Television should get back to normal, now that the general election has been held.

It has become standard procedure for regular programming on TV to be interrupted for political speeches and prolonged political commericals during the weeks immediately preceding major elections.

But last year, the TV people came up with an untouchable. No candidate dared interrupt the Monday night professional football game this week, despite the fact that it came on the eve of the big election.

Does history really repeat itself?

Football fans down at Baylor believe it does and they have some evidence. Last Saturday, Grant Teaff's Bears went to Fort Worth and won an unexpected victory over Texas Christain. A week earlier they had won a key victory over Texas A&M, their first conference triumph in two years.

In 1950, a Baylor team that had just decisioned the Aggies went to Fort Worth as the underdog, but upset TCU.

The quarterback for Baylor in 1950 was a fellow named James Jeffery. The quarterback for the Bears this year is a fellow named Neal Jeffery, the son of the 1950 signal-caller.

The unexcepted exploits of the 1972 Baylor team reportedly have resulted in a new song on the Baylor campus. It is titled "Goree, Goree, Halleujah!" obviously with the Bears' premier defensive lineman, Roger Goree, in mind.

Politics overshadowed the beginning of "Food and Fiber Abundance Month" in Texas.

Observance of this month focuses attention upon the agriculture industry, which, despite its ups and downs and despite problems that arise from time to time, still sets amazing production records.

The quality of food and fiber products usually is taken for granted by Americans. But even more awesome to visitors from other lands is the quanitty of these prodcuts that are available the year round in this country. Abundance has a tendency to make everyone complacent and one of the objectives of the special month is to remind us that plentiful supplies don't just happen. If you doubt the abundance, just look around the food stores and markets as the Thanksgiving season approaches. WACIL McNAIR

Demos Hold Congress

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

President Nixon has won landslide re-election by carrying 49 of the 50 states and 61 per cent of the popular vote, but despite his triumph the Democrats retained firm control of Congress.

Only Massachusetts and the District of Columbia withstood the Nixon tide Tuesday to wind up in Democrat George McGovern's almost invisible column. Even McGovern's home state of South Dakota went against him.

Nixon's 521-17 electoral vote majority rivaled Franklin D. Roosevelt's 1936 victory of 523 to 8 over Alf Landon. The Republican President, scoring his greatest personal triumph, may even have surpassed Lyndon B. Johnson's record 61.1 per cent of the popular vote in 1964.

But the Democrats picked up a net of two seats in the Senate to widen their control there to 57 to 43, gained a net of one governorship when newcomer Daniel Walker edged GOP incumbent Richard Ogilvie in Illinois, and lost only about a dozen seats in the House.

"This is a personal triumph for Mr. Nixon, and not a party triumph," said the Republican national chairman, Sen. Robert J. Dole of Kansas.

With 96 per cent of the nation's precincts tallied, the popular vote stood:

Nixon 44,886,259, or 61 per cent

McGovern 27,961,532, or 37 per cent

Although the total was incomplete, the vote, just under 74 million, indicated the final tally may be short of the 80 million to 85 million predicted for the first presidential election open to all 18-year-olds.

McGovern, who maintained to the last that Tuesday's results would prove wrong the pollsters who predicted he faced massive rejection, wired Nixon his support for efforts to "lead us to a time of peace abroad and justice at home."

11 Amendments Get Green Light

By MIKE COCHRAN
Associated Press Writer

Texas voters torpedoed pay raises for legislators and two top state officials but ruled that the bulky, antique state constitution needs sweeping revision.

They gave the green light to 11 of 14 proposed constitutional amendments, including tax exemptions for disabled veterans and senior citizens.

And while rejecting salary hikes for the lieutenant governor and Texas House speaker, they granted the governor and certain other elected state officials four-year terms.

Those were among the highlights of Tuesday's amendment decisions that saw approval for a women's rights proposal and a new salary procedure for compensating justices of the peace.

Voters scuttled the Lamar County Hospital District, approved more liberal submission of constitutional amendments and gave the go-ahead for a dual officeholding provision for state employes.

They likewise raised the ceiling on bond interest rates to six per cent and granted county commissioners access to their county permanent school funds.

The cliff hanger of the evening developed over Amendment No. 9. This proposal would exempt directors of soil and water conservation districts from the prohibitions against dual office-holding and dual compensation.

The Texas Election Bureau's final report before shutting down for the night showed the proposal failing by more than 40,000 votes.

Most importantly perhaps, voters issued a mandate for the Legislature to rewrite the Constitution, a patchwork 53,000-word document adopted in 1876 after a turbulent decade of carpetbag government.

The amendment provides for a constitutional revision commission which would report recommendations by Nov. 1, 1973. The 63rd Legislature would then meet early in 1974 to draft a document for submission to voters.

Newly elected Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby was among a powerful group supporting revision. Few questioned the need, but many objected to letting the legislative branch draft a new constitution.

Grover Put Up Fight

By ROBERT E. FORD
Associated Press Writer

Democratic candidate Dolph Briscoe survived the Nixon landslide in Texas and fought back a strong challenge by Republican Sen. Henry Grover today to win the Texas gubernatorial race.

Briscoe, trailing Grover in the early count Tuesday night when he was rejected by the urban voters, moved ahead on the strength of strongly Democratic rural vote and continued to widen his lead late into the morning.

By noon, according to the Texas Election Bureau, with nearly 90 per cent of the vote, Briscoe had 1,421,702 votes while Grover stood at 1,346,141.

Nixon's landslide in the presidential race during the early count seemed to indicate that it would be enough to carry Grover into the governor's mansion.

Republicans did send Sen. John Tower back to Washington, upset veteran U.S. Rep. Earle Cabell in Dallas, and kept Rep. Bob Price in Congress in the big shootout with Democratic Rep. Graham Purcell in a huge North Texas and Panhandle district.

Incumbents were elected in other statewide races and Democrat Bill Hobby won his first political race, taking the lieutenant governorship margin easily.

The latest vote count in statewide races:

County Voters Approve BCD

Scurry County voters approved a proposal to establish a Board of County Development in Tuesday's general election.

Taxpaying property owners approved the proposal by a count of 2,034 to 1,371, according to the complete, unofficial returns. The non-property owners who cast ballots on the proposal gave it their approval by a vote of 856 to 377.

The BCD here is expected to concentrate most of its efforts on industrial development in the coming months.

Some Offices Uncontested In Balloting

Although there were lively races for President, Senator and Governor, there were a number of state offices which had no contests, or only token opposition, and there were no county or precinct offices with contests in Tuesday's general election.

Winners Get Big Margin In Scurry

Scurry County voters went with the majority in Tuesday's election, giving President Richard M. Nixon an overwhelming endorsement and Sen. John Tower a comfortable lead.

Democrat Dolph Briscoe also got a decisive margin in Scurry County in the governor's race.

Complete unoffical returns gave Nixon 3,737 votes and George McGovern 1,152. Tower had a total of 2,659 and his Democratic opponent, Barefoot Sanders had a total of 2,154, based on complete unofficial returns.

Briscoe out-distanced Republican Henry Grover by a count of 2,917 to 1,872 in the governor's race, while Ramsey Muniz of the Raza Unida Party trailed with 106 votes.

In another state-wide contest, Scurry County gave Jesse James 2,512 and his Republican opponent, Maurice Angley, 2,158

Seven Tie In Contest

Competition was tough in last week's Snyder Daily News Football Contest, with seven contestants finishing in a tie for top honors. They missed six each.

Twenty-one others were just a step off pace, missing seven each.

The six top entrants will share the first and second prize money for the week. They include Mrs. Charlie Morrow, 308 East Highway; Sid Perry, Route 2, Hermleigh; Cheryl Staton, Route 1 Box 200, Snyder; David Burleson, 4515 El Paso Avenue; Mrs. Wallace Salmon, 107 Lubbock Highway; Bill Line, 2609 Thirty-seventh; Majorie Line, 2609 Thirty-seventh.

Another contest begins today and the list of games may be found in sponsors' advertisements on the football contest page of this issue of The Snyder Daily News.

