Agreement Is Announced In Hungarian Revolution

TANKS IN ACTION IN REBELLION—Soviet-built tanks wheel into a smoke-filled Budapest street as they go into action in Hungary's flaring revolution against the Communist satellite government. Citizens stand close to the building fronts to stay out of line of fire. Many Hungarian Army units have reportedly gone over to rebels in fighting against police and units of the Soviet Red Army.

More Red Troops Sent To Hungary

LONDON (AP)—Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd said today the Soviet Union is pouring more troops into strife-torn Hungary instead of withdrawing units already there.

He told the House of Commons some Soviet units and the Hungarian security police "behaved with the utmost ruthlessness" in attempting to put down the Hungarian revolt.

"With regard to Soviet troops, our latest information is that they have not yet withdrawn from Budapest," he said. "Our information is that further Soviet troops are being moved into Hungary and brought to the capital."

At the same time the West German Ministry for All-German Affairs announced in Bonn Soviet conscripts are reported moving into Communist East Germany to join the big Russian military force there. The Ministry said it got the news from a monitored broadcast of a Soviet station to Russian troops.

It was not made clear whether the conscripts are supposed to be replacements for troops who have returned to Russia or for Soviet divisions reported moved into Poland during the Warsaw crisis that preceded the Hungarian uprising last week.

Lloyd maintained there is no justification in the Warsaw treaty —the Red Eastern European Military Alliance—for the use of Russian troops against Hungarians or for the reinforcement of Soviet units in that country.

"While the Hungarian government may have been entitled to agree to the presence of Soviet troops in their country under the Warsaw treaty, it is quite a different thing to use those troops to repress the Hungarian population and to call in additional Soviet forces for that purpose," Lloyd said. "There is no justification for that in the Warsaw treaty."

Labor Leader Hugh Gaitskell joined Lloyd in expressing shock at the use of Soviet military might against Hungarian crowds.

Lloyd declined to discuss the work of the U. N. Security Council in the Hungarian crisis. But he did say that "what we have to hope to do is to mobilize the forces of world opinion so that in this matter a reasonable course is taken by the Soviet."

The Warsaw Pact, under Soviet command, binds the Communist countries of Europe with the exception of Yugoslavia into a military alliance. The members are the Soviet Union, Poland, Hungary, Romania, Bulgaria, Czechoslovakia, Albania and East Germany.

The pact allows Russia to base Soviet forces outside the borders of the Soviet Union, ostensibly for mutual defense purposes.

UNDER FIRE—Red East German beefed up police forces as workers and students were reported demanding the ouster of Communist boss Walter Ulbricht, above. An old-line Stalinist, he is one of the most hated men in satellite Red Germany. (AP Wirephoto)

Red Troops To Withdraw

VIENNA (AP) — Radio Budapest announced late today an agreement has been reached for rebels to turn in their arms and for Russian troops to quit Budapest.

At the same time, the government-controlled radio announced Interior Minister Ferenc Muennich had dissolved the dread Communist secret police.

Muennich announced that Secret police guilty of torture and oppression would be punished.

The agreement concerning the surrender of rebel arms was concluded by Defense Minister Karoly Janza. It was not announced who negotiated for the forces of the rebellion.

The broadcast said the agreement provided that Russian army forces will leave Budapest 24 hours after rebel weapons have been delivered.

Only a short time before this broadcast, British Foreign Secretary Lloyd told the House of Commons in London the Soviet Union is pouring more troops into Hungary.

VIENNA (AP) — Sporadic fighting again raked Budapest early today despite Premier Imre Nagy's promise to pull Russian troops out of the bloodstained city and to meet other demands of rebellious Hungarians.

Budapest radio reported shortly after 10 a.m. that there had been shooting in the capital during the night and that "there still are elements who want to disturb the peace."

The broadcast added that "armed workers' units" searching houses for arms were met with gunfire.

The rebels claimed complete control over a strip of western Hungary 100 miles long and 50 miles wide, only 19 miles west of Budapest at its northern limit. Rebel banners were reported flying all over.

The Budapest radio announced Soviet troops had begun pulling out of the battle-scarred capital as Nagy promised. But Russian tanks and big guns still were reported camped in the heart of the city.

The rebel radio at Gyoer, in northwest Hungary, reported that it had received information from northeast Hungary that a withdrawal of Russian troops in the border area there took place during the night. There was no confirmation of the report from any other source.

There still was no clear answer from rebel leaders to the extensive concessions promised by Nagy's Communist-dominated "popular front" government.

These included a promise to open immediate negotiations with Moscow for the withdrawal of all Soviet troops from Hungary. But they did not include any suggestion that Communist-run Hungary would permit free elections or the establishment of a representative government.

The government radio announced that a committee from rebel headquarters in Gyoer had arrived in Budapest, presumably to discuss the situation with government representatives.

The broadcast said the rebel committee was appealing to the workers in Gyoer to re-establish calm and order and resume work.

The Budapest station also reported that the food situation in the capital had been secured. But despite a promise to reopen communications with the outside world, there still was no telephone connection with Budapest.

Israel Mobilizing To Meet Jordan Threats

JERUSALEM (AP)—Israel mobilized its reserves and the United States began the evacuation of some of its citizens from four Middle East states today in the biggest Arab-Israeli war score since 1948.

Israel, announcing the callup of reserve battalions in what it termed a "partial mobilization," denied it had any aggressive intent.

Tension in Israel has mounted since Jordan, which has the longest frontier with Israel of any Arab state, formed a joint military command with Syria and Egypt last week. A pro-Egyptian Parliament was elected in Jordan a week ago.

President Eisenhower, taking a grave view of the mobilization, sent two messages to Israeli Premier David Ben-Gurion. Washington reports said Israel had mobilized from 150,000 to 200,000 men along her frontiers.

In the Israeli side of Jerusalem regular traffic and business were slowed by a heavy movement of troops, guns, tanks and reservists.

From 7,000 to 8,000 Americans in Egypt, Israel, Jordan and Syria were affected by State Department warnings and orders to leave for points of safety. Tourists, business people and others in the four countries not performing "essential functions" were urged to leave. Dependents of U. S. government officials will be evacuated "as soon as possible" by commercial planes, they were told.

Dependents in Jordan were told the first flight to take them to Beirut, Lebanon, was leaving at 2 p.m. today.

There are about 320 Americans in Jordan, 60 of them in Arab Palestime. About 100 of them are there in official capacities. There are 1,893 Americans in Egypt. Many are missionaries, teachers, newsmen and businessmen.

Because nonessential British personnel was largely withdrawn during the heights of the Suez crisis, similar warnings to Britons in the Middle East were not issued by the London government.

The air of crisis was heightened by the announcement of Israeli military authorities today that three suicide bands of Arab commandos had crossed into Israel from the Egyptian-held Gaza Strip last night and two of the groups were captured. Increased activity of these bands was one reason given for the Israeli mobilization.

The Israeli cabinet met in an emergency session for 2½ hours today. British and American ambassadors had separate meetings with Premier Ben-Gurion and Foreign Minister Golda Meir.

At Amman, U. S. Ambassador Lester Mallory called on Thsan Hashem, Jordan's Foreign Office undersecretary. In Cairo, U. S. Ambassador Raymond Hare arranged meetings with Egyptian President Nasser and Foreign Minister Mahmoud Fawzi.

Jordan's tough little army, formerly called the Arab Legion, was reported deployed on the west bank of the Jordan ready to take the brunt of any Israeli attack. Jordan has defense alliances with Britain, as well as separate treaties with Iraq and with Syria and Egypt.

In Israel, special first aid centers continued a drive for blood donations.

Middle East War Feared

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower and his top aides were reported gravely alarmed alarmed today at the possibility that war may shortly break out in the Middle East.

Only the highest order of Israeli-Arab statesmanship, they were said to feel, could avert a Middle East explosion. Officials were described as looking mainly to Israel's Prime Minister, David Ben-Gurion, as the man who held the decision.

With war jitters mounting, Israel was reported to have mobilized from 150,000 to 200,000 men along its frontiers.

Eisenhower issued an unusual public appeal to Ben-Gurion that "no forceful initiative be taken which would endanger the peace."

"We have not heard of such large-scale mobilization in countries neighboring Israel which would warrant such Israeli mobilization," he said.

The State Department last night advised from 7,000 to 8,000 Americans in Israel, Jordan, Egypt and Syria to leave immediately unless they are "performing essential functions."

Secretary of State Dulles, minutes after returning to the capital from Texas, conferred by telephone several times with Eisenhower. He later summoned Israeli Ambassador Abba Eban to the State Department to back up Eisenhower's appeal with his own plea.

A responsible official, who is closely following developments, told a reporter it was impossible to overstate the seriousness of Arab-Israeli tensions. He said the next 24 hours would be critical.

The United States is urgently hoping, he said, that Eisenhower's public plea will cause Ben-Gurion and Arab leaders take a sober second look at where their policies are leading.

This official, who asked not to be quoted by name, said the Middle East picture is far more serious than at any time since the 1948 Israeli-Arab conflict.

The main American fear seemed to be that Israel might regard the next few days as an ideal time to strike a blow at its Arab foes.

Israel might decide, officials felt, that Russia is so deeply involved in trying to cope with its Eastern European difficulties that it would not be apt to rush aid to the Arabs in the Middle East, and that the United States is so concerned by its approaching elections that it is not likely to take decisive action.

Plans For Runway Project Discussed

The county commissioners court was planning to meet sometime this week with Harrie Winston, business manager for Winston Bros. Ranch, which owns property adjacent to Winston Field, the county airport, to discuss the proposed purchase by the county of some Winston land for runway purposes.

The court had made plans to meet with Winston last week, but he was out of town. Winston notified the court this morning, however, that he will be available this week until Wednesday.

The court has expressed the desire to negotiate with Winston on the price of the land. The two parties have not yet come to agreement on terms of sale of the land.

The land is part of that which the county must acquire before it can build the east-west runway.

This commissioners court this morning had an audience of two local businessmen who appeared as representatives of a group of persons interested in progress on the new runway. They were Cecil McClatchy and H. C. Denson.

McClatchy and Denson said they and the group they represented were interested in speeding progress as much as possible. Many companies which use aircraft for their officials, they said, will not use the airport here on days there are heavy crosswinds because they are afraid some of their officials will be endangering their lives by landing on the north-south runway. Some local fliers have expressed the same fear and will not use their planes when there are strong crosswinds, they said.

Cullen Toombs, commissioner of precinct 2, said that as far as he knows the Civil Aeronautics Administration has finally stopped changing its plans for the runway. The CAA is interested in the project because the federal government is furnishing a part of the funds. Toombs and T. B. Knight, commissioner of precinct 1, said the CAA began changing plans after the county already had plans in the making, causing delay because of the changes. Included in the changes, they said, was the CAA's request for more land, including that for clearance on both the new runway and the existing north-south runway. Sixteen acres of clearance land north of the airport has been secured.

The commissioners said there is also some differences of opinion on location of a planned taxiway running northeast-southwest. The airport board has requested one location, while a CAA representative suggested the possibility of moving the taxiway slightly, they said.

Doyle Parmer, commissioner of precinct 4, said it takes time to build a runway when the county must deal with the federal government. He said it took two years to build the original airport.

Asked whether federal money will be available for such a length of time on this project, Parmer said it should be as long as the CAA suggests changes in plans. The CAA must approve the final plans before the county can let the contract, he said.

Knight said the CAA is asking for a better base on the new runway than was used for the north-south runway. The CAA has asked for the airport facilities which would put the airport here on trunk classification. Pat Moore, commissioner of precinct 3, said a CAA representative said that if the airport is built as asked for here, it will be the same class as that at San Antonio.

McClatchy said many oil companies are using runways at Abilene, Sweetwater, and other locations because the one here is inadequate at the present time. There is, however, extensive use of the local airport, he said, adding that at the present rate hangar facilities will be inadequate at the airport here in a short time.

Ike Leaves For Tour Of Deep South

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower, encouraged by a favorable new medical report but concerned over Middle East developments that kept his plans fluid until the last minute, flew to the Deep South on a vote-seeking foray today.

The presidential plane Columbine III took off from National Airport at 839 a.m., carrying Eisenhower to re-election campaign rallies at Miami and Jacksonville, Fla., and Richmond, Va.

A planeload of newsmen and secret service agents had taken off an hour earlier, 25 minutes behind schedule and still without final word that Eisenhower definitely was going.

As late as last night James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, declined to rule out a change of plans stemming from the situation in Israel which Eisenhower said caused him grave concern.

President and Mrs. Eisenhower, both smiling, clutched their hats as they boarded the Columbine in a brisk breeze. There was a slight haze over the airport.

Eisenhower was attired in a gray suit and a light tan topcoat. Mrs. Eisenhower wore a blue dress, red coat and jaunty blue hat.

Warships Might Be Heading For Israel

JERUSALEM, Israeli Sector (AP) —Israeli security authorities said today two Egyptian destroyers and other warships apparently are headed toward Israel.

The informants said the vessels, five or six in all, left their base at Alexandria this morning and, so far as it is possible to determine, are moving toward rapidly mobilizing Israel.

26 Cast Vote By Absentee Ballots Here

A total of 26 persons had voted by absentee ballot by this morning in the general election, which is scheduled for Nov. 6, according to Dan Cotton, county clerk.

Persons who will be out of town or for some other reason will not be able to go to the polls on election day can vote absentee. Deadline for securing absentee ballot is midnight Friday. Persons who will do their absentee voting in person must also vote by that time. Ballots mailed back in can be secured up to that time and must reach Cotton by mail not later than 1 p. m. election day.

Cotton said there were 33 ballots out at the present time.

Voters will cast their ballots not only on candidates in the general election but also on several state constitutional amendments proposed.

One amendment, however, will be voted upon the following Tuesday. That amendment concerns providing aid to persons over 18 years old who are totally and permanently disabled.

Cotton said absentee voting can be done now on that election and that deadline for securing ballots on that one is Nov. 9.

