Coal-hard fact---miners won't go back

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's striking coal miners, defiant and unpredictable throughout their 109-day walkout, are voting again on whether to accept a new contract offer.

As before, most officials of the United Mine Workers said they expect a close decision by the 160,000 soft coal miners eligible to vote today at union halls from Appalachia to the Rockies.

"I ain't making predictions" about the final outcome, UMW President Arnold Miller said Thursday while flying from Washington to his home District 17 in Charleston, W.Va. But then he predicted that the 21,500-member district, the union's largest, would approve the new accord.

Union spokesman Paul Fortney said that, if the balloting is close, the result may not be known until late tonight.

Later today, Local 1575 in Middlesboro, Ky., said it turned down the pact, 276-35.

Union officials forecast a close vote three weeks ago, when a previous contract proposal was put before the miners. The rank-and-file turned it down by better than a 2-1 margin.

After the contract rejection, miners almost universally defied a federal judge's back-to-work order which President Carter obtained under the Taft-Hartley Act. UMW officials had said their members would ignore the order, as they had during a series of strikes 30 years ago.

Even if the miners accept the latest offer from the Bituminous Coal Operators Association, the strike would not end automatically.

The UMW and the Association of Bituminous Contractors are negotiating a separate pact to cover about 10,000 mine construction workers. Miners ready to return to the pits under a ratified contract may refuse to work if the construction workers are without an agreement and throw up picket lines.

The latest proposal — the third tentative agreement reached since the strike began on Dec. 6 — contains industry concessions in several areas, including reduced payments by miners for health care, improved pension benefits and deletion of a clause letting companies discipline leaders of wildcat strikes.

But most miners apparently still don't like the contract, particularly a provision calling for individual company health insurance plans to replace the single, independent health care fund operated jointly by the union and the industry for three decades.

In the first reported voting returns, UMW Local 1810 in Alledonia, Ohio, rejected the proposed contract by a 3-to-1 margin.

Local president Joe Hoskins, who said he believed the contract would be defeated when all votes were in, announced that his local voted 316-104 against the contract.

Three weeks ago the local also defeated a proposed contract. Union officials had forecast a close vote then but the rank-and-file turned it down by better than a 2-1 margin.

Man, arrested twice, is linked to local crime

A man thought to have cracked the safe at the Giant Food Store, 611 Lamesa, Monday afternoon, was in and out and back in the grasp of the long arm of the law that same day.

Jerry Wayne Strode, one of four Californians arrested by Colorado City Police, was charged Thursday in Justice of the Peace Bob West's court with theft. All four face charges of felony theft as suspects in the heist of over $1,000 from the Colorado City Anthony's Department Store.

Anthony's employees reported to Colorado City Police, 2:20 p.m. Monday, about an hour after the theft at the Giant Store, that the money was missing from the cash register.

Before the report, however, a Reserve Deputy had spotted a blue van with no license plates driving through the city. Officer Jimmy Roundtree was dispatched, and halted the van.

After running a check on the identification of the four inside the van, and an examination of their temporary license plate, everything seemed in order. The van was free to go.

But when the theft report was received, officers were told to go after the van to check its inhabitants a little more closely. Highway Patrolman David Hancock, backed up by the Sweetwater Highway Patrol, stopped the van and apprehended the four at gunpoint.

Investigation of the van exposed huge sums of cash and a substance thought to be heroin. All four are currently in Mitchell County Jail.

Since the suspect's physical description matched that of the culprit in the Giant Food Store heist, local police checked Strode's fingerprints against those left at the scene of the crime. They matched, according to Big Spring Police Detective John Burson.

HOLY CITY CROSSES — Hands reach out to touch or hold the heavy wooden cross that was carried to the Church of Jerusalem's Church of the Holy Sepulchre, erected on the spot where tradition says Christ was crucified, through the rain-lashed Via Dolorosa today by a group of Mexican pilgrims, which were among the thousands that wound through the narrow street, stopping for devotions at the 14 stations of the cross. Crosses were placed at the entrance of the church, seen in background.

Begin insists Carter's deals are 'not just'

JERUSALEM (AP) — Prime Minister Menachem Begin flew home today after rejecting President Carter's demand for removal of Israeli settlements from the occupied territories as "not just" and appealing to the American public for backing.

Begin told reporters on arriving he and Carter achieved some agreement on "certain issues," but he stressed that Israel "faced several demands which we could not accept."

To the United States and "everyone else there are problems of policy. To us they are problems of life, of existence and of making sure of the future," the Israeli leader declared.

In Washington, Secretary of State Cyrus R. Vance told a news conference today the drive for peace had been "much slowed down," but he said Carter had presented "some exploratory ideas" to Begin for advancing stalled Egyptian-Israeli negotiations.

Vance hinted these proposals centered on an interim plan for the occupied West Bank of the Jordan River leading eventually to a choice by the Palestinians there whether to affiliate with Israel or Jordan.

Sources in Israel claimed the Carter administration is trying to get Begin replaced by Defense Minister Ezer Weizman, a report both the White House, the prime minister and Weizman denied. And Weizman told two Israeli newspapers the opposition Labor Party should join the government coalition to form a "national peace government" that would stand up to the United States.

Some observers pointed out that talk of a "Dump Begin" movement in Washington could be an attempt by Begin's supporters to deflect criticism at home of his failure to reduce Carter's support of Egypt's demands.

Begin went public in Washington and New York after three days of talks with Carter. He told the National Press Club in Washington that U.S. praise for Israeli peace proposals has "suddenly disappeared from the lexicon." Then he told the Conference of Presidents of Major American Jewish Organizations in New York that the talks were "difficult" because "either directly or indirectly, the impression was made to me that Israel was obstructing peace."

"What an allegation!" Begin declared. "There isn't one day we didn't work for peace. This is an allegation in which there is a moral wrong.

"I will again turn to the moral greatness of the American people — whether Christians or Jews — and appeal to their fairness."

Rabbi Alexander M. Schindler, the president of the New York conference, responded with a call for an unrestrained attack on Carter's Mideast policy.

Lubbock group plugging for route through BS

Designation of a route from Amarillo to South Texas as I-27 is apparently as attractive to Lubbock and Amarillo officials as to Big Spring officials.

A group of city and county officials from the two panhandle cities testified this week before the Senate Transportation Subcommittee to convince the Senators that the proposed interstate is needed.

The route coming from Colorado would use the existing U.S. 87 south from Amarillo, through Lamesa, Big Spring, San Angelo, and Eden. From there, U.S. 83 would be used, through Junction and on to the Gulf Coast using I-10 and I-37.

The Big Spring Chamber of Commerce has been actively working toward getting the interstate designation, and cannot help but be encouraged by the active role undertaken by Lubbock officials.

The Lubbock delegation told the Senate Committee that there were at least four substantial benefits of the Lubbock-Big Spring-San Angelo route, one of several proposed.

According to Gene Edwards, president-elect of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce, who also spoke before the committee, the route would provide:

—An improved link between major military complexes at San Antonio and Denver, Colo.

—The only high-standard north-south route in a 600-mile area bounded by I-25 and I-35.

—A new connector between five different interstates — 40, 20, 10, 35, and 37.

A new direct link between the agricultural, cattle, and mineral resource area of West Texas and the Texas Gulf ports.

The delegation didn't have any cost estimates on the proposal, but said it should not be "too expensive" because of existing four-lanes over much of the route.

'Love Story' continues

By MARJ CARPENTER

The elusive Hershel Love, 24, who has now escaped from four Texas jails, was still free this morning as law enforcement officers from several Texas counties joined in the hunt.

The "Love Story" continued today with no trace of a pickup stolen from the Shamrock Station in Big Spring Wednesday night. Love and Ismael Umana escaped from the Llano jail Tuesday night and were known to be in Big Spring after one of them was seen inside the home of Bill Kuykendall on South 87.

Umana was recaptured Wednesday at midnight near Four Mile Lake west of Big Spring after a telephone call alerted law enforcement officers that he would be in that area.

Love, who was thought to have been seen in two local lounges on Wednesday has apparently disappeared from the area with the missing pickup. Sheriff A.N. Standard said apparently he has been gone since Wednesday night.

Through his years of burglary and theft of vehicles between stays in the jail, Love has stolen a pickup on several occasions, apparently prefering the vehicle to cars.

Texas Rangers, including Eddie Almond of Big Spring, are now coordinating the search which includes law enforcement officers in the Llano area where he escaped; in the Big Spring area where he has previously escaped and in the Colorado City area where he once resided, all joining in the search.

HERSHEL LOVE

Anyone with information on the young man, or who saw him during his day of freedom in Big Spring, are urged to contact local law enforcement officers.

Love has a married sister in Big Spring, and his mother is hospitalized here. But apparently, he was not in contact with either of them during his 24-hour stay in town.

He also has relatives in Colorado City and Sheriff Bill McGuire said there has been no indication that he has been in that city this time, although he was thought to have stopped there in between two of his other jail breaks.

Love first broke out of the Big Spring City jail in November 1975 when he fashioned a key out of a pointer he obtained in municipal court. He was recaptured 15 hours later after a burglary and theft spree through four counties in the Hill Country.

In January 1976, he escaped in Johnson City by kicking out a brick in the wall of the jail and crawling through the hole. He was recaptured in February and escaped March 19, 1976 from Gillespie County jail in Fredericksburg by crawling through the air conditioning duct.

He was recaptured in Abilene in June 1976 and had remained in jail 21 months until he escaped again Tuesday night.

Love had been returned to the counties in which he had committed burglaries and had been tried one at a time in Mason, Gillespie, and Travis counties and was in Llano awaiting another burglary trial when he escaped. His companion was to be tried for murder.

The brash young burglar apparently thinks nothing of entering homes at night, that are occupied, and was seen in two Big Spring homes this week when people awoke to find him on the premises.

He also created a lot of excitement in the southwest part of the city as police searched the canyons in that area and urged children not to play at any of their "canyon hideouts" during the day.

GOP senators offering tax cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — A group of Republican senators is offering a tax cut to deal with two of the biggest problems on the minds of voters: inflation and rising Social Security taxes.

A bill introduced Thursday would allow a direct credit against income taxes for 10 percent of a worker's Social Security contributions and adjust the tax system to cancel some of the effects of inflation.

In general, the GOP plan would be of more benefit to businesses and to workers earning less than $6,000 or more than $40,000 a year than would the tax package proposed by President Carter.

A four-member family earning $10,000 a year now faces a projected $258 federal tax increase in 1980 because of anticipated inflation and higher Social Security taxes. Carter's plan would turn that into an $11 tax cut; the GOP proposal would result in a $47 tax cut.

A $25,000 family of four faces a projected $727 tax increase in the absence of any congressional action. The president's program would reduce that to a $461 tax increase; the Republican substitute would mean a tax increase of $219.

The GOP bill would reduce income taxes by $36 billion in 1979, with about two-thirds of the cut going to individuals. The Carter plan, costing $25 billion in 1979, would designate about three-quarters of the tax relief for individuals.

The two versions agree on the need to extend about $8 billion worth of individual and corporate tax cuts that are due to expire this year.

In addition to the income tax credit for Social Security taxes, here are major components of the GOP plan, whose chief sponsors are Sens. Jacob, K. Javits, R-N.Y., and Sen. John C. Danforth, R-Mo.:

—The $750 personal exemption, the standard deduction (now $3,200 for a joint return), the $35-per-person tax credit would be increased over the next three years, and the tax brackets would be widened.

—The earned-income credit, which now provides payments of up to $400 a year to poor working families, would rise gradually to $480.

—The 48 percent corporate tax rate would be cut in steps to 42 percent. Carter proposes to cut it to 44 percent.

—The 10 percent investment tax credit, which rewards businesses for purchasing machinery and equipment, would go up to 12 percent.

Four killed in fiery crash

VAN VLECK, Texas (AP) — A mother and her three young children were killed today in the fiery crash of their station wagon with a garbage truck on Texas 35 near this Southeast Texas town.

The woman was identified as Mrs. John McGraw of Sweeny. The children were not immediately identified.

Another McGraw child, Kelly, and the two occupants of the truck were taken to an area hospital.

The two men were identified as Arbestor Sneed and Oscar Robinson, employes of W&K Garbage Service.

The McGraws were on their way to Victoria where an older son was to play in a tennis tournament.

Witnesses said the car burst into flames after impact and the truck rolled on top of it, preventing any escape from the car.

Police and firemen from Van Vleck and nearby Bay City aided in the accident.

Action/reaction: Ad paid for

Q. Was the boxed letter on page 3-B of Tuesday's Herald a paid advertisement, or how was it run.

A. Yes, the two-column, page-length letter entitled "The Rising Tide of Color: Of Blood and Death," was a paid advertisement. It is Herald advertising policy to accept any advertising that is not obscene or legally slanderous or libelous, provided the advertiser pays. The particular letter was first brought in as a letter to the editor, but due to space consideration policies which limit such letters to 300 to 400 words, it could not be run on the editorial page. The writer chose not to edit the letter down, so it was necessary that it run as paid advertising.

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — A Youngstown judge has ruled that pigeons have no rights under the Constitution.

That frees the Youngstown Board of Health to go ahead with its pigeon extermination program.

The Animal Charity League took the health board to court in January 1977 after officials announced a program of feeding pigeons corn mixed with strychnine.

Panama recall rolls

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ignoring constitutional precedent, opponents of the Panama Canal treaties in at least five states are organizing attempts to recall senators who voted for the first of the agreements.

The treaty guaranteeing the waterway's neutrality was approved 68-32, with one vote to spare, and the pact to actually turn over the canal to Panama is expected to be equally close.

The efforts are being undertaken despite legal opinions that only the Senate itself can give members the boot.

Because of the length of time required for a complete recall campaign and the unlikelihood of ultimate success, the main purpose of the efforts appears to be changing the handful of votes necessary to defeat the second treaty vote.

Efforts to gather signatures for recall votes are known to be underway in Wisconsin, Louisiana, Arizona, Missouri and Montana.

In Oklahoma and Colorado, similar drives were begun, then dropped because organizers were informed that the Constitution has no provision for recall of U.S. senators.

A group calling itself Impeach Baker and Sasser Inc., organized in Tennessee with the declared aim of removing the state's two senators, Republican Howard Baker and Democrat James Sasser for their pro-treaty votes.

In Arizona, Dan Hough, who said he represented a group of Phoenix voters, obtained recall petitions on Tuesday from the secretary of state's office in the first step toward unseating Democrat Dennis DeConcini.

Over the next 120 days, Hough must obtain 185,252 signatures (25 percent of the votes cast for DeConcini in the 1976 election), to get the recall question on a statewide ballot.

Sen. Paul Laxalt, R-Ariz., the treaty foes' chief strategist and head of a national coalition seeking to encourage public opposition to ratification, disavowed any connection with the recall drives.

"The Senate anti-treaty forces are in no way connected with the recall movement, which is independent," Laxalt said Thursday.

Police chief suspended

CLEVELAND (AP) — Police Chief Richard Hongisto has been suspended by Mayor Dennis Kucinich for not clarifying his charges that the police department was being pressured to commit "unethical acts."

When Hongisto balked at clarifying his remarks with reporters present, Kucinich announced his surprise decision.

More money for cities

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter is considering proposals today that, according to sources, may provide an additional $3 billion for the nation's cities.

Knowledgeable sources who asked not to be identified, outlined several of the "leading options" among 200 pages of proposals sent to Carter last Monday by domestic policy chief Stuart Eizenstat.

Employment agencies poorly regulated?

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — If employment agencies are poorly regulated, it's because the Legislature hasn't provided enough money, says the chairman of the state board that oversees them.

T.H. Haynie of Amarillo, chairman of the State Private Employment Agency Regulatory Board, told the Sunset Advisory Commission on Thursday 2½ men are responsible for statewide enforcement.

"It takes half a day to audit an agency. Two-and-a-half men can't cover them all and also review complaints," Haynie said.

Under the new Sunset Act, the board is one of 26 agencies that will pass out of existence next year unless the Legislature extends their lives.

Haynie's board, by law, consists entirely of employment agency owners and operators.

Haynie said he would not mind having a public member, "but our meetings are the most boring things in the world to attend."

Rep. Bill Ceverha, R-Dallas, challenged the board's practice of setting maximum fees that successful job applicants can be charged.

Board member J. Robert Thompson said the board did so "because the public demands it. Because of the pressure put on us."

Haynie defended the use of "desk names" by employment agency counselors, saying they would be deluged with calls at home if they used their real ones.

Sen. Lloyd Doggett, D-Austin, author of the Sunset Act, criticized practices of another licensing board, the one that registers public surveyors.

Doggett cited figures showing only one percent of those taking one part of the surveyors licensing test pass the first time.

Doggett said the high failure rate — 50 percent historically — and the requirement of a six-year apprenticship "suggests an extraordinarily restrictive arrangement."

"It suggests that after six years of training, either the training is not appropriate or the test is extremely restrictive," he told board vice-chairman Robert L. Hall Jr.

Hall said the board should be continued and given power to license everyone who does surveying.

He criticized the law that allows any professional engineer — even those in ceramics, chemistry and agriculture — to practice surveying without passing an examination.

