

Former Resident To Teach in Auction School

A former Wellington resident and his partner will teach merchandising at the National Auction Institute to be held this year at Bryan, Texas.

Fred Thompson, former owner of the Fred Thompson Appliance Company in Wellington, and Lanham Nelson will spend two weeks in Bryan teaching auctioneering students from all over the United States and Canada.

The invitation to teach at the Institute amounts to a major recognition of leadership in the auctioneering field to the two auctioneers who are co-owners of the Hi-Plains Auction Company, 2214 Fillmore, Amarillo. Only top grade specialists in the field have been invited to teach.

Thompson was born and brought up in the Lutie community on the old Judge Small Ranch. He started in the auction business after Nelson sold his Wellington business at auction.

The red-haired auctioneer graduated from Norwood High School and got his first business experience as a salesman for the Holland magazine. He worked up to the point where he was given a territory in Oklahoma where he met his wife, the former Opal James of Leddey, Okla.

During the war he joined the 333rd Special Service Regiment of the Combat Engineers and spent three years in the European Theater.

Thompson's partner refers to him as "Colonel" because, as Nelson puts it, "He was busted down from sergeant so many times the stripes he lost amounted to at least a colonel's rank."

Nelson got his start in auctioneering after he sold his share in the Allender store in Dalhart.

Both men now live in Amarillo and conduct sales all through Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico.

CHANNEL CHILDREN—These two youngsters—the Tongay Tots, they call them—aim to swim the English Channel soon. Bubba, 5, and Kathy, 4, are shown at Miami Beach, Fla., where they trained for the Channel attempt. Once Bubba swam 22 miles in the Mississippi River; Kathy quit after 12 miles. Greasing them up are their father, Russell Tongay, right, and an unidentified aide.

Soil Conservation Measured In Food and Fiber--Coleman

The real measure of the soil and water conservation practices being carried out by the nation's farmers including those of Collingsworth county with the help of the Agricultural Conservation Program should be measured in pounds of meat, quarts of milk, and bushels of grain rather than in acres, yards, and tons, says J. A. Coleman, chairman of the county PMA committee.

As the chairman sees it, the reason for carrying out conservation practices is production and the value of practices can be measured only in terms of the added food and fiber produced. The effectiveness of an erosion control practice, for instance, is determined by the amount of food and fiber produced which otherwise would have been lost had the soil washed away.

The cover crop turned under for green manure adds fertility to the soil, strengthens the soil structure, builds resistance to erosion, and restores organic matter. But all of these are a means of maintaining and improving the productivity of the land and the true measure of accomplishment is the added production obtained—the bales of cotton, the beef, the milk, the bushels of corn.

The miles of terraces should be measured in the same way as should the stockwater dams, the trees planted and the many other agricultural conservation practices which farmers of the nation and of the county are carrying out. The purpose of it all, in the chairman's opinion, is better living for more people and the true measure of what these conservation practices have accomplished is in the added food and fiber resulting from practices which go to make this better living.

For the soil to produce abundantly these factors must be favorable for plant growth, he explains, and to help farmers protect their soil and to aid in providing favorable growing conditions is the major function of the Agricultural Conservation Program.

To illustrate, he points out that by assisting farmers to carry out conservation practices which hold moisture on the land the ACP is helping to make sure the first factor is favorable. Contour farming, terracing and establishing the best possible grass and legume sod are means of holding moisture on the land.

Sod crops also help to improve the structure of the soil so that there is enough soil air. Turning under a green manure crop or plowing under a rotation pasture help to provide the air and space needed for proper root growth.

Plant foods are returned to the soil through the use of lime and phosphate and the growing and turning under of grass and legume crops.

while Shirley Montgomery has chosen gardening and canning as hers.

Wanda Stevenson, Jan Mounger, Mildred Johnson, and Dorothy Marsh have chosen as their projects sewing.

Peggy Moody has chosen to cook and LaZona Scott wants to raise chickens.

"Whohelo" If You Know What It Means

Camp Fire Girls Will Hold First Ceremonial at Airpark Fri., July 13

Waywaste Camp Fire Girl Group is having its first ceremonial Friday, July 13th, at Marian Airpark baseball field, beginning at 8:30 p.m. Whohelo, the call of the Camp Fire Girl, is being made as a welcome to their friends to be their guest for that evening as honors will be presented to each of the girls for their accomplishments in Home Craft, Creative Craft, Outdoors Craft, Frontier Craft, Business Craft, Sports and Games Craft, and Citizenship Craft. The past year has been one of activity for the Camp Fire Girls. They have earned the money to pay for the cost of their uniforms, books, and dues, and while doing so have had time to learn something and have fun with it.

Two bake sales were had by the group to raise their money, each sale having cookies, cakes, and candy that the girls had made. During Christmas the Way-waste group went caroling with another Camp Fire Girl Group and instead of exchanging Christmas presents, they brought toys, food and clothes to make a box for the Red Cross. As this group of girls was originally an arts and crafts club, they have found their experience in using their hands as a means to be useful in gaining hon- ors in the Creative Arts Craft. They have made figurines, made free hand sketches, water color paintings, carved plaques, needle work, weaving, made kites, valentines, ceramics, braiding, and done stenciling.

Three eat outs have been fun for the Camp Fire Girls. They have enjoyed hikes, trail blazing, treasure hunts, soft ball, volley ball, kite flying, and swimming. The aim of the summer in Outdoor and Game Craft is to have no non swimmers in the group by the middle of August. At that time this group plans to have a ceremonial in the swimming pool, carrying the seven colors of the crafts on the darkened water for a show we can be proud to have the public watch. The different figures are being practiced now for this water show. At that time each of the girls will have attained Trail Seekers Rank and the ceremonial will be for the attainment of that goal.

Mrs. Bryan Denley, Mrs. Jimmy Kelso, and Mrs. Beryl Paulkner are the sponsors of the Waywaste Camp Fire Girl Group, and Mrs. John Lee and Mrs. Myrett Henry are the guardians. The group meets each Saturday for two hours of work or play together, keeping the law of the Camp Fire Girl ever in mind, worship God, seek beauty, give service, pursue knowledge, be trustworthy, hold on to health, glorify work, be happy.

Waywaste Camp Fire Girls are Alicia Gail Ham, Sherrie McDaniels, Carolyn Keller, Joan Langford, Sherrie Smith, Novelle Branch, Patty Hughes, Sally Beth Lee, Barbara Hackler, Elizabeth Ann Hurst, Mary Beth Kelso, Molly Ann Denley, Peggy Henry, Sandra Faulkner, Wanda Shinn, Faye Grav, and Judy Smith, mascot, and Charlesreen Mosenbocker.

The sponsors, parents, Boy Scouts, Camp Fire Girls, and the Girl Scouts of Memphis are to be the special guests for the ceremonial at the baseball field, July 13, and all the friends of the Camp Fire Girls are extended an invitation to be their guest for this special event around the council fire.

Boy Scouts to Broadcast Here

A new addition will be made to the already varied series of programs being presented by the Voice of Wellington at 11:30 a.m., Thursday, July 12, when the new Boy Scout radio program starts its weekly series of broadcasts.

The first few programs will be announced by John H. Pound, District Scout Executive for the Southern District of the Adobe Walls Council, but the broadcasts will later be taken over by a Scout from Wellington. These broadcasts will present tips on camping, hiking, and other Scouting skills, announcements of coming events of interest to Scouts and Scouters, and other items of general Scouting interest.

Auditions will be held for any Scout or Explorer interested in gaining experience in radio announcing, and who might be the future announcer for this program. Any Scout or Explorer who would like to audition, may do so by getting in touch with Mr. Pound at 368-J in Wellington.

