ANSWERLINE

Q. Who votes for the outstanding football player of the year and who votes for the all-around athlete of the year?

A. Coach Tom Ramsey noted that the outstanding football player of the year is voted on by the football players - as well as the outstanding offensive and defensive players - and is presented in the fall at the football banquet. The all-around athlete award is presented to a senior athlete at the spring sports banquet who meets the award criteria - such as participating in at least three sports - and is selected by the coaches.

County passes Prop. 4

Work on prison project full steam ahead

Mitchell County voters turned out to cast their ballots in the state constitutional amendment election held Tuesday which were to decide a variety of topics towards charting the course of the legislative actions.

Proposition 4 which was being used as a referendum election locally by the board of economic development to see if the community would want to pursue the application of a Texas Department of Criminal Justice unit received 89.2 percent of the votes cast in favor of the proposed amendment in the local election.

Of the 4750 registered voters in Mitchell County, 34 percent - 1635 voters - made their way to vote in the election.

Propositions 5, 6, 7 and 10 failed at the polls in the local election.

The other 9 propositions passed in the local race.

Statewide - with 58 percent of the totals in - Propositions 2, 5 and 7 were failing.

Proposition 2, which deals with the repayment to the Department of Transportation monies expended to assist the Texas Turnpike Authority, passed in the local election but was failing in the statewide election after gathering only 49 percent of the total.

Proposition 6, dealing with a Texas Ethics Commission, was passing in the statewide election while having failed locally.

More Mitchell County voters cast ballots in Proposition 4 than any of the other 13 proposed amendments.

A total of 1619 ballots were cast in the race with 89.2 percent of the local voters casting in favor of the proposition becoming a constitutional amendment.

The second most popular proposition on the ballot was number 11, which dealt with the lottery.

Though 1606 ballots were cast, the vote was close with the proposition following the statewide results.

Out of the Proposition 11 race, 50.4 percent of the local vote was

RIGHT TO VOTE: Mitchell County residents took advantage of the freedom to vote on Tuesday to cast ballots on the 13 constitutional amendments which had been proposed to the voters by the recent sessions of the Texas legislature.

Lottery passes here by narrow margin

The most controversial and easiest to understand item on the Nov 5 constitutional amendment election was Proposition 11 - dealing with a state lottery.

Mitchell County voters cast 1606 ballots in the election on the issue, with 811 in favor and 795 opposed to making the proposition into an amendment.

At press time, all counties surrounding Mitchell County with the exception of Coke County were reporting that Proposition 11 was passing by slim margins. In Scurry County, the proposition was passing by 17 votes.

With 58 percent of the votes in from across the state, the lottery question was being approved by the state's voters.

Sheriff's Dept. investigates incidents

Several recent incidents in Mitchell County are being investigated by the Sheriff's Department.

The department is investigating the shooting of a cow that occurred southeast of town, Sheriff Patrick Toombs said. The incident occurred on either Nov 2 or 3 and is expected to be related to a stray bullet in connection with the just opened deer hunting season.

Toombs noted that hunters should be careful and reminded landowners of the need to notify hunters of livestock which might be on or near their hunting lease.

The Sheriff's Department is also investigating two incidents that occurred on Oct 28.

The first is the theft of approximately $150 worth of property, which includes some concrete forms and some bar stools from a residence southeast of town.

The second incident involves a mailbox that was knocked down on county road 141 - northeast of town.

Hollis claims $11,000 added to budget illegally

The Mitchell County Education District (CED) met Monday night for their regular monthly meeting with two items - payment of bills and the approval of the tax roll - listed as action items on the agenda.

A major portion of the meeting dealt with last month's meeting and what business was conducted in a session after the meeting was adjourned and called back to order.

Four bills were presented to the CED board members for their approval.

The bills included $1,180 for administration expenses, $654 for supplies, $3708 for legal services and $225 for Charles Walker.

Westbrook has said that it would not pay any of the legal expenses incurred by the lawyers that were hired to represent the CED.

A motion was made by secretary Robert Finley that the bills be approved with the exception of the legal services check which was changed in the motion to the one-third of the bill which is owed by Colorado Independent School District (ISD) and Loraine ISD.

Finley and chairman Dwayne Harris voted in favor of the motion and vice-chairman Warren Zant voted in opposition.

The other action item on the agenda was to approve the 1991-92 tax roll as presented to them by Mitchell County Tax Assessor/Collector Mike Burt in the amount of $483,434,440 after exemptions.

Zant made the motion to approve the tax roll and the vote carried unanimously.

In other action at the meeting, Westbrook ISD superintendent Sonny Hollis spoke to the board.

"I believe the CED has attached an illegal $11,000 to the budget," Hollis said.

"I believe that is illegal because I believe you adjourned the meeting," he said, "I believe then you called a second meeting and this is violation clearly of the open meetings act."

"You do need to publish an agenda," Hollis said, "at least 72 hours before the meeting is held, which you did not do. But you did clearly add some $11,000 to the budget as it existed, to the $27,000 budget."

"Therefore," Hollis said, "we believe that you illegally violated the open meetings act by adjourning the meeting, by adding that [the $11,000] when you said nothing about budget requirement in the first place."

"And you did this after you had set the tax rate," Hollis said, "you did it after the component school districts had adopted their budgets and set their tax rates."

