Critical Stage Claimed Near In Strikes

By FELIX COTTEN
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15—President Truman's top economic adviser declared today that the strike situation is reaching the "critical" stage in its effect on what started out to be a business recovery.

Dr. Edwin G. Nourse, chief of the council of economic advisers, said he is beginning to view continuation of the coal and steel strikes "with real concern." He added:

"We are now right on the threshold of the critical period."

Nourse said a short time ago that the fall business recovery, which at one time was well underway, would be able to pick up and move forward if the steel strike lasted only two or three weeks.

Time Running Out

He made it clear today, however, that the industrial tie-up has reached a point where "time is running out" on this forecast.

Top White House advisers, whose eyes are turned on John L. Lewis and his coal miners, say that unless the deadlock is broken next week they will start viewing the situation with alarm.

Administration economists say that if the strike tie-up could be ended next week business could rebound and move ahead. But they fear that if it continues longer the demoralization will be such that it will take business some time to recover.

Pessimism Increases

There is a strong tone of pessimism in administration comments. Top officials say they see no silver lining on the strike cloud at present.

In the background is still the possibility that the President may resort to drastic measures to break the deadlock, particularly if it continues beyond next week. Seizure of the coal mines is being discussed in some quarters.

The existence before the steel strike of a strong business recovery was admitted by both government and private economists.

The experts said it was based on

War Chest For Labor Proposed

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 15 (AP)—CIO President Philip Murray lined up in John L. Lewis' labor unity parade today and proposed that they set up a war chest with the AFL to fight strike battles of all unionized labor.

This was the day's top development in the big steel and coal strikes. Murray's United Steelworkers spread their free pension strike to some steel fabricators and made ready to hit aluminum next. More than a million already are idle in the doubleheader strikes with no peace in sight.

Murray said his steelworkers and "I am sure other equally minded affiliates" of the CIO stand prepared to join John Lewis' United Mine workers and the AFL "to pool their resources for the common defense and general welfare of the labor movement."

But his prepared statement did

THOUSANDS WATCH HOMECOMING PARADE — Lubbock streets were jammed Saturday morning as Texas Tech's flashy 136-piece band led a long parade of beautiful and colorful decorated floats down Main street and up Broadway to the college. Thousands of persons lined sidewalks throughout the parade route. The picture above, looking east on Broadway from the balcony of the Lubbock hotel, shows the Tech band, and several floats in the line of march. The picture was taken with The Avalanche-Journal's new "big bertha" camera, by Staff Photographer Bill Hams. The camera also was used for action shots of the Texas Tech-Baylor football game Saturday. Farm Support Plan Scrapped

(By The Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15. — A Senate-House conference committee today reversed a decision reached a few hours earlier to support basic farm crops at 90 per cent of parity whenever maximum planting and marketing controls are in effect.

The blowup came at a closed meeting late in the day. It threatened a new deadlock over the farm bill that might imperil adjournment plans for next week.

Both senators and representatives said the only agreement they now have is to meet again Monday morning and start a new attempt to patch up a farm price support measure.

Chairman Cooley (D-NC) of the House Agriculture committee and his House colleagues, who earlier had forecast a final compromise at this afternoon's session, said when they left:

"We may not be able to reach any agreement at all now."

Switch Is Blamed

Other conferees said a switch by Senate majority leader Lucas (D-Ill) and Senator Anderson (D-NM) scuttled the compromise. Both had voted earlier in the day

$9,000 Fire Strikes Lamesa Cotton Yard

LAMESA, Oct. 15 (Special)—An estimated 75 to 90 bales of cotton were destroyed by fire here early this morning in the cotton yard northeast of the Lamesa compress, causing an estimated $9,000 damage.

Firemen answered the call after a taxi driver spread the alarm at 3:30 a.m., and arrived in time to halt the spread of the fire to several thousand other bales stacked in the yard.

It was the second cotton fire here this season. Earlier this month, a cotton house filled with cotton burned at the McDonald Gin here, causing an estimated $20,000 damage.

J. H. Harp, manager of the compress, who gave the estimate of damage, said it was covered by insurance.

DOCTORS DEGREES TO BE AWARDED AT COLLEGE

Tech Buildings Okayed

By C. W. RATLIFF
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

TEXAS Tech's board of directors formally approved inauguration of a graduate study program leading to doctors' degrees and took preliminary steps to add another $2,000,000 worth of buildings to the campus in a three-hour session at the college Saturday morning.

The building program, a continuation of plans previously announced, will include the addition of a new Home Economics building, a general Engineering unit, a Music hall, and a Student Union building and allocation of $650,000 in funds for construction of various Agriculture division buildings.

Two Contracts Awarded

In addition to projecting the future building, the board also awarded two more contracts for work on the two wings of the Administration building now under construction. McKinley Plumbing Co., of Lubbock, was awarded plumbing, heating and ventilating work, for $107,765 and Empire Electric Co., of Dallas, was awarded the electrical work for $49,731. Wm. G. McMillan, Lubbock, is general contractor.

Awarding of the two contracts brings cost of the two wings to $649,946.

Cost of the new buildings and the wings under construction will approximate $3,325,000. An additional $1,175,000 will be available for other buildings under provisions of the College Building amendment during the next six years.

Plans and specifications for the new buildings are to be prepared for submission to the board at the earliest possible date after which advertising for bids will be made.

Departing from usual custom of awarding architectural work to Wyatt C. Hedrick of Fort Worth, the board commissioned four other firms in addition to Hedrick to draw plans for the buildings. Atcheson and Atkinson of Lubbock and Foster and Davis of El Paso were named architects for the new engineering building; Walsh and Hazlewood of Amarillo for the new Music hall and Haynes and Kirby of Lubbock for the new Home Economics building.

Hedrick, who presented board members with new Western style hats at the close of the board meeting, had been architect for all of the buildings constructed on the campus up to the present time.

In addition to approving the

PARADE WINNERS ANNOUNCED

Midland Man Is Named To Head Texas Tech Exes For New Year

WHAT was believed to be the largest Homecoming in the history of Texas Technological college came to a close Saturday night as thousands of returning exes began streaming back to their homes.

Exact registration figures were not available, but all indications point to a record-breaking attendance at the celebrations this year, according to D. M. McElroy, executive secretary of the Ex-Students' association.

Heading the Tech Ex-Students association for next year will be Ed A. McCullough of Midland, named at a meeting of the executive council at a breakfast Saturday morning. The election was one of the business highlights of the day's activities.

Parade Is Impressive

Climaxed by separate dances for alumni and students on the Tech campus until midnight Saturday, the Homecoming festivities also were highlighted by a Tech-Baylor university football game in Jones Stadium Saturday afternoon and the longest parade on record Saturday morning.

A free luncheon for former students and faculty members at noon was attended by over 1,800 persons, the largest ever to be present for the annual dinner given by Furr food stores and Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma motor coaches. Open houses by most college organizations rounded out the activities.

But, aside from the football game, it was the parade and election of officers to the Ex-Students association at a breakfast meeting of the executive council Saturday that held the widest attention.

McCullough, a 1931 engineering graduate and now district manager of the Sunray Oil Corp., at Midland, was elected president of the ex-students association,

Accused Slayer Seen At Dalhart

DALHART, Oct. 15. (AP)— Leonard (Lucky) Hawkins, sought on murder charges, made a brief appearance here today and then fled on foot.

Hundreds of Texas Panhandle officers immediately pressed a search. Residents were warned not to leave cars unlocked and not to pick up hitchhikers.

Road blocks were set up.

The 34-year-old Hawkins hit cafe cook Jack Woodruff, 59, over the head with a pistol at about 5:15 a. m. then fled.

Juanita Groves, 19, Dalhart girl who gave officers valuable clues in their investigation of the slaying of Alfred Clark, 23, of Boise City, Okla., said she was sitting in the cafe eating breakfast when Hawkins appeared in the doorway.

The girl said Hawkins held a pistol in his hand. She ran screaming to the rear of the cafe with Hawkins in pursuit. In the kitchen Hawkins tangled with Woodruff. Their scuffle let Miss Groves escape to protective custody of officers.

Authorities expressed belief Hawkins may have been seeking

Cool Front Forecast For Plains Monday

The weatherman called for slightly warmer temperatures throughout the South Plains today, but warned that a cool front is due to strike this area sometime during the day Monday.

The front probably will not drop daytime temperatures more than six degrees, and there is little likelihood that it will produce frost.

The front is moving southward from the general area of the Dakotas and Idaho where it was located at midnight last night. It will not bring extreme temperature changes, although there is a possibility of scattered showers from partly cloudy skies Monday.

Frost might form as far south as the Oklahoma-Texas Panhandle, but the cool front will not produce a killing frost on the South Plains, it was indicated. Low this morning probably will be a chilly 38, with the high this afternoon climbing to 74.

Soldier Arrested As Second Suspect In Amarillo Slaying

AMARILLO, Oct. 15. (AP)—A soldier arrested at Camp Kilmer, N. J., last night was the second charged with murder in a $31 robbery-slaying here.

He is Pvt. Donald Gene Young, 28, former Amarillo resident. City Detective Chief J. L. King and Chief Deputy Sheriff Murphy Hurd left for Kilmer today to return Young.

The other man arrested was Dwight Hoskins, 24, former Amarillo High school football star. They are charged in the Oct. 6 death of Charles Lee Freeman, a physically handicapped filling station attendant

Man Charged In Cochran Shooting Case

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

LEVELLAND, Oct. 15. — Still near death, Mrs. Leo Nichols, 28, lay in Phillips-Dupre hospital here tonight with a bullet in her chest while her husband, 37, sat in the Hockley county jail charged with assault with intent to murder after the Friday night shooting at their farm home seven miles south of Whiteface in Cochran county.

Leo Nichols, farm hand, was charged this afternoon in a complaint signed by H. D. Crockett, Cochran county sheriff, sworn before E. G. Pharr, assistant district attorney, and filed with justice of the Peace Robinson of Whiteface.

Examination Trial Slated

Examining trial for Nichols was to be held Sunday, possibly Monday, at Whiteface, Sheriff Crockett said. Nichols was brought here today from Morton, where he had been jailed shortly after the shooting which came about 7 p. m. Friday.

While Mrs. Nichols lay near death with what doctors said was little chance for recovery, officers were piecing together the story of the shooting from oral statements made in the presence of officers by the wounded woman, her husband and their son, Bobby Jack, 9.

Dr. C. M. Phillips, physician attending Mrs. Nichols, said he was "sure she won't live."

Spinal Cord Feared Hit

"I am surprised she has lived this long," Dr. Phillips said. "It appears that the bullet severed the spinal cord, and patients never live very long in cases of this type."

"The bullet entered the right side of her chest and apparently struck the spinal column and then lodged in the chest cavity," he said. "She is paralyzed from the middle of the chest down."

"We are giving purely supportive treatment, such as oxygen, plasma and blood transfusions. We can't do any surgery and we don't think she will recover. Her right lung is filled with blood."

Dr. Phillips said Mrs. Nichols has remained conscious since the shooting, with only an occasional

Mexican Held On Murder Charge

Manuel Benavidez, 55-year-old Mexican field laborer, was held in Lubbock county jail Saturday in lieu of $5,000 bond set in connection with a murder charge.

Benavidez was charged with murder with malice in the early Saturday shooting of Alonzo Perales, about 19, on a farm four miles east of Acuff. He was jailed by sheriff's deputies and city police at 5:30 a. m. The sheriff's department said it had received a call relating to the shooting at 3 a. m.

Official Told Of Shooting

A. W. Salyars, assistant district attorney who prepared the complaint upon oath of Deputy Sheriff John Barnett, was told by witnesses that Benavidez, his son, another Mexican, and a negro woman in whose house they and others had been gambling, went into the yard after an argument had developed inside.

Benavidez, witnesses said, pulled his pistol and began firing into the ground.

The woman told him to put the gun up, but he fired it three times into the house before complying with her request.

SEMINOLE, Oct. 15.—Mary Donna Nelson, the Seminole 12-year old who hitchhiked to California, came back home to Texas tonight by air.

With her father, Guy Nelson, and Buster, an English setter she picked up in Arizona, she reached Midland at 6:15 p.m. by airlines plane. At Midland they picked up the family car for the 60-odd mile drive here.

Solons Told Of Red Might

By RICHARD M. PALMER
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15 — Gen. Omar Bradley told Congress today that Russia has 15,000 warplanes and 175 divisions—about three and a half million men—available for instant combat service and warned the next war might open with an atomic attack on Washington.

The chairman of the joint chiefs of staff also informed the Senate Appropriations committee that the Soviets can muster a total of 300 divisions within 60 days and 502 divisions within a few months.

America's military leader repeated his statement that it would take 50 allied divisions to defend Western Europe. The Allies had 91 divisions in Europe during World War II and 63 of these were American.

Data Made Public

Members of the Senate committee made the Bradley data public.

The JCS chairman appeared before the committee in support of quick approval of the $1,314,010,000 appropriation to arm free nations ready to fight feared Russian aggression.

Senators attending the session said that Bradley, in answer to questions, told them that Russia's development of the A-bomb makes it possible that any future war might open with an atomic attack on Washington and that the front line might be the nation's capital.

J. C. Stephens Victim Of Fire Early Today

A MAN identified as James C. (Jake) Stephens, 35, was burned to death about 12:45 o'lock this morning in a one-room house about a mile east of the Tahoka highway on Forty-eighth street.

Firemen tore out one corner of the house where Stephens lived alone in a vain effort to rescue him. His body was found in bed.

A neighbor family, Mr. and Mrs. Johnnie Buford who live in the first house west of the scene of the tragedy, discovered the blaze after they retired, and turned in an alarm.

Rescuers Driven Away

Buford ran to the house, cut off the butane supply, and tried to enter the front door, but flames drove him back.

Cause of the blaze was not determined immediately. Flames were under control by 1:15 a. m.

Worked As Carpenter

Neighbors, who identified the victim, said Stephens had worked as a mechanic for T. J. Vallas and Sons Used Car Lot at 608 Thirteenth, but lately had been doing work as a carpenter.

Stephens was a brother of Mrs. T. J. Vallas, sr., of 1811 Eighteenth.

The charred body, burned almost beyond recognition in the intense heat, was carried to the McDonald Funeral home in an ambulance.

Lynn Conducts Investigation

Justice of Peace C. E. Lynn conducted a preliminary examination at the scene of the fire and said that officers would further examine the victim at the Funeral home.

Firemen arrived at the scene within ten minutes after receiving the alarm, and had the blaze under control within a short time.

Assistant Fire Chief Glenn Smith said the house was completely enveloped in flames when the trucks arrived. The fire-fighters battered down the one door leading into the structure, then tore out the corner section of the south east wall in an effort to reach Stephens bed.

Victim Horribly Burned

The victim's body was lying face-up, one blackened arm angling grotesquely upward from the bed. The flesh had been burned almost entirely from the body.

The Buford house, closest structure to the frame shack, was not endangered by the flames. Paint on Stephens car, parked near the front door of the burned

Ginnings May Reach 1,600,000 Bales

Area Cotton Harvest Forecast Is Hiked

By H. I. KIEFER
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

A GOOD many Lubbock housewives are averaging $8 to $10 a day picking cotton and some Texas Tech students are making up to $12 in an afternoon.

This was a highlight of the news from the furiously busy South Plains cotton front Saturday.

It was information which rivaled in importance some other developments which were profoundly significant.

One of the developments was the weekly report of K. N. Clapp, who has been forecasting South Plains cotton crops since 1923 for Anderson, Clayton & Co., of Houston, world's largest cotton merchants.

He estimated that ginnings above the Caprock this year will be 10 to 15 per cent larger than his Sept. 1 prediction of 1,385,000 bales.

Translated into cotton, this would mean, in round figures, 140,000 to 200,000 more bales than he anticipated six weeks ago. Translated into cash, it would mean $20 million to $30 million more in cash for cotton than he expected then.

He now expects total ginnings of the area to run between 1,500,000 and 1,600,000 bales worth $200 million to $250 million.

But the exceedingly conservative Clapp conditioned his new forecast, based upon "spot checks" throughout the area, upon the date of the first freeze on the South Plains.

If the freeze is delayed until the second week in November he expects ginnings to be reasonably close to his latest prediction. An earlier freeze would reduce his figures, a later one add to them.

The first freeze usually occurs

PRODUCTION COSTS PROHIBITIVE

Top Scientist Claims Brazil Has Material Necessary For A-Bomb

By RICHARD DYER
INS Staff Correspondent

RIO DE JANEIRO, Oct. 15 — Cesar Lattes, Latin-America's number one atomic scientist, declared today that Brazil has all the necessary ingredients for atomic energy production and could undertake the manufacture of atomic weapons.

Lattes said, however, there is little probability that Brazil will ever produce A-bombs.

There are several reasons for this, he said.

One is that cost of establishment of an atomic plant for bomb manufacture would exceed Brazil's total annual budget. He said another is that Brazilian raw materials and scientific research can contribute more to American manufacture, and consequently to hemisphere defense. Still another is the possibility of development of newer and more improved atomic weapons by the time Brazil could get her own atomic bomb plant into production.

Two Contributions Available

However, Brazil can offer vital atomic contributions to hemisphere defense, Lattes said. These are plentiful uranium and thorium and advanced research in cosmic rays.

Lattes, who is now only 25 years of age, speaks with authority. Ever since he went to the University of California two years ago and captured the elusive "meson," a trick that previously had baffled science, he has been ranked with topflight atomic experts of the world.

Lattes immediately received offers from the United States Atomic Energy commission and from top American universities suggesting that he remain in the United States and devote his energies to atomic research.

Brazilian Post Accepted

But Lattes decided to return to Brazil and accept an offer to become the scientific director of the newly-established Brazilian Center of Physical studies, an offshoot of the University of Brazil. He admits that he was motivated partly by patriotism and partly by his desire to continue his interrupted studies in cosmic ray research, begun five years ago.

"There is uranium ore in Brazil, probably in large quantities," Lattes said. "We don't know for sure. We have never made a scientific search for it, with Geiger counters. But the indications are there, and we plan to start the search next year.

"We do know there are unlimited quantities of thorium sand along the Bahia coastline. This material is not radioactive in itself, but it can greatly simplify the harnessing of atomic energy—either for weapons or for peacetime uses.

Vital Link Possible

"Brazil, without ever attempting to build her own atom bombs, can become a vital link in hemisphere use of atomic energy."

Lattes emphasized what atomic scientists had been saying long before President Truman's announcement of Russian conquest of the atomic bomb—that the only secrets involved were the American methods of production and application.

"Nuclear fission has been known and understood by scientists the world over for more than a decade," Lattes said. "Hundreds of thousands of words have been written on the subject, which are not secret.

"The Americans got a head start on practical application. But like the automobile — American manufacturers always dominated the field, but they couldn't prevent other nations from making cars.

"However, atomic research is progressing at such a rapid rate that the United States should be able to maintain its scientific lead over Russia for a long time to come."

Lattes believes that cosmic ray research may shortly lead to even greater penetration of atomic secrets. Recently, through his insistence, Brazil concluded an agreement with Bolivia for establishment of a permanent cosmic ray observatory at an elevation of 18,000 feet, on a mountain 30 miles from La Paz.

The laboratory will be operated at Brazilian expense, and will make constant observations of cosmic rays, which can be better done at high altitudes and in rare atmospheres. The results are sent to Lattes, and from him to atomic scientists in the United States and England who are collaborating with him on cosmic studies.

In addition to the cosmic ray research, Lattes is planning a laboratory for the University of Brazil which will include a small cyclotron and a section for manufacture of geiger counters, to be used in a scientific search for Brazilian deposits of uranium ore.

Nickel Removed From Boy's Throat After Speedy Trip

GRANBY, Colo., Oct. 15 (AP)—Frank Bathrick, is 6 years old. His dad gave him two nickels for being a good boy. Lying on the floor, the boy began juggling the coins. One slipped from his hand and fell into his mouth, slipping into his throat.

The father, Ralph Bathrick, hustled the boy into the car and headed across the mountains to Denver. Near the city limits police furnished an escort to the Children's Hospital. A surgeon fished out the nickel plugging Frank's throat.

Many Professors In China Escape Communist Regions

CANTON, Oct. 15 (AP) — Many Chinese university professors are clearing out of Red China because they don't want to teach under Communist discipline. Han Li-wu, minister of education, says his ministry already ha staken care of 354 professors who escaped from Communist China.

Han said the professors found that in Communist China their position on the faculty had to be approved by special committees of laborers, students and teachers. Many first-rate scholars have been dismissed as a result of such scrutiny," he reported. There were these other academic complaints:

The teachings of Marx, Lenin and Chinese Communist Leader Mao Tze-tung were compulsory. Courses in history and political science were suppressed. "Even science textbooks for middle schools have been modified to fit in with Communist ideology," Han charges.

Tech Artist Course To Start With Piano Presentation Tuesday

Lubbock will get a taste of "big time" piano music Tuesday night when Jacques Abram, internationally famous pianist, appears in concert as the first of eight Texas Technological college artist course presentations.

