

WHEATHEART OF THE NATION — VADA BELL
Wellington's lovely Vada Bell is the Wheatheart of the Nation. The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Bell, she was chosen for the honor at the annual contest in Perryton Saturday night. She is 18 years old and was sponsored by the Wellington Chamber of Commerce. Runner-up was Shaffer, 18, of Amarillo, at right; and Pat Farren, 20, of Spearman, left, was third. Miss Bell, with tears in her eyes accepted the crown from last year's Miss Wheatheart, Carolyn Cooper of Plainview. Miss Bell, along with the Wheatheart committee chairman, Mrs. G. K. Rupprucht of Perryton, left by plane from Amarillo Wednesday for an all-expense paid trip to Toronto, Canada, where she will be a special guest of the Canadian National Exposition and the city of Toronto during the coming week. This is the prize that goes each year to the winner. Vada will be a sophomore in West Texas State College, Canyon, in September. This summer she is working in the county ASC office.

There will be only one show, at 1 p. m. Friday, August 28, at Marian Airpark Diamond.

"This is the really big event of our fair," N. M. Higdon, chamber of commerce manager, pointed out. He will be here from over the (Continued on back page)

ASSISTANT FAIR SUPERINTENDENT

N. M. Higdon, Chamber of Commerce secretary, also serves as assistant superintendent of the Collingsworth County Free Fair, which opens with the big parade Friday at 10 a. m. ### Plans Complete For Opening of City Schools

Superintendent Bennett Goodloe reminded students this week that Wellington Schools will open Tuesday morning, September 1 at 9 o'clock with classes beginning immediately since all classes are already pre-registered.

Commissioners to Retain Jenkins As Road Head

Collingsworth County commissioners moved Tuesday, August 25, to retain Gene Jenkins as county road administrator and to set up an agreement that would define the rights and the duties of both the commissioners court and the road administrator.

This agreement was being drawn up Tuesday evening and was to be presented for the signatures of both the court members and Jenkins on Wednesday, Judge C. C. Bishop said.

"We came to an understanding about how we will operate under the unit system," the judge commented.

Such an agreement could end the controversy that has grown between the commissioners and the road administrator, marked by one effort to fire him which failed when the case was dismissed at a hearing in district court, and another motion on the part of the commissioners to fire Jenkins. District Judge Luther Gribble met with members of the Commissioners court Friday, August 21, and again Tuesday, when the agreement was reached.

Handley will graduate Tuesday, September 1, from the United States Air Force Pilot School at Reese Air Force Base, Lubbock, and at the same time he will be commissioned a lieutenant.

Handley has been assigned to Perrin Air Force Base, Gainesville, as pilot of an F-86, one of the Air Force's supersonic fighter planes.

A color guard of five men from the Army Recruiting Station at Amarillo have been secured to lead the parade Friday at 10 a. m., which opens the big Collingsworth County Free Fair.

It was also learned that the Dukes of Wellington, originally scheduled to take part, will not be able to participate.

Big Collingsworth Free Fair Opens Friday for Two Day Run

Collingsworth County's second annual Free Fair opens at 10 a. m. Friday, August 28 and will close out with the matched roping and barrel race at the rodeo grounds Saturday at 8 p. m.

The fair has been moved downtown, with most events in the community building.

"This will show the real productivity of Collingsworth, and those of us connected with the plans urge you to attend. This is your fair, too," Dr. Chas. B. Jones, fair superintendent, declared.

Final plans are completed, Dr. Jones said, and present indications are that there will be many more entries than last year.

Livestock events will be one day only, but other events will run for two days.

Individual stories on these events are carried in other parts of The Wellington Leader.

The Fair Parade, led by a color guard from the Amarillo Army Recruiting station, will open the Fair at 10 a. m. Judging of the community products, women's and Girls work, and the fine arts departments begins about the same time, and by afternoon, judging will be completed and almost all sections open to the public.

Serving the barbecue will begin at Ellison Park at 11:45 a. m.

The Quarter Horse show starts at Marian Airpark diamond at 1 p. m., and this will be held Friday afternoon only.

The roping and barrel races are scheduled at 8 p. m. both Friday nights and Saturday nights.

The livestock move into town Saturday morning and will be quartered on the old East Ward School grounds, in the east part of town between 8th and 9th streets. Judging will start at 9:30 a. m. The livestock will be on ex-

First Bale Ginned Tuesday At Dodson

The first bale of 1959 cotton ginned in the county was brought to Dodson Tuesday, August 25, about 7:30 p. m., Marvin Wynn, manager of the Davis Gin, reported.

