewolf Jacob Black (Taylor Lautner, barely recognizable with his shirt on), stops by as a gesture of goodwill. Guests mingle and dance and you have to wonder, do they realize that the groom and his entire family are the living dead? Do their eerie, porcelain complexions and glowing amber eyes betray them? The mind wanders.

Anyway, finally — finally! — Bella and Edward can have sex, the thing she has wanted all along but he has been reluctant to do for fear that deflowering her will, you know, kill her. Yes, the "Twilight" movies (and the books that inspired them) may be filled with swoony vampires and hunky werewolves, but they are firmly pro-abstinence — and, later, firmly anti-abortion.

This should be the happiest day of Bella's life but she is, of course, nervous and miserable in general. Because she's Bella; Stewart maintains her usual sullen look for most of the picture. After the ceremony, Edward whisks her away to a private island off the Brazilian coast to make sweet, sweet vampire love to her.

From here, "Breaking Dawn" devolves into a debate about what to do with this potentially dangerous hybrid spawn. Whether to keep it is never really in question, even though it's developing at an alarming rate, eating Bella up from the inside and threatening her very life. She waits for the baby to arrive and everyone else sits around discussing while Jacob's werewolf pals hover outside the Cullen clan's door, prepared to pounce. And talking — which, again, is meant to be ominous but instead comes off as just plain silly.

"The Twilight Saga: Breaking Dawn — Part 1" a Summit Entertainment release, is rated PG-13 for disturbing images, violence, sexuality/partial nudity and some thematic elements. Running time: 117 minutes. One and a half stars out of four.

Lacy's play bolsters's Mustang defense

By Len Hayward
Sports Editor

Landon Lacy also wanted to play defense.

But there were factors keeping Lacy from playing defensive back during his first three years at Midland Christian, most notably a four-year starter — Bryant Burleson — and one of the area's top players — Christian Whigham — playing in the back of the Mustangs defense.

Plus, Lacy was one of the Mustangs top receivers in 2010.

As the 2011 season was set to gear up in August, Lacy knew his opportunity would come on defense this season, but he was the one player without any significant experience playing in the defensive backfield.

Now, 12 weeks into the season, Lacy has become a key part of one of TAPPS Division II's top defenses and his presence has only added to a secondary with the ability to change a game.

Lacy and the Mustangs (9-2) will take on Austin Hyde Park (7-4) in a TAPPS Division II regional round game at 2 p.m. today at Memorial Stadium in Stephenville.

"Watching him improve has been awesome," said senior cornerback Mitch Brown. "He didn't seem like a defensive player before this year, and he wasn't a true defensive player before this year. But he's really taken that on so well."

Lacy's success this season in the defensive backfield has only bolstered the one part of Midland Christian's squad that had few, if any, question marks when the season began.

Three of the four starters from last year's secondary returned this season, including Brown and Layton Hargesheimer at the corners, and Whigham at safety.

Plus, the Mustangs received some added depth back there with the emergence of Odessa Permian transfer Richard Neboh, and senior Paul Figel has seen some time

Greenwood's Tony Navarez reacts after losing 47-22 to Shallowater Friday during the Class 3A Division II Area Playoff game at Wolf Stadium in Colorado City.

Shallowater's 'NASCAR' offense helps Mustangs past Rangers

By Oscar LeRoy
Sports Writer

COLORADO CITY — Koley King said Shallowater runs a version of the NASCAR offense where the goal is to tire the opponent out by running plays as fast as it can.

The Mustangs' hurry-up offense seemed to work especially well in the second half to gas Greenwood in their Class 3A Division II Area round playoff game played Friday night at Wolf Stadium.

"We just tired them out and tired them out. We just kept coming," King said. "We are conditioned with it because we practice it all the time."

King rushed for 257 yards and four touchdowns and the defense came up with three key turnovers in the second half to race past the Rangers 47-22.

Rangers	22

"He's stepped up all year," said Shallowater coach Kyle Maxfield about King. "Tonight it was big for us to make those long runs and big plays."

Shallowater (10-2) moves to the Regional round to play Snyder.

Greenwood ends its season at 7-5 after exceeding many preseason expectations.

Greenwood coach Shad Hanna said the Mustangs were big and tough on the offensive line and added his team got pushed around some. The Mustangs rushed for 454 total yards, including 138 coming from quarterback Brandon Hall.

"I thought we responded at times, but they got some big (plays) on us," Hanna said. "We dropped a few balls, and we couldn't get the running game established, and I think they hurt us a little bit. Their defensive line is big

Top-ranked Rankin falls to No. 5 Borden County

By Len Hayward
Sports Editor

PORSAN — There was little margin for error in Friday night's game between Borden County and Rankin in that one mistake or one break would make the difference between winning and losing.

Unfortunately for the Red Devils that break went against them late in the fourth quarter.

The Coyotes recovered a floating kickoff at the Rankin 20-yard line to ice a 36-32 victory with 1:19 remaining in a Six-Man Division I regional round in front of a capacity crowd at Buffalo Stadium.

The Coyotes' Austin Tyler recovered the kick and then Borden County ran out the clock and never gave Rankin a chance to come up with a game-winning score in a game that featured plenty of defense and few big plays.

"I told Cory (Norwood) to scoot up, but I didn't tell the upback if he saw it to fair catch it," Rankin coach Shannon Williams said. "That's my fault as a coach, and I knew the ball was going to hang up, and I just felt it."

Borden County will advance to play Ira, a winner over Water

Chargers blockers open path to TCAF state title game

By Len Hayward
Sports Editor

The Trinity football players call it "The Sled" and coach Chris Jauz calls it "Surge."

No matter the name, it's a blocking sled that has been a key reason the Chargers' running game is as effective this season as it's been during the time Trinity has been playing Six-Man football.

"It's helped a lot," junior lineman/receiver Taylor Cory said. "With the sled there is no give at all, and you get used to slamming into what is practically a brick wall and then the people feel much easier."

Trinity enters today's Texas Christian Athletic Fellowship Division I Championship against Lucas Christian Academy, which is scheduled for 4:30 p.m. at Gorilla Stadium in Trent, having rushed for 2,850 yards, which is more than 400 yards over last year's total.

Cory

Harrington

But the telling stat as to how well players such as Cory, Jackson Willingham and Brantley Harrington on the offensive line and fullback Weldon Boley have blocked this season is the touchdown total.

The Chargers have 61 total touchdowns this year rushing, and last year had 33. Alex Young, who had 21 rushing TDs in 2010, has 43 rushing touchdowns this season on nearly the same amount of carries.

"None of them are crazy about hitting on the surge," Jauz said. "But they take pride in it. Their job is to get Alex in the open field and let Alex do his thing."

Young has done plenty this season in the open field, but he knows as well as anyone that he wouldn't have had as much success this season without the guys blocking up front.

Jauz said nothing frustrates him more as a coach than to see players

Midland College's Kamilah Carter (5) drives to the basket as Chipola College's Kristine Brance and O'Neal Session defend Friday at Chaparral Center.

Lady Chaps beat Chipola despite early miscues

By Jonathan Hull
Sports Writer

Turnovers are an offense's worst enemy.

Ball handling mishaps plagued Midland College in the first half against Chipola College on Friday, but it was a problem the Lady Chaparrals found a solution for in the second half.

Lady Chaps	81
Lady Indians	71

The No. 4 Lady Chaps committed just two turnovers in the game's final 20 minutes, allowing them to rally from a 7-point halftime deficit to pull out an 81-71 victory against No. 9 Chipola College in the semifinals of the Midland College Women's National Invitational Tournament at Chaparral Center.

"We came out (in the second half) better on offense," MC sophomore Lindsay Ansley said. "We decreased our turnovers which led to more points. We came out ready to play. We didn't back up. As a team we know we have to pick it up. It's our house. We're not going let someone come in here and beat us."

The win puts the No. 4 Lady Chaps into the WNIT Championship at 7 p.m. today against No. 1 Trinity Valley Community College at Chaparral Center.

"That one is going to be pretty rough," Ansley said. "It's always a tough game with them. They never give up and neither to do we."

The Lady Chaps trailed 38-31 at halftime against Chipola after commiting 13 turnovers, which were converted into 16 points by the Lady Indians. That lead quickly evaporated when both teams returned to the floor.

Midland College opened the second half with a 10-1 run that gave the Lady Chaps their first lead since the 16:02 mark in the first half. Ansley started the run with a layup a little more than a minute into the second half. After Denaya Brazzle went 1-of-2 at the free

Stars sold to Canadian businessman

Associated Press

FRISCO — A Canadian businessman with Texas roots and lifelong love of hockey has purchased the Dallas Stars.