Rosson Returns To Legislature

Rep. Renal B. Rosson of Snyder withstood a stiff challenge by Republican J. R.(Rich) Anderson of Borden County to retain his seat in the Texas Legislature in Tuesday's general election, based on complete, unofficial returns from the six counties in the 63rd district.

Rosson carried four of the six counties in accumlating a total vote of 10,729. Anderson's unofficial total was 9,435.

Rosson led in Scurry, his home county, by over 2-1 with an unoffical total of 3,234, compared to 1,600 for Anderson. Anderson also carried his home county, Borden, by over 2-1, with a total of 309 votes, compared to 145 for Rosson.

Elsewhere, Rosson led in Coke, Dawson and Sterling Counties, while Anderson held the lead in Howard County, the most populous county in the district. However, Anderson's advantage of nearly 1,000 voters in Howard County was insufficient to overcome Rosson's lead in the smaller counties.

The county by county tabulation:

County	Rosson	Anderson
Borden	145	309
Coke	742	304
Dawson	2,042	1,694
Howard	4,376	5,361
Scurry	3,234	1,600
Sterling	190	167
Totals	10,729	9,435

Borden Write-In Efforts In Vain

GAIL—Borden County went with the majority of the country during its general election last night, giving President Nixon 330 votes compared to only 96 for George McGovern, but most of the interest here was centered in write-in campaigns in a couple of local races.

Norman Sneed, incumbent sheriff and tax assessor-collector, won over his write-in opponent, Earl Calhoun, 355 votes to 76. Earl Abercrombie received one vote.

Eddie Simer, incumbent Commissioners of Precinct 3 who was defeated in the primary, also lost in his write-in campaign. He received only 34 votes compared with 80 for Vernon R. Wolf.

Herman Ledbetter won the Precinct 1 Commissioner's race with 145 votes. W. A. (Buddy) Telchik carried 66 votes and Hubert Walker, the incumbent who was beaten in the primary received only four votes. Rube Smith received one vote.

The senatorial and gubernatorial races were close in Borden County, but Senator John G. Tower held a 236-212 margin over Barefoot Sanders and Dolph Briscoe held a 296-136 margin over Henry Grover.

Other state contests went about as expected, as follows: Bill Hobby 355, Meyer Alewitz 4, Alma Canales 2; John Hill 348, Thomas Kincaid 4; Robert Calvert 340, Anne Springer 8; Jesse James 225, Maurice Angly, Jr. 190, Ruben Solis Jr. 8; Bob Armstrong 346, Howard Petrick 1; Byron Tunnell 299, Jim Segrest 108; Fred Garza 106; and James Binion 242, James Rominger 88.

in the race for state treasurer.

Scurry Countian Renal B. Rosson, the Democrtic nominee, got a lead of over 2-1 in his home county over J.R. Anderson of Borden County in the race for State Representative for the 63rd district. The complete, unofficial returns gave Rosson 3,234 votes and Anderson 1,600.

Byron Tunnell, the incumbent, got 3,331 votes in Scurry County for Railroad Commissioner, while his Republican opponent, Jim Segrest, got 1,233 votes.

In the race for the 17th District post on the state board of education James M. Binion received 3,232 votes and his Republican opponent 1,208.

There were no contested races at the county, or precinct level in Scurry County. However, four candidates received write-in votes for constable in Precinct 1, a post which no candidate listed on the ballot. Lloyd Merritt apparently was elected to this post with 132 write-in votes. Others who received write-in votes for the constable's post included Randy Davis with 103, Earl Davis with 65 and L.E. Haynes with 25.

Scurry County voters approved seven of 14 amendments to the state constitution, according to the complete, unofficial returns. The seven which found favor here included No. 2, for abolishing the Lamar County Hospital District, by 2,159 to 1,739; No. 3, to put all justices of the peace on salary, by 3,023 to 1,372; No. 5, giving disabled veterans and survivors certain tax exemptions, by 3,106 to 1,403; No. 6, homestead exemptions for additional political subdivisions, by 2,787 to 1,586; No. 7, the equal rights amendment, by 3,177 to 1,323; No. 8, four-year terms for state officials, by 2,227 to 2,187; No. 13, setting average state interest rate for state bonds at 6 per cent, by 2,114 to 2,036.

The amendments opposed by Scurry Countians included No. 1, raising salaries of legislators, by 2,515 to 2,095; No. 4, revising constitution, by 2,608 to 1,639; No. 9, allowing directors of soil conservation districts to be paid for serving in other offices, by 2,448 to 1,903; No. 10, changing method of proposing amendments, by 2,290 to 1,753; No. 11, increasing salary of lieutenant governor and speaker of the house, by 3,119 to 1,282; No. 12, allowing state employes to serve on other governing bodies, by 2,279 to 2,034; No. 14, reducing county permanent school fund, by 2,422 to 1,897.

Market Surges

NEW YORK (AP) — Prices surged ahead in the stock market today in heavy postelection trading, with President Nixon's landslide victory touching off a new rally that followed four days of sharp gains last week.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, most widely watched indicator in Wall Street, was up 7.90 to 992.70 after the first 30 minutes of trading, and advancing issues on the New York Stock Exchange were ahead of declining issues almost 4 to 1.

The Dow average rose past the 1968 high of 985.21 and was at the best level since February of 1966. The all-time high at the close of a trading day was 995.15 on Feb. 9, 1966.

Haig Going To Saigon

By GAYLORD SHAW
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon is dispatching a key aide, Gen. Alexander M. Haig Jr., to Saigon for a new round of talks with South Vietnamese President Nguyen Van Thieu, the White House said today.

Haig, who is No. 2 man to Henry A. Kissinger on the National Security Council is leaving Washington today and will return Sunday, said press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler.

The purpose of Haig's second trip to Saigon in about a month is to "confer with President Thieu on progress of peace negotiations and make a general assessment of the situation in Indochina," Ziegler said.

Asked whether Haig's post-election trip resulted from any new contacts with the North Vietnamese, Ziegler repeated his oft-stated response that he will not discuss contacts the administration has with the Communists.

Haig's last trip to Saigon ended Oct. 4, just before Kissinger and North Vietnamese negotiators made a breakthrough which prompted Kissinger to report later that "peace is at hand."

Haig is deputy assistant to the President for national security affairs and later this year is expected to make his previously announced move to the Pentagon to become No. 2 man in the Army hierarchy.

Nixon Plans Shakeup

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon let it be known today he plans a significant shakeup of the White House staff and departmental bureaucracy and is seeking standby resignations from everyone he has appointed to office.

Press secretary Ronald L. Ziegler made the announcement after Nixon held separate sessions with staff aides, the Cabinet, and agency heads to let them know he plans a "restructuring and reorganizing" of the executive branch as he approaches his second term.

Ziegler noted it is traditional for presidential appointees to submit resignations as a matter of form during the period between terms. However, rarely if ever has tradition been underlined by a volunteered White House announcement of the fact.

Ziegler said Nixon, who is leaving later in the day for his Key Biscayne, Fla., home, would spend four or five days there in what he termed as intensive discussions with such principal staff assistants as H.R. Haldeman, John D. Ehrlichman and Henry A. Kissinger.

Responding to questions, Ziegler would give no hint of whose resignations Nixon might accept. In fact, he insisted the President has yet to make such decisions.

Ship Crash Claims Five

BRUNSWICK, Ga. (AP) — Five persons were known dead and divers searched for six others listed as missing today after a freighter slammed into the side of a highway bridge over the Brunswick River here Tuesday night.

Gov. Jimmy Carter visited the scene and said the death toll may reach 12 or 15.

The freighter African Neptune, loaded with naval stores, missed the raised span of the mile-long Sidney Lanier Bridge on U.S. 17 south of Brunswick as the vessel headed out of port on a swift outbound tide.

Three spans on the south end of the 15-year-old bridge were downed and the prow of the freighter was damaged considerably.

