Farmers Voting On Marketing Quotas

Growers will vote again this year by mail on marketing quotas for their 1969 upland cotton crop, Curtis Latimer, Chairman, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation County Committee, said.

Ballots are to be returned to the ASCS county office - by mail or in person - during the period Monday-December 2 through Friday, December 6.

"Beginning with the referendum on marketing quotas for the 1954 crop, growers have approved quotas for each year's cotton crop," the chairman said. "In the vote last year, on quotas for the 1968 upland cotton crop, 95.3 percent of the growers voting approved the quotas. More than 275,000 American farmers voted."

By law, quotas must be proclaimed by the Secretary of Agriculture in years when the total cotton supply exceeds the normal supply. That is the case this year, Latimer pointed out.

The 1969 program has been designed to produce sufficient cotton to meet expected demand and to encourage the production of a higher percentage of the medium and longer staple lengths, he noted.

For 1969, the chairman explained, Mitchell County has a total of 67,392 acres available for allotment to growers of upland cotton. This represents the County's share of the national acreage allotment of 16 million acres (the smallest permitted under law) plus the National acreage reserve of 200,000 acres to take care of minimum farm allotments. Notices of individual farm allotments have been mailed to operators of upland cotton farms.

If at least two-thirds of the growers voting in the referendum approve quotas for the 1969 upland cotton crop, growers who plant within their allotment will have available a program that offers loans and price-support payments. No acreage diversion is necessary in 1969, and no diversion payments will be offered. Special provisions for small farmers. See FARMERS Page 7

Roof Climbing Ruled Off Limits

Tops of buildings downtown have been declared "off limits" for prizes by the Chamber of Commerce Merchants Committee which sponsors the weekly scattering of ping pong balls from a plane.

Business men in the downtown area, said the Chamber office, have expressed much concern over the double hazard of roof climbing by boys and youths searching for prize ping pong balls.

Climbers run two risks. Merchants Committee pointed out. They risk a fall and injuries - or worse - and they risk property damage to the roofs.

Second Street is cleared of traffic by Colorado City Police Department, during the flight of Colorado City Flying Service. Traffic is cleared for safety's sake.

Strong plea from the Chamber that youngsters keep off downtown roofs is an additional safety measure, said a Chamber spokesman.

Mr. and Mrs. Sorrells Live In Abilene After Marriage

Mr. and Mrs. Gene H. Sorrells are residing in Abilene following their recent marriage in Silver Church of Christ.

Mrs. Sorrells is the former Linda Nell Sanders, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. K. Sanders of Silver.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Sorrells of Silver are parents of the bridegroom.

The couple was married in an eight o'clock ceremony Nov. 23. Ron McClung of Abilene officiated in wedding vows as the couple stood before an altar marked with a seven-branched candelabra and baskets of white gladioli and carnations.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, James E. Sanders.

She wore a gown of white Chantilly lace and organza fashioned with a fitted bodice and bouffant southern-bell skirt. Bodice was styled with a Sabrina neckline and long slim sleeves. Her chapel-length train of Chantilly lace was attached at the shoulders. Her veil of silk tulle, edged in lace, was attached to a tiara of seed pearls and crystals.

She carried a bouquet of white carnations and white ribbon roses tied with steamers of white ribbon with a white Bible.

Nuptial music was presented by a choir from 22nd and Austin Streets Church of Christ in Colorado City.

Miss Gloria Ann Richardson of Abilene and Colorado City was maid of honor.

She wore a floor-length gown of emerald green, complemented by white lace. Her long-stemmed carnation was tied with a white ribbon.

Gary D. Carrithers of Falls City, Neb., served as best man.

Ushers were Leslie Sanders of Silver, brother of the bride, and Phil Chumley of Altus, Okla. and Abilene Christian College.

Reception for the wedding couple was in the church. Bride's table was laid with an heirloom lace cloth and centered with the bride's bouquet.

For a honeymoon trip to San Angelo, the bride wore a pink double knit suit with a matching full-length coat.

They are at home at 1166 Santos in Abilene where Mr. Sorrells is employed at ACC Barber Shop.

CONVERSATION CORNER

ONE OF THE Sunday magazine sections printed an article Sunday, Dec. 1, titled "What's Wrong With Women," adding, as an after-thought, "Politically."