The Stars said Tom Gaglardi, president of Northland Properties Corp., will be introduced Monday at a news conference as the team's new owner. Terms were not disclosed Friday, after the NHL board of governors unanimously approved the deal. The Stars had signed an agreement in September to sell the team to the Vancouver businessman.

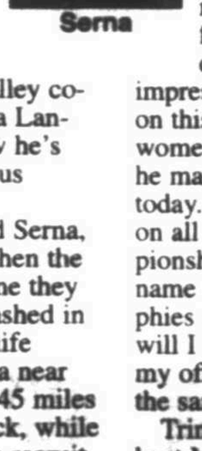
Gaglardi said Jim Lites will return as the team's president and CBO. He has held the position twice previously.

"I know the fans and the organization are relieved that this period of uncertainty is over," said Gaglardi. "The team has established a solid foundation, and I am looking forward to working with Jim Lites and Joe Nieuwendyk, who I have always admired and think is doing a superb job, to re-ignite fan enthusiasm for this club."

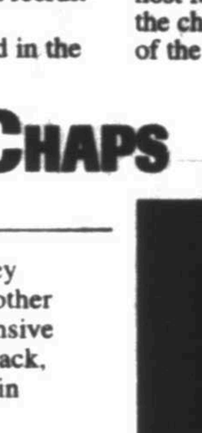
Crash victim former coach at Trinity Valley

By Jonathan Hull
Sports Writer

After the events that claimed the lives of Oklahoma State women's basketball coach Kurt Budke and his assistant Miranda Serna on Thursday, it was only appropriate Trinity Valley Community College was playing Central Arizona College on Friday.



Budke



Serna

It was probably only more appropriate that Trinity Valley won that game, 84-50, at the Midland College Women's National Invitational Tournament at Chaparral Center.

"I just know (Coach Budke) loved to beat Central Arizona more than anything," Trinity Valley co-head coach Kenya Landers said. "I know he's smiling down on us tonight."

Budke, 50, and Serna, 36, were killed when the single-engine plane they were flying in crashed in the Winona Wildlife Management Area near Perryville, about 45 miles west of Little Rock, while the two were on a recruiting trip.

Two others died in the crash, including pilot 82-year-old former Oklahoma state Sen. Olin Branstetter, and his 79-year-old wife, Paula.

Before he rebuilt the Oklahoma State women's basketball program, Budke cut his coaching teeth at Trinity Valley, leading the Lady Cardinals to six consecutive appearances in the national championship game, including four NJCAA national titles in that span. Landers played for Budke at Trinity Valley and also spent three seasons as one of his assistants at Oklahoma State.

She recalls Budke as being a "gentle giant."

"For a lot of years in my life, he was a father figure," Landers said. "His impressions that he left on this college and women's basketball team, he made it what it is today. You see his picture on all the national championship pictures and his name is on all the trophies in my office. Never will I be able to walk into my office again and feel the same way."

Trinity Valley plays host Midland College in the championship game of the WNIT at 7 p.m. today, which is just another appropriate circumstance as so many who were impacted by Budke remember him this weekend. Budke had an impact on the Midland College women's basketball program as well.

When Midland College coach Ron Jones was attempting to establish the program, Budke made it a point to play the Lady Chaps at least once a season, allowing Jones to form a relationship with a man he considers a coaching legend at the junior college ranks.

"He had four national championships. He was a great recruiter and a great coach," Jones recalled. "He's going to be missed. It almost doesn't feel real right now. You hear about it, and it's just hard to believe. But life is like that. It often reminds us how fragile it really is."

LADY CHAPS

throw line, Ansley answered at the other end with an offensive board and a putback, making it 39-35 in Chipola's favor.

The Lady Chaps scored the next six points with sophomore guard Danesha Long scoring two and freshman forward Achiri Ade putting up four straight, giving MC a 41-39 lead with 16:24 to play. The Lady Indians briefly retook the lead thanks to a 3-pointer by Kristine Brance, but Darnetta Jackson immediately responded with a driving layup, putting MC back on top 43-42. The Lady Chaps wouldn't trail again.

"We quit having as many bad possessions in the second half," MC coach Ron Jones said. "We had 13 turnovers in the first half and just two in the second. I would say that was definitely the biggest difference for us."

Chipola College managed to keep the game close throughout the second half with strong shooting. The Lady Indians made 10 3-pointers and kept within at least two-shot striking distance until the final minute of the game. Ayanna Colvin led the Lady Indians attack from long distance, scoring a game-high 19 points and connecting on 3-of-5 from beyond the arch.

"They shot it really well," Jones said. "We left a few of them open, but most of the time they just hit shots."

Chipola began intentionally fouling the Lady Chaps with 1:10 left in the game and MC responded by sinking 8-of-10 free throws in that span to ice the victory.

"That's what you're always practicing free throws for," said Long, who led the Lady Chaps with 12 points and seven rebounds. "We work on those kinds of situations everyday."

Iowa State stuns No. 2 Oklahoma State in 2OT

By Luke Meredith
Associated Press

Cyclones	37
Cowboys	31 (2OT)

AMES, Iowa — Backup running back Jeff Woody scored on a 4-yard run in the second overtime and Iowa State stunned second-ranked Oklahoma State 37-31 on Friday night, derailing the Cowboys' national title hopes.

The Cyclones (6-4, 3-4 Big 12) overcame a 17-point deficit to beat the Cowboys (10-1, 7-1 Big 12), who were just a win away from a showdown with rival Oklahoma for a likely spot in the BCS title game.

Oklahoma State quarterback Brandon Weeden's first pass in the second overtime was intercepted by Leonard Johnson. Woody ran for 6 and 15 yards, then bullied his way into the end zone to give the Cyclones their first victory over a top-five opponent in school history.

Weeden threw for 476 yards, but he had three interceptions as the Cowboys turned it over five times.

Oklahoma State was a 27-point favorite against the upstart Cyclones, who lost their first four Big 12 games. But the Cowboys let Iowa State hang around just long enough to beat them — and throw the national title picture into chaos.

Iowa State freshman quarterback Jared Barnett found James White for a 25-yard touchdown on the first play of extra time, but Weeden answered with a 6-yard TD pass to Josh Cooper.

Johnson's interception set up a thrilling finish for the Cyclones and coach Paul Rhoads, the defensive coordinator at Pittsburgh when it upset No. 2 West Virginia 13-9 in 2007.

Barnett finished with 376 yards passing and three TDs for Iowa State.

Oklahoma State stretched its lead to 24-7 less than 3 minutes into the second half and looked set to break it open as it usually does. Tracy Moore caught Weeden's pass in traffic and stumbled 30 yards for the touchdown.

That could have been it for Iowa State — but the Cyclones were far from finished.

Iowa State answered with a 32-yard TD run from White and recovered an onside kick with ease. Barnett fumbled it back to Oklahoma State, but the Cowboys fumbled it right back and Zach Guyer's 24-yard field goal made it 24-17 with 4:04 left in the third quarter.

Oklahoma State came in averaging 51.7 points a game, but it couldn't string together the drives that made Weeden a serious Heisman Trophy contender.

US takes control at Presidents Cup

By Doug Ferguson
Associated Press

MELBOURNE, Australia — Two perfect teams and a point for Tiger Woods.

That was all the Americans needed Saturday in the rain at Royal Melbourne to build a 11-6 lead in the Presidents Cup and put the International team in serious danger of falling too far behind to recapture the cup on home soil.

The Americans went 4-1 in the foursomes session, and tried to expand its lead in the afternoon fourballs. They were up in three matches early, though the International team was trying to rally. No team has ever trailed going into the 12 singles matches and won the Presidents Cup.

Woods played again with Dustin Johnson, and while it wasn't pretty, it was finally a point in their foursomes match.

They trailed early in the match until winning consecutive holes with pars as Adam Scott and K.J. Choi struggled. Woods and Johnson went 1 up on the 13th when the International team conceded before reaching the green, and the Americans went 2 up on the next hole after Scott and Choi made another bogey.

Woods closed out the match with a 20-foot birdie putt on the 16th.

"It was a day of patience," Woods said. "The weather was kind of iffy, the greens are another different speed. They've got some pretty good, little tricky pins. I felt Dustin and I were playing well. We just kept putting on the heat, and eventually one would fall."

In afternoon fourballs, Woods missed six putts inside 15 feet — one of them for eagle — as he and Johnson were all square against the South Korean duo of Y.E. Yang and K.T. Kim.