To begin at 8 p.m. in the Lubbock High school auditorium, the concert will cost $1.80 admission for townspeople. Tech students get in free upon presentation of their activity tickets, and season ducats are available to others for $7.50 at the Adair Music company.

Born in Lufkin, Abram got his start in Houston before moving on to play with such groups as the CBS and NBC symphony orchestras and the Chicago symphony. His career was interrupted during the war when he served three and one half years in the Army, returning to his profession in 1946.

Abram's professional career began in 1938 highlighted that year by an appearance in Carnegie hall. New Scurry Oil Well Completed

SNYDER, Oct. 15. (Special)—Completion of the Thomas W. Doswell-Henry Ford II et al No. 2 C. W. Addison, located 18 miles southwest of Snyder at Knapp, has been announced here.

The well, an important northwest step-out to the Sharon Ridge canyon reef pool, has been completed for flowing production of 92 barrels per hour through a 32/64 inch choke.

Casing in the No. 2 Addison, located in Sec. 122, Block 25, H. and T. C. survey, was set to 6,674 feet with the total depth given as 6,710 feet. Elevation is 2,301 feet.

New Well Scheduled

A spokesman for the operators reported this afternoon that a rig is being skidded to drill the No. 4 Addison, staked at 660 feet from the north lines of the northwest quarter of Sec. 122, Block 97, H. and T. C. survey.

A Schlumberger test was being run this afternoon in one of Scurry county's most important wildcat strikes.

The C. L. Norsworthy, jr., of Dallas No. 1 D. D. Feldman topped the Ellenburger at 7,315 feet, 78 feet higher than the Humble No. 1 Garrett Harrel—a deep dry hole to the north that was drilled over two years ago.

With packer set at 7,315 feet, operators had gas to the surface in eight minutes. On a drillstem test, the well unloaded 150 feet of heavily oil and gas-cut mud and 4,492 feet of green, high gravity pipe line oil, testing 46 gravity. Open bottom hole pressure was 700 pounds, and shut-in bottom hole pressure was 1,400 pounds.

The indicated Ellenburger strike is 11 miles east of Snyder, located 660 feet from the north and east lines of section 63, block 3, H &TC survey.

It is reported C. L. Norsworthy, jr., has a quarter interest in the well, Standard Fryer Drilling company a quarter interest, and R. W. Baxter of Dallas a half interest.

The discovery was drilled on acreage contributed by American Trading and Production corporation of Midland.

Discovery Of Dwarf Wild Cattle Claimed

JAMESTOWN, N. D., Oct. 15. (AP)—A Jamestown man says he has discovered a wild herd of dwarf cattle in a lost canyon. He has five of them to back up his story.

The hard was discovered in a boxed-in, lost canyon "somewhere in the United States," says Gene Holter, 27, cattle showman, auctioneer and rancher, and owner-manager of donkey baseball and basketball shows.

Holter rescued five of the animals—three bulls and two cows—by hellicopter and brought them to Jamestown. A larger number is still trapped in the canyon, Holter says.

The bulls weigh between 200 and 225 pounds and the cows average between 160 and 180 pounds. They measure from 24 to 28 inches in height.

Veterinarians who have looked over the herd term the cattle perfect dwarf animals.

Holter won't say specifically where the cattle came from because he says he intends to rescue the remainder of the lost herd.

Holter said he was on a flying trip to purchase horses several years ago when he made his discovery.

He is waiting until he can get sufficient funds to take the others out before announcing the location of the canyon.

11 CONVICTED OF CONSPIRACY

Federal Jury Decision Deals American Reds Worst Setback

NEW YORK, Oct. 15. (AP)—American Communists, their top leaders in jail and their party's future uncertain, sought grimly to rally today from the most crushing blow in their 30-year history.

Despite pressures shaping up against them in Washington, it looked as though they could patch together a "business as usual" operation for months if not years to come.

National Chairman William Z. Foster said the Communist party "will carry the fight to the higher courts, to the broad masses of the people."

Foster meant a fight to upset yesterday's conviction of 11 of his national board colleagues on charges of conspiring to teach overthrow of the U.S. government.

The verdict can be appealed to the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals and then to the Supreme court.

These appeals, along with other delaying actions that could be taken from time to time, might easily last for a year or more.

During that time the 11 convicted men, top figures in the party's "American politburo," presumably would be free on bail—to carry on, if they chose, the same kind of activity that left them temporarily behind bars today.

The 11 are locked up in the federal house of detention, awaiting sentence next Friday. Facing maximum sentences of 10 years in prison and $10,000 fine each, the men are:

Eugene Dennis, general secretary; Benjamin J. Davis, jr., New York City councilman; John Gates, editor of the Daily Worker; Jacob Stachel, education director; Robert Thompson, New York state chairman; Carl Winter, Michigan chairman; Gus Hall, Ohio chairman; Henry Winston, organizational secretary; John B. Williamson, labor secretary; Gilbert Green, Illinois chairman; and Irving Potash, vice president of the CIO Fur and Leather Workers' union.

SOVIET PAPER RAPS U.S. CONVICTION OF REDS

MOSCOW, Oct. 15. (INS)—The first Russian reaction to the New York court conviction of 11 U.S. Communist leaders was contained tonight in a Tass report headlined "Rough Justice."

The official Soviet news agency said in a dispatch datelined New York and distributed in Moscow that the case went to the jury "after Judge (Harold) Medina in accordance with usual procedure 'instructed' the jurors in their 'interests' on the legal question. . ."

"However," the Tass account continued, "Medina's 'unbiased' resume was done with extreme prejudice against the Communist party leaders and was favorable to the prosecution which strove to attain prohibition of the Communist party."

Tass said that the Communist defendants in the nine-months' trial "kept decisively exposing the class nature of American justice and attempts of the government to ban the Communist party with the purpose of carrying out its program of war and reaction."

Prosecutor Named For U. S. Judgeship

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15. (INS)—President Truman today named U. S. Attorney John F. X. McGohey, prosecutor of the 11 Communist leaders found guilty yesterday of conspiracy against the government, for a federal judgeship.

McGohey was nominated to be a judge for the southern district of New York in a list of 19 appointments sent for confirmation to the Senate.

Nomination of the 55-year-old native New Yorker had been expected. He was recommended for the post by the Democratic state organizations and had the approval of bar association committees.

In New York, McGohey was told of the appointment by newsmen who found him at work in his office in the federal courthouse.

He made grateful acknowledgement to the President in this brief statement:

"Mr. Truman's encouragement and support during the recent trial was constant and complete. I am of course very happy at this new expression of confidence in me."

LAMESA, Oct. 15. (Spl.)— The Dawson County Fair closed here Saturday night with the final showing of "Boom Days" pageant as Lamesa's greatest fair.

"I like to see kids get a break,"

Said BABE RUTH
Former Yankee star

I SUPPOSE most kids don't give too much thought to parents—unless they don't have 'em. I was an orphan myself, so I know.

And I suppose no future major leaguer, sliding into home plate on a sandlot, ever thanked God for his legs—but he would if he'd ever had to wear steel braces, like so many kids do.

I like to see kids get a break. And every day thousands of them are getting that break through the Red Feather services of the Community Chest.

Maybe it's in the form of a loving foster mother or dad . . . maybe it's the finest medical care when he's sick . . . maybe it's the training and example of clean living and straight thinking he gets in a "Y" or a scout troop . . . Maybe it's the fun of a summer camp. Whatever it is, it's a swell break, and I'm for it. Everybody gives, they say, to the Community Chest campaign. And it's easy to see that when youngsters in a town get a chance to grow up with love and happiness in their lives, everybody in that town benefits.

So you don't have to BEG me to give. I'm proud to have the chance.

Everybody benefits . . . Everybody gives

Three Chicago Toxicologists Explain Beryllium Poisoning

CHICAGO, Oct. 15 (AP)—A new explanation of beryllium poisoning is reported by Dr. Kenneth F. DuBois, John Doull and Kenneth W. Cochran of the University of Chicago Toxicity Laboratory. It apparently interferes with the body's use of sugar and other carbohydrates, they said.

Beryllium is a lightweight metal used in fluorescent lights and other applications. Health authorities recently issued warnings against breathing in beryllium dust from broken bulbs. It may cause serious lung damage.

Nigeria, with new-found zinc-lead deposits, expects them to surpass its tin resources.

Los Angeles Doctor Charged With Incest

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 15 (AP)—Accused of incest by his 14-year-old daughter, a doctor is free on $5000 bond today pending trial Nov. 1.

Dr. George H. Hodel, 38, physician and psychologist, sat stoically through his preliminary hearing yesterday as his daughter awed the court with a matter-of-fact description of sexual acts she said took place before guests in Hodel's bedroom last Father's day.

Two other witnesses corroborated blonde Tamar Hodel's story.

Tamar's mother, Mrs. Dorothy Barbe of San Francisco, told the court that a San Francisco psychiatrist had labeled the child as a pathological liar. The mother said her daughter frequently told fantastic stories.

Police said a number of high school students have been questioned in another phase of the case. Awaiting a hearing today are Dr. Francis C. Ballar, 36, and his associate, Charles Smith, 36, charged with performing an abortion involving Tamar.

Radio Appeal Brings Flood Of Mail

Letters, Cards To Lubbock Girl Go Beyond 5,000 Mark

Letters and cards which during this past week have been pouring into Lubbock to Frances Jondahl, of 2103 Fifth, who is a cerebral palsy victim, had gone beyond the 5,000 mark by late Saturday.

Mrs. H. S. Jondahl, her mother, said yesterday that well over 1,500 letters and cards, in addition to several small parcels, were received Friday. Saturday, almost a thousand letters arrived from many part of the nation.

Letters Were Requested

The avalanche of mail, which is almost unprecedented in the history of the local post office in so far as one individual receiving so much in such a short period of time, began last Tuesday, the day after Jack McElroy, of the Breakfast in Hollywood radio program, read a letter from Mrs. Jondahl asking that radio listeners write to her daughter.

By Wednesday of this past week, the local post office was sending out large bundles of mail to the Jondahl residence. And by Thursday, which was Frances' twenty-first birthday, Frances and her parents had given up attempts to "keep up" with the mail as it arrived.

Thousand Letters Opened

Thus far, Frances has had time to open and scan only about a thousand letters. She plans to read each letter thoroughly as soon as she can.

Many people have included small gifts, principally handkerchiefs, in their letters and cards. Others have enclosed personal pictures and scenic post cards.

Child, Rescued From Blazing Home, Returns To Die In Fire

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Oct. 15 (AP)—A two-year-old boy, carried to safety when fire broke out in his farm home near here last night, toddled back inside and lost his life.

Coroner David A. Belinky said Garry Weingart, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Weingart, died of asphyxiation and burns.

The house caught fire when Mrs. Weingart attempted to start an oil fire. The fuel exploded.

Mrs. Weingart grabbed Garry and his eight-year-old sister and carried them to safety. She then returned to rescue two Salem, O., children who had been left in her care.

The youngster apparently followed his mother unnoticed into the flaming building.

Bright Economic Future Is Predicted For Nine Midwest, Southwest States Served By Braniff

DALLAS, Oct. 15 (Special) — John B. Walker, vice-president of Braniff International Airways, today predicted a bright economic future for the nine Southwest and Midwest states on the Braniff domestic route.

"The region, stretching from the Great Lakes to the Gulf of Mexico, is a treasure-land, richer than any comparable area on earth," said Walker, quoting an economic study sponsored by the airline. "And our survey indicates this area will enjoy continued stability of consumer spending, increased employment, strengthened bank credit, expansion of business and commercial aviation at near peak rates and continued strong resistance to recession."

Published In Booklet

Walker said the facts developed in the economic survey were so impressive that the airline has published them in booklet form for distribution to business houses throughout the nation, under the title, "Braniff States of America."

The survey was prepared for Braniff Airways by Dr. Richard B. Johnson from statistics furnished by the U. S. department of Agriculture, Mines, Labor Statistics and Commerce, the Federal Reserve Board and the Federal Reserve Bank.

Johnson, a professor of economics at Southern Methodist university, is a former senior industrial economist for the Federal Reserve Bank, a former regional business consultant of the U. S. Department of Commerce, and, from 1945 to 1946, was financial advisor at the Tokyo headquarters of Gen. Douglas MacArthur.

"Braniff has served this thriving area for 21 years," added Walker, "has grown as the region has grown and plans to expand to keep pace with its growth in the future."

Texas Is Included

The Braniff States included in the survey are Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Kansas, Missouri, Illinois, Iowa, Colorado and Tennessee. Braniff airliners fly some 30,000 miles daily over this area of 32,700,000 population and is the only airline serving its 32 principal cities. The airline also links this region with Latin-America, via the Houston Air-Gateway.

The survey shows that the Braniff states occupy one of the most fertile growing regions of the world, declared Walker.Of the total U. S. crop production, these states furnish forty percent of all cultivated land, producing more than half the rice, 49 percent of the hogs, 47 percent of the corn, 45 percent of the cotton, 42 percent of the wheat and 41 percent of the cattle.

The total cash farm income in these states was $10,550,000,000 in 1948, the survey points out. This was 35 percent of the total cash farm income in the U. S. and 258 percent above the area's farm income in 1939.

The Braniff states produce around 37 percent of the nation's mineral wealth, the survey states. Since 1939, the value of mineral products in the region has increased 75 percent, compared with a rise of 61 percent in the rest of the country.

Industrial Growth Cited

The survey shows 42,500 manufacturing establishments in the Braniff states. These companies employ some 2,000,000 workers, who draw an annual payroll of $7,200,000,000 and provide one-fifth of Uncle Sam's manufacturing capacity.

"Texas, for instance, has increased its industrial employment 97 percent since 1939," said Walker, "and the average increase over the nine-state area is 59 percent—nine percent above the national average."

Walker pointed out the Braniff states contain four of the 12 financial capitals of the Federal Reserve system. They are Dallas, Kansas City, St. Louis and Chicago. Deposits in the region total almost $34,000,000,000.

"Bank deposits in the BSA are up 220 percent since 1939" added Walker, "compared with an increase of 139 percent in the remainder of the country."

Rise Is Shown

Per capita income in the Braniff states, the survey brings out, is up 192 percent from the 1939 figure, compared with a rise of 157 percent in the rest of the U. S. Total personal income shows an increase of 212 percent for a group of people who spent more than $29,000,000,000 last year.

Retail ales in these nine states is up a walloping 230 percent in the past decade, compared with an average increase of 205 percent for the other states.

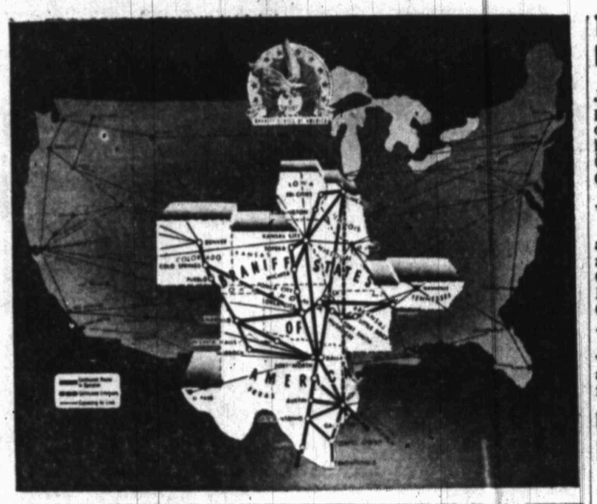

Walker said the facts in the booklet uphold the faith of T. E. Braniff, president of Braniff Airways, in this American heartland. Braniff started his airline more than two decades ago with one single-engine plane flying between Oklahoma City and Tulsa.

Braniff four-engined planes now flash across the Braniff States and into Latin America at a speed of five miles per minute. "And we plan further expansion and greater speeds," Walker said, "to handle the great expansion of business in the Braniff States of tomorrow."

Survey Of Mental Hospitals Over The Country Planned

NEW YORK, Oct. 15 (AP)—The American Psychiatric Association has been asked to inspect and rate the state mental hospitals of 25 states, Dr. George S. Stevenson, association president, reports. The impartial survey will be financed by the Psychiatric Foundation.

"Too many states in the past have thought of their state services as political patronage," Dr. Stevenson said. "But now they are realizing that if the mental hospitals are dealt with politically, the situation may backfire, creating an explosion more powerful than patronage."

Dr. Harold W. Elley, president of the Psychiatric Foundation, predicted the reports made on the hospitals would help raise the standards of care for the nearly 700,000 patients in te nation's mental hospitals. Recommendation can be made that will increase the rate of recovery, he said.

Dallas Judge Favors Jury Service For Texas Women

AUSTIN, Oct. 15. (AP)—A woman judge said today women's serving on juries is an obligation of citizenship and should be required whether women want to serve or not.

District Judge Sarah T. Hughes of Dallas appealed to fellow jurists in the judicial section conference, state bar of Texas, at its final session to endorse and support the constitutional amendment for compulsory jury service by women.

"It will be my principal project between now and Nov. 8," the woman judge, former legislator, told the 100 district and appellate judges.

The judicial section elected Judge W. O. Murray, associate justice of the San Antonio court of civil appeals, as chairman for the coming year, succeeding District Judge Ernest Belcher of Stephenville. It voted for the first time to hold its conference away from Austin. San Antonio was chosen for the 1950 meeting.

A MEMORY BOOK OF PROGRESS OF LUBBOCK AND THE SOUTH PLAINS 1873—1949

The Texas State Board of Water Engineers estimated recently, after exhaustive tests, that recoverable reserves of under ground water above the Caprock and south of the Canadian river exceed 150,000,000 acre feet.

This is an incomprehensible quantity. An acre foot is approximately 325,000 gallons. The estimated reserves thus exceed 50 trillion gallons. That's 15,000 times as much water as Lubbock used last year—7,000 times as much as Lubbock and Amarillo combined consumed.

It obviously is one of the greatest assets that this or any area could possess—provided we use it properly and provided we do not get the complacent impression that supplies are so abundant they could not be exhausted. We must take care of them. And water security requires recognition, as said previously, that underground water shortages can and do occur in localized areas of concentrated demand—islands of shortages surrounded by abundance.

This explains why cities like Lubbock, Amarillo and others must and are seeking long-range and abundant supplies from sources other than the underground reserves stored by nature. But the fact has been established beyond question that the ground water supplies for most of our territory will be ample for many years to come—PROVIDED we take care of them and use them wisely.

BOX CAR SHORTAGE, LACK OF STORAGE SPACE SERIOUS

South Plains Farmers Have One Of Largest Milo Crops In History But They Can't Get Rid Of It

By LONNIE HUDKINS
Avalanche-Journal Staff Writer

South Plains farmers have one of the largest milo maize crops in history but can't get rid of it.

The situation is acute because of a serious box car shortage and lack of elevator storage facilities.

Although the elevators and the Santa Fe railway are profit losers in the current situation, the real goat is the farmer.

When the farmer takes his milo to an elevator, he finds the elevator is already stored partially with wheat and that the remaining available space has been taken up by milo brought in by farmers who came in earlier.

They Can't Take It

The elevator operators patiently explain to the farmer they can't take his milo because they can't get box cars to ship off the supply that's already in the elevator.

One of two alternatives is left the farmer. He can take the maize home and dumpt it on the ground or he can leave it at the elevator to be dumped on the ground.

If he takes the latter course, the farmer has to wait until the milo is moved into the elevator before he can get a bonded warehouse receipt.

While he is waiting, his crop deteriorates and lessens the grade price he will receive eventually. A good rain will increase the moisture content and then he will really have a hard time finding an elevator to take his milo.

Troubles Only Beginning

But then the farmer's troubles are only beginning. His banker asks him about current loan payments. His crop is in, so why can't he pay, the bankers reason.

The farmer then has to explain he can't get his Commodity Credit corporation payments without the bonded warehouse receipts. The banker calls the elevator operator who explains he can't take the crop until he has emptied his elevator and that he can't do that until he gets some box cars.

Then the elevator operators contact the local freight agents. It all makes for ill feelings and doesn't help anybody's pocket book, including the salesgirl who isn't making any sales to the farmers.

George Hopp, manager of the Tulia Wheat Growers Co-operatie Farmers elevator, says Swisher county alone has an estimated 135,000-acre crop with an average acre yield from between 2,500 and 3,000 pounds of milo.

Much Of Crop On Ground

His 330,00 bushel capacity elevator was already half filled with wheat before it was quickly filled with milo. That means a large portion of the $7 million crop is lying on the ground in Swisher county.

"The railway isn't supplying a tenth of our current box car needs," Hopp said. "Something is going to have to be done within a few weeks," he added.

In similar shape is Harold King, an elevator operator at Muleshoe. He says the situation is the same at Morton, Levelland, Littlefield and Amherst, "where 25 car lots are stacked on the ground."

"We just can't get transportation," King said.

However, the Ray C. Ayers elevator at Slaton is in good shape. "We haven't had much of a crop here," he said, "and we are increasing our storage facilities."

Many farmers would be glad to make use of Ayer's storage facilities but can't afford the high transportation costs of trucking.

