

Home Rule Passes, Charter Work Starts

Rockport voters passed the question on whether to frame a new charter for the city by a vote total of 251 for, and 213 against.

There were 474 ballots cast in the election held Saturday, January 20. Included were 43 absentee ballots. Some of the ballots only named commission members, accounting for the variation in total votes.

A flurry of write-in votes for various candidates was also noted, with one person receiving four votes, nine receiving two votes and 13 getting one vote each.

Fifteen candidates of the 27 running for commission were named. Those elected to the job of working on a new charter for the city, and the votes received:

Votes in the election were canvassed at the city council meeting Monday night, January 22.

The date for the administering of the oath to the commission members was set for Monday, January 29, at 6 p.m., followed by a meeting for the commission to elect a chairman, vice-chairman and secretary-treasurer.

Area Election Results Noted

In addition to the election in Rockport on home rule, two other elections of interest were held in the area Saturday.

INGLESIDE — Voters Saturday approved the concept of home rule and also gave the city council permission to sell 50 acres of a 150-acre park.

Home rule was approved by a 207-81 margin, while the land sale received a 123-60 vote approval. A total of 330 ballots were cast. Proceeds from the land sale will go for street repair and park maintenance.

ARANSAS PASS — Tommy Knight was elected to the city council Saturday, to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of J.T. Marshall.

Knight had 187 votes to lead a four-way race. Others gaining votes among the 323 ballots: L.D. King 87, Mrs. Marie Price 30, and Mrs. Eve Young 17.

Knight was sworn in at 5:30 p.m. Monday, January 22. He will serve until April 1980. Marshall resigned last year after being indicted on a federal narcotics charge.

Tax Aid Available For Some Taxpayers

The Volunteer Income Tax Assistance (VITA) service is sponsored by the Internal Revenue Service and the American Association of Retired Persons and is a community service for low-income, elderly, and non-English speaking taxpayers.

Qualified tax counselors will be available to assist with tax problems beginning February 1, 1979 through April 15, 1979, from 10:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. at the Rockport Public Library on Church Street.

Mrs. Velma Ramsey, local Tax Aid Coordinator, states they will have on hand or can procure almost any forms required in preparing your returns. This is a free service.

Flood Elevation Changes Due For Rockport Area

Changes will be made in base flood elevations for the city of Rockport. On February 23, 1978 at 43 FR 6074, the Federal Insurance Administrator published a list of communities with special flood hazard areas. The list included flood insurance rate maps for portions of the city of Rockport.

The Federal Insurance Administrator, Department of Housing and Urban Development, has determined that a modification of the elevations of the flood having a one per cent chance of occurring in any given year (base flood) for certain locations in Rockport is appropriate.

The new elevations amend the FIA flood insurance rate map for the community, with changes made pursuant to the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973. These changes are also in accordance with the National Flood Insurance Act of 1968.

A complete legal notice appears elsewhere in this issue of The Pilot. Upon the second publication of the notice, any person has 90 days in which he can request through the Mayor's office that the Federal Insurance Administrator reconsider the determination.

Any request for reconsideration must be based on knowledge of changed conditions or new scientific or technical data. All interested parties are on notice that until the 90-day period elapses, the Administrator's determination to modify base flood elevations may itself be changed.

Under the acts of 1968 and 1973, the FIS administrator must develop criteria for flood plain management. In order for the community to participate in the National Flood Insurance program, the community will be using the new elevations to administer the flood plain management measures of the program. These modified elevations will also be used to calculate the appropriate flood insurance premium rates for new buildings and their contents and for the second layer of insurance on existing buildings and contents.

City Secretary Herman Johnson told The Pilot Monday that a city ordinance had been amended to allow for variances in the construction minimums, and also said that the city had certain annexed areas which already fall into the 8-foot level designated.

VOTE COUNTING TAKES TIME

Election officials had a lengthy job Saturday, working 19½ hours, starting at 6:15 a.m. and finishing at a quarter of two Sunday morning. The "yes or no" portion of the ballot took only an hour to count, but the individual names for commission members took nearly six hours. From the left, clockwise around the table: Andrea Martinez, election judge Vernon Kleypas (standing), alternate judge Rachel Garcia, Alma Rathiff, and Katie Mundine.

Council Delays Action On Waste Treatment Plan

A proposed resolution to adopt the Council of Governments' 208 area-wide waste treatment management plan was held up by Rockport councilmen Monday night, after considerable discussion.

Councilmen particularly did not like the plan's overall thrust, which indicated growth projections for the city in directions contrary to the general indications.

Also in question was the obligation the city would be placed under for massive improvements in the sewage treatment system. One of the aspects of such growth was that the sewer rates for Rockport would likely be increased from the present $4 a month to an estimated $11 per month.

Concern was expressed over an initial study grant amounting to $41,000, which the city would stand to lose if no plan were adopted. However, that

Copano Residents Seek Utility Study

FULTON—A special meeting of the Copano Cove Property Owners Association was held Thursday, January 18, at the Paws and Taws Building. They discussed the feasibility of fire plugs and sewer lines in the Copano Cove and Ridge areas.

Jack McDavid related the possibility of joining the Aransas County Conservation and Reclamation District, of which he is chairman. Water lines and a county sewer system were among matters discussed. V.R. Shurman Jr. answered questions about a municipal utility district for the area.

It was voted to have a study made on the possibility of forming such a district. The information will be brought to the next meeting which will be held at the Aransas County courthouse in Rockport Friday, February 9, at 7:30 p.m.

Julie Miller In Queen Contest

Julie R. Miller, 18, Rockport-Fulton high school senior, competed in the queen contest held in conjunction with the San Patricio and Aransas counties Agricultural and Homemaking Show Monday night.

The contest included 18 girls from the two counties, and was held at the Sinton high school auditorium.

The Aransas County 4-H Queen, Julie is president of the county 4-H Club. She has been an office holder and a working member for four years, in addition to being an honor student.

She also plays varsity basketball as a forward, runs in cross country and other track events. After school hours, she works at D & C Sporting Goods, but

Firemen At Robstown Meeting

ROBSTOWN — The South Central District Firemen's Association held their First Quarterly Convention in Robstown, January 14.

Delegates from Rockport were: Mr. and Mrs. Edward Truelove and Mr. and Mrs. James C. Gurley. Door prizes were won by Lois Gurley, Janet Truelove and Gary Ondrej.

Joan Truelove was installed as First Vice President for the District Firemen's Auxiliary. Lois Gurley was installed as Racing Captain for the Ladies teams.

Fulton won second place in the Men's Pumper races. There were nine other men's teams and five ladies teams.

The Second Quarterly Meeting will be in Sinton in April.

Those attending from Rockport other than the delegates were Janet Truelove, Trisha Gurley, Dean Smith, Jeff Janacek, Gary Ondrej, Roy Gurley, Grady McNutt and Sam Cirrito.

Notable Notes

Iowa Reunion

FULTON—The Iowa Reunion will be held at the Paws and Taws Building Wednesday, February 7, at noon. Committees have been named by Mrs. Fred Luker, president, and a program is planned. Everyone from Iowa is invited to attend the potluck dinner and should bring a covered dish, table service and their own coffee or tea.

Church Luncheon

The United Methodist Church, Rockport, will have a covered dish luncheon at the church Sunday, January 28, following the 10:50 a.m. worship service. Those attending are invited to bring a covered dish to the church service and then join a friendly get-together. Also, come early to the 10:50 a.m. service and enjoy coffee and a snack before the service, a regular activity each Sunday.

Social Security

A representative of the Social Security Administration will be at the courthouse in Rockport Tuesday, January 30, at 9 a.m., to answer questions and help claimants file applications for Social Security payments as well as Supplemental Security Income benefits.

Real Job Begins

Now that the voters have approved the framing of a new charter for the city of Rockport, a new job for 15 residents begins, with the help of the rest of the citizens.

Those named to the charter commission have an important task: working on a new set of laws for the city.

For this project to be successful, residents of the community MUST participate in the process of framing the new charter.

A truly effective charter can be drawn up, one that will reflect the wishes of the citizens, only if there is active community participation.

When the dates for charter commission meetings are announced, everyone in Rockport has an obligation: attend the meetings and let the charter commission know what will be best for the city. —CH

Tourism Seminar Friday Morning

CORPUS CHRISTI — A Tourism Development Seminar will be held Friday, January 26, from 8:30 a.m. to noon at the Texas A&M Agricultural Research and Extension Center on Highway 44. The seminar is sponsored by the Research and Extension Service and the Coastal Bend Council of Governments.

The seminar is open to the public, especially designed to provide information and assistance to county and city officials and administrators, chambers of commerce, hotels and other lodging places, private recreational facilities, real estate developers, civic organizations, and business and economic students.

Discussions will be led by three speakers: Phil Davis, chief of community relations for the Texas Tourist Development Agency; Dr. Clare A. Gunn of A&M University and a member of the board of U.S. Travel Data Center and the Travel Research Association; and G.K. (Ken) Pagans, parks and recreation specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The role of the Texas Tourist Development Agency in promoting the Coastal Bend region will be considered, with emphasis on how to develop and promote special events for a community. A session will be held on capitalizing on new tourism opportunities, which will include examining the tourist potential; businessmen getting the most out of the tourist industry; and coordination of public and private efforts to take maximum advantage of tourism opportunities.

Another subject discussed will be the part both public and private recreational facilities and parks play in developing tourism and how communities can increase or improve such attractions.

CHISOS MOUNTAINS

In the heart of Big Bend National Park in West Texas are the Chisos (ghost or spirit) Mountains. Among ancient Spanish folk tales about the mountains is the story that on dark, black nights, they go away to visit other mountains in Mexico. —Texas Highways Magazine.

