Gramm swipes Doggett

U.S. Rep. Phil Gramm labeled his opponent Lloyd Doggett as a "candidate for special interest groups" Wednesday during a fly-in campaign appearance at Winston Field.

"Lloyd Doggett opposes the traditional values of our state," Gramm charged, and proceeded to list "fundamental differences" between the two to a crowd of some 83 individuals.

Both Gramm — a Republican U.S. Rep. from Bryan — and the Democratic nominee Doggett — a state senator from Austin — are in the final weeks of campaigning for the U.S. Senate seat to be vacated by John Tower.

Gramm charged that Doggett is the "Number 1 (candidate) recipient of labor union PAC money," and produced a computer printout list of what he said were labor union donations to the Doggett campaign.

"Why are labor unions primarily based in the north contributing to a Texas senate candidate?" Gramm asked the crowd.

"Because his record shows he votes with the labor unions 95 percent of the time," he said.

Gramm also said Doggett had received some $76,000 in donations from what he calld "anti-defense" groups.

The candidate said in contrast he favors a strong military for defense "much in the mold of John Tower." Gramm labeled his stand "peace through strength."

He characterized Doggett's stands as contrary to "the basic beliefs of this state," and pointed to his own work on the current economic policies of Ronald Reagan.

"My opponent is more at home with the Northern politicians like Ted Kennedy. I work with Ted Kennedy about as well as I work with (Democratic Speaker of the House) Tip O'Neill," Gramm said.

Other "basic differences" he pointed to include:

—His stand in support of right to work, refering to Doggett's labor union support.

—His belief in military "peace through strength," saying Doggett is in support of the nuclear freeze movement.

—His belief that new laws need to be implemented to get "tougher on criminals," saying Doggett supports abolishing the death penalty.

Gramm also commented regarding what he called his opponents "unethical" political ads.

"Lloyd Doggett took a poll and discovered that he couldn't win on his own political record. Since that time, he's run his campaign trying to tear me down."

Gramm referred to ads which claim he is "against education" and "against social security."

Gramm, a former professor at Texas A&M, said "how can anyone say I'm against education when I spent the better half of my life trying to teach economics to a bunch of Aggies?".

13 die in hotel fire; 55 hurt

PATERSON, N.J. (AP) — A fire that authorities said was started by a disgruntled employee swept through an eight-story residence hotel early today, trapping some residents and forcing others to jump from windows. At least 13 people were killed and 55 injured.

A part-time employee who had argued with the night manager of the 60-year-old Hotel Alexander Hamilton was arrested in the case, said Mayor Frank X. Graves Jr.

Russell William Conklin, 44, was being held at the city jail pending arraignment on charges of aggravated arson and murder, said police Capt. William E. Dolan. Authorities said only one murder charge was filed initially.

Fire Capt. Domenick Cotroneo said 15 people had died in the blaze, but the mayor, police and the prosecutor's office said they could only confirm 13 deaths.

The blaze broke out about 12:15 a.m. in the 150-room downtown hotel occupied by about 300 permanent residents and transients, many of them clients of "various agencies of government," Graves said. The fire was under control at 3:40 a.m.

"There are deaths and there are injuries and there are still people in there," the mayor said. Most of the dead were elderly, and at least 55 people were taken to hospitals, he said.

Some residents jumped from windows, some climbed to safety on firefighters' ladders and others were rescued from the roof, authorities said. The injuries included smoke inhalation, broken bones and burns.

"People were screaming, trying to tie sheets and blankets together to get out the windows," said Lusylvia Rivera, 33, who fled with her three children from a first-floor room. "The ones who were more scared just went ahead and jumped."

Flames were shooting from fourth-floor windows when firefighters arrived at the scene, and smoke still billowed from the building hours later. The fire, spread from the third floor through air shafts, engulfed four or five floors, said Fire Chief William Comer.

"The fire spread so fast and the flames were so intense in combination with toxic smoke" from paint and plastics, and "it could be that some of them (residents) were so old they couldn't get out," Comer said.

"There was very poor visibility, panicky people, unconscious people lying on floors," said Battalion Chief Frank Crampton. "We took them out of all the windows and down all the staircases."

The blaze quickly escalated to three alarms, and firefighters from nearby Passaic, Clifton and Hawthorne joined Paterson's full force, said Cotroneo.

New motel produces TEC run

Snyder Texas Employment Commission staffers are reporting a flood of applicants for positions to be available with the anticipated opening this fall of the new Willow Park Inn east of Snyder.

According to local office director Rae Adams, the TEC is processing some 150 applications for employment at the new motel-convention center facility.

Ron Karchaske, newly named general manager of the new motel, and two assistants have spent this week in the TEC office conducting interviews with applicants. Job openings include maid and housekeeping positions at the motel as well a restaurant and club staff.

According to Karchaske, the Willow Park Inn will eventually employ some 40 to 55 persons. He said Tuesday he hopes to open the facility during November.

FmHA set aside reviews due soon

Reviews are to begin soon for Scurry County farmers who plan to apply for a one-time set aside of a portion of their Farmers Home Administration (FmHA) loans.

Officials with the FmHA office located in Rotan said Thursday these should begin "within the next few weeks," although a definite date is still be to set.

The reviews will determine which farmers qualify. FmHA has been authorized to set aside up to 25 percent — to a maximum of $200,000 — of the debt owned the agency. Qualifying farmers will be those who are experiencing severe financial difficulty and if the set aside will "help achieve a positive cash flow for the borrower."

John B. Smith, FmHA supervisor for Fisher and Scurry County, said "We will determine if our borrowers need special assistance and see if we can make that assistance available."

He added, "not every borrower will qualify, but there might be other ways to help."

Regarding this, he noted the possibility of consolidating or rescheduling the existing loans. "We'll look at all alternatives,"

The feller on Deep Creek says, "Gossip is letting the cat out of the bag a claw at a time."

Pretty impressive is what we would call the showing by the Snyder High School choral department in district competition. Last Saturday, 24 SHS singers were named to the all-district choir.

One of those was Bob Spikes and we were reminded of an incident that involved Bob last spring when he was raising funds for the choir.

Young Bob approached long-time friend Max von Roeder who agreed to make a $50 donation to the choir. Bob was grateful but was quickly told that von Roeder had some strings he wanted to attach to the gift.

Bob was told that he would have to sing a solo at church in order to get the $50. Bob anguished over the deal, but finally agreed.

When the agreed Sunday arrived, Bob showed up on schedule but he had six other singers with him.

Bob was told that Mr. von Roeder might want his donation back. "Naw," said Bob, "he owes me six more fifty dollars."

Bumper stickers bemoaning the role of Ross Perot and those missing Gov. Clements have been seen about the state.

The coffee shop crowd was talking about those bumper messages when former State Rep. Renal Rossen put in his two cents.

"I don't miss Gov. Clements, but I sure miss Gov. Briscoe."

Demos are closing gap in Texas races

By The Associated Press

State Sen. Lloyd Doggett, preparing for a debate in Dallas tonight with U.S. Rep. Phil Gramm, says his opponent for a U.S. Senate seat "will crumble like a Graham cracker."

