Commemorative Postage Stamp

Mrs. Tommy Whitley, a nurse at Malone-Hogan Foundation Hospital, re-enacts the art shown on a new commemorative postage stamp which went on sale here Friday. The stamp honors the nursing profession. A copy of the stamp is inset in the lower right hand corner.

Nursing Profession Gets Latest U.S. Postal Honors

Twenty-thousand copies of the newest 4-cent commemorative postage stamp issued by the U.S. Post Office Department are on sale in Big Spring today.

E. C. Boatler, postmaster, said that the new stamps were first sold on Thursday in Washington, D.C. Today they go on sale all over the U.S. Many collectors are eagerly waiting their opportunity to buy sheets, blocks and single specimens of the new issue.

Printed in three colors, the nursing profession stamp, designed by Alfred Charles Parker, shows a young nurse lighting the traditional candle symbolizing her dedication to her profession.

The nurse's blouse and the background are in blue; the candle, flame and denomination in red and the nurse's hair is black. The frame and denomination of the stamp are in green.

One hundred million copies of the stamp have been printed. They are distributed in sheets of 50 and measure .84 by 1.44 inches.

The nursing stamp will be the final commemorative stamp of the current year. Boatler pointed out that 1961 has been a particularly prolific year in this field and indications are that 1962 will be even more abundantly marked by special stamps.

The next issue announced will appear Jan. 8 and will be to mark the anniversary of New Mexico becoming a state.

Yankee Studies Beauty Of Dixie Belle

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — Bob Hecht may be having the time of his life right now, squiring a pretty Southern belle through the social whirl of the holiday season.

But don't envy him too much, fellows. He's got a problem the likes of which he never faced as quarterback of the Navy football team.

Hecht has set out to try to determine whether Southern girls are prettier than Northern girls. Any decision, barring a tie, likely will set off a distaff war between the states.

The Navy cadet is doing some research on the problem during a five-day visit with pretty Marguerite Richmond, a Mississippi Southern student.

NO DECISION

At the moment, Hecht says, he hasn't quite made up his mind. How the heck did Hecht get into this situation?

Well, it all started after a Mississippi midshipman, John Quisenberry of Clinton, allowed that Dixie darlings are the fairest of the fair.

Hecht, a Yankee from Clairton, Pa., demanded proof. Quisenberry produced pictures of a group of Jackson beauty contestants and Hecht picked Marguerite as a smashing sample of Southern beauty.

The star quarterback, whose 39-yard pass set up a Navy touchdown in the 13-7 victory over Army, decided that the two should get better acquainted. So he wrote to Miss Richmond.

"I began with an apology for being forward and ended with an apology for being forward," the pretty, blue-eyed brunette said. "He told me something about himself in it, sent a picture, said he was 6 feet 4. I'd always dated boys six feet tall or more, so you bet I was interested."

PLANS WORK OUT

In her two-page typed reply, Miss Richmond said she listed the things she liked to do, loved to do, did well and would like to learn to do.

The Navy star attempted to arrange a meeting after Navy played Miami in Florida on Nov. 6, but that fell through.

And Miss Richmond's mother refused to let her accept an invitation to attend the Army-Navy game in Philadelphia Dec. 2.

So she decided to invite Hecht to visit her in Jackson over the Christmas holidays. He arrived Wednesday, and they've been busy in the swim of the city's mid-winter social season.

Whether romance is blossoming isn't known. Both are keeping quiet on that score. The only comment so far is from Marguerite's younger sister Sandra, who said:

"He isn't lacking."

Docket Clearing In Last Cases Set

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — U.S. Atty. Ernest Morgan said Thursday he plans to clear the federal court docket for the Western District of Texas of all pending land cases more than three years old.

Morgan said there are about 600 suits, including some 18 years old, awaiting trial. Most concern land condemnation actions taken in connection with military installations and with river and dam projects.

The district has divisions in Waco, Austin, San Antonio, Del Rio, Pecos and El Paso.

Texas Gets Rice Allotment

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department announced today state acreage allotments for the 1962 rice crop totaling 1,817,856 acres. Texas got 464,532 acres.

'Modernized' Farm Program Is Planned

Second Bomb Threat Empties U.S. Building

WASHINGTON (AP)—For the second day in a row, a bomb threat caused evacuation today of the Immigration and Naturalization Service building in downtown Washington.

An anonymous caller telephoned police that a bomb would be set off in the building at 10 a.m. Thirty-five minutes after this deadline, police were still searching the building without finding any trace of explosives.

The 350 employees were dismissed from the building, but officials said they would be recalled at 12:30 p.m. if no bomb was found.

A similar telephone call, by a man with a Spanish accent, was received by police Thursday, causing immigration officials to dismiss employees for the day at 11:15 a.m.

That caller told police he planned to blow up the building because "You will not admit my brother."

Police said today's threat apparently came from the same caller, who said he was going to try again because he failed Thursday.

New Laos Summit Attempt A Failure

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Another attempt to convene a meeting of Laos' three political princes to form a coalition government collapsed today.

Prince Souphanouvong, leader of the pro-Communist Pathet Lao, left Vientiane for his rebel stronghold in the Plaine des Jarres, but a spokesman said new attempts would be made to hold a princely conference at a later date.

"It has to be done," the Pathet Lao spokesman told newsmen.

Neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma, designated to head the proposed unity government, gave no indication whether he would remain and try to negotiate with Prince Boun Oum, the head of the conservative, pro-Western royal government in Vientiane.

Souphanouvong decided to return to the Plaine des Jarres after Boun Oum for the third day refused to sit down with the other two princes for joint talks on allocation of the posts in a neutralist coalition government.

The three Laotian princes dined amicably together Thursday night. Souvanna said then the atmosphere was "excellent" at the party but he reported no progress toward opening of negotiations.

Soviet and Polish diplomats suggested privately that the next meeting be held in Geneva, where the rival princes would be under the direct influence of the 14 nations which are negotiating to prevent resumption of open warfare in Laos between Boun Oum's Western-backed army and the Communist-supported forces of Souphanouvong and of Souvanna Phouma.

Souvanna and Souphanouvong arrived in Vientiane Wednesday for their first meeting in two months with Boun Oum to discuss allocation of the posts in the coalition government all had agreed Souvanna would head. But Boun Oum gave the two other princes the brush-off, accused Souvanna of not being truly neutral and demanded government posts for his faction which the other two were certain to refuse.

Western diplomats were appalled by the unexpected turn, but Souvanna took a conciliatory tone Thursday. And Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, a staunch anti-Communist who is considered the backbone of Boun Oum's government, arranged Thursday night's dinner party.

The U.S. Embassy was believed to have brought considerable pressure on Boun Oum to get him to the dinner. But afterward Souvanna would only say that the rancor was "subsiding" and that "at least there is more hope than on the first day."

Former Wife Slaps Brando

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—Emerging from a stormy child custody hearing, Anna Kashfi slapped her ex-husband, Marlon Brando, across the face Thursday.

Miss Kashfi, trembling, told photographers "Don't ever say I didn't give you a good picture."

The blow, delivered with an open hand, was heard down the corridor and in full view of news photographers.

The incident followed Brando's testimony that he's "tired of playing the heavy" in the prolonged court squabble over their 3-year-old boy, Christian Devi.

The actor was seeking a court order to visit the boy three times, instead of twice, a week.

Brando, 36, was granted permission to have the boy visit him every third weekend in addition to the twice weekly visitations previously allowed.

Miss Kashfi, 26, and Brando were divorced in 1959.

Kennedy Seeks To Hike Incomes

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP) — President Kennedy is reported ready to launch a new farm program, "modernized for the 1960s" and aimed at increasing farm income.

He went over the details in a three-hour session late Thursday with Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman and key advisers at the vacation White House.

Freeman said the program now has the "general approval" of the President, who will announce it in a special agriculture message to Congress.

And, he added, it also will be included in Kennedy's State of the Union Message, which is being ironed out in daily sessions with White House advisers.

Freeman made a flying visit from snowy Washington to Palm Beach to tackle farm problems with Kennedy.

FARM BALANCE

As he boarded an Air Force jet plane to return home Thursday night, the secretary of agriculture reported the new farm program "will make use of our abundance and will strengthen farm incomes."

It will seek "an over-all balance to make use of our abundance," he told reporters.

Kennedy was keeping his advisers busy here as he mixed work on a variety of reports to Congress with relaxation and visits to his ailing father in the hospital.

The living room of the ocean-front mansion the Kennedys are occupying for the Christmas-New Year's holiday period was a scene of men at work Thursday night—with ash trays overflowing and papers everywhere—as the President invited news photographers in and posed with the secretary of agriculture.

ROCKING CHAIR

Kennedy was conducting his conference from a rocking chair. And, his one-year-old son John F. Kennedy Jr. crawled in to watch the proceedings and got a wave from his father before a nurse trundled the baby off.

Freeman described the new farm program as "updated and modernized for the 60s" to keep agriculture moving ahead along with the President's general program. Freeman said every conceivable idea that economists and other experts have come up with has been considered in framing the new program.

The chairman of Kennedy's Council of Economic Advisers, Dr. Walter W. Heller, sat in on the conference. Heller came to Palm Beach Tuesday with the President's special counsel Theodore Sorensen and other advisers.

FLEW BACK

He and Freeman flew back to Washington together Thursday night, after the farm program

Cuba's Curtain Is Cactus Hedge

WASHINGTON (AP) — First the iron curtain. Then the Berlin wall. Now comes the Cuban variety of cold war obstacles—a "cactus hedge."

The Navy told about it Thursday. A year ago, the Cuban government cleared a strip from 25 to 50 feet in width on its side of the fence around the U.S. Navy base at Guantanamo Bay.

Then to discourage any who might wish to steal across it, the Cubans set out cactus plants.

The plants have now grown. The Navy spokesman discussed the cactus in response to questions about a story by George Clifford of the Scripps-Howard Newspapers.

Wrote Clifford: "The wall is a 5-yard-wide hedge of bayonet grass—a cactus plant with long, sharp leaves that look like butcher knives and are almost as effective."

He quoted a U.S. Marine sentry on the fence line as saying: "I think it is more to keep Cubans from trying to climb the fence to freedom than to keep us in."

Nation's Traffic Death Rate Down

CHICAGO (AP) — The nation's traffic deaths in the first 11 months this year totaled 34,370 compared to 34,700 for the similar period in 1960, a decrease of 1 per cent.

The National Safety Council, in announcing the death toll, said the accident death rate for every 100 million miles traveled during the 11 month period was 5.1, the lowest on record for any similar period. The 11-month rate for both 1960 and 1959 was 5.3.

and the economic report got a going over.

Additional work on the State of the Union Message remains to be completed. Kennedy will deliver his review of the nation's condition—foreign and domestic—at a joint session sometime after Congress reconvenes on Jan. 10. The timetable for his various reports, however, is undecided.

The President was conducting other routine business as well and getting daily intelligence briefings. Aside from work, the President continued to get in a daily swim in the heated salt water pool at his holiday residence, although a new cold wave was driving temperatures down in this resort area.

But he abandoned plans for a sail Thursday aboard the presidential yacht, Honey Fitz, when winds whipped up to 25 miles per hour and small craft warnings were hoisted.

VISITS FATHER

The chief executive made a brief morning visit to his 73-year-old father at St. Mary's Hospital in West Palm Beach. Joseph P. Kennedy's condition remained unchanged. He is still partially paralyzed from a stroke suffered Dec. 19 and is unable to speak.

Improvement is reported in the mild case of pneumonia which he contracted several days ago.

The elder Kennedy had a special visitor Thursday, four-year-old Caroline Kennedy, one of his favorite grandchildren.

The hospital waived its rules against child visitors so Caroline, holding her mother's hand, could tiptoe to the bedside of her grandpa.

The seriously ill elder Kennedy recognized his little granddaughter, according to his niece, Ann Gargan, but he was unable to speak to her.

Two Boys Hurt By BB Shots

Two young boys narrowly escaped being blinded by shots from Christmas air rifles Thursday.

One of the lads was Kyle McAlister, 10, son of G. A. McAlister Jr., 2403 Cindy Lane. Name of the other lad was not available. Both were taken to the Malone and Hogan Hospital Foundation where surgeons removed the pellets. In each case, the shot had struck close to the right eye of the victim. Half an inch difference in either case would have brought blindness.

The two instances were not related.

McAlister said that his son and a young friend, neither of whom had air rifles, were on a hike on South Mountain. Another group of boys, with air rifles, opened fire on the two youths. When the shot struck Kyle and embedded under the skin, Kyle cried out. The boys with the guns fled and were pursued by Kyle's companion. He did not succeed in catching the group.