"You have assessed Westbrook schools some $13,000," he said. "This comes after our tax rate has been set. There is no way we can increase our budget after our tax rate has been set and that would have been almost a one cent additional tax rate."

"In your August 5 meeting, item 2 of your agenda, talks about determining the cost share for CED operations," he noted, "where Mr. Finley signed this, is for $27,275."

"You made the statement in writing and I quote, 'the estimate will not be more than $27,275, the cost will be distributed among the component districts, distributed on the basis of parcels,'" Hollis said.

"On September 5; section 3, items B and C," he said, "item B you adopted the tax rate and item C you adopted the 1991-92 budget that still remained at $27,275. At that meeting a CED tax rate of 77 cents was adopted to be distributed."

"We had a discussion at that meeting," Hollis said, "clearly it appeared that there was a strong agreement, at that discussion, the appearance of the agreement was that the component school districts would be assessed according to the percent that they would receive from the CED."

"Colorado City would receive 77.633 percent, Loraine would receive 5.794 percent and Westbrook would receive 16.574 percent," he said.

"It was an agreement," Hollis said, "it was not put into a motion because it was clearly checked and stated that the subject was not on the agenda and that it would be tabled until the next meeting."

"It was clearly agreed among men that," Hollis said, "you were going to change the assessment rate to the schools according to the percent that each school would receive from the CED."

"And in good faith the school board went home and discussed that among the school boards," Hollis said, "Westbrook even made some decisions that were based on that."

"At the September 24 meeting, section 4, items A and B, the evidence of the fact that that was clearly discussed and to have the component school districts would be assessed according to the percent they were to receive than by parcels."

"The agenda clearly points out the re-evaluation of the formula for component ISD contributions to the CED," Hollis said.

"At that time you failed to keep the good faith which you had earlier discussed," Hollis said, "and at that meeting decided to maintain the component distribution based on parcels."

"You did not keep the good faith which you had earlier established that you would," Hollis said.

"Westbrook ISD has clearly voted that they will only pay the 16.574 percent," he noted.

"You also," Hollis said, "at the September 24 meeting, item B of that section 4, affirming the 1991-92 Mitchell CED budget and then you come back, you adjourn your meeting which your tax rate had been set at 77 cents earlier, but you come back at that same meeting, you adjourn your meeting and everyone gets out, everyone starts to go home, a number of people that already cleared out, people who had come to the meeting in good faith to hear what you were going to set, and taxes are always important to all American people, and yet you adjourned your meeting, most of the people were leaving, and then you come back and call another meeting to order and you add $11,000 to your budget and we feel like that's illegal."

"We feel like that's a clear violation of the open meetings act," he said, "and that you violated the act simply by calling another meeting and not posting an agenda for 72 hours."

"We also feel like you have violated the rules," Hollis said. "The Texas Education Audit Division, Mr. Rolland, has clearly stated that CED operational procedures are absolutely under the same rules and regulations that any other school boards or that all other school boards are under."

"You have done just the opposite," he said, "in setting your tax rate and to your budget. You have adopted your budget clearly after the component school districts have set their rate. There is no way to increase their revenue to overcome the assessment that you have made with your illegal $11,000 that you have assessed."

"You have done just the opposite of what the normal procedures are," Hollis said.

"Also, part of the $11,000 which we feel you illegally assessed was to pay the legal expenses of the CED," he said.

"You were clearly informed earlier when that problem approached the CED," Hollis said, "the legal problem, which you did call upon legal advise before the meeting ever occurred."

"Legal advice told you to seek counsel, that's it," he said. "That should have been done at a regular meeting when all members were present. You did not do that."

"But you did have an attorney present," Hollis said. "You had already discussed the procedure, you had already discussed the problem and a recommendation from the attorney was already at hand."

"You were told by the state that the State clearly would defend the constitutionality of the CED, that was all that was done," he said. "You were clearly told that if Judge Weldon Kirk declared the CED constitutional that no injunction would be needed and that's exactly what he did."

"And you were told that if he had declared the CED unconstitutional, he would have automatically issued an injunction," Hollis said, "yet you spent some $5500 simply by the fact that you got your advise from your attorney before the meeting and then you spend money useless, wasted tax-money, for legal service that you absolutely did not need."

"This same lawyer that you hired for the CED will not be representing the CED in Austin," Hollis said. "All of the cases will be joined together in basically one common lawsuit which will concern the constitutionality of the CED's and what we believe to be the unconstitutional tax."

"Yet you went ahead," he said, "and you discussed this with an attorney before this board ever met and you had the legal advice and you went ahead and you hired an attorney which you absolutely did not need, which was not needed for this meeting and which would have not have been needed for the Supreme Court hearing."

"I propose and I will suggest," Hollis said, "I believe that the operation, that the budget, the operation of the CED, should be based and that collections and distributions should be charged according to the percentages that each school will receive from Mitchell CED."

"We believe that is fair," Hollis said.

"In fact," he said, "you have a $38,000 budget. Already the experience that we have had with the CED collections, you could simply review that amount. It is a simple matter of calculation of how much of that money is to be distributed to each school district."

"Each component school district can simply calculate the amount that the other districts should receive," Hollis said, "and all it costs is three 45 cent stamps, less than a dollar a week to distribute the CED funding."