Schoolboys Are Held

DALLAS (AP)— Two schoolboys, 17, and two other teenagers were held by police today after narcotics and hypodermic needles were found in their car.

Library Bids To Be Opened

Bids are to be opened at 2 p.m. Wednesday by the commissioners court on the Scurry County library, which was authorized by voters last spring in a bond election.

Contractors have been securing plans and specifications from M. E. Butler of Lubbock, architect for the county on the project, and it was not known here today how many have shown interest in bidding on the project.

The library plans call for a building which could handle a maximum of 100 persons at one time. The building would have a reading room 41 by 80 feet, children's reading room 32 by 46 feet, lobby, offices, equipment and storage rooms, restrooms, and bookmobile garage.

When the $90,000 in bonds was voted for the projects, voters specified a library and bookmobile.

Violence In Arab World Continues

PARIS (AP) — Anti-French demonstrations have spread across the Arab world in sympathy with Algerian rebels trying to wrest independence from French rule.

One man was killed and more than 60 injured yesterday in riots and other violence against the French outside Algeria. A general strike to protest recent French actions in Algeria halted work in much of the Arab world.

At the same time the war persisted within Algeria. Weekend deaths totaled some 95, including 23 French soldiers and 8 civilians caught in a carefully laid rebel ambush south of Algiers.

The anti-French violence elsewhere apparently was the result of a call by the nine-nation Arab League for a 24-hour general strike on behalf of five Algerian nationalist leaders captured by a French ruse a week ago.

Arab mobs burned the French consulate in the Old City of Jerusalem, smashed windows of the French-owned buildings in the Syrian city of Aleppo.

Sixteen Arab civilians, two consulate clerks and several policemen were reported wounded in the attack on the Jerusalem consulate. The consular staff took refuge on the roof and was rescued by Jordanian troops.

In Aleppo, a town of 350,000 in Syria, a mob ran wild for three hours, setting fire to four French mission schools and the French information center. Police shot into the crowd, killing one rioter and wounding 29.

The Syrian government declared a state of emergency and said that "some destructive elements" would be court-martialed.

The strike disrupted business in Tripoli, Aden, Baghdad, Beirut, and Cairo.

Two Thefts Reported To Police In Snyder

Police received reports Sunday morning to two thefts which occured Saturday night, one of which was a possible break-in.

About 10 quarts of oil were stolen from the Paul West Sinclair Service Station. Travis L. Steele, police chief, said that a window of the building was broken and the building was possibly entered by the burglar, but that he probably just stuck a hand in through the broken window to steal the oil.

The other theft was of a new truck tire stolen from C. H. Wiley, 1311 Twenty-third Street.

Search Is Continuing

CHEYENNE, Wyo. (AP)— Search continued in southern Wyoming today for a blond haired man, armed with a knife and using vile language, who molested five women last week.

Three women attacked in Laramie said the man was "crazy looking" and "bug eyed." A man of that description raped a young mother at knife-point in Cheyenne Friday afternoon. Two Green River, Wyo., high school girls reported they were molested Friday night in Laramie near the University of Wyoming campus.

Laramie officers said a man forced his way into a Laramie residence early Saturday and attempted to rape another girl.

Humphrey Says All Income Tax Too High

WASHINGTON (AP) — Declaring that "all income taxes are too high," Secretary of the Treasury George M. Humphrey says a cut is "well within realization in the relatively near future."

But the closest he would come to fixing any date was to say in an ABC-TV interview yesterday that it will come "when we can see the money from which the tax cut will be made—and that means a surplus."

He noted that most of the nation's expenditures are for defense, where cuts are difficult, and said "it all depends on how things go. We have a very strong defense now."

No Markup In Feed Grain Is Reported

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Agriculture Department said today it has seen "very little evidence" of local dealers making excessive markups in price in connection with the emergency feed grain program.

It promptly investigates every specific report of that nature and takes prompt remedial action when it is indicated, Harry Frazee, assistant to the director of agricultural credit services, said.

With the help of state Agriculture Department drought committees, Frazee wrote Rep. Wickersham (D-Okla), "We are constantly seeking ways to keep prices in line."

Wickersham had referred to the department a letter contending there had been an increase in the cost of feed in that area and emphasizing the need of farmers for additional emergency drought assistance.

The emergency feed grain program gives government aid to farmers in obtaining feed supplies in regions that are designated as as drought disaster areas.

Frazee said it was recognized that the movement of grain from distant points to replace exhausted local supplies would result in price fluctuations. "Most of the rise in grain prices appear attributable to this factor," he added.

"The situation differs in many respects with regard to the department's federal-state cooperative hay and roughage programs," Frazee wrote.

"Most of these commodities are purchased direct from other farmers or truckers, rather than from responsible grain and hay dealers, and this department has no authority nor desire to undertake price controls in this regard.

"However with the help of our state USDA drought committees we are constantly seeking ways to keep prices in line, and to make this program work to the greatest benefit of our farm and ranch people."

Frazee said Secretary of Agriculture Benson is concerned about the plight of farmers and ranchers in drought areas and "has alerted the department to make every effort, consistent with existing authorities, to alleviate distress and provide the assistance needed in these areas."

AREA OIL ROUNDUP

Locations Staked For 3 Wildcats

Drilling is to start in the near future on three new West Texas wildcats. They are to be in Borden, King and Nolan counties.

J. M. Huber Corp. No. 1 Long is to be a 10,000-foot venture in Southeast Borden, seven and one-half miles southeast of Gail.

It is 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 24, block 30, T-4-N, T&P survey.

Fain & McGaha of Wichita Falls No. 1 W. R. Ross is to be a 2,800-foot prospector in Southeast King County. It is 12 miles northwest of Knox City and 2,970 feet from west and 660 feet from south lines of the J. C. Tackitt survey No. 1.

Reaho Corp. of Dallas No. 1 R. H. Barton will drill to 7,000 feet in East Nolan County to explore the Cambrian. It is nine miles northeast of Maryneal and 660 feet from north and east lines of section 40, block X, T&P survey.

This operation is three miles northwest of the EVB field which produces from the Palo Pinto and the Ellenburger.

Panhandle Oil Corp. of Wichita Falls, and associates No. 1 N. C. Terry, South Fisher County wildcat bottomed at 6,661 feet in Ellenburger and has been abandoned.

It logged shows of oil and gas in the Ellenburger but they were not commercial. The dry hole is four miles southwest of Longworth and 660 feet from north and east lines of section 69, Gillispie County School Land survey.

Ada Oil Co. No. 1 Sam Swan, slated 4,600-foot wildcat to test the Canyon sand in the Eskota area of Southeast Fisher County logged a show in the Noodle Creek formation.

That section was tested at 2,592-2,614 feet, with the tool open two hours. Gas surfaced in eight minutes. Recovery was 250 feet of oil, 60 feet of mud, oil, 210 feet of mud cut oil and 365 feet of salt water.

The operation is making hole below 2,767 feet. It is six miles northeast of Eskota and 1,613.5 feet south, thence 1,007 feet east of the northwest corner of the Robert Spiers survey No. 283.

Oxford & Stasney Drilling Co. of Albany have staked locations for two operations in South Nolan County. Both are projected to 6,500 feet to test the Ellenburger.

The operations are offsets to the same concern's No. 1 Ray Alderman, indicated discovery from the Cisco section at 4,067-71 feet, which is now testing for completion.

The new projects are No. 1-B Alderman, 467 feet from south and east lines of the northeast quarter of section 64, block 1-A, H&TC survey, and No. 1-C Alderman, 467 feet from north and west lines of the southwest quarter of section 65, block 1-A, H&TC survey.

No. 1-B is one location north of the indicated discovery and No. 1-C is the same distance east of the No. 1 Alderman.

The explorations are six miles northwest of Blackwell.

Blanco Oil Co. of San Antonio No. 1-A Kinsey is to be a one-location south offset to the lone producer in the Ruddle-Manning (Spraberry) pool of Central Dawson County.

It is 660 feet from north and east lines of the southwest quarter of section 11, block 36, T-5-N, T&P survey and one mile southwest of Lamesa.

Contract depth is 8,700 feet, which should test through the full Spraberry section. The lone producer in the area was completed several years ago.

Salt Water Program To Be Started

WASHINGTON (AP)—The government is about ready to take its salt water conversion program to seashore.

One difficulty is that the Interior Department's office of saline water has no beach it can call its own.

"We need an experiment station by the sea," said David Jenkins, government scientist coordinating research to find an economical method or methods of converting sea water into fresh water for industrial, domestic and specialized agricultural use.

"We have three processes now, and expect to have others developed in laboratories, that we have to take to the seashore where we can have an unlimited supply of sea water to work with. But there is no place to go.

"The result is that we are having to beg and borrow facilities."

Negotiations are on for the use of an industrial plant on the North Carolina coast to house a long tube vertical evaporator of the type used by the salt industry.

In this case, however, W. L. Badger of Ann Arbor, Mich., has worked out what Jenkins describes as "one of the best looking processes" for the use of the evaporator to take salt out of water.

"Badger believes," Jenkins said, "that it is possible to obtain water by this method at a cost of $100 to $125 an acre foot, if only the formation of scale in the equipment can be eliminated."

The prospects are so favorable that the saline water office has allocated $135,000 of its $550,000 appropriation for this year to set up one operating model 30 feet high at a seaside location. More money will be needed next year if this year's tests are successful.

"It will operate on sea water under various conditions to determine the best means of controlling scale," Jenkins sai.

Cold Air And Rain Strike Northwest

By The Associated Press

Chill air and rain was reported in the Northwest today while the rest of the country had generally warmer weather with partly cloudy skies and scattered rain.

A cold air mass hovered over the Northwest from the Dakotas, Colorado and Utah into most of California. Temperatures ranged from the 20s in the north to the lower 50s in southern California. Showers were expected in Washington, Oregon and northern California and scattered snow flurries were on tap for portions of the Rockies.

Lower temperature readings were forecast today from Minnesota to Iowa and Kansas and in the Far Southwest.

Scattered Showers Predicted In State

By The Associated Press

Widely scattered showers were predicted for all of Texas Monday.

Showers were reported Sunday at Palacios, with .92 of an inch, Victoria .19, Waco .03 and Fort Worth a trace.

Afternoon temperatures Sunday ranged from 91 at Alice to 75 at Lubbock.

El Paso had the lowest predawn reading Monday, 57. Brownsville had the high of 76.

Lufkin had some fog early Monday.

Jack Dempsey Enters Hospital In Chicago

CHICAGO (AP)—Jack Dempsey, former heavyweight champion, was reported resting comfortably in St. Luke's Hospital today.

Dempsey, boxing champion of the world from 1919 to 1926, entered the hospital yesterday. He was reported suffering from fatigue, a virus condition and a muscle strain in his left leg.

Dempsey, 61, said he had been ordered by Dr. Joseph Davis to take "a complete rest" for a few days.

Banker Says Business Reaching New Highs

DALLAS (AP)—A Dallas banker said today there are no signs of any significant weaknesses in the nation's economy.

Arthur Smith, vice president and economist for the First National Bank, said the nation's business has risen to new highs despite a psychology of caution and the uncertainties of a presidential election year.

Smith spoke to the Independent Petroleum Assn. of America.

"Gross national product, employment, personal incomes, and retail sales all have gained new highs," he said. "There are no signs of any significant weaknesses anywhere in the economy."

Cardinal Freed By Polish Reds

WARSAW (AP) — Stefan Cardinal Wyszynski made his first public appearance today since his release from house arrest. A crowd of cheering, singing Polish Catholics greeted him at his palace.

The cardinal, Roman Catholic primate of Poland, walked out on the balcony above the main entrance to the palace, spread his arms, and said:

"Peace be with you."

The crowd responded: "And with thy spirit."

Then the cardinal, clad in black robes and red hat, spoke to them briefly.

He called for a mature approach [illegible]. He asked that there should be no demonstrations and no disorders.

A government communique said last night the 55-year-old church leader had returned to Warsaw and resumed his church functions.

The cardinal had been confined to a country monastery in September 1953 after a vigorous campaign against Communist infringement on religious freedom. The government of then-Premier Boleslaw Bierut, a leading Stalinist who died last March, accused the churchman of constantly breaking a 1950 agreement between the Red Polish government and the Roman Catholic Church.

The cardinal never was put on trial.

(There was no immediate comment from the Vatican on the Polish announcement. After Cardinal Wyszynski's arrest, the Vatican had said no government could relieve a cardinal of his duties.)

The Polish government said a commission of government and church representatives soon will discuss outstanding issues between the church and state.

The freeing of Cardinal Wyszynski is certain to arouse fervent enthusiasm for a wide section of the Polish population, about 90 per cent of which is Roman Catholic. The clemency was another move by Wladyslaw Gomulka, the anti-Stalinist restored to power last week as chief of the Polish Communist party, to unite the nation for the all-out assault the government must make to ease Poland's economic difficulties.

Meanwhile, indications mounted that Marshal Konstantin Rokossovsky, Poland's Stalin-installed defense minister, is no longer in direct control of his ministry or of the Polish army. An informed source said Rokossovsky, one of the Soviet Union's outstanding commanders of World War II, is officially "on leave."

Two Sons Of Housewife Die In Accident

HOUSTON (AP)—Two young sons of a Bellaire housewife were kille, a daughter was injured critically and a third son hurt seriously early today when the car driven by their mother struck a parked truck.

Killed were Larry Focht, 6, and Neile Focht, six weeks.

Near death was Laurie Focht, 3. The mother, Mrs. Barbara Focht, 26, and the other child, Glen, 4, sustained undetermined injuries. Doctors said neither was in danger.

Mrs. Focht, en route home from the airport, struck the rear of a Houston Shell and Concrete truck. The driver, Joe Palmer, 26, told sheriffs Capt. Edd White the truck had broken down while he was en route to work and that he was parked on the side of the road, headed west, when Mrs. Focht's car hit him from behind. Palmer said the truck was parked two feet off the highway. Other witnesses confirmed this.

Mrs. Focht told White she dozed off while driving. She said she had been up all night with the infant, Neile. Mrs. Focht said she had taken her husband, Tuck Focht, a petroleum engineer for Humble Oil, to the airport to catch a plane to New Orleans.

