If you are a business man, did you ever think of the field of opportunity that advertising opens to you? There is almost no limit to the possibilities of your business if you study how to turn trade into your store. If you are not getting your share of the business of your community there's a reason. People go where they are attracted—where they know what they can get and how much it is sold for. If you make direct statements in your advertising see to it that you are able to fulfill every promise you make. You will add to your business reputation and hold your customers. It will not cost as much to run your ad in this paper as you think. It is the persistent advertiser who gets there. Have something in the paper every issue, no matter how small. We will be pleased to quote you our advertising rates.

Where Are Your Interests

- Are they in this community?
- Are they among the people with whom you associate?
- Are they with the neighbors and friends with whom you do business?

If so you want to know what is happening in this community. You want to know the goings and comings of the people.

Our Sympathy

is always extended to those in distress, but we have no sympathy to waste on the man who borrows his neighbor's paper when he can have one of his own at a mere nominal expense. Your home paper stands for your interests and the interests of your home town. It deserves your moral and financial support. If you are not a member of our family of readers you should begin now by sending in your subscription.

Don't Preach About Home Trade and at the same time send your orders for job printing out of town.

THE PESTS OF MEXICO

THE REVOLUTION IN HONDURAS

General Lee Christmas' Anxious For Fight—Men Armed With High Power Guns and Ammunition.

Puerto Cortez, Honduras, via New Orleans, La.—With Manuel Bonilla in control of the entire northern coast of Honduras, the revolutionists are prepared to carry the fight into the interior and to advance upon Tegucigalpa, the capital, in the event the peace negotiations initiated by the United States fail. An armistice went into effect Tuesday, both sides agreeing to a complete suspension of hostilities until the conclusion of the conference to be held aboard the United States gunboat Taroma upon the arrival of representatives of President Davilla and General Bonilla, president of the provisional government. As the situation stands, it appears that the fight at Ceiba two weeks ago, in which the revolutionists won a sweeping victory, was the decisive battle of the war.

It was not all easy matter to get the two sides to agree to an armistice. Bonilla, encouraged by victories at first appeared anxious to press the advantage, but when he was shown that the same result might be obtained in the chamber of conference as on the field of battle and with economy of property and human life, he yielded.

Davilla agreed to the armistice, and announced that he would send Maximiliano Rosales to Puerto Cortez to represent him at the conference. As Tegucigalpa is six days' journey from this port, it presumably will be a week or more before the conference begins.

General Lee Christmas has possibly a dozen Americans with him, but the most of his officers are Hondurans. Christmas himself seems to be anxious to continue the fight and his men are enthusiastic. Christmas landed 300 men from sloops and schooners Monday, and they marched triumphantly up the only street in town, shouting "Viva Bonilla" with vim.

They appear to be an orderly lot. They are clothed much lighter than the government troops, the majority of them wearing a sort of uniform made of cheap blue denim. Strange to say, many of them wear shoes. They are armed with high-power rifles, and each man carries 100 rounds of ammunition. The soldiers ration themselves, the natives being allowed 40¢ a day and the Americans about $1.20 a day for that purpose.

More Attention to Hogs. Colmesneil, Tex.—The hog demonstration train that visited Colmesneil last fall is beginning to bear fruit, as there are now quite a number of fine hogs brought here by express. The farmers heretofore have taken very little interest in hogs, depending almost entirely on the meat for fattening purposes, an old and very unreliable practice, that should have been eradicated long ago. The meat-bearing hogs are fast disappearing and the high price of living has caused the farmers to at last realize that they must produce the greater part of what they consume.

Arbor Day Proclamation. Austin, Tex.—Governor Colquitt on Wednesday issued an Arbor Day proclamation, the body of which is as follows:

"I, O. B. Colquitt, governor of Texas, do hereby request the people of Texas to observe Arbor Day, the same being Wednesday, Feb. 22, as a legal holiday. "As contemplated by the statute, let this day be devoted to the planting and cultivation of fruit, shade and ornamental trees throughout the state, and observed for that purpose in such manner as may seem best to the people of each community."

RECIPROCITY BILL PASSED

Only Five Democrats Were Against It. Majority of Republicans Opposed It—Heated Debate on Measure.

