Tech Seeking Use Of Giant Pantex Plant

College Would Use Layout For Short Courses For War Veterans, Others

By C. W. RATLIFF
Avalanche Staff Writer

POSSIBILITY of use of the gigantic $35,000,000 Pantex Ordnance plant, 17 miles northeast of Amarillo, as an adjunct facility of Texas Technological college for vocational short course training of veterans in the immediate future and as a "proving ground" for agricultural and research projects on a long-range basis was envisioned by college officials Monday after the board of directors had voted to ask the Reconstruction Finance corporation for the vast plant.

To Make Request Today

Dr. W. M. Whyburn, Tech president, announced last night that officials of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce through a board member, Chanslor Weymouth of Amarillo, had presented the proposition to the board in a meeting at Amarillo Saturday and because of lack of a quorum, no action was taken. Monday, Mark Magee of Fort Worth, a board member who was absent, sent in his telegraphic vote in favor of making the request to the RFC for the plant.

The request of the RFC for donation of the expansive 16,000-acre plant to the college "with no string attached" will be informally made by Weymouth today to be followed by a formal request accompanied by a brief outlining proposed uses by the college of the project.

Proposal that Tech take over the plant and operate it as a facility of the college was made by Weymouth to other Tech board members last week and the idea was advanced to President Whyburn and other college officials. Saturday, Dr. Whyburn, Dean W. L. Stangel of the division of agriculture; Dean R. C. Goodwin, Business Manager W. T. Gaston, Weymouth, Board Chairman Chas. C. Thompson of Colorado City, Bob Price of El Paso and Kyle Spiller of Jacksboro visited the giant plant.

Over the week-end, Tech officials hurriedly drafted tentative plans for use of the project should

Farwell Man Named Head Of W.T.C.C.

(By The Associated Press)

ABILENE, Nov. 5—Hamlin Y. Overstreet of Farwell was elected president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce at the closing session of its 28th annual meeting here today.

Overstreet, elevated from a vice presidency, succeeds E. W. Hardin of Amarillo.

Other officers named were H. C. Custard of Cleburne, Grady Mitcham, San Angelo, and C. P. Dodson, Decatur, vice presidents; Malcolm M. Meek, Abilene, treasurer. D. A. Bandeen, general manager since 1929, was re-elected.

Two Presented Plaques

Hardin and J. Thomas Davis of Stephenville were presented "Top West Texan" plaques for service as presidents of WTCC. Davis served two years preceding Hardin.

All planks in the referendum were approved on the basis of membership voting except part of one plank which would have pledged WTCC to support a legislative appropriation to finance an all-Texas advertising program.

At noon the group heard an address by Olin Culberson, chairman of the state railroad commission.

Seven propositions were submitted at the afternoon session based on resolutions adopted by local chambers of commerce. The assembly approved the following:

Taxing of Business

A resolution by M. C. Ulmer of Midland asking Congress to take effective action immediately to tax equally and uniformly government financed and privately financed business.

A resolution by W. R. Cusenbery of Sonora asking Congress to inaugurate and enforce policies which will discipline and police offending labor-management the same as offending business-management, protect the rights of property and free enterprise the same as the rights of labor; and settle labor-management controversies without strikes and picketing.

A universal military training proposal by J. M. Willson for the Floydada Chamber of Commerce, stating: "We call upon our representatives in Congress to enhance the security and peace of this country and the world and to strengthen the youth of this country by supporting the President's program for universal military service." The resolution was passed unanimously without debate.

Texas Redistricting

Truman Gravely Warns That Labor Peace Must Be Found

Evidence Piles Up Against Jap War Chief
Yamashita Enforced Filipino Death Order

By DEAN SCHEDLER
Associated Press Staff Writer

MANILA, Nov. 5—Lt. Gen. Tomoyuki Yamashita showed great anger when a collaborationist leader asked him to revoke his order to "kill all Filipinos," a prosecution witness testified today at the general's trial on war crime charges.

The witness, Joaquin 'Galang—himself under detention as a suspected collaborator—said he was present when Yamashita rejected a plea by Gen. Artemio Ricarte, Filipino politico-militarist, to "revoke your general order to kill all Filipinos and destroy all their cities."

Yamashita leaped to his feet, Galang testified, clenched his hands and shouted:

"An order is an order! It is my order, and therefore should not be disobeyed!"

Galang said Ricarte had made a fervent plea for revocation of the ruthless order, even going so far as to tell Yamashita that "nobody is at fault for the Filipinos' turning guerrilla, except that the Japanese are taking their food and torturing them."

Yamashita's reply to this reference to Japanese brutality, the witness related, was:

"Let's not talk about this any longer. The Filipinos are treacherous, hence they are our enemies."

Other witnesses called by the prosecution described how Japanese troops went about Manila shortly before its recapture by Americans, setting fire to inflammable buildings and dynamiting the concrete structures.

Yamashita, onetime "Tiger of Malaya," sat placidly through the session. Only once did the eyes behind his horn-rimmed spectacles betray sudden interest in the proceedings. That was when the witness Galang pointed in his direction and called him "that man with glasses."

Strike Halts Big Bus Line

(By The Associated Press)

DALLAS, Nov. 5.—Union workers who called a strike last midnight that paralyzed operations of the Southwestern Greyhound Bus lines in seven states are ready to negotiate.

A. F. Steele, international AFL organizer, said in Dallas shortly after noon that the union "stands ready to negotiate at any hour." In Fort Worth, Southwestern Greyhound's President P. W. Tibbetts said he had been ready and waiting to negotiate all the time.

The strike continued, however, and W. C. O'Kelley, union business agent, said in Kansas City that it might last two or three days more. He said he still plans to meet company officials in Fort Worth Thursday "if they still want to see us."

2,000 Men Are Out

Approximately 2,000 drivers, ticket agents, and baggage room workers in Texas, Louisiana, New Mexico, Arkansas, Colorado, Kansas City and Missouri are idle.

Terminals from El Paso to Memphis were closed. Competitive lines were swamped.

The strikers are members of the Amalgamated Street, Railway and Motor Coach Employes of America (AFL).

In Kansas City, T. R. McGovern, financial secretary of the international headquarters, said the strike was "wildcat and unauthorized so far as I can find out."

Said Pushed Around

C. E. Ellis, chairman of the Houston sub-local, said the men "felt they were being pushed around and the strike was called to hurry things up."

The main issue in the dispute is a reduction of take-home pay. Tibbetts said that when the government ordered a 35-mile-an-hour speed limit, drivers were given a bonus. When the speed limit was lifted Oct. 1, the bonus was removed.

Drivers have asked that the pay be kept the same. A meeting Oct. 31 to discuss this was recessed until Nov. 8 at the request of the union to enable Otto Lebate, vice president of the national association, to attend.

Willing To Hike Pay

Tibbetts said the company is willing to increase pay, but not quite as much as the drivers ask. Contract mileage pay was 4.2 cents per mile and the slowdown brought it to 4.88. The union is asking 5

Johnson Boys -- All Ten Of Them -- Give Skipper Big Start

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5. (AP)—Lt. John F. Johnson, Ringgold, Ga., thought it was mildly amusing when the first of a group of nine replacement seamen reported to his auxiliary ship recently, saluted, and said:

"Johnson reporting for duty, sir."

When the second man said the same thing, he was slightly puzzled, and when it happened a third time he asked:

"Is this a joke?"

Johnson number three grinned and answered:

"If we're a joke there are six more of us behind me, sir!"

Ten Johnsons on the one ship, the Anacapa, made her crew more than 10 per cent Johnson.

U. S. System Is 'At Stake'

By DON WHITEHEAD
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—While white-collar pickets paraded outside the labor-management conference today, President Truman gravely warned delegates they must find a formula for industrial peace among themselves or else the people of the United States will find the answer "some place else."

The President did not raise his voice when he made this statement at the conclusion of his talk, but no one present missed the implications as he called on leaders of labor and industry to "furnish a broad and permanent foundation for industrial peace and progress."

Whole System At Stake

"For these answers must and will be found," the President said, "the whole system of private enterprise and industrial opportunity depends upon finding them."

With these words the President set the task of the conference which got away smoothly with only the parading pickets adding a discordant note. John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers of America, walked through the picket line twice to attend the morning and afternoon sessions and William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, passed through once.

The pickets appeared on Constitution avenue shortly before the conference convened, protesting that independent unions had not been invited to the conference.

Break Up For President

The pickets laid down their signs, however, when the presidential party approached and there was no line across Mr. Truman's path.

The highly explosive question of wages and hours was injected into the conference both by Philip Murray and Secretary of Commerce Wallace in their addresses while Green — siding with the views of management delegates—asserted "the introduction of other controversial subjects such as wages, full employment and legislation for consideration of this conference would make failure of the conference a foregone conclusion.

Murray declared "American workers have joined in a crusade for a very simple objective—the restoration of their pay envelopes of loss in take home pay, the maintenance of a human standard

GOP Pries Lid Off Politics

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5. (AP) — It was election eve and politics broke forth in Congress in a "Taft for President" speech.

The speaker was Rep. Mason (R-Ill). This, he announced, opened the 1948 campaign.

Mason offered a cabinet that cuts across party lines. He criticized Roosevelt policies.

This called for a Democratic reply. Rep. Outland (D-Calif) said the GOP might fare better in 1948 if it stuck to "the issues of the day."

Elections Of Little Effect

Tomorrow's elections, mostly local, will have little effect on Congress. Two places in the House formerly held by Republicans are to be filled. In the Illinois 24th a Republican is unopposed. In New Jersey 4th, there is a four-way contest.

In a light work day,, these subjects came up on Capitol Hill:

Atomic energy — the Senate's special atomic committee is going to night school. It wants to broaden its scientific background before it legislates. After members are primed, they will start hearings on control measures.

Favors Commission

The House Military committee majority made its formal report in favor of a federal comission with broad powers over domestic development of atomic energy. It said the plan was completely neutral on the international issues which some congressmen had wanted resolved along with domestic questions.

Clothing prices—Rep. Ramspeck (D-Ga) said "unscrupulous" manufacturers and merchants used slight changes in design to avoid OPA price ceilings. He commented during a hearing before the House Labor committee on a bill to hike the minimum wage.

Tax Paying Utilities

Public power—Kinsey M. Robinson, president of the Washington Water Power company, Spokane, Wash., said public power's "special privileges, especially freedom from taxation," posed a critical situation for "the taxpaying utilities in the northwest." He testified at a House hearing on the 1935 utility holding company act.

Jobs bill—the House expenditures committee heard testiomny on the "full employment" bill, a "must" administration measure. Views of witnesses opposed each other.

Eight Survive Crash At Sea; Seven Killed And 12 Missing

By KATHRYNE IRVIN
Associated Press Staff Writer

HONOLULU, Nov. 5—Eight weary, injured survivors of an ATC Liberator transport which made a forced landing on the Pacific Saturday arrived today aboard the Escort Carrier Casablanca and were rushed to a hospital.

Also aboard the Casablanca were the bodies of seven dead. Search is continuing for 12 others including a WAC who were aboard the plane, which crash landed 460 miles northeast of Oahu.

Board Warns Survivors

A special Army board of inquiry, first to board the Casablanca, instructed the survivors not to venture an opinion on the cause of the forced landing—which broke the four-engined Liberator in two—or on certain details regarding their time in the water before they were rescued.

OREGON HUNT GOES ON

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 5. (AP)—Reports from widely scattered sectors of the Pacific Northwest today baffled Army, Navy and Coast Guard fliers searching for two Liberator B-24 bombers lost since Thursday on a Tacoma-Portland flight.

Planes today flew a criss-cross pattern over Washington-Oregon areas between Keiso, Wash., and the California-Oregon border without locating any trace of wreckage.

Two survivors, John R. Patrick, a civilian engineer whose address was not available, and Lt. Karl Harr, Jr., South Orange, N. J., were rushed off the ship before newspaper reporters could contact them.

Condition Of Injured

The other survivors, with the ATC's reports of their condition:

Pfc. Ernest Haydel, 21, New Orleans, compound leg fracture, serious.

Cpl. Harry Toben, Philadelphia, compound leg fracture, critical.

S/Sgt. Albert Johnson, 26, Lakewood, Ohio, scalp bruises, favorable.

S/Sgt. Robert Thompson, Detroit and Ferndale, Mich., brain concussion, serious.

Pfc. Donald Mitchell, Beaver Falls, Pa., fractured hand, good.

Patrick suffered multiple bruises and lacerations.

All eight survivors were taken to Tripler (Army) hospital.

Haydel said he spent 10 hours in the water, sustained by a lifejacket.

Toben, who said he had spent 45 days in the China theater, was enroute home for discharge.

Miss Trautman was enroute to Seattle on emergency leave to

Far-Reaching Plan To Fill Ranks Of Navy Is Approved

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 (AP)—A far-reaching plan to obtain and educate thousands of officers for the powerful postwar Navy has been aprpoved by Secretary Forrestal, the Navy announced tonight.

Officials said that the plan would assure equality of opportunity to officers who have not graduated from the Naval academy at Annapolis.

The plan, as drafted by a board headed by Rear Admiral James L. Holloway, assistant chief of naval personnel for demobilization, is subject to congressional approval. Legislation to carry it out will be introduced shortly.

Doubling of Academy

The program calls for doubling the present output of the naval academy, the capacity of which is now about 3,000 students. Overall, however, the postwar Navy officers strength would comprise not more than 50 per cent academy graduates, officials said.

The second source of officer candidates would be the nation's 52 naval ROTC units, which now have an authorized maximum enrollment of 14,000 men. They would receive federal aid in financing their college course, including courses in naval sciences. Graduates would receive commissions as ensigns and would obligate themselves to serve on active duty for 15 months to three years.

College Graduates

The third source would be graduates of accredited colleges. They would be eligible for appointment as ensigns upon graduation, and would be sent to an orientation school. Such officers would be obligated to serve at least two years.

After three years of probationary service, officers would decide whether to seek permanent careers in the Navy. Those so choosing would be screened by selection boards. Those not choosing permanent careers, and those failing selection, would go into the inactive reserve.

Specialized Program

The fourth factor in the program is the specialized plan set up for naval aviators.

Under that plan, any student in an accredited school could apply for flight training at the end of his second year. After one year of such training, he would be assigned to the fleet. After a year's fleet service he would win his ensign commission, and then would serve another year at sea. Then, if he chose to remain in the Navy, he would go to the naval academy to complete his college education.

If he chose to transfer to the inactive reserve, he would go to the college of his own choice for his last two years, with the Navy paying his expenses and $100 per month

Two Sisters Leading Parallel Lives, Even To Having Babies

LOS ANGELES, Nov. 5. (AP)—Two sisters, born on the same date two years apart, who were married in a double wedding to two men they once double-dated, today observed their birth anniversaries in hopsitals where each gave birth to daughters, only an hour apart.

They are Theresa Lewis, 18, whose husband, Robert, is in the armed services, and Clara Hyland, 20, wife of Tom Hyland, electrician.

They couldn't arrange their accouchment together, but one was taken to Beverly hospital and the other to Belvedere — both of which begin with the same letter.

Ruling On Ward Seizure Declined

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 (AP)—The Supreme court refused today to rule whether the government was right or wrong in seizing Montgomery Ward properties in seven cities last December 28.

The government gave the properties back October 18. Next day it asked the court to hold that no cause of action now exists. This was done, the court vacating a U. S. circuit court decision which favored the government, and dismissing the original complaint.

