Buggy Campaign Is Good For Texan

CLARENDON, Aug. 12.(AP)—Transportation methods of 1900 are good enough for Hugh Brown, 75, who went back to the horse and buggy to campaign for treasurer of Donley county, Texas, 30 miles square.

Hitch-hiking candidates have become common since W. H. Murray's successful gubernatorial campaign by this means, but Brown is the first in this section to turn back to Old Dobbin and an open top buggy. He denied the choice was made for political effect.

"Old as I am," he explained, "I didn't feel I'd care to fix flats. Then, too, I had a good horse and buggy and didn't have a car."

Farmer Sticks To Farm

URBANA, Ill., Aug. 12. (AP)—The average farmer — despite modern transportation—still spends only 5 per cent of his time away from home.

And his work day still totals 10 hours, with eight hours for sleep, four for leisure and two for meals.

These conclusions have been reached in a study of habits of 247 farm families by the University of Illinois.

It was found that the average farmer goes to town once a week and to the city twice a month to trade.

Fish Age Secrets Bared

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Aug. 12.(AP) Fish no longer can hide the secrets of their ages from inquisitive scientists.

Zoologists of the University of Michigan, unable to learn the ages of fish any other way, have developed a method of determining the age of a fish by examining its scales under the microscope.

The scale with its winter rings tells the story.

Fish do not develop to a certain size, as do mammals or humans and then stop growing.

Their rate of growth and size are determined by the food supply.

"Look What We Learned"

PONCA CITY, Okla., Aug. 12. (AP) The Big V ranch, producer of white corn which is the source of much of the west's cornmeal supply, is expected to yield another 75,000-bushel crop this year.

Two college-trained brothers Okla and Kay Vanselous, are owners of the 10,000-acre ranch in the Salt Fork river bottoms southwest of Ponca City.

The grain, developed by their father, the late William H. Vanselous, a pioneer of the "Cherokee strip," now commands a premium.

Nice Friendly Neighbors

HOUSTON, Aug. 12. (AP)— Police Chief Percy F. Heard and Fire Chief Fred Seibert had offices in the same building for three years, but never had met. Newspapermen brought them together.

"Howdy, chief," said Seibert.

"Howdy, chief," said Heard.

That was about all.

Esthonian Aviatrix Will Not Attempt Ocean Flight

NEW YORK, Aug. 12. (AP)—Elvy Kalep, 27, Estonian aviatrix, announced today she had abandoned her intention to fly to Greece with Roger Q. Williams because she was suffering with nervous indigestion and also because her husband had asked her not to make the trip.

She said Williams would make the flight with a man companion. They planned to obtain a message from the Olympic athletes at Los Angeles and drop it on the site of the original games.

Nudism Practice In Germany Being Fought By Government

BERLIN, Aug. 12. (AP)—Government action was taken today to put a stop to nudism, which has been creeping up all over Germany.

Dr. Franz Bercht, deputy federal commissioner over the state of Prussia, announced he intended to eradicate "the shameless degradation of the honor and dignity of German women."

'Stick 'Em Up' Command Made By Pair But Cashier Grabs Gun Instead; Shots Attract Several Witnesses

(Special To The Avalanche)

SEAGRAVES, Aug. 12.— Identity of two men who attempted to hold up and rob the Seagraves First State bank at 12:10 o'clock this afternoon is known by officers, who expect to apprehend the pair either late tonight or early Saturday.

The shorter and older of the would-be bandits has a record in Hobbs, N. M., A. L. Curtis, cashier of the bank who exchanged shots with the men, said officers told him.

Automobile Known

The blue Chevrolet roadster in which the men escaped south toward Seminole as Curtis fired two shots at the automobile is well-known by officers.

Sound of the shots created great excitement in the business district and business men close by obtained a good description of the bandit car and its license number.

Curtis said officers told him both men lived at Hobbs.

Jury In Lancaster Trial Pays Visit To Scene Of Death At Flier's Home; Testimony Of Experts Presented

(By The Associated Press)

MIAMI, Fla., Aug. 12.—The jurors trying Capt. W. N. Lancaster for the death of Haden Clarke, today visited the scene of the shooting after they had seen Clark's skull introduced in evidence and heard his death described as suicide by a criminologist.

The jury, accompanied by attorneys for the state and defense, Judge H. F. Atkinson and court bailiffs, inspected the former home of Mrs. J. M. Keith-Miller, where Clarke was mysteriously shot the night of April 21. Lancaster, who had lost the love of the Australian aviatrix to Clark, was in the room with him when he was shot. He said it was suicide.

Skull In Court

The skull of Clarke was brought into the court room by a member of the medical commission which conducted an autopsy.

Testimony concerning the skull, which showed holes where the bullet entered and left the head, was offered by Arthur H. Hamilton, Auburn, N. Y., whose experience in

Fergusons Ask Accounting Of Missing Funds

Elective Commission Will Be Advocated; Federal Aid In Highway Construction Also Given Attention

By R. W. BARRY
Associated Press Staff Writer

COLEMAN, Aug. 12.—James E. Ferguson tonight repeated his charge that $100,000,000 expended by the Texas highway commission during the past five years had not been accounted for. He was here in behalf of the gubernatorial candidacy of his wife, Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson.

The Fergusons, stumping through the sheep and cattle country of West Texas, promised voters that should Mrs. Ferguson be elected, they will advocate elective highway commission to replace three member appointive board.

Mandate From People

Mrs. Ferguson said that should she defeat Governor Sterling, asking renomination to a second term, she would consider her victory a mandate from the people to "get rid of the present highway commissioners."

Ferguson said charges of Sterling

Child Is Injured In Auto Accident

Thomas Newton Browning, two-and-a-half year old son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Browning of 1809 Avenue K, was hit and injured by an automobile in front of a grocery store which his father operates at 1505 Avenue Q at 7:45 o'clock last night.

Carroll Thompson, principal of junior high school, whom it was said at Lubbock sanitarium was driver of the car, accompanied the injured child to the sanitarium.

The attending physician said Thomas Newton suffered a six-inch gash to the bone on the left side of the head and possibly a skull fracture. His condition was not believed to be serious. It was said at the sanitarium the boy stepped into the street in front of Mr. Thompson's car. Police had no report late last night of the accident.

Mr. Thompson, driving north of Avenue Q, said that he did not see the boy until he was directly in the path of his car. Swerving to the left, or to the center of the street, Mr. Thompson said he attempted to avoid the collision. Either the bumper or the fender caught the child.

Man Is Bowled Over By Bolt; Ground Not Torn Up And A Nearby Building Is Unhurt; Working In Field

(Special To The Avalanche)

ABERNATHY Aug. 12.—Lightning instantly killed Roy Truett, 40, 75 feet from his home in Science Hill community at 5:45 o'clock this afternoon. Mrs. Truett, standing in the door of her farm residence, saw the fatal accident.

Truett, a tenant farmer who came here three or four years ago, had been operating a tractor in a field near his home. When a thundershower threatened he left the machinery and began walking to the house.

Building Not Hurt

A bolt of lightning bowled Truett over as he was nearing the house. The ground nearby was not torn up, and there was no damage to the building.

The Science Hill community is eight miles north of Abernathy. Funeral arrangements are incomplete, pending arrival of relatives. Burial probably will be in an Abernathy cemetery.

Mr. Truett is survived by his widow, one brother of Yoakum county, and a brother and sister in Houston.

Plains Areas Receive Rain

One Fatality Is Reported At Abernathy; Heavy Downpour Soaks Wide Area Thursday And Friday

Heavy rains spotted the South Plains section Friday afternoon following precipitation ranging from a half-inch to two and one-half inches Thursday night. Lightning yesterday afternoon caused one fatality, near Abernathy.

Maturing feed, in many sections needing moisture, and cotton will be benefitted greatly by the precipitation. The Shallowater section, in which crops were suffering because earlier scattered showers had missed that area, had an inch rain Thursday night and some additional precipitation last night.

Heavy On Thursday

Good rains were reported between Carlisle and Levelland, which had heavy rain Thursday night. The Santa Fe reported heavy precipitation at Ropesville and about .75 of an inch at Plainview. The Fort Worth and Denver City reported rain at Ralls yesterday afternoon.

Several hundredths of an inch of rain fell here late Friday. Precipitation Thursday night, the state experiment sub-station reported was .63 of an inch.

Roads Are Good

Roads in virtually all sections were in good condition, the union bus terminal said.

Roy Truett, 40, was instantly killed when struck by a bolt of lightning at 5:45 o'clock yesterday afternoon near his home, eight miles north of Abernathy.

Five-Day Flight Record Sought By Women Pilots

Texas Flier Is One Of Pair Soaring Over New York

(By The Associated Press)

CURTISS FIELD, VALLEY STREAM, N. Y., Aug. 12.—Confident of remaining aloft more than five days, two women pilots took to the air in a big cabin monoplane today in an effort to establish a new refueling endurance flight record for their sex.

The fliers, Mrs. Frances Marsallis of San Antonio, Tex., and Mrs. Louise Thaden, of Baltimore, Md., left the ground at 3:17 p. m. (eastern standard time), and began circling over the field.

Shortly after their takeoff a plane piloted by William Scott, jr., 18, crashed near Glen Cove, leading to a report that the endurance fliers had cracked up. Scott was removed to a hospital seriously injured.

Experienced Pilots

Both Mrs. Marsallis and Mrs. Thaden are experienced pilots. Each has a transport pilot's license and before the takeoff they expressed confidence in their ability to better the present record of 12 hours and 20 minutes set by Bobby Trout and Edna May Cooper in Los Angeles last year.

For several days the two women had been testing their plane and making contacts with the refueling ship. The seats were removed from their five-place cabin plane, sleeping quarters fitted up inside, and gasoline tanks and a radio was installed.

The ship is powered by a 320 horsepower motor.

Another Romance Of Movies Ended

NEW YORK, Aug. 12.—It was no news to Ruth Chatterton that a divorce decree was granted her actor-husband, Ralph Forbes, in Minden, Nev., today.

"Mr. Forbes called me up by long distance telephone and told me all about it," said the actress.

She asserted the ground for the action was "incompatability," and said she and her husband would continue to be "good friends" despite dissolution of their marriage.

The break was discovered by two other prisoners, Juan Segonio and J. J. Calloway, only remaining tenants of the bastile.

Merriman previously had escaped from the jail here. The prisoners fled today after sawing their way through two bars and the steel frame of their third story cell and dropping to the ground on a blanket ladder.

Prospects For Federal Relief In Panhandle Planting Fading

Jones States Administration Has Reversed Itself On Its Interpretation Of Relief; Says Action Necessary

(By The Associated Press)

AMARILLO, Aug. 12.— Prospects for government relief for Panhandle wheat farmers who need aid in fall planting faded today when Congressman Marvin Jones was advised by C. W. Warburton, director of extension work, U. S. Department of Agriculture, that his recent letter had been misconstrued.

Jones said the administration had completely reversed itself on its interpretation of legislation enacted during the closing days of congress, when it was claimed that everything provided in the Black bill, which was given the pocket veto, could be handled under other relief legislation, but now advises that "the wisest thing for your people to do would be to urge the Reconstruction Finance Corporation immediately to set up a credit corporation, so that it would begin functioning for the making of production loans."

Thousands Gather At Old Rock House In West Texas Old Settlers Reunion

BY J. SAM LEWIS
Of The Avalanche Staff

CROSBYTON, Aug. 12.— The memory of the pioneer of the Great Plains, "Uncle Hank" Smith, who built the first permanent home on the Plains about 12 miles north of Crosbyton, was honored here today in the seventh annual West Texas Old Settlers Reunion.

Several thousand persons crowded the state park in Blanco Canyon at the old Rock House where Uncle Hank lived for a generation, to attend the reunion. Nearly as many more were expected tonight to attend a dance for the younger generation.

The crowd came early, W. T. Dunn, secretary-treasurer, said. A rodeo and horseback riding, near the rock house, was a feature of the afternoon and the rodeo was well attended.

Some old time fiddle music, with J. D. Huffman, Post cowboy who has lived on the Plains since 1868, in charge, featured the afternoon before the speaking program. Mr. Huff-

Army Regiments And Police Conquer 400 Students In University Revolt

(By The Associated Press)

SANTIAGO, Chile, Aug. 12. Two army regiments and large detachments of armed police conquered 400 students in a battle at the University of Chile today and snuffed out a revolt aimed at overturning the government.

The uprising lasted exactly an hour and a half. It resulted in three deaths — a police officer, a student and a boy bystander—and there were unconfirmed reports five others were killed. Twenty persons were wounded.

The purpose of the revolt was to restore Colonel Marmaduke Grove in control of the government in place of Carlos G. Davila, former ambassador at Washington, who now heads the Chilean socialist regime.

