Building year's months reviewed

Snyder has now closed the books on the 1983-84 building year, a 12-month time period which saw new construction estimates here rise to near $9.6 million.

The building year included the construction of a new 52-unit apartment complex; a new Anthony's store; two new Dairy Queen buildings; two separate townhouse projects; the renovation of Moffett Field in Towle Park; and permits for some 58 new single family residences and 89 mobile home move-ins.

In all, the City of Snyder issued 270 permits during 1983-84.

—October (1983): the permit was issued for the 52-unit Gulf Coast Construction project, the only apartment complex built during the year. It carried a cost estimate of $850,000. In addition, renovation work at Moffett Field by Scurry County added another $44,600 to the month. The month's total was $1.3 million.

'83-'84 building year reaches $9.6 million

New construction estimates failed to reach the hoped for $10 million mark, but Snyder still enjoyed its best building year in several seasons during 1983-84.

The final cost estimate was near $9.6 million — more than $1 million above the highest figure counted during the 1980s.

The exact figure was $9,593,316 as compared to $6,106,635 last fiscal year. The building year included the construction of a new 52-unit apartment complex here, the single largest permit amount issued for the year at some $850,000.

The largest commercial project begun during the year was the Anthony's department store building, which carried a $609,000 price tag.

The year also featured two new Dairy Queen buildings in Snyder; the renovation of Moffett Field; and two townhouse projects with combined building estimates in excess of $600,000.

The single largest contributor during the year, however, was the construction of new single-family residences. There were 58 permits issued and new construction added almost $4.9 million to the $9.6 million total.

Since the beginning of this decade, Snyder has recorded yearly new construction estimates of $8.4 million, $7.4 million and $6.1 million. These reflect fiscal years 1980-81, 1981-82 and 1982—83 respectively.

The month of September had the lowest new building estimate of the fiscal year. The year ends, however, with two major projects still not on the permit book.

Ask Us

Q. — When did the school board vote not to allow the band to go to the regional and state marching contests?

A. — There has been no such vote taken. Regarding regional or state contests, the band still has to qualify for these at a district contest due Oct. 27 in Abilene. In expectation of winning at district, however, band booster parents have asked to meet with the school board at its October meeting Tuesday.

FBI arrests agent

WASHINGTON (AP) — The FBI today arrested one of its own agents, Richard W. Miller of Los Angeles, and two other people on charges of spying for the Soviet Union.

Miller, 47, is the first FBI agent ever to charged with espionage on behalf of a foreign government.

He is a 20-year veteran of the FBI who was assigned to foreign counterintelligence work in the Los Angeles bureau.

Also arrested were Nikolay Ogorodnikov, also known as Nikolay Wolfson, 51, and Swetlana Ogorodnikova, 34, of Los Angeles. The FBI said they were born in the Soviet Union and emigrated to the United States in 1973.

The FBI said its investigation disclosed "evidence that Miller had conspired with the Ogorodnikovs to pass classified FBI documents, dealing with positive intelligence tasking, to the government of the Soviet Union."

Miller was fired by the bureau on Tuesday, the FBI said, for violation of general standards of conduct for agents as well as violation of specific FBI rules.

"This is a most serious matter, involving a special agent alleged to have committed such a crime against the United States," FBI Director William H. Webster said. "It is an aberration on the proud record of patriotic and dedicated service of thousands of special agents throughout our history. Special agents conducted this investigation and brought this matter to the prosecutive stage."

Justice Department spokesman John Russell said all three defendants were arrested at their residences in Los Angeles in the early morning. They were to arraigned later today.

They were arrested on a federal complaint filed in U.S. District Court in Los Angeles charging them with conspiracy to provide national defense informatin to a foreign government. If convicted, they could receive a top penalty of life in prison.

Activities begin Thursday related to the 1984 Snyder High School Homecoming as the traditional parade is set for 5:30 p.m.

Snyder homecomings are conducted every two years.

This year's parade will begin at the Varsity Square Shopping Center on College Ave. and proceed to the square where students, sports fans and SHS exes are invited to join in a short pep rally on the courthouse grounds.

Friday activities will get underway at 3 p.m. in the SHS Gym with a "Beat Sweetwater" pep rally.

The emphasis will shift to Tiger Stadium at 8 p.m. Friday when the Ragin' Tigers take on the Sweetwater Mustangs in their first district contest of the 1984 season.

Ex-students attending the game are urged to register at the gate as exes. They will receive stickers identifying them as ex-students.

The 1984 Homecoming Queen will be crowned during half-time ceremonies Friday night.

Senior candidates for the queen's title for 1984 are: Shana Hart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Bob Hart; Threasa Ashworth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Ashworth; and Debra Wilson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Wilson.

Juniors nominated to the homecomeing court include: Kima McLarty, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lynn McLarty; Denise Derrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C.G. Derrick; and Rosie Pena, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Pena.

Former students are invited to a reception in the SHS Library following the game while current students will be entertained with a dance in the student center.

One of the most enduring of all publications is the Old Farmers Almanac. The 1985 edition is out, and for 103 years folks have depended on the Farmers Almanac for weather information, planting tables and for livestock breeding dates.

Unlike the ads in the slick magazines, Almanac messages speak to real Americans who are concerned with false teeth falling out, pants falling down, or cures for aching feet and sore knees.

There is also some practical information contained. A "rule of thumb" is said to be a homemade recipe for making a guess and falls somewhere between a mathematical formula and a shot in the dark.

A rule of thumb, for instance, is folks will eat up to two times the number of potatoes mashed as they would eat baked.

Other "rules of thumb:"

--In half of all cases, when an employee calls in sick, he's actually sick.

--A sex-change operation will age you five years.

--Wait a year before throwing out a dress--if you haven't worn it in a year you won't miss it.

--If assaulted, scream Fire. People are more likley to come to your aid than if you shout Help.

--When traveling take half the clothes and twice the money you think you will need.

--When using a chain saw, plan on spending half an hour on maintenance for each two hours of use.

--If you see a mouse in your house, you probably have a family of 12.

--Tall candidates with short names get elected twice as often as short candidates with long names.

--It takes three days to get a cold, three days to have a cold and three days to get over a cold.

--At high speed nothing stays in the same place for long. To avoid a crash, aim at the spot where you see the accident. Chances are the accident will have moved by the time you get there.

--If you have nothing more to go on, bet on the horse that is swishing its tail straight up and down.

Theft noted at Hermleigh school office

Scurry County sheriff's investigators are currently looking into the apparent burglary of the Hermleigh School Monday night.

School employees called county authorities Tuesday morning after discovering missing cash from the superintendent's office.

They note there was no indication of forced entry. It is suspect someone gained entry into the building some time Monday night.

