Clinic Donated To Hospital

Remembrances Of Past Years

Charles Root outlined the history of medical services in Mitchell County during the monthly meeting of the county's Historical Survey committee Thursday night.

Root traced the history of medical practice in the city and county from 1913 up to the present. The meeting was well attended by local people and committee members. After the history was given, a few of the members related memories of the medical care they'd had before and after the first hospital was built.

Mrs. B. W. Scott, Root-Hospital's first head nurse, was there and related her history of the hospital. She remembered her first day there, agreeing at the time to stay a total of three months with Dr. Root, Charles Root's father.

She said she thought to herself, "not a minute longer than three months though." As everyone at the meeting knew, she wound up staying on as director of nurses and assisting Dr. Root periodically until his death in 1937.

Mrs. Scott also claimed that Dr. Root was ahead of his time in the practice of medicine. He had three patients walk from the operating table to their beds after surgery.

"There was nothing else but surgery offered at the hospital, no obstetrics. There wasn't any type of stretcher nor any type of beds with wheels," she noted. Another member of the audience recalled when the Phenix Sanitarium was in operation. It was the first hospital in the county, established by Dr. N. J. Phenix in 1913 at 505 Chestnut Street.

"The fumes from the ether or whatever were so strong that we had to close our windows. We were directly across the street from the sanitarium."