Eliminates Profit

E. G. Farr, assistant district atfarmers can't afford to use trucks because it eliminates their profit. Shipping by rail is much cheaper," he added.

H. O. Wagner of Slaton, Santa Fe division superintendent, admitted it was true "the division is short of box cars."

He said many of the division's box cars are in the East and that it has been difficult to get them back because they are rented to other railroads on a per diem basis "and some of the lines find it cheaper to pay rent on our cars than repair their equipment."

Wagner estimated his division is 200 cars short. "But we will get our cars back in due course of time," he added. He did not answer a charge by the elevator operators that 900 cars had been taken from the division recently but insinuated that the report was a rumor.

"We are just as anxious to provide shipping facilities," he declared, "as anyone else because it will mean more division earnings and more employment of crews in the area. It's just an unfortunate situation," he added.

And most milo farmers on the South Plains agree.

GOP Leader Calls T-H Measure 'One Of Best Laws Of Our Time'

By ROBERT N. SCHWARTZ
INS Staff Correspondent

CHICAGO, Oct. 15 — Republican National Chairman Guy Gabrielson lauded the Taft-Hartley act today as "one of the great pieces of legislation of our time," but expressed the opinion that the current steel and coal labor disputes should be settled by collective bargaining.

He told a Chicago news conference that he was opposed at this time to invoking provisions of the labor act to the two economy-paralyzing disputes.

The GOP leader came to Chicago to address a meeting of 19 midwestern and Rocky mountain state Republican chairmen.

Prevention Plan Needed

He told the news conference:

"Industrial employes have the right to strike. That is their only weapon and it should be preserved." He added that Americans must do some thinking to evolve some plan to prevent strikes in vital utilities.

The Republican party spokesman denied that the Taft-Hartley bill was a "slave labor act" and said that he thought it a "bill of rights for the American workingman because it frees him from the monopoly of labor unions."

In response to a question, Gabrielson predicted that the big issues in the 1950 congressional elections would be the Taft-Hartley act, deficit financing and "socialized medicine."

He declared that the GOP must learn to deal directly with the voters and revealed that the party will carry the campaign in 1950 into crucial districts with a "team of organizers."

He explained that the organizers would be trained and then sent into states where there are senatorial contests and into congressional districts where the margin by which GOP candidates lost in 1948 was five per cent or less.

Job of the organizers will be to "talk to people, explain the Republican position to them and get the people registered and to the polls on election day."

Gabrielson said this was the sort of activity he had in mind when he referred to carrying the campaign into the precincts.

In a speech to the state Republican leaders, Gabrielson labeled President Truman's effort to reappoint Leland Olds to the Federal Power commission a "barefaced attempt at boss rule."

He called the Senate rejection of Olds "one of the most stinging and humiliating—and deserved—rebukes ever administered to a President of the United States by a Senate controlled by his own party."

He reiterated to the state chairmen his belief that the party lost last year because it did not carry on a campaign at a precinct level and asserted:

"A strong, vigorous year-round organization, based on precincts, is the only formula I know for political success."

Court To Announce Trial Dates Monday

Fifteen non-capital felony charges will be called for trial announcement at 10 a.m. Monday in Judge G. V. Pardue's 99th district court. A jury will report at that time.

They were described by the district attorney's office as "run-of-the-mill" cases.

Five capital cases are specifically set for the week of Oct. 31. They charge rape and murder.

In the 72nd district court of Judge Dan Blair a jury panel will report at 1:30 p.m. Monday for hearing evidence in cases on the civil jury calendar.

STATION TO GO ON AIR

DALLAS, Oct. 15. (AP) — The Baptist General convention of Texas' new, 90,000-watt FM radio station will be on the air Oct. 28, it was announced. Baptist headquarters here said KYBS would be the most powerful FM station in North Texas.

Girl, Facing Death, Reported Improved In New Mexico

ALBUQUERQUE, Oct. 15. (AP)—Little Janet Latsha is better.

Doctors say six-year-old Janet is dying of asthma. She came to Albuquerque yesterday through the air where she said she felt "close to Jesus."

Her mother hopes she will get well here.

Green-eyed Janet—her doll Marjorie Ann close to her side—is settled at St. Joseph's hospital under care of the Catholic Sisters of Charity. She seems better.

Mountain Climb Planned

As soon as she improves, she and her mother, Mrs. Wilma Latsha of Nacogdoches, are going to climb the nearby Sandia mountains. That was her first request on her arrival here and Mrs. Latsha has promised to fulfill it when possible.

Janet's story was told three nights ago. Response was quick and heartening. Pilot Burrell Tibbs of Oklahoma City gave them a free trip to Albuquerque. The nuns offered free hospitalization and a job starting today for the divorced mother. They found Mrs. Latsha a place to live just across the street from the hospital.

Well-wishers donated $600 just before Janet left Oklahoma City where she had been hospitalized. More offerings were received after her departure.

Tower Of London Is Attacked By Wild Cats Hunting Food

LONDON, Oct. 15 (AP) — The wild cats of London's bomb rubble jungle attacked the ancient fortress, the Tower of London, last night.

The governor of the tower sent an urgent call for aid today to the people's dispensary for sick animals.

He reported the cats—house cats turned wild as lynxes—battled the resident cats of the tower and tried to raid quartermaster stores for a bite to eat.

Many Highways Built In Texas 20 Years Ago Need Rebuilding

By DAVE CHEAVENS
N Associated Press Staff Writer

AUSTIN, Oct. 15 — Highways built in Texas 20 years ago are beginning to crumble under the constant pounding of traffic.

It would be desirable to redesign most of the primary arteries and re-align most of them for safety.

It would cost several hundred million dollars to put Texas' main roads in first-class shape, but where's the money coming from?

Statement Is Issued

Those three assertions contain the meat of a recent statement issued here by Fred Wemple of Midland, chairman of the state highway commission.

He said highway planners are becoming increasingly concerned over the cost of maintaining state roads. That cost runs around 22 million dollars a year.

Most of the main routes through the state were built almost 20 years ago. The rate of their rundown increases every year, Wemple said, and the time is nearing when patching them up here and there will not help much.

Texas continues to lead the nation in the total mileage of roads built. The latest estimates call for 4,250 miles to be completed in 1949.

Elsewhere in the nation, there are only seven states that will build more than 1,000 miles of road this year. North Carolina with 3,000 new miles should wind up next to Texas.

Problem Is Mounting

Each mile of new roads adds to the maintenance problem.

"Although a large number of new roads are being built, we cannot be content with the highway situation in Texas," Wemple says.

"The size of the state demands more road mileage than any other state. As we build more and more new roads, they are added to the list for maintenance.

"Unless some solution is found for the highway maintenance problem, we shall soon find that our worst roads are the heaviest traveled roads."

Wemple offered no immediate solution. He did say the financial condition of the state and nation was such that a general overhauling of the primary road system was impractical now.

The state highway program is chiefly dependent on the gasoline tax for basic revenue. The last legislature supplemented farm to market road money with a direct allocation on the clearance fund. State funds are also supplemented by local and federal money on specific types of projects, but the gasoline tax is still the major feeder.

Wemple's statement aroused considerable speculation in the capital as to whether or not the next legislature would be asked to find more money for roads.

Farmer Uses Hydraulic Lift To Keep Workers Interested

DES MOINES, Iowa, Oct. 15 (AP)—Homer Peters, who farms northeast of Alta, Iowa, got his barn painted.

To make the job interesting for his two sons, Bruce and Dean, Peters fashioned a scafolding by using his hydraulic-lift manure loader. He fastened a plank to the bucket end of the loader.

With the loader raised, the boys could stand on the plank and easily paint under the eaves. As they progressed downward, they could lower the lift. Also, the boys had the fun of getting to move the tractor when a panel of the wall was completed.

Judge Suspends $100 Fines To Encourage Prisoners To Work

Idalou Farmers Find Workers Recruited At Dallas Jail Are Dependable Cotton Pickers

(Special To The Avalanche)

IDALOU, Oct. 15 — A bumper cotton crop and a critical labor shortage makes strange bedfellows. But strange or not Louis Countess and Delbert Mack Sawyers, Idalou cotton growers with 1060 acres of mature crop, have worked out a deal that has been successful.

Countess and Sawyers went to Dallas early last week and talked to some of the city officials about releasing some "more - or - less" minor offenders to come to the Plains to pick cotton. Dallas jails had a good supply of customers and the Lubbock area had the cotton. By putting the two together a great problem could be solved.

Dallas officials were quick to concur with Countess and Sawyers. They picked out a likely group of men who were physically able and willing to work. The majority of them had just been hailed into city court on various charges ranging from drunkenness to disturbing the peace.

Get Prevailing Wages

City Judge Joe M. Hill asked the group around the court room if they would plead guilty. All nodded assent.

"Then I fine you all $100 each but will suspend the sentence if you go to West Texas with these two men and pick cotton. I don't want to see you around Dallas before Thanksgiving," the judge said.

The jailer went to the cell block and brought out 20 more men who preferred work in the sunshine to the loneliness of the cooler.

The two Idalou farmers loaded up 28 negroes and six white men. They headed for home with their much needed labor. Judge Hill even forgot to find out the names of the employers.

"It would be hard to find men who are better workers than I got," Countess said this morning. "Why last Wednesday five men pulled 3,224 pounds of cotton. They get the prevailing rate of wages, too."

The feeling of satisfaction seems to be mutual on the part of the employer and the workers. One big strapping negro boy with several fresh knife wounds on his neck and chest said:

Workmen Satisfied

"They sure have been treatin' us nice. We have a good place to live and plenty to eat and we're making good money."

"I intend to stay out of trouble and work hard," the man said. He also added that he had picked cotton in the Lubbock area last year and liked it better than anywhere he had ever been.

When asked about his wounds he said: "It was one of those East Dallas affairs. You ought to see the other fellow and I was only defending myself." Grinning, the young negro admitted that the basis of his trouble had been a girl.

On the way out from Dallas the trucks and cars bearing the prospective pickers were stopped at Jacksboro and Decatur. Evidently Countess was able to convince the laws that he had his charges under full control. Sawyers went back to Dallas again today to get another dozen or so workers. He is plenty pleased with the results.

Work Long Hours

"I find that by being fair with these men and expecting a good day's work out of them they come across and play fair with me," Countess said. "When they get through with our place there are other farmers who are willing to employ them if they stick with it."

At the present time the men are working and living on the job three miles east of Heckville gin. They are comfortably quartered; have modern facilities and utilities. They are free to come and go as they please but the majority of them put in from "can see to can't see."

Some of the men have signified that the judge's warning not to return to Dallas before Thanksgiving is meaningless. "I intend to stay out here and work," one man said. Several others have expressed similar opinions.

Engineers To Meet With Tech Group

Some 150 members of the Permian basin American Institute of Mining and Metalurgical Engineers section and the Texas Technological college student affilate will attend a joint meeting of the groups in the Hilton hotel Monday night.

Tom Frick, Atlantic Refining company superintendent at Midland, and E. D. McMurry, Garrett Oil Tools, Inc., representative from Houston, will deliver the principal address at the dinner meeting.

The banquet will begin at 7:15 p. m. and will be also attended by such well-known engineers as C. V. Millikan, chief engineer for the Amerada Petroleum corporation of Tulsa, and Joe Alford, editor of the Petroleum Technology magazine at Dallas.

"The Engineer as a Supervisor" will be the title of Frick's address, scheduled for about 20 minutes. McMurry will speak to those attending on the "Theory and Operation of the Gas Lift".

Frick is chairman of the Permian basin section of the A.I.M.E.

Truman Approves Pay Boost For Top Government Officials

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15. (AP)—President Truman signed a bill providing salary increases for 253 top federal officials today and Senate-House conferees reached agreement on another providing raises for 885,000 civil service employes at a cost of about $130 million annually.

The new law raising salaries of cabinet officers and other key officials is designed to meet the President's complaint that the old pay scale made it hard to get capable men for top jobs.

Under the measure, cabinet officers will draw $22,500 a year instead of the $15,000 they now receive. The President had proposed $25,000.

Salaries for the 253 jobs affected by the new law will range from $14,000 to $22,500 a year, compared with the previous scale of $10,000 to $15,000.

Under the civil service pay bill on which the Senate-House conferees agreed, 885,000 employes would receive an average increase of $141 a year. The Senate voted previously for an average boost of about $160, while the House favored $113.

MAN TRAPPED BY CIRCUMSTANCES

Anton Negro Admits Hijacking Auto From Couple In Lubbock

A 26-year-old Anton negro who admitted in a signed statement given Saturday afternoon to A. W. Salyars, assistant district attorney, that he had taken a car Friday night at gunpoint so he would "have a ride home," was held in Lubbock county jail in denial of bail.

He, John H. Sweeney, might have succeeded in getting away with his plans had it not been for a "combination of circumstances—all unfortunate for him," officials said.

Hijacking Is Admitted

Sweeney admitted—and his victims later positively identified him—that he had hijacked Felmion Jimenez of 110 Ave. O.

He said he came up on Jimenez parked with a girl, Dulcinea Lovato of 110 Ave. S, parked on North Second near Ave. U.

He had hitchhiked to Lubbock and, while in the negro section, had done some drinking. He was walking back, hoping he could "flag" a ride when he saw the car occupied by Jimenez and Miss Lovato.

He said he climbed into the back seat and presented a pistol he had brought with him from Anton. Jimenez asked that he and the girl not be harmed. The bandit promised no one would be harmed if Jimenez and the girl did what he asked.

Forced To Drive North

He directed them to drive north. There he ordered them to stop and get out of the car. The girl asked her escort not to allow the negro to harm her, and Sweeney promised her again no one would be harmed. He allowed her to take her coat, but made Jimenez to pull off his trousers and pitch them aside so that the gunman could go through them for money.

After directing the pair to walk away and not look back, the robber drove away in the car, toward Littlefield.

But the car ran out of gasoline. Sweeney began trying to flag a ride. He succeeded—but the car was occupied by two state highway patrolmen, McClung Kniffen and James Craddock, both of Littlefield.

Sweeney, seeing the sign on the car too late to escape, nevertheless tossed his pistol away.

"What's the matter, boy?" he said the officers asked after turning around and driving back to where he stood.

"I—I been robbed," he said.

"Who robbed you?"

"Uh, two white boys from Littlefield."

"What'd they get?"

"Twenty dollars."

The officers, Sweeney related, took him into their car.

"We'll go to Littlefield," they said, "and help you."

All that time they had no knowledge that Sweeney had hijacked the Lubbock pair 45 minutes earlier. They radioed for the Lamb county sheriff to meet them at a cafe in Littlefield. When they arrived there they left Sweeney in their car and went into the cafe. In a brief time the Lamb sheriff, S. D. Hopping, arrived to join in the investigation.

But the Lubbock victims managed to walk to a telephone and call officers here. Radio communication was quickly established with South Plains officers, Littlefield authorities and the two state patrolmen realized immediately what had happened and phoned back that they held a suspect.

Deputy Sheriff B. F. Forrester and Salyars left here with Jimenez and Miss Lovato for Littlefield. There the identification was made, but Sweeney denied all.

Saturday afternoon he asked authorities for permission to change his story and "tell the truth."

The charge was filed in the court of D. W. Robertson, justice of peace, for investigation of next grand jury.

Visitors Stranded When Funds Fail

Hale Center Residents Open Hearts To Aid New York Trio

(Special To The Avalanche-Journal)

HALE CENTER, Oct. 15.—Hale Center residents opened their hearts today after learning of a New York trio stranded and nearly starving near here for the past two weeks.

And as a result of their generosity Mr. and Mrs. William C. Hammond and Mrs. Grace Eggleston of North Creek, N. Y., will leave Monday to continue their trip toward Arizona in the hope Hammond can find relief from a critical case of asthma. Mrs. Hammond has one arm crippled by polio.

Life Savings Pooled

Hammond, 55-year-old ex-blacksmith, pooled all of his $1,000 in life savings to prepare his 1941 passenger car and a home-made trailer house to make the trip. Mrs. Eggleston, whose son the Hammonds helped rear, volunteered to make the trip, too, and donate her government subsistence checks to finance the journey. The son is now with the Army, stationed in Germany.

The trio planned to have the checks forwarded to them at points along the 2,000-mile plus long trip to Arizona. They received one $50 check in Ohio, but the one to be sent here was delayed and the trio was forced to wait for it.

Residents of the area were unaware of the trio's plight until Hammond was unable to pay for a 20-cent box of pancake flour in the store of Bob Hembree here. Hamond had 15 cents in his pocket, the amount left from that received for various parts of his car he had pawned in order to buy food.

Although the check finally arrived this afternoon, residents hearing about the trio continued bringing canned goods and food to their trailer house, now parked near Hembree's home. Groceries were piled high in the home-made trailer before nightfall.

The trio offered to pay for all the food after the check arrived, saying they wanted no charity. When they left from North Creek with only $200, they said, they "put our trust in the Lord."

Hammond has no idea what he will do once they arrive in Arizona. "We just believe that the Lord will take care of us," he said. He was advised by his physician to move from his home, which has temperatures as low as 35 degrees below zero.

"I don't know what part of Arizona we will go to—the hottest and dryest city we can find, though," he said.

Mrs. Hammond, an ex-school teacher, is a former victim of polio and one of her arms is still crippled. Mrs. Eggleston worked as a domestic nurse and cook in North Creek while the Hammonds helped care for her son.

At least two Hale Center churches have made plans to take donations for the trio Sunday, while one or two others may join in the gesture. The New Yorkers hope to resume their journey Monday.

Hammond nearly died here today from his asthma before Minister George Darling of the Hale Center Church of Christ arranged medicine for him at a local hospital. He has been greatly weakened by his illness and had spent most of his savings in attempts to get well before determining to go to Arizona as a final resort.

Gifts for the trio poured in freely after their plight became known today. One man sent 25 cents. Now Hammond is looking for him because, "I probably have more money than he does now."

Leaving New York just as winter began to set in, the trio has been in Texas for about three weeks, coming here from Amarillo. The area around North Creek was described by Hammond, who said he helped pioneer the region, as basically forest. He said it was all woods when he first settled there.

A roadside park just south of Hale Center had been "home" for the trio before their plight became known today. They hope to do better in Arizona.

Texas Tech Board Okays Plans For Student Union Building

building plans, recommended by Chairman C. E. Weymouth of the building committee, the board announced that the remaining $1,175,000 to be received from the College Building fund amendment would be allocated for a Science building and to meet other building needs.

To Start Program In 1950

Approval of plans for the awarding of Ph.D. degrees came after President D. M. Wiggins requested the action so that the program can be started in 1950. Only the awarding of Doctor of Philosophy degrees will be undertaken at that time, and they will cover studies in English and History.

Chemistry and Geology studies will be included in the doctorate work in 1951 and others will be added later, Dr. Wiggins said.

Plans for the new buildings call for the construction of a Home Economics building designed to fit around the present structure and provide for further expansion.

The Music hall will be a building 139 by 100 feet, one floor and basement with a band room and choir room in additior to offices, storage areas, etc. It will be so planned that an auditorium may be added later.

The new Engineering building will be constructed east of the present main Engineering building and will be designed for future expansion.

Student Union Building

The boad approved construction of a Student Union building costing "up to $500,000" with the cost to be borne by present funds and the issuance of revenue bonds against the remainder.

Approximately $300,000, including $164,000 surplus funds from the book store profits and $105,000 from the infirmary fund, is now available for application to the Student Union building financing, Dr. Wiggins said.

Construction of a Science building, to be located slightly west of the Library building, will be undertaken after work is begun on the present program. Wyatt Hedrick would be architect for this structure, Weymouth said in his recommendations.

Besides approving the building action, the board approved an increase to $6,200 the salary of Russell Hedrick, college architect, because of his added duties in connection with Pan-Tech farms, near Amarillo.

Stadium Use Fee Set

The board also approved a scale of charges to be made for the use of Jones Stadium in connection with post-season high school games. Fee for day games will be $150 and night games $200 to pay for the cost of utilities and maintenance.

A utilities survey for the campus, headed by a committee composed of Charles Wooldridge of Dallas, chairman; Leon Ince, Houston; and Raymond Pfluger, Eden, was approved by the board.

Other action by the board included approval of a policy for faculty members to accept compensation for extra-curricula work and consultant services.

Referring a request that Texas Tech play in a Shrine football game in Amarillo Dec. 31 or Jan. 2 to Border conference rules, no action was taken on a letter from Riley Strickland, one of the promoters of the event.

The board signed two scrolls to be presented to former board members, Kyle Spiller of Jacksboro and O. B. Ratliff of Lubbock.

Robt. B. Price of El Paso, vice chairman, presided at an hour of the session due to late arrival of Chairman Charles C. Thompson of Amarillo. Others attending included: Mark Magee, Fort Worth; A. G. Mayse, Paris; Leon Ince, Houston; Charles Wooldridge, Dallas; Weymouth; Dr. Wiggins, Comptroller Marshall Pennington; Business Manager W. T. Gaston; Dr. E. N. Jones, vice president; and Frank Junell, secretary.

The board voted to accept an invitation to hold a meeting in San Angelo "at the earliest possible date."