The amount of missing cash was undetermined as of Wednesday morning.

Computer space inquiry action pends

Members of the Scurry County Appraisal District Tuesday tabled any action regarding a district proposal for a computer disc space contract with the City of Snyder.

The action is pending a meeting Thursday with city council members, who have invited the district board to meet with them during a called city session to begin at 6:30 p.m.

The district has requested some type of contract which will specify how much computer space the district is entitled to

In Brief

Re-indicted

EL PASO, Texas (AP) — A federal grand jury has handed down a new 10-count indictment against Hudspeth County Sheriff Mike Armstrong, further defining drug-related conspiracy charges by alleging Armstrong took money in exchange for not arresting people he knew to be violating drug laws.

The indictment, issued late Tuesday, restates charges of conspiracy to sell marijuana and charges of possession of marijuana that were filed against Armstrong Sept. 18.

It also charges Armstrong with accepting money to not enforce drug laws and with warning others of police drug probes. The latest indictment, however, gives no details as to when Armstrong committed the alleged crimes.

U.S. Ambassador...

Nicaragua compared to infected meat

CHARLESTON, W.Va. (AP) — Nicaragua is like an "infected piece of meat" that attracts Cubans and other "insects," the U.S. ambassador to Costa Rica says.

Curt Winsor told a Republican audience that the "insects" also include Palestinians, Basques, Libyans and Eastern Europeans.

"Nicaragua," he said, "is a country that's been taken over by bandits through our own ineptness."

Winsor said that from his post in Costa Rica, he has seen evidence that a Soviet-style regime is being set up in neighboring Nicaragua.

About 40 Republicans attended the breakfast meeting at which the diplomat said a multinational effort is needed against the Sandinista movement in Nicaragua and that the U.S. lacks the will to use its military might in Nicaragua.

Winsor said he does not support U.S. military intervention, but that "the U.S. owes it to the people of Nicaragua to help them out of a situation they do not want."

He said Nicaragua "has become just like an infected piece of meat, attracting these insects from all over."

Nicaraguans are like Texans while Costa Ricans are more reserved, like people in Connecticut, Winsor said. He said this is because Nicaragua is more New World in its culture and Costa Rica is more European.

Winsor said the U.S. is making inroads in Latin America, and that it must set up democracies if it is to smooth relations in the region. He said the democracies do not necessarily have to be pro-American, however.

Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.

Good nutrition builds muscles

By Lawrence Lamb, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — I am 24, male, 5 feet 11 and weigh 175. I do stretching exercises and lift weights. I'm interested in building muscle tissue now that I've worked off most of my body fat. I read that amino acids are essential for building muscle. Do they convert the body fat into energy? I'm taking multivitamins now, but shouldn't I take more concentrated doses of these vitamins? I want to build muscle the healthy way, without using steroids.

I have some bad eating habits. I only eat meats, bread, potatoes and corn, no green vegetables at all. I know this is not healthy, but I simply cannot eat the other stuff. Are there any vitamins I can take to make up for this lack of green nutrition?

DEAR READER — Proper nutrition is very important for developing muscles. You need a balanced diet, and you should include green vegetables in your diet. You need the bulk and minerals they supply, in addition to the vitamins. However, if you take a general-purpose multivitamin tablet, pill or capsule, it will meet all your vitamin requirements. Taking additional amounts will not help you, nor will it improve your muscle-building program.

You need enough calories to provide the energy you need. If you don't get enough calories, the protein in your diet will be used for energy and your muscle-building program will suffer. Each pound of new muscle contains 100 grams of protein, which must be supplied by your diet. You can easily get the complete protein you need from lean meat and milk. The complete proteins they contain have all the amino acids you need or can benefit from.

Of course, you have to follow a proper exercise program, too. I have discussed the main points of diet and exercise for muscle building in a new issue of The Health Letter, Special Report 19, Strength Training: How and Why, which I am sending you. Others who want this issue can send 75 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it to me in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York NY 10019.

Carbohydrates are important in a muscle-building program. They provide the muscle glycogen that is the main source of energy for your initial exercise period. Those short-duration maximum contractions mostly use glycogen that is already stored in your muscle.

DEAR DR. LAMB — At age 5 I had a right inguinal hernia repair. Then, as a teenager, I noticed that my erections were horizontal. At 30, I had a left inguinal hernia repair. Since then, although I have a full erection, it isn't even horizontal, but is pointed down.

DEAR READER — Hernia surgery would not have any effect on erection or subsequent sexual performance, but there are many other reasons for minor variations, many of which have no effect on sexual performance.

Do you know where the term "carat" comes from? According to "The Almanac of Investments," it is derived from the Italian word carato, the Arabic word qirat, and the Greek word keration, all meaning fruit of the carob tree. Tree pods containing seeds were once used to balance scales in Oriental bazaars. Since then the word has been adopted to describe the purity of gold and the weight of precious metals and pearls.

Convicted drunk drivers will also work in community while serving sentence

HENDERSONVILLE, N.C. (AP) — Second-time offenders of the state's drunk driving laws, performing court-ordered community service while they serve mandatory jail sentences, are saving taxpayer dollars, say people who have supervised their work.

At Holmes State Forest on Crab Creek Road, they've planted pine trees, performed maintenance on lawnmowers and trucks, mowed 30 acres of grass several times, cleaned out a trash-filled attic and partitioned it into several guest rooms.

"We've had 12 people so far," said Tom Ennist, supervisor at Holmes. "Two of them are working 100 hours each. If you figure just that time at minimum wage, $3.65, that's over $700 right there."

Second-time offenders ordered to perform community service have also painted the Henderson County Jail and one offender, a licensed electrician, has done the electrical wiring for cameras and microphones there.

County maintenance supervisor Ed Capps estimates the painting saved the county $1,200 to $1,500 and the electrical wiring saved about $350 more.

Under an arrangement that is apparently unique in the state, orchestrated by community service coordinator Stuart Van Meter, there are two "recipient agencies" that pick the offenders up at the jail on Saturday and Sunday mornings and return them to the jail the same afternoons. The other agency is the Elks Camp for Boys on U.S. 25 at the border between North Carolina and South Carolina. Offenders who serve their jail time during the week work for the County Maintenance Department, Van Meter said.

Van Meter is coordinator for Punishment Alternatives for Impaired Drivers Inc., which operates in Henderson and Transylvania counties. PAID was established in October 1983 under the Safe Roads Act and is part of the statewide program that provides the mechanism for judges to order firsttime offenders to perform community service.