Washington.—President Taft's reciprocity agreement with Canada was ratified in the house of representatives Tuesday through the support of an almost solid democratic vote.

The McCall bill, carrying the agreement into effect, was passed, 221 to 92. A majority of the republicans present voted against the measure, the division being 78 ayes and 87 noes. The democratic vote was 143 ayes and only 5 noes. A majority of the republican insurgents present voted for the bill.

The McCall bill now goes to the senate. What its fate will be in that body, is problematical at this time. President Taft believes if a filibuster can be avoided and a vote taken the bill will pass. He is insistent that the senate shall act, and has indicated that he would call an extra session of congress if it does not do so.

The passage of the bill in the house came at the end of a long debate, which at times was as bitter as has been heard on the floor of that chamber in years. The fight was confined almost wholly to the republican side. Democratic members joined in constantly and taunted the majority members for their lack of unity. The democratic leaders also put in the claim that the reciprocity agreement was good democratic doctrine, and said they were glad to welcome President Taft and many of the house republican into the democratic fold. The suggestion came from the republican side that Mr. Taft and Champ Clark might be rivals for the next democratic presidential nomination. Mr. Clark claimed that in a contest of that sort he would win "hands down."

A final vote was reached only through the application of a cloture rule, which shut off amendments and even dispensed with the reading of the bill.

The procedure was decided upon only after Mr. McCall, in charge of the bill, had failed to get unanimous consent to do away with calendar Wednesday. If that had been secured, he said, he would have been glad to let the debate continue for another legislative day. The republicans opposed the bill fought the rule to the last, denouncing it in caustic language. They directed their fire especially against the democrats and accused them, on the eve of going into power in the house, of enforcing a "gag rule" as drastic as anything against which they had so eloquently inveighed in the past. The democrats laughed at this and seemed thoroughly to enjoy the disfigurement of their old-time enemies.

Champ Clark took Representative Dalzell of Pennsylvania to task for complaining of the "undue haste" with which the house was acting on the reciprocity measure. The speaker-to-be said the democrats had sat for years, bound and gagged, while the gentleman from Pennsylvania and his associates had brought in rules and had rushed legislation through without giving an opportunity for amendment. Mr. Dalzell was recognized by Speaker Cannon. He proposed that meat and meat products, flour, prepared cereals, lumber and several other articles be put on the free. The democrats were not shaken by this, and the motion was lost, 114 to 191.

Troop Substation.

Brownsville, Tex.—Tuesday a detachment of eight men from Troop C, 7th Cavalry, detailed to Santa Maria to establish a substation there. A substation was also established at Hidalgo by a detachment from Troop 1, which is located at Samford. By this location of troops every foot of the Rio Grande in this section is patrolled each day by the cavalry. No violations of the neutrality laws have as yet been discovered.

If Christ Had Not Come

By DR. JOHN A. EARL
Pastor Belden Avenue Church,
Chicago

TEXT—If I had not come and spoken unto them . . . If I had not come and spoken unto them . . . If I had not come and spoken unto them . . .

An innovation in sermons as delivered by the more modern ministers was listened to by a large congregation the other evening when Doctor Earl delivered his sermon in verse.

If Jesus had not come to earth,
If angels had not sung his birth,
If wise men had not seen his worth,
How poor the world would be.
If Jesus had not said the word,
The life which had never been heard,
How sad for you and me!

If Jesus had not come from heaven,
Our sins could not have been forgiven,
And broken hearts with sorrows riven,
Would hopeless beat and bleed.
If Jesus never had been born,
There would not be a Christmas morn,
And earth of good things would be Things that we sorely need.

No Christmas cheer would lighten hearts
Nor Christmas hanging in a row,
No good will reaching friend and foe,
No Christmas cards and sleigh,
No "Merry Christmas" greeting glad,
All would be sadness, trouble and sad,
No glad surprise for those adored,
No Christmas season traits.

No hampers for the poor who need,
No kindly word no generous deed,
No gifts to save the world from greed—
A Christmas world, alas!
The poor would eat their hearts away,
Their faces pinched, their shoulders bare,
And men with plenty would not care,
No mingle with the mass.