Abernathy Youngster Injured In Fall From Automobile

A three-year-old Abernathy boy was rushed to St. Mary's hospital about 7:30 p. m. Saturday for treatment of deep scalp lacerations and possible chest injuries suffered a short time earlier when he fell from a car about a mile north of New Deal on the Plainview highway.

The boy, Mike Irish, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Irish, was reported in good condition by hospital attendants who said X-rays of his head and chest would be made today.

The boy's parents said he fell from the back door of the car when he leaned on the door handle. The family was returning to Abernathy from Lubbock where they had brought a relative to board a train.

Effects Of Strikes

demands for consumer goods to fill pipelines depleted during the earlier downturn when businessmen, cautious about possible price breaks, let their inventories run down.

For this reason, some economists thought that the recovery might fade when the pipelines became refilled. But the strike situation has injected new factors.

Administration experts said that, if a steel settlement should result in price increases, there is a prospect of new inflationary forces being released until consumer resistance puts brakes on the movement.

They explained that there are signs of business worry over not being able to get particular types of steel and also of speculative buying of scarce steel types. Speculators naturally are holding the steel for higher prices.

Lamesa Farm Chief Proposes Airlift For Dawson Cotton

(By The United Press)

LAMESA, Oct. 15. — Sam Allen, president of the Dawson county farm bureau, has proposed a cotton airlift for South Plains farmers hampered by a lack of storage space and compress facilities here.

Allen said indoor storage was becoming an acute problem in this area, and to qualify for a government loan, cotton must be stored indoors.

He said Dawson county's total yield would be about 150,000 bales. The crop was coming in, he said, at a rate of 15,000 to 18,000 bales per week, while compress facilities were able to handle only 6,000 bales per week.

Allen said he had contacted a commercial airline proposing the airlift to warehouses in New Orleans and Memphis. He still must work out details with the Commodity Credit corporation before the project is undertaken, he said.

3:30 p.m., department stores, men's stores, ladies shops, jewelers and florists.

4:30 p. m., amusements, lodging and miscellaneous services, miscellaneous supplies, printing and office supplies.

More Teams Included

On Wednesday, Oct. 19, the schedule is as follows:

9 a.m., auto service and supply.

10 a.m., hardware and appliances, cleaners and laundries.

11 a.m., drug stores and cafes, food and food preservation.

12 noon, insurance and real estate, finance, communications and utilities and cotton brokers.

These teams will cover every section of the city's business and professional areas in the hope that as many thousand persons as possible will be given an opportunity to contribute to the Chest campaign.

Drive Supplants Others

"Everybody Benefits — Everybody Gives" is the slogan for the drive, which supplants individual campaigns for each of the eight affiliated agencies of the Community Chest.

The benefitting agencies are: Lubbock Boys' club, Junior Optimist club, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, Milam Home, Salvation Army, Colored Nursery, and Lubbock Service Organization.

The latter two agencies, the Colored Nursery, and the L.S.O., recreation agency for soldiers stationed at Lubbock Air Force base, were added to the Chest campaign this year, yet the budget was increased only $1,350 over the 1949 budget.

The Lubbock Community Chest, organized in 1946, was set up, primarily, to make possible more effective planning for promoting the welfare and philanthropic needs of the community; to eliminate the need for so many fund-raising campaigns; to ease the burden on civic-minded citizens who are called on to help on such drives; to provide a review by the Community Chest of agency budgets; to promote better business methods on the part of member services; to provide a more sound system of financing community needs; to provide a method of evaluating the services rendered the community by each of the member agencies; and to provide a means by which the donors may determine the worthiness of the individual causes for which funds are solicited.

Contributors Are Members

Every contributor is a member and has a voice in Chest management. Directors of the Chest are elected by a vote of the membership for three-year terms and cannot succeed themselves.

Roy Riddle, vice-president of the First National Bank, is chairman of the Chest board of directors. Other officers are: Raymond Burford, vice-president; A. B. Watkins, vice-president; Charles E. Maedgen, jr., treasurer; Earl E. Kerr manager; Charles Bacon, R. F. Bayless, Hudson Bird, K. N. Clapp, Dave Dawkins, J. Ray Dickey, P. T. Glazner, J. D. Hassell, jr., Wyatt Hester, Retha Martin, E. T. Pope, Garnet Reeves, J. C. Sanders, Newton Walton, C. A. White, Neil Wright, jr., and Irving L. Jones, directors.

Budget Committee Named

The Chest board of directors names a budget committee each year to study and approve the budgets for the various agencies. This year's budget committee is composed of, Hudson Bird, chairman; L. D. Casey, Charles E. Maedgen, jr., R. C. Harvey and Charles Read.

This year's Chest goal includes the following budgets:

Boys' Club, $18,750; Boy Scouts, $17,500; Girl Scouts, $15,000; Junior Optimist Club, $2,100; Milam Home, $11,000; Salvation Army, $13,500; Carver Heights Nursery, $1,500; L.S.O., $5,000; administrative and campaign, $9,500; and emergency reserve, $5,000.

Senate Shelves DP Measure For Session

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15. — The Senate tonight dealt President Truman one of his worst defeats of the 81st Congress by pigeonholing his displaced persons liberalization bill until next session.

The stinging blow was administered when the Senate adopted 36 to 30 a motion by Sen. Cain (R-Wash) to recommit the bill to the judiciary committee until next Jan. 25. Cain's motion was supported by a powerful Republican-Southern Democrat coalition.

McCullough was a vice president of the association the past year.

Hart Shoemaker, Abilene insurance man, was named first vice president; W. W. (Windy) Nicklaus, Amarillo teacher-coach, was elected second vice president Forrest Weimhold, Levelland newspaper publisher, director; and Geo. Langford, Lubbock, athletic council representative.

W. B. Rushing, Lubbock; R. Guy Carter, Dallas; and James Jay, Abilene; were named directors of the Loyalty Fund.

The election came at a council breakfast at the Hilton hotel Saturday morning at which Dr. D. M. Wiggins, Tech president, was principal speaker.

In his talk, Dr. Wiggins reviewed briefly progress made on the campus during the past year and told of projected building plans.

Approximately 30 members of the council from points as far away as Corpus Christi, Beaumont and Texarkana, attended the breakfast.

Thousands of persons lined the streets as a parade made up of 43 floats and led by the college band made its way from Main to Texas Ave., across to Broadway, and westward on Broadway to the college campus. One ex-student official estimated more persons saw the parade than attended the game.

Ko Shari club, with a float in the Indian theme, won first place in the beautiful category. Jane Moseley, Jane Austin, Patsy Shelton, Mary Byars Turner, Corrine Garrison and Margaret Farriss rode on the float. On the float was an Indian kiva representing culture of this region and the club heritage.

Winning first place in the descriptive category was the College club float, on which four students in statuesque poses appeared as the cave man, Roman, American soldier and Scientist, representing "Progress". The students were Charlie Johnson, Jack Wilborn, Tommy Jamison and James Hargrove.

Chemical Society Wins

First place in the humorous category was won by American Chemical society with is "The Revenooer" float on which rode a group appearing in hill-billy rolcs and pursued by Davis Smiley as the revenue man shooting a cap pistol. Those in the float were Jerry Wright, Raymond Vaughn, Glady Kiely, Brownie Lamb and Bob Slagle.

Between halves of the Tech-Baylor game, the College club float received the Thomas trophy, presented by Lucian Thomas, to the organization entering the float considered best among the first place winners in the three categories. Thomas also gave trophies to the three winners in the different categories.

Many other floats attracted interest of spectators. One presented a "surprice package" made up of a model of the completed administration building, representing the structure after present construction of wings is completed. One showed an old-fashioned press. One float was decorated with 200 dozen roses. Another showed a model farm. Another showed a merry-go-round. Many other themes were presented.

The organizations entering and themes of their floats were: Wranglers, Wrangler shield; Gamma Delta, describing club pin; Pre-Med club, operation on the Baylor Bears; Las Chaparritas, a large compact; Press club, distribution of Toreador and pamphlets concerning Homecoming; Los Camaradas, a Homecoming Fiesta, Alpha Epsilon Delta, football player being inoculated with school spirit; Las Vivarachas, "Tech keeping the conference in line"; S.A.M.E., descriptive; Saddle Tramps, symbol of spirit and purposes of organization; Gargoyle, glorified artist's pallette and brushes; Capa Y Espada, Spanish influence on the campus; men's dormitory 3, typical dorm room; Dairy Manufacturing club, products of dairy industry; Delta Sigma Pi, presenting the "rose of Delta Sigma Pi", showing the 200 dozen roses; Future Farmers of America, portraying end of Baylor game; Sans Souci, "A Toast to Victory;" Tech Geology club, "Prospectors in the Desert"; Signal club, "How's This for Progress"; Agriculture club, model farm; D. F. D. club, girls opening a surprise package; Block and Bridle club, work of the club; A.I.M.E., a miniature oil field; men's dormitory 4, a replica of dormitory 4; Tech Chamber of Commerce, "Spirit of Texas Tech as seen through the Work of T.C.C."; Kemas, a birthday gift to the campus; Future Teachers of America, "Education Makes the Difference; Centaur club, colonial girl in a garden; Home Economics club, new home economics building coming from a package; Texas Tech Rodeo association, satire on judging; 4-H club, a Techsan welcoming a high school graduate; Socii, return of the "exes" every fall.

American Institute of Industrial Engineering, satire on football officials; Silver Key club, celebration of club's 20th birthday; Major-Minor, a ski scene; Kapoa Alpha Mu, baby having picture taken; Association of Women Students; representing all women's organizations; Student Religious council, place of the church in campus activities; Sock and Buskin, scene from "Twelfth Night"; Cosmopolitan, different nations represented at Tech, and the winning organizations.

Parade judges were Franklin Grant, advertising manager at Dunlap's; Jack Baker, employed at West Texas Advertising Co., and Dale Buckner of Bucker, Craig and Webster.

COLORFUL FLOATS MARK PARADE — Lubbock residents, Texas Tech exes and students were treated to one of the more impressive parades of recent years Saturday when the annual Homecoming procession of floats, Tech band and other participants filed through downtown streets and out to the college. in a rocker, was struck in the head by a bullet. He was dead upon arrival by ambulance at a hospital here.

Was "Innocent Bystander"

Perales was an "innocent bystander," officials said. He had not figured in the argument.

Perales had come into this section to pick cotton near Wolfforth.

Police said that one of two bootlegger suspects taken into custody Saturday had two pounds of marijuana and a .22 caliber pistol in his possession at the time of his arrest.

Officers, acting on an anonymous tip, picked up the man at a house in the 100 block Ave. P shortly before 5 p. m. A search of his car uncovered the marijuana, which the man has reportedly admitted bringing in from El Paso, the gun and a quantity of wine, beer and gin.

Three Others Charged

Three other men at the house, all non-Lubbock residents, were charged with vagrancy, reports showed.

Officials said the man would be filed on in county court for liquor law violation, possession of narcotics, and carrying a pistol. Six cases of beer were reported found under the hood of his car, a 1948 Pontiac.

The other suspect was arrested in the 100 block East Broadway about 10 p. m. after he had allegedly attempted to outrun a police car.

The man pleaded innocent of a charge of reckless driving filed by Patrolman James Atchison who said the suspect's car had reached speeds in excess of 50 miles an hour after police had attempted to stop the vehicle on Broadway.

May Face Liquor Charge

A member of the Liquor Control board said, meanwhile, that charges of liquor law violation would be filed in the case. A bottle of whisky in a paper sack was found on the ground near the man when he was arrested.

Patrolmen said the defendant jumped from his car carrying a paper sack after he had pulled the vehicle behind a building in the 100 block East Broadway. The suspect has been convicted previously of liquor law violation, officials said.

One of two automobiles reported stolen late Friday was reported recovered by its owner S. D. Calloway of 303 Temple, in the 200 block North Ave U.

Thieves Enter Car

Police said the other vehicle, a 1939 Ford coach, license AL 2266, owned by J. L. McCafferty, of 2115 Sanders, had not been reported seen since it was taken from the 900 block Main.

Dudley Price, resident of the Texas Tech dormitory, complained to police of the theft of $43 worth of property from his car, an air ventilator of which had been pried open to allow manipulation of a door lock.

Taken were a pair of fender skirts, an ash tray, a box of .22 caliber rifle shells, and a steering knob, he said.

Police said seven negroes were fined $15 each early Saturday morning for gambling with dice in the 2600 block, East Ave. E, and six more for gambling with cards in the 100 block East Nineteenth.

revenge against the girl for helping establish that Hawkins had returned to the Panhandle.

Clark was found shot to death and robbed Wednesday near Jerseyville, Ill. Officiers said he was lured from his Clayton, N. M., job by a man who offered to split a set of world series tickets with him. They left Clayton Oct. 3 in Clark's car — the same car found outside the Dalhart cafe today.

Last Friday Miss Groves said she and her date were accosted near here by a man driving a car which she identified as Clark's.

Sheriff J. A. McMurry and highway Patrolman R. C. Johnson said Hawkins was wearing a blue, checked shirt and blue jeans when he appeared here today. Hawkins stands about five feet, eight inches tall, and has brown curly hair streaked with gray.

A first degree murder warrant was sworn out last week against Hawkins.

Hobbs Woman Shoots Prowler; Officers Find Trail Of Blood

HOBBS, N. M., Oct. 15 (AP)—Miss Adelee Anderson, a 24-year-old brunette, told police that she shot a prowler in her home at 3 a.m. today

Chief Wicker Kersley said officers followed a trail of blood for 1½ blocks but could not find the wounded person.

NEWS BRIEFS

City firemen said they answered three alarms Saturday. Damage was negligible in two car fires, one in the 1800 block Nineteenth at 1 a.m., and the other in the 2500 block First shortly before 7:30 p.m. The other blaze, also of minor nature, occurred when gasoline used to wash an engine block in the Ed Holcomb garage at 2247 Nineteenth was ignited.

Farm Support Plan for support payments at 90 percent of parity when maximum controls were applied.

Senator Ellender (D-La.), one of the conferees, said there still was a chance for later agreement. But as of tonight, the senators and representatives weren't together on anything.

The scrapped agreement, reported by a 11 to 3 vote, would have ordered supports at 90 percent of parity for cotton, wheat, corn, tobacco, rice and peanuts whenever farmers submitted to the maximum cuts the law provides in planting, and also approved marketing quotas.

Parity is a price figured to give farmers a fair exchange when they sell their crops and buy things at the store.

Cochran Shooting

lapse into a semi-conscious state.

Sheriff Charlie Bullock of Hockley county said the woman was able to give a partial statement on the shooting when questioned in the presence of himself, Dr. Phillips, Sheriff Crockett and William Boedeker, Hockley county attorney.

"She told us that her husband came in drinking, got the gun and fired the one shot that hit her," Bullock related. "She said that was all she knew about it. She said there was no argument. Her statement was made after the doctor told her that possibly she wouldn't pull through."

Assistant District Attorney Pharr and Jim Riddles, Texas Highway patrolman, came to Levelland from Lubbock to question Nichols and young Bobby Jack.

Pharr said Nichols was defiant when first asked about the shooting. When asked to make a statement, Nichols asked:

"I'm entitled to a jury trial?"

Boy Runs For Help

Told that he was, he said, "Then I'll tell that to a jury." Pharr also quoted Nichols as saying that he would hire a battery of lawyers for any trial that might be called.

Bobby Jack Nichols, believed to be the only witness to the the shooting, told Pharr and Riddles that he ran to get help after his mother was shot.

In his oral statement, the youth said his father came into their two-room house and got a gun out and then shot three times at the boy's feet.

Bobby said his father then reloaded the gun and went into the house where he pointed it at Mrs. Nichols.

Pleadings Reported

The youth said he was standing about seven feet to the side and two feet behind his mother.

"She was begging Daddy not to do it," Bobby said.

He said his father then pointed the gun at his mother and fired.

Bobby said his father later brought a drink of water and a wet towel to the woman.

"Daddy started crying after he shot her," Bobby said.

The boy said he then "slipped out, ran off and went to the oil camp for help."

Saw Man In Yard

After reaching the oil camp about one-half mile away, an emergency call was placed to Sheriff Bullock at Levelland.

While Nichols was being questioned, he told one of the investigating officials that he didn't shoot at the boy but shot at the ground.

Bulock said that he arrived at the scene of the shooting and found a group of cars near the farm house.

"W. V. McKay, constable at Whiteface, got in my ca. and we drove up to the house," Bullock said.

"I turned on the car spotlight and we saw Nichols lying in the yard on his back, in front of the house, with a gun in his right hand.

Calls For Help

"I pulled the car up beside him, got out and ran up and stepped on his hand and the gun. He never moved.

"Several other cars had followed us up to the house," Bullock said. "Mrs. Nichols heard us talking out in the yard and said: 'Hurry up and help me'."

"We went into the house and got her. She was on her back on the floor of the bedroom. She had been been wearing a work shirt and blue jeans, but her shirt was off," Bullock said.

(In his statement, Bobby said that his mother was in the act of taking off her shirt when she was shot.)

"I took Mrs. Nichols to the hospital in my car. No one else went with us," Bullock said. "She didn't carry on, but didn't talk much on the way in to Levelland. About six miles west of Levelland, she asked how much longer before we got to town and to a doctor."

McKay and Joe L. Taylor, farmer and oil field worker, took Nichols to the Cochran county jail at Morton.

Sheriff Crockett said the gun was "an old .38-.40 single-action thumb-buster." He said the gun had been fired eight times and that the firing pin had been snapped on three other shells. Sheriff Bullock was holding the gun at Levelland.

Young Bobby, with his mother in the hospital and his father in jail, was staying with a brother of Mrs. Nichols, R. P. Tandy, a Littlefield chiropractor.

Ginger, a native convicted of stealing groceries worth $192 at Bulawayo, Southern Rhodesia, asked the judge to impose the death sentence—but got two years at hard labor instead.

Bradley Warns Of Soviet Might

Bradley said, however, that the Soviet development made no change in defense plans and that the arms aid must be dispatched to Western Europe.

Would Cost $20 Billion

Senator Minority leader Wherry, Neb., who sat in on the committee meeting, said later that it would cost $20 billion and take four years to build up 50 divisions in Europe.

The Senate Foreign Relations committee recently reported that Russia has five million men under arms.

The House passed the arms bill appropriation Friday and sped it to the Senate where approval is expected Monday or Tuesday.

Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich), said, after hearing the testimony of Bradley, that he would make no fight against the bill.

Ferguson predicted that the measure will pass the Senate without difficulty. He declared:

"The only thing I have been interested in is whether an integrated arms program is being worked out with the European members of the North Atlantic pact.

"They do not have a plan as yet, but they are making satisfactory progress toward one."

Essential To Morale

Bradley said that the military arms program of the Western powers does not contemplate a force sufficient to match Russia's, but that projected arms aid program is essential for purposes of morale.

Before the House pushed the measure through by voice vote. Bradley told the House Appropriations committee that war is not "impossible."

He said that the question of peace or war rests with "a few men abroad."

The bill, which will be speeded to the President's desk when Congress completes passage, appropriates $814,010,000 in cash and $500,000,000 in contract authority.

One billion dollars will go to nations which are members of the North Atlantic pact.

Greece and Turkey, birthplaces of the Truman doctrine which clearly marked America's course in the "cold war" get $211,370,000 and Iran, Korea and the Philippines receive $27,640,000.

In addition $75 million is earmarked for use by the President as he sees fit "in the general area of China."

Cotton Crop Jumps

between Nov. 3 and 10. The precise average date is Nov. 10. But they have occurred as early as Oct. 19 and as late as Dec. 5.

Clapp said, however, that the date of the freeze this year probably is more important than ever before in the history of the South Plains.

Much Cotton Late

Much of the cotton is late—particularly so in irrigated areas which comprise about 600,000 of the 2,750,000 acres planted in the staple in the area this year. The lateness of this crop is attributed chiefly to excessive watering. In large areas, fields have been soaked with rains too soon after they have been irrigated.

The result is that the cotton in many of these fields still is maturing. Stalks are laden heavily with green and immature bolls. Until the first freeze occurs, these bolls will continue to grow and fill with cotton. Given enough time, the bolls will fill with staple.

But the freeze, whenever it occurs, will bring growth to a standstill. An early freeze would mean, on many thousands of acres, that the stalks would bear many bolls, but not much cotton—and the cotton would be inferior grade.

Freeze Determines Difference

In short, Clapp said, the difference between an early and late freeze will be many millions of dollars to the South Plains.

There also was important news Saturday pertaining to the labor situation. No one denied the existence of a critical shortage. It was agreed generally that two to three times as many pickers could be used than are available.

But B. T. O'Connell, Lubbock area manager of the Texas Employment commission, and V. L. O'Farrell, farm placement chief of the TEC here, supplied information of optimistic tone. They do not anticipate field workers in the numbers which could be used. But they are hopeful of an improvement in the situation.

New Arrivals Expected

O'Connell said that some labor is arriving from Mexico, particularly in the Lamesa and Brownfield areas. Other arrivals are expected soon in several areas, including Lubbock. They will help the situation appreciably.