Owner of the cotton was E. L. Treadway, who farms 5 miles east of Dodson.

He had 2010 pounds of seed cotton and got a 445 pound bale with 940 pounds of seed.

Wynn said this was dryland cotton and burnt pretty badly. However, it is believed it will grade strict middling 15/16. The government loan price on this is 33.13.

Treadway told Wynn he probably will make one-third bale per acre on this field.

HEADS FAIR

Dr. Chas. B. Jones for the second year is heading the Collingsworth County Free Fair, and as president of the Fair Association has directed the overall work and helped to set the policies under which the Fair operates.

There will be no formal program, but early settlers will be given an opportunity to visit, reminisce and renew acquaintances.

Saturday Is Changing

Like the "old gray mare" in that wellknown song, Saturday ain't what she used to be.

Most of us can recall when Saturday was something special. It was the big "trading day."

County-seat merchants might sit around half the week whittling on slabs from discarded orange crates, and listening to the overhead piling up. But Saturday found them as busy as a cat in a butcher shop.

Saturday was the time the farmer and his family came to town and stayed from sun-up to sundown. It was on Saturday, too, that the housewife bought provisions for the big Sunday dinner and staples for the coming week.

Children needing shoes, coats, mittens or other "sized" merchandise would be herded in on Saturdays for a fitting. The laboring man, pay envelope in hand, would drop by in the late afternoon or early night to settle his account and maybe take home a bag of hard candy for the kids.

In that by-gone era, most of the stores stayed open on Saturday night to take advantage of late-trading customers and there were plenty of them. Some of the barbers here can remember when they cut hair until midnight on many a Saturday night.

Yes indeed, Saturday was a busy, bustling, happy time. But in these late years, it seems, something has happened to Saturday. Something pretty serious. And if the trend keeps up, Saturday may lose identity as a special day. It already has in many towns.

According to the National Retail Merchants Association, Saturday is no longer a "big day" in the stores of most county-seat towns in America. Even Monday is likely to surpass it in sales. Thursday is the banner marketing day in most places, says the NRMA.

We suppose it's simply an indication of the changing times. But somehow we can't help feeling a little sad about Saturday. It was quite an exciting day.

Unnecessary Strike

How unnecessary the steel strikes is! We recognize that the steel industry's profits have grown and grown the last few years. Yorkers, although they are getting sky-high wages, are asking a greater share of the profits.

President Eisenhower has been making a real effort to prevent inflation, but if the steel strike ends according to precedent the workmen will have virtually what they want and the industry will pass the extra costs on to the consumer. All of which adds to greater inflation.

It would have been so much more reasonable for the industry to have dropped its prices, and labor in turn would have modified its demands or might have called off the strike. Such measures as these in the interests of the national welfare would have created some faith both in industry and labor.

It seems so unnecessary for the steel companies to continue to increase its products to higher and higher plateaus and placing the blame on labor for the continued march upward. Where labor may have increased steel production costs a nickel per pound, the industry boosts the costs to the consumer to 15 to 19 cents per pound.

In the same manner the automobile industry passes off the increased labor costs following the walk-outs of the automobile workers. For every cent of added labor costs, the automobile industry taps the consumer from three to five cents, which also includes the added cost of the automobile industry of the greater cost of steel.

It would seem to us that if industrial and labor leaders were the least bit interested in the welfare of the nation some favorable settlement could be reached. Foolish it is for both sides to wait until the bubble bursts in their faces.

CROSSROADS REPORT

Dear Editor:

I see where a Senator wants to hire a new cabinet officer to be called the Secretary of Urbiculture, to look after city folks like the Secretary of Agriculture takes care of country people.

But my city-liver neighbor says he hopes this don't come to pass, on account of he couldn't hardly adjust his living to 65 per cent of what was par for wages in 1947.

Not even, he thinks, if the Urb Secretary was as liberal as the Ag Secretary in sending out checks for thumb-twiddling.

I see where it is stated that 28 per cent of U.S. families are living beyond their incomes. My progressive neighbor says Sherriff M. S. Carpenter and family came in on the train from San Angelo. They had to leave their car because heavy rain had washed out bridges and ruined roads.

Salt Fork: Clyde King, Ernest Bouward and Robert Selby left for the plains to work in the wheat harvest.

Miss Florrie Fuller, who has been working in the insurance department at Washington, is here visiting her parents.

Miss Hawkins will resume her classes in piano and violin on September 8.

what these figures really show is that 72 per cent of American families are getting a raw deal.