What's Wrong With This World is too often some man or collection of men trying to figure out What's Wrong With Women.

What's Wrong With Women can not be pinpointed nor catalogued any more than can What's Wrong With Weather. Men and women don't agree on the subject. It takes all kinds to please even part of the people part of the time.

What's Wrong With Weather is that it's changeable. Hot, cold, brisk, quiet, noisy, still, stormy, threatening, warm one time, then icy-faced the next, without warning. And nothing can really be done about it. What's Wrong With Weather is just that it's weather.

What's Wrong With Women is just about the same as. What's Wrong With Women is that they're women.

WHAT'S WRONG With Men is definitely easier to figure. And it's high time some brave, unselfish, unbiased, experienced woman took up the matter for honest discussion.

What's wrong with men is their appetites. They are either starving to death before dinner is ready or they can't eat a bite until between-halves no matter what's cooking.

What's wrong with men is they're born boys instead of girls and are therefore part packrat. Ever try to prize one loose from a favorite ragged garment? Or that stack of Sports Illustrated they're saving?

What's wrong with men is their thermostats. They are cold when the house is warm and too hot when the electric blanket control registers low.

WHAT'S WRONG with men is that they do not know how to enjoy being sick. At the same time, they are sicker with a slight cold than a woman ever is with double pneumonia, they'll have you know.

What's wrong with men is their curiosity. They're always wanting to know "How much?" or "Where'd you put my over-shoes?"

What's wrong with men is their innocence. They are so naive, most of them, they give their own fibs away without ever knowing how or why.

What's wrong with men is their blasted charm. Babies and children and old women adore the rascals. So do young women and middle-aged women.

What's wrong with men is that they know it.

WHAT'S WRONG with men is their hearing. Tell one the most enchanting thing you've heard lately and he'll say "Huh? Who?"

What's wrong with men is their eyesight. They can't tell a new permanent from a new feather hat so long as it's on their wife.

What's wrong with men is that they are prone to be consistent - stubbornly so. How can they get along always with the inconsistent feminine sex?

What's wrong with men is they'll promise her anything... but give her wrong sizes.

What's wrong with men is that they're men. And women know it.

THERE is just one Peggy Ratliff. Know what she did, Saturday? Co-hostess in her home with Emily (Mrs. Dub) Waldrup for the biggest party of the Thanksgiving weekend. Peggy got up in the pre-dawn hours Saturday and went hunting with her husband Bob. After 9:30 breakfast at Truck Town Peggy went home and finished getting ready for the tea - which was a perfect affair.

Met for the first time the co-hostess Emily Waldrup - diminutive blond with clearest blue eyes.

GREETED, same time same place, Barbara Girvin (Mrs. Punky) in a chic hat. Virginia (Mrs. Pete) Warren in a dazzling shade of blue. Marian Craddock, wife of Jay, and her daughter Dana of the burnished copper hair.

Jackie Benson was there. Ruth Hightower. Pat Kelley, wife of Jim. Isabel Ratliff, mother of Bob. Mrs. Olson Sweet.

Met for the first time Mrs. Bob O'Day. Margaret Latimer, wife of Curtis, and their pixie daughter by marriage, Janie. Janie, petite and vivacious in her miniskirt, looks like a very young (and prettier) version of Audrey Hepburn.

Jane Majors, wife of Buzz, was looking her prettiest, too.

SHOPPING SCENE faces belonged to Mabel Kelley and Thelma McSpadden. Newby Pratt. Eddie Braswell.

Saw Clem and Frances Myers in a noon hour threesome with Annie Dixon. Mrs. Oscar Majors and Mrs. Sam L. Majors Sr. together. Sefton Pickens. Bim Carlock. Bedord Dulin.

Pat Chinn, wife of Dr. John, and Margaret Sparks, wife of Ben, were welcome office drop-ins. Fun to talk to.

Spied the Bruce Byrnes and their littlest, dark-haired Datha, out at the Cattlemen's late luncheon. Carol and Frank Prewitt at the Down Town.

Glimpsed Bill Randle headed for the bank. Saw Mary Rice Lloyd (Mrs. R. J.) too.

HEAR TELL Rob Roy Smith, son of the Ray Smiths of Midland and grandson of the T. T. Smiths of Buford Community will take part in the Punt, Pass & Kick National Area contest Sunday between halves at the Dallas Cowboy-Pittsburg pro game.