No peace of God would cross the street,
No open door where Christians meet,
No love and grace and kindness great,
No love and grace and kindness great,
No love and grace and kindness great,
No love and grace and kindness great,
No love and grace and kindness great,
No love and grace and kindness great.

But in the place where should stand
A group of men who would stand
And leave no man in the land
A drunkard's bloodied face,
And where the hospital should be
A prison where should be free—
If Christ had not brought the race.

If Christ in Paradise had stayed,
If sin on him had not been laid,
If ransom price he had not paid,
Distress would be his lot,
No hope, no pardon, no release,
No joy, no cleansing and no peace,
Our growing troubles would increase,
We lose the battles fought.

If Christ had left himself away,
How empty would our lives be today,
And poor indeed would be our day,
Of letters, golden words,
The Gospel's four would not appear,
New Testaments would not be here,
For Jesus of Christ would drop a tear,
And many, many more.

All Scripture, we must realize,
If Christ remained upon the skies,
From Chaucer to the Brownings here,
For Christ inspired their pen,
And songs that low their voices here,
From Gregory to Mendelssohn here,
And in their place a thousand more,
Will fill the world of men.

The pictures from the walls now take
The pictures from the walls now take,
The pictures from the walls now take,
The pictures from the walls now take,
The pictures from the walls now take,
The pictures from the walls now take,
The pictures from the walls now take,
The pictures from the walls now take.

But Christ has come! His day we hail!
His name we sing, his name we hail!
His name we sing, his name we hail!
His name we sing, his name we hail!
His name we sing, his name we hail!
His name we sing, his name we hail!
His name we sing, his name we hail!
His name we sing, his name we hail!

Life's Opportunities.
We are never at the end of this life's opportunities—not until this life has ended for us. There never comes to any one living the time when he has the right to say "My opportunity is gone." A particular opportunity may indeed have passed us—lost through our own carelessness and sin; but in the instant of its passing another opportunity is ours, rich and golden. "Life is in the making as long as an hour of life remains."

And no one less than Christ himself, in whom and through whom all things are created, is at hand—better than that, dwell within us if we will
—to lay hold of the new opportunity for us and lead us into it in a triumph that shall be greater than any imagining of ours for ourselves in all our life before has been. That is the way God lavishes his love upon us. He,
the Creator, who calls the things that are not as though they were, is ceaselessly calling into being new glories and achievements for us in spite of all our wrecks of the past. If he is not discouraged about us, why should we be?

The Temple of God.
"Ye that are the temple of the living God, as God hath said, I will dwell in them, and walk in them."
—2 Cor. vi:16

God within us. Not only ever with us unseen, not only watching us in our secret moments and reading the very thoughts of our hearts, not only covering us with the shadow of his wings and lifting us with the light of his countenance, but as temple holders, our hearts, his home. Oh, if we could but grasp the thought, we should live lives nobler and more beautiful—Canon F. W.
Farrer

54-40 OR FIGHT

BY EMERSON HOUGH
AUTHOR OF THE MISSISSIPPI BUBBLE
ILLUSTRATIONS BY MAGNUS G. KETNER

"We Still Have the Dona Lucretia and Her Little Jealousies."

Germany seemed farthest from his mind. After his departure, Calhoun again turned to me.

"I want you to remain, Nicholas," said he, "because I have an appointment with a gentleman who will soon be present."

"A rather late hour, sir," I ventured. "Are you keeping faith with Dr. Ward?"

"I have no time for hobbies," he exclaimed, half petulantly. "What I must do is this work. The man we are to meet is in the city."

Perhaps half an hour later, Mr. Calhoun's old negro man ushered in the awaited guest, and we three found ourselves alone in one of those midnight conclaves which went on in Washington even then as they do today.

Mr. Polk was serious as usual; his distinctive features wearing the mask of solemnity, which with so many passes as wisdom.

"I have come, Mr. Calhoun," said he, "when the latter had assured him that his presence would entail no risk to him—to talk over this Texas situation. How do you stand in case war should be declared against Mexico?"