Engineer Questions Femininity

By WANDA LESLEY
Greenville News Writer

GREENVILLE, S.C. (AP) — "In school there was a time when I questioned my femininity," says Marilyn Malone, the first woman mechanical engineer at Fiber Industries, Inc.

"There were so many men in engineering, you began to wonder why you chose it. But it's easier here than in school. People here are friendly.

Miss Malone was one of two females in her graduating class at Case Western Reserve Univesity in Cleveland, Ohio, who received degrees in mechanical engineering. She says she was originally interested in physics, but decided against a career in that field.

"I really don't know why I chose engineering. I was dating an electrical engineer at the time, and I'm sure that had some influence. Also, my grandfather was an engineer.

"Here I work on yarn processes—to improve the yarn. My boss gives me suggestions, and I think up ideas myself. I'm out in the plant quite a bit. A lot of ideas you get from watching the operators. You ask lots of questions," she explains.

Her most recent project is finding an improved way to splice yarn.

A special machine is used to splice pieces of yarn together from two creels. Miss Malone's job is to improve the machine or to invent a new one. She says she has a great deal of leeway in completing a project. "Just as long as it works," she adds.

She says she has acquired operational knowledge of the machinery used in the production of yarn since she began her job—something that was not a part of her school work.

"To improve the yarn, you have to understand the problems of the operator," she said.

She questions machine operators and mechanics to get a complete picture of production equipment.

The Arlington, Va., native believes it was easier for her to find a job than it was for the men in her graduating class because of the emphasis the women's liberation movement has placed on sexual equality in hiring.

"But I don't like to think that I got the job just because I'm a woman. Once you're here, you have to measure up," she adds.

Although Miss Malone says she plans to marry eventually, she "chose between a job and marriage to come here." She says that when she does become a wife, she prefers not to give up her career.

Optimistic Managers Are On The Move Again

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — The voluntary egression rate among managers in their 30s has been shooting upward since the first of the year, said the professor. Optimism prevails, and the young mobiles are changing jobs again.

It is nothing unexpected. Just as water churns when the kettle is heated, so also do the spirited, talented young managers begin to move about when the economy gets hot.

Eugene Jennings, who has spent his adult life — he's a bit on the far side of 40 — studying executive mobility, maintains that this group is the avant-garde of job changers, and that younger and older executives will follow their lead.

"This group is vital to understanding business economics," he said. "They have the most mobility, the greatest capacity to be optimistic. They are a good barometer of optimism. When they move it means people are betting on the future."

For at least two years this group, which usually is the most free to change jobs, was frustrated. "Intelligence dictated that they watch their nests." They were unable to hasten their careers by job changes.

But there is more than optimism and ambition involved in executive churning, which still isn't as intense as it was in pre-recession days but may be double the rate of 1969 and 1970.

Between 1965 and 1968, said Jennings, who is a professor at Michigan State University, an author and business consultant, many companies recruited more talent than they needed. Then came the recession.

"They discovered that too many of the people they had hired were not of the proper caliber. They were forced to counsel out a lot of young and middle-age managers." To be "counseled out" is to be laid off gently.

In reducing their staffs, however, many companies failed to reassure competent workers whom they wanted to stay. Some of these talented people lost their sense of direction, said Jennings. They too expected the ax.

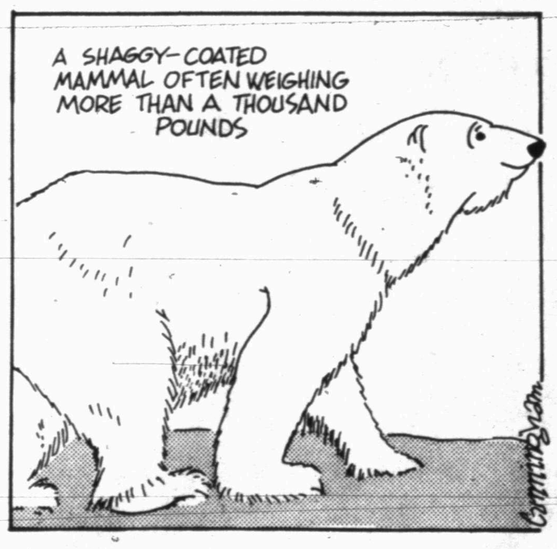

Many of these managers are now moving on, said Jennings, who maintains 41 listening posts in corporations. Their employment was never reinforced by the company, he said. They weren't told they were wanted.

Easing their movement is the fact that opportunities of age exist. Because of the vagaries of birth rates and economic growth, middle-age managers are in growing demand. There are openings for those in their late 30s to mid-40s.

Those who can market themselves now tend to go, Jennings observed. "They are rebelling against corporate life, against what is called the '5 to 9' routine," or of working until 9 p.m. when others leave at 5.

"The unions gave the blue-collar worker the idea of a fuller life," said Jennings, "but nobody speaks for the overworked executive." Therefore, he concludes, they are speaking up for themselves.

Junior Editors' Quiz on POLAR BEARS

QUESTION: Do polar bears live anywhere but the far north?

ANSWER: While the favorite habitat of polar bears is the Arctic region, where they live on the ice floes and in the cold waters of the Arctic Ocean, they have ventured as far south as the Gulf of St. Lawrence. The only time they leave their northern environment is when they are captured for display in a zoo.

Polar bears are huge animals weighing from 1,000 to 1,600 pounds. They are flesh-eating animals and the fiercest of the bears. Hungry polar bears have attacked humans. This bear's coat is of dense fur, which is necessary to protect it from the extreme cold. The color of the fur is white, which helps to conceal it as it cavorts in the snow and ice. The polar bear has a smaller head, longer neck and a more slender body than other bears. It is a good swimmer with an astonishing speed of movement. The soles of its feet have a dense pad of fur which enables it to walk on icy surfaces without slipping. Polar bears are equipped by nature to live in the frigid north.

Remarks Follow Election

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks you can't escape from hearing after a national election:

"The people have spoken."

"I told you right at the start who the winner would be."

"We may have lost the battle, but that doesn't mean we have lost the war."

"I don't know whether the best man won or not. All I know is that my man lost."

"I admit I told you that if we didn't win this one, I'd push a peanut from Times Square to Pike's Peak, but — uh — I was just kind of exaggerating a little to make my point."

"It's all a lot of hot air anyway."

"Maybe, now that we've got that out of the way, everybody in the office can get back to business."

"The whole thing reminds me of a three-ring circus."

"I think the mud we threw was better than the mud they threw, but the trouble was they had twice as much mud to throw."

"The time has come to thank our loyal supporters. Without the kind of help we got from you, defeat would have been impossible."

"No, I can't say we didn't have enough principles and issues. What we were short of was a little thing called money."

"Well, I'm glad the whole nonsense is over for another four years."

"To tell you the truth, the last one I really trusted was Calvin Coolidge, but I forget why."

"What difference does it make to us, anyway? We still have to go on working five days a week from here to eternity."

"The way those fellows talked, I thought that when we woke up the day after the election the world would look completely changed. But everything looks like it's still in the same mess it always was."

"Well, if that's the way you voted, both of us might as well have stayed in bed and saved ourselves a trip to the polls."

"Now that it's over, Henry, are we still going to move to Australia like you said we would if it didn't turn out the way you wanted it to?"

Jailer Wounded In Attempted Break

DALLAS (AP) — A jailer in the old Dallas jail was shot and seriously wounded Tuesday night when approximately 30 inmates staged an unsuccessful jail break.

The abortive escape began when jailers Arthur F. Pickering and Joseph Smart entered a maximum security cell tank on the sixth floor of the old jail atop the County Records Building.

Smart gave this account of the incident.

A prisoner, identified by officers as Preston Marshburn, 33, had asked the jailers to have a document notarized.

As Smart and Pickering led Marshburn out of the tank, Smart said, the prisoner pulled a chrome-plated .25 caliber automatic pistol and pointed it at the two jailers. Both men lunged for the weapon, and Pickering managed to grab the inmate's arm.

Marshburn fired two shots, one striking Pickering in the leg near the groin and the other hitting him in the shoulder.