The other victim, it was reported, was hit in the corner of the eye. In his case, as in that of young McAlister, a surgeon had to probe to remove the slug.

Officials sounded a warning against the careless use of air rifles. It is against city ordinances to use the weapons in town. Parents were urged to admonish their sons to be careful with the rifles, regardless where they were being used.

Freezing Weather Envelops East

By The Associated Press

Zero and freezing weather enveloped most of the eastern half of the nation today.

Temperatures edged to near zero in parts of Kentucky and Tennessee. Freezing weather knifed to near the Gulf Coast and readings dropped into the 40s in extreme southern Florida.

Some relief from the biting cold in the Midwest was indicated but no immediate, general break in the late December cold spell appeared.

Weird Wires

Prof. Abha P. Lerner of Michigan State University, who currently is doing research at Stanford, examines his wire sculpture, "Jacob's Ladder," at an exhibition in New York by the American Economic Association. The show presented work of association members — some of the country's leading economists.

It Took Brass

GLENS FALLS, N.Y. (AP) — Police questioning two boys asked whether removing the machine from the store had not been difficult.

"Oh, no, one of the clerks held the door open for us," was the response.

Soldier Vanishes

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — A U.S. soldier stationed in Saigon has disappeared and is feared kidnapped, authorities here reported today. He was last seen Christmas morning.

New Year's Day will be a general holiday in Big Spring.

All public offices—local state and national—will be closed down. The majority of the stores and other business establishments in the city will present locked doors to the public.

The post office, according to E. C. Boatler, postmaster, will be closed from Saturday noon to Tuesday morning. No deliveries will be made on Monday. The window in the office will be closed.

Special delivery mail will be delivered and incoming mail dispatched. A skeleton crew will be on hand to keep the wheels turning, he said.

The County Court House will also observe a long weekend. The offices will be closed all day Saturday, remain shut down on Monday and reopen on Tuesday morning.

Only the sheriff's office will be operating on Sunday and Monday.

Highway patrol officers will be on accelerated duty assignment over the holiday in an effort to keep accidents and injuries at a minimum. Since many persons will take advantage of the long weekend for trips to other communities and thousands will be on their way to Dallas for the Cotton Bowl football classic, traffic is expected to be heavy on the major highways.

Banks will not be open. Signs have been displayed at the three banks for several weeks advising that the establishments would be closed on Jan. 1.

All offices in the city hall will be closed Saturday through Monday.

City Manager A. K. Steinhilber said. The police and fire departments will be on duty as usual.

The sanitation department's garbage trucks will run and the men will be given a day off at intervals to make up for the time worked.

"They have so much trouble catching up following the Christmas holidays that they asked to work on New Year's Day," Steinhilber said. "Two days off in a row makes it rough on them."

Skeleton crews will operate the sewage and the water treatment plants. Stand-by emergency crews for city utilities and streets may be reached through the police department.

Retail establishments will be closed down. A few will take advantage of the holiday to work on inventories. Others will make some use of the idle time to ready their places for the annual January sales. Bulk of the stores, however, will just close down and take a holiday from business activities.

Hospitals, the fire stations, ambulance drivers, the city police and the sheriff's office will be on duty. Utility companies will keep emergency crews on hand. The telephone company will probably have a heavy day's run in long distance calls — it is traditional for many persons to contact friends and relatives on New Year's Day.

The shutdown will not be as complete, perhaps, as was observed last Monday for Christmas, but in general there will be little activity around town on Monday.

Commemorative Postage Stamp

Nursing Profession Gets Latest U.S. Postal Honors

Twenty-thousand copies of the newest 4-cent commemorative postage stamp issued by the U.S. Post Office Department are on sale in Big Spring today.

E. C. Boatler, postmaster, said that the new stamps were first sold on Thursday in Washington, D.C. Today they go on sale all over the U.S. Many collectors are eagerly waiting their opportunity to buy sheets, blocks and single specimens of the new issue.

The nursing stamp will be the final commemorative stamp of the current year. Boatler pointed out that 1961 has been a particularly prolific year in this field and indications are that 1962 will be even more abundantly marked by special stamps.

The next issue announced will appear Jan. 8 and will be to mark the anniversary of New Mexico becoming a state.

The Navy star attempted to arrange a meeting after Navy played Miami in Florida on Nov. 6, but that fell through.

And Miss Richmond's mother refused to let her accept an invitation to attend the Army-Navy game in Philadelphia Dec. 2.

So she decided to invite Hecht to visit her in Jackson over the Christmas holidays. He arrived Wednesday, and they've been busy in the swim of the city's mid-winter social season.

Whether romance is blossoming isn't known. Both are keeping quiet on that score. The only comment so far is from Marguerite's younger sister Sandra, who said:

Texas Gets Rice Allotment

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department announced today state acreage allotments for the 1962 rice crop totaling 1,817,856 acres. Texas got 464,552 acres.

Decker had planned to sell the farm house and had moved. Houck was quoted by MacDonald as saying he had been staying in the vacant house when Decker came to the house and discovered him and they struggled.

The parolee admitted taking the minister's car key and $40 from his wallet and then fleeing in Decker's car.

Decker and his wife, Grace, moved to Michigan 18 months ago after retiring as minister at Grace Methodist Church in Meadville, Pa. They lived in the farm house near Brooklyn, Mich., until two months ago when they moved to Tecumseh.

Houck, a slightly built man with a bushy long hair, was sentenced in 1950 to 1½-15 years in prison for burglary and was on his third parole.

Second Bomb Threat Empties U.S. Building

WASHINGTON (AP)—For the second day in a row, a bomb threat caused evacuation today of the Immigration and Naturalization Service building in downtown Washington.

Prince Souphanouvong, leader of the pro-Communist Pathet Lao, left Vientiane for his rebel stronghold in the Plain des Jarres, but spokesman said new attempts would be made to hold a princely conference at a later date.

"It has to be done," the Pathet Lao spokesman told newsmen. Neutralist Prince Souvanna Phouma, designated to head the proposed unity government, gave no indication whether he would remain and try to negotiate with Prince Boun Oum, the head of the conservative, pro-Western royal government in Vientiane.

Souphanouvong decided to return to the Plain des Jarres after Boun Oum for the third day refused to sit down with the other two princes for joint talks on allocation of the posts in a neutralist coalition government.

The three Laotian princes dined amicably together Thursday night. Souvanna said then the atmosphere was "excellent" at the party but he reported no progress toward opening of negotiations.

Soviet and Polish diplomats suggested privately that the next meeting be held in Geneva, where the rival princes would be under the direct influence of the 14 nations which are negotiating to prevent resumption of open warfare in Laos between Boun Oum's Western-backed army and the Communist-supported forces of Souphanouvong and of Souvanna Phouma.

Souvanna and Souphanouvong arrived in Vientiane Wednesday for their first meeting in two months with Boun Oum to discuss allocation of the posts in the coalition government all had agreed Souvanna would head. But Boun Oum gave the two other princes the brush-off, accused Souvanna of not being truly neutral and demanded government posts for his faction which the other two were certain to refuse.

Western diplomats were appalled by the unexpected turn, but Souvanna took a conciliatory tone Thursday. And Gen. Phoumi Nsavann, a staunch anti-Communist who is considered the backbone of Boun Oum's government, arranged Thursday night's dinner party.

Miss Kashfi, trembling, told photographers: "Don't ever say I didn't give you a good picture." The blow, delivered with an open hand, was heard down the corridor and in full view of news photographers.

The incident followed Brando's testimony that he's "tired of playing the heavy" in the prolonged court squabble over their 3-year-old boy, Christian Devi.

The actor was seeking a court order to visit the boy three times, instead of twice, a week.

Brando, 36, was granted permission to have the boy visit him every third weekend in addition to the twice weekly visitations previously allowed.

Miss Kashfi, 26, and Brando were divorced in 1959.

Major Airlines Get Rate Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Civil Aeronautics Board has authorized the nation's 11 major airlines to increase fares by 3 percent on a temporary basis—an increase that would cost air travelers an estimated $54 million a year.

But it told the airlines that higher rates alone would not solve their financial problems. "The industry's economic problems must be attacked on a broad front of which load factor improvement is the cornerstone," it said.

Only the sheriff's office will be operating on Sunday and Monday. Highway patrol officers will be on accelerated duty assignment over the holiday in an effort to keep accidents and injuries at a minimum. Since many persons will take advantage of the long weekend for trips to other communities and thousands will be on their way to Dallas for the Cotton Bowl football classic, traffic is expected to be heavy on the major highways.

Banks will not be open. Signs have been displayed at the three banks for several weeks advising that the establishments would be closed on Jan. 1.

All offices in the city hall will be closed Saturday through Monday.

City Manager A. K. Steinhilber said. The police and fire departments will be on duty as usual.

The sanitation department's garbage trucks will run and the men will be given a day off at intervals to make up for the time worked.

"They have so much trouble catching up following the Christmas holidays that they asked to work on New Year's Day," Steinhilber said. "Two days off in a row makes it rough on them."

Skeleton crews will operate the sewage and the water treatment plants. Stand-by emergency crews for city utilities and streets may be reached through the police department.

Retail establishments will be closed down. A few will take advantage of the holiday to work on inventories. Others will make some use of the idle time to ready their places for the annual January sales. Bulk of the stores, however, will just close down and take a holiday from business activities.

Hospitals, the fire stations, ambulance drivers, the city police and the sheriff's office will be on duty. Utility companies will keep emergency crews on hand. The telephone company will probably have a heavy day's run in long distance calls—it is traditional for many persons to contact friends and relatives on New Year's Day.

The shutdown will not be as complete, perhaps, as was observed last Monday for Christmas, but in general there will be little activity around town on Monday.

New Year's Day Will Be General Holiday In City

New Year's Day will be a general holiday in Big Spring.

All public offices—local state and national—will be closed down. The majority of the stores and other business establishments in the city will present locked doors to the public.

The post office, according to E. C. Boatler, postmaster, will be closed from Saturday noon to Tuesday morning. No deliveries will be made on Monday. The window in the office will be closed.

Special delivery mail will be delivered and incoming mail dispatched. A skeleton crew will be on hand to keep the wheels turning, he said.

The County Court House will also observe a long weekend. The offices will be closed all day Saturday, remain shut down on Monday and reopen on Tuesday morning.

Top Dancer Calls The Twist Obscene

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Resist the twist, urges Ginger Rogers, who hopes the dance mania will ring out with the old year.

Such a prospect is not likely, but at least Ginger can raise her voice in dissent. And who is better qualified? Wasn't she the pretty half of the most successful dance team of all time?

She puts her protest pretty strongly: "The twist is ungraceful, vulgar and exhibitionist personified. I think it's terrible."

There are those who agree with her, but they are in the minority. The rest of the nation has gone twist-nutty. Three feature films on the craze are flooding the theaters. The ailing night club industry has taken a twist for the better and is staging a comeback with the new dance.

"I think it's a scandal," Ginger reiterates. "It is the most obscene dance I've ever seen, worse than the shimmy ever was. If people realized how bad they looked while doing the twist, they would not do it."

Ginger said she was introduced to the twist on the golf course, of all places. She met a friend who said her 30-year-old son had been out until 6 a.m. doing the dance, which employs maximum movement of the hips and minimum of the feet.

"She demonstrated it for me and I was astonished!" Ginger said. "I was embarrassed for all of us — my husband (William Marshall), a girl friend and the three young caddies. And for the woman, too, because she didn't realize how obscene she looked."

Ginger will be dancing tonight, not the twist, but a soft shoe with Dinah Shore and George Burns on Dinah's NBC outing. She is often asked about a reunion with her famed partner Fred Astaire.

"I'd like nothing better," she said. "My husband was talking about it recently and said he was going to discuss it with Fred. 'But then I read an item that Fred Astaire would not discuss three things in interviews: His age, Ginger Rogers, Barrie Chase. So I told my husband that maybe it wasn't such a good idea.'"

Nigeria Forgets Post Card Case

NEW YORK (AP)—Nigeria seems to have forgotten this year's post card incident and is asking for more Peace Corps members, Corps Director Sargent Shriver reports.

Shriver told a new group of 39 Corps members — headed for Lagos, Nigeria — that the Marjorie Michelmore incident did not have the dire consequences for the Corps that some had predicted.

Miss Michelmore of Foxboro, Mass., wrote a post card criticizing Nigerian living conditions. It was found and published, resulting in a demonstration there.

Shriver said the new group will bring Nigeria's Peace Corps total to 110, but that the country has asked for 365.

Little Laos Tribeswoman Waiting To Return Home

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP)—The little tribeswoman in her black turban and black velvet dress intensely watched every man getting off the shiny silver C46, then buried her face again into her hands.