"THE HOUR" HAS ENDED, ACTUALLY IT HAS been nearly four. No matter, the sacred hour now belongs to time, and it ended sadly for Texans. The noble Dallas Cowboys have gone down in defeat, but fighting valiantly to the last whistle. Super Bowl 13, needless to say. Is there a man, a woman, a child across this broad land who did not witness the battle? Few indeed. Certainly not the child aspiring to his first year in Little League tryouts, not the little old lady from Dubuque, no cigar chomping executive, no beer bellied roughneck. Few were so callous as to pick up a telephone and call a friend, for whatever reason during the fray. Is there a red blooded American so unpatriotic, even treasonous as to not watch? Naturally then I joined the throng, and respectfully nodded when the announcers declared the game the greatest of them all. However, against my wife's protest, I determinedly tuned in "60 Minutes" when the time came. I suppose that makes me a sort of three quarters patriot. I excuse myself. Did I not watch the plays and then the replays of each play twice, often three times?

The subject of the game was conversation at a luncheon I attended Saturday. "John," said a friend's wife, "has taped all the season's games." He interrupted triumphantly: "Now I'll be able to watch football the year around." Then with a sly smile he turned to me. "But you're not a sports fan." I winced as I was expected to do. Fact of the matter, I'm not. Worse, I am a questionable sportsman because my sporting creed amounts to this—if I can't play, to hell with it. Mistake me not. At 140 pounds I'm neither jealous nor eager to have been on the field, a participant in the Super Bowl. But I do like sports—when I can participate, but I don't care a fig for watching my betters in action in any sport. The tube and the grandstand just aren't my cup of tea.

LAST WEEK I SPENT THREE RAPIDLY PACED days in San Antonio attending the mid-winter meeting of the Texas Press Association. It was the first meeting I have attended in several years and I thoroughly enjoyed it. It was a pleasure to see old friends and sit through some of the best news conferences within memory. Not the least was one conducted by an old friend, Prof. Edmund Arnold. I'd better back up on that. I had never met Arnold before, yet I call him a friend because I have for years read and absorbed his books, followed his columns in Editor and Publisher, a magazine regarded as the bible of the newspaper craft. He is a remarkable man, well known to every newsman, although perhaps unknown to most people who read newspapers. His forte is newspaper design and makeup and he is responsible for most of the bright readability aspects of newspapers today. Few good newspapers in the nation today have not been affected, directly or indirectly, by him. It is Arnold who is responsible for creating layouts that have made newspapers more attractive and inviting to read. He is the father of the horizontal layout which is found in most fine newspapers, down-style heads, abundance of "white space," dozens of other innovations of which the reader is only subconsciously aware. Because of his influence and guidance you, the readers of today, are no longer harassed with long, tedious columns of gray body type.

BUT GOOD OLD ED COMES TO A SCREAMING halt with certain aspects of what is regarded by some as modern. He frowns, no, he becomes blasphemous, at the use of Ms. and the ridiculous and often comical ends to which the word "person" has been used. "Chairperson," the genderless chunk of flesh and bone that presides at a meeting, the "freshperson," the first year college student. Uck!

AND HURRAH AGAIN FOR ED. HE IS HORRIFIED, disgusted, revolted by the gross and vulgar headlines that appear in all the San Antonio newspapers. Huge, all capital letters, bold letters that scream murder, rape, robbery, wreck, crime. I have always thought San Antonio a charming city, enjoyed the friendship of many of its delightful people, but I fail to understand their tolerance of what must be the worst journalism in the nation. I accost them and they become apologetic, assure me that they depend upon out-of-town papers for information. They must, because in the hundreds of pages that appear each day I find less news than appears in a single issue of The Pilot. This is not a plug for the publisher. Arnold could and would find much to criticize in your home paper, but it would rank head and shoulders ahead of San Antonio. That is scarcely a compliment. Only the National Enquirer can be worse than the Light, News and Express.

Have I been indulging myself in shop talk? I ask your forgiveness. It happens that, even recognizing the faults and weakness of my craft, I have great love and respect for its practitioners, or at least for those who see their duty in providing the public with useful, intelligent journalism. In that there is an initial criteria: Reporting the news as it is, as it happens, confining whatever personal opinions which they may have to the editorial page or in columns such as this one. Ah, yes. After San Antonio I shall be long in criticizing the Caller and Times.—ahah

The Speaker Reports

by Bill Clayton

AUSTIN — The integrity of voting records in the Texas House of Representatives is assured for the future with a new vote-toting system that has been installed.

Since 1941 the House relied on an electro-mechanical system, and in recent years the 38-year-old device has proven susceptible to malfunctioning. To eliminate delays caused by the need for manual vote verification, expense of special made parts and to preserve accuracy, the House in its last session approved a request to overhaul the problem-prone board.

Months of investigation in reviewing leading companies and the operation of machines in other states produced a $190,000 package well below the $920,000 bid for a computerized voting system for the Texas House in 1973.

The new machinery automatically enters excused members into the record, enters floor votes and insures the integrity of voting stations. A display board with freeform capabilities spells out information about legislation under consideration, produce the day, time, number of the measure being acted upon and vote totals.

Those familiar with the old voting system in the House will have to look closely to see any sign of change. Tally boards with members' names on each side of the rostrum remain as does the outer shell of the summary board above the rostrum. This was done to pare cost and retain the historical flavor of the chamber.

A significant change is the drastic reduction in space needed to contain the machinery. The components of the new board consist of a control panel and hardware cabinet and is 1/5th the size of the old machine, which filled a small room.

Individual voting stations on each member's desk was replaced with recessed hardware which blend with the desk tops and allow yes, no or present balloting with a key control.

More than six months was needed to complete removal of the old components and to effect the changes necessary to modify the system.

I am pleased with the efforts to find an economical and efficient system which will care for the needs of the House for years to come. There is no doubt that this system best suits our needs for the dollars that were expended.

AUSTIN — The Immigration and Naturalization Service's proposed 6 1/2 mile barrier between Juarez, Mexico and El Paso, Texas, is of great concern to me. The proposed barrier is not going to stop undocumented aliens from entering the United States. They come to our country because of the poverty and high unemployment of their own country. They will cross at other areas along the 1,000 mile Texas-Mexico border should the fence be constructed.

Mexico has long been an ally of the United States. Because of our common heritage, Texas and Mexico share a special relationship which the proposed "Tortilla Curtain" could seriously impair.

The pressures on the relationship between the United States and Mexico impact most seriously on Texas. Dealing with the politics of undocumented alien children and the resultant financial impact on Texas' state and local governments, and the trade balance between Texas and Mexico are but a few of such problems.

I am confident that solutions to these problems will be found with a positive effort on the part of both parties. The proposed wall, however, will create an atmosphere of animosity and distrust and would make it more difficult to reach the solutions we must all find.

I have written President Carter urging him to cancel the proposal for the additional barrier between the United States and Mexico. I also urged the President to meet with President Lopez Portillo to discuss the economic circumstances in his country that are forcing millions of his country's citizens to flee Mexico.

Consumer Food News

COLLEGE STATION — Poultry, root vegetables and some processed foods are among budget buys at Texas grocery markets this week, according to Gwendolyn Clyatt. Mrs. Clyatt is a consumer marketing information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Current price and quality trends are the following:

POULTRY — Attractive prices appear on fryer chickens (whole and parts) and chicken frankfurters. Turkeys, 10 pounds and up, are available.

FRESH VEGETABLES — Best values include carrots, turnips, rutabagas, dry onions, potatoes, cabbage and broccoli. All stocks of sweet potatoes now are kiln dried, making them better "keepers."

FRESH FRUITS — For economy, fruits "by-the-bag" are usually the best values. Consider apples, oranges and tangelos along with grapefruit. Check for values on bananas, pears and pineapples.

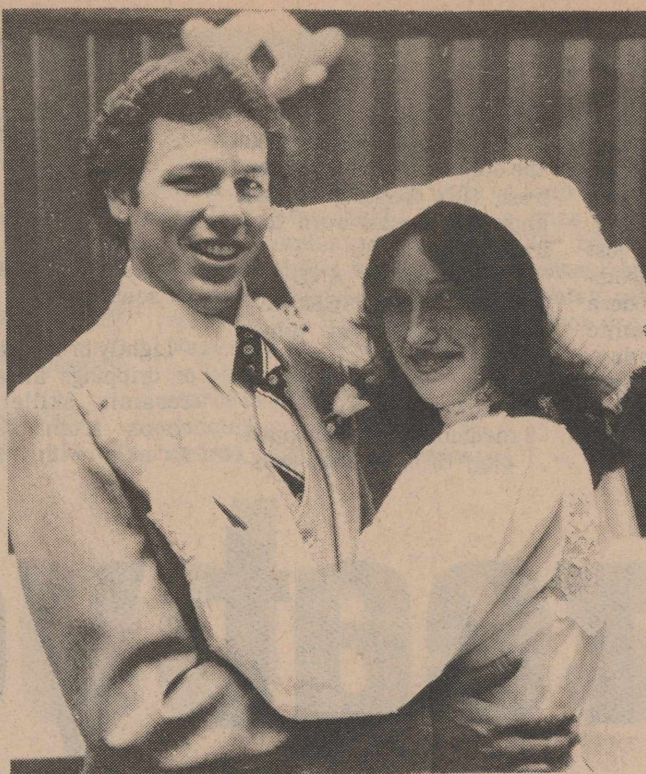

ALONG GROCERY MARKET AISLES — Feature items include canned tomatoes and tomato products, canned peaches and fruit cocktail and canned tuna fish. Dry beans are a special feature in some markets.

FROZEN FOODS — Corn may be a feature.

RED MEAT OUTLOOK — Cattle and hog prices will stay at current high levels at least through the first half of 1979, according to most predictions. This forecast is based on smaller supplies of red meat, less hog production than expected and continued strong consumer demand for beef and pork.