Smart said other prisoners then swarmed over the jailers, stripping Stark, and carrying the badly bleeding Pickering out into a T-shaped hallway in the cellblock. Smart's keys were taken and the prisoners put him in a cell inside the tank.

Meanwhile, other jailers set off an alarm when they heard the shots, bringing more than 100 heavily-armed deputies, city police, police dogs and a police helicopter to the building.

The would-be escapees surrendered to Sheriff Clarence Jones and 50 deputies after the prisoners tried and failed to unlock stairwell doors. Jones who won reelection Tuesday, was called to the scene from an victory party.

Jones said that "a gun was smuggled in from the outside through a window, and one of my officers was shot."

Pickering was reported in serious condition today at Parkland Hospital.

Seven of the prisoners were charged with attempted escape, assault to murder and six as ex-convict carrying a pistol.

They were identified as Marshburn, Christopher Lee Warren, 23; Robert F. Montgomery, 30; Charlie C. Lopez, 29; Bobby Lee Williams, 29; Bobby Joe Bridger, 33 and Steve Joe Lewis, 22.

Wife upset at hubby smoking on the sly

By Abigail Van Buren

(c 1972 by Chicago Tribune-N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I need help desperately. Please don't tell me that I am stupid to be worrying about something like this with so much real unhappiness in the world today, but here is my problem.

My husband and I have been happily married for 24 years. I am 45 and he is 46. We have three children. About a year ago I caught my husband smoking a cigaret after he had promised me he'd quit three years ago. Well, I bumped into him accidentally downtown and he had a cigaret in his mouth! I was sick with disappointment.

He promised me on bended knee that he would never smoke another cigaret as long as he lived, but when he'd come home, sometimes I smelled smoke on his clothes and in his hair. He said he'd been around smokers, and I believed him.

Well, I caught him smoking again in the basement and then I really went to pieces. I am especially heartsick because his father, who was a chain smoker, died of throat cancer at the age of 53. I love him, Abby, but I feel like leaving him. He has disappointed me so terribly, I've lost all respect for him. And here I was bragging to all our friends that he had quit when his brothers didn't have the guts to. What a fool I've made of myself. Can you help me?

HUMILIATED AND MISERABLE

DEAR HUMILIATED: Let's put first things first. Are you miserable because you were humiliated, or because you are concerned about your husband's health? I know you love him, but your husband's smoking has turned into a power struggle between you two. Quit nagging him and making him feel like a little boy who has to sneak a smoke behind the barn. He knows the hazards involved, but the poor man is hooked. He needs your love and understanding —not threats and punishment. You can't MAKE him quit. But he can quit if he really wants to.

DEAR ABBY: I am very much in love with a young man, and we plan to marry soon. I have a 2-year-old child, but I have never been married.

My fiance of course knows all about it, as the child lives with me. The problem is how to tell his parents. He says they are from the old country and may not understand.

I have never met them as they live in another state, but they have been asking their son to bring me to meet them. How do we go about breaking the news?

CHICAGO PROBLEM

DEAR PROBLEM: When you go to meet them, take your child along. His parents will probably assume you are widowed or divorced. If [and when] they inquire about the child's father, tell them the truth. They'll survive.

DEAR ABBY: Someone wrote in asking if it was okay to ask a stranger if he was wearing a toupee—and where he bought it. You advised him against it, saying if it looked like a toupee it was no compliment.

Listen to this: a woman I had never laid eyes on before came up to me while I was waiting for a bus, and said, "Excuse me, but if you are wearing a brassiere, would you mind telling me what make it is?"

I was, and I told her. But I've never been so shocked in all my life.

Rains Spread Across East

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A weak storm system centered over the lower Great Lakes spread rain across much of the East today, with heavy amounts soaking parts of Virginia and the Carolinas.

The rain was scattered from the Great Lakes to New England and south into the Carolinas. Light snow fell in the upper Great Lakes.

Flash-flood warnings were posted for mountain areas of North Carolina, where more than 2 inches of rain fell at several rural points. Although the rain was abating over much of East, more than an inch doused Charlotte, N.C., and Shaw, S.C.

Fair and mild weather prevailed across the Great Plains and Rockies, but a weak storm in the Great Basin brought showers on the Pacific Coast and mixed rain and snow in the intermountain region.

Temperatures before dawn ranged from 76 at Key West, Fla., to 16 at Leadville, Colo.

Some other reports: Anchorage 24 cloudy, Atlanta 53 cloudy, Boston 49 cloudy, Buffalo 50 rain, Chicago 40 drizzle, Cincinnati 43 drizzle, Dallas 49 clear, Denver 33 cloudy, Detroit 48 rain, Honolulu 77 partly cloudy, Indianapolis 41 cloudy, Kansas City 41 clear, Los Angeles 60 partly cloudy, Louisville 47 cloudy, Miami 74 clear, Minneapolis-St. Paul 34 cloudy, Nashville 50 cloudy, New York 55 cloudy, Philadelphia 56 cloudy, Phoenix 59 partly cloudy, Pittsburgh 52 rain, St. Louis 36 clear, San Francisco 54 clear, Seattle 46 partly cloudy, Washington 61 rain.

Gas Company Purchases Pipe

SHREVEPORT, La. (AP) — The Arkansas Louisiana Gas Co. has purchased 300 miles of large-diameter steel pipe to be used in the Anadarko Basin pipeline project.

The firm said Tuesday that the pipe would connect Hemphill County, Tex., and Wilburton, Okla. The first phase of the Anadarko pipeline will cost an estimated $72 million.

W. R. Stephens, Arkla president, said the Anadarko Basin extension will connect with Arkla's main system for Arkansas, Texas and Louisiana at Wilburton and will increase the volume of gas to be delivered into central Arkansas.

STAYS WITH FOSTER PARENTS—Victor rides the back of his foster father James E. Adams after a Juvenile Judge ordered that the Mexican-American six-year-old boy remain with the foster parents. The Adams want to adopt the boy, but the Harris County Child Welfare Unit rejected the adoption try. The court order is to be effective pending the filing of motion of adoption by the Adams and hearings on show cause and temporary restraining orders. (AP Wirephoto)

Second Astronaut's Widow Files Suit

HOUSTON (AP) — A $150,000 damage suit has been filed by the widow of an astronaut who died in a 1967 spacecraft fire at Cape Kennedy.

It was the second such suit to be filed in two days.

Patricia White Davis, widow of Lt.Col. Edward H. White II, filed the suit Tuesday. The suit named as defendants North American Rockwell Corp. and three subsidiary companies. It alleged negligence in the construction of the Apollo spacecraft caused the fire.

White, 36, Maj. Roger Chafee, 31, and Lt.Col. Virgil I. "Gus" Grissom, 40, died in the fire.

A similar suit was filed Monday by Martha Canfield, widow of Chafee. Mrs. Davis and Mrs. Canfield have since remarried.

USOC Needs Better Image

NEW YORK (AP) — Criticized by its own athletes at the Munich Games and staggered by an NCAA walkout, the U.S. Olympic Committee today looks for new leadership and brighter days.

Telephone company executive Clifford Buck of Denver bows out as USOC president and a new slate of officers is due to be named with Cornell Athletic Director Robert Kane among the favorites.

Two weeks ago, the National Collegiate Athletic Association voted to relinquish its Olympic Committee membership. NCAA spokesmen blasted the USOC as being improperly operated.

Arthur Lentz, executive director of the Olympic group, said the NCAA decision was "unfortunate since quiet, secret meetings" were ironing out the very problems about which the NCAA complained. The NCAA had threatened the withdrawal for years.

Many United States athletes rapped their Olympic Committee during the 20th Olympic Games in Munich, Germany. Most claimed that there were no real communications channels between the OSOC brass and the athletes.

Defeated Raza Unida Makes Pledge To Return

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — Raza Unida, a Mexican-American party that began with a school boycott in 1969, was soundly defeated Tuesday in its first bid for state offices. Still, its gubernatorial nominee hailed the effort and pledged "We'll be back."

Raza Unida fielded candidates not only for governor but also lieutenant governor, treasurer, railroad commissioner and U.S. senator.