Bank Deposits Stand at Second Highest Level

Deposits of the county's four banks totaled $5,779,506.54 at the close of business on June 30, 1951. While this represents a decrease from the middle of the year deposits of 1950, it still represents the second highest mark set for bank deposits in the history of the county.

These figures were brought out in the reports of the banks to the Comptroller of Currency, Federal Reserve Bank, and State Banking Commissioner.

Deposits in 1950 at the middle of the year totaled $6,394,614. The third highest figure for mid-year statements was in 1948 when deposits totaled $5,654,591.

Loans for 1951 were $469,443 less than the previous year. A year ago loans were $3,440,246 while this year they stand at $2,970,803.

Deposits in 1951 were over a million dollars more than in either 1945 and 1946 and more than five times as much as in 1940.

Deposits for the various years are listed below:

- 1940 — $1,086,106.
- 1941 — $1,354,970.
- 1942 — Approximately a million and a half dollars.
- 1943 — Approximately two and a half million dollars.
- 1944 — $3,115,293.
- 1945 — $4,315,801.
- 1946 — $4,693,971.
- 1947 — $5,621,119.
- 1948 — $5,654,591.
- 1949 — $5,123,228.
- 1950 — $6,394,614.

Undivided profits were higher than in 1950. The figure for this year shows $135,376.75 as compared to $118,429 for this time last year. Capital stock of the four banks is $225,000 and surplus is the same amount.

"Happiest Guy in the World"

Sgt. George Sturgill to Return From Korea Soon

One of Collingsworth County's fighting sons is on his way home from the battlefields of Korea where he has been for the past several months. Sergeant First Class George Sturgill, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sturgill of Quail, notified his parents this week he would sail from Korea to Japan on July 2. He hopes to be at home by August 1.

Sturgill is coming home by means of the rotation of troops movement now in effect in Korea.

The letter to his parents is as follows:

Dear Dad, Mother, and June:

I will try and write you a few lines today, after so long a time. How does this find everyone? Well, I am about the happiest guy in the world. I am on my way home. So, if you don't hear from me for a while, don't worry. I will be on a boat home. I should get there about the first of August, but don't look for me until I get there.

Boy, I sure was surprised when the commanding officer said I was going home. I felt like kissing him. Ha. Don't write to me any more, because the letters will just come back to you, and that would just be wasting stamps.

Tell Dad to get the little Ford ready and when I get home we will all go fishing.

We are still here in Korea waiting for a boat, but we are supposed to leave here tomorrow morning for Japan. We will stay there for a week or so before sailing for home.

Then will come the day when we take another ship for the States.

Well, I must close for this time. Here's hoping to see you all soon. With all my love,
Your son,
George

Returning From Korea

Sgt. George Sturgill, a veteran of the Korean fighting, this week told of plans to be home about August 1. He has been in Korea for several months, and has seen considerable action there.

First Aid Classes in Progress

McClaskey, personnel officer; Darlene Hunter, assistant personnel officer; J. M. Moore, operations officer; Pete Melton, Jackie Strong, assistant operations officers; William W. McClaskey, training officer. Weldon Cleveland, Earl Clement, and Charles Caldwell, Jr., assistant training officers; Weldon Cleveland, commandant of cadets; Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Harwell and Stanley Brooks, assistant commandants of cadets; Miss Dorothy Robertson, public information officer; Mrs. Bill Hughes and Mrs. Ray Wolf, assistant public information officers; Randolph Hunt, photography; Bura Handley, supply officer; Jackie Strong, engineering officer, and squadron check pilot; Herman Claude Terry, assistant engineer; Dr. Tom Hunter, medical; Mrs. Jimmy Cochran, fiscal officer; Mrs. Charles Caldwell, Jr., assistant fiscal officer; Beryl Faulkner, communications; Benton Berry and Blayne Brannum, assistant communications officers; and the Rev. Archie Gray, chaplain.

First Aid classes are still in progress, with Dr. Tom Hunter as the teacher, each Friday night. From 8 to 9 is devoted to some phase of training in map reading, meteorology, etc., and from 9 to 10 is devoted to the First Aid classes. The Cadets meet with the senior members for the First Aid course.

Jimmy Thompson to Go Scouting in Minnesota

Jimmy Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Loren Thompson of Wellington, and member of Explorer Post 32, will leave Berger, at 6 a.m. Wednesday, July 18, in company with a group of 36 Explorers and leaders from the Adobe Walls Council, bound for the Wilderness Canoe Trails Base at Ely, Minnesota.

The group will arrive at the Canoe Trails Base Saturday evening, July 21, and leave there for 10 days in the wilderness of the Quetico Provincial Park, in Canada, on July 22, following a session of training in the use of canoes and other equipment. The group to which Jimmy will be assigned will be provided with all of their food, canoes, packs, and guide, and will be allowed to choose the route they would like to follow during their ten day trip. All of the equipment will be carried in canoes, except during the times they travel from one lake to the next, during which times the canoes and other equipment must be "portaged," or carried. The basic item of their diet will be the fish that they catch themselves — muskies, pike, lake trout, and others. All other food is carried in the lightest form possible, much of it dehydrated.

This trip is typical of the "high adventure" type program being offered by the Adobe Walls Council for members of the Explorer program. The wilderness canoe trails country is virtually virgin territory, as no one is allowed to enter the park by motorboat, airplane, or other "modern" means of transportation. All travel is done on foot or by canoe. Wild life is abundant and in great variety. Fishing in the area is unexcelled due to its inexhaustibility. A young man taking this trip is put entirely on "his own," as were his forebears, having only that equipment available which he can carry on his back or in his canoe.

Jimmy will return to Wellington on or about August 4th.

Dodson Pastor To Hold Revival

The Rev. Charles W. Ogden, pastor of the Church of the Nazarene in Dodson, will hold the fall revival for the Church of the Nazarene in Childress. The meetings are scheduled to begin Thursday evening, July 19, and will continue until Sunday, July 29.

Mrs. Ogden will have charge of the music and will sing special numbers each evening during the meeting.

The Rev. and Mrs. Ogden devoted their full time to evangelism in the Church of the Nazarene for several months previous to their acceptance of the pastorate of the Dodson Church.

Rev. Robert Anderson is the pastor of the Church of the Nazarene in Childress.

TO CONDUCT AUCTIONEERING CLASSES

Fred Thompson and Lanham Nelson have been selected to conduct classes in auctioneering at College Station this summer. Mr. Thompson formerly owned and operated an appliance business in Wellington.

Lord Jim Says--

By Bill Hughes

Bill, I know that you are a great admirer of the Dominican Sisters. I know that you fully appreciate the outstanding excellence of Wellington's St. Joseph's Hospital. I know that you understand what it means to have the four-fold benefit of such a team of skilled nurses, modern equipment, fine technicians, and a splendid clinic of Doctors. I know that you can personally bear witness to the fact that not only is the care given of the highest order, but that the cost of this care is as little as you can find anywhere.

How do you feel about this appeal to the community to help complete the hospital?

Lord Jim, if we the people who make up this community have left any of the old solid common horse sense, any faith at all in fundamental Christian principals, if the Declaration of Independence of the United States of America has left just a shred of meaning for us, if there remain in us just a little of the courage, love and pride of our forebearers, we will gladly grab this opportunity "to do unto others as they have done unto us;" and by deed prove to the splendid Dominican Sisters that their tireless work above and beyond the call of the dollar, relieving the aches and the pains of our children, our loved ones, and even our own has not gone unrecorded here by us.

In short, Lord Jim, our fathers were known for never letting a kindness go unreturned and they took fierce pride in keeping the good book balanced.