BEEF — Chuck cuts (roasts and steaks) are in the spotlight—and there are some features on ground beef with soy protein, sirloin steak, round and rib steaks and liver.

PORK — Best buys are Boston butt roasts, end chops, liver, rib and loin-end roasts, bacon and frankfurters.

Kovar-Hale Vows Spoken In Rockport

Cynthia Diane Kovar and Charles Lewis (Chip) Hale Jr., both of Rockport, were married in a double ring ceremony at the First Presbyterian Church of Rockport on December 23. Rev. Dr. George Mauze officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy A. Stallings and the late Theodore Kovar of Fayetteville, Texas, and California. Grandparents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. H.S. McKinney of Rockport and Mr. Louis Kovar of Fayetteville. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Hale Sr. of Lamar, and the grandson of Mrs. Aline Henderson of Corpus Christi and Mrs. Iola Ternus of Sinton.

The church was decorated with several arrangements of poinsettias centered with a large basket of white gladiolas, white mums and greenery.

Organist for the ceremony was Mike Morgan, vocalist was Gary Kleypas offering traditional wedding selections and a special request by the bride and groom for "Colour My World."

The bride, given in marriage by her stepfather, chose a cotton chiffon gown trimmed with re-embroidered Alencon lace, full yoke neckline, lace at the waist, cuffs and hemline, full bishop sleeves and chapel train, and wore an appliqued picture hat with a fingertip veil. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses, white carnations, greenery and white ribbon tied in love knots. For jewelry, the bride wore a diamond pendant necklace which was a gift from the groom.

Hanging Baskets Topic For Allegro Gardeners

The culture of hanging baskets was the subject of a talk by Suzanne Pearson from Pearson's Garden Center at the January meeting of the Allegro Garden Club. Suitable soil media and conditions favorable to optimum growth were outlined. Mrs. Pearson answered questions from members about hanging basket problems.

Betty French and Tommye Bertero served as hostesses for the meeting. Marjorie Hauck and Cary Fletcher were introduced as new members, and their inclusion brings to 61 the number of members presently active in the club.

Advice on caring for freeze damaged plants was presented by Addie Schumacher. She also offered tips on preserving poinsettia plants to insure future bloom.

The next area to be beautified is a cul-de-sac on Blue Heron Drive, according to Reba Rast, projects chairwoman. She predicted that sufficient watering of plants in landscaped areas will be easily achieved because of the acquisition of a water wagon by the club. Mrs. Rast was instrumental in the securing of the tank which will be a great asset to the island.

Mary Jean Brownell, who directed the club's Christmas projects, was given an enthusiastic show of appreciation by those

Cooking Corner

Feasting in the olden days meant prodigious work, with trips to the root cellar for vegetables, to the barn for eggs and cream, to the garden for pumpkins and squash, to the farms out in the country to select turkeys, hams, and pork loins.

Today's cook doesn't snub shortcuts, and frequently takes advantage of convenience foods. Packaged seasoning mix is one of them.

Today's cook also reads labels to make sure that such shortcuts do not contain ingredients which are under investigation as possibly harmful. Packaged seasoning mix sometimes contains BHT and BHA, which should be avoided as suspect. At least two brands of packaged seasoning mix are available without such chemical preservatives.

Recipes today make use of a stuffing mix which has been given added interest with chopped apple and zucchini and a crushed cornbread mix which is used as a coating. Selecting the foods is just the start of staging a traditional meal that fits a modern lifestyle. Glass-ceramic cookware, pictured today, further reduces the time spent in the kitchen, since the cookware moves easily and attractively from oven to table. The new way is better than the old, if foods are pure and fresh. It's feasting without finding the cook worn to a frazzle.

PORK CHOP AND STUFFING CASSEROLE
6 pork chops, cut ¾-inch thick
¼ cup lard or drippings
1½ tps. salt
2 medium onions, chopped
1 pkg. (8 ozs.) herb-seasoned stuffing mix

1 can (10¾ ozs.) condensed cream of celery soup
½ cup water
2 apples, chopped (about 2 cups)
3 cups chopped zucchini squash

Lightly brown chops in lard or drippings in large glass-ceramic skillet; remove chops from skillet and sprinkle with ½ teaspoon salt. Cook onion in drippings in skillet 3 to 5 minutes; stir in stuffing mix and sprinkle with 1 teaspoon salt. Combine soup with water. Add chopped apple and zucchini and diluted soup to stuffing mixture, stirring lightly to combine; place in large glass-ceramic open roaster. Place pork chops on top of stuffing. Cover pan tightly with foil. Bake in a slow oven at 325 degrees for 45 minutes.

Remove foil and continue baking 15 minutes or until chops are done. Serves 6.
Note: Smoked pork chops can be used. In that case, do not brown chops.

CHILI PORK STEAKS
4 pork blade steaks, cut ½ to ¾ inch thick
1 pkg. (8 ozs.) corn bread stuffing mix
2 tps. chili powder
1½ tps. garlic salt

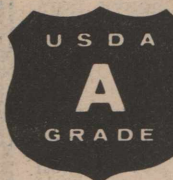

¼ tsp. pepper
Two-thirds cup chili sauce
Crush stuffing mix to make crumbs, and mix with chili powder, garlic salt and pepper. Spread chili sauce on both sides of pork steaks; dredge in crumb mixture. Place steaks on rack in glass-ceramic open roaster and bake in moderate oven at 350 degrees for 1 to 1½ hours, until done. Serves 6.

1/4 tsp. pepper
Two-thirds cup chili sauce

Crush stuffing mix to make crumbs, and mix with chili powder, garlic salt and pepper. Spread chili sauce on both sides of pork steaks; dredge in crumb mixture. Place steaks on rack in glass-ceramic open-roaster and bake in moderate oven at 350 degrees for 1 1/2 to 1 3/4 hours, until done. Serves 6.

GLAZED SMOKED PORK SHOULDER
1 smoked pork shoulder roll (2 to 3 lbs.)
1/2 cup brown sugar
1/4 tsp. ground cloves
1/4 tsp. allspice
2 tbsps. cider vinegar

Place smoked pork shoulder roll on rack in a glass-ceramic open-roaster. Insert meat thermometer so bulb is centered in thickest part and is not resting on fat. Do not add water, do not cover. Bake in a slow oven at 325 degrees until thermometer registers 140 to 150 degrees. Meanwhile, combine brown sugar, ground cloves and allspice in small saucepan. Stir in vinegar and cook slowly 10 minutes. Spread glaze over meat and continue baking until thermometer reads 170 degrees. Allow 35 to 40 minutes per pound for roasting.

HEALTH BURGERS
1/4 cup wheat germ
3 tbsps. milk
1 tbsps. catsup
1 tsp. salt
1/4 tsp. Tabasco pepper sauce
2 tbsps. finely chopped celery
2 tbsps. finely chopped onion
1 lb. ground round beef
Hamburger buns
Onion rings

In medium bowl mix wheat germ, milk, catsup, salt, pepper sauce, celery and onion. Add meat and mix lightly but thoroughly. Shape into 4 hamburger patties. Place on grill 4 inches from charcoal briquets that have reached the light-gray ash stage (or a red glow at night). Or, place 4 inches below heat source in oven broiler. Grill 7 minutes on each side, or to desired degree of doneness.

Serve on buns with onion rings.

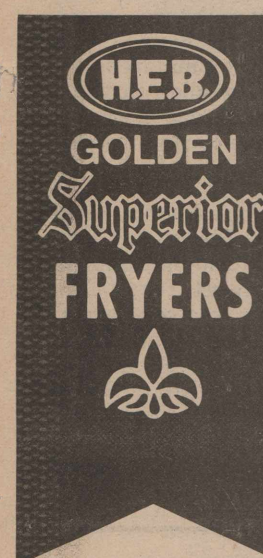

Note: To add even more nutrition, buy hamburger buns made of whole wheat. Or try the new sprouted-wheat hamburger buns which contain no preservatives, and which are delicious. Serves 4.

1/2 tsp. Tabasco pepper sauce
2 cloves garlic, minced
2 tbsps. molasses
1 1/2 cups grapefruit juice
1/4 cup chopped scallions
4 lbs. chuck steak, 1 1/2-inches thick

Mix salt, ginger, soy sauce and garlic in medium bowl. Add pepper sauce, molasses, grapefruit juice and scallions. Place steak in glass or enamel container and add marinade. Marinate in refrigerator overnight, turning steak occasionally. Remove steak from marinade; place on grill 5 inches from charcoal briquets that have reached the light-gray ash stage (or a red glow at night). Or, place 5 inches below the heat source in an oven broiler. Brush generously with marinade. Grill steak 1 1/2 to 2 hours, basting occasionally and turning steak only once.

1978: A Year Of Rare Weather Extremes

Like most other years in Texas, the year just ended contained its share of sudden fluctuations in the weather pattern. But 1978 is distinguished more for the large number of occurrences of rare weather extremes, according to a study recently completed by the Texas Department of Water Resources. The study cites a severe drought in the normally water-rich northeastern corner of the State and excessive rains that caused numerous floods in the western half of the State as two of many unusual features of the weather pattern that marks 1978 as one of the most bizarre years, weatherwise, of this century.

Many Texas residents, especially those in the central third of the State, will remember 1978 for the tragic impact of Tropical Storm Amelia. The storm's remnants had more of an effect on the lives of a sizeable segment of the State's populace than any other single weather event of 1978. The 25 deaths and property losses in the hundreds of millions of dollars attributable to Amelia rank the storm in the same category as the great rainstorm of September 1921.

Although Amelia's flash-flooding rains stand as the most prominent highlight of the Texas weather scene during 1978, the study reveals numerous other highly unusual weather events.