Gubernatorial hopeful Ramsey Muniz, a former schoolboy football star who holds a law degree from Baylor University, polled the largest number of votes among the five Raza candidates, with more than 133,000 at a late hour.

It was far behind the more than 1 million votes each of his Democratic and Republican opponents, but he was still pleased.

"The people here tonight have experienced true democracy for the first time, a democracy they never experienced under the Republican or Democratic party," Muniz told supporters.

"In this sense, it's been a tremendous victory and I'll guarantee you, we'll be back."

In Crystal City, Tex., party founder Joe Angel Gutierrez said the election proved that the Mexican-American vote "will never be taken for granted again."

He said the party earned enough votes to qualify automatically for the ballot in the next statewide election. "We'll be on the ballot next time with a full slate, from congressman all the way down," Gutierrez said.

The party had to collect 23,000 signatures this year to be placed on the ballot.

Raza Unida leaders have claimed their party can be the "balance of power" in Texas politics, and Gutierrez maintained it affected Tuesday's election.

"You know we did," he said, as returns were still being counted in the tight gubernatorial race between Democrat Dolph Briscoe and Republican Henry Grover. "Just add Ramsey's vote to Briscoe's," he added.

Muniz had been expected to siphon off liberal Democratic votes from Briscoe.

In Crystal City races, unofficial returns showed the party winning the offices of county attorney and sheriff. Unofficial counts also gave it one of two county commissioner races.

The Raza Unida Party dates to 1969, when Mexican-American pupils boycotted schools in predominantly Mexican-American Crystal City. It set the stage for the party's eventual takeover of city and school administrations in the small Southwest Texas town.

Lady Wants To Be Truckdriver

Career Corner
by Joyce Lain Kennedy

Dear Joyce: I'm 28, in good physical shape, and want to be a truckdriver. I know all the pros and cons of this type of work. It means very long hours on the road, eating overpriced and badly cooked meals in truck stops much of the time, and long periods away from home. It means serving sort of an apprenticeship with an experienced driver – riding shotgun, so to speak. Also, I know that the pay is unusually good. A person who is interested in this field has to be alone a lot, drive well, and like machinery. I have all of these qualifications.

So what's the problem? I don't know where to apply or how to go about it. On top of that, I've got a big strike against me – I'm a gal, and not a very big one at that. But I learn quickly.

I'm not a women's lib advocate. Not by a long shot! It's just that I love to drive and have always wanted to drive a diesel ever since I can remember. I'm not out to prove anything to anyone, it just seems to be an ideal occupation for a confirmed loner who loves to travel.

Do you think you could help me? Gosh, I hope so because that "white line fever" has its hold on me bad. – L.J., Fontana, Calif.

It's rare enough to cause states, but there are women truckdrivers tooling down the road. Tractor trailers can cost $50,000, and carry a load worth twice that much, so you can see why employers want experienced drivers who can accept great responsibility. Most over-the-road drivers have had previous experience in local trucking. The obvious move would be to inquire at local trucking firms, and at the nearest local of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters. You can also attend a private vocational school offering a truckdriving course. Some private schools charge as much as $1,000 for a 3-week program. Some are correspondence courses, which give you no opportunity to practice with equipment on the road. However . . .

TWO TRUCKDRIVING SCHOOLS are of special interest. Both are area vocational-technical schools (post-secondary public institutions established in central locations to serve students from surrounding areas).

Southwest Kansas Area Vocational Technical School (Truckdriving Department, Box 1324, Dodge City, Kan. 67801) has graduated 3 women. One found a driving job, one found a job test driving, and one failed to find a job. The present class has 2 women students. Length of the course is 6 weeks, and each class can accommodate only 6 students. 1 instructor and 1 truck is assigned to every 3 students. Classes are already filled until next February. Graduates have started at about $7,000/year, and sometimes more, depending on the number of trips made. Southwest Kansas is placing practically all its graduates. Tuition for Kansas residents is $400; for out-of-state residents, $532.

Central Oklahoma Area Vocational Technical School (Truckdriving Department, Box 1237, Drumright, Okla. 74030), has graduated 3 women within the past 2 years. All of these have obtained jobs driving with their husbands. Husband-wife driving teams are apparently increasing in popularity. No single women have yet graduated from this program. The length of the course is also 6 weeks, but the tuition for both Oklahoma and out-of-state residents is only $60. Central Vocational Tech, as it is called, can accommodate up to 20 students. Classes start any Monday. There is no waiting list at the present time. Graduates of Central Vocational Tech have started at pay ranging from $150/week, and as high as $300/week.

Rep. Allen Enters Guilty Plea

AUSTIN (AP) — Rep. John Allen of Longview has pleaded guilty to a charge of nepotism in a surprise move and has been assessed the maximum fine of $1,000.

Allen, unopposed for re-election in Tuesday's voting, was scheduled to stand trial Dec. 11 on the nepotism charge as well as a felony charge of conspiracy to commit theft. His unexpected guilty plea Monday was not discovered by newsmen until the following day.

Dist. Atty. Bob Smith indicated he accepted the guilty plea on the misdemeanor charge because he was not sure he could get a conviction on the felony.

Smith said Allen agreed to pay the state the $13,613 that his two daughters made during the time they were on the payroll of former Sen. David Ratliff of Stamford.

Ratliff was convicted of theft from the state a week ago and given a 10-year probated sentence. He agreed to pay back to the state about $28,000, much of which he himself received, that the state had paid to a secretary who testified she had never done any work for Ratliff.

Allen is the fifth state official found guilty of theft or conspiracy this year, but the first to plead guilty.

Those found guilty by juries, in addition to Ratliff, were former House Speaker Gus Mutscher of Brenham, Rep. Tommy Shannon of Fort Worth, former Rep. Walter Knapp of Amarillo, and Rush McGinty, an aide to Mutscher.

Ministers Visit Day Care Center

The Scurry County Ministerial Alliance met Tuesday night for a turkey dinner at the Snyder Child Day Care Center, Avenue K at Thirty-fourth Street. Rev. Wallace Kirby presided.

The children of the day care center provided a program for the area ministers under the direction of Mrs. Evelyn Malone, director.

Arrangements were discussed to have a community-wide Thanksgiving service at 7:30 p.m. Sunday, Nov. 19, at the First Baptist Church. Grant Teaff, football coach at Baylor, will be the speaker. An offering will be received to further the work of the alliance. The alliance helps people who are in need of clothing, food or lodging because of emergency needs.

Robert Crawley, Texas Welfare Licensing worker, informed the ministers of the great need for day care centers. He stated that this is the time of redemption, of helping children go through life. He pointed out several aspects of the local day care center: a capable staff, good nutritional food, good education program.

He emphasized that in having a community-supported day care center, "God must be included in this work," and that is what he has sensed here.

Crawley mentioned that the Snyder Day Care Center has one of the best physical facilities in a nine-county area.

Houston Grain Deal Is Off

HOUSTON (AP) — The Port of Houston backed out of a deal to privately lease its public grain elevator Tuesday and decided to put the lease out for public bids.

Commissioners of the publicly-owned port said they will accept bids up to Dec. 5 and lease the terminal to the biggest bidder on Jan. 5.

In early October, the executive director of the port, George W. Altvater, signed a letter of intent to lease the elevator to a Memphis grain firm, Cook Industries, Inc.

The lease was for 9 years and 9 months, to get around the state law requiring public bids for a lease of 10 years or more, and Altvater refused to say how much the lease was for.

Tuesday the commissioners—who are appointed by the city of Houston and the county commissioners court—decided instead to put the lease out for public bids.

Santas Are Scarce

DALLAS (AP) — There's a shortage of ho-ho-ho types to play Santa Claus in Dallas this season.

Something like 50 are needed by the department stores and for private parties.

Horace Kennermer, Texas Employment Commission office manager, said: "We can place 25 or 30 right now. But so far, we have no applications at all."

Private employment agencies report much the same situation. One had a single applicant, another could provide two Santas, a third none at all.