Fear Another Seizure

The company had pressed for a Supreme court decision on the ground that the properties might be seized again.

This was the first opinion day of the new term. The court handed down a series of decisions in which no flat dissent was registered. This is in sharp contrast to the 1944 start.

The court also ruled:

1. It will review a Massachusetts federal court decision on the federal "kick back" act. This law prohibits coercing an employe to give up part of his pay. The Justice department complained that lower court decision exempts union officials even though the payment extracted from a worker is for the "personal enrichment" of a union official.

2. It will pass on the contempt conviction of the Miami Herald and its associate editor, John D.

Japs Realizing War's Mistake, Leader Says

TOKYO, Nov. 5 (AP)—Although Japan paid a fearful price, it learned a "good lesson" from the war and fundamental changes probably will result, one of the nation's leading psychologists said today.

Dr. Sadaji Takagi of Tokyo Imperial university expressed these views as the government prepared for an extraordinary session of the Diet which will revoke many repressive laws that stand in the way of remaking the nation.

The Japanese are beginning to realize for the first time, said Takagi, that their country is not the only one nor the best in the world. War and surrender "shattered that illusion," he said.

The people also are benefitting from their contact with the occupation forces, Takagi explained, and this is breaking down some thinking harking back to feudal days. The average man, he added, will start thinking for himself and politically move toward Democracy as all restraints are removed.

Small Holders Win In Hungary

BUDAPEST, Nov. 5 (AP)—The moderately conservative Small Holders party tonight had won 58 per cent of the more than 4,000,000 votes cast in yesterday's national parliamentary elections, with more than three-fourth of all the ballots counted.

It appeared the Small Holders party majority would hold at about that figure and win for them a sweeping victory in the first general election held in Soviet-occupied eastern Europe since the war's end.

Social Democrats Second

The Laborite Social Democrats were running second with about 22 per cent of the vote and the Communists had about 14 per cent.

The Small Holders party is a middle-of-the-road group, made up of shopkeepers, small landowners and professional men.

A complete count will be delayed until returns are in from all the country's 16 national voting districts.

The overwhelming victory of the Small Holders will place them in a dominant position in the Hungarian parliament. Whether the party will attempt to form a coalition cabinet or one of its own members, could not be determined immediately.

May Resume Relations

It was regarded as certain, however, that Zoltan Tildy, Methodist Minister and head of the Small Holders party, would succeed Bela Miklos as premier.

There was every evidence that the elections were conducted in complete freedom. Voting was quiet and orderly, with only a few instances of violence. It appeared, therefore that Hungary had removed one of the obstacles delaying full recognition and the restoration of normal diplomatic relations with the United States and Great Britain.

The gals insist, however, that the "no jean day" does not herald a reformation, it's "just a simple desire to ease the aching hearts of critics."

Jones Indicted On Tax Charge

DALLAS, Nov. 5. (AP)—Former Assistant U. S. District Attorney Joe H. Jones was indicted by a federal grand jury today charging income tax evasion in the years 1942 and 1943.

The grand jury also submitted a report to Federal Judge T. W. Davidson in which it criticized former United States attorneys for engaging in private practice of law while serving as government attorneys. It recommended that federal legislation be enacted prohibiting such practice.

The indictment of Jones charged that in 1942 he filed an income tax return on a community property basis claiming that he owed income tax of $134.52 and that his wife owed the same amount. He and his wife actually owed $1,051.47 each, the indictment charged. In 1943, it further set out, Jones filed a return claiming that he owed income taxes totaling $151.88 and that his wife owed $154.89, whereas he actually owed $642.37 and his wife owed $647.42.

Income in both years was composed of salary as assistant United States attorney and of fees in civil cases, the indictment said.

Mixing Of Duties

Mixing of duties as a government attornuey and as a private attorney accepting fees was the subject of the special report submitted by the grand jury along with the indictment. This report said that the grand jury had made a thorough investigation, lasting twelve days, of the U. S. attorney's office during the term of service of District Attorney Clyde Eastus and Jones.

Eastus took office as U. S. attorney in 1933, and appointed Jones an assistant a few months later. Jones was suspended last February and Eastus about three months later. They were partners in a private law firm for several years.

Induction Of Fathers Of Three Is Halted

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 (AP) — Induction of fathers with three or more children under 18 was halted today.

Selective Service put the ban into effect at the request of the Army and the Navy.

In practice the order affects only qualified registrants 18 through 25, since drafting of older men was discontinued when the war ended.

Draft boards have been under orders to give preference to fathers in granting deferments, but heretofore there have been no outright exemptions of younger men.

The Selective Service order applies to volunteers as well as nonvolunteers.

Storm Over High, Rugged Sierras May Hamper Search . . .

No Trace Found Of Missing Child

By TOM LAMBERT
Associated Press Staff Writer

DOWNIEVILLE, Calif., Nov. 5.—A storm was brewing tonight over the rugged high Sierra as searching parties returned in small groups—still with no word of the fate of three-year-old Dickie tum Suden.

The child had been missing since Thursday morning from the tum Suden home at Goodyear Bar, in the storied mother lode mining country.

No trace of the little boy had been found. There was nothing on which to base a theory that he was kidnaped; neither was there any other explanation of how he had vanished.

Men with long poles to which grappling hooks were fixed, probed the north fork of the Yuba river, to see if eddies or deep holes would yield the little body.

Other searchers sought through ravines and thickets. All returned empty-handed.

The barometer was dropping fast tonight. Local residents say that it snows, some years, in early November. A had rain storm or snow would not halt the search but would cripple its effectiveness.

John Black of Ventura coursed two Russian shepherds over the stony hills today. They have become famous in the west for tracking down missing persons. Black and the dogs returned in midafternoon. Asked if he had found anything during the search, Black commented "I would rather not say." He was to take the dogs out again later in the day.

"I hope it is kidnaping and that he is alive and safe—rather than lost in those mountains," said the father, Joseph tum Suden, operator of a gold mine at Goodyear Bar.

At San Francisco today police were telephoned by a deep-voiced man who said only "I've got the kid—unless you send me some dough, I'll chop the kid's head and legs off." Police said that although the man declared he was telephoning from Long Beach, the call did not come from there. They regarded the call as a hoax.

NEW YORK, Nov. 5 (AP)—Jerome Kern, 60-year-old composer of "Show Boat" and many of America's best loved songs, collapsed on Park Avenue today and was taken to City hospital.

The dapper, white-haired Kern, who wrote "Smoke Gets in Your Eyes," "Ol' Man River," and other musical hits, was stricken shortly after noon and did not regain consciousness for nearly three hours.

Girl Is Missing With Stranger

SAN JOSE, Calif., Nov. 5. (AP)—An intensive search was under way today for 15-year old Thora Chamberlain and a ruddy complexioned, hook-nosed young man who police say lured her into an automobile last Friday with promise of a child-tending job after school.

Deputy Sheriff Phil Cuffaro said today after a special assembly at Campbell Union High school that he had obtained information which enabled him to piece together the following details of Thora's disappearance:

The man, between 25 and 33 years old, had been seen around the school frequently. Friday he wore a "T" shirt and was driving a dark colored 1932 model Plymouth sedan.

Two Friends Hear Story

Two classmates, whose names were not revealed, said the man accosted Miss Chamberlain after school Friday and asked her to take care of some children while he went downtown.

Thora turned to the other two girls and asked them if they wanted the child-tending work. They said they didn't and walked away. A few moments later they turned and saw Thora step into the automobile and the man drove away with her.

Traffic Dispersal Plan Approved By County Commissioners Court

An original plan of the state highway commission for a federal-state financed road and street traffic dispersal system affecting Lubbock and Lubbock county was accepted by the Lubbock county commissioners court in a special called meeting Monday morning.

The state commission already had made a tentative interim agreement with the City of Lubbock, also affected by the proposed dispersal construction.

Subscribe To Agreement

The city had indicated in a letter to D. C. Greer, state highway engineer, that it would subscribe to an agreement whereby it would supply right-of-way and provide for utility lines changes or modifications that might be required in return for the highway commission's pledging actual construction of the dispersal system inside the city under federal-state funds and contingent that the state would maintain such roads.

The county commissioners' action was in reply to a letter from Greer outlining what the city had done and would do, and asking what the county's attitude would be toward construction outside the city.

Furnish Right-Of-Way

In brief, what the county commissioners pledged was this: That they, subject to making available the necessary funds, would agree to furnish right-of-way and clear obstruction for new roads and widening of old roads outside the city in Lubbock, in return for construction of such important dispersal roads at no cost to the county other than the right-of-way.

County commissioners made it clear that they do not believe they can pay for the right-of-way without a bond issue. Such an issue could be provided for only by a public election, which in turn would have to be called only after the court were petitioned in accordance with law.

To Spend Millions

Under the overall plan, the federal and state government would spend 2½ millions of dollars in Lubbock county, inside and outside the city, on roads that would divert traffic along routes which would shunt it where it was destined for at a minimum of time and with a view to relieving traffic arteries already made dangerous by too much vehicular load.

Only one vote was lodged against the county's acceptance of the state proposal, by Commissioner Ben Mansker of Slaton. Said Mansker: "I'd like to make it clear that I voted against the proposal. At the same time I'd like to say why. "In the state's proposal, the state would kick back on the county several stretches of state-designated highways, some of them inside the city of Lubbock. I feel that removal of such designations would injure some sections of the city and the county. As to the overall plan, I'm heartily in favor of it except for that one objection."

Other commissioners, all voting in favor of the proposal, were T. L. Holt of Idalou, P. B. Penney of Lubbock and Vol Farris of Shallowater. County Judge Walter Davies presided.

U. S. Railroad Mission To Remain In Mexico

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 5 (AP)—The U. S. railroad mission is going to remain in Mexico until June 30, 1946, under an agreement for extension made in Washington several weeks ago.

A statement of work done is being prepared but exact figures have not been given out.

The mission in three years has cost the United States about $10,000,000, largely for railroad specialists who have shown the Mexican railroad men new methods of maintenance and operation. Much new equipment has been bought by Mexico and more is on order.

The mission came here originally to help put in shape strategic lines that carried the great quantities of raw materials the United States bought during the war.

Robert De Camp, new head of the mission, is due here shortly to replace Elliott V. Vandercook who resigned to manage the Southern Pacific Railroad of Mexico.

Big Three May Set Up Rule Inside Germany Without French Aid

BERLIN, Nov. 5 (AP)—The United States, Britain and the Soviet Union will proceed with plans for a central administration for Germany without French participation if France persists in her opposition to Central rule, an official informant said today.

The Potsdam declaration provided that a Central government eventually would be established. The French, who were not signatories to the document, are demanding internationalization of the Ruhr and Rhineland. They also want to see Germany dismembered into economic bits and not rebuilt into an economic entity.

Commanders May Agree

Under the Allied setup, unanimous agreement is necessary among the four occupying powers on any action taken by the control council. However, zone commanders may make bilateral agreements among themselves. It is understood this is what the three powers intend to do if France refuses to go along.

In effect, this would freeze France out of the central administrative setup and leave a barrier between the French occupation zone and the rest of Germany.

In one sense, such three-power action would be what the French want, since they have expressed a desire to integrate their zone economically—if not politically—with France.

Brief Bits Of Local News

W. P. Funderburg, about 22, pleaded guilty of two charges of liquor law violation Monday afternoon and paid fines of $150 and $200 and court costs, county officials said.

First Lt. B. L. Green, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Green, 1917 Seventh, has been discharged from the U. S. Army Air force after almost four years of service. He was with the 15th Air Force in Italy as a bomber pilot, and was transferred to the states about a year ago to become an instructor at Lowrey field, Denver, Colo. He plans to enter Texas Tech for the spring semester.

A family reunion was given recently in the home of Mrs. L. C. Lindsey of 408 Ave. V in celebration of the return of her brother, Sgt. L. W. Loper, who has returned from 29 months service in the Pacific theater of war. He served with the Army Air forces ground crews. Twenty persons were present.

W. L. Stangel, dean of Texas Tech's division of agriculture, is in Amarillo attending a two-day agricultural conference called by J. M. Jones, chief of the division of range animal husbandry at Texas Agriculture Experiment station, College Station. Representatives from Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas and the U. S. Department of Agriculture were invited to attend the conference which ends today. They will outline research projects to determine causes of cattle and sheep losses from grazing wheat.

Three former students in Texas Tech's division of Agriculture were recent visitors on the campus. W. C. Brewer of Olton, who recently received his discharge as a second lieutenant with the Army Air Forces, plans to reenter Tech as a senior in January. Milton Pierce, who was graduated in 1941, was enroute to his home in Plainview after receiving his discharge from the Army. A. B. Fly of Borger, USNR, who attended Tech in 1941-42, is here on leave after serving a tour of duty in the Pacific theater. When he reports for duty he will be stationed aboard the USS Bunker Hill.

Vaughn Wilson, Lubbock city attorney, was in Austin Monday attending a state-wide meeting of city attorneys.

OPA Hints Rationing Of Tires To Continue

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 (AP)—OPA today substituted a pessimistic note for its previous optimism on when tire rationing will end. But the gloomy view isn't shared by the agency which will make the decision.

Officials of the Civilian Production administration, successor to the War Production board, said there is a good chance the program may be terminated by the end of the year or soon thereafter.

Their estimate, given to a reporter with the understanding names would not be used, was sought when the OPA issued a statement designed to tone down optimism generated after OPA Chief Chester Bowles told Congress recently that the end of tire rationing was "in sight."

In today's statement, Max McCullough, assistant to Bowles, noted that passenger tire applications now exceed supplies by nearly 1,000,000 tires.

Search Under Way For Meteor Near Adrian

AMARILLO, Nov. 5. (AP) — A search is underway today for the meteor which fell west of Adrian at noon Saturday.

Oscar Monning, member of the Texas observers, Fort Worth, and Floyd V. Studer, Amarillo, member of the Panhandle-Plains historical society, were seeking parts of the meteor northeast of here.

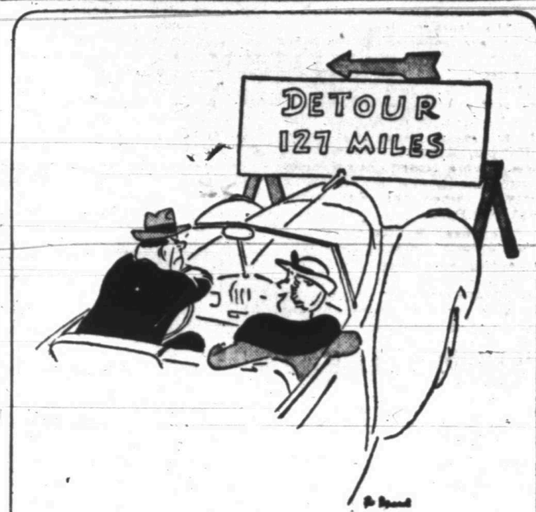

Fragments fell near Highway 66, according to Uel Pruett of Kansas City. Pruett was driving near the scene at the time. J. C. Estlack, Clarendon postmaster, said windows and doors rattled, with a sound like "boxcars slamming together."

Electric lights and radios north of here were out for two minutes.