The rebellion started at 5 p. m. and ended at 6:30. As soon as the students, who had seized the university saw the two regiments of troops they abandoned their barricades and fled, racing away from heavy rifle fire. All except 50 of them were captured.

Governor And Forensic Aides Score Fergusonism And Offer Constructive Platform Here

Three Thousand Pack Baptist Church Auditorium And Throng Street After Inclement Weather Sends Program To Cover; Stuart And Ogilvie Help In Presenting Facts, Figures

By BOB McCALL
Of The Avalanche Staff

AN OVERFLOW CROWD of about 3,000 persons here last night heard Governor Ross Shaw Sterling identify far-sightedness in strengthening a governmental program of economy and vigilance against missteps in handling the people's money as the key-marks of his administration.

The audience, assembled in the First Baptist church auditorium, standing in the doorways, and listening on the outside to the amplified voice of a speaker they could not see, was pro-Sterling and revealed its feelings distinctly before the program passed midway.

Inclement weather, boggy roads, and lack of indoor facilities to accomodate as many South Plains residents as wished to hear their governor resulted in standing room being filled before the preliminary speakers had stopped beating their drums.

Based On Record

The tall, stout chief executive began his 50-minute address by the declaring his candidacy for re-election was based "solely upon the record I have made in serving the people of Texas."

Reporting he had vetoed more than $3,600,000 in appropriations, the governor quoted auditors as saying the state deficit would approximate only $354,000 in September, 1933, if the present program were carried through.

Changes Are Explained

Changes and additions in the state penitentiary system were explained at length, Governor Sterling attributing "an improved morale among the prisoners," as well as a substantial monetary saving, to the alterations. Replying to Ferguson charge that the present governor has issued pardons on an extravagant scale, Governor Sterling declared he had given 15 pardons and about 1,400 paroles. He championed the parole system. Attempted escapes have been reduced to about one as compared to about 10 two years ago, he declared.

Defeat of a bill by which the state would assume highway bonds voted by the counties and would refund moneys already spent on state highways by the counties was attributed by the governor to his refusal to name Roy I. Tellant of Dallas to succeed himself as purchasing agent for the state board of control. Governor Sterling did not name Tellant.

Defends Martial Law

Defending his declaration of martial law in the East Texas oil fields, the gray-headed chief executive asserted the move had saved the state $4,000,000 to $5,000,000, as compared to a cost of $300,000 in maintaining the guardsmen.

Farmers on whose land producing wells had been drilled, and who had received little or nothing in return months after drilling operations had been completed, threatened a reign of shotguns and dynamite unless they were paid in part, the governor reported.

Analysis Is Given

The large oil companies ran the oil into pipelines, shipped it, and filled empty storage places with it at a cost as low as 13 cents a barrel, while independent operators were unable to move the liquid gold

Injunction Given In Damage Action

Seeking to restrain H. B. Lansden from producing and selling a medicinal preparation for poultry, known as "Sul-Fo-Salts," Economy Mills has filed in district court a suit for injunction and for damages.

Judge Homer L. Pharr of 72nd district court Friday granted the injunction, which becomes effective when the plaintiff files $750 bond. The bond had not been filed in the district clerk's office at mid-afternoon.

The plaintiff alleges it originated the chemical preparation and sold it under the trade name. The company seeks $500 actual and $500 exemplary damages. Lansden, a poultry judge, formerly was employed by the mills.

Flour Is Distributed To 403 Families Up To Friday

Flour had been distributed by the Lubbock Red Cross chapter to 403 needy families at the close of headquarters at 615 Broadway Friday night, Carlton Benson, who is in charge of the distribution, said.

The flour arrived Tuesday, and distribution by sacks follows: Wednesday, 132; Thursday, 135; and Friday, 135. The chapter had 1,057 sacks of flour on hand last night.

DIES OF WOUNDS

HENDERSON, Aug. 12 (AP)—James Lambert, 38, farmer, died at a Henderson hospital today of gunshot wounds inflicted Wednesday. His alleged assailant, Bob Pierson, surrendered to the sheriff after the shooting and was released under $1,000 bond.

Gleaned At Sterling's Rally Here

THE BITING irony and crowd-catching sarcasm utilized by James E. Ferguson jutted upward sharply in the speeches of rival preliminary speakers and was not permitted to decline entirely in the governor's address.

R. A. Stuart, the Sterling campaign manager in West Texas and a senator when Mr. Ferguson was governor, alluded to "a mansion, on the silk-stocking row at Austin, built from the $4,000 a year Mrs. Ferguson drew as governor, and often referred to as 'the house that pardons built'."

DESCRIBES STERLING

"Sawing wood and saying nothing," was Mr. Stuart's description of Governor Sterling, in outlining a program of economy and straight-line operations in state government, and the chief executive's reactions to allegations set down at his door.

The state deficit has been reduced from $11,000,000 to $354,000 in the Sterling regime, the Fort Worth campaigner reminded.

WAVES PART OF CROWD

Staggering waves that undulated irregularly were a part of the pack-jam audience which heard Governor Sterling last night. The wave-like appearance, as constant as it was uneven, resulted from the swinging of hundreds of fans throughout the auditorium, as men, women and a scattering of children listened attentively.

JABS AT JIM

His fleshy face flushed, the tempo of his even voice increasing, the governor occasionally jabbed sharply at the veteran campaigner who is opposing him in his race for the Democratic nomination for the governorship. The Ferguson charge that Governor Sterling is a tool of the big oil companies the governor labeled as "a cockeyed lie."

LOSES HIS FORTUNE

Citing the Ferguson charge of two years ago that Sterling was too rich to be the chief executive and

The Woman's Angle

BY BLANCHE E. BEAN
Avalanche Woman's Editor

JUST to show you that women continue to invade these proverbial masculine fields, there is the news concerning Ringling Brothers and Barnum and Bailey.

For the first time in the history of that circus, a woman will be in charge. She is Mrs. Charles E. Ringling, widow of one of the eight brothers of circus fame. The other day when the circus arrived in Chicago, Mrs. Ringling was in charge. John Ringling, the surviving one of the eight brothers, is ill in the East.

Of course, Mrs. Ringling's active management of the circus is now somewhat in the form of necessity. But it just goes to show that women can do a lot of the things we have always thought were up to the men. Moreover, the feminine invasion is continuing.

HO PROSPERITY!

COUNTY clerk Thomas F. Farrell of Detroit, Mich., says that prosperity is returning. His barometer is the marriage mart and he should know a thing or two about it as he has been watching it in Detroit for the last 25 years.

The marriage business, which decreases in lean years, is picking up, he says. And that's a sure sign that the corner is turned.

If that is true, prosperity must be returning to Lubbock. While I have not made a count to see if there have been more marriages than usual this summer, at least the number can't be decreasing. Marriage business has been good in Lubbock since May and there are rumors that it is to continue.

EVEN IN JAPAN

OH WELL, this civilization of ours is contributing something to such ancient countries as that of Japan. Having mastered the Japanese language, the people on those islands are now adopting the American mode of speech and find "okay" and "heebie jeebies" favorites.

THE QUEEN'S BUSINESS

IT IS not an unnatural thing for most of us to wish repeatedly that we had money to spend as we imagine a Queen spends it. Tired of having to watch the cost of the smallest items, discouraged because our bank account is perenially less than our own accounting indicates, it is small wonder that we long for wealth that would make such attention to details unnecessary.

And, naturally enough, our thoughts turn to a queen as one who is least versed in spending money and as one who has the fewest worries.

Yet, there is Queen Mary of England who, with her other virtues, is represented to us as a model housewife where accounts are concerned. Whether or not she does it from necessity or duty, she is a careful spender, has a grasp of current prices and never makes a mistake in her books.

Our authority for these statements is Sir Edward Wallington who at 78 has just retired as treasurer to the queen. He held the post for 13 years.

"I have paid all the queen's private bills since my appointment," he says, "and I have been on hundreds of shopping expeditions with her. I have always been amazed by her grasp of current prices and the discrimination she showed in buying the right article.

What a record! These business women, even, who do bookkeeping and know what accounts are all about are not that good with their personal accounts, as a general rule. While the rest of us who have yet to meet those things called balance, debit and credit have a lot to learn before we can compete with the queen's record.

There is a tradition that a queen—a real queen—is wise and good and possessed of every virtue. Sometimes we hear of some royal lady such as England's who possesses these queenly characteristics. Such a one commands more of our respect and admiration. It is one thing to spend wisely because of necessity and quite another to do it from the sheer pleasure of being a good housewife.

For those who moan because women of the world have gone out of the home, there is the consolation of Queen Mary's example—a queen who is also a good housewife.

UNLUCKY BILL

BOSTON. — No $2 bills for the thief who broke into the Harvard Avenue garage. Apparently as superstitious as a lot of people regarding the bad luck such bills are supposed to bring, he spurned a lone bill of that denomination in the cash register of the garage and walked out mumbling to himself, Andrew Buckley, night man at the garage, reports.

Accidental deaths numbering 160, mostly through traffic and swimming mishaps, headed the list of causes of deaths among Wisconsin persons between 15 and 19 years old in 1931.

Spain Wavers Under Revolt

Deaths Echo Uprising As Plan To Punish Leader Is Making Headway; Churches Burning In Some Cities

(By The Associated Press)

MADRID, Aug. 12.—Rioting and burning reddened much of southern Spain today as the government laid plans to punish General Jose San Jurjo, leader of Wednesday's abortive rebellion, and his followers.

One man was killed and three wounded at Santa Fe when civil guards dispersed a group which burned the Agrarian casino. One workman was killed in a political fight between laborers and employers.

Civil Guard Killed

A civil guard was killed at Seville when a mob attacked the jail.

At Seville, cordons of soldiers were posted around religious houses, and heavy guards patrolled the streets.

In the towns of San Lucar and Asnalcollar, mobs set fire to the churches but the fires were put out by citizen volunteers.

In Santinponce a mob attacked the mayor, seized his cane and beat him with it. He was rescued by a group of town hall guards.

A line of guards was stationed around the building of the newspaper Las Provincias at Valencia to protect it from mobs and General Liquelme rushed from Switzerland by airplane to take charge of a menacing situation.

Mobs burned a convent at Albacim and a church at Santotomas, near Granada and afterwards stoned and set fire to a factory.

The death penalty was demanded today by some southern republican leaders for General San Jurjo. Director of Public Safety Mendendez announced a special judge had been designated to preside over the trial.

Recognition For Government Seen

TOKYO, Aug. 12 (AP)—Recognition of Henry Pu-Yi's government in Manchukuo by Japan was declared today by the foreign office spokesman to be nearer because the government learned that the report of the League of Nations inquiry commission will contain findings and recommendations utterly unacceptable to the Japanese.

The report is now being completed by the commission at Peiping.

As a result of its character, the spokesman said, the government feels strongly that early recognition of the Pu-Yi regime is necessary to show the world that Japan is determined to maintain her stand in Manchuria.

He added, however, that the recognition is not likely to be announced before the commission's report is received and published at Geneva, which probably will be late in September.

According to the government's information, the report will recommend that the Chinese government at Nanking appoint a viceroy in Manchuria, thus restoring at least the form of Chinese sovereignty.

This conflicts fundamentally with Japan's determination to eradicate Chinese control.

Wheeler Speaker On Club Program

The importance of land and forest conservation was explained by Herbert N. Wheeler, chief lecturer for the United States forest service, of Washington at a luncheon of the American Business club Friday in the Hilton hotel.

On the 167,000,000 acres in Texas, Mr. Wheeler said, only 34,000,000 is in cultivation, and 46,000,000 of the remaining is producing neither crops nor pasturage.

Mr. Wheeler and J. D. Jones, public relations director for the forest service in New Mexico and Arizona, of Albuquerque were in Lubbock to aid in the West Texas Chamber of Commerce program of forestation in the region.

Decrying attacks on bureaucracy, Mr. Wheeler said "congressmen are even getting letters from people asking for the abolishment of all government employes."

Mrs. Fred Stubbs, J. B. Maxey, and K. N. Clapp, members of the city park board, were present. Others there, in addition to club members were:

A. B. Davis, manager of the chamber of commerce; Garnet Reeves, publicity manager of the chamber; W. H. Rodgers, city manager; D. F. Eaton, county agent; Isla Mae Chitwood, county home demonstration agent, and Douglas McGeehee, city park superintendent.

Vets Continue Farming Plans

Instructions To Followers To Gather In New Mexico Given By Carter; Seek Transportation To El Paso

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Aug. 12 (AP)—Instructions to his followers to gather in Columbus, N. M., near the Mexican border line, were issued by Doak Carter, leader of the American emergency force.