The thing that really gets me about it all is that these sisters, in asking our help are merely asking that we help them in order for them to have a chance to do more for more of us, for less than anyone else can do it.

County Singing Sunday, July 15

The regular Collingsworth County Third Sunday singing will meet Sunday, July 15, in the Missionary Baptist Church at the corner of 10th and Arlington Streets in Wellington, W. S. Brewer, president, announced this week.

New books issued recently will be used, Mr. Brewer said. A cordial invitation is extended to everyone to attend.

They are not striking for higher wages, demanding 15 or 20 cents an hour more for themselves and fewer working hours. They are asking our help only that they may do more work and better work, not for themselves but for your children and my children, for you and me.

If we cannot see this, or in seeing it we are not moved to act, God have mercy upon us, because we are even blinder than those who crucified Christ. Then, he suffered for us, this time we will be nailing ourselves to a cross, a humanity that has very few Christs among it.

Use the Green Tag Method

COLLEGE STATION — Texas cotton farmers are urged to market their 1951 cotton crop by the green tag method. According to John L. McCollum, manager, PMA's southwest area cotton branch, U. S. D. A. Dallas the green tag signifies that the bale has been classed by U. S. D. A. cotton classifiers and the tag carries the grade and staple length for the bale.

ment of cotton, adopting a variety, filing an application, arranging for sampling and meeting other requirements.

In addition to the official classification, farmers will also receive free the market news service, which shows current prices at nearby markets. By checking the grade and staple length on the green tag against the price for the same kind of cotton listed on the market news sheet, the approximate price of each bale can be determined, points out McCollum.

Information may be obtained from your local county agricultural agent on the Smith-Doxey classification service.

DIDACTICS

—By Deskins Wells

That amazing, astounding J. B. Linn — Uncle Jay of KGNC to you. He has started singing on the radio at six o'clock in the morning. There ought to be a law to prevent anyone from even getting out of bed before six o'clock in the morning. Furthermore he runs all over the Panhandle, parts of New Mexico and Kansas making speeches, judging beauty contests, riding in rodeos and staying up until 1 and 2 o'clock in the morning. I can understand the staying up; because I have been pretty good at that all my life, but this thing of staying up until all hours and then getting up before dawn makes me tired. It is not natural. It can't be done. As the country boy said when he saw a giraffe for the first time—there ain't no such animal.

How do I know Uncle Jay was singing on the radio at six o'clock in the morning? Oh, that is a horse of a different color. Virginia Robey and Dorothy Robertson have been out of the office for some weeks, and I have been demonstrating to the rest of the hands how easy it is to get out a paper if you will work fast enough at the right time.

When the daughter starts figuring on how to save her boy friend's money, it is time for the fond father to realize that the situation is serious.

Most of the rest of this column will just have to write itself from correspondence: Here is a letter from Robert Lucas of 1754 Buffington St., Pomona, Calif.:

Notice that some of the Texas Democrats have started to get wise to Truman. Am surprised to think that it has taken so long for that to happen. Of course the trouble originated back with F. D. R. Fortunately I can say that no member of my family, including my Dad ever voted for him either. Trust that in 1952 when he, Truman that is, is the Democratic Nominee, the people of not only Texas but all other States as well will cast him aside for the good of the country.

Am wondering how the crops are coming along there. I had intended to get back there this summer but due to my wife's bad health, am unable to come back at this time.

Also, would like to see more oil news in your fine paper. Understand they have started several wells there but have not seen anything to indicate what finally happened.

With best wishes.

Note to Robert: The crops are wonderful. There has been no oil news in the paper of late because there has been none that was fit to publish.

Here is a note and a clipping from June Wischkaemper. She says: "This was taken from 'Letters to the Editors' in 'The Saturday Evening Post,' July 7, 1951.

"Are you the residents going to stand for this misrepresentation of your proud city?" The clipping follows:

In the May 26 Saturday Evening Post, in the article WE NEED MORE DOCTORS (by Franklin D. Murphy, M. D., as told to Steven M. Spencer) there is one statement that is grossly incorrect and should be corrected. The article says "many towns of 200 or 300 population could boast three or four physicians. Wellington, Ohio, population at that time eighty-seven) had five for example."

I do not know where the writer got his fantastic figures on Wellington, but they are absurd. The Census figures for the year 1890 give Wellington 2069 population; for 1900 population 2094 and for 1910 population 2131. In 1910 there were three practicing physicians in that place.

L. H. Trufant, M. D. Oberlin, Ohio
● Reader Trufant's spirited defense of Wellington, Ohio, is entirely justified. The town described in the article should have been identified as Wellington, Texas.—ED.

The protest of Dr. Trufant was based on a paragraph in the May 26 issue of the same magazine. It follows:

It is perfectly true that doctors were relatively more numerous around the turn of the century than they are today. The United States average, in 1909, was one doctor for every 568 persons, as compared with one for every 760 in 1949. In the cities there was frequently a doctor for every 400 people or less, and many towns of 200 or 300 population could boast three or four physicians. Wellington, Ohio, (population at that time eighty-seven) had five, for example. One can hardly blame members of the older generation for wondering, as they recall that period, why we can't easily return to that high doctor-patient ratio.

Well, June, we do intend to protest this misrepresentation; but if that does not do any good I guess that we will just have to stand for it. I can't see that everybody in Wellington cutting off their subscription and their advertising would hurt the "Post" very much.

The facts happen to be that Wellington, Texas, did have five doctors; but we also had a population of about 500 in 1909. The actual figures for 1910 show a population of 576.

"The History of Collingsworth County" which I wrote in 1925 discloses that there were 36 firms advertising in The Wellington Leader at that time. How many were here and were not advertising is not disclosed. There were over 300 students in the Wellington school system at that time and they had eight teachers, according to R. F. Curry. Wow. That is a lot of business firms and a lot of students for a town that had 87 inhabitants. I don't believe that the worthy Mormons of Utah could have been any more prolific and more full of enterprise than that.

Perhaps the editors of the "Post" ought to brush up on the

W. C. Pratt, OPS Specialist, To Visit City

The OPS price specialist from the district office who comes to Wellington next Tuesday afternoon, July 17th, will take the information and assistance needed right into the office of the business men asking for it.

While here, W. C. Pratt, price specialist in the Industrial Mat'l. & Mfg'd. Products branch, will maintain offices in the Chamber of Commerce, second floor of the court house; but will also be available for appointments.

Businessmen of this area who need help in complying with OPS pricing regulations are asked to call the OPS representative by telephone to arrange for an appointment at their place of business, if they desire. The price specialist will also conduct interviews in his temporary office.

"The Lubbock district OPS office," said Price Executive C. J. Taylor, "is using this method in an effort to bring about as nearly complete voluntary compliance with the government's price stabilization program as possible, as the agency cooperates with the business and general public in the overall national defense program. Merchants are urged to take advantage of this offer to bring their firms into conformance with the law."

injuries suffered by farm people. It is the most hazardous work in the United States today. Farm Safety Week should be observed by everybody.

And Frank Hoffman of Dozier sends in the following clipping from the fifteen years ago column of The Dallas Morning News:

The Wellington Leader won the Dallas News' trophy as being the best all-round weekly newspaper for the year in Texas. My! Has it been that long? It seems like only a few months ago when Jimmie Gilentine and Herschel Combs and I were sweating over the papers of that year. Why, my daughter Diane was only four years old then.