"And yet you have a ridiculous budget of some $38,000," he said. "$11,000 of which we clearly believe to be illegal."

"I think I need to clear up some misunderstandings here," chairman Harris said. "First off: the attorney; I went on the advice of the attorney general's office who told me that we needed to get legal advice."

"That's the reason why I went with that," he said, "and I felt it would speed up the meeting up by me doing a little footwork ahead of the meeting."

"It wasn't something that I tried to cover-up," Harris said, "because I brought everything back to the meeting to each one of you."

"Secondly," he said, "the $27 thousand is a contract with Colorado ISD to do the administrative part of the CED. The $11 thousand is the expenses of the CED. This is all covered in the budget."

"I think the misunderstanding is," Harris said, "at the end of the meeting last month, we passed the guidelines and then the meeting adjourned, and it was brought to my attention at that point that one of the pages wasn't discussed."

"So I felt," he said, "to keep down any misunderstandings or somebody thinking that I tried to pull something over or something, I went back, I was wrong probably in doing it, because the meeting was adjourned and we'll probably need to go back and redo those guidelines."

"But the guidelines," Harris said, "have nothing to do with the $11,000. The guidelines..."

"The $11,000 was never mentioned until we came back into session," Zant said. "It was never mentioned one time and you know it."

"It had nothing to do with the budget," Harris said, "it was about guidelines."

"It certainly did," Zant said. "$11,000 worth. It had a whole bunch to do with it."

"The $11,000 is in the budget," Harris said. "All these guidelines are is just to help us out..."

"You haven't passed this other $11,000," Zant said, "except after the meeting was adjourned."

Geneva Findley, business manager of Colorado ISD and administrator of the Mitchell CED was asked to read the minutes of the last meeting.

"The minutes are wrong," Zant said. "You all have written the minutes up to suit yourself. The $11,000 was on the last page and we discussed that after the meeting was over."

"We passed a $27,000 budget and then you came back after the meeting was over and added another $11,000 to it," Zant said.

"This," Harris said, "was part of the budget that you passed."

Harris and Finley cited the minutes and what was written in them as for the actions taken at the meeting.

Zant told the board members that the minutes were incorrect. "That's exactly what you've done," he said, "that's what Mrs. Findley has done, now, she has lied to this school board, or Dwayne Harris or Don Nimmo has, one of the three, and I think all three of them. This ain't right."

"Well," Harris said, "I had no reason to hide $11,000 from you, I mean..."

"I do," Zant said, "you made a fool of yourself, you forgot about it, then after the meeting was over, Mrs. Findley reminded you of this $11,000 and the guidelines and you had to redo it."

"The last item," Harris said, "was just guidelines, it had nothing to do with..."

"You added that $11,000," Zant said.

"The $11,000 was in your proposed budget," Harris said.

"You added the $11,000 after the meeting was adjourned is all I'm saying," Zant said, "I could care less about the guidelines."

"We passed the budget of $38,000," Harris said.

"That's right," Zant said, "after the meeting was over."

"No," Harris said.

"We passed a budget of $27,000," Zant said.

"We have got it in our minutes and someone would have to disprove it," Finley said.

"And that's exactly what I intend to do," Zant said.

"Well," Harris said, "I'll tell you what, Mr. Zant, you bring the proposed budget up here that we approved last month, and if $11,000 is not in that proposed budget, I will apologize to you."

A motion was made to approve the prior months minutes with the exception of item 10-36.

"Of course you want to take it out," Zant said, "you want to take it out so it won't show up in a court of law."

"These minutes are not right," Zant said. "They are not correct and you know they're not correct and Mrs. Findley knows they're not correct. We didn't discuss that $11,000 until we had adjourned and come back."

"This is not even approving the $11,000," Harris said, "these are guidelines, it doesn't have anything to do with the spending of money. The guidelines we passed the other night doesn't even have anything to do with raising another $11,000."

"These minutes are not right," Zant said. "They are a fabrication."

"We passed a budget in the meeting," Harris said, "as I remember, that's all we discussed."

She noted that the company grew from offering one service in the Lubbock area to offering 12 services to over 250 cities before she sold the company.

She worked as a regulatory assistant with the Federal Communications Commission and helped in write rulebooks and regulations, including those which were set for the original cellular phone systems.

From there she went to Honeywell in Lubbock, where she worked with energy management systems. She was involved with the financial benefits of competitively selling the system to company executives.

STC Communications in Denver then hired her for the background she has in tariff regulations and worked with the company which provides voice multiplexing systems as a marketing administrator.

She then returned to Lubbock and worked with MCI. At the time, the company was cash-flow poor, but by the time she left it was one of the top 10 most profitable cities for the company.

An investigation is continuing into a suspected criminal mischief or oil theft from the southeast corner of the county - near Silver - where an oil pipeline belonging to Sun Oil Company has been cut and clamps taken off the other end of the line.

184 barrels of oil are missing at the site, Toombs said, and at least some of the oil was spilled onto the ground.

Another investigation that the department is working on involves a Hereford bull calf that was stolen between 9:30 p.m. on Oct 18 and 7 a.m. on the 19th at the livestock auction.

Two thefts in Loraine are also being investigated by the department; the first being criminal mischief of a house that was burglarized and the other is a theft of a riding lawn-mower.