A small slam rates a swing

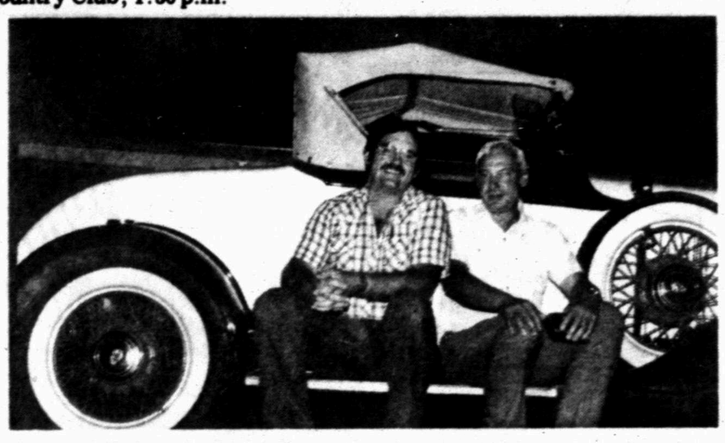

By James Jacoby

Dr. James Tucker of Abilene, Texas, was my partner two months ago in a regional Swiss team event held in St. Louis. "Swiss team" refers to the format of the competition and has nothing to do with either the nationality of the contestants or what type of dairy product they might be carrying in their pockets. My team, and all others, played eight short matches, consisting of seven deals. The team with the best win-loss record at the end of the day wins the event. Since the matches are short, it is possible to know by the sixth or seventh deal of the match if it is reasonable to press a bit.

It was just such a situation for Jim Tucker, who held the South cards. Our opponents had outplayed us on the earlier deals in the match, and both of us knew we needed a pickup. When West bid one club, I passed, hoping the opponents were headed for trouble. Tucker reopened the bidding with one diamond. I cue-bid two clubs and he rightly showed his heart suit. My four-diamond bid was meant not only to force but also to imply slam interest. He needed no further urging. Knowing we needed a good result, he promptly bid six diamonds.

Since our opponents at the other table had stopped in three no-trump, bidding six diamonds was enough to erase our earlier deficit and win this particular match of seven deals.

Christian women to host guests

Snyder's Christian Women's Club will host its annual guest night on Oct. 6 at 7 p.m. in the Snyder Country Club.

Using the theme, "Unique Antiques," CWC will present Brad Kaelin as guest speaker; Art Feinsod, program feature; and J.D. and Donna Smith, special musicians.

Born in Nebraska, Kaelin has lived most of his life in Texas, mostly in Lubbock and Wichita Falls. He is currently employed by Melchem, Inc. He attended Texas Tech University on a football scholarship and his hobbies include computers, snow skiing, racketball and woodworking.

Owner of the Purple Sage Motel for 11 years, Feinsod plans to discuss and display his collection of auto-related antique toys from the 1920's and 1930's. A member of the Kiwanis Club, Feinsod served in the Phillipines with the United States Air Force. He and his wife, Helen, have two children.

Guest night is designed so that husbands and friends of CWC members can become acquainted with the group and what it represents.

The cost of the meal is $7.50 and reservations must be made by noon on Oct. 5 by calling Judy McLarty at 573-5785 or Anne von Roeder at 573-7485. A nursery will not be provided during this month's meeting.

CWC is an interdenominational organization for women. Membership is not required and there are no dues.

Health care society's woes

AUSTIN (AP) — The president of the Texas Hospital Association says "fear is rampant" in hospitals which are suffering declining admissions.

Ray Hurst also said that it is too much to ask hospitals to care for patients and to scrounge enough money to cover medical expenses.

But he said officials are worried that fewer people are entering hospitals and cutting their stay short.

"There is a great amount of paranoia in the hospital industry at the present time," he said. "Fear is rampant."

Reagan's visit nets state GOP $2 million

HOUSTON (AP) — The Texas Republican Party coffers are swelling by an additional $2 million today after some 2,000 people paid $1,000 apiece to dine with President Reagan and Vice President George Bush.

"We exceeded the goal of $2 million," said Jack M. Rains, chairman of 3-D International, a Houston architectural firm, and chairman of Tuesday night's Texas Victory Gala at Houston's Albert Thomas Convention Center. "Many will say that the fat cats are at it again. But let's put it in perspective. We succeeded because many people made a sacrifice and commitment to the President."

Reagan himself referred to the $1,000 admission. "There was a certain sacrifice at the box office for you to be here," he told the crowd.

Some 200 demonstrators gathered outside the convention hall in the hour before the President arrived and were about equally divided between pro- and anti-Reagan forces.

"Our individual voices won't be heard but our presence will be felt," said Mary Branson, 27, of Spring, an anti-Reagan demonstrator and president of the Northwest Houston chapter of the National Organization for Women.

She was shouting "Four more months!" while the President's backers cheered "Four more years!"

Dawn Natividad, 19, of Houston, said she would be cheering in favor of Reagan "even if he can't hear us."

For their $1,000, those attending the affair ate a three-course meal that included filet mignon and chocolate pecan pie.

Meanwhile, just seven blocks away, about 2,000 Democrats paid $5 a head to attend a hot dog dinner staged to counter the Reagan appearance.

The Republican entourage included a 39-person head table, with Reagan seated between former GOP Gov. William Clements and Rains. The room was decked with blue ceiling-to-floor curtains and head table was flanked with white replicas of cactus plants adorned with blinking white lights.

Reagan was preceded into the hall by a parade of flag bearers. Olympic Gold Medal gymnast Mary Lou Retton, who trains in Houston, led the Pledge of Allegiance and country-western singer Lee Greenwood sang "God Bless the U.S.A." a song former Texas Gov. John Connally introduced as "becoming the theme song of the Reagan campaign."

Reagan, in a 20-minute speech that reviewed the accomplishments of his term, thanked Texans for "lending" him Houstonians George Bush and James Baker, the White House chief of staff.

"George is, in every sense of the word, an invaluable part of our administration," Reagan said.

Reagan had just about completed his speech when a woman seated directly below him stood up, interrupted him and tried to give him an envelope.

Felicia Ughanze, who said she was a university student from Nigeria and lived in Houston with her three children, said it was her 10-year dream to give her letter to Reagan.

As Secret Service agents closed in quickly, Reagan advised the woman to "give it (the letter) to them. They'll see that I get it." She left the audience and was not detained by authorities.

Afterward, she said she was seeking citizenship for herself and her husband. She said she obtained her ticket from a "worker" whom she refused to identify.

U. S. considering underground base

NEW YORK (AP) — The Air Force has proposed constructing a huge nuclear missile base 3,000 feet underground which could survive a nuclear attack and have retaliatory capacity within three days, the New York Times reported today.