A. W. Upchurch has an interest in two fishing boats and tourist court at Port Isabel. He says the fishing is wonderful. It is about time for the red snappers to be biting at their best and there are other fish such as king mackerel, barracuda, tarpon and 57 varieties of codfish. The real tasty fish such as red snapper and codfish can be put in ice and shipped home. There is also a modern tourist court where two people can stay for $5 a night in a modern room with cooking facilities. Bathing in a covered pool filled with sea water is also provided and trips to a magnificent beach on a nearby island can be arranged. Sounds wonderful. The name of the boats are Harbor Light 1 and Harbor Light 2 and of course the name of the courts happen to be Harbor Light Courts.

Once old Uppy sent me some fresh salmon from the northwest, and I like to return a favor. He is gradually getting out of the radio business and going into the fishing business.

The week of July 22 to July 28 will be Farm Safety Week. Farm hazards have increased tremendously in the past ten years. Each year there are 18,000 deaths and over a million and a half disabling

From Congressman WALTER ROGERS

Many people are wondering when the Congress will recess. From the present outlook it is difficult to see how we could recess prior to September and the chances are that it will not be before sometime in October. There was some talk on the House Floor about a short recess the first week of July, and the 4th came on Wednesday. However the House stayed in continuous session all week, including the 4th of July. The session on the Fourth was devoted to a reading of the Declaration of Independence and paying tribute to those great patriots who were responsible for this great forward step in the freedom of man. Representative John Rankin of Mississippi suggested on the Floor that the Congress should re-adopt the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution and that the country should get back to the principles therein voiced. One Washington columnist wrote at length about the statement. In doing so he made especial mention about the "equality of man" and criticized Mr. Rankin, insinuating that Mr. Rankin is a "white supremacy" advocate. The columnist's remarks brought to my mind a transaction that took place on the Floor the other day concerning an all-negro veterans' hospital. The Veterans' Affairs Committee, of which Mr. Rankin is Chairman, had approved a bill creating an all-negro veterans' hospital at a cost of five million dollars to meet the needs of Negro veterans that were not being adequately cared for. The hospital was to be staffed by Negro doctors and Negro nurses. When this bill came to the Floor it was openly attacked by the two Negro congressmen on the grounds of racial segregation. These two Negro congressmen were joined by a group of ultra-liberal Democrats, ultra-liberal Republicans and a majority of the old line Republicans from the North and East. The bill was supported by a block of Southern and Southwestern Jeffersonian Democrats. The coalition of old line Republicans from the North and East, the ultra-liberal Democrats and the ultra-liberal Republicans and the two Negro congressmen was sufficient to defeat the bill. It was openly admitted by all that there was a great need for the hospital and that the Negro veterans were in sad circumstances unless adequate facilities could be supplied. It was argued, however, by the coalition on both sides of the Aisle that if the use of the hospital was to be limited to Negro patients and Negro doctors and nurses, it would be a segregated hospital and that they did not want it under those circumstances. The race issue flared openly on the Floor and was without doubt the sole reason that the bill was defeated. I tell you people this so that you may have some idea of what could happen if the FEPC and the Civil Rights legislation should ever reach the Floor of the House. Frankly, the Republicans would be afraid to vote against the FEPC and the civil rights legislation for political reasons, and don't let yourself think otherwise. If that type of legislation is to be stopped, it will be stopped by Southern and Southwestern Jeffersonian Democrats.

STATE DEPARTMENT: The fight for a complete cleansing of the State Department is continuing and is getting results, but it is not proceeding fast enough to suit me. Over a year ago I told the people that I thought Mr. Acheson should resign. I have not changed that position nor my opinion. We hope that within the next several weeks Congress will have an opportunity to speed up this cleansing process when the bills on appropriations and other matters concerning the State Department are brought to the Floor.

DEFENSE PRODUCTION ACT: We have received much mail concerning controls and inflation. The big question is "What is the proper procedure to curtail inflation?" If economic controls are the answer, my position is that these should be on a temporary basis, should be fair and equitable to all, and should remain under the constant control and vigilance of Congress. The controls themselves are not the great danger if they are handed in the above manner. The great danger in controls is the administration of the controls, and I am not willing to place the economy of this country in the hands of a few egotistical bureaucrats with the power to discriminate and to indulge in decisions based upon bias and prejudice. We are at present in general debate on the Defense Production Act and will begin the discussion of amendments next week. It is my opinion that if a defense production act is passed, it will retain in the Congress the powers that have heretofore been delegated to bureaucrats. Unless this is done, we would be better off without controls.

THE HOUSE FLOOR: I had my first experience at changing a vote last week. The vote was being taken on whether or not the House should consider a resolution concerning the continued payment of Government expenses between July 1st and July 31st, while the various appropriations bills are being debated and voted upon. A move was started on the House Floor to cut out the funds necessary for General Dwight D. Eisenhower to continue to operate. Had such a move been successful, General Eisenhower's hands would have been tied and all of the work he has done so far would have been lost. I openly opposed such a move. At the time the procedural matter was being voted upon I was called to the long-distance telephone and when I returned to the Floor, it was my understanding that the move had been successful and that General Eisenhower had been tied hand and foot. Therefore when my name was called, I voted against the motion to consider the resolution. Immediately thereafter I was approached by several of the Texas congressmen, as well as several other Southern Democrats, and advised that such was not the case. I obtained a copy of the resolution and satisfied myself that such move had not been successful. I then changed my vote from "nay" to "yea." This is the only vote that I have changed since I have been in Congress and had it not been for the long-distance telephone call, I would not have had the misunderstanding.

TAXES: The increase in Federal taxes was for defense purposes. Had this not been the case, the tax bill could not have passed. If this country is going to sustain a standing army and provide proper equipment, supplies and materials, it is going to cost money. I have a large number of letters in my office from men who are in the service. They are complaining about the pay situation with which they are faced. Their allotments are not sufficient to take care of their wives and children and many of these boys are sending home the small amount that they are able to retain out of their pay. These boys do not get paid on an hourly basis and they don't get paid time and a half for overtime. They are rendering a great service to mankind and humanity and it would be unfair and dishonest to acquire their dependents to live in poverty and squalor while these boys are serving their country. It would be criminal for the civilian population of this country to fail to provide these boys with the necessary guns, ammunition, food, material, supplies, clothing, etc., while they are a part of the force that will be the deciding factor in our ultimate protection.

Checked Your Fire Insurance Coverage Recently?

COLLEGE STATION — It's too late to check or increase the amount of fire or other insurance on farm buildings after a disaster has struck. And according to C. H. Bates, extension farm management specialist of Texas A. & M. College, it is quite common to find "under-insured" farm properties in Texas.

Building costs have risen steadily during the past few years, and unless insurance policies are changed in keeping with the costs, the actual protection becomes lower and lower. To off-set these increases, Bates suggests that farmers check their policies now to make sure that the insurance coverage on all farm buildings is adequate.

He illustrates with what happened a few weeks ago to a farmer in north Texas. This farmer lost by fire a dairy barn, machinery shed and grain bins. These buildings had a total un depreciated value of $3,380. The complete settlement from his insurance amounted to $1,040 — a difference of $2,340 between the cash settlement and the inventory values which were only a fraction of the total replacement costs under present conditions.

This farmer through careful planning can replace each $1,000 of 1939 building values by spending now about $2,380. Chances are that he may feel so "cramped" for funds that the replacements will be inferior to the buildings lost. He must have the replacements to stay in business and he needs them now.

Such an experience can be disastrous to a family just getting started in farming and can cause even the well-established farm family to under go many privations. Bates, therefore, urges farmers to review their insurance needs in the light of present day building costs and make the needed adjustments.

Parathion Highly Poisonous to Man

Recently a new insecticide highly poisonous not only for insects but also for man and animals has become available commercially, said Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer. It is known under the trade name of "Parathion" and has proven quite effective for certain agricultural uses.