One out of 10 will develop breast cancer

According to the American Cancer Society, one out of every ten women in the United States will develop breast cancer sometime during her lifetime. Every year over 37,000 women die as a result of breast cancer.

According to a spokesman from the regional breast care center at Women's & Children's Hospital in Odessa, Texas "the death rate from breast cancer could be drastically reduced if women would have mammograms done before a problem exists." By using modern state of the art x-ray equipment breast cancers can be found when they are about the size of a grain of rice and well before the cancer can be felt. A woman who is diagnosed with breast cancer at this early stage has a 90%-97% survival rate. However, a woman who is not diagnosed until a lump can be felt has approximately a 50% survival rate in five years.

In an effort to find cancers at the earliest possible stage and prevent unnecessary deaths, a Mobile Breast Cancer Detection Unit will be made available to local women on Tuesday, November 19th.

The Mobile Unit will be parked at Mitchell County Hospital, 1543 Chestnut, Colorado City, Texas.

Appointments may be made by calling 728-3431 Ext. 222.

For more information you may call the Regional Breast Care Center at Women's & Children's Hospital at (915) 334-8888/561-9999.

Stenholm announces academy deadlines

STAMFORD, TEXAS -- Congressman Charles Stenholm has announced that the deadline for applications to the United States Service academies is just one month away.

The deadline to apply to any military academy through Congressman Stenholm's office is December 1, 1991. Interested individuals are encouraged to contact the Stamford office as soon as possible.

Eligible applicants must be at least 17, but not past their 22nd birthday, and need to have graduated from high school by June 30, 1992. They must also be single with no dependents and be a legal resident of the 17th District.

Competitive applicants should be in the top 20 percent of their class. They need to have SAT scores above 500 Verbal and 550 Math or ACT scores of 24 English and 26 Math. Involvement in extra-curricular activities, including school and community organizations and sports as well as full or part-time employment, is also in the applicant's favor.

The Congressman will be making nominations for appointments to the Air Force Academy at Colorado Springs, Co., the Military Academy at West Point, N.Y., the Naval Academy at Annapolis, MD., and the Merchant Marine Academy at Kings Point, N.Y.

The U.S. academies offer young people an excellent education, while also developing skills in leadership and self-discipline. It is a one-of-a kind opportunity to earn a bachelor's degree and earn a salary for doing so. An education at an academy also guarantees a career upon graduation as an officer in the U.S. Armed Forces.

Applicants who wish to serve as commissioned officers are strongly encouraged to contact Jayne Schoonmaker in Congressman Stenholm's Stamford office. For more information call (915) 773-3623 or (915) 672-1322 or write to P.O. Box 1237, Stamford, Texas 79553.

Public Notice

On October 18, 1991, Southwestern Bell Telephone Company filed an application with the Public Utility Commission of Texas to add a new optional service offering called SmartTrunk℠ Service. The application has been assigned Tariff Control No. 10687.

SmartTrunk Service provides access between the customer's premises and the serving Southwestern Bell central office for circuit-switched voice and data communications. This communication capability is provided where facilities are available using Integrated Services Digital Network architecture. ISDN services available with SmartTrunk Service use Primary Rate Interface (PRI) technology. SmartTrunk Service requires PRI ISDN compatible Private Branch Exchange (PBX) customer provided equipment registered under FCC Part 68 Rules. SmartTrunk Service employs a 1.544 Mbps facility (denoted as SmartTrunk Interface) typically divided into twenty-three B channels and one D channel. B channels are used for voice and data communications while the D channel provides out-of-band signaling.

If approved by the Commission, the rates for each SmartTrunk Interface facility will be $1,110 per month under a 36-month service contract or $1,010 per month under a 60-month service contract. The proposed rate for the use of the central office varies from $12.25 up to $18.90 per month for each B channel depending on the rate group classification which is determined by the customer's location. Southwestern Bell estimates revenue of $2.8 million from this offering during the first year.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should file comments regarding this application with the Commission as soon as possible. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Blvd., Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Public Information Office at (512) 458-0256. A Service of Transamerican Diagnostic Services
(Providing Mammography Services for over 5 years)

According to the American Cancer Society, one out of ~~ten~~ nine women in the United States will develop breast cancer sometime in her lifetime. It is currently estimated that over 37,000 women die each year as the result of breast cancer.

Ninety percent of breast cancers are diagnosed by women or their physicians finding a lump in the breast. Women who are diagnosed with a lump large enough to feel have a 50 percent five year survival rate. A woman who is diagnosed as having breast cancer by mammography, before a lump can be felt, has a 97% five year survival rate and a 90% 10 year survival rate.

A mammogram can detect a cancer this small, even before it can be felt.

Guidelines For Screening Mammography Established by the American Cancer Society.

I. 35-40 years of age - One baseline mammogram.

II. 40-50 years of age - A mammogram every 1-2 years depending on breast type and risk factor.

III. 50 years of age and over - An annual physical examination and annual mammogram.

IV. Asymptomatic women under 50 years of age with significant high risk factors should be examined at appropriate intervals. These risk factors include previous breast cancer and family history of cancer.

V. A symptomatic woman should have a mammogram at any age when she experiences a mass, nipple discharge, skin changes or unexplained breast pain.