The Air Force made the proposal to Defense Secretary Caspar Weinberger in July following a two-year study, claiming the proposal was both militarily and technologically feasible, the Times said. Intercontinental ballistic missiles would be stored in the base, the report said.

The cost of constructing the base, which would be built in the 1990s, has been estimated at up to $50 billion, the Times reported. The Air Force spent $10 million studying the plan in fiscal 1984, and might spend the same amount in the current fiscal year, the report said.

The exact cost of the plan would depend on the extent of the base, the number and type of missiles built, the site's geology and the speed with which it would have to be constructed, the Times said.

The base would resemble a 400-mile subway system some 2,500 to 3,000 feet underground, probably in the desert of the western United States, the Times said. It would be able to survive for one year after a nuclear attack, according to the report.

The proposal would supplant the MX missile program, a controversial plan that faces a critical vote in Congress next spring, the Times reported. The MX plan was to place 100 missiles in concrete silos underground.

The Times reported there was no indication whether Weinberger had reached a decision on the Air Force proposal.

Tigers dump Kansas City; no fault with rookie umps

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) - Amateur umpires are no problem when the Detroit Tigers make the Kansas City Royals look like amateur players.

"We sure can't blame the umpires for what happened," said Frank White, one of only four Royals to get a base hit Tuesday night in the opening game of the best-of-five American League Championship Series.

The fact the Tigers whipped them 8-1 was not as galling to the Royals as how it happened. The Tigers, the Eastern Division champs who won 104 games in the regular season, jumped on their hosts with a combination of pitching, power, and, insist the Royals, plain old luck.

"We knew they were good. We didn't know they were lucky, too," said White. "That hardly seems fair. They didn't win 104 games by being slouchy. But it did seem like every ball we hit hard was hit straight at somebody. And except for the home runs, most of their hits were just barely out of reach."

By then, Alan Trammell's single, triple and home run had led the Tigers to a 5-0 lead off Kansas City's Bud Black and the issue was all but settled.

Larry Herndon and Lance Parrish also hit solo home runs for the Tigers, who have won eight straight games in Royals Stadium dating back to their final meeting in 1983.

"I don't understand why we seem to always play well here," said Parrish, who drove in the Tigers' second run with a sacrifice fly in the first inning. "I don't expect there is a true reason for it other than we're playing good ball."

Tonight the Royals go with 20-year-old right-hander Bret Saberhagen. He was 3-1 against the Tigers in the regular season and will oppose Dan Petry as the Tigers seek to take a commanding two-game lead back to Detroit.

Everyone agreed the amateur umpires, rushed into action to replace the striking regulars, did a fine job. Behind the plate was Bill Deegan, a 10-year major league veteran who retired in 1980.

"The umpiring certainly did not have anything to do with the outcome of the game," said Royals Manager Dick Howser, whose playoff record fell to 0-7. "Bill Deegan had been a good umpire for 10 years, and he was a good umpire tonight."

Chicago sets records in beating San Diego

CHICAGO (AP) - Bob Dernier set the tone and Gary Matthews set the pace in a record-shattering display of power, but it was Keith Moreland's defensive gem that put a lock on the outcome.

The Chicago Cubs smashed five home runs, two by Matthews who drove in four runs, on their way to a 13-0 romp Tuesday over San Diego in the opening game of their best-of-five National League Championship Series.

Dernier homered on losing pitcher Eric Show's second pitch which Matthews said "set the precedent for our club. Bobby hit a fastball, we're a fastball-hitting club and Show is a fastball pitcher. The quick run takes the pressure off and everyone tends to relax."

Matthews didn't relax too much. He also homered in the first inning to hand Rick Sutcliffe a 2-0 lead, and his three-run homer triggered a six-run fifth to put the issue beyond doubt.

Matthews put a leg up on the series' Most Valuable Player award which he won last year with the Philadelphia Phillies. But he told his teammates "Don't be afraid to dethrone me."

It might not be easy, but others gave it a try. Sutcliffe allowed only two hits, struck out eight in the seven innings he pitched and he cracked a homer and a single.

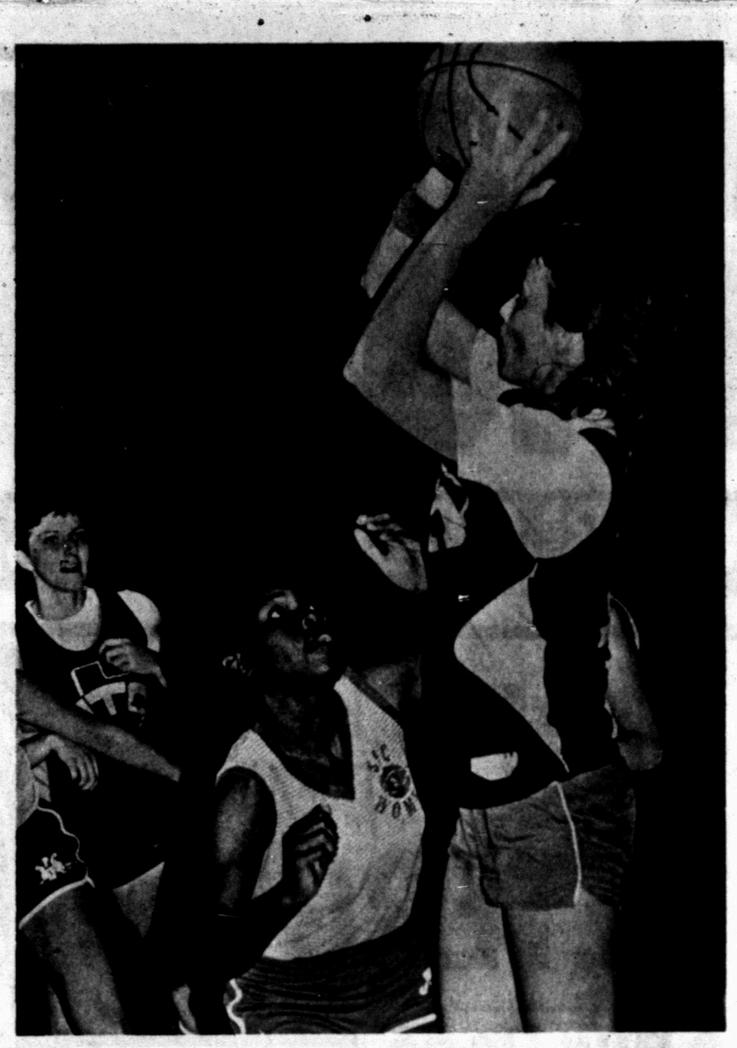

Dernier also had a double and two walks and scored three times and Ron Cey also homered giving the Cubs an NLCS record of five round trippers.