Doggett, a Democrat from Austin, said he would spend today studying for his meeting with Gramm, a Republican from College Station.

Doggett said he did not expect any revelations from the debate in Dallas. "It probably will be more of the same," the state senator from Austin said.

State Democratic Party chairman Bob Slagle told a group of Bowie County party volunteers in Texarkana Wednesday that although Walter Mondale trails President Reagan in Texas, he is closing the gap.

But less than three weeks remains before the Nov. 6 General Election, and it will take hard work to pull off a victory, Slagle said.

"We have to redouble our efforts. This is not a time for the faint hearted, just like it wasn't in 1980," Slagle said.

Slagle compared this year's election to the Texas gubernatorial race four years ago in which the polls consistently showed Democrat Mark White behind Republican incumbent Bill Clements, but White won.

U.S. Sen. Lloyd Bentsen, whose landslide victory over Republican Jim Collins led a powerful Democratic showing statewide in Texas two years ago, accompanied Doggett for most of a 13-hour swing through East and South Texas on Wednesday.

Bentsen stayed out of any mud slinging in a current flap between the candidates concerning alleged inaccuracies in television commercials.

"I speak for the candidate and leave it to the candidates to work on each other," Bentsen said.

Doggett said Bentsen's presence on the campaign trail would assure his victory in the Nov. 6 election, but Bentsen was uncertain how much good he was doing.

"That the public decides and I don't think there's anyway to measure that," Bentsen said.

At news conferences across the state, Doggett was careful to maintain a distance from his party's national ticket of Walter Mondale and Geraldine Ferraro.

"It has been essential to run an independent campaign. I think that strategy is working," he said.

In his Texarkana comments, Slagle said Mondale helped his chances in Texas by besting Reagan in their nationally televised debate earlier this month in Louisville, Slagle said.

After the debate, Slagle said, a poll was conducted of what he called predominantly Republican "swing precincts" in Texas, and Mondale's support was 9 percent higher than the last previous poll. Slagle said that reduced the president's lead from 2-1 to about 3-2 in those areas, which he labeled as precincts White lost in 1980.

Gramm campaigned Wednesday at Amarillo, Muleshoe, Lubbock, Levelland and Brownfield — West Texas towns who depend upon agriculture. Gramm promised that if elected he will lead a fight for an improved farm bill.

Gramm said he would spearhead farm legislation that, coupled with an aggressive U.S. agricultural marketing plan, would put Texas farmers on an equal footing with Japanese and European producers.

Wrong argument forces third trial

AUSTIN (AP) — William Cortez, imprisoned for life in the slaying of a Corpus Christi restaurant employee, has been granted a new trial because a prosecutor told jurors that "the people of this county" wanted the maximum sentence.

Cortez, 46, has twice been convicted in the Aug. 30, 1975, shooting death of Garry Whitely, who was killed while chasing Cortez from a restaurant robbery. The death sentence ordered at the first trial was thrown out because Cortez's prison records were improperly admitted as evidence.

The Texas Court of Criminal Appeals, which also overturned the death sentence, said William Cortez is entitled to a third trial.

Court records showed Whitely was slain 17 days after Cortez was paroled from a Nebraska prison.

Nueces County District Attorney William Mobley's argument to jurors violated a long-standing law, Judge Marvin Teague wrote in the appeals court opinion Wednesday.

Mobley told jurors: "You have a chance right now to cut this cancer cell out of this society, and hopefully save it. It is up to you 12 people. Now, the only punishment that you can assess that would be any satisfaction at all to the people of this county would be life."

In the 7-2 opinion, Teague said, "Over 50 years ago, this court stated the following: 'Constitutional guarantees have been found necessary to protect the liberty of men from the hasty judgment of the multitude.'"

To protect defendants, courts have barred prosecutors' arguments concerning what jurors' neighbors might think about a case.

"Such a rule has been evolved from the wisdom of centuries, and to ask a jury (to assess a particular punishment) because their neighbors desire it is to ask them to violate this fundamental right which belongs to every man," said Teague.

Parents remain in jail

HOUSTON (AP) — For the ninth time, a Houston couple failed to convince a judge to release them from jail for refusing to testify before a grand jury investigating allegations that their teen-age son murdered a female mail carrier.

Bernard and Odette Port have been jailed since Sept. 12 on a contempt citation for refusing to answer questions before grand jurors looking into the June 7 slaying of postal workers Debora Sue Schatz.

The Ports' son, David, 17, remains free on $20,000 on a charge of murder in the slaying. Ms. Schatz's body was found June 9 in a remote, wooded area northwest of Houston.

Guild learns city history

Hattie Gatlin, Margaret Dell Pilcher and Ethel Mae Sturdivant, hostesses for the Art Guild Study Club's Oct. 16 meeting, presented "Snyder, 1884-1984" to the 14 members who attended the buffet dinner at the Martha Ann Woman's Club.

The program focused on the city's history during the last 100 years. Pilcher explained the early schools in this county and their continued growth, consolidation, building and the increased educational opportunities to date.

Gatlin discussed early beginnings of establishing businesses here, their expansion and improvements to fit the needs of a growing town.

Sturdivant told of early buildings, the churches, the courthouse, the buildings around the square and nearby streets and the many changes through the years.

The speakers showed and discussed several pictures of schools, businesses and public buildings from the late 1890's and early 1900's.

President Virginia Grove presided at the business meeting. Thanksgiving plans were discussed and members were informed of MAWC's forthcoming events.

Fatigue may mean medical trouble

DEAR DR. LAMB — Why don't I have any energy after 2 p.m.? I'm 36 and only do the things a person would do taking care of two boys, 13 and 16, and a home. I also have a 40-hour-a-week desk job.

I did have my blood pressure checked and was told it was low, 94 over 46. My iron count was good. I get eight hours of sleep a night. I drink two cups of coffee each morning and smoke less than a pack of cigarettes a day.

I feel fine when I get up, but by 2 p.m. I get very tired and lightheaded and can hardly stay awake at work. Is there some vitamin I can take that will make me feel better? I am on the go all the time and don't have time to fix nutritious meals. I want to go on a diet to lose 12 pounds, but when I get tired I want to eat to give myself energy.

DEAR READER — I hope you have seen a doctor. While I try to point out that 80 percent of the people who have fatigue do not have a medical problem, that leaves 20 percent who do. You may be one of the 20 percent.

Fatigue and low blood pressure together can be an indication of several medical problems, including such things as adrenal insufficiency (Addison's disease), anemia and even tuberculosis.

I don't recommend that you diet to lose weight without first finding out what causes your fatigue. Some heart diseases also cause low blood pressure and fatigue. That includes disease that causes obstructions to the valves inside the heart (aortic stenosis and mitral stenosis).

You should take a daily all-purpose vitamin tablet. One-A-Day or multiple vitamins will do the trick, but I would prefer that you be on a good diet. And you need to be sure you do not have low blood-glucose levels.