Meanwhile, O'Connell said, the response to appeals for local labor on a whole or part-time basis, has been "most encouraging." They have been from many types of people, including housewives and Tech students. A great many other persons employed as household domestics and in other work also have gone to the cotton fields.

The TEC officials said that trucks used to transport pickers to and from the cotton fields leave from the employment office, 1114 Tenth street, each morning at 7 o'clock.

Special Transportation Provided

Another truck leaves from the Dairy Queen stand, College avenue and Tenth street, each afternoon at 1 o'clock. This transportation is mostly for Tech students, some of whom earn up to $12 in an afternoon.

Still another truck, chiefly for housewives, leaves from the Hub Homes each morning at 7. These women have been averaging $8 to $10 a day, and some of them more than that, after a little experience.

In addition, O'Farrell said, some of the Tech girl students are organizing for a trek to the cotton fields during the coming week. Details had not been completed Saturday.

Interest also has been expressed by a great many public school students who are interted not only in the money they might earn but in the oportunity to help ease the serious labor shortage.

O'Connell and O'Farrell joined in an invitation to everyone interested in helping out to call their nearest TEC office.

not mention specifically Lewis' proposal 24 hours earlier that his UMW and the AFL contribute $2,500,000 a week to the steelworkers in an "uncompromising fight of all American labor."

Murray said his proposed war chest should aid the miners also because the UMW is engaged "in a mighty struggle with powerful employers in the coal industry to protect the security of the miners and to gain benefits necessary to their continued well being."

There was no immediate comment from AFL President William Green. An aide said Green will make no statement before Monday.

Proposal Surprise

Murray's counter-proposal caught most labor authorities flatfooted. It was generally believed that the long-standing Lewis-Murray feud would prevent anything but disagreement on the CIO leaders' part.

With basic steel plants closed since Oct. 1 in a fight over free insurance and pensions, Murray put the same price up to the fabricating plants that use the raw metal. Result: More walkouts.

The soft coal industry slumbered into its fifth week of idleness with only the echoes of Lewis' startling bid to aid the steelworkers marring the crippling stillness.

Aluminum Faces Blow

Aluminum faced a stunning blow from Murray's steelworkers. The union has slated Sunday midnight for a strike which would close nine Alcoa plants in nine states.

Strikes idled 480,000 basic steelworkers, 385,000 bituminous coal operators and at least 75,000 workers in closely allied industries.

The aluminum strike will add 16,000.

Fabricating industry sources say the strike may match the near 500,000 figure in basic steel.

Man Burns To Death

dwelling, was badly blistered.

The small house was completely gutted by the flames, origin of which was as yet undetermined early this morning. Blackened smoke frescoes stood out prominently on the white walls of the house where smoke had poured from the four windows.

Smoke was still pouring from the tiny structure an hour after the original alarm when firemen and ambulance attendants removed the victim's body.

Buford said this morning's fire was the second at Stephens' home within the last seven months. The dead man narrowly escaped today's tragedy last spring when fire broke out under similar circumstances. On that occasion Buford was able to fight his way through the flames to Stephens and carry the sleeping man to safety.

Two pumper-type trucks from the central fire-station answered the alarm, with about 15 firemen taking part in the operation.

No estimate of damage was made, but the standing portions of the south and east walls were gleaning noticeably and the interior of the structure, seen through the smoke, appeared completely destroyed.

Stephens had lived here since 1945, coming to Lubbock after serving in the Army during the war. He was at Fort Bliss during the war years, Vallas said.

Up until four months ago Stephens had been employed by T. J. Vallas and Son, used car dealers, but recently had been working as a carpenter, Vallas said.

Stephens owned the one-room house where he lived, having moved the house to its location.

Stephens was reported to have lived at the small house for the past two and one-half years.

Other survivors include two daughters, Letha Ann Stephens, 17, Phyllis Jean Stephens, 15, both living with their mother in Breckenridge; two sisters, Mrs. Herbert Schlittler of Crane, Texas, and Mrs. E. E. Parkhill of Fort Worth; and three brothers, F. J. Stephens of Houston, R. L. Stephens of Dallas and Melvin Stephens of Fresno, Calif.

When an Italian air liner dropped 800 feet in an air pocket over Milan, bottles of wines and liqueurs bound for Britain were smashed.

HAVING TROUBLE WITH PARKING?

Parallel Parking Is Difficult, But Practice Will Make It Easy

The old saw about the fellow whose speedometer read 40,000 miles "but 10,000 miles of it was hunting a parking place" seems to be nearing a reality in Lubbock.

With the inauguration of parallel parking on Broadway and other downtown streets, there just aren't enough parking places to go around, especially for the people who come to town every morning and park their cars on meters and leave them there all day. The parallel parking rule and the one-hour zones have forced many of these car owners to seek off-the-street parking.

Therefore even with parallel parking, the town's "customers" are getting more opportunities to find parking spots about town, traffic observers say.

For the benefit of the majority of motorists who seem to have trouble with parallel parking, the Avalanche-Journal, through courtesy of the South Plains Automobile club, local unit of the American Automobile Association, presents the accompanying sketches which may aid those having difficulties with parallel parking.

Parallel parking is an easy matter, once you get the hang of it, Traffic Captain Bill Lamb of the Lubbock Police department says. All you need is a little practice and confidence.

"Too many people get excited in trying to park and don't take their time," Sgt. Harold McInroe of the traffic department said.

To prove that it's easy, we present the accompanying sketches. Study them carefully and try to follow their instructions the next time you park.

Better still, cut them out and paste them at a convenient spot on your windshield.

Increase Reported In Lubbock Public School Enrollment

Enrollment in the Lubbock Public schools at the end of the first month showed an increase over the first month of last year of 1,127 students, according to a report compiled Friday in the office of Superintendent R. W. Matthews. Total enrollment at the end of the first month was 10,679, Matthews said, while enrollment at the end of the first month in 1948 was 9,552. These figures are based on an estimated enrollment for Carroll Thompson Junior High of 880.

House-Senate Group Okays Telephone Bill

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15 (Special)—House and Senate conferees have agreed on a rural telephone bill authored by Rep. W. R. Poage of Waco, he announced tonight.

The congressman from the 11th district said that many of the obnoxious features written into the bill by the Senate had been removed by the conferees.

Sen. Spessard Holland (D-Fla), one of those who had written restrictive language around the bill permitting the Rural Electrification administration to lend money so that individuals or groups could have telephones installed in rural areas, finally gave in, Poage said.

Only Sen. Scott Lucas (D-Ill) is left to sign the conference report to make the action final, and it is believed he will agree.

Poage said that now money could be loaned to any individual to put in telephones wherever they are needed, except where lines already exist.

"This may mean some court battles for interpretation, but generally it will give us a bill to work with," Poage said. "It should mean vastly more telephones for farm people in all parts of Texas and for the folks who live great distances from cities.

"It probably will mean radio telephones also, a great boon to ranchers," he said.

Texas Beats Porkers; Rice Upsets SMU 41-27

Campbell Sparks Steers' Victory

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Oct. 15 (AP)—Favored Texas, shocked by two early Arkansas touchdowns, rode back on the throwing arm of Paul Campbell to snare a 27-14 Southwest Conference victory here today.

A crowd of about 30,000 which sat out the offensive thriller in War Memorial Stadium watched the inspired Razorbacks of Arkansas capitalize on breaks to grab a 14-0 lead in the first 17 minutes.

But it was Campbell and Texas from then on.

Campbell not only pitched two touchdown passes, but it was his six straight completions in the second quarter which snapped the Longhorns out of their early lethargy and opened up the Razorback defense so that the Texas running attack would click, too.

Campbell connected on 14 of 23 tosses for 257 yards.

Don Logue, sophomore quarterback, produced both Arkansas touchdowns, sneaking through right guard four yards for the first near the end of the opening period and passing six yards to End Pat Summerall for the other in the second quarter.

Arkansas suffered a tough blow when it lost its powerhouse Fullback Leon (Muscles) Campbell through an injury while still leading in the third quarter.

Texas outrushed Arkansas by one yard, 150 to 149, but just wouldn't have been in the game without Paul Campbell's throwing and the ever-present ability of his receivers to get into the clear.

The Texas quarterback threaded a bullet toss down the middle 19 yards to Paul Williams for the visitors' first touchdown.

Trailing 7-14 going into the third quarter, the Texans rushed 32 yards to another score after intercepting an Arkansas pass. Byron Townsend went the final two yards, but Randall Clay's kick was blocked and the Razor backs still led by a point.

TCU's Horned Frogs Gain 28 To 6 Game From Texas Aggies

FORT WORTH, Oct. 15 (AP) — Texas Christian concentrated its scoring punch into two periods today to whip Texas A. and M. 28-6.

Two quick touchdowns in the first quarter and two more in the third enabled the Horned Frogs to win their first home game since they beat the Aggies here in 1947.

Big John Morton powered an eight-play, 58-yard march for the Frogs' first touchdown and Dan Wilde, moments later, returned Yale Larry's punt 61 yards for another.

Berry's Tosses Connect

Lindy Berry, the Frogs' potent passer, took to the air in the third period to connect with Jack Archer and Wilde on touchdown passes that more than offset one scored by the Aggies' Glenn Lippman in the second quarter.

Homer Ludiker booted four extra points to boost TCU's winning margin. Bob Shaeffer missed A. and M.'s attempted conversion.

The Aggies were willing, but not able to cope with the tough Texas Christian line. Only the mistake of this forward wall—being offside—kept the score from being at least one touchdown higher. The penalty rubbed out a Berry-to-George Boal payoff pass in the second period.

Max Eubanks intercepted Don Nicholas' pass on the third play of the game and before an estimated crowd of 30,000 the Frogs were off.

Morton accounted for 56 of the 58 yards in this drive, including the last few inches.

Wilde Goes 61 Yards

After A. and M. lost ground trying to gain, Lary kicked to Wilde. Behind beautiful blocking, he scampered 61 yards down the left sidelines to the end zone.

A. and M. got one of these scores back in the second, when it drove 69 yards with Lippman climaxing the march with a three-yard line plunge.

Then, in the third, Berry opened up. He completed four consecutive passes for 58 yards, the last going to Archer for 15 yards and a touchdown.

DALLAS, Oct. 15.—Southern Methodist's Southwestern football empire crashed tonight before the power of the Rice Owls 41-27.

The team that had won two Southwest conference championships in a row and lost only one game in two and a half seasons took a terrific beating from a Rice team, sparked by passer Tobin Rote and driving, twisting runs of Bobby Lantrip and Gordon Wyatt.

72,000 See Game

Rice roared back from a 6-14 half-time deficit to all but run SMU out of the Cotton Bowl where 72,000 fans—the largest crowd ever to see a Southwest conference game—watched the awesome power of the men in blue.

Not since 1945 had any team scored as many as 41 points on Southern Methodist. The great Randolph Field team of that time turned the trick. It was the most points ever made on SMU in a conference game. SMU has been in the conference since 1918.

Rice did it with All-America Doak Walker sidelined most of the last half. Walker was injured in a pile-up on the sidelines, being knocked into a wheel chair in which a war veteran was watching the game. Rice was penalized 15 yards for roughness. Walker played little afterward and never did carry the ball again.

SMU Was Favored

Southern Methodist entered the game rated tenth nationally and Rice, which had lost to Louisiana State, was the underdog. SMU was a seven and one-half-point favorite.

But while Walker played his usual All-America game while in there, Rice had the better team and deserved to win.

Rote completed 10 passes out of 21 thrown for 162 yards while his mates whammed the line and ran the ends for 164. Southern Metho-

Abilene Surprises In Upset Of Odessa

BY WILBUR MARTIN
Associated Press Writer

Austin's Maroons knocked Galveston from the ranks of the undefeated, but the rest of the powers in the City Conference and Class AA won in convincing fashion Friday night.

Wichita Falls, Lubbock, Ysleta, Grand Prairie, Highland Park (Dallas), Henderson, Marshall, Port Arthur, Corsicana and Galena Park protected perfect records. Lamesa was idle.

Unbeaten, once tied Baytown battered Austin of Houston, 42-0.

Some fantastic scores were recorded in a heavy schedule of games in the top two divisions of the interscholastic league's schoolboy grid program.

San Angelo crushed Cisco, 70-7 and Wichita Falls blanked Electra, 53-0.

On a lesser scale, Abilene turned in a terrific upset in its 39-6 victory over Odessa and Port Arthur's 33-0 victory over Corpus Christi wasn't expected to be that one-sided.

Austin beat Galveston, 19-6. It was the first time the Island team had been scored upon this season.

Other fancy scores were:

Vernon 45, Quanah 0; Lubbock 33, Pampa 20; Grand Prairie 41, Crozier Tech (Dallas) 13; Highland Park 45, North Dallas 0; Corsicana 41, Hillsboro 0; Temple 40, Ennis 14; Galena Park 34, Port Neches 13; Texarkana 41, Tyler 0.

Marshall and Henderson both moved toward a head-on meeting in District 9-AA. Marshall thumped Gladewater, 28-7, and Henderson beat Longview, 7-0.

Ysleta was another unbeaten team that managed only a one touchdown victory, 7-0, over El

Superior Depth In Reserves, Burk's Passing Prove Too Much For Techsans

BY JOE KELLY
Avalanche-Journal Sports Editor

Game Texas Tech, outmanned by a superior Baylor eleven, went down to defeat, 28 to 7, yesterday afternoon before 18,000 Homecoming fans in Jones Stadium, but not before they had given the highly favored Bears a tremendous battle.

For three quarters Baylor clung to a scant 14-7 margin, gained on two first period touchdowns, while the Red Raiders had come back on a 61-yard pass play to carry the fight to the visitors. But superior depth in reserves and brilliant passing by Quarterback Adrian Burk proved too much in the final stanza and the Bruins rolled to two more touchdowns.

Tech Fights Grimly

Aside from losing the game, the Raiders lost nothing else. Badly outclassed by a fine Baylor team and given slight chance of doing much more than holding the score down, the Raiders fought grimly. They gave ground grudgingly and they launched drives of their own. But in the end, Burk threaded the needle too perfectly and split the defenses wide open.

The Bruins scored on only two plays and the first time they held the ball, with Halfback James "Buddy" Parker romping 36 yards to paydirt. End Henry Dickerson booted the first of his four successful conversions and, with only a minute and 50 seconds gone, Baylor held a 7-0 lead.

The second touchdown came late in the first quarter when only 10 seconds remained. Baylor marched 59 yards on nine plays, with Burk pitching to Buddy Parker, who took the ball in the end zone. Dickerson again converted.

Tech struck back at 12:15 of the second quarter when a 61-yard-pass play resulted in a touchdown. Quarterback Ernest Hawkins hit End Jack Davis on the Baylor 48-yard marker and Davis, with fine blocking, raced the remaining distance. Halfback Tim Hatch converted.

Early in the fourth quarter Baylor added the insurance tally, marching 70 yards on eight plays twisting 12 yards to hit paydirt

Powerhouse Notre Dame Wallops Tulane Green Wave, 46 To 7

Halfback Coutre Sparks Irishmen

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 15(INS)—The football legions of Notre Dame marched over Tulane 46 to 7 in South Bend today to extend their unbeaten record to 32 games.

The Fighting Irish displayed an attack of fearsome power and fearless passing to score touchdowns the first four times they got the ball. Notre Dame rapid fire striking offense also produced scores in each of the other three periods to the amazement of 58,196 witnesses.

Halfback Larry Coutre crossed the Tulane goal three times in the opening period. Quarterback Bob Williams rifled passes of 34 and 16 yards for two other touchdowns and Halfbacks Frank Spaniel and Billy Barrett also got in on the touchdown parade.

An ominous warning of what was to happen to the Green Wave came on the 31 yard opening kickoff return by Emil Sitko. The 180-pound fullback nearly got away for a touchdown. He pummeled through Tulane tacklers for eight yards on the first play from scrimmage and the Irish were on their way to a 58-yard touchdown.

Coutre did the actual scoring by slipping through the Tulane line from the four yard line after less than three minutes of play. He weaved through a mass of leaping tacklers for an 81 yard touchdown run a few minutes later.

Notre Dame retaliated with a 50-yard scoring march shortly after the Tulane touchdown. Spaniel knifed through tackle and scored standing up from the 12 yard line.

Barrett snaked his way through nearly every man on the Tulane team to score Notre Dame's final touchdown on a story book 59 yard run.

Statistics showed Notre Dame with 280 yards rushing to 23 for Tulane told the tale of glory for the Irish and gloom for the New Orleans squad.

Coutre was the individual hero if one could single out a big man among big men. He carried the ball four times for 101 yards and scored touchdowns three of those times before going to the sidelines with a broken blood vessel in the knee.

Crosbyton's Billy Peel Suffers Broken Leg In Friday Tussle

CROSBYTON, Oct. 15. (Special) Billy Peel, starting center for the Crosbyton Chiefs, who broke his left leg in the Abernathy game here last night, will be out of action for the remainder of the season.

Officials at Crosbyton Clinic hospital said he suffered a crushed left tibia, and a fractured left fibula, but is resting comfortably tonight with his leg in a cast.

They said he probably would remain in the hospital about two weeks, and definitely would not play again this season.

Peel broke his leg in the second quarter of the game while attempting to break up a pass play near midfield. An ambulance drove out on to the field and took him to the hospital. Crosbyton won, upsetting the highly favored Antelopes 20-6.

BY CHOC HUTCHESON

Whew!

The above exclamation refers, of course, to Lubbock's 33-20 triumph over Pampa's hustling Harvesters at Jones stadium Friday night. The Westerners wound up with a two-touchdown bulge in the scoring column, but only after a whale of a battle that had Lubbock rooters gnawing their fingernails on several occasions.

Speed was the factor that turned the tide in Lubbock's favor. Westerner backs broke into the clear and went for touchdowns; Harvester ball-carriers got into the open and were hauled down from behind. That was the big difference, as I saw it.

Lubbock Coach Pat Pattison, discussing the game afterwards, agreed.

"If Pampa's backs had been as fast as ours, we might have been kicked around out there," Pattison commented.

Pattison had nothing but praise for the Pampa team's spirit.

"They got the move on us and kept it," he remarked. "They were just that one step ahead of us all the way. Frankly, I was a little surprised by the way their offense clicked — but, of course, maybe this was due to our own defensive weaknesses."

Most glaring of the Lubbock shortcomings Friday night, I thought, was a pass defense that leaked like a discarded tent. The Westerners certainly could have used a few butterfly nets to great adantage in the secondary. Lubbock made two timely interceptions, but time and again the Westerner backs allowed Pampa receivers to get well behind them. Fortunately for Lubbock, most of the long Harvester passes were of the looping variety, which enabled defensive backs to get to the receivers in time to make touchdown-saving tackles.

Lubbock's victory, while not as easily achieved as some fans (including this one) had expected, nevertheless had its brighter aspects.

First, and foremost, was the aforementioned speed. Few backfields in Interscholastic league history have been blessed with the all-round speed of this 1949 Westerner quartet, and Lubbock put this asset to full advantage Friday night.

Then there was Malcolm Young's superb punting. Young had his bad moments on pass defense, but his toe gave Lubbock the vital "jump" which helped the Westerners win. Early in the game, after Pampa had surged to Lubbock's four-yard line, Young got off a booming 80-yarder from which Pampa never fully recovered. The Harvesters promptly lost the ball on a fumble and Lubbock went on to its first touchdown. For the night, Young averaged 54 yards on three kicks, which puts him near the top in any league.

Coach Pattison said afterwards that he was well pleased with Lubbock's end play, and with his team's deception.

Pointing out that nine starters played the entire game, he added that he was satisfied with his boys' physical condition.

"They had a lot left when the game ended," he commented, "and, man, I certainly would have rested easier if they had used a little more of it! That Pampa club was tough."

The three Pampa touchdowns, incidentally, were the first scores against Lubbock's first string in five games this season . . . One explanation of Lubbock's off-stride performance probably is that the Westerners were too intent on "humiliating" Pampa to concentrate on playing sound football. The locals, you know, still were smarting from last year's 26-19 loss at Pampa, and they went into Friday night's tussle determined to gain revenge in full measure. But Coach Tom Tipps' scrappy Harvesters, the fightingest team to visit here this year, had something to say about that . . . "Amarillo next" is now the Westerner war cry, and all indications point to a first-class thriller. Not since 1939 has Lubbock beaten Amarillo on the gridiron. Yes, and Japan had never lost a war until this last one . . . Coach Pattison, when I talked with him Saturday, had not heard his assistants' reports on Friday night's Amarillo and Odessa games. Like all others, he was stunned by the Bronchos' 39-6 loss to Abilene. "To tell the truth, I thought there had been some sort of mistake when I first heard that score," he said . . . Lubbock came through the Pampa setto with only one slight injury —Wayne Stround's Charley horse.

Houston Defeats WTSC 14 To 13

HOUSTON, Oct. 15 (AP) — Two quick first period scores were enough for the University of Houston to defeat West Texas State, 14 to 13, today but the highly favored Cougars had a close call.