Phil Mickelson and Jim Furyk won four out of five holes on the back nine, and Mickelson polished off Aaron Baddeley and Jason Day by holing a 50-foot birdie putt on the 17th hole. Mickelson and Furyk won all three matches they played together.

"We turned it around," Mickelson said. "We fought hard and we ended up having a nice run on the back nine."

U.S. captain Fred Couples sat David Toms and Phil Mickelson in the afternoon session. Couples said Mickelson offered to sit if needed, and Couples said it would keep the four-time major champion fresh for the Sunday singles.

That ended a streak of 32 consecutive matches played at the Presidents Cup for Mickelson.

Furyk still had a chance to go 4-0. He and Nick Watney were 1 up at the turn in fourballs over Scott and Ernie Els.

Directions to the game: From Midland take Interstate 20 approximately 225 miles east to exit 370; at exit 370, take Texas 108 south about 23 miles into Stephenville; the stadium is on the corner of North Harbin Drive and West Sloan Street

Of note

■ Today's game is the second straight season the Mustangs have qualified for the regional round of the playoffs, but it's the first time Midland Christian has played Austin Hyde Park in 12 years. The last meeting between the teams was in the 1999 TAPPS 4A playoffs bi-district round, which Hyde Park won.

■ Midland Christian used a number of different formations last week against Trinity Christian-Cedar Hill, including one with five wide receivers and no backs, but continued to run with success out of the formations. Overall last weekend, the Mustangs rushed for 238 yards and averaged just over nine yards a carry. Christian Whigham had 212 yards on 17 carries with five touchdowns.

■ Meanwhile, the Mustangs' defense recorded its second shutout of the season against the Tigers and allowed 67 total yards.

■ The Panthers are a team that relies on its running game and defense to win games. Hyde Park iced last week's bi-district victory against Houston Second Baptist with a seven minute drive in the fourth quarter that yielded no points but kept Second Baptist from mounting a comeback. The Panthers had 179 yards rushing and 159 passing in the victory.

"After we stopped them we were almost able to run out the clock, and I think we gave it up with about seven seconds left," Hyde Park coach Dean Campbell said. "I'm kind of old school because I grew up around coaches that believed in running the football, playing good defense and having a solid kicking game. We put our emphasis there. We feel like we have a better chance in a 14-10 game than in a 48-46 game."

■ Campbell is a coaching veteran who is in his second year at the Austin private school. Campbell spent much of the past 20 years coaching in college with stops at places such as Texas Tech and Arkansas.

■ Dustin Quigley leads the Panthers in rushing this season with 679 yards on 146 carries with 11 touchdowns, and Kyle Cook is second with 402 yards on 51 carries. ... Davon Henry is a solid two-way player that has 407 yards receiving on 19 catches this season.

■ With one touchdown today, Whigham can break the school record for touchdowns in a single season.

Next: Winner will play either Tyler Grace Community or Houston Northland Christian in TAPPS Division II state semifinal; if MCS wins, the game is scheduled for 2 p.m. Nov. 26 at Bearcat Stadium in Aledo

Key injuries: None reported for either team
Weather forecast: Partly cloudy with a high around 80 degrees with winds between 15-25 mph out of the South-Southwest
Directions to the game: From Midland take Interstate 20 to exit 261 and go back to the west on the access road, and stadium is on the right

Of note

■ The Chargers garnered their second straight mercy-rule victory in the TCAF playoffs last week against Dallas Academy. The Chargers rolled up 341 yards in two quarters with 233 yards coming on the ground.

■ Alex Young had another big game running the ball as the senior rushed for 113 yards on nine carries, and scored three touchdowns. Young has rushed for 1,959 yards on 148 carries with 43 touchdowns this season. He is averaging just over 13 yards a carry this season.

■ Lucas beat Trinity last year in the TCAF playoffs and this game has been one that the Chargers have been looking forward to all season long.

"It was a tough loss last year, and we are hungry and excited for the game," Trinity senior Jackson Willingham said.

■ Lucas comes in as the TCAF Division I runner-up and has scored more than 49 points in all 12 games this season. The Warriors' only loss this season was a 71-68 setback against Azle Christian on Oct. 21. Unlike Trinity, Lucas has played a schedule that is filled exclusively with private schools.

■ Brooks Creech is the Warriors' top passer this season with 1,309 yards and 31 touchdowns. Creech also has 446 yards rushing and seven touchdowns. Layman is the team's top rusher with 779 yards on 63 carries with 17 touchdowns.

■ Jauz said that Lucas is a combination of Grady and Fort Davis when it comes to offense, and he also expects them to line up in more spread during the game. Jauz said they are expecting Lucas to score, but added that if his squad can hold them to under 50 points the Chargers should have a chance to win the game.

"I think it's going to be up and down, and even if one team gets up, both teams have the ability to score quick," Jauz said. "The fourth quarter is going to come down to the last minute of the game."

Next: Season is complete for both teams.

MUSTANGS

filling in for injured players.

It's a good situation that defensive backs coach Kenneth Hines stepped into this season, which is his first at Midland Christian after coaching at Lee last year.

Hines said the group has had another year in defensive coordinator Mike Munguia's system, and that shows as players such as Lacy have fit right in, and it's made his job that much easier.

"We are going to make some tweaks each week, but they are not having to think about it," Hines said. "They are just having to line up and go out and play."

Hargesheimer and Lacy are among the Mustangs top five in tackles as Hargesheimer has 57 this season and Lacy 54. The pair have been big in passing situations as well as Hargesheimer has 11 pass break-ups this season and Lacy 10.

But even with those numbers, the defensive backfield still faced some questions about how effective it could be against teams that throw the ball on a consistent basis.

Many of the Mustangs' opponents season have been run-heavy teams, but it was against Arlington Grace Prep when Midland Christian's defensive backs felt they turned a corner.

The Lions scored on their opening possession, which included allowing a 42-yard pass and then again in the second quarter on a 50-yard TD pass. Needless to say that offered some frustrating times, but through the rest of the third and fourth quarter, the Mustangs virtually shut down Grace Prep's passing game while the MCS offense rolled up points.

MCS gave up 92 yards on two plays and then allowed 191 yards on 25 other completions the rest of the night.

"We knew we have a chance to be one of the best secondaries in the state and we wanted to prove that, and we didn't get to play many passing teams," Lacy said.

"Against Grace Prep, it was a chance to step up and show that we could play and prove that we were one of the best."

Now with some questions answered, the Mustangs defensive backs want to finish the season with a state championship.

"We are all on the same page and looking at ourselves on film from last year ... it's incredible how we've improved," Brown said. "Last year we thought we were good, but there's a really big difference this year. We are comfortable with what we are supposed to do."

RANGERS

and physical."

Greenwood quarterback Kam Williams led the Rangers with 253 yards on 20-of-39 passing with three touchdowns and one interception to go with 103 yards rushing on 15 carries.

But other than that, it was tough for the Rangers to keep up with the Mustangs.

"Defensively, it seemed like we had a bend but don't break attitude," Maxfield said. "They big-played us some, but we held when we had to."

The big blow for the Rangers came in the third quarter. Shallowater took a 14-7 halftime lead but got the momentum with 20 unanswered points to begin the second half.

King began the third quarter with a bang as he broke loose for a 71-yard touchdown run.

Disaster then struck for Greenwood on back-to-back drives.

First, Jareck Black intercepted a Williams pass and returned it 28 yards to the Ranger 10. Two plays later, Black scored one of his three touchdowns from 5 yards out to give the Mustangs a 28-6 lead.

Then two plays into the Rangers next drive, the Mustangs forced Williams to fumble the ball at midfield after a 22-yard gain. King then later scored on a 5-yard run to give the Mustangs a commanding 34-6 lead midway through the third quarter.

"Take out that third quarter and it's a lot closer ballgame," Hanna said. "I was proud of my guys because they continued to fight. I like that attitude but it's tough to do it when you're (28 points) behind."

Added King about that big third quarter, "Our offense started settling down and got comfortable with running the ball and making plays. We just knew what we had to do."

Greenwood did not give up without a fight as Williams found Sullivan for a 44-yard touchdown pass on the ensuing possession and cut it to 34-14 after a 2-point conversion pass from Williams to Jacob Armitage.

But that was as close as Greenwood got, as Black and King added touchdown runs of 9 and 23 yards respectively to in the fourth quarter to ice the game.

"They're a (really) good football team," said Armitage, who finished with two TD receptions and a pair of 2-point conversions. "They did exactly what they expected to and executed well. That third quarter was tough, with fatigue especially. They're a physical football team and they did a good job of wearing us down, but we never quit, no matter how tired we got. I'm proud of my team, though."