Other series records included Matthews homering in four straight games dating back to last season; the Cubs' 16 hits; the biggest shutout score and the biggest margin of victory.

With one out in the fourth, Steve Garvey beat out a bunt single. Graig Nettles flied out, but Terry Kennedy and Kevin McReynolds both walked to fill the bases. Carmelo Martinez ripped a drive to right and Moreland speared the ball with a diving catch.

"There was no doubt I caught the ball," said Moreland.

San Diego Manager Dick Williams kept a low tone, but said, "That was one loss. We didn't play too well. We were blown out, the long ball got us. I thought it would be a low-scoring game. It was, for us."

Dusters scrimmage Howard Queens here

Coach Joe Cushing's WTC Dusters entertain Howard College in scrimmage action here today. The Dusters overwhelmed South Plains last week, but Cushing was looking for a more even match today.

The team was to scrimmage Howard College at 3 p.m. in the college gym.

"Defensively we just really were devastating," said Cushing of the scrimmage with South Plains. "We've still got a long way to go. The only things we had worked on were our man (man-to-man) defense and offense. Defensively, I couldn't have been happier. The girls did a fantastic job."

As an indication of how dominate WTC was, South Plains scored only four points against the Dusters while on offense. Meanwhile the Duster defense had to steal the ball or rebound before they were allowed to try to score. (On out-of-bounds calls or fouls by either team the ball reverted back to the offense.) WTC racked up 22 points.

"I know today it will be a different story though," said the coach. "South Plains was awful young. They had a lot of freshmen. Howard will be a much stronger test."

Today's scrimmage called for the same type format - teams switching off working on offense and defense. Cushing said they may "go a little more fullcourt, and may work some on zone."

Cushing said the most suprising pluses coming from the scrimmage with SPC was the heady play of freshmen Rhonda Chisum, Renee Raemakers, Lenetta Richardson and Leslie Rose.

Westerners slate several workouts

Coach Phil Spradling's WTC Westerners have scheduled a series of scrimmages, the first to be held Friday in Lubbock.

The Westerners, defending Region V champions, will work against Lubbock Christian College at 4 p.m. Friday.

Other scrimmages, all on the road, include Wayland Baptist at 3 p.m. on Oct. 19 and Ranger and Kilgore at Hardin Simmons University in Abilene on Oct. 27. WTC will scrimmage Ranger at 9

Orr receives AP recognition

AUSTIN (AP) - Coach Fred Akers of No. 1-ranked Texas says Terry Orr played the best game of his career in the Longhorns' 28-3 victory over Penn State but probably would be the first to say he can do even better.

Orr, a fifth-year senior, scored on a 51-yard run and had 108 yards on 15 carries.

"Terry did everything you can ask of a back," said Akers. "He ran well, blocked well, he caught the ball when we threw it to him."

For his performance, Orr was selected by The Associated Press as the Southwest Conference's of-

New top 20 teams indicate parity in college football

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
AP Sports Writer

Who are these folks and what are they doing in the Top Twenty?

Along with the Texases, Ohio States and Oklahomas, this week's Associated Press Top Twenty contains the likes of Oklahoma State (No. 9, its highest ranking since 1945), Georgia Tech (No. 12, its best since 1966) and - would you believe - Vanderbilt (No. 19). Oklahoma State and Georgia Tech have made it from time to time over the years, but Vanderbilt's last appearance in any of the weekly ratings was in 1958.

"This isn't the Vanderbilt of the past - it's the Vanderbilt of the present and the future," linebacker Steve McCoy said after last weekend's 30-21 whipping of Alabama, giving the Commodores a 4-0 record for the first time since 1950.

And knocking on the door are such strangers to the rankings as Syracuse, which stunned No. 1 Nebraska 17-9; South Carolina, 3-0 after downing No. 12 Georgia 17-10, and Kentucky, 3-0 for only the third time since 1950. And if Syracuse is knocking on the door, can Rutgers, which defeated the Orangemen 19-0 one week earlier, be far behind?

Up to a point, parity has arrived in college football.

"The top teams in the country are still the top teams in the country regardless of some shocking starts this year," says Rutgers Coach Dick Anderson. "But some other teams in Division I-A have made great strides. More schools are looking for ways to improve their programs. There seems to be a constant battle to keep up with the Joneses - improving facilities and support services, recruiting methods and what you do with mailings and brochures. You still have those strong teams, but everyone else is getting stronger."

Nowhere are things more in a state of upheaval than the Southeastern Conference, where the only teams still unbeaten and untied are longtime doormats Kentucky and Vanderbilt.

"I said the 30-95 (scholarship limitation) rule would bring a lot of parity," says Kentucky's Jerry Claiborne. "You've still got teams which year in and year out will always be there in the Top Ten and Top Twenty. But you also have the opportunity that someone can beat those teams, although you're not going to beat them regularly week after week. I don't think parity has completely arrived. Check the Top Twenty teams every year and 16 of them will probably be there every year."

Vanderbilt's George MacIntyre, whose main claim to fame in the past was his strong facial resemblance to former President Jimmy Carter, says the Commodores "will fight like the devil" to keep their ranking, adding that his players "know where they came from and don't want to go back."

Where it all stops nobody knows, but Vandy and Georgia Tech have higher dreams than just being ranked.

"It's great to see your team goals, set prior to the season, in sight," said McCoy. "You can't be No. 1 without first getting into the Top Twenty."

Tomlin anticipates sellout for Tiger homecoming tilt

Homecoming, a victory on the books, the opening of district season and the chance to play what some regard as a top 15 team - they all add up to make for an exciting week in Snyder High School football.

"We know that our fans are going to come out and support us. The crowds at the last two home games have been great. I don't know when the last time Snyder had three sellout games. We're really looking forward to it," beamed Coach Dennis Tomlin, whose Tigers open the District 2-4A season by hosting Sweetwater on Friday.

Snyder comes into the game off of a 28-18 victory over Brownfield a week ago. The win broke an 18-game losing string that went back to 1982. Add the facts that Snyder and Sweetwater have been close rivals for years and that it is homecoming for the Ragin' Tigers, and the game is certain to be played in a highly-charged atmosphere.

"We're looking forward to the opportunity to play Sweetwater. They'll be ranked number 11 in the state (Harris Rating Service)," said Tomlin. "It's a close rivalry. I've heard that there is a lot of tradition in this game. They usually play each other well. We're looking to give our best effort."

Some coaches feel that all the usual homecoming festivities distract their players' concentration for the game, but Tomlin does not.

"That will be a positive thing for us, to have our exes come back and watch us play. Homecoming will be a success if we can win the ballgame. We're going to give it our best shot," he said.