The instructions were issued as he sought funds for transportation of himself and members of his staff to El Paso, Tex., for a conference there with Charles P. Reiniger of Los Angeles, to complete plans for a World war veterans colony in Mexico.

Carter, who assumed leadership of a wing of the bonus army disbanded at Johnstown, said plans for the colonization would go ahead despite a statement by President Rubio of Mexico disapproving.

He expressed hope that a plan whereby veterans who wish to colonize in Mexico would buy farm tracts on long term payments from a corporation which he would head, would lead to a change in the Mexican president's attitude. The land would be turned over to the corporation for resale by Reiniger, owner of 28,125 acres in the state of Chihuahua.

Counterfeit Bills Being Circulated In East Texas

International Sunday School Lesson

BY DR. J. E. NUNN

General Topic: THE TEN COMMANDMENTS
Lesson for Sunday, August 14
Scripture Lesson: Exodus 20:12-21

International Sunday school lesson for August 14.

12. Honor thy father and thy mother: that thy days may be long in the land which Jehovah thy God giveth thee.
13. Thou shalt not kill.
14. Thou shalt not commit adultery.
15. Thou shalt not steal.
16. Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's house, thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's wife, nor his man-servant, nor his maid-servant, nor his ox, nor his ass, nor anything that is thy neighbor's.

Golden Text: Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself.—Lev. 19:18.

Introduction

The Commandments were written on two stone tablets, and probably the first four, which we studied last week, occupied the first table or tablet, because they all relate to our duties to God; the remaining six, relating to our duties to men, probably occupied the second tablet of the law. These we are now to study. The first, the duty of honoring parents, is a suitable transition, because during the years before we can understand the first elements of religion, our parents stand in God's place to us.

The Fifth Commandment

"Honor thy father and thy mother." The eternal law requires the reverent loyalty of son and daughter. "In proportion as this great virtue of filial obedience is engrafted upon the manners of any decency and good order prevail there and every precept of the gospel be more deeply engraven on the minds and uniformly displayed in the actions of that people."—Rev. Sydney Smith. "Some scarcely know what honoring parents means; they can only think of themselves and their own importance. And oh! how bitter is the anguish of recollecting that the honor has not been rendered and that the time for it is gone; their gray hairs are in the dust; they want no more the services that were withheld, the reverence and the love which were refused them." "That thy days may be long in the land which Jehovah thy God giveth thee." This is, as Paul calls it, "the first commandment with promise." Eph. 6:2. "A spirit of filial respect implies a well-ordered life in general, and so tends to secure prosperity both to the individual and the nation."—Rev. S. R. Driver, D. D.

Sanctity of Life—Sixth Commandment

Verse 13

"Thou shalt not kill." Since the World war taught a new generation the art of scientific murder, the sanctity of human life has seemed less than ever before. There has been in our own land wave upon wave of crime, and the crimes have often been those of violence. The open saloon, that hotbed of fierce passions has happily been closed — forever, let us hope—but man's greed has broken out in illicit manufacture and selling of the poison, and that in many instances has led to murder. We have continued to spell murder backward—"red rum."

The Cain-Abel story shows God's evaluation of human life. Woe to the man who directly or indirectly destroys this most precious of all God's creations. Notice that the commandment unmistakably applies in suicide, which is simply murder by one's own hand.

Law of Purity—Seventh Commandment

Verse 14

"Thou shalt not commit adultery." The United States is shamefully conspicuous among the nations in the appalling number of its divorces, and a very large number of these are only a legal sanction of adultery. As the preceding commandment declares the sanctity of life so this asserts the sanctity of marriage. "We must restore that high conception of marriage in which even the Roman code defined it as 'the partnership of the whole life, the participation of all rights, human and divine.' We must insist on the recognition by all Christians of its holy mystery as signifying the mystical union between Christ and the Church. We must think of it as Tertullian in one age described it, and Bishop Jeremy Taylor in another, as 'one hope, one vow, one worship, one discipline; a happiness which the church ratifies, the obligation confirms, the benediction seals, angels announce, the Father declares valid' as shut up and secured by all the arts of heaven, by honor and reputation, by fear and shame, by interest and high regards."—F. W. Farrar.

Let no one consider himself pure unless his heart is pure. If he delights in foul pictures and books, in suggestive "movies," in indecent anecdotes, in abominable imaginations, he has brought himself under the ban of this Commandment.

"If you are guilty of this sin, do not let the day pass until you repent. If you are living insome secret sin, or are fostering impure thoughts, make up your mind that by the grace of God you will be delivered. Even in this life adultery and uncleanness bring their awful results, both physical and mental."—D. L. Moody.

Law Of Honesty—Eighth Commandment

Verse 15

"Thou shalt not steal." "Honesty is within the reach of everybody. There is always one thing which every human being is able to say, and that is, 'I can be honest.' And yet it seems to be as hard to be an honest man as it was thousands of years ago. I intended to make a list of the words which express the many shades and grades and forms of dishonesty, but when I began to write them down I found I could not get them into my sermon and leave room for the things I wanted to say. I started with 'thief,' 'burglar,' 'robber,' 'pickpocket,' and 'shoplifter,' and 'cheat,' and then such crowds of other dank words came trooping around me that I decided to let each one of you make out the list for himself." Rev. Charles E. Jefferson. "The forms of stealing are almost endless. Men steal by cornering the market, by selling drink or narcotics when one knows they will harm the buyer, by winning bets and other forms of gambling, by cut-throat competition, by taking advantage of a conductor's failure to collect a ticket or a clerk's giving too much in change, by withholding wages when they are due or failing to pay one's bills promptly, by driving hard bargains, by adulterating commodities, by evading taxes, and so on."

Law of Truth—Ninth Commandment, v. 16

"Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor." This commandment forbids the giving of lying testimony in law courts, a practice sadly common in Oriental lands. It is also a law against the horrible sin of slander in private life, the mean insinuations, the crafty silences and shrugs, the half-truths that are whole falsehoods, as well as the open slanders. All these are cowardly but often most deadly means of attack, and many a life is blasted by them. Such lies, once started, can never be completely overtaken. They are especially common in heated political campaigns, when candidates and newspapers come as near to libel of men of the opposite party as they dare. Trade competition and social rivalries give rise to slanders. There is hardly a more despicable sin than this.

"Chattering, gossiping busibodies are the devil's best allies. One in a church can make a minister's best work fruitless. Where they come nothing is sacred, and nothing safe. They poison the wine of friendship. They mingle wormwood and gall in the cup of the saintliest. They rob life of its choicest treasures, its trust, its confidence, its joy, and in their stead they bring in suspicion and sorry and heartache."—Rev. George Jackson.

Law of Unselfishness—Tenth Commandment, v. 17

"Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's house nor anything that is thy neighbor's." "All the former commandments have forbidden overt acts. To disobey any of these is sooner or later to be detected by one's fellow-men. This final word utters its solemn warning against sin in the inner and hidden life. This commandment may be broken without the knowledge of any human being. Sooner or later this also will reveal itself in some overt act."—Rev. G. Campbell Morgan, D. D. In Jesus' mind this Tenth Commandment was indissolubly connected with the First, so that the Decalogue for him began and ended on the same note. A man whose heart was set on acquiring wealth no matter what lofty purpose he had in mind for it, was setting another god up beside the living Father on his throne of life. He was giving something else a consideration, a trust, a service that belonged to God alone. 'Ye cannot serve God and mammon.' And in entire accord with the Master, Paul constantly calls a covetous man an idolator."—Prof. Henry Sloan Coffin.

Methods And Equipment Have Changed In Canning Products

MIDLAND, Aug. 12. (AP)—Methods and equipment are quite different now than a quarter of a century ago when Mrs. I. C. Heald, thrifty Midland county farm woman, put up her first canned produce for home use, she said here as she started on her 26th year of preparing foods for the winter table.

During none of those 25 years has she filled less than 300 cans of various kinds of vegetables, fruits, and meats, all grown on the farm, and despite drouth, wind or hail or depression, the Heald family has always eaten. This year, Mrs. Heald expects to put up more than 600 containers, in addition to a quantity of dried corn, okra, and dried snap beans.

Robert Pearce Ably Defends Olympic Title

United States Jumps Into The Lead By Winning Its First Olympic Pair-Oared Race As England, Germany Divide

By ALAN GOULD
Associated Press Sports Editor

MARINE STADIUM, LONG BEACH, Calif., Aug. 12. (AP)—Demonstrating his mastery over the world's foremost amateur scullers, Henry Robert Pearce of Australia today captured the Olympic single sculls championship for the second straight time.

Pearce thereby became the first oarsman in Olympic history to repeat in the solo event.

Beats Bill Miller

The powerful Australian, devouring the water of the Olympic lagoon with his sweeping strokes, stood off the closing challenge of Bill Miller of Philadelphia, United States champion, to win the day's feature race by three-quarters of a length, in the slow time of 7:44 2-5.

Guillermo Douglas of Uruguay and Leslie (Dick) Southwood of Great Britain finished third and fourth, outdistanced.

Four of the seven Olympic championships were decided during the afternoon and the United States jumped into the lead for team honors by scoring its first victory in Olympic history in the final for pair-oared boats, with coxswain.

Penn A. C. Boys Win

In the last event of the day two powerful young Philadelphia boys from the Penn A. C., Charley Keiffer and Joe Schauers, with the veteran Ed Jennings steering, scored a decisive victory over Poland, with France third and Brazil last. Those were the only four entries in this event and they went into the title race today without any preliminary test.

Great Britain and Germany divided the day's other honors. The veteran British pair-oared combination, Clive and Edwards, without coxswain, beat New Zealand, Poland and Holland handily after Germany's four oared boat with coxswain, came from behind with a sensational closing spurt to nip Poland by a foot in the most exciting race of the afternoon.

With four titles decided, the American oarsmen led with 15 points, scored unofficially on a 10-5-4-3 basis for the finalists in each race. Poland and Great Britain were tied for second with 13 each, while Australia had 10, thanks to Pearce's victory. Germany the same and New Zealand 8.

The regatta will be completed tomorrow with the University of California's undefeated crew, representing the United States, battling Canada and Great Britain in the feature event for eight-oared boats.

France, Not Holland, Gets Yacht Title

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 12 (AP)—By a margin of only two points, France displaced Holland as official winner of the monotype championship of the Olympic games yachting races by decision on a protest, and was awarded the title today. The Judge's decision taking eight points from the French boat's total was reversed on appeal to the Olympic protest committee, which decided the championship.

The ground jury at the San Pedro race course upheld a protest by Silvio Treleani of the Italian boat against Jacques Le Brun, French skipper, in the ninth monotype race sailed Wednesday, and the French boat was disqualified. Le Brun appealed to the general protest committee, however, and was sustained today.

Robert Maas of Holland was announced yesterday as the winner of the title. Under the realignment of points occasioned by the decision today, France gets 87 and Holland 85. Spain is third with 76, Germany four with 74, Canada fifth with 72, Great Britain sixth with 69 and the United States seventh, 66.

The Italian skipper charged he was fouled when the French boat failed to give him sea room when he signalled for it at the start of the ninth of the races.

20,000 See U. S. Win La Crosse Contest

OLYMPIC STADIUM, LOS ANGELES, Aug. 12 (AP)—Approximately 20,000 spectators saw the U. S. conquer Canada 7-4 today to win the deciding contest in a three-game lacrosse exhibition series in the 1932 Olympic games.

Mako And Parker To Battle For Junior Net Title Today

CULVER, Ind., Aug. 12 (AP)—Gene Mako, a curly haired youngster from Los Angeles, and Frank Parker, Milwaukee's sensational tennis star, will fight it out tomorrow for the national junior singles title.

Parker, taking it easy for the first time during the tournament, stayed in back court to eliminate Jay Cohn, Santa Monica, Calif., 6-3, 6-2. Mako sailed into the title bracket by blasting Samuel Lee, a fellow Californian, 6-1, 6-0.

Bob Kamrath, Austin, Tex., and another Wisconsin youngster, Don Leavens, Mosinee, will meet for the boys' title. Kamrath today eliminated Dunlap Cannon, Brownsville, Tenn., 6-1, 6-0, while Leavens defeated Bob Riggs, Los Angeles, 6-4, 1-6, 6-3.

Boys Will Be Boys—And So Will A Few Old Men

On all sides, one hears that "youth will be served." Frequently, however, the veterans do the serving, which is the case with these five major league veterans. Ruth and little Joe Sewell of the Yanks, "Old Hoss" Stephenson of the Cubs, Sam Rice of the Senators and Rabbit Maranville are clicking on all points for the pennant contenders they represent.

BY WILLIAM BRAUCHER
NEA Service Sports Editor

NEW YORK, Aug. 12—Just in case you should be interested in statistics, there are five men playing ball in the major leagues whose combined years of service total 83 seasons—and they are not just being kept around for ornamental purposes, either.