Says Congress had ought to investigate the creditor class which plainly is discriminating against this 72 per cent and depriving them of their civil right to a flossier living than they can pay for.

I see where some GI's have been complaining to Congress about being assigned to valet and housemaid duty for generals and their wives.

My home life expert neighbor says that these men don't seem to realize is that duty like this could be worth more to the military effort than a squad of rifle-men.

On account of, say, a general living with his wife and kids needs somebody around the house who will take orders from him, so as to keep his ego pumped up to command size.

My out-dated neighbor says it used to be that folks would put up considerable of a battle—some even going so far as to save up money-to keep off charity rolls.

But says there has been some change, and nowadays a man just living off his own labor, and not getting any kind of government check, is looked at as sort of queer and not hardly worth socializing with.

Says even some young folks planning their careers are favoring government checks over work, and dreaming of a publicly financed future in the soil bank or in Congress.

I see where Louisiana's Govern-nor Long says the only thing that can beat him in the next election is if some good man comes out.

My politically-apt neighbor says he don't figure the governor is much bothered on this point, on account it being often proved that a good man is the easiest kind to beat in a political race.

Says Salt Creek is log-jammed with good men who tried a little dose of politics and found out that a tall promise has got more vote appeal than a high principle.

3 Years Research Goes into Making Of Bronco Movie

More than three years of research and negotiations with foreign diplomats and tribal chieftains in 27 countries went into the making of "The Mating Urge," daring and exotic film story of the little known love rites and customs of people around the world, which opens a 4-day engagement at the Bronco theater Wednesday, September 2-5.

"The Mating Urge," which is photographed in color, is entirely authentic, having been filmed by 17 cameramen in the actual locales shown and utilizing actual lovers practicing their strange, and sometimes shocking rites and ceremonies.

In addition to many months of intensive research with experts in ethnology, anthropology and sociology, the producers spent many more months in negotiations with foreign governments and tribal chieftains to gain permission to film these love rites, most of which have never been seen before.

Production crews traveled more than 200,000 miles, in many cases to remote parts of the world where professional film makers have never before exposed a foot of film, to obtain much of the exciting and delicate scenes.

Camera lenses ranged through Africa, Malaya, Ceylon, Bali, New Guinea and New Hebrides, to mention a few locales, to capture this interesting documentary of love and marriage in the exotic islands and voluptuous wilderness.

"The Mating Urge" will be shown with the second feature, "Naked In The Sun."

Barbecue Begins At 11:45 a. m. in Ellison Park

The big County Fair Barbecue will be held Friday, August 28, in Ellison park, and serving will begin at 11:45 a. m. Cliff Campbell, chairman has announced.

It will be the same type barbecue as was served last year, cooked in a trench, and seasoned as barbecue was served when Collingsworth was an open range.

Eight hundred pounds of beef will be barbecued all night Thursday night under Campbell's direction, and assisted by such local barbecue chefs as Henry Sullivan, Richard Bailey, Cal Hurst, Dan Henard, John Holton, V. K. Orr, Elvis Crawley, Rusty Henard and others.

Mrs. Pearl Aaron will be in charge of serving the meal and of preparing all food except the barbecue. The menu will be the traditional barbecue dinner: meat, beans, potato salad, apricots, onions and pickles.

A double line will be formed to serve the public, in order that each may get his food more quickly. The people will then scatter over the park to eat where they wish.

The price for the barbecue will be $1.00 per plate.

Most famous sports event of its kind in the country, Boys Ranch rodeo, in its fifteenth annual performance, will be presented at Cal Farley's Boys Ranch on the afternoons of Sept. 6 and 7, Labor Day week-end.

The rodeo, staged entirely by Boys Ranchers, features only the youngsters from the ranch. Specialty acts by well-known rodeo performers will be presented between the fast, action-packed regular events, but these will be the only "outsiders" in the show.

Boys from five through 17 will ride in bronc, steer, bull and calf busting events for points and prizes, as well as the title of Best All-Around Cowboy. Boys taking top honors become eligible to qualify for the crack riding group at the Ranch, the colorful Boys Ranch Honor Patrol.

Among other events featuring the boys will be the clowning, trick riding, the wild horse scramble and calf riding.

Providing music for the two performances will be the widely known 40-piece Amarillo Air Force Base Golden Spread band with Chief Warrant Officer Guy Stone directing.

Performances will begin at 2:30 p. m. each day, and admission for adults will be $1.25 for adults, 75 cents for children, and 50 cents for service men in uniform.