Kickoff is 8 p.m. Snyder is 1-2 for the season. Sweetwater is 2-1.

Underclassmen on the road

In other football action this week, Snyder junior varsity, eighth graders and seventh graders are all scheduled to play in Sweetwater tomorrow (Thursday).

The Cat junior varsity, 2-1, plays in Sweetwater at 7. Eighth grade games are scheduled for 4 and 6 p.m. while seventh grade games are planned for 4 and 5 o'clock.

Snyder's freshmen are idle this week, and will host Sweetwater on Oct. 11.

TERRY ORR

"I think that's the best ball game he's played," Akers said. "The thing Terry probably will tell you is two or three ways that he can improve from his performance."

Safety Byron Linwood of Texas Christian beat out Texas linebacker June James for the SWC defensive player of the week. Linwood had 20 tackles in TCU's 26-17 loss to Southern Methodist.

"In the past, a loss to SMU has meant 'Here we go again.' But we still promise a winning season this time," said Linwood.

Akers says Orr, 6-foot-3 and 231 pounds, is "one of the best all-around football players I've ever had the pleasure of coaching."

To illustrate Orr's versatility, Akers noted that he played tailback and fullback against Penn State and also could play tight end or wingback. "Terry is very versatile, he's the most versatile football player that we've had here" since Akers became head coach eight years ago.

Although Orr had only 699 career rushing yards prior to this season, he has picked up 141 yards in two games and now leads the team in rushing. "I'm satisfied with my career," said the former Abilene Cooper blue-chipper.

"The people who ask me if I'm disappointed with what I've done just don't know very much about our offense. All I know is, since I've been here we've won a whole lot of football games."

Spikers challenge Lamesa Thursday

Coach Penny Bane's Tigers square off against Lamesa for the third time this season Thursday night.

The 7:30 varsity match will be preceded by freshmen and junior varsity contests at 5 and 6:30 respectively. Tickets are $1 for adults and 50 cents for students. All three matches will be held at Snyder High School Gym.

Snyder goes into the match with a 6-1 loop volleyball record, tied with Monahans and Pecos for the District 2-4A lead. The Tigers are 11-8 on the season which includes a non-district loss and a district win over the Golden Tornadoes.

Snyder defeated Lamesa 15-11, 15-10 in loop play in Lamesa on Sept. 11. The Tors, who lost to Andrews last Thursday, are 3-4 in district play, 15-11 for the season.

Starters for Snyder are expected to be spikers Donna Anderson, Gina Vaughn, Karlene Thompson, Allison Adams, Hope Hernandez and setter Sabrina Sullivan. Kima McLarty should also see action.

Lamesa relies on the spiking of 5-11 senior Kelli Gillespie and floormate Vera Jones, a 1983 all-loop pick. Setters are Terri Guzman and Jennifer Smith.

Hass new Braves manager

ATLANTA (AP) - Eddie Haas, who languished as a minor league manager, instructor and coach for 20 years, will get his chance at the big time in 1985 as manager of the Atlanta Braves.

Club owner Ted Turner made the announcement Tuesday at a news conference at Atlanta-Fulton County Stadium. Haas, 49, replaced Joe Torre, who was fired Monday. Haas was signed to a one-year contract. Terms were not announced.

Prosecutors say they 'backed into' Donovan inquiry

NEW YORK (AP) — Investigators "backed into" the fraud case against Labor Secretary Raymond Donovan while probing two gangland-style slayings allegedly linked to Donovan's former company, which also was indicted, authorities say.

Bronx District Attorney Mario Merola said the murder investigations, coupled with information from federal probes into Donovan's business dealings, created a "mosaic" of evidence which led to the labor secretary's indictment.

Donovan, nine other people and two companies pleaded innocent Tuesday to 137 felony charges. The defendants are accused of inflating the value of work on a subway construction job in 1979 and overcharging the New York Transit Authority by $8 million.

The grand larceny charge carries a maximum penalty of seven years in prison. The other counts each carry maximum four-year sentences.

Donovan, 54, is believed to be the first Cabinet officer to be named in a criminal indictment. He took an unpaid leave of absence immediately after learning of the charges.

He reiterated his innocence Tuesday and asked state Supreme Court Judge Barry Salman to expedite his case. Donovan was released without bail and a hearing was set for Nov. 12.

Donovan was executive vice president of Schiavone Construction Co. of Secaucus, N.J., when it won the $186 million subway job and hired Jopel Contracting and Trucking Corp. of the Bronx as a minority subcontractor.

Because the project was subsidized by the Urban Mass Transit Administration, federal rules required that 10 percent — approximately $18 million — had to go to a minority-owned business. One of Jopel's owners was a black state senator, Joseph Galiber, who also was charged in the indictment.

Merola said the Donovan investigation began with a probe into the death of Nathan Masselli, who was gunned down in the Bronx on Aug. 23, 1982.

His father, William Masselli, a convicted truck hijacker linked to the Genovese crime family, was indicted in the fraud case along with Donovan.

Prosecutors said Nathan Masselli was murdered to foil a federal investigation by special prosecutor Leon Silverman into Donovan's alleged mob ties. Two men were convicted last November in the Masselli slaying.

Meanwhile, Merola said, the investigation of the Masselli murder persuaded Bronx prosecutors to take a second look at the killing of reputed mobster Salvatore Frascone on Sept. 22, 1978.

The investigators discovered that Frascone — an alleged member of the Bonnano mob — had been slain following a gangland "sitdown" to decide which minority subcontractor Schiavone would hire, Merola said.

Frascone had opposed Jopel and was killed to smooth the way for the Bronx subcontractor, according to the district attorney.

"We investigated the first homicide, which led us to the second homicide, which backed us into Donovan," Merola said.

The thread tying the cases together was William Masselli, who is alleged to have been the real head of Jopel. He and Joseph Bugliarelli were indicted Tuesday for the Frascone slaying.

The two were charged with murder, although prosecutors said the actual triggerman was a bodyguard turned federal informant.

There was nothing linking Donovan to the two murders or indicating he personally filled out the false business forms that led to the grand jury indictment against Schiavone and its officials, Merola said.

"Jopel got an $18 million contract, but they did not receive $8 million of that," said Merola, who charged that Schiavone officials stole the missing money.

The two companies and 10 individuals each were charged with one count of grand larceny, 125 counts of falsifying business records and 11 counts of false government filings.

Merola charged that Donovan, as a "principal officer" of Schiavone, "was actively engaged" with the other defendants and "was a beneficiary. He certainly got the benefit of all of this skullduggery."

Donovan has insisted the Bronx case is a politically motivated rehashing of the Silverman investigation. Merola is a Democrat.