That ought to be a popular measure. The Texans have captured the popular imagination. The Alamo rankles in our nation's memory. What would you say to a stiff demand there, with a strong show of military force behind it?

"I should say nothing as to a strong showing in any case. I should only say that if war came legitimately—not otherwise—I should back it with all my might. I feel the same in regard to war with England."

"With England? What chance would we have with so powerful a nation as that?"

"There is a God of Battles," said John Calhoun.

The old of James K. Polk of Tennessee sank down into his seat. His shining eyes went half shut. At last he spoke, tentatively, as was always his way until he got the drift of things.

"Well, now, perhaps in the case of England that is good politics," he began. "It is very possible that the people hate England as much as they do Mexico. Do you not think so?"

DONA LUCRETIA

still sat looking at me. "But he will give you plenty of time, Nicholas," he smiled. "Jim Polk will not forget."

"Let him come at me as he likes!" I fumed.

At last, seeing me so wrought up, Mr. Calhoun rose, and smiling, shook me heartily by the hand.

"Of course, this had to come one time or another," said he. "The split was in the wood of their proposed platform of bluff and insincerity. 'What do the people say?' asks Jim Polk. 'What do they think?' asks John Calhoun. And being now, in God's providence, about to do some thinking for them, I have thought."

He turned to the table and took up a long, folded document, which I saw was done in his cramped hand and with many interlineations. "Copy this out for me tonight, Nicholas," said he. "This is our answer to the Aberdeen note. You have already learned its tenor, the time we met Mr. Pakenham with Mr. Tyler at the White House."

I grumbled. "Shall we not take it across direct to Mr. Blair for publication in his Globe?"

Mr. Calhoun smiled rather bitterly at this. The hostility of Blair to the Tyler administration was a fact rather more than well known.

"Twice all get into Mr. Polk's newspaper last enough," commented he at last. "He gets all the news of the Mexican entry."

"Ah, you think he cultivates the Dona Lucretia, rather than adores her?"

"I know it. One-third of Jim Polk may be human, but the other two-thirds is politician. He will flatter her into any condition. She is well high distracted at best, these days, what with the fickleness of her husband and the yet harder abandonment by her old adviser, Pakenham, so Polk will cap her ante disclosures, cover her, for a moment, when the time comes, he will send an army of occupation into her country. And all the while, on the one side and the other, he will appear to the public as a moral and patriotic man."

"If we temporarily lack the resources of this to add zest to our story," I hesitated, "we still have the Dona Lucretia and her little jealousies."

Calhoun turned quickly upon me with a sharp glance, as though seized by some sudden thought. "By the Lord Harry! but you give me an idea. Well, now, let a moment. Do you see how I am with your story, there, and release me for a time?"

An instant later he passed from the room. His tall figure bent, his hands clasped behind his back, and his long wrinkles in a frown as was his wont when occupied with some problem.

CHAPTER XX.
The Lady from Mexico.

As well as we could see, we were not far from the White House.

After a time my chief recovered the official character of his position, and I put before him the draft of the document which he had given me for clerical care.

"So," he said, "it is ready for distribution. I wonder what may come of that little paper?"

So now, till our onward down of the next day, we sat and waited, I put before him full details of my duties across the border. He sat silent, his eyes betimes wandering as though absorbed, again fixed on me, keen and alert.

"I am young, Mr. Calhoun," said I. "Send me." "Would you go?" he asked suddenly. "I was going in any case."

"Why, how do you mean?" he demanded. "I felt the blood come to my face. 'Tis all over between Miss Elizabeth Churchill and myself," said I, calmly as I might.

"Tut! tut! a child's quarrel," he went on, "a child's quarrel. 'Twill all mend in time."

Doctors Said Health Gone

Suffered with Throat Trouble

Mr. B. W. D. Barnes.

Mr. B. W. D. Barnes, ex-Sheriff of Warren County, Tennessee, in a letter from Minneapolis, Tennessee, writes:

"I had throat trouble, and had three doctors treating me. All failed to do me any good, and I pronounced my health gone. I concluded to try Peruna, and after using four bottles I can say I was entirely cured."