WELCOME TO THE BIG Collingsworth Free Fair

Agriculture is the heart of a fair... just as agriculture is the heart of this bank, and it is with pride that we congratulate the men and women who are making this, the second annual Collingsworth County Free Fair, a success.

When you visit the Fair Friday and Saturday, you'll see what is right with Collingsworth County economy... livestock, quarter-horses, crops, plus entertainments that include a parade, barbecue, rodeo and fun events. They are all there for your enjoyment.

City State Bank is set up to advise with you on your farm problems and work with you in your farming operations. We invite you to take advantages of the services we offer. Many blue ribbon winners at the Fair this week already have done so.

Parade Opens County Fair at 10 Friday Morning

Opening the second annual Collingsworth County Free Fair will be the big parade through downtown Wellington, headed by Polly O'Neil and Henry Sullivan.

The parade will begin marching at 10 a.m. led by the Skyrocket Band. This will be the first of several bands to take part, for these have been invited from Shamrock, Childress, Hollis and other nearby towns, according to Bennett Goodloe, who is handling this part of the work.

One completely new feature will be the Dukes of Wellington. This organization was set up on permanent basis by O'Neil as a group to give color to such events and to advertise Wellington. The members will be dressed in high top hats and long tail coats, reminiscent of Dukes of Wellington of other years. Their section will be one of the colorful parts of the parade.

There will be floats from business houses in Wellington, from civil, service and social organizations. Boys and girls groups will have their floats, too.

The red, white and black clad Collingsworth County Sheriff's Posse will ride, and other riding clubs have been invited from Wheeler County, Hollis, Vinson and others in the surrounding area.

Any boy or girl with a bicycle can ride in the Bicycle Brigade, as long as the bicycle is decorated, Sullivan said.

There will be a large group of commercial floats, featuring such items as farm machinery, cars and trucks, and other types of equipment.

There will be no cash prizes, but trophies will be awarded the best band and the best riding club, and a ribbon will go to the best decorated bicycle, O'Neil said.

Doyle McKinney, district manager of Lone Star Gas Company, Childress, formerly of Wellington, heads the list of Parade judges.

The floats and commercial entries will assemble on Dallas Street south of 9th. Others will assemble on the East Ward School grounds. The parade will march west on 9th street, go along the east, north and west sides of the square, then south on West Avenue to 11th Street, east one block and north on East Avenue until it reaches 9th, then return to the school grounds the way it came.

Dodson Nazarene Revival Opens September 2

Revival services will be held at the Church of the Nazarene in Dodson from Wednesday, September 2, through Sunday, September 13, with preaching by the Rev. Joseph Bierce, evangelist-singer of Bicknell, Indiana.

Rev. Bierce was a pastor fourteen years before entering evangelistic work.

He has been president of the district Nazarene Young People's Society, both on the New York and the North Carolina District.

In addition to preaching during the special services, he is a talented vocalist and gives special solos.

The public is invited to hear him, Rev. Moore said.

District Court Session Monday

Two jury cases were continued and two divorce cases dismissed on the motions of the plaintiffs attorneys during a session of 100th District Court Monday, August 17, presided over by Judge Luther Gribble.

The jury cases, Wellington State Bank vs. J. B. Faulkner and Reggie Barr vs. Clifford M. Writen, were continued by agreement of the respective attorneys, the case not being ready for trial.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Small, Mr. and Mrs. Dudley McMillin and Mr. and Mrs. Pete Nipper of Dodson have returned from a week's vacation at Colorado Springs.

Words Return From Kentucky

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Word and daughter, Janet Kaye of Vinson returned recently from Kentucky, where he attended a two weeks Army school at Fort Knox, Ky.

Word is a captain and commanding officer of Co. D, First Medium Tank Battalion, 245th Infantry Division of the National Guard. With his men, he was in summer camp at Fort Hood last week.

The family also made a vacation of the trip to Kentucky.

En route to Fort Knox they visited the Meramec Caverns in Stanton, Missouri.

In Hodgenville, Kentucky they visited the Lincoln Memorial built on the grounds where Lincoln spent his childhood. A few feet from the Memorial is the Sinking Springs where the Lincoln family obtained their drinking water.

They saw many cardinals, Kentucky's state bird, squirrels and other wild life in the park.

"My Old Kentucky Home" has been a state shrine in Bardstown since 1921 and was the Rowan home where Stephen Foster visited and first played his song "My Old Kentucky Home". Mr. Rowan, who owned this large plantation was Stephen Foster's uncle.