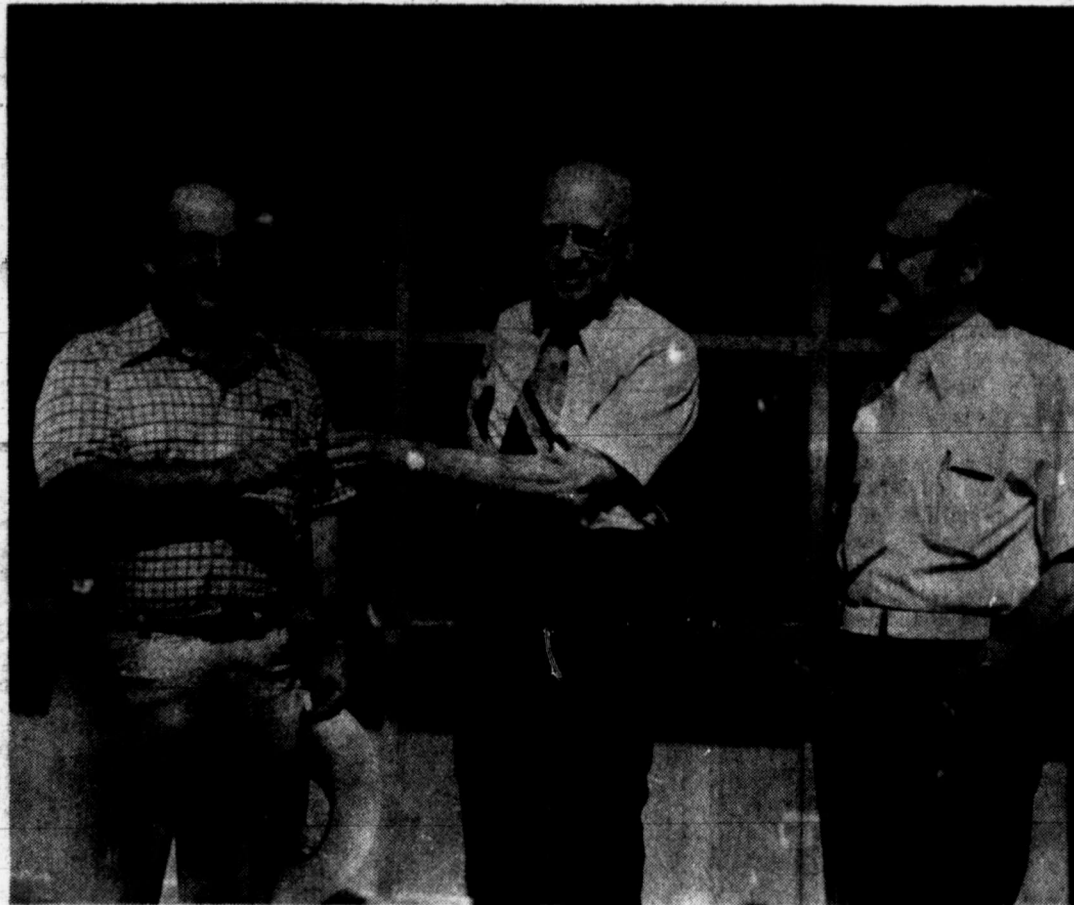

Someone else remembered the tornado of 1923 when about 29 people were killed. At the time, he said, he couldn't figure out why so many people were going up the hill to the hospital, located then on the south side. There were eleven beds in the hospital and more had to be set up in the basement. Those that weren't so seriously injured were taken to basements of the Baptist and Methodist churches.

A rancher told why the doctors of that time didn't check a patient's heart as they do now. "The doctor's offices were on the second story and the stairs were very steep. After a climb up there they knew that your heart was all right. If it hadn't been, you'd never have made it."

Another told about one of the first janitors, Will Hanges. "He was going to clean out a cistern about six or eight feet deep. He wouldn't do it unless someone stayed with him. While he was out there cleaning, someone put on a white sheet, got above him and it wasn't any time until Will was out of the cistern and gone in a dead run, and he got out of the cistern without a ladder."

With the wet-dry election coming up, one person at the meeting told about his mother leading the dry voters in a wagon complete with a skeleton borrowed from one of the local doctors.

Another highlight of the evening was when Hoyt Roberts of Westbrook presented a photograph of Root Hospital, including nurses' home, to Root. Root plans to hang it in the new lobby of the hospital.

Makes Donation

Dr. Bill Rhode, center, hands over keys to the Rhode-Chinn Clinic to Murrell Blassingame, chairman of the hospital district board of directors, as Root Memorial Hospital administrator Charles Root looks on. Announcement of the joint donation by Dr. Rhode and Dr. John Chinn of the clinic to the hospital district was made during the talk Root presented to the monthly meeting of Mitchell County Historical Survey committee Thursday night.

Announcement Made Thursday

The Rhode-Chinn Clinic at 505 Chestnut has been donated outright as a gift to the Mitchell County Hospital District.

Announcement of the donation was made by Root Memorial Hospital administrator Charles Root during his talk to the county Historical Survey committee Thursday night.

Following an outline of medical practice and services in the county, Root said, "Today, I have received permission from Drs. Bill Rhode and John Chinn to bring to you the following announcement: Realizing that the primary criteria in obtaining the consent of a physician to move to Colorado City is that there be readily available for him, office space. . . Drs. John Chinn and Bill Rhode have decided to the Hospital District, without any payment to them, the Medical Building which they own, located at 505 Chestnut Street."

Root summarized his talk with the following statement: "This summary of the hospital services of this community has covered a period of 61 years. The Root family has been directly involved in this hospital service for a period of 60 years. With the rapid scientific advancements which are now being made in the medical field, no one can possibly predict what a hospital building will look like, or what the services rendered will consist of, 60 years from now."

The building was constructed in 1937 on the site of the original Phenix Sanitarium, the county's first hospital, built in 1913 by Dr. N. J. Phenix. Dr. W. S. Rhode had started his practice in Colorado City in 1936 and he and his brother, Dr. O. E. Rhode, built the clinic, which they began using in 1937.

That same year, Dec. 10, 1937, Dr. C. L. Root died and the hospital he had built in 1926 fell under the direction of his son, Charles. The name of the hospital was changed from "C. L. Root Hospital" to "Root Memorial Hospital."

By 1958, the Rhode Clinic was enlarged to provide facilities for five doctors: Drs. Bill Rhode, Oscar Rhode, Ken Cowan, Seth Cowan and John Chinn.

In 1965 Dr. Oscar Rhode moved from Colorado City and the clinical building which he and his brother had built became the ownership of Drs. Ken Cowan, John Chinn and Bill Rhode. Dr. Cowan sold his interest in the Rhode-Cowan-Chinn Clinic to Dr. Rhode and Dr. Chinn, continuing his practice in offices at 448 Walnut Street.

Drs. Chinn and Rhode continued their practice in the medical building until June 1 of this year when Dr. Chinn closed his office, moving to Lubbock where he will teach in the Texas Tech Medical School. Root also announced plans for the formal opening of the new Bascham addition to Root Memorial Hospital for July 12. The public is invited to visit the hospital and nursing home during the afternoons of July 12 and 13.