RANKIN

From 1B

Valley on Friday, in a Six-Man Division I State Quarterfinal at a time, date and place to be determined.

Rankin finished its season at 9-3.

The Coyotes scored what turned out to be the game-winning TD on a 1-yard plunge by Quinton Shafer with 1:19 to play for a 36-32 Coyote advantage. That seemed like plenty of time for the Red Devils.

But on the fateful kickoff, Borden County kicker Helio Rosales' kick just hung in the air against a stiff south wind and no Rankin player was around it but Tyler. Tyler caught the ball on one hop at the 20.

"At first I really didn't think I had a shot at it, but I just kept running my hardest," Tyler said. "The ball just kind of landed right in front of me."

The Coyotes ran out the rest of the clock for the victory and the first time it has advanced out of the second round of the playoffs since winning a state title in 2009.

Meanwhile, Rankin finishes its season in the second round for the second consecutive season.

"We made some mistakes and that's what hurt us the most," Norwood said. "It was the game we expected, and we knew they were a good football team. It's real disappointing just knowing our season is ended."

The recovered kickoff ended a back-and-forth contest between two of the best Six-Man teams in the state, and for the first half defense ruled. Each team scored a touchdown in the second period as Norwood scored on a 1-yard run and Borden County's Tanner Richey scored on a 19-yard scamper.

Rankin had a shot at another score in the second period, but a fourth down pass from Dalton Michum to Norwood was dropped, and it was a play that Williams would look back on as one of a handful of missed opportunities.

In the second half, though, both teams found their groove and began trading scores with Borden County striking first. Austin Fields scored on a 34-yard run, which was the first play from scrimmage in the second half.

Other than that run by Fields, though, both defenses made each team work for their scores on Friday.

Norwood scored two touchdowns in the second half as his first score in the third quarter ended a 7-play drive and his second was a 4-yard run, capping an impressive 12-play, 60-yard march.

Fields, who rushed for 175 yards on 20 carries, ended two long drives for the Coyotes, one with a 20-yard run after a seven-play drive in the third quarter, and an 8-yard scamper ending an eight-play drive midway through the fourth quarter.

After Fields' final score, the Red Devils put together their quickest drive of the night as Ryan Thomas scored on a 1-yard run that capped a four-play drive with 2:47 remaining and Taylor Thompson added the point after kick for a 32-28 Red Devil lead.

"Our defense played great, and our worst defensive series we had was the last one, which might have been a blessing for us," Borden County coach Trey Richey said. "It might have been a blessing for us to let them score so quick because we came down and got one."

Birthday gift of bunny may flop without parents' OK

DEAR ABBY

Write Dear Abby at www.DearAbby.com or P.O. Box 69440, Los Angeles, CA 90069. Her column is distributed by Universal Press Syndicate.

DEAR ABBY: My dad and I raise rabbits. My friend "Zoe" has always wanted one. Recently one of our rabbits had a litter, and Zoe fell in love with one in particular. Her birthday is coming soon, and I'm thinking about giving her this rabbit as a present. I would also include several days' worth of food.

My problem is, I don't know if I would be imposing on her parents. Should I ask them first? And do you think I should also include a cage? — KENTUCKY BUNNY-LOVER

DEAR BUNNY-LOVER: You should never give a live animal as a gift unless you're positive that the creature will be welcomed and have a good home. That's why it's important to get the approval of Zoe's parents before giving her the rabbit. Be sure the family knows everything they need to about successfully raising a rabbit, including its behavior and the space requirements for exercise. You'll be doing them — and the bunny — a favor if you do. If Zoe's parents approve of the gift, it would be generous to include the cage.

DEAR ABBY: I'm a 14-year-old guy. I have been growing my hair out for a long time, and my bangs are now down to my nose. It looks and feels really cool.

My problem is, now that I'm in high school, adults get on my case about my hair. I can hardly go one day without some teacher yelling at me to "get your hair out of your eyes!" I flip it to the side, but they still seem annoyed.

I'm tired of hearing about it. One day, five different teachers all got mad about it. What can I say to stop people from freaking out over my hair? — JOSH IN MICHIGAN

DEAR JOSH: Is this the only problem you're having with the teachers? Their concern may be that your hair is now so long you can no longer see the blackboard. And because they can't see your eyes, they may be unable to gauge whether you're "getting" the lesson they're trying to convey.

While you and I may think that what's inside your head is more important than what's on it, if several teachers have been commenting on your hair, it's time to do something about it.

DEAR ABBY: From time to time you have printed letters in your column from people who don't know what to do with their lives. I'm an intelligent woman in my mid-20s. I did well in high school, quickly selected a major in college, excelled there, graduated and found a job in my field. I worked for three years, and then I was let go. As you can imagine, I was devastated. My plans for my life had fallen through.

That was several months ago. Since then, I have taken time to explore other options and interests. I may even head back to school, something I have wanted to do because I love to learn. I have also focused more on my social life and am in the first serious romantic relationship of my life.

To those of your readers who are unsure: Understand that life doesn't always go according to plan, but there is nothing wrong with that. — MOVING ON IN UTAH

DEAR MOVING ON: I agree — you are an intelligent young woman, and an emotionally healthy one as well. You have been able to recognize the positive in what many people consider a negative situation. Your letter illustrates that when one door closes, another one opens. Your attitude will serve you well in life.

JACQUELINE BIGAR'S STARS

The stars show the kind of day you'll have: 5-dynamic; 4-positive; 3-average; 2-so-so; 1-difficult

HAPPY BIRTHDAY for Saturday, Nov. 19, 2011:

Use wisdom in expressing your anger. Don't hold it in, but also don't blast others away. Express your hurt before it turns into anger. A more evolved communication style could transform many of your relationships. If you are single, a relationship is most likely to develop through a friend or a hobby. If you are attached, the two of you need to share a new goal or major interest. The process alone will add to your relationship. VIRGO can be picky.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) ★★★★ You are always happy to be of service to others. It seems natural to you to lead. More than lead, look toward accomplishment. Be willing to transform a difficult situation that could be absorbing too much of your energy. Tonight: Make it easy.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) ★★★★★ Your creativity opens up to new possibilities. Allow your imagination to play a role in plans. Go a little off the beaten path. A change of environment, even for several hours, can rejuvenate your body and mind. Don't hesitate to hop in the car for a drive. Tonight: Let your mind be entertained.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) ★★★ While others get "heavy," you try to understand what is happening. A partner is changing. Don't give up on him or her. Trust your instincts on a personal matter. Recognize the importance of attaching significance to an object or situation. It is up to you. Tonight: Happy at home.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) ★★★★★ Take a hint from Gemini. Yes, someone might be difficult and controlling, yet that same person could be trying to break this pattern. A discussion helps both of you relax and understand what is happening. Keep your sarcasm in check. Tonight: Visit with friends.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) ★★★★ Your strong drive carries you over a financial hurdle. You know the right answers and can handle nearly any situation. You also might want to adapt to a changing budget and different needs. In fact, you must adapt. Tonight: Living it up.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) ★★★★ You are full of fun and enjoy wherever you are. Stay light and easy when dealing with others. A little laughter goes much further than a serious talk. Your ability to enjoy life and be in the moment comes out, helping others move out of the doldrums. Tonight: Whatever knocks your socks off.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) ★★★ You don't like being a backseat driver. Make it a point to move forward and deal with a situation directly. Choose the path of observation and thought if you're unsure. The situation will change before you know it. Tonight: Not to be found.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) ★★★★ You could be far more direct. In a group of friends, what might be said in jest could carry a lot of legitimate concerns. Surround yourself with favorite people and pursue a hobby or event that you love. Observe different styles of communication. Tonight: In the moment.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) ★★★★ You might want to open up to a different idea. You are not sure you will enjoy it, but you will know nothing until you participate. You are in the process of reviving your thinking about what you like and want to offer. You could be surprised. Tonight: Stay cool.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) ★★★★★ You will drift away mentally. No matter what, staying present in the here and now could be hard. Perhaps you need a day where your mind lets go and your thoughts float from one topic to the next. Tonight: Not anything humdrum.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) ★★★★★ Plan on spending a day with a special person. This person might have disappointed you or has changed his or her tune. Don't worry — make the adjustment; let go of your fears. You will find that when you let go, the other person has a change of heart. Tonight: Let someone else draw you in.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) ★★★★ You could find a partner still demanding and a little pushy. Take off for a walk. Enjoy yourself. You will be better off and more adept at dealing with difficult people. A friendship could be changing. Tonight: Flow with plans.

