Council Decides On City Service Hikes

The City Council of Colorado City, meeting for their fifth and final budget workshop Tuesday night, tentatively approved the city's 1979-80 budget which included a number of city utility increases. Some of these increases had been discussed at previous meetings.

After four hours of lively debate, the council finally agreed on a budget which will have a bottom line revenue figure in the general fund of $688,175 and a final expenditure figure of $684,560. These totals compare with $670,395 revenues and $649,164 expenditures for the 1978-79 budget.

The water & sewer fund figures for the 1979-80 budget are $434,100 revenues and $348,010 expenditures. Water & sewer fund totals for the 1978-79 budget were $335,750 revenues and $314,200 expenditures.

A large part of the session was spent by the council in finalizing the city utility rate increases which will go into effect on May 1.

As stated in a previous edition of the Record, councilmembers had agreed at their March 1 meeting that the following rates would be increased--minimum residential sewer rate from $3 to $4.50; minimum business sewer rate from $6 to $7.50; minimum residential sanitation rate from $3 to $4.

At the March 1 meeting, it had also been tentatively agreed that the minimum rate for the first 3,000 gallons of water used per month for both business and commercial users would be $5.50. However, at Tuesday night's meeting Acting City Manager Brenda Tarter showed the council a chart which she and a consultant had worked up which projected the city's water revenues for the 1979-80 fiscal year using two different rate structures based on the water billings for the 12 months ending April 30, 1978.

Rate structure No. 1 charged the consumer $5.50 for the first 3,000 gallons; 80c per thousand from 3,000 to 17,000

Oklahoma To Hit Opera House Stage

"Oklahoma," a Rodgers & Hammerstein musical, will be presented for eight performances beginning next week at the Colorado City Opera House.

The musical will be presented at 8 p.m. Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 28, 29, 30 & 31 and Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, April 4, 5, 6 & 7.

Price of tickets is $3.50 per person and reservations may be made by phoning 728-3491 or by going by the Colorado City Opera House. Reservations should be made as soon as possible as musicals presented by Colorado City Playhouse, Inc., usually are sellouts.

It has been announced that the ticket office will open today (Thursday) from 1-5 p.m. and again Friday (tomorrow) 1-5 p.m. in order to offer Mitchell County residents an advance chance to get tickets to see the show.

The opening of the box office will not be announced in area newspapers radio and television stations until Sunday.

"Oklahoma" has been scheduled for eight performances and there will not be any holdover performances.

The box office also will be open from 1-5 p.m. Monday and Tuesday and from 1-8 p.m. Wednesday through Saturday, March 28-31. The box office will have the same hours the following week, April 2-7.

The Colorado City Opera House seats 160 persons with central air and heat to provide comfortable accommodations.

"Oklahoma" has been in rehearsal since late January. The play is based in Indian Territory shortly before becoming the state of Oklahoma. The plot is a simple one involving love and jealously between the leading and major characters.

"Oklahoma" is a light, exciting and very enjoyable show and is one of the most popular musicals in American Theatre.

Some of the musical numbers in "Oklahoma" are, "Oh, What A Beautiful Mornin'," "The Surrey With The Fringe On Top," "I Can't Say No," "Many A New Day," "It's A Scandal, It's An Outrage," "Pore Jud," "Lonely Room," "Out Of My Dreams," "The Farmer And The Cowman," "People Will Say We're In Love," and the title song, "Oklahoma."

Directors of the play are Carl Beery Moore and George Womack. Producer of 1979 Colorado City Playhouse productions is Marsha Moore.

The facilities of Colorado City Opera House are well suited to the production of "Oklahoma," the directors pointed out. The cast is excellent and will provide a fine evening of entertainment.

LISD Board Searches To Fill Position

The search for a new superintendent for the Loraine Independent School District is now underway.

Superintendent L. R. Dunn submitted his resignation to the LISD board of trustees last week in a special meeting.

Dunn has accepted the position of superintendent of Aspermont Independent School District and will assume the position July 1.

During the special meeting of the LISD board of trustees March 14, it was decided that applications would be accepted on a limited basis. Board members are making specific contacts in the quest for a new superintendent.

The board voted at the special meeting to release Dunn from his contract for the 1979-80 school year which had been approved at an earlier meeting.