Unable to Work.
Mr. Gustav Himmelreich, Hochheim, Texas, writes:

"For a number of years I suffered whenever I took cold, with severe attacks of asthma, which usually yielded to the common home remedies."

"Last year, however, I suffered for eight months without interruption, so that I could not do any work at all. The various medicines that were prescribed brought me no relief."

"After taking six bottles of Peruna, two of Lechia and two of Manilla, I am free of my trouble so that I can do all my farm work again. I can heartily recommend this medicine to any one who suffers with this annoying complaint and believe that they will obtain good results."

WHERE IT WAS LACKING

Show your forehead up your lips so that I thought you were going to die me."

"No, no, I got some grit in my neck. Well, but wouldn't make away on it? You need it in your system!"

A Dry Wash.
Representative Livingston of Georgia, who, disgusted at the present state of the house recently, proposed a little remedy which he made by using the bath tube on said recent by apoplexy of this subject.

"We are now a good deal like Bill Squireman on a new morning."

"Bill's name entered his bedroom one morning morning and said with a shiver."

"Will you take your bath hot or cold, sir?"

"Thank you, said Bill, 'I'll take it as I please.'"

ITS FOOD
There are stomach specialists as well as eye and ear and other specialists.

One of these told a young lady, of New Brunswick, N. J., to quit medicine and eat Grape-Nuts. She says:

"For about 12 months I suffered severely with gastritis. I was unable to retain much of anything on my stomach, and consequently was compelled to give up my occupation. I took quantities of medicine, and had an idea I was dying, but I continued to suffer, and soon lost 15 pounds in weight. I was depressed in spirits and lost interest in everything generally. My mind was so affected that it was impossible to become interested in even the lightest reading matter."

"After suffering for months I decided to go to a stomach specialist. He put me on Grape-Nuts, and my health began to improve immediately. It was the best medicine I had. I had been eating too much starchy food which I did not digest, and the cereal which I had tried had been too heavy. I soon proved that it is not the quantity of food that one eats, but the quality. In a few weeks I was able to go back to my old business of doing clerical work. I have continued to eat Grape-Nuts for both the morning and evening meal. I wake in the morning with a clear mind and feel rested. I regained my lost weight in a short time. I am well and happy again and owe it to Grape-Nuts. Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read 'The Road to Wellville' in 'Plugs.' There's a Reason."

"Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest."

STALLIONS FOR SALE

Have three on hand, two of them for sale.
Can be seen at my ranch in southeast corner of Sutton County after March 6—

(1.) Sutton, the old Erich Cloudt stallion, about 16 hands, dark chestnut sorrel, weight 1175, a good looker and a good horse. Colts are big, smooth, salable. Said to be Steeldust and Hamblethorn. Price $200.00.

(2.) Rands, a sorrel 4 year old quarter horse heavy bodied and well muscled, has the saddle gait and is gentle to ride and work. Price, $200.

(3.) Nedwood, Jr., sired by Nedwood Sr.,
2:15, a registered stand and bred horse of San Antonio; a half brother of Albok who did a mile in 2.08 and sold for $5,000.00. Nedwood
Jr. won two blue ribbons at Gonzales County fairs for the best stallion, any breed, and a blue ribbon for being the best saddle horse. His colts wear blue ribbons for 1908, '09, '10. He stands 15 1/4 hands, is seven years old, a mahogany brown, is a fast runner, a fast driver, and a fast saddler. Price, $600.00.

Will trade these horses for horses, mules, or cattle. Am in the horse and mule business and when you have any choice young stuff for sale would be glad to hear from you.

CANE SEED FOR SALE

The little red top, the very kind you want for a crop, or for age. Two blades of fodder to one of amber, and does not fall down like most cane. Seed of stalks can be regulated from size a straw to a small size saw log, as you like or thin. Every seed guaranteed to sprout, or money refunded (on all that fail). I have them on the head at a reasonable price. You will be surprised at that a curry comb a board and a little elbow grease will do a home made thrasher for 30 cents that will get the seeds off faster than nine hundred "nigger" soldiers can count. If you want several bushel just hire a wagon sheet into your wagon and tramp them out as you go home. I have a few gallons of good old thick home evaporated and molasses.
Sweet and juicy, 65 cents per gallon as long as they last. Now is the time.