SMU's Jones sees a lot of Rodgers in Keenum

By Chris Duncan
Associated Press

SMU at No. 11 Houston

- When: 2:30 p.m. today
- Where: Robertson Field, Houston
- TV: Fox Sports Southwest

HOUSTON — SMU coach June Jones sees a lot of another quarterback in Houston's Case Keenum, just not the one you'd expect.

When he coached Hawaii, Jones helped Tim Chang become the NCAA's career leader in total offense and passing yards. Keenum has eclipsed Chang's records — and several others — while guiding No. 11 Houston (10-0, 6-0 Conference USA) to the best start in program history.

Jones and the Mustangs (6-4, 4-2) will face Keenum and the Cougars' top-ranked offense today at Robertson Stadium. As he's watched Keenum pick apart defenses this season, Jones is reminded not of Chang, but more of Green Bay Packers quarterback Aaron Rodgers.

"Their quarterback knows where to put the ball similar to what you watch with Rodgers on film," Jones said. "A guy can be covered and he knows where to throw the ball and their receivers make plays for them."

Jones and Chang used the old run-and-shoot offense that Houston ran in the late 1980s and early 1990s. The Cougars are running a slightly different spread offense and putting up historic numbers.

Houston is averaging 629 yards per game, currently the most of any team in Football Bowl Subdivision history. The Cougars also are putting up 54.7 points per game, second only to the undefeated 1944 Army squad (56 points per game) that won the national championship.

"They're probably one of the most productive teams I've looked at on film as far as moving the football," Jones said.

Despite collecting video-game statistics, the Cougars have largely flown under the national radar this year because of limited television exposure. The program will get its long-awaited turn in the spotlight on Saturday morning, with ESPN's popular "Gameday" program setting up shop on campus for the first time.

"For our university it is fantastic," coach Kevin Sumlin said. "Not just for football, but for our city. It is a window to the world for the University of Houston. It is great, especially for recruiting. It validates what we are trying to do."

Can Klein be stopped?

Rolling Wildcats take on Texas today in Austin

No. 16 Kansas State at Texas

- When: 7 p.m. today
- Where: Darrell K. Royal-Texas Memorial Stadium, Austin
- TV: FX

AUSTIN — Texas already knew what the rest of the Big 12 had to find out: Kansas State quarterback Collin Klein is tough to tackle and nearly impossible to keep out of the end zone.

Klein got a surprise starting call shortly before Longhorns and Wildcats met last season and rushed for 127 yards and two touchdowns in a 39-14 Kansas State romp.

The teams meet again tonight, and Texas (6-3, 3-3 Big 12) certainly remembers last season's loss to Klein and the No. 16 Wildcats (8-2, 5-2).

"It's been embarrassing to see all year," Texas safety Blake Gideon said. "For somebody to get behind blockers and just run it down your throat the whole night, that's the biggest slap in the face to any defensive player."

Klein has been doing that all across the Big 12 this year. His 24 rushing touchdowns lead the nation and he needs just three more to tie Texas running back Ricky Williams for the Big 12 season record set in 1998.

Klein averages 101 yards rushing, ranking second in the conference. He ran for five touchdowns and passed for another last week in a thrilling overtime win over Texas A&M.

Even down near the goal line, when everyone on the field, in the stadium and watching on television knows he's going to run, he gets to the end zone. And a quarterback who is willing to duck his head in the trenches is fun to block for.

"When it gets to that point, it's pretty much lay your ears back and play smash-mouth football," Wildcats center B.J. Finney said.

"You're going to try and hit the guy as hard as you can and get him moved out of the way. There's really not anything fancy about it," he said.

Several Texas players compared Klein to former Florida quarterback Tim Tebow, yet all Longhorns linebacker Jordan Hicks sees is a quarterback he can hit.

"We've got to hammer him," Hicks said. "We always want to hit the quarterback."

Hicks only had one tackle against the Wildcats last season so he may not know how tough it can be to bring Klein down. Teams have been bashing Klein every chance they get but he keeps getting up and keeps scoring.

"There are no words to explain Collin," Kansas State wide receiver Tramaine Thompson said. "He is our leader and is very tough."

McMurry seniors relish opportunity in D-III playoffs

NCAA Division III Playoffs McMurry at Trinity

- When: Noon today
- Where: Trinity Stadium, San Antonio

ABILENE — For 12 seniors on the McMurry University football team, receiving a bid to the NCAA Division III playoffs was almost unthinkable three years ago.

Back in 2008, McMurry was just trying to win a game. It didn't.

Still without nickname or mascot after being pressured by the NCAA to drop Indians in 2006, McMurry went 0-10 in 2008, part of a losing streak that reached 17 games. The season was part of a nine-year stretch in which McMurry finished no better than 5-5.

"My freshman year was rough," said offensive lineman Bertrick Ervin, one of the dozen seniors still with the program from 2008. "The only thing that got me through it was the fact that I was on the field playing."

Things have changed dramatically in three seasons under head coach Hal Mumme, who came to McMurry after Division I stints at Kentucky and New Mexico State. The program has posted a 18-12 record over the last three years, going 8-2 this season for the best record since 1998. A 6-4 mark in 2010 was the program's first winning record since 2000.

The War Hawks get a chance to continue their run at noon today when they visit Trinity in the first round of the playoffs. In getting there, McMurry has won seven in a row, finishing second in the American Southwest Conference, and gained its first national ranking as an NCAA member (No. 19 by D3football.com, No. 22 by the American Football Coaches Association).

"It's been an experience, I'll tell you that," linebacker Nick Hernandez said. "I'd never been a part of a winning program. Since Coach Mumme has been here, it's just translated to everybody.

"This year, I feel like we've just come together as a team so well. It seems like everybody's got each other's back. It's the first time I've ever been a part of a team like that and it's real enjoyable to have everybody there for you like that."

Ervin said Mumme's hiring in April 2009 was definitely a turning point for the program.

"You could just feel the whole atmosphere of the program change," Ervin said. "Even those first few games we lost, they were close games and we felt like we were in it.

"Now, football players get way more respect than they used to. At the beginning, it was like, 'why do you play football?'"

Ervin's sentiment was shared by others in the group that has played its entire college career at McMurry.

"When Coach Mumme came in, he brought in a good coaching staff," tight end Delfonte Diamond said. "They taught us every technique, that we could rise above adversity and all that. It's been a real tough road to overcome it all."

Said safety Jimmy Terrell: "When coach

Texas/Big 12

NO. 5 OKLAHOMA (9-1, 5-1 BIG 12) AT NO. 25 BAYLOR (8-3, 3-3), 7 P.M. (ABC)
LINE: Oklahoma by 15 1/2.
SERIES RECORD: Oklahoma leads 20-0.

WHAT'S AT STAKE: With the potential of a regular season-ending game against No. 2 Oklahoma State for the Big 12's automatic BCS berth, the Sooners have to stay on track. They have won nine consecutive games away from home, and have never lost to Baylor. The Bears, already bowl eligible, have recovered from a three-game losing streak with consecutive wins and are trying to match last year's win total that was their most in the Big 12 era.

KEY MATCHUP: Oklahoma QB Landry Jones vs. Baylor QB Robert Griffin. The duo are the Big 12's most prolific offensive players. Griffin is second in the nation averaging 397 total yards per game, while Jones is third with 375 yards. Jones leads the Big 12 with 372 yards passing a game (third with 28 TDs), while Griffin is the best in pass efficiency with 3,093 yards, 29 touchdowns and only five interceptions.

NO. 11 HOUSTON (10-0, 6-0 USA) VS. SMU (6-4, 4-2), 2:30 P.M., FSN
LINE: Houston by 20
SERIES RECORD: Houston leads 16-9-1

WHAT'S AT STAKE: Houston continues the best start in school history and can secure the program's third 11-win season. The Cougars currently are ranked 11th in the Bowl Championship Series standings and need to keep piling up lopsided victories to enhance their chances of landing a berth. The Cougars are also on pace to become the NCAA's most prolific offense, currently averaging 629 yards per game. The Mustangs are seeking their first win over a top-10 team since a 7-3 victory over No. 6 Pittsburgh in the 1983 Cotton Bowl.

KEY MATCHUP: Houston QB Case Keenum vs. SMU defense. Keenum has thrown 23 touchdown passes in his last five games, and he's completed 74 percent of his throws this season. But SMU's defense is a cut above the ones Keenum has been dissecting over the past month, ranking 33rd nationally (345.2 yards per game) and 44th in points allowed (23.3 per game).