Because of its extremely high toxicity it would be desirable if its use could be restricted to a few individuals who could make a business of applying it and educate and equip themselves so as to insure the maximum of safety. In Texas and a number of other states, however, there are no laws making such restricted use possible. Therefore, a brief statement of warning is being offered.

"Parathion in the pure state is a brownish liquid with a high boiling point and a peculiar odor. It mixes but slightly with water, but is completely soluble in alcohol, acetone and certain other similar solvents. Under factory conditions it is usually mixed with a powder such as talc or bentonite as a carrier and appears on the market as a powder which has absorbed the parathion.

"Its toxic effect may result from breathing the dust, as a result of swallowing contaminated substances, or by absorption through the skin. The latter may be indirect absorption such as from contaminated clothing.

Safe use is dependent on the use of precautionary measures so as to prevent contact. The user should seriously study and observe these precautions. The user should also be alert for symptoms of poisoning so that a physician may be in attendance without delay should he be needed. Atropine, a potent medicine, has been mentioned as an antidote. It should be borne in mind that this is another poison, only be used under competent medical direction.

AUSTIN, June 28 (AP) — Gov. Allan Shivers signed tonight a giant appropriations bill, a drivers financial responsibility bill, a labor control bill, and rushed to complete action on numerous others before midnight deadline.

While signing of the appropriations bill was vitally important to the state, the governor's endorsement of the driver's financial responsibility bill was apt to make a deeper impression on the average citizen.

The drivers financial responsibility law, effective Jan. 1, 1952, requires owners and drivers of motor vehicles to prove ability to pay up to $15,000 for bodily injury or property damage in case of accident.

SFAB Win Over Dukes in Double Header July 4

SFAB, the Sheppard Air Force Base team of Wichita Falls, won a double header baseball game over the Dukes of Wellington July 4.

In the afternoon game SFAB won 5-0 in a shut out.

Doc Pittman from Memphis pitched the afternoon game for the Dukes allowing 8 hits and 5 runs. Mickey Henrich was in the catchers position.

Neeley, Ed Bonneau, Ted O'Neil, and Doc Pittman each got singles which were the only hits gained by Wellington against Smith, the SFAB pitcher. Smith faced only 30 batters which is three over the minimum of 27 batters that a pitcher must face in a ball game.

In the night game SFAB copied a 9 to 7 victory over the Dukes in another errorless game for the SFAB team.

Rippetoe and Tabors shared the pitching honors, Tabors giving only 2 hits and 5 runs and Rippetoe giving up 6 hits and 4 runs.

Leslie pitched for the Sheppard Field team the first 7 innings, giving up 7 hits and 7 runs with Mason Diambi coming in in the 8th inning, giving up 2 hits and no runs.

"Stick" McAlister, who has the best batting average on the Dukes team hit 4 singles for 5 times at bat.

An interesting note to the game was the fact that Jim Bawcom, Duke third baseman, and Smith, Sheppard field pitcher, played semi-pro ball together in California before Smith entered the armed forces. Also the only player on the team from Texas was Wilkerson who played the second base position.

All the SFAB players except three were former professionals who played Grade B ball.

Dukes Whip Orioles, 19-6

The league leading Wellington Dukes smothered the crippled Childress Orioles there Sunday afternoon, pounding out a 19-6 victory.

Kenneth Rippetoe went the distance for the Dukes, hurling effective ball all the way, allowing seven scattered hits and walking only three. He retired six by strikeouts.

Perry Morren and Ronald Jordan divided pitching chores for the Orioles, giving up 18 hits. Support on the defense was spotty, as the Orioles committed 10 miscues afield.

The errors contributed heavily toward the disaster.

Ice Freshens Sun-Wilted Complexion

BY EDNA MILES

THE rose-garden variety of American Beauty is not the only kind that tends to wilt in the summer sun. Most women find their loveliness skidding downward during the season of heat and humidity.

One way of retaining that fresh-as-a-daisy look during the hot months is to stimulate your face with an ice treatment before applying your make-up.

A cube from your refrigerator is an excellent beauty aid, provided you remember never to rub the ice directly upon your unprotected skin. A thin wrapper of absorbent cotton prevents too-quick melting of ice and picks up lingering traces of dirt in addition to safeguarding delicate tissues from excessive cold.

With quick, firm strokes, whisk the wrapped cube over the entire surface of your face and neck—until your complexion assumes a rosy glow. Complete this treatment by patting on a bit of your favorite astringent.

It's a good idea to schedule enough beauty time to allow a 10-minute lapse between this routine and the application of make-up.

Preparedness Must Be Watchword

American public officials at home and abroad took the occasion of Independence Day to warn that, while an incident might be ending in Korea, preparedness must be the watchword as long as any country threatens world peace.

Mobilization Director Charles E. Wilson said that "whether the men of the United Nations are engaged in combat or standing on a truce line makes no fundamental change in the need..." Millard Caldwell federal civil defense administrator, said the nation "must adopt the new perspective of the long pull of preparedness against possible attack."

Admiral Forrest P. Sherman, chief of naval operations, said the military manpower goal of 3,500,000 was set before Korea, and "every bit of it" will be needed.

Truman, Acheson and others have been saying the same all along. American officialdom has launched a big new campaign in an effort to avoid what it feared might be the most disastrous result of an end of fighting in Korea—a let-down in the determination of the American public to be prepared to meet aggression whenever and wherever it may occur.

Britain already was having trouble along this line. Emanuel Shinwell, minister of defense whose leftist tendencies had made him an object of American worry every since his appointment, said that after the truce matter came up that "at the slightest sign we should be only too glad to curtail our (rearmament) activities and return to the arts of peace." Minister of Materials Stokes, appealing like Shinwell in political fashion to British desire for peace, had said that it looked as though the defense program was not going to be so immediately necessary as it was a few days ago.

These men, yielding to the politician's desire to say what people wish to hear, yielding to the traditional socialist tendency toward pacifism, were leading Britain into the very frame of mind which American officials on their part, were seeking to avoid.

There's A Point To This Fable

Congratulations on behalf of the Brownfield News to all you Terry County High School graduates. You've probably got enough of that "road that lies ahead," "meet the challenge," etc. type of stuff by now to last you a lifetime.

So if you don't mind we want to repeat one of Aesop's fables for your benefit.

Long ago, the mice held a general council to consider what measures they could take to outwit their common enemy, the cat. Some said this, and some said that, but at last a young mouse got up and said he had a proposal to make which he thought would meet the case. "You will all agree," said he, "that our chief danger consists in the sly and treacherous manner in which the enemy approaches. Now, if we could receive some signal of her approach, we could easily escape from her. I venture, therefore, to propose that a small bell be procured, and attached by a ribbon round the neck of the cat. By this means we should always know when she was about, and could easily retire while she was in the neighborhood."

This proposal met with general applause, until an old mouse got up and said, "That is all very well, but who is to bell the cat?"

The mice looked at one another and nobody spoke. Then the old mouse said, "It is easy to propose impossible remedies."

Right-wing British papers took them to task on Tuesday.

"The minister made pronouncements of high policy on the flimsiest grounds. This is irresponsibility run mad," said the Mail.

"The ministers seem ready to make the disastrous mistake of relaxing defense efforts on the strength of a success on the tiny Korean sector of a worldwide front," said the Telegraph, adding:

"The government is committed to resisting Soviet imperialism. But the Socialist Party remains incurably addicted to shying at the logical consequences."

This was something of an overstatement. The revived Socialist international, in which the British Labor Party is playing an important role, has just adopted a resolution advocating continued rearmament as necessary under the circumstances.

And Prime Minister Attlee has been quick to reiterate the government's adherence to Britain's quickened defense program. But he equivocated all over the lot in an effort not to repudiate his associates, which will doubtless contribute to an indecision among the British people.