Focht's plane had taken off before the accident occurred. A Humble plane was dispatched by company officials to return the father to Houston.

White said the crash knocked the heavy, dual-wheeled concrete truck 40 feet across a ditch. Mrs. Focht's car was a total loss.

Cool Front Heading For State Today

By The Associated Press

A cool front heading toward Texas from the West Monday held a threat of turbulent weather for parts of West Texas, particularly for the Panhandle, the Weather Bureau said.

The front was scheduled to reach far West Texas and the Panhandle about midnight.

The Weather Bureau said the severe thunderstorms probably would occur late Monday afternoon and Monday night in the Panhandle ahead of the front. A few thunderstorms were indicated for the northwest portion of North Central Texas Monday night.

High winds were kicking up dust around Abilene, Midland, Odessa and Lubbock Monday. At Lubbock, the surface wind was gauged at 38 miles an hour with gusts up to 46 miles per hour. A dust haze reduced visibility to around four miles in the Midland-Odessa area.

South and southeasterly winds reaching up to 56 miles an hour in gusts was pouring considerable moist air into West Texas.

Widely scattered showers were predicted for all of Texas Monday.

Snyder Man Faces Driving Charges

R. V. (Shamrock) Thompson of Snyder was released on $250 bond today after being charged in county court with driving while intoxicated.

Thompson was arrested during the weekend by city police. Surety on his bond was T. C. Goss.

WOMEN

FOR GOOD EATING

POTATOES ARE GOOD WITH EVERYTHING . . . even good when used as leftovers. Try some of these economy dishes.

HAM AND POTATO CASSEROLE

2 cups cubed ham
1 can condensed mushroom soup
½ cup milk
1-3 cup chopped green pepper
1 cup peas
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon pepper
2½ cups mashed potatoes

Combine soup and milk to make a thick sauce. Add meat, green pepper, peas and seasonings. Place in a greased 2 quart casserole dish and top with mashed potatoes. Bake in a modereate oven (350 F.) for 25 minutes or until potatoes are lightly browned.

SAUSAGE 'N' CORNBREAD with POTATO PUFFS

Bake pork sauages in a 400 F. oven in an open pan for about 20 or 30 minutes. Turn once to brown. Make your own favorite cornbread recipe or use a ready prepared mix. It will bake in approximately the same time as the sausage links.

POTATO PUFFS

1 cup mashed potatoes
1 egg
1 teaspoon double acting baking powder
½ teaspon salt
3 tablespoons flour
1 teaspoon onion juice (optional)
shortening for fryng

Mix all ingredients together thoroughly. Shape into fingers or drip by teaspoonfuls into shortening heated to 360 F. Deep fat fry until golden brown, 3 to 5 minutes. serve immediately. Yield: 18 puffs.

Gay Appliqued Motifs Can Perk Up Your Basic Jumper

By DOROTHY ROE
Associated Press Women's Editor

A JUMPER is a schoolgirl's best friend. Easy to sew and easy to wear, it can do the work of several outfits when teamed with different blouses, sweaters and jackets.

But since everybody is wearing jumpers these days, it sometimes takes a little ingenuity to keep from looking exactly like the rest of the class. Local sewing center experts suggest a little fancy applique work to lend individuality to a plain jumper.

A basic full-skirted jumper, made from a standard pattern, lends itself perfeetly to a large, bold appliqued design on the skirt. The jumper takes about four and a half yards of fabric. Corduroy is a good choice. The blouse requires about two yards of fabric, plus another half yard if you choose to make an applique to match the blouse.

An automatic swing-needle sewing machine with fingertip control will make the applique work go like the breeze, since both the satin stitching used for the outline and most of the decorative stitches may be done simply by flicking levers on top of the machine. If you don't own one of the new machines, the automatic zigzagger attachment also will do a good job.

When doing large-scale appliques, do your decorative stitching before gathering the skirt or stitching it to the bodice. Cut your skirt section from the pattern, and do the decorative work before sewing it. To give body to the applique, line it with two layers of organdy.

Arizona Students Spread Out Money

FLAGSTAFF, Ariz. (AP)—Arizona State College students staged a stunt to show the local businessmen what their spending means to the area's economy.

They went on a picnic to Grand Canyon, about 150 miles away, with $10,000 in silver dollars in their pockets — and spent the money along the way.

The Eyes Have It

The use of our eyes is one of the most economical processes known to man. While the eyes control 80 per cent of all our actions and are responsible for 83 per cent of all we learn, the act of seeing consumes only 25 per cent of the energy generated by our bodies.

Coordinated Cotton Helps Unify Room

Coordinated cottons help to unify a room, much as coordinated clothes emphasize a single aspect of a woman's personality.

In expressing this opinion, Margot Herzog, fashion director of the National Cotton Council, says that one basic theme should be expressed in redecorating a room. Similar cotton fabrics, with a single color or pattern repeated in all, should be used throughout the room, she advises. This technique is especially useful for unifying a difficult, poorly integrated room.

Household cottons and dress fabrics tend to follow similar style trends, Miss Herzog reports.

In both, the "polished" look is featured this season. Cotton satins and chintzes have lustrous shining surfaces which reflect the light, add their own gleaming color and pattern interest to every room in the house.

Patterns and colors featured include luxurious formal types as well as gay bright patterns that add cheer to a kitchen or bathroom window.

The luxury look of the all-over pattern is shown in a damask-type print on cotton satin. Beautiful colorings of reds on pink, blues on pale blue ground, mauve tones on a pastel mauve ground are featured. Huge chandeliers, done in a modern splatter technique, make a formal pattern on cotton satin in subtle color schemes, such as charcoal, mauve and blue.

Coordinated to the many printed cotton satins are plain colors which make it easy for home decorators skirts, bedspreads, slipcovers and to pair up drapes, dressing table the coordinated room theme when carefully teamed with decorative fabrics. The wall pattern itself can change the apparent shape and mood of a room, making it seem larger or better proportioned. In combination with the draperies it can alter the room's entire personality.

A large-scaled scenic wall covering contributes strong character to the room, even substituting its design for pictures.

Two County Seats For Some Counties

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Nine of Mississippi's 82 counties have two county seats each, complete with courthouse and full staff.

The two major reasons for two-seated counties were inaccessability because of bad roads or lack of roads and just plain old bickering over location of the county seat.

YOU AND YOUR TEEN-AGER

By BEVERLY BRANDOW

Jeff is only fourteen but lately he's been more of a confusing adolescent than your little boy whom you've always understood.

Till now he's rushed through his homework to read comic books or watch a western on television. Yesterday, instead of space comics, you found a girlie magazine stuffed in the hip pocket of his jeans.

Only last week you overheard him whistling at a girl, and more than once you've caught snatches of conversation between him and his friends that concerned girls, their curves, flirty eyes and petting approaches.

Can this be Jeff, you wonder. How come his interests are suddenly so sensual? He wasn't reared that way. Where has he gotten so much information?

Yes, Jeff has reached a new plateau, called adolescence. He's growing up. His new interests are the normal gropings of a boy reaching for adulthood.

Adolescence is a new world of new things. One of those things is a more mature interest in the opposite sex.

He's curious. Many questions cross his mind. If he brings them to you he knows he may be laughed at because of his naiveness or scolded because such "naughty" thoughts pray on his mind.

Only someone with his same feelings and in exactly the same situation as he would understand. He turns to a boy-friend and compares notes.

Talking big and making somewhat shady observations to his pals from time to time may impress them with his knowledge and maturity, he thinks. He wants to leave the impression that he is no longer a little boy but instead knows the score and has been around.

Boys don't have coming out parties to announce that the door of childhood is closed behind them. They do it in other ways. Wolf whistling at girls, flaunting girlie magazines, and telling slightly off color jokes to pals accomplishes their purpose. This may be an awkward way of achieving their goal, but it is the only way the teen-aged boy knows.

Now it is most important that sex be discussed with him and placed on a high plane. He must come to see it as one of the most wholesome and wonderful of God's gifts to mankind, and be taught neither should it be made the topic to treat it reverently.

Like prayer, if is not a subject to hide behind walls of secrecy, of public discussion.

As a parent you are now called upon to show an understanding of his inquisitiveness and guide him away from the sordid interpretation of life into one of awe filled wonder at the miracle of it.

Don't be shocked when you hear a meaningful wolf whistle. It's your cue.

Satellite Reaction

Those "neutral" and pro-Soviet countries which have been propagandized and bamboozled into the belief that all was serene behind the Iron Curtain with respect to Moscow's relations with her satellites are getting disillusionment in large doses these days.

At least one purpose of the new "soft" policy of the Kremlin was to create the impression, not only among the neutral and friendly nations but throughout Western Europe, that Soviet Russia had turned over a new leaf, and was now operating on the policy of accommodation and live-and-let-live.

In pursuit of this softening-up process it is probable the Kremlin went too far and gave the satellites more latitude than was safe.

Poland reacted strongly, and rioting ensued.

Hungary reacted even more strongly and on a wider front.

In Poland the new Communist government seems to have had fairly easy sailing in putting down open rebellion, perhaps because of the ruthless action taken after the Poznan incidents of some months ago.

In Hungary, where the old Communist government was ostensibly ousted in favor of a new, equally Communistic government, there has been more than an upheaval, more than public disorders. There has been open rebellion, in which some members of the Hungarian army joined hands with rioting civilians in making attacks upon or standing up to the Russian troops who were called into action to restore order.

These outbreaks were undoubtedly embarrassing to the Kremlin, for they destroyed at once the fiction that Soviet de-Stalinization had gone smoothly everywhere, without bloodshed—in short, that the "new" Kremlin was able to ease controls without serious consequences. The purpose of this, of course, was to show the world that Russia was getting along swimmingly with her allies and neighbors—indeed, was in friendly accord with them all.

Had everything gone well, it would have been a tremendous moral and propaganda victory for the Kremlin, of course.

But everything did not go well by any means. On the contrary. The events of last week and this have demonstrated how false the sweetness-and-light propaganda of the Kremlin has been. The whole world—friendly, neutral and inimical—now knows that it's the same old gang at the Kremlin, using the same old Stalinist methods, as ruthless and unyielding as ever.

Closed Chapter

Adolf Hitler's death by suicide in the Reich Chancellery in Berlin on April 30, 1945, has now been made official. A court at Berchtesgaden, near his mountaintop snuggery, has handed down a verdict to that effect, the Bavarian Ministry of Justice has in a manner proclaimed its acceptance of the verdict in a four-page document.

Hitler shot himself in the right temple the verdict holds, and his bride of a day and longtime mistress, Eva Braun, took poison. Friends, and attendants of Hitler burned the bodies with gasoline just outside the entrance to the Fuehrer's bomb-proof shelter.

All the allied governments, Russia in particular, had made exhaustive investigations to make sure Hitler was dead, and none of them entertained any doubt. But as usual wild rumors flew in all directions and kept flying—Hitler wasn't dead, but had fled to South America, Tibet or somewhere else.

Hitler left considerable property in the form of literary "remainders," so a court verdict probably was necessary to clarify matters.

In the U.S., such characters as John Wilkes Booth, the slayer of Abraham Lincoln, and the notorious outlaw, Jesse James, were long the subject of popular doubt as to their demise. Imposters arose in the case of both, when it became safe to pretend. But like Hitler, they had been long gone.

Presidential Race In Massachusetts Looks Like Stride-For-Stride Battle

By REIMAN MORIN

BOSTON (AP) — The presidential race in Massachusetts, at this late stage, looks like a stride-for-stride contest going right down to the wire.

Doorbell ringing indicates that if there is an edge today, President Eisenhower has it.

Top Democrats rate Massachusetts as an "anchor" state for Adlai Stevenson. If they lose it, they are "out of business."

A member of the Republican high command said, "I think we have a small plus there, but the picture is fuzzy."

A key to the uncertainty lies in this typical comment from a Haverhill housewife, Mrs. Ernest Valente:

"I'm an independent. I like Mr. Eisenhower but I don't believe in voting just for personalities. I haven't decided."

Over and over again, in talking with people across the state, these two words, "independent" and "undecided", crop up.

The largest single group of voters in Massachusetts — usually estimated at about 40 per cent of the total — falls in the category of independents or "indies." They hold the balance in elections.

They swung to Eisenhower in 1952 when he won Massachusetts by nearly 209,000 votes. Four years earlier, President Truman defeated Gov. Thomas E. Dewey by 242,000 in a smaller total vote.

The "indies" no doubt account for the fact that Massachusetts has a U.S. senator from each major party, a 7-7 delegation in the House of representatives, and a 3-3 split in the top offices of the state government.

This is a quicksilver group of voters, elusive, difficult to pin down.

What is likely to swing the "indies" this time? I've been all over and can't find anyone who really knows.

No single issue seems to be stirring voters.

A Marlboro housewife, complaining of the high cost of living says, "I just can't make the budget stretch. If I thought Stevenson could do something about that, I might vote for him."

Stevenson may have gained some votes by his position on H-bomb tests. But the only two people who mentioned his statements to this reporter are both voting against him, they say.

The state looks exuberantly prosperous. Employment is high, even pages of "help wanted" advertisements every day.

However, a merchant, Sam Weiss, tells you, "I must have switching to Stevenson. They say heard a dozen people say they are Ike's not for the small man. Me Well, I haven't decided. I usually make up my mind the night before the election."

Three people mentioned the President's illnesses.

On a quiet residential street, you meet Stanley English, a teacher, and Joseph V. Cox, a retired policeman. Both have had heart attacks. Both are voting for Eisenhower.

But in Salem, a waiter, Dick Pritchett, said, 'I may switch to Stevenson. After all, Ike's not a well man, and I get the feeling he's not running the show down there."

In and near Boston, foreign policy seems likely to play a part. The question of arms for Israel touches an estimated 135,000 Jewish voters there. The Cyprus dispute has special meaning for some 60,000 people of Greek Origin.