NO. 16 KANSAS STATE (9-2, 5-2 BIG 12) AT TEXAS (8-3, 3-3), 7 P.M. (FX)
LINE: Texas by 8 1/2.
SERIES RECORD: Kansas State leads 6-5

WHAT'S AT STAKE: This game is all about bowl position. Kansas State can still be for the Big 12 title but would lose out on a BCS berth because of a tiebreaker, leaving the Wildcats and Longhorns just trying to get to the best bowl they can. Kansas State has won three in a row over Texas; a fourth could seriously wound a Longhorns team that was brimming with confidence two weeks ago.

KEY MATCHUP: Kansas State QB Collin Klein vs. Texas LB Emmanuel Acho. Klein has been a touchdown machine using his legs to power Kansas State's rushing attack. Acho is Texas' leading tackle and is coming off a dominant performance against Missouri. Klein and Acho figure to meet often, and whether it's at the line of scrimmage or 5 yards downfield likely will say a lot about which team wins. The Longhorns rank 10th nationally against the run.

NO. 19 TCU (8-2, 5-0 MWC) VS. COLORADO ST. (3-6, 1-3), 2:30 P.M. (VERSUS) LINE: TCU by 33 1/2.
SERIES RECORD: TCU leads 7-1.

WHAT'S AT STAKE: TCU, back in the Top 25 after its victory at Boise State, can clinch at least a share of its third consecutive MWC title. The Horned Frogs have won a record 22 consecutive Mountain West games since 2008 and have only two games left in that league before moving to the Big 12. The Frogs have won seven in a row in the series against Colorado State, which has lost 10 starters to injuries this season and has a five-game losing streak.

KEY MATCHUP: Colorado State RB Chris Nwoke vs. TCU defense. Nwoke has rushed for 491 yards (7.1 yards per carry) over the past three games since becoming the starter. The sophomore ran for 232 yards last week against San Diego State. TCU is the league's top rushing defense, allowing only 124 yards per game, but has allowed three individual 100-yard rushers this season.

TEXAS TECH (5-5, 2-5 BIG 12) AT MISSOURI (5-5, 3-4), 2:30 P.M. (ABC)
LINE: Missouri by 18
SERIES RECORD: Missouri leads 5-3
LAST MEETING: 2010, Texas Tech 24-17

WHAT'S AT STAKE: Bowl eligibility is on the line for both teams. The Red Raiders are looking to stem a bad stretch, having lost five of their last six, including three straight blowout losses since beating then-No. 3 Oklahoma last month. The Tigers are looking for back-to-back wins after alternating wins and losses their last six games.

KEY MATCHUP: James Franklin vs. Texas Tech defense. Franklin is like other quarterbacks who have given the Red Raiders fits. He's mobile and can throw. Tech's total defense is the eighth worst in the nation, giving up 472 yards per game. Franklin is 60th nationally in the rush (64.2 ypg) and 36th in passing yards per game (239 ypg).

TULSA (7-3, 6-0 C-USA) AT UTEP (5-5, 3-4), 2 P.M. (CBS SPORTS NETWORK)
LINE: Tulsa by 13 1/2.
SERIES RECORD: Tulsa leads 11-8
LAST MEETING: 2010, Tulsa 31-28

WHAT'S AT STAKE: The Golden Hurricane are trying to keep pace with Houston in the West Division, with a home game against the undefeated and nationally ranked Cougars looming next week. The Miners haven't lost to Tulsa at home since 2003 and could take a huge step toward their second straight bowl berth with an upset.

KEY MATCHUP: Tulsa offense vs. UTEP defense. The Golden Hurricane rank in the top 50 nationally in total offense, rushing offense, scoring offense and passing efficiency. The Miners are only two weeks removed from allowing 671 yards in a 41-37 loss to Rice, but they bounced back by giving up a season-low 254 yards in a 22-17 win over East Carolina.

TULANE (2-9, 1-6 C-USA) AT RICE (3-7, 2-4), 2:30 P.M.
LINE: Rice by 13 1/2
SERIES RECORD: Rice leads 17-15-1
LAST MEETING: 2010, Rice 54-49

WHAT'S AT STAKE: The Green Wave are trying to snap an eight-game losing streak. Even if they don't, they can look forward spending Thanksgiving in Hawaii for the finale against the Warriors. The Owls are also out of the running for a bowl bid, and are only trying to win their final home game.

KEY MATCHUP: Rice offense vs. Tulane defense. The Owls scored 75 points in two games before losing 28-6 at Northwestern last weekend. They should be able to put up another big number against the Green Wave's 118th-ranked defense, which has given up 45 points per game during the team's nosedive. Tulane allowed 735 yards in a 73-17 loss to Houston last week.

WESTERN KENTUCKY (5-5, 5-1 SUN BELT) AT NORTH TEXAS (4-6, 3-3), 6 P.M. (SUN BELT NETWORK)
LINE: Western Kentucky by 3
SERIES RECORD: North Texas leads 4-0
LAST MEETING: 2010, North Texas 33-6

WHAT'S AT STAKE: A week after going out of conference in a 42-9 loss to No. 1 LSU, Western Kentucky is trying to get bowl eligible for the first time since become a full-fledged FBS member in 2009. North Texas, which has won its last three games in its new stadium, plays its final two games at home and could get bowl eligible by winning both.

KEY MATCHUP: The running backs. Western Kentucky's Bobby Rainey is second among active FBS rushers with 4,101 career yards, while North Texas' Lance Dunbar is No. 3 at 3,909 yards. Rainey is the Sun Belt's leading rusher this season with 1,254 yards and nine touchdowns, while Dunbar is fourth with 788 yards.

Top 25

NO. 1 LSU (10-0, 6-0 SEC) VS. MISSISSIPPI (2-8, 0-6 SEC), 6 P.M. (ESPN)
LINE: LSU by 30 1/2
SERIES RECORD: LSU leads 56-39-4
WHAT'S AT STAKE: Top-ranked LSU continues its march toward a Western Division title and the SEC championship game in Atlanta. This figures to be a tune-up for the Tigers, who still must face No. 6 Arkansas in the regular-season finale. Mississippi has been a mess all season, especially since it announced coach Houston Nutt would not return for his fifth season. The Rebels could use any sort of momentum heading into what promises to be an eventful offseason.

NO. 3 ALABAMA (9-1, 6-1 SEC) VS. GEORGIA SOUTHERN (9-1, 7-1 SOUTHERN), 1 P.M. (PPV)
LINE: N/A.
SERIES RECORD: First meeting.
WHAT'S AT STAKE: Sure, there's always a sliver of hope for FCS Georgia Southern to pull off a monumental upset or even keep it tight for awhile. Alabama presumably will use the week to let injured players such as LT Barrett Jones and WR Darius Hanks heal before the Auburn game.

NO. 4 OREGON (9-1, 7-0 PAC-12) VS. NO. 18 USC (8-2, 5-2) AT 7 P.M. (ABC)
LINE: Oregon by 14 1/2.
SERIES RECORD: USC leads 37-18-2.
WHAT'S AT STAKE: With a win Oregon can clinch the North Division for a berth in the first Pac-12 championship game, new this year with league expansion. The Ducks own a 21-game winning streak at Autzen Stadium, longest in the nation after Boise State fell at home to TCU last week. Oregon also has won 19 straight conference games. The Trojans have not won in the state of Oregon since 2005.

NO. 6 ARKANSAS (9-1, 5-1 SEC) VS. MISSISSIPPI STATE (5-5, 1-5) AT LITTLE ROCK, ARK., 2:30 P.M. (CBS)
LINE: Arkansas by 13
SERIES RECORD: Arkansas leads 14-6-1
WHAT'S AT STAKE: Losses last week by Stanford and Boise State ever so slightly opened a crack in the national-championship door for Arkansas. The Razorbacks still need plenty of outside help to even have a chance, but they'll get to make their case next week at No. 1 LSU. First Arkansas must add to its six-game winning streak against Mississippi St. The Bulldogs haven't lost three games against the spread the SEC has to offer, but they need only one more win — either against the Razorbacks or in the regular-season finale against rival Mississippi — to become bowl eligible for the second straight year.

NO. 7 CLEMSON (9-1, 6-1 ACC) AT NORTH CAROLINA STATE (6-5, 2-4), 2:30 P.M. (ABC)
LINE: Clemson by 7 1/2
SERIES RECORD: Clemson leads 51-27-1

WHAT'S AT STAKE: The Tigers, who already have clinched a spot in the ACC title game, have little to gain in their league finale except a little momentum heading into next week's instate rivalry game against South Carolina. N.C. State's position is more dire: A loss would eliminate them from bowl consideration for the third time in five years under Tom O'Brien.

NO. 8 STANFORD (9-1, 7-1 PAC-12) VS. CALIFORNIA (8-4, 5-4), 9:15 P.M. (ESPN)
LINE: Stanford by 18 1/2.
SERIES RECORD: Stanford leads 56-46-11.