NEW GIANT X-RAY

The Latest Development in 50 Years of X-Ray Research

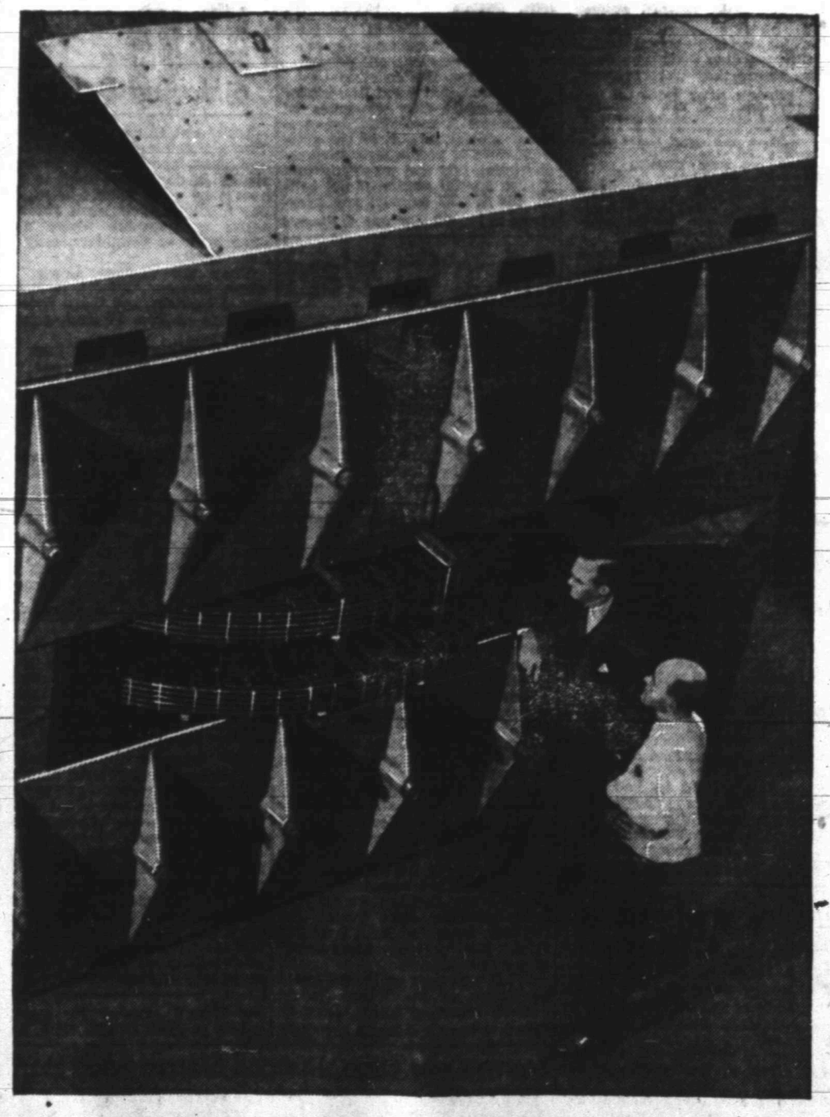

1895—Roentgen, in Germany, discovers mysterious powerful ray, names it "X"—the unknown. One year later, W. D. Coolidge, student at M.I.T., begins experimenting with x-rays. First x-ray tubes were about 25,000 volts.

1913—Dr. W. D. Coolidge, at General Electric, invents revolutionary new x-ray tube. First reliable method of controlling x-rays. This tube was 100,000 volts.

1920—Coolidge designs a completely insulated tube and transformer for a thoroughly safe x-ray unit. The first wholly safe, convenient and adequate dental x-ray outfit came out of this.

1923—Coolidge develops a 200,000-volt "deep therapy" tube with water-cooled target. This higher voltage tube greatly reduced time required for x-ray treatments.

1933—General Electric builds multi-section tubes producing 800,000-volt x-rays. Installed in Mercy Hospital, Chicago, and Swedish Hospital, Seattle, these units have been in constant use ever since.

1940—First 1,000,000-volt unit, plus portability, making x-rays more useful to medicine and industry. Fifty-six of these units built by G-E X-Ray Corporation used in U.S. war production—even flown to England. In 1943 General Electric scientists and engineers developed the first portable 2,000,000-volt x-ray.

1945—NEW G-E 100-MILLION-VOLT "BETATRON"!

This 130-ton giant whirls electrons, tiniest parts of atoms, faster than man has ever been able to speed them before. So fast that they make the nearly 17-foot circular orbit of a doughnut-shaped vacuum tube 250,000 times in 1/240th of a second, and, striking a tungsten target, produce x-rays of 100-million-electron volts!

Dr. E. E. Charlton, left, and W. F. Westendorp, G-E scientists, designed this new machine, which generates x-rays over a thousand times as intense as the early Coolidge tube—with a wave length of 0.00025 Angstrom units, up in the cosmic ray band! These rays will penetrate a thickness of metal considerably greater than even the 2,000,000-volt x-ray unit.

But more important still may be the uses of these super x-ray machines in medical and atomic research. G. E. is making them available to medical science for experimental therapy. General Electric Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

Hitler Eagerly Rewards Musso's Submission In March On Austria

By DANIEL DE LUCE
(Copyright, 1945, By The Associated Press)

BERLIN, Nov. 5—Adolf Hitler knew in 1938 that he would be in a "frightful" military position should the other powers protect Austria, and he eagerly rewarded Mussolini's submission to the anschluss with a pledge that he would "never forget" the Duce's magnanimity.

Hitler's fears of foreign intervention are revealed in records compiled by functionaries of Reichsmarshal Hermann Goering's air ministry, who took down every word as Nazi conspirators maneuvered the seizure of Austria over international telephone lines. Their transcripts, labelled "secret archives," were tossed into a heap of rubbish in the air ministry courtyard when the Red army swept into Berlin.

Retrieved By Germans

Two elderly Germans retrieved the records and loaded them into my jeep in return for two cigarettes. Translated and condensed, they give the first inside account of Germany's role in the Austrian seizure on March 12, 1938.

This record discloses that Prince Philip of Hesse, now in Allied custody, was the go-between in German and Italian negotiations. The prince was the husband of Princess Mafalda of Italy, who died in an Allied bombing of Buchenwald.

Hesse phoned Hitler from Rome at 10:25 p. m., Friday, March 11, just 31 minutes after Arthur Seyss-Inquart, Nazi puppet in Vienna, had agreed to a Goering-dictated telegram requesting German intervention to prevent "bloodshed."

Two-Hour Ultimatum

Chancellor Kurt Schuschnigg's Austrian government had resigned after a two-hour ultimatum from Goering. Seyss-Inquart had been instructed to seize power. Two hundred and forty thousand German troops had orders to cross the Austrian border at dawn.

Hesse opened the conversation, saying: "I have just come from the Jalazzo Venezia. The Duce accepted the whole thing very friendly. He sends you his regards. (Mussolini) said . . . one couldn't do it. He was answered it was unfortunately already arranged thus and one could not change it. Then Mussolini said Austria would now be a finished concern for him."

Hitler: "Then please tell Mussolini I will never forget him for this. Never, never, never . . . in case the Austrian thing is settled, I am ready to go with him through thick and thin."

Soldier Asks Buddy's Name In Movie Lights

ROSWELL, N. M., Nov. 5 (U.P.)—His buddy's name on a marquee is all the reward that Pvt. H. H. Turner seeks for his suggestion for a name for Roswell's new theater.

Pvt. Turner wrote from Guam suggesting that the theater be named "The Sherman," in honor of his buddy, Pvt. Lawrence Sherman.

A native of Chaves county, Sherman fought in the grim battle for Iwo Jima and was killed on the island last March.

Pvt. Turner failed to mention his own home town, so all that theater officials who are conducting the contest know is that he asks no reward except to see his friend's name in bright lights.

Man Fined $100 Under Houston Goo-Goo Law

HOUSTON, Nov. 5. (U.P.)—A 51-year-old man was fined $100 today under the city's "goo goo" ordinance after he attempted to sit beside an 18-year-old girl in a city park as she ate her lunch.

She was frightened away—so frightened she called the police. They advised her to return to the park and said they'd be around for protection

As advised, she returned to the park and agreed to the man's invitation to visit his room, but the police kept the date for her.

In court, the man was fined under an old city regulation, known as the "goo goo law" which forbids a man winking, staring or wiggling his body at a woman.

"GREATEST FORD EVER BUILT"

Says Public from Coast to Coast!

"How Soon?" and "How Much?" Ask Throngs in Dealer Showrooms

On October 26 the new Fords for 1946 went on display in dealer showrooms the country over. In city after city, town after town, dealers reported that the crowds who came to view these fine new automobiles equalled those who greeted the introduction of the famous Ford Model "A" back in 1927—when showroom attendance passed the 10,000,000 mark.

The opening day throngs were matched by those who came Saturday and later. And their opinion has been unanimous. The words most frequently heard have been "The Greatest Ford Ever Built". They backed up their acclaim with orders—326,840 on "V-8 Day", October 26—and Saturday, October 27.

This advertisement is published to record the deep gratification of the entire Ford organization at this splendid public reception . . . and to answer, as directly as we possibly can, the two questions most often asked.

"How Soon Can I Get My New Ford?" We sincerely believe the answer is: "Sooner than you think!" And here's why—Ford, first with assembly line production of postwar cars, first to stock dealers for a nationwide display, is first in quantity production—1,000 units a day reached last week . . . 2,000 a day in prospect within 30 days.

"How Much Will My New Ford Cost?" We think the answer to this is found in Ford's unvarying policy through more than 40 years of operation: always the highest quality at the lowest possible cost.

TO THOSE WHO HAVE NOT YET SEEN THE NEW FORDS: All our dealers have them on display. Please make it a point to see if you, too, don't agree that these are the "Greatest Fords Ever Built".

The Woman's Angle
By Margaret Turner

ONE of the chief disappointments to the returning veteran is that Victory is not furnishing the things it had promised. The ex-servicemen we know seem to want few things when you come to think about it: a job with a decent salary; a car, clothes of which they will not be ashamed and a roof over their heads. Finding a place to live is the chief worry at present for most of the men and if you know how to explain the inflation in real estate that started during their absence, spent in fighting and in fox holes, in aerial combat and on and under the sea, give us a ring please and share that information.

NEW VICTORY BOND

THE only new bond in the final campaign for War bonds is the $200 Victory bond dedicated to the memory of Franklin Delano Roosevelt and which bears a handsome, engraved likeness of the wartime president who brought us to the threshold of victory. Purchase price of the bond is $150 and it bears interest at the rate of 2.9 per cent when held to maturity. The bond is obtained at issuing agencies here and in an emergency may be converted to cash as readily as War bonds.

This is the final paragraph we will write concerning the purchase of bonds. A check shows the sales are lagging and that is disheartening when you realize that our job is not over yet just because the guns have ceased firing. Men are to be brought home, the wounded must be cared for and veterans need rehabilitation. The decks have not yet been cleared for the ways of peace.

WHAT ABOUT WOMANPOWER?

SHORTLY after President Truman's victory proclamation, headlines reported "Women Facing Early Loss of Three and One-Half Million Jobs." Recently we read that more than 2,500,000 women will be job-hunting within a few weeks and that the other 1,000,000 women probably will not look for jobs after their discharge from war work.

Many women will welcome the change to make a home for a returning husband or son, while others will find it necessary to remain employed. It would be almost safe to say that for every man lost in the war, one woman will have to keep a job in peacetime production, we don't care in which category she falls, the individual woman would like to feel she has a choice between the kitchen and the payroll.

IN a pamphlet written by Ruth Leach, young vice president of International Business Machine Corp., we find the statement "Only if we have an expanding economy will there be plenty of jobs for all the women who will want or need them." She predicts the ratio of women in jobs will increase with the total number of jobs and the variety of jobs for women also will increase as a result of high employment.

In discussing the reasons why women must work she states, "Working with a sense of accomplishment is the greatest therapy in the world. It has proved its value in military hospitals and wherever the spirit has suffered because the body could no longer work. Man works because he is restless when idle. Women, too, need to satisfy the urge for accomplishment, and not all women are satisfied with the role of housewife and mother."

It seems to the Woman's Angle that any new industry in which women can get in on the ground floor offers them an excellent chance to rise as high as individual talents can take them, for in such industries, tradition has not labeled certain kinds of work or certain executive positions as men's work, which is a barrier in many instances in the established jobs.

ON PRICE CONTROL

FOLLOWING a meeting at Tech home economics building Monday afternoon, at which R. H. Lawrence, OPA district information officer, talked on the dangers of inflation and the need for the individual to be concerned with price control, a group of representatives of women's organizations voted to serve on an information panel under the war price and rationing board. They are going to disseminate information about changes in price control during short periods held before club and church programs.

If, as Mr. Lawrence said, it's up to the people to decide whether or not inflation will follow this war, as has been the history in all previous wars, Lubbock could be made one place where inflation will not rear its ugly head. Or at least where inflation would not be allowed to grow, because it has already made its presence known. The women at Monday's meeting expressed themselves as violently opposed to its spread.

If women are the buyers of the nation, then why can't women keep down inflation?

TEXAS STATEHOOD

DOWN in Houston, the Harris County Committee of the Texas Statehood Centennial commission is making plans for the observance of the Texas Statehood Centennial. Celebration will take place from Nov. 1 through April 21, San Jacinto Day, and will be observed for the most part with pageants and historical plays in Texas schools.

Will anything be done in West Texas in regard to this celebration? Or will this be a repetition of the Centennial celebration in 1936 which saw pageants, plays, programs the order of the day for East, Central and South Texas and very little, if anything, sponsored out here. After all, we, too, are a part of Texas, aren't we?

Mrs. B. A. Mayes of Clarendon spent the week end in Lubbock as the guest of her sister-in-law, Mrs. J. S. Johnson, 2002 Broadway.

Price Control Need Cited By Lecturer

Representatives of women's organizations met at Tech home economics building Monday afternoon at invitation of Miss Margaret W. Weeks, dean of the division, to hear a discussion on price control given by R. H. Lawrence, Fort Worth, OPA distract information executive officer.

The history of the seven wars in which our country has engaged reveals that inflation followed in each instance, the speaker pointed out, and if that curse is to be prevented today it behooves Americans to become interested in price controls, to develop an awareness of prices and to feel a personal interest in seeing that price ceilings are maintained.

Is Community Problem

Inflation is a community problem, Lawrence said, and will be prevented only when merchants and consumers work side by side. He suggested that the women inquire to see if articles they are buying are "pre-ticketed," that is showing the set retail price; that they talk to develop an awareness of price control and that they study OPA regulations.

"The fire of inflation already is in the basement," he said, "and it is up to us to see that it does not spread through the house."

Attending the meeting were Mrs. Arthur W. Young and Mrs. R. O. Bennett, City Federation; Mrs. L. L. Miller, City Parent-Teacher council; Mrs. Albert Barnett, Church Women's Federation; Mrs. Agnes Hampton, Altrusa club; Miss Doris Nesbitt, AAUW Consumers group; Mrs. W. H. Galloway, Beta Sigma Phi council; Miss Grace Padley, Lubbock Public schools; Mrs. Grace Kelsey, clerk, Lubbock County War Price and Rationing board; Neil H. Wright, chairman of the Community Servise panel; Dr. J. William Davis, head of the Tech government department and Margaret Turner, woman's editor of the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal.

Mr. and Mrs. M. G. Holloway of Morton spent the day Monday with Mrs. Bill Roberts. Both are graduates of Texas Tech. Mr. Holloway, discharged from the Army, has just returned from service in the Pacific, and while he was overseas, his wife had been teaching at Morton. She previously taught for three years at Sanders school here.