Hear tell the Flying Club couldn't drop the prizes downtown Saturday because of low clouds, rain and snow. So there'll be double the amount of prizes, come this Saturday.

Hear, too, that Charles and Maxie Lee Root had both their daughters and their families home for Thanksgiving weekend. Anna Lee, her husband Ray-Dillard (son of the A. C. Dillards) and their children, Charles Ray and Christi Lynn, were here from Denton. Judy and her husband, Billy Hubbard, were here from San Antonio.

Brenda Bell, daughter of Madge and Joe, was here from Austin where she teaches.

Carol Ginzle, daughter of Frank and Betty, was at home from North Texas State University, Denton.

You see more and more Chevy pickups in the most unexpected places. And why not! They look great anywhere.

We give Chevy pickups strength without the trucky muscle-bound look. And you'll find a Chevy a pleasure to drive.

Let's say you select a CST (Custom Sport Truck) or the long wheelbase Longhorn pickup that's made especially for kingsize camper bodies. Just add things like air conditioning and bucket seats and you have more luxury than you'll find in the average second car.

Let your Chevrolet dealer tell you all about the smooth ride, the long-lasting toughness and particularly the low cost of a new Chevy pickup. After all, good looks aren't everything!

THERE SHALL BE MUSIC

People who love to sing just for the sake of singing are a very special breed.

They are the kind of people who will meet two evenings each week in the heart of this busy season to practice the beautiful choruses of Handel's Messiah... just for the sake of singing... singing praises hailing Christmas.

Group of community singers from all faiths are giving The Messiah music Dec. 13 with Curtis Baker as director and his wife, Alice at the organ.

People who love to sing just for the sake of singing add a lot to this community and to community spirit.

Let's the rest of us go hear them. People who love to listen to good music just for the sake of listening are a pretty special breed, too.

Delegates At Convention

Mitchell County Farmers Union delegates to the Texas Farmers Union convention in Austin this week are Mr. and Mrs. Gene Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. W. A.
Taylor, and Mrs. J. D. Gibson, who left for Austin Wednesday.

Elected alternates are Lee Roy Cornutt and Warren Anderson.

An array of prominent national and state officials will address the 65th annual convention of Texas Farmers Union which convenes at the Terrace Motor Hotel in Austin, December 5, 6 and 7.

Over 500 delegates and members of the statewide general farm organization are expected to be in the capitol city for the annual meeting.

Congressman Jake Pickle of Austin will address the convention at the first general session on Thursday morning, December 5. Others expected to appear on the program that day are Victor Ray, director of public relations for National Farmers Union, Texas Farmers Union state president Jay Naman of Waco and Dr. W. E.
Black, Extension Economist
from Texas A&M University.
Dr. Black will speak on agricultural bargaining.

Delegates will begin discussions on a policy program Thursday evening. State policies are derived from resolutions approved by the 116 county and local Farmers Union organizations. The final Texas Farmers Union program approved by the delegates will be taken to the National Farmers Union convention early next year.

Featured during general sessions on Friday will be H. S.
"Hank" Brown, president of Texas AFL-CIO, Gilbert Rhode, president of Wisconsin Farmers Union, L. J. Capplemann, state director of Farmers Home Administration, and Mrs. Donald Wooten of Crosbyton, Director of Health Insurance Services for Texas Farmers Union.

National Farmers Union
president Tony T. Dechant of Denver will address the annual banquet session, Friday evening.

Senator Ralph Yarborough will be the principal speaker Saturday morning. Other activities for Saturday morning include appearances by representatives from the state associations of Future Farmers, Future Homemakers, 4-H Clubs, Young Farmers and Young Homemakers.

Special activities during the convention include tours of scenic and historic interest in the Austin area.

Delegates to the convention will elect a president and vice president for the coming year.
Dean Harman of Tulsa who has served as vice president since 1966 has announced that he will not be a candidate for another term.

Three delegates to the National Farmers Union convention will be elected during the three day meeting.

FARMERS

will however be continued.
Marketing quotas penalties would apply to any excess cotton produced on a farm. Growers who elect not to participate in the program have the chance to produce cotton for export only, without marketing penalties or Government assistance.