The men, and their years of toil are: Joe Sewell, Yankees, 13 years; Babe Ruth, Yankees, 19; Sam Rice, Senators, 18; Rabbit Maranville, Braves, 21, and Riggs Old Hoss Stephenson, Cubs, 12.

Their average age is 37. Sewell is 34; Maranville, 40; Ruth, 38; Rice, 40, and Stevie, 33, though it does seem Stevie has been around long enough to be older than that.

Ruth is hitting between .330 and .340. So is Stevie. The other gentlemen are not such murderers, Rice hitting just under .300, Sewell clouting around .283 and Maranville—well, he's taking his turn at bat, anyway, and that's something.

The three gentlemen who are not hitting at top figures—Sewell, Maranville and Rice—make up for it in all around defensive spryness, or you can bet all the unpaid taxes they wouldn't be in there.

The others are doing a pretty good job of fielding, too. Ruth's uncanny judgment of the spot to which a ball is destined to ride as soon as it is hit saves his creaking legs. And Sam Rice can go after them, as Dan Howley would say, from town to town. Besides, Sam Rice stole home the other day, probably just to celebrate his 2200th ball game in Washington uniform.

Last winter it was taken for granted Maranville would be released so he could catch on as manager of a minor league club. Instead of that, he has been the inspiration of the Boston team in its hard fight to stay in the first division. He has found life easier at second than at short, and has rewarded the management with the kind of sparkling plays only the Rabbit can make.

Stevie and Sewell played together on the University of Alabama team 14 years ago, Joe at short and the Old Hoss at second. Stevie, in his years at Cleveland and Chicago, has compiled a batting average of .341. Sewell's mark is .319, but that figure hardly does justice to his power with men on the bases.

And Ruth? Why waste words!

Brown Pitches Tribe To Win Over Detroit

Athletics Lose To Lowly Red Sox As Cleveland Breezes Into Tie For Second Place In American League

CLEVELAND, Aug. 12—Sterling pitching by Clint Brown enabled the Indians to hand Detroit its second straight defeat of the series, 3-1, and regain a tie for second place today.

Brown held the Tigers to six hits and kept them scoreless until the eighth when he yielded three safe blows. Since Philadelphia lost to Boston, the victory put the Tribe back on even terms with the Athletics in their battle for second place.

Eddie Flynn Advances To Olympian Boxing Finals

By RUSSELL J. NEWLAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

OLYMPIC AUDITORIUM, LOS ANGELES, Aug. 12.—One American leather-tosser advanced to the finals and another was eliminated today as the international scramble for Olympic boxing crowns passed through the next semi-final bouts in three classes.

Eddie Flynn, New Orleans, good looking dental student of Loyola university, kept the United States colors raised in the welterweight division when he boxed his way to a close decision over David McCleave of Great Britain.

Eddie Flynn

It was a brisk battle with Flynn pressed to the limit by an opponent who had been favored to beat rather easily. The American piled up points in the first and second rounds, scoring regularly with his snappy left hook and alternating the attack with rights to the body.

McCleave finished with a rush and had Flynn in retreat in the final round but the latter's margin in the other sessions was sufficient to assure him the verdict.

American hopes received a setback in the bantamweight class when Joe Land, San Francisco, lost the decision to Hans Ziglarski, wild swinging German youth, in a semi-final contest.

Decision Is Booed

Both judges and the referee voted for Ziglarski but many of the several hundred fans and a number of critics disagreed with the verdict. A loud chorus of boos was heard when the German was declared the winner.

Another decision that did not set well with the crowd came in one of the welterweight semi-finals when Erich Campe of Germany had his hand raised over Bruno Ahlberg of Finland. Ahlberg bored in all the time, head down and arms pumping like pistons. Campe countered with his right to good effect. The decision at the most was of the hairline variety.

At conclusion of the afternoon program, the United States had four survivors in the championship race while Germany, Argentina and Italy each had three undefeated entrants.

Miss Donna Jeanne Lewis, of Inglewood, Cal., looks mighty cute in the uniform she wears as mascot of the official Olympic band which furnishes musical background for the games in Los Angeles.

Forester Speaks At Meeting Here

Value of forests and the planting of trees were discussed in an illustrated lecture Friday night at Texas Technological college by Herbert N. Wheeler, chief lecturer of the United States forest service, of Washington, D. C.

Between 75 and 100 persons attended the lecture and a sing-song for summer students held previously in the cloisters of the administration building.

Wheeler stressed the importance of the national forest to the entire nation. He urged preservation of trees for lumber, to save erosion of the soil, to save wild life, and in parks as recreational centers.

Bunny Austin Is England's Threat In Eastern Joust

RYE, N. Y., Aug. 12 (AP)—Henry Wilfred (Bunny) Austin, alone of the original British team of four, remained in the running for the Eastern grass courts tennis championship after the quarter-finals had been played today.

Austin, first-ranking English player, defeated Dr. Eugene McCauliff of Yonkers, N. Y., 6-4, 6-4, but his compatriot, John S. Odliff bowed to Cliff Cutter, of New Orleans, 6-3, 2-6, 6-2. Fred Perry and Edward R. Avory, the other Britons, were eliminated yesterday.

Gaining the semi-finals along with Austin and Sutter were Gregory S. Mangin of Newark and Elbert H. Lewis of Los Angeles. Mangin defeated Manuel Alonso of New York, 6-1, 6-2, while Lewis scored an upset triumph over Wilbur F. Coen, jr., of Kansas City, conqueror of Perry yesterday. Lewis won 6-4, 6-4.

Tomorrow Sutter will meet Austin while Lewis plays Mangin.

The men's doubles reached the semi-final round with the surviving teams including Perry and Austin; Sidney B. Wood, New York, and Lester Stoefen, Los Angeles; Robert (Lefty) Bryan, Chattanooga, and John McDiarmid, Fort Worth; and Keith Gledhill, Santa Barbara, and Henry Culley, Los Angeles.

Gledhill and Culley accounted for the biggest form reversal when they whipped Mangin and Berkeley Bell, New York, one of the favored combinations, 7-5, 6-4.

Nipponese Sweep Swim Honors In Olympics Jousts

OLYMPIC SWIMMING STADIUM, LOS ANGELES, Aug. 12. (AP)—Masaji Kiyokawa, Japan, today won the 100 meter backstroke championship of the tenth Olympiad water carnival for the edification of a capacity crowd of 12,000 persons.

He finished two good yards ahead of a fast field. The sturdy Nipponese star hurled himself into the lead with the bark of the gun and never was headed. He was a good yard ahead at the turn and steadily pulled away until the finish, when the rest of the starters, closely bunched, crept up.

Kiyokawa's time was 1 minute 8.6 seconds. Toshio Irie and Kentario Kawatsu were second and third, making it a clean sweep for the Nipponese. Robert Zeher, United States, was fourth.

Japan's great display put the Nipponese ahead in team points with a total of 56, as compared with 46 for the United States.

It was the first Olympic record which survived the attack of the world's great swimmers. George Kojac's mark of 1928 at a minute, 1.2 seconds, also stands as the world's record.

To top off a big American day in the feminine ranks, Josephine McKim, Helen Johns, Eleanor Garatti Sayville, and Helen Madison won the 400 meter free style relay with startling ease. Holland was second, Great Britain third and Canada fourth.

Suffering from dislocated ribs and a back injury which she sustained in practice yesterday, Dorothy Poynton, 16-year-old Hollywood girl, braved her injuries and won the high diving championship in the morning with 40.26 points.

Japan's gesture did not end with the backstroke triumph. Kneoa Kitamura, the much talked of school boy free style exponent, won the first semi-final of the 1500 meter race in 19.51.6, cutting two-tenths of a second off the Olympic record set in 1928 by Arne Borg of Sweden.

Shozo Makino wnt Kitamura one better, cutting his teammate's new record down to 19:38.7, by winning the second heat by almost 30 meters.

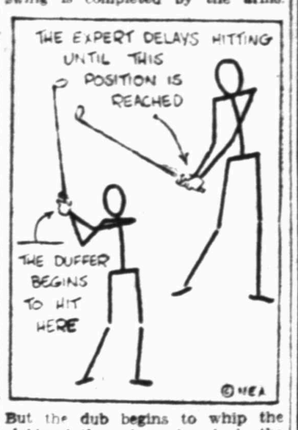

Andrew (Roy) Charlton, champion of eight years ago, and Australia's greatest hope in the swimming events until he was forced to bed with a case of influenza two weeks before the races failed to qualify today, as did youthful Ralph Flanagan, 14-year-old Miami Beach, Fla., lad.

GOLF by ART KRENZ

Hitting too soon results in the player reaching the ball with a large part of the stroke already spent.

The trouble lies in the action of the right hand and wrist. If the left hand has a firm grip upon the club and remains in control, this fault will be eliminated.

Wrists of the expert player remain cocked, as at the top of the swing, until at least half of the downswing is completed by the arms.

But the dub begins to whip the clubhead through as he starts the downswing. When the proper hitting region is reached his wrists are straight and all the power left him is in the arms and shoulders.

The player troubled with this fault should slow down the swing, keep the wrists cocked until the proper position is reached—or in other words delay hitting. After the fault has been eradicated he then can increase the speed and force gradually.

"Praying In The Holy Ghost"

Jude. 20

A Sermon By Rev. R. M. Hocker, Pastor Of The Church Of The Nazarene

"PRAYING IN THE HOLY GHOST"

These words are Scripture. They describe a certain experience belonging to the prayer life of a certain people. There are prayers that are not in the Holy Ghost. They are man-made utterances, without point, pith, or power. They aim at nothing; hit nothing; get nothing; do nothing. They are religious mouthings. Even the Devil ignores them. We have heard such. We have prayed such. You have prayed such.

A VERY REMARKABLE THING

There are two thoughts in these words from Jude: "Praying in the Holy Ghost." First, prayer; secondly personality—the personality of the Holy Ghost! Thus, praying in the Holy Ghost is a very remarkable thing; remarkable in its nature, in its results, and in its scarceness. Now all people do not know all there is to know about "praying in the Holy Ghost." The writer knows little, but thanks God for that little.

HEAR THE BELL RING

Praying in the Holy Ghost will have a directness or aim. It will shoot at something, and hit the target, and ring the bell. You may hear it hit the target, and ring the bell. You may hear the bell ring. You may know that it was a center shot. The word used in this phrase is the word for special prayer. There is a general praying, and there is definite praying. Holy Ghost praying is definite asking. When the Holy Ghost really has right of way, then prayer will have the right of way clear up to the throne of God.

LIKE MOLTEN LAVA

A Holy Ghost prayer will burn and flame with zeal and fervor. It will glow with inner light, and burn with inner fire. It is an expression of an inner experience. There is no better way to know of man's private experience than to hear him pray. Prayer is a revealer, and what it reveals is often more than the pray-er himself knows. Yes, holy prayers are fervent often pouring like molten lava from interior depths, red-hot and spacious. It may be difficult to put them into old prayer forms. The very prayers of some holy people put other people under convictions. James says Elijah prayed "fervently," which reads, "he prayed with prayer." There was another prayer on the inside of his prayer. That is, the Holy Ghost was praying inside his prayer: that is praying in the Holy Ghost!

FILLED WITH A NAMELESS POWER

Again, there will be power in a Holy Ghost prayer. Sometimes such prayers will burst from the lips like a mighty torrent. There is unspeakable pressure behind it. One can feel the tugging of the petitions as they leap into human speech and take form in human language. I would as soon hear a good Holy Ghost prayer as a Holy Ghost sermon. They are filled with a nameless power and can not be bound. They will get something done for God. James says such petitions "wield extraordinary power, exert superhuman might due to its inward activity and earnestness."

GO PRAY AT THAT HOUR

Holy Ghost prayers will possess power, because they are the prayers of the Holy Ghost. He borrows our lips to pour petitions out before God. Therefore, whenever you are impressed to pray, go pray at that hour or moment lest the battle be lost on account of your failing to pray when the Holy Ghost wanted your prayer to win the battle. At times like this, the prayers are not yours; they are His. We can feel at such times that a mighty Being is praying in us and through us. It is stupendous. We know not how to pray as we ought. The Holy Ghost knows what ought to be prayed, and what God will answer, and when He prays through us, the answer is sure. Therefore, every man who wants to get his prayers in line with God and receive answers, should at once receive the Holy Ghost.

LATER WE MAY FIND OUT

Praying in the Holy Ghost will explain why we sometimes pray for things that we do not really understand. We often are definitely led to pray for things and persons and we do not know just what is the matter, nor what is needed, nor what is going on. But later we may find out that some one needed our prayers, and they got victory because we prayed in the Holy Ghost when He put it upon us to pray.