See your doctor for a more complete evaluation. Also read a new issue of The Health letter, Special Report 31, What Fatigue Means, which I am sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

If you have no medical problems, you need to look at your hectic lifestyle as a cause. Working 40 hours a week and caring for a home and family do make a person tired.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Is the food cooked in a microwave oven safe to eat on a regular basis?

DEAR READER — If it is adequately cooked, it is entirely safe. The same thing is true of food cooked in a regular oven. If it is not adequately cooked, it may not be safe.

To give you a simple example, if a turkey that has salmonella bacteria on it is inadequately cooked — meaning that the internal temperature of the meat is not kept high enough long enough to kill the bacteria — you may get food poisoning from eating it. That is especially apt to happen to the dressing or stuffing in a bird.

Pork that is not heated to a sufficient internal temperature and held there long enough may cause trichinosis. Insufficient temperature can occur in a regular oven. It may be more apt to happen in a microwave oven if the meat is allowed to have some cold spots. In general, you do have to make a little more effort to be sure that all the meat, not just part of it, reaches and maintains the proper temperature.

The microwaves themselves do not affect the food in any way that would be harmful.

Bell: groups' complaint is 'off base'

AUSTIN (AP) — A complaint filed by Attorney General Jim Mattox and consumers' groups is off base, a Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. official says.

Mattox and the consumers' groups Wednesday asked for an investigation of Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. to determine whether money paid by telephone customers is being funneled to Bell's other business interests.

"We suspect that Southwestern Bell is using revenues from its regulated services to finance its unregulated businesses, such as telephones, mobile phones and the Yellow Pages publications," Mattox said.

"What we're seeking in this complaint is the information that would show us if our suspicion is correct," he said.

Southwestern Bell officials denied the allegations, saying that no mixing of funds is taking place.

"We have nothing to hide," said Richard Harris, a Bell vice president.

He said the companies are set up as separate subsidiaries and the books and records are "clear."

"There can be no intermixing because they are stand-alone corporations," Harris said.

Mattox and the consumers' groups — the Consumers Union, Public Citizen, the Gray Panthers and the Texas Association of Community Organizations for Reform Now — filed the complaint with the Public Utility Commission.

"Ratepayers are, have been and will continue funding of the new Southwestern Bell subsidiaries from which they receive no profits. Commission action is needed to stop this victimization of Texas consumers," said Carol Barger, regional director of the Consumers Union.

While Bell has been saying it needs more money to maintain high-quality basic phone service, Ms. Barger said, "the record shows that the telephone company has embarked on building a multi-billion-dollar system that will have no appreciable effect on the quality or reliability of basic telephone communications.

Ms. Barger said that costs to consumers could be reduced 20 percent to 40 percent if the complaint proves accurate.

The complaint asks the PUC to investigate several issues, including:

— How much of the company's construction program being funded by Texas ratepayers will benefit unregulated businesses.

— How much of Bell's assets have been transferred to subsidiaries and the holding company without adequate compensation to Southwestern Bell.

— Whether phone customers are being asked to pay an unfair portion of advertising costs and charitable contributions made by the company.

— Whether revenue from Yellow Pages advertising is being diverted from the telephone company into another business interest.

Dear Abby

Mother Wants Real Money To Fill Kids' Toy Banks

By Abigail Van Buren

© 1984 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: The holiday season is approaching, and with it approaches a five-year-old problem. Ever since my first child was born, I have been asking my in-laws to refrain from buying him toys for Christmas. Every year my request has been ignored. Now we have two children, so the problem has doubled.

The in-laws say, "If we didn't buy toys for our grandchildren, it would take all the fun out of Christmas for us!" (What a selfish attitude!)

Abby, these people are in their early 50s and they have had fun for a lot of years. I've suggested that they give savings bonds plus one token toy. (We could use the money for the children's education.) I gave up a lucrative career to stay home and raise our children. My husband and I get by, but we worry about our children's college education, etc.

We live in an upper flat and have no room to store so many toys. When I see the amount of money tied up in this junk, I could cry. I'm not talking peanuts here—every year each child gets a minimum of $200 worth of toys! My husband is noncommittal because he doesn't want to hurt his parents' feelings.

How do I reach these people? I have told them firmly but nicely. I have pleaded with them. Nothing works. What now?

DREADING THE HOLIDAYS

DEAR DREADING: You've told your in-laws how you feel, and they have told you how they feel.

I agree, it would be more practical for them to invest in your children's education, but that decision is not yours—it's theirs, so try to be a gracious loser.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Before I've had a chance to read the newspaper, my scissors-happy wife cuts it up for items of interest and coupons.

I'm particularly annoyed when parts of "Dear Abby" are missing. Don't tell me to talk to her; I've done that, and it's like talking to the wall.

GETTING ULCERS

DEAR GETTING: For the next gift-giving occasion, give "Scissors-Happy" a year's subscription to this newspaper. You will both benefit from it, and it's cheaper than ulcers. (P.S. I hope my column was intact today, or you'll miss this suggestion.)

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I just had to respond to all those letters disclosing that people will dry their hands on the tip of a bath towel, the shower curtain or toilet paper rather than use the pretty little guest towel laid out for that purpose.

Until I read it in your column, I did not know that those "pretty little guest towels" were put out for that purpose. I am serious. I'm 28 years old, no dummy (I'm an R.N.), but I was never taught by my parents or my grandma (who always had one lying out on the counter) that they were to be used. I always thought they were there for decoration. I assume that many others thought the same.

NOW A USER

DEAR USER: Be a "pusher," too. In your own home, use a guest towel and leave it conspicuously in view beside the unused guest towels. This will encourage others to do the same.

Ladies ready for Mustangs

SWEETWATER -- Coach Penny Bane's Tigers return to action here tonight after taking a week's rest.

The Tigers, 10-1 in District 2-4A volleyball play, close out the conference season by going to Pecos on Saturday, Oct. 20, and hosting Monahans on Thursday, Oct. 25. But Coach Bane said her girls will not look past their match with Sweetwater tonight.

"We'll take them one at a time," said the coach. "Sweetwater has the type of team that will beat you if you aren't ready for them."

Snyder's 10-1 record puts the girls in a three-way tie with Pecos and Monahans. Snyder is 15-8 on the season.

Starters for the Tigers include setter Sabrina Sullivan and spikers Donna Anderson, Karlene Thompson, Hope Hernandez, Kima McLarty, Gina Vaughn and Allison Adams. McLarty comes in for Vaughn on backline.

Tonight's action will be one of three between Snyder and Sweetwater. The freshmen open the evening's show at 5, followed by the junior varsities at 6:30 and the varsities at 7:30.

Team salary $8,037,000...

Danny, Randy top paid Cowboys

DALLAS (AP) - Despite losing his starting role, quarterback Danny White remains the highest-paid member of the Dallas Cowboys with an annual salary of $550,000, The Dallas Morning News reported today, quoting figures supplied by the teams to the NFL Players Association.