The J. Dan Talbot Amphitheater was erected on the park grounds and opened this summer for the production of "The Stephen Foster Story" which was written for this particular setting. "We all thoroughly enjoyed this drama. Stephen Foster was played by James Rouse Morris, known in England as "Mr. American Music". Barbara Alleyen Lockard from "The Judy Garland Show" played Jeannie," Mrs. Word recalled.

Other places of interest were, The Patton Museum at Fort Knox, the Junior Derby in Louisville, Mammoth Cave, Bernheim Forest, Otter State Park and Fern Cliff which was referred to as Rock-Haven on the Ohio River.

Saturday, July 25th they spent in the Saint Louis Zoo where Janet Kaye thoroughly enjoyed the monkey, elephant and lion shows.

"The super highways made our trip very pleasant since we spent less time traveling and had more time for sight-seeing," Mrs. Word said.

Miss Georgia Hawks of Amarillo was a house guest of Miss Frances Drake last week.

Buck Creek Revival Set

Revival services will begin at the Buck Creek Missionary Baptist Church, Sunday, August 30, according to Palo Cummings who is helping with arrangements.

Rev. B. C. Stonecipher of Masterson will do the preaching. He is the son of Elder L. Stonecipher, who is pastor of the church.

Morning services are at 10 a.m., and evening services will begin at 7:30 p.m. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Bryan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Rolan Bryan of Wellington and was graduated from Samnorwood high school.

Farmers Get Good Results on Grass Seeding

This has been a favorable year for farmers trying to establish native range grasses, and a number of successful plantings have been made in Salt Fork SCD.

Most of these were such grasses as the bluestems, blue grama and sidecoats grama, Fred Squyres, work unit conservationist for Salt Fork SCD, reported.

As of July 1, sixty-three farmers had sowed a total of 7,357 acres of these native grasses in Salt Fork SCD. Some of those were Cudd Brothers, J. F. McIntosh, Wayne Johnson, H. C. Mitchell, J. J. Burns, W. C. Harrell, P. E. Starr, E. A. Hays and Odie Bradley.

"Persons interested in seeding cropland to rangeland should drill their cover of sudan, sorghum or millet soon," Squyres remarked. "This cover should be drilled at the rate of about 14 to 16 pounds per acre."

For the best results in grass seeding, this cover should be allowed to make its maximum growth without being grazed. It should not, however, be allowed to seed. The following spring, grasses may be drilled in this dead litter cover.

"There are many grasses native to the country and each one does best if it is seeded in the location for which it is best adapted. Squyres pointed out. "For instance, sandyland areas grow such grasses as needle and thread, little and sand bluestems, Indian grass, switch grass and Canada wildrye. Mixed lands take well to side oats grama, mesquite grass, little and sand bluestems; deep hard lands need blue grama, side-oats grama and vine mesquite.

"Be sure to give the grasses you seed every advantage. Seed the right grass into good cover at the correct time and then keep stock off for the full growing season."

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Fielding, Jarell and Rita Sue of Quail, and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Neel of Memphis visited over the weekend in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Loyd Vines and girls of Logan, N. M. On Sunday the group enjoyed a picnic and watermelon feast at the Conchas Dam, north of Tucumcari.

New Law Adds to Those Who May Become Governor

Wherever you live in Texas, after August 12, a potential successor to the office of Governor will be living near you.

A new law, passed by the 56th Legislature and signed by Governor Price Daniel, becomes effective on that date. It extends by 13 the number of persons who can legally succeed the governor without a special election. Most of the 13 live outside Austin.

The purpose is to assure the state a chief executive in case of calamitous occurrence, such as atomic attack. Previously the only legally designated successors to the governor were the lieutenant governor and president pro tempore of the Senate. Added to those now are the speaker of the House, the Attorney General, and the chief justices of the 11 courts of civil appeals in their numerical order.

"Enactment of this law is a significant milestone in Texas' survival preparedness program," said James H. Garner, acting state coordinator of civil defense and disaster relief. "Continuity of government at all levels is basic to civil defense, and the short line of succession to the governorship here has been a matter of serious concern."

The civil appeals judges represent an extra safety margin since they are scattered geographically over the state. Their courts are located at Galveston, Fort Worth, Austin, San Antonio, Dallas, Texarkana, Amarillo, El Paso, Waco and Eastland.

Senator Culp Krueger of El Campo, a long-time proponent of civil defense, introduced the measure, and Senator George Moffett of Chillicothe was co-author. Representative Stanley Boysen of Yoakum was House sponsor.