She came at 6 a.m. with her bundles neatly tied, and sat at the foot of the control tower at Vientiane's military airport.

Patience, she sat through the day scrutinizing every one of the twin-engine American planes as they landed, kicking up a storm of thick yellow dust.

When the sun set, and the last plane had returned from its mission of supplying Lao government troops scattered in the mountains, she picked up her bundles and went to a nearby barracks to cook her food and spend the night on the hard floor.

"I have seen her sitting at the foot of the tower now every day for three weeks," an American pilot said.

"I asked her through an interpreter if she wanted a ride. But she said no. She was waiting for her husband to come and fetch her back to the mountains."

Her husband is a Meo tribe soldier fighting on the side of the government against the Pathet Lao. His young wife is one of the 2,000 dependents evacuated to Vientiane as the Meos were hard-pressed in their mountain habitat by the Pathet Lao.

Many want to go back to their hills and husbands. No one can tell how much longer the patient little woman will have to wait.

Peril To Kuwait Apparently Over

CAIRO (AP)—The Arab League warned Thursday night that it will withdraw its security forces from Kuwait if British troops return. But Britain's fears of an Iraqi move against the tiny oil sheikhdom subsided after the British show of strength in the Middle East.

Sayed Nofal, deputy secretary-general of the Arab League, declared that the Arab nations would not permit their forces to carry out joint action with British forces in Kuwait under any circumstances. The league sent 2,500 troops to Kuwait last August to replace British units rushed there after Iraqi Premier Abdel Karim Kassem threatened to annex the sheikhdom.

Nofal asserted that the dispatch this week by Britain of seven warships and air and troop reinforcements to the Middle East — where Britain feared new threats on Kuwait — had caused concern in Arab League circles.

He said the tiny sheikhdom, that adjoins Iraq on the northern end of the Persian Gulf, did not ask the British to return and that Britain "does not have any territories in this area (which) allow her to order her troops to head to the Mideast and protect these territories."

Nofal contended that "the responsibility of the Arab states and the presence of the Arab security force in Kuwait is an expression of the league membership's solidarity with Kuwait and their obligation to defend its independence."

"It may all have been a false alarm," one British official in London conceded. "But governments, like fire brigades, find it better to be safe than sorry." The defense ministry ordered the alert on the basis of intelligence reports from the Middle East.

The British alert was prompted by urgent reports from intelligence agents and diplomats over the Christmas holiday that Kassem — emboldened by the U.S. failure to act against India's invasion of Goa — might soon try to make good his claim to Kuwait.

Sadler Wants Land Returned

AUSTIN (AP)—State Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler wants the Calhoun County Navigation District to return more than 20,000 acres of land to the state.

Sadler asked the attorney general Thursday to begin action to recover a part of 47,765 acres sold for $1 an acre in 1956 to build a ship channel from the Gulf to Point Comfort.

The land commissioner said he will not authorize acquisition of 10,675 acres asked by the district about two weeks ago unless the district returns 20,699 acres involved in the 1956 deal. He said the district has not used the 20,699 acres for navigational purposes.

Sadler's letter to the attorney general also urged action to stop all dredging and construction work on the land involved until the matter is settled.

DEAR ABBY

Time For Correction

DEAR ABBY: My sister is married to a man who gets drunk, loses his temper and beats her to a pulp. When that happens she calls us and my husband and I rush over to save her life. Last night it happened again and my husband said he was fed up with those two fools fighting and he was not going to have his sleep disturbed any more. I begged him to go, but he said he didn't care if her husband killed her. One of their neighbors called the police and they locked my brother-in-law up. My sister is pregnant, her husband is in jail, and my husband refuses to go bail. I am very angry with my husband. Am I wrong?

SAD SISTER: If your sister won't sign a complaint for assault against her husband, there is little you or the authorities can do. That she would continue to expose herself to drunken brutality suggests that she is perhaps a little sick herself. That is undoubtedly your husband's conclusion, though he expresses it tactlessly. Meanwhile, I would let the booze — up wife beater dehydrate in jail while I tried to make sister see the light. (Also, some states have laws of interdiction against drinking. How about yours?)

DEAR ABBY: My parents forbid me to go with boys over 18. I am 15 and like a guy who says he is 18, but several people have told my parents he is 22 or 23. When I asked him to prove to my parents that he was only 18, he said they would just have to take his word for it. How can I find out for sure how old he is, and if he happens to be a little older than he says he is, should that make any difference? His age doesn't matter to me.

DEAR TROUBLE: A miss is as good as a mile. Especially when a fellow misses the truth. I think your parents have his number. Don't count on a guy who can't count.

DEAR ABBY: Please ask NOT LOOKING who he thinks he is kidding. A man who would place an ad in the newspaper to find himself a wife is sure enough LOOKING. And if he answered 61 of those ads and couldn't find a woman to suit him, he must be very hard to please. He brags that he lives on a lake. Let him go jump in it.

NOT LOOKING EITHER: CONFIDENTIAL TO H. M. S. PINAFORE: Yes, there is help for you. Talk to your family doctor. He hears cases like yours every day and can keep a confidence.

Reynolds Ahead In Rodeo Contest

DALLAS (AP) — Benny Reynolds tightened his grip today on his bid for the title of world's champion cowboy after taking his first money in the National Finals Rodeo.

Reynolds, from Melrose, Mont., won $308 Thursday night, gaining ground on the four men who could overtake him.

The Montana cowboy, in only his fourth year on the rodeo circuit, won his points in steer wrestling, an event captured by the veteran Harry Charters, Melba, Idaho, in a time of 6.0 seconds. Reynolds' time was 6.4.

Guy Weeks, Abilene, Tex., won $103 for taking fourth place in bareback bronc riding. Dean Oliver, Boise, Idaho, and Tom Nesmith, Bethel, Okla., who with Weeks are pressing Reynolds for the top title, failed to make points.

Other winners besides Charters in the second go-round last night were Mike Isley, Salmon, Idaho, in bareback bronc; Ronnie Rosen, Broadus, Mont., in bull riding; Don McLaughlin, Fort Worth, Tex., in calf roping; and Marty Wood, Bowness, Alta., Canada, in saddle bronc riding.

Isley's first-place, coupled with second place the previous night, gave him a good start on the best average score for the eight days of the National Finals which wind up New Year's Eve.

Rosen still held on to a slim lead for the bull riding world's championship with his victory.

All-around, bull riding, bareback bronc riding and steer wrestling are the only championships still to be decided.

Dean Oliver, Boise, Idaho, in calf roping and Winston Bruce, Calgary, Alta., Canada, in saddle bronc already have won their crowns.

Two rodeo veterans, Jim Shoulders of Henryetta, Okla., and Harry Tompkins, Dublin, Tex., current world's all-around champion, were thrown from their animals in the second go-round.

The Rodeo Cowboys' Association announced that next year's championship will be held in Los Angeles Dec. 5-9. The finals have been held in Dallas three straight years. The association said earlier the event would be moved from city to city.

The National Finals broke away from its policy of pure rodeo to bring a mule named Khushchev into the arena. It is a bucking animal, but was ruled out of the regular competition because it is a mule.

But Tompkins agreed to attempt to ride him three times. Tompkins wins $911 if he can stay on the mule two out of three times. Thursday night Tompkins bit the arena sand when Khushchev tossed him easily.

They predict things will start going from bad to worse next month, with the catastrophe itself occurring between Feb. 3 and 5. Among the prophecies of doom are world war, widespread plague and earthquakes.

Pickering notes that early in February the visible planets of Mercury, Venus, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn will be grouped along with the sun and the moon around the constellations of Capricorn and Aquarius.

Such a close grouping of the five visible planets somewhere in the heavens occurs about once every hundred years, Pickering said, and the only thing it can be relied on to do is raise the fears of astrologers.

The last time the visible planets were grouped in Capricorn was in 1285, Pickering observed. According to existing records, that seems to have been a quiet news year.

The Hindu astrologers contend the position of the planets next February will be the same as it was 800 years ago and 5,000 years ago. Both times, they say, terrible wars ravaged India.

In all such instances we have taken steps thereafter to keep current informed of developments.

It has been only where local officials have not taken effective steps to correct a situation or where there has been an attempt to evade court orders that the department has taken formal legal action as authorized by the Congress.

DEVELOPMENTS The attorney general reviewed developments in the fields of voting, education, transportation and public school desegregation.

Voting: When the Kennedy administration took office legal action had been taken in six Southern counties against denial of the right to register and vote without distinction on account of race.

One of these cases has been settled and two others have been processed to judgments.

In three other cases successful trials have been completed. Additionally, he said, 14 new cases charging discrimination in the registration processes have been filed this year, and active investigation or negotiation with local officials are being made in connection with registration processes in 61 other counties.

Employment: The Presidential Commission on Equal Job Opportunity headed by Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson has met with "tremendous success."

The commission's goal, he said, is to end discrimination in plants holding government contracts and in federal employment.

Astronomers Don't Like Astrologers

NEW YORK (AP)—Thank your lucky stars!

An official of the Hayden Planetarium dismisses as "nonsense" the predictions of Hindu astrologers that the human race will be destroyed next February.

"It's the same kind of gobbledook astrology that has been handed out for thousands of years," says James S. Pickering, assistant astronomer of the planetarium.

Astronomers — serious students of the heavenly bodies—traditionally explode like dying stars when the question of astrology comes up.

Astrologers—who try to predict the future by the stars as they move across the various constellations — traditionally note that their art is older—and consider astronomers upstarts.

In this area of the world, the general public is on the side of the astronomers in considering the astrologers starry-eyed humbugs. Not so in the East, where affairs of state, religion and personal life are sometimes held up because of the position of the planets.

In India right now Hindu priests are in the process of chanting sacred verses and offering sacrifices in an effort to avert what they consider imminent disaster.

Hindu astrologers say a catastrophe is imminent because of a forthcoming inauspicious combination of the planets in the constellation of Capricorn now approaching.

They predict things will start going from bad to worse next month, with the catastrophe itself occurring between Feb. 3 and 5. Among the prophecies of doom are world war, widespread plague and earthquakes.

Pickering notes that early in February the visible planets of Mercury, Venus, Mars, Jupiter and Saturn will be grouped along with the sun and the moon around the constellations of Capricorn and Aquarius.

judge of Circuit Court in New York, two district judges and two district attorneys.

Transportation: The department has made substantial progress toward eliminating discrimination in all three major modes of public interstate transportation—bus, air and rail.

The sending of more than 600 U.S. marshals to Montgomery, Ala., when "Freedom Rides" resulted in disorders last spring, "averted major bloodshed," he said, and made it unnecessary to take further action when a similar tense situation developed in Mississippi a few days later.

SCHOOLS: An increasing number of children went to school under desegregated — and peaceful — conditions in the South. He called this "evidence of responsive affirmative action taken by an increasing number of officials and civic leaders. He commented that department officials had worked informally with officials in cities involved in desegregation cases to bring about peaceful school desegregation.

However, the credit for lack of violence and disorder which has marked these kind of events in the past, rests with local and state officials. Under most difficult and trying circumstances but with the support of the vast majorities of their communities they saw that order was preserved and once again demonstrated to the world that we are a country that lives and abides by the law. The people of these communities are to be congratulated.

"I can report to you," the attorney general concluded, "that the law enforcement officials and civic leaders in the vast majority of the communities have met their obligations. I am confident, therefore, that this year's progress will continue, and that it will be carried forward with the effort and approval of the vast majority of the American people."

WHERE TO BEGIN

By T. H. Tabet, preacher, Church of Christ, 2008 West Highway 80 P.O. Box 1022.

"As Christians we need to present a more united front to the world. This does not mean that we have to agree on the mode of baptism, or whether the use of choirs, instrumental music, or electric lights is Scriptural. But we certainly must begin with our attitudes towards one another as Christians" (from the letter of protest).

Who disagrees over electric lights? No one attempts to worship with them, nor to make them a part of religion. If they did we would have grounds for disagreeing; for men must not add to the Word of God (Rev. 22:18).

To be united does mean that we must agree upon matters of the Christian faith. "There is one faith" (Eph. 4:4, 5).

True: We should have the right attitude toward one another. But this is not the beginning point. First we must have the right attitude toward God. It is God first, fellow man second, self last.

We must have the right attitude toward the Lord when he speaks, and respect what he has said, and not add anything or subtract anything.

Be with us Sunday. —Adv.

WHERE TO BEGIN

By T. H. Tabet, preacher, Church of Christ, 2008 West Highway 80 P.O. Box 1022.