This time, at least, American officials have been far better prepared for a situation which requires delicacy of approach and firmness of intent than have their British counterparts—Wichita Falls Record News.

Directionally

Recently printed in something called Dr. Hess Barnyard Gravure was a sketch of a pig with its tail curled to the left. The publication asked readers whether that was the right direction. Scores of replies came in. A third said the pig's tail curled to the right, or clockwise. Fifty-five per cent said it went either way—which is correct. Only 13 per cent said it turned anticlockwise.

It appears that the leftists are losing out—Dallas News.

The Buck Creek Philosopher

Editor's note. The Buck Creek Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Buck Creek is unnecessarily worried, his letter this week reveals.

Dear editor:

I noticed in a copy of the Amarillo News which one of our neighbors sent my wife some vegetables in, ain't nothin better than a neighbor with a good garden and a subscription to a newspaper, that the experts have been studyin the census figures and have come up with the information that half the people in Texas now live in big cities.

Accordin to the figures, for example, 800,000 people live in the Houston metropolitan area, which Houston defines as an area containin 1,747 square miles. As I figure it, 1,747 square miles is a place at least 40 miles square, and if it's oblong it could be 20 miles wide and 85 miles long, and I'm here to tell you if I was 40 miles or 85 miles from the Houston post office I'd have a hard time describin myself as livin in Houston. Believe I could find a post office a heap closer than that in some nearby town.

The same thing is true of Dallas, San Antonio, Fort Worth, etc. Why Laredo even claims 3,295 sq. miles, which is a spot over 50 miles in one direction and 60 miles in another, and if you left the city hall in Laredo and drove miles I don't know where you'd be but you wouldn't be in Laredo and if you went one direction you wouldn't even be in the United States. In fact, all these cities claim such a big metropolitan area it ain't no trick at all to make a city man out of a country man by an act of the city council, on the theory that if you can't get the man out of the country you can throw some city limits around him and bring him and his farm in too.

Now I don't suppose there's any move on to take me inside any city limits, I know it's the duty of every town to grow, why I ain't never figured out, you can see what a mess the country's be in if every farmer had as his aim to expand a few miles in every direction, but if there is I would like to go on record as sayin it won't work. Not by any stretch of the imagination can I visualize this farm as a city, it won't even support me, not to mention fifty other families livin fifteen feet apart.

I'll admit a lot of people have turned up in cities in recent years, but most of them got there just by sittin still and gettin taken in. Any city can grow, just like any woman can get married, if they can find some land or some man to slip up on. The census figures may look like Texas has become citified, but as far as I can tell the country boys are still mighty numerous.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

Music, Christianity's 'Rock of Ages'

"You must come down to our church and hear the choir!"

This remark evidences the important part that music plays in Christianity, which, like Judaism, is a singing religion.

Organ music, too, provides the churchgoer with a spiritual revelation beyond the reach of the spoken or written word. Certain religious pieces written for the organ by Gounod, DeKoven, Malotte, Bach and Handel, to name but a few, sound the most stirring depths of love and grace.

And in hymns the Christian finds further expressions of those personal and significant spiritual experiences deep-seated in the soul. Charles Wesley's "Love Divine, All Loves Excelling," and Newman's "Lead, Kindly Light," provide a richly satisfying musical communion with God.

Some widely-sung hymns are little more than the rhythmic expression of very limited doctrines, and of doubtful validity in the all-encompassing range of Christian truth.

At the opposite pole are the hymns and songs of shallow sentiment, with no depth of sincerity, jingles that have no relation to great doctrines and truth.

Truly uplifting music has long been Christianity's "Rock of Ages."

The Folly of Containment

By EUGENE LYON

The Kremlin acts, America reacts. This has been the substance of American foreign policy vis-a-vis Soviet Russia since we have reluctantly acknowledged the existence of a cold war.

Moscow provokes a civil war in Greece — we improvise a Truman Doctrine by way of answer. Moscow blockades Berlin — we respond with a spectacular airlift. Moscow unlooses an invasion of South Korea — we throw in our major military strength to check the aggression.

In short, Stalin starts fires at will and this country rushes fire brigades to the scene, now on one side of the globe, now on the other. One conflagration having been brought under temporary control, we wait in panic anxiety for the next outbreak at some time and place of the Kremlin's choosing. This bizarre American behavior apparently rests on the theory that the way to deal with a pyromaniac is to create a huge and highly mobile fire department.

As American policy it could scarcely be more to Stalin's taste if he had prescribed it personally. For it amounts to a guarantee that the Soviets will retain the initiative; that they can keep us so busy putting out local fires that we will have neither the time nor the resources for dealing effectively with the incendiary. The cost to the Kremlin is negligible: a couple of guards to block the roads into Berlin, Balkan guerrillas, North Korean and Chinese troops, as the case may be. The cost to us is exorbitant, in American blood and substance.

This frustrating, humiliating, indecisive procedure used to be dignified with a grandiose title: The Doctrine of Containment. People like George Kennan and Barbara Ward were its theorists, Dean Acheson and General Marshall its implementers. Since Korea, however, the title is not often mentioned. It is so obviously futile and shabby that our statesmen have become rather embarrassed about it. A Life editorial

(June 18) even announced rashly that the policy is "dead."

But though the name is soft-pedaled, the reality remains. The determination to contain the Korean episode within Korea, by ruling out obvious counter-measures against Communist China, is proof enough. Certainly the mood of containment — purely defensive conduct, a trembling avoidance of the risks of taking the initiative anywhere — still prevails.

And as long as this is the case, the Politburo can relax, knowing there can be no blows directed against its own survival. In fact, the more individual actions of containment Stalin manages to impose upon us, the more scattered they are geographically, the better the picture becomes from his standpoint. Without staking his own major forces, without involving risks for his own sphere of dominion, he creates a permanent emergency for us.

Economically, as we are already well aware, containment siphons off our vitality on an ever larger scale. Strategically — and of this most Americans are still unaware — containment obliges us to build up all conceivable types of military forces, to subsidize all kinds of allies, so that we may be prepared for flareups in an almost infinite number and variety of theatres.

Since even opulent America does not have inexhaustible resources and productive capacity, and a positive dearth of man-power, this means that we are precluded from concentrating on the military force best suited for action against the instigator of all the miscellaneous mischief. Greece yesterday, Korea today, Iran tomorrow, are for the Kremlin a species of insurance against the development of the kind and amount of American force that would be essential for a showdown contest.

Containment, to put the matter another way, commits the United States and its associates to dealing with symptoms while ignoring causes. It commits us to fighting and winning battles rather than winning the war. In the measure that it diverts our wealth and energies and technology to isolated, scattered and indecisive enterprises, it squanders strength that might otherwise be husbanded from the main job.

Supposing containment is "successful" — what can we hope to get for our huge investment? At best what Secretary Acheson in earnest and Joe Stalin with tongue in cheek have called "co-existence" of the Soviet and non-Soviet worlds; an uneasy equilibrium for as long as Moscow is willing to desist from upsetting it again. The very aim of containment, as one of its advocates frankly put it, "is not to drive the enemy to defeat but to secure a settlement from him."

As national policy this is a good deal lower than appeasement in the scale of futility. Its purpose, indeed, is to bring about a condition of relatively balanced strength to induce the Soviets to accept appeasement. In effect we are fighting and dying and spending for the great privilege of appeasing the enemy.

Again Korea offers the most dismal exemplification. What is the extreme hold held out by the Administration as the casualty lists pile up? That if we repulse enough offensives, if we kill enough Chinese, Mao Tse-tung and his puppetmaster in Moscow may be brought to the point of a cease-fire and negotiations to restore the status quo ante. Rarely in history has a great nation been content to sacrifice its young manhood for so empty and wretched a goal.