Short Duration Grazing System Is Used Locally

Rapid grassland improvement, more net profit per acres and reduced labor needs are some of the benefits of a new system of rangeland management referred to as short duration grazing.

According to C. W. Cox, range conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service in Mitchell County, the technique is now being used successfully by more than 400 livestock producers in Texas.

Philip Berman and David Stubblefield have initiated the first Rhodesian (savory) type short duration grazing system in Texas on private land.

Also known as the wagon wheel grazing system, the technique originated in Rhodesia by a range specialist named Allen Savory.

Berman, formerly of Colorado City but presently residing in Dallas, owns the ranch on which the system is being carried out. Stubblefield, a local farmer and rancher, leases the land and is carrying out the grazing system in conjunction with SCS.

The system being used on Berman's land--located southwest of Colorado City--encompasses about 405 acres. The land is divided into nine separate pastures, each one containing 45 acres.

In the wagon wheel grazing system, the water supply and pens are located in the center of the pastures.

Cox noted that the Rhodesian system established on Berman's land "may be the first in the United States."

Cox noted that short duration grazing is producing excellent results in Texas.

"The major benefit is rapid grassland improvement, which leads to more net profit per acre," said Cox.

With the technique, livestock that are normally run in several pastures are put into one herd in a single pasture. The other pastures are left vacant.

When the forage is grazed to the desired degree, livestock are moved to the next pasture in the rotation. that way, all pastures

MORE THAN 100 people viewed paintings and drawings on display at the C. C. Thompson Room of City National Bank Sunday. The exhibit was sponsored by the cultural committee of the Colorado City Chamber of Commerce. Fleta Lewis, Chamber director representative for the cultural committee, noted that the exhibit was a big success and that there were several out-of-town visitors. Carolyn Walker, local artist, presented a demonstration in conjunction with the display.

Coach Takes New Position

Farda Reflects On Past Years

"This is the best AA coaching job in Texas," Mike Farda said Tuesday as he summed up his eight year coaching career in Colorado City which will come to a close Friday.

Farda appeared before the Colorado School Board last week and submitted his resignation. He stated that he had accepted a position as head football coach and athletic director at Moore, Oklahoma High School. He will begin his duties Monday.

The 33-year-old coach said that it was a tough decision to make to leave Colorado City. He added that he had made a lot of friends here and has had nothing but encouragement from the school, the school administration and the town in general.

He went on to say that another reason that the decision to resign had been especially tough was because he had hated to see another person take over a program which he had a large part in building. Up until 1975, it had been a number of years since the Wolves had had a winning team and now they have won two district titles in a row and over the past three seasons have lost only one district game.

Farda reflected on that contest as one of the most memorable of his entire career.

It was in 1976 against Stamford in the "Snowbowl" as the coach put it and he further added that it must have been one of those games that the Wolves just weren't supposed to win.

As has been hinted, the game was played in a snowstorm and, according to Farda, the Wolves held Stamford to something like 110 yards on the ground.

Unfortunately 80 of those yards came on one touchdown scoring play and the Bulldogs won 7-6. It cost Colorado City the district championship.

Aside from the Stamford game, Farda said that probably his most memorable game was against Ballinger in 1975 when the Wolves came out on top by a score of 7-6.

At the time Ballinger was ranked in the top 10 Class AA teams in the state and were heavily favored to win district.

Farda stated that he felt that this upset victory really gave his team confidence and showed them that they could win and the football program had been headed uphill since that time.

As far as the future of the Wolves football program, the coach said that it could only get better because there were a number of promising athletes coming back on the varsity and on the junior varsity and on down through junior high.

Farda said that the reason he had decided to accept the position in Oklahoma was, "I had to take a shot at the big one." He went on to add that he was a builder and that the new position would be a challenge.

It is the largest high school in the state with about 4,000 students but it has been a number of years since it has had a

★ MUSICAL, from page 1

One aspect of the Colorado City Playhouse production of "Oklahoma" which will set it apart from other productions of this musical is the use of audio-visual techniques during a "dream sequence."

This is the first appearance on the Colorado City Playhouse stage for a number of members of the cast which includes:

–Diana Davenport of Colorado City, a school teacher in her first appearance on the Colorado City stage, in the role of Laurey.

–Chris Hubbard of Colorado City, minister of youth, music and education at Colorado City's First Baptist Church, in the role of Curly. This is his first appearance on the Colorado City stage.