The coldest weather ever observed in parts of Texas during the year's first two months, when temperatures averaged as much as 13 degrees below normal in some areas.

The absence of disastrous tornadoes, although well over 100 "twisters" were sighted by Texas during the year.

An analysis of rainfall during the year shows that 1978 was noticeably drier-than-usual in nearly two-thirds of the State. Significantly below-normal rainfall was common in practically all of North Central and East Texas and the low Rolling Plains, while sizable portions of the High Plains, Edwards Plateau, South Central Texas, and the Upper Coast also experienced appreciable rainfall deficits.

Most areas within 150 miles of the Rio Grande fared much better than most of the remainder of Texas.

Most of South Central and Southern Texas, as well as the Lower Valley, had a slight wetter-than-usual year.

Weather analysts reviewed rainfall reports filed throughout the year and found that, among the extremes in daily rainfall amounts measured during 1978, Albany collected on August 4 the most rainfall -- 29.05 inches -- of any of Texas' 598 National Weather Service cooperative observing stations, when Tropical Storm Amelia's remains dumped torrents of rain on the western North Central Texas community.

Other heavy rains over short time periods cited by the study included: 1-day rains of 10 to 15 inches in areas that lay within Amelia's path across central portions of the State; nearly 16 inches of rain at Victoria during a 3-day period in mid-September as a result of a tropical depression that moved inland from the Gulf of Mexico; and 10.79 inches at Refugio (South Central) on June 1.

Analysts emphasize, however, that while she is likely to be remembered as a killer storm that wrought unparalleled destruction in parts of central Texas, Tropical Storm Amelia played a significant role in reversing the drought situation in several areas of the State. By spilling torrents of rain on a broad area of the parched Edwards Plateau in the first few days of August, the storm's remnants singlehandedly terminated a lengthy spell of severe drought that had plagued the region since late summer of 1977.

The frequency of snow-storm occurrence as well as the amount of snow marked 1978 as one of the snowiest ever in the northern third of Texas. Too, a heavy snow fell in the northern High Plains as late as the first week of May. In fact, the winter of 1978 was the snowiest ever in the recorded weather history for most of northern North Central and East Texas. A total of five snowstorms lashed the region during January and February, leaving several inches of snow on the ground on each occasion.

The winter was typical in the southern third of the State, where no snow of consequence fell.

The winter of 1978 made history with up to 10 times the normal amount of snow ralling in northern North Central Texas during January and February.

A copy of the report analyzing Texas weather during 1978 may be obtained by writing to: Weather Modification & Technology Section, Texas Department of Water Resources, P. O. Box 13087, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas 78711.

If You Eat, You Are Involved In Agriculture

SAN ANTONIO - "If you eat, you are involved in agriculture" is the message of a popular bumper sticker in these parts. While the medium may not have the impact of television or the newspaper, the message is no less cogent. There is not a one of us whose life is not affected by agriculture and the part it plays in our national economy.

As citizens of not only one of the largest food-producing but also one of the largest food-exporting nations in the world, our lives are equally affected by international economics and world food policy. It is not enough, however, to be concerned only with our own lives -- our own cost of living, the nutrition of our children. Our innate sense of humanity and our commitment and responsibility as Christians make us concerned about the rest of the world, about the ever-growing numbers of hungry people in the world.

To give form to that responsibility and commitment, the Southwest Texas

Conference of the United Methodist Church (a 70-county area in South and Southwest Texas including Rockport) sponsored a three-day conference involving national authorities in an effort to seek workable, equitable solutions to the problems of food production and world hunger. "The Bishop's Consultation on Agriculture and Hunger: The Economic System and How It Affects People" was held January 17, 18 and 19 at the Mount Wesley Conference Center in Kerrville, Texas, 60 miles northwest of San Antonio.

Farmers, ranchers, environmentalists, economists, nutritionists, consumers and policy makers all played a part in this working seminar. A forum where farmers and ranchers can engage church leaders in conversation about the Church's response to the crises in agriculture and food production was held. The needs of food producers and the needs of hungry people were examined.

Current U.S. food policy and its effect on producers, consumers and the hungry were evaluated.

Addresses by the assembled leadership, panel discussions, question-and-answer sessions and small-group workshops were utilized in confronting the issues and attempting to develop a consensus on ways in which production, distribution and policy can be influenced.

Leadership for the event -- one of the most ambitious ever undertaken by the Conference -- was selected from knowledgeable and involved persons throughout the nation.

Participants in the Consultation were seven clergy and 14 lay delegates from each of the six districts which comprise the Southwest Texas Conference.

The entire membership of the Southwest Texas Conference was invited to participate in the Consultation by submitting a work of art which expresses a personal interpretation of the workshop theme "Bread, Justice and the Abundant Life." Photographs, banners, soft sculptures, paintings and collages were among the hundreds of works on display throughout the three-day event and used in the closing worship service.

The Consultation was hosted by Bishop J. Chess Lovern, presiding bishop of the Southwest Texas Conference. It was co-sponsored by the Conference Board of Church and Society; the Conference Board of Global Ministries; the Conference Task Force on Hunger; and the Conference United Methodist Women.

The winners at Game Afternoon on Thursday, January 18, were Lorene King and Mary Jo Williams, tying with a score of 5,210 at bridge; Jean Triplett and Clarice Finger at canasta. The finale was won by Sue Serfass, Margaret Spellman and Jim Hays.

The next Game Afternoon is Thursday, January 25, at 1:00 p.m., Paws and Taws Building.

There were approximately 150 persons at the AARP dance Wednesday, January 17. The next dance is Wednesday, February 7, at 7:00 p.m., Paws and Taws Building.

The first meeting of the Future Financial Forum was Tuesday, January 23. The next meeting is Tuesday, January 30, at 1:00 p.m., Paws and Taws Building. There is no charge for this program.

The birthday and anniversary persons will furnish cookies for the coffee preceding the business meeting each month. They will be asked to sit at a special table decorated in honor of their special day. Singing "Happy Birthday" and/or "Happy Anniversary" will give an added touch of festivity.

There is a short meeting of AARP today, Wednesday, January 24, followed by a covered dish luncheon and an afternoon of bridge or just visiting. This session will begin at 11:00 a.m., Wednesday, January 24, Paws and Taws Building.

The next business meeting of AARP Chapter 1536 is February 14, at 9:30 a.m., Paws and Taws Building.

New Dimension Added To Balance Budget

With the convening of the 96th Congress Monday, Congressman Bill Archer is adding a new dimension to his continuing effort to win passage of a Constitutional Amendment requiring a balanced federal budget. When the sessions opens, he will present documents from the Texas Legislature requesting the Congress to call together a national Constitutional convention to propose such an amendment.

Joined by 142 other Congressmen last year in his attempt to initiate House Judiciary Committee hearings, Archer is again pressing for hearings on an amendment which the Congress would send to the states for ratification, but he notes, "we cannot afford to overlook the other method of amending the Constitution which involves petitions submitted to the Congress by two-thirds of the states calling for a constitutional convention."

"The Texas Legislature passed such a resolution on June 16, 1977, but for some reason State officials at the time failed to follow through in having the resolution officially presented to Congress," Archer pointed out. "Without such a presentation, the resolution might as well have never been adopted by the Legislature."

Archer will present a certified copy of the resolution to the House of Representatives at the same time he reintroduces his own Constitutional Amendment Monday calling for a balanced federal budget.

"Recent polls show that 81 percent of the American people favor such a Constitutional restriction on federal spending, and certainly we owe it to them to begin the process immediately," Archer concluded.

The Self-Reliant Settler: 1840's

Immigrants to Texas from the United States in the early and middle nineteenth century were required to be hardy souls, who were prepared to provide for themselves all the necessities of their lives. With no established commerce, few real towns and a constant threat of attack by Indians, the frontier settler was obliged to act as his own craftsman, merchant, grocer, and army.

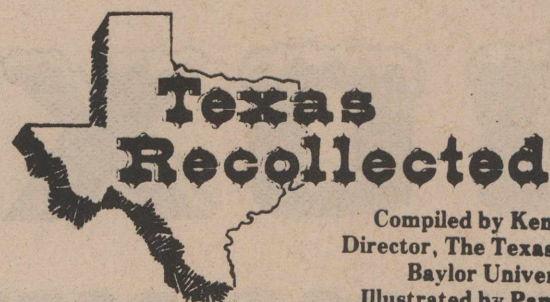

Arriving in Texas from Tennessee with his parents in 1837, when he was about three years old, W.B. Hollis grew up with an awareness of the need for pioneer self-sufficiency. The following account of his early life in Montgomery County, extracted from his memoir, "Early History of One of the Pioneers of the Old Rogers Prairie Settlement," illustrates some of the hardships of everyday life which confronted the early Texas frontier settler.

"In the fall of 1840 we moved to Montgomery County on the southeast boundary line near a place known as Danville. There we settled in the woods, our nearest neighbor from three to five miles away. There my father built a cabin and in the spring of 1841 planted some corn, having during the winter cut the cane from four or five acres of land, and in the spring burned it off. He made holes in the ground with a hand spike and dropped corn and covered it with his foot, for we had no plows nor horses. We kept the mutton cane knocked down with a stick, which was all the cultivating it got. After the bear and the coons got their share, for that was not a little, we had enough left for our bread the next year. All the bread we got during the first year, (my father) walked three or four miles and made rails (in exchange) for, and brought it home on his back.

"I had better go back and tell you how we made meal out of our corn, for there were no mills in the country. When we moved to Montgomery County we grated our meal for several years. My father got hold of a piece of tin and made a grater. We put the corn in a kettle and the night before grating, we brought it to a boil, then let it stand until just before grating. Then it grated like new corn. I can well remember the first sack of meal we had grated in a mill, and how we all rejoiced over it.