Why the scarcity?

Kennemer said the physical demands of appearance can't always be met. Many people don't want such a short-term job. Those that do apply are often retired men.

The pay? About $2.50 an hour or $25 for a party.

Waco Goes Wet

WACO, Tex. (AP) — Voters here approved the sale of liquor in package stores and also by the drink across bars by 12,840 votes to 9,468 in Tuesday's general election.

Previously the city permitted only the sale of beer and light wines, although several surrounding suburbs did approve liquor sales.

Miss Vilar Feels US Male Most Oppressed

By DEE WEDEMEYER
Associated Press Writer

LONDON (AP) — The American male is the most oppressed man in the western world, says the author of a book that also argues men are really slaves and women their exploiters.

Esther Vilar, author of "The Manipulated Man," also thinks that women are stupid and getting more so every day; that men are brilliant but locked into stultifying jobs; that housework is a pleasure and men are deprived of it and that all of this stems from mothers who condition their children into manipulative and slave roles.

The book was originally published in Germany where it made the best seller list before it was launched in seven other European countries.

Now Miss Vilar has added a special chapter devoted to the American male and is preparing for a lecture and publicity tour in the United States.

She actually wrote the book in New York almost two years ago during a five-month visit in which she lived in an East Village Hotel and made research trips to suburbia.

The book is, she said, an illustration of a theory she calls "the pleasure of nonfreedom."

Basically her theory is that the male is brilliant and capable of doing great things with his freedom but his intelligent thought frighten him. He seeks the security of the enslaved and marries.

Conditioned by his mother from childhood to believe that he is smart and responsible and that girls are incapable and helpless, he easily assumes his responsibilities. He is therefore bound for life in stultifying jobs. For the American male this is all compounded by the high standard of living and the emphasis on success.

"In no other country do mothers so pitilessly train the male infant to perform. No other society exists where the male sexual drive is exploited for money so unscrupulously," she wrote.

Girls, though born intelligent, Miss Vilar says are taught they don't have to think because men are going to work for them. Their goal is to find a man to do this. Some women may work or go to college but only to make themselves attractive to men. They may even proclaim that housework is drudgery and that the male is fulfilled because he works outside the name but in fact, they know housework is easy and they really think it is a pleasure. "Housework is so easy that in psychiatric clinics it is traditionally the job of morons who are unfit to do any other kind of work," wrote Miss Vilar.

As for feminists, these are women who from time to time, throughout history, emphasize their claims to masculine prerogatives. American contemporary feminists are doomed to failure because they have directed their efforts against men, their real allies.

The only women who escape Miss Vilar's pen unscathed are those who go to work and let their husbands stay home. Those, she notes, are rare.

A meek, almost mouselike woman with long brown hair parted in the middle, Miss Vilar, 37, was born in Argentina of German parents who were divorced when she was three.

After graduating from medical school she practiced for one year, then studied psychology and sociology and became a sales representative for a pharmaceutical company so she could support her writing career.

At various times she has worked as a sales girl, a secretary and on the assembly line of a farm making thermometers.

In 1961 she married Klaus Wagn, a German writer. They were divorced two years lafter after the birth of a son, Martin, now 9. Miss Vilar says her former husband is still the most important man in her life. When she is away publicizing her books, he lives in her home to care for their son.

Contracts Go To Dallas Firm

Dallas (AP) — Dallas Airmotive, Inc. has been awarded two contracts by Federal Express Corp., originator of the "MiniFreighter" concept in air transportation, for support of its aircraft fleet.

Federal Express has modified Fan Jet Falcons—originally built for corporate executive service—with cargo-handling features, resulting in miniature jet freights.

One contract calls for Dallas Airmotive to perform overhaul, modification and related services for Federal Express' fleet of Falcon power plant assemblies. The second contract provides for Dallas Airmotive to lease CF 700 jet fan engines to Federal Express for its exclusive use as operating spares.

Marijuana Seized

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Police and officers of the U.S. Border Patrol Tuesday seized more than 490 pounds of marijuana and arrested two persons here.

Lt. Jim Beach of the State Police said Refugio Rodriguez, 33, of Edinburg, Tex., and Ramon Cantu, 30, of Mercedes, Tex., were charged with possession of marijuana with the intent to sell.

Both were being held in the North Little Rock jail in lieu of $20,000 bond each.

Beach said the marijuana, which had a street value of more than $125,000 was found hidden in a truck occupied by the two men.

Warriors Beat Braves 105-91

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Rick Barry noticed it. Of course, he would have. He was chasing a National Basketball Association foul shooting record and he wanted the conditions to be perfect.

"The basket doesn't look right to me, it looks a little high and a little off center," said Barry before he and his Golden State Warriors met the Buffalo Braves Tuesday night.

Perhaps thinking too much about the whereabouts of the basket, Barry missed his first foul shot in 40 tries this season—but the Warriors found everything okay for field goal shooting enroute to a 105-91 victory at the Buffalo Auditorium.

The Warriors wiped out a 53-51 Buffalo lead at the intermission and charged by the Braves with a hot second half led by Jeff Mullins' shooting and Clyde Lee's fine rebounding work.

Barry wound up with 16 points in the game. However, he had 2-of-4 from the free throw line, an unlikely Barry performance. The Warriors' flashy forward had hit 39 straight and was after the NBA record of 55 held by Bill Sharman.

In Tuesday night's other NBA games, the Atlanta Hawks nudged the Baltimore Bullets 103-107 in overtime and the Los Angeles Lakers turned back the Houston Rockets 122-109.

In the American Basketball Association, the Indiana Pacers trimmed the Memphis Tams 124-116 and the San Diego Conquistadors whipped the New York Nets 116-108.

Mullins scored 14 of his game-high 22 points in the last half at Buffalo. Lee wound up with 18 rebounds in just 27 minutes of work, also a game high.

Buffalo's Bob McAdoo had 21 points while Elmore Smith, playing with his right arm in a cast because of a fracture, had 11 points, 15 rebounds and seven blocked shots.

George Trapp's basket with 2:14 left in overtime gave Atlanta its victory over Baltimore. After the basket by Trapp, who scored 22 points and had a career-high 19 rebounds, both teams missed scoring opportunities.

Pete Maravich, who led the Hawks with 28 points, hit a layup with eight seconds left in regulation time to send the game into overtime tied at 101. Mike Riordan led the Bullets with 28 points.

Happy Hairston scored 30 points to pace the Laker triumph. Mike Newlin had 30 points for the losers.

Indiana took command late in the game to drop Memphis.

Memphis' Randy Denton led all scorers with 30 points while Roger Brown led Indiana with 25.

Paced by Stew Johnson and Larry Miller, the Conquistadors stopped the Nets with a second-half explosion. Johnson, who scored 25 points, and Miller, who had 24, helped San Diego break away from a 60-60 halftime score. Jerry Chambers, a substitute forward, came off the bench to score 20 points for the winners.

Baylor's Neal Jeffrey Is Offensive Standout

By DENNE H. FREEMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

DALLAS (AP) — The first thing you have to understand about Neal Jeffrey is his courage.

It's bad enough being just a sophomore in the high-tension world of Southwest Conference football. Tack on the fact he's a quarterback who has a speech impediment and you get the idea.

Baylor Coach Grant Teaff says, "It (the speech impediment) is something he had had to fight since he was seven years old. But he's had the courage to overcome the handicap and it rallies his teammates around him."

Jeffrey hit 15 of 24 passes for 206 yards and a touchdown Saturday in propelling the Bears past Texas Christian 42-9 to set up Saturday's SWC showdown with Texas. It also earned him The Associated Press SWC offensive player of the week award.

Jeffrey says "I've never had any trouble saying the snap count. Sometimes I have a hard time calling the play in the huddle, but for some reason I can even check off plays at the line of scrimmage and I don't have any trouble."

When he was the quarterback at Overland Park, Kan. High School, he had difficulty with the snap count several times.

"I remember I had trouble once calling the count and then we got a five-yard delay penalty because I didn't call time out in time," Jeffrey says. "It's crossed my mind but thank goodness it has never happened in college.