–Bill Martin of Snyder, worker in a brick factory, a veteran of four Colorado City productions, as Jud Fry.

–Quin Thornburg of Sweetwater, a Colorado City school teacher, as Ado Annie Carnes, her first appearance on the Colorado City stage.

–Nell Holman of Colorado City, a school teacher, in the role of Aunt Eller. She was a member of the chorus in last year's production of "Annie Get Your Gun."

–Greg Chaney of Colorado City, an oil field worker, as Will Parker, his first appearance on stage.

–Porter Richardson of Colorado City, retired radio station engineer, a Playhouse veteran, as Ike Skidmore. He is in charge of stage design and construction.

–Elaine Fugate of Colorado City, a City National Bank bookkeeper making her second appearance on stage, as Gertie Cummings.

–Tandy Curlee of Colorado City, manager of Rockwell Lumber Co. in Colorado City, a Playhouse veteran, portraying Andrew Carnes.

–Mac McKinnon, editor & publisher of the Colorado City Record and president of Colorado City Playhouse as Ali Hakim. He has appeared in numerous Playhouse productions.

Members of the chorus are Ron Potts, Elmer Ward, Cecile Hubbard, Leslie Perkins, Anne Conard, Mickie Palmer, Ronney Conner and Tracy Womack of Colorado City and Ann Martin of Snyder. All are newcomers to the Colorado City stage with the exception of Miss Palmer and Womack.

Musical directors are Kent and Betty Holder. Holder is director of Colorado High School band and choir. Mrs. Holder is Colorado Middle School choir director.

Members of the orchestra are high school stage band members. They include Holly Neff on flute; Malinda Cook on first clarinet; Genia Guelker on second clarinet; Mike Rogers on oboe; Kirk Williams on first trumpet; Rodney Fox on second trumpet; Scott Haggerton and Jeff Byrd on trombone; Marjori Maddox on bassoon; Blake Hardegree on string bass, and Craig Helm on percussion.

are deferred from grazing for a period of time.

Livestock are moved to a different pasture every seven to ten days in the system being used by Stubblefield. That way, each pasture is able to rest for at least two months before the livestock grazes on it again.

Under continuous grazing, livestock repeatedly use those plants they like best, Cox explained.

"As a result, these preferred plants are often over-used, become weakened and may not reproduce," said Cox. "At the same time, other plants are used to a lesser degree, maintaining more vigor than preferred plants."

Short duration grazing breaks this competitive edge gained by unpalatable plants.

If soil moisture and growing conditions are favorable, choice forage plants make rapid regrowth due to the high vigor developed during the rest periods.

Cox noted that short duration grazing systems "require careful planning and close supervision."

Free copies of the booklet "Short Duration Grazing" are available at the SCS office, Cox noted.

Loraine Meeting Tuesday

Persons interested in the Loraine Improvement Program will meet Tuesday at 7 p.m.

The meeting will be held at the Loraine agricultural building.

At the meeting, plans will be discussed for the community fair and other LIP projects.

All citizens of the community are urged to attend, noted Edgar Haltom, LIP president.

winning team. Farda went on to add that the school was in a very fast growing area and that they had very good facilities. All they needed was someone to take charge of their athletic program and build it up.

He went on to state that he didn't want to wake up at age 45 and regret having passed up an opportunity to better himself.

As to his future coaching career at Moore, Oklahoma and beyond, he said, "I want to go as high and far as I can and when the end of my coaching career comes, I'll know it."

The coach said there weren't any basic differences in Oklahoma high school football from the way it is played in Texas. "The team that does the best job of blocking and tackling is going to win."

He said that the only rule change was that in Oklahoma you can pick up a loose ball on the ground and run with it just as the pros do. Also there isn't as many teams in Oklahoma. There are 32 Class AAAA teams divided into eight districts of four teams each and the top two teams from each district make the playoffs.

As a final point Farda stated that he wouldn't want to do anything else but be a coach. He noted that he had been one for 11 years and that he had loved every minute of it.

1978 Conservationist Chosen For Wildlife

Herman Hundsnurcher of Hermleigh was selected by the Mitchell Soil and Water Conservation District board of directors as the district's Wildlife Conservationist for 1978.

In 1975 Hundsnurcher purchased a badly eroded stock farm south of Loraine and has converted it into a wildlife paradise.