Mrs. George McCarthy, wife of a shoe pattern manufacturer, echoes a frequently expressed opinion. 'I think Eisenhower is doing a good job. Nobody can turn the world around in four years."

Massachusetts Democrats clashed recently over charges that Sen. Estes Kefauver, vice-presidential candidate, was being cold-shouldered by state leaders — presumably as an aftermath of his contest for the nomination with popular Sen. John Kennedy at the national convention. Kefauver is scheduled to appear in Boston Nov. 1.

In the gubernatorial race, former Rep. Foster Furcolo, a Democrat, is considered slightly ahead of Lt. Gov. Sumner G. Whittier at this point.

Neither party makes any extravagant claims about the 14 congressional elections. Leaders on both sides said they expect to pick up "one or two" seats, but did not specify the districts.

Aesop Would Be Surprised At Grasshopper's Status

By INEZ ROBB

Well, sir, Aesop, who gave the grasshopper a bad name to begin with, might be surprised today to discover where this happy-go-lucky insect has wound up.

It has wound up, on that gustatory catch-all, the canape tray. Yes, sir, the latest thing in crispy, crunchy, crackling cocktail tidbits is fried grasshopper.

Long a Japanese delicacy, fried grasshopper is but one of the hors d'oeurves that this industrious people is beginning to export in quantity to the U.S.A., a country where any refuse unfit for manufacturing plastics is automatically made into canapes.

After smapling any number of Nippon's entries into this questionable field, I can say without fear or favor that the Japanese offerings are no worse than American cocktail snacks. They couldn't be. Fried grasshopper is merely the most exotic. It has a tangy, locked-in taste all its own, and that's no lie.

Anyone who goes to a cocktail party today and trifles with the canape tray lives dangerously, whether he admits it or not. So when the Japan Trade Center asked me to sample some of its goodies, I felt I had nothing to lose.

Nonetheless, the fried grasshoppers did take me by surprise. Deep fat fried, if you ask me, they are a rich, dark brown, verging on black. Sort of the color of coffee beans roasted too long.

It took me years to get up enough courage to take a flyer in French snails. But I am proud to say that with mine hosts' eyes upon me, I plunged right into the grasshoppers as if they were peanuts.

Well, I won't say you haven't lived until you've tried 'em. On the other hand, I won't say you won't live after doing and daring. Still and all, it is my candid opinion that they will never replace peanuts.

The Japanese have been frying and relishing grasshoppers for centuries, and I don't want to be too rash with my suggestions. However, I feel certain that if the Japanese would fry grasshoppers with a soupcon of garlic, as the French do with snails, they'd go down better.

Innumerable other cocktail snacks are offered by the Japanese, including excellent canned crab meat, smoked oysters, frogs' legs, quail eggs, scallions, mushrooms, abalone, rice crackers, sea weed, tuna in brine and dried bonita.

Undoubtedly every American food processor will be up in arms and screaming for prohibitive tariffs against Japanese foods in the manner of American textile, camera, radio, et al, manufacturers. There is no question that Americans can learn to fry grasshoppers just as well as the Japanese.

Nonetheless, I would like to see the Japanese succeed in this canape field. It would serve us both right. And before any Lost Weekender begins to look down his whisky glass at fried grasshoppers, let him remember that we Americans were the first people ever to can rattlesnake meat. And still are. As cocktail fodder. What else? (Copyright, 1956, by United Feature Syndicate, Inc.)

Recent Studies Of Stars Bring On New Theory About Origin Of Planets

By ALTON L. BLAKESLEE
AP Science Reporter

PASADENA, Calif., Oct. 29 (AP)—Some stars apparently are steadily increasing the stardust necessary to beget new young daughter stars and planets like earth.

And some stars in the heavens may be second-or third-generation offspring of old or dead invisible stars.

The stars and universe perhaps began out of simple clouds of hydrogen, the simplest elements of all. Then stars themselves created the rest of the kinds of atoms that make up the earth — and you — and younger stars.

These are parts of a new theory of the origin and life of the universe. Evidence to support it is coming from new studies by astronomers and nuclear scientists.

This theory challenges an older theory that the universe began 4½ to 5 billion years ago with a big bang or explosion of one primeval central atom. That explosion supposedly instantly created all the chemical elements from which stars and planets came.

Some main evidence comes from brilliant analyses of the chemical elements existing in stars. These studies find stars do vary in their chemical makeup according to their age, masses and brightness.

Younger stars have more metals or heavy elements than old ones. And some giant red stars are manufacturing new elements, especially heavy ones up to the weight of lead, in abundance. And they apparently are spewing these new elements out into vast dust and gas clouds in space. This could be the stardust to make new stars and planets.

One idea is that in the beginning, stars condensed out of clouds of hydrogen gas. The stars burned by converting hydrogen into helium, as our sun does, in the kind of reaction that is the basis for H-bombs.

Helium is turned into carbon, oxygen and neon in the starry atomic furnaces. Still more burning and nuclear reactions under certain conditions could produce still reavier elements.

Some of these early stars perhaps exploded. Others, of massive size, made new elements and tossed them out into space before the stars contracted and began burning only dimly.

From the gas formed this way, a second generation of stars, richer in metals and heavy elements, could form. But some of these also could swell up and lose mass, or else explode, forming still richer gas out of which came a third generation of stars.

And out of this enriched stardust could have come our earth and all the other planets. Perhaps millions or billions of planets exist throughout the universe, and many could have conditions suitable for life as we know it.

Our earth could have been formed at least half a billion to a billion years after the universe itself began. Some of the earlier stars could have made the chemical elements found on earth.

The bits of evidence toward this theory come mainly from staff scientists and visiting scientists at the California Institute of Technology and the Mt. Wilson and Palomar observatories.

South Carolina Beauties Are Gaining Recognition

By ROBERT MCHUGH

COLUMBIA, S.C., Oct. 29 (AP)—The pretty girls of South Carolina, like the fleet races horses of Kentucky, are bringing glory to Dixie and worldwide recognition to their state.

On their beauteous heads rest five of the world's top beauty crowns. No other state can make that claim.

Little South Carolina — ranking 26th in the nation in population — has produced a Miss Universe, the current Miss America, a Mrs. America, two Miss U.S.A.'s for the Miss World contest and a national Maid of Cotton.

Five of her six entries in the Miss America contest have been among the 10 finalists.

Judging a state beauty contest in this magnolia land of pulchritude is an exercise in frustration. For example, Marian Ann McKnight, the Manning, S.C., beauty who charmed the nation and the judges in Atlantic City when she won Miss America honors this year, has been defeated in local competition by her roommate.

The room Marian and Martha Dean Chestnut shared at little Coker College in Hartsville probably had more beauty per square foot than any other in the country.

Martha Dean, a stunning brunette, was Miss South Carolina last year. The judges deliberated in an agony of indecision before selecting her over Marian.

The search for an answer to the success of South Carolina in beauty contests leads first to the obvious conclusion that the state is simply overrun with pretty women.

One also discovers the tradition that compels Southern girls to consider it their duty to develop charm — a factor that is given equal attention along with a well-turned calf or a classic profile in most beauty contests.

But more important, South Carolina girls are usually veterans of beauty contests by the time they reach the Miss America or some other major contest.

Marian Ann was one of the few Miss Americas who didn't burst into tears of confusion when her name was announced to the nation as the winner. Why should she? By then, she was a confident winner of nine previous beauty contests with all the poise of an archbishop at a church picnic.

WASHINGTON LETTER

Now There's A Shortage Of Girls In Washington

By JANE EADS

WASHINGTON — Single girls are at a premium in the Capital, despite the wide-spread belief that women here far outnumber the men.

Hostesses complain how difficult it is to find "eligible" women dinner partners for the unattached males on their guest lists. Now the Armed Services Hospitality Committee has launched a drive to get enough girls to serve as dancing partners at the hundreds of servicemen's dances scheduled for the coming season.

Girls who have recently come to work in Washington are especially urged to enroll as junior hostesses with the committee. Mrs. Harry S. Bernton, wife of a noted eye, ear and throat specialist, chairman of the organization's committee on volunteer training, says 500 more girls are needed to keep a standing list of 1,000 junior hostesses who may be called upon for one or more of the dances each week.

There are dances almost every evening at one or another of the nearby military installations, Mrs. Bernton points out. Buses take the girls to dances scheduled at Ft. McNair, Ft. Myer, Ft. Belvoir or Arlington Hall in Virginia. There are also Marine dances at Quantic Va., and Navy dnces at Patuxent Naval Air Station in Maryland, as well as at other Naval installations. The airmen at Bolling Air Force Base and Andrews Air Force Base also have regular dance schedules.

The buses to the dances are well-chaperoned. Girls who enroll are asked to attend a "charm clinic" as part of the committee's plan to make sure the junior hostesses will "look their prettiest" when they go out to a dance, know how to carry on a conversation, and leave a partner when the music stops.

Junior hostesses are given regular passes with their photographs like those issued by the Department of Defense to its employees. The girls have to come back from the dances on the military buses or their passes are revoked.

"Girls who have just come to Washington will find this a wonderful way to make friends," Mrs. Bernton said. "They will meet girls who know the city well, and they will meet men in all of the military services — men from all over the country. It will be impossible for our junior hostesses to be lonely, or homesick."

Reason for the demand for so many more young hostesses right now is that "so many on last year's list have gotten married."

Lady Pianist Anxious To Make Trip To North Pole

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Peggy Keenan, a lady pianist who became a gold miner, now has decided to become the first woman to reach the North Pole.

"And I will," she said positively.

She is the only woman on a scientific expedition of 16 men and 40-odd dogs scheduled to fly to the North Pole next January. The expedition will be headed by her explorer husband, John F. Stanwell-Fletcher, a veteran arctic explorer and U. S. Air Force reserve officer.

Miss Keenan, who is red-haired and has eyes she describes herself as "Airedale colored," expects to spend two months in the vicinity of the North Pole and will keep records of the expedition. She doesn't feel her sex is any liability, thinks more arctic exploring should be coeducational.

"A woman actually can stand cold weather better than a man," she said. "I found that out on two previous trips to the arctic, when the weather went to 55 below zero."

It was on a trip to Alaska as a USO entertainer that she met her husband.

Miss Keenan is an adventure-loving woman with both business as well as artistic talent who has never been satisfied with doing just one thing at a time.

While pursuing an active career as a professional pianist she also built up a bankroll operating a flooring concern.

Nine years ago during a dinner party in Los Angeles one of the guests spoke at length of the still untapped mineral wealth in the Black Hills of South Dakota. She was so interested that one of the other guests suggested jokingly, "Why don't you become a gold miner yourself, Peggy?"

She hired a mining engineer with her own money to go to the Black Hills and survey the area.

LITERARY GUIDEPOST

THIS HALLOWED GROUND. By Bruce Catton. Doubleday.

With one fateful week in 1856, (1) a congressman from South Carolina attacked a Massachusetts senator on the Senate floor; (2) the Border Ruffians sacked Lawrence, Kan., and (3) John Brown went on the orgy of vengeance known as the Pottawottamie Massacre.

In that week, as Catton sees it, civil war became inevitable. It no longer was possible for reason to prevail.

Even after the organized fighting started, there were chances to cut the war short. But generals wavered at critical points, strength was dissipated, and the opportunities for a decisive stroke passed. After Antietam, Perryville and Corinth, the die was irrevocably cast for an agonizing conflict that could not end until the Confederacy's military power was ground into the dust.

There is essence is the strong interpretation which Catton gives to the Civil War. It is a view which commands respect.

Catton sees the war as a tremendous national experience which ordered the lives of men, instead of being ordered by men. He deals in ideas as much as in action. He sees the nation pulsing in expansion, toward new frontiers of territory and economy, even in the throes of war. It is a concept that would be inane to lesser hands; Catton's wizardy with words, and mastery of them, makes to convincing and logical.

"This Hallowed Ground" is basically a military history of the Union armies. The civil government is in the background. It is racing, exciting narrative; a great book that reflects in full measure Catton's rare combination of tallent as writer and historian. And it is a book that has been needed since Robert Selph Henry wrote his "Story of the Confederacy" in 1931.

Hollywood Today

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Ordinarily, I would rather interview a horse than a child actor.

This may get me picketed by the Screen Children's Guild, but I must confess it's true. In umpteen years of interviewing, I have had rasonable success with adults. I've had fair results with animals, robots and assorted monsters. Child actors throw me.

Their conversational range is limited. While they may be good company at marbles or hopscotch, they aren't much help to a reporter in search of copy. You get more yeps and nopes out of them than you do from Gary Cooper.

I am happy to report that Michel Ray is the exception. I approached him with the same misgivings I have had with other film moppets. But I found he could converse as well as Clifton Webb. And in five languages!

Michel is now being hailed as the brightest young find in years because of his role as the Mexican boy in 'The Brave One." That part won him co-starring status as a half-breed lad in "The Tin Star" with Henry Fonda, Betsy Palmer and Anthony Perkins.

He could not only talk, but spoke with a slight British accent. He was born near London, the only son of a leather merchant, Henry Popper, and his wife.

"I'm taking lessons so I'll be able to talk Western in the picture," Michel explained. "It's not too difficult. I speak English, French and German fluently. I speak Spanish rather well, but with some grammatical errors, and my Italian is fairly good."

All this from a lad of 10! His mother, a lovely brunette who once studied dramatics at the Reinhardt School in Vienna, explained that her husband travels a great deal in Europe and America. Michel picks up the language wherever he goes.

Michel is an athletic lad with a handsome face and a large shock of light brown hair that has once again been dyed black for his film role. He now ambitions to be an actor when he grows up. But if that doesn't work out, he'd like to run a restaurant. Yep, he cooks, too.

BUCKIN' THE LINE

By BUCK FRANCIS
News Sports Editor

IF OUR FACE APPEARS to be red today, it wasn't caused by sunshine.

The redness was brought about by last week's wave of upsets in the football world.

Even though we were away from the office last week, we did our prognosticating on the games of the past weekend before leaving. But as it turned out we shudda slipped away without going out on the limb and we wouldn't have got caught in the most topsy-turvy weekend of football in the 1956 season.