Ceremony Opens Farmer's Market

Some 100 people were on hand Saturday morning for the opening of Mitchell County's Farmer's Market at the county fair grounds.

Ben Bell was the first to arrive with a trailer load of fresh produce for the market. A number of people were on hand for the Trades Day event outside the ag barn at the fair grounds. State Rep. Elmer Martin of Colorado City cut the ribbon to officially open the Farmer's Market.

The Farmer's Market will be held each Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday with the market open from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. Tuesday and Saturday and 5 p.m. to 9 p.m. Thursdays.

The Farmer's Market is a project of the Mitchell County Bicentennial Commission, headed by Mrs. C. C. Thompson. Mrs. Thompson said in addressing the crowd Saturday morning that the Market is not intended as competition for anyone but merely as a way for farmers and others who have gardens to sell their produce.

There appeared to be some confusion regarding sales tax on items sold at the Farmer's Market. Those who sell produce or any food items are not required to have any kind of permit and/or to pay any sales tax. Only those who sell arts and crafts are required to have a sales tax permit.

The only charge for those selling produce is $3 a day rental fee for use of the county barn or a $5 a week flat fee. This rental money will go towards paying the expenses of the market's operation.

Everyone is invited to bring out fresh fruits and vegetables to be sold at the market any of the days of operation, Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday.

Crafts Artist Visits C-City

Colorado City had a visitor this week, Sara Smith of Victorville, Calif.

She was visiting the city, looking over its possibilities as a location for setting up a weaving-crafts shop.

The Buffalo, N.Y. native is currently teaching weaving and crafts in the Victorville High School and had been considering opening a small shop of her own when she read an article in Crafts Magazine that said Colorado City was "wool-ing" arts and crafts; people to come to the city.

Visiting in the home of Bob and Dale Creighton, who own and operate Iron Star Pottery here, Mrs. Smith was accompanied by her two daughters, Helen, 14 and Georgia, 11. They were on their way to visit friends and relatives in Virginia and Pennsylvania when they decided to stop over in Colorado City to see what the city has to offer.

She is one of a number of artists and craftsmen who have visited the city since reading the article in the national crafts magazine.

Mrs. Smith said her main interest is in working with fibers and materials and she makes wall hangings and rugs from various fibers, incorporating other materials, such as dried plant material or small objects in the weavings.

Mrs. Smith's main concern with the city was in the appearance driving into the downtown business area and also the lack of rental housing. She did say, however, that the people here have been very friendly to her and her daughters.

In comparison with her present home in Victorville, located north of San Bernardino, she said Colorado City was "very lush. There's more vegetation here than in my town, which is about twice the size of Colorado City."

She had been to the museum and Chamber of Commerce office and also made a visit to the Opera House.

She was also impressed with the number of old houses in the city, saying she likes old houses with a sense of history behind them.

In addition to teaching in the high school, she said she also works with a group of Explorer Scouts, teaching weaving and crafts, including ceramics.

Mrs. Smith visited in the city Wednesday through Saturday and then she and her daughters continued their trip.

Newspaper Deadline

The Record office will be closed for the Fourth of July holiday Friday.

Deadline for all advertising and news and society items for Sunday's issue of the Record will be 5 p.m. Thursday.

Annual Fly-In Set July Fourth

The annual Fourth of July Fly-In is being planned again this year to include aerobatic displays, skydiving and airplane rides, plus the popular radio-controlled model airplanes.

Beginning at 7 a.m. Friday, July 4 at the city-county airport, breakfast of scrambled eggs, bacon, toast and coffee or soft drinks will be served by members of the Chamber of Commerce.

Breakfast is free to persons flying in and costs $1.50 per plate to persons attending to watch the airplanes as they come in and the rest of the air show. J. O. Dockrey is once again chairman of the event and says since the event is held annually and on the same day, people look forward to it and make their plans to attend.

Retirement Party

City manager James Campbell presents gifts on behalf of himself and the rest of the City Hall staff to retiring city secretary Bonnie Farrar during a retirement party in her honor at the Civic Center Friday afternoon. Mrs. Farrar said she intends to do "housecleaning and all the other things I've put off doing the past few years." She has been city secretary since August, 1968 and Friday was also her 65th birthday.