Under questioning by Doggett, board member C.B. Thomson of Junction said that in the light of a U.S. Supreme Court decision allowing lawyers to advertise their prices, it "would be appropriate" to loosen ad rules for surveyors.

But only moments earlier, Hall defended the board's restriction on advertising — a one-line listing in telephone books.

"We could consider it (price advertising) unethical," Hall said.

Hall explained the high rate of failure of the licensing exam by saying apprentice surveyors working for large firms often are forced into narrow specialties.

He said they "get bracketed and don't get the broad training you need to pass the test."

SWEETWATER — A Colorado City man, Bernardo Vasquez Del Real, was sentenced to life in prison in connection with the stabbing death last Sept. 1 of J. W. (Peanut) Graham of Sweetwater at a local service station.

Del Real heard his fate from 32nd District Court Judge Weldon Kirk. Del Real earlier had pleaded guilty and waived his right to a jury trial and the right to appeal.

His life sentence will run concurrently with a 25-year sentence for distribution of heroin exacted by a Mitchell County court last December.

Del Real was arrested while working at a construction site in Big Spring several days after Graham's death.

Energy

New award is being planned

Oilman Richard S. Gaddy of Midland has announced the creation of an Energy Secretary of the Year Award.

Gaddy, sponsor of the award, said he was initiating the award to honor the many oil and gas secretaries in the Permian Basin of Texas and New Mexico who work loyally, diligently and efficiently to keep the energy business running smoothly.

"I just thought it was about time someone did something to honor some of the most essential employees in the nation," said Gaddy. "There are several energy awards that honor the energy 'boss' of the year, but to my knowledge none that single out the energy secretary. I know most oilmen will join me in saying that it would be almost impossible to run an energy-related firm without loyal secretaries."

Even though there will be only one recipient of the award each year, Gaddy said the intention of the award is to honor the efforts of all energy secretaries.

The award is open to any employed secretary of any energy-related firm in the Permian Basin. The winner will be selected on the basis of her contributions to the energy industry, her community, her family and her dedication and service to her employer. A select panel of energy executives in the Permian Basin will review nominees and select the winner. The winner will be named at the annual luncheon of the Permian Basin Petroleum Association in May, at which time she will be presented a plaque and vacation for two to Acapulco.

Employers are urged to submit nominations for the award to: AWARD; P.O. Box 5133; Midland, Texas 79701 along with a brief one or two pages resume of the nominee.

Van Fleet is given watch

C. M. Van Vleet, maintenance foreman with Continental Oil Company in the Howard-Glasscock Field, was recently presented with a watch for 30 years service with the company.

Van Vleet, a native of Kansas, began his career with Continental Oil as a roustabout first class in Wakeeney, Kan. He was transferred to Continental's offshore operations at Lake Charles, La., in 1958 where he remained until March 30, 1963 when he was transferred to Carrizo Springs, Texas. In October 1963, Van Vleet transferred to the Forsan area where he has since remained.

Jordan told an Urban League dinner Wednesday that the plan must provide more money to the cities, or it will amount to an admission that urban areas will be left to die.

Shooting acquittal triggers protest

WICHITA FALLS, Texas (AP) — The regional director of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored Persons has asked for a civil rights investigation of a jury's acquittal of a white man for the slaying last September of a Wichita Falls black.

Richard Dockery said he has asked the U.S. Justice Department to look into the acquittal of Gerald Farmer, 50, of Wichita Falls.

He admitted shooting Burnice Jackson last Sept. 28, but said it was a mistake and that he thought he was shooting another man, a black man who had been dating his daughter.

Someone threw a brick through a window in Farmer's house the night of the shooting. He took a gun outside to investigate and fired a shot that killed Jackson and wounded a woman with him.

The all-white jury acquitted Farmer on Jan. 27. Prosecutors tried to amend the charge so the jury could have the option of convicting Farmer of manslaughter, but a technicality forbade it. Faced with a murder conviction or nothing, the jury acquitted Farmer.

He still faces charges of assault with intent to kill the woman who was with Jackson.

Dockery said he is asking for the probe to determine if Jackson's civil rights were violated. He called the acquittal a gross miscarriage of justice and a mockery of the Democratic system and due process of law.

Little girl makes pickup rescue

Wendy saves grandpa

FORT WORTH, Texas (AP) — When Wendy Harmon heard her badly injured grandfather tell her to get the pickup truck, she did just what he told her despite the fact that she was only nine years old.

Her grandfather, Archie Wright, 68, had just been gored by a cow last weekend when he gave Wendy the orders about the truck.

Wright is in serious condition at Coryell Memorial Hospital in Gatesville, said his daughter, Mrs. Barbara Turney. She is Wendy's maternal aunt.

Mrs. Turney gave this account Thursday:

Wendy and her mother, Mrs. Linda Lynch, have been living with Mrs. Lynch's parents since an accident last summer when a horse Wright was riding somersaulted and landed on top of him.

He had been taken home last month and was just beginning to walk again, said Mrs. Turney. His wife was also recuperating at home after falling out of the pickup truck, breaking her arm and collar bone, and could not walk yet.

WENDY HARMON

"Daddy had gone down to feed the cattle," Mrs. Turney said. "This cow had a baby calf and daddy was marking (notching the calf's ear with a pocket knife) it."

She said the family dog ran between her father and the calf and the mother cow ran at the dog.

"She missed the dog and hit my father with her horn, goring him in the groin area," she said.

"The cow kept spinning around and around and finally, we don't know how, my father got loose and fell to the ground."

Wright was able to crawl about 30 feet and began screaming for help.

"My mother heard him. She hollered at Wendy who was playing outside with a friend," Mrs. Turney explained.

Wendy and her friend ran to Wright and her grandfather told her to "get the pickup and take me to the hospital."

Undaunted, the nine-year-old backed the family pickup out of a very tight space and drove down to her grandfather.

She and her friend managed to load Wright into the truck.

Wendy, who can barely see over the steering wheel, began the 14-mile trip to Gatesville.

Mrs. Turney said her father once told his granddaughter, "don't go so fast," when she reached 30 miles per hour.

Wendy's mother, who had been called by Mrs. Wright, intercepted the pickup four miles from town and drove the truck to the hospital.

"The doctor said that if my father had been 10 minutes later, he would have died," said Mrs. Turney. "He also said the horn just barely missed a major artery."

She said Wendy told her she was very nervous during the episode.

"I was so nervous I could hardly stand it," she told her aunt. "But I told myself that I could do it. I knew I had to."

According to reports, a couple came into the store and distracted clerk Eloise Watkins while a man emptied the cash drawer at the front of the store.

Someone threw rocks onto the eastbound lane of Highway 87, breaking the windshield on an 18-wheeler truck belonging to James Clay, 1700 Carl. The incident occurred 10:05 p.m. Thursday. Damage was estimated at $200.

Vandals punctured a tire and bent a CB antenna on a car belonging to Lisa McMillian, Box 1869, while it was parked at the Pizza Inn. The incident occurred sometime between 10:30 and 11 p.m. Thursday with damage estimated at $95.

In the one minor mishap reported Thursday, vehicles driven by Imogene P. Rickabaugh, 1425 E. 6th, and Gregory T. Gossett, 1311 E. 13th, collided at 1310 Nolan, 9:39 p.m.

Boot Cubans is answer?

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States should expel the Cuban diplomatic mission and withdraw U.S. representatives from Havana because of Cuban military activity in Ethiopia and Angola, says the Republican national chairman.

Chairman Bill Brock also criticized the Carter administration for not using its influence to moderate Moscow's activities in Africa. He called the Soviet Union "the newest and greatest colonial power."

Business firms suffer losses

Three instances of breaking-and-entering Thursday night kept Howard County deputies and Coahoma police busy today.

A vehicle parked at Fowler's Texaco was burglarized. Missing is an AM-FM radio and tape deck which together with damage, will amount to approximately an $800 loss. The car dashboard was severely damaged in the theft.

The Coahoma Dairy Queen, according to Coahoma police, was broken into last night and the cigarette machine and jukebox money taken. Entry was gained through the sliding glass window used for drive-in orders.

Pinkie's Liquors on Highway 87 was also broken into Thursday night. The amount of the loss of merchandise has not yet been determined.

Carterites cannot accept 'flexible parity'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Carter administration says that it cannot accept the portion of pending emergency farm legislation most supported by protesting farmers.

White House Press Secretary Jody Powell said Thursday that the part of the bill unacceptable to the administration is a "flexible parity" provision which would provide higher government guarantees to wheat, feed grains and cotton producers who reduce acreage up to 50 percent.

The flexible parity portion of the bill is endorsed by American Agriculture.

Powell told reporters that the other major elements were an improvement but still "do not conform at all with our program."

The White House is expected to announce soon new actions to boost the farm economy and head off drastic changes in federal programs by Congress.

Powell's comments were the clearest statements yet of an administration position on the measure, designed to boost support prices while discouraging production.

The measure had not been printed or subjected to economic analysis by administration and congressional budget watchers when a House-Senate conference committee recessed for the holidays until Congress returns to work April 3.

Leaders of American Agriculture, the group which for two months has been lobbying and demonstrating for higher government price guarantees, said Thursday that the bill before conferees still falls short of meeting goals but does provide some features — particularly the flexible parity concept — which can help farmers.

Don Patterson of The Plains, Va., told a news conference that House leadership rushed "to throw out a sanded bone" to farmers when it sent the farm package to conference.

The House rejected a move to tie its members of the conference to support of the flexible parity plan approved by the Senate. It was offered by Sen. Robert Dole, R-Kan., and was supported vigorously by American Agriculture.

Rep. Thomas Foley, D-Wash., urged the House to reject the flexible parity instructions to conference members and this upset American Agriculture.

Patterson and others in the group said they intended to put pressure on the conferees during the Easter holiday in hopes of graining further support for the flexible parity feature of the legislation and in hopes of gaining maximum benefits for farmers in the final version.

Rick Rodgers, Klamath Falls, Ore., said that "this is really the first time congressmen went home and are not going to be allowed to lie to their constituents like they always have before" concerning agriculture.

Rodgers said he had read many times the newsletters and other reports by members of Congress in which they undertook to "brag on themselves" and pledge support of farmers.

"We've been here and we've seen for ourselves as to what they do, and this time they're not going to get away with it," he said.

Foley introduced a resolution calling for 100 percent of parity as a goal for farmers, Rodgers said. The group also noted that Agriculture Secretary Bob Bergland, when he was a Minnesota congressman in 1976, introduced a resolution calling on the Ford administration to raise price supports to 90 percent of parity, the formula tied to production costs which would give farmers the same buying power they had in 1910-14.

PICKUPS ARE A POPULAR VEHICLE ..at Vincent Cafe

Vincent is northeast of Big Spring, about 22 miles out on the Snyder Highway, and off the highway a mile.

The community has been around since the early 1900s and was named for an early resident in that area named Vincent Easley. Nobody seems to remember much about Easley, only that they named the post office for him.

Originally, the folks around there did not get their mail at a Post Office in Vincent, the mail went to the Iatan Post Office and was delivered to them on a rural route.

Later, they had their own Post Office, and after it was closed, they were placed on a Coahoma Route. By then, the Iatan post office was also gone.

There has been a store at the location since the early 1900s. Today, it is only a filling station and cafe. It is not operated by a Whitaker. J. M. Whitaker was one of the earliest residents out there. A descandant runs the cafe.

Other early families include J. A. Shaeffers, the Carrs, the Carpenters, the Hardings and the Hodnetts.

Mrs. Delphia Gordon, who resides in Big Spring, was a Whitaker and remembers that her family moved to Texas from Tennessee in 1906, setting up around Quanah briefly. They had one wagon and team and were met by their uncle with another one and headed this way, settling out around Vincent.

Prior to having a church at Vincent, they used to hold camp meetings and later church congregations met in the one-room school. Some of the early teachers included a Mr. Davenport, a Mrs. Giddings and Mrs. Brown, mother of Mrs. Myra Robinson in Big Spring.

Davenport later became a county judge. Another early resident out that way who was later a county judge was Ed Carpenter. He also became a state legislator.

The folks out at Vincent pretty much agree with each other and have real strong opinions about everything. One time there was a county race out there when 70 voters were registered in the Vincent box. A total of 76 voters voted for the same candidate, with the other candidate getting no votes at all.

Jim Hodnett recalled that this was because there were six older folks who voted who were past the registration age. He chuckled and added, "You can look at the Vincent race in any election and the vote will all be pretty much one way. One time a candidate won in the county that had only gotten a few votes out at Vincent. He was instrumental in shutting down the Vincent voting place and we had to go all the way to Salem. The voting place has since been restored."

At the present time at Vincent, there is still a very active Baptist church. There used to be a Methodist Church as well, but it has been moved. There is a cotton gin. Some of the Barr family live in the community and Mrs. Willis Winters lives close by. There are a few other residents. There is a cafe and filling station.

Vincent is one of the rural areas that has survived without a school or post office. Most of the areas that survived clung either to a school — such as Forsan or Klondike, or at least a post office like out at Knott.

But Vincent has a strong church. It's kind of a community center and they have all kinds of senior citizen activities, family night suppers, and other gatherings.

Vincent's hardy. It's in an area in between the flat farmland and the beginnings of the Canyon Reef area.

It's a pretty part of the county and those who own the land there love it — out where I ride fence.

Rugged storms rumble eastward

By the Associated Press

The last of a batch of rugged thunderstorms that rumbled eastward across much of Texas overnight moved out of the state early today leaving Texans with a reminder of what spring storms can be like.

The most powerful storms struck in North Central and East Texas as at least one confirmed tornado and several suspected twisters were reported.

A tornado tore the roof off a small business in Longview Thursday night. No injuries were reported.

Meanwhile, either a tornado or just some strong winds plowed into a trailer park in the Dallas suburb of Plano, overturning at least one mobile home and slightly injuring one man.

Officials said five inches of rain fell in Richardson, just north of Dallas as the frontal system moved to the east.

Some low level flooding was reported as the National Weather Service issued a severe storm watch for some counties in the system's path.

Perry Wood, a National Weather Service meteorologist, said the night's activity was "a typical springtime storm."

Golf ball size hail was also reported east of Brownwood as the storm rolled by that city.

Overnight, temperatures ranged from the 20s in the Texas Panhandle to the 70s along the coast.

Just before dawn, skies in the western sections of the state were fair while cloudy to partly cloudy skies were the rule for the rest of the state.

The forecast called for sunny and mild conditions today for western portions with decreasing cloudiness and mild temperatures over the rest of the state.

Agent Orange symptoms investigated by VA

CHICAGO (AP) — The Veterans Administration says it is looking into complaints of veterans' health problems that may be due to exposure to Agent Orange, a toxic chemical used in Vietnam.

The VA said Thursday it is investigating 27 cases of veterans who complained of symptoms which may have been caused by exposure to the chemical, used during the war to kill vegetation.

The disclosure came shortly before WBBM-TV anchorman Bill Kurtis reported in a copyright story that veterans have complained to the VA in recent months about numbness in their fingers, diminished sex drive, aborted offspring or children born with birth defects, rashes, fatigue and nervousness.

VA spokesman Vern Rogers said symptoms of the 27 Chicago-area veterans include skin rashes and nervousness.

Rogers said most of them are not suffering "anything intense" now, "but if they suffer any serious illness 10 years from now, they want it in their records that they were in the defoliant areas."

In Washington, the VA said the 27 complaints in Chicago are the only ones it has received concerning the defoliants.

The broadcast said 10 million gallons of the herbicide were sprayed during the Vietnam War from 1962 to 1969.

Agent Orange is created by mixing two other herbicides, 2,4-D and 2,4,5-T, and contains dioxin, a deadly poison.

Rogers said VA employee Maude De Victor touched off the investigation when she processed a claim for the widow of former Air Force Sgt. Charles Owens, who died of cancer last summer. Ethel Owens claimed that Agent Orange was a factor in her husband's death.

Rogers said an Air Force study showed that there is "absolutely no evidence" that Agent Orange can cause deaths. He added that as part of the investigation, VA physicians soon will examine eight Chicago-area veterans who have filed claims with the VA.

Death penalty discriminates against men in Texas? No sir!

HOUSTON (AP) — State District Judge Lee Duggan has denied claims that the Texas death penalty statute discriminates against men.

After ruling Thursday he then ordered jury selection to begin Monday in the capital murder trial of Michael Eubanks, accused of beating a 22-year-old man to death with a hammer during a burglary.

Defense attorneys Michael Thornell and Michael Toomey spent two weeks presenting testimony to demonstrate their contention of discrimination.

They had sought to subpoena every district attorney in the state but Duggan rejected that request.

Thornell maintained that women are rarely charged with capital murder and even less frequently assessed the death penalty if convicted.

Parents must shape character, too

"It's not always easy to figure out where the responsibilities of the schools end, and where they begin with society," a Big Spring school administrator was prone to remark recently.

The official was referring to the pupil who defies traditional learning methods, who is absent from class more often than not, who is a disruptive influence to other students in class.

Teachers can make every effort to 'reach' such children, either through personal attention or through the home. There are those, however, who simply do not respond.