"As Christians we need to present a more united front to the world. This does not mean that we have to agree on the mode of baptism, or whether the use of choirs, instrumental music, or electric lights is Scriptural. But we certainly must begin with our attitudes towards one another as Christians" (from the letter of protest).

Who disagrees over electric lights? No one attempts to worship with them, nor to make them a part of religion. If they did we would have grounds for disagreeing; for men must not add to the Word of God (Rev. 22:18).

To be united does mean that we must agree upon matters of the Christian faith. "There is one faith" (Eph. 4:4, 5).

True: We should have the right attitude toward one another. But this is not the beginning point. First we must have the right attitude toward God. It is God first, fellow man second, self last.

We must have the right attitude toward the Lord when he speaks, and respect what he has said, and not add anything or subtract anything.

Be with us Sunday. —Adv.

Moon Trip's Reentry Hot

DENVER, Colo. (AP)—A man returning from the moon faces a blazing barrier up to 90,000 degrees hot when his rocket ship plunges into the earth's atmosphere, a scientist said today.

Most of the hot air rushing by the ship as it plunges into the earth's atmosphere ranges between 18,000 and 27,000 degrees Fahrenheit.

But even these temperatures are several times hotter than the surface of the sun, said Peter H. Rose, principal research scientist for the Avco Everett Research Laboratory at Everett, Mass.

A ship returning from the moon is traveling at a speed of about 36,000 feet per second, Rose said. This is faster than either returning satellites or ballistic missiles which travel between 20,000 and 25,000 feet per second at reentry.

A shock wave forms ahead of the reentering rocket—and this shock wave heats the air up to 90,000 degrees Fahrenheit. Air in front of the rocket glows with a bright white light.

This heated air radiates heat back to the rocket—and other heated air rushes by the rocket, heating the ship by direct contact, Rose told a meeting of the American Astronautical Society, part of the annual meeting of the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

If a man rides the rocket back from the moon, reentry may take minutes to pass through the heat barrier. This is because a manned rocket ship must enter the earth's atmosphere in a glancing fashion, slowing gradually. A human cannot take the rapid slowing that ballistic missiles encounter in steep dives.

Reentry is the most difficult part of a manned lunar mission, and it is the most dangerous. The rocket must enter the atmosphere at the right angle and at the right speed, or it will burn up.

The rocket must enter the atmosphere at the right angle and at the right speed, or it will burn up. The rocket must enter the atmosphere at the right angle and at the right speed, or it will burn up.

The rocket must enter the atmosphere at the right angle and at the right speed, or it will burn up. The rocket must enter the atmosphere at the right angle and at the right speed, or it will burn up.

The rocket must enter the atmosphere at the right angle and at the right speed, or it will burn up. The rocket must enter the atmosphere at the right angle and at the right speed, or it will burn up.

The rocket must enter the atmosphere at the right angle and at the right speed, or it will burn up. The rocket must enter the atmosphere at the right angle and at the right speed, or it will burn up.

The rocket must enter the atmosphere at the right angle and at the right speed, or it will burn up. The rocket must enter the atmosphere at the right angle and at the right speed, or it will burn up.

A Devotional for Today

"I am the light of the world; he who follows me will not walk in darkness, but will have the light of life." (John 8:12, RSV.)

PRAYER: Dear Lord, make us spiritually conscious of Thy divine companionship today. May we not follow wandering fires, but be guided only by the light of Thy presence. Give us daily both the desire and the determination to do Thy blessed will; through Christ our Lord. Amen.

Special Session—Nothing But Expense

It is unfortunate that the state of Texas has to start out the new year with an air of strife and inconclusion in Austin.

And, in our opinion, it is unfortunate that most of the blame for this situation can be laid on the shoulders of Gov. Price Daniel.

Governor Daniel has called a special session that is going to cost the taxpayers of Texas hundreds of thousands of dollars, and even the most cautious observers are quick to say that next to nothing will be accomplished.

The governor knows the attitude of his legislature, which in the main is hostile to his procedure at this time, so he has himself in the position of being subject to the accusation that he is playing politics with the special session. This is rather expensive to the people of Texas.

The question remains, of course, as to whether Daniel will run for a fourth term. If he does, his opponents can well say that he employed the device of a special session as a stepping stone. If he doesn't, he can be charged with costing the state money as a lame-duck governor.

A number of legislators have said they are ready to support a motion to adjourn immediately the session is called. While this may be extreme, and unlikely to succeed, it shows the degree of resistance to the Governor's program.

He is soundly opposed on what is termed the escheat bill for state claims on dormant accounts in banks. There is reason to believe that his proposal, even if accepted in theory, is not entirely workable; that it would cost more than would be brought in.

There is also strong belief that legislation affecting small loans (the "loan shark" legislation) cannot properly be drafted in a brief session.

There might be statutes passed to help the farm-to-market road situation, but that's about all.

The result is that the taxpayer has been taken again, to no good purpose.

The Herald has expressed the opinion that it is time for Texas to put a limitation on gubernatorial terms, and we hope that constitutional provision will soon be made for a suitable restriction. Actually, Price Daniel has been in the governor's chair past effective administration. This can happen to the best of them, and the current special session hassle indicates that it has happened to him.

Hurry, Hurry, Hurry

By the time the New Year is all welcomed and past its first day, these United States of America will have laid on the altar of the holiday season something like 1,000 lives.

Incredible? Not at all, for we have a head start to achieving this record carnage. Through Christmas, the traffic toll had sailed past the 500 mark and all the returns were not in. Inevitably, some carried on the list of critically injured will add to the creeping column of the dead. And New Year's Day is yet to come. There may not be as many on the road as around the Christmas tide, but then there may be a greater degree of impropriety as millions make merry to ring out the old and ring in the new.

Cynically—even realistically—it seems too much to hope for a momentary return to sanity and prudence on the road. We seem in a great hurry, a senseless hurry, to get from one place to another to do nothing that really matters. We don't have to accept the fact that several hundred will die in this holiday scramble—but we will.

What Happened To Honest Convictions?

WASHINGTON — Orators for decades have been extolling "principles" and "honest convictions," but certain news dispatches out of Washington recently give an impression that there are no such things nowadays. "Expediency" and what are termed "practical considerations" seem to be controlling influence in making governmental policy.

Thus, the United Press International, in a dispatch a few days ago from Washington, said:

AN ORDER by President Kennedy prohibiting racial and religious discrimination in federally assisted housing has been shelved for the time being, it was learned yesterday.

"It will not be issued until after the 1962 congressional session and possibly not until after the November elections, highly placed administration sources said. Chief reason the President is postponing the order is that it would antagonize Southern Democrats in Congress whose votes he sorely needs in the coming session.

"DEFLECTION of Southern Democrats could wipe out the already tenuous prospects for passage of tax revision, medical care and tariff-cutting bills. One Capitol Hill observer explained that with many Southern Democrats more conservative than Mr. Kennedy and reluctant about his legislative program, his issuance of an anti-discrimination executive order would be 'just like waving a red flag in front of them. The White House just isn't in a position to alienate anybody.'"

This is a tacit emphasis on elements that sometimes govern decisions on the so-called political front. It seems incredible that there should be such reasoning, and even more incredible that it should be so frankly avowed. It would be easier to believe that the postponement of the order was not prompted by any such motive but stemmed possibly from the fear by some of the building and construction people that its issuance could slow up recovery in that field of the economy.

MATERIAL considerations are often more persuasive than adherence to principle or conviction when controversial questions are up for settlement in the inner precincts of government. But it is surprising to find high officials hesitant to issue an order on the subject of racial discrimination.

Kennedy Has His Headaches

WASHINGTON (AP) — The most comfortable feeling President Kennedy can have, as he heads into 1962 with all its troubles, is that other people have them, too. Practically everybody.

Like the Africans, for instance, and the Latins, the Asians, Premier Khrushchev, the United Nations, Congress, the Republicans and the rest of the Democrats, the high tariff people and the low tariff people.

He'll have budget troubles in 1962, and employment troubles, troubles with foreign aid and foreign allies, and to speak of foreign foes, and it's a lead-pipe cinch Fidel Castro won't contribute to his peace of mind.

AND NEAR the end of 1962, in addition to all else, Kennedy must work overtime trying in the November elections to help his Democrats keep control of Congress, for their sake and his sake, too.

All this year, perhaps because he had won the presidency by such a narrow squeak and the Democrats' control of Congress was by a narrow margin, he acted like a man who hesitated to push his luck too hard.

He'll have that same problem next year. But if the Republicans are boss of Congress in 1963 and 1964 Kennedy's last two White House years will be even more rugged and affect his own chances for re-election.

And he probably can't even guess what Khrushchev is going to be up to in 1962. But it's not a one-way street and the Russian, who acts like a man who took a course in how to be self-confident, has worries.

KHRUSHCHEV could start a war he doesn't want if he guesses wrong in pushing Kennedy. Besides, the premier has trouble in his own camp even though some of it looks ludicrous.

For tiny Albania to defy Russia is like a gnat trying to demolish an elephant with a beer bottle. This wouldn't mean much except that Red China and Russia seem to be using Albania as a substitute.

What Albania says about Russia is supposed to be really what Red China is saying about Russia. And what Russia says about Albania is what Russia is supposed to be really saying about Red China.

It's like watching a man and wife, who can't get along but are too proud to call each other names directly, talking to each other by talking to their daughter while all three are in the same room.

If this sounds ridiculous it's no more ridiculous than some of the performances of the United Nations, which, by the way, won't be the least of Kennedy's problems.

IF THIS sounds ridiculous it's no supposed to be working for the good of mankind, 82 of the 104 nation members are seriously behind in their financial contributions.

And in this international grouping, dedicated to maintaining the peace, four of the 11 nations on the Security Council — Russia, Egypt, Ceylon and Liberia — opposed a resolution condemning India for its outright attack against Portuguese Goa.

One of Kennedy's meanest headaches in the year ahead will be trying to persuade Congress — which has plenty of high tariff people — to lower tariffs for the sake of better foreign trade.

Right now, because of the fierce task he faces on this one issue alone, Kennedy himself probably wouldn't bet he'll get his low tariff program through Congress in 1962.

Because the world gets more complex every day, more and more any one year in the life of a president is beginning to look like a fever chart in a hospital that just ran out of ice.

Nice To See Her Back

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — It's nice to see Marie Wilson back in movies—and so much of her!

When it was known that Marie would be taking a shower in "Mr. Hobbs Takes His Vacation," your reporter was there, soap in hand.

It is the third movie scene I have covered this month, the previous participants having been Julia Meade-Tom Poston and Elsa Martinelli-Charles Heston. This one had Marie and Jimmy Stewart caught in the steamy shower room.

Marie was wearing the traditional uniform for such scenes: the flesh-colored leotard-director Henry Koster sometimes referred to it as a leopard. Normally such an outfit would satisfy all censorial objections, but on Marie it could get a theater raided. Koster had to admonish her repeatedly to hold the shower curtain where it would do the most good.

The scene has Stewart stumbling into the shower room late at night in a resort hotel. He encounters Marie, supposedly a decorous bird-watcher but actually a late-night tippler who is steaming out her hiccupps. Stewart struggles to escape, but the door knob comes off in his hand.

The scene had to be re-shot several times. As Koster commented, "we see too much of Marie."

"Mr. Hobbs Takes His Vacation" is making up for an oversight. The films haven't been seen enough of Marie in recent years. Her last role was as Marie Antoinette ("I lost my head") in "The Story of Mankind," an epic novel made in 1957 and apparently seen by no one.

Before that it was "Marry Me Again," a merry romp with Robert Cummings in 1953.

What has she been doing all this time?

"Oh, I've been busy," she said. "I guess we've played 50-60 weeks in Las Vegas in the past few years. And everywhere else, too."

"We" consists of herself and Ken Murray, her longtime sparring mate of "Blackouts." If anything, Marie's figure is better than before—a stupifying 30-19-37½. Her waist is three inches smaller than when she ruled as queen of the "Blackouts," during its seven-year Hollywood run, the hips shaved an inch. Everything else is the same.

My three replies to you, Curious: 1—Since readers' names do not appear in the column, pen-names are not necessary. Or, if you wish, use a pseudonym, but add your own name afterward. I like to know that real people are writing to me, and I discard nearly all unsigned letters. (Except an occasional one like the above, for example.)

2—No. You might feel a pulsing of blood through your own arteries; you wouldn't detect the small heartbeat of the baby. This is a quite rapid beat heard best with a special stethoscope in a certain location of the abdomen.

3—The mother's body changes enough to be noticeable whenever somebody else notices it. This is at about the fourth month.

A few doctors and a larger number of friends and neighbors notice a difference in the way a prospective mother walks — her balance changes. But both usually know from lots of other signs much earlier that the pregnancy is in progress.