Hundsnurcher's first step was to request technical assistance from the Soil Conservation Service personnel in developing a wildlife conservation plan for the area.

Most of 198 acres of cropland were severely eroded from both wind and water. Species of grass suitable to both livestock and wildlife were established on 182 acres of cropland. Some 14 acres were planted in oats for turkey and deer. All of the brush was left for wildlife habitat.

Hundsnurcher cooperated with the SCS and Mitchell SWCD by making a trial planting of bush sunflower for wildlife. This is a perennial shrub that is highly palatable to both wildlife and livestock.

Seed for this planting were granted to the district by the SCS Plant Materials Center at Knox City.

A fish pond was also constructed to provide recreation in the form of fishing and dove and duck hunting. Hundsnurcher did not receive any costshare assistance on any of the conservation work he carried out.

In the three years the project has been in effect on Hundsnurcher's stock farm, there have been amazing results. The fish pond has offered excellent fishing and duck and dove hunting. In addition, a good stand of grass has grown on the eroded fields which were seeded back to grass. The native range plants, both grasses and shrubs, have made excellent recovery following three years of deferred grazing.

NATIONAL POISON PREVENTION WEEK

Protect Your Child against Accidental Poisoning

Young Children Will Eat and Drink Almost Anything:
Keep all liquids and solids that may be poisonous out of their reach.

This Year an Estimated 500,000 Children Will be Victims of Accidental Poisoning
Ninety percent of all cases reported involve children under five years of age. Medicines, household preparations, insect sprays, kerosene, lighter fluid, some furniture polishes, turpentine, paints, solvents, and products containing lye and acids are most frequently the cause of accidental poisoning among children.

Keep All Products in Original Containers
Never place kerosene, anti-freeze, paints, or solvents in cups, glasses, milk or soft-drink bottles, or other utensils customarily used for food or drinks.

Destroy Old Products
Pour contents down drain or toilet, and rinse container before discarding. Do not put container with its contents into refuse can.

Keep Foods and Household Products Separated
Cleaning fluids, detergents, lye, soap powders, insecticides, and other everyday household products should be stored away from food and medications. Death could be the result of a mistaken identity.

Growing Children Are Curious about . . .
. . . things that glitter . . . pretty colored pills . . . bottles and containers of all kinds. These arouse their natural curiosity. If a child is in the crawling stage, arrange to keep household products in places other than below the kitchen sink unless the cabinet is locked.

If the child is walking, be certain that bottles and boxes containing medicines or household products are put away before answering the telephone or doorbell.

If he is able to climb, find a shelf that is completely beyond his ability to reach, or, better yet, lock these products in a cabinet or closet.

To "Poison-Proof" Your Home:
1. Keep household products and medicines out of reach and out of sight of children, preferably in a locked cabinet or closet. Even if you must leave the room for only an instant, remove the container to a safe spot.
2. Store medicines separately from other household products and keep these items in their original containers—never in cups or soft-drink bottles.
3. Be sure that all products are properly labelled, and read the label before using.
4. Always turn the light on when giving or taking medicine.
5. Since children tend to imitate adults—avoid taking medications in their presence.
6. Refer to medicines by their proper names. They are not candies.
7. Clean out your medicine cabinet periodically. Get rid of old medicines by flushing them down the drain, rinsing the container in water, and then discarding it.

gallons; 75c per thousand from 17,000 to 30,000 gallons; 70c per thousand from 50,000 to 100,000 gallons and 65c per thousand for all usage over 100,000 gallons.

According to the charge, this rate structure would bring in water revenues of $311,855 during the 1979-80 fiscal year. This would be an increase of $70,416 over the $241,430 figure which was the actual revenue from water sales for the fiscal year ending April 30, 1978.

Rate structure No. 2 which was the one finally approved by the council had the following water charges—$6 for the first 3,000 gallons; 75c per thousand for usage from 3,000 to 100,000 gallons and 70c per thousand for all usage over 100,000 gallons.

The chart showed that this structure would bring in water revenues of $322,093 or $81,654 over the $241,430 figure mentioned above.

The other city utility rate discussed at some length by the councilmembers concerned the sanitation rate charged commercial users. At present the minimum rate charged businesses for garbage pickup is $6. Above that the rate is set for each business individually.