A Wolf in Sheep's & Clothing

A TRUE STORY OF THE SECRET SERVICE

By COL. H. C. WHITLEY Former Chief United States Secret Service

THINGS were pretty lively about Washington during President Grant's administration. The great, the noble, the shabby, the political, the daily met with. Each had an axe to grind. It was a busy day for adventurers and sharpers. Every device that human ingenuity could invent was in use for money making purposes. Men of respectability when at home often turned crooks after sojourning at the nation's capital for a time. The war had left its demoralizing influence upon many and the opportunities for acquiring wealth were numerous and varied. For a long time before General Grant took his seat in the president's chair, there had been a looseness in the administration of government affairs resulting in organized frauds that would not be tolerated in this day.

The Credit Mobilier conspiracy, the whiskey ring and many other monumental steals were being carried on in high official and private circles. The big fellows set the pace and the smaller crooks following about the city felt quite safe in taking a hand in what was going on. Some of the devices resorted to by the lesser fellows were quite ridiculous. I will disinter one of these schemes for the purpose of exhibiting the folly of some of the doers of that day.

Shortly after President Grant's inauguration in the spring of 1873 he sent a messenger with a note requesting me to call at once at the White House. On entering his office I found him at his desk. He pointed to a nearby chair and bade me be seated. Reaching into a drawer of his desk he took out two long black cigars, and handing me one of them he bit off the end of the other and put it between his teeth. Straightening back in his chair, the big black cigar was pointed upward at an angle of about forty-five degrees. As the smoke curled lazily above his head I saw that there was something in his manner indicating that his usual placid temper was riled. Picking up a package of letters from his desk he turned towards me and said: "Here, Colonel, is a matter that needs your careful attention. During the last few days I have been receiving these letters. I want you to make an investigation at once. The persons engaged in this work must be punished. It is an outrage. It is probable that there is more than one person in the scheme."

President Grant spoke with great earnestness, and I saw that he was not a little disturbed and that his idea was to let no guilty man escape. The circulars he handed me were printed in letter form and had been sent through the mails to many postmasters throughout the south and west. The circulars read as follows: I give them verbatim.

Executive Mansion, Washington, Oct. 12th, 1872.
Memorandum of conversation between the president and his secretary.
Secretary—I wish to refer this telegram of Senator Morton's to the president.
To the President:

A conspiracy has been formed to, overturn southern Illinois, Indiana and Ohio and to keep the colored vote from the polls in the southern states. Several thousand nonresidents will vote in Indiana. Men and money are needed. I send a man to you who has been in their councils.

O. P. Morton.
President—Yes, I have thought that matter all over and had a long talk with the man who sent me. What does Mr. Cook say about money? You know that we have none, and that the committee's means are all necessary for the regular business.

Secretary—Mr. Cook will furnish you any amount you require.

President—Very well, I will take the responsibility. Have Captain Cook select a dozen men to go east and south with funds and organize. The mere fact of a good organization will deter lawless bodies from attempting to defraud the people at the polls.

Additional conversation, March 24th, 1873.

Secretary—Mr. President, have you determined how you will reimburse Mr. Cook for the money furnished last October?

President—Yes, I have. The bishop has suggested Rev. J. Hale Barney to act as secretary in the matter. Appoint him immediately, and as our mails are so large and go to clerks to be arranged and briefed before we see them, you will have all letters on the subject addressed to him. Call upon your friends, and allow no one to contribute over ten dollars, and to prevent publicity and trouble, direct the remittance to be made by a single ten dollar note. Registered letters, drafts, or express would necessarily tend to publicity. Mr. Secretary, you will make an alphabetical list of every contributor, to which we can hereafter refer.

Confidential Circular No. 10.
Executive Mansion, Washington,
April 5th, 1873.

"The annexed conversations are submitted to the friends of the president in confidence. Our friends can address Rev. J. Hale Barney, who is temporarily secretary in that behalf. Any one having conscientious convictions against contributing need only silently decline. The president has acted in good faith, and confidently relies upon an active and cheerful assistance. Suppose nothing had been done and the state of affairs existing in Louisiana had more extensively prevailed, what would have been the result? Read carefully the president's views and act as your judgment dictates, remembering this subject is confidential and known only to three persons besides the president and that whatever is sent should be in currency in the enclosed envelope.