White's salary is greater than the $450,000 annual base salary recently negotiated for defensive tackle Randy White, the newspaper said.

However, the story noted, Randy White also received a $600,000 signing bonus which, if prorated over the length of his contract, would add $120,000 a year to his base salary, putting him at $570,000 a year.

The base salary for the 49 players on the Cowboys' active roster totals $8,037,000, an average salary of $164,000, the News reported. The league average, according to the NFL Management Council, is $160,000.

The Cowboys have 15 new players this year whose salaries total $750,500 less than the 1984 contracts of the players they replaced. The difference is a result, in part, of renegotiated contracts of Randy White and several other players.

Besides Randy White, whose average annual salary increased from $300,000 to $450,000, Herb Scott was boosted from $235,000 to $310,000, Phil Pozderac from $54,000 to $150,000, Glen Titensor from $63,000 to $150,000, and Mike Downs from $95,000 to $175,000.

"Salaries of all the teams are going up," Gil Brandt, the Cowboys' vice president for player development, told the News.

In 1982, the NFLPA reported that the average league-wide base salary was $90,412. The Cowboys had an average base of $107,990. In the two years aince then, the average Cowboys salary has increased by more than $50,000 and the league-wide average has gone up by about $70,000.

The NFLPA salary survey shows that linebacker Anthony Dickerson, who is going into the option year of his contract, is the lowest-paid Dallas starter at $82,000. The Cowboys have not made him a new offer, which the newspaper said could be an indication the team is phasing him out and making plans to push along Billy Cannon, Dallas' No. 1 pick in the 1984 draft.

Behind Danny White and Randy White, the next highest-paid Cowboys are runningback Tony Dorsett at $400,000 and Scott, a backup offensive lineman, at $310,000, the newspaper said.

The base salary of defensive end Ed "Too Tall" Jones is $225,000. Adding a $50,000 roster bonus he got for making the team, that puts him even with defensive tackle John Dutton, the newspaper said.

The newspaper said the Cowboys' two lowest-paid players are defensive backs Vince Albritton ($46,000) and Carl Howard ($51,000), the only free agents who made the team. They each also received a $15,000 roster bonus when they made the final cut.

Cannon received a $400,000 signing bonus and a $200,000 loan along with salaries of $150,000, $175,000, $200,000, $250,000, $325,000 and $400,000.

Victor Scott, the team's No. 2 pick in the draft, got a $375,000 signing bonus and a $200,000 loan and salaries of $140,000, $165,000, $195,000, $245,000 and an option year of $325,000.

Wide receiver Mike Renfro, obtained from Houston in April in a trade for wide receiver Butch Johnson, signed a three-year contract with a $25,000 signing bonus and salaries of $160,000, $190,000 and $235,000. He made $100,000 for the Oilers last year and was scheduled to get $125,000 from Houston this season.

Johnson was to have received $197,000 from the Cowboys this year.

Three Cowboys who retired before this season would have received salaries of more than $200,000 had they returned. Defensive tackle Harvey Martin would have been paid $275,000, offensive tackle Pat Donovan $247,500, and wide receiver Drew Pearswon $247,500. Tight end Billy Joe DuPree and fullback Robert Newhouse would have received $187,000 each.

WTC looks tough against McMurry

Western Texas College coach Phil Spradling handed out a good report card to the Westerners after their scrimmage with McMurry College here Wednesday.

"Offensively we did real well," said the coach, who was quick to note that the team still needs work. "Defensively, we're still not where we want to be. We scrimmaged for three (20 minute) quarters and the score was 123-112 so you can see not too much defense was played."

Western had the 123.

"McMurry is real disciplined. They ran their offense well and we had a hard time covering it," he said. "On offense, we played well too. We were patient enough, found the open man, took the good shots. Everybody did a good job offensively."

Spradling stayed with his sophomores and a few freshmen for the first two periods of play, then looked as his younger players in the third scrimmage.

"We're trying to get at least 10 to 12 guys ready to play," said Spradling, who believes the Westerners could play that many each game. "Definitely. If we keep pressing and work a little harder on defense. With the kind of team we have, the ones that want to give everything are the ones that are going to play."

The Westerners scrimmage Wayland Baptist University in Plainview Friday. Wayland outgunned both WJCAC members Amarillo and New Mexico Military Institute in earlier scrimmages and Spradling said "This will probably be our best scrimmage test of the year."

Froggieland enjoying best season since 1958 ball club

FORT WORTH, Texas (A) - It's been more than a quarter century since Texas Christian jumped off to a 5-1 start, and Horned Frog football fans still recall that 1958 season with special affection.

Elvis was the national rage but back home the Frogs were the Purple scourge, mugging all their Southwest Conference rivals except SMU en route to a Cotton Bowl date with Air Force.

Now, in 1984, a bunch of youngsters who weren't even born then could duplicate that 5-1 record with a victory Saturday over non-conference foe North Texas State, 1-5.

It would be the first time in 26 years.

The Cinderella Frogs, losers only to unbeaten and seventh-ranked Southern Methodist, may yet crash in flames but the comparison between then and now is harmless and maybe even relevant.

Although TCU was 8-3 the next year, the Cotton Bowl appearance of the 1958 team was the last by the Frogs, and they soon would begin the long slide into mediocrity and eventual oblivion.

Beginning in 1960, the Frogs have posted only three fractionally winning seasons and from 1974 until 1984 they won a meager 15 games while losing 90 and tying five.

TCU lost an early game to Iowa in 1958 but rode a 6-1 SWC slate into the Cotton Bowl for a New Year's Day misadventure (0-0) with Air Force.

Bob Lilly was a year away from greatness, but five Frogs, including two backs, would make the All-SWC team.

The quintet included tackle Don Floyd, guard Sherrill Headrick, center Dale Walker, halfback Marvin Lasater and fullback Jack Spikes.

Now, in Coach Jim Wacker's second year, TCU has apparently turned the corner and begun the equally long and difficult climb back to respectability.

The atmosphere in Froggieland may best be illustrated by giant offensive guard Joe Young, a fifth-year senior elgible this year only because of revised NCAA rules.

After last year's 1-8-2 disaster, and other mishaps, the coaches were uncertain whether Young would return for the 1984 campaign.

They need not have worried.

"No way was I going to pass up the chance," says Young, who has been perhaps the most physical member of the Frogs' offensive front. "It was another chance for me to prove myself after I thought my career was over.

"This is a great bunch of coaches and I enjoy playing for them. And I knew we had two quarterbacks, two great receivers, good running backs and a lot of the linemen coming back.

"I just had a feeling something good was going to happen."

Indeed!

After five games, the Frogs rank first in the nation in total offense and scoring and second in rushing. Running back Kenneth Davis is third nationally in individual rushing.

Davis leads the SWC with an average of 128.4 yards per game and teammate Tony Jeffery, a freshman, is fourth with a 90.4 ledger.

Cubs' Fry named manager of year in National League

CHICAGO (AP) - Jim Frey, named National League Manager of the Year after leading the Chicago Cubs to their first title in 39 years, says his only incentive is to keep his job.