Long Occupation Of Japan Seen Necessary By Majority In U. S.

PRINCETON, N. J. — Civilian and military authorities who have been waging battle for a long-term occupation policy for Japan will be interested to know that they have the support of the great majority of American voters.

While every person who has a relative in the armed forces is naturally eager to get him home as quickly as possible, this does not result in wishful thinking on the part of the public.

The average American thinks it is going to take a good many years before policing of the Japanese people can be brought to an end. If asked to estimate about how many years will be necessary the average person sets the time at about 10 years.

Only this week Captain Harold E. Stassen, former Minnesota governor declared that to maintain stability in the Far East, it will be necessary to have long-term supervision of Japan and strong naval and air units in the Pacific. Dr. Herbert V. Evatt, Australian Minister of State for External Affairs declared that Japan must be policed until a real democratic regime is established and warned against possible dangers of short-term occupation. General MacArthur has stated that it "will take many years to fulfill the terms of surrender."

In making the present survey, the Institute had field reporters all over the United States ask:

"Do you think we will have to police the Japanese many years, or do you think we can withdraw our troops in a few years?"

Many years needed	64%
Few years needed	23
Undecided	13

The reasons the majority give for thinking occupation is going to take a long time: "We cannot trust the Japs." "They have to be entirely re-educated, and this will take a long time."

"They still don't know they are licked; it will take a long occupation to teach them."

When the field reporters asked people for their best judgment as to how long occupation would be necessary for Japan, replies ranged from one year to more than 100 years, with at least a small segment declaring that occupation should last forever.

The median average of all replies is 10 years. If the answers of only those who have attended college are taken, the median average jumps to 15 years.

A table of the replies:

1 through 5 years	24%
6 through 10 years	19

Building Permits In City Show Increase

October building permits for Lubbock topped the September mark by $149,114.50 to reflect a steady increase of building for the city.

Last month's permits amounted to $408,467.50 as compared with the previous month's $259,353,000.

Lifting of restrictions on residence construction gave impetus to building applications.

Actual building, however, is progressing at a slow rate. Builders of residences reportedly are especially harried. They are finding it difficult to get certain materials, such as flooring and window fixtures, and labor is scarce and high whenever available.

White House Sources Say FDR's Papers Are Available To Solons

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5. (U.P.)—White House sources today flatly denied a report that many of Franklin D. Roosevelt's private papers are locked up in a White House room to which Grace Tully, the late President's confidential secretary, possessed the only key.

The report came from Senate sources who said Miss Tully's assistance would be vital to the Congressional investigation of Pearl Harbor.

In Archives Building

It was said at the executive mansion that there is not a single sheet of Mr. Roosevelt's private papers in the White House, that there are no locked White House rooms containing any such papers, and that there is no room in the White House to which Miss Tully has access.

All of Mr. Roosevelt's papers that were in the White House have been removed to the Archives building, where Miss Tully now works, and instead of 64 bales, as the Senate sources had it, they are stored in 210 packing cases.

May See Documents

Members of the Congressional Pearl Harbor committee said they would have to have Miss Tully's help if they are ever to wade through the mass of personal data in which may be concealed new information concerning the 1941 Naval disaster.

Acting Committee Chairman Walter F. George, D., Ga., told reporters that both President Truman and the executors of the Roosevelt estate had assured the committee that it may have full access to all the late President's papers.

Meanwhile, Sen. Homer Ferguson, R., Mich., a member of the committee, asserted that one of the allegedly "missing" records concerning Pearl Harbor is an Army document which concerns advance knowledge about the pre-attack situation in the Pacific.

Strange as it may seem, the unfortunate meeting of the council of foreign ministers in London has had a healthy effect.

Maybe it isn't strange at that. The shock of finding out that the great powers could not agree on the simplest details of organizing the world for peace has made Washington, London and Moscow realize that the Big Three will have to scrap some of their differences.

Events of the past week have shown an encouraging spirit of conciliation on the part of the United States and Great Britain toward Russia, and a receptive attitude in Moscow. The tone of the Soviet press has been moderate and not quarrelsome.

Some Important Steps

Among the important steps taken by the Western powers were the following:

1. W. Averell Harriman, U. S. ambassador to Russia, went to the Caucasus with a personal letter from President Truman to Premier Stalin, who has been taking rest in the mountains. He may have conveyed a suggestion for another meeting of the Big Three heads of state, although that is only speculation.

2. Sir Archibald Clark Kerr, British ambassador to Moscow, has been ordered back to his post after an interlude at home, with general instructions to reassure Russia of Britain's desire to cooperate in an early European settlement.

3. James F. Byrnes, United States secretary of state, made a significant speech at the Herald Tribune forum in New York in which he recognized Russia's special interests in eastern Europe. The speech was exceptionally well received in Moscow. Byrnes conceded Russia's right to friendly neighbors for security purposes and compared Russia's position to that of the United States among the nations of the western hemisphere.

4. Prime Minister Clement R. Attlee is about to visit President Truman for the announced purpose of discussing international control of the atomic bomb. Guarded hints from London indicate he may propose turning the matter over to the security council of the United Nations, which would make Russia a full partner in the security council of the United Nations, which would make Russia a full partner in the secret and allay any possible suspicions on Moscow's part that it is being held out as a club against the Soviet Union.

Offsetting Failure

These moves should go a long way toward offsetting the failure of the London conference. Clear sailing and an avoidance of spirited debate cannot be expected, but the atmosphere as of today seems a lot clearer than it was a few weeks ago.

All of the powers appear to realize that the peace settlements on which the London conference bogged down, have to be gotten out of the way before even a beginning of restoring world economy can be undertaken. It may not involve immediate, formal treaties, but a preliminary agreement on certain problems is obviously imperative.

Industrial Position

Those problems include Germany's industrial position and the status of the Ruhr and Rhineland; reparations demands on the defeated nations; the terms to be imposed on prostrate Italy, which is in the peculiar position of being half a late enemy and half an ally in the final stages of the war; the political complexion of the new governments in southeastern Europe; control of the Dardanelles straits and a host of other questions.

On top of all that is the complicated situation in the Far East, notably Russia's desire for a voice in control of Japan and the warfare in China. On both of these, Moscow has shown willingness to cooperate with the Western powers.

Talks Too Much To The Wrong Party

DALLAS, Nov. 5 (U.P.)—A woman in custody of the law today bragged to the wrong party of shooting her boy friend.

Immediately after the shooting yesterday, she called her lawyer who told her he could not serve her but an associate, whom she did not know, would come to help her.

When a car stopped in front of the woman's home, she stepped in and told her story to the man driving the car while they rode around town. E. R. Gaddy, the driver, stopped the car in front of the city hall and the surprised woman, as she was led to jail, discovered she had told her story to a city homicide detective.

U. S. Isolation Leaders Flayed

(By The Associated Press)

LONDON, Nov. 5—The Moscow radio today broadcast an attack upon "American isolationists" and accused them of being "originators of the idea of using economic and military might as a means of exerting pressure on other countries."

Former President Hoover and Senators Robert A. Taft (R-Ohio) and Burton K. Wheeler (D-Mont.) were singled out for special mention.

For Their Own Ends

"The American isolationists Taft and Wheeler have tried to take advantage of a discussion of international problems for their own provocative ends," the broadcast said, quoting from an article in the Red fleet magazine International Observer.

"Reactionary politicians have zealously opposed collaboration among the great powers and tried to make the most of every difference inevitably arising among the Allies when complicated problems were being solved," the broadcast added.

"Only the other day Hoover proposed to refuse loans to those countries which do not agree to comply with political demands of the United States," it declared.

Allusion To Address

(This presumably was an allusion to an address which Hoover made at Chicago on Sept. 17, when he urged that disposition of lend-lease and other war-period debts be postponed until "five years hence when the shape of the world is more clear."

("We cannot today afford having our resources used to keep up armies, to engage in non-productive enterprises, to pay debts to other countries, to go into business abroad in competition with us or to pay for propaganda to upset our government," Hoover declared.)

The broadcast said that the "isolationists" are now "conducting a spurious campaign against the governments of Bulgaria, Romania and Yugoslavia, calling for their boycott."

New York Mayoralty Race Takes Voting Spotlight In Nation Today

(By The Associated Press)

American voters let off their first political steam since the war today.

Most politicians will analyze the sizzle for just one thing—1946 and 1948 noises.

Phincipal interest centers on mayor elections in such big towns as New York, Detroit, Pittsburgh, Boston, Cleveland, Louisville, Albany, Syracuse, and Buffalo.

Dewey Backs Candidate

Here in brief is the election picture:

New York—National considerations have overshadowed local issues in three-way contest between William O'Dwyer, Democrat-American Labor candidate for mayor to succeed Fiorello LaGuardia; Judge Jonah Goldstein, Republican-Liberal-Fusion candidate, and Newbold Morris, Republican independent running on "No Deal" ticket.

Democrats say an O'Dwyer victory would be to the disadvantage of Gov. Thomas E. Dewey in seeking reelection as governor next year since he backed Goldstein. Dewey's supporters disagree.

Detroit Race In Spotlight

Democrats and Republicans both claim victories in upstate contests.

Michigan—Detroit voters settle a bitter personal battle between Mayor Edward J. Jeffries, jr., seeking a fourth term, and Richard T. Frankensteen, 38-year-old vice president of the CIO United Automobile workers.

Pennsylvania—Elects two state superior court judges as well as many mayors, with chief interest in Pittsburgh mayorality race where Republicans are trying to wrest control from the Democrats who have been in power 12 years. Candidates are David L. Lawrence, 56-year-old Democratic state chairman, and Robert N. Waddell, 47, Republican, insurance man and former football coach at Carnegie Tech.

New Jersey House Race

New Jersey—Five candidates running for House seat vacated in 4th District by D. Lane Powers, Republican, who resigned to become state utilities commissioner. Candidates are Col. Frank A. Matthews, jr., Republican; Frank S. Katzenbach, 3rd, Democrat; George Pellettieri, Democrat Independent backed by CIO; Hervey S. Moore, Republican on the ballot as an Independent, and William S. Kauffmann, Socialist. Moore withdrew in favor of Matthews, but too late to have his name removed from the ballot.

Boston Holding Mayorality Vote

Massachusetts—In Boston, former Mayor James M. Curley, now a Democratic member of the national House, is attempting a comeback as mayor against five other candidates, including the present mayor.

Ohio—Mayor Thomas A. Burke, Democrat, is running for reelection in Cleveland with a platform plank calling for a $68,000,000 postwar civic improvement project. He is opposed by Republican City Councilman Ray C. Miller.

Virginia—Only state electing a governor. Conceded an easy winner is Democratic Candidate William M. Tuck, now lieutenant governor.

Lorenzo Youth Enters Calves In Dallas Show

James Carrol Overman, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Overman of Sta rroute Lorenzo, leaves this morning for Dallas where he will exhibit three Hereford calves at the Greater Pan-American Hereford exposition, November 9-12.

Two of the calves will be shown in the junior division and one in the open class. The calves weigh from 785 to above 1,030 pounds. An approximate 850-pound animal will be shown in the open class.

The 1,030-pound calf was awarded the grand champion prize at the Lubbock county show last April.

Overman will show his stock Saturday, Nov. 10.

The young 4-H club member has been showing calves in various shows in West Texas for three years and has a net income of $831.22 for his work. He plans to enter five calves in the Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock show in Fort Worth next spring; and will enter stock in other shows in West Texas including the local exhibitions.

Jason O. Gordon, Lubbock county agent, and W. B. Griffin, 4-H club and assistant county agent, will leave Lubbock Saturday afternoon to join Overman at the show. They will all return Monday night after the show closes.

BATISTA IMPROVING

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 5. (AP)—Gen. Fulgencio Batista was reported by Spanish sanatorium officials today to "be improving" but his doctors have not yet pronounced him in condition to leave. His doctors said there might be no necessity to remove a bothersome gall stone which they had been hoping to dissolve or else to take out without surgery. Batista's friends said after he leaves the sanatorium he probably will rest a few days before going to Merida and then to New Orleans.

At Last--A Pair Of Women's Slacks To Hide That "Bulge"

By FREDERICK C. OTHMAN
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5.—Consensus is that the southern view of a lady proceeding northward in pants is (you supply your own word.)

The plumper the lady, the baggier the pants, and the more (whatever your word-is) the view That's axiomatic. It's been that way ever since Marlene Dietrich first covered her celebrated legs in pants 15 years ago.

A New Invention

Have you done anything about it? Has Marlene? Nobody even took up the broaded aspects of this problem until Miss Mary Neilson of Minneapolis, Miss., decided to remedy the (your word).

She soon discovered the fundamental dilemma: If the pants are cut slim enough in the south to improve the view, the lady barely can sit down; she dare not stoop. If there's enough cloth in the pants for the lady to move, then (your word) is the word.

Miss Neilson invented, consequently, and patented (Number 2,387,405) pants with plenty of room across the seat for a lady to plant radishes.

Deluge Of Patents

When she stands up, the slack in her slacks folds inward at the sides like the top of a convertible coupe and the world automatically becomes a more beautiful place. Miss Neilson becomes a millionaire and I . . . well, I'm just plain fascinated by the U. S. Patent office.

The nation's geniuses are knocking themselves out inventing things and the examiners at this writing have 78,000 patent applications which they haven't even gotten around to opening. Commissioner Casper Ooms says he never saw anything like it.

Ooms and Co. are working night and day, trying to catch up. Let's look over their shoulders.

Better Mouse Trap

Nathan Horwitiz of Brooklyn, N. Y., where it is reasonably easy to beat a path to his door, has produced, Number 2,386,328, a better mouse trap. The mouse walks in, a bright light scares him, he jumps into a dark hole, and blooie! He's electrocuted.

You know about the beauty experts advising that you walk with a springy step. Charles B. Lempke of Chicago makes this easy with a shoe heel with a spring in it. Brooks E. Regerson of Chagrin Falls, Ohio, has invented the backrest for beds. Press the button and the top half of the mattress pops up, resting your back.

Milton Becker of Passaic, N. J., has me puzzled. He developed a billfold with a secret pocket. Then he patented it and the secret is a secret no longer; I know exactly how to snitch $100 bills from Milton's patent pocketbook.

The ice-proof windshield of Walter J. O'Connor of Pittsburgh, Pa., is a neat trick if it doesn't leak. This is it: Two sheets of glass with hot water from the heater pumped between 'em. Neat, to, is the solution of Nils Solberg of Duluth, Minn., to the one great problem of clarinetists Their instruments are so cluttered with valves, handles, levers, and whistle stops, that there's no room for an ordinary music holder. Nils has built a music holder for a clarinet that won't get tangled in the machinery. Benny Goodman, meet Nils Solberg.

Tech Seeking Use Of Big Pantex Plant To Teach Auxiliary Courses

the RFC accede to the Tech request. The plans included the possibility of its most immediate use in connection with the training of veterans, particularly those who want special short term courses not now offered by the college in specialized phases of agriculture, not leading to a degree.

Facilities Available

For example, a veteran might desire a year or a two-year course in dairying in its applied phases, or a similar course in animal husbandry, plant industry, the poultry field or any other phases of agricultural work. On the board expanse of the project, facilities could be arranged for the instruction of these fields in a practical manner and at the same time the veteran might be earning a livelihood from the work.