Dockrey also pointed out the popularity of the air show as a drawing card, noting that an even larger show could be held if facilities at the local airport were more spacious.

"We don't have room there for a military display, which I think we could get and it would be nice to stage small plane races, but we do have a popular show that people enjoy and make plans to attend each year," he said.

Airplane rides over the city and two lakes have been lined up, he said, and he hopes there will be enough pilots and planes so that people wishing to take the $3 rides won't have to wait in long lines.

Other events and some of the people who will be in charge are as follows:

--Aerobatic pilots Doug Warren, flying a clipped wing Taylorcraft and Robb Satterfield in a DeHavilland Chipmunk will do stunts at 9:30 a.m.

--Abilene skydivers, under the direction of Lew Sparks who operates a parachutist school in Abilene, will be displaying their diving skills at hourly intervals, 9-10-11 a.m.

--Radio-controlled model airplanes will be operating at regular intervals, under the direction of Jone Cone of Lubbock.

In addition to the above named events, prizes will be awarded to various categories of planes in the fly-in group--the longest distance of travel and the oldest or most unusual plane attending.

Market Opens

State Representative Elmer Martin and Mrs. Charles C. Thompson assisted in the ribbon-cutting ceremony which officially opened the newly established Farmer's Market in Colorado City Saturday morning. Farmers and gardeners brought in what produce they had available but it is still early in the season for most fruits and vegetables. Saturday was also the first "Trades Day" which will be held the last Saturday in each month and will feature a wide variety of items for sale on the outside area of the Fairgrounds. The market will also be open from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. Tuesday and from 5-9 p.m. Thursdays.

Farmers Need Incentives

If farmers are going to produce the amount of food the rest of the population needs, they are going to have to have some economic incentives to do so. There can be no adequate supplies of food produced in any country that insists on clinging to a cheap food policy.

How kids can help save energy.

You'll be surprised how easy it will be for you to conserve energy. Put an X in the box in front of each way you think you can help.

- PS. Parents: Have your children seen this message? If not, you may want to call it to their attention. Cut it out and use it to remind your children that they can help you and all of us conserve energy in many ways.
- ☐ Don't keep the refrigerator or freezer door open any longer than necessary.
 - ☐ Turn off the lights when you leave a room.
 - ☐ Turn off the TV set when no one is watching it.
 - ☐ Turn off the radio or record player when no one is listening.
 - ☐ Be sure the hot water is turned off after you've used it. Remind your mom or dad when a faucet leaks and needs repairing.
 - ☐ Don't turn on more lights than you really need.
 - ☐ If the furnace or air-conditioner is running, keep the doors closed. And don't make unnecessary trips in and out of the house.
 - ☐ Ride the bus whenever you can, rather than asking your parents to drive you.
 - ☐ Ride your bike or walk to the store for your parents. If they don't run the car, they will save gasoline.

- ☐ Help plan family errands that require the car so they can all be done at one time.
- ☐ If you're a little cool, don't ask your parents to turn up the thermostat. A sweater will warm you up.
- ☐ Tell your parents if heating or cooling ducts are blocked by furniture or draperies.
- ☐ If no one uses a particular room, close the heat registers and keep the door shut.
- ☐ If you're helping with cooking, use an element that is about the same size as the pan. And don't be an oven-peeper.
- ☐ If the sun is shining on a cold day, open the drapes so the sun can help heat up your house.
- ☐ If you have a fireplace, be sure the damper is closed when there is no fire. Otherwise, heat will escape up the chimney.

Write down any other energy conservation methods you can think of on these extra lines. Mark those boxes too.

The Great Commandment

Duane Roever

Pastor

United Methodist Church

Loraine

During His ministry, Jesus was "put to the test," so to speak about His teachings because they were so different from what the Sadducees, and the Pharisees were teaching the Jews. Each time, though, Jesus was able to speak out with a parable or some comment that put these "scholars" to shame and silence. But they kept on trying to put Jesus down. This is what happens to us so many times today. We are put down so often that we wonder how we can overcome the pressure. With Jesus, we can do it.