There will be no hope for a relatively free and stable world until we seize the initiative in full consciousness of the risks involved — until we give up the hopeless attempt to contain world communism and apply ourselves frankly, fully, decisively to the job of weakening and ultimately defeating world communism.

Looking Ahead With George S. Benson

THE AA'S DISCOVERY

The Little Rock chapter of that unique nationwide brotherhood called "Alcoholics Anonymous" has discovered some interesting things about security. Any one of the approximately 1,000 chronic alcoholics who have recovered through association and work with the chapter will tell you that security is a state of mind. Each has found that material riches alone do not bring happiness or security.

There are some lessons for everyone in the experiences of these alcoholics who have pieced together and brought back to useful service in society so many blasted lives. In the entire nation an estimated 500,000 alcoholic recoveries have been achieved through the AA program. Most had been considered "hopeless cases" by their doctors, families and friends. An acquaintance of mine was one of three men — all alcoholics — who established AA in Little Rock in 1940. The facts in this column were obtained from him.

JOB CAME FIRST

The Little Rock AA's discovered early that an alcoholic prized a job above all else even though he couldn't hold a job long. He clung to this imagined haven of economic security as if it were his whole world; and yet all that it gave him was money to buy alcohol to further his own destruction through periodic sprees or prolonged day-after-day drinking. The Little Rock AA's made a rule 10 years ago which prevented a man working while going through his two-weeks basic program. He had to get a leave-of-absence or resign.

"You should have seen some of these people," said my AA acquaintance, "when we told them, after getting them sober, that they'd have to quit work for two weeks. Their jaws would drop. They'd speak of their children who had to be fed; of their debtors who were crowding them; of their rent overdue and of a hundred other reasons — some plausible — why they shouldn't quit work. When we insisted, many balked and broke contact with AA."

LEARNED BETTER

"Well, these people who once felt that money was so important today make up about a fourth of our Little Rock group. But they had to go back to their jobs and get fired because of alcoholism before returning to AA with a dawned understanding of what was, for them, the more important things. As long as they put job or money or anything else in the world first, we couldn't make them understand the importance of recovery, and thus accept into their life the guidance and influence and strength of a 'higher power.'"

"Once in AA, their understanding grew, they developed humility and a reliance on the 'higher power,' and began to find serenity, which is, to we people in AA, the only kind of security that means anything."

ANOTHER LESSON

The AA's learned a significant lesson too in the realm of handouts and benefits. "At first," my acquaintance related, "we underwrote the livelihood of our down-and-out AA neophytes. We handed them pocket money, paid for their lodging and meals and laundry. But we found that in doing this we were letting our hearts run away with our heads. It didn't work. For their own sakes we cut out babying these people. We'd checked up and found that only one or two out of about 50 to whom we'd given the handouts came through the program successfully. That, and subsequent experience, proved to us that from the very beginning we had to teach these people to stand on their own feet. As a matter of fact, one of the fundamental causes of their alcoholism was that they'd been petted and spoiled — in many cases made chronically dependent by over-indulgent parents."

These experiences of the AA's would seem to give further proof to two basic truths of life: (1) In the pursuit of happiness and the development of peace-of-mind, man's spiritual growth is of paramount importance; (2) unearned handouts are habit-forming and weaken man's normal characteristics. Thus the political philosophy which makes its appeal through handouts, of the promise of cradle-to-grave security without consideration of individual effort, would tear down rather than build up the human race, and would ultimately destroy the happiness that is in store for all on earth who will make the necessary effort to earn it.

More Thoroughly Safeguarded Than Ever
WILDLIFE FURNISHES FUN, FOOD AND INCOME TO TEXAS FARMERS

COLLEGE STATION—Wildlife furnishes not only recreation and food for a considerable number of the people of Texas, but also an income of more than $2,000,000 yearly to landowners for hunting and fishing leases, while the pelts taken by hunters and trappers of furbearers amounts several millions more. The wildlife population of the land is perhaps more thoroughly safeguarded and more widely distributed today than at any time in recent years. In 1950, for example, 996 deer, 160 antelope and 557 other wild species were shifted for restocking game preserves in other adapted areas. Inland fish resources stem from about 150,000 ponds on farms, 1,849 lakes of five acres or larger with a combined water area of 362,000 acres, and 2,000 miles of fresh water streams.

Preservation and propagation of species of animal and bird life in Texas is attributable in substantial measure to the demonstrations in conservation which the A. & M. College Extension Service has sponsored in cooperation with land owners for the past decade and a half.

The Extension program is headed by R. E. Callender, wildlife conservation specialist, working as an assistant-at-large to county Extension agents who deal directly with the people. In this capacity Callender prepares subject matter for use in the field and assists Extension district agents with plans for demonstrations in their districts. In addition, he cooperates with Federal, State and local organizations concerned directly, or in association with phases of wildlife.

Selections from achievements in 1950 reported by county agricultural agents reveal substantial to excellent wildlife programs in 212 counties; 13,500 persons cooperated in 2,089 demonstration areas representing 14,631,000 acres, and 37,000 protective signs or markers were posted on property of cooperating land owners. The Extension specialist estimates that since the Extension program was commenced 14 years ago, more than 125,000 such markers have been erected at a cost of about $73,000 to cooperators. Other, but related, activities included 9,761 farmers assisted with specific improvements for wildlife; 18,407 farm ponds constructed by cooperators; 6,233 farm ponds stocked with fish; and more than 38,000 predatory species trapped or destroyed by other means during the year.

A wildlife conservation demonstration program for members of 4-H clubs, with 11,034 enrolled, was conducted by the Extension specialist in association with county agricultural agents parallel with that for adults. In the course of this work 13 county wide 4-H club conservation camps were held and 298 communities were represented at county, district, or state camps. A total of 3,800 4-H members received training in marksmanship and these youths accounted for 6,594 predators by different means in 1950. In the same period, 1,002 club members produced 28,657 rabbits for meat or breeding, while over the state 124 community cooperative game management associations were active.

The variety of Texas' wildlife is diverse and several species are plentiful. The Extension specialist lists 32 game and fur bearing animals extant, and 11 species of native and migratory fowls and birds. But some animals have dwindled to mere traces. Bighorn sheep, for example, are found sparingly in two Texas counties; black bears in three, and ocelot in a like number.

The specialist emphasizes that while protection is needed at all times, it is not self-sufficient. Wildlife population is largely dependent upon available food and shelter and closed seasons mean little where food and cover are lacking. The harvesting of game as a crop is encouraged and such

Make Use of The Home Freezer

COLLEGE STATION—Leave room in your home freezer for plenty of fruits and vegetables, says Maona Cox, foods and nutrition specialist for the Agricultural Extension Service of Texas A. & M. College. The nutritive value and flavor of frozen foods are nearer that of the fresh product than any other means of preservation, the specialist adds.

Miss Cox suggests 5 steps to successful freezing of foods: first start with good quality product. Freezing does not improve quality, just conserves it, so select fruits and vegetables of good variety and harvest at the right stage of maturity.

The second step is careful preparation and speed. Prompt handling, chilling and freezing helps retain quality.

The third step is select containers which are moisture and vapor-proof to keep the product from losing flavor, color, food value, and changing in texture.

Then, freeze quickly at the right temperature. Home freezers are designed primarily for storing foods, but you can freeze small quantities of vegetables and fruit by placing the package against the bottom or sides of the freezing chamber with space left around them, for air circulation.