On the expansive project, there are 414 buildings with 1,428,420 square feet of floor space in buildings of all sizes and shapes, divided into twelve zones. All buildings in each zone are connected with covered wide passageways so that operations could be carried on under cover at all times.

Housing Problem Solved

Housing of the veterans would be a simple process since there are housing facilities for approximately 800 people on the project including 19 three-bed-room residences, an apartment building and a barracks for single students. The plant also has a large administration building comprising 43,000 square feet with a large cafeteria in the administrative zone and a similar cafeteria serving each zone.

The project, four miles by seven miles, formerly consisted of wheat and grazing lands before being confiscated by the government in 1942 as a site for the huge shell and bomb-loading layout. On its 16,031.9 acres, besides the labrynth of 414 structures, are approximately 400 concrete 'igloos' for the storage of TNT, which might be utilized for storage of ensilage, or other feeds.

Plenty Of Railroad

The project is served by 36 miles of railroad spur track from the Santa Fe and Rock Island railroads with tracks running into some of the buildings where boxcars could be loaded. The plant has an extensive water system with five wells and ample storage. It also has a water softener plant. It has its own sewage disposal plant and system.

A well-equipped machine shop would provide a laboratory for students in agricultural engineering projects and because the buildings are all connected with steam, air, vacuum and electrical lines, facilities would be available for almost any type of research work in engineering.

The sewage disposal plant would provide for a laboratory for student seeking training in this phase of work.

Would Not Affect Tech

Use of the plant for the training of veterans in specialized short courses would of necessity require that the Veterans administration furnish the college with certain groups of students seeking training in the various fields. If this was done, the college could employ additional teachers to carry on the various projects.

Use of the plant as a training area for veterans or as an "interneship" facility for graduate students in agriculture, engineering and research would be "over and above our normal offering of courses to students," Dr. Whyburn emphasized last night and would in no way affect the present administration of the college proper.

Offers Chance For Research

As a long-range possibility the plant might be adopted for agricultural uses of additional forms. It might enable the college to expand agricultural operations on a broad scale. Its grazing land would offer possibilities for additional beef cattle feeding research. Its wheat land could be used for plant industry work.

A student might take three years of class work at the college and his senior year at the project or better still for years at Tech and his "interneship" at the project in practical application of what he had learned in the classroom. He could spend vacation months there.

The possibility of setting up laboratories for work in advanced levels of various phases of engineering such as petroleum, was also advanced by Dr. Whyburn as one of the uses of a zone or zones of the project.

"No Strings" Attached

"All this would have to be mapped out by technicians, should the plant suddenly be dumped into our laps," Dr. Whyburn said. "Of course, the plant is a long ways from being actually available to Tech. The board agreed to give the 'go ahead' signal for the request to see if the plant could be made available to Tech on terms that can be accepted, and these include the fact that no money will be paid for the project, and that there shall be 'no strings' attached to its operation.

"If the project is something with which Tech can do a better job for the student seeking educational training, the college is definitely interested," Dr. Whyburn added. "We are always interested in any proposal which has the possibility of providing additional facilities for increasing our service to the people of the state."

Amarillo Officials Enthusiastic

Amarillo officials were enthusiastic over the proposal, Lewis Fordyke, staff member of the Amarillo Globe-News, said over long-distance telephone last night.

For several weeks, a committee of the Amarillo Chamber of Commerce has been making a study of the plant and the feasibility of its adoption to peace-time use. Numerous officials of large concerns have made surveys of the project to determine if it could be used for various purposes.

Salvage of the buildings, facilities and equipment on the project would entail "nearly as much expense as it was to build the plant itself," an Amarillo man said last night. This means that virtual abandonment of the project in its entirety by the government is a foregone conclusion. Its disposition has been a constant worry to Amarilloans since end of hostilities.

Plan Is Not Unusual

Dr. Whyburn pointed out last night that operation of projects far removed from campuses by colleges and universities is not uncommon in the U. S., citing the projects operated by the University of California in various sections of the state.

He envisioned, "off-the-record" the possibility of the use of the airplane in transportating students to the project on week-ends for practical laboratory application of their book learning.

The entire idea may sound like a pipe dream to you readers, but who knows but what it might become a reality?

West Texas Officers Hunt "Polite Bandit"

FORT WORTH, Nov. 5 (AP) — West Texas peace officers were on the lookout Monday for the "polite bandit," who robbed an Altus, Okla., woman Sunday after changing her flat tire 24 miles south of Jacksboro.

Many of the officers theorized that the robber, wearing a wide brim white hat and driving an automobile with a California license, was a discharged war worker who had become low on funds and was going back to his home state.

The bandit's victim, was Mrs. Norman Cohen, who chatted with a woman and small boy while the polite bandit changed her flat tire.

ticable legal action taken against members of the 50th legislature who voted against redistricting in the 49th regular session.

A resolution by Tom Rush, Decatur, to support House Bill 558 by Rep. Poage (D-Tex) enabling counties and conservation districts to secure on a loan or grant basis, surplus war machinery and equipment to use for oil, land, and water conservation purposes. The bill, passed by the Senate as the McKellar bill, is now blocked in the House Rules committee.

Chemurgic Research

By W. B. Hamilton of Wichita Falls: A proposal urging the chemurgic industrial research committee of Texas organize immediately and cooperate with the Texas chemurgic program.

Ernest Mims, manager of the Mineral Wells Chamber of Commerce proposed, and Hamilton moved, that the organization urge transportation of Japanese mulberry trees in empty holds of U. S. refrigerator ships to this country.

Delegates to the session today approved continuance of the referendum system of holding sessions begun during the war.

However, the door was not closed to return to the all-out general conventions held before Pearl Harbor.

The convention today also voted to terminate its two-year inter-county agricultural improvement program.

Winning counties announced at a luncheon today were: first, Donley, which received an award of $400; second, Dawson, $300; third, Jones, $200; fourth, Gray, $100.

The future convention policy plank of the eight-point referendum brought out most of the discussion in today's meeting. Three other planks had received almost unanimous endorsement at the town sessions. These were on establishing veterans' business opportunities bureau in West Texas communities, on speedup of demobilization of the armed forces, and on launching the WTCC into a campaign for securing West Texas parity in commodity freight rates.

Bus Line Strike

cents a mile, and the company has offered 4.6 cents.

Approximately 165 busses on routes from San Antonio to Houston, Dallas, Fort Worth, Laredo and Corpus Christi were affected. A total of 295 drivers were off their jobs at Fort Worth, Dallas, San Antonio and Houston.

The lines carry between 5,000 and 6,000 passengers daily in Texas, the majority passing through the Dallas and Forth Worth terminals, Tibbetts said.

The terminals became sudden transportation bottlenecks last night. Passengers, a large portion of them service men, were taken by surprise. Some passengers had spent most of their money for tickets and could get no refunds. Baggage was in closed baggage rooms.

At Houston, military police said service men "threatened to tear the place apart" when they couldn't get their luggage. The MPs called bus officials, and they came down and distributed the baggage.

In Fort Worth an unidentified naval lieutenant was struck in the eye when he went to get his luggage.

Otherwise, the strike was peaceful. There was no picketing.

ONLY ISOLATED POINTS ARE AFFECTED LOCALLY

Strike of the Greyhound bus line operators in the southwestern area in no way affects bus travel out of Lubbock except to isolated points on the Greyhound lines running from Dallas to El Paso, W. H. Carpenter, operating manager of Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma Coaches said last night.

Carpenter's statement was in answer to scores of inquiries about bus travel out of Lubbock.

Points in Lubbock's immediate territory which cannot be reached by bus are Midland and Colorado City, Carpenter said.

Travel is open from here to El Paso and to points in California and the West; north to Amarillo and Denver, east to Wichita Falls, Fort Worth and Dallas and points to the East; south to Big Spring, San Antonio and valley points.

OPA Men Put Lid On Boys In Near Wreck

Two 14-year-old Oklahoma City youngsters in a stolen car almost ran the OPA off the Lubbock-Tahoka highway Monday afternoon, but the OPA, city police and Sheriff Sam Floyd of Tahoka quickly put a ceiling on their ambitions—also walls and a locked door.

The OPA officials were Boyd P. Millsap and Thomas E. Scudday, of the Fort Worth office, who were almost forced off the highway just across the county line in Lubbock county by the speeding car. The OPA men, not knowing that the car was stolen, followed the youths into Lubbock and curbed them on Ave. H. They took the pair to the police station where a "stolen" on the car had already been received.

The car belongs to Boyd Smith of Tahoka. Sheriff Floyd, who took the boys into custody last night to face possible charges of car theft, asked Lubbock police, through the Department of Public Safety, to check an Oklahoma car abandoned in Tahoka. Officers here said one of the youths admitted having the keys to the Oklahoma car.

Truman's Warning

of living."

"Strong segments of the American employer group have, to put it mildly, not been receptive to the workers dilemma—the dilemma of shrinking wages and rising living costs," he said. "These employers moreover have not been disposed even to bargain with respect to workers' wage restoration demands."

The threatened result, he said, is a major collapse in labor-management relations.

Since wages are of such vital importance in labor-management relations, Murray urged the delegates to include the question in the conference agenda.

Wallace's Comment

Secretary Wallace stepped into the wage controversy by saying: "If we maintain levels of production and wage income and effective purchasing demand — levels anywhere near approaching full employment—there are clear indications that basic wage rates can be raised substantially in many industries without generally increasing prices and without impairment of the profit position. Unless this is done, the contrast between profits and other forms of income would generally be so extreme that business quickly would incur public disfavor."

The President made no mention of wages in his address. He emphasized strongly the necessity for agreement on wages and means of reaching industrial peace, and the responsibility of the conference delegates in achieving that goal. Whether the question of wages is to be included in the conference agenda is to be decided by the executive committee, which will be appointed tomorrow.

Points Stressed By Truman

These points were stressed by Mr. Truman:

(1) The conference must recommend a definite policy in the field of industrial relations.

(2) Labor and management, in an industry or in a company, must find a way of resolving differences without stopping production.

(3) Both sides must bargain collectively with an open mind and a firm resolve to reach an agreement fairly.

(4) Methods must be found for peaceful negotiation of contracts and once made, contracts must be lived up to.

(5) Labor must end jurisdictional strikes and find some other method of settling inter-union controversies.

(6) Management must stop looking on labor relations as "a stepchild of its business" and stop delaying tactics which defeat collective bargaining.

Reaction Mostly Favorable

Reaction to the President's speech, among delegates who would comment, was generally favorable. Eric Johnston, president of the United States Chamber of Commerce, said the speech "laid the foundation for a superstructure for good management-labor relations."

After the President's address there was a ripple of speculation when John L. Lewis and Green shook hands and stood chatting while photographers rushed to get their pictures.

Green told the delegates the conference is not expected "to outlaw all disputes and abolish all strife."

"The right to strike is a part of the free enterprise system," he asserted.

Green's Policy For Peace

The way to industrial peace, the AFL chief said, is through scientific collective bargaining, union management cooperation, increased use of the government's conciliation service and voluntary arbitration.

Ira Mosher, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, said the management delegates "come unequivocally committed to the principle of free collective bargaining despite our serious misgivings as to the manner in which it is being practiced."

A sort of flare pistol—a short tube without a stock—turned out to be the "secret weapon" allegedly used by a 37-year-old Crosbyton negro in firing a 12-guage shotgun shell at another Crosbyton negro. Arrested as he stepped off a bus here Sunday by Capt. Aubrey Fawver, Sgt. Lewis Kittrell and Sgt. Bill Lamb, acting under instructions from Sheriff Roy E. Hillin of Crosbyton, the negro readily identified the tube as the weapon. Sheriff Hillin returned the black to Crosbyton where charges were to be filed.

One Of Dead Identified

The ATC identified one of the dead aboard the Casablanca as Norman C. Fisher, pilot, of Fairfield, Calif.

The Liberator left Honolulu's Hickam Field at 3:20 a. m. (8:50 a. m., EST) Saturday for San Francisco. Four hours later it radioed that it had developed engine trouble and three minutes later it ditched on the ocean.

The eight survivors and seven bodies were recovered Sunday.

The ATC reported that in addition to Fisher, four other crew members were among the missing. That left a sixth crew member unaccounted for.

The ATC announced that these crew members are among the missing: Frank F. Pemberton, co-pilot; Vincent Phillips, navigator; George Nelson, radio operator, all listed from Fairfield, Calif.

Search Goes On

Thirteen Army and Navy planes and four destroyer escorts still searched the seas northeast of here for the 12 persons, one a woman, who may have made it to the safety of life rafts after the Liberator-type plane settled into the Pacific Saturday.

Meanwhile, passengers from a Pan-American Honolulu Clipper which was forced down yesterday in the same general area resumed their journey to the mainland today.

Pan-American officials said it was the first forced Clipper landing in the sea since a Samoan Clipper vanished without a trace in 1938.

Court Sentences Assessed Four

Four persons were sentenced Monday after felony pleas had been entered before Judge G. V. Pardue of 99th district court.

Jack N. King, 20, of Menard, was sentenced to serve two years in the penitentiary for theft of an automobile belonging to Dr. W. L. Baugh.

Young Woman Sentenced

Fannie Jordan, 43, a negro woman was given suspension of a five-year sentence for assault with intent to murder Ello Carroll on July 13.

Olan McKaughan, 17, was allowed suspension of a five-year sentence for burglary Aug. 13 of the J. E. Hancock residence.

Ruth Wilder, 19-year-old gun moll who pleaded guilty of assault with intent to rob two Lubbock service stations the night of Aug. 29, was sentenced that morning to two years in the penitentiary in each of the two cases, the terms to be served concurrently.

Indictments set out that the Monahans girl had figured in two hijackings where $80 was taken from H F. Buchanan of Lowrimore's East Broadway station, $70 from W R. Moize of the former Onyx station on North College Ave.

A jury was waived. W. W. Campbell represented the girl, and District Attorney Burton S. Burks prosecuted all cases for the state.

Other Cases Set

The case of James Roy Allison, charged with second offense drunk driving, was called, and Allison did not answer. Judge Pardue ordered an alias capias writ for him, raised his bond to $2,500 and ordered forfeited a $1,000 bond he had posted.

The following cases were set for today: Wilson Stallings, 26, of Lubbock, desertion, and Lish Dansby, 29, assault with intent to murder Eva Barnes. For Wednesday, these cases were set: Joe Parsons, charged with second offense drunk driving, and Curtis Shedrick, 24, and Stylish Ridley, 29, negroes of Slaton, forgery and passing.

A forgery charge against L. T. Crawford was to have been tried Thursday, but a defense attorney had a case set for trial the same date in Plainview, so an agreed trial of Nov. 15 was decided upon.

Election Shooting Is Under Way In Mexico

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 5 (AP)—Election shooting is well under way in Mexico both in the national presidential campaign which will last a year and the local elections which occur at various times.

Police said groups supporting Miguel Aleman and Ezequiel Padilla, former foreign secretary, "did a lot of shooting" yesterday with an undetermined number, probably six, hurt slightly. Leaders of both groups were detained but no charges have been filed. Both insisted their men "fired in the air."

In Ciudad Victoria, Tamaulipas, Apolinav Zaldivarm was killed in a quarrel over the race for mayor. The local police said there was "general disorder and much fighting."

In the state of Tampico, both in the city of Tampico and in oil camps, the police have reported considerable shooting but they have been unable to get factual reports.