"I have been working hard to improve myself ... it's a tenseness in the vocal cords. It's just a matter of being relaxed ... that's the key. I try to relax before a big game by listening to music and getting away by myself."

Teaff calls the plays from the sidelines and communicates with Jeffrey via hand signals. Arkansas caught onto the tactic and stole some of the signals so now Teaff uses signals like a third base coach in baseball—touching his hand to his belt buckle to wipe out a sign, etc.

"I use hand signals in calling the plays because if I send someone in with a play then Neal sometimes has trouble repeating it," Teaff says. "He's a remarkable young man in many ways. He wasn't highly sought after and he played his freshman year in the shadows of Robert Armstrong.

"But he won the job last spring and kept it this fall. He has exhibited tremendous poise all year. He has an exellent arm although we seldom throw the long pass. Our offensive theory is the percentage pass. But let me tell you, he can heave it.

"His teammates believe in him and so do I."

Colorado Voters Balk At Olympics

DENVER (AP) — The Olympic torch will not be passed to the Rocky Mountains in 1976, top organizers of the Winter Games said Tuesday after voters in Colorado cut off state funds for the event.

With 1,253 of 2,045 precincts reporting, 343,832 ballots had been cast to stop state funding and 232,159 persons had voted to continue funds.

Clifford Buck of Denver, president of the U.S. Olympic Committee, said, "Needless to say, it is a tremendous disappointment to me. I think it's a tragedy for the state, and a tragedy for the nation that the people of Colorado were not aware of the great privilege and great honor to host the 1976 Winter Games."

"But the majority has spoken," Buck said in New York, "and I don't think there is any more to add."

As returns were coming in Tuesday night, Gov. John Love said a fund cutoff for the Olympics would mean "the people don't want them and we won't force it down their throats."

Opponents of the Winter Games were jubilant. Cheers and flowing champagne greeted the returns at the election night headquarters in Denver where opponents gathered.

The anti-Olympics drive was led by Citizens for Colorado's Future (CCF) composed mostly of young people.

Meg Lundstrom, 24, a CCF director, said opponents thought the Olympics would cost too much money and would encourage haphazard growth in Colorado.

State Rep. Richard Lamm, D-Denver, a long-time foe of the Games, said the cost issue became the dominant one at the campaign's close. Lamm said the Olympics traditionally have huge cost overruns.

Olympic organizers said the Games would cost $35 million, but opponents argued that the event would really cost much more. Many voters apparently thought taxes would be raised because of the Games, Lamm said.

When Billy Martin hit his first of three home runs in the 1953 World Series it came on the first pitch thrown to him by Brooklyn's Billy Loes.

OU's Shoate Is Top Lineman

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

Reversing the old procedure of finding young talent and making a movie star, Oklahoma's football coaches found Rod Shoate in the movies and made him a football star.

Larry Lacewell, Oklahoma's defensive coach, brought back some films of the Spiro, Okla., High School team a couple of years ago and Head Coach Chuck Fairbanks and his staff settled back to watch an end named Wayne Hoffman. Instead, Shoate caught their eyes.

"It didn't take but two or three plays to see that he was something extra with all that quickness," Fairbanks recalls.

Now a 6-foot-2, 210-pound sophomore linebacker, Shoate was something extra last Saturday against an Iowa State offense that ranked fifth best nationally, averaging 444.6 yards a game. He was in on 22 tackles—12 unassisted—as Oklahoma posted a 20-6 victory and held the Cyclones to almost 100 yards below their average.

For that performance, Shoate was named National College Lineman of the Week today by The Associated Press.

"He's played as well as any linebacker we've ever had," says Fairbanks. "He's a good tackler, a heckuva competitor and the best pass defender we've got. He's been making tackles all over the field. He hasn't had a bad game and he's been getting better and better every week."

Shoate's speed—he covers 40 yards in 4.5 seconds, better than most backs—enabled him to make one play Saturday which Fairbanks still finds hard to believe.

"He rushed the quarterback on an inside linebacker blitz," the coach said, "but the quarterback got outside and gained about 20 yards before Rod caught him from behind."

In winning Lineman of the Week honors, Shoate beat out linebackers Glen Gaspard of Texas, Mark Weiss of VMI and Paul Kaliades of Columbia; defensive end Cal Peterson and defensive guard Rick Baska, both of UCLA; defensive tackles Clayton Scheurer of Minnesota and Carl Barisich of Princeton; split ends Jesse Parks of Columbia and Steve Sweeney of California; tight end Keith Krepfle of Iowa State; offensive tackle Joe deLamielleure of Michigan State and offensive guard Bill Emendorfer of Tennessee.

Scribe Picks LSU To Upset Alabama

NEW YORK (AP) — "It will," said Charlie McClendon, "be a heckuva physical game. We'll be going nose to nose and jaw to jaw."

The Louisiana State football coach was talking about Saturday's classic Southeastern Conference match-up in Birmingham of unbeaten teams between his Tigers, rated sixth nationally, and second-ranked Alabama.

It will be Alabama's ground attack, which is averaging 287.6 yards a game, against the LSU defense, which has permitted an average of only 109.

It will be the sharpshooting of LSU's Bert Jones against an Alabama club which ranks ninth best nationally against the pass. 'Bama opponents have completed only 48.6 per cent of their passes for 701 yards, an average of just 87.6 per game.

It will be the nation's No. 6 team in total defense (Alabama) against No. 8 (LSU). It will be LSU's 9.4 points-against average, sixth best nationally, against Alabama's 10.3, which ranks eighth.

It will be ... LSU.

Nebraska at Iowa State—How'd you like to play Oklahoma and Nebraska back-to-back? That's what Iowa State is doing, having lost to the Sooners 20-6. Nebraska merely ranks third nationally in total offense, fourth in passing, first in scoring, first in total defense, fourth in rushing defense, fourth in pass defense and third in scoring defense. Nebraska.

Ohio State at Michigan State—Duffy Daugherty announced last Friday night that he will retire at the end of the year and the Spartans, 2-4-1 at the time, promptly went out and whipped Purdue. "I wish I had the job back," Duffy quipped the other day, "so I can retire again this Friday night." Retired or not, the Spartans are fired up, the Buckeyes are banged up. Upset Special of the Week ... Michigan State.

Texas at Baylor—Baylor usually gives the Longhorns a tussle and the Bears are coming off an impressive 42-9 rout of Texas Christian. Still, in the Southwest Conference, Baylor is Baylor and Texas is ... Texas.

Seventh Grade Season Ends

Coach Boxie Weems' Little Tigers A defeated Coach Geral Green's Little Tigers 1 24-8 and Coach Ken Foster's Little Tigers 1 bested Coach Jerry Mankins' Little Tigers A 8-6 in two 7th grade football games here yesterday.

Weems' team took a 6-0 lead in the first quarter with Frank Alvarado going seven yards for a touchdown. Green's team went ahead 8-6 on a 45 yard pass and run play, Tony Cobb to Tommy Smith, and a two point conversion by Richard Willis.

Later in the second period Alvarado scored again, this time from 8 yards out as Weems' team took the lead again. Alvin Ollison intercepted a pass and returned it 35 yards for another touchdown, and Alvarado passed 21 yards to Ollison in the third quarter for the last touchdown. Weems' team failed to pick up any extra points.

Mankins' team took a 6-0 lead in the first quarter when quarterback Bobby Moore scored on a sneak from the one. With 30 seconds remaining in the game, Foster's team scored on a 20 yard quarterback sneak by Rollins. Tracey Witherspoon added the two extra points that meant the difference in the game.

With the season complete, the standings follow:

Weems 6-0, Greene 3-3, Foster 2-3-1, and Mankins 0-5-1.

First Black-A Woman, Elected To Texas House

By JOHN L. HOTARD
Associated Press Writer

Texas has elected its first black—a woman—to the U.S. House of Representatives since Reconstruction days, and the congressional balloting produced only one surprise, a Republican upset of an incumbent Democrat.