WHAT'S AT STAKE: Stanford looks to bounce back from a loss to Oregon that ended the Cardinal's hopes of playing in the BCS title game. Stanford likely can't afford another slip-up if it wants to make it back a BCS game. A week after becoming bowl eligible, California looks to win back the Axe and improve its bowl slot.

NO. 10 BOISE STATE (9-1, 3-1 MOUNTAIN WEST) AT SAN DIEGO STATE (6-3, 3-2), 7 P.M. (CBS SPORTS NETWORK)
LINE: Boise State by 18.
SERIES RECORD: First meeting.
WHAT'S AT STAKE: Boise State looks to bounce back from its first loss of the season, 36-35 to TCU, and finish with a 6-0 road record. San Diego State is trying to remain in the hunt for one of the MWC's four bowl berths.

NO. 12 MICHIGAN STATE (9-2, 5-1 BIG TEN) VS. INDIANA (1-9, 0-6), 11:01 A.M. (BIG TEN NETWORK)
LINE: Michigan State by 28.
SERIES RECORD: Michigan State leads 40-15-2.

WHAT'S AT STAKE: Michigan State leads the Legends Division by a game and can clinch a spot in the inaugural Big Ten championship game with a victory and a Nebraska loss. The Hoosiers will try to play spoiler and win back the Old Brass Spittoon. Indiana hasn't beaten the Spartans since 2006.

NO. 13 GEORGIA (9-2, 5-1) VS. KENTUCKY (4-8, 1-6 SOUTHEASTERN CONFERENCE) AT 11:20 A.M. (SEC NETWORK)
LINE: Georgia by 30 1/2.
SERIES RECORD: Georgia leads 50-12-2

WHAT'S AT STAKE: Georgia is trying to clinch the SEC East and a spot in the SEC championship game for the fourth time in 11 seasons with coach Mark Richt. Georgia is playing for its ninth straight win after losing its first two games. Kentucky is looking for back-to-back wins in Athens for the first time in school history after beating the Bulldogs in 2009. Kentucky is looking for its first road win over a ranked SEC opponent since winning at No. 21 LSU in 1998.

NO. 14 SOUTH CAROLINA (8-2) VS. CITADEL (4-6), 11 A.M. (PPV)
LINE: None.
SERIES RECORD: South Carolina leads 39-7-3.

WHAT'S AT STAKE: South Carolina is trying to win nine games in a season for the second straight year and just the fourth time in 118 years of football. The Gamecocks have an outside chance at reaching the Southeastern Conference title game should No. 13 Georgia lose at home to Kentucky. The Citadel is seeking a two-game win streak against South Carolina after a 38-35 upset the last time the teams played in 1990.

NO. 15 WISCONSIN (8-2, 4-2 BIG TEN) VS. ILLINOIS (6-4, 3-4), 11 A.M. (ESPN2)
LINE: Wisconsin by 14 1/2.
SERIES RECORD: Illinois leads, 36-34-7.

WHAT'S AT STAKE: Wisconsin is a game behind Penn State, with Saturday's game at Illinois and the following week at home against the Nittany Lions left to play. Win them both and the Badgers are headed to the inaugural Big Ten title game. The Illini could be playing for something much more fundamental: Ron Zook's job.

Four straight losses and a series of off-field problems have the Illini base grumbling for a change. All that after a 6-0 start.

NO. 17 NEBRASKA (9-2, 4-2 BIG TEN) AT NO. 20 MICHIGAN (9-2, 4-2), 11 A.M. (ESPN)
LINE: Michigan by 3 1/2.
SERIES RECORD: Michigan leads 3-2-1

WHAT'S AT STAKE: The winner will head a second-place tie in the Big Ten's Legends Division, which is led by Michigan State, and might have a chance to play in a BCS bowl. The Cornhuskers need to win twice and have the Spartans upset by Indiana or at Northwestern to have a shot at playing in the Big Ten championship game. The Wolverines must win twice and have their in-state rival lose two more games to earn a spot in the conference's first title game.

NO. 21 PENN STATE (9-2, 5-1) AT OHIO STATE (6-4, 3-3), 2:30 P.M. (ABC)
LINE: Ohio State by 7.
SERIES RECORD: Ohio State leads, 13-12.

WHAT'S AT STAKE: Penn State, still reeling from the Jerry Sandusky scandal that led to Joe Paterno's firing, can clinch at least a share of the Big Ten's Leaders Division. Ohio State needs a miracle or two to also figure into the divisional race but can help its postseason chances — if the NCAA permits the Buckeyes to go to a bowl game — with a big win or two.

NO. 23 FLORIDA STATE (7-3, 5-2 ACC) VS. VIRGINIA (7-3, 4-2), 6:30 P.M. (ESPN 2)
LINE: Florida State by 17 1/2.
SERIES RECORD: Florida State leads 14-2

WHAT'S AT STAKE: The stakes are about as high for Virginia as they've been in a long time. The Cavaliers could win their first ACC Coastal Division title and qualify for next month's league championship game against Clemson if they can defeat the Seminoles on Saturday and then in-trastate rival Virginia Tech on Nov. 26. Should the Cavaliers duplicate their present three-game winning streak, they would find themselves in Miami for the Orange Bowl in January.

NO. 24 NOTRE DAME (7-3) VS. BOSTON COLLEGE (3-7), 3 P.M. (NBC)
LINE: Notre Dame by 24 1/2.
SERIES RECORD: Notre Dame leads 11-9.

WHAT'S AT STAKE: Saturday is Senior Day, with such integral players as captain Harrison Smith, Michael Floyd, Jonas Gray and Kapron Lewis-Moore playing their final games at Notre Dame stadium. The Irish have worked their way back into the Top 25. Although a BCS berth is highly unlikely, Notre Dame could match its highest win total in the last decade by winning out. Boston College, mired in its worst season in 13 years, is trying to keep the momentum going after winning two of its last three.

McMURRY

From 1C

Mumme and his staff came, I knew that that was going to be the foundation that we were going to build on. I knew the program was going to turn around. I had confidence just because I knew what they were about and we just bought into it real well."

But while the atmosphere was different, the results weren't. McMurry opened 2009 with losses of 31-26 to Trinity and 30-27 to Austin College in starting 0-4. The tide finally turned with a 45-21 victory over East Texas Baptist and McMurry won the next three before losing to crosstown rival Hardin-Simmons for the 22nd consecutive time.

Further steps were taken in 2010 as McMurry won its firs two games and was 5-2 before losses to HSU and Louisiana College. The winning record was clinched when third-string quarterback Landry Gunter, forced into the starting role because of injuries to Jake Mullin and Stephen Warren, passed for four touchdowns in a 28-17 victory at Mississippi College.

Even with the progress already made, a playoff berth did not appear to be in McMurry's future after an 82-6 loss at Stephen F. Austin — the worst in McMurry's 89-year history — in the season opener.

The War Hawks bounced back to beat Texas-San Antonio 24-21 before an Alamodome crowd of 31,634 as Diamond scored on a 32-yard reception with 19 seconds left, then lost 28-27 at ASC champion Mary Hardin-Baylor in its conference opener. The War Hawks haven't lost since, ending the 23-game slide against Hardin-Simmons with a 24-14 victory.

After beating Louisiana College and Mississippi College to close out the schedule, the War Hawks still had to wait for an at-large bid for the playoffs.

The Next Act:
2012 Volkswagen Passat sedan

RoadWorthy!

By Ken Chester, Jr.
Motor Trend Contributor

Designed in Germany and made in America, the all-new Passat is a transformational car in Volkswagen's ambitious growth plan for the U.S. market. The 2012 Volkswagen Passat was developed as a larger vehicle with premium features and handling characteristics that will perfectly match it with the tastes and lifestyles of Americans. It will be built in Chattanooga, Tenn., at the world's newest, most advanced and environmentally responsible auto assembly plant.

The Passat's balanced exterior proportions give it a unique, timeless and dominant styling reflecting the "design DNA" developed by Walter de Silva, the Italian design chief for the Volkswagen Group and Klaus Bischoff, the German design leader for the Volkswagen Brand. The signature clean design, with a predominance of horizontal body elements, reinforces the Passat's position as the sophisticated choice in the midsize segment. The bottom line: this car looks much more expensive than it actually is.