Houston made only one serious threat the last three periods, and had to stop West Texas inside the 2-yard-line twice in the second half. A West Texas fourth period field goal attempt was wide.

Quarterback Alan Neveux kicked both of Houston's extra points. Junior Melton missed his try on the Buffaloes' tally but made good on the second.

In the first nine minutes of play Jolly Hartsell took a West Texas punt, picked up good blocking and ran 72 yards for the first Cougar score.

Houston went ahead 14-0 by marching 55 yards in 10 plays with Fullback Aubrey Baker going the last 16 yards.

A razzle-dazzle play put West Texas back in the ball game late in the first period.

Quarterback Gene Mayfield passed 20 yards to End Charles Kitchens, who lateraled to Roy Lee Dunn, another end. Dunn went the rest of the way for a 67-yard touchdown play.

In the second period West Texas drove to the 6 but was held.

The Buffs then scored in seven plays, Mayfield passing to Kitchen for the final 4 yards.

In the third quarter West Texas gained a first down on the Houston 8. Four plays got six yards and Houston took over on its 2.

The Buffs started again by returning a punt to the Houston 32. Charles Right skirted right end for 30 yards, but three plays and a penalty moved West Texas back to the 6 from where the field goal was attempted.

PARIS, Oct. 15. (AP)—Sale of George Yanen, right-handed pitcher who won 22 games last season for Paris in the East Texas league, to Dallas of the Texas league was announced today.

Yanen was selected outstanding player of the year in the East Texas league by the sports writers.

Texas Western Beats Arizona

TUCSON, Ariz., Oct. 15 (AP) — A vastly superior line paved the pathways over which Texas Western rode to a 28-0 Border Conference victory over Arizona tonight.

A record-tieing crowd of 16,200 watched Texas Western smash for 425 yards rushing while Arizona was kept to 28 yards on the ground.

The first time Texas Western had the ball they scored touchdowns. Harvey (Pug) Gabrel went 64 yards on the third play for one of the scores. Cordell McCraw took a 33-yard pass from Ralph Brewster for another.

Gabrel made practically all the yardage in a third - period 60-yard drive, plunging across the goal line from eight yards out.

Little Gerald Campbell scored twice before it counted in the final period. The first time he skirted right end from three yards out but a penalty nullified the play. He repeated around left end.

Jim Davis kicked the four extra points.

Arizona couldn't stop the Texas Western backfield quartet of Gabrel, McCraw, Campbell and Chesak. The line opened the holes and they picked up yardage practically at will.

Arizona's best sustained drive carried them to the Texas Western 27-yard line in the second quarter and then spluttered to a stop.

In the third period a recovered fumble on Texas Western's 13-yard line plus the benefit of a penalty gave Arizona a first down on the one-yard line. The tip of the ball touched the goal line after four plays but it wasn't over.

This was Texas Western's fifth straight victory and Arizona's second straight Border Conference loss.

Sooners Gain 48-26 Win Over Jayhawks

NORMAN, Okla., Oct. 15. (AP)—A relentless ground-gaining attack swept Oklahoma over Kansas 48-26 today for the Sooners' 14th straight victory.

The victory wasn't as decisive as pre-game predictions of a duplication of last year's 60-7 triumph over Kansas.

Oklahoma, the nation's no. 3 team, scored twice in the first quarter and picked up at least one touchdown in each of the other three.

Oklahoma Aggies Gain First Place In Cross Country Races

STILLWATER, Okla., Oct. 15. (AP)—Oklahoma A&M brought the first of three runners home in front today and defeated Texas A&M 18-37 in cross country racing.

Raymond Prohaska was first man in at 9:33.3. Behind him were Lonnie Dunkin and Ralph Taylor.

Texas' Julian Herring, first place man last year, finished fourth.

Others in the order of finish were Troy Stice, A&M, fifth; John Gormany, Texas, sixth; Bill Gilchrist, A&M, seventh; Jim McMann, Texas eighth; Jack Jones, Texas, ninth; and Alex Ortiz, Texas, tenth.

Tempe Sun Devils Take 49 - 21 Win Over Brigham Young Eleven

Smashing Ground, Air Attack Hurts

TEMPE, Ariz., Oct. 15. (AP)— The Sun Devils of Arizona State college at Tempe clicked on the ground and through the air tonight for a smashing 49-21 victory over Brigham Young university.

It was a battle of offenses with the home club having a decided edge. Arizona State grabbed a 21 to 0 lead at the end of the first quarter and stretched it to 28 to 0 at the half.

Wilford 'Whizzer' White, Hank Rich, and Mark Markichevich led the Devils on the ground, while Capt. Cecil Coleman pitched three scoring aerials to End Cliff Hugoboom. The same combination set up the fourth.

Bill Gosselin, line-backing center, was the top Sun Devil on defence, as BYU couldn't get into Tempe territory until late in the second period. Then they drove to the four where they were stopped by the gun ending the half.

The winners amassed 21 first downs to 13 for the Cougars. Arizona State forces traveled 310 yards on the ground and added 180 by completing 10 of 14 aerial attempts. BYU went 180 yards rushing and 80 through the air.

Nine plays after receiving the opening kickoff, Arizona State scored with Markichevich lugging over for the counter. When Lyle Koller fumbled the kickoff, Tempe recovered. On the first play Coleman passed to Hugoboom for the second touchdown.

Bobby Fuller, the barefoot placekicker for Arizona State, added all seven of the extra points as he booted his 15th consecutive point after touchdown.

Elmo Roundy scored first for BYU from the seven. He and Dave Chadwick paced a 50 yard drive. Merrill Hardy, BYU end, set up their two fourth quarter scores. He recovered a fumble on the Tempe 45 that sent the Cougars on a touchdown march. Later he spilled White on fourth down after a poor pass from center on a punt play.

Chadwick scored first for BYU in the fourth period and Don Benson tallied the final visitors score when he raced 19 yards.

A long drive and a blocked kick gave Tempe two more six pointers before the game ended. The final tally came 20 seconds before the gun. It was the first victory the Arizona State club had ever turned in over BYU.

CORNELL BEATS YALE

NEW HAVEN, Oct. 15. (AP)—Classy Cornell, led by Hillary Chollet and Pete Dorset, gave Yale its worst football pasting since 1940, walloping the Blue, 48-14, today. Yale never gave up, but seldom seriously interferred with the winner's power and precision assaults.

A contest for the fastest tail-waggers featured the dog show at Kirkington, England.

Bauer, Hanson In Open Finals

FORT WORTH, Oct. 15. (INS)—A pair of California misses—Marlene Bauer and Beverly Hanson—will battle tomorrow for the Women's Texas Golf Open championship at Fort Worth's River Crest country club.

Miss Bauer, the 15-year-old darling of the fairways from Long Beach, advanced to the 36-hole finals by downing pretty Betty MacKinnon of Mount Pleasant, Texas, 1-up, in yesterday's semi-finals.

The little Western and National Junior queen previously captured the tourney's medal honors and eliminated defending champ Polly Riley in the second round.

Miss Hanson, who plays out of Indio, moved into the title match with a 4 and 3 triumph over Mary Lena Faulk of Thomasville, Ga.

Hardin College Cops 19-6 Grid Triumph

WICHITA FALLS, Oct. 15. (AP)—Hardin College collected its sixth straight victory tonight, moving past Southwest Texas State college of San Marcos 19-6.

On the first play of the second quarter Hardin Left Halfback Bobby Rogers took a lateral from Quarterback Bobby Flippin and raced around right end to score. Rogers missed his conversion kick.

In the same period Southwest Texas tied the score. J. D. Roland's punt was blocked and recovered by Elmer Dahlberg on the Indian's one yard line. Melvin Self plowed over.

Three plays later, right Halfback Jack Barry of Hardin took a handoff from Flippin and sped 72 yards for Indians second touchdown.

Late in the third stanza, Roland heaved a long pass to Barry on the 10-yard line. Barry fought loose from a tackler on the five and lunged over for the final touchdown. Barry's kick was good, his only successful conversion attempt.

Fiala, Loes Get Transfers To Montreal, St. Paul Nines

FORT WORTH, Oct. 16. (AP)—Transfer of two members of the Fort Worth Cats was announced by business manager Bob Jones of the Texas League club today.

Wally Fiala, a Cat infielder for three seasons has been promoted to the Montreal farm of the parent Brooklyn Dodgers. Pitcher Billy Loes is being assigned to St. Paul in the American Association. A new pitcher, Vincente Lopez, a star Miami right-hander last season, was assigned to the Cats.

Mighty Army Walks Over Harvard, 54-14

CAMBRIDGE, Mass., Oct. 15 (INS)—The merciless Black Knights of Army murdered Harvard 54 to 14 today for the biggest score posted against a Crimson football team in three quarters of a century.

Stanford beat Harvard 44-0 earlier this season, and back in 1885 Yale did the job by 48-0, but it took Earl Blaik's platoon-type offense to strike a new high in horror for followers of the Cantabs today.

The Cadets made no effort to cloak their intentions in moving through their 15th straight game without defeat. They scored three touchdowns in the first period and three more in the second. Second and third - stringers couldn't get across in the third, but there were two more Army TD's in the final quarter.

Gil Stephenson, the fullback star whose ailing legs held him back in three other games this season, footed it like mercury today and scored four Army touchdowns.

Bill Henry registered both of Harvard's six-pointers, going across on a quarterback sneak each time.

Henderson-Ortega Fight Tuesday

32-Round Card Set At Fieldhouse

By CHOC HUTCHESON
Avalanche-Journal Sports Writer

After one minor change Saturday, the stage today is set for Tuesday night's Bill Henderson-Manny Ortega fight card at Chapman fieldhouse.

Ed Sides, a member of the sponsoring VFW's sports committee announced Saturday that another match would be substituted for the scheduled four-round preliminary between Billy Brackeen, Slaton, and Sam Inagio, El Paso.

Otherwise, plans for the 32-round program remained the same as fighters on the card began the tapering off process in their daily workouts.

After 28th Victory

Henderson, the Levelland lightweight who will be gunning for his 28th victory in 30 pro starts, went through a brisk training session late Saturday at City Club gym. He expects to be near top form for the Tuesday night scrap. An ear injury which troubled him recently has shown considerable improvement during the last few days.

Henderson probably will weigh in at 130 pounds, several pounds more than Ortega.

Meanwhile, Ortega continued his training program at Biggs field, near El Paso, where he is stationed with the Army Air force. He is expected to make the trip to Lubbock today, arriving in time for a light workout.

The Henderson-Ortega go promises to be one of the top matches ever staged here. Both are former Golden Gloves standouts, with state championships to their credit in the amateur ranks. Since turning professional, Henderson has lost to only one fighter — Jean Mougin, a Frenchman who defeated the Levellander twice. Ortega, a seasoned veteran of the ring, has lost about six of 120 professional bouts.

Ortega Rated No. 3

The El Pasoan has to his credit a six-round technical knockout of Manuel Ortiz, current world bantamweight champion. He also has beaten such well-known mittmen as Jackie Callura, the Canadian clouter, and Pittsburgh Jackie Wilson.

Ortega, who only a year ago was ranked among the world's top ten featherweights, has slipped slightly in recent months, but still is rated as the No. 3 feather in Texas, behind Jesus Fonseca and Memo Valera.

Henderson at present is listed as the state's No. 5 lightweight, after Eddie Bertolino, Keith Hamilton, Gordon House and Lalo Gallardo.

In an eight-round semifinal which should prove interesting, the Tuesday night card pits Lubbock's Gene James against Dickie Brown, Amarillo. James will be out to protect his unbeaten professional record, which almost was marred by Brown in a close six-round bout here recently. James got the nod in that one, but only after Brown staged a strong closing rally.

A six-rounder sends Leonard Duncan, once-beaten Hale Center middleweight, against the veteran Dick Smith of Oklahoma City. Smith is a former Golden Gloves ace who has enjoyed fair success in the pro ranks. Duncan, a comparative novice in the fight game, has developed steadily since turning pro last summer. He is a rugged awkward plodder who likes to mix it.

Charley Neff, of Petersburg, meets Tony Olivas, clever El Pasoan, in a four-round lightweight bout.

Names of the participants in the other four-rounder on Tuesday night's card have not yet been announced, but one of the fighters probably will be Charley Forbes of Brownfield. The schedule Brackeen-Inagio bout was cancelled Saturday because Brackeen had not made a training appearance here for several days.

Tickets for the Chapman fieldhouse show, which starts at 8:30 p.m., will be on sale Monday and Tuesday at the Hilton hotel, Hub clothiers and City Club gym, all in Lubbock, and at Talley's Barber shop in Levelland. Prices are $3.50 ringside, $2.50 reserved and $1.50 general admission.

Veterans of Foreign Wars Post No. 2466, sponsor of the card, will divide all profits between the Lubbock Goodfellows fund and Girlstown, U. S. A., near Whiteface.

Georgia Tech Racks Up 35-21 Victory Over Auburn Tigers

ATLANTA, Oct. 15. (INS)—Georgia Tech won today, 35-21, but a strong-hearted Auburn Tiger stole the show in the final period as it fought its way to three touchdowns to stop what seemed destined to be a Tech massacre.

Playing before 32,000, Tech scored a lone touchdown in the first, second and fourth quarters but went berserk in the third to chalk up 16 points — two touchdowns and a safety.

Number one stinger for the Yellow Jackets was 165-pound Fullback Bobby North, who lugged the ball 21 times for 168 yards, a six-point score and three extra-point tallies.

Between The Lines By Joe Kelly

For those who like the football in upsets, this past weekend ought to have made the most cynical happy. It also should have made the card operators blythful. We quote two or three comparative scores: Villanova 35, Texas A & M 0. Texas A & M 26, Texas Tech 7. Texas Tech 15, Tulsa 0. Tulsa 21, Villanova 19. That's getting right back to where we started. And it's typical of the football scores that the weekend produced. Who, for example would have thought that Georgia would have beaten LSU 7-0, even though the Tigers had demonstrated that they had a pretty fair team in beating Rice and Texas Aggies. In fact, most persons thought that LSU was on the prowl.

And right down at Abilene we had an example of something happening that was never dreamed of even by the most hopeful fan. We refer, of course, to the 39-6 rout of Odesa by Abilene, a team that was good, but hadn't done anything startling. We're only glad that that didn't happen the week before the Westerners played the Broncs. It might have been the death sentence for the locals. As it is, Odessa has two weeks to get ready for Midland and the skin should be peeled thin on the Bronc players by that time. We can't imagine Coach Joe Coleman smiling much during the following two weeks. It was all the more astounding since Abilene rolled up 33 points on the Broncs in the second half, while holding the supposedly potent Broncs scoreless. It makes you wonder.

All week, for that matter, Lubbock writers had been speaking of the coming battle with Pampa, trying to drum up some enthusiasm for the game. We were as guilty as the rest. After seeing the Westerners in action against Vernon, we couldn't believe that Pampa would be able to check the Westerner attack to the extent that the Harvesters did. And since Pampa did tear holes in the Lubbock line big enough through which to drive trucks, to say nothing of scoring 20 points against the Westerner first team, it's something of a question what Amarillo will do this week. There's no question in our mind that the Westerners didn't play as good ball as they are capable of playing. Their downfield blocking was good, but the work of the line left a lot to be desired.

Of one thing we're certain: the Westerners can't afford to play that kind of game against the Golden Sandies. If they do, Coach Pat Pattison will bring the remains back in a small, silver jar. Everyone has been wondering what the Westerners would do against a team that could play them a good game. Most persons found out Friday night. They saw the Westerners unable, for the most part, to put on a sustained drive of any kind. Instead, they relied on speed to go long distances for their scores. Against even better teams like Amarillo and Odessa, such runs probably will be mythical. And the defense was missing fire against a Pampa team that was rolling. We shudder to think of what it will be like next Friday night if the Westerners don't tighten up. At the same time, we think it was a good thing for Lubbock to have the bubble of invincibility exploded at this time. It may lead to their playing better against Amarillo.

If you want to have some enjoyment this afternoon, you might slip out to Rosenthal field and watch the Hubbers play Denver City. The Gassers were good enough to win the Oil Belt League playoffs and will present a strong team, while the Hubbers will present a lot of familiar faces. Seems funny, with the World Series over, to have baseball with us still. But they'll be playing for keeps today and there ought to be some good baseball displayed. Bob Clodfelter who will hurl for the Hubbers again next year, will be on the mound for the Hubbers of this game. It will be interesting to watch Wiley and Don Moore, Bob Marquis and Frank McAlexander, familiar faces, performing with the Hubbers again. Last week the Hubbers beat Denver City 9-7 and the Gassers will be coming here with revenge.

Techsans Score Lone Touchdown On Pass From Hawkins To Davis

after taking a pitchout from Burk. And to make certain of the victory, the Bruins pounded their way 76 yards on eight plays late in the quarter with Burk hitting End J. D. Ison on the two, the stocky end dragging a tackler across the goal.

It was a brilliant game, with great work by both lines. Baylor held the advantage due to its belated attack in the final quarter, but until that time had been played to a near standstill by the Raider forwards. The superior Bear blocking, especially in the open, gave an edge to the visitors.

The statistics tell the story pretty well, with Baylor pounding out 20 first downs to 14 for Tech, 207 yards rushing to 142 and 181 yards through the air to Tech's 134, 61 of which came on a single pass. Baylor also held a decided edge in the punting, with a 12-yard advantage on its four kicks.

Burk was the deciding point in the game with his sharp passes that ate up yardage with deadly consistency. He attempted 23 and connected on 16 of them for 181 yards. The only pass Tech was able to intercept was thrown by Hayden Fry, while the potent Bear aerial attack found its way to success with the same accuracy it enjoyed against Arkansas last week.

Raider end play also was decidedly lacking, although Dick Cavazos, Dick Pirtle and Davis held up their positions with brilliance. Cavazos threw Burk for one 15-yard loss and was knifing through consistently, while Pirtle, until he was hurt, was another bright spot. Pirtle is in West Texas hospital, where attempts were being made to learn what was wrong with his injured leg.

Hatch Injures Ankle

Hatch also suffered an ankle injury during the game, but returned late in the second half for limited service, while Davis hurt his left arm. Extent of injury had not been determined Saturday night.

The story of the game can be wrapped up in the passing of Burk and the running threat of such backs as Fullback Jerry Mangum, the Parker brothers, Dudley and Buddy, Blackwood and Jimmy Jeffrey. All five proved to be hard runners and better than average in the open. Tech had to split its defenses to guard against Burk's aerials and the line smashes. In the end, the Raiders couldn't do both and the inevitable happened.

Tech also was attacked by fumble-itis yesterday and three of the butter finger acts cost them potential touchdowns. The Raiders drove to the Bear 26 midway through the first period, but Halfback Ike Stuver, who appeared nervous the first half, fumbled and Tackle Rupert Wright recovered.

Raiders Drive To Eight

Again in the second quarter, the Raiders drove to the Baylor eight yard line where Halfback Cal Steveson fumbled and Tackle Morris Weis recovered. Late in the fourth quarter, Fullback J. W. Thompson fumbled on the Bear 20, but Halfback Eural Ramsey recovered on the Bruin 16 for a four-yard gain. On the next play, another fumble lost the Raiders seven yards and the drive was over.

Baylor, one of the favorites in the Southwest Conference race, showed itself as a better than average team with power and speed. That Tech did so well is a credit to the players, who turned in their best performance of the year.

Outstanding Raiders were Ends Cavazos, Davis and Pirtle, Tackles Jerrell Price and Marshall Gettys, Guard Dan Pursel, Center Bobby Williams and Backs Ernest Hawkins, Bobby Close, Ike Stuver, Cal Steveson and Tim Hatch.

Baylor had its share of stars, with Ends Ison and Stanley Williams, Tackles Weis, Wesley Roberts and Wright, Guards Don Mouser and Charles Stone, and Centers Eugene Huebner and Harold Attaway joining the backs already mentioned.

Rote Sparks Owls To Upset Victory

dist had 163 on the ground and 226 in the air.

Lantrip led in ball-carrying with 74 yards on 19 bull-like rushes. Walker got 54 on 17 runs and completed three passes for 43 yards. Fred Benners, Southern Methodist sophomore, produced 91 yards on nine throws when he took over the SMU passing with Walker injured.

SMU started out like it was going to batter Rice to a pulp. The Methodists took the ball on their 25 after recovering a Rice fumble and from there roared to a touchdown with Frank Payne passing to Kyle Rote for the score from the SMU 49-yard line. As soon as SMU had the ball again it put on an 86-yard march that brought another touchdown. The pay-off was a 15-yard pass from Walker to John Milam. Walker kicked both extra points.

Rice got to moving late in the first period. Van Ballard ran the kick-off to the SMU 46 and the passing of Rote carried the Owls to the score. Rote passed to James Williams from the SMU 20 for the touchdown. Williams missed the extra point—the only one he failed to make during the night.

Kasaboski Faces Getz In Semi-Final

Parks, Fenton Meet In Main Arena Event

ALEX KASABOSKI
Russian Lion Challenges Getz

After winning in a decisive manner from Pat O'Dowdy last week, Herb Parks has moved up to the main event in Sled Allen's wrestling program this week, and matched against him is Rod Fenton.