"I will now tell you how we got our shoes and clothing. Every family had their own tanyard and had their own gins. I, with my father's help of nights, managed to get the seed out of as much cotton as my mother could spin the next day. When she got enough thread, we would weave it into cloth. One new suit at a time was about as much as we could afford at that time. We would go to bed early Saturday night while mother washed and dried them. We made our shoes at home. I could make a good shoe before I was ten years old. When we could do no better, we would take a cowhide and turn the hair in and make what we call a moccasin. We made our hats out of coonskins, the nose for the front of the hat and the tail hung down the back. It would be a show to see a bunch of boys around town now with such outfits on.

"During the years of 1838, 1839, and the early 1840's, the hardships and privations of the early settlers were horrible. Hardly a week passed through the summer and fall that there were not more or less depredations by the Indians. My father moved 12 times, one of those years, running from the Indians. Money was very scarce during those years, and Texas money went down until it was only worth ten cents on the dollar. In the early 1840's our currency was a cow and a calf, which represented a five-dollar bill, and a heifer yearling two dollars, and for small change a male yearling."

Despite—or because of—the difficulties of their existence, the Hollis family and many others like them flourished in Texas. They contributed not only their lives and their labor, but also their offspring, to the area's political and economic growth. When he died in 1907 at the age of 72, W.B. Hollis was the father of ten grown and married children, who themselves had produced his more than 40 grandchildren.

Permit Applications

An application to extend a permit application has been filed with the Department of the Army, Corps of Engineers, by Joseph W. Bryant, Fulton.

He proposes to extend the time to complete the construction of a bulkhead and breakwater and to dredge within the breakwater at a location in Copano Bay, on the west shore, approximately 2½ miles northwest of Fulton. Comments on this application extension must be submitted to the District Engineer, P.O. Box 1229, Galveston, Texas 77553, on or before February 20.

Century-Old Texas Letters Emerge

AUSTIN - The annexation of Texas to the United States was intensely controversial in 1845, and New Yorker Samuel Swartwout, enthusiastic supporter of Texan independence, roared his disapproval in a letter to James Morgan in Texas: "You have been thrust into the Union head and shoulders, head over heels, with about as much haste and indecency as a Cargo, upon the coast, on board of a slaver, when pursued by a man of war!"

It was a typical explosion from the ebullient Swartwout, who had invested heavily in Texas land. For twenty years in the mid-1800s he kept in touch with "The Land of Promise" by corresponding with his agent there, James Morgan, who was closely involved with the great men and events of Texas in its early years.

Now the collected letters of Swartwout and Morgan, long held in the Rosenberg Library at Galveston, have been published for the first time in their entirety. Shoal Creek Publishers of Austin has brought out the new volume, titled "Fragile Empires: The Texas Correspondence of Samuel Swartwout and James Morgan, 1836-1856."

The confidential nature of this correspondence permitted many candid, unrestrained and controversial observations about Texas in the mid-nineteenth century. In often impassioned language, the two friends exchanged running commentary on Houston, Lamar, Burnet and other figures of early Texas history; the financing of the Texas revolution; the growth of Austin, Houston and Galveston; the early boom in land speculations; the politics of frontier Texas; and the relations of Texas to the United States, Mexico and Europe.

Of particular interest to students of Texas history are those exchanges dealing with the struggle for independence and the varied and difficult problems of the Republic period. Numerous letters concern the annexation of Texas. And a series of exchanges about the Mexican War provides a new perspective on the subsequent relationship between Mexico and the United States.

Editors Feris Bass Jr. and B.R. Brunson have provided an introduction, footnotes, bibliography and detailed index.

Bass is Research Associate at the University of Texas in San Antonio. Brunson is Professor of History at Southwest Texas State University in San Marcos.

"Fragile Empires" is of interest of a broad range of Texana readers. A scholarly discovery, it is also a vivid human document: the personal record of two men's dreams for the fragile empire of Texas.

Healthful Hints

Q. I love butter—real butter, but I'm afraid to eat it because it is not high enough in the essential unsaturated fatty acids. Do you have a good "hint" for me?

A. Have I got a hint for you?

Let one pound of butter warm to room temperature. Put it into the blender with one cup of vegetable oil (cold pressed, please), such as soy, safflower or a blend of several oils, and liquefy. Pour this into a bowl (or whatever you want to mold it in—you might use an ice tray) and refrigerate. This simple little concoction spreads easily, tastes delicious and is high in the essential unsaturated fatty acids!

Q. I recently had a cold. I took vitamin C for it, but it was still terrible and lasted for over two weeks. I thought vitamin C was good for colds. Why didn't it help?

A. In the first place, maybe you didn't take enough vitamin C. and maybe you didn't start it soon enough. Many nutrition-oriented doctors recommend taking as much as 1,000 milligrams of C at the onset (that means the very first "sniffle" or sign of a scratchy throat, etc.) of a cold or any other infection, repeating the same amount every hour for 1 to 3 days.

While C may not cure a cold that has already started, it will probably make the symptoms lighter and shorten the duration. (Vitamin C should ideally be used with an eye to preventing, not curing colds.)

In the second place, you were being what Adelle Davis calls "part-smart." During a cold or any other infection, one should see that all nutrients (vitamins, minerals, etc.) are supplied in very generous amounts. For colds specifically lots of vitamin A, the B vitamins (especially B-6), vitamin E, the bioflavonoids and calcium are particularly helpful.

Until next week, Folks.

amount as compared with the greater expenditure, seemed small.

In order to "stay in the running" for the grant and subsequent federal sharing, the council instructed the city attorney to redraft the resolution to make it more in keeping with the city's desires. The original resolution came from the Council of Governments.

Home Rule

Swearing in of charter commission members will be held next Monday, January 29, at 6 p.m., followed by an organizational meeting of the group.

This date was set following the passage of the charter question in Saturday's election. The council is required to set the date of the first meeting for the group, after which charter commission members will elect their own officers and set up a regular meeting time for their long-term project.

Councilmen canvassed the votes in the election and the mayor declared the issue to have passed.

Fire Truck Bid

A new fire truck/pumper will be purchased by the city, following acceptance of the low bid as submitted on January 8.

An estimated 365 days will be required for delivery of the unit, but Public Works Director said the successful bidder, Pierce Manufacturing, Inc., of Appleton, Wisconsin, indicated that delivery might be made as early as next October.

The amount of the successful bid was $62,980.

Planning, Zoning

An open joint public hearing was held with the council and the Planning and Zoning Commission to consider a rezoning request and setting of the date for a public hearing on the proposed new zoning ordinance and map.

Harry B. Shedden had requested rezoning for Lots 1 through 6 and Lots 9 through 14, Block 108, Manning Subdivision, D&M, from R-2 Residential to B-1 Business. The property is bounded on the east by Young Street, on the north by Third Street, on the north by Bronte Street. His request was approved.

The Planning and Zoning Commission will meet on January 19 to further consider the new zoning ordinance and map, and set February 26 for a hearing on the updating of Rockport's zoning. That hearing will start at 7 p.m.

City Election

An election for two city councilmen will be held April 7, 1979, with the council setting the date according to law. There will be two councilmen elected.

Terms expiring are for Ward 1 councilman Charlie Garrett and for Ward 2 councilman Norvell Jackson. Both indicated they would file for re-election.

Tips On Freezing Game Meat

By R. Alan Charles

Nothing is more frustrating than bagging game, freezing it, and then discovering six weeks later that it is freezer burned and must be thrown away. Or to prepare the fixings for a roast duck dinner, only to discover that what's inside the package is deer meat.

It happens. At least, it happens for those who don't take precautionary steps. These begin with basic care being exercised from the moment the game is bagged.

For fish, danger lies in heat and water. These are the factors which produce bacteria which can ruin the meat. It is always best to keep a fish alive on a stringer or in a fish basket, or else to put it immediately on ice. It is never good to let a dead fish dangle in the water, especially if the water is warm.

For game, the best procedure is to gut it as soon as possible. True, some Europeans let their fowl hang until it is really foul, but not this fellow!

But what then? Back in the kitchen, several things should be accomplished. If it is fish that have been bagged, they need to be scaled, skinned, filleted, or whatever. Then, they need to be washed with cold water. Some people like to freeze their fish in milk cartons filled with water, forming a solid cube of ice and fish; others like to pat the fish dry with a cloth and then freeze them in an airtight container, either a plastic bag or canning container.

I've done it both ways, and can't seem to detect any real difference. But the key is the airtightness. If frozen in ice, then care must be taken to insure that no part of the fish is without a covering of ice; if in a bag or wrapping paper, then there must be no holes.

Game must be skinned or plucked before freezing, if the results are to be desirable. I have never heard of anyone freezing game meat in ice, but I don't really see why it wouldn't work just as well. A key here is to freeze the meat quickly.

Picking feathers off your roast duck or digging bullet fragments from your deer roast is not much of a dinner table pastime. That is why I like to do this work before I freeze the game. A little work trimming the meat, removing bones and fat, feathers, and shot can really save time when the meal is being prepared.

A note of interest for waterfowlers: With many places now requiring the use of steel shot, the dental bills in some duckhunters' houses are climbing higher than late season mallards, the reason being that steel shot, upon meeting with teeth during a meal, do not squash, as do lead shot. Subsequently, though steel shot may decrease the incidence of lead poisoning in ducks, it may very well increase the number of broken teeth in duck hunters.

Now that the game is wrapped securely, one other bit of precaution may salvage meal planning efforts. By marking the type of game, date bagged, and condition of the meat, a bit of selectivity can be applied. Typical of my own markings is one like this: Mallard drake, Lake Somerville, 11/25/78, Excellent. This not only tells me that I have a big duck that came off the peanut fields in east Texas during November, 1978, but that it is not shot up badly and that it could be a good choice for a dinner guest. Things like that help, especially if you are trying to introduce someone to the culinary delights of wild game. Were you to serve him a shot up old merganser from two years before, you might have a rough go of it.