Very respectfully,
O. P. Babcock,
Secretary."

With the above circular was also enclosed the following letter for return after being filled out:

Rev. J. Hale Barney,
"Executive Secretary, Etc.,
Washington, D. C.
"Sir: Please find enclosed ten dollars in currency which you can apply at once. Others were surprised and doubtful as to their genuineness and forwarded them to the president with a letter of inquiry. Taken altogether it was a most remarkable affair planned and carried out in a reckless manner. The report of the detectives sent to capture the schemer furnishes a chapter of racy reading.

It was discovered that a lady who rented furnished rooms at No. 426 Sixth street had sometime prior to the discovery of the forgeries received a letter from a man signing himself Rev. J. Hale Barney. He said he was a Methodist minister and that he would be absent from the city much of the time attending to the duties of his circuit, but he wanted to hire a good lower front room in her house for office purposes and a place to sleep and the delivery of his correspondence. He explained further that he had been appointed executive secretary of the Christian Brotherhood.

The lady thought it was a rare opportunity to secure an occupant of distinction. She had great confidence in Methodist ministers as she leaned that way herself, and she answered favorably. In a few days a large trunk was forwarded by express. It had an aperture in its top through which letters could be dropped. There were also forwarded two large cards upon which was printed "Rev. J. Hale Barney, Executive Secretary of the Christian Brotherhood," one to be hung upon the door, the other in the window of the room. Money was sent to pay a month's rent in advance.

The madame was delighted to rent her rooms to such a nice man. She had always maintained a highly respectable place and intended to keep it so. The trunk was put into one corner of the room hired, and all mail addressed to the reverend myth was dropped through the hole in the top of the trunk pending the arrival of his reverence.

The old lady was wholly unsuspect-easily secured a key to fit it. He had several circulars printed in facsimile of the original to be used as decoys. These were postmarked and given the appearance of having been sent by postmasters in the south. Some of them contained marked money. Excuses were made in other money would be sent in course of time. Some of these letters were signed, "A Friend of the Cause," "A Sympathizer," "Depend Upon Me," etc. A letter carrier was made use of and the detective was kept posted in regard to the delivery of the letters.

When the "nice man" occupying the room back of the parlor was absent the letters contained in the trunk were examined by the detective. A short time after the return of the "nice man" he was seen to slip into the parlor through the rear door. The detective again examined the trunk. The letters were gone. Shortly afterwards the "nice man" occupying the room back of the parlor was arrested while in the act of dropping letters into the postoffice.

These letters were discovered to be circulars addressed to postmasters and others. The "nice man" arrested was searched and the marked money placed in the letters by the detective was found in his pocket. It was now certain that Rev. J. Hale Barney and the individual arrested were one and the same. The silent young man upstairs was suspected and arrested. His room was searched and a large number of printed circulars and envelopes addressed to postmasters were found.

The plot, although silly in its conception, was catchy because of its boldness. The "nice man" caught was a person of considerable prominence. He had served as a colonel of a regiment during the Civil war and was a gallant fighter.

The young fellow upstairs was a printer and had done the work on the circulars. Both of the schemers were

Wife—No; but I've noticed how much easier you lie after a day's fishing than upon other days.

His Head Was Hard.

It is a common belief that the negro's head is hard, capable of standing almost any blow.

The following story told by a prominent young dentist of Danville, Ill., would seem to indicate something of the kind. Two negro men were employed on tearing down a three-story brick building. One negro was on top of the building taking off the bricks and sliding them down a narrow wooden chute to the ground, some thirty feet below, where the other was picking them up and piling them.

When this latter negro was stooping over to pick up a brick the former accidentally let one fall, striking him directly on the head.

Instead of its killing him, he merely looked up, without rising, and said, "What you doin' that, nigger, you make me bite my tongue?"—The Circle.

England's Oldest School.