In fact, when a prospective mother starts talking about babies, reading books concerning them or even knitting socks, or if her husband becomes unduly solicitous about her, a few observing people begin to suspect the pregnancy long before it is visible in any physical way.

But what's wrong with having your friends know the news that you want to tell 'em anyway?

"Dear Dr. Molner: Is there any likelihood of hydrophobia developing from a bite by a human?" J. S.

None at all, sir, unless the man—or was it a lady—who bit you happened to have hydrophobia. (However, doctors have long since come to realize that a human bite is more likely to involve some of the more common germ infections than the usual animal bites.)

Treatment for a human bite is a good precaution, but NOT because of hydrophobia.

"Dear Dr. Molner: Five weeks ago I got chickenpox. As a complication three weeks later, Bell's Palsy set in and the left side of my face is paralyzed. My doctor gave me three shots the first week, then told me to take two vitamin capsules a day. He said there was nothing else to do but wait and have patience. He said the paralysis will go away but it will take time.

"Now I have heard of other cases of Bell's Palsy where the person was given B-12 shots regularly and was told to massage the face. I wondered if that would be quicker—Mrs. D."

There's every likelihood that your doctor gave you Vitamin B shots and now has you on Vitamin B capsules, so you are getting essentially the same treatment. Massage tends to keep the muscles in tone. Other forms of physical therapy may be in order, depending on the extent of your trouble.

"Dear Dr. Molner: I have fungus toenails. Will this have ill effects later? Is there a cure?" Mrs. F.M.

There's a possible risk that a fungus infection of the toenails, if not treated, may deform them in time and in that sense "have ill effects later."

For some, at least, of the more common fungus infections, the fairly new drug griseofulvin is very effective. However, since the nails grow so slowly, it probably will require treatment with the drug over a long period of time. Your doctor must prescribe the proper dosage.

Are you bothered with ringing in the ears? If so, write to Dr. Molner in care of The Big Spring Noises — Their Causes and Cures, enclosing with your request 10 cents in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Dr. Molner welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

Around The Rim

Up (Or In) A Stump

Our crystal ball shows our future so far advanced that we go beyond our mere childhood, when we built tree houses; indeed, to our very beginnings. The human race will advance so far by the year 2000 AD that we will return to the trees.

This is an obvious result of present knowledge and trends. Scientists learn more daily about genes, the basis of heredity, and about chemicals which control growth. Botanical researchers are on the verge of being able to guide any plant through any pattern of structure or physiology.

SO, WE WON'T merely be living in the trees, but actually inside them. When a young couple gets married, they plant a tree and, as the family grows, so grows the tree.

Redwood probably will be the most popular variety, although some may prefer oak or pine. And, depending on the state of the world's nuclear developments, people may choose to live in the roots or the trunks.

If I haven't lost you already, perhaps it would be best to explain. It's this way—genetic and chemical controls can cause a seedling to spread outward, growing in girth instead of height; and the tree may be made to grow hollow, leaving empty spaces inside of the desired dimensions. Spaces for windows and doors may be left in the same way.

WHEN GROWTH has reached the proper stage, it may be stopped at that point. Then, when extra growth is needed, like a new bedroom or a second story, it may be started up again.

The economic advantages of such a situation are too numerous to list in full. But some of the major points would be no upkeep, easy housecleaning, and the low cost of water and fertilizer as against the high cost of present building materials. Indeed, we use trees today, but the operations between tree and finished frame house raise the costs greatly.

A LIVING TREE, if it is an evergreen, would be warm in winter and cool in summer, besides being fireproof. And it would save on food bills. A Burbank-type grafting could have fruits, nuts, breadfruits, etc., hanging from the rafters. The branches above the house would be an excellent playground for the children, and one could keep handy a supply of chickens, birds, squirrels, etc., to cut down on the meat bills.

In fact, a tree house of the future would make most of a family's living for them, by taking care of shelter, fuel and most food problems.

The crystal ball begins to cloud a bit now, but just before the final flicker, I seem to see a man running for public office, and his slogan is "Two aero-cars in every garage, and a family in every tree."

The Man Who's Keeping Dry

"The nicest Christmas card I got this year wasn't really much to look at," said the doctor, an old friend, as we settled down to chat over a cup of office coffee.

"But the hand-written message on it was appropriate to the season, since it had reference to a sort of modern miracle.

"ABOUT THREE years ago," the doctor continued, "a friend of mine sent a young fellow into the office to see me. Let's call the young man Tom. The first time I ever saw him, he was just coming out of a Lost Week, or maybe a Fortnight, of Homeric proportions. He and his clothes were a mess.

"Here was a young man, a graduate engineer, who was wrecking his life because he couldn't control his drinking. He had never been able to hold a job for more than a few months, or even weeks. Now, he was literally on Skid Row. He was only 27 at that time, but he looked twenty years older, and skeletal.

"OBVIOUSLY, the first thing to do was to try to rebuild him physically. Then the next step was to find psychiatric help for him. I talked an associate, one of those 800-an-hour psychiatrists, to take Tom on. Of course, Tom had no money.

"The psychiatrist and I worked on Tom for a year. And we weren't getting to first base. Once I bought Tom a decent outfit, from the skin out, and on another occasion the psychiatrist did the same thing. Both times, Tom pawned the clothes and went on another monumental drunk.

"WE EVEN TOOK turns taking Tom out to dinner in an effort to get a little solid food in him. It was useless to give him money, because it invariably went for drink.

"It wasn't until months later that I attached any significance to the fact that when I once spilled the salt, Tom picked up a few grains and tossed them over his left shoulder. Another time, he crossed the street rather than walk under a ladder.

"BUT NONE OF this seemed important in the face of the fact that Tom was still drinking every chance he got. At the end of a year, when Tom came to my office one day, I suddenly felt that he couldn't be helped because fundamentally he didn't want help, and that the psychiatrist and I were wasting a lot of precious time on a bum.

"I don't know when I've ever been madder. I lit into Tom and dressed him down from 8— to breakfast. Tom, in a rage, stalked out of the office. It wasn't until he came back eight months later—and he looked transformed—that I learned about the miracle.

"WHEN HE LEFT my office, Tom said he was in such a fury that his only object was to get to a favorite bar over on Twelfth Avenue, some waterfront saloon he favored. He walked all the way from my office over to Twelfth Avenue, getting madder by the block.

"As you know, that avenue is always full of big trucks carting stuff to and from the Hudson River piers. Just as Tom reached Twelfth Avenue and started to turn south, a heavily-loaded truck lumbered across the intersection in front of him. At that precise moment, a large carton tumbled off the top of the truck. By luck or fate, it landed at Tom's feet. He stared at the carton in awe. Stamped on the box was one of the oldest of shipping signs. It read, 'Keep Dry!'

"WHEN HE FINALLY came back to see me, Tom said that he knew that this was a Sign, and a Sign intended for him and him alone. St. Paul never believed more firmly in his vision on the road to Damascus. Had the carton not literally fallen out of the heavens and landed at his feet?

"In the two years since, Tom has not had a drink. What medicine and psychiatry could not do for him, a freak accident—or a miracle—has accomplished. Oh, yes, the message on his Christmas card said: 'Dear Doc, I'm still keeping dry, Tom.'"

China's Hate Campaign Against U.S.

WASHINGTON—Red China is not only a horde of angry, hungry people, it is a multimegaton blast of hate-America propaganda with fallout that covers the world. Made available to newsmen by a U. S. official on a don't-quote-me basis are these oppressive statistics.

RADIO PEKING broadcast 687 hours per week during 1960 to foreign audiences. This was a 34 per cent increase over 1959, and the 1961 increase was undoubtedly comparable. Sixteen new television stations in Red China were under construction in 1961, adding to the seven previously in existence. A Japanese TV firm has signed an agreement to provide Red China with television films.

CHINESE PROPAGANDA magazines go to 100 foreign countries in the indigenous language and, of course, in the international language of pictures. Magazines named "China Pictorial," "People's China" and "China Reconstructs" are the leaders. Chinese books flow into Southeast Asia "by the millions." Chinese films for export move to 24 countries in Africa, Asia and Latin America and 18 Western bloc nations. China goes in big for "cultural exchange" receiving in 1960 no less than 721 delegations from over 100 countries and sending 229 delegations of their own. It took more than 50 countries.

ALL THIS propaganda is generalized "anti-imperialism," but close to 15 per cent of the barrage is aimed directly at the USA. To make sure everybody gets into the anti-American act, the Chicom Government sponsors numerous mass demonstrations. June 21-27, 1960, was officially anti-American week. Writers and artists were forced to redouble their output. Nearly 30 anti-USA films were shown in 18 major cities and uncountable villages. All told, "tens of millions" of whipped-up Reds took part in rallies against us.

The volume and concentration of the Chicom fire against this country ought to prevent Americans from being deceived or diverted by the much-publicized Red Russia vs. Red China controversy. An integral part of the No Win Against Russia preachment within the New Frontier is the argument that the two Communist colossi will go to war against one another and that we may find ourselves allied with Russia as we were in World War II.

BUT THE ideological tiff which China has with her Communist Axis partner does not contain the venom of the assault upon the USA. The Sino-Russian differences are comparable to those existing between the CIO and AFL of our own Labor Movement, containing no seed of reconciliation with the capitalists in either case.

One of the best Free World historians in the field of Communist relations, Michael Lindsay, who heads Far East studies at the American University in this city, has gone exhaustively into the territorial, racial, economic and philosophical points at which Russia and China might come to blows.

HE CONCLUDES with wisdom that only if the West were defeated, or if the West were frightened into surrender or tricked into disarmament, would Russia and Red China be likely to tangle. With all anti-Communist resistance removed, these two behemoths might well slug it out for world domination.

Working undercover against us, by day and night, making use of middle-headed intellectuals and of the current drive to discredit anti-Communists and "extremists," is the worldwide Communist party apparatus. When the Sino-Russian quarrel commands headlines, that is a better time than most for Reds to use their party channels to assuage our fears and to plant peace-loving thoughts which may affect our military and psychological readiness.

THERE IS SOUND academic reason for studying the causes and nuances of the lovers' quarrel between Russia and Red China—but the journeyman American citizen will have enough on his mind if he never forgets how much these lovers unite in their loathing of us.

Students Try For Good Will

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Our Lady of the Lake High School numbers girls from seven foreign countries among its boarding students, and the dean believes every one considers herself a potential diplomat.

"They all seem to be good will ambassadors," Sister Charles Marie said. "They think of it as a service to their countries."

Sister Charles Marie is a member of the Sisters of Divine Providence, which operates the school as a college preparatory institution. More than half of its graduates return to attend neighboring Our Lady of the Lake College.

"We learn about their countries from their descriptions of their customs and the folk songs and dances they teach us," Sister Charles Marie said of the foreign students.

"The school has students from Panama, Colombia, Ecuador, Mexico, Holland, Germany and Costa Rica at present, and usually has several Venezuelans, she said.

Democrats Join Connally Praise

ABILENE, Tex. (AP)—President Kennedy and hundreds of Texas Democrats joined Friday night in a tribute to Ed Connally, chairman of the State Democratic Executive Committee.

Some 500 persons, a capacity audience, attended the appreciation dinner for Connally.

In a telegram read at the dinner Kennedy said: "Ed has made many valuable contributions to the strength of the Democratic party organization in Texas as well as to the national party. We are grateful for his untiring and effective efforts on behalf of the Democratic party and the programs of this administration."

Vice President Lyndon Johnson and others also sent telegrams.

Connally said: "I'm the luckiest man in Abilene, no, I'm the luckiest man in the whole world to have such wonderful friends as you."

Other speakers at the dinner included Rep. Omar Burleson of Abilene, chairman of the Taylor County Democratic Committee, and Dr. Elwin Skiles, pastor of the First Baptist Church of Abilene, the church Connally attends.

Prior to the dinner the State Democratic Executive Committee named two members to the state organization.

They are Maurice Brooks, Abilene attorney, and Fred Brown, resident manager of a Dallas hotel.

Brooks replaces French Robertson of Abilene who resigned to become a University of Texas regent. Brown will fill the unexpired term of Clarence Guitard of Dallas, who recently was named a judge.

Shocking Event

LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP)—H. A. Tapley rigged up a system to keep prowlers from snooping around his home. Dan Curlee, a termite inspector, said he went to the Tapley home to check for pests, stepped on an "electrified wire trap" and got what he termed a devastating jolt. He filed suit for $30,850 damages.

President's Widow, Mrs. Wilson, Dies

By WALTER R. MEARS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mrs. Woodrow Wilson, widow of the President who shaped the League of Nations, has died at the state brick town house where she cared for her stricken husband until his death in 1924. She was 89.