By my way of thinking, darn near everything that comes from the outdoors is good to eat. Nine-tenths of the taste, though, is tied up in the way the game is treated and prepared. By taking a bit of time and insuring that proper care has been given the meat, those problems of gaminess, toughness, and unsightliness of game dinners can be prevented.

T-M Downs Pirates

By Bob Crawford

Sloppy play and the percentages finally caught up with the Rockport-Fulton Pirates as they had their 13-game winning streak snapped by the Tulos-Midway Warriors on the Warriors' home court Friday night. The loss gives the Pirates a 19-4 mark, and the loss comes after the Pirates had moved up to the number 13 spot in the state rankings. The loss, however, counts in on the first half statistics, and the Pirates won the first half with a 6-1 mark.

Tuloso showed no fear as they took the battle to the Pirates, and then followed their coach's instructions to the letter. Working a weave, and looking for opportunities, the Warriors jumped on the Pirates for 21 first quarter points, leading 21-17 by the quarter's end. The score had been 10-4 in favor of the Warriors before the Pirates decided to come back.

In the second period the Pirates played even with the Warriors, but picked up two points before halftime, and the Warriors led 31-29 at the half.

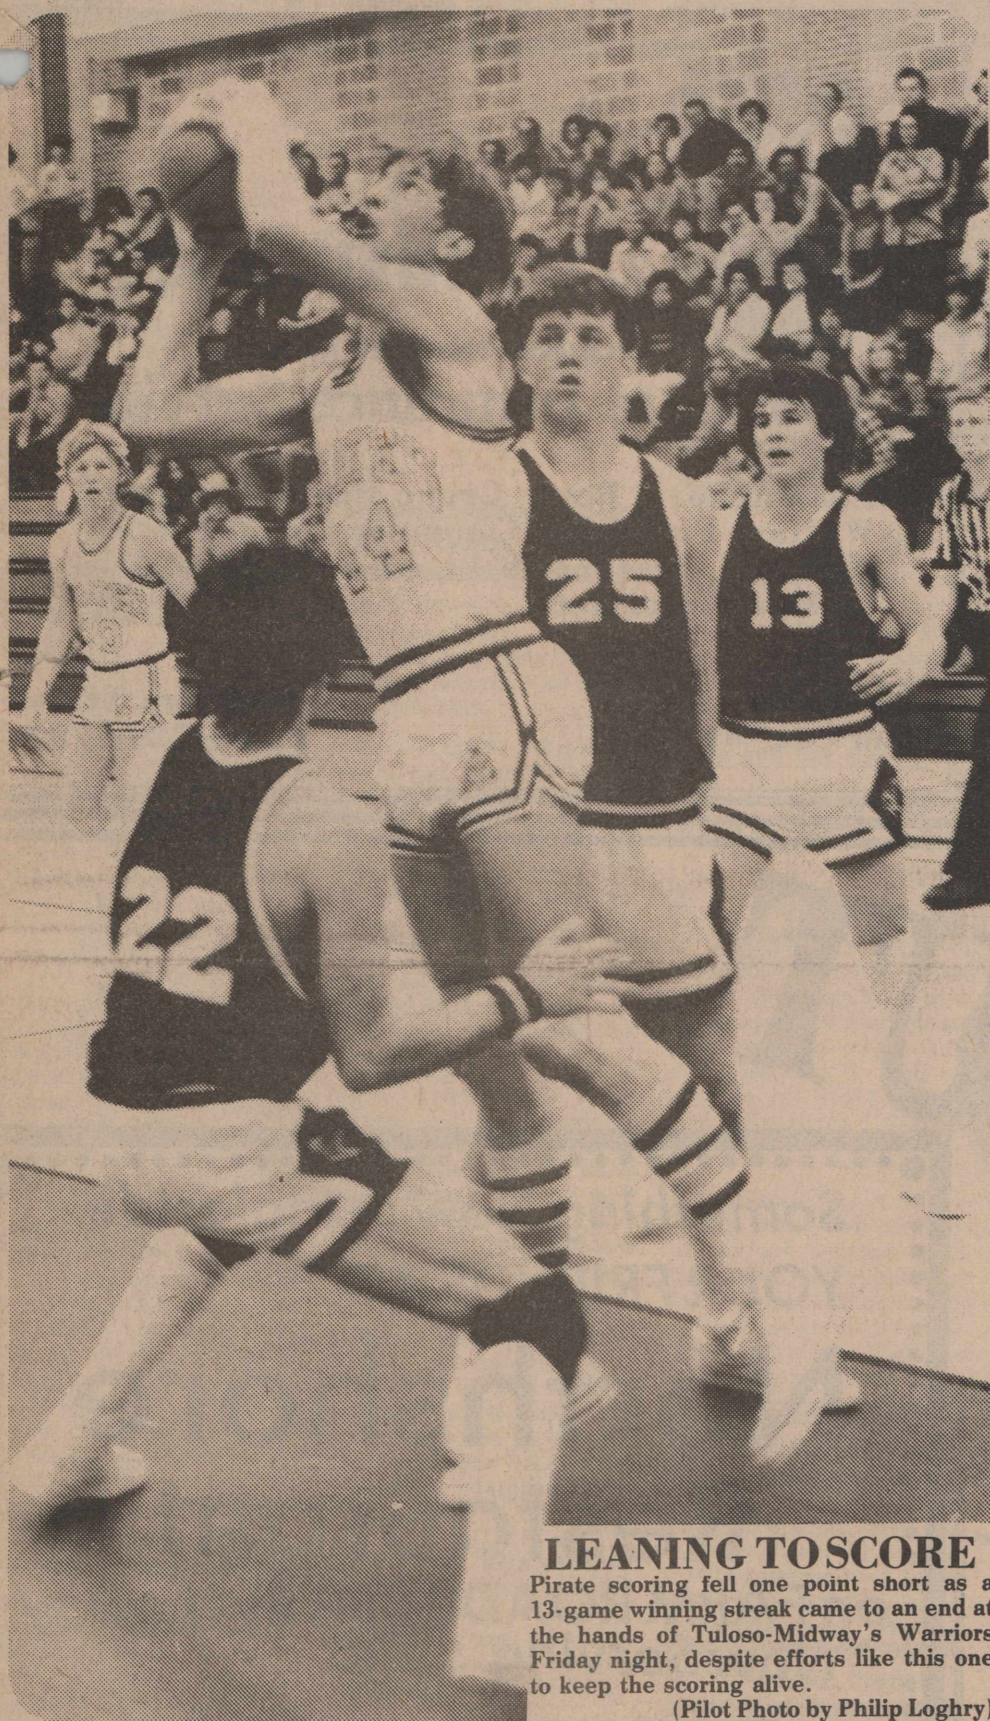

The third period went much like the second, with the teams playing even, and with the Pirates picking up an additional point, cutting the margin of lead for the Warriors to a single marker, 41-40.

The fourth period was going well for the Pirates, as they picked up a four-point lead at 48-44. Then, a tragic set of events took place. A bad pass, a technical foul on Ronnie Lamb, a personal foul, Tuloso taking advantage of each one, all transpired in three seconds, and with another basket after three foul shots, Tuloso jumped ahead 53-48, to give them enough breathing room to hold off the Pirates.

The Pirates tried a valiant attempt with the clock running out, and Mark Setterbo drove to the basket in an attempt to draw a foul, but the Warriors let him go, leaving the score at 55-54. Joe Brooks had 21 points for the Pirates.

This weekend the Pirates will be at Calallen Friday, January 26, at 6:30 p.m., and then Tuesday, January 30, the Pirates will host the Gregory-Portland Wildcats at 8:00 p.m.

LEANING TO SCORE

Pirate scoring fell one point short as a 13-game winning streak came to an end at the hands of Tulos-Midway's Warriors Friday night, despite efforts like this one to keep the scoring alive.

Rockport's Volunteer Fire Department made a total of 124 fire runs for the year 1978 in Aransas County. In the city of Rockport, they responded to 46 fires.

February 21 Last Day For Bobcat Tagging

February 21 is the last day for tagging bobcat pelts for sale, according to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. However, February 15 is the last day for taking bobcats for the purpose of sale of their pelts.

The new tagging system established for the first time allows Texas hunters and trappers to sell bobcat pelts on the international market.

The tags are placed on bobcat pelts by department personnel each Tuesday from November 15 to February 21 at various tagging stations across the state.

Bill Brownlee, head of the department's nongame program, said there apparently is a considerable harvest of bobcats so far this season. "Our Abilene station reported more than 200 pelts tagged during December, and at Alpine we tagged more than 100 during one week," Brownlee said, adding that there may be some other stations with even higher totals.

Park Benefits From Oil

Monahans Sandhills State Park is a lively place these days. There's a working oil well right in the middle of the picnic area. The oil well dates from 1957, when it was drilled by Shell Oil Company just before the West Texas park was opened. But it was not considered productive

Commissioners Table Audit

SINTON—The San Patricio County Commissioners voted Thursday to table consideration of an outside audit of an "Accumulated Fund Account" in the county clerk's office, as requested by County Clerk Dottie Maley.

Mrs. Maley had suggested the audit since there had not been one in over 20 years, and she felt the account should be brought up-to-date. Involved were funds paid in for such items as cost deposits, trust deposits, restitution funds, probate cases, etc. Mrs. Maley emphasized that she was not questioning the accounts as such, but that she felt she should not be held accountable for monies that had not been audited, on a per case basis.

County Auditor Ray Harris told the commissioners that all the accounts had been reconciled to the bank statements on a monthly basis and that he felt sure they were in order, with the possible exception of some minor clerical errors made over the years, in such case the amounts would be negligible, Harris said.