The fact that Jesus had silenced the Sadducees didn't stop the Pharisees from getting together and trying to figure out some way to trap Jesus. This is what they did. They got together and tried to figure out a question that would indeed trick Jesus. These guys were all supposed to be intelligent men and many were lawyers. Well, they finally picked out a question and probably got the best lawyer to pop it to Jesus. He probably had a smirk on his face, too. Not Jesus, the lawyer. But he said, "Master, which is the greatest commandment in the law?" Jesus did like he always did when he was tempted. He quoted Scripture, He said, "Hear, Oh Israel. The Lord thy God is one God. And thou shalt love the Lord thy God with all thy heart and with all thy soul and with all thy mind. And the second is like unto it, Thou shalt love thy neighbor as thyself. On these two commandments hang ALL the law and the prophets."

The first commandment that God gave Moses says that we shall have no other gods before our God. He is to be first, to have first place in our lives. But here's our basic problem. We don't want to put God first. There are to many other things that we feel are more important than God, other gods such as money, Now, preacher, you say, you done quit preaching and went to meddling. Brother, it isn't me that is doing the meddling. It's God. All I did is tell you what God says in the Bible. Sure, God knows that we need to eat and put clothes on our backs and our families and we need a place to sleep and eat and some booze and some smokes. Do you really need all these things? If we need them before we need God, then we are missing a great experience with God. We shall love God with all our hearts and souls and all our minds. What does all this really mean to us? How is it possible to love God with all our being, our hearts and souls and minds? It's not possible within ourselves. There is too much unrest in us which does not allow us to do it by ourselves. The only way we can be at peace with ourselves and others and especially with God, is to love Him with our very being.

If we say that we love God and hate our brother or neighbor, then we are in fact, the worst liars in the world. How can we love God There is no way in which we can love God and hate our brother or neighbors. No way. I don't like that word hate. It has such a depressing sort of air about it. I would rather hear the word love, wouldn't you? Sure, you would. I sort of like it when someone says that God loves me and they love me, too. You know, we can't hate if we have God's love in our hearts. We may not like the way some one acts or what they say, but we can't hate them.

If we are really sincere and honest when we say we love God and Jesus, then we need to pass God's love around. That happened to be the title song for our annual conference this year. It was written by David Yantis who was our song leader for the conference this past spring. The chorus goes like this: "Pass my love around. Pick right up and take my brother's hand and pass my love around."

That's the real story of love as Jesus showed it to us. We need to reach out and take our brother's hand and pass the love of Jesus around. And you know, you can't do it if you don't love Jesus. When Jesus talked to people, he told them how to love. Love one another as He loves us and we will have a much happier life. Jesus spoke gentle words. He also spoke firm words. And even when He chewed out the scribes and pharisees and called them "Hypocrites!" He spoke words of love. This is what God wants for us, to love him as He loves us; That way we can have peace of mind.

Have you got malice in your heart towards someone? Did you say something that hurt someone or did someone hurt you with words? It is easy enough to do. But God forgives, and we should do the same. That is the only way we can love our neighbor, to go and see them and let them know that we care. If we are true to God, which means accepting His son as lord and master, it means we will want to be neighbors and there is nothing or no one which will ever be able to change that for we will be wrapped up in God's saving grace and love. Be a neighbor! Be a friend! Do it today in the name of Jesus our Lord and Savior.

Pruitt To Display Art In Snyder July 6-28

Mickey Schmidt, Scurry County Museum director, announces a feature exhibit of paintings by artist Charles N. Pruitt of Midland and formerly of Colorado City beginning July 6 and continuing until July 28.

Pruitt will be at the museum from 1-5 p.m. on July 6 for a special reception which is open to the public. An invitation has been extended for everyone to attend.

He does most of his work in oil, but also works in watercolor. He held art classes last summer and has plans to give lessons again this year. He has indicated that he would give a demonstration session for the Snyder area artists if a time can be arranged.

Galleries which currently show Pruitt's paintings include Nelda Lee's Gallery in Odessa, Anderson Brothers Jewelers, Inc., in Lubbock, the Broken Spur Gallery in San Antonio and Martin A. Nestler's Gallery in Ingram.

The Scurry County Museum is located on the south side of the Western Texas College Campus.