Asked whether his contract - which runs through the 1985 season - contained incentive clauses that would reward him for such awards, Frey, in a joking mood, told reporters Wednesday, "I didn't have any. My incentive is to try and not get fired."

Frey, in his 35th year in baseball, took the Chicago Cubs to the National East Division title in his second job managing. He had led the Kansas City Royals to the 1980 World Series in his first year as a major league manager.

Frey was named on 23 of 24 ballots in voting by members of the Baseball Writers' Association of America, receiving 16 first-place votes and seven seconds for a total of 101 points. New York Mets Manager Dave Johnson was runner-up, followed by San Diego's Dick Williams, whose Padres won three straight from the Cubs to take the NL pennant.

"I'm honored and proud that people thought I did a good job, but it was the organization that went out and spent the money to get the ballplayers," Frey, 52, said. "A lot of people deserve credit; I'm just the guy who happens to be standing here."

But, the soft-spoken Frey admitted he was less than surprised about the award.

"We won more games than anybody in the National League, and I guess that put me in contention," he said.

But Frey said the award doesn't wipe out the disappointment of the playoff loss.

"I'm not going to feel good until something comes along that puts this (disappointment over losing to the Padres) out of my mind," said Frey. "I'll be thinking about it until spring training."

In the 1947 college football season, Penn State allowed its opponents an average of only 17 yards rushing per game.

Tigers eager to play Lamesa

It may be "Lift a Tiger Week," but the indications are strong that Coach Dennis Tomlin's Ragin' Tigers don't need much help in getting ready for arch-rival Lamesa.

"We've had our best workouts of the year this week," said Coach Tomlin, whose Tigers entertain Lamesa at 8 p.m. here Friday night. "Our players are looking forward to getting to play."

Snyder lost a heart-stopper to Fort Stockton last week, 16-13. Despite the defeat, Tomlin said the Tigers are improving each week.

"Defensively we played better than we have been. Offensively, we threw the ball well, especially in the second half. When we had to play better, we played better. We feel like if we keep doing the things we are doing, and do them better, the victories will follow. It's going to take time, but our kids are getting better everyday," said the coach.

Tomlin is open in his praise of the community support, which he feels is a key factor in the Tigers' strong mental attitude.

"We've gotten letters this week from people in the community, we've heard from several elementary schools giving their support. I'd like to urge the community to come out and support us like they have the last three (home) games. The team asked me to tell the community that they want to make up for the last time they played at home," said Tomlin, referring to the loss to Sweetwater.

The coach said that Lamesa will be a strong test for Snyder.

"It will take the best game we've played all year to win. Harris (The Harris Rating System) has Lamesa as a 10-point favorite. At the same time, Lamesa is one of our local rivalries. It's always a tough game when Snyder and Lamesa play and it's always an exciting game."

Friday's contest marks the 26th consecutive meeting between the two teams. The unbroken string would go back 32 games if the 1957 contest had not been canceled due to snow.

In all, Snyder and Lamesa have drawn sides 41 times. Lamesa owns the series with 21 victories to Snyder's 18. There have been two ties. The Tornadoes won the first meeting in 1925, 19-0, and the last meeting in 1983, 28-13. The 1983 game broke a six-year winning streak for Snyder.

Though there have been exceptions such as Lamesa's 46-0 victory in 1935 and Snyder's 40-7 victory in '55, the outcome is traditionally a close one. Twenty-one of the 41 games have been decided by seven points or less.

Cat squads challenge Lamesa Tors tonight

Snyder underclassmen set the scene tonight for a weekend of football rivalry with Lamesa.

Tonight's play precedes Friday's District 2-4A matchup between the two varsity teams here.

Snyder junior varsity, 3-2, plays in Lamesa at 7 o'clock tonight. The game will be preceded by a pair of eighth grade contests at 4 and 5:30.

Local games, to be held at Travis field, pit Snyder and Lamesa in seventh grade games at 4 and 5:30 and in a freshman tilt at 7.

Friday's varsity game is scheduled to begin at 8 o'clock.

Tiger defensive standouts noted

James Powell, Jimmy Hunter, Juan Benitez and Robert Patterson are some of Snyder's top defensive players - based on tackles - heading into the Ragin' Tigers' contest with Lamesa on Friday.

Powell, who had 14 tackles against Fort Stockton last week, has an unofficial 56 for the season. Hunter has 48, Benitez 42 and Patterson 40.

Kyle Freeman was the Tiger who graded out best against the Panthers, however, receiving a grade of 90 from the coaches. Eighty-threes were earned by Benitez and Patterson. Willie Greathouse and Abey Munoz received 82's.

Offensively, Jay Mayo and Powell earned grades of 90. Greathouse took an 87 while Freeman and Tommy Holladay had 82's.

Other top tacklers against the Panthers were Munoz and Trey Tippens with seven each. Other top defenders for the season include Arthur Robinson, 29; Steve Parker, 28; Paul Thompson, 26; and Munoz, 24.

Gold Coats schedule shootout golf event

Snyder Gold Coats are hosting The Snyder Shootout, a nine-hole golf tournament for those who qualify.

Prize is a weekend for two at Snyder's newest motel, the Willow Park Inn, which includes a special supper and a continental breakfast.

The tournament will be held for the 10 lowest qualifiers. There is no limit to the number of qualifying rounds a player may take. There will be a $5 entry fee for each qualifying round, paid prior to the round. Rounds may be played at Snyder Country Club or Western Texas College. Entrants must be at least 22 years old.

Qualifying deadline is 6 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 21. Ties will be determined by a chipoff on Monday, Oct. 22.

The actual tournament will be held Oct. 27 at 10 a.m. at Snyder Country Club.

For a $10 donation, the gallery may select a "favorite golfer." If that golfer is the winner, the spectator will receive a free lunch at the awards banquet immediately following the shootout.

Proceeds from the tournament will go to the Snyder Gold Coats Scholarship Fund at Western Texas College.

In the 1947 college football season, Penn State allowed its opponents an average of only 17 yards rushing per game.

2-4A grid roundup

It's a well-worn term in coaching, but Friday night is "gut-check" time in District 2-4A.

The pressure is on throughout the conference, and no less for leaders Monahans and Sweetwater, who can't afford to look past Friday night in favor of next week's big matchup which pairs the two against each other.

For Snyder and Lake View a win is almost a necessity if they hope to remain in the conference race. For others - Andrews, Fort Stockton, Pecos and Lamesa - a win will keep them near the top of the ladder.

The one hitch is that every team can't win. In fact, barring a tie, there will be four winners and four losers Friday. The matchups are interesting. Here they are:

Pecos (3-2, 1-1) at Monahans (5-0, 2-0) - After edging Lake View a week earlier, the Eagles were shocked 17-7 by Andrews last week. Meanwhile, Monahans keeps rolling along, via a 24-12 win over Lamesa.

Sweetwater (4-1, 2-0) at Andrews (3-2, 1-1) - The annual battle of Mustangs which ended in a tie last year. Sweetwater is rolling, but Andrews got an important victory over Pecos last year.