THE PRAYING IS GOOD

Such prayers will get answers for they are not ours but belong to the Holy Ghost. It is just as the Holy Ghost was making petition to God, when you are praying in the Holy Ghost. At that time your prayers have as much power with God as the prayers of Jesus had when He was on earth! There will be seasons when the Holy Ghost seems to be especially ready to make intercession in you and through you. Then the praying is good. Ask everything that is presented to your mind at that time. Ask largely then, your time is at hand to get all you can ask or think. When the pool was troubled the people rushed into it.

ASK WHAT YOU WILL

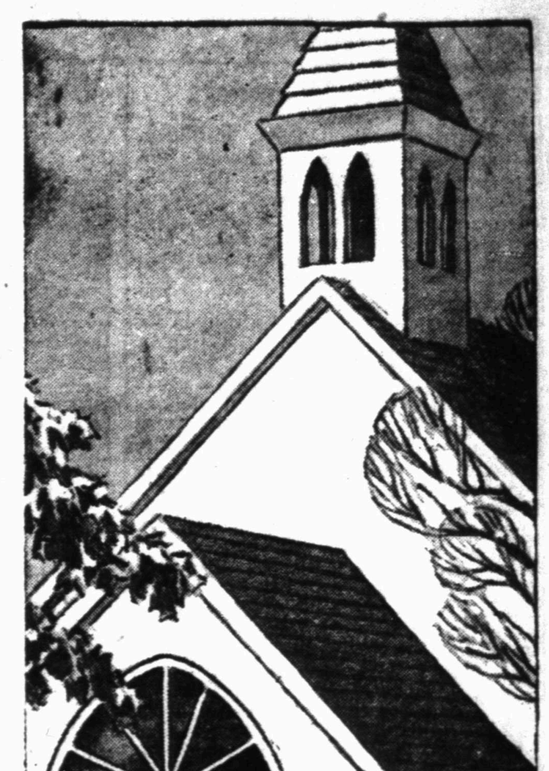

When the praying is especially good, just ask everything in sight. You will be astonished at the largeness of your requests, but do not let the Devil browbeat you. Ask! Ask largely! Ask until you get astonished at your petitions! Ask to half of His kingdom! Ask as largely as the Holy Ghost wants to do. Then is your hour. Do not miss it. Ask Man! Ask Woman! "Ask what you will, and it shall be done unto you." "If ye ask anything in my name I will do it." "Ye have not because ye ask not."

HIS PRAYERS, NOT YOURS

How we grieve the Holy Ghost by quenching His prayers that He is trying to pour through our lips. God will help us. Let us pray what He puts on us. They will come to pass. He knows. He never deceives us nor mocks us. If the Holy Ghost pours petitions through your lips, never fear for the answers. Never refuse to believe. Hold on. They are His prayers, not yours, and He will be responsible for the answers. Believe for the answers to His prayers. There is power in the prayers of the Holy Ghost. Let Him do the praying.

SWEEP OF MIGHTY OCEANS

There will be scope in the Holy Ghost praying. A man stop praying little prayers when the Holy Ghost begins to pray through him. That does not mean he may not pray for little things, for nothing is too small to be prayed over. But his prayers will take on the bigness of the Holy Ghost. There will be sweep and swing in them like the sweep and swing of mighty oceans. They will tower into the skies like the summits of the highest mountains. They will be as big as the purposes of God: as broad as human need, as boundless as the promises of God, and as vast as the energies of the Holy Ghost. They will be like oceans touching every shore of human need, and believing in all the possibilities of divine grace. "LORD TEACH US TO PRAY."

Mr. Hoover Flounders

CROUCHED in Republican clap-trap, bolstered by high-sounding words and phrases but saying nothing definitely save "hurrah for our country", President Hoover's speech of acceptance was little more than a repetition of the hokum and bunkum to which this nation has been subjected ever since the collapse of the GOP prosperity myth.

The only thing that can be said in its favor is that President Hoover, champion juggler of important questions, has removed from the present campaign a great deal of the sting arising from prohibition. Borrowing the state's rights program from the Democrats who have been offering it for more than four years, the President gingerly dipped first toe and ankle, then the entire torso into the wet stream. Apparently convinced that his flubb-dubbery of four years ago—"the noble experiment" line of avoidance—could not be safely followed again, he came out against the present system of prohibition but failed to offer any constructive thoughts toward improvement of conditions.

One would think that leaders of the Republican party could have written a better speech for their candidate. They even brought the Big Boss, Ambassador Mellon, home from England to approve it before it was pronounced. But the President's final delivery of the speech upon which he will stand for re-election has torn the last vestige of a veil between his party and the people; his address bared once and for all the fact that the Republican party still attempts to wring support from the nation on a platform comparable to the Mother Hubbard dress, which covers everything but touches nothing.

Even his own partisans must have smiled at Mr. Hoover's declaration that he favors a move "from defense to a powerful attack against depression." Depression has been upon us now for three full years—each of which saw Herbert Hoover in the White House and a Republican administration in the saddle. If it has—as is apparent—taken Mr. Hoover three years to decide upon this "powerful attack against depression", how long will it take him to put it into effect and just what will this "powerful attack" include?

The President's acceptance speech puts its deliverer in the same position as the drunken man with St. Vitus' dance, who attempted to walk a tight wire across Niagara Falls during a hurricane. He's started his campaign for re-election but he doesn't know what to do to get across.

BIG-HEARTED JIM!

"If you will walk up to the polls and vote for my wife, I will forgive the past", declared James E. Ferguson at San Angelo Thursday night, thus again publically parading his brazen conceit.

"I will forgive the past", says James E. Ferguson!

Now ain't that sumpin'?

Back in 1915 James E. Ferguson was elected Governor by the people of Texas; they did something for him, rather than he for them.

A couple or three years later he was impeached and removed from office and after a half dozen years of floundering about politically, during which he lambasted and bolted the party which had honored him, he ran for Governor again—this time in his wife's name.

That was in 1924 when he was using the old "vindication plea" and in 1924 he generously promised to "forgive all" if his wife were elected to one term—he didn't want two.

But in 1926 Jim came back as a candidate, still hiding behind "Ma", and was given a political thumping by Dan Moody. Moody "poured it on him" so beautifully that even Jim Ferguson didn't have the gall to run against the Taylor red-head in 1928. He laid out until 1930 when Ross Sterling took him out.

Now Jim Ferguson is going to "forgive" the people of Texas because their laws and his own actions removed him from the Governor's chair in the most scandalous era of Texas politics.

He's going to "forgive" the people of Texas—can you tie that?

If there's any "forgiving" to be done it looks to us like the shoe's on the other foot—that the people of Texas might "forgive" Jim Ferguson for the reputation his activities have given Texas in other parts of the nation; "forgive" Jim and "Ma" for making Texas a laughing-stock with their "wood and water" operations and their "open door" policies in regard to the state penitentiary.

"Vote for my wife and I will forgive the past," declares this self-appointed "father of Texas"!

Wow! That's the most brazen thing yet!

Shorter Hours Only Hope

By CHARLES P. STEWART
Central Press Staff Writer

Library of Congress

WASHINGTON, Aug. 12. — Deliberations of the group fo economists with whom President Hoover has been consulting recently unmistakably are leading up to an agreement in favor of what is known as the "New Hampshire plan," or something approximating it, as a solution of the unemployment problem.

In principle, it has the indorsement of most industrial, business and financial leaders.

Organized labor's representatives do not like it so well. Still many of them appear to be arriving at the conclusion that it is the best the workers are likely to get. Others regard it at least open mindedly. Perhaps those who reject it unqualifiedly are in an actual minority.

THE ASSUMPTION that industry's mechanization and heightened efficiency have eliminated the necessity for as many hands as used to be employed is now so generally accepted as hardly to meet with a dissenting voice in discussions of the existing economic situation.

Accordingly, it is taken for granted that, even with better times, work for all the idle will be available only upon the basis of a shortened day or week or both.

The question is:

Shall a worker who has been receiving, for example, $48 for a 48-hour working week continue to receive $48 for a 40-hour week, or shall he be cut to $40?

ORGANIZED LABOR began by demanding and, in part, continues to demand, the old wage, or a higher wage, for a curtailed day or week.

The argument for what amounts, in either case, to an increased rate of pay, rests on the contention that mechanization and enhanced efficiency have added greatly to production's profits and that labor is entitled to its share, in its weekly envelope.

Of course captains of industry counter by pointing to their present embarrassments, to which labor answers that capital did, nevertheless, take more than its due for a considerable period of years, thus concentrating the country's wealth to such an extent that the crash of 1929 finally resulted.

PROPONENTS of the "New Hampshire plan" take the view that, whatever the workers' just rights may be, they will benefit by making certain concessions in the interest of an industrial revival, which it is predicted will lead eventually to the general wage advance claimed by them.

The plan starts by proposing a reduction in the working week from six to five days.

Variations, contemplating a four and even a three-day week, a flexible week and an arrangement of staggered hours, likewise have been suggested, but in the original scheme a five-day week is called for.

This will require 16 2-3 per cent more workers per plant, but the idea is to put them on without increasing the total payroll.

THE NUMERICAL increase in the force will be paid instead from a pool contributed to in part by the employes who have had their working time reduced by one-sixth, in part by the recipients of executive salaries, in part by stockholders in the concern, in the form of curtailed dividends, and in part by the new hands themselves, who will not be hired at quite the same rate as those previously employed.

The obvious effect will be a lowering, to some extent, in the living standard of the already employed workers.

The newly employed will be vastly better off than while they were jobless, but not so well off as before they lost their jobs.

The shareholders, presumably including the executives, may or may not be losers. The workers toiling only five instead of six days weekly, should be able to do so more tellingly—not, indeed, producing more in five days than they did in six, but producing more in proportion, because fresher. Should this prove true, increased productivity of the plant may hold dividends at their previous figure or add to them.

THE WORKERS' living standard, as recognized above, will be somewhat lowered.

But this, the plan's advocates argue, will not last long.

The addition of new hands to follow their line of argument, will take up the slack of unemployment, presently a labor shortage will be felt and then wages will rise again.

Organized labor does not altogether dispute the soundness of such reasoning. Veterans at A. F. of L. headquarters in Washington recall that there were similar reductions for a brief period when the working day was trimmed from 10 to 8 hours, after which—and very speedily—wages rose higher than ever.

NEVERTHELESS, workers by no means are a unit on the subject.

The "New Hampshire plan's" friends claim only that their scheme will cut unemployment by 3,000,000. While helpful, a reduction of 3,000,000 is far from adequate, with a winter approaching during which the A. F. of L. has been estimating that the number of jobless may reach 13,000,000.

The plan's supporters reply that the restoration of their purchasing power to even 3,000,000 will act and react, making more and more jobs.

Skeptics say they do not see how an addition of 3,000,000 to the ranks of the employed can materially increase the purchasing power of the total number of the employed, considering that the addition is to be accomplished without any increase in the total payroll.

However, the employing class, the bankers and the middle men are enthusiastic for the proposition and a large share of the workers are "sold" on it.

What Other People Think

I have always favored a shorter work week and a shorter work day and nothing has happened to change my mind. — Secretary of Labor William N. Doak.

If China is given a decade in which to swell up by means of cheap silver into a new menacing industrial competitor, the very living standards of the west will be lowered miserably. England has most to lose if Shanghai becomes a Manchester of the east.—R. M. Joseph, Shanghai banker.

Brigadier General Joseph Wheeler (1836-1906) resigned a commission in the U. S. Army to join the Confederacy, where he was successively promoted to the rank of colonel, brigadier, cavalry commander of Bragg's Army, Major-General, and Lieutenant-General. He was very conspicuous as a raider in the Civil war, having the destruction of more than $3,000,000 of U. S. property to his "credit". He led the advance in every forward movement of his forces and always covered the rear in a retreat. For a long time he fought almost daily, dismounting his horse for battle when necessary.

Battles connected with his name are Chickamauga, Ringgold Gap, Macon, Augusta, Savannah, Johnsonville, Bentonville and numerous others. At the outbreak of the Spanish-American War Gen. Wheeler went to Cuba as Major-General of Volunteers in command of a cavalry division adding the battles of Las Guasimas and San Juan to his past laurels.

Altogether "Fighting Joe" Wheeler commanded in more than 200 battles and was under fire 800 times. He had a long and enviable record as Congressman and was a U. S. Brigadier-General, retired, when he died.

CHAPTER XLVIII

The gray kitten mewed again. It sat on the fifth step down from the top of the flight and as Phillips reached for it the kitten backed away. Its fur mounted perpendicularly and from its mouth there came a sharp, hissing "Phftt!"

It was Cherry's kitten.