A controversy has arisen in England as to which school has the right to claim greatest age. There are two schools which were founded in the early part of the seventh century—the King's school, Rochester, and the King's school, Canterbury. Just on his appointment to the see of Rochester in 604, made provision for a school in connection with the cathedral. Augustine established the Canterbury school about the same time. St. Peter's at York dates back to the eleventh century.

Scott's Rebecca in "Vanhoe." The character of Rebecca, in Scott's "Vanhoe" was taken from a beautiful Jewess, Miss Rebecca Gratz of Philadelphia. Her steadfastness to Judaism, when related by Washington Irving to Scott, won his admiration and caused the creation of one of his finest characters.

Citation by Publication.

THE STATE OF TEXAS.

To the Sheriff or any constable of Kimble County, Greeting:

You are hereby commanded, that by making publication of this citation in some newspaper published in the County of Kim- ble, if there be one published in said county, (but if not, then in the nearest county where a news- paper is published), for eight weeks previous to the return day hereof, you summon the unknown heirs of Ruben Runner and of Eugene Reed and Edwin Reed whose residences are unknown, to be and appear before the Hon- orable District Court of Kimble County at the next regular term thereof to be holden in the Coun- ty of Kimble, at the Courthouse thereof in Junction, Texas, on the 20th day of March, 1911, File Number being 514, then and there to answer the petition of W. W. Taylor, filed in said court on the 8th day of December, 1910, against the unknown heirs of the said Ruben Runner, Eugene Reed and Edwin Reed, and alleging in substance as follows, to wit:

That he is the owner and in actual possession of that part of Survey No. 372, (except 100 acres conveyed to R. S. Price, May 13, 1908) No 372, Section No. 9, de- scribed by metes and bounds as follows:

Beginning at the upper corner Survey No. 372, R. S. Beard and lower corner of Survey 373, Wil- liam Berry on the S. bank of the S. fork of the Llano River; thence S. 5540 vrs. to a stone mound under pasture fence; thence E. 950 vrs. to a stone mound; thence N. 4591 vrs. to a stone mound, the S. E. cor. of a 100 acre tract out of said Survey No. 372 in name of R. S. Beard, from which stone mound a cedar 8 in. bears N. 10 W. 19 varas, clump of Span- ish Oaks, N. 51 W. 27 varas; thence S. 77 W. with S. line of said 100 acre tract 617 varas to stone mound, its S. W. corner from which a double elm 3 and 4 in. bears S. 24 E. 102-5 varas. S. P. O. 3 in. bears S. 64 W. 13 varas; thence N. 870 varas to a stone mound on S. bank of river from which a pecan 15 in. bears S. 24 W. 9 varas, another 18 in N. 19 E. 17 1/2 varas; thence up the river with its meanders to the place of beginning.

Also 246 acres, the East half of the Edwin Quinby 492 acre survey No. 374, Sec. 5, Cert. No. 672, patent No. 178, Vol. 2, and being same land conveyed to Mary A. Thomas by Lula May McDonnell and A. A. McDonnell, Sept. 29, 1897, by deed recorded in Bk. 7, page 462 of Kimble Co. deed records.

Plaintiff alleges that he and those whose estate he has, claim- ing under deeds duly registered, has had peaceable, continuous and adverse possession of the land and tenements herein claim- ed, cultivating, using or enjoying the same, and paying all taxes thereon for a period of more than five years before the com- mencement of this suit, and this he is ready to verify.

Plaintiff alleges that he and those whose estate he has, claim- ing to have good and perfect right and title to the lands here- in claimed has had and held peace- able said lands and adverse pos- session of same cultivating, using or enjoying the same for a period of more than ten years before the commencement of this suit, and this he is ready to verify.

Plaintiff alleges that the de- fendants the unknown heirs of Ruben Runner, are setting up some character of claim to the first tract of land herein describ- ed, but that the claims set up by the defendants are spurious, fraudulent and unjust, but that the said claims of the defendant cast a cloud upon plaintiff title to said lands, seriously depreciating the value thereof.

Herein fail not, but have you then and there before said court this writ with your return there on showing how you have exe- cuted the same.

Given under my hand and seal of office, this 22d day of Decem- ber, 1910.