Lamesa (4-1, 1-1) at Snyder (1-4, 0-2) - One of the best rivalries around, this game has been traditionally fought for the cellar position in District 2-4A. That may not be the case this year. Certainly Lamesa has turned its program around. Snyder seems much improved also. The Ragin' Tigers whipped Fort Stockton for four quarters last week before losing in the final seconds.

Fort Stockton (3-2, 1-1) at Lake View (0-5, 0-2) - Despite the Chiefs' record, this should be a good, hard-fought ballgame. 'Stockton was mauled by Monahans two weeks ago, and came up with a last-second field goal to escape being upset by Snyder last week. Lake View has lost a couple of one-pointers this year, including a 7-6 decision to Pecos.

4-1A grid roundup

It's just the second week of District 4-1A South Zone play but already followers are predicting tonight's Ira-Borden County contest to be for the runnerup playoff berth.

The Bulldogs and Coyotes clash at 7:30 in Gail, one of two zone games on tap tonight. The other pits McCaulley at Grady, also at 7:30. Highland is open.

For Ira, whose Bulldogs lost to Highland last week, 48-22, tonight's contest is do-or-die. Though mathmatically still eligible to reach the playoffs with two losses, the Bulldogs would have to bank on help from McCaulley or Grady, and - without being disrespectful - there is very little chance of that.

Borden County needs to win because it plays Highland next week. Though the Coyotes aren't conceding to the Hornets, a win Friday would mean they could lose to Highland and stay in second place.

For Highland, it is a wait-and-see approach. Though the Hornets have had to play in Ira and will have to play in Gail next week, they've also had open dates before both - a nice luxury even for a two-time defending state champion.

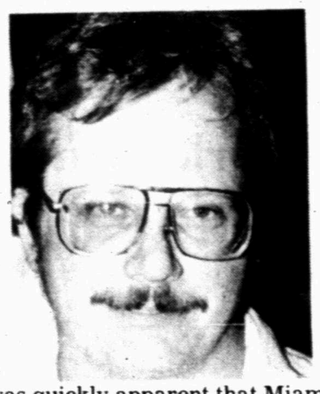
Sideline glances...

Pro predictions are a bust

By BILL McCLELLAN
SDN Sports Editor



I guess that's why they call 'em pros.

Heading into Sunday's games, I was gliding along at a pretty fast 80-plus percent on my predictions. Not only had I picked 22 out of 25 college games right, I was correct on all three upset picks. And of the three I had missed on the college level, two were ties and the other was Alabama 6, Penn State 0 game. Not bad, huh? That's what I thought, too.

Then came Sunday, and while it was quickly apparent that Miami would whip Houston and Dallas would stumble to Washington, everything in between kinda' fell apart.

Without going into gruesome details, the pros burned me for 7 right, 6 wrong (a measley .538). The aftermath left me 29 right, 11 wrong for .725.

For the season it's up from last week, but not by much, 154 right, 64 wrong, or .706.

Now for this week's choices...

HIGH SCHOOL...

Lamesa at Snyder: A classic confrontation between two long-time rivals, and one of two really good matchups in a 40-mile radius. Both teams played well last week despite losing. I see it...SNYDER 14, LAMESA 7.

Sweetwater at Andrews: There's Mustangs aplenty in this contest, but Sweetwater's stable is stronger...SWEETWATER 34, ANDREWS 17.

Fort Stockton at Lake View: Time for Lake View to break into the win column...CHIEFS 21, PANTHERS 20.

Pecos at Monahans: It's hard to go against the Loboes, especially at home and against their defense...MONAHANS 28, PECOS 13.

Ira at Borden County: The other top game in the area as far as equally matched contests go. This one is for a possible playoff spot in the South Zone of District 4-1A. Give the edge to Borden because of the home field...COYOTES 28, BULLDOGS 20.

SOUTHWEST CONFERENCE...

Pick Texas Tech to get back on the winning track against Rice, 34-21; sixth-ranked SMU to hold off Houston, 24-17; Baylor to rebound after a couple of close losses and stick slumping A&M 35-14; third-ranked Texas to rip Arkansas, 28-9; and Texas Christian to top North Texas, 24-7.

COLLEGE TOP 20...

Can the top 10 win on the road? Well, of the teams below in the top 10, only two are at home, so we'll find out.

Choose No. 1 Washington over Oregon, 34-7; No. 2 Oklahoma over Iowa State, 27-7; No. 4 Boston College over No. 20 West Virginia, 22-17; No. 5 Nebraska over Colorado 41-14; No. 7 Brigham Young over Air Force, 35-28; No. 8 Ohio State over Michigan State, 19-14; No. 9 Miami, Fla. over Pitt, 31-14; and No. 10 LSU over No. 16 Kentucky, 27-18.

And in the second 10, which by the way are mostly at home, pick Notre Dame over No. 11 South Carolina in an upset, 23-20; No. 12 Oklahoma State over Kansas, 28-7; No. 13 Auburn over Georgia Tech, 21-17; No. 15 Florida State over Tulane, 27-17; No. 17 Florida over Cincinnati, 31-17; No. 18 Iowa over Michigan, 23-21; No. 19 Penn State over Syracuse, 28-14; and Purdue over Illinois, 21-7.

THE (watch out) PROS...

Just scores - San Francisco 34, Houston 17; Dallas 24, New Orleans 14; Chicago 19, Tampa Bay 14; Cleveland 20, Cincinnati 14; Denver 21, Buffalo 17; Miami 21, New England 20; NY Giants 17, Philadelphia 14; Pittsburgh 24, Indianapolis 9; Seattle 20, Green Bay 10; St. Louis 21, Washington 17; Kansas City 28, NY Jets 17; LA Raiders 31, San Diego 23.

Fire is raging at aircraft company

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — A four-alarm fire raged early today through one of the nation's largest aircraft parts supply company, which last month was barred from doing business with the government, authorities said.

The blaze at the Alamo Aircraft Supply Inc. drew more than 100 firefighters to the scene after a fire alarm was sounded at 12:18 a.m. today, company officials said.

It took firefighters about two hours to get the fire under control. There were no immediate reports of injuries.

The fire engulfed part of the company's six-building complex which contained one of the largest military parts supply inventories in the United States, company vice president Leon Wulfe Jr. told the San Antonio Light.

Wulfe said the complex also was the site of two previous multi-alarm fires in the 1970s in which arson was ruled as the cause.

Testimony heard in Jones' trial

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Rolando Santos, the child former nurse Genene Jones is accused of injecting with a blood-thinning drug, appears well more than two years after the incident, his mother testified in district court.

Jesusa Santos of Pearsall, Texas, told the court Wednesday her son will be 3 years old next month.

"He seems alright," she testified in Ms. Jones' trial on a charge of injury to a child.

Ms. Jones, 33, already is serving a 99-year term for the murder of a 15-month-old patient in Kerrville.