Light Voter Turnout

ARANSAS PASS—Light voter turnout was forecast for Saturday's election to fill a vacancy on the Aransas Pass city council.

City Secretary Ruth Rolls, who handled absentee voting, reported that shortly before noon Tuesday only five voters had cast absentee ballots. Absentee voting ended at 5 p.m. Tuesday, January 16.

Describing the absentee vote as "a pretty good thermometer," Mrs. Rolls said interest in the election seemed to be low and she expected a very light turnout last Saturday.

Four candidates were seeking to serve out the unexpired term of J.T. Marshall, who resigned from place two on the council in September following his arrest on federal drug conspiracy charges.

Since Marshall was re-elected last April, his replacement will serve until April, 1980.

Candidates for the council position included L.D. King, a local surveyor and engineer; Tommy Knight, owner of Knight's Fina Service Station; Marie Price, local realtor, and Eva Ward Young, real estate broker and building contractor.

Flood Insurance Study

REFUGIO—The Federal Insurance Administration (FIA) of the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development has funded a detailed study of the flooding potential in a five-county region along the Gulf Coast including Refugio County.

The FIA, under the authority of the National Flood Insurance Act of 1968 (as amended) and the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973, has provided $1.2 million for this study. The contract has been awarded to an Austin-based engineering and environmental consulting firm, Espey, Huston and Associates, Inc., which has established a field office in Corpus Christi to provide surveying support for the project.

Home Rule Decision

INGLESIDE—Two proposals went before voters Saturday, January 20, that afforded a unique opportunity to mold the future of Ingleside.

At issue was local interest in becoming a home rule city and in authorizing the sale of some 50 acres of park land.

Four absentee votes were cast by noon Tuesday, and while City Secretary Leona Tiner declined to make a prediction on the turnout, she did note that last April's election drew six absentee ballots and a heavy vote at the polls.

Council Denies Budget Cuts

INGLESIDE—Tax protesters lost their bid for relief last Tuesday night as city council voted unanimously to turn down their request that would have meant a $60,000 budget cut.

There was little public reaction to the denial, but privately some members of the tax relief group said they plan to take the city to court.

Dr. W.C. Triplett, after the 7 p.m. special meeting, commented that filing suit is the group's "only recourse."

He said he would contact his attorney Wednesday to seek information on a possible injunction to block tax collections.

Driver's License Needed To Pay County By Check

The Aransas County Tax Office has adopted a new policy regarding acceptance of checks for fees paid to the county.

This new policy affects fees paid for any transaction involving motor vehicles, including license renewals.

Section 2 of House Bill 1976 states that "A tax collector may, but is not required to, accept a check."

The County Tax Office will accept checks in payment of fees, but only upon presentation of a valid, current Driver's License. An out-of-state Driver's license will be accepted; again with the provision that it is current.

Park Railroad Ready For Spring

AUSTIN—One of the signs of spring will be the whistle of a steam engine heard once again at Texas State Railroad State Historical Park in East Texas.

The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department announces the 1979 spring schedule for passenger rides between Rusk and Palestine will begin March 17 and continue through May 20 on Saturdays and Sundays only, with one round-trip each morning and afternoon.

Round-trip adult fare will be $5.75 and one-way $3; for children three through 12, round-trip $3 and one-way $1.75. Reservations are recommended, by writing Texas State Railroad, P.O. Box 39, Rusk, Texas 75785 or phoning (214) 683-2561. Brochures will be available in mid-January on request.

The one- and one-half hour round trip is a nostalgic delight through pineywoods and rolling meadows. An added bonus will be the famed dogwood which blooms profusely in the region during that time of year.

This will be the third full year of operation for the popular railroad in its present function. In the late 19th century it was built to transport iron ore, then passed through various stages until it fell in disrepair. Restoring the railroad as a state park was the culmination of years of civic and government effort and has proved outstandingly successful.

Plans are underway for an expanded summer schedule and will be announced at a later date.

NIBBLINGS

In ancient Rome, strips of parsley were passed around during funeral orations and nibbled on by the audience.

ALL-REGION BAND MEMBERS

Three members of the Rockport-Fulton high school band earned places in the All-Region Band, which performed at Del Mar College January 6. Tryouts for the band were held at Alice. From the left: Belinda Cross, cornet, concert band; Mary Ballou, clarinet, symphonic band; Beth Randow, flute, concert band.

With Our Military

CORPUS CHRISTI—Sharon L. Force, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas A. Force of Rockport, entered the United States Air Force Delayed Enlistments Program on January 16, according to Sergeant Jim Gore, Air Force Recruiter in Corpus Christi.

Airman Force selected the Inventory Management area for job training and will attend a six week basic military training course at Lackland AFB, San Antonio, beginning March 12. She is a 1978 graduate of Rockport-Fulton high school.

CORPUS CHRISTI—Judy Lynn Campbell, wife of James Campbell of Rockport, recently enlisted in the United States Air Force in Corpus Christi. She departed January 3 en route to Lackland AFB, San Antonio, where she will attend a six week basic military training course.

Airman Campbell selected the Electronics area for job training, according to Sergeant Jim Gore, Air Force Recruiter in Corpus Christi. Sergeant Gore said the Air Force still has openings for qualified men and women. His office is located at 723 N. Upper Broadway, Room 210.

Small Business Supports Carter Inflation Program

A majority of small businesses support President Carter's voluntary wage and price guidelines, according to a nationwide poll conducted recently by the National Federation of Independent Business (NFIB). Fifty-two percent of the respondents voted in favor of establishing voluntary targets for increases in wages and prices.

Approximately 41 percent of the respondents opposed the administration guidelines, and seven percent were undecided.

NFIB is a non-profit, non-partisan lobbyist organization for small and independent businesses which, unlike big businesses, cannot individually afford spokesmen to explain their concerns and problems to legislators. With more than 558,000 members, NFIB is the largest small business organization in the United States.

"Carter is finally doing something to curb inflation," stated NFIB President Wilson S. Johnson, "and even though it may be too little, too late, small business is committed to do its part in strengthening the economy." The NFIB Quarterly Economic Report for Small Business consistently finds inflation to be the single most important problem of small firms in America.

"Small business compliance with the president's voluntary inflation program is significant," Johnson continued. "Just six months ago, NFIB members voted against mandatory wage and price controls."

"Carter's voluntary guidelines may slow inflation slightly, but they can't solve the inflation spiral because they do not treat the causes, mainly, large federal budget deficits and excessive growth in the money supply," Johnson continued. "Another major inflationary factor—especially for small, labor-intensive businesses—is that Congress approved a minimum wage increase of 9.4 percent, effective January 1, and further increases for the next two years of 6.9 percent and 8.0 percent. These increases are going to affect the entire wage structure of the United States."

Legal Notice

THE STATE OF TEXAS

TO: EVA MORGAN and any and all persons claiming an interest in and to the net proceeds of the sale of certain properties including that real property situated at 139 Cenizo Street, Rockport, Aransas County, Texas, also known as Lot 20, Block 10, Peninsula Oaks Subdivision, Unit 1, Aransas County, Texas, as shown by the map or plat thereof recorded in Volume 3, Page 14, Plat Records, Aransas County, Texas, Defendant, Greeting:

You are hereby commanded to appear before the Honorable District Court 36th Judicial District of Aransas County at the Court House thereof, in Rockport, Aransas County, Texas, at or before 10 o'clock A.M. of the first Monday next after the expiration of forty-two days from the date of the issuance of this citation, same being the 12th day of March A.D. 1979, then and there to answer Plaintiff's Petition filed in said Court, on the 10th day of May A.D. 1978, in this cause, numbered 5961 on the docket of said court and styled In the Matter of the Marriage of Judith Diane Wilkerson and Allen Ray Wilkerson, Plaintiff, vs. Claude Wilkerson and Margaret Wilkerson Defendant.

ant, and In the Interest of Denise Ray Wilkerson and Ray Allen Wilkerson, Children.

A brief statement of the nature of this suit is as follows, to wit:

Said Agreed Decree of Divorce in Cause No. 5362 ordered that Claude Wilkerson, Trustee, sell said property at 139 Cenizo, Rockport, Texas, and thereafter directed said Trustee, Claude Wilkerson, to pay 15 groups of indebtedness out of the net proceeds of said sale, number 5 therein being to EVA MORGAN in the sum of $500.00, and number 12 therein being for 2 house payments. Said Movant will show that certain expenditures were necessary in order to sell said property, including repairs to said premises, more than two payments, and certain closing costs, and that but for Claude Wilkerson's expenditures which he asks for full reimbursement for, said property would have probably been foreclosed upon for default on said loan indebtedness against same and no net proceeds would have been available to distribute at all. Movant further requests for a pro rata distribution of the remaining portion, if any, of said net proceeds, after that portion due Movant has been deducted, as the Decree of Divorce sets no priority of payments, no order for payments, and no plan such as payments directly related to the proportionate share of the total indebtedness. Said Decree of Divorce also makes no provision for the changing circumstances requiring extra house payments nor for the repairs necessary in order to sell said house. All of said parties, Master Charge, Texaco, Southwestern Bell Telephone Company, First National Bank, Rockport, Texas, Armstrong & McCall, Central Power & Light Company, Roaten Drug Store, Wagley Lumber Company, Inc., Eugene B. Woods, Internal Revenue Service, Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation, Gulf Oil Company, Community Hospital, Diagnostic Clinic, Anesthesiology Associates, Arnold Walker, A.A. Jacobsen, Radiology Associates, Dan M. Queen, Alamo Bone & Joint, H.J. Borchering, Aransas Hospital, Lola L. Bonner, and Tom Stohlanske, have been served, have filed Waivers of Service, have filed Answers before the said Court, or have been otherwise disposed of, except for EVA MORGAN, whose whereabouts remain unknown after a diligent search was made. Movant requests that the funds being held from the sale of said property being held by Stewart Title Company, $4,546.46, be ordered deposited into the registry of the Court for further Order and such relief to which Movant may be entitled.