After the smoke had cleared from the weekend games we came out with a charred 13-12 record.

We can't remember of ever having such a dismal weekend of forecasting.

Last week's results dropped our season percentage below the 70 percent mark for the first time.

The biggest surprises to us was Dumas' win over Levelland, Rule's win over Hermleigh, Andrews' victory over Kermit, Texas Tech's triumph over Arizona, Florida's win over LSU and Minnesota's verdict over Michigan.

Luckily the Michigan State-Illinois game wasn't on last week's card. Illini's win in that game was by far the biggest upset of the week.

Mustangs Toughening Up

Just as we figured all along, Sweetwater would toughen up by the time district play rolled around.

The Mustangs have been making a habit of "playing dead" in predistrict games and then getting tough all of a sudden when conference play starts.

Everyone expected Sweetwater to beat Lake View last week but not by such a lopsided decision.

The Mustangs blew a comparitively close game into a complete rout in the final quarter to smother Lake View, 44-6.

Twenty-five of Sweetwater's points came in the fourth period.

The one-sided Mustang victory Friday should be proof enough that the Ponies will be tough come Friday night when the Tigers visit the Mustang din.

Early Starting Times For 3-AAA Games

Just as an early reminder, Friday's game at Sweetwater will begin at 730. All District 3-AAA games, in fact, will commence at 7:30 following a move taken at a district meeting last spring.

And tickets to the game Friday will go on sale Wednesday morning at 8 at the Chamber of Commerce office.

About 2,300 tickets (reserve seats) will be available to Tiger fans. This should pretty well take care of our needs but then if it doesn't there's a possibility that we'll be able to get more although we haven't had any official word that we will.

Ace Amos, hard-working coach of the Junior High 8th graders, made one of the top quotes of the year in a game last week, we hear by the grapevine.

It seems that one of Ace's boys made a bruising tackle during the game at Lamesa which drew a compliment from one of the Amos' fellow coaches.

But Ace, upon hearing the compliment, said in all seriousness: "It's no good, though. That ball carrier made two yards."

Porkers Next On Ag Slate

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF
Associated Press Sports Editor

Arkansas' bounce-back Razorbacks are the menace this week for Texas A&M in its surge toward the Southwest Conference football championship.

The Aggies, unbeaten but tied in season play and undefeated in two conference games, get the Porkers at College Station Saturday. Coach Paul Bryant sees them as the toughest hurdle yet and the Aggies already have beaten the two teams expected to be the strongest—TCU and Baylor.

Arkansas walloped Mississippi 14-0 last week. Mississippi beat University of Houston 14-0 and Houston played A&M to a 14-14 tie.

Arkansas was walloped 41-6 by TCU.

A&M became a heavy favorite for the conference title Saturday when it edged Baylor 19-13.

The other team tied with A&M for the lead—SMU—didn't play last week but Saturday goes to Austin for a whack at faltering Texas. The Methodists will be strong choices to hang the sixth defeat of the season on the Longhorns, who were soundly whipped last week by Rice, 28-7.

In a third conference game Saturday Baylor and TCU clash at Fort Worth to see which loses its chances at the title. The winner will stay in the race although its hopes would appear remote.

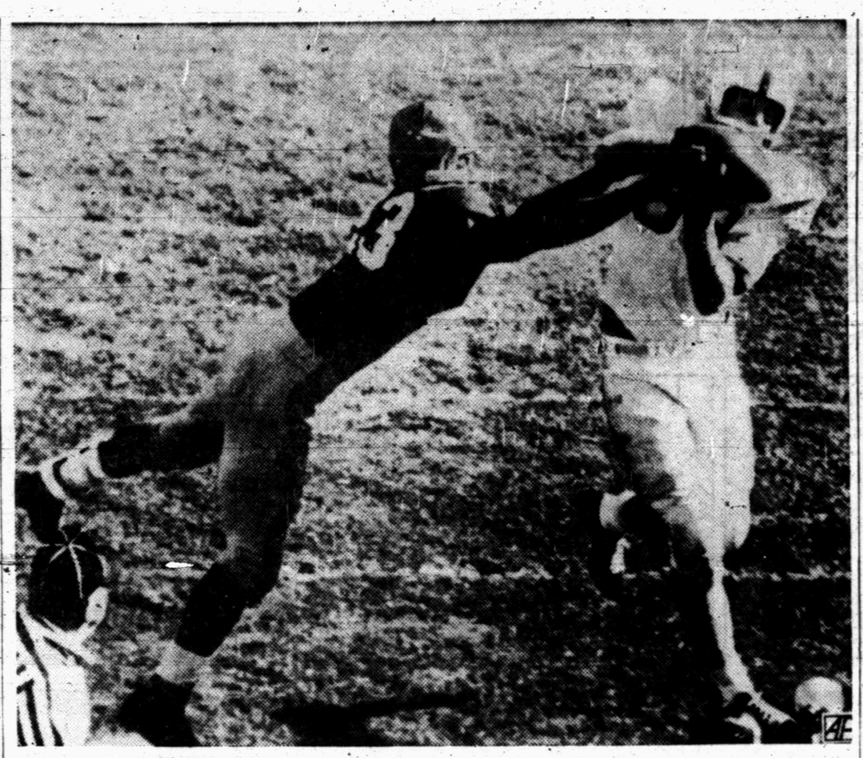

The league broke even last week in intersectional warfare. Arkansas' victory over Mississippi made it 13 decisions for the season against seven losses. TCU added to the debit side by taking a 14-0 thumping from Miami.

Only three intersectional games remain on the schedule and one of those comes Saturday when Rice meets Utah at Houston. The others are Baylor vs. Nebraska Nov. 17 and Arkansas vs. Louisiana State Nov. 24.

Rice would appear a heavy favorite to beat Utah, a team that has lost three out of six games this campaign.

The apparent fadeout of TCU is the big surprise of the campaign. Here was a team favored by virtually everyone to win its second championship in a row and play again in the Cotton Bowl. But the Aggies think Baylor is a better team than TCU and the Bears might end the Christians' bid for a repeat title this week.

In talking about the Cotton Bowl, it brings up A&M again. The Aggies can't play in the Jan. 1 classic even if they win the conference championship—unless the NCAA lifts the probation. This will be determined Nov. 12-13 when the NCAA Council meets.

SOONER TOUCHDOWN—Jack Bell, Oklahoma end, reaches out to snare a pass for a touchdown despite the efforts of Notre Dame back, Aubrey Lewis, who makes a dive to try to prevent Bell from taking the ball in the early part of the game at South Bend.

New Faces Are Sure To Land In New Year's Bowl Games

By ED CORRIGAN
The Associated Press

Whatever happens during the remainder of the college football season, there are bound to be some unfamiliar faces in the major bowl games on Jan. 1.

Old faithful Georgia Tech should win the Southeastern Conference title and thus play host in the Sugar Bowl. But beyond the Ramblin' Wrecks, the potential bowl teams will cause many a coach to raise an eyebrow and ask

"Who they?"

The fight for the home club in the Rose Bowl, for example, has developed into a scrap between Oregon State and Stanford, a couple of teams that have spent most of their time in the dungeons of the Pacific Coast Conference.

Southern California, UCLA and Washington all are ineligible for assorted subsidization infractions, so the Nov. 10 game between Oregon State and Stanford at Palo Alto probably will be the big game of the conference season.

Actually, both Stanford and Oregon State added considerably to their stature last Saturday. The Indians turned back Southern Cal 27-19 while State defeated UCLA 21-7.

The situation is much the same in the Big Ten, which produces the visiting team. Michigan State in ineligible, having played in the last game there. Ohio State, the logical choice, is being punished for making life too easy for its players, and is ineligible.

That left Michigan the favorite. But the Wolverines were horribly embarrassed by Minnesota Saturday 20-7. And upstart Iowa whipped Purdue 21-20, leaving Minnesota Saturday 20-7. And upstart Iowa whipped Purdue 21-20, leaving Minnesota and the Hawkeyes the only unbeaten teams in the league. They meet Nov. 10, and Minnesota will be favored.

Then there is the Cotton Bowl, which uses the winner of the Southwest Conference (after a league vote as the host. The favorite for this one is Texas A&M, which got over its big hurdle, Baylor, by a 19-13 count Saturday.

The last time the Aggies won the crown was 15 years ago and they were rank outsiders in the race this year. Now they appear to have fairly clear sailing.

Remember how the Orange Bowl promoters rubbed their hands in glee when they signed the Big Seven and Atlantic Coast Conference? They figured they had a natural and in years to come, they'll probably have the top game more often than not.

This year, however, it looks like Colorado against Clemson, hardly a match to cause palpitations.

The Big Seven has a rule which prohibits a team from playing the game two years in a row. That eliminates Oklahoma, which appeared last New Year's. Colorado is the logical second-place team, especially after its 16-0 triumph over Nebraska.

Maryland and Duke, usually the best of the AAC, are just two more clubs these days, the Clemson seems to have scrambled to the top of the heap.

So the Sugar Bowl, this time, should get the gold star as the No. 1 attraction, especially if the sponsors can line up a top team to go against Georgia Tech — say, Penn State.

Up at the top of the heap, Oklahoma will go after its 36th straight victory this week. The opposition will be supplied by Colorado, which has hopes of doing nothing more than making a respectable showing. The Sooners won No. 35 Saturday, a whooping 40-0 victory over Notre Dame.

Michigan State, the current leader in the weekly Associated Press poll, will be out to make amends for its 20-13 defeat by Illinois — the shocker of the season so far — and Wisconsin is the target.

Georgia Tech, No. 3 behind Oklahoma, tackles Duke after walloping Tulane 40-0.

AA 11s Enter Home Stretch

Class AA of Texas schoolboy football rolls into its final three weeks before the playoffs with 10 undefeated, untied teams but with it still looking like Stamford and Deer Park in the finals.

Comanche, which had been eyed as a possible playoff team, was beaten by Hamilton 31-19 in Dist. 8 last week. It left Hamilton undefeated and untied and a shoo-in for the district championship.

Stamford ran its victory string to 25 with a 60-12 triumph over Nocona. Deer Park made it 37 games without defeat by demolishing Santa Fe 70-0.

Other undefeated, untied teams are Lockney, Grapevine, Lewisville, Bonham, DeKalb, Sweeny and West Columbia. Gilmer, Hebbronville and San Antonio Sam Houston are unbeaten but tied.

There are two feature games this week with Grapevine clashing with Lewisville in Dist. 10 and Sweeny meeting West Columbia in Dist. 26.

Ay the 29 districts move into the payoff tests there are only five undisputed leaders—Lockney in Dist. 2, Burkburnett in 9, Crockett in 18, Floresville in 27 and Hebbronville in 31.

Leaderships will be determined in two districts this week with Mineola and Terrell meeting for that honor in 12 and Hillsboro jousting Marlin for the lead in Dist. 17.

The heavest winners are Stamford and Hamilton, each having taken eight straight this season.

Baylor Honors Crow

WACO (AP)—The man who has coached football longest in the Southwest Conference—Jim Crow—found out what Baylor lettermen thought of him. Jim, who has been in the Baylor athletic department 37 years, was given a testimonial luncheon, a life-sized oil painting and a check for $1,000.

CARDS LOSE 1ST TILT

Detroit Lions Stay Unbeaten

By JIM KENSIL
The Associated Press

The Detroit Lions, never a real pro grid power until the 1950's, were the National Football League's only unbeaten team today, despite classy performances yesterday from the NFL's "old guard."

While the Lions continued to rule the Western Conference with a 16-7 triumph over the Los Angeles Rams, three teams that took turns ruling the loop more than a decade ago crashed through with major victories.

Washington's injury - riddled Redskins knocked off the previously undefeated Cardinals, 17-14 at Chicago; the New York Giants took advantage of the Cards' loss and jumped into a first-place Eastern Division tie with the Chicago eleven by thumping the Philadelphia Eagles, 20-3, and the Chicago Bears stayed right behind the Lions in the West with a 38-21 decision over San Francisco.

In battles of lesser import, the Baltimore Colts tied the Green Bay Packers for third spot in the West by whipping the Packers 28-21, and Pittsburgh's Steelers rebounded from a mid-week tongue-lashing by their coach, rallying for a 24-16 win over Cleveland's once-awesome Browns, now 1-4 and in last place in the East.

The dazzling Texan, Bobby Layne, was practically the whole show for the Lions. He kicked two field goals for a 6-0 halftime lead, and engineered a 57-yard TD drive in the third quarter which he iced with a conversion. Jim Martin contributed the other three Lions points with a 43-yard field goal.

The Cards blew a 14-0 first-quarter lead built on drives of 73 and 65 yards. Washington's Sam Baker kicked a 22-yard field goal in the second quarter, and the Skins capitalized on a roughing the passer penalty and a fumble in the second half to set up two payoff passes by quarterback Al Dorow.

The Giants threw up a solid defense to hold the Eagles to a 15-yard, first-period field goal by Bobby Walston. With that out of the way, the Giants struck for touchdowns by Alex Webster and Frank Gifford and two three-pointers by Ben Agajanian.

Coach Walt Kiesling called his Steelers "lackadaisical" the other day, and that they may have been for one period as the Browns grabbed a 13-0 lead. But then Steeler quarterback Ted Marchibroda took over and a 21-point second quarter made the difference.

Newcomer Lenny Moore went 72 and 79 yards for scores as the Colts edged the Packers. Tobin Rote tossed for two Green Bay tallies and carred for the other. John Unitas, subbing for injured quarterback George Shaw, passed for the other Baltimore six-pointers.

Hungarians To Compete

LONDON (AP) — The Olympic status of Hungary, which has produced some of the greatest distance runners the world has known, was still clouded—officially—today.

Although Radio Budapest announced the team was being withdrawn, Hungarian at the Olympic Village in Melbourne said they had received word that the athletes would compete but would get to Australia a week later than scheduled, arriving about Nov. 10. That would give the Hungarians less two weeks to acclimate themselves for the Games, beginning Nov. 22.