All too often, parents leave the job of molding character up to the schools when, in reality, the environment in which the child lives at home invariably determines how the child meets the challenges he or she faces in schools or elsewhere. Parents who shun the duty of helping prepare their children for the travail sure to come merely complicate the job facing the teachers.

There is no doubt but that the American home is in trouble. You can pick up the newspaper almost any day and read where violence involving parents and children has erupted. All too often, one has been pitted against the other.

A case in point was the Dallas girl convicted recently of stabbing her mother to death with a butcher knife. A psychologist who examined the girl said the teenager described a home life "in which she thought her personal feelings were deemed unimportant and the goals and values were very materialistic."

The sympathies of the public following the trial quite probably did not lie with the defendant in the case but the girl's statement might cause many parents to ask themselves some listen? Do you even want to take the time to listen? If the answer is "no" to either or both questions, then the whole system may be in trouble.

Most of us are prone to think that if we are good providers we are good parents, if we give the kids what they want in a material sense most of the time we deserve passing grades as heads of families.

Regrettably, that isn't always true. Being a parent is much more than that. It means setting an example of values for the child and show him there are more important things than making money.

Discipline is important. Learning when to exact it and to respect it is equally important.

Can Carter win?

Evans, Novak

WASHINGTON — Two questionable political weapons have been unsheathed by President Carter for possible use against Israel's Prime Minister Menahem Begin if — no matter what he says — he diddles the President and the United Nations on the demand for a rapid pullout of Israeli troops from Lebanon.

Yet, despite deadly serious purpose, the effectiveness of either weapon or of any other exercise of presidential power over Israel's prime minister is not yet certain. Indeed, the generally low state of U.S. influence, as contrasted with 21 years ago when President Eisenhower successfully ordered Israel to withdraw from its first Sinai invasion, affects the way Israel looks at the U.S. as much as it affects any other country.

THE FIRST OF Mr. Carter's weapons is straightforward: a law long on the books requiring a total ban on any more U.S. military aid to any country that has used American weapons against a foreign nation, except for self-defense. Begin claims that the invasion and takeover of one-tenth of Lebanon was for "self-defense" — but it will be termed offensive by President Carter if Begin doesn't quickly act on the Security Council order to get out.

The second weapon is more ambiguous but — as with the first — it could pose problems for Begin: a spelling out in detail of the U.S. position for an overall Mideast settlement.

Tenaciously resisted by all previous Israeli governments as equivalent to a hated "imposed" settlement, such a spelling out of the American position would put Begin on the political defensive.

"Carter means business this time," one administration official told us. "He feels more strongly than the so-called Arabists (pro-Arab diplomats) in the State Department."

Inside the White House, Mr. Carter's top aides talked bravely about the fact that "we are not defenseless" as they awaited Begin's arrival. But in hard fact, the mood was a bit apprehensive. Some with a long memory recalled nostalgically the way Eisenhower went on national television on Feb. 20, 1957, with his no-compromise demand that Israel withdraw from every inch of the Sinai it seized in 1956.

STATING THAT Israel "insists on firm guarantees" as a condition of withdrawal, Eisenhower said he would be "untrue" to his office if he endorsed "the proposition that a nation which invades another should be permitted to exact conditions for withdrawal."

The invasion of Lebanon, dictated by the same security concerns that led to that first invasion of the Sinai, has now taken Israeli troops to the Litani River. Some administration aides fear that Begin, a tough bargainer, will employ a series of stratagems to exploit the strong new military position his troops occupy, and his equally new strong political base following the March 11 terrorist attack.

One stratagem: an immediate, partial withdrawal to a line six miles north of the Israeli border. That was to be the original farthest point of the Israeli advance into Lebanon. By dramatizing a quick readiness to pull back that far — despite the risks of Arab guerrillas penetrating the area to be vacated — Begin would come across as accommodating, making it politically embarrassing for Mr. Carter to bring overt pressure to go all the way immediately.

A FAR GRAVER stratagem now feared by some Carter Mideast advisers would be a Begin offer for withdrawal from Lebanon, but linked to a demand that the President stop pressuring Israel to change its policy never to give up the West Bank.

That was the Carter administration's top target when the Begin visit was originally planned.

"SAY, KIDS, ...SPEAKING OF STUFF THAT'S BAD FOR YOU..."

Fats only part of iceberg

Dr. G. C. Thosteson

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have a high triglycerides count. Could you tell me what this means to my health? Can you give me any diet suggestions to bring it down? — R. W. S.

A high triglyceride level can lead to premature atherosclerosis (hardening of the arteries). This is a leading cause of poor circulation. More on diet later. I want to impress on you the importance of other factors you should be thinking about besides blood fats. Smoking, high blood pressure, excess weight — all are to be considered if the shoe fits. The fats are only part of the iceberg.

Trigylcerides along with cholesterol are blood lipds (fats). High levels can indicate other problems such as diabetes, thyroid disturbance, and liver disease. So, you see, it's not always as simple as learning you have high blood fats of one kind or another and thinking diet alone will control it. Your doctor can be more specific based on your condition.

You ask about diet. The general principle is to limit saturated-fat intake while keeping the carbohydrate portion of the diet at 30 to 40 per cent of the total calories eaten. This is important because triglycerides are formed from the glucose (sugar) in carbohydrates. Saturated fats are those solid at room temperature. In other words, avoid foods with shortening and the visible fats of meat and restrict the starchy foods.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: I have a question concerning the birth-control pill. I have heard that a woman is most fertile right when you stop using the pill. Is this true? — R. E.

I know of no evidence of this. In fact, fertility will vary consierably from woman to woman when stopping the pill after extended use. If a woman was able to conceive readily before use, she likely will soon after stopping. Some women who have had trouble having babies because of endometriosis, for example, may find the condition improved during pill use and thus conceive more readily after stopping. Dr. R. W. Kistner, who has written on the subject, notes that 75 per cent of women who desire to become pregnant will do so within three menstrual cycles after stopping the Pill, and 90 per cent within one year.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What is the epididymis? I didn't even know I had one, but my doctor says mine is infected from a urinary-tract infection I had. I understand it has something to do with sperm and that one can become sterile from this. — J. S.

It's a tiny cord-like structure behind the testis, in whose ducts sperm is stored. Inflammation of this (epididymitis) can result from a urinary-tract infection. If the infection is serious and prolonged, sperm can be affected and sterility result. The infection sometimes originates in the prostate gland. Symptoms are pain and fever in the scrotal area.

Bedrest, use of a scrotal suspensory, and drugs to combat the infecting organism are usually effective.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What do the initials "Dx" mean on a medical report? — J. J.

Diagnosis. Thus, "Dx angina pectoris" would mean the diagnosis is angina pectoris.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: My 9-year-old son has had his tonsils removed. He also had to have surgery on his ears because he had fluid behind his eardrum. Now he is always making faces and rubbing his nose. I want to know why he is always at his nose, picking and rubbing. I took him to the doctor and he said it's just a nervous habit. Do you think this is what it is? — B.H.

It might well be, but I doubt it. From your letter, this sounds like the classic allergy or asthma "salute." The face grimaces are usually a way of twitching the nose in response to an allergic itch. I suggest you see an allergist, who can verify this at first-hand and suggest steps to take.

Are you bothered with ringing in the ears? If so, write to Dr. Thosteson, in care of the Big Spring Herald, for his booklet, "Ear Noises — Their Causes and Cures." Enclose a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope and 25 cents.

CONFIDENTIAL TO MRS. F. . — It is not unusual to have patients accidentally lose an object in an orifice. This includes the nozzles of enemas or tips of douche bags. These foreign objects may produce local irritation or even perforate the lining if the surface is sharp. The doctor is adept at recovering such items and you should not be embarrassed to seek help. He probably has removed stranger objects from stranger places.

Arthritis suffers can be helped. Dr. Thosteson's booklet discusses many types of arthritis and related joint diseases as well as effective treatments and medication. For a copy of "How You Can Control Arthritis," write to him in care of The Big Spring Herald.

Although cholesterol has been implicated in heart attacks and other circulatory troubles, it is also vital to human life. For this reason Dr. Thosteson has entitled his booklet, "Control Your Cholesterol Sensibly." For a copy write to him in care of The Big Spring Herald, enclosing a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope and 50 cents.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes reader mail but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

My answer

Billy Graham

DEAR DR. GRAHAM: I am a Christian and I love God very much, and yet I am filled with fears about Heaven and how unworthy I am. Is the Lord trying to tell me something through these feelings? — M. G. M.

DEAR M. G. M.: Yes, He certainly does want to teach you something through this experience. I believe what He would want to teach you is to trust Him completely for your salvation. You say that you love God, and that is good. But what you need now is a full awareness of the love that Jesus has for you. If you have doubts or fears about anything God has promised you — including forgiveness of your sins and a place in Heaven — then you are not aware of the extent of God's love for you.

You are right when you say you are unworthy of Heaven. The Bible says this is true of everyone, because we are all sinners in the eyes of God. But God loves us, and God has done for us what we would never do for ourselves — He has provided a way for us to be saved. By faith and trust in Christ we can be saved. How do we know that God loves us? "Herby perceive we the love of God, because he laid down his life for us" (I John 3:16). Always remember: "Herein is love, not that we loved God, but that he loves us, and sent his Son to be the propitiation for our sins (I John 4:10).

When you really understand that God loves you with an everlasting love, and that His Son died on the cross for your sins, then you know He can be trusted. When Paul thought about Heaven, he could say, "I know whom I have believed, and am convinced that he is able to guard what I have entrusted to him for that Day" (2 Timothy 1:12, New International Version).

Yes, trust Christ, not your feelings. "But I have trusted in thy mercy; my heart shall rejoice in thy salvation" (Psalm 13:5).

Around the rim

It's funny how morals, normally the source of most of man's indignation, can go into temporary suspension at the drop of an anti-hero.

Most of the literature we read as children, from the swashbuckling Robin Hood to Scaramouche and from the pathetic Oliver Twist to Mutiny on the Bounty, pits the heroic figure against an intolerant ruling class.

THE HEROES we love most dearly, the Scarlet Pimpernel, the Highwayman, the Three Musketeers of fiction, and Ethan Allan, Francis Marion, or even George Washington of American history, all were faced with larger, relentless opponents. They were all underdogs, and many of them were, fairly or unfairly, branded as outlaws or criminals. We all knew that Robin Hood had killed the King's deer, but because the Sheriff of Nottingham was such a rotter, we forgave Robin and loved him all the more.

In movies, too, the idea of the loner against the system has stood the test of time from Gary Cooper in High Noon on down to Barry Newman in Vanishing Point.

That's why I am so charmed by Hershel Love. Granted that he is not the kind of fellow I want my children to emulate, but then neither was Oliver Twist. He is not leading the kind of life I would want to follow myself, but I have nc urge to be Athos, Porthos, or Aramis. And he is not the kind of fellow I would want for a next door neighbor, being a convicted burglar, but then Robin Hood might have decided to take some of my "riches" (as if I had any) and distribute them to the poor, with or without my consent.

And Hershel Love has one more quality most of the romantic anti-heroes of my youth do not: as far as I know he has not injured anyone.

He has led the cops on a merry chase four times after breaking out of various Institutions for the Unsatisfactory. He has startled some people (I mean possibly he has) by standing somewhere near their beds and ineptly trying to filch their valuables and rifle their wallets. He has also, if rumor is to be believed, found time to stop off with the ladies, much like Burt Raynolds in recent films, for a tall beer while on his flight from authority.

IT ALL SEEMS rather quaint to me. I acknowledge that law officers are likely to say at this point, "It won't seem quaint when you wake up and find him standing over your bed." I am forced to agree.

But in the meantime, Mr. Love seems to enjoy playing cat-and-mouse with the forces that be, and like many earlier criminals (Bonnie and Clyde are a bloody example) he seems to be able to catch the imagination of the public. More people have said to me "Isn't that something?" than have said, "This man must be put away for the safety of society."

Perhaps it is spring, but I think Love's antics are viewed with some relish. I hope that the scene can be played to the end without tragedy.

Big Spring Herald Mailbag

DEAR EDITOR,

I have just read an article in your newspaper about a man that was ordered not to fly his flag at half mast, just because there are a few knotheads in the United States district courts. They said something about religious beliefs. Well, I personally think that if a man wants to fly his flag, it is his legal right to fly it. Just because there are a few people who do not believe in Christ, well that is their legal right to believe the way they want to believe, but why should they impose their believes on someone and take their rights from them?

What is this country coming to? United States, the home of the FREE??? Speak up America.

Arafat puzzle

Jack Anderson,

WASHINGTON — As leader of the Palestine Liberation Organization, hawk-beaked Yassir Arafat commands audiences with heads of states throughout the world. He is a man who could spell the difference between war and peace in the Middle East. Should a Palestinian homeland be established, Arafat would likely be its chief.

Yet he cannot be trusted, or else he does not control his own organization. This is clear from the transcript of a three-hour discussion between Arafat and four members of Congress last January.

The Palestinian leader plainly and repeatedly denied that the PLO condoned terrorism. Only two months later, the PLO's military arm, Al Fatah, boasted of perpetrating the guerrilla raid on Israel, which left 35 men, women and children dead. This was the foray that precipitated the Israeli military occupation of a buffer zone in Lebanon.

ARAFAT MET with Reps. Paul Findley, R.-Ill., Helen Meyner, D.-N.J., Leo Ryan, D.-Calif., and Larry Winn, R.-Kan., in Damascus, Syria. The full transcript has never been published, but it has become a significant document since the latest developments in the Middle East.

The transcript doesn't identify which congressmen asked the questions, but one raised the question of terrorism. "Now there has been terrorism in the past," he said. "I am not about to say anybody's free or clean of that particular charge. But terrorism has been used by the PLO in the past. What about now? What about the future?"

Responding in English, Arafat declared: "You are saying that terrorism is being used by the PLO? Definitely no, not by the PLO."

"Not by the PLO?"

"Definite, not by the PLO."

The questioner recalled the slaying of Israeli athletes at the 1972 Olympics at Munich. "Not by the PLO," the Arab leader cut in, "definitely." He acknowledged only that some terroristic acts had been committed by individuals whom the PLO couldn't control.

"But," pressed his questioner, "the PLO, in a formal sense and as an organization, does not engage and has not engaged in terrorism. Is that right?"

"Definite!"

"Is it your statement that the PLO is not responsible for any acts of terrorism?"

The Palestinian repeated, with even more emphasis: "Yes, and we are against it."

During a subsequent dinner, the swarthy Arafat dictated a personal letter for delivery to President Carter proclaiming that he was pursuing "a moderate approach" in the Middle East. The letter was delivered to Carter's national security adviser Zbigniew Brzezinski in late January.

The unpublished transcript raises two possibilities. First, Arafat is a blatant liar who couldn't be trusted to keep a Palestinian agreement. Or second, he has lost control over the PLO and can no longer speak with any authority.

CONSUMER SAFETY: We kept exposing new scandals at the Consumer Product Safety Commission until its embattled chairman, John Byington, resigned with a parting blast at us. Now the White House is considering abolishing the agency altogether.

This misses the whole point of our stories. We criticized the inefficiency and ineffectiveness of the agency, not its purpose. The commission, despite its past problems, has the potential to prevent thousands of deaths and injuries from dangerous products.

Business groups have been lobbying behind the scenes to curtail the power of the consumers in Washington. First the business lobbyists blocked the creation of a Consumer Protection Agency.

THEY DEMONSTRATED THAT they had more influence on Capitol Hill than President Carter who, according to confidential White House minutes, made several personal telephone calls to key congressmen the day before the crucial House vote. His consumer adviser, Esther Peterson, also passed out a list of undecided congressmen to Cabinet members, so they could join in pushing the consumer agency. But the White House effort failed.

Now the triumphant business lobbyists are trying to eliminate the only remaining consumer agency in the federal government. But this time, they seem to have some of the White House staff on their side.

Meeting behind closed White House doors, budget aide Harrison Welford outlined a tentative plan to break up the Consumer Product Safety Commission and transfer its functions to other agencies.

"The agency is not doing a very good job," said one official. "Because of Carter's campaign commitments, it would be malfeasance to ignore it."

But not all the officials at the meeting agreed. Food and Drug Commissioner Donald Kennedy, Environmental Protection chief Douglas Costle and Federal Trade Chairman Michael Pertschuk expressed reservations about the breakup.

A secret White House memo, nevertheless, proposed that Carter appoint an interim chairman for one year while the agency is being dismantled. But many Democratic congressmen will argue that the agency should be given a chance, with new, activist members appointed by Carter.

AID TO ARABS: President Carter has indicated to critics that he was merely carrying out the policies of his predecessors when he offered to increase military shipments to Egypt and Saudi Arabia.

He notified his Cabinet behind closed doors that "the United States will honor commitments of previous administrations to sell weapons to various countries in the Middle East."

Controversial book OKed

By BOB BURTON

After a short discussion, the Big Spring School Board of Trustees voted to approve the choices of their textbook committee for use in the district next year.

Included in the approval was the eighth grade literature text, "Focalpoints in Literature," printed by Scotts-Foresman. The text drew criticism from several parents at the meeting for its portrayal of "the dark side of humanity" and its preoccupation with "negative values."