Terrapin Races Set Both Days at Fair

The terrapin races, one of the most popular events at last year's Fair, will be repeated this year, with a few minor changes. It will be held at Ellison Park and other designated places and the time will be announced by loud speaker.

The terrapin races are one of the moneyed events of the Collingsworth County Free Fair, and the fastest of these slow-going reptiles will bring down $50 in the grand champion race. W. R. Breeding, chairman, announced this week. There will be money prizes in each of the four preliminary races, two to be held Friday and two on Saturday before the championship race Saturday evening.

Those wishing to enter terrapins may train their own or they may get one from Breeding, the race chairman. Small boys of the county are hunting terrapins at 10 cents per head this week and an ample supply has been guaranteed.

Breeding explained how the race operates:

The terrapins will be placed under a tub in the center of a 30-foot circle. The winner is the first terrapin to cross the circle line. There is an entry fee of $5 per terrapin and no winning terrapin may enter more than one of the first places.

First place winner in each of the four preliminary races is $12.50, second, $7.50 and third $2.50. The fifth, or championship race, consists of the three top winners of each of the four preliminary races. There is only one prize, $50, Breeding pointed out.

Monty Mitchell of Quail is assistant to Breeding. In charge of taking entries are Mitchell, Henry Sullivan, John Holton, Ed Crowder of Dodson, Cecil Brown of Samnorwood and Breeding.

Continue To Collect Dodson School Taxes

The commissioners, included in their motion that the school would be responsible for the tax roll, auditing and preparing and delivering the tax roll, and that the county tax collector would be responsible for the collection of the taxes.

A background of fern and ivy screened the altar area, and centering this was a white wrought iron arch, covered with white daisies and woodwardia fern. On either side were two sets of cathedral taper in seven-branched candelabra, to which was attached floral arrangements of daisies and ivy. The white satin-covered prayer bench completed the arrangement.

Wedding music was by LaVon Copley who also accompanied the bride's sister, Miss Denise Rose of Morton, who was the maid of honor, as she sang during the ceremony, "Beulah," "Wedding Prayer," and "The Lord's Prayer."

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of original design in Alencon lace and fluted ruffles over satin. The fitted bodice featured a portrait neckline outlined with pearl and sequin embroidered scalloped lace. Long sleeves tapered to petal points over her hands. The pearl and sequin embroider was repeated around the lace apron which cascaded over the billowing skirt of ruffles and lace tiers, flowing gracefully into a chapel train. Her veil of imported illusion was held by a crown of pearls with lace and sequin trim. Cascade bouquet of stephanotis, feathered carnations and a white orchid rested on a pearl-covered Bible. —By Deskins Wells

This is the last day of our study mission and it has turned out to be just that a study of the military defenses the United States has set up from the outer most part of the Aleutians and all over continental Alaska into the Arctic Circle.

This column will be entirely about Kodiak. Today is cloudy and chilly, but yesterday we had the good fortune to land on Kodiak on a sunny cloudless day something that happens only 17% of the time as any veteran who was stationed on the Aleutians in World War II can tell you. The scenery was magnificent with the green mountains contrasting sharply with the still blue water of Kodiak Bay and the wild flowers were fresh and lovely as we drove up to the top of pillar mountain to see the "White Alice" installation.

"White Alice" is a series of communication stations stretching from Atka along the Aleutian chain to join with Dewline the warning system which stretches from the northwestern tip of Alaska across all of Canada into Newfoundland. There are 28 "White Alice" stations about 180 miles apart from Atka on into the Bering Sea. Each unit is a giant receiving and sending outfit that can send messages by voice or teletype in any kind of weather operating on FM system of straight line communication.

At the Airport on Kodiak, we were met by naval officers who escorted us to our barracks and on to what they called The Little Red School House where we were given a briefing on the function and duties of the Naval Station on Kodiak. In addition to serving as one unit in the White Alice chain, the Kodiak Naval Station also makes regular flights far into the Arctic Ocean, and they located the vast sections of floating glacier ice on which some of the U. S. Ice Islands were located.

We were informed of these ice islands at Eilson and Ladd near Fairbanks, but I do not believe I have given any description of them up to date. The largest of the ice islands is a giant slab of glacier ice over two miles long and over a mile wide and it rotates in a great circle in the Arctic Ocean never entering the Bering Sea. It is 160 feet in thickness and due to pressure through the years it is as hard as ice can possibly be. In the summer months it melts some on top, but during the winter months it builds up ice both on the bottom and a little from the snowfall on the top and it is the same thickness as when the first military observation post was established.