Officials at the village said the word had come via cable from the Hungarian Olympic Committee in Budapest. Efforts to reach officials in revolution-torn Budapest have been unavailing.

The Budapest broadcast, monitored here, said the entire team had been withdrawn because "their training had been interrupted" by the revolution.

Other reports—these from a reliable informant—told of two star Hungarian athletes losing their lives fighting as rebels against Russian troops.

The reports named Ferenc Puskas, one of the country's greatest soccer players, and Jozsef Czermak, the defending Olympic champion in the hammer throw. Czermak had been in intensive training recently and at one time this year got off a heave of 205-4½.

NCAA Approves 10 Football Bowl Games

KANSAS CITY (AP)—The National Collegiate Athletic Assn. announced today its approval of 10 post-season football games.

The extra events committee of NCAA said the following have met its regulations for bowl contests late this year or on Jan. 1:

Corn, Bloomington, Ill., Nov. 22; Cotton, Dallas, Jan. 1; Gator, Jacksonville, Fla., Dec. 29; Orange, Miami, Fla., Jan. 1; Prairie View, Prairie View, Tex., Jan. 1; Refrigerator, Evansville, Ind., Dec. 2; Rose, Pasadena, Calif., Jan. 1; Sugar, New Orleans, Jan. 1; Sun, El Paso, Tex., Dec. 31 or Jan. 1; Tangerine, Orlando, Fla., Jan. 1.

Walter Byers, NCAA executive director, said requests from four other games have been filed for action at the 51st annual NCAA convention in St. Louis, Jan. 9-11.

Bear Believes Ags Will Win

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP)—Paul (Bear) Bryant, who was given six years to rebuild Texas A&M's football fortunes but is doing it in three, said today his team would "have to play 110 per cent to win."

And the man who came here from Kentucky in 1954, charged with the responsibility of making A&M a gridiron power once more, indicated he thought his players might do just that.

They like to play. They are so eager he runs into situatios like Saturday night, when his Aggies were playing Baylor in the Southwest Conference's big game. Jack Pardee, the mighty Aggie fullback, was being held out because of a badly bruised shoulder. But Pardee kept pestering Bryant to get into the game.

"I had to let him go in so I could see the game," Bryant explained.

Pardee immediately led a drive that wound up with a touchdown, scored by Pardee. A&M won the game 19-13 and became a heavy favorite to sweep on to the conference championship with an unbeaten record.

It was the second week in a row for the fighting Aggies to surge from behind for victory. "The secret of my boys' success is guts and determination," he said.

But Bryant professes to fear every team left on the schedule, particularly Arkansas, which comes here Saturday night. Elmer Smith, the Aggie scout, told Bryant "Arkansas beat Mississippi like they owned them." the A&M coached winced.

"You know," he drawled. "Houston 'beat' us (A&M had to come from behind to gain a tie with University of Houston) and Mississippi beat Houston by two touchdowns: Now, here's Arkansas giving Mississippi a licking. Man, oh Man! I just hope we can win another one."

"Everybody wants to beat us and they're playing 105 to 108 per cent against us," he said. "Look at Baylor and how they played. So we have to play 110 per cent if we are to beat anybody."

Sammy Boulmetis led the Monmouth Park jockeys three times — 1949, 1953 and 1955. He set the record in 1955 with 81 winners.

Tigers Point For Mustangs

Snyder's Tigers will open defense of their district title Friday night when they journey to Sweetwater to meet the ever-dangerous Sweetwater Mustangs.

While the Tigers were resting last week, Sweetwater hit its stride with a smashing 44-6 win over Lake View in the District 3-AAA opener for both teams.

Sweetwater thus joined Lamesa as opening conference game victors last week. Lamesa encountered more trouble than expected but managed to escape with a 19-13 victory over winless Colorado City.

Friday's Tiger-Sweetwater game should go a long way in determining the 1956 District 3-AAA champs.

Lamesa, however, continues as a "dark horse" and could very well dish out plenty of trouble to both the Tigers and Mustangs before the firing is over.

Lamesa journeys to Lake View Friday night in quest of its second straight 3-AAA victory. Colorado City, winless in seven starts this season, has an open date this week.

The 3-AAA scoreboard:

Nesbitt Hikes Rushing Lead

DALLAS (AP) — Gerald Nesbitt, Arkansas' raging fullback, added to his lead in ball-carrying but Charlie Arnold, SMU's passing quarterback, lost his last week by being idle.

Nesbitt hammered out 41 yards against Mississippi to make his total 437 yards for 75 rushes and give him a 46-yard bulge over second place Ken Wineburg of TCU. Wineburg made only 24 yards against Miami.

Arnold still leads in yardage but he has fallen behind in completions, now having only 43 compared to 45 for Joe Clements of Texas. The SMU star has passed for 464 yards compared to 495 for Clements.

Arnold easily held onto his lead in total offense. He has 648 yards in 132 plays compared to 618 in 127 by Clements.

Del Shofner of Baylor still tops the punters with a 43.0 yard average on 19 kicks.

Don Watson of Texas A&RM leads the punt returners with a 10.4 average on seven runs. Jack Hobbs of Texas tops the kickoff returners with 24.0 on five.

Walt Fondren of Texas leads the pass-receivers with 15 catches for 226 yards.

Unbeaten List Is Cut To 35 Teams

By The Associated Press

Led by the sudden and surprise demise of Michigan State, which lost to Illinois Saturday, the list of the nation's unbeaten, united college football teams fell to 35 today.

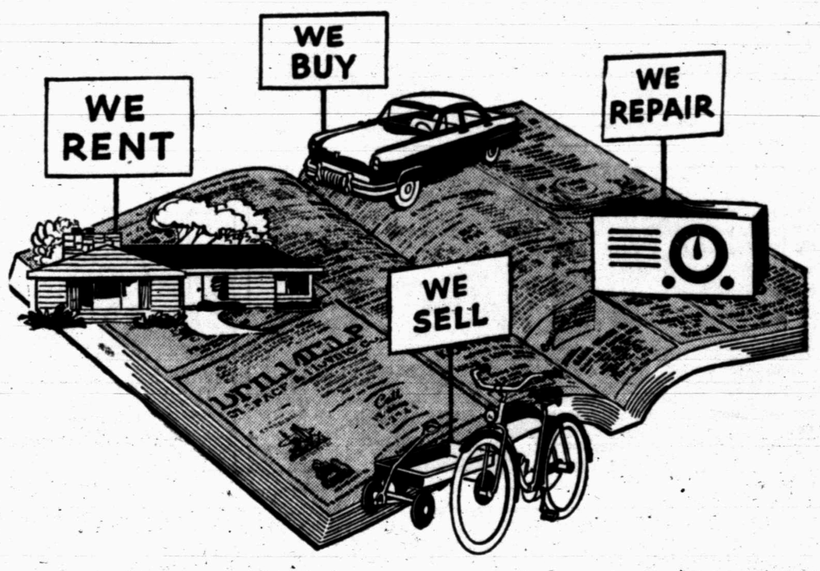

Most of the major unbeaten group have won five games, but some of the smaller colleges have already compiled six and seven game all-winning records. Major colleges with perfect records include second-ranked Oklahoma, Tennessee, Princeton, Georgia Tech and Iowa.

Petroleum Official Sees Need For Oil Imports Restrictions

DALLAS (AP)—The president of the Independent Petroleum Assn. of America said today there will be less drilling and less oil in the future unless restrictions are placed promptly on oil imports.

Robert Wood, Midland, said oil drilling activity in the United States has been inadequate because of the high level of imports.

"United States proved reserves have failed to increase in keeping with the growth in oil requirements the last two years," Wood said in opening IPAA's 27th annual meeting.

There was speculation the 1,000 oil operators from 30 states would be told this afternoon whether President Eisenhower will be asked to intervene in the imports dispute.

Dr. Arthur Flemming, director of the Office of Defense Mobilization, was to speak at a noon luncheon, just one week after he opened a Washington nearing aimed at determining whether imports pose a threat to national security.

Under a 1955 defense amendment to the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act, Flemming is charged with the responsibility of making recommendations to the President when and if imported commodities threaten national security.

Jake Hamon of Dallas, chairman of the board of the American Petroleum Institute, told the convention's opening session the long-range outlook for the industry is much better than the short-range picture.

Hamon said oversupplies of crude oil and refined products, shortages of tubular goods, rising costs, inadequate crude oil prices and the high level of imports cloud the current situation.

"You aren't making any money now, but if you can hold onto your holdings long enough, you will," he said.

"Hamstrung as we have been by tubular shortages and inadequate crude prices, the producers have been unable to do a proper job of finding new fields in the United States like they need to be doing to supply our ever increasing demands," he said.

The association's cost study committee reported today that total expenditures for finding and developing crude oil in the United States have increased 35 per cent, compared to a 10 per cent increase in revenue from crude sales.

Wood said reductions in crude oil prices are spreading in the face of increasing wages and rising costs of steel and other materials.

"The downward trend in the number of active exploration crews that started in 1954 has continued," he said. "Since the first half of 1954, the number of these crews has declined 14 per cent. This points to less drilling and less oil in the future unless restrictions are placed promptly on oil imports."

Higher operating costs and inadequate prices are reflected in oil well abandonments, he said, with a 40 per cent increase since 1954 in Kansas, 43 per cent in Oklahoma and 49 per cent in Texas.

If imports were restricted to their 1954 ratio with domestic production, Wood said, the United States will need to produce about three billion barrels of liquid petroleum next year.

"We have the capacity to do that and more if it is needed," he said. "We have in this country shut-in producing capacity of more than two million barrels daily. This is more than the entire daily shipment of Middle East crude through the Suez Canal."

Adlai Renews His H-Bomb Proposal

By The Associated Press

Adlai Stevenson, renewing a hot campaign issue, charged today that President Eisenhower has an attitude of "hopeless defeatism" on "how to save the world from hydrogen devastation."

Eisenhower, his own campaign presumably enhanced by a favorable medical report, scheduled an early departure today for poiltical rallies in Miami and Jacksonville, Fla., and Richmond, Va.

Stevenson's latest blast in the continuing debate over the wisdom of halting hydrogen bomb tests came in the form of a public statement and an accompanying 3,000 word "H-bomb memorandum."

The Democratic presidential nominee said Eisenhower's own "white paper" on the subject last week "is remarkable for misstatements and distortions" of Stevenson's position in the argument.

Eisenhower said Tuesday night the United States could not "even dare" halt H-bomb testing without dependable worldwide disarmament control. To do so, he said, might result in erasal or reversal of "our present commanding lead in nuclear weapons."

The medical report, issued at the White House shortly after he returned from an overnight stay at the Army's Walter Reed Hospital, said Eisenhower "gives every appearance of being in excellent health."

Vice President Nixon said in Los Angeles there has been "a tremendous surge" toward Republicans lately and he now feels "we have an even chance to carry the Senate and a better than even chance to carry the House." Democrats now have a 49-47 Senate edge and a 232-203 margin in the House.

In Lima, Ohio, last night, Sen. Estes Kefauver took aim at Secretary of State Dulles, calling him "the world's champion zig-zagger" because of Dulles' Egyptian policy.

The Democratic vice-presidential nominee said he had read that the State Department had "quietly resumed giving economic aid to Egypt." Kefauver said this was another in "a long series of complete reversals of course on the part of Mr. Dulles."

Picture Of Morse Sets Off Dispute

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—The Oregon Democratic party chairman today accused Republicans of "using a doctored photograph" to try to make Democratic Sen. Wayne Morse appear an unpopular man, shunned by fellow senators.

Republicans denied the charge.

Democratic Chairman Robert Boyer said the Republicans had distributed to every home in Oregon a pamphlet using a cropped photograph showing Morse speaking in an empty Senate chamber.

"Wayne Morse empties the Senate with his longwinded speeches. The Senate refuses to listen to him," was the picture caption, Boyer said, adding that in the cropping the Republicans had concealed the fact the photo was taken in the early morning hours of a Senate session.

"The truth is that the picture was taken at 3 in the morning when Sen. Morse was leading a band of determined liberals in a 13-day fight that prevented a complete giveaway to private monopoly of our atomic energy program," Boyer said.

Wendell Wyatt, Republican state chairman, said, "The frantic claim that the picture of Wayne Morse speaking alone in the Senate has been doctored is false. The full picture shows Morse talking only to Sen. Knowland (R-Calif)."

Wyatt said the picture had been borrowed from Life magazine, where it ran several months ago.

The Republican pamphlet was distributed in behalf of Douglas McKay, the former secretary of interior trying to unseat Morse, who was a Republican until he bolted the party four years ago.

"Lack of financing made it impossible to reproduce the entire picture. The intent of the picture was to typify the many occasions when Sen. Morse has spoken to an empty or nearly empty Senate chamber," said Wyatt.

Boyer scoffed at the idea the picture was cropped because of financial considerations.

"Wyatt and his professional photo fakers first cut out of the picture what they didn't want Oregonians to see and then enlarged what was left to fit their page. It's as simple as that," Boyer said.

Among things cut out were "lights along the top of the picture," Boyer said. "He had those lights cut off and he also had the picture skillfully lightened so that no one would guess the truth. . ."

Stormy Convention Will Resume Today

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Delegates of the 185,000-member International Bakery and Confectionery Workers Union resume their convention today after a weekend recess.

The convention, which ends Wednesday, re-elected all incumbent officers Friday by acclamation, including President James Cross, Secretary-Treasurer Curtis Sims and 16 vice presidents.

The convention had a stormy beginning after three New York unionists and one of their wives charged Cross and three other officials invaded their hotel rooms and roughed them up in order to squelch opposition of Cross' continuing as president.

British Sex Report Given

LONDON (AP)—A British 'Kinsey Report" today estimated that 25 per cent of the unmarried women in the United Kingdom have had sexual relations.

Among married women contacted in the survey, 40 per cent admitted they had premarital sexual intercourse.

Dr. Eustace Chesser and a team of assistants compiled the report from questionnaires answered by 6,251 British women.

Chesser reported:

Most girls in this country have their first sexual experience between the ages of 18 and 20.