Fifteen of the 24 members in the Texas delegation were elected in heavy voting Tuesday.

Heavily favored Barbara Jordan won in the predominantly black 18th District in Houston—one she helped draw last year as a state senator.

And in Dallas, the surprise came as young Alan Steelman defeated Democrat Earle Cabell, a former Dallas mayor seeking his fifth term in the 5th District.

This gives the Texas delegation 20 Democrats and four Republicans when the 93rd Congress convenes in January.

Eight of 10 incumbent Democrats easily won re-election to the House and nine more were unopposed Tuesday. Two incumbent Republicans handily defeated their opponents and the third, Rep. Bob Price of Pampa, eked out a victory over Rep. Graham Purcell, of Wichita Falls. Their 13th District was paired in redistricting. Price jumped into an early lead, then Purcell held it briefly, but Price was able to overtake him again and forge ahead to stay.

In another newly created political arena, the 24th District, newcomer Dale Milford of Grand Prairie won.

Rounding out the Democratic slate is State Sen. Charles Wilson of Lufkin, who will represent the 2nd District in East Texas. Incumbent Rep. John Dowdy, convicted by a federal court jury in Baltimore of taking a bribe, did not seek re-election. Wilson won 74 per cent of the vote over Republican Charles Brightwell of Nacogdoches.

In the 3rd District, Rep. Jim Collins claimed 73 per cent of the vote, defeating Democrat George Hughes.

Rep. Ray Roberts of McKinney took a 7 to 3 margin of victory over Republican James Russell of Rusk, winning his seventh term.

Rep. Olin Teague of College Station won over Republican Carl Nigliazzo of Hearne, a political unknown. Teague is chairman of the Veterans Affairs Committee and has been in the House since 1946. He collected about 71 per cent of the vote in the 6th District.

In Houston's 7th District, Republican Rep. Bill Archer, who in 1970 won the seat held by George Bush, now U.N. ambassador, had no trouble with Democrat Jim Brady, a Houston lawyer. Archer captured 82 per cent of the votes cast.

Returning to Washington for his fourth term in the 8th District is Rep. Bob Eckhardt, a Houston liberal who defeated Republican Lewis Emerich and Socialist Worker candidate Susan Ellis. Eckhardt polled almost 65 per cent of the ballot.

Voters Leave Congress In Control Of Demos

By EDMOND LeBRETON
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The voters who gave President Nixon his landslide victory Tuesday also left the Congress firmly in the control of the opposition Democratic party.

The Democrats widened their margin in the Senate to 57 to 43, a gain of two.

With only three House races undecided, Republicans had made a net gain of 11 with 41 needed for control. Elected were 243 Democrats, 188 Republicans and one Democrat who ran as an independent. Some of the new Republicans replace conservative Southern Democrats who already were voting generally with the administration.

The Senate outcome was an especially hard blow to Republican hopes. The GOP had written off the House as probably unwinnable, but needed a gain of only five to take control of the Senate and thought there was a real chance.

But there was consolation for Republican strategists working for a full two-party system in the South, where many voters in recent years had shown readiness to vote for Republican presidential candidates, but stuck with Democratic candidates at other levels.

Two Republicans were elected to the House from Mississippi and one from Louisiana, the first since the Reconstruction period after the Civil War. And in Virginia, William L. Scott defeated Sen. William B. Spong to become the first Republican senator from the Old Dominion since 1892.

The ticket-splitting voters across the country conformed to no pattern, but ousted conservative incumbents here and liberals there.

Democrat William D. Hathaway ended the 24-year Senate career of Margaret Chase Smith of Maine, chairman of the Senate Republican Conference and senior Republican member of the Armed Services Committee.

But the Democrats lost a Senate seat in North Carolina. Rep. Nick Galifianakis, who defeated Democratic Sen. Everett Jordan in the primary, was defeated in turn by a self-described conservative Republican television editorialist, Jesse Helms.

A stunner was the defeat of Sen. Gordon Allott of Colorado, chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee and an administration stalwart, by Democrat Floyd K. Haskell. Allott had been expected to win easily.

Sen.Tower Wins Second Full Term With Ease

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Incumbent Sen. John Tower—running as a "friend of the Republican White House"-won his second full term with ease Tuesday.

Tower averaged 54 per cent of the vote and was ahead in every category tabulated by the Texas Election Bureau Metro, urban and rural.

Democrat Barefoot Sanders, who crisscrossed the state in a 16-month campaign to unseat Tower earned 44 per cent of the vote. Flores-Amaya, 30, a San Antonio lawyer running on the Raza Unida ticket, and Tom Leonard, the Socialist Workers candidate, shared slightly more than one per cent of the vote.

Tower denied he was carried into office on the coattails of President Nixon. "There's a strong base of positive support for me in this state," Tower said. "I was undoubtedly assisted by the president's general acceptability in Texas, but I could not have won without a solid foundation of positive support," he said.

The race was figured to be the roughest since Tower latched on to Lyndon's old Senate seat in 1961 and made two-party politics a serious subject in Texas. Tower, the first Republican senator since 1970, went on to make a national name for himself with a hawk's hawk stand on defense and a friendly approach to business.

Then in 1966 the scrappy little senator won a full term by defeating former Texas Atty. Gen. Waggoner Carr in a heated fight.

Sanders, a former White House aide during Johnson's presidency, threatened to give Tower another hot race. But Tower pulled ahead early and stayed ahead.

Tower had been confident of a victory. Noting his seniority and entree to the Republican White House, Tower would say, "Being a Republican gives me far more clout and influence than my opponent could possibly have."

Tower, at 47, is a 12-year veteran and he campaigned heavily on the strength of his relationship with President Richard Nixon. He disavowed rumors his status with the Nixon administration had paled, saying, "I am very pleased with my relationship with the White House and my colleagues. The President has done more than I could possibly ask to help me in my campaign."

Tower, who spent nearly $2 million in his re-election bid, brought the issue of national leadership to the front of his campaign and said the fundamental difference between himself and Sanders was "whether President Nixon or George McGovern would do a better job as president."

Burglars Are Disappointeed

LOS ANGELES (AP) — If the burglars who broke into the International School of Bartending were expecting a high time, they were disappointed.

The place was full of liquor bottles — containing colored water — and money for "play" money used in training.

The disgruntled burglars smashed about 60 bottles and scattered the money over the floor before leaving, investigators reported Monday. Officers said the burglars did escape with about $2,000 worth of office and movie equipment.

Test Your Skill...Win CASH PRIZES

HERE ARE THE RULES OF THE CONTEST

In each advertisement on this page you will find the contestants in a prominent football game being played in the country this week-end. Get an entry blank from one of the merchants who are helping sponsor this contest and whose message is on this page. Fill in your selection of the WINNING TEAM only . . .opposite the name of the firm on the entry blank. Then send your complete blank to FOOTBALL CONTEST EDITOR, THE SNYDER DAILY NEWS. Entries must be in the hands of the editor by 12 o'clock noon, Friday. Games ending in a tie must be specified as a tie or else it will be considered a miss.

If there is a tie for first place the winners will divide the cash money of $17.50 and no second prize will be given. If there is a first place winner and a tie for second place, the second prize winners will divide the money for the place. If more than two persons tie for second place, no second prize money will be awarded and the cash will be added to next week's prize. Tie for perfect score will split $50.00. There will be fun for the entire family. Only one entry blank will be permitted from any one person. More than one will disqualify all of the person's entries. Scores listed on the entry blank will have no bearing on the choice of the winner. Sign your entry blank and list your address and phone number — and watch for the story on next Wednesday's front page for the winners. Hurry now, and get your entry blank from one of the merchants on this page. The contest blank must be in your own handwriting. Employes of The Snyder Daily News and their families are not eligible to enter.

Ice is being used experimentally to save fruit orchards in Springfield, Ore., from frost damage, National Geographic reports. Spraying hot waste water from a nearby pulp plant on the trees sheathes buds in "warm ice" that keeps them insulated at about 30 degrees Fahrenheit when the temperature drops much lower.