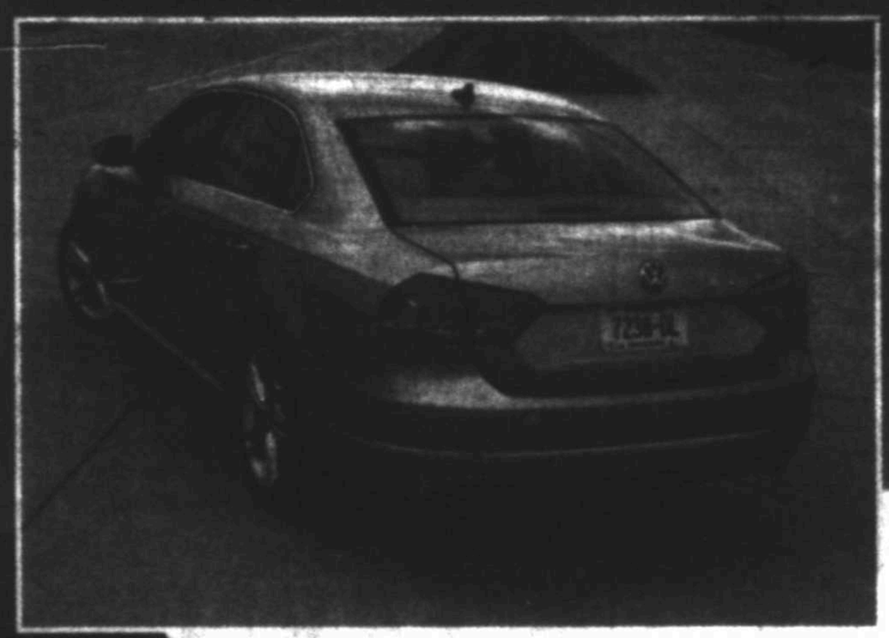
Available in S, SE and SEL trim levels, the all-new Volkswagen sedan offers three drivetrain options: a responsive 2.5L five-cylinder gasoline engine, a remarkably eco-friendly 2.0L four-cylinder TDI Clean Diesel and a powerful 3.6L VR6. The 2.5L five-cylinder engine is mated to a standard five speed manual transmission. As an alternative, the 2.5 multi port injection engine may be paired with a six-speed automatic. Optional on the Passat TDI will be Volkswagen's legendary six-speed DSG transmission.

Gear shifting on the new Passat VR6 is handled by a standard 6-speed DSG; the dual-clutch transmission is considered the most efficient automatic in the world. This technologically advanced six-speed transmission incorporates an automatic dual-clutch system that instantly engages and disengages gears without the need for a clutch pedal. With a special computer controlling the process, one clutch is engaged on the next gear while the clutch from the previous gear is released. The results are crisp, quick shifts, without the loss of power that is experienced with a traditional manual gearbox.

Inside the passenger cabin, the Passat sets new standards for comfort, with a significantly larger rear seating area, best-in-class rear seat legroom, well-designed controls and superior touring properties. Other standard features include automatic climate control, power windows all around, air conditioning, insulating glass, a distinctive analog clock at the center of the instrument panel, cruise control, outside temperature display with frost warning, radio-CD system (MP3-capable, plus external audio input) and Bluetooth connectivity.

Premium options include 17- and 18-inch alloy wheels, power seat adjustment, leather, leather-trimmed multifunction steering wheel, a touch screen satellite radio, a choice of Volkswagen's RNS 510 or RNS 315 navigation systems, front fog lights with static cornering lights, wood decor, new ambiance lighting, memory driver's seat, power passenger seat, and keyless access with push button start.

The Passat will also offer the new Fender premium audio system, designed exclusively for Volkswagen. In a partnership that combined quality automotive engineering and quality sound engineering, Volkswagen and Fender teamed up to bring the raw emotion of live music to the driving experience.



Safety features

Dual front airbags, front seat-mounted side-impact airbags, dual head curtain side-impact airbags, four-wheel disc brakes with anti-lock, traction control, electronic stability control, Bluetooth hands-free phone system, automatic headlamps, daytime running lights, central locking system, and hill-holder system (manual). SE 3.6L adds fog lights, and cornering lights. SEL adds HomeLink garage door opener, Smart Key system, and navigation system.

Warranty

Basic: 3-year/36,000 mile
Powertrain: 5-year/60,000 mile
Corrosion: 12/unlimited
Roadside Assistance: 3-year/36,000 mile 24-hour

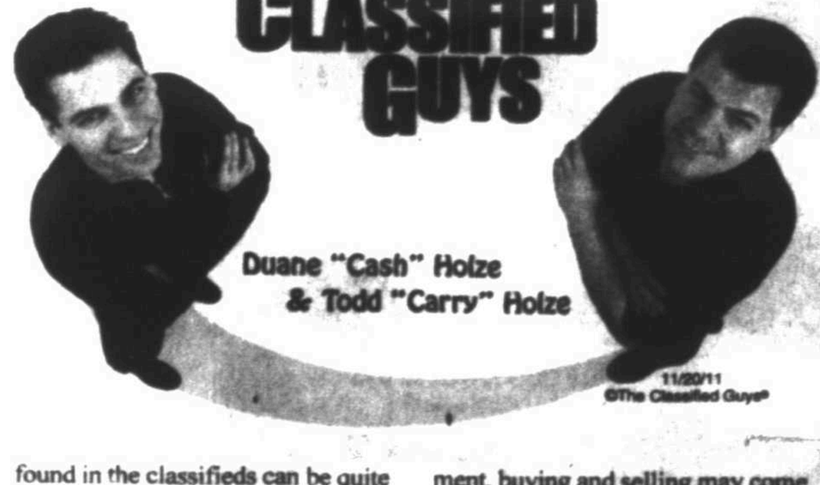
Ask the Guys



Dear Classified Guys,
After 40 years of working as a salesman, my husband has retired. However, he's not the type of person who can sit idle. In fact, I think he needs a part-time job to get him out of the house. Yet instead of getting a job, he's failing back on his selling skills. Last month he bought a hot tub through the classified ads thinking it was something we should own in retirement. After two weeks he decided it was too much work and resold it, but at a $500 profit. This started the problem. He's come up with the idea of buying things in the classified ads and reselling them for a profit. Although it sounds good in theory, I don't think it will work. Plus, it won't get him out of the house. How do I convince him that the hot tub sale was a fluke and he needs a different part-time job?

Carry: Well if you're looking for someone to say shopping the classifieds is a waste of time, you've come to the wrong guys.

Cash: We like to think of classified shopping as a hobby though, not necessarily a part-time job.

Carry: Buying and selling items found in the classifieds can be quite profitable. If you learn how to purchase items at a low enough price, then you can often resell them for a profit, providing you took care of them.

Cash: However, it does depend on the type of items you purchase. Some things hold their value better than others. Typically larger items, like boats or motorcycles, have a greater potential for profit over less expensive items like household appliances.

Carry: If your husband is the type of person who reads the classifieds daily, he may be able to spot the deals when they are advertised. Considering his previous employment, buying and selling may come natural to him.

Cash: Before you encourage your husband to find a new part-time job, you may want to give him a little more time to explore his retirement. It can be a dramatic change in lifestyle and require some time to adjust.

Carry: Exploring new ideas may lead to new interests. And considering his recent purchase of a hot tub, you never know what will show up next.

Cash: If you'd like to get him out of the house, consider sharing in his new adventures. After all, retirement should be about having fun together.

Fast Facts

Wiser Workers

Most people who work a 9 to 5 job dream of the day they'll retire, kick back and relax - or do they? An AARP survey of working adults age 45 to 70, 70% said they wanted to continue working at least part-time or never retire at all. Of those surveyed, 86% said working helps keep them healthy and active. This is good news for the employers since by 2014 nearly one-third of the total U.S. workforce will be age 50 or older.

Retirement is Ageless

The goal for many people use to be to reach age 65, retire and live out the golden years in perpetual rest and relaxation. However, today's attitudes are changing and new terms are emerging such as "third age", "next step" and "encore career". People over age 65 are continuing to work, partly due to financial resources, but also due to a desire to keep active. Fortunately, the "encore careers" are typically more purposeful and rewarding than previous jobs. And with an expected 66 million people to be over age 65 by 2025, that should be a much happier workforce.

Reader Humor

Up the Volume

I hadn't realized how funny it was to be around my grandparents until I recently flew out to visit them. They both have had trouble with their hearing over the years and now need to wear hearing aids full time. However, they rarely put them in when they converse with each other.

This was apparent one morning at breakfast. As we all sat down at their outside table, my grandmother commented, "It sure is windy."

My grandfather, obviously misheering her, replied, "Wednesday? I think it's Thursday."

I laughed even harder when my grandmother stood up and said, "I'm thirsty too. I'll go get us some drinks."