Last spring President Avila Camacho sought to minimize election rows by instructing Army commanders throughout the country to review all licenses to carry firearms but no results have been announced. Many landowners and miners still have the habit of carrying guns, left over from the days of banditry. Deputies and other officials also go "heeled" and bulging hip pockets excite no comment in Congress.

Westerners And Red Raiders Close Home Slate This Week

The home field football schedules of both the Lubbock Westerners and Texas Tech Red Raiders will be unreeled this weekend, in the season's top tests for both the local clubs.

The Westerners are the first to swing into action, playing the powerful Pampa Harvesters at Tech stadium Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

The Red Raiders final game at home for the year, and homecoming game, will be played Saturday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock on the same gridiron.

Tickets Going Fast

E. J. "Pinkey" Lowrey, athletic director of Lubbock schools, issued the warning Monday night that tickets for the Pampa game were going fast, and urged fans to make their reservations early as the indications mount for a sellout crowd.

Morley Jennings, athletic director at Texas Tech, has already hung up the "standing room only" sign over the door of the Tech athletic office, and is making frantic searches for additional seats that might be erected in Tech stadium.

With this the picture today, the indications are that Lubbock will turn out the two greatest football crowds of the season in one big weekend, the last fling of the season for the home town fans.

Teams In Top Shape

Coach Dixie White announced Monday night that there were no injuries to his club in the rugged 20-0 victory over the Brownfield Cubs last week, and that his team will be in top shape for the scrap here Friday afternoon.

"There were no NEW injuries," was the way Coach Dell Morgan summed up the condition of the Texas Tech Red Raiders, after their hard battle last Saturday afternoon at Houston with the powerful Owls of Rice Institute, won by the Owls, 13-0.

White gave the Westerners only a limbering up workout Monday, and nothing was done in the way of hard work, but indicated there would be plenty of it before the week was over.

Raiders Start Work

Morgan was not as inclined to take it easy, and the Red Raiders saw plenty of action Monday as Coach Dell Morgan worked them on passing, both offensive and defensive.

"We are going to be facing one of the greatest passing teams in the nation Saturday afternoon, and we want to be ready for them," was Morgan's comments.

As schoolboy football swings into the last month of the conference play, two of the District 1-AA elevens remain in the state's thinning ranks of undefeated, untied teams, and one of these is the Pampa Harvesters. Plainview is the other perfect record team in the race.

The team coming to town on Saturday to play the Red Raiders will be a team now holding a three-way tie for the top rung in the Southwest Conference, and paced by the passing star, Leon Joslin, will carry on the string of tough tests for the Red Raiders, which seem to grow tougher with each passing week.

There is no argument that this week will offer the most colorful weekend of football staged in Tech stadium this season.

Upsets Feature Schoolboy Play

By ED FITE
United Press Sports Writer

Upsets over the past week end muddled at least two district races and other scores tended to serve notice that the current leaders in some districts may find the road to the Texas schoolboy football playoffs a rocky one.

The biggest upsets occured in Districts 14 and 15 in South Texas where the pace-setting Goose Creek Ganders and Austin Maroons were unceremoniously dumped by Port Arthur 6-2 and Jefferson of San Antonio 19-13 respectively.

Defeat of Goose Creek left the Galveston Tors, an undefeated, but tied team, atop the district race, with the final game of the season between Goose Creek and Galveston likely to decide the title. The Tors previously had beaten Port Arthur.

District Is Open

Austin's upset left the District 15 chase wide open with both Brackenridge of San Antonio, which knocked Corpus Christi out of the running with a 21-0, and Jefferson with an equal shot at the crown along with Austin, which has only games with Corpus Christi and Kerrville left.

Temple's 20-13 defeat of Cleburne, knocking the latter team from the state's perfect record list, sounded a warning to the leading Waco Tigers in District 10.

Coyotes Are Held

And, Quanah's holding of the mighly Wichita Falls Coyotes to a 7-0 victory, set the stage for a possible upset by Vernon in the final game of the year.

In District 4, Austin of El Paso's 6-0 defeat by Carlsbad, N. M., a team El Paso High had beaten earlier in the season, indicated Austin may have its hands full when it meets El Paso High in the season finale.

Cleburne was the only one of the state's nine undefeated teams to fall by the wayside, although Wichita Falls and Milby of Houston had narrow escapes. Milby nosed out Reagan of Houston 14-12.

Paris continued to roll along untested with a 29-0 win over Denton, Lufkin breezed over Huntsville 54-7, Brownwood dumped Cisco 27-7, Brownsville romped at will over Laferia 64-0, Plainview got by Borger 2-7, and Odessa trounced Ysleta 51-0.

Top Scoring Records

Despite its defeat, Austin continued to remain the state's highest scoring team, having rolled up 262 points to the opposition's 56 in eight games.

Brownsville pulled up into second place with 244 to 27, ahead of Lufkin which now has 241 points to 51 for its opponents.

Rounding up the top 11 high scoring teams were Paschal of Fort Worth with 213 to 53; Paris with 208 to 19; Cleburne with 192 to 58; Breckenridge with 186 to 57; Marshall with 180 to 45; Jefferson with 175-66 and Wichita Falls with 166 to 37 and Brackenridge with 166 to 51.

PLAINVIEW had the best defensive record with only 14 points scored against it, while PAMPA, Highland Park and Paris have had only 19, Brownwood 21, Waco 26, Brownsville 27, Milby 31 and Odessa 33.

Ennis had the dubious honor of having the least potent offense, having scored only seven points to date this season to nose out Olney, which has chalked up only 12. Adamson of Dallas has scored only 19, all in one game, Sam Houston of Houston only 20, Beaumont 26 and Weatherford 27.

Muddy Ruel Awaits Confirmation Of Job

CHICAGO, Nov. 5. (AP)—Herold (Muddy) Ruel, veteran Chicago White Sox coach, today awaited confirmation of his appointment as "special assistant" to Commissioner A. B. (Happy) Chandler.

Chandler announced Ruel's appointment Saturday but President Ford Frick of the National League; William Harridge, president of the American League, and the club owners must approve the selection before it becomes official.

Ruel was named to succeed Leslie M. O'Connor, who resigns Dec. 15 to take over as vice president of the White Sox.

Army, Irish Get Top Rank Again

NEW YORK, Nov. 5. (AP)—Army and Notre Dame again are one-two in the weekly Associated Press poll to determine the country's ten best college football teams and thus their meeting Saturday in Yankee Stadium will be a virtual playoff for the national title.

The Cadets grabbed 86 of the first places among the 101 ballots counted and were listed no lower than third on any ticket. Notre Dame, held to tie by Navy Saturday, snared only three first place votes but was high enough on the remainder of the ballots to hold a narrow margin for the runner-up slot.

On a basis of 10 votes for each first place vote, nine for second, etc., the Army compiled 982 points while Notre Dame was second with 804 and Alabama bounded into third with 799.

Tide Climbs Fast

The Crimson Tide was fourth a week ago but its 60 to 19 victory over Kentucky in a Southeast Conference massacre Saturday lifted the Dixie club to third above Navy and almost brought it second place.

Alabama's climb was characteristic of the entire poll, only Army and Notre Dame retaining the position held a week ago.

Behind the Middies come St. Mary's of California, Indiana, Michigan, Ohio State, Pennsylvania and Columbia.

The New York Lions moved into the elite group as idle Oklahoma A and M skidded to 11th place. Much of Columbia's backing came from the West Coast and the Middle West.

Penn Falls Back

Despite its easy victory over Princeton, Pennsylvania dropped from seventh to ninth. This weekend the Quakers are host to Columbia.

Michigan and Navy, two others in the ranking group, are carded for Saturday afternoon in Baltimore.

The leading teams, determined by 10 points for each first place vote, nine for second, eight for third, etc., (first place votes in parenthesis):

Army (86)	982
Notre Dame (3)	804
Alabama (4)	799
Navy (3)	702
St. Mary's (2)	486
Indiana (3)	445
Michigan	346
Ohio State	280
Pennsylvania	218
Columbia	167

Second ten: 11, Oklahoma A and M 109; 12, Purdue 99; 13, Holy Cross 62; 14, Louisiana State 42; 15, Virginia 24; 16, Duke 18; 17, Texas 15; 18, Washington 7; 9, Tulsa 6; 20, Minnesota 5.

Yale Seeks 500th Victory This Week

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 5.—By beating Brown's footballers here next Saturday, Yale can become the nation's first team to chalk up 500 intercollegiate gridiron triumphs. Hardly another college is even close.

To reach the threshold of new exclusive football glory has taken 73 years of pushing and shoving.

Yale's knights of the gridiron have won 499 games since that Nov. 16, 1872 afternoon when Capt. Dave Schaff's stout fellows trounced Columbia by three goas.

Only the universities of Pennsylvania and Michigan can approach the Blue in this number victories, claim Yale statisticians. Penn has vanquished 480 foes since taking up the sport in 1876, and Michigan, which started three years later, has conquered 366.

Yale piled up 223 victories in the 28 seasons up to the turn of the century when men were still building empires. Since then, the pace hasn't been so hot, but neither has it been too bad in the face of the "upstarts" that have come along with the growth and development of the modern game. Gridiron glory was no longer the exclusive possession of the Ivy League.

By scoring 27 points in its remaining battles with Brown, Coast Guard Academy, Princeton and Harvard—a virtual certainty—Yale can bring its all time total to 14,000. A total that doesn't include the scores of 49 games played prior to the 1883 campaign, when point values were first established. The Elies' opposition tallied only 2,707 in the same period.

Littlefield, Sudan Change Date Of Tilt

The Littlefield Wildcats and the Sudan Hornets will be idle this week. The two undefeated, untied grid giants of District 5-A were scheduled to play Friday afternoon at Sudan in the game that would tell the story of which team moves into bi-district play.

But a revamping of the schedules of three schools in the district has moved the game to the afternoon of Nov. 22 at Sudan as one of the holiday features in West Texas football.

The change of the schedule, also leaves the two contending schools with only one more tuneup battle before the big clash. But one of these games will be a district game, and brings the third team into the shift of the schedules.

Sudan was scheduled to play Olton on Nov. 22, at Sudan. This game was moved up to Nov. 16, and will be played in Sudan as the final barrier before the big battle.

Littlefield is booked on Nov. 16 with the Lubbock B team, with the Westerner bench warmers offering the last tuneup of that powerful grid offensive that has been sweeping through West Texas for two seasons.

Efforts are being made to prepare the Sudan field for taking care of the greatest crowd in the school's grid history for the championship game on Turkey day.

Gassers Gain Ground In City Bowling Loop

Taking two out of three from the runnerup Hub Laundry five, the West Texas Gas company bowling team pulled two games out in front of the pack in the City Bowling League race at Plamor alleys Monday night.

Birdseye Food turned in the only clean sweep, taking three in a row from Meads Bakery. S. and Q. Clothiers won two from the Jaycees and Armour's took two from the Lions club as these three winners moved into a three-way tie for third place.

In spite of his team's losses, scoring honors of the night went to Blankenship of Meads Bakery, who topped the field with 573 pins, and a best single game of 225 pins, but could not overcome the 2352 total rolled by the Birdseye team.

WT-NM League Is Reorganized

The West Texas-New Mexico League baseball leaders cleared the decks for action, and the start of play in 1946 with an eight club, Class C, professional baseball league operating in the area for the first time since July 5, 1942 when the league was shut down because of war conditions.

The six clubs operating in the league at the time it shut down, orger, Pampa, Amarillo, Lubbock, Lamesa and Clovis were named to form the foundation of the league. Abilene was then voted in as a seventh club.

A committee, composed of Bob Seeds of Amarillo, Harry Faulkner of Lubbock and John Rollis of Clovis were named to investigate several other prospective cities, and report back to the league. An announcement is expected in about ten days from the league office in Dallas on the eighth club in the league.

Besides the seven clubs now in the league, representatives from El Paso, Albuquerque, Pueblo, Colo., presented their bids for berths in the league, but no action was taken on them.

Milton Price of Dallas, secretary of the Texas League, was renamed president. Seeds and Sam Rosenthal of Lubbock were named vice presidents.

Application has been forwarded to the National Association of Baseball Leagues for reinstatement of the loop, and as soon as the official blessings comes from this office, clubs will be allowed to start signing players.

Mullins Takes Santa Clara Coaching Post

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5. (AP)—Larry (Moon) Mullins, former Notre Dame backfield star, was named today as head football coach of the University of Santa Clara. The announcement was made by the Rev. Father William C. Gianera, S. J., president of the school.

Mullins, now a Navy lieutenant commander stationed at Corpus Christi, Tex., directing the physical training program as well as coaching the Navy air station football team, will report to Santa Clara, Dec. 1. He succeeds Lawrence T. "Buck" Shaw, now coaching at the University of California.

PICTURES BACK OFFICIALS

NEW YORK, Nov. 5. (AP)—The first showing of newsreel pictures of the finish of the Notre Dame-Navy football game Saturday convinced New York sports writers today that Notre Dame failed to score on the disputed pass from Frank Dancewicz to Phil Colella.

Owls To Miss Star Fullback This Week

HOUSTON, Nov. 5. (AP)—"Red" Anderson, hard hitting Rice Institute fullback and a tower of strength on defense, will be missing when the Owls play Arkansas Saturday afternoon at Rice field in a conference game.

Anderson injured his knee Saturday in the Texas Tech tilt and was aided from the field. He will be out of the Razorback game and will not be ready for the Aggie tilt on November 17.

The bright news on the practice field was the return of Gerald Weatherly, 16-year-old center. He was out last week because of an attack of the "flu" but will be ready to take over his spot backing up the line against the big Porker squad.

Casper, Wyo., was named after Lt. Caspar Collins, 11th Ohio Cavalry, who lost his life in 1865 while attacking a force of Indians at the site of the city. The second "a" in Caspar was later changed to "e."

NO TEAMS SIGNED

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 5. (AP)—President A. B. Nicholas of the Mid-Winter Sports association, which sponsors the Sugar Bowl, said today no college had been signed to play in the New Year's day football game.

Nicholas made his statement when asked about reports that St. Mary's and Alabama already are under contract.

Lindbergh Deserves Vindication

IN his "National Whirligig" column on this page today, Washington Correspondent Ray Tucker publicly is telling a story which most newspapermen have known for some time, i.e., that Charles A. Lindbergh performed outstanding service to his country during the war, as a civilian advisor to the air services of the Army and the Navy.

Mr. Lindbergh's activities during the conflict were "restricted" from publication to the Nth degree, since secrecy concerning them was essential. But it was generally known among newsmen that the outstanding ability of the one-time "Lone Eagle" as an aviator, and the tremendous technical and scientific knowledge he had assembled for so many years, were greatly aiding the birdmen of our nation.

The American public, innately fair, will be glad to learn of Mr. Lindbergh's contribution to the cause of victory and of his patriotic services which are credited with saving countless American lines in the wartime air. Mr. Tucker reports to us that if and when the whole truth is made public, Mr. Lindbergh's fellow countrymen will again raise him to the pedestal upon which he so long perched in their regard until political medicine was made with the airman as the "goat" in the days preceding our entry into the conflict.

The Morning Avalanche is particularly glad that the reports of Mr. Lindberg's service are becoming known to the people. While we found much to dislike in his general aloofness during the era in which most people were throwing themselves at his feet, we never failed to give him credit for outstanding ability and knowledge in matters pertaining to aviation. And when he was publicly excoriated by President Roosevelt, who was never slow to seize a political advantage, we said, as we again say, Lindberg was unfairly treated.