Merola admitted Tuesday "the timing is most unfortunate," coming five weeks before the November presidential election. He said he had hoped to bring charges earlier, but encountered delays and had to act before the end of a five-year statute of limitations.

Congress heads for adjournment

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress stampeded toward adjournment today after the Senate plowed under major civil rights and environmental legislation in an effort to pass an omnibus spending bill necessary to keep the government solvent after midnight.

Senators convened at 11 a.m. Tuesday and worked into this morning in an effort to complete action on the money bill so that congressional negotiators could begin hammering out a compromise with a version passed last week by the House.

The Senate had been bogged down since last week in bitter wrangling over civil rights legislation aimed at nullifying a Supreme Court limit on the application of federal anti-discrimination laws.

But the Senate voted 53-45 Tuesday night to table — in effect kill — the so-called Civil Rights Act of 1984.

It was a dramatic end to a five-day deadlock.

"Shame on this body, shame on this body," Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., a co-sponsor of the legislation, shouted at his colleagues in a hushed Senate chamber.

"OK. Discrimination. We'll tuck it under the mattress until next year," he said, reiterating that tabling the legislation would make this "a shameful day for this body."

Sen Bob Packwood, R-Ore., the other co-sponsor of the legislation, reluctantly joined the GOP leadership in the tabling move.

Supporters repeatedly demonstrated that they had the votes in favor of the House-passed measure, but opponents threw enough procedural roadblocks in the way that Senate ccivity stalled as deadlines for action on the money bill and congressional adjournment drew closer.

In a Feb. 28 ruling, the Supreme Court limited the application of a law enabling the government to withhold aid from colleges and other institutions that engage in sex bias. Under the decision, the cutoff of funds may apply only to the specific department or program in which the discrimination took place — not the entire institution.

The pending civil rights legislation was aimed at reversing that decision, but conservatives blocking the measure said it would go far beyond restoring federal laws to their status before the ruling and unduly expand federal powers.

The vote Tuesday night allowed the Senate to move on to consider other amendments to the spending bill.

Even after cutting through the stalemate on the civil rights bill, senators had to sift through a stack of other amendments as legislators made the usual session-end rush to tack pet projects onto "must" legislation such as the money bill.

But the momentum created by breaking the civil rights logjam, in addition to the prospect of Congress adjourning for the year by the end of the week, helped to hold off other amendments to the money bill.

For example, the Senate voted 59-38 against an effort to consider expanding the $1.6 billion "superfund" toxic wastes cleanup program to $6 billion.

"This affects the health and lives of millions of Americans," Sen. George Mitchell, D-Maine, argued unsuccessfully. "The drinking water of millions and millions of Americans is being contaminated. We're left with no alternative."

Consideration of the superfund was given little more time than a move by Sen. Dennis DeConcini, D-Ariz., who sought an antitrust exemption for the franchising of beer distributors. That was defeated, 68-28.

Action on the omnibus money bill was necessary because most of the federal government was operating under stopgap legislation which would expire at midnight.

Seasonal Fire Prevention Makes Sense All Year Long

By Abigail Van Buren

1984 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR READERS: Last year in the United States, 6,137 people died in fires. The total loss in property alone came to $6.13 billion.

In Canada there were 675 fire-related deaths. The property damage was $998.89 million.

This is Fire Prevention Week, and although fires occur throughout the year, each season has its own special fire hazards. Here are some tips for all seasons:

FALL: If you enjoy camping, select a tent made of flame-resistant fabric. Pack a reliable flashlight with plenty of extra batteries to light the inside of your tent—never use matches or candles. When building a campfire, place it downwind of your tent. And never try to hasten the burning by using gasoline or other flammable liquid starters.

If you use your fireplace, have your chimney professionally cleaned in the fall to make sure it's in good condition for the coming season.

WINTER: More fires occur during winter than in any other season. The reasons: home heating and the holiday season.

If you use a portable heater, be sure it is placed away from combustibles—draperies, furniture, paper, etc. Remember, the surface heat of some portable heaters may reach 500 degrees, so keep a careful watch on your children and warn them to keep away from heaters. Hospitals are treating an increasing number of patients with burns resulting from contact with the outside surface of some portable heaters.

For a Merry Christmas, choose a Christmas tree that does not have shedding needles, and keep it standing in water while it is in the house. If you choose an artificial tree, choose one that is flame-resistant.

After holiday parties, before retiring, check your ashtrays for smoldering cigarette butts, and carefully examine all upholstered chairs and sofas to make sure that no "live" cigarette butts have fallen between the cushions. Remember, most house fires occur between 8 p.m. and 8 a.m., when people are sleeping.

SPRING: Take spring cleaning seriously—clean out your attic, basement, garage and workshop. Throw out trash, especially combustibles such as rags, newspapers, magazines, boxes and scraps of wood. Never smoke while fueling gas-powered lawn mowers or chain saws. If you must store gasoline, store it in a ventilated area in a can designed especially for that purpose. And store oily rags and paint in a cool place in tightly sealed metal containers.

SUMMER: When cooking out, never use flammable liquids near live coals. An explosion or flash fire could result. When you've finished cooking, soak the coals with water and make absolutely sure they're out when you leave. Smoldering coals that appear to be "dead" can reignite as much as a day later. If you use a propane gas grill, always have the lighted match in position before turning on the gas.

Some tips for all seasons:

— Never smoke in bed.

— Never leave invalids or small children alone in the house—not even for "a few minutes."

— Never use flammable liquids for dry cleaning indoors.

— Have periodic fire drills in your home to be sure everyone knows what to do in case of fire.

— Keep easy-to-use fire extinguishers in your kitchen, cottage, back bedrooms and on your boat. And if you can afford smoke detectors, install them and be sure that they are always dust-free and in working order.

— The phone number of your fire department should be taped to every telephone in your house. If it isn't, should a fire occur, don't waste time trying to find it; get out, and call from a neighbor's house. And once you are out, stay out. No treasure is worth risking your life for.

It took less than three minutes to read this column. Was it worth it? I hope so.

Houston gunmen kill man's kinfolk

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston gunmen killed three members of Joey LaBelle's family in two separate incidents, and the Massachusetts man came here this week to see one of the murderers sent to prison.

He came with his brother-in-law, watched a judge sentence the murderer and then quickly headed back home because, LaBelle says, Houston seems a dangerous place.

"I had to see him," said LaBelle of the man convicted of killing his second brother. "I just wanted to look at this guy."

Rickey Stewart, 28, was sentenced in a state district court here Monday to 45 years in prison for the robbery-slaying of LaBelle's 28-year-old brother, David.

David LaBelle was killed May 20, 1983 while talking long distance on a telephone to his brother-in-law, Arthur McGowan, in Massachusetts.