Discussion was begun by Assistant Superintendent Harold Bentley, chairman of the textbook committee. Bentley described the process used by the committee in re-evaluating its selections. Bentley emphasized that the choice of the parents who objected at the first March meeting was felt to be unacceptable because of "the lack of a contemporary section and because it does not relate well to minorities."

"I can understand your questioning our saying we want input because when the input is not followed 100 per cent you ask again if we really want it," Bentley told the parents. "These teachers will take your concerns into account when they teach. I would not question any one of them teaching my son or daughter."

Spencer Wolfe, 2604 Cactus, told the board, "Professionalism is not the issue. I am confused as to what guidelines, what moral values, what intent is being taught by this book."

The motion to accept was made by Carol Hunter, seconded by Jim Bill Little. Al Valdes cast the sole dissenting vote.

The board also heard a presentation from Assistant Superintendent for Business Don Crockett concerning Title One funding for the district. Crockett told the board that the Title One funds had been released by the federal government, and asked the board to approve a budget amendment dispensing $75,134 in federal funds.

Secondary School Curriculum Coordinator Janice Rosson made a brief presentation of two new learning methods under consideration for the district. The first, called USAIL, is designed to motivate students to read. Mrs. Rosson cited figures showing that falling reading skills occur above the third grade, indicating that the basic skills are still being taught, but that motivation is harder to come by.

The second system involved computers as a study aid, and cited the attention-holding power of the computer as a positive study aid.

Bentley also presented the board members with copies of a survey to be distributed to parents, students, community members, and teachers to evaluate goals for the district for the next five years. The survey is an outgrowth of the Texas Legislature's mandate for accreditation for Texas school districts.

May volunteer legal skills

CHICAGO (AP) — Celebrated attorney Louis Nizer says he is considering volunteering his legal skills toward efforts to stop a Nazi group from marching in Skokie, a predominantly Jewish suburb of Chicago.

Nizer told the Chicago Sun-Times he would be "very interested" in handling an appeal by the Village of Skokie of a ruling last month that cleared the way for the march.

"There are legal remedies to enjoin (the Nazis) from carrying out their plans in this village," Nizer said.

He was in Chicago Tuesday to address the Chicago Bar Association.

Nizer said he had not been approached by village officials about taking the case. He added he would consider taking the case for free.

Harvey Schwartz, village counsel, said "we've had many offers of support and assistance" in connection with the case. He declined to comment further.

Possible, says scientist

Life begins at 150?

How old is old?

To an American, whose average life expectancy has reached a record 72.5 years, 80 or 90 would probably seem a bonus.

But to those sprightly 100-year-olds from Russia, often seen on television commercials eating yogurt in the company of their mothers, anything under 100 would be unfortunate.

Well, living a lot longer than that is not an impossibility in this country, says the American Council of Life Insurance and within a few generations it could happen.

Dr. C. W. Hall, head of the artificial organs programs of Southwest Research Institute, San Antonio, Texas, told the Council:

"The truth of the matter is that people today don't live long enough to die of old age. They die of disease.

"Conquer the disease process, don't allow it to set in — which is medically possible — and we can all live appreciably longer."

How long?

"When we can practice preventive medicine from the Day One, and make disabling diseases a thing of the past, I see no reason why a 150-year-old of the the future won't be able to play tennis with the same vigor that a 30- or 40-year-old does today," he said, and added:

"You see, we all have a biological clock that eventually will have to run down. But my guess is that would take 300 or more years, if diseases didn't interfere."

Dr. Hall, a surgeon and former member of the highly-regarded Debakey transplant team in Houston, Texas, believes that eventually Americans will be able to look forward to added centuries, but not us.

"Frankly," he said, "we're not ready for it. For if we were suddenly able to add all those years it would boggle our minds, affect our religious, economic, and legal thinking."

Clubhouse

ABWA gains four members

Members and guests of the Cactus Chapter of the American Business Women's Association met March 20 at the Dora Roberts Community Center for a salad supper and initiation ceremony for new members.

Ruth Manuel, president, presided.

The invocation and Pledge of Allegiance were led by Vonna Lee Cederberg.

David Giles, a psychologist at the Big Spring State Hospital and senior resident of the admission staff, was the guest speaker. He has been affiliated with state mental institutions for the past ten years and moved here from Terrell.

Giles stated that a psychologist is in reality a scientist who specializes in human behavior and a person who understands, predicts and attempts to control human behavior in its different phases.

He discussed techniques used in assessing treatment and therapy as a consultant. His unit stresses short periods of time for each patient admitted to the hospital and instructs nurses and aides to assist in carrying out the program.

The stigma attached to mental problems have been greatly reduced in the last ten years and many patients now come to the hospital for help on their own initiative.

Ludie Dean, Bell Telephone Co. employee, was the vocational speaker. In her 20 years of service to the company, she has worked as a switchboard operator, in the commercial department, as a drafter woman, and is now clerk and secretary to the company supervisor. Her varied duties have been a challenge which she has turned into a profitable tenure.

Perfect attendance awards were presented to Esther Trantham, Margaret Wiles, Maurine Hanks, Marquerite Bryant, Ruth Manuel and Dessie McMichael.

New members initiated were Lorna Miller, Gail Earls, Wanda Henderson and Peggy Morrison.

The next meeting is slated for 7 p.m., April 17.

Delta Delta names officers

The Texas Delta Delta Sorority met March 14 at the home of Laura Erhardt, hostess.

A red carnation in a bud vase was sent to Jean Cantrell, chapter secretary, who underwent minor surgery recently.

Callie Mason, president, called the meeting to order and opened with the Opening Pledge.

New officers were elected to serve during 1978-1979. They are Callie Mason, president; Laura Duke, vice president; Jean Cantrell, secretary; Betty Warden, treasurer; Laura Erhardt, historian, and Betty Warden, extension office.

A program entitled "Goal of Good Life" was presented by Ms. Warden. All members in questions and discussion.

Texas Gamma Sigma Alpha hosted the spring Permian Basin Area Assembly Branch and Officer Installation at 10 a.m., March 19 at Midland. Many chapter members attended.

Ms. Duke closed the meeting by leading members in the Closing Prayer. Refreshments were served and conversation enjoyed before adjourning.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Ms. Warden at 7:30 p.m., April 11. Ms. Erhardt will present the program.

Rosebuds see flower film

The home of Mrs. James Johnston was the meeting place March 21 for the Rosebud How To Grow Garden Club.

Mrs. Johnston presented a film entitled "Up, Down and Around" featuring flowers of Missouri, Illinois, Wisconsin and Maine.

The spring flower show will take place April 29 and 30. Each garden club member who has been a member for over a year is required to enter in three classes. The public is also invited to enter in and attend the show.

The club discussed furnishing some sandwiches and cookies for the Big Spring Alliance of Clubs' meeting slated for April 9, from 3 to 5 p.m., at the Dora Roberts Community Center.

The Rosebud How To Grow welcomes new members.

Pupils plant terrariums

The Oasis Garden Club conducted their garden therapy project at Moss Elementary School recently with fourteen children participating.

The club assisted the children in potting various terrarium plants and succulents in colorful plastic baskets of colors geared for the Easter season. The baskets were hung with macrame of orange, blue and red.

The project was directed by Mrs. J. D. Leonard, Mrs. Shirley Walker and Thetus Dunagan, assisted by classroom teachers.

A study of fragrant leaves and potting of mint sprigs is planned for April 19.

DAVA honors unit members

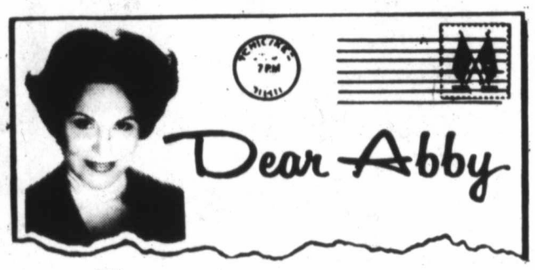

The Disabled American Veterans Auxiliary met in regular session recently.

The chapter commander invited unit members to be present as he presented plaques and certificates to outstanding members for special work that they had done. Unit members then went into their meeting room for the business at hand.

Katie Spivey, commander, presided, and Clara Lewis answered the roll call given by Marguret Caldwell.

Mrs. Grady Rhone was installed as a new member, and it was reported that coffee and cake were served to 80 patients at the V.A. Hospital by Nelda Burkhart, Helda Babb, Lois Ferguson and Katie Spivey.

The next meeting will be at 7:30 p.m. April 17 in the V. F. W. Hall in the Silver Heels addition.

Dear Abby

Teen Needs Help In Handling 'Dad'

DEAR ABBY: I am a 15-year-old girl living in a foster home. I don't mind being in a home—the mother is a sweet person and I love her. But the father is not the type of father I would like. I am very big for my age, and sometimes I have problems about it. The father has offfered me money to let him touch me, but I have never accepted.

Abby, the reason why I don't tell my foster mother is that I don't want to be sent away from here.

I have asked God to help me, and He does. I'm saved, but I am still afraid of this man. I never let him touch me. I always run into the bathroom and lock the door.

Please tell me how to cope with this without being sent away.

AFRAID

DEAR AFRAID: Please, please, tell your foster mother! I am almost certain you'll not be sent away, but if you are, it would be better than living in your present environment. Your foster father is a sick man and needs to be treated. If you don't tell your foster mother, he could eventually harm you or some other young girl. I beg you to confide in your foster mother today. Write again and let me know how you are. I care.

DEAR ABBY: When I was 19 and in nurses' training, I became pregnant. It was the first and only time I ever went all the way, and I got caught.

The boy offered to marry me, but he wasn't ready for marriage and neither was I, so I said no. I had the baby and gave it up for adoption to a family unknown to me. But I was assured that the child would be loved and well cared for.

My parents stood by me through it all, for which I'll be eternally grateful because I caused them a lot of grief and heartache.

Anyway, I've been a nurse for three years now and have fallen in love with a young doctor. He is so kind and good. I never knew anyone that wonderful could exist. He's asked me to marry him and I want to. But I don't know if I should tell him about my past.

Please advise me. He can't understand why I haven't given him an answer. Thank you.

R.N.

DEAR R.N.: Tell him the truth. If he's as "wonderful" as you say he is, he'll not hold it against you—and if he does, you're ahead to know it up front.

DAILY BREAD

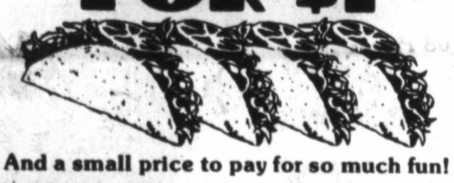

By Phillip McClenden
Pastor
Hillcrest Baptist Church

It is most unfortunate that in normal experience, we face the fact of the resurrection only once a year. Of course, that is better than not facing it at all. But it is important for us to realize that in following this practice, we have abandoned the pattern set for us by the early Christians. For with them, the resurrection theme was both constant and central emphasis.

You will recall how the Apostle Paul outraged the Athenians and especially the Epicurean and Stoic philosophers by including a mention of the resurrection in his famous address on Mars Hill. And again in the first letter to the Corinthians, Paul reminded them of the terms under which he preached the Gospell; "For I delivered unto you first of all that which I also received, how that Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures; and that he was buried, and that he rose again the third day according to the scriptures: Therefore, whether it were I or they, so we preach, and so ye believed." I Cor. 15:3-4, 11.

Average gas price $.60½

Motorists driving in Texas the Easter weekend will pay a little less for gasoline than they did over the Christmas holidays, and they will find fewer than one-third of the state's service stations closed on Easter Sunday.

A survey of 191 service stations conducted by the American Automobile Association showed that full-service regular gas was selling for an average price of 60.7 cents per gallon, compared to 61.0 cents per gallon at Christmas.

The average full-service price of unleaded gas has decreased slightly from 63.9 cents per gallon to 63.6; and the average price of premium gas dropped from 65.6 cents per gallon to 65.4.

The survey also showed that motorists can save an average of six cents per gallon on regular gas, 5.5 cents on unleaded and 4.8 cents on premium by pumping it themselves at self-service facilities.

No supply problems are expected in Texas over Easter, and only 30 per cent of the stations surveyed expected to close on Easter Sunday. All of the stations that were called planned to be open Friday and Saturday of the holiday weekend.

Following are the average full-service and self-service prices for fuel in various Texas cities:

Just too many hospital beds

WASHINGTON (AP) — Claiming there are too many hospital beds in the country, the government has established the first national hospital standards.

The standards, which go into effect Friday and give local areas five years to bring themselves into line, represent a significant retreat from "mandatory" rules that the Department of Health, Education and Welfare proposed last September. The HEW rules say there should be fewer than four general hospital beds per 1,000 population in a community, with an 80 percent occupancy rate. There are now about 4.4 beds per 1,000 nationwide and a 75 percent occupancy rate.

WATERFRONT FIRE — Flames spurted 150 feet in the air before dawn today in a fire which destroyed five small warehouses on the Norfolk waterfront. Flames also damaged a ship tied to the docks at Pan Atlantic Terminals, which owned the warehouses. Cause of the fire and the extent of the damages were not immediately known.

RESCUED PLANE CRASH VICTIMS — Bus driver Allan Thomas rescued two persons from the wreckage of a burning plane Thursday afternoon on the Pennsylvania Turnpike near Morgantown, Pa. Thomas was driving a bus from Pittsburgh to Philadelphia when the small aircraft hit an embankment in front of him. He stopped the bus and pulled an eight-year-old girl and her father out of the wreckage. Thomas is shown with his daughters, Beth, left, and Susan and his wife, Betty, right.

Motorists ignored his plea for help

MORGANTOWN, Pa. (AP) — When a single-engine plane swooped in front of his bus and crashed, driver Allan Thomas ran to the wreck. But other motorists ignored his pleas to help, stopping to take photos and movies as he pulled two victims from the burning plane.

"It was flaming, there wasn't time to go for help," Thomas said Thursday, after rescuing Harold Denlinger, 32, and his daughter, Emily, 8, from their plane, which had smashed into a dirt embankment along the Pennsylvania Turnpike near here.

Thomas was driving a Greyhound bus on a run from Pittsburgh to Philadelphia when he saw the plane crash about 2:30 p.m.

"I just took a chance, that's all," he said about running to the burning plane. "It was moving slow when it crashed, and I thought they might need a hand getting out."

They did.

Emily's face had been raked by branches that whipped the plane as it tore through tree limbs. Denlinger was unconscious, his hands stiff on the controls.

Thomas took the girl first.

"I wasn't scared," he said. "I just knew I had to get her out."

Thomas had problems when he went back for Denlinger.

"It was like he had been dead three days, he was so stiff," Thomas said. By this time, several dozen motorists had stopped, but Thomas's pleas for help went unanswered.

"I said, 'Won't somebody please help me?' but they all told me to get back, that the plane was going to explode. Some of them were taking pictures. Some of them were taking movies," Thomas said.

Thomas said two men finally came forward and helped him pull Denlinger from the plane. A bus passenger helped him lug a 50-pound fire extinguisher from the bus to the wreck and fight the fire.

State troopers, a fire engine and an ambulance then arrived. Thomas said the entire rescue took about 15 minutes.

Denlinger was listed in poor condition Thursday night in the intensive care unit at Reading Hospital, where officials said he had a fractured skull, broken legs and possible internal injuries..

Emily Denlinger was listed in satisfactory condition with facial cuts and a broken hand.

This thing we call hope — it is a strange thing. It springs eternal in the human breast . . . and yet so often it has been mocked by time and tragedy.

Why, indeed, does every man cling to his hope, even when the self-styled realists cry "hopeless."

The answer is written in the beautiful history of the first Easter Day. Faithful friends of the Master came to anoint His Body. Came sorrowing . . . without hope.

And they returned rejoicing: "Christ is risen . . ."

That was the birthday of Hope . . . the certainty of Christians that even death cannot destroy the believing soul!

And every Easter Day countless men and women discover or rediscover that Hope. It brings a new joy to their lives. It will, to yours . . .

SPACE AGE WATCH — This is the Hewlett-Packard HP-ol that not only tells time but offers a 200-year perpetual calendar as part of the dazzling package.

Well, it's just about time

DALLAS (AP) — The exotic wrist watches being marketed these days seem to be missing only Dick Tracy's fabled 2-way radio. With a myriad of sophisticated devices, they are no longer Mickey Mouse.

The watches serve as alarm clocks, stopwatches, calculators, mini-databanks and calendars — programed until the year 2078, including leap years so you won't have to trouble yourself with changing the date.

And, of course, they flash the time — digital, naturally — and the date. And day of the week, or the day of the year. Or give you a choice of the month-day-year or day-month-year, depending on which sequence you prefer.

In the five years since conventional watches first faced competition from digital models, styles have progressed from the first generation push-a-button-and-find-the-time-in-glowing-red to dazzling multi-purpose wrist packages.

One firm has marketed a complicated model that includes a full-fledged four-function, eight-digit calculator with percent keys and scientific notations. It flashes, on command, the time, day of the week or day of the year.