She faces an additional seven injury to a child charges in Kerrville and could draw another 99-year sentence if she is convicted in the current case.

Mrs. Santos said her son was born Nov. 30, 1981, and a month later he contracted pneumonia and had to be taken to Medical Center Hospital.

Ms. Jones is accused of injecting him with a dangerous dosage of heparin, an anti-coagulant.

In earlier testimony Wednesday, Dr. Lawrence Hooghuis, a former intern in the pediatric intensive care unit at Medical Center, told the court Ms. Jones appeared unaware she was administering too-high dosages of the drug.

Hooghuis, who now practices medicine in Gainesville, Fla., said one of his patients, Albert Garza, had problems with his blood failing to clot.

The doctor said he discussed the dosage of heparin the child was getting with Ms. Jones, who told him she was giving he infant 600 times the normal amount.

Hooghuis said Ms. Jones appeared unaware of the proper dosage for the drug, which could cause the patient to bleed excessively.

The doctor said he explained the proper dosage by drawing it out on a bed sheet.

After the conversation, he said, "She mumbled and walked away."

Hooghuis told prosecutor Nick Rothe he aergued horehan average with Ms. Jones.

"Did you notice any affect on the progress of your patients as a result of your relationship with Ms. Jones?" Rothe asked.

"Yes," he responded. "The babies would more often have a downhill course if we had a bad relationship."

Also testifying Wednesday was Dr. Greg Istre, state epidemiologist for Oklahoma. He conducted an investigation of infant mortality at Medical Center from 1979 to 1982, the period Ms. Jones worked there.

Istre, who conducted his inquiry for the Centers for Disease Control, told the court he found an increased incidence of deaths and cardiopulmonary rescuscitations in the pediatric intensive care unit for the epidemic period investigated.

Using detailed charts of his findings, Istre referred numerous times to Nurse 32.

"We associated Nurse 32 with increases in deaths and CPRs during the epidemic period," he said.

Prosecutor Ray Fuchs asked Istre, "Who is Nurse 32?"

"Genene Jones," Istre responded.

One chart, he said, showed 19 infants who required CPR died while Ms. Jones was attending them between January 1979 to June 1982. An additional 37 had CPR, but they survived while under her care.

Eleven persons were trampled to death in Cincinnati in 1979 during a stampede to see a concert by the rock group The Who.

Sheriff leaves office during drug trial

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — An attorney for Hudspeth County Sheriff Mike Armstrong says his client has agreed to temporarily leave office while he stands trial on federal drug charges because it's in the best interests of all concerned.

Lawyer John Langford said he and the district attorney's office in El Paso, which had filed a lawsuit seeking Armstrong's removal from office, reached a compromise agreement Tuesday that would suspend the sheriff without pay until his trial.

A hearing on the lawsuit was to have been held Friday in Sierra Blanca, the county seat of Hudspeth County in far West Texas.

The settlement was filed with the district court clerk's office in Sierra Blanca about 3:45 p.m. Wednesday, according to clerk Pat Bramblett. She said retired state District Judge William H. Earney of Marfa, who was to preside over the removal hearing, had selected chief Deputy Sheriff Tom Burns as acting sheriff.

Burns was to be sworn in today.

Armstrong, 36, was indicted on charges of possession of marijuana and conspiracy to sell the drug after law enforcement agents arrested him Sept. 7 at the Hudspeth County courthouse. He also faces charges of taking money in exchange for not making arrests, of accepting money to not enforce drug laws and of warning others of police drug investigations.

Langford said that Armstrong agreed to temporarily leave office because the sheriff felt it would be in the best interests of all concerend, especially the people of Hudspeth County.

He said the agreement "in no way" is an admission of guilt and cannot be used as such at Armstrong's trial, which is to be held in Pecos before U.S. District Judge Lucius Bunton. No trial date has been set.

"We have agreed to a temporary suspension, nothing more, Langford said. "If (Armstrong) is elected again and cleared of the charges, he would go back to office and get paid for the time he was out."

Armstrong is seeking reelection to the office he has held since Oct. 1, 1981.

He was unopposed before his arrest, but now three men have waged write-in campaigns against him.

District Attorney Steve Simmons could not be reached for comment Wednesday on the settlement. His secretary said he was out of the office.

Gramm lists 'differences'

As for social security, he noted his mother was a career nurse who now receives a $333 social security check monthly. "And no one is going to take my mama's social security check away from her," he said.

Gramm added, "Now he's quoting me as against the handicapped." He said this advertisement includes a telephone number which individuals may follow up on to identify the source of this information.

"If you check it out you'll find that his source is an 'unnamed government bureaucrat.' That type of ad is not only unfair, it's unethical," Gramm said.

"I can't lose this race on the issues, and my opponent can't win."

In closing, Gramm pointed to his close association with U.S. President Ronald Reagan, who he said he has "worked with at least once a week for the past four years."

Gramm said he has the ear of the president. "Lloyd Doggett could knock on the president's door until his knuckles were bloody, and he wouldn't get an answer," Gramm said.

Wednesday's appearance marked his second in Snyder during the fall campaign.

All accounts will be reviewed, Smith said. There are some exceptions, however, to include accounts in bankruptcy or foreclosure or those which it is determined may qualify for other sources of credit.

Kmart reports in-store theft

City police Wednesday arrested two local women — employees of the Snyder Kmart store — after store officials reported they were purposely undercharging some items passed through the checkout stand.

The pair — ages 18 and 22 — were taken into custody at 8:45 p.m. The amount of items they are said to have undercharged equals a Class B misdemeanor offense.

A felony charge results only after at least $750 in value or expense is said missing.

The women were charged with only one count of misdemeanor theft

Arrest follows gas drive-off

City police answered a call from the C&W Food Basket at the intersection of U.S. Highway 84 and Huffman Ave. at 11:21 p.m. Wednesday which resulted in the arrest of a local man on charges of misdemeanor theft, driving without a license and DWI.

Store employees told police a man had obtained gasoline, then failed to pay for it.

The suspect's vehicle was identified a short time later and the 24-year-old suspect was arrested and charged with the multiple offenses.

In other action Wednesday, city officers jailed one man on traffic warrants issued in Martin County, one for public intoxication and one for DWI.

Single wreck here

A single minor traffic mishap was reported here Wednesday afternoon.

Involved in the 3:48 p.m. accident on the Safeway parking lot were a 1978 Ford driven by Evelyn Perry Thompson of Rt. 1, Snyder and a 1982 Oldsmobile driven by Deeanne Singleton Preston of 211 37th St.

Fire is raging at aircraft company

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — A four-alarm fire raged early today through one of the nation's largest aircraft parts supply company, which last month was barred from doing business with the government, authorities said.

The blaze at the Alamo Aircraft Supply Inc. drew more than 100 firefighters to the scene after a fire alarm was sounded at 12:18 a.m. today, company officials said.

It took firefighters about two hours to get the fire under control. There were no immediate reports of injuries.

The fire engulfed part of the company's six-building complex which contained one of the largest military parts supply inventories in the United States, company vice president Leon Wulfe Jr. told the San Antonio Light.