Fenton challenged Parks immediately after the bout, and the contracts were signed before the two left the arena. The match will be somewhat of an oddity, inasmuch as both the grapplers are from Canada.

These two have had some hectic battles in the past and are very jealous as to who is the best wrestler. Parks is recognized as one of the best in the ring for his weight, and Lightning Rod will be in for a busy evening when the gong rings. Parks is an exponent of the pile driver hold, and he will be meeting a master of the drop kick.

Returning to the local arena will be the Russian Lion, Alex Kasaboski, for a contest with Al Getz. Kasaboski wired a challenge to Getz when he heard the big Dutchman was back in the territory, believing that he was the man to stop Getz' victory string. When these two meet in the semi-final of next week's event there is no telling what might happen.

Another wrestler of the old school, Charley Carr, returns to the local mat war for the first time since 1937. Opposing Charley will be Bill Brooks, the sturdy man from Seattle. These two are evenly matched as to weight and experience and should start the proceedings off with the proper action for an action packed card.

Starting time for the matches has been changed to 8 p.m. Tickets may be bought early at the arena from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. Wednesday.

BYRNE HEADS MARSHALL

MARSHALL, Oct. 15. (AP)—The board of directors of the Marshall baseball club elected G. E. Byrne president yesterday. Byrne succeeds Willard Coker, who was not a candidate for re-election. The East Texas League club will have a full working agreement with the St. Louis Browns again next year.

Trinity Defeats Sul Ross, 20-14

SAN ANTONIO, Oct. 15. (AP)—One of the best small college records in the state—18 games without a defeat—came to an end here Saturday afternoon before a thin crowd of about 3,000.

Trinity knocked Sul Ross from the unbeaten ranks with a smashing 20 to 14 triumph. It should have been worse. The Tigers frittered away two more scoring opportunities and had one TD called back.

The Uncle Bill James-coached Tigers sped away to a 7-0 lead in the first quarter when Gerald Levermann passed 32 yards to Ike Meador. Ralph Curtis converted. Sul Ross tied it up in the second when Ted Schown bulled over from the 2. Charles Boyles kicked the equalizer.

Badgers Sink Navy, 48-13

MADISON, Wis., Oct. 15. (INS) An alert, hustling Wisconsin football team ripped and slashed through serried and decimated Navy ranks today to win their intersectional battle before 44,081 at Madison, 48 to 13, going away.

The unpredictable, sophomore-studded Badger team, whipped by California last week, bounced back with enough vigor to give an indication that it will have some say in Big Ten title chase.

The game started out quietly enough with the Badgers drawing first blood on a 49-yard touchdown dash by Bob Teague. The Navy's air arm, in the person of Bob Zastrow, struck back on a pass to Duff Arnold. The Middies missed the conversion—and the boat. For from then on, it was all the rollicking Badgers.

In the second quarter, Navy graciously handed the Badgers four scoring chances and Wisconsin cashed three of them—but quickly. They scored on a 39-yard romp with an intercepted pass by Bob Radcliffe. Then Jerry Schaefer plowed over for another tally after the same Radcliffe plucked another stray Navy pass out of the air.

For variety, Navy fumbled and the alert Badgers pounced on the ball. They blasted 57 yards to score with Teague carrying. There was a lot of action but no scoring in the third period, but in the fourth the Badgers went back to work.

Quarterback Bob Petruska fired a 23-yard pass to Schaefer for one score; Rollie Strehlow, a reserve back, slammed off tackle and raced 35 yards for another; and then Radcliffe intercepted his third pass of the day and galloped 42 yards for a third touchdown.

Navy picked up a consolation score in the final minutes when Elvis Purvis climaxed a 78-yard drive by going over from the two.

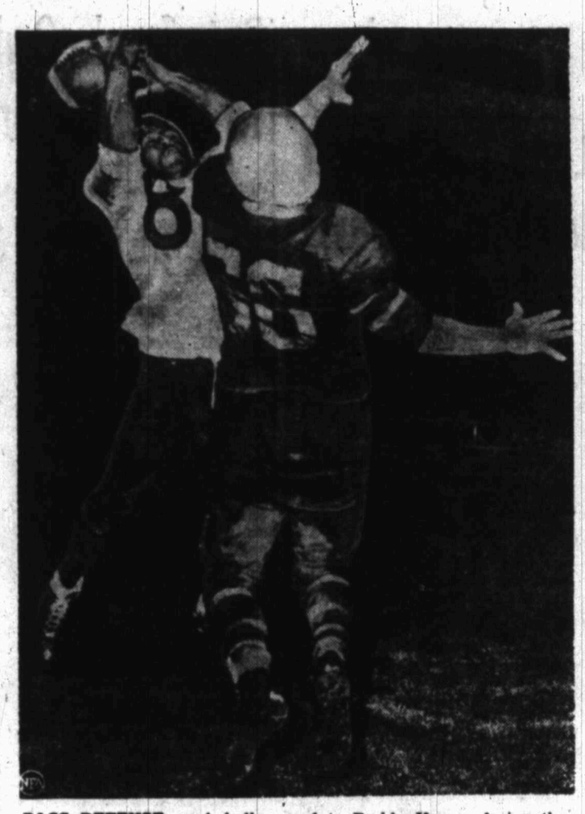

Larson, Cochell Advance To Finals In Dallas Tournament

DALLAS, Oct. 15. (AP)—Two San Franciscans ousted the two Czechoslovakians from the Dallas Country Club invitation tennis tournament today and will meet tomorrow in the finals.

Art Larson downed Jaroslav Drobny, 6-0, 6-2, 6-4. Earl Cochell turned back Vladimir Cernik, 6-1, 4-6, 6-0, 6-1.

Shirley Fry from Akron, Ohio, breezed past Nancy Armor of Dallas 6-1, 6-0, and will meet Margaret Varner of El Paso in tomorrow's final. Miss Varner eliminated Rosemary Buck of Dallas, 6-4, 6-1, today.

Cochell and Larson were pressed hard in beating Chick Harris and Clarence Mabry, from the University of Texas, in a men's doubles semi-final, 6-3, 6-2, 7-5.

PASS DEFENSE — A ball passed to Buddy Young, facing the camera, of the New York Yankees slips through his hands as the Los Angeles Dons' Bob Hoffman makes a swipe at it. The dance occurred during the last quarter of a rain-swept night game won by the home guards 10-7 at Yankee Stadium.

Hardin-Simmons Racks Up 34 To 7 Border Loop Win Over New Mexico

ODESSA, Oct. 15. (AP)— Hardin-Simmons university walloped the University of New Mexico, 34-7 tonight for an easy Border Conference victory.

The Cowboys used three New Mexico fumbles and two pass interceptions to set up five touchdowns.

Hardin-Simmons' first touchdown came in the first quarter after New Mexico flumbled on its own 22-yard line. John Ford climaxed a four play drive by passing seven yards to Bob McChesney for a touchdown.

Califf Swain kicked the first of his four extra points in the game.

The cowboys broke loose for three touchdowns in the second period and New Mexico picked up its lone tally.

A New Mexico fumble on the 40 set up one Hardin-Simmons touchdown and Harold Taylor scored it on a 25 yard run. Another New Mexico fumble, this one on its own 20, set up the next Cowboy score. Ford went 20 yards for it.

Bob Surratt grabbed a pass by Bob Bogle and a pass, Bob Hart to Dunnie Goode, paid off for the Cowboys.

New Mexico's score came on a 76 yard drive and Bob Cooke climaxed it with a three yard plunge. Joe Stell kicked the point.

The Cowboys' last tally came in the fourth period, Raymond Troutman cracking over from the one after Hardin-Simmons had intercepted a pass on New Mexico's 48-yard line.

Boston Braves Purchase Hurler Frank Shone From Albuquerque

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., Oct. 15. (AP)—Frank Shone, who won 38 games for Albuquerque in the West Texas-New Mexico league in 1948 and 1949, was sold today to the Boston Braves.

Cy Fausett, owner of the Albuquerque WT-NM champion team, said Shone will be assigned to the Hartford, Conn., club, Boston farm in the Class A Eastern league.

Fausett said he received cash and two players from Boston. The amount was not made public.

Santa Clara Defeats UCLA

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 15. (INS)—Santa Clara's underdog Broncos exploded for two quick touchdowns in the final quarter today to hand UCLA its first loss of the season, 14 to 0, at Memorial Coliseum.

A stunned crowd of 28,911 watched the lightly-regarded Santa Clarans stop UCLA's offensive cold and bring their own to bear with two lightning touchdown thrusts in the last quarter.

The battle was a non-conference affair and though it cost the Bruins some prestige, it had no bearing on their first-place hold in the Pacific Coast loop.

UCLA missed golden scoring opportunities in the opening period when Santa Clara fumbled three times deep in its own territory. However, the Bruins were unable to press their advantage, once being stopped on the two-yard line.

Once they got rolling, it took the Broncs 13 plays to tally their first score. Quarterback John Pasco hit over from the one with a minute and a half gone in the final period.

The Bruins were stymied on the ensuing kickoff and Santa Clara took over on the Uclans 42. Ten plays later the visitors had another tally as Halfback Bernard Vogel scored from the one.

North Texas Drubs Stephen F. Austin

DENTON, Oct. 15. (AP)—North Texas State's Eagles cashed in on four breaks to ground out a 25-6 win over the fumbling Stephen F. Austin Lumberjacks today.

Quarterback Zeke Martin scored two of the Eagles' tallies. The first came in the opening period after Center Wayne Hightower had recovered a fumble on the SFA two-yard line. He scored the final with less than a minute left after Tackle Harold David recovered a fumble on the SFA 17.

Lanky James Canter scored the lone Lumberjack tally on a 45-yard punt return.

North Texas' second score came in the second quarter when End Fred Ferguson intercepted a pass and raced 60 yards.

With five minutes remaining Hollis Slaughter's attempted pass was batted in the air by an Eagle lineman and Tackle James Brewer caught it on the SFA 26. Ervin Dubose went over standing up from the 1 for the score.

Fred Clotiaux added the extra point after the first touchdown.

U.S. NINE BEATS JAPS

TOKYO, Oct. 15. (AP)—The United States and Japan re-established baseball contact today with the San Francisco Seals taking a 13-4 win over the Tokyo Giants, Nippon's best professional team.

Seven 'Pokes Score Touchdowns

Cowhands Trample Midland 'B', 59-12

The Lubbock Cowhands jumped back into the win column last night at Chapman field, burying Midland's B team under a 59-12 score before an estimated 200 persons.

Midland was never in the ball game, and the Lubbock squad ran up 40 points in the first two quarters before allowing the visitors to score just before the half. The locals scored 20 points in the first period, 20 in the second canto, and 19 in the third stanza, going scoreless the last quarter.

Seven Cowhands scored touchdowns, with Halfback Charles Hodges and Fullback Johnny Tatum getting 12 points. Scoring single tallies were Halfbacks Bill Watson, Bo Sexton and Dwayne Rampy and Ends Glenn Adair and Don Jones. Quarterback Charles Brewer kicked three points after touchdown and End Tommy Yelvington was successful twice.

Hensley Scores For Foe

Midland's first touchdown came on a 15-yard pass from right Halfback Harold Hensley to left End Leo Hatfield to climax a 60-yard drive and end the half. In the third quarter Midland got the ball on the 50-yard stripe following a punt and scored early in the fourth period without losing the ball. After advancing to the 15, Midland was stopped cold, but a fourth-down penalty gave them the ball on Lubbock's one-yard line, from which point Fullback Dan Black plunged over.

Midland's offensive was not very potent, and they threatened only on the two scoring drives. Passing was used, but it was never accurate and two heaves were intercepted. Fumbles also aided the Cowhands, with two making touchdowns possible.

Penalties Nullify Gains

A 40-yard touchdown gallop by Sexton and one of 70 yards by Hanson were nullified by penalties.

End Jones little finger on his left hand was dislocated by the ball that he caught when scoring the first Lubbock touchdown, but he returned to the bench after having it pulled back into place. The pass from Rampy carried 43 yards for the score. Tatum plunged one yard for the second score after Lubbock received the ball on the 10 on a partially blocked punt. Tatum ran 35 yards over left guard for his other touchdown.

Hodges' two scores were both made on pitchouts from Brewer, one carrying 25 yards and the other 18 yards. Watson's second-quarter tally was on a pass lateral play from Buddy Hill to Yelvington to Watson for 25 yards. The Cowhands fifth score was made by Adair when he scooped up a dropped Midland lateral and ran 30 yards to paydirt.

California Drops USC Eleven, 16-10

MEMORIAL STADIUM, Berkeley, Calif., Oct. 15. (INS)— A 102-yard run by California's left Halfback Frank Brunk late in the fourth period gave the Golden Bears an upset 16-10 victory over the Southern California Trojans this afternoon before 81,400 wildly cheering fans.

Brunk's spectacular runback of a kickoff came just after the Trojans had taken a 10-7 lead on a field goal.

Bears Add Two More

In the closing twenty seconds of play, the Bears added two more points as the Trojan quarterback, trying a desperation pass, was trapped for a safety behind his own goal line.

Up to the time of Brunk's run the Trojans apparently had the game in the bag with their fourth quarter touchdown and field goal.

Robertson Sparks March

The Trojan march to that point was engineered by Quarterback Wilbur Robertson.

Quarterback Johnny Gifford kicked the field goal for the Trojans from the twelve yard line.

Missouri Cops 27-20 Game From Illinois

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Oct. 15. (AP) —Missouri slammed 65 yards to a winning touchdown in the final quarter today, repulsing an Illinois rally inspired by Dick Raklovits' 75-yard scoring dash and snatching a 27-20 intersectional football victory.

Missouri's split-T formation exploded for two markers the first eight minutes of the opening quarter and another in the second as the Tigers rolled into a 20-6 halftime margin.

Then Bernie Krueger's wobbly 22-yard pass was snagged by Johnny Karras for a touchdown to push Illinois' drive to a tie in the third period. The Illini made it 20-20 when Rakovits took Phil Klein's punt and sprinted 75 yards to score. Lou Levanti converted twice.

Missouri's 65-yard push at the start of the finale was set up on Dick Braznell's 30-yard toss to Gene Ackermann. Winfard Carter eventually shot across from the three and John Glorioso added the point for the 27-20 tab.

Stanford Rolls Over Washington, 40 To 0

SEATTLE, Oct. 15. (INS)— The Stanford Indians scalped the University of Washington in a 40 to 0 win before some 30,000 fans in Seattle today.

The defeat brought the Huskies their second straight Pacific Coast Conference loss and their fourth since the season's start.

Stanford has lost only to UCLA and to Michigan.

Stanford assumed command of the contest midway in the first quarter and held it throughout the game.

Washington made 20 first downs to Stanford's 17, but lacked the touchdown punch.

The Indians started to roll when they scored a touchdown in the first quarter, adding two more in the second and three in the final quarter. The Indians failed to score in the third quarter.

The Huskies crossed the Indians' goal line in the opening minutes of the second half but the play was nullified and Washington penalized five yards for offside.

Conyers Is Bought By Cleveland Nine

CLEVELAND, Oct. 15. (U.P.)—The Cleveland Indians today took their first re-organizational step for 1950 by purchasing heavy-hitting Herb Conyers from Oklahoma City in a straight cash deal.

Conyers, 28-year-old native of Polo, Mo., is a perennial minor league batting champ, having out-hit all others in his league the past five years. He is a six-foot five-inch first-baseman who hits left-handed and throws right.

This season Conyers led the Texas League with a .355 batting average and got 214 hits and 52 two-baggers. In 1942, he led the Northern League at Wausau with .362 and following three years service. He came back to lead the Interstate league with .357 at Harrisburg. In 1947 he batted .357 at Harrisburg and the following year at Dayton of the Central League he was tops with .354.

The Indians announced Conyers would report to their spring-training camp at Tucson, Ariz. His purchase price was not disclosed.

Rice Basketball Squad Set To Begin Practice Monday

HOUSTON, Oct. 15. (AP)— Five lettermen will report Monday to Coach Don Suman as basketball practice begins at Rice Institute.

Returning lettermen are Capt. Warren Switzer, Joe McDermott, Charlie Tighe, and Jim Gerhardt and Tommy Hudgens, who lettered in 1947.

Squadmen Rex Proctor, Jack Wolcott and Sonny McCurry probably will report.

GEHRMAN SETS RECORD

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Oct. 15. (INS) —The University of Wisconsin track team defeated Notre Dame 18-42 today with Don Gehrmann blazing a new Irish four-mile cross country record of 19:59. The old mark was set last year by Jim Murphy of the Irish in the central collegiate meet.

Northwestern's Wildcats Upset Once Mighty Michigan, 21-20

Wolverine Victory String Is Broken

EVANSTON, Ill., Oct. 15 (AP) — Twice-defeated Northwestern registered the most stunning upset of the Western Conference gridiron season by defeating once mighty Michigan, 21-20.

Michigan, 1947-48 Conference champion, had blazed through 15 successive "Big Ten" games without defeat, losing its last to Illinois, 13-9, in 1946.

The proud Wolverines, 1948 mythical national champions, had rung up a string of 25 consecutive victories until Army upset them 21-7 a week ago.

Ttoday's victory was Northwestern's first over the Wolverines since scoring a 7-0 decision over them in 1937. Two games had been tied in ten games since then.

A crowd of 55,000 saw the Wildcat passing attack overshadow the heavily-favored Wolverines. Northwestern, first beaten this season by Pittsburgh in an upset and then bowled over by Minnesota, completed five passes in eight attempts for 124 yards—an average 24.1 yards per completion.

Michigan's air attack was good for eight completions in 21 attempts for only 66 yards. The Wolverines, however, excelled in ground power, gaining 215 yards against 159 for the Wildcats. Michigan's land thrusts were good for 15 first downs against only six for Northwestern.

Harry Allis' unsuccessful attempt for point after touchdown towards the end of the third quarter spelled defeat for the Maize and Blue. The kick sailed an inch wide of the goal post.

With Northwestern leading 14-13 at the start of the fourth, Wildcat Halfback Tom Worthington made the upset victory certain, on a 56-yard touchdown gallop.

He took a punt from Michigan's Walt Teninga on his own 44, faked a handoff to All-American Fullback Art Murakowski and then skirted down the sideline for the score.

Michigan started the touchdown parade midway through the second period. Fullback Don Dufek crashed over center from the one. Allis converted.

The Wildcats tied the score when quarterback Don Burson pitched a 31-yard pass to Halfback Ed Tunnicliff who raced 35 to score. Eddie Nemeth added the point.

Burson passed to End Don Stonesifer in the flat zone and the Denver product traveled seven yards for the second Northwestern touchdown.

Nemeth then added the all-important extra point to give last year's Rose Bowl champions a 14-7 lead.

At the end of the third period big Dick Kempthorn dove over left guard from the five-yard line and the touchdown to end a 51-yard march. Allis then missed the game-tying point.

The Wolverines moved from their own 29 to the Northwestern two in ten plays and Dufek finally went through center to score. Allis kicked the extra point. The game ended two minutes later.

Tennessee, Alabama Battle To 7-7 Tie

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 15.(AP) —Each team converted a first half break into a touchdown here today as Tennessee and Alabama fought to a 7-7 tie before 41,000 drenched fans.

Tennessee had the only other real touchdown opportunity. Bud Sherrod blocked a 'Bama punt, and it was Tennessee's ball on the Alabama 11 in the fourth period.

Four plays got only six yards, however and that was all.

Tennessee counted first, blasting away at the Alabama line for 28 yards in 10 plays. Fullback Bernie Sizemore plunged for most of the distance, including the final yard. Bert Rechichar added the important extra point.

The opportunity for this march was set up by a pass interception by Halfback J. W. Sherrill.

Alabama's score followed Center Pat O'Sullivan's recovery of a fumble by Sizemore on the Tennessee 18.

90,000 Colorado Big Game Hunters Swarm Into Hills

DENVER, Oct. 15. (INS)—An estimated 90,000 hunters swarmed into the hills today for the start of Colorado's 1949 big game season.

Predictions of a record season brought an allied forecast of a record number of fatalities.

Last year 11 hunters were killed and 17 wounded by accidental shootings. Five others died of heart attacks, and one was killed under a falling horse. Another five persons died in traffic accidents the first weekend.

Ray Ainsley's 19 on the 16th hole in the second round of the 1938 U. S. Open is the highest score ever recorded for one hole in that tourney.

FOUR HOOSIER MISTAKES HURT

Iowa's Hawkeyes Roll Up 35-9 Big Ten Triumph Over Indiana

IOWA CITY, Ia., Oct. 15. (INS)— When Iowa's Hawkeyes finally sat down to play today at their homecoming square dance, they turned out to be the life of the party with a 35-9 scalping of Indiana.

It was Iowa's widest margin of victory over a Big Ten Conference opponent since the Hawks licked Northwestern, 37-3, in 1922. Iowa, incidentally, plays Northwestern next Saturday.

For Indiana, it ended up as the Hoosiers' eleventh straight loss.