It also has a 200-year perpetual calendar and an alarm function that will automatically activate every 12 hours and a stop watch accurate to the hundreth of a second. A timer can be set for any time within a 100-hour time span.

Finally, an internal memory can store an eight-digit number indefinitely, which comes in handy if there is a phone number or street adress to remember.

You might also find the calculator invaluable in figuring the price of the watch — $650 in silver and $750 in gold.

The picture appears to be bright for digital watch markets — most jewelers complain of not being able to get enough of the more popular models. One model, which includes a stopwatch and an alarm, is in such short supply that clerks are telling customers it might be several months before orders can be filled.

As technology has improved and become more widely spread, costs have fallen.

Your basic digital watch, which once sold for more than $100, is now available for $9.95. For $20 or so, watches with six functions can be purchased.

Models with stopwatch features start at about $40, alarms at about $180.

But not everyone is embracing the trend. One exclusive Dallas jeweler has stopped carrying digital watches entirely.

'We found they simply do not perform. Returns, in some cases, exceeded 50 percent," said Carl Laymon, store manager.

"It's OK for the guy who buys a $19.95 watch from a department store and is willing to do so every six months," he added. "But our customers buy a watch expecting it to last 10 years."

Though reliability has been a problem, Bulova, which has 85 styles of digital watches, claims last year's return rate was only 3.5 percent.

Harris guilty of robbing Miles bank

BALLINGER — Johnnie Franklin Harris, 52, found guilty of robbing a Miles bank last November, was sentenced to 97 years in the Texas Department of Corrections here Thursday.

Harris waived his right to a jury trial, entering a plea of guilty.

Harris was arrested March 4 in Del Rio and charged with the aggravated robbery of the Miles Citizens National Bank in which $3,400 was taken.

Kurt Steib, presiding judge in 119th District Court, passed sentence upon Harris.

Next generation will freeze in dark around year 2000?

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — A research scientist says the proposed solar power satellite is the only answer to the nation's energy needs and work on the project should be expedited.

"If SPS development is not begun soon, Dr. James W. Moyer told an energy conference, "a lot of you folks are going to have children who will freeze in the dark around the year 2000."

Another scientist told the group a SPS would cost $27 billion.

"We have a great sense of urgency about this program and we have about 12 to 15 years to negotiate the price," Moyer, with the Southern California Edison Company, said Thursday at a conference on "Meeting Energy Needs Today and Tomorrow." The conference was sponsored by the University of Houston and the National Consumer Research Institute.

Prior to Moyer's talk, Gordon R. Woodcock, solar power systems study manager for the Boeing Co., presented the $27 billion price tag for the SPS.

Woodcock said this would be a commercial system, including the satellite itself, transporation costs of building in a 22,300 mile orbit and two ground stations.

However, he said the figures could be reduced as the program progressed.

For instance, he said he believes the cost of orbital transportation could be cut in half as more research is done on solar cells and the cost of these would be reduced.

Moyer, who worked on the Manhattan Project, the development of the first atomic bomb, said California Edison, which provides about 2 percent of the electrical energy produced in the United States, has done research into virtually every type of alternate energy source.

"We have never had a situation like this in our history,," he said, referring to the energy crisis.

He said there are compelling reasons for getting on with the SPS program--continued economic growth, surviving as a nation and increasing the quality of life.

He said that he has researched all of the options available as fossil fuel sources run out "and I don't think we have an option" other than SPS.

He said if it takes 20 years to develop SPS, "now is the time to push the button."

"If we don;t do something, someday the archaeologists are going to dig us up and wonder what happened," he said.

THE LAST SUPPER — The annual presentation of the living Last Supper will be presented at 7 p.m. Easter night at the Church of the Nazarene at 1400 Lancaster. The men in the church portray the disciples and Jesus. The Rev. Mac Hollingsworth invites the public to attend.

Jehovah's Witnesses attend special meet

Jehovah's Witnesses of the local Spanish congregation will attend their semi-annual circuit assembly in Carlsbad, N.M. April 1 and 2. All sessions will be held at the Civic Center.

Theme of the assembly is, "Do All Things For The Sake Of The Good News," based on 1 Cor. 9:19-27. Referring to the theme, Eliseo Gamboa, presiding overseer, commented, "Having the treasure of the truth in our possession, and being favored with the Christian ministry, we cannot afford to shirk our responsibility, but it should motivate us to have a burning interest in others and a desire to help others."

Gamboa said that Jehovah's Witnesses celebrate three assemblies a year and that the uniform instruction and counsel that they receive is an important factor in unifying them under Jehovah's kingdom rule.

Over 1,000 delegates from 19 congregations in West Texas are expected to be present when D.G. Van Ike, district overseer, gives the talk, "Have Faith In The Good News", April 2 at 2 p.m.

Book store is now open

A new religious book store. The Abundant Life Book Store is now open on Gregg street just across from Safeway.

The new store offers greeting cards, books, stationary and records using a religious theme. It is open to the public six days a week and closed on Sunday.

Jimmy speaks

ATLANTA (AP) — President Jimmy Carter, a Southern Baptist, is scheduled to speak at a rally here June 16 at the close of the annual Southern Baptist Convention.

Mormons celebrate a night in Nauvoo

The wearing of the Green is not the only celebration observed on March 17 each year.

The oldest auxiliary of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints is the Relief Society, and it was organized on March 17, 1842. All over the world, and in many ways, the birthday of this society is honored.

When it was first organized in Nauvoo, Illinois, it was called The Female Relief Society. In 1892 it was named the National Women's Society, and in 1942, it was named The Relief Society of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints, because it had become a worldwide organization, organized for the same purpose.

Its purpose had been, and to this day still is, to look after the needs of the poor; to search after the objects of charity; to administer to their wants; and to assist in correcting the morals and strengthening the virtues of the community.

In 1914, it had a wide circulation called Relief Society Magazine. Today, this magazine is called a Relief Society Manual, and is used as a study guide for its meetings, which are held once each week. These meetings are held in what is called first and second sessions.

The first session is a morning meeting, which is held in Big Spring on Wednesday at 10 a.m. The second session is held on Sunday afternoon at 1 p.m. The second session is held for the "sisters" who have jobs, or go to school, or for reasons of illness have missed the first session.

All ladies from the age of eighteen and upward, are given the opportunity to attend this function. The Relief Society began with a scant 18 members. Today it has a membership of well over one million women.

On the first Wednesday of the month, the "sisters" study the scriptures together. This is called the Spiritual Living Lesson.

The second Wednesday is Homemaking, which consists of learning homemaking skills, such as quilting, sewing, bread making, or whatever else needs to be learned to make better homemakers, wives, and mothers.

A luncheon is served on this day.

On the third Wednesday, the lesson is on Social Relations for the "sisters" who choose this lesson, and Mother Education, for ones who have young children.

The fourth Wednesday is Cultural Refinement, when the members learn how their foreign "sisters" live, their customs, dress, and hardships in even getting to attend their church meetings.

The theme for the Big Spring Ward was "A Night In Nauvoo" Friday night in the Big Spring Ward, the women and their husbands gathered at the church for their annual birthday celebration. The scenes were set for a beautiful night in 1842.

The soft music of way back when, brought memories of younger days. There was an old-fashioned stew supper, with home made bread and sweet milk. After the supper, games of the times were played. Relay races were run with men peeling a carrot, and women driving nails into a board, to see which had the better skill.

Old-fashioned arm wrestling and stick pulling were held.

In Houston, one of the Wards had an old-fashioned Country Fair. with home making skills and arts and crafts displayed, as well as games and refreshments.

In other lands, members celebrate the birthday in much the same way, although they have never been to the United States.

To a Latter Day Saint Woman, Relief Society means liberation. It is the free agency to choose a way of life.

She can learn about politics, serve on school boards, or in the PTA, be a den mother. She can learn out of the best books, Music, go to college, be a nurse, or whatever she chooses.

Child treated as goddess

KATMANDU, Nepal (AP) — The 11-year-old daughter of Prim Sakya can't go out and play like other children in Katmandu. She's too busy being worshipped.

The girl, whose real name her family refused to disclose, is regarded as a living goddess to the Nepalese — from ragged peasant to the Himalayan nation's king.

Young Miss Sakya is the object of what is called virgin worship, a Hindu and Buddhist practice in Nepal which dates back to the sixth century B.C.

There are at least 11 girls revered as deities around Nepal, and who become the center of attraction during religious festivals, but only Prim Sakya's child is recognized as the "Raj Kumari" or "Royal Virgin Goddess," a title she has carried for seven years.

The sick, particularly those with tuberculosis or hemorrhaging problems worship her in the hope she will cure them. Politicians make offerings at her feet, believing it will help their careers.

Her most important patron, however, is Nepal's 32-year-old King Birendra who holds near absolute power in the tiny land-locked country. Traditional belief has it that the monarch derives this power from the royal kumari.

The king worships her every September, touching her crimson-painted toes with his forehead and presenting her with a gold coin. His own blessing comes in the form of a red dot she applies to his forehead and a garland of flowers she places around his neck.

American Bible adds 28

NEW YORK (AP) — Portions of the Bible were translated into 28 more languages in 1977, the American Bible Society reports. It says this brings to 1,631 the number of the world's languages and dialects into which one book of the Bible has been published.

These languages represent those spoken by 98 per cent of the world's population, but only a little over half of the 3,000 known languages and distinct dialects.

Entire Bibles were published for the first time last year in four languages and complete New Testaments in 23 languages. So far, the complete Bible now is available in 22 languages, the New Testament in 420.

Evangelicals adopt paper

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) The National Association of Evangelicals has adopted a 1978 position paper, emphasizing evangelical responsibility to serve both special and spiritual needs of people.

The action, pointing up a growing evwcgelical recognition that gospel principles should be applied to social issues as well as for personal salvation, was based on a verse in the book of the prophet Micah to "do justice, to love kindness and to walk humbly with thy God."

First Christians set special service

To commemorate the First Easter, members of the First Christian Church (Disciples of Christ) will participate in a 6:30 p.m. Sunrise Worship Service on the lawn of the church. Worship leaders will be from among the church's junior high and high school young people.

Pre-service music will be played by Angela Cavnar. Music for congregational singing will be played by Mrs. Virginia Martin. Other participants in the service are Joni Avery, Kathryn Martin, Ricky Myers, Barry Rosson, Jan Hoover, and Bronwyn Allen. "I Know That My Redeemer Lives," from the Easter portion of Handel's Messiah will be sung by Ken Carney and Paula Waters.

The morning meditation theme will emphasize "the symbolism of the dawn as a sign of hope and peace following a night of hopelessness and despair." Each worshipper will be given a cross fashioned of Palm leaves used the Sunday before to celebrate Jesus' triumphant entry into Jerusalem. "The empty cross, like the empty tomb, affirms the Risen and Living Christ," it will be pointed out.

Following the service all worshippers will be invited to participate in a fellowship breakfast served by members of the Rosa Ann Parks Groups of the Christian Women's Fellowship. Adults will be served for $2.50 and children for $1.75.

During the morning worship service, beginning at 10:50, the Chancel Choir will sing "Easter Proclamation" by Albert Zabel. The fanfare call to worship will be accompanied Van Johnson, organist and Dr. John R. Fish and Barry Fish, trumpeters.

The morning anthem, to be sung by the Chancel Choir and accompanied by Van Johnson, is "Love is Come Again," a French Easter carol arranged by Robert Roesch with text by J.M.C. Crum.

The Biblical text for the morning worship service is Matthew 28:1-10. "Members and guests are encouraged to share in this important and enriching Easter worship service," according to Bill Smythe, minister.

Bro. Bill Grandon has been called as interim pastor at First Baptist, Sand Springs. Bro. Grandon lives in Coahoma and is a member of First Baptist, Coahoma. Mr. Curtis Smith is chairman of the Pulpit Committee.

Mission league workers meet

The St. Paul Lutheran Missionary League and Parish Workers met at the home of Mrs. Guilford L. Jones, 1709 Harvard last Thursday evening.

Mrs. Jack Redding was introduced as a guest. Mrs. Harold Bentley presided with Mrs. J.D. Nelson giving the opening devotion. Guilford Jones gave the topic, "The Marys of the Passion Story."

The group will sponsor an Easter egg hunt for children pre-school age through fourth grade of the church and their friends on Saturday, March 25 at 10:30 a.m. Prizes will be awarded to three different age groups.

Refreshments will be served in the parish hall following the hunt in the patio and rear parking areas. Mrs. Bentley and Mrs. Carroll Kohl will be in charge of the plans for this event.

It was announced that the Lutheran Women's Missionary League of the West Texas Zone will be held in Pecos on April 6, 1978 at Trinity Lutheran Church.

The theme "That We May Grow through Bible Study, Fellowship, the Home and the Community" will be the topic for the workshop. Mrs. George von Hassell, local member, is the zone Christian growth chairman and will be in charge of the program.

Mrs. Bill Bell served refreshments to 12 members.

The next meeting will be on April 13 at the home of Mrs. August Graumann.

Christianity Is A Farce!
Christ Is A Liar
YOU'LL NEVER SEE YOUR DEAD LOVED ONES AGAIN!
GOD JUST MAY NOT EXIST!
GOING TO CHURCH IS WORTHLESS!
If Christ was not resurrected!
But God did raise Him from the dead, and that changes the entire picture. It means that Jesus spoke the truth when He said, "I am the way, the truth, and the life; no one comes to the Father, but through Me." It means that Peter spoke the truth when he said, "Repent, and let each of you be baptized in the name of Jesus Christ for the forgiveness of your sins." It means that every person will be raised also, either to eternal life, or to eternal separation from God. WE PREACH CHRIST CRUCIFIED AND RESURRECTED!

Catholics expand

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The National Conference of Catholic Charities says it is planning ways to expand its work and service in rural areas beyond the usual reach of urban church offices.

Monsignor Lawrence J. Corcoran, executive director of the country's largest nonprofit aid organization, called the new efforts at "humane policies" and assistance in rural areas a "dramatic breakthrough."

Priests councils name leaders

SEATTLE (AP) — Continued attention to issues of social justice by the National Federation of Priests' Councils was indicated at its annual convention by reelection of the Rev. James Ratigan as president.

In defeating a challenger, the Rev. James Hogan of Helena, Mont., Ratigan of Joliet, Ill., declared in a campaign speech:

"There are those who would ask the NFPC to retreat from its traditional commitment to social justice — those who would advocate not growth but a lessening of resolve, but I say emphatically, 'no'. Hopefully we have moved beyond the days of departmentalizing the social justice ministry of priests apart from our understanding of priestly ministry.

Langdon resigns

Bro. Gerald Langdon has resigned as pastor of First Baptist Church, Sand Springs, to go start a new mission in Uvalde, Texas. Gerald was on the Area Committee and had served as President of the Ministers' Conference.

God is third in profanity

TUPELO, Miss. (AP) — The word, "God," is the third most frequently used term of profanity on prime-time television, says the National Federation for Decency after monitoring 864 hours of prime-time viewing, and registering a total of 1,054 profane utterances.

The Rev. Donald E. Wildmon, the Methodist who heads the NFD, says the study found that American Home Products, makers of Anacin and Ford Motor Company sponsored shows with the most profanity, that CBS aired the most profanity, with ABC next and NBC the least.

Schultz named

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The Rev. George S. Schultz of Minneapolis, an American Lutheran Church official, was elected to a third one-year term as president of the Lutheran Council in the U.S.A. at its annual meeting. It embraces the three main bodies of U.S. Lutheranism.

Presbterians set egg hunt

The First Presbyterian Church will hold an Easter egg hunt for kindergarten, first and second grade children at 10 a.m. Saturday at the church.

Children in the 5th and 6th grades are in charge of the annual event.

On Easter, the 9:45 a.m. Sunday School and 11 a.m. worship service will be the only services during the day.

The church just completed a full week of services including morning breakfasts, 10 a.m. services and 7:30 p.m. services each day concluding with a special Communion Thursday night.

Dr. Andrew Edgington of Kerrville brought the messages with the Rev. Bill Henning bringing the final message.

Jews approve new teaching

NEW YORK (AP) — Conservative Judaism has introduced a new teaching curriculum described as a means for revolutionizing Jewish education.

The United Synagogue of America, representing conservative congregations, said the new curriculum for 635 congregational schools stressed depth rather than breadth by concentrating on special areas of study, abandoning the "milewide, inch-deep" approach.

Catholics veto

WASHINGTON (AP) — A national Roman Catholic educational official has expressed opposition to the Carter administration's proposal for creation of a cabinet-level department of education.

Monsignor Wilfrid H. Paradis, education secretary for the U.S. Catholic Conference, testifying this week on the legislation, said it offers no clear benefits, could lead to "excessive and unwanted" federal intrusion and probably would hurt nonpublic schools.

Hillcrest schedules dawn meet

The Hillcrest Baptist Church will hold a Sunrise Service on Easter morning in Comanche Trail Park.

The service will be in the pavilion east of the tennis courts in the park. The public is invited to attend the special services at 7 a.m.

Phillip McClendon, pastor, said that there will be an Easter message and special music.

The choir will present several numbers and will feature Cindy Bagwell, soloist. The congregation will also join in singing.