If more than one-third of the voters oppose quotas for the 1969 crop, the regular allotment program will remain in effect, and price-support loans will be available at 50 percent of parity to growers who do not exceed their acreage allotments, as provided by law. However, there will be no price-support payment, Latimer said.

Lease or sale of cotton allotments is provided for the 1969 crop regardless of the outcome of the marketing quota referendum. Transfer documents have to be filed with the county office not later than December 31, 1968.

Generally, farmers eligible to vote are all producers who share in the 1968 cotton crop or its proceeds. Questions about eligibility to vote ASOS should be referred to the county office, Latimer concluded.

Thinking Spiritually Your Hometown Minister Speaks

DEVOTIONAL
By Cecil M. Tune,
First Methodist, Loraine

SCRIPTURE: Psalm 42:1, "As the hart panteth after the waterbrooks, so panteth my soul after thee, O God."

It is generally conceded that we get, for the most part, that thing we want the most. For if we are ready to pay the supreme price to see its fulfillment.

David, the Psalmist, pictured the little deer fervently searching for the waters which would quench the thirst thusly created, and used it to bespeak his craving for God. In a word - the need of the world today is that its people come to desire God more than all things else.

We have three things working for us at this point, and the first is: we are created in the image of God, and our souls roam in continual dissatisfaction until they find rest in Him and His will. The stories are almost endless telling of people in their search for happiness, working till all hours to make a good living so the better things of life may be bought, taking shortcuts through life, stepping on others, taking advantage in every possible way, only to arrive and find out it was not the answer after all.

King Solomon gives us such a picture of his actions: he is quoted as having said he thought good works would give him the happiness and satisfaction he sought, but when he had obtained and carried out magnificent building projects throughout the realm, even to the building of the greatest temple in the world, he then found that "all was vanity".

Again, he thought to find wealth and thereby gain true satisfaction, but when this wealth was acquired, plus the grandeur heard of throughout the world, he settled down once again to say "all is vanity." Another thought that intrigued him was that surely happiness would come with fame.

But, when the time had come that, in all reality, he was the most powerful personage in the world, he found that it was totally lacking in the fundamental ingredient of happiness, and so cried out once again, "Vanity of vanities - all is vanity." O That he might have read the words of his father and realized that his hunger was, after all, for God.

Then, another factor working to help us achieve this Godly satisfaction is God Himself, and His actions toward that end. His love for man is legendary, but the crowning act which proved it beyond words was the offering of His Son on the cross for man's sins. It's rather hard to see now why there are so many people in the world who are still searching for that which satisfies when the answer is so simple. God's voice is heard in love, then in discipline.

The writer of the Hebrews reminds us that "Whom the Lord loveth He chasteneth." Among our greatest needs of today is the one which would enable us to recognize God's hand in His dealings with us, and "be exercised" thereby, not with gripings and complainings, but with true humility and Godly desire. If any person is lost in eternity we must rest assured it will be his fault - not God's.

Then, the third thing we have going for us is people who care. May God be thanked for people in the lives of us all who throw up barriers of love to arrest us in our downward march, and once we are stopped, tell us the story of Jesus and His love.

A story of yesteryear tells us of a supposed incident that happened in heaven after Jesus had ascended back to the Father following His sojourn on earth. It is suggested that when Jesus had finished telling the story of His earthly walk that one of His listeners asked Him what future plans He would have to save the world in case those disciples He had left on earth failed to carry out His Great Commission.

The Christ is depicted as lowering His head momentarily, then raising it to say, "I have no other plan." May we not fail our Master even today in the telling of the Gospel story to wayward man.

So, the statement still stands unchallenged so far as I can see; when our desire for God and His presence is as strong as the earthly appetites with which we live, we shall find Him reality, and with confidence walk the pathways of the world conqueringly!

Which Is It ... Only A House Or Your Home?

Proud of your house, aren't you, with central heating, wall-to-wall carpet, modern kitchen, gadgets galore.

But is it a home? There's a difference, you know.

All the wizardry of man can't make a home out of four walls unless there is love inside -- the kind of love which understands, binds, heals and holds a family together just because they want to be together.

You can't find it at the lumber yard or in the refrigerator or on a monthly installment plan. Only in church... through Christian faith.

That's why the smallest bungalow often is the sturdiest, happiest home when a giant mansion is not. The people who live there live with God, renewing their faith and seeking His blessing in church... regularly.