A screening mammogram is an x-ray of the breast using extremely low dosages of radiation (usually comparable to dental x-rays) and is designed to find very early cancers.

A female technologist who is highly trained in mammography will perform the examination.

The charge for the screening mammogram is $65.00. The Unit accepts cash, check, Visa, Mastercard and American Express.

Thirteen lettermen returned from the 1990 season, including running back Eric Clutter, (5'10"-165-Sr), and fullback Joe Kilgore, (5'11"-210-Sr), who lead the Wishbone style attack offense.

The Rangers average scoring 17 points a game while the defense averages giving up the same number of points per nights action.

LORAINE PERSONALS

...BY LOIS PHILLIPS

Here it is only the first part of November and we have already had our first winter storm. It wasn't so bad in one sense of the word but on the other hand it was terrible. A man and his wife from Midland both lost their lives within our city limits in the early part of the night. We did not know these people but a lot of Mitchell County residents did. It is a terrible thing and we are very sorry it happened.

We had two other wrecks besides that one but they were not that bad. We had EMT calls also and when the news media picked up on the icy weather we got a good many calls asking us to check on their relatives in Loraine. Some had called elderly parents and could not get an answer so we did some of that also.

Then on that same night lightening struck a house and caught it on fire. It did not burn up but did an awful lot of damage. The family had to move out until it can be repaired. It belongs to Victor DeLeora and was occupied by Troy and Sandra Williams and their family.

On Saturday of last week a family from Florida were moving to California. While coming off the Tompson Hill east of town a trailer came undone from the car and scattered their belongings everywhere. Our firemen went out to help get them back on their way. They worked most of the afternoon with this family.

Hello Geneva Beights. How are you today? I guess you feel rather important being 90 years old and folks from Texas and California coming to see and helping you to celebrate.

Geneva you are a good friend and we feel like Loraine is a better place after having you to live here those years. I well remember how you always had a joke ready or teasing someone. We loved you then and we still do. I have been told that the Rex Beights of Colorado City and the Boyd Beights of San Diego came to Roanoke, Alabama to help you celebrate. I also was told your church had a party for you. Still blowing and going aren't you Geneva. We still love you and think of you now and then. Also, was told that Ira and Audra called you for your happy birthday.

I was told yesterday that Willis Hughes of Roscoe was flown to Lubbock to see a specialist about some breathing problems he has. Sure hope this finds you better Willis. As you all probably know Willis is Bob and Wanza Graham's son-in-law.

To all Loraine Firemen: the Christmas party is set for December 12 at 7:30 at the Senior Citizens Building. Don't forget it.

Before I forget, my husband had his 80th birthday last week. He is proud of that fact.

Peggy and Patti Beaty visited us last Saturday, also with Elba Mae Evans. Maylon and Stacy were supposed to bring their deer blind and put it up but didn't make it.

Abilene High School won first place in state tennis finals. Mark Aston won the singles division that he played. Congratulations Mark. I am sure all of you know that Mark is Gene and Chrystene's grandson.

Recently Iris Preston and Chrystene Hall attended the Christmas Carousel Style Show held at the Civic Center in Abilene. They were guests of Mary Francis Furlow. The other guest was Wanda Smith Spence. The group enjoyed the luncheon and style show while reminiscing about Loraine experiences.

Monday evening, Iris hosted a birthday dinner honoring Chrystene. Harold Ray Preston attended and visited his mother Monday night.

The First Baptist Church enjoyed lovely red roses on Sunday that Jimmie and Barbara Hall sent Jim's mother for her birthday.

On October 24, 1991, the Loraine Junior High School football team ended its season with a 66-24 victory over the Ira Junior High team.

The Loraine team started the scoring early in the game when Corey Woodell scored on a 33 yard run. After that the score was run up to an impressive 66-24 by members of the offense. Loraine Junior High team had a total of 308 yards for the night. Corey Woodell scored 4 touchdowns, Josh Lee one, Kyle Moore passed for 4 touchdowns, and Joe Sanchez was on the receiving end of 3 of the four touchdown passes thrown by Kyle Moore. Jessie Lamones intercepted an Ira pass and ran it back 56 yards for yet another progress, hustle, and dedication shown by these ball players over the last 7 weeks. On the defensive side of the team the leading tacklers for the night were Brian Butler with 10, followed by Richard (Bear) Cooper 7, and then Ty Henderson, Adam Loy, Jessie Lamones each receiving 6.

I have really been proud of this Junior High team. They ended the season with a record of 5 wins and 2 losses. It has been a pleasure to coach these boys. They possess intelligence, and aggressiveness and have always given 100% whether it be in practice or at a game.

A special recognition goes to the following 8th grade boys; this was their last junior high game....Brian Butler, Josh Lee, Ty Henderson, Jason Stewart, Joe Sanchez and Corey Woodell. I look forward to coaching them on the varsity level next year. My seventh graders were as follows...Richard (Bear) Cooper, Dennis Flores, Miguel Gomez, Fabian Lamones, Jessie Lamones, Adam Loy, Kyle Monroe, John Rodriquez and Anthony Agular. These boys have really turned into a fine bunch of football players.

Last but not least, a special thanks to our managers...Daniel Benitz, Efram Martinez and Gabriel Salazar; and also to our fans, who encouraged us with their enthusiasm and support throughout the entire season.