The congregation will host a breakfast at the church following the Sunrise Service.

This will be followed by the regular Sunday School service at 9:45 a.m. followed by the regular morning worship service.

Orthodox fast

NEW YORK (AP) — In a Lenten message, Greek Orthodox Archbishop Iakovos called for "spiritual engagement" to stem modern influences that weaken the faith.

The message, read in parishes March 19 at the start of the Eastern Orthodox Lent five weeks after that period began in Western churches, urged restored emphasis on prayer and fasting to provide the "stamina to cope" with present-day challenges.

Trull on trial, Billie Sol gets publicity

TYLER, Texas (AP) — Testimony in the kidnapping trial of promoter Don Trull begins Monday, but the expected highlight comes Tuesday with the appearance of paroled swindler Billie Sol Estes — who has become the focus of the proceedings.

Estes, whom Trull claims cheated him in a business deal, has been told by State District Judge Glenn Phillips to appear here Tuesday. He has been subpoenaed at the request of Trull's attorneys.

Phillips denied Thursday a defense motion ordering Smith County District Attorney A.D. Clark II to produce a letter allegedly linking Estes to a land deal.

Attorneys for Trull, 40, filed the motion in an attempt to prove the key letter was among documents turned over to Clark.

Phillips said in the hearing that he was "not convinced at all that Clark ever possessed the letter."

In the letter, Estes allegedly confirmed receipt of $575,000 from Trull for land in Smith County. It was allegedly signed by Sue Goolsby, Estes' secretary.

Estes was paroled in 1971 after serving six years of a 15-year sentence for his conviction in a multi-million dollar swindle. He is barred by the terms of that parole from engaging in any self-employment or promotional activities.

Trull is charged with holding Bill May, an employee of Tyler millionaire Billy D. Pyron, hostage in Pyron's office and threatening to set fire to the office after splashing it with gasoline. Trull claims he lost $1.6 million in deals with Estes and Pyron.

Attorney Brockett Irwin of Longview, who represents Trull, said the letter is vital to the defense. Trull claims the letter was among the documents given to Clark.

Clark denied Thursday that he ever saw the letter and said he turned over all the documents to Assistant Attorney General David Pace, who was investigating Estes' alleged business activities.

"I can tell you this — everything I got from Mr. Trull was given to Mr. Pace," Clark said. "I can testify to that with complete certainty."

Margaret Isham, Clark's former secretary, testified she made copies of each page of Trull's documents. Testimony revealed she made copies of 216 pages, which coincided with the number of pages Pace brought to Tyler.

Pace also said the letter was not among the stack of documents he received by certified mail.

But Bailey later recanted a portion of his testimony and acknowledged that he was not present when Trull delivered the documents.

FOURTH WINNER — John Arrick, overall winner in last year's membership drive for the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce, was the fourth day winner this week. He is being presented $25 by Mrs. Joyce Wash, one of the members of the membership committee. The week-long drive for members ends today at the chamber.

Baby boom recorded

WASHINGTON (AP) — America's birthrate is on the rise, but population experts say the nation may nonetheless reach zero population growth by the middle of the next century.

Provisional statistics compiled by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare show the birthrate climbed to 15.3 births per 1,000 population last year, up about 3 percent from the 14.8 per 1,000 recorded in 1976.

It was the first increase recorded in the annual birthrate since 1970 and reversed the slow decline of recent years.

But Paul Glick, population specialist for the U.S. Census Bureau, said the birthrate in the United States is still very low, and the number of children women expect to have remains at a statistical average of 2.1.

The level of no population growth is almost exactly 2.1 children per family, slightly higher than the apparent two children per couple, because some children never reach adulthood.

Glick said present projections indicate the United States will reach zero population growth about 2050, when the older generations that themselves were products of high birthrates have died off.

'I don't think it's necessary'

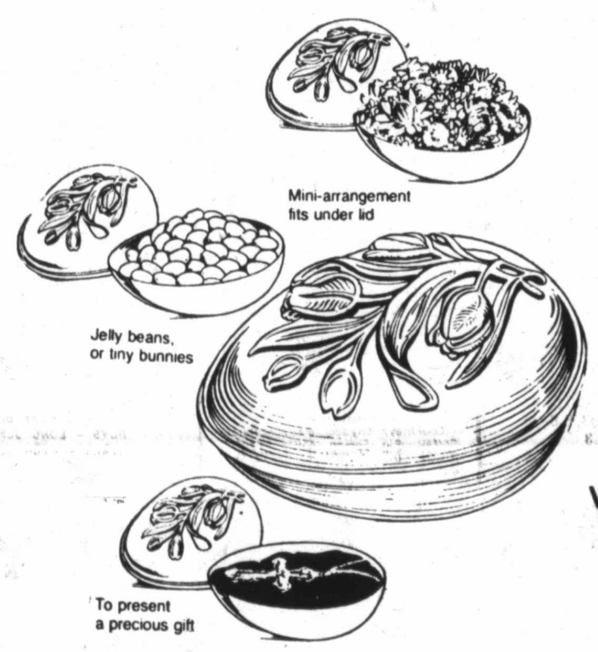

WASHINGTON (AP) — Highranking Marine and Naval officers say they don't think women should be thrown into combat.

"I don't think it's necessary. I don't think it's philosophically sound," Vice Admiral James D. Watkins told a Senate subcommitee Wednesday. "I certainly don't contemplate women carrying a rifle and charging up a hill. ..." added Marine Lt. Gen. Robert L. Nichols.

ABC Relays set for Saturday

By DANNY REAGAN
Sports Editor

Saturday marks the second consecutive running of the "modern era" ABC Relays in Memorial Stadium under the auspices of the American Business Club of Big Spring.

The two division meet will feature boys' teams from Big Spring, Lamesa, Brownfield, Odessa High, Lubbock High, Lubbock Estacado and Sweetwater, and girls' squads from Big Spring, Brownfield, Lamesa, San Angelo Central, Lubbock Estacado, Lubbock Dunbar, Lubbock Monterey, Lubbock High, Lubbock Coronado, Odessa Ector and Hereford.

Action gets underway Saturday morning at 10 o'clock with the running preliminaries. Girls' triple jump, shot put and high jump competition also begin at that time, along with the boys' discus and long jump action.

Boys' pole vault, high jump and shot put, and girls' long jump and discus begin at noon.

Finals in the running events begin at 2:30 p.m. and should conclude at approximately 5:45 p.m., with the presentation of awards.

Tickets are $1.75 for adults and 75 cents for high school and under. A concession stand will be operating at the stadium.

Meet Director Jerry Carter, who is also the BSHS head track coach, has announced that if weather conditions worsen the state of the track at Memorial Stadium, the Relays will be moved to the all-weather facility at Forsan High School.

The meet will also feature five relay events for sophomore teams, and Carter, who has worked unceasingly on preparations, has predicted that the local sophs have a good chance of winning all five relays.

This year also marks the first time the meet will be held under the surveillance of automatic, electronic timing devices. All final times in each track event will be considered new records because of that fact.

In last year's rain-shortened Relays, the local boys finished third with 41 points. Snyder was the boys' champion last year with 97 accumulated points. Big Spring is favored to win this year's meet.

The boys' 440-yard relay, scheduled for approximately 3:10 p.m., should be one of the best events of the day. The team of Kenneth Coffey, Eddie Puga, Bobby Huff and Eugene Boadle holds one of the best times in the state with a 42.3 clip. Boadle and Huff were also on last year's first place 440 relay that won with a 45.9 time.

The local 880-yard relay squad of Boadle, Huff, Ray Luedecke and Puga is also favored to cop first place in that event. They hold a best timing of 1:32.0. That compares to Estacado's previous best this season of 1:33.5.

Other Big Spring entries who have a shot at first place trophies are Kenneth Coffey in the 330-yard intermediate hurdles, long jump and high jump, plus the local mile relay team.

Sophomore Bobby Huff is also favored in the 100-yard and 220-yard dashes, and with good days, Robbie Wegner and Rusty Braun could finish very high in the pole vault.

In the girls' division, speedy little Donna Diliberto will be seeking to improve upon her newly-set mile record of 5:42.4. She is also favored to cross the finish line first.

The 440 and 880 relay teams of Connie Jackson, Tammey Woodard, Salina Harris and Doris Mitchell are also extremely competitive with the swift squads travelling here.

Pam Banks should also make some noise in the high jump.

The Big Spring girls won the fem division last year with 71 points, but very strong teams from Odessa Ector and Lubbock Estacado will make a repeat championship difficult, but possible.

Girls' Head Track Coach Jennie Hester, however, sees a major battle between her team and San Angelo for the division trophy.

"Ector may be a factor," she said. "I don't have that much information on them, but we've competed against the Lubbock schools in our other two meets and have beaten them both times. Time-wise, it's between us and Angelo."

Hester indicated that Big Spring will also show strength in the shot put and discus as junior Kathy Birdwell has come along rapidly in the put, and freshman Lynn Ivey will be competing in the varsity lineup in the put and discus.

The girls' coach confirmed the healthy state of her charges, and added: "Everyone's higher than a kite right now, and I believe we'll put on a good show for the folks."

The boys' team from Estacado will bring the stiffest competition for the local thinclads. Estacado is close in the 440 and 880 relays, and sits a second behind the locals in the mile relay. Odessa holds the best time so far in that latter event.

Estacado's Ken Ivory also charts out as the best in the long jump with a 22'6" leap. Again, however, Big Spring's Kenneth Coffey, with an official 21'9" jump, has leaped over 23 feet many times in practice. Ivory should have little trouble in capturing the discus title, however.

Brownfield also holds a slight edge in the two-mile and distance medley relays. Big Spring holds second best times in those two events.

In consecutive weeks, the local boy tracksters have gone from rusty to decent to excellent in the description of the performances they have given.

And if the trend continues, and if the aged track, which has been pampered and packed this week, holds up, the Big Spring thinclads should have their first championship trophy in a very long time.

The East side of the stadium should offer the best seating for the fans, and one ticket is good for the entire day.

ABC Relays

Two important facts to remember about Saturday's ABC Relays: 1) If rain falls, the track meet will be moved to the shiny all-weather facility at Forsan, only about 13 miles down the road off of South 87; 2) Local fans can catch the live action of the Relays in person and still hear the baseball Steers live on local radio station KBST-1490.

There will be a concession stand in operation, and plenty of shade will be available underneath the bleachers, just in case the skies are clear and the sun is hot.

Also predicted to be hot, despite the weather conditions, are the Big Spring Steer thinclads. The only team that has a chance of keeping the locals out of the championship spotlight is the group from Estacado.

And if the Steers sweep all the relays, (a definite possibility), then it's "bye-bye" time to the rest of the pack.

The ABC Relays once enjoyed a reputation equal or better to the West Texas Relays and Border Olympics. After last year's wet re-emergence of the classic, the local American Business Club couldn't have been too optimistic.

But if weather doesn't disrupt this year's event, the local camp of ABCers will see more rejoicing, not only because they have finally fooled Mother Nature, but because they will have seen the enthusiasm of the local track fan.

Track and field has had to struggle for its share of the limelight in West Texas. Anyone will tell you, this is football country, pahd'ner! And in the smaller towns that dot the area map, basketball has been crowned king.

Even baseball, a sport that is played primarily in the AAA and AAAA schools, has enjoyed greater fan participation than many track meets.

As far as any "excitement factor" is involved, track and field may not have the constant edge-of-the-seat quality of basketball, the crescendoing heat of battle of a football drive or the last-inning anything-can-happen aspect of baseball, but it is still exciting.

Excitement runs in short bursts of highly-emotional fury. The fan in the stands can run with the participants of his or her particular school, and the pending results of each track event can be seen as they evolve toward the finish line.

The field events also become a personal experience for the fan. I compare it with the excitement of the Olympics. In football, basketball and baseball, there is only one team victory at the end of the game, even though many individuals find personal victories in their performance.

But in track, not only is there the team victory at the end of the day, but more than a dozen potential victories for representatives of the fan's favorite school. Second, third and fourth place finishes can also be considered victories in certain events.

The ABC Relays can again be as BIG as they once were. But the community needs to support the effort of the local organization in bringing beneficial publicity to a town which is on the verge of booming.

Saturday, press from San Angelo, Lubbock and Odessa will also be here covering the Relays. If the support is sufficient, there may be a time in the near future when the Associated Press, the UPI, Sports Illustrated, Darrell Royal, and the Dallas Times Herald press teams will again give this city top publicity, as they have in the past.

Your presence at the Relays could solidify the foundation for a new era, similar to the old. It also might help get the old stadium rennovated. And the local athletes deserve that as much as good press.

Sprint medley team 8th best

According to a survey released today showing the top times of Texas schoolboy track events, the Big Spring Steer 440-yard (sprint medley) relay team currently sports the 8th best time in the state.

The local team of Bobby Huff, Kenneth Coffey, Eddie Puga and Eugene Boadle turned in a best time of 42.3 last week in Snyder's Canyon Reef Relays.

That compares with Galveston's 41.6 for top spot. Other top times are Columbia, 41.8; Houston Washington, 41.8; Bonham, 41.9; Texarkana, 42.0; West Orange-Stark, 42.1 and San Antonio Jay's 42.2.

The local team, which holds the best time in West Texas, will be attempting to better that mark Saturday in the ABC Relays.

Hogs saying: 'Meet me in St. Looie! Sooie!'

ST. LOUIS (AP) — College basketball's elite, the survivors from an original tournament field of 32, converged today on the banks of the Mississippi River to await a pair of Saturday matchups that could prove strikingly similar.

The semifinal lineup of the NCAA's 40th postseason tournament is made up of Kentucky and Notre Dame, each relying on size and muscle, against Arkansas and Duke, underdogs with racehorse speed.

Kentucky, the nation's top-ranked team, faces Arkansas, No. 5, in the second game of the afternoon doubleheader at the 19,000-seat Checkerdome.

But first comes a confrontation between Notre Dame, No. 6, and Duke, No. 7, another pair of teams with contrasting styles.

As each team settled into its tournament quarters, the lone ripple was created by the status of Arkansas senior Marvin Delph, whose eligibility was revoked because of money raised to send his parents to the West regional tourney last week.

An NCAA subcommittee on eligibility reinstated the 6-foot-4 Razorbacks star 24 hours later, however. "I can't talk about it," Delph later demurred.

While Delph pondered his exoneration, Arkansas Coach Eddie Sutton and his Kentucky counterpart, Joe B. Hall, mulled over the quality of their teams' recent performances.

"We played awfully well in the (Nevada) Las Vegas game, the next to the last in our regular season," said Hall, "but we've been pretty much on the decline. I'm looking forward to coming back up now."

"I'm like Joe," said Sutton. "I don't think our ballclub has played as well right now as we played earlier in the year. I think that's due to the fact that Steve Schall, our center, was injured. Although he didn't miss any ball games, he hurt his knee and he really never has been able to come back and play at the same level he did earlier in the year."

If Arkansas is to capitalize on its advantage in speed, the 6-foot-11 Schall and 6-7 Jim Counce must neutralize the inside strengths of Kentucky's Rick Robey and Mike Phillips, 6-10 front-liners.

Sophomore guard Kyle Macy, a 90.1 percent free throw shooter, is Kentucky's outside threat. But for pure shooting, a Razorbacks threesome of Delph, Ron Brewer and Sidney Moncreif is unexcelled.

Duke's hopes against the deep Irish hinge heavily on the scoring and all-around court excellence of junior Jim Spanarkel, the lone Blue Devils upperclassman to go with two sophomores and two freshmen.

Duke's Coach Bill Foster saluted the Irish as a team boasting finesse in addition to power and added, "They have very good, quick instincts. They're talented. They use their personnel very well."

Saturday's 2:15 EST doubleheader will be nationally televised (NBC), as will Monday night's championship game.

BETTER LATE THAN NEVER — Marvin Delph, Arkansas career scoring leader, carries his bags after the team arrives in St. Louis, Mo., more than an hour behind schedule Thursday. The semifinals of the NCAA basketball tournament get underway Saturday. Delph was ruled ineligible for about 24 hours this week because fans in his hometown of Conway, Ark. had gotten together the money for his parents to fly to Albuquerque, N.M. for the NCAA West regionals, but the NCAA eligibility committee subsequently cleared him to play.

O.J. Simpson traded

BUFFALO (AP) — The Buffalo Evening News said today that star running back O.J. Simpson of the Buffalo Bills will be traded to the San Francisco 49ers in exchange for several draft choices provided he passes a physical examination.

Simpson, accoring to the newspaper, was to take the physical in San Francisco today.

The Bills, the story said, reportedly would receive five or six National Football League draft picks over the next three years.

The first report of the deal came Thursday night from Radio Station KIIS in Los Angeles.

Budd Thalman, the Bills vice president in charge of public relations, said Thursday night, "If O.J.'s, when O.J.'s been traded, we will announce it, and no announcement is planned."

Another Bills' spokesman said today, "Nothing has changed since last night."

The Evening News quoted Bills' owner Ralph C. Wilson as saying he couldn't discuss the latest report on Simpson.