"Pinky!" Dan Phillips exclaimed. He picked up the little animal holding it to the light. It was Pinky—there could be no doubt about it.

Pearson, below, asked impatiently, "What's the idea? What's the cat got to do with—?"

But Dan was not listening. One quick glance about him and he was running up the stairs. There were three doors opening off the third floor hallway. One led to Dixie Shannon's tiny quarters and another to the Moreaus' rooms. Phillips had never stepped behind the third door. It was a vacant apartment—but, no, a tiny crack of light gleamed above the door sill!

A half dozen strides carried Dan in that door. The kitten, having established acquaintanceship, cradled close to his arm. It was purring in a sleepy sing-song.

Dan knocked.

There was no answer but he heard a rustling sound on the opposite side of the door. He knocked a second time.

Then slowly, hesitantly, the door open. There she stood! Cherry wearing the yellow housedress in which he had seen her so often. The lamp light fell on that yellow dress and made it golden. Cherry's face was pale. She raised wide, dark-fringed eyes to Dan's.

The young man said, "Cherry—!"

As often as she had rehearsed the scene to follow—as often as she had hoped for it—what happened in the next few moments was nothing whatever like Cherry's imaginings. Dan took a step forward. He held out the kitten and Cherry took it in her arms.

"Here," Dan said. "Pinky—I found him on the steps."

The words halted. The young man was looking intently at the girl's face. He did not move—was not even standing inside the room. He did not try to touch Cherry but remained there staring at her.

It was the girl who recovered from her surprise first. She put a hand to her throat, smiled in a way that was not quite convincing, said in a low, throaty voice, "Thank you, Dan. I—I guess you're surprised to see me!"

He nodded. It was not Dan's voice that answered but one that was entirely strange and seemed to belong to another person.

"Yes, it is a surprise. Have you been here all the time, Cherry? I didn't know—"

"I didn't want you to. The janitor said it was all right. He let me stay here. I've been down in the apartment, too—but only when I knew you wouldn't be there. No one saw me. I didn't want anyone to know about it. Pinky's been here all the while but tonight he must have slipped out when I wasn't noticing. Level glances. Level, matter-of-fact voices. And all the while the flaming, stabbing words so close to Dan's lips.

There was the briefest pause and then Phillips made a tremendous effort. He said, "Cherry—you want me to go, don't you?"

"Why, I—"

"If that's what you want I'll do it." Suddenly Dan was voluble. "I'll do anything you say, Cherry. I mean—anything! You can have a divorce if you want it. Everything was my fault—I know that now. There's no reason why you should be tied to a dub like me! I couldn't expect it after the way I've treated you. We'll arrange things in the quietest way—make it as easy for you as possible. Oh, you're a million times too good for me and I know it! I've made every kind of fool of myself a man can, I couldn't expect you to forgive the things I've done! And I want you to be happy, Cherry! I want that more than anything else in the world. I'll—I'll even give you up if that will make you happy!"

He could keep from it no longer. Suddenly Dan's arms were around the girl. He caught her close to him. Dan whispered, "Darling—oh, my dear—my dear, I love you so much!"

It was like a miracle. Cherry's soft cheek, like warm velvet, against his own. Cherry unresisting that fervent embrace. Cherry raising eyes that were like starlight. Cherry—his own beloved Cherry close in his arms!

And suddenly the miracle became reality. She drew away. The girl's eyes—they were no longer level and matter-of-fact but radiant, misty and gloriously tender—met Dan's.

She whispered, "Don't leave me again, Dan! I couldn't stand it. I don't want you to go away again—ever!"

"You mean you don't want a divorce? You'll give me another chance? Oh, Cherry, I swear that if you do everything will be different! I'll never be such a fool again. I love you, Cherry. You're the only one in the world I love! Don't you know that?"

Letters To The Editor

District Clerk Explains Part In Pharr-Walker Fuss

Editor, The Avalanche: I hope you will allow me the opportunity to say a few words as you have the gentleman from Crosbyton who is running for district judge, in Thursday's Morning Avalanche, in which he states that the district judge from Lubbock is running on a "fictitious record."

I wish to take this opportunity to state to the people of Lubbock county and the other three counties of this district that I am not in the "fictitious business." I was presented three certified copies from the three district clerks of the other counties, the record of the district judge of the 72nd District court, stating that the record was true and correct on file in their offices and after taking their three records, I made up a list of the cases from my records on file "in my office," and compiled the figures and certified to all the records of the four counties of this district, the total amount of cases that were affirmed and reversed, etc. Those figures being correct and true from the records of the four district clerks.

I have always, and will continue to do so, certify to the records on file in this office and nothing else. I will state that there are a few cases that have been reversed and are in the Supreme court and that the mandates have not been returned to this office. I only certified to the mandates on file in my office and the other three clerks certificates given to me, and not the records of the Court of Civil Appeals or the Southwestern Reporter.

I only write this letter to explain to the people of this district that complete and combined report of civil and criminal cases and the disposition of same from February 26, 1927, to and including June 25, 1932 in the 72nd District court for Lubbock, Crosby, Hockley and Cochran counties, certified to and examined and compared by me to be true and correct from the records of the four district clerks. This report was made up by request of the district judge of the 72nd District court.

I make this statement only because statements in Thursday's Avalanche reflect on me and the other district clerks.

TOO MUCH SLEEP

PORTLAND, Ore.—Louis Sondheim and Aaron Holtz were backing an ordinance for daylight delivery of milk because their slumbers were interrupted in the early morning hours by noisy milk trucks. Commissioner A. L. Barbur got up and gave the following impassioned speech: "This sleeping business has become a fad with people who have nothing else to do. I only get four or five hours of sleep a night and I'm on deck every morning. There's no sense in sleeping eight or nine hours."

LOVED THEIR HOME

HOUSTON, Tex. — Someone left the pigeon house door open and 150 of the birds belonging to City Tax Attorney Louis Dunn flew out. They made no effort to escape. A strong wind blew up, however, and drove the birds away despite their struggles. Dunn thought he had lost his pigeons, but the following morning they were back in their home, all bedraggled and weary. Dunn explained that they had walked home after giving up flying against the strong wind. Their feet were nearly raw.

OPEN NEW CALICHE PIT

SEAGRAVES, (Special)—The second caliche pit for the surfacing of highway 137 between Seagraves and Seminole has been opened eight miles north of Seminole. It is on the Goode farm. Another pit will be opened later near Seminole.

Bank Messenger Is Robbed Of $10,200 By Two Bandits

ST. LOUIS, Aug. 12 (AP)—A messenger for the First National bank of Clayton was robbed by two men of $10,200 of the bank's money on a street car today.

The messenger, Jefferson Ross, an elderly negro, made no outcry and persons in the street car were unaware of what had happened until several minutes after the holdup.

D[illegible]emand Freedom Of The Knees t[illegible]

Just to prove their contention that their tennis shorts are not indecent, Mona Thome, left, and Ruth Smutny of Chicago offered to appear in court in their abbreviated sports wear. After being driven from city tennis courts because of their attire, the girls filed suit against the Irving Park district commissioners. They are shown here with their attorney, Victor Frolich.

LEAP YEAR BRIDE

by Laura Lou BROOKMAN

Cla[illegible] above the railing as the two [illegible] doorway turned.

"Perry!" Pearson exclaimed "I'm certainly glad to know all right! Has Dan told you been tearing the town apart id you? Thought you'd been ped or smashed up in an ac-t—!"

The girl shook her head. "Dan n't tell me," she said. Her eyes e on Dan's. The look that pass- between these two was unmis-kable.

Pearson coughed. "Oh, I see!" he id. "Other things to talk about. y the way, Dan, do you realize we ave a taxi waiting outside?"

"Good Lord! I'd forgotten all about it!" Dan moved but the other put a hand on his arm.

"I'll take care of it," Max told m. "Got to be running along anyow. I want to get off an answer to hat wire."

"You mean about the job? Are ou going to take it, Max?"

"Yes, I guess so. I'll be clearing out in a couple days. See you tomorrow, Dan—"

Cherry stepped forward. She put out her hand. "We'll both see you, Max. You wouldn't leave Wellington without saying goodbye to me, would you? I thought we were friends."

Pearson's hand gripped the girl's. "Of course we are," he said. "Always!".

And that handclasp, the look in Cherry Phillips' eyes meant more to Max Pearson than declarations of love from any other woman in the world. Pearson grinned. "Well, I'll be getting along now!"

They went down to the second floor landing together. Cherry's face, smiling down over the bannister, was the last thing Pearson saw before pulling down his hat brim, drawing up his coat collar and stepping out into the night.

Cherry and Dan stood before their own threshold. Dan opened the door, touched the wall switch and they entered the apartment.

"Great guy, Pearson!" he said. "But then I've always told you that."

Cherry would have agreed with him. She was about to say as much when something on the floor caught her eye. A slender, white envelope. It was lying just within the room where the janitor had slipped it underneath the door. Cherry picked it up.

"A letter!" she said. "For you, Dan. Oh, look—!"

Both of them were staring at the inconspicuous lettering in the upper left hand corner of the envelope. The name was that of a famous magazine. Quickly, with a half-suppressed exclamation Dan tore open the envelope, drew out that sheet that was inside.

"Cherry!" he cried. "Why—why, Cherry—!"

He held a slip of pink paper bearing the words, "Pay to the order of Daniel Phillips, $900."

"There's some mistake," Dan was muttering. "It isn't for me, Cherry. It can't be!"

"Let's read the letter, dear."

It was a brief note. The editor was pleased to inform Daniel Phillips that his manuscript, "Night Life," had won first prize in the magazine's amateur writers' contest. The story would be published in an early issue. The letter ended with the hope that the editor might see more of Dan's work. There were the phrases, "promising," "original flavor," and "vitality."

The young man raised puzzled eyes. "But I didn't enter this contest! I didn't—"

All at once he understood.

"You sent it!" he cried. "Cherry, you did this, didn't you?"

"You don't mind, do you, Dan? You see, I knew—I knew—it was a fine story. That time you asked me if—I didn't tell you the truth. I said the manuscript was lost because I didn't want to tell you I'd sent it away. Oh, I was sure it would win all the time but I wanted to know before I told you! I'm so happy, Dan. I've always known you were going to be a great writer!"

"But I'm not—I'm just a dub Oh, but, Cherry, I'll work as I never worked before! Look—the letter says they'd like to see more of my work.' They'll see plenty of it! It's why, Cherry, this is the great chance of my life—I mean the real one!"

He had used those words before. He thought of Brenda. "Cherry," Dan said slowly, "chances to write stories don't mean so much. All I want is the chance to show how much I love you. How different everything is going to be for us from now on!"

The girl smiled. "We'll take that chance together, Dan. It's—the happy ending of the story."

"And the beginning of a new one!"

Then Cherry said the word that is the happiest of all endings and of all beginnings. Cherry said "Yes."

(THE END)

Wanted, A Throne!

Known as the most persistent kingdom-hunter on record, Abbas Hilmi Pacha (above), former Khedive of Egypt, has indicated from his exile near Paris, France, that he is willing to take on any job in the kingling line. He is 58 years old and held his last job until Great Britain deposed him in 1914. He is negotiating to become ruler of Syria when the French government releases its mandate.

Fergusons

partisans that the federal government had withdrawn highway aid during Mrs. Ferguson's administration were untrue.

Challenge Is Hurled

"I challenge them to prove that federal aid was ever denied under the Ferguson administration or that any ever will be withdrawn because a Ferguson is governor," Ferguson said.

"I'll tell you what the federal government did do about aid, though. When Sterlnig and his crowd built that so-called hug-the-coast highway along the Gulf of Mexico at a cost of $2,600,000 the federal government said that project was so crooked and corrupt they would not put a dollar into it. The Sterling crowd took every dollar that road cost from your gasoline tax fund. Nothing but a crane or crawfish could live along that highway.

Nerve Is Lacking

"They talk to you about responsible government and honesty in office and accuse me of all sorts of high crimes. But not a mother's son has the nerve to stick his name to a justice's complaint charging I ever stole anything.

Ferguson said he had "two good engineers" estimate the cost of the highways Sterling claimed were built the past five years and that even by making "most generous allowances" they were able to account for only $117,000,000 in construction and maintenance costs.

Where's The Money

"There was paid into the highway department and spent by it $217,000,000," Ferguson said. "They finally got the state auditor to make a preliminary report after I insisted on knowing where that $100,000,000 went, but that report does not give us any information. I challenge the Sterling crowd to take that report and show where they even tried to account for your money."

J. K. Baker, Coleman attorney and brother-in-law of State Senator Walter Woodward, presided at the rally. Woodward is stumping for Sterling. Other preliminary speakers included L. A. Pearce, a Hunter supporter in the first primary, and James McCartney, Brownwood lawyer.