Sincerely,
Coach Bob Loy

Public Notice

On July 1, 1991, Southwestern Bell Telephone filed an application with the Public Utility Commission of Texas that proposes to delete Paragraph 3.4(G) from Section 3 of Southwestern Bell's intrastate Access Service Tariff, which concerns credits where a customer uses Switched Access Service to furnish a service which has been defined to be an exchange service. The application was assigned Docket No. 10463.

Because Southwestern Bell is not aware of any customers who presently use switched access service to furnish an exchange service, Southwestern Bell does not believe its revenues will be affected. However, certain interexchange carrier customers of switched access service have made claims under the aforementioned tariff. Such customers, but only to the extent they provide an exchange service using switched access, would be affected by this application. Based on claims made for credits (assuming such credits were allowable), Southwestern Bell's revenues would be affected by no more than $1,168,962 annually, which is .037 percent of the Company's adjusted revenue for the 12-month period ending December 31, 1990. It is not possible to know how many interexchange carriers might believe themselves entitled to credits, but 189 carriers have registered with the Commission pursuant to PUC Substantive Rule 23.61.

The tariff, after suspension, is proposed to be effective May 1, 1992.

Persons who wish to intervene or otherwise participate in these proceedings should notify the Commission as soon as possible, but no later than November 15, 1991. A request to intervene, participate, or for further information should be mailed to the Public Utility Commission of Texas, 7800 Shoal Creek Blvd., Suite 400N, Austin, Texas 78757. Further information may also be obtained by calling the Public Utility Commission Public Information Office at (512) 458-0256. ELECTION in favor of the amendment.

The third most popular amendment for voters was Proposition 1 which dealt with home rule cities being able to amend their charter after their population fell below 5,000.

Colorado City was one of the cities affected by this proposed constitutional amendment.

1547 votes were cast in the local election, with 86.5 percent of the ballots in favor of the legislative draft.

Those failing in the local election included Proposition 5, providing for tax exemptions in an enterprise zone, which gathered 44.6 percent of the 1452 votes cast in the election.

Proposition 6, dealing with a Texas Ethics Commission - only received 40.1 percent of the local balloting.

Allowing the statewide public retirement system investments to grow in areas, Proposition 7, also failed in the local election after gathering only 25.4 percent of the 1487 votes cast in the election.

The other proposition which failed in Mitchell County was Proposition 10, which was related to exempting nonprofit water and wastewater corporations from ad valorem taxes.

Locally, the proposed amendment gathered only 44.1 percent of the 1432 ballots cast.

Stenholm to sponsor H.R. 1882

WASHINGTON, D.C. -Saying it will save money, Congressman Charles Stenholm has agreed to cosponsor H.R. 1882, the National Commemorative Events Advisory Act. The Act would end Congressional consideration of commemorative resolutions by establishing an independent commission to advise the President on proposed commemorative time periods.

"Congress needs to devote all its time to passing legislation that will help the American public and stop spending any time working on 'feel good' bills such as National Tap Dance Day," said Stenholm.

Stenholm pointed out that there are some meritorious proposals that are brought to various Members' attention. That's why he supports creating an 11-member independent commission, similar to the Stamp Advisory Board, that can consider all proposals equally and make recommendations to the President.

In reviewing past Congressional sessions, 28 percent of the laws from the 100th Congress were commemoratives. Of the 650 bills passed during the 101st Congress, 195 (or 33 percent) were commemorative in nature.

Printing costs for the 699 commemorative bills introduced in 1989 totaled more than $382,000 according to figures from the Census and Population Subcommittee.

Stenholm says H.R. 1882 will enable Members and their staffs to focus more on the issues of the day, provide for impartial review of meritorious proposals, and cut printing costs.

Mayor Baum urges citizens to wear poppies Nov. 7-11

A proclamation urging all patriotic citizens of Colorado City to wear a Buddy Poppy has been signed by Mayor Jim Baum.

The local Ladies Auxiliary to the Veterans of Foreign Wars (VFW) Post 9178 will be selling the Buddy Poppies in Colorado City from November 7 through 11.

All proceeds of the poppy sales will be used to help veterans and their families.

Mayor Baum proclaimed that the annual sale of Buddy Poppies by the VFWs of the United States has been officially recognized and endorsed by governmental leaders since 1922.

The VFW Buddy Poppies are assembled by disabled veterans, and the proceeds of this worthy fund-raising campaign are used exclusively for the benefit of disabled and needy veterans, and the widows and orphans of deceased veterans, Baum said.

The basic purpose of the annual sale of Buddy Poppies by the VFW is eloquently reflected in the desire to "Honor the Dead by Helping the Living," Baum noted.

I, Mayor Baum proclaimed, hereby urge the citizens of this community to recognize the merits of this cause by contributing generously to it support through the purchase of Buddy Poppies on the day's set aside for the distribution of these symbols of appreciation for the sacrifices of our honored dead.

The Mayor further noted that he urged all patriotic citizens to wear a Buddy Poppy as mute evidence of our gratitude to the men of this country who have risked their lives in defense of the many freedoms which we continue to enjoy as American citizens.

BUDDY POPPY WEEK: Colorado City Mayor Jim Baum signs a proclamation for the Ladies Auxiliary of the Veterans of Foreign Wars president Estella Rivera, to outline the importance of the local effort that will be conducted between Nov 7 and 11.