As approved Tuesday night, the minimum rate for garbage pickup for businesses will be $10. For light users, those who have their garbage picked up from two to four times per week, the rate will be $15. For medium users the rate increases to $30. From there the rate increases to $45 for heavy users and to $55 for extra heavy users.

It was estimated that these increased commercial sanitation rates would bring increased revenues of $2,000 to go along with increased revenues of $23,400 which would be brought in by the upped residential sanitation rate of from $3 to $4.

The sewer rate increases mentioned earlier will increase the city's water and sewer fund revenues during the next year by about $32,900.

At the March 1 meeting, the council had approved a three per cent ad valorem tax increase which was estimated would bring in about $5,000 in additional revenues to the general fund. This $5,000 when added to the increased revenues brought in by the upped water & sewer rates will total out to about $145,000 in increased revenues for the city in 1979-80.

Even with these revenues, however, the councilmembers at first could not make the general fund expenditures dip below the revenue figure of $688,175 mentioned earlier. At one point in the session the general fund expenditure figure was some $30,000 above the revenues.

For a time the council discussed a much larger than three per cent tax increase to try to raise the revenue. Finally, resorting to other measures, they cut a number of items which had already been set in the budget. The figure budgeted for gas and oil for the city's vehicles was cut from $32,500 to $29,250 and the amount originally set for seal-coating the city's streets was slashed in half from $50,000 to $25,000 as was the figure for improvements at the airport from $10,000 to $5,000.

There were also three items slashed in the water & sewer fund. The figure set aside for water pump maintenance was cut from $4,000 to $2,000 and the amount budgeted for capital improvements at the pump station was also sliced by 50 per cent from $15,000 to $7,500. The $5,000 set aside to be saved for the renovation of the city's non-operating water wells was cut from $5,000 to 0.

These cuts brought the general fund expenditure figure for 1979-80 down to $684,650 or $3,525 below the $688,175 revenue total. This did not take into account, however, that as of the end of the 1978-79 fiscal year on April 30 the general fund will likely have a deficit of about $60,000.

This amount had to come from somewhere and it was decided that $85,000 of an expected surplus of about $86,000 from the water and sewer fund would be transferred into the general fund to give both funds a black figure at the end of the 1979-80 year if everything went well.

The board will give final approval to the budget at their next regular monthly meeting which will come on April 10 and will be the first meeting after the election on April 7.

In other matters, the council passed a motion advertising for bids to pave the runway at the auxiliary airfield in exchange for 4,000 feet of anchor chain which is now at the field.

Councilmember Loyd Ledbetter also stated that new city manager Ray Mason would be moving his household furniture into Colorado City on March 28 and that it would be stored for two weeks and that Mason would need to locate a place to live for those two weeks until he could move into a permanent residence. Ledbetter asked that anyone who had such a place contact him or another councilmember.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Sir,

A few years ago an organization in your town honored an aunt of mine as Woman of the Year. I hope you will have room in your paper to print even a part of this, my tribute to my Woman of the Year–that same person.

Today, I was walking to the factory parking lot, preoccupied with some of the complex problems associated with my job as an aerospace engineer involved in the production of complicated and sophisticated components for the moon-landing spacecraft.

My thoughts were brought back to more earthly matters as I passed an old Mexican man sitting on his rickety porch, letting the warm desert sun soak into muscles and joints made rheumatic by the wear and tear of fifty years of wrestling heavy beef carcasses in the local slaughterhouse.

"There's a likely candidate for Miss Nell's flock," I thought.

Now why would such an idea occur to me at this time and in this place, I wondered?

Probably because "Miss Nell"–my Aunt Nell Scott–is often in my thoughts these days as she, semi-invalided and in her eighties, sits each day by the bedside of her terminally ill lifelong mate, my Uncle Bennett.

Aunt Nell was the resident angel of mercy and superintendent of nurses at the small hospital in that small farming community from just after World War I until her retirement. By the time of her marriage to my Dad's brother (around 1928, I think) she was respectfully and affectionately called "Miss Nell" by tenant farmers and land owners alike. Even persons in their sixties and seventies who had been nursed back to health under her care called the young nurse "Miss Nell"–a title that would still be with her fifty years after she had shed her single status to become Mrs. B. W. Scott.