McGowan, who also came to see Stewart sentenced, said David LaBelle's last words were to ask about the time.

After that, McGowan told the Houston Chronicle, "I didn't hear anything and then I heard what sounded like a car door slamming."

The next day, a Houston funeral home called McGowan's wife to say David LaBelle was dead.

It was an experience the family had felt once before.

In August, 1981, LaBelle's mother, Bertha Hudson, 55, and a brother, Mike LaBelle, were hit by gunfire during a gun fight in the bar owned by the family.

Mrs. Hudson died immediately, along with a bar patron. Mike LaBelle died a few days later in a hospital.

Authorities have made no arrests in the triple killings, but are looking for two gunmen.

After those shootings, Joey LaBelle said he urged his brother, David, to leave Houston. But David stayed.

"He always told me on the phone" that he wanted to stay in Houston "just in case anything breaks" in the murder investigation, Joey LaBelle said.

Nothing ever has and now David, too, is dead.

McGowan and Joey LaBelle said they were both shocked by the Houston violence that has affected their lives.

"I'm a cop," said McGowan, an officer in Northbridge, Mass. "I wouldn't be a cop here (Houston). They couldn't pay me enough to come down here. Everybody carries guns."

Joey LaBelle said he took some comfort from the 45-year sentence given Stewart.

"It made me feel that at least there's a little justice in the world," said LaBelle. "I'm not happy about the verdict, but it's better than nothing."

"You can't dwell on this," he added. "If you do, it affects your life. You just have to go on."

Texas High Court to hear lawsuit

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Supreme Court agreed today to review the state's plea that its child-care licensing law applies to church-operated homes.

State District Judge Charles Mathews and the Waco Court of Appeals ruled against the state, but the Supreme Court said it would hear arguments Dec. 12.

The case arose in 1980 when the state sought an injunction to stop the Corpus Christi People's Baptist Church from operating child-care facilities without obtaining a license from the Department of Human Resources.

The church operated the Rebekah Home for girls and two homes for boys, which were transferred to the church from Roloff Evangelistic Enterprises, a charitable organization, in 1979.

The church pastor was the Rev. Lester Roloff, who died in a plane crash in November 1982.

In blocking efforts of the state to license the homes, the church objected that any inspection would involve the evaluation of the religious aspects of the homes.

Children in the homes, which were administered by "born-again" Christians, attend church three times a week and have Bible study.

City permits end for year

These include the construction of a new Furr's Supermarket here and the building of the city's first senior citizen housing project.

The combination of these two projects should carry new construction costs well in excess of the $1 million mark. Permits for both are expected to be issued early in 1984-85.

The September total did include one new commercial project, an oilfield pump service to be opened at 2710 25th St. A permit totaling some $41,000 was applied for by Mike Goebel.

The month featured also two new single-family residence applications and seven mobile home move-ins.

The single-family residences carry a combined new construction estimate of some $223,000. The mobile homes accounted for almost another $105,000.

Permits for single family residences were issued to Billy Martin for a residence at 1509 Augusta Drive; and to Perell Homes for a residence at 3206 Irving.

Mobile home permits were issued to C.W. Treadway, 2101 O'Neil; Art Ziebarth, 2609 23rd St.; Jackie Burns, 2403 Merrill; Kenneth McClain, 702 35th St.; Joe Doan, 2309 O'Neil; Kevin Courtney, 3010 Ave. F.; and Debra Medrano, 2301 Peyton.

One arrest noted

Snyder police logged only one misdemeanor arrest Tuesday as a local man was jailed for public intoxication.

Judge sets bond for each family member

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — An Immigration judge set $50,000 bond each for the mother, father and sister of fugitive Taiwan businessman Wellington P. Cheng. The government had asked for no bail or a minimum of $1 million apiece.

Immigration agents, saying they acted on a tip, arrested the family members here Monday on charges of overstaying their visas. The family's deportation hearing Tuesday afternoon immediately moved into the bail question and never left it before adjournment about two hours later.

Cheng, 35, and his parents are wanted in Taiwan for investigation of a multi-million-dollar fraud case involving bad checks.

"These are typical working people," defense attorney Marshall G. Whitehead said of the parents and sister. "They live in a modest lifestyle, nothing remotely close to a million-dollar one. They own their property, and I don't know if they can make any bond but they have a constitutional right to have one set."

However, John Holya, a trial attorney for the U.S. Immigration and Naturalization Service, told Judge John Zastrow the amount involved is in excess of several million dollars and "there is no doubt we'll never see them again" if bond was allowed.

U.S. warrants charging Wellington Cheng with tax and visa violations were issued in Los Angeles after he failed to appear ax deportation hearing.

Cheng's father, Sung Song Cheng, 54; his mother, Chen Hao Cheng, 50; and sister, Su Mei Cheng, 29, who also goes by a married name of Michelle Lin, were returned to the Maricopa County jail after the hearing.

They learned of the decision through an interpreter. Mrs. Cheng brushed away tears.

Asked what happens next, Holya told a reporter, "If they remain in custody, the deportation case will be settled as expeditiously as pssible. If bond is raised, the case will be set on the regular court calendar — three or four months from now."

Whitehead agreed with that analysis.

Wellington Cheng, whose real name is Weng Ping Cheng, gained publicity in California in 1981 when he reported that burglars had broken into his Bel-Air home and stolen $8 million in valuables, jewels and art works.

Some of the valuables were recovered later by divers who found them submerged in the ocean off the Redondo Beach pier.

Taxpayers might foot bill

AMARILLO, Texas (AP) — U.S. Rep. Glenn English of Oklahoma says the government's long-term contract with Plainview's PLB Grain Storage warehouse may result in taxpayers "being hit twice."

PLB, owned by P.L. Blake of Greenwood, Miss., was declared in default of its government contract by the U.S. Department of Agriculture Monday after failing to pay $2.9 million or replace 966,000 bushels of corn owned by the government. The corn was discovered missing during an audit Sept. 14 b the7Texas Department of Agriculture.

English, D-Cordell, said Tuesday if the government isn't paid for the missing grain and fails to terminate its contract with PLB, taxpayers will end up paying to store grain that doesn't exist.

PLB has 20 days to respond to the default declaration, a USDA official said, adding that an informal meeting bewteen PLB representatives and government officials has been set for Oct. 12 in Plainview.

Officials of the Plainview facility could not be reached for comment Tuesday, despite repeated attempts to contact them, the Amarillo-Globe News reported.

English served on a house subcommittee that studied long-term grain storage contracts. He said the government saved money only 40 percent of the time with long-term contracts, which provide no "escape clauses" in case grain is removed before a contract expires.