FEATURED ARTIST: The work of Ethel Gist is being featured in the lobby of City National Bank throughout the month of November. She is a member of the Colorado City Brush and Palette Club.

Oak Singers to perform here

The Oak Singers will perform beginning at 7 p.m. on Sunday, Nov 10, at the Christian Temple of Colorado City.

The group is formed of young people from Live Oak, California.

For hours after the regular service you could find this group of kids around the piano singing.

As they began to sing special songs in church, visitors would ask them to come and sing in their own home churches.

In 1977 they entered a talent contest at the California State Fair and took first place.

From there on, everything seemed to move the group in a direction that would forever change their lives.

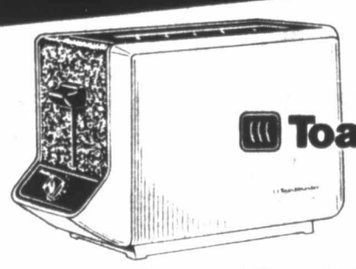

In the summer of 1978 they stepped out in faith into a full-time ministry.

Since then they have recorded many albums with most of the songs written by members of the group.

They have traveled to most parts of the United States and parts of Canada as they average about 270 appearances per year.

Even though they have seen many great things happen, they still realize and remain grounded in the belief that the message of Jesus is far greater than anything they could ever accomplish.

Mitchell SWCD directors attend annual conference

Members of the Mitchell Soil and Water Conservation District Board of Directors attended the 51st annual meeting of soil and water conservation district held in Corpus Christi, October 21-23.

Attending the conference were Warren Anderson, Jimmy Harrison, Travis Turner and D.M. Smith.

Featured speakers on the program included James Own, President, Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Ass'n.; Robert Wetherbee, President, National Association of Conservation Districts; John Hall, Chairman, Texas Water Commission; Jerry Clark, Director of State Governmental Affairs, Associated Milk Producers, Inc.; and Wes Oneth, SCS State Conservationist, Texas.

"The major issues heard at the meeting included discussion son re-authorization of the Clean Water Act, Endangered Species Act, federal wetlands program and costal zone management," said Jimmy Harrison, chairman of the Mitchell SWCD.

Citing Wetherbee's comments on the wetland conservation issue, Harrison said the NACD is working on behalf of conservation district nationwide to find a practical wetlands conservation strategy that balances aquatic ecosystem protection with growth and development.

"The problem with the wetlands issues is the proposed changes in the Federal Manual for Identifying and Delineating Jurisdictional Wetlands. Hydric soils, hydrophydic vegetation and hydrology are still the key elements in making wetland determinations; however, the big change is the criteria to prove the hydrology is there," said Harrison.

Harrison said that the projected time frame for finalization of the proposed 1991 wetlands manual is one year. He added that the old 1987 manual will be used until the new document is finalized.

"With respect to the reauthorization of the Endangered Species Act, U.S. .Fish and Wildlife specialists discussed the legalities of the Act and how provisions of the Act may affect farmers and ranchers," Harrison said.

"We were told that even if endangered or threatened species are present on our land, we may not have a problem. Normal farming or ranching procedures that have been in place for years may not impact the species. Chances are, present farming conditions would not further endanger the the species since it has survived previous years under the same circumstances," he added.

There are exceptions. If a project has federal connections such as permits, federal grants and loans, technical assistance from federal agencies, the Fish and Wildlife service needs to be consulted to determine if a species is impacted.

"Since soil and water conservation districts have the responsibility to assist farmers and ranchers develop conservation programs to meet specific needs, we were told that if we are going to maintain the credibility that conservation districts can work with people on a voluntary basis, we are going to have to make sure that we meet the January 1, 1995 deadline for implementing conservation compliance plans established under the 1990 Farm Bill," Harrison said.

"I might add that the development of a costal zone management program for Texas was another issue discussed at the conference. We were told that the General Land Office is pursuing federal approval of a state coastal zone management plan. The program would include enforceable provisions for application of best management practices which would include agriculture," Harrison said.

In hearing the talk by John Hall, Chairman, Texas Water Commission, on TWC's five year plan to protect the state's water resources, Harrison said the TWC chairman indicated that the majority of Texas farmers and ranchers as well as businesses are doing everything possible to comply with the state's environmental laws.

Hall said that there is a small group who ignore the standards and endanger the public. "As a result the TWC is pursuing a set of strategies that will ensure compliance with the law," he said.

Regular election for directors to represent state areas one, three and five of the Association of Texas Soil and Water Conservation District were held at the meeting.

Representing area one is T. Michael Holt of Spearman. The director for area three is Donald Swann of Taft, Area five's director is Maurice Shepherd of Burleson.

Charles "Buddy" Clark of Menard was re-elected president. Donald Swann is current vice president of the ATSWCDs.

CHIEF LONE WOLF

Logic would dictate that if lawmen had advance knowledge of a crime to be committed, plus an informant who was planning the crime with three other men, a conviction should be easy. It wasn't in Colorado City, in 1882.

The informant was a man who was known locally as Billy Wilson. He knew that three men, J.E. Paul, J.M. Miller and Chester Baker, were going to rob Sam Sing's laundry on the night of February 18, 1882. He passed along the information to Sheriff Dick Ware and Texas Ranger Captain J.D. McMurry.