The ice island has a limited number of military personnel and an about the same number of civilian scientists who are studying all manner of polar phenomena and conditions. The average tour of an enlisted man on one of the ice islands is two months, but it counts for a much longer tour of duty than a similar period for someone stationed in the Continental U. S. The Naval Station at Kodiak makes periodic inspections of the ice islands, but they are supplied by the Air Bases such as Eilson and Ladd near Fairbanks.

After the briefing which included many more factual details about "White Alice", the editors were shown a film on Kodiak wild life taken by Chief Petty Officer Hooker of Lufkin, Texas that is. His close up pictures of beavers building a dam and his movies of the activities of the giant Kodiak bear catching salmon were the most remarkable I have ever seen. His pictures show that the Kodiak bear does not slap the salmon out of the stream with its paw—rather it pounces on it and holds it with its paw until it can catch it in its mouth. There were also exceptionally fine shots of native flowers, birds, and sunsets. I remarked that these were equal to anything that Walt Disney had ever made and I was informed that Hooker had sold some of his film to Disney as well as commercial firms.

When it comes to public relations, the Navy can do up the little details in a very bright and friendly blue. Here is an example. At the luncheon I was seated with CDR Elliott V. Converse of Palestine, CDR. W. J. McFarland of Dallas and CDR H. C. Stirling of Sulpur Springs. Converse is from Texas A&M, McFarland is from SMU and Stirling is a graduate of East Texas State. We started gabbing like a bunch of long separated cousins and had a rousing good time talking about Southwestern Conference football in the thirties.

All of the other editors were also seated with either officers or enlisted men from their home state. This was the idea and planning of Rear Admiral McKecknic who was host for the luncheon. In one of the clearest briefings the editors received, and all were excellent and to the point, Admiral McKecknic said: "The Navy's role in Alaska is to provide protection of sea communications, submarine operations, mining and harbor defense, control and protection of shipping, reconnaissance in Alaskan waters and resupply of the Arctic Dew Line."

Admiral McKecknic, who reminds you a lot of what Tommy Potts, the registered Hereford breeder of Memphis, Texas looked like some fifteen years ago, told us of the strategic importance of the Naval installations on Kodiak, Adak etc. It is conceivable that a potential enemy might consider Alaska to be the "Gateway to North America." The shortest distance to the Far East, The Great Circle Route is practically within shouting distance of the Aleutian chain of islands. Clamp an 'ice curtain' around this route of travel and we put an extra two days between the U.S. and our friends in the Orient.

This was much in accord with what officers of the Air Force and The Army had told us previously at Eilson, Ladd, and other command posts. The visiting editors came to the conclusion that The Navy, The Air Force and The Army were working together harmoniously and efficiently in performing their complex and difficult task of guarding our far frontiers from the "optential enemies" regardless of all the wordage that might be coming out of the Pentagon in Washington.

The Naval Station at Kodiak is located near the City of Kodiak which is the largest town in the Kodiak Island group and is the oldest permanent settlement in Alaska, having been founded by Alexander Baranoff in 1722. Upon landing at the airport, I asked the name of a pointed mountain that was green to its very summit. It is called the Barometer for the grass turns from brown to green according to temperature. The grass and trees on Kodiak are the greenest green I have ever seen, and I have seen England and Scotland when they were at their best. The temperature is fairly mild due to the Japanese current although the island is farther north than Glasgow, Copenhagen and Moscow. The average is 30 degrees, the coldest month is January, the hottest month is August. The lowest temperature ever recorded was 9 degrees below freezing and this was way back in 1917, but as I have said before the sun shines only 17 per cent of the time and we were lucky enough to hit one of the sunny days. The average rainfall most of which is fog and snow is 59 inches a year.

Living costs are high in Kodiak as they are in other parts of Alaska. The Government has some housing units on the outskirts of the town. A one bedroom apartment with electricity furnished cost $150 a month and a two bedroom apartment with electricity furnished costs $250 a month and the groceries are priced at the food stores on the basis of airplane transportation although all of the canned goods are shipped in by freight. The natives feel that Kodiak would be a good place for an A&P or a Safeway store, but evidently the chains don't think so for none are there. A man who drove us around said that a young couple who had no children could make good money provided the wife were a competent secretary, bookkeeper etc. But he said it was hopeless when they had a family and the wife had to stay home and mind the children even though the husband might have a high paying job compared to wages and salaries in the states.

Like the rest of Alaska, Kodiak is a wonderful place to see and from the military standpoint is in a position of great strategic value and for those who can afford it a splendid place to fish and hunt wild game and the only place you can hunt the giant Kodiak bear. This is the same animal as the Alaskan brown bear, but due to diet or something the bears on the island are much larger and more ferocious than those on the mainland.