The former First Lady, in failing health for more than a month, died Thursday night on the 105th anniversary of her husband's birth.

She was stricken with a respiratory ailment Thanksgiving night, and never regained her strength, her physician said. He said she also had suffered from a heart ailment for years.

Her condition worsened Thursday, then became critical during the afternoon. She died of "hypertensive heart disease with congestive failure," the doctor said.

Two nieces, Mrs. James Powell of New York and Mrs. John Moeling of Chicago, were at her bedside when death came at 10:45 p.m.

Mrs. Wilson married the President Dec. 18, 1915, when he was serving his first term. She was with him constantly after that, screened his callers and studied his papers after he suffered a stroke in 1919, and nursed him during his last years at the S Street house. The home was a gift from the President to Mrs. Wilson.

She was to have dedicated the new Woodrow Wilson bridge that crosses the Potomac River south of Washington, at ceremonies Thursday. Instead, Francis B. Sayre Jr., son-in-law of Wilson, unveiled the dedication plaque.

President Kennedy hailed Wilson on the anniversary of his birth as "shaper of the first working plan for international cooperation among all peoples of the world."

Controversy swirled around Mrs. Wilson after her husband's stroke in 1919. The President, in a vain attempt to beat down Senate opposition to U.S. participation in the League of Nations, undertook a whistle-stop campaign across the nation.

But he had to give up because of nervous exhaustion. He suffered the stroke on his return to the White House.

Thus began what critics called "Mrs. Wilson's regency." She called it "my stewardship."

"I studied every paper sent from the different secretaries or senators and tried to digest and present in tabloid form the things that, despite my vigilance, had to go to the President," she wrote in a book entitled "My Memoir."

But she added: "I, myself, never made a single decision regarding the disposition of public affairs. The only decision that was mine was what was important and what was not, and the very important decision of when to present matters to my husband."

Wilson was a widower—his first wife died in 1914—and Mrs. Wilson a widow when they met in 1915. Her first husband was Norman Galt, proprietor of a famous Washington jewelry store. Galt died in 1908.

Gonzalez Aims At Patronage

SAN ANTONIO (AP)—Rep. Henry B. Gonzalez said Thursday night he is working to purge all Republicans appointed to supervisory and semi-supervisory positions in federal offices here under the patronage system.

Addressing a meeting of the powerful Democratic Coalition, which contributed to his election in the November special election, Gonzalez said he proposed to fill the posts with qualified Democrats.

He said at least nine persons in supervisory and semi-supervisory positions with the San Antonio offices of the Veterans Administration, the General Services Administration, Social Security and the Federal Housing Administration, are on his list.

He charged some of the persons on the list openly violated the Hatch Act in his election, and added "If the Hatch Act wasn't violative then, it isn't violative now."

"What's sauce for the goose is sauce for the gander," the congressman said.

In answer to the question of what he could do to those employees under Civil Service, Gonzalez said if they couldn't be removed they could be transferred. The only position specifically mentioned by Gonzalez was that of chief legal counsel for the VA, now held by Robert D. O'Callaghan, a Republican. He said O'Callaghan has a crew of field examiners working under him who could also come in for review.

Gonzalez said before any person was hired for more responsible positions while the Republicans controlled the patronage, "they had to make a visit to John Goode and Joe Sheldon." Goode, Gonzalez's Republican opponent in the congressional election, has worked as a lawyer for a federal group. Sheldon is Republican state committeeman.

"I just want to know if the Democratic party is going to insist on a checkpoint like the Republicans," Gonzalez said. "There's a lot of Republican deadwood in these offices drawing salaries, and there's no reason qualified Democrats shouldn't hold those jobs."

For Individualism

NEW YORK (AP)—"Christian individualism is being threatened in our mass society," says Dr. Perry E. Gresham, president of Bethany College, Bethany, W. Va. He told a dinner meeting here that "in an age when conformity and collectivist tendencies obscure the rights and duties of one person under God," the church must reinforce the "Christian individualism of the New Testament."

Discord, Harmony Characterized '61

A discordant beginning and a harmonious end—with a sprinkling of curious, provocative and often exciting notes between—characterized 1961's religious news.

The debate over federal aid to parochial schools, which began in January, generated about as much heat as it did light on this sensitive area of the church-state controversy.

But by December the accent once again was on interchurch cooperation. The World Council of Churches met, expanded its scope to include missionary activity, and opened its ecumenical arms to the Russian Orthodox Church, while official observers from the Vatican's secretariat for Christian unity made notes of the entire proceedings.

There was other evidence throughout the year of steps toward what churchmen are hopeful will one day lead to a unified Christendom.

At an assembly in Philadelphia in July, the Congregational Christian churches and the Evangelical and Reformed church formally merged into the two million-member United Church of Christ and immediately began discussing the possibility of future union with the Disciples of Christ.

Some progress also was made on what has come to be known as "the Blake proposal"—the suggestion made a year ago by Dr. Eugene Carson Blake, stated

THE DIVINE AND HUMAN FACTORS INVOLVED IN BUILDING UP THE REAL CHURCH OF CHRIST

Scripture—1 Corinthians 13; Ephesians 4:11-13.

By N. SPEER JONES
TODAY'S lesson is the culminating chapter in the topic of the year's final quarter, "Christian Growth." As such, it is fitting that it should center on the main theme of Christianity itself—love.

The chapter from Paul's first letter to the Corinthians is famous as a hymn to Christian love. It is often quoted in marriage ceremonies. In it, Paul, moved by the Holy Spirit, achieves one of the most exalted moments in all literature.

In this chapter he outlines the need for love (verses 1-3), its qualities (verses 4-7), its permanence (verses 8-12) and its preeminence (verse 13).

The love of which Paul speaks is not possible for an ordinary human being; man's natural instinct is self-love, not love for others. The kind of all-to a greater conception of such love by a deliberate attempt to perform a single kindly act. Only as these single acts are built upon and enlarged by an open spirit, however, can one grow toward the maturity of a true Christian love.

Another aspect of this love is that where it grows, there is no room for evil. Paradoxically, the surest way to overcome evil is not to focus on it, but on its counterpart—good—which will then crowd the evil out.

Verse 12 holds forth the promise of true knowledge and understanding ("then shall I know fully"), possible only through love.

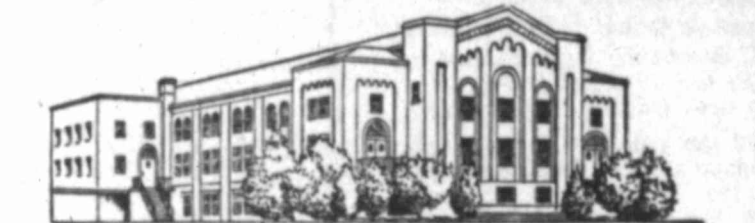

Just as Paul's hymn of love in Corinthians is justly famous, so his letter to the Ephesians has been called by some the loftiest single writing of the New Testament.

Its message is more practical: it pertains to our individual roles in building up the church as the body of Christ. Each must perform his own part, according to his God-given abilities, for Christ's influence here on earth to be felt as it should be.

John Eadie points out: "Paul's letter is a masterpiece of Christian intelligence to unsettle them and 'go the round of all sects' . . . and never receive satisfaction." Or they were between extreme rationalism and extreme mysticism. This is the mark of the child, the immature Christian.

A steadfast devotion to the unvarnished teachings of Christ will help to steady the course of such beings, transforming them into mature Christians with the power of love.

"CHURCH GOVERNMENT-ORGANIZATION"
"Christ is the head of the body the church"—Col. 1:18. God has given Him to be the head over all things to the church which is His body—Eph. 1:22-23; all authority, religiously speaking, is in Christ; the New Testament Apostles, Evangelists and teachers who both spoke and wrote the (27) books of the New Testament were inspired of God, hence the superiority of the New Testament above (And the Whole 66 books of the Bible) above all else written. These men received power and authority from Christ. He is the head!

Elders are over the local congregations. Acts 14:23 says they "Ordained them elders in every church." (Each congregation had elders this was and is plural) 1 Tim. chapter 3; and Titus chapter 1; give the qualifications for this work, for this work, for this office. It is a "Must" throughout, an elder is not perfect but must have some and sufficient of each relative qualification to meet God's divine approval. Six words describe the elders of the church; these (6) words contain three ideas of their work: Elders are presbyters. Shepherds are Pastors. Overseers are Bishops. Evangelists, ministers or preachers are BY NO MEANS the same work or office. Modern men taught, unschooled and unlearned in the Bible think and speak of preachers as pastors. Due to the failure of people to care sufficiently to study God's word this mistake has come about. A Preacher of the Gospel, a minister, the one who heralds, speaks the Word the evangelist is not an elders or pastor because of this fact of his being a preacher. If you want to be Biblically and scripturally correct before God do not speak of a preacher as a Pastor. We cannot follow the Truth and place preachers in the place of Pastors, or elders. Nor can we exalt one man as a Bishop as though a Bishop were something different from an elder nor can we have just one. It is always elders—plural in the Bible Pastor system or Papal system or presiding Bishop neither and none of these can be found in the Holy Bible, let us respect the truth.
—Elbert R. Garretson, minister

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	Matthew	25	1-13
Monday	Proverbs	6	6-15
Tuesday	Psalms	103	11-18
Wednesday	Luke	12	16-21
Thursday	James	4	13-17
Friday	Haggai	1	1-8
Saturday	Hebrews	6	1-12

The folks who lived in the day of the hourglass had a psychological advantage. They could see time passing.

And as each fine grain slipped through the neck of the glass, a man's conscience would whisper within him: less time left!

When we look at a clock its hands seem motionless. Is that why millions put off the important decisions that ought to be made right now?

Whatever its cause, procrastination is a disease. It lulls the senses into indolence. It wastes our energy on trivial pursuits, while important tasks remain undone. Especially it attacks the soul, tempting man to believe that there will be plenty of time later to tend to his spiritual needs.

But the cure is simple . . . and immediate. Just set the alarm clock and begin the New Year with worship in your Church. You'll soon be facing every important task with eagerness and courage and faith!

Red Propaganda Aimed At Home?

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet propaganda outbursts against the United States and West Germany have stepped up in recent weeks to a point where diplomats here believe they are intended more for scaring the Soviets than annoying the West.

The highest point in the campaign was reached with the demand that Gen. Adolf Heusinger, West German chairman of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization's military committee, be sent to Moscow for trial as a war criminal.

Heusinger is stationed in Washington. The Soviets unquestionably knew in advance the United States would never surrender him, but the demand for his extradition triggered off an attack on the conduct of German armies during World War II that continues almost daily.

Red Star, the military service's official newspaper, has been running daily war horror pictures of trenches filled with bodies and still others of partisans lined up to be shot by firing squads.

Normally this sort of propaganda in the Soviet Union precedes almost every international negotiation, such as the one expected early next year over the German situation. It is piped abroad to help prepare the atmosphere for the conference and indicate how stern the Soviet position will be.

But much of the present propaganda is not distributed abroad. It is published in newspapers and carried still more on television. The supposition in West German and American quarters here is that the propaganda is intended to reactivate suspicion of Americans along with the Germans, not only among the Soviet people but also among European members of the North Atlantic alliance who were World War II victims of the Nazis.

Attacks on the Kennedy administration appear intermittently—not so frequently in newspapers but continually in some magazines.

At no point this year has the Soviet vituperation against the Americans reached the heights of 1960 following the U2 incident and busting of the Paris summit conference. But as the year ends it appears building up.

Their Home In Ruins

Earl Kerr and his family look over the ruins of their six-room frame house at Palmetto, Ga., which burned after a kerosene heater exploded. Only a doll belonging to 11-year-old Judy Kerr and seven silver dollars belonging to a grandmother were saved. The family escaped without injury.

High Cost Of New Year Hilarity Goes Even Higher

NEW YORK (AP) — The high cost of hilarity will go even higher in many places this New Year's Eve. And for celebrators in several states there will be some headaches even before the day after.

Blue laws forbidding liquor sales in parts of the nation—creating many a dry oasis on New Year's Eve, Sunday night.

In some of these places, restaurants and nightclubs will serve dinner Sunday night and then begin serving drinks at 12:01 a.m. Monday. Others figure it isn't worth the trouble.

As a result, there is expected to be a tremendous exodus from dry states and cities into bordering areas where the holiday spirit still gurgles freely. In a few instances the big blowouts have been changed from Sunday to Saturday night.

States in which Blue Laws apply in full or in part include Washington, Maine, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, Nebraska, Minnesota, Michigan and Missouri.