In fact, Wilson said, the three men had asked him to help them get another pistol so they could pull off the robbery. The two lawmen instructed Wilson to get a six shooter from saloon owner Arch Johnson so the trio would be encouraged to pull off the robbery.

Wilson was advised by Ware and McMurry to go along on the job with the other three men. This he did. Sheriff Ware, Captain McMurry, Ranger Corporal A.J. Fryer and several other men set up an ambush about 40 yards from San Sings's laundry. The men hid near the building and as the west Texas sun began to set, awaited the suspects.

About an hour later, Wilson and the three other men approached the laundry. Wilson and Baker were to serve as lookouts, while Paul and Miller would break into the building. About a hundred yards from Sam Sing's, the four men stopped and tied handkerchief's over their faces to conceal their identities.

Meanwhile, Ware, McMurry, Fryer and the others watched the suspects from their hiding places. Paul and Miller went to the rear of the laundry and knocked on a door. When there was no response, Paul slammed his shoulder into the door.

A shot rang out and the would-be bandits scattered. As Paul fled from the scene, Captain McMurry fired a shot in the outlaws direction and Paul fell to the ground, unhurt, but quickly caught.

Miller, who had been in the back of the house with Paul, ran right past Sheriff Ware who reached out and grabbed the bandit by the handkerchief around his neck. The third man, Chester Baker, surrendered when he was stopped in his tracks by Corporal Fryer. Wilson, of course, was allowed to escape.

Unfortunately, some of the court records concerning the attempted hold-up have been lost through the years. But, we do know from available court records that Chester Baker was the first man tried and possibly because he only served as look-out, the Mitchell County jury acquitted him.

The second defendant tried was J.E. Paul. The testimony against him came primarily fron. the informant, Billy Wilson, as well as saloon owner Arch Johnson.

Wilson testified that he was with the three men the night of the attempted robbery. He said the plot to rob Sam Sing had been hatched about a week prior to the night they were nabbed.

Wilson said, "the Sheriff, R.C. Ware, and Captain McMurry of the rangers spoke to me about the matter and told me to learn when the defendants would try to rob the chinaman and to let them know the time."

Wilson continued, "they further told me it would be proper for me to loan the defendants a pistol."

Then, Wilson related that the four men met at Shonessy's Saloon and "talked the matter over."

Paul was loaned Arch Johnson's pistol, and as the strategy was mapped out, the three ring leaders said they thought the job would get them about $1000.

After tying handkerchief's over their faces, the four men took their places around Sam Sing's house. When Paul slammed into the door, the chinaman fired a shot from his pistol inside the house (he was in on the conspiracy) and the four outlaws broke and ran.

"Captain Murry and Sheriff R.C. Ware came running up and caught all three of the defendants," Wilson concluded.

Wilson's testimony was obviously devastating to J.E. Paul. But, on cross examination, Wilson had to make some confessions of his own. It turns out his real name was Billy Breslin, not Billy Wilson. He was raised in San Antonio and he moved to Colorado City because he didn't want his family to know where he was, not what he was doing.

What was he doing here? These are Wilson's exact words as he testified in Mitchell County's 32nd District courtroom:

"I am now a gambler and running with some women and did not want my people to know it. The name Billy Wilson is an alias I go by."

In conclusion, Breslin, or Wilson, said, "I got nothing for assisting the officers in this matter. I did what i did to favor them in connection with this conspiracy."

Next witness.

Arch Johnson was the saloon owner. Here's his testimony, verbatim;

"On the day before the night they were arrested, I noticed these three defendants in close consultation several hours. The three were sitting out of doors near my dance hall and were in very earnest conversation. I passed close to them and heard them talking and one of them said, "We will turn the chinaman and get a bundle tonight, then, if we can come back here and find the right bundle, we'll have enough to leave town on."

Johnson then told of loaning his pistol to Billy Wilson-Breslin. After the attempted robbery, the saloon owner went to the chinese laundry and found the weapon on the ground near the door of the building.

Following Johnson's testimony, he, like Wilson, had some confessing to make under cross-examination. He had operated saloons in Ft. Worth and Weatherford before moving to Colorado City and he had been arrested in cowtown and he had been fined in Weatherford.

Further, Johnson said he had been arrested several times in Colorado (City) and although he didn't say what he had been tried for, he added, "a case is now appealed to the court of appeals."

As previously stated, court records on the attempted robbery on Sam Sing's are not complete. We do know J.E. Paul was convicted of attempted robbery. We don't know what his sentence was.

And, his punishment is really academic because the court of appeals reversed the conviction. The appelate court's notes included in the packet of the 28th case ever filed in Mitchell County include the following quotes:

"Baker was tried and acquitted and Paul offered to prove that his confidant, Chester Baker, had been acquitted. To this, the state objected and the court sustained for objection. This is the main error relied on for reversal. In citing a previous case, (Greenleaf), " if one of several defendants charged with this offense be acquitted, the record of his acquittal is admissable."

Thus, the conviction against J.E. Paul was reversed and a new trial was ordered. There is no evidence a second trial was ever held.

Chances are his chief accuser, Billy Wilson, had decided not to gamble on his luck in Colorado City any longer. He probably moved on. Possibly with the women he had been running with.