Wulfe said the complex also was the site of two previous multi-alarm fires in the 1970s in which arson was ruled as the cause.

Testimony heard in Jones' trial

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — Rolando Santos, the child former nurse Genene Jones is accused of injecting with a blood-thinning drug, appears well more than two years after the incident, his mother testified in district court.

Jesusa Santos of Pearsall, Texas, told the court Wednesday her son will be 3 years old next month.

"He seems alright," she testified in Ms. Jones' trial on a charge of injury to a child.

Ms. Jones, 33, already is serving a 99-year term for the murder of a 15-month-old patient in Kerrville.

She faces an additional seven injury to a child charges in Kerrville and could draw another 99-year sentence if she is convicted in the current case.

Mrs. Santos said her son was born Nov. 30, 1981, and a month later he contracted pneumonia and had to be taken to Medical Center Hospital.

Ms. Jones is accused of injecting him with a dangerous dosage of heparin, an anti-coagulant.

In earlier testimony Wednesday, Dr. Lawrence Hooghuis, a former intern in the pediatric intensive care unit at Medical Center, told the court Ms. Jones appeared unaware she was administering too-high dosages of the drug.

Hooghuis, who now practices medicine in Gainesville, Fla., said one of his patients, Albert Garza, had problems with his blood failing to clot.

The doctor said he discussed the dosage of heparin the child was getting with Ms. Jones, who told him she was giving he infant 600 times the normal amount.

Hooghuis said Ms. Jones appeared unaware of the proper dosage for the drug, which could cause the patient to bleed excessively.

The doctor said he explained the proper dosage by drawing it out on a bed sheet.

After the conversation, he said, "She mumbled and walked away."

Hooghuis told prosecutor Nick Rothe he aergued horehan average with Ms. Jones.

"Did you notice any affect on the progress of your patients as a result of your relationship with Ms. Jones?" Rothe asked.

"Yes," he responded. "The babies would more often have a downhill course if we had a bad relationship."

Also testifying Wednesday was Dr. Greg Istre, state epidemiologist for Oklahoma. He conducted an investigation of infant mortality at Medical Center from 1979 to 1982, the period Ms. Jones worked there.

Istre, who conducted his inquiry for the Centers for Disease Control, told the court he found an increased incidence of deaths and cardiopulmonary rescuscitations in the pediatric intensive care unit for the epidemic period investigated.

Using detailed charts of his findings, Istre referred numerous times to Nurse 32.

"We associated Nurse 32 with increases in deaths and CPRs during the epidemic period," he said.

Prosecutor Ray Fuchs asked Istre, "Who is Nurse 32?"

"Genene Jones," Istre responded.

One chart, he said, showed 19 infants who required CPR died while Ms. Jones was attending them between January 1979 to June 1982. An additional 37 had CPR, but they survived while under her care.

Eleven persons were trampled to death in Cincinnati in 1979 during a stampede to see a concert by the rock group The Who.

Sheriff leaves office during drug trial

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — An attorney for Hudspeth County Sheriff Mike Armstrong says his client has agreed to temporarily leave office while he stands trial on federal drug charges because it's in the best interests of all concerned.

Lawyer John Langford said he and the district attorney's office in El Paso, which had filed a lawsuit seeking Armstrong's removal from office, reached a compromise agreement Tuesday that would suspend the sheriff without pay until his trial.

A hearing on the lawsuit was to have been held Friday in Sierra Blanca, the county seat of Hudspeth County in far West Texas.

The settlement was filed with the district court clerk's office in Sierra Blanca about 3:45 p.m. Wednesday, according to clerk Pat Bramblett. She said retired state District Judge William H. Earney of Marfa, who was to preside over the removal hearing, had selected chief Deputy Sheriff Tom Burns as acting sheriff.

Burns was to be sworn in today.

Armstrong, 36, was indicted on charges of possession of marijuana and conspiracy to sell the drug after law enforcement agents arrested him Sept. 7 at the Hudspeth County courthouse. He also faces charges of taking money in exchange for not making arrests, of accepting money to not enforce drug laws and of warning others of police drug investigations.

Langford said that Armstrong agreed to temporarily leave office because the sheriff felt it would be in the best interests of all concerend, especially the people of Hudspeth County.

He said the agreement "in no way" is an admission of guilt and cannot be used as such at Armstrong's trial, which is to be held in Pecos before U.S. District Judge Lucius Bunton. No trial date has been set.

"We have agreed to a temporary suspension, nothing more, Langford said. "If (Armstrong) is elected again and cleared of the charges, he would go back to office and get paid for the time he was out."

Armstrong is seeking reelection to the office he has held since Oct. 1, 1981.

He was unopposed before his arrest, but now three men have waged write-in campaigns against him.

District Attorney Steve Simmons could not be reached for comment Wednesday on the settlement. His secretary said he was out of the office.

Gramm lists 'differences'

As for social security, he noted his mother was a career nurse who now receives a $333 social security check monthly. "And no one is going to take my mama's social security check away from her," he said.

Gramm added, "Now he's quoting me as against the handicapped." He said this advertisement includes a telephone number which individuals may follow up on to identify the source of this information.

"If you check it out you'll find that his source is an 'unnamed government bureaucrat.' That type of ad is not only unfair, it's unethical," Gramm said.

"I can't lose this race on the issues, and my opponent can't win."

In closing, Gramm pointed to his close association with U.S. President Ronald Reagan, who he said he has "worked with at least once a week for the past four years."

Gramm said he has the ear of the president. "Lloyd Doggett could knock on the president's door until his knuckles were bloody, and he wouldn't get an answer," Gramm said.

Wednesday's appearance marked his second in Snyder during the fall campaign.

Kmart reports in-store theft

City police Wednesday arrested two local women — employees of the Snyder Kmart store — after store officials reported they were purposely undercharging some items passed through the checkout stand.

The pair — ages 18 and 22 — were taken into custody at 8:45 p.m. The amount of items they are said to have undercharged equals a Class B misdemeanor offense.

A felony charge results only after at least $750 in value or expense is said missing.

The women were charged with only one count of misdemeanor theft

A single minor traffic mishap was reported here Wednesday afternoon.

Involved in the 3:48 p.m. accident on the Safeway parking lot were a 1978 Ford driven by Evelyn Perry Thompson of Rt. 1, Snyder and a 1982 Oldsmobile driven by Deeanne Singleton Preston of 211 37th St.

Arrest follows gas drive-off

City police answered a call from the C&W Food Basket at the intersection of U.S. Highway 84 and Huffman Ave. at 11:21 p.m. Wednesday which resulted in the arrest of a local man on charges of misdemeanor theft, driving without a license and DWI.

Store employees told police a man had obtained gasoline, then failed to pay for it.

The suspect's vehicle was identified a short time later and the 24-year-old suspect was arrested and charged with the multiple offenses.

In other action Wednesday, city officers jailed one man on traffic warrants issued in Martin County, one for public intoxication and one for DWI.