My dad moved me and the rest of his family to Arizona when I was ten years old. I was able to visit Aunt Nell a few times over the years. I was fourteen when I made one such visit. That was a pretty exciting visit for both her and me, because she assumed, incorrectly, that I knew how to drive a car, just like all the fourteen-year old farm boys in the county. I wasn't about to tell her any different, because I was dying to drive a car. She exercised considerable Christian grace and forbearance through the many close scraps with loaded cotton wagons we passed on the rutted, one-lane country roads!

I had plenty of opportunity to practice driving because even though she lived only seven miles out, every trip to town was a tour of the whole county, as we detoured here and there to drop off some nourishing stew to an invalided pensioner, or some fresh-cut flowers to a sick farm mother, or some clothes to the children of a migrant farm worker. If we didn't quite make it to town that day because of the many stops, that was all right–town would still be there tomorrow. But tomorrow was often a repeat performance of today.

Her penchant for giving things to needy families was once the cause of considerable embarrassment to her. My mother had gone to spend the night at their house. When Aunt Nell went to the bedroom to make up Mom's bed for the night she came back very red-faced and flustered.

"I just remembered I gave away my last pair of clean sheets today to the family whose house burned down," she said. sheepishly.

She was as embarrassed at having one of her secret good deeds come to light as she was at not having clean sheets for Mom's bed!

During the Depression my maternal grandmother–a farm wife and mother of twelve children–made patchwork quilts for additional income. Miss Nell performed a double edged good deed by buying those quilts from her and giving them away to needy families. While she never had children of her own, the people of all ages in that community were her children.

I may not see her again before she hears Him whom she loves and serves, but I know that I shall see her again, joyfully serving in that place as she did in this one.

Yours truly,
James E. Scott

Apperson Named To Honor Roll

Eight hundred seventy-one University of Texas engineering students have been recognized as honor students for the 1978 Fall Semester by Dean Earnest F. Gloyna of the College of Engineering.

To achieve the engineering honor roll, a student must have maintained at least a 12-hour course load throughout the semester, passing all courses with a minimum grade-point average of 3.25. Total grade points are calculated by multiplying course hours by the value of each grade (A equals 4 points).

On the engineering honor roll from Mitchell County is Mark Wayne Apperson of Colorado City.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

Austin - If you aren't convinced that teachers are piping hot over what they are paid in Texas to perform the delicate and crucial task of training young minds, then you should have been in the Senate chamber at mid-week.

Unfortunately, you might not have been able to find a seat as more than 3,000 teachers stuffed themselves into the Senate gallery for the beginning of school finance hearings.

Teachers came from every nook and cranny of the state. Some sat several hours in the cramped gallery and then drove most of the night to make it back to their classrooms by the next morning.

If nothing else, the teachers proved they are angry, determined and "tired of begging for better wages," said one teacher from West Texas.

"We're furious," declared another teacher from Dallas. "Even Republicans are upset."

Gov. Bill Clements, the first Republican governor in more than 100 years, proposed no new raises for public school teachers. Most teachers described the Legislative Budget Board's 5.1 per cent hike in salaries as "minimal."

"I think Clements is just getting even." A teacher from South Texas said. "This is what we get for working hard for John Hill." For those who missed the last elections, former Texas Attorney General John Hill was Clements' opponent in his bid for the governor's office.

Teachers, smarting from Hill's loss, hope to have better luck backing Sen. Pete Snelson's school finance bill that would raise their salaries 15 per cent over the next two years. Two other school finance bills before the Senate are not as generous to the teachers. "There are some of us though," said one teacher, "who cannot go on in this profession because year after year we are falling farther and farther behind because of inflation."

But teachers realize that voters have been racked by the same debilitating effects of inflation and are in no mood to increase the salaries of state employees.

Few teachers who crammed into the Senate chamber this week came with any childish notions that their struggle for fair and decent wages would be an easy one.

And it will probably be a long wait before the teachers know what good or bad awaits them because only this week did deliberations on the voter-mandated tax relief amendment begin on the House floor.

Until that issue can be resolved, a school finance bill waits in the wings.

Tax Relief Amendment

Not surprisingly, debate over an omnibus tax measure was slow, tedious and sometimes boring as Rep. Bob Davis of Irving, chairman of the House Ways and Means committee, tried to explain the committee's bill that would reimburse local school districts $421.7 million over the next two years to replace revenues lost because of new property tax exemptions.