The last step in successful freezing of fruits and vegetables is to store them at zero degrees F. If the temperature rises, the food changes in color, flavor, and loses food value.

is preferable to long-time closed seasons except when seed stock is at stake or a species is approaching extinction.

For these five steps, detailed tables and directions for different fruits and vegetables, get a copy of the bulletin B-175 "Frozen Foods, How to Freeze, How to Cook," from your county extension agent's office.

Neuritis is a painful inflammation of a nerve, with impairment of power and sensation to the parts supplied by the nerve. The term is most frequently employed when there is an involvement of nerves going to either arm. Sciatica is a neuritis of the sciatic nerve, one of the longest nerves in the body, extending from the small of the back down the entire length of the legs. It is extremely painful and frequently renders the patient bedridden.

Of all conditions which respond to Chiropractic, it may be said that neuritis responds most readily to adjustments. The reason is that most cases of neuritis result from a disturbance of body mechanics and displacements of spinal vertebrae creating irritation of the involved nerve.

Any sufferer from neuritis should avail himself of Chiropractic without delay.

By MRS. R. H. ISBELL

This hot weather we've been having sure is fine on the cotton crops, but mighty hard on the hoe hands. Gardens and flowers certainly look bad in the middle of the day.

Several houses are surrounded by water. Saw a small boy fishing standing in the middle of a street and two other small boys rowing a boat in their back yard. On their way back to Wellington the Isbells visited for a short while with the Buddy Poteet family near McLean.

Mrs. H. E. Bennett and Robert, wife and son of the late Rev. Bennett has moved to Silverton, Tex.; Gen. Del. She asks all her friends to write her there.

Texas Farm Income 53 Per Cent Higher

AUSTIN — Texas farm income in the first third of 1951 was 53 per cent higher than the same period last year, the University of Texas Bureau of Business Research reports.

Only cotton, cottonseed, wheat, fruit and vegetables showed a downward trend in income.

Total farm cash income, January through April, was estimated at $378,316,000. More than a third of the total came from cattle sales, 63 per cent higher than during the like period in 1950.

Other impressive gains were made by milk and milk products, up 80 per cent, and hogs, up 60 per cent.

Wool and mohair prices have more than doubled since April, 1950. Consequently, in spite of nearly equal marketings, income from those items has risen 71 per cent for mohair and much more than that for wool. The 95 per cent decline in income from wheat is reportedly a result of a poor crop and correspondingly-reduced marketings.

Texas farm products prices continued their slow but steady climb in April. The Department of Agriculture mid-April index was up three points, nearly one per cent higher than in March.

Taxes on Texas Farms Increase

COLLEGE STATION — Taxes on Texas farm and ranch real estate increased in 1950 for the fourth successive year. The average increase for the state was four percent, compared with 15 percent for 1949.

Total taxes levied averaged 26.6 cents per acre. This is about 50 percent higher than the 1936-46

QUEEN SCENE—Florida sunshine, placid water, and a graceful palm combined to make this perfect setting in St. Petersburg for lovely Elaine Warner, voted Miss Florida's West Coast. Elaine will be official hostess to queens from 48 states when they flock to St. Petersburg for a week's vacation after the Atlantic City, N. J., Miss America contest in September.

average of 18 cents per acre. A record high of 29 cents was levied in 1931.

Taxes ranged from an average of five cents per acre in the Trans-Pecos area to $3.41 in the Lower Rio Grande Valley. This variation reflects the wide differences in Texas agriculture and the intensity of governmental development, according to Robert G. Cherry and

L. P. Gabbard, Texas Agricultural Experiment Station economists, who made the 1950 tax study.

Some counties recorded slight decreases, and the rise in some counties was much higher than the state average.

Cherry and Gabbard report that school districts were responsible for most of the increase in 1950. State and county taxes generally showed no appreciable change.

In recent years schools have increased their share of the total tax bill, while the proportion from county levies has declined. In 1950 school districts accounted for 50 percent of the farm and ranch real estate taxes, counties for 29 percent, the state for 14 percent, and other districts for 7 percent.

The extension of levies to most land by the Gilmer-Aikin school laws has been a contributing factor to the growth of school taxes, report the economists.

Although assessments per acre were higher in 1950, taxes were easier to pay than in 1949. The relative rise of taxes was less than the rise of prices over 1949. The tax-price ratio declined in 1950 from 1.03 to .97, which is slightly less than the base year 1913.

The experiment station economists expect the upward trend of Texas to be halted, at least temporarily, in 1951, since 1950 was the last year in which the state will levy a property tax for general revenue purposes. However, the possible tax load has not been greatly diminished — because counties may now levy an additional 30-cent rate.

Full Silo Good Feed Insurance

COLLEGE STATION — "A full silo is good feed insurance. If pastures get short or drought strikes, silage will keep the dairy cow producing." This statement is from a new bulletin prepared by Texas A. & M. College dairy specialists.

The authors of Extension Service bulletin 186 say that silage is the cheapest, and best substitute for a good pasture.

Next to pasture, silage is the cheapest source of feed. Based on certain cost figures given in the bulletin, 100 pounds of total digestible nutrients from silage costs $1.40; from alfalfa hay, the same amount costs $3.00; and from a concentrate mix, $5.40.

One ton of silage, costing $4 or $5, is equal in feeding value to about 500 pounds of 16 percent grain mix, costing $17 or $18.

In addition to the advantages and costs of silage, this bulletin contains information on silage crops, different types of silos, harvesting silage crops, filling silos, and feeding silage.

"I got the story on 50,000 Miles-No Wear and changed to New Conoco Super Motor Oil"

says Walter James Buick Dealer Fairview, Oklahoma

"I use Conoco Super Motor Oil in my demonstrators. It gives me a better sales advantage, because of the quieter motor. I use it in my own car, too!"

"50,000 Miles-No Wear!" Proved Here:

After a punishing 50,000-mile road test, with proper drains and regular care, engines lubricated with new Conoco Super Motor Oil showed no wear of any consequence: in fact, an average of less than one one-thousandth inch on cylinders and crankshafts. AND gasoline mileage for the last 5,000 miles was actually 99.77% as good as for the first 5,000!

SCHOOL BUS OPERATOR

"Operating in all kinds of weather, with frequent starting and stopping, sure gives an oil a test all its own," says Paul F. Gadke, School Bus Operator, Stanwood, Iowa. "Conoco Super is my oil! It does the job for me in every way."

PRODUCE BUYER

"Time is the element in my business of buying and selling perishable produce," writes Hanley H. Payne, Twin Falls, Idaho. "In the 55,000 miles I have used Conoco Super, I've spent no money for repairs, and gasoline mileage has been fine!"

How to make Wise Tracks to a Beauty

How do you buy a new car?
Are you one of those people who buy on love at first sight?
Or do you check cars feature for feature, price for price—then pick the one that gives you the most for your money?
Whichever you are, we'd like to suggest that you come in and see our 1951 Buicks. It's a sure bet you'll go for the swift, smart look of a SPECIAL, SUPER or ROADMASTER—fall seriously in love with the pace and power of its bonnet-filling engine.
And it's a cinch you'll go for the room and richness of those Buick interiors—the serene smoothness of Dynaflo Drive* and all-coil springing.
But don't let your emotion be the only judge — get the practical picture too.

Note that the power that gives you such a big kick here comes from Buick's famed valve-in-head Fireball Engine — which means you get a lot of miles from each gallon of gas you buy.
Note that the silken ease you enjoy with Dynaflo* goes hand in hand with real money savings in maintenance costs.
Above all, note what a Buick's price tag includes — how much more sheer automobile you get in a Buick than the same money would buy elsewhere.
How about making tracks to our showroom right soon—checking thoroughly into the matter—and see if you don't fall in love with a smart-buy Buick?