Fair Time in Collingsworth

Come on and see the exhibits—Join the fun!

Take your first thrilling look at the 1959 produce of Collingsworth, assembled so that we may see it as a whole . . . cotton, fat maize heads, grasses and forage, livestock, fruit and the work women's skilled hands.

We are indeed a productive county, and this bank is proud of the vital part we have played in helping build the economy of our area. You see, we have reason to be especially proud of this year's Collingsworth County Free Fair.

Cotton and Fairs

Always Go Hand in Hand

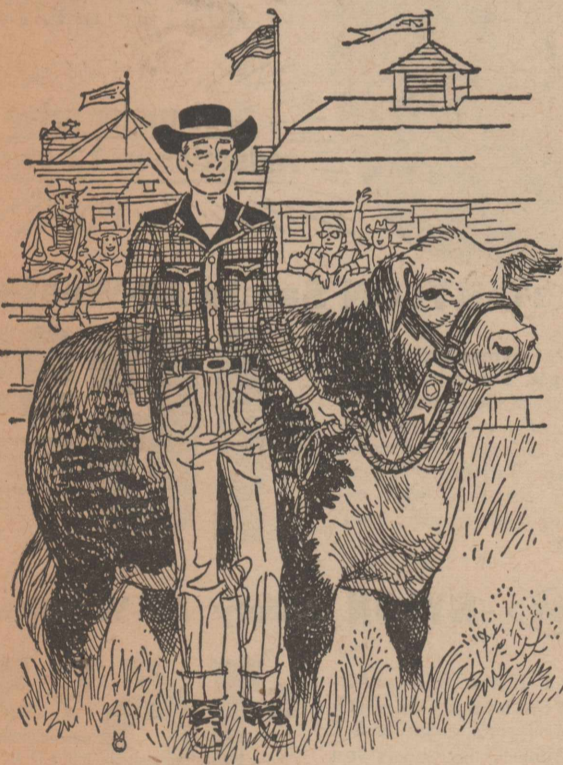

WE EXTEND SINCERE CONGRATULATIONS TO THOSE MEN AND WOMEN WHO ARE RESPONSIBLE FOR THE SPLENDID FAIR THAT OPENS FRIDAY.

We invite you — in fact we urge you — to attend the Collingsworth County Free Fair, where the best of these crops that are the backbone of our economy will be on display. We hope you will give special attention to those displays concerning cotton. They forecast the crops we will harvest this fall.

Your gin is a part of that cotton crop — the part that in the end determines largely how much each bale brings you. The Farmers Co-op Gin works at all times to see that all possible advantages come to its customers — whether it is installing the latest machinery in our plant, or helping get a cotton classing station in the area, that will mean more dollars to you.

We hope you'll have fun at the fair, too, for that is an essential part of it.

And while you are visiting the fair, if you have any livestock problem, we invite you to come by and talk it over with us.

It's a Wet Affair

VFW OPERATING DUNKING BOARD AS FAIR FUN EVENT

The Veterans of Foreign Wars is operating a dunking board through this week as an entertainment feature of the Fair, and anyone with a strong arm and straight aim may get to dunk some popular business man in the horse-tank.

This is a money raising project and all proceeds will stay here to help the VFW remodel part of the VFW Hall and improve the grounds, Eli Wolf, spokesman for that group, said.

The dunking board works like this: A board is set up above the large galvanized horse tank filled with water, and on the board perches the willing victim. The spectator may buy three balls and aim at a target. If he hits it, automatically trips a trigger and the business man is dumped in the water.

"I can tell you first hand you get plenty wet," Wolf declared.

"I was dunked once by a 70-year-old man."

"We're going to have some pretty popular business men on that board during the week," he declared.

The dunking board will be in operation from 7 to 10 p.m. through Thursday and most all day on Friday and Saturday, Wolf said.

The VFW Auxiliary is operating a refreshment stand next to the board.

The 19-year-old soldier is a 1958 graduate of Wellington High School.

Miss Sherri Somerville of Dallas was a recent guest of her aunt, Miss Daisy Somerville.

Our heartiest congratulations to the members of the various committees responsible for the success of the Collingsworth County Fair.

We believe this is one of the finest programs promoted on our county in recent years, and we subscribe to the idea that a Fair contributes much to the betterment of a community.

We urge all of you to join us at the big Collingsworth County Free Fair Friday and Saturday, August 28 and 29.