Skull In Trial

the field of criminology and ballistics was questioned closely by the state.

No Murder Evidence

"There is not a scintilla of evidence here," Hamilton said, "to show that Clarke was murdered."

"Are you sure Clarke was not murdered?" asked Defense Counsel J. M. Carson.

"I am absolutely sure," Hamilton repeated with emphasis. "There is every indication of suicide and nothing in the world to give the slightest indication of homicide."

Spectacular Rise On Market Halted As Pivotal Issues Go Down Dizzily

NEW YORK, Aug. 12. (AP) — Stocks tumbled today with a vigor that had been unequalled on the movement in the opposite direction.

Net losses of 2 to 7 point s in the so-called pivotal issues and of 12 or more in one or two others resulted from a heavy fire of selling in the last hour. Earlier, the market had bobbed about uncertainly, occasionally rallying but never showing much enthusiasm for higher prices. The late break found trading very active; final prices were the lows, notwithstanding an attempt at a recovery just before the close. Sales totaled 3,719,000 shares.

Wall street's readiest explanation for this sudden descent was that a technical reaction had been overdue; also that wheat and cotton had had much to do with the sudden storm reversal, since both those commodities were weak.

J. I. Case forfeited 13 1-2 points net, while Auburn's quotations was pared 12. American Telephone flopped 7; U. S. Steel and New York Central 4 1-4; American Can 6, Allied Chemical, Eastman and Santa Fe 5; International Harvester 4 1-2; Du Pont 3 1-8; Union Pacific 4 and many others 2 to 4. Some preferred stocks wavered, especially U. S. Steel's senior issue which sank 5. Losses averaged into a decline of 4.9 points, the severest break since last September.

Miss Sue Elder, bookkeeper, were preparing to close the bank for the noon hour.

Striding to the rear teller's window, they commanded Miss Elder to "stick 'em up." She was hesitant in complying with the request and Curtis walked in from a rear room. He also was ordered to obey the robbers' command, but instead he crouched on the floor, picking up a gun.

Both Open Fire

Both men opened fire at Curtis and ran from the bank, firing a shot through a window just before getting into a car. Curtis ran out of the bank and fired twice as the car drove off. The bank cashier was uninjured, and it was not known whether his shots took effect.

On May 27 this year a lone bandit held up Miss Lora Brown, assistant cashier, and commanded a customer, who since has been indicted for complicity in the robbery, to scoop up the bank's cash. More than $3,000, much of which since has been recovered, was taken. Five men, four of whom have been arrested, were indicted for the first bank robbery. Miss Brown is on a vacation now.

Rainfall

miles north of the town yesterday afternoon. From Abernathy north to Kress precipitation Thursday night averaged about an inch.

North And East Hit

To the northeast and east, Floydada and vicinity received about a half inch; Ralls, Crosbyton, Dickens and Spur had from a half to an inch, the fall being heavier the further east.

Rain fell as far south as Post Thursday. Other reports Thursday included: Ropesville and Seagraves, about an inch; Southland, half an inch; Slaton, half an inch; Tahoka and Wilson, a half inch; Lamesa and O'Donnell, no rain.

Heavy Fall West Reported In City

A heavy rain fell Friday afternoon between Hurlwood and five miles east of Levelland, W. J. Baldwin, editor of the Hockley County Herald, said last night.

The night before Levelland had a good rain of more than an inch. The cotton and feed crops were greatly benefitted. Crop prospects are very good and late crops will probably make a good yield unless there is an unexpected early frost, the editor said.

A large number of Levelland men were here for the Sterling meeting.

Thirteen Greenville Persons Bitten By Dogs With Rabies

GREENVILLE, Aug. 12 (AP)—Thirteen Greenville persons have been bitten in the past few days by dogs, which tests at the Pasteur institute in Austin showed to be infected with rabies. Mrs. H. O. Routh and six of her children are under treatment at Austin. Six members of the family of Rev. V. C. Hill are also being treated. Chief of Police Polk has ordered that all dogs running at large without muzzles be killed.

NEW TRIAL DENIED

LOS ANGELES, Aug. 12 (AP) — David L. Hutton, singing husband of Aimee Semple McPherson, Los Angeles evangelist, was denied today a new trial of the suit in which Myrtle St. Pierre, Pasadena nurse, was awarded a $5,000 breach of promise judgment against him.

Grain

FORT WORTH GRAIN
FORT WORTH, Aug. 12. (AP)—Demand continued good on the cash grain market here today except for corn which was slow.

Quotations ranged as follows basis car loads on track at Fort Worth, freight paid, delivered Texas Gulf ports, export rate, or Texas common points: Wheat, No. 1 hard, according to protein and billing, 56@58. Barley, No. 2 nominally 31 1-2@32. Sorghums, No. 2 milo per 100 lbs. nominally 66@68; No. 2 kaffir, nominally 64@66.

Delivered Texas common points or group three: Corn, No. 2 mixed 40 1-2@41 1-2; No. 2 white 41@44; No. 2 yellow nominally 41 1-2@42 1-2.

Delivered Texas common points: Oats, No. 2 red 20@20 1-2.

CHICAGO GRAIN
CHICAGO, Aug. 12. (AP)—Vulnerable to the effects of stock market weakness, wheat fell almost 3 cents a bushel today, and ended at the day's bottom level.

Increasing receipts of domestic spring wheat, together with emphasis on a big exportable North American surplus, and good rains in the Canadian northwest, were contributing bearish factors. Some of the selling of wheat was attributed to disappointment concerning President Hoover's references to agricultural subjects in his acceptance speech.

Wheat closed unsteady, 2 1-4 to 2 5-8 under yesterday's finish, corn 1-4 to 5-8 down, oats 1-8 to 3-8 off, and provisions varying from 2 cents decline to an equal advance.

man played early day cowboy numbers and old fashioned dance numbers.

G. E. Lockhart, Lubbock attorney and candidate for the nomination for state senator, spoke for 20 minutes. Mr. Lockhart answered a speaker for Arthur Duggan, Littlefield, who is opposing the Lubbock man. Homer R. Winston, Brownfield, candidate for the state representative nomination, also spoke.

Governor Ross Sterling also spoke to a crowd of more than a thousand persons who gathered in the open air pavilion. E. A. Watson, Crosbyton attorney, presided and introduced R. A. Stuart, Fort Worth and former state senator, who preceded the governor. Mr. Stuart spoke for about 20 minutes and then introduced Governor Sterling.

Registration was considerably less than previous years, Mrs. W. T. Dunn, in charge of the booth, said. Less than 100 old timers who had been on the Plains for 20 years or more, had put down their names late Friday afternoon. Governor Sterling and the Lubbock men, were among those who registered. Each one was given a badge with a button showing the picture of Uncle Hank.

J. D. Huffman of Post, who came to West Texas in 1868, was the oldest resident in point of years here to register. Others who have lived here more than 40 years included: Carl Clark, Post, 1880; Mrs. W. J. Collier, Crosbyton, 1872; Mr. Collier, 1876; C. F. Ramsey, Lockney, 1888; C. R. they can be made under the original provisions of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation act. . . which loans the secretary is now directed to continue."

In a second letter which Jones received today, Warburton said: "the original authorization was to make loans for crop production in 1932. Loans for crop production in 1932 presumably means loans on crops which will be produced in 1932. What I was trying to imply in my letter was that, in view of the direction to continue to make loans in the bill passed in July, presumably it was the thought of congress that these loans might be made on fall planted crops."

Action Necessary

Jones said, "immediate action is necessary to handle a desperate situation," and that he doubted whether the regional credit corporation could be set up in time to properly handle the matter.

"The vetoed bill would have made this available three weeks ago," he said.

Laborers Address Petition Against Texas Tech Leaders

Charging that Texas Technological college directors "by its high-handed, secretive, and rule-or-ruin policy has brought Texas Technological college into disrepute and dishonor," a petition addressed to Governor Ross S. Sterling is being signed both by union and non-union laborers, John L. Green, who prepared the petition, said. Green is an official of United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners No. 1884.

"The board has proved callous to reasonable public sentiment and disloyal to established academic principles," the petition, which Green said had been signed by 175 persons, set out. "We denounce the brutal dismissal of faithful members of the faculty, whose chief fault was their fearless expression of sympathy for the toiling masses and their contempt for the dominating trusts."

American Consul's Daughter In Warsaw Kidnaped Friday

WARSAW, Poland, Aug. 12 (AP)—Patricia Mc Millin, five year old daughter of United States Consul Stewart E. Mc Millin, was kidnaped from a public park here today and several hours later was found in a shop in a distant part of Warsaw. She tearfully told her parents she had been taken from the park by a man she did not know.

Sterling And Aides Heard Here By Appreciative Audience Last Night

because of inability to finance such operations, according to the governor's analysis. When the militia was stationed in the fields, circumstances were so shaken to permit opening of wells which previously had been useless, although producers, Governor Sterling said. Independent operators in other Texas fields also were aided by the control of drilling, piping, and further distribution, he added.

The price of oil climbed to 68 cents and later to 98 cents a barrel, and the governor attributed the renewed optimism in the oil industry in Texas to the use of military power.

Spikes Allegation

Spiking James E. Ferguson's allegation that discrepancies in the use of highway moneys have been heaped one on another in the present regime, Governor Sterling said that of $168,000,000 handled by the highway department, an inconsistency of less than $300 was the only one found, and it had been traced to a county foreman, who was sentenced to the penitentiary for padding pay rolls.

Texas received $7,500,000 from the federal government as highway aid last year, and will not receive it again if the Ferguson pair again assumes the governor's chair, the speaker declared. He previously had pointed out, as had preliminary speakers, that the federal government had withdrawn highway aid from Texas when Mr. Ferguson was governor because the standard of the state's highways did not meet that of the United States bureau of roads.

Deficiencies Cited

Deficiencies in itemized reports of moneys expended, corruption in the fees system, and allied mishandling of the people's money were cited by the governor. Eight men sent to the penitentiary as a result of an investigation of the fees system were "ardent" Ferguson supporters, Governor Sterling averred.

John L. Ratliff, chairman of the South Plains Good Government league, a Sterling organization, introduced the first preliminary speaker, Frank ("Pancho") Ogilvie former University of Oklahoma and Texas Christian university football and baseball star, now a Fort Worth lawyer.

Problems Greatest

Describing Governor Sterling's problems "as the greatest of those encountered by Texas governor since reconstruction days," Mr Ogilvie declared the man seeking re-election is "committed to a definite program." The attorney presented the governor's favor of a constitutional amendment, which will be submitted in November, and would exempt homesteads of $3,000 or less from ad valorem taxation, as an example of his interest in the average citizenry.

Governor Sterling entered the auditorium by a side door as Mr. Ogilvie neared the end of his speech. The crowd arose as the governor stepped on the platform.

Stuart Is Speaker

R. A. Stuart, former state senator and formerly district attorney of Tarrant county, of Fort Worth spoke next. He is the governor's West Texas campaign manager.

Branding James E. Ferguson as a "tool" of the major oil and utility companies, a man whose "service has been on the auction block," Mr. Stuart asked:

"Why did James E. Ferguson visit the office of the Texas Power and Light company in Dallas on Friday of last week?"

Ferguson Is Lobbying

Installation of a loud speaker was completed, and the Fort Worthian stepped to the microphone near one end of the platform.

"Ferguson has been lobbying for the big intereets of Texas and trying to stop every measure which is for the common people," Mr. Stuart declared.

Governor Sterling is scheduled to speak five and possibly six times today. He is to appear at Plainview at 8:30 a. m., at Tahoka at 11:30 a. m., possibly at O'Dognell at 1 p. m., at Lamesa at 1:30 p. m., at Sterling City at 3:30 p. m., and at San Angelo at 8:30 p. m. He will return to Austin from San Angelo.

Governor Sterling, feeling "as fit as a fighting cock" after his illness of midweek, arrived here at about 8 p. m. after two engagements earlier in the day. He spoke at Post where he was met at the train at 3 p. m. by Lubbock and Garza county delegations, and later at the West Texas Old Settlers reunion near Crosbyton.

A reception was given the governor at the Lubbock hotel. The trip from Crosbyton was over muddy roads and Governor Sterling and his party arrived only a half hour before the program began. The assembly first was scheduled as an outdoor event at Broadway and Avenue K. A threat of possibly more showers, which had occurred in late afternoon, led to changing the place of the rally to the church auditorium, which seats about 2,500 persons. Chairs erected in corners were filled, listeners aligned, to fill the doorways, and the choir section on the platform was occupied. The audience was attentive and without hecklers.