Astro shortstop decision nearing

COCOA, Fla. (AP) — Houston Astros manager Bill Virdon says he will make up his mind about the shortstop position during the next six exhibition games.

Enos Cabell started his first game at third and Roger Metzger got his first start at shortstop Thursday as the Montreal Expos blanked the Astros, 3-0.

The Astros have six more exhibition games before a fourday series with the Texas Rangers.

"I'll make a decision on short by the time we start playing the Rangers," said Virdon who has experimented with Cabell at short all spring.

The Astros had their least productive offensive day against the Expos and were blanked for the first time this spring. Three Montreal pitchers held the Astros to three hits.

Solo home runs by Bob Reece and Bob Goodman in the ninth and Ellis Valentine's infield out in the sixth accounted for the Montreal runs.

Rudy May, the Expos' starter, pitched five perfect innings before yielding to Larry Landreth in the sixth. Bill Atkinson pitched the ninth.

J. R. Richard started for the Astros and allowed three hits in six innings. Astros reliever Roy Thomas gave up the back to back solo home runs to Reece and Goodman in the ninth.

Tigers milk hits for 12-3 season

By the Associated Press

Detroit Manager Ralph Houk knows it's only spring training, but it's still better to be winning than losing.

"It's a good indication, if nothing else," the veteran manager said after the Tigers tied a club record Thursday with their seventh consecutive exhibition baseball victory, a 7-0 decision over a split squad of the Montreal Expos. "We're just playing good ball."

The Tigers, who have had four losing seasons as they rebuilt under Houk, are 12-3 so far this spring, the best record of any team in the major leagues.

Rusty Staub and Tim Corcoran were the batting stars, Staub driving in two runs with a single and a sacrifice fly and Corcoran hitting a two-run homer. Corcoran has hit safely in nine straight games and leads the Tigers with 13 runs batted in.

Elsewhere, the other half of Montreal's team beat the Houston Astros 3-0; Pittsburgh's split squads beat the St. Louis Cardinals 4-2 and lost to the Toronto Blue Jays 7-5; the Minnesota Twins routed the Boston Red Sox 10-0; the Texas Rangers beat the New York Yankees 5-1; the Kansas City Royals clobbered the Chicago White Sox 14-3.

Also, the Los Angeles Dodgers whipped the New York Mets 12-1; the Philadelphia Phillies outscored the Cincinnati Reds 15-5; the Oakland A's trimmed the Milwaukee Brewers 4-2; the Chicago Cubs defeated the San Diego Padres 7-1; the California Angels beat the San Francisco Giants 5-2, and the Seattle Mariners edged the Cleveland Indians 7-5.

Rudy May pitched five perfect innings and teamed with Larry Landreth and Bill Atkinson for a three-hitter as Montreal beat Houston. Willie Stargell homered and Bruce Kison pitched six shutout innings for Pittsburgh's winning team, while Toronto got three runs batted in from Dave McKay and two from Rick Bosetti in defeating the other group of Pirates.

Butch Wynegar hit a two-run homer and Minnesota scored seven unearned runs in the fourth inning to rout Boston. Juan Beniquez homered to back the seven-hit pitching of Doyle Alexander and Jim Umbarger as Texas beat the Yankees. U.L. Washington had five hits and Al Cowens homered and drove in four runs to lead Kansas City over Chicago.

Trail Blazers hurting path keeps worsening

By the Associated Press

The injuries continue to mount for the Portland Trail Blazers, and they couldn't be happening at a worse time.

Forward Bobby Gross is the latest to be sidelined after aggravating an ankle injury in Thursday night's 116-109 loss to the Milwaukee Bucks.

With the start of the playoffs less than three weeks away, the National Basketball Association's defending champions find their three starting front-court players and their No. 1 reserve all out with injuries, and two other players at less than 100 percent.

Center Bill Walton, recovering from foot surgery, and power forward Maurice Lucas, who has had wrist and leg injuries, are both expected back next week. Reserve Lloyd Neal has a knee injury but should return in the first week in April. Gross, who suffered a stress fracture of his ankle against Milwaukee, is expected to be sidelined for six weeks.

Playmaker Dave Twardzik and swingman Larry Steele are the two Blazers who are playing hurt.

Lionel Hollins, the only member of Portland's regular five who started against Milwaukee, led all scorers with 38 points. But it was not enough as the Bucks built a 13-point fourthquarter lead and then held off repeated comeback efforts.

Elsewhere in the NBA, the San Antonio Spurs beat the Denver Nuggets 123-106, the Phoenix Suns defeated the New York Knicks 120-108 and the Golden State Warriors topped the Indiana Pacers 119-115.

Spurs 123, Nuggets 106

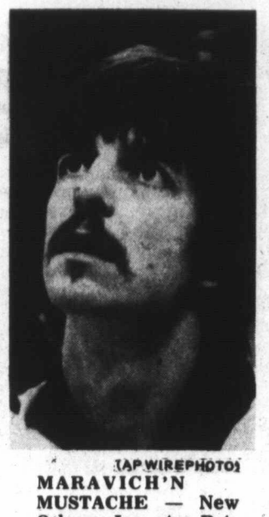

Larry Kenon scored 29 points and George Gervin 27 as San Antonio hit on 57 percent of its shots from the field in a battle of division leaders. The Spurs moved out to a 68-53 halftime lead and were never caught.

Denver has lost seven of its last 10 games.

Suns 120, Knicks 108

Phoenix got 10 points each from Alvan Adams and Walter Davis in the third quarter, outscoring New York 41-20 to take a 94-77 lead. The Suns shot 70 percent from the field in that period and had 14 assists. Davis finished with 29 points and Adams 21.

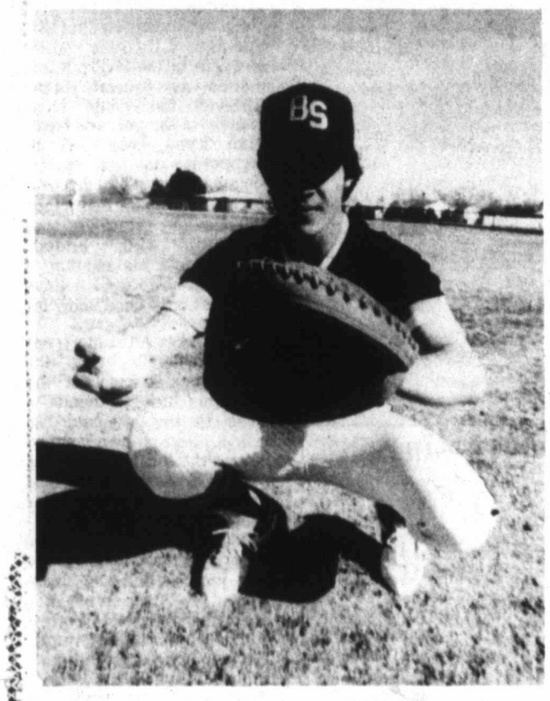

"We should have gone home at the half," observed Knicks Coach Willis Reed.

Maravich lead the NBA in scoring last season and was leading again this year however he has scored only 12 points in his two starts since returning this week.

MICHAEL GOMEZ — This 16-year-old junior catcher is the son of Ursula Gomez of 2606 Cindy. His hobbies include baseball, cars, swimming and diving. Michael has a brother, Daniel, 20, and a sister, Connie, 22. He hopes to maintain a B+ or A- average in high school and attend Texas Tech, majoring in law or accounting. On the baseball field, he wants "to bat at least .375 and become the best player at my position."

They also maintain horses, don't they?

By the Associated Press

The blue grass is peeping from the ground in Kentucky, there's stirring in the stalls and, pardon the literary license, now is the time to begin talking of horses instead of cabbages and kings.

It's only six weeks and a day before they strike up the strains of "My Old Kentucky Home," the blare of the bugle sounds over the tinkle of mint julep glasses and 3-year-old thoroughbreds prance to the post in the 104th Kentucky Derby.

It promises to be the most exciting lineup in 21 years — the maddest drive for the wire since Iron Liege, with Bill Hartack aboard, slid home ahead of Gallant Man in 1957 after Bill Shoemaker mistook the 16th pole for the finish line and stood up in the saddle prematurely.

That was a vintage year for fast-running colts. Besides Gallant Man, Iron Liege had to beat out such stalwarts as Round Table, later a big stakes winner, and Bold Ruler, whose blood courses through the veins of the last five Derby winners.

The 1978 lineup in Louisville May 6 should rival the 1957 field for speed and class. It has its own version of the "Big Four" with Alydar, Affirmed, Believe It and a fast-coming colt named Sensitive Prince, now electrifying fanciers in Florida.

Sensitive Prince, bay son of Majestic Prince, jumped into the Derby picture with all four hooves Wednesday by beating Believe It in the Fountain of Youth Stakes at Gulfstream Park, setting a stakes mark for the 11-16 mile race.

Joseph Taub's undefeated 3-year-old thus emerges as a legitimate threat to the two early co-favorites, Alydar and Affirmed, with Believe It, on his improved form, not to be discounted. Affirmed is 3-1 in Las Vegas' play-or-pay winter book, Alydar is 7-2.

It should be a nerve-stabbing Derby.

Affirmed, Believe It and Sensitive Prince are all speed horses while Alydar has established himself as a great comefrom-behind stretch runner much in the mold of Calumet's first Derby winner, Whirlaway, who swept to the Triple Crown in 1941.

Darrell Shepard arrested

ODESSA, Texas (AP) — University of Houston quarterback Darrell Shepard, whose recruitment last year led to National Collegiate Athletic Association probation for the Cougars, has been charged with possession of less than two ounces of marijuana.

Shepard, the most sought after schoolboy football player in 1977, was freed Wednesday on $1,000 bond after the Class B misdemeanor charges were filed.

His mother, Rose Shepard, came to her son's defense, saying the marijuana found in the car was his uncle's.

"It's really nothing," she said Thursday. "My brother had borrowed the car the night before and left something in it."

"That wasn't Darrell's. It's nothing for Darrell to worry about. It was my brother's."

Mrs. Shepard said the marijuana charges had been dropped against her son — but Odessa police said Thursday night that their records showed they had not.

Mrs. Shepard said her son was getting harassed. "Ever since Darrell signed to go to Houston, he's been getting harassed constantly.

"They've been stopping him almost every day."

Shepard was 1976 Class 4A All-State quarterback in Odessa and highly sought by Southwest Conference schools. He was used sparingly last year as a freshman quarterback.

His arrest came after police stopped him Tuesday in a radar speed trap. He was home from college for the spring holidays.

Police said a routine check of Shepard's driver's license showed two outstanding warrants against Shepard for driving without a license. Officers impounded the car and said an inventory of its contents revealed a plastic bag of what officers believed to be marijuana.

After an intense recruiting struggle for him last year, Shepard announced he would attend the University of Texas. Then on the day for signing Southwest Conference football letters of intent, Shepard surprised recruiters by signing with the Cougars.

The NCAA later placed the Cougars on probation in connection with the recruiting of Shepard, saying it found violations in recruiting inducements, excess recruiting contacts and improper transportation.

The NCAA also reprimanded Houston Head Coach Bill Yeoman and assistant coach Melvin Brown.

One NCAA violation said an assistant coach and a representative of UH athletic interests were involved in arranging a loan for Shepard's mother to buy him a car. Yeoman said he had asked Brown to check with Charles Marino, board chairman of the Bank of Brazoria, concerning the loan.

Top female seeds advance

PHILADELPHIA — Billie Jean King, Virginia Wade, Betty Stove and all other seeded players advanced to the quarter-final round of the $100,000 women's pro tennis tournament.

King, the No. 6 seed, eliminated Czechoslovakia's Renata Tomanova, by 6-1, 6-2 in a match that lasted 50 minutes.

ATLANTA — Sharon Walsh defeated Pam Shriver 6-2, 7-6 on the third day of play in a $35,000 tennis tournament.

In earlier action, Brigitte Cupyers defeated Caroline Stoll 7-5, 6-4.

Marvin's thumb dislocated

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Buffalo Braves forward Marvin Barnes will miss at least two games due to a dislocated thumb, the National Basketball Association club has announced.

Barnes jammed his right thumb during Wednesday night's 97-92 loss to Seattle, a team spokesman said. "It's painful and swollen and is in a splint," according to the spokesman.

A starter in the Braves last 22 games, Barnes will definitely miss Friday night's match with the Los Angeles Lakers and Saturday night's game in Phoenix, the club said.

Aggie trackmen favored

MCALLEN, Texas (AP) — Powered by half the Aggie gridiron backfield, Texas A&M's track squad is favored to outpoint Texas and Rice in the inaugural City of Palms Invitational Meet here Saturday.

Curtis Dickey, an Aggie halfback, has won the NCAA 60-yard indoor crown and is top-rated at that distance here. Versatile freshman Mike Mosley, a quarterback on the gridiron, is favored in the 110-meter hurdles and the long jump.

The Longhorns will continue to compete without Johnny "Lam" Jones. The Olympic gold medalist suffered a leg injury in the Cotton Bowl and has not run competitively this season. Texas Coach Cleburne Price had said he might try Jones, usually a sprinter, at 400 meters. But a UT spokesman said Thursday that Jones was not ready to run.

The meet will also feature high school teams from McAllen, Corpus Christi Carroll and Austin Westlake. Pan American University will have several entries in the distance races but its team points will not be counted.

The Horns are expected to give A&M close competition in the field events while Rice has counted on depth to pile up points in its outings. The Owls' Mike Novelli is favored in the 5,000 meters.

Team statistics for the season show the Aggies have the best times in eight events. The Horns claim the best clocking in only one track event.

Baxter, Krivacs on ALL-NIT

NEW YORK (AP) — Ron Baxter and Jim Krivacs of National Invitation Tournament champion Texas were named to the all-NIT team.

Krivacs, who scored 99 points in four games to lead tournament scoring, and Baxter, who added 26 points to Krivacs' 33 in the Longhorns title game victory over North Carolina State 101-93, were joined on the all-NIT team by the Wolfpack's Kendal Pinder, James Bailey of Rutgers and John Duren of Georgetown.

Locke takes Jacksonville post

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (AP) — Taylor "Tates" Locke, the former head coach of the National Basketball Association Buffalo Braves, has been named head basketball coach at Jacksonville University.

Locke, 40, was named Thursday to replace Don Beasley, whose contract was not renewed after posting a 37-46 record over the past three years.

Locke, who left the Braves at the end of the 1977 season, had served as head coach at the U.S. Military Academy, Miami of Ohio and Clemson.

Wayland Baptist eliminated

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The era of domination of smaller schools in women's college basketball came to a sudden halt Thursday night as host UCLA and Maryland won their way into Saturday night's title game of the seventh AIAW tournament.

Twelve national championship banners of UCLA men's teams hang from the rafters of Pauley Pavilion where the Bruin women's team won their 32nd consecutive home floor victory. UCLA, 26-3, defeating Montclair State of New Jersey 85-77.

Maryland, 27-3, edged Wayland Baptist of Plainview, Texas, 90-85 in the other semifinal of the Association of Intercollegiate Athletics for Women tourney.

Early years of the tournament were ruled by tiny Immaculata College of Pennsylvania, champions in 1972 through 1974. Delta State of Mississippi took over from 1975 through 1976.

Graham, Twitty, Walzel tied

HILTON HEAD ISLAND, S.C. (AP) — Lou Graham, a softly-drawling son of the South, often finds this portion of the pro golf tour schedule his most productive.

"Well," he said, "it's about this time each year we start getting to warm weather." He paused a moment, smiled, and added, "and we're getting into my part of the country."

The Tennessee native recalled a three-tournament stretch a few years ago when he finished one stroke out in tournaments at Jacksonville, Fla., Greensboro, N.C., and New Orleans.

This one could be even better. After a one-shot loss to Jack Nicklaus last week in Jacksonville, he followed with a 4-under-par 67 that lifted him into a tie with Howard Twitty and Bobby Walzel for the firstround lead Thursday in the $225,000 Heritage Classic.

"I hit the ball much better, played much better, than I did in any round last week. That's for sure. And," he said with a twinkle in his eye, "there weren't too many guys that beat me then."

There was one. And he isn't playing this time.

"Up until last week I really hadn't played very good," Graham said. "But that kind of finish does a lot for your confidence. It helped mentally."

One stroke back of the leading threesome were Rod Curl and Phil Hancock, tied at 68, 3 strokes under par on the 6,655-yard Harbour Town Golf Links, a reclaimed swamp that is studded by ancient, moss-hung oak and cypress.

The group at 69 included Tom Weiskopf, Gibby Gilbert, Larry Nelson, Bruce Lietzke, Victor Regalado, Lyn Lott, who holed a 6-iron shot for eagle-2 on the final hole, and Hale Irwin, who rallied with birdies on the last three holes.

A starry group including PGA champ Lanny Wadkins, U.S. Open king Hubert Green, and Tom Watson, the current British Open and Masters titleholder, shot 70s in the almostperfect weather — warm, sunny, with just a hint of breeze. Australian Graham Marsh, the 1977 Heritage champ, was at 72.

Nugs dull Spurs

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — For Denver Coach Larry Brown, whose team has lost seven of its last 10 games, Thursday night was a heckuva time to run into the hot San Antonio Spurs.