As we insisted at the time of the late President's public attack, Mr. Lindbergh's only crime was to tell the world—and especially England and the U. S.—that they were lagging behind Hitler and Germany in building respectable air forces. This was unpleasant and embarrassing talk to both Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill and since Mr. Lindbergh at that time was "in bad" with the lunatic fringe of the so-called "liberal element" of the country, Mr. Roosevelt grasped the opportunity simultaneously to hit back and gain political acclaim by "cracking down" on the flier.

We said later, too, and have not changed our opinion since, that the first man to be called into uniform from civilian ranks on the afternoon of December 7, 1941, should have been Charles A. Lindbergh. We said that because he knew as much, if not more, about airplanes and their operation than anyone in our country and because we believed that old political fights should be shelved in the best interests of the U.S.A.

As the nation has known all along, Mr. Lindbergh was kept on the bench, militarily speaking, despite our dire need of good quarterbacks in the months during which our air forces largely were "on order."

But, as the nation belatedly is beginning to learn, Mr. Lindbergh, sponsored by Henry Ford, contributed a great deal to his country just the same, even though he served in civilian clothes while many men nowhere near his equal in aeronautical science were wearing stars.

It is a heartwarming story—and one which we hope shall be climaxed by presidential notice, with Mr. Truman undoing as best he can now the injustice done Charles A. Lindbergh in the heat of a political campaign of pre-war days.

More Woe For King Cotton

AS one of the most productive cotton areas in the nation, the South Plains region watches with particular interest the development of a little-known plant called ramie, which some authorities say eventually will supplant cotton.

The Monthly Review of the Atlanta Federal Reserve bank says that ramie may revolutionize the textile industry and become a permanent part of the South's economy. Ramie, according to this publication, is the strongest of all fiber-producing plants and it has a tensile strength of eight times that of cotton. Garments made from it are said to wear almost indefinitely. (Editor's Note: We'll pay 5 bucks for a pair of ramie shorts, sight unseen!)

The new plant is being cultivated on a small scale in Florida, but its supporters claim it can be widely grown.

Cotton is being threatened on other fronts, too.

Smart, aggressive competitors are working hard for cotton's peacetime job. They are spending millions for scientific research and advertising.

Rayon, paper, jute, foreign cottons and new synthetics are pushing to the front. New fibers have been developed from coal, air, salt, petroleum and even skimmed milk.

King Cotton has been tottering on his throne for a long time. The scientific and technological advances during the war have placed him closer to usurpation than ever before. His researchers must get busy, but quickly. To compete with ramie and all the rest, King Cotton must discover new and better ways of being useful.

"'OW ARE YER, PRINCESS?"

XXI

Acrobatic dancers were now flooding Paris, and I wanted to have a form of presentation that was a little different and more difficult than the average act. I had designed a staircase (collapsible for traveling) that could be mounted in almost any space, from a big stage to a restaurant floor. Each step had ground glass panels inserted, allowing the light from electric bulbs to shine through the glass and reflect the light on champagne bottles that were, of course, empty. They were placed upside down over a long steel pin screwed to the steps; this held them in place and allowed the bottles to pivot while I worked on them. The base of an ordinary champagne bottle is hollow and forms a perfect cup for the toes.

Standing in these with ballet shoes, I had power in my feet to turn pirouettes on the bottles, and their pin supports were strong enough to permit handstands and fast acrobatic tricks on them. It was a very effective idea but one of the hardest acts I have ever undertaken, requiring balance and stamina as well as grace and acrobatic ability.

It became necessary for me to practice with my toes bound in adhesive tape, in case a bottle broke, which happened frequently at first. There was enough room in the apartment to practice, and I did so off and on all day, but it was impossible to keep it up for a long stretch, as in dancing or tumbling. I am afraid I was a good deal more interested in the staircase than in what I was doing at the Opera Comique.

As soon as the engagement finished at the Comique, Baud booked me at the Apollo Music Hall on Montmartre, almost next to the Casino de Paris. It was owned by the Impresario Lombard, who was also the proprietor of a very smart night club next door. There was a crystal floor with changing lights, and the staircase placed in the center of it looked beautiful. I was giving the rope act in the theater and the staircase number in the club—and so required a man assistant for both shows. Up to that moment, I had used a brother-in-law of Armand Saulnier, but he could not travel and had a bad appearance, so it became necessary for me to look around for a suitable person.

The agent Andre Meers called me one day, asking me to accompany him to Joe Zelli's cabaret that night—he had a person in mind for me. We sat in the balcony when the acts went on, and Andre pointed out the man in question. He was not very young but well built and one of the finest tumblers I have ever had the luck to see. The idea Andre had in mind when he showed him to me was that I could probably use him not only in my act but also for stretching and timing when I practiced.

His story was a strange one, for Andre told me he was half English, half Arab, and had at one time his own Arabian troupe with his brother. They then made a comedy act between them that was so outstanding it topped the bill all through England. The brother, who was even better than the man I was watching, did such fantastic falls and tricks that he injured his spine and became paralyzed. After the act split up, Albert Morgan (the one I saw) drifted to Paris.

He was at Joe Zelli's place through the kindness of the owner, who had known Morgan for years and wanted to give him a break. Joe Zelli, incidentally, is one of the best-hearted people alive, and I know of many a kind and generous deed he's performed to assist broken - down acts in Paris. I asked Andre Meers to call Morgan to the table after the act was finished, so that I could talk to him.

I had all I could do not to laugh out loud when he arrived, for he had the most terrific cockney accent, with all the dry humor so characteristic of London's East End. He took one look at me and said, "'Ow are yer, Princess?" and from then on, that was what he generally called me. We had a long talk, and I discovered he neither drank nor smoked, was married to a French girl, and had two small children. I took an immediate liking to his straightforward manner and vast knowledge of show business. Joe Zelli stopped at our table that evening and gave him a splendid reference, so when he came to look at my equipment the next day, I engaged him. This was one of the best things I ever did, for he became a trustworthy, reliable person on whom I could always depend, and was also a real help in my work.

The first time we practiced, I asked him how he liked the job. He said, "Not arf, Princess; you don't know what it means to me not to 'ave to tumble any more. I'm forty, and me bones is rattlin' about like a bleedin' skelington."

Both the Lombard engagements were decided triumphs, and I became known to the newspapermen and received good notices almost every week. The staircase number was particularly successful and well worth all the hard work I had put into it. But it was actually punishment every time I went on, for my toes used to bleed from beneath the nails because of the force required to maintain a balance on the bottles.

When my contract was up, everything worked out very nicely. My friend, Olga Gougoutchieff, took over my apartment, and Morgan was in the seventh heaven of delight about our going on tour and opening at the Ambassadeurs of Cannes, the smartest place on the Riviera.

Union Pickets Large Ford Motor Plant

WINDSOR, Ont., Nov. 5. (AP) — A throng of union pickets, estimated by police at 2,500, threw up a barricade of autos and busses on two streets adjoining the strike-bound Ford Motor Company plant today.

Windsor police said there had been no incidents as the strikers used the vehicles to establish the barricade on streets at the front and one side of the plant.

Workers at Windsor plants of General Motors, Chrysler, Kelsey-Hayes wheel company, Truscon Steel and Motor Products, Ltd. struck today in sympathy with the Ford workers. Union spokesmen predicted all 8,500 members of local 195 United Auto Workers (CIO) would join the walkout, which affects 10,000 members of Ford local 200.

Heavily re-enforced police details were held in reserve.

Looking At Life ------ By Erich Brandeis

HERE is part of a letter from Berlin just received from John Brogan, King Features Syndicate vice president, who is at present in Europe reopening offices and seeing what can be salvaged out of the ruins.

"My fingers are so cold that it hurts to type even between hot breath blows on the digits in hopes to warm them a bit," Brogan writes. "There's no heat here and no hot or even warm water.

BRANDEIS

"The day I arrived at the airport from Hamburg I waited three hours in the cold for a jeep to take me to the hotel. There are no busses or taxis here—nothing but 100 per cent busted houses, people begging for anything you can give them and black markets where you can buy American cigarettes at ten dollars—I repeat, ten dollars—a package. For amusement there are a few terrible night clubs that open at 4:30 p. m. and have to close at 9:30 p. m. These clubs sell American cigarettes at $2.50 a piece, or at the rate of $50 a pack.

"Our pre-war office is plugged full of holes and half of it is rubble. Every time I go in I am afraid that the half still standing will collapse.

"Unless you have seen Berlin you simply can't imagine what war is—and all that before the advent of the atomic bomb! It will take ten years at least to clean up the rubble, and this winter, when the frost gets into these ruins, thousands of people will be killed when the remaining walls collapse—not counting all those who will die from cold and starvation.

"God, what a sight! There just isn't any Berlin left.

"I had a spare Ingersoll with me in case I broke my regular watch. A fellow just offered me a hundred dollars in American money for it. He could sell it for $150 or $200 to the Russians, he told me. I didn't sell it."

There is an interesting sidelight to this letter.

I showed it to the cigaret girl in a hotel where we newspaper fellows eat quite often. She has known Brogan for years and has had a hundred arguments with him. And you know what the arguments were about? I'll let her tell you.

After she read the letter her eyes were aflame.

"I wish I had John Brogan here right now," she said. "Do you know that every time he bought a package of cigarets from me in the restaurant he used to kick about what grafters we were for charging twenty-five cents for it? And now look at him—paying ten dollars and being glad he is getting them at all!"

YES, you and I kick about lots of little things — and how lucky we are to have something to gripe about.

Of course, you may say that you are a righteous person and that Germany has sinned and the wages of sin is death. So let us dismiss the moral side of the question entirely.

But just imagine that it had been New York or Chicago or San Francisco or whatever your own town may be.

Who said "There, but for the grace of God go I?"

Lindbergh Vindicated

He Aided Greatly In Victory

WASHINGTON
By Ray Tucker

ARMY-NAVY and Capitol Hill friends of Charles A. Lindbergh are wondering when the administration will publicize and recognize the valuable contributions he made to Allied air superiority during the war, as well as his survey of Germany's jet and rocket industry after the Axis surrendered which resulted in advances in airplane construction.

Admiral Chester W. Nimitz, who first employed the distinguished aviator, has said privately that his advice on flying in the Pacific area saved the lives of many naval crews. He taught them how to conserve gasoline, how to maneuver and how to outwit Jap Zeros.

Many fliers, according to Admiral Nimitz, returned to their island bases because of Lindbergh's instructions, whereas otherwise they might have fallen into the sea or become the victims of enemy squadrons.

Since V-E day Mr. Lindbergh (he resigned his reserve colonelcy after he was publicly assailed by the late President Roosevelt for his supposed Nazi sympathies) has toured the Reich at the request of the Army Air Forces. He has submitted a report on the Hitler-Goering aviation set-up, and many of his ideas are being incorporated in forthcoming planes which made obsolete even our finest models of World War II.

TUCKER

Army-Navy officers decline to discuss Lindbergh's performance. When questioned as to his employment, they say that he was "not hired by us." They report that he is employed by the Ford Motor company, and that Henry and grandson Henry II contributed his services.

But they admit off the record that if his unpublicized work were known he "would be restored to the pedestal he occupied when he thrilled the world with his flight to Paris back in 1927."

UNHEEDED: The complete Lindbergh story has never been told. He was dog-housed by the Roosevelt administration and the American public because, in warning England and the United States of Germany's remarkable revival of its air force, he appeared to sympathize with the Hitler regime and admire the "wave of the future."

According to his friends, he simply tried to awaken the democracies to the need for building sky squadrons that would outmatch Hitler's, and he was disquieted when his warnings went unheeded in London and Washington.

Here is the hitherto unrevealed drama in which he was one of the key figures. It suggests that he was punished because he told truths which neither the then Prime Minister Chamberlain nor President Roosevelt wanted to hear.

MOTIVE: For three years in succession — 1935, 1936 and 1937 — Lindbergh visited Germany. In Berlin he made the acquaintance of our military attache, Major (now Colonel) Truman Smith. The latter had made, as a smart representative would a friend of Hermann Goering, Hitler's No 1 airman.

Goering opened up and let Major Smith and Lindbergh learn the inside of Germany's aerial establishment. He permitted them to visit his fields and factories, and to get a picture of Hitler's dreams.

Goering and Hitler had a selfish motive. They hoped that Major Smith and Lindbergh would report to Washington and London on Germany's air strength. They believed that the two men's warnings would lead the western powers, especially England, to look the other way when the time came to swallow Austria, Czechoslovakia and Poland.

BOTCHED: Lindbergh brought the bad news to 10 Downing Street, but Chamberlain ignored his advice and negotiated the Munich pact in 1938. He tried to inform the White House, but his private information was not palatable.

When he took to the Radio and platform to headline his message, he botched the job by seeming to admire the Hitler philosophy. He was publicly disciplined by President Roosevelt, and the public appeared to approve FDR's sentence.

PHENOMENON: On the basis of the Lindbergh-Smith surveys, the military attache forwarded a sensational report to the War department under date of November 1, 1937 — almost two years before the attack on Poland and more than four years before Pearl Harbor.

The Smith memo consisted of six pages of written comment and 28 pages and tabulations on German air strength and production cacacity. He estimated annual output at 6,000 planes. He placed their November 1937 strength at 1,800 first-class planes, 600 in reserve and an unknown number in depots. Emphasizing that these were conservative estimates, he added:

"Germany is once more a world power in the air. Her air force and air industry have emerged from the kindergarten stage. Full manhood will be reached in three years . . . In November 1937 it appears that the development of German air power is a European phenomenon of the first diplomatic importance. The upward curve is still continuing."

Major Smith (and also Lindbergh) predicted that Germany would "gain air technical parity with the United States in 1941 or 1942," thus indicating the date when Hitler would be ready to make global war if England refused to bargain with him.

ANGERED: This truly alarming report was pigeonholed, and the U. S. continued to make only about 500 planes of an obsolete type annually. The Smith warning was never forwarded to congressional committees handling Air Forces appropriations. But in the Spring of 1939, Gen. Henry H. Arnold introduced Lindbergh to a private session of the House Appropriations subcommittee that fixes the Army's budget.

Lindbergh confirmed and added to the Smith report. But his tidings angered Democratic chieftains on Capitol Hill, and Chairman Clarence Cannon did not permit the Lindbergh testimony to be published for the benefit of Congress and the public. The writer obtained a copy only recently. For failure to heed the Smith-Lindbergh advice, the United States had less than 500 first-line planes (and no modern bombers) at the time of the French surrender in 1940.

Thus ends the Lindbergh saga as of today, although it is understood that he will soon make headline news again.

ALL AROUND TOWN:

Considering the wordage involved it's surprising there isn't more wit and humor on the floors of the House and Senate. Occassionally, however, some one does come through. For example Sen. Clyde M. Reed (R-Kan) wound up a long speech on the shortage of physicians:

"I shall conclude in another moment, Mr. President. I know the Senator from Kentucky (Majority Leader Barkley) always becomes worried when I make an extensive speech. I never become worried when he makes one; otherwise I should be worried much of the time."

BARRING copyright complications, President Truman's next campaign song is as much a certainty as anything can be.

It's "I'm Just Wild About Harry."

If the song makes any contribution to the votes that Truman gets (nobody here doubts for a second that he will be the nominee) the Republicans will have only themselves to blame.