British girls looking for husbands hold physical strength in far higher esteem than good looks.

Denison Paper Backing Adlai

DENISON, Tex. (AP) — The Denison Herald, President Eisenhower's home-town newspaper, came out editorially yesterday for Adlai Stevenson.

"We like Ike, but we're for Stevenson," the Herald said "We're just plain Democrats and we believe in supporting the Democratic party. We believe it to be the party of the majority of people, and the party of progress.

"We know where the Democratic party stands, whether it be under the leadership of Adlai Stevenson or anyone else, but the new Republican party under President Eisenhower is an enigma—to us at least."

Four years ago the paper took no stand.

Convention Ends

BROWNSVILLE (AP) — The 15th District of the American Legion ended its convention yesterday with an endorsement of increases in the Veterans Land Program and teachers retirement pay.

Wilson Hits At Plan For Stopping Tests

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Defense Wilson says that stopping hydrogen bomb tests wouldn't solve the problem that faces the world."

What scares the people of the world, he said during a CBS-TV interview, is not so much the testing of the bombs as the possibility they may be used in war.

He was asked about the proposal of Adlai E. Stevenson, Democratic presidential nominee, that the United States take the lead in seeking agreement to halt testing the bombs. Wilson said there's "nothing new" about that and added

"The Russians have been doing it right along. They've brought it up from time to time."

Wilson said also that "there's no such thing" as a coblat bomb either in existence or on the drawing boards, and that mention of such a bomb is just "loose talk."

Stevenson, in a campaign address in Rockford, Ill., Friday, asked whether if Russia catches up with the United States on H-bombs, this country's next step might be to build a "cobalt bomb or something even worse."

Because coblat absorbs and retains large amounts of radioactivity, scientists say its use in a bomb would greatly increase the hazard from fall-out.

Wilson said that so far as he knows, this country had nothing directly to do with recent revolts in Hungary and Poland. He said, however, that the decision to continue foreign aid to Yugoslavia may have given people of both countries "a clear example of another people that had asserted their independence from Moscow."

GOP Sends Heavy Artillery

By WHITEY SAWYER
The Associated Press

Democratic speechmakers outnumbered the Republicans four to one in Texas Monday, but the GOP brings its heaviest artillery in Wednesday when President Eisenhower makes a bid for the state's votes.

Sen. Gore (D-Tenn) speaks at Lufkin Monday, Rep. Mahon (D-Tex) at Lubbock, Rep. Poage (D-Tex) at Quitman and Sen. Monroney (D-Okla) at Fort Worth. All are supporting Democratic Presidential Nominee Stevenson.

The lone Republican is presidential aide Harold Stassen, who speaks at Wichita Falls.

Gov. Shivers will head a four-man reception committee greeting the President when he lands at Dallas.

Eisenhower will make a one-hour campaign appearance.

The reception committee, composed of Shivers, Bob Smith of San Antonio, state chairman of Texas Democrats for Eisenhower; Jack Porter, Houston, Republican state committeeman, and GOP Rep. Alger of Dallas, said the reception is being planned as a "totally Texan" event.

Police Chief Hannson said he expects 25,000 and is assigning 500 men.

Paul Cwin, general coordinator of the Eisenhower reception committee, said 33 North Texas counties are planning to form car caravans to Dallas. He said Houston will send five bus loads.

Meanwhile, the Denison Herald came out editorially against its most famous native son, Eisenhower.

"We like Ike, but we're for Stevenson," the Herald said. "We're just plain Democrats and we believe in supporting the Democratic Party," the editorial said. "We believe it is the party of the majority of people....and the party of progress."

The paper didn't take a stand either way four years ago.

Republican gubernatorial nominee William Bryant said at Fort Worth Sunday that with Price Daniel as governor, Texas would enter what he called "a period of strife, confusion, petty bickering and behind-the-door political maneuvering."

Bryant said Daniel, the Democratic nominee for governor, had failed to weld his party together. Bryant urged all voters, "regardless of party affiliation, to place the welfare of the state foremost," and vote Republican.

A group of Texas newspaper editors, members of The Associated Press Managing Editors Assn., predicted at Fort Worth that President Eisenhower will win in Texas Nov. 6.

In a poll, 19 editors predicted Eisenhower will capture the presidential election, while 16 said they believe Stevenson will lead.

ELEVENTH ANNIVERSARY—Snyder Drug on the west side of the Square will celebrate its 11th anniversary of business here in Snyder this month. Proby Lee Griffin, one of the three registered pharmacists in the Snyder Drug is shown in the modern and complete prescription department. Other druggists are Robert E. Patterson, owner of the store, and Thomas F. Lyle. (Lee Watson photograph)

Snyder Drug Has 11th Anniversary

One of Snyder's fastest-growing businesses is Snyder Drug, which is observing its eleventh anniversary here this week.

The firm has come a long way since it opened Nov. 1, 1945, and the best indication is in the fact that it has more than 183,190 prescriptions since it first opened its doors here.

And there is more indication of growth, since the store reached the 100,000 mark only three years ago, and it will be only a few months before No. 200,000 comes along.

The boom years in Snyder were a big boost to the prescription business, according to R. E. Patterson, owner, but that business is just as heavy now as it was at the height of the oil boom here.

Patterson said a druggist, like a physician, is available at all hours of the day, whether the store is open or not, since a drug store is an emergency type business. Druggists of the store will fill needed prescriptions upon call even during hours the store is closed, and a pharmacist is on duty at all times.

Patterson purchased the store here from Stinson Drug Co. in 1945, and he later sold half interest in in the business. Patterson later bought back the other half and for the past six years has been sole owner.

In addition to being popular among residents at the prescription counter, the store is gift center for Snyder in a wide variety of items, including all types of small electric appliances, toiletries, cosmetic, toys, and numerous other things well-suited for gifts.

For the past few days the store has been receiving large shipments of Christmas stock, and Patterson invites residents to begin Christmas shopping early. Giftwrapping of Christmas items and gifts for all occasions is a specialty of the store.

A popular attraction at the store is the daily drawing. Anyone can participate by signing the store's book daily. The prize starts at $25, and it builds up at the rate of $5 every day a name is drawn of a person who has not signed the book the previous day. Names drawn are posted in the store window daily.

The store has 12 employes. In the drug department, they include Patterson, Mrs. R. C. Robbins, Mrs. Velma Smith, W. K. Patterson, P. L. Griffin, and T. J. Lyle. In the fountain department are Mrs. B. Penland, Mrs. Norma Lee, Jo Nail, Lois Doonan, and Letha Love. Tommy Horton is stock clerk.

Ike Called Captive Of Dick Nixon

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP) — Sen. Estes Kefauver today described President Eisenhower as a failure, a "willing captive" lacking in moral courage, and a "front man for Richard Nixon."

The Democratic vice-presidential nominee, swinging into his final drive for the crucial electoral votes of a bloc of populous Midwestern and Northeastern states, threw some of the harshest language of his campaign at Eisenhower and Vice President Nixon.

Kefauver's speech was prepared for a rally here. He said Eisenhower "has failed utterly, abjectly, miserably, to do what he professed to set out to do."

After promising to advance the cause of good government, Kefauver said, Eisenhower "gave us an administration blotched and smeared with corruption among high government officials . . . dominated by big business and the narrowest of special interests."

He said that Eisenhower became "an easy and willing captive" of those whom the Democratic candidate described as the reactionaries in the Republican party.

"He has exchanged a police of honor in history for a secondary role in politics," Kefauver said, "the role of a front man for Richard Nixon."

Referring to a statement in Robert Donovan's book on the Eisenhower administration that the President at one time considered the possibility of setting up a third party, Kefauver said:

"It is . . . sad that he has lacked the moral courage to follow what he has said are the dictates of his heart and his conscience. He should have denounced the Old Guard and the reactionaries in his own party publicly, as he has done privately. He should have renounced a party which accepts him as a candidate but not as a leader."

He termed Nixon "the new leader of the reactionaries" and said "the ultimate capitulation of President Eisenhower took place. . . . when he embraced" Nixon's renomination.

Kefauver campaigns today across an industrial section of Ohio. He flew from Washington last evening.

Curry Spills The Drinks

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The drinks, police said, were on Audie Curry.

Curry, 20, with his station wagon loaded with what police said was stolen liquor, roared away from a market Saturday with officers Leo Wise and Bill McMonagle in pursuit.

A few blocks away, Curry crashed into a hydrant mixing the booze—and Curry—into a giant cocktail.

Wise and McMonagle grabbed Curry. Bystanders grabbed about 100 unbroken pints of spirits.

Curry was booked on suspicion of burglary. Police said about 100 pints were broken in the wreck and another 160 rescued and tagged as evidence.

MERRITT'S SHOP—Unusual and ornamental wrought iron specialties are some of the feature products of Merritt's Shop, shown above in its new location in the 4100 block of the Big Spring highway in south Snyder. The shop can custom make any type of ornamental iron work from a sturdy and inexpensive trash can holder to a delicate wrought iron TV table or living room furniture. (Lee Watson photograph)

Shop Here Moves To New Location

One of Snyder's oldest businesses has just completed moving to a spacious new location.

It is Merritt's Shop, now located on the Big Spring highway in south Snyder. The shop was formerly located at 1804 Twenty-fourth Street.

Wayne Merritt, owner of the shop, purchased the business from his father last July. His father, Homer Merritt, had owned and operated the business for many years, and has been in the blacksmith shop trade here in Snyder for almost a half century, having started in the trade soon after coming to Snyder in 1902. Homer Merritt is still an active member of the firm.

Another member of the staff of the firm is Raymond Evans who has spent more than 30 years in the trade here in Snyder.

Wayne Merritt says that Evans is one of the most accomplished metal smiths in this area, and that he can quickly and neatly do any type of iron work from the simplest to the most complicated.

"In the early days of the careers here of both Homer Merritt and Evans they were largely occupied with making recisely fitting shoes for horses and each shoe had to be forged to exactly fit the hoof of the horse," the younger Merritt said.

"But now there is little call for horse shoes, and the two older members of the firm have turned their talents in the trade to present day needs," he added.

One of the most prominent present day needs is not a necessity for work such as the horse shoe was, but ornamental and decorative household item which strike the fancy of housewives or fill a decorative need in the home.

"If you want a wrought iron kangaroo to hold an ash tray on your coffee table, we can make it," Merritt said.

The firm specializes in the manufacture of wrought iron back yard furniture including the increasingly popular iron tables and chairs and barbecue pits of all sizes and shapes to fit the need of the individual.

One of the items which Merritt's Shop makes up to order as well as in quantities are trash can holders, both one and two can sizes, and for cans of 15 gallon, 20 gallon or 30 gallon sizes.

Houston Councilman Playing Dual Role

HOUSTON (AP)—Councilman Matt Wilson played a dual role today as a complaining citizen and councilman.

As a citizen he complained to himself as a councilman about a $14 water bill he received.

"As a councilman I promised myself as a citizen to go into the matter," Wilson, who voted for increased water rates, said.

Confused? Wilson said he is—about his water bill. "There's only one of me, and my bill has never gone over $7 before," he complained as a citizen.

Despite Forecast, Picnic Postponed

TOKYO (AP)—When the staff at Japan's central meteorological agency decided to hold a family picnic and field day they took no chances. Top forecasters were consulted as far back as July and all agreed that Oct. 29 would be just right, weatherwise.

Today, the picnic was postponed. It's raining.

Nixon Seeks Big Block Of Votes

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Vice President Nixon goes after the areas with the big blocks of voters in the final week of the election campaign opening today, concentrating on five states which have 154 electoral votes.

These five alone would provide 58 per cent of the 266 electoral votes needed for victory.

The vice president is expected to concentrate much of his efforts during the week on trying to aid Republican candidates for the Senate and House. This same concern was evident last week as he became increasingly optimistic about prospects for President Eisenhower and himself.

In a statement, Nixon said there has been a "tremendous surge" toward the Republicans in the past few days which has greatly enhanced their hopes in winning control of Congress.

"I think we have an even chance of carrying the Senate and better than even chance of carrying the House," he asserted.

Nixon starts off with two days of arduous motorcading through his home territory in the Los Angeles area today and tomorrow, then flies back East for rallies Wednesday in Detroit and New York City.

The last three days of the week he will be back on a special train for the second time this fall, whistle-stopping through Pennsylvania and Ohio. He ends the campaign with a rally and nationwide telecast with Eisenhower from Boston a week from tonight.

In his first talk today, Nixon accused Adlai Stevenson of speaking with "violence and intemperence" about the President and others in the administration in an address in Los Angeles Saturday night.

"In my opinion," said the vice president in a prepared speech "Mr. Stevenson is following these tactics in order to divert attention from his ridiculous H-bomb proposal which has proved to be the major political error he has made in the campaign."

The Democratic presidential nominee has urged that this country take the lead in trying to get an agreement with Russia to halt H-bomb tests.

"By taking this position," said Nixon, "he not only jeopardizes what little chance he had to be elected president, but he also jeopardized the chances of a number of Democratic candidates for the House and Senate and put them squarely on the spot.

"They are now faced with the choice of disagreeing with their party standard-bearer or defeat in the election."

Hall Denies Solicitation Of Donation

WASHINGTON (AP)—Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall says he does not control the award of any government contracts, and sought no donation from the Frederick Snare Corp.

Hall was asked during a filmed television interview yesterday about the award of a contract for a 43-million-dollar expansion of the government's nickel plant at Nicaro, Cuba. Half of that contract went to the Snare Corp.

A former official of that firm has testified he talked with Hall about the award, and that he and other company officials later increased their Republican campaign contributions, though he did not consider that a "condition" of the award.

Hall said that no government contract "has ever been controlled by any action on my part or anyone in the national committee." He said also he never asked for any donation "large or small," and knew nothing about the Snare Corp. contributions "until I read it in the paper."

Hall declined to testify earlier this month at a House Government Operations subcommittee hearing on the contract award, saying he was too busy to appear before the election.

But he said that "when the election is over I will be there because there's nothing to it at all."