About 500 Dickens Voters Hear Talk

SPUR, Aug. 12. (Special)—About 500 Dickens county voters heard former Senator R. A. (Bob) Stuart of Fort Worth, West Texas campaign manager for Governor Ross S. Sterling, at a theater here at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon.

Stuart filled the engagement originally slated for Governor Sterling, whose illness kept him out of the campaign itinerary from Wednesday to Friday afternoon when he spoke at Crosbyton. Senator Stuart and party left after the speaking here to attend Sterling rallies at Crosbyton and Lubbock.

A "night rainbow" in full colors was seen at Benton, Tenn., about 11 p. m.

Sterling Gets Post Greeting

Unscheduled Address Is Made At Post Friday Afternoon; Citizens Have Little Time But Get Crowd

By Staff Correspondent

POST, Aug. 12—Making an unscheduled talk here this afternoon shortly after his arrival from Sweetwater via the Santa Fe, Governor Ross Sterling was welcomed by a crowd of between 350 and 400 persons.

With less than two hours notice that the governor was stopping here, a group of citizens by telephone and personal calls gathered the crowd together. A reception committee consisting of T. R. Greenfield, chairman; Dr. A. C. Surman, Dr. D. C. Williams, John T. Herd, Walter Duckworth, and Ira Lee Duckworth, met the governor at the train.

Just before the train arrived J. H. Hankins, of Lubbock, introduced by Ira E. Witt, superintendent of schools, made a brief talk. The Post band, recently organized and led by George Green, was at the depot and played several numbers.

Chairman Greenfield introduced the governor, who spoke briefly about his work as chairman of the highway commission for four years and as governor for a year and a half. He pointed out that there were 25,000 men engaged in highway construction work, with over 100,000 persons depending on them and that "the party who is hiding behind his wife's skirts," had announced he would do away with the present construction program if he is elected governor.

More "indictments" for alleged illegal voting in the first primary, are to be returned, the governor pointed out. He said that in East and Central Texas there had been many such indictments.

A party from Lubbock, including John L. Ratliff, L. Wesley Read, George Roach, C. A. Sheffield, Joe W. Bowman, J. H. Hankins, Alfred M. Scott and Dr. J. G. Hall, met the governor here and went with him to Crosbyton.

Lubbock Men Meet Governor At Post

A group of Lubbock men, headed by John L. Ratliff, chairman of the Good Government league and L. Wesley Read, secretary, left for Post shortly after 1 o'clock Friday, to meet Governor Ross Sterling and escort him to Crosbyton and then to Lubbock.

In the party besides the two league officials were: Joe W. Bowman, J. H. Hankins, Alfred M. Scott, Dr. J. G. Hall and George Roach.

After waiting for the governor to speak briefly at Post, the party drove to Ralls and then to Crosbyton and to the reunion grounds. They returned to Lubbock, reaching here about 8 o'clock.

Sidelights

the current allegation that he is too poor, Governor Sterling admitted he had lost the bulk of his fortune and said:

"If the people that have lost money in the last two years vote for me and the people that have made money vote for the other party, he'll get gol' darned few votes."

IS AFTER MONEY

Mr. Ferguson, declared the governor, wants "his dirty fingers on the treasury of the state of Texas; the taxpayers' money."

IS NEATLY DRESSED

The governor wore a dark blue suit, white shirt, black oxfords, a dark tie, dark socks, and gold-rimmed glasses. He placed his black-banded white panama hat on the table before him on the platform.

CONSOLIDATION FAVORED

Governor Sterling favors consolidation of county tax collector's and assessor's offices, as he considers them duplications, Mr. Stuart said.

GO ON BUILDING

"We're going on, building your roads and giving you back your money," the governor declared, concluding an explanation of difficulties encountered in an attempt to pass the bill which would relieve counties of bond issues and past expenditures for state highways.

A SOCIAL INJUSTICE

As an illustration of social injustice he attributed to the fees system, which he earlier had found guilty of encouraging monetary dishonesty, Governor Sterling said that in examining applications for pardons and paroles he had learned of a man who had been sentenced to 62 years in the penitentiary for forgery. The man had forged 16 checks, "$1, $1.50, and amounts like that," the governor said. A separate sentence was imposed in connection with each of the 16 forged documents.

HECKLERS ABSENT

Although not a heckler loosed his tongue, several front-rowers urged on the early speakers and the governor himself by comments of "that's right," "amen," and "roll up your sleeves." Even the traditional Ferguson cry of "pour it on" was ventured in a low tone once. The governor once repeated the comment of one of his voluntary front-row aides.

14 FROM LEVELLAND

At least 14 Levelland citizens attended the rally. Members of the Hockley county delegation were: John H. Doyle, Crede Rhea, Frank Adams, J. H. Jones, C. M. Elder, Joe McLean, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Dougherty, Judge D. E. Magee, Percy Cole, F. A. Benbow, C. J. Conatzer, Lloyd Conatzer, and W. J. Baldwin.

OFFICIALS PRESENT

In addition to John L. Ratliff, South Plains Good Government league chairman; the two preliminary speakers, the governor, and four newspaper men, the following Sterling supporters sat on the platform.

George R. Bean, O. L. Slaton, J. O. Jones, Joe Bowman, J. H. Hankins, Mrs. J. S. Johnson, and Miss Delia Wilkinson.

Hearing Delay Is Threatened

Mayor Walker Denies Charges Of Seabury At Hearing Now Being Conducted At Albany Before Roosevelt

BY WALTER T. BROWN
Associated Press Staff Writer

EXECUTIVE CHAMBER, Albany, N. Y., Aug. 12.—A threat of time-consuming court action today thrust itself into Governor Roosevelt's investigation into Mayor James J. Walker's fitness to remain as chief executive of America's first city.

The litigation menace to an early disposition of the case arose when a supreme court judge granted a writ calling upon Mr. Roosevelt to defend his power of judging the mayor. The governor agreed to withhold a decision until after the supreme court meets August 18. Further litigation possibly would hold back the governor's final word until the national election next November when his Democratic candidacy for president will be submitted to the voters.

Denies Using Office

Legal advisers to the governor said that was unlikely since such an important matter would insure speedy action by all courts.

Fending off all implications that he used his office for personal gain, Mayor Walker denied to Governor Roosevelt he worked for a bus franchise to favor a friend and was cut in on a stock market transaction because of influence he might exercise over city contracts.

The end of the second day of the hearing before the New York governor left one of the most important charges, that involving the missing accountant, Russell T. Sherwood, still untouched. The hearing will be resumed next Monday.

Walker Is Calm

Walker, emotional and excited in his first appearance before Roosevelt, was calm, legalistic in his role as witness today. There were flashes of Walker wit.

When it was mentioned that Mr. Walker's name was dropped from a stock account with Paul Block, the publisher, because an income tax collector said "it might look bad for the mayor," Walker remarked:

"I don't know that income tax man, but he certainly is a prophet."

Humor Displayed

Roosevelt referring to the Biblical Suzanne, falsely accused by her admirers, laughingly added:

"I will not say that his honor is exactly in the position of Suzanne—"

The mayor cut in with "I sometimes feel like it." "When I used the word 'beneficence,' " said Walker referring to Block's generosity, "I didn't know I was to be on trial for my English."

Composure Snapped

Mr. Roosevelt's composure was snapped today when John J. Curtin, Walker's attorney, stubbornly denied the admissability of a Block letter.

"See here Mr. Curtin," shouted the governor, "I happen to be a lawyer and I know that remarks of that kind are wholly unnecessary to the governor of the state."

But still Curtin persisted.

As today's session opened, the governor explained both Seabury and Walker would be permitted to ask questions, and added:

"If the mayor or his counsel wishes to cross examine any witness whose testimony is included in the record of the Hofstadter committee, I shall make it possible for them to do so."

City And County Aid Unemployed

Cooperation of city and county officials in aiding Lubbock's unemployed was promised Friday night by Mayor J. J. Clements at a meeting of the Unemployment council at 708 1-2 Thirteenth street, W. B. Price, the secretary-treasurer, said. Police Commissioner J. C. Royalty was present, but did not speak.

About 70 or 100 persons attended, and the chairman, the Rev. Bradner J. Moore, presided.

Price said that 22 men would be given employment Saturday cutting broom corn. About 100 individuals already have been provided work this week, including several men with trades. The maize heading season will open soon, thereby giving additional jobs. Several farmers already have left requests with the council for families for the cotton picking season.

Short Session Being Watched

Capitol Observers Look Forward To Special Session To Last But A Week; Comparative Figures Shown

AUSTIN, Aug. 12. (AP) — Capitol observers are looking forward to a special session of the legislature that will last only one week.

If history repeats itself, the legislators will be in Austin considerably longer, and the remark is being passed that it would be something out of the ordinary for the legislators to assemble, transact their business, and be on their way home within seven days.

Since 1906 there have been 32 special sessions of the legislature. The shortest on record was that of the 36th legislature which met on May 5 and adjourned May 9, 1919. The 36th legislature also held a special session from Sept 21, to Oct. 2, 1920, while the 37th legislature was in session only one week, Aug. 17 to 25.

Several sessions shorter than the constitutional limit of 30 days have been held, but in the main they have lasted the maximum length.

What the attitude of the present legislature will be toward adjourning within a week is problematical. Governor R. S. Sterling has announced that it will be convened shortly after Sept. 13 to consider enactment of a law to relieve property of taxes levied to pay off bonds issued to aid in constructing state highways.

He expressed the belief that the business of the session could be transacted within a week and declared that this would be the only subject submitted for consideration.

The forthcoming special session will be unusual in that many of its members will be taking part in the councils of state perhaps for the last time. The recent first primary cut a wide swath in the ranks of those who stood for re-election, and there were some who did not seek reelection.

It will be kindred to a "lame duck" session, and whether the governor will be able to hold the legislators in check is causing some concern. Those having been defeated, on returning voluntarily will not be "vulnerable" on the records they may establish, at the special session. Accordingly there is a feeling in some quarters that attempts may be made to prolong the session as much as possible.

While the governor has stated he would not submit anything except road bond relief, the legislature in the past has followed the practice of bringing pressure to bear on chief executives to submit other subjects. It also has been the practice, modified to some extent in the past few sessions, to introduce bills in the hope they would be passed by both houses and signed by the governor even though they clearly were not within the call.

Courts have held that a bill passed under these circumstances is valid when the governor signs it, even though it was not expressly submitted by the chief executive.

It is anticipated that efforts will be made by some members to introduce bills calling for other forms of relief, under the assumption that the session was called for enactment of relief measures and that their bills would come under this general heading even though they did not provide expressly for road bond relief.

AIN'T NO JUSTICE

PORTLAND, Ore.—A youth arrested for stealing gasoline from automobiles was found to have been in possession of a car stolen from Lou Wagner, criminal attorney. And Wagner very nearly was named an accomplice of the lad! He was partly to blame for the lad's actions, the deputy district attorney claimed because his car which was stolen was such a high-powdered, multi-cylindered affair that the boy had to steal gasoline from a number of different cars to keep it running.

It's Circus Time In Northwest And Investment House Loses Official As Vice President Goes Through Antics

SPOKANE, Wash., Aug. 12 (AP)—It's circus time in the northwest again, and a large investment house here is worrying along without Harper Joy, the vice-president. He's out clowning again.

But it happens every year, sometimes twice or three times a summer, and each time he comes back to his desk and picks up with stocks and bonds and such where he left them.

About the time the first advance agents for a circus starts plastering the countryside with "24-sheets" advertising their show, Joy begins to fret. He gets out a chest full of bizarre clown costumes, tries each on and frets some more, so his wife says.

By the time the show reaches town his lifelong ambition to be a clown triumphs over things like building up a fortune for Mrs. Joy and three young Joys. Sometimes he holds off until after the show plays here, and catches it in the next town, as he did this year. But he usually joins it for a week or two.

So, while his colleagues in the office were being harrassed expecting technical reactions and drives by the bulls and bears, their vice-president was under the big top.

Dressed in a grotesque costume that suggests a well-known house-like character known to comic strip and movie fans, Joy was doing his twice-daily "walk-around" with a dozen or so professionals.

"Why not?" Joy demanded when asked to explain why he followed this unusual hobby. "Anyone likes to turn clown once in a while. Some people spend their vacations rocking back and forth on some summer hotel porch.

"But not that for me. I'd rather be out going places, doing things and seeing people in a big way—and giving the kids a laugh. There's not enough laughing these days."

Circus managers welcome this banker-clown to their troupes, while requests from many other amateurs are refused.

Whenever Joy can drop his duties long enough to join the show, they make a place for him on the bill. He works without pay, and comes out each season with a fresh bunch of "gags."

"I can't figure that guy out," a professional performer remarked once as Joy was "rolling 'em over" with his antics.

"Here, he's got everything, but he sticks to that job in Spokane."