The Central Division-leading and playoff-bound Spurs blistered the faltering Nuggets 123-106 with a 56-point combination performance from Larry Kenon and George Gervin, the National Basketball Association's second-leading scorer.

"I thought the Spurs played as well in the first half as I've ever seen them," said Brown.

The Spurs shot 64 percent in the first half and built up a 68-53 lead at intermission.

"I was pleased we grabbed control at the start," said San Antonio Coach Doug Moe. "I thought we played a good game. One or two mental errors kept us from blowing them out early."

The Midwest Division-leading Nuggets drew to within five points of San Antonio three times during the second half. But turnovers spiked the comeback bids. Denver had 25 miscues for the game, 13 in the second half.

"We got back in the game in the second half, but every time they started to struggle, we started to turn the ball over," added Brown.

Kenon paced the Spurs with 29 points and Gervin had 27.

The Nuggets were sparked by David Thompson's 29 points and 21 each from Bobby Jones and Anthony Roberts.

IT'S ALL IN THE EXPRESSION — Tracy Austin of Rolling Hills, Calif., grimaces as she makes hard two-hand backhand shot as she beat Kathy May of Beverly Hills, Calif., in Thursday night's second round of the $100,000 Women's Pro Tennis tournament in Philadelphia. Miss Austin won 6-3, 7-6.

Holmes predicts Shavers barbered in 5 to 9

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — "I don't want to get out there on front street and not back up what I say," said Larry Holmes, who walks on to the Front Street of his career Saturday when he fights slugging Earnie Shavers in a 12-round heavyweight bout.

And the words the unbeaten Holmes has to back up are: "Anywhere from five to nine rounds Earnie Shavers will go."

Holmes is confident against Shavers, who shapes up as by far the toughest opponent in his unbeaten career, which in a large part has been built in the gyms where he was a sparring partner for Ron Lyle, Joe Frazier, Muhammad Ali and Shavers.

"I have been rated for a number of years," said Holmes, currently ranked No. 5 by the World Boxing Council and No. 4 by the World Boxing Association, "and I really haven't had an opportunity to prove myself."

The opportunity comes at Caesars Palace Saturday against a man ranked fourth by both the WBC and No. 7 by the WBA in a fight that will be nationally televised by ABC starting at 5:30 p.m. EST.

And if Holmes answers opportunity's knock, he could be in line for a title shot against Ken Norton, who was named heavyweight champion by the WBC last Saturday when the group withdrew recognition from Leon Spinks for violating an agreement to defend against Norton. Spinks, who won universal title recognition by beating Ali last Feb. 15, still is recognized as champion by the WBA.

Since the WBC has ruled Norton doesn't have to make his first defense against Jimmy Young, whom he beat last Nov. 5 in a fight the WBC now recognizes as a title bout, and since Ali and Spinks are headed for a rematch, the winner of Holmes-Shavers would be Norton's first opponent if the WBC rules Norton must defend against the highest available contender.

It will be Shavers, the puncher, against Holmes, the boxer.

"Boxers are always trouble," said Shavers. "So, you put the pressure on for four or five rounds and see what they're made of."

The 33-year-old from Warren, Ohio, thinks his mistake against Ali, to whom he lost a 15-round decision, was that he was more concerned with going the distance than trying for a knockout.

Davis gets an A's belly-full

DENVER (AP) — Charles O. Finley has withdrawn his offer to sell the Oakland A's major league baseball team to Denver oilman Marvin Davis, Davis's lawyer announced today.

Lawyer Ben Stapleton handed out a terse statement from Davis, who is vacationing in California, which indicated the negotiations to move the A's from Oakland to Denver are dead.

The statement said:

"Charles Finley has withdrawn his offer to sell his Oakland franchise to Denver.

"It is a sad day for baseball, a sad day for Denver, and a sad day for me. I was determined to bring major league baseball to Denver this year. If Mr. Finley would reconsider his decision, even at this extremely late date, we still have the capabilities to complete the transfer."

The latest hangup in the American League club's starcrossed sale is A's owner Charlie Finley's adamant refusal to pay more than $1 million to break his lease with the Oakland Coliseum. That lease still has 10 years to run.

Finley had been given a noon Thursday deadline by American League President Lee Mac-Phail to agree to pay $2 million of the Coliseum's demanded $3.25 million to break the A's lease.

In Chicago Thursday night, Finley said he wasn't going to pay that disputed $1 million and since he hadn't heard from MacPhail, he still still faced the possibility of running the club in Oakland this season.

"I'm down at the railroad station with my bags packed, but if that train don't show up with those money bags, I'll just unpack and play ball again in dear old Oakland," Finley said.

Finley insisted that San Francisco Giants co-owner Bob Lurie pay that disputed $1 million or that the remaining major league baseball owners come up with more than the $1 million they have agreed to pay.

Davis said his battery of five lawyers was still working on getting paperwork completed for the sale despite the 11th hour developments.

THE MOVEMENT CONTINUES — Beneath a large painting of her late husband Mrs. Martin Luther King Jr., said Thursday at a news conference in Atlanta, that the struggle for black equality was continuing but in less dramatic ways. April 4 will mark the 10th anniversary of Dr. King's death.

Museum to close through Sunday

The Heritage Museum will be closed Saturday and Sunday in observance of the Easter holidays.

Mrs. Gerri Atwell, curator, announced that a large forearm bracelet of natural Morenci, Arizona turquoise stone, weighing 1,100 carats and crafted especially for Dr. Houston (Jack) Zinn by Lester Jake, has been donated to the museum.

It was crafted by Lester Jake, a well-known Navajo silversmith of Thoreau, N.M., and donated to the museum by his wife, Beatrice H. Zinn as a memorial to the doctor. He was chief surgeon at the Veterans Administration Hospital here from 1950-74 and died Feb. 13.

The curator also pointed out that for those who are wondering about the totem pole, it is being repainted for spring and will be erected in a suitable location. Another sign of spring around the museum is the blooming jonquils.

Waste water management planning study is held

Representatives from several communities heard possible solutions to waste water management problems at the first interim report session of the 208 Waste Water Management planning study.

The session was held at the Colorado River Municipal Water District building in Big Spring Thursday afternoon with Ebb Grindstaff, Ballinger, area subchairman of the Texas advisory committee, among those present. The study is being affected by the Texas Department of Water Resources with the CRMWD as the contractor for the upper Colorado Basin portion.

Eight possible problem areas were outlined by Mack Barber, Fort Worth, of the consulting engineering firm of Freese and Nichols, and two of these involved citied with existing but over-loaded sewer systems. Mayor Homer Hodge of Winers was on hand to make observations on potential solutions for his city, and Oscar Cagle, president of the Howard County Water Improvement and Control District No. 1, sat in with others for Sand Springs, between Big Spring and Coahoa. John Van Veen, Midland, represented the Permian Basin Regional Planning Commission, and Rowland Lowe, Sterling County judge, represented Sterling City.

Barber pointed out that many of the proposed solutions were economically infeasible, but that altered criteria may bring costs down sharply. Even so, some collection and plant systems simply will be cost prohibitive. For the time being, lake settlements may be most practically served by septic tanks, he said.

He urged all representatives to furnish written suggestions promptly so the second interim report may be prepared. After the meeting, Cagle, Marshall Day, Theo Earnest and Harvey Hooser conferred with Barber and Coy Veach of Freese and Nichols. O. H. Ivie, CRMWD general manager, welcomed the visitors, and Rod Lewis, conducted the meeting. Clyde McMahon Sr. represented the CRMWD board.

Among the possible solutions for Sand Springs were a collection system and main outfall south of IS 20 with three possible lift stations. There are potential locations for plants at either end, but Barber indicated it may be more practical for either Big Spring or Coahoma to receive and treat the effluent.

Among other communities with problems are Westbrook, Blackwell, Wellman, and Lake Colorado City. Midland is near capacity of its system but has a plan for major expansion.

Clear Lake born loser

HOUSTON (AP) — The Houston City Council has refused to disannex the Clear Lake City area.

Council, in a 6-0 vote Wednesday, also refused to submit the dispute to a vote.

The status of the area has been in a legal snarl since December when Council adopted the second of two ordinances finalizing the annexation of the 17 square miles adjacent to the Johnson Space Center. Some 20,000 persons are affected.

The council action rejected a petition circulated by the Clear Lake Incorporation Committee and containiong 51,723 signatures.

The resolution adopted by the council said state law does not permit disannexation through petitions from residents of any given area.

Knights will attend rites

All Sir Knights of Big Spring's Commandery No. 31 are invited to attend an Easter service as a group at the Baptist Temple Church.

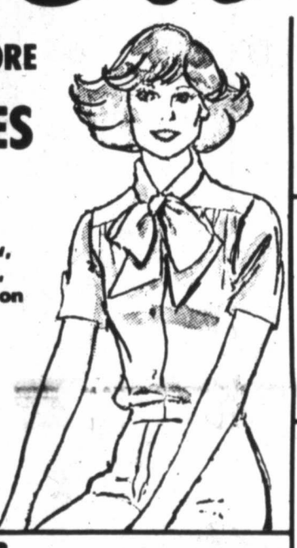

All are urged to be on hand no later than 10:45 a.m. It is the custom that the group join their commander, who this year is David Faulkenberry and has named his church as the place for the service. Those knights who have uniforms are requested to be in full dress, according to A. L. Nabors.

Bruce Ford posts two victories on circuit

DENVER, Colo. — Cowboy Bruce Ford, who was runner-up for a world title in 1977, has decided second place doesn't quiet fit his style. The Evans, Colo., bareback rider has widened his lead in Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association standings — and it will take some winning to make him let go.

Ford is showing a clean pair of heels to many, including five-time world champ Joe Alexander of Cora, Wyo. The Coloradoan's earnings climbed up $10,099 with first-place wins at Montgomery, Ala. and Phoenix, Ariz., last week. "Alexander the Great," who has been the top money winner in the event every year since 1971, currently ranks third with $6,571. Last year at this time, a familiar tune was playing; Alexander's nearest challenger was more than $5,200 behind. Ford's name didn't even appear in the top 10.

Ford widened his lead with a $796 split for top cash at Montgomery; his ride at Phoenix (also a split) was good for $1,768. The cowboy, who occasionally competes in bull riding, has made four trips to the National Finals.

He split first place at the Arizona contest with Sam Perkins, Chadron, Neb. and Royce Smith, Challis, Idaho. Each collected $1,768.

Pete Gay, brother to world champ Don of Mesquite, Tex., pocketed $2,460 for his winning bull ride. Average winners included Bill Smith, Cody, Wyo., $1,950 in saddle bronc riding; Bucky Bradford, Tucson, Ariz., $1,991 in calf roping; J.D. and Dick Yates, Pueblo, Colo. $2,804 each in team roping.

Montgomery average winners were John Gass, Wilson, Tex., $661 in saddle bronc; Kevin Cook, Lakeland, Fla., $796 in bull riding; Ford and Denny Wingate, Eureka, Kan., $796 in bareback riding; Mike Gould, Jackson, Miss.

ALL AROUND COWBOY — Tom Ferguson, Miami, Okla., $25,046.
SADDLE BRONC RIDING — Joe Marvel, Battle Mt., Nev., $10,522.
BAREBACK BRONC RIDING — Bruce Ford, Evans, Coo., $10,099.
BULL RIDING — Lyle Sankey, Augusta, Kan., $8,676.
CALF ROPING — Roy Cooper, Durant, Okla., $14,812.
STEER WRESTLING — Byron Walker, Ennis, Tex., $15,142.
TEAM ROPING — Walt Woodard, French Camp, Calif., $6,766 and Doyle Gellerman, Oakdale, Calif., $6,766.
GRA BARREL RACING — Connie Combs, Comanche, Okla., $4,480.

ASPCA HONORS STRAY WHO SAVED MAN'S LIFE — Michael Zezima, New York City, displays medal the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals presented to his newly-adopted dog "Turkey" during ceremony on Thursday. It seems that Zezima collapsed in snow up to his waist early last month when "Turkey," a stray dog he had fed a few times, discovered him, lay down next to him sharing his warmth, and finally attracted a passerby by barking. The dog refused to leave Zezima for another 10 hours. The hospital said the dog saved Zezima's life, and the ASPCA agreed. So did Zezima who adopted the dog.

Carter expected to sign new retirement measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter is expected to sign a bill which will allow persons in private business to keep working until age 70, and prohibit the federal government from forcing civilian employees to retire before any age.

The measure was approved 62-10 Thursday in the Senate and went to the White House for the president's signature.

Its chief sponsor, Rep. Claude Pepper, D-Fla., who is 77, said he believes Carter will sign the bill next month. "This marks the first step in guaranteeing the right to grow old in dignity," Pepper said.

Beginning in Sept. 30, the legislation would eliminate a requirement that civilian federal employees must retire at 70. Military employees are not involved.

The legislation also will prohibit, beginning at the end of this year, a private employer who has at least 20 employees from forcing a person to retire before age 70.

The bill will not alter the age at which most persons can begin collecting maximum Social Security benefits. Pepper also said most private pension plans will not be affected because they require a person to retire before a pension is received.

State and local governments also must abide by the new 70-year rule, but the bill provides for exceptions such as persons in high-risk jobs such as policemen or firefighters.

PUBLIC NOTICE

STRUCTURAL STANDARDS BOARD

Owner or owners, lessors, occupants and lienholders of record of the below named real properties, all located in the City of Big Spring, are hereby notified of a public hearing to consider demolition, order a reduction in occupancy load or vacation of structures and premises at each of these locations. Hearings will be held before the Structural Standards Board in and for the City of Big Spring, in the City Council chamber of the Big Spring City Hall, Fourth and Nolan Streets, on Tuesday, April 4, 1978, commencing at 9:00 o'clock a.m. local time. These are public hearings. The administrator shall present evidence of the substandard condition of these structures and as owner, lessor, occupant, lienholder, or any interested person may present evidence on relevant issues. After hearing evidence from each interested person present the Board will make its findings and issue appropriate orders in each case. These findings may result in determination that the structures are not substandard; that a variance should be granted in order to avoid imposition of an unreasonable hardship; that an exception may be granted to a prevision or provisions of this chapter; that the structure is substandard and order repair or other suitable remedy within a specified period of time, and demolition of the structure if the repair or other suitable remedy is not timely affected; or that the structure be ordered demolished within a specified period of time.

If you grow sorghum on sandy soils, it's time you tried Igran.

Because Igran® is the sorghum herbicide that really fits the sandy soil conditions in the South High Plains and South Rolling Plains.

And because it fits, Igran is easier to use. There's no guesswork or experimenting with rates. Just follow the label directions.

Then watch your sorghum come through clean and healthy. Because Igran controls those tough broadleaf weeds like carelessweed and annual morningglory. Controls them early, before they have a chance to rob your crop of vital soil moisture and nutrients.

Igran. Once you try it, you'll keep on using it. Because now you've got a sorghum herbicide that really fits your sandy soil conditions.

Joke is alway on other fellow

WHAKAREWAREWA, New Zealand (AP) — One of the truths a chap quickly learns when traveling about this world is that the funniest and the stupidest people are always located across on the next island or over the next border.

The Spaniards think the Portuguese are hilariously inept at the art of everyday living and therefore make them the butt of all sorts of jokes, like painting a stripe on the side of the boat to mark where the fish were biting in the bay or hijacking a garbage truck as an act of urban terrorism.

Ever since the fighting resumed in Ulster and began going against them, the British resumed telling Irish jokes as a defense mechanism, like the one about the IRA man being sent out to blow up a bus but being unable to carry out the assignment because he burned his lips on the exhaust pipe.

The Norwegians jest that the Finnish national dance is a knife fight, and the Greeks will tell you that a Turk born with 11 toes grows up to become a mathematician, and the Romanians are convinced that the only thing dumber than a dumb Hungarian is a smart Bulgarian.

Even in a place with a funny name like Whakarewarewa, where the landscape looks more like a moonscape and has the funny habit of bubbling up with boiling mud pools and shooting hot steam and scalding water into the air, to say nothing of boiling an occasional tourist alive, the native New Zealanders think there is nothing funnier around the premises than an Australian tourist.

Just the way he talks makes him a more outlandish creature to the average New Zealander than the kiwi bird, the flightless retarded cousin of the dodo which is the sort of national emblem here.

Whakarewarewa, sensibly better known as Whaka, is a hotel filled suburb of Rotorua, a city of 50,000 people that is New Zealand's biggest tourist attraction, because of scalding plumes of steam and hissing geysers that bring in a half a million tourists a year.

New Zealand is the only country in the world I have visited where the hotels carry this singular accusatory notice in your bathroom:

"For our guests' comfort we have equipped all our rooms with the highest quality of toweling. To allow us to maintain this standard the management would be grateful if guests would appreciate that these items are not souvenirs of the hotel."

No holes have been reported missing however at Arikikapakapa, which is the golf course in Whakarewarewa, probably because the course does some stealing on its own from both Australians and locals alike by gobbling up golf balls and digesting them in its 240-degree mud craters, called dongas, on the 6th and 9th holes.