But as the nation welcomes the New Year there will be observances of many types, depending on the pocketbook or persuasion of the participants.

Thousands of churches across the country will throw open their doors for traditional and ever-popular watch night services. And prayers will be offered for peace.

CARD OF THANKS
We wish to express our gratitude to all the wonderful people who were so kind and thoughtful during our bereavement, who brought food and beautiful floral offerings. No words can express our thanks.

Father-In-Law's Illness May Delay Jackie's Trip

PALM BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The illness of her father-in-law may cause Mrs. John F. Kennedy to postpone her January trip to India and Pakistan, the White House says.

Pierre Salinger, press secretary, said the President and the First Lady are to make a decision on her journey within the next few days.

Salinger sidestepped questions as to whether India's invasion of Portuguese Goa might be a factor in the decision, saying, "I'm not commenting."

He said, however, that the health of the President's father, Joseph P. Kennedy, 73, will definitely be a factor.

The elder Kennedy suffered a stroke Dec. 19 and then contracted a mild case of pneumonia.

Mrs. Kennedy, who has had a close relationship with her father-in-law, has kept vigil with other members of the family at his bedside in St. Mary's Hospital in West Palm Beach.

It is believed she would not want to go abroad while Joseph Kennedy remained in serious condition.

Mrs. Kennedy planned to go to India and Pakistan sometime in January. No itinerary or specific plans had been announced, beyond a date to attend India's Republic Day celebration in New Delhi Jan. 26.

Originally, she scheduled the trip for November, but it was postponed until January to permit a more leisurely tour of the two countries.

In India, Mrs. Kennedy was to be the guest of Prime Minister Nehru. In Pakistan, she was to be entertained by President Ayub Khan, who invited the First Lady during his visit to Washington last summer.

Analysis Shows Little Chance For Chinese Mainland Revolt

By JOHN RODERICK
An AP News Analyst

TOKYO (AP)—Hunger and hard times plague Red China's toiling millions. The prospect of a revolt on the mainland seems remote.

The reasons for this are many and varied.

One of them is Mao Tze-Tung's tight political control over his 670 million people. Taking no chances he recently increased the authority of commissars at the company level in the Red Army. He made them directly responsible to him and the Communist party.

Another is that he is a peasant's son and knows how far and how fast he can push the peasants who form the country's backbone. Next year all industry will be working for them, turning out the tools, fertilizer, tractors and home utensils they need to recover the ground lost in three disastrous harvests. Because hungry men cannot do back-breaking service in the rice paddies, they will get extra food rations.

These are the physical reasons why rebellion seems unlikely on the China mainland. There are other, more obscure reasons, including pride, fear and hatred.

The Chinese, heirs to one of the world's oldest and richest civilizations, stood powerlessly by for a century while colonial nations took out much of the wealth.

The Communists set about repairing the national character soon after they took over in 1949. A sense of pride in an last achievement, independence, unity and nationhood must color the thinking of many Chinese today.

Mao has added the powerful adrenalin of fear of a return to the old colonial days and hatred of United States "imperialism," which, he says, wants to enslave the Chinese.

Do the Chinese believe this hate propaganda about a country that for years they regarded with affection? Do old attitudes change?

A visitor to the mainland testifies that they do. He says: "I should think that all the propaganda about the United States is believed. After all, it has been repeated now for 12 years from every train, shop, school, theater and over every radio program, in every newspaper. The masses, at the same time, are denied access to outside information."

Though Mao has absorbed Western technical and economic methods, he has almost blindly rejected all Western thought. Mao keeps his people in check.

How long can he continue to do so?

"As long as men can remember the past, he will have considerable success," said one student of Chinese affairs. "But once the revolution has aged, as it has in Russia, and permanence has brought about a sense of security, the inquisitive Chinese will demand more windows to the outside world, more freedom for themselves."

Bank Raises Savings Rate

Directors of the First National Bank announced today that, effective January 1, interest rate paid on savings deposits left for one year or more will go to 4 per cent. This is a new maximum recently authorized by federal regulation.

Interest rate on deposits left for six months goes to 3½ per cent, the announcement said. These accounts will be compounded semi-annually, the 4 per cent accounts compounded annually.

The bank has been paying 3 per cent on all savings accounts. The other local banking institutions, State National and Security State, said they are not at this time announcing a change in rate.

Amarillo Badgers Spring Lone Upset In Tourney

By TOMMY HART

Amarillo College sprang the only upset in the first round of play in the tenth annual Howard County Christmas Week Basketball tournament here Thursday by coming from behind to defeat Allen Academy, 92-77.

In other contests, host HCJC easily pushed aside Schreiner Institute, 78-47. Decatur Baptist fashioned an 83-70 success at the expense of South Plains of Levelland; and Tyler showed great muscle in kayoing Odessa, 93-74.

Tyler thus goes against Decatur in what should be a slam-bang skirmish at 7 o'clock this evening while HCJC has it out with an old area antagonist, Amarillo, at 9 o'clock.

In consolation, Schreiner takes on Allen Academy at 2 p.m., while Odessa tries a comeback against South Plains at 4 p.m.

The tournament winds up Saturday. The schedule then calls for the seventh place game at 2 p.m., the consolation finals at 4 p.m., the third place battle at 7 p.m., and the title bout at 9 p.m.

Judged strictly off their performances Thursday, it appears now that HCJC and Tyler will collide in the finals. However, both face rugged going.

Amarillo came to the meet lightly regarded because of a 2-5 won-lost record but picked itself up off the mat with a strong second half rally to flog Allen Academy. The defeat left Allen with a 9-7 won-lost record.

The Badgers threw a great one-side punch at the Ramblers in the persons of Mike Sims and Bob Dibler. Sims broke loose for 22 points, the top individual effort of the first day of play. Dibler had 28.

Allen, which led at half time, was paced by Hilario Mendoza, who accounted for 23 points.

Coach Buddy Travis gave his HCJC reserves a liberal workout in the Hawks' game with Schreiner, which limped into town with a 2-8 won-lost record. HCJC is now 9-1.

The Hawks' cause was damaged, however, when ace guard Larry McElyea turned his ankle in a pre-game warmup and may have to sit out the rest of the tournament.

The Big Spring's leading scorer was Jerry Tillman, who played his best all-around game this season. Ernest Turner had 15 for the Hawks.

Schreiner, who scored only 16 points the first half and trailed by 30 at that point, had no one in double figures. The Mountaineers' top hand proved to be Bud Schaefer, who wound up with nine.

Odessa gave Tyler all it could handle for three quarters of the game and then slumped badly. The score at half time was tied, 40-40.

Sturdy Wanamaker, a mighty mite, paced Tyler (now 5-2) in scoring with 24 points. He hit half of those, or all 12 chances he got, from the free throw line. Bob Carpenter was right behind with 22.

Odessa got fine performances from Nick Berzak, who finished with 16 points; Ed Gardner and Joe Varro, each of whom had 13.

Tyler's ability to hit from outside and Tommy Jones' insistence on controlling the rebounds had a lot to do with the win.

Decatur had to rally to get by a fired up South Plains team in one of the afternoon games, 33-70.

The Indians, who brought an 11-2 won-lost record to the tournament, were down four points at half time and trailed much of the third quarter but their fast break eventually paid off.

South Plains could capture only four offensive rebounds each half. South Plains hit 14 of 30 shots from the field the first half for 46.6 per cent and six of 29 the final 20 minutes for 20.6 per cent.

Decatur connected on 13 of 30 shots the first half for 43.3 per cent and 26 of 44 the last half for 59.1 per cent.

James Collins of the Texans led all scorers in the game with 25 points. Bill Butts had 16 for the losers.

Bill Murren, all-tournament here last year, tossed in 23 points for Decatur while Howard Clark had 21.

South Plains was in charge much of the game because it played a deliberate, "slow-down" type of ball. The defeat left South Plains with a 5-7 won-lost record.

Three girls hit in double figures for Coahoma. Sandy Clinton led with 15 while Darlene Mason had 12 and Sandra Nichols ten. Kay Dyer of Sands was the leading scorer with 17, however.

For Post, Nita Wilson tossed in 34 points while Janice Short had 24.

In boys' play, Maurice Outright tallied 13 for Coahoma, as did Frankie Firenze. Dwayne Fraser followed with ten. Larry Hall scored 12 for Sands.

Girls' games: RANKIN (38)—Joy Brader 22-13; Jean Smith 6-3-14; Jean Hughes 1-1-3; Dyer 1-1-3; Wilson 1-1-3. POST (39)—Nita Wilson 14-24; Janice Short 9-24; Nita Wilson 6-11; Barbara Craig 4-8; Ruth Martin 1-3-2. Totals 11-37.

GATOR BOWL — Georgia Tech 15, Penn State 7. The South shall rise again here. The Nittany Lions' defense was porous — 128 points surrendered in ten games. Georgia Tech didn't have a really good year, by Engineer standards, but looked good even in defeat. Fundamentally, Bobby Dodd's teams are always good clubs and he has a habit of getting them ready for the big ones.

And on the pro front: NFL CHAMPIONSHIP GAME — New York 30, Green Bay 22. The elements could favor Green Bay here and the Packers are a threat as long as Jim Taylor and Paul Hornung are available but the Giants seem to be a team of destiny. The difference should be in the line play, where New York's defensive unit steps aside for no opponent. If the defensive play is any better and more vicious than was that AFL title game in San Diego last week, it should be something to see.

up off the mat with a strong second half rally to flog Allen Academy. The defeat left Allen with a 9-7 won-lost record.

The Badgers threw a great one-side punch at the Ramblers in the persons of Mike Sims and Bob Dibler. Sims broke loose for 22 points, the top individual effort of the first day of play. Dibler had 28.

Allen, which led at half time, was paced by Hilario Mendoza, who accounted for 23 points.

Coach Buddy Travis gave his HCJC reserves a liberal workout in the Hawks' game with Schreiner, which limped into town with a 2-8 won-lost record. HCJC is now 9-1.

The Hawks' cause was damaged, however, when ace guard Larry McElyea turned his ankle in a pre-game warmup and may have to sit out the rest of the tournament.

The Big Spring's leading scorer was Jerry Tillman, who played his best all-around game this season. Ernest Turner had 15 for the Hawks.

Schreiner, who scored only 16 points the first half and trailed by 30 at that point, had no one in double figures. The Mountaineers' top hand proved to be Bud Schaefer, who wound up with nine.

Odessa gave Tyler all it could handle for three quarters of the game and then slumped badly. The score at half time was tied, 40-40.

Sturdy Wanamaker, a mighty mite, paced Tyler (now 5-2) in scoring with 24 points. He hit half of those, or all 12 chances he got, from the free throw line. Bob Carpenter was right behind with 22.

Odessa got fine performances from Nick Berzak, who finished with 16 points; Ed Gardner and Joe Varro, each of whom had 13.

Tyler's ability to hit from outside and Tommy Jones' insistence on controlling the rebounds had a lot to do with the win.

Decatur had to rally to get by a fired up South Plains team in one of the afternoon games, 33-70.

The Indians, who brought an 11-2 won-lost record to the tournament, were down four points at half time and trailed much of the third quarter but their fast break eventually paid off.

South Plains could capture only four offensive rebounds each half. South Plains hit 14 of 30 shots from the field the first half for 46.6 per cent and six of 29 the final 20 minutes for 20.6 per cent.

Decatur connected on 13 of 30 shots the first half for 43.3 per cent and 26 of 44 the last half for 59.1 per cent.

James Collins of the Texans led all scorers in the game with 25 points. Bill Butts had 16 for the losers.

Bill Murren, all-tournament here last year, tossed in 23 points for Decatur while Howard Clark had 21.

Services Held For Rodriguez

Graveside rites were conducted at 9 a.m. today for Ramon R. Rodriguez, 58, Mexican National, at the City Cemetery. The Rev. Luis Gomez, pastor of the North Side Baptist Mission, officiated. Arrangements were by Nalley-Pickie Funeral Home.

Rodriguez was killed Christmas Eve on IS 20 east of town. It has been concluded he met death when he was struck by a car as he walked along the highway. Driver of the car has not been identified.

Survivors include his widow, Rosa; one son, Jessie, and a stepdaughter, Mrs. Janie Martinez. They reside in Lubbock and all were here today to attend the rites.

Mr. Rodriguez was a farm laborer by occupation and had been a resident of Texas since 1910.

Outstanding

M. Sgt. James D. Cooper (left), 420th Field Maintenance Detachment, has returned from Amarillo AFB where he completed the Technical Instructor's Course. A certificate honoring Cooper as an outstanding student is being presented to him by the Detachment Commander, Capt. James A. Hahn.