WHEREFORE, premises considered, Movant prays judgment of the court that said EVA MORGAN and any and all persons claiming an interest in and to the net sales proceeds of 139 Cenizo Street, Rockport, Texas, be cited to appear and answer this petition, and that Movant have judgment for full recovery of all costs and expenses incurred by him in said matters and costs of suit herein, and for such other and further relief, special and general, in law and in equity, that he may be justly entitled to, as is more fully shown by Plaintiff's Petition on file in this suit.

The officer executing this process shall promptly execute the same according to law, and make due return as the law directs. Issued and given under my hand and the Seal of said Court, at office in Rockport, Aransas County, Texas this 22nd day of January, A.D. 1979.

Attest:
Agnes A. Harden Clerk,
District Court, Aransas County, Texas
by Dorothea Montgomery, Deputy.

OLD MEXICO HIDDEN INSIDE. The polished brick floor sets a cool tone for the spacious den with a fireplace trimmed in colorful Mexican tiles, a Cathedral ceiling, and a suspended fan. One wall, all glass, frames an open view of Aransas Bay. The 3 bedrooms upstairs are complimented by 2 baths also done in Mexican tiles. Downstairs, another bedroom/bath open out onto the downstairs patio. Extras include a boat dock, carport area, covered deck, storage area, front and back entrance, and fish-cleaning table. $95,500

A HOUSE TO ENJOY. Arched windows frame a pleasant view and accent the light Spanish motif. A roomy and airy den is the center of activity upstairs. The kitchen and eating areas are off to one side. The 3 upstairs bedrooms and 2 large baths branch off in different directions. Downstairs, a fourth bedroom with bath offers guest accommodations. You can see the healthy palms, but the picture scarcely shows the growing grapefruit or tangelo trees. Extras include boat dock and heavy duty boat lift, carport areas, fish-cleaning table, convenient location for pool and marina facilities. $85,000

CHANGES ARE MADE IN DETERMINATIONS OF THE CITY OF ROCKPORT, ARANSAS COUNTY, TEXAS, BASE FLOOD ELEVATIONS

On February 13, 1978 at 43 FR 6074, the Federal Insurance Administrator published a list of communities with Special Flood Hazard Areas. The list included Flood Insurance Rate Maps for portions of the City of Rockport, Texas.

The Federal Insurance Administrator, Department of Housing and Urban Development, has determined that modification of the elevations of the flood having a one-percent chance of occurring in any given year (base flood) for certain locations in Rockport is appropriate. The new elevations amend the FIA Flood Insurance Rate Map for the community.

The changes are made pursuant to Section 206 of the Flood Disaster Protection Act of 1973 (P.L. 93-234), and are in accordance with the National Flood Insurance Act of 1968, as amended, (Title XIII of the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1968, P.L. 90-448) 42 U.S.C. 4001-4128, and 24 CFR Part 1916.

The addition of base flood elevations are as follows:

Previous FIA Zones	Previous Base Flood Elevations (As On Map)	New FIA Zones	New Base Flood Elevations (MSL)
None	None	Zone A7	8 Feet

Under the above mentioned Acts 1968 and 1973, the Administrator must develop criteria for flood plain management. In order for the community to participate in the National Flood Insurance Program, the community will be using the new elevations to administer the flood plain management measures of the National Flood Insurance Program. These modified elevations will also be used to calculate the appropriate flood insurance premium rates for new buildings and their contents and for the second layer of insurance on existing buildings and their contents.

Upon the second publication of notice of these changes in this paper, any person has 90 days in which he can request through the Chief Executive Officer of the community that the Federal Insurance Administrator reconsider the determination. Any request for reconsideration must be based on knowledge of changed conditions or new scientific or technical data. All interested parties are on notice that until the 90-day period elapses, the Administrator's determination to modify base flood elevations may itself be changed.

Any person having knowledge or wishing to comment on these changes should immediately notify:

Honorable Walter S. Falk, Jr.
Mayor, City of Rockport
319 N. Broadway
P.O. Box 1058
Rockport, TX 78382

Weekend Accident Report

Four accidents were investigated by Texas State Troopers in the Rockport area over the weekend.

Friday afternoon a two-pickup collision sent a two-month old baby to the hospital. (See picture and details elsewhere in this issue.)

Friday, January 19, at 8:50 p.m. two cars collided in front of the Cinema 35 Theatre. One car was driven by Bobby Martin Wyatt of Rockport, southbound on Highway 35. The other car, driven by Albert Lewis Green, Aransas Pass, made a left turn in front of the Wyatt car. A passenger in the Green car, Debra Green, sustained minor injuries. Green was charged with failure to yield the right of way by investigating officers, Deputy Bill Mills and State Trooper Oscar Rivera.

A one vehicle accident at 1:30 a.m. Saturday, January 20, resulted in no injuries for Gary Olson of Gary's Wrecker Service when his vehicle left the road and overturned at a curve on the north end of Fulton Beach Road. Trooper Oscar Rivera investigated.

Sunday, January 21, at 12:01 a.m., a car driven by Lucia Flores Esquivel of Rockport was involved in a one-vehicle mishap. She was westbound on Fulton Avenue just west of the Paws and Taws building, and went through a T-intersection, knocking down some trees on private property. She was cited for unsafe speed by the investigating officer, State Trooper Steve Miller.

State Troopers also reported that four cases of Driving While Intoxicated were noted over the weekend in the Rockport area.

BABY HURT IN WRECK

A two-month old baby was injured in a two-pickup wreck Friday, January 19, at 2:45 p.m. Megan Rae Garcia was taken to Driscoll Hospital in Corpus Christi, after the truck her father was driving was in a collision with one driven by James Patrick Ward of Rockport at the intersection of Verne and Bay streets. The child was in the pickup in the foreground, driven by Gasper Joseph Garcia of Rockport. Ward sustained minor injuries but refused treatment. He was cited for failure to yield the right of way and having no drivers license by the investigating officer, Trooper Oscar Rivera. (Pilot Photo by Carl Hoyt)

Food Stamp Changes Cause Some Confusion

DALLAS—Some confusion has resulted from changes in the food stamp program that went into effect January 1, regional officials of USDA's Food and Nutrition Service report.

Southwest region NFS in Dallas notes that its field offices are getting questions from grocers and their food stamp customers on several program revisions. There is some confusion stemming from food stamp usage where cash change, hot foods purchase, bottle deposits and "cents-off" coupons are concerned.

The agency has explained its regulations about each of those items. Up to 99 cents cash may now be given in change to food stamp customers. When the change due is more than 99 cents, unendorsed $1 food stamps will be given to the food stamp customer. Grocers are no longer to give due bills, credit slips or tokens to make change for food stamps. They are, however, required to honor all such due bills, credit slips and tokens given in change prior to January 1.

Hot foods ready for immediate consumption may not be paid for with food stamps at retail stores. Authorized meal services for communal dining facilities for the elderly and institutions that serve meals to drug addicts and alcoholics are not affected by the 'hot foods' provision.

Deposits on containers, (such as milk bottles) may be paid for with food stamps when the containers hold items eligible for purchase with food stamps.

In the matter of cents-off coupons, they are to be redeemed for food stamp customers in the same manner as they are for cash customers. If cash customers are given cash, food stamp customers should receive cash for their cents-off coupons. If the cents-off coupon value is deducted from the cost of the item for cash customers, it should be deducted for food stamp customers.

Questions about food purchases with food stamps may be directed to the FNS office in Corpus Christi, at No. 2 Parkdale Plaza, Room 209, phone 512/888-3255.

Deaths

WALSTON

Charlotte Anne Walston, 51, died Friday evening, January 26, at her residence in Rockport.

She was born in Carrollton, Mississippi, and had lived in Rockport for the past six years. She was a member of Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Rockport and a member of the Rockport Garden Club.

Survivors include her husband, William G. Walston Sr., Rockport; four daughters, Charlotte Ann Walston, Mary Gee Walston, Jacalyn Kay Walston, Susan Elizabeth Walston, all of Rockport; one son, William G. Walston Jr., Rockport; her mother, Mrs. Charles Gee Ray Sr., Rockport; one brother, Dr. Charles Gee Ray, Columbus, Georgia; one brother-in-law, Carl V. Pierson Sr., Houston; four nephews, Charles Gee Ray III, Mark Christopher Ray and Gregory Ray, all of Columbus, Georgia, Carl V. Pierson Jr., Dickinson, Texas; two nieces, Carol Lyn Ray and Sheri Anne Ray, both of Columbus, Georgia.

Rosary was recited at 7:30 p.m. Sunday at the Marshall Funeral Home Chapel in Rockport. Funeral Mass was celebrated at 9 a.m. Monday at Sacred Heart Catholic Church in Rockport with Msgr. Harold Palmer officiating. Graveside services were held at 10 a.m. Tuesday at Fort Sam Houston National Cemetery in San Antonio, Texas.

In lieu of flowers, the family requests donations be made to the American Cancer Society in the name of Charlotte Anne Walston. Marshall Funeral Home of Rockport was in charge of arrangements.

EMS Reports

The Emergency Medical Services report for the week beginning Monday, January 15, shows a total of 28 runs for the week. Average response time was four minutes and 28 seconds. Units responding traveled a total of 920 miles.

STUCK IN THE MUD

A truck loaded with shingles became mired in the mud in Peninsula Oaks Monday. Another truck was brought in to pull it out and also became stuck. Workmen finally unloaded the shingles before the truck could be pulled out. Heavy rains during the past week caused many problems around the area, ranging from stalled cars to traffic accidents. (Pilot Photo by Kevin Carter)