Hall predicted "a tremendous victory" for President Eisenhower in next month's election. Although the contest for control of the Senate and House is "much tighter," he said, "I think we're going to carry both houses."

He declined to forecast who might get the GOP presidential nomination in 1960 but commented, when asked about Vice President Nixon's chances, that "very few vice presidents have been nominated for president."

One Is Killed, 4 Wounded

CHICAGO (AP)—One woman was killed and four other persons were wounded early today when — police said — a 40-year-old man invaded a suburban Tinley Park home and shot his estranged wife, her daughter and her parents and a male roomer.

Police held Woodrow Blaylock, a steel mill oiler in connection with the shootings, which they said, apparently resulted from a family dispute. He was not immediately charged.

Mrs. Florence Anderson, 60, Blaylock's mother-in-law, was killed. Seriously wounded was Blaylock's estranged wife Shirley, 36, and her father Hilding Anderson, 64.

Shirley's daughter by a previous marriage, Judy Roe, 16, and Fred Erickson, 64, a roomer at the Anderson's home, suffered minor wounds but were not hospitalized. Blaylock's 2-year-old son Robert was not injured in the gunplay.

Eisenhower Victory Foreseen By Editors

FORT WORTH (AP)—A group of Texas newspaper editors predicted 19-16 in a poll yesterday that President Eisenhower will repeat his victory in Texas this year.

The editors, members of The Associated Press Managing Editors Assn., voted in a poll at the association's fall Continuing Study Committee meeting.

The majority said they felt water legislation, with integration running second, were the major problems facing the Legislature this year.

Two Texans Win In Championship Rodeo

BOSTON (AP)—Two Texans were among five cowboy champions crowned last night at the close of the 26th annual World's Championship Rodeo 12-day stand.

Guy Weeks of Abilene took the saddle bronc riding contest with 883 points.

Vernon Kerns of Hearne was first in calf roping.

Hershel Romine of Big Spring was second to Kerns while Harry Tompkins of Dublin placed third in bull riding.

No Clues In Baby Case

DALLAS (AP)—Detectives said yesterday they had no fresh leads to the whereabouts of a young Dallas mother who left her frail 5-month-old daughter with a Dallas family and never returned.

Mrs. Hazel Southern told police Mrs. Elizabeth Luetz left the baby with her and promised to return in a little while.

That was Friday. Mrs. Southern called police when the mother didn't show up that night.

The baby was taken to a county-operated orphanage.

"I'd love to have the baby—she's been a perfect doll. But it's hard enough taking care of ourselves," Mrs. Southern said.

She said she only knew Mrs. Luetz casually.

Body Of Man Found In Shallow Well

SAN ANGELO (AP)—Police awaited today the results of an autopsy on the body of an unidentified man found in a shallow well north of here Saturday.

The body was wrapped in a tent and covered with a thin layer of dirt. The only items found on it were a book of matches and a good luck charm.

Officers said the man was about 55 and had been dead for two days.

'Go Slow' Signal Is Given For Aid

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON (AP) —U.S. officials said today that Eastern European states trying to east off Russian rule must be expected to go slow in seeking any American economic aid they need.

Secretary of State Dulles has declared the United States is ready to share its "abundance" with the Communist satellites as they gain independence. Without giving details, he said in a statement yesterday that this government "is actively concerned with the suffering" of the Hungarians and will do what it can to help them.

The State Department, anxious to exploit any cracks in the Soviet empire, has been working on plans for various kinds of assistance — financial, commerical, political and the like.

The weekend action of the United States, Britain and France in taking the case of Soviet military operations in Hungary to the United Nations Security Council represents a decision to give political aid.

But if Hungary is to secure independence from Soviet rule, if Poland is to anchor its own freedom of Russian domination firmly, each country will have to obtain outside economic aid.

U.S. officials, however, believe that Titoist type leaders in all the Eastern European countries want to maintain friendly relations with Russia, even though this means a slower attack on their rebuilding problems.

In a speech at Dallas Saturday, Dulles pledged this country "to seek, by all truly helpful means, that those who now die for freedom will not have died in vain."

For the United States he then outlined this three-point policy:

1. People who break with their "exploiting masters" can draw upon U. S. resources "to tide utes after returning to the apital themselves over" periods of economic readjustment.

2. The United States is prepared to establish economic ties with such people without requiring that they adopt "any particular form of society." That means that Communists rulers may get American help as Yugoslavia's President Tito did after he broke with the Kremlin.

3. The United States will help these countries because it wants them as friends in a Europe increasingly united, and not because it regards them "as potential allies." These words of Dulles' were designed to assure the Soviets that the United States was not backing freedom in Eastern Europe with the aim of replacing Russian power with Western power there.

Doctors Give Ike Good Health Report

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Eisenhower "gives every appearance of being in excellent health," in the opinion of eight doctors who gave him a new physical checkup.

Their findings were made public late yesterday by White House press secretary James C. Hagerty. The doctors declined to hold a news conference to discuss their report.

The examination, conducted over the weekend at the Army's Walter Reed Hospital, had been promised the voters by Eisenhower in advance of the Nov. 6 election.

He had said he would bow out of his race for re-election any time he felt he was not up to the presidency. The checkup focused mainly on the condition of his heart and digestive system, since he suffered a heart attack Sept. 24, 1955, and underwent abdominal surgery last June 9.

Eisenhower told reporters at Walter Reed yesterday he feels "fine, just fine." The eight doctors — four civilian and four military — took about 1,000 words to say pretty much the same thing, and many of the words tongue-tied Hagerty when he tried to pronounce them.

Of the abdominal surgery, the formal report said:

"The President has made an excellent recovery from the operation for acute intestinal obstruction due to an old 'burnt out' ileitis. His bowel function is now perfectly normal."

Of Eisenhower's heart condition, the report said:

"The heart sounds are normal and there are no murmurs. The neck pulse is normal. The lungs are clear . . . The electrocardiogram shows the same residual changes of a well-healed heart muscle scar which has been present since recovery from the attack last year. The rhythm is normal at the rate of 75.

"The X-ray . . . shows no change in the general configuration or size of the heart. On fluoroscopic examination, normal rate and rhythm of the heart are noted.

"The healed . . . scar on the anterolateral zall of the left ventricle is again noted and appears as a small area in which the amplitude of the pulsation is slightly diminished.

"There is no evidence of . . . bulging of the scar. The aortic pulsations are normal and there is normal xcursion of the diaphragm on both sides."

Dr. Paul Dudley White, Boston heart specialist who participated in the examination, later told newsmen in Cincinhati that "we believe it is all right" for Eisenhower to undertake his campaign trips. Three one-day trips are on Eisenhower's schedule for this week.

The report was signed by Eisenhower's personal physician, Maj. Gen. Howard McC. Snyder, and the commandant of Walter Reed, Maj. Gen. Leonard D. Heaton. Hagerty said the six others who helped them concurred in the findings.

Eisenhower, 66, was found by the doctors to have gained four pounds since his May 12 examination. Listed at 168 then, he was weighed yesterday at 172.

His weight was 178 at Denver when he fell ill in 1955 with a blood clot in the heart. When stricken with ileitis last June he dropped from 168 to 158¾ and went up again to 163 at the time he left Walter Reed Hospital June 30.

The new port called Eisenhower's left eye "normal" again. It had become inflamed after confetti lodged in it during a motorcade through Portland, Ore.

The report also noted Eisenhower still is taking medication to decrease the blood's tendency to clot. These anticoagulants had been discontinued for a time during recuperation from his operation.

Of the aftermath to that surgery, the doctors said, "The abdominal wall is firm and sound, with good muscle tone throughout." And, of the diseased portion of Eisenhower's intestine — bypassed by the operation which rerouted his lower digestive system — the report said the bowel pattern is normal and "there is no evidence of extension of old disease process."

Correspondent Shot

LONDON (AP) — The British Foreign Office was advised today that Noel Barer, a correspondent for the London Daily Mail, was shot in the head by a Russian sentry while covering the fighting in Budapest. Leslie Fry, the British minister in the Hungarian capital, reported the wound was not serious.

Negro Disappears From Florida Jail

WILDWOOD, Fla. (AP) — A Negro farm laborer, placed in jail for protective custody at his own request after he was accused of insulting white women, disappeared under strange circumstances early yesterday.

Jesse Woods, 39, was missing from his jail cell when Police Chief Ed Mullis returned from chasing two speeding cars. There were blood spots on the floor and a bunk was overturned. A day-long search failed to turn up any clues on the disappearance.

Gov. LeRoy Collins asked the Florida Sheriff's Bureau and Sheriff M. H. Bowman of Sumter County for a full report and the FBI said it is looking into the case to determine if it has jurisdiction.

Since daylight yesterday all has been quiet in this little central Florida town, 75 miles north of Tampa.

William A. Fordham, president of the Florida conference of the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People, said at Tampa, "From what I've heard it looks like a lynching. If it was, we definitely will make an investigation."

Woods was arrested Saturday afternoon at a grocery store, charged with disorderly conduct and drunkeness. Police Chief Mullis said he 'insulted a white woman."

David Hutto, a clerk at the store, quoted Woods as saying "Hello there, baby" to Miss Mary Evelyn Hill, schoolteacher. She was not available for comment.

Woods was released on bond about midnight and left with his father MacArthur Woods and a brother. Soon they returned and Jesse Woods asked to be allowed to stay in the jail, saying some white men in cars had followed them and he was afraid.

About an hour later Patrolman E. H. Barry found the lock on the little jail door had been knocked off and Woods was gone.

About 150 officers, including state highway patrolmen and deputies from neighboring counties, supported by two airplanes, searched all yesterday without result.

Plans Made For Visit Of Ike In State

DALLAS (AP)—Republican planning was being completed today for President Eisenhower's visit to Dallas Wednesday.

Gov. Shivers will head a four-man reception committee greeting the President and will introduce him. Bands from SMU and TCU will play.

Paul Cain, general coordinator of the Eisenhower Reception Committee in Dallas, said 33 North Texas counties are planning to form car caravans to Dallas. Houston will send five bus loads.

Eisenhower will make a one-hour appearance here at 12:30 p.m. Wednesday in an effort to keep Texas' 24 votes.

Police Chief Hansson said he expects 25,000 at the airport. He assigned 500 men to the area.

On the greeting committee with Shivers are Bob Smith of San Antonio, state chairman of Texas Democrats for Eisenhower; Jack Porter of Houston, Republican committeeman, and GOP Rep. Bruce Alger of Dallas.

After the Dallas speech, Eisenhower heads for Oklahoma City and Memphis and then back to Washington.

Press Secretary James Hagerty said Eisenhower's talk will be "a good political speech." He said the President will have "quite a lot to say."

Cain said caravans would arrive from Archer, Baylor, Bosque, Clay, Collins, Comanche, Cooke, Denton, Eastland, Ellis, Erath, Grayson, Hill, Hood, Hunt, Jack, Johnson, Kaufman, Montague, Palo Pinto, Parker, Rockwall, Somervell, Stephens, Tarrant, Throckmorton, Wichita, Wilbarger, Wise and Young counties.

In case of rain, the President will speak at the new SMU field house, which seats 12,500.

14 Killed Over State

By The Associated Press

Weekend violence in Texas killed at least 14 persons.

An Associated Press count showed nine killed in traffic, three in plane crashes and one each by fire and drowning.

George Leeth, 66, of Hamilton was killed in a headon auto collision east of Clifton Sunday.

William Jackson, 17, of Galveston, was killed Sunday when his auto overturned.

A light plane crashed into the side of a canyon near Canadian Sunday night and killed Charles Langsdon, 46, of Guymon, Okla.

Oliver Wilcox, 56, of the Kurfen Community, was drowned Saturday in the Brazos River when a boat overturned.

George Henry, 45, of San Antonio, was burned to death Sunday when fire destroyed his three-room home.

Hearing On Quota Starts

HOUSTON (AP)—A hearing of an injunction suit challenging the legality of cotton acreage quotas set up by the Agriculture Stabilization Committee opened today.

The suit by four West Texas farmers contends the state quotas discriminate against West Texas and favor East Texas.

The farmers are William A. Hawkins of Castro County, George Smith of Jones County, Ralph White of Howard County and Floyd Smith of Martin County.

The government maintains the Department of Agriculture and the secretary of griculture, and not the state committee, should have been the defendants.

The farmers said at a preliminary hearing they would drop a 10-million-dollar damage claim but would insist on an injunction against the state committee.

Pilot Brings His Plane In

MITCHEL AFB, N.Y. (AP)—A Texas jet pilot resisted an "overwhelming impulse to bail out and brought his jet plane down safely after it caught fire yesterday.

"I knew I was over Long Island and I did not want my plane plowing through a half dozen houses in a congested area, so I decided to ride it down," Lt. Alan Lancaster of San Antonio said.

He was unhurt and the jet fighter he was ferrying from Dover, Del., to Presque Isle, Me., was not badly damaged.

The fire, apparently started from a short circuit, caused both fuel tanks to drop off in flight but burned itself out before Lancaster landed.

Morris Puts Slugs In Pinball Machine

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Carl Morris, 30, was arrested because he put lead "slugs" into a pinball machine. He said he pumped eight bullets from a .22 caliber target pistol into the machine because "it just won't pay off."

Morris said he "just got mad" after losing about $100 in four weeks to the machine. "I couldn't win on it. It just won't pay off," Morris charged. Said the wife of the cafe operator: "It's not supposed to pay off. It's for amusement only."

Elvis Likes His Business

NEW YORK (AP)—Rock 'n' roller Elvis Presley says he'd go back to driving a truck if he thought his type of entertainment contributed to juvenile delinquency.

"Money doesn't mean anything to me. It's this business I love," he said.

The 21-year-old singer said he had grossed more than one million dollars this year.

Earlier, about 1,000 squealing teen-agers were disappointed when Presley failed to appear at the unveiling of a 40-foot likeness of himself over the marquee of a Times Square theater.

Before a TV appearance, Presley received a Salk antipolio shot. City Health Commissioner Leona Baumgartner said he set a "fine example" for teen-agers who have not yet taken the Salk shots.