Big Crowd Hears Connally

A record breaking number of West Texas Democrats turned out Thursday night to pay honor to J. Ed Connally of Abilene, chairman of the State Democratic Committee.

The Rockwell Bros. Lumber Co., 300 W. 2nd, was entered some time Wednesday night. Nothing was found missing, but two safes and two file cabinets were ransacked. Entrance to the building was gained through the back door where the burglar tore a screen and broke the glass from the door.

Leonard Coker, 200 Jefferson, reported the theft of four hubcaps from his car.

Vaughn McKee, 1504 Mesa, told police that four hubcaps and the front window molding were taken from his car which was parked in his garage.

He also said that a car followed him around scenic Mountain, to his home, and then drove around the block several times. He reported several valuable items in his garage but nothing else missing.

Thefts, Burglary Are Investigated

Police were called to investigate two thefts and a burglary and entering in the past 24 hours.

Prison Inmate Files Petition

A petition for a writ of habeas corpus has been filed in 118th District Court styled Donald Wayne Walker vs. Leo Hull, assistant chief of police, Big Spring.

The petition recites that Walker demands that he be brought to trial to answer a charge of burglary against him. He alleges that the complaint has been "hanging fire" for five months and that in that time his cause has been damaged by the delay.

Additional documents in the case show that plaintiff (Walker) is now an inmate in the Federal Correctional Institution at La Tuna, Texas.

Hull, in recalling the case, said that Walker was arrested in El Paso on a federal charge of interstate transportation of a motor vehicle. A money bag which Walker had in his possession bore the name of Miller's Pig Stand, 510 E. 3rd, in Big Spring.

Walker was charged with the burglary of the Pig Stand on July 19, 1961 in which the pig telephone money box was broken open, the money boxes of the cigarette machine and juke box were robbed, and several packages of cigarettes taken, in addition to two pairs of shoes.

"The case is now in the hands of the district attorney," Hull said. "Walker apparently has no chance of parole as long as the Big Spring charge is pending and that is why he has filed the petition. So far, I have not been notified of the filing."

Speed Allows More Comfort

At Webb AFB, the dental clinic of the 3560th USAF Hospital has harnessed speed to provide increased comfort.

Recently, the clinic acquired six ultrahigh air turbine dental units, capable of providing drilling speed up to 340,000 revolutions per minute as compared to 12,000 to 14,000 rpm for older units. This high speed means comfort for dental patients by eliminating or reducing friction heat. Even the instruments have been changed, made of carbide steel instead of ordinary steel as in the older ones.

The new unit has a low torque so that a feather touch by the dentist is all that is needed, allowing the patient and dentist to be more relaxed, physically and mentally.

The 13-member staff of the Webb dental clinic is under the direction of Lt. Col. Max Zweibel. Col. Zweibel said the six new units will complement the older ones in use. He added that the high speed units are used for drilling and the older units for teeth cleaning and polishing.

The noncommissioned officer-in-charge is T. Sgt. Paul Haney, who said the monthly patient load for 1961 at the clinic averaged 750.

Lewis Injured In Car Wreck

James Lewis, 1005 Eleventh Place, was taken to the Howard County Hospital Foundation shortly after 5 p.m. Thursday with injuries received in a car-pickup accident at the intersection of East Fifteenth and Owens. His physician said Friday morning that his condition was good and that there were apparently no serious injuries.

Driver of the other car, Ann Scarbro, 1900 S. Monticello, was not injured.

Two other accidents were investigated by Big Spring police since noon Thursday. The first, at 200 W. 3rd, involved drivers, Clay Buchanan, Big Spring, and Ralph Penden, 501 Abrams. The second, at Carlos' Restaurant parking lot, involved driver Bobby Joe Newman, Colorado City, and an unknown driver who left the scene.

Honor Campers Open Meeting

Registration began at 1:15 p.m. today for those attending the conference, at the Webb AFB academic building, of Scouting's Order of the Arrow. Approximately 150 men and boys are expected from the 18-county Council.

Bill McKee, Scout executive, said the conference would deal with the organization and operation of local chapters. It aids in promoting overnight and summer camps for troops of Scouts and is primarily an honor camping order.

The registration fee of $3.25 will include lodging and food at the base.

Lamesa Sells 3 Land Tracts

LAMESA (SC) — Mayor Guy Weckes completed three land transactions Thursday that brought the city $101,890.

Sold was the Bartlett land tract to John D. Banta for $41,250, the southwest quarter of the Mayben tract to O. H. Preston Jr. for $33,040, and the southeast quarter of the Mayben tract to L. D. Woodward for $27,600.

Surface rights only were sold on the Mayben tract and cotton allotments were included. The city reserved all water rights on the three parcels.

Funeral Pends

Funeral services are pending at Nalley-Pickie Funeral Home for the infant son of L. and Mrs. George D. Edgington. The infant, born at 11:52 a.m. Thursday, died at 7:10 p.m. in a Big Spring hospital. L. Edgington is with the 3560th Student Squadron, Webb AFB.

Remember, It Means 365 Good Turns

Two Boy Scouts present the official Scout calendar to R. L. Tollett, chairman of the Lone Star District, with a reminder that a Scout (and Scouter) attempts to do a good turn every day. Making the presentation are David Compton, left, of Troop 5 and Neal Henry of Troop 4.

4-H Club Members Enter Stock In Odessa Show

Howard County 4-H Club boys and girls will enter five steers, five lambs and four quarter horses in the annual Odessa Livestock Show and Rodeo which opens on Dec. 31. The show closes on Jan. 6.

Contract Date Is Scheduled

Contract for the reconstruction of US 87, from Fairview south to the Big Spring city limits, will be awarded at the Feb. 20-21 letting by the State Highway Department.

Ed Carpenter, county judge, said that he had been informed by the district engineer's office that the project is definitely slated for completion at that time.

Carpenter said that he had called the office to advise it that the performance bond by T. A. Welch for removing two residences from the Big Spring State Hospital had been signed.

There are two small corner lots where rural roads intersect a federal road which still need to be cleared. Carpenter said that these will be signed this coming week. He anticipates no difficulty in the matter.

US 87 north of Fairview to the county line has already been rebuilt into a four-lane highway. The segment from Fairview to Big Spring is next on the schedule.

MRS. DOUGLAS GERALD YOUNG

Former Resident Is Wed In Bridal Dress Made By Mother

Attired in a wedding gown made by her mother and worn first by her sister, Ellen Gay Bownds became the bride of Douglas Gerald Young in a double ring ceremony Thursday evening in Beaumont.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J.C. Bownds, now living in Beaumont, former residents of Big Spring; the parents of the bridegroom are Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Young of Laramie, Wyo.

Rites were read in the Westside Church of Christ by Bill Young of Bakersfield, Calif., brother of the bridegroom.

Greenery and tapers made the sole decoration for the altar where stylized trees of jade ferns were combined with white standards holding white candles.

A chorus under the direction of Bill Cook presented wedding music, a cappella, which included "Love Is A Many - Splendored Thing," "Always," "No Other Love," "Wedding Prayer," "The Lord Bless You and Keep You," and the Wedding Processional.

As the bride approached the altar, the bridegroom sang "I Pledge My Love."

The father of the bride gave her in marriage; the bridegroom, fashioned of white satin along princess lines featured long sleeves of embroidered satin. The neckline was scooped, and the long full skirt flowed into a chapel train.

Handmade lace from Belgium was lined with tulle to make the wedding veil, which was held by a crown of pearls. The bride's bouquet was a cascade of orchids with two red roses and foliage.

Attendants were Mrs. D. G. Gibbs of Odessa, matron of honor; Robbie Boggess of Friona and Mrs. Jimmie Roberts of Abilene, bridesmaids.

All were identically attired in cranberry red silk linen, made two-piece with round high necklines, dropped waistlines and bell-shaped skirts. Short kid gloves complemented the brief sleeves, and hats were the pillbox type. Each attendant carried an arrangement of light pink carnations.

Junior bridesmaid, Karen Lovering, and the flower girl, Melissa Gay Odle, both of Beaumont, were identically dressed in pale pink. Miss Odle carried a basket of pink and red flower petals; Miss Lovering carried a miniature of the bouquets of other feminine attendants.

Jimmie Roberts served as best man; ushers, who also attended as groomsmen, were James Robert Christopher and Bob Joy, both of Abilene; Bill Howell of Harlingen, cousin of the bride, and Kit Owens of Beaumont. The latter two lighted the altar tapers.

Members of the house party for the reception, given in the Fountain Terrace Room of The Ridge Hotel, included Helen Handley of Raymondville; Nancy Wones and Julia Lunsford both of Beaumont; Mrs. John Hope of Walton Beach, Fla.; Mrs. Christopher and Mrs. Joy.

Attending from out of town were Mrs. R. H. Howell and daughter, Sydney, of Harlingen; Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Taliaferro, grandparents of the bride, Mrs. A. A. Taliaferro, all of Dallas; Bobby Smith of Ft. Knox, Ky.; Mrs. C. H. Bownds of Memphis, paternal grandmother of the bride, Colette Kilgore of Baytown, and the parents of the bridegroom.

For a wedding trip to Houston and Dallas, the bride chose a suit

For her marriage the bride chose a street-length dress of white and gold brocade, two-piece, and wore a brief veil. She carried a white Bible with an orchid surrounded by golden carnations.

The Bible she named as the something old; her wedding attire was new, and she borrowed a bracelet from Mrs. Tony Starr.

Lace over gold covered the tea table, which held the bride's cake of white, decorated with gold and topped with wedding bells.

Talk About Your Roses While They're Asleep

By EARL ARONSON
AP Newsfeatures

Talk about your roses while your roses are getting their winter beauty sleep, let's call them names.

In today's popular rose market, there are about 5,700 different varieties, each with a name. Generally, these names favor people, especially females. More than 1,400 roses are named in honor of women, ranging from Queen Elizabeth (she's a beautiful pink one that blooms in our garden) to wives and daughters of famous rose growers and such folk as movie actresses.

According to one authority on roses, only 19 have been named for entertainment world personalities. There have been some others, but these varieties have never had their names in the bright lights of the rose world.

The most successful rose in the stage - screen category is the Helen Traubel. More than a million plants of this pink hybrid tea have been sold.

Today, 10 years after its debut, Helen Traubel rose remains in the top 10 of the nation's best sellers and is rated sixth in the American Rose Society's alltime popular roses with a score of 8.7 out of a possible 10.

Roses have been named for fictitious filmland favorites such as the Scarlet O'Hara, Charlie McCarthy and Tarzan. There is a rose named Dopey, one of the Seven Dwarfs.

Others bear the names of Gracie Fields, Greer Garson, Dinah Shore, Arlene Francis, Lily Pons, Helen Hayes, Hildegarde, Kate Smith, Mary Pickford, Rochelle Hudson, Shirley Temple, Sonja Henie, Wendy Barrie and Susan Ball.

Keeps Fit

Mary Tyler Moore, who started her career as a dancer, tells how she keeps fit with her favorite exercise. She is in CBS-TV's "Dick Van Dyke Show."

HOLLYWOOD BEAUTY

Years Of Exercise, Work Bring Success

By LYDIA LANE

HOLLYWOOD — Mary Tyler Moore has clicked in the new "Dick Van Dyke Show," but this is no overnight success, for she began dancing as a child and knew that she was destined for the entertainment field.

"Don't think about being beautiful," my mother used to tell me. "Think about being good." She meant in my work," Mary explained. "When you are growing up, advice like that is comforting and helpful because when you are prepared, it gives you a confidence that radiates. She also told me, 'Don't bother about what you don't have, but concentrate on developing what you do have.'"

Though Mary isn't dancing any more professionally, she still goes to a ballet class and gives herself a work-out every day.

"Exercise can change your body measurements if you work at it," she declared. "If you are to move easily, you have to stretch your muscles. Cats and dogs know this. Watch the way they move." "What is your favorite exercise?" I asked.

"It's stretching and standing up tall," she confided. "There is nothing that detracts from the way you look in your clothes like bad posture."

Mary crossed her dressing room and stood with her legs apart with her left hand on her hip and her right arm raised.

"Stretch as high as you can, and when you feel a good pull, bend to the left and stretch again. You should feel the waist muscles pulling. When you think you have gone as far as you can, pull a little more. But never strain or overdo. It is better to work one minute perfectly than a half hour without thinking about what you are doing. And while you are exercising, breathe deeply, and never exercise too long. Stop before you are tired," she concluded.

EXERCISE CORRECTLY

With Leaflet M-8, "Exercise to Correct Figure Faults," you will learn how to exercise correctly. For your copy of this important leaflet, send only 10 cents and a self-addressed, stamped envelope to Lydia Lane, Big Spring Herald.