Estimates vary, but a realistic amount of how much your school taxes might go down is just over $40 a year. Maybe. First, a school district must decide to slash taxes by the same amount of state money being reimbursed.

More debate is undoubtedly ahead on the tax relief amendment bill. And then more arguments in the Senate. House members have introduced 100 amendments to the Ways and Means' bill. No telling what changes will be proposed in the Senate.

And if it dawns on you that the 66th session is headed for a special session (or sessions), don't feel alone. Rumors to that effect are already circulating through the Capitol and for good reasons.

More than sixty days of the 140-day session have passed. And even though a constitutional provision spells out that the first 60 days of a regular session should be spent introducing bills and hearing testimony before committees, Capitol observers say legislators are waiting anxiously for the first confrontation between Clements and the predominantly Democratic Legislature. After the first real donnybrook, Capitol experts say things will get back to normal. But it may be too late in the game which means you can bet on a special session (or sessions).

Presidential Primary

Some legislators are saying that Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby made a tactical error by pumping lobbyists this week to support a bill that would separate a proposed presidential primary from regular state primary elections.

Hobby gathered 100 lobbyists in the plush surroundings of an Austin drinking establishment and tried to persuade them to think like he was thinking when it comes to a presidential primary bill.

Some legislators felt Hobby should have been more "discreet" about such a meeting. Speaker of the House Billy Clayton disagreed. "I always figure," said Clayton, "that if you want a job done, you solicit troops from anywhere you can get them."

Hobby said he was only using "every device I know of in the Legislature to accomplish this goal."

So far, Clements has remained uncommittted concerning the question of a presidential primary bill. But the governor has stood firm in his belief that Texas voters should be given the right of initiative and referendum–the right to initiate law or strike down those already passed by the Legislature.

Hobby also tried his best to convince lobbyists they should labor night and day against any such laws that give voters initiative and referendum powers. Hobby feels initiative and referendum powers might open up the lawmaking process to crackpots and special interest groups.

If it is wine or champagne you want, they have a complete selection and are always glad to suggest the suitable drink for the occasion.

All of the popular brands of liquors are kept in stock and arranged in attractive displays, and you'll always find that favorite beer or malt liquor.

It is not an easy job to properly select the right types and brands of the many hundreds of liquors on the market today, but through much study and careful evaluation, Bee Gee Liquors always seem to have just what one wants.

The editors of this 1979 Review are happy to recommend the Bee Gee Liquors to our readers. Don't forget the BEE GEE QUICK STOP at 700 W. Broadway under the same ownership.

Cars, Job And Progress

Carrol Buick Cadillac, Inc.

Economic progress is like a wheel. When it loses speed it wobbles, and when it stops, it falls.

To keep our economy rolling, Americans must not be afraid to buy what they want and need. Demand means production; more production means more jobs, stronger businesses, and more revenues, for our towns and cities, our states and the nation. It adds up to prosperity, and everybody gains.

The automobile is basic to America's economy. It accounts for one sixth of our Gross National Product. Thirteen million jobs—one in every six—and 800,000 businesses, from steel companies to corner service stations, depend on the automobile.

Right now is the time to buy a new car. Used car values are high. Operating costs on our 1979 cars are reduced, and less scheduled maintenance is required. New cars are a good buy—and buying keeps the wheel of progress rolling.

In this 1979 Review we, the editors, offer our praise to this well-liked Buick and Cadillac dealer who has served this area honestly and faithfully, and suggest to our readers that they make CARROLL BUICK CADILLAC, INC. at 219 West Broadway in Sweetwater, phone 236-6826, their headquarters for new and used car purchases. A fine service and parts department gives the added plus. These men don't guess at your problems or your needs, for with their experience they KNOW the answers. KEEP THE WHEEL OF PROGRESS ROLLING...GO TO CARROLL BUICK CADILLAC, INC. TODAY!!

They have stocked their shelves with items often forgotten at the supermarket, and items we all need at unusual hours of the morning and evening.

They offer ample free parking space and fast checkout service, which adds to the reason why so many people drop in morning, noon, and night when they're in a hurry.

The writers of this 1979 Business Review compliment the management of this minimarket for their efforts to offer what is needed, when it is needed. Remember the name, SKINNY'S CONVENIENCE STORES, you'll find their stock complete and their service extra fast.