They brought the swingful ditty to the attention of the Democrats when they started a slogan in one of their unofficial party magazines: "Don't Go Wild About Harry."

No matter what the politicians promise the voter for his dinner pail or pot, he invariably winds up with a pretty kettle of fish.

The fat woman who says she eats barely enough to keep a bird alive is probably telling the truth, if the bird she has in mind is the condor.

Industry And Labor Have New Role To Play

Nation Faces Major Readjustment

By THOMAS L. STOKES
Special Correspondent

CHICAGO—A first-hand check on reconversion and related problems in our major industrial area from New England to this Midwest center offers convincing evidence that this country is up against a major task in fitting the pieces back together, if there is to be anything approaching full employment.

STOKES

It is going to take real planning, not only by the government but by the local community and by the individual business, as well as some original thinking and fresh ideas. For it is not a simple problem.

It is complicated by a new concept—the goal is of "full employment" which we have set for the first time. That has perhaps a deeper meaning than is realized. Its full significance strikes you when you see the army of unemployed already piling up, recognize the capacities of many of them, look at the jobs available, and consider additionally the swelling flood of released war veterans, about 80 per cent of whom did not have regular jobs before.

In the past, even in times we thought of as highly prosperous, there always was much marginal unemployment. There were people, sometimes in substantial numbers, who did not fit into the existing business and industrial pattern, or did not seek employment.

In the war practically everybody who could work was employed. Because we got full employment then, in almost exact sense of the phrase, we came out of the war with the determination to do that in peace.

It's not nearly so easy.

Must Change Setup

Many, of course, have left or will leave the labor market. This includes many women, many older people, and many youngsters. There is no way of telling how many this will be. But it is also indicated that many who might naturally be counted as extra but were drawn into the labor market by the war are going to stay.

This is true among women. It is also true of men over 45, some of whom had been out of work for a long time. Thus far reemployment is getting back into the old pattern in respect to these two groups. They are, in short, being rejected.

It is obvious if we propose to utilize these people our basic program must be expanded and liberalized.

THERE is, at the outset, the natural and expected expansion of established industries. Inquiry reveals a large volume of such expansion planned, not only by plants but by railroads and public utilities. Some already has begun.

There is the utilization of war plants as another market for jobs. But where there is one example as at Willow Run there are many other plants still idle and without prospects. It is going to take some enterprise and ingenuity and daring to utilize these plants if we are to get full employment.

Campaigns Under Way

Many cities are putting on campaigns to attract industry. In Massachusetts Joseph P. Kennedy, one-time SEC chairman, is crusading up and down the state in behalf of getting new industries.

But, if the unemployed are to be absorbed, such campaigns must create new industries, not just move old ones from here to there.

Right now, with a large surplus of workers, employers can pick the best. But if the others are to have jobs there must be a new attitude on the part of business, industry and labor. Some need guidance. Some need training. Some will need plain tolerance and sympathy. Labor union practices of grading workers must be liberalized.

IT is a big job of readjustment, readjustment of ideas, readment of the whole approach in industry and labor.

It won't be done by just hoping that everything will come out all right. Here and there some forward-looking people in industry and labor are conscious of the problem. But it will take more interest by more people.

The old formulas won't work here.

We have set ourselves a new goal.

Palestine Area Under Close British Curfew

JERUSALEM, Nov. 5 (U.P.)—The entire coastal area of Palestine was under a dusk-to-dawn curfew today as British forces stepped up precautions against any new violence by Jewish extremists.

The curfew order, issued last night, covers the area through which all Palestine's railways pass and the sites of vital oil installations, including the terminal of the American oil pipeline from Iraq.

Palestine was quiet again, but police and army authorities said they were taking no chances of another anti-British outbreak such as that last week in which Jewish extremists sabotaged the country's railway.

Dispatches from Egypt said Cairo also was quiet following several days of anti-Jewish demonstrations by Arab extremists. More than 1,000 persons were arrested in Cairo alone and 532 others still were hospitalized in Cairo and Alexandria for injuries suffered in the riots.

Funny Business

"I either have to have more cleaners or make my sales talk less convincing when I give group demonstrations!"

Several Hospitals To Be Closed By Jan. 1

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 (AP) — The Army announced today that 23 hospitals would be closed by the first of next year due to the increasing number of patients discharged.

The hospitals will be offered to the Veterans administration or turned back to their former owners where they are leased properties.

Maj. Gen. Norman T. Kirk, surgeon general, said additional hospitals would be released after January 1 but he was unable to announce the schedule yet.

The hospitals to be released and the dates include:

Ashburn General Hospital, McKinney, Texas, Dec. 12; Harmon Hospital, Longview, Texas, Dec. 5.

Popular Move Against Col. Peron Is Seen

BUENOS AIRES, Nov. 5 (AP) — The possibility of a popular front of Argentine political parties opposed to the presidential aspirations of Col. Juan Peron arose tonight when the Radical party scheduled a national committee meeting for Nov. 7 to consider a joint campaign proposed by Communists and Socialists.

The Radical party is the strongest in the country and the Socialists are third in point of size. The Communists, while small, are politically astute.

There were some indications that the conservatives, the second largest party, also would be willing to join a popular front against the former vice president, since Peron's election might threaten their political structure as much as that of the other parties.

Java Survivor Urges Buddies To Buy Bonds

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5 (AP) — Dr. Corydon M. Wassell, U. S. Medical Corps, who gained war fame for his heroic conduct in Java, made this Victory Loan statement tonight:

"I have been back from Java and Australia since June, 1942. I know what prices are here at home. They are away above prices out there.

"To all my buddies overseas I say—put every dime you have into victory bonds if you expect to buy a new car or anything else. They are only on display now.

"Save it, fellows—every dime of it—until you get home."

ADVERTISEMENT FOR BIDS (Legal)
NOTICE TO BIDDERS

Sealed proposals addressed to the Honorable Mayor and City Commission of Lubbock, Texas, will be received at the office of M. R. Smith, Jr., City Manager until 2:00 p. m. November 19, 1945, for furnishing all necessary materials, equipment, superintendence and labor for constructing a Sanitary Sewer Interceptor, for the City of Lubbock, owner, Lubbock, Texas.

Bidders must submit Cashiers or Certified Check issued by a bank satisfactory to the owner, for 5% of the amount of the base bid, payable without recourse to the order of the City of Lubbock, or a Proposal Bond in the sum of the same amount, from a reliable Surety Company, as a guaranty that Bidder will enter into contract and execute bond and guaranty in the forms provided within ten (10) days after notice of award of contract to him. Bids without required check or Proposal Bond will not be considered.

The Successful Bidder must furnish bond on the attached form in the amount of 100% of contract price from a Surety Company holding a permit from the State of Texas to act as Surety, or other Surety or Sureties acceptable to the OWNER.

All unit prices must be stated in both script and figures. The owner reserves the right to reject any or all bids and to waive formalities. In case of ambiguity or lack of clearness in stating the price in the bids, the owner reserves the right to consider the most advantageous construction thereof, or to reject the bid. Unreasonable (or "unbalanced") unit prices will authorize the owner to reject the bid.

Bidders are expected to inspect the site of the work and to inform themselves regarding the local conditions and conditions under which the work is to be done. Attention is called to the provisions of the Acts of the 43rd Legislature of the State of Texas, page 91, Chapter 45 (Article No. 5159A Civil Statues 1925) concerning the wage scale and payment of prevailing wages established by the Owner. Said scale of prevailing minimum wage is set forth in the specifications.

Instructions to bidders, proposal forms, specifications and plans are on file at the office of Arch L. King, City Engineer, City Hall, Lubbock, Texas.

Copies may be secured upon deposit of $15.00 to be returned to the Contractor on submission of bona fide bid on the work with such plans and Specifications; or upon returning the Plans and Specifications immediately after examination of same, before the date of receiving bids, and advising the City Engineer that bid will not be submitted; otherwise the deposit shall be forfeited.

City of Lubbock, Texas, Owner.

STOCKS HIT NEW HIGHS

NEW YORK, Nov. 5 (AP)—Stock prices rose fractions to more than a point to 8½-year highs in today's market after a last-minute rally in rails helped spur buying interest in most of the other groups.

Until the last 20 minutes of dealings, the trend had been mixed and narrow.

Individual issues touching new peaks for 1945 or longer were American Telephone, Sears Roebuck, Pennsylvania Central Airline, Southern Railway and Armour.

Demand stemmed from the belief that limited inflation was inevitable as a result of eventual wage and price increases. A desire to invest idle funds also persisted as a factor.

Some investors continued their weekend through Monday inasmuch as the exchange will be closed on election day tomorrow and this accounted for part of the early sluggishness.

Volume totaled 1,650,000 shares against 1,840,000 Friday. Of 989 issues dealt in, 552 advanced, 244 declined and 193 were unchanged.

The Associated Press 60-stock composite rose .5 of a point to 74.3—highest since March 11, 1937. The industrial, rail and utility groups also reached high marks since that year.

Gainers included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Omnibus Corp., Woolworth, Douglas Aircraft, Western Union "A", Kennecott, Air Reduction, Union Carbide, Allied Chemical, U. S. Gypsum, Santa Fe, Standard Oil (N. J.) Carbide, Allied Chemical, U. S. Gypsum, Santa Fe, Standard Oil (N. J.) and Radio Corp.

Bonds generally advanced.

Jap Hangover Blamed In Part For Civil War Unrest Sweeping China

By JAMES D. WHITE
Associated Press Staff Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 5—Part of China's "civil war" is occasioned by a Japanese hangover.

Japanese militarists devoted considerable planning time before they surrendered to keeping Kuomintang and Communist China apart, and their efforts were not entirely unsuccessful.

WHITE

It might almost be argued that if they had planned it that way, China's post-war confusion could scarcely have worked out more to their liking.

Chinese Communists actively are resisting the return of Central government troops to what was Japanese-held territory. This threatens to wipe out the beginning of a peaceful settlement which Chungking and Red Leaders had agreed upon.

U. S. May Be Involved

Because American troops are supporting the return of Chungking troops, there is perhaps danger that the United States may become more actively involved.

In that case, unless our troops withdraw, they would be aligned with Chungking against the Communists in North China, and the dynamite here is that while the Chinese Communists at present have no demonstrated support from Soviet Russia, they act as though they thought they might be able to change that one of these days.

When Japan surrendered last August, Chungking charged that in some cases the Reds exceeded their authority by disarming Japanese. There is thus some suspicion that the Japanese may have arranged to let some of their equipment fall into Red hands.

Japs Play Double Game

This would be nothing new. For a decade the Japanese military played a double game in China which is not generally understood. They fought Chungking and Red forces at times, but carefully managed not to dispose of either faction decisively. Why should they? Why fight Chinese when Chinese would save them the trouble?

The Japanese used "the Communist menace" as an excuse to invade North China in 1937, but never launched a single decisive campaign against the Reds. If any proof of this were needed, one has only to remember that Chinese Communism made its greater strides well behind Japanese lines.

Navy Announces New Enlistment Program

Men now volunteering for service in the regular Navy will have the option of electing either two, three, four or six year terms of enlistments, rather than the previous term of four years, according to an announcement by Chief John C. Oldham, recruiter in charge of the local Navy recruiting sub-station in the post office building.

Those volunteering for a first enlistment or reenlistment in the Navy are now given an option bn the length of time they wish to serve. Applicants 17 years of age may now be enlisted for two or three years, or a period not to exceed minority. Men enlisting for minority are automatically discharged when they reach the age of 21.

Applicants in the age group 18 to 30, inclusive, may now be enlisted for two, three, four or six years. Men over 30 will be eligible for enlistment if their total previous military or naval service or active service in the reserve, deduced from their present age, place them in the 18-30 group.

Oldham also noted that the Voluntary Recruitment Act of 1945, recently passed by Congress and signed by the President, provides more inducements to prospective recruits. He mentioned these points:

Reenlistment gratuity of $50 in all pay grades for each year served in the current term of active duty. Previously the amount was only $25 for men below the first three pay grades.

Immediate payment of mustering-out pay, rather than waiting until final separation from service.

Up to 60 days leave with transportation provided both ways.

Permanent extension of wartime 20 per cent allowance for sea and oversea duty.

Family allowances extended for full period of enlistments and reenlistments made prior to July 1, 1946.

Option is reopened for men in first three pay grades to receive either money allowance for quarters for dependents or family allowance.

G. I. Bill of Rights benefits are assured at the end of the new enlistment.

Free postage is given until December 31, 1947.

B-29 Spans Nation In 6 Hours, 59 Minutes But Misses Record

WASHINGTON, Nov. 5. (AP) — A B-29, whose passengers included Lt. Gen. and Mrs. James H. Doolittle, spanned the continent in 6 hours and 59 minutes yesterday —56 minutes short of the record.

Doolittle said no attempt had been made to set a record. Then he added to reporters:

"We just didn't get the predicted winds."

The transcontinental record is 6 hours and 3 minutes. It was set last January by a Boeing C-97, transport version of the B-29, in a flight from Seattle to Washington.

Not His Fastest Trip

The B-29 carrying Doolittle, his wife, three other passengers and a crew of seven, left Oakland, Calif., at 9:24 a.m., Eastern Standard time, and landed at National airport at 4:23 p.m.

It was not Doolittle's fastest trip across the country. He flew a B-29 from Los Angeles to Washington last October in 6 hours and 45 minutes. That flight, however, was not officially timed.

Maj. J. Lawrence Smith, at the controls throughout the flight, said the same plane and crew recently flew from Honolulu to Washington in 16 hours and 38 minutes. The plane holds a record of 12 hours and 20 minutes from Washington to London.

Everybody's asking..."When can I get new tires?"

HERE'S THE FIRST POSTWAR NEWS ABOUT

U.S. ROYALS

When can I get new tires?

It won't be long now. War production is over. The entire facilities of our 5 giant plants are rolling out tires and tubes 100% for civilian use. This great production capacity is devoted to turning out more and more tires for you.

By January 1, 1946 we expect to be making as many civilian tires every day as we made before the war. Next spring we will be turning out more tires than we ever built before.

What about rationing?

We expect the government to continue rationing for at least 60 days. Present indications are it will be removed or greatly relaxed before the end of 1945.

How good will the new tires be?

Since Pearl Harbor, "U. S." scientists have made as much progress in applying synthetic materials to tire manufacture as had been made in the previous three decades with natural rubber.

When you buy your U. S. Royals, you'll buy more than just a good tire—you'll buy a great tire. Car owners are sending us reports from every section of the country that they are getting prewar performance and better from their U. S. Royals.

AFL Asks Congress To Probe Higgins Plants

NEW ORLEANS, Nov. 5. (AP)—Still insisting that Andrew J. Higgins does not intend to abandon boat manufacturing in New Orleans, representatives of AFL unions turned today to members of Congress with a demand for an investigation.

William J. Donnels, chairman of the New Orleans Metal Trades council, said in an interview with the Associated Press yesterday that he was mailing each Senator and Representative a copy of a union proposal for probing the circumstances leading to the closing of three Higgins plants here.

The proposal, made in an open letter, asks that the unions involved also be scrutinized.

In the background was the possibility of a general 24-hour work stoppage by all AFL members in the New Orleans area—between 75,000 and 100,000 workers by union estimates.

Donnels, who is also chairman of the publicity committee of the Building and Construction Trades council, said this move would be requested of the unions as an extreme measure if other means of obtaining an investigation failed.