The Hawks, in winning their second league game of the season, slowly came to life with a touchdown in the third quarter after trailing 9-7 at the half and then shattered the battered Hoosiers for three more markers in the final period.

Hoosiers Make Mistakes

Iowa capitalized on four Indiana mistakes in the second half to get up all its scoring. An Indiana fumble near the tag end of the third quarter eventually resulted in a 43-yard touchdown pass by reserve Quarterback Fred Ruck to End Jack Dittmer.

The Hawks latched on to another Indiana bobble on the Hoosier 20 just before the third act ended, and Fullback Don Riley bulled through for three yards and the touchdown four plays later.

After one of Nick Sebek's long aerials took Indiana to Iowa's 38, he flipped one that was intercepted and laid the foundation for the second fourth period tally. Jerry Raske plunged a foot to score to cap the drive after a flock of penalties delayed the surge for awhile.

Another Sebek pass went astray, with Duane Brandt returning it 34 yards. On the next play, Boo Wilson, whose name never made the Iowa game roster, spun his way around end for the touchdown.

Bill Reichardt successfully kicked all of Iowa's conversion attempts to run his private string to 10.

Sebek's Pass Good

Indiana's touchdown came midway in the opening period when Sebek drilled a 21-yard pass to lofty Clifton Anderson. Iowa then inserted its first touchdown when Bill Reichardt took a pitchout for 15 yards three seconds before the period ended.

After a Hoosier drive bogged down on Iowa's seven in the second quarter, Don Henkle came upon the scene to boot a field goal and provide Indiana with a short-lived hope for better things in the future.

A homecoming crowd of 44,061 watched the Hoosiers battle Iowa on practically even terms statistic-wise and exhibit a couple of first half threats, one of which got as far as Iowa's two before sagging.

Indiana out-downed Iowa, 15-12, and gained only 11 less yards on the ground and in the air than did the Hawks. But four Hoosier passes were intercepted and they fumbled twice at crucial times.

Iowa State Defeats Kansas State, 25-21

AMES, Ia., Oct. 15 (INS) — Although the Iowa State Cyclones scored twice in the first eight minutes against Kansas State in a homecoming game at Ames this afternoon, they had to fight to win, 25-21.

The Cyclones scored the first time they touched the ball when Mark Rothaker intercepted Don Stahley's pass on the Kansas State 24 and dashed to pay dirt. Joe Brubaker missed the conversion.

Recovering a fumble on the Kansas 35, the Cyclones marched with Lornie Paulson scoring the second marker with only eight minutes of the game gone. Don Ferguson made the extra point.

The Wildcats came back with a minute left in the first quarter to send Gerald Hackney across the goal line after a drive from their own 44. Lloyd Estes made the first of three conversions.

The second Kansas score came in second quarter when Hackney again lugged the ball over from the two yard line after a 60 yard drive to end the half with Iowa trailing, 14-13.

However, the Cyclones soon pushed back into the lead as the second half got underway when Bill Weeks passed to Jim Doran who received the ball on the Kansas State 36 and raced over. Ferguson's placekick was blocked.

The next Cyclone score also came on a pass from Weeks to Doran with Ferguson missing the point-after-touchdown kick.

In the fourth frame, with seven minutes gone, Kansas started a drive from its own 20 with Hi Faubion going over from the one-yard mark and Estes adding the point.

Iowa made another threat as the gun ended the game.

Taking the Kansas State kickoff on its own 31, the Cyclones were penalized to their 18 for illegal use of hands. The march was later aided by two penalties against the Wildcats for stalling and offside, but the gun halted the drive on the Kansas 40.

Duke Beats North Carolina State

DURHAM, N. C., Oct. 15 (INS) — Duke eked out a 14-13 victory today over a North Carolina State wolfpack that refused to lie down and die.

The recharged Blue Devils were a heavy favorite but it was only Charlie Westbrook's failure to convert a last-second point after touchdown that gave Duke the victory nod.

Duke scored early in the game on a 45-yard pass from Billy Cox to Jack Friedlund to the 10. From there Jack Mouncie slammed over.

In the second quarter, State tied it up. A 65-yard drive ended when Ogden Smith passed from the four to Steve Kosilla for the tally.

Just before the half ended, Duke staged a power drive for 70 yards to the 10. And from there Cox circled right end to cross the goal.

Duke coasted into the final 40 seconds of the game apparently safe with a 14-7 lead and the ball on the state three-yard line.

At that point Mounie shot a pass to Bill Thompson and Thompson raced 90 yards just short of the Duke goal-line.

On the first play Ogden Smith threw the ball into the end zone and Tony Romanosky made the catch, though smothered by Duke men.

Westbrook, who had made an earlier extra point, kicked wide, and there went the ball game.

Buckeyes Bow To Visitors, 27 To 0

Minnesota's Gophers Trounce Ohio State

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 15 (INS)— Minnesota's Golden Gophers moved one step closer today to a Rose Bowl bid by crushing previously unbeaten Ohio State, 27-0, in their Big Ten battle at Ohio Stadium.

A crowd of 82,111 fans, the third largest in the stadium's history, had barely settled in their seats before the Minnesotans started rolling toward their fourth straight victory and second Western Conference triumph in the past two weeks.

The gigantic Gophers powered their way to a total of 339 yards while holding the Bucks' vaunted offensive to just 231 yards. Ohio got only 48 yards by rushing, the Bucks' smallest total of the year.

His substitute, 173-pound Dick Gregory, powered five yards for Minnesota's second-period tally to give the Gophers a two-touchdown halftime advantage.

The two teams battled on fairly even terms through the third period before Bye hit Quarterback Jim Malosky with a pass from 20 yards out for a touchdown early in the final frame.

North Carolina Defeats Deacons

CHAPEL HILL, N. C. Oct. 15 (INS) — The North Carolina grid machine, its sparkplugs firmly in place for the first time this season, today raced over Wake Forest, 28-14 at Chapel Hill.

The Deacons of Wake Forest, fighting hard for an upset, scored first in the opening period, but after that they were hardly in the ball game.

Carolina's Charlie Justice scored three touchdowns, but he had to share acclaim with Fullback Billy Hayes, End Art Weiner and Skee Hesmer.

Justice scored in the second, third and fourth periods.

Dick Bunting intercepted a pass on the Wake Forest 30 and raced to a touchdown in the second period for Carolina's other score.

Wake Forest climaxed a long drive when Carroll Blackerby went over from the two in the first period.

Thousands Disappear In Purge

By NATE POLOWETZKY
Associated Press Staff Writer

PRAGUE, Oct. 15 — By the thousands, Czechoslovakia's "little people" are disappearing as the Communist government's purges reach through the middle classes.

One of those thousands was a laughing blonde, 20 years old, and on a date with her boy friend.

But she was born in Belgrade, the capital of that now-outlawed member of the Communist family, Yugoslavia. Born there 20 years ago.

Police Sealed Room

The police grabbed her, in the middle of her date. They took her keys. They searched her room. They found American magazines. They sealed the room with police stickers. And they moved on to purge others.

The girl's parents live in western Czechoslovakia. Her father is a Czech. He says his family left Yugoslavia to escape Premier Marshal Tito's "terror."

Now he and his wife are in Prague. Their daughter's landlady summoned them. When they arrived, they started asking the police where their daughter was.

Parents Seek Information

Day after day they came to Prague's central police headquarters. Tears in their eyes, they asked for information.

For one week—no word. Then they were told to bring food packages. If these were accepted, they could assume their daughter was being held.

A minor police official took the elderly couple aside.

"These are terrible times we live in," he sadly told them. "I am sorry, but we can't say anything."

They were not the only tear-stained couples in the line at Prague's Bartolomejska prison. The queue of anxious relatives was long. Thousands are missing since the purge started. Everyone in the line got the same word. If your packages are accepted, take it for granted your relatives are being held.

Police Keep Silent

The police didn't say what happened if the packages went begging.

"I experienced these conditions under Tito," said the father of the blonde girl, "But I did not think I would relive them here.

"They seized my daughter and they won't tell me where they have her. She may be in prison. She may be in a work camp. But I will find her.

"Five policemen came to arrest her at night. Five policemen! Five policemen are enough to arrest a gangster. My daughter was never a gangster. And yet they will not tell me where she is.

There was silence, then the old man spoke again:

"But I say this — we lived through the Tito terror. I say this —a human being can withstand more punishment than an animal. My daughter will survive."

Argument About Ostriches Is Still Raging After Experiment

JOHANNESBURG, Oct. 15 (AP)—Do ostriches really bury their heads in the sand at the sign of danger? To settle the age-old question, two Cape Province airmen flew low over two semi-wild ostriches standing on a sand dune.

The lady ostrich buried her head, the male looked up defiantly.

Leading ostrich farmers, however, say this was deceptive. They say the female will always bend down at sign of danger—for camouflage—the long neck and head are hidden and the grey feathers merge with the sand. So the argument is still unsettled.

Florida Plants 26,500,000 Pine Seedlings For Record

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15 (AP)—Florida claims an all-time state record of tree-planting, with 26,500,000 pine seedlings this year. These pines were planted as part of the state's reforestration program. The previous high in Florida was 11,000,000 trees planted in 1948.

The Champion Paper and Fiber Co. this year planted 6,000,000 pine trees in Georgia and North and South Carolina. Twenty-four states are taking part in tree farming, a plan sponsored by the American Forest Products Industries, to plant more trees.

Protests against Eire's proposal to slap a 33 1/3 per cent tax on admission fees to dances came not only from Irish ballroom owners in Dublin but also from taxicab drivers, who said dance hall patrons were a large proportion of their fares.

Student Dies In Fall From Texas U. Tower

AUSTIN, Oct. 15. (AP)— Nineteen-year-old Edward Graydon Grounds of Dallas, sophomore University of Texas student, fell to his death from the observation level of the administration building's 27-story tower today.

Justice of the Peace Travis Blakeslee said he probably would not return an inquest verdict until Monday.

"No one saw him fall, and no note was found," Blakeslee reported.

The fall, second since the 307-foot tower's completion in 1936, occurred about 11 a.m. The body landed on a fourth-story ledge outside the Latin-American collection library.

The other fall was recorded June 11, 1945, when English Professor Alton Parker Thomason jumped from the twenty-fourth floor and fell in an inside courtyard.

Grounds is the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. G. Grounds of Dallas.

Records in the university registrar's office showed Grounds was an arts and science student. He worked on the sports staff of the Daily Texan, student newspaper, last year. He reportedly had planned to major in journalism but switched to psychology.

Tightening Of Immigration Controls Is Urged By Solon

ROME, Oct. 15. (AP)—Sen. Pat McCarran (D-Nev) said today the United States is virtually wide open to thousands of dangerous aliens and urged a speedy tightening of immigration controls.

"Present immigration methods permit the entry of many thousands who are prejudical to our way of life," the senator said in an interview. He is chairman of the Senate judiciary committee.

The senator is touring Europe to survey administration of the DP act and investigate western European recovery under the Marshall plan. He has toured France, western Germany and Switzerland and after five days here will visit Spain.

"Flying Saucer" Identified As Top Cut From Hot Air Furnace

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa., Oct. 15 (AP)—An Army officer said today a doughnut-shaped disc found near here that revived "flying saucer" reports was the top of a hot air furnace.

"It was somebody's joke," said Maj. George Stephens of the nearby Susquehanna Army sub-depot after examining the device.

"It is the top of a hot air furnace which somebody cut off with an acteylene torch," Major Stephens told a reporter. He made it plain that he was voicing a personal opinion.

Witnesses said the disc fell flaming from the sky last Aug. 5 and burned a 1-foot swath in the grass.

Ignoring a threat by the Lord's Day Observance Society to prosecute them if an admission charge was made, the Sheffield, England, Parks Committee went ahead and held its flower show on Sunday and charged 20 cents admission.

UNDERGROUND MOVEMENT FEARED

Senator Demands Legal Okay On Bill To Force Red Registration

By FREDERIC TUTTLE
INS Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15. — A top Senate judiciary committeeman demanded today that Attorney General McGrath endorse a bill forcing registration of U. S. Communists as the "best insurance against an atomic Pearl Harbor."

The demand was voiced by Sen. Ferguson (R-Mich), who several years ago served as ranking GOP member of the joint congressional Pearl Harbor investigating committee.

Red Registration Wanted

Ferguson is author of a bill which would compel all Communist party members in the U. S. to register as foreign agents and erect other safeguards to prevent the Reds in America from going "underground."

His demands on McGrath was prompted by belief that the guilty verdict returned in New York Friday against 11 Communist leaders may drive the party into new secret strategy by which to attempt to sabotage American safety.

At the same time, Rep. Velde (R-Ill), a member of the House un-American Activities committee, urged the Justice department to press for an early supreme court decision on the New York Communist convictions in order to pave the way for prosecution of state and local Red officials.

Anti-Red Push Urged

Velde warned that the government's campaign against the Communist party must be pushed to counter plans to make the party "an underground movement."

Ferguson introduced his anti-Communist bill last month and the judiciary committee sent it to the attorney general for an opinion on its legality.

The senator said that to date McGrath has made no ruling, stymying action on the measure. Ferguson declared:

"With the conviction of the 11 Communist leaders, it becomes increasingly likely the whole party may be driven underground, creating a new menace to the safety of the U. S.

"It is high time that the attorney general gave the green light to the bill in the interests of the nation's welfare."

Secrecy Ordered In Release Of Ilse Koch To Germans

MUNICH, Germany, Oct. 15. (AP) The U.S. Army issued orders today for secrecy in the release to German authorities Monday of Ilse Koch, infamous mistress of the Buchenwald concentration camp.

Winding up a four-year sentence for war crimes against allied nationals, she will be turned over to the Germans for trial on charges of abusing and killing German nationals.

Mrs. Koch is held at the U.S. Army's Landsberg prison west of Munich, where the transfer is to occur.

Brig. Gen. Clayton Pierce, commander of Augsburg military post, which has jurisdiction over the transfer, directed that reporters and photographers be prohibited.

An administrative assistant to Pierce, said the general did not want to risk any demonstration.

The 42-year-old widow of the former commander of Buchenwald faces five major charges in a German court, including the deliberate slaying of 24 German Jewish prisoners in 1941.

Texas Supreme Court Retains Curb On Temporary Injunctions

AUSTIN, Oct. 15. (AP) — The Supreme court of Texas has retained the rule requiring civil court hearing on temporary restraining orders within 10 days of issuance.

Labor lawyers and state attorneys had opposed a proposal to drop the time limit.

Amendments to civil court rules of procedure were filed yesterday with the secretary of state in accordance with Texas law which authorizes the Supreme court to make changes every two years.

At the suggestion of lower court judges some two years ago, the Supreme court had considered doing away with the 10-day rule. Civil judges said the 10-day limit often worked hardships on them.

To void the 10-day rule would nullify the effectiveness of strikes, said labor representatives.

A temporary restraining order way now be issued without a hearing, but its effectiveness is limit- may now be issued without a hearing must be held before a temporary injunction can be issued.

Atlanta Man Shot To Death At Street-Corner Religion Meeting

ATLANTA, Oct. 15. (AP)—Rufus A. Penn, 79, was shot to death this afternoon on a downtown corner as he bowed his head in prayer at a street-side religious service.

Jess Warren, 73, of near Atlanta, was charged with murder in the shooting and is being held in the Cass county jail in Linden without bond, District Attorney Maxwell Welch said.

Both men were long-time residents of Atlanta. Until a week ago they were considered to be good friends, John N. Thompson, an Atlanta peace officer, said. It was believed the two quarreled over an alleged insult.

Witnesses to the shooting said that Warren had been standing across the street observing the Assembly of God services. As Penn bowed his head at the end of the service, Warren crossed the street.

Thompson said Warren was seen to pull a pistol from a paper sack in his hand. Penn was struck in the chest with a single .38 caliber bullet. He died instantly.

STRIKES FAIL TO SHAKE MARKET

NEW YORK, Oct. 15. (AP)—A demonstration of strength in the stock market this week in the face of adverse news bolstered Wall Street's idea that the nation's business is on a sound footing.

Strikes in two huge industries—and more strikes on the way—failed to unsettle the stock market, which ended the week higher.

Right now on average it is near the highest point of the entire year after a four-month climb from the 1949 low of mid-June.

The question in today's market was whether that selling would continue. It didn't on any major scale.

The Associated Press average was unchanged at 67.2. The high for the year is 67.5.

Industrials and rails lost only .1 of a point each. Utilities were up .1 of a point.

Of 748 issues traded, 216 advanced and 274 declined. There were 29 new highs.

A feature was the sharp run-up of radio-television shares which advanced fractions to more than a point, several uncovering new highs on the move.

Rails were mixed but mostly lower. Steels and motors were unchanged to lower. Oils also were mixed narrowly except for Houston Oil which spurted 2 points to 43, a new high.

The first four issues in the list of most active stocks were Emerson Radio and Phonograph up ⅞ at 17½, Radio up ½ at 12⅝, Magnovox up 1⅜ at 10½, and Philco up ⅛ at 31¾. Other gainers included Chrysler, American Can and Gulf Oil.

A little lower were Southern Pacific, U.

CHICAGO REPORT

CHICAGO, Oct. 15. (AP)—While corn remained under selling pressure on the board of trade today, wheat developed strength in late dealings. A good part of early losses were erased in corn as the market came to life following news Senate-House conferees had agreed on new farm legislation.

July what jumped more than a cent in late dealings. The joint Senate-House group agreed on 90 per cent of parity support levels for basic crops when acreage allotments or marketing quotas are in effect. This would apply to next year's wheat crop, represented by the July future.

Easiness in corn followed fairly liberal receipts of 219 cars of cash grain. Prices in the cash market, however, were steady at yesterday's closing low.

Wheat closed ¼-2⅛ higher, December $2.13-$2.13⅛, corn was ⅜ lower to ⅛ higher, December $1.15⅝-¾, oats were unchanged to ⅛ higher, December 68⅛, rye was 1 to 1⅛ higher, December $1.48⅝, soybeans were ¼-⅝ higher, November $2.29¾-2.30, and lard was 2 to 15 cents a hundred pounds higher, October $11.70.

Highway Deaths Take Heavy Toll Of Unsuspecting Wreck Victims

By MILTON KAPLAN
INS Staff Correspondent

It was a typical Sunday in October—the air was crisp, fall was turning the leaves into wondrous shades of brown and red and the highways and streets were filled with cars.

In quiet Cuyahoga Falls, O., four-year-old Nancy Freudeman was playing happily and noisily with some friends, playing so hard a shoe lace became untied.

She darted across the street to where her shirt-sleeved father was mowing the lawn. He bent down, tied the shoe and she headed back to her playmates.

Truck Kills Girl

Nancy was struck and killed by a huge trailer truck.

It was just a small news item, because traffic accidents generally are common as news fare, and unless the reader or radio listener is personally involved traffic fatalities are just statistics.

Statistics prepared by the National Safety council for the second Sunday of October over the years look like this: 1941, 195 killed; 1942, 96; 1943, 104; 1944, 88; 1945, 129; 1946, 139, etc. Just statistics.

But there were big, eye and heart-filling stories behind each of the statistics—the quirk that marked a person for death. What made the difference between life and death for a human being?

One Day Cited

Here's what happened on the second Sunday of October, 1949, all across the United States.

Peter Wodianski, 32, of Chicago, was driving along near suburban Arlington Heights when the needle on the water temperature gauge in his car passed the boiling point. He pulled over to the side of the road, got out and walked around to the front.

Wodianski gingerly unscrewed the radiator cap, steam shot suddenly and explosively out of the radiator and he jumped back to avoid being burned—into the path of a car driven by Paul Hassell, 50, a Chicago attorney. He was killed.

Full Life Lived

Conrad Peter Andresen had lived a full life. Born in Denmark, America and particularly stories of farming in the Far West lured him to California in 1906.

Andresen prospered and his fields supported himself, his wife, six sons and two daughters. At 71, he had retired, but the fruits and the grains of the land still held a strong attraction for him. Sunday was the last day of the Fresno district fair.

Returning home, a white patch of cement suddenly loomed before him in the darkness. A bridge abutment.

Police records show the time of the crash as 6:35 p. m.

Daughter Drives Car

At 6:35 p. m., a few miles away, Mrs. Lillian Alexander was only a short distance from her home after a visit with her son, Ralph, at Berkeley, Calif. Her daughter Florence was driving the car.

The car pulled out of a slow-moving line of traffic. Coming the other way, a pickup truck moved out of the line of traffic. Mrs. Alexander was killed in the head-on crash.

Robert Harrison, 20, and J. H. Bartlett, 19, were en route late Sunday from a week-end "shore-leave" in New Haven, Conn., to a submarine base at Groton.

A late model coupe came along carrying Joseph Grandoni and Albert P. Saunders, both of New London, near Groton, en route home from a lodge meeting in New Haven. They stopped, picked up the sailors.

A few miles farther, all four were killed in a head-on crash with a truck.

War Vet Still Nimble

Henry Arnold, a Spanish-American war veteran of Fort Foote, Md., was still nimble despite his age—67.

He was making the rounds of stores and bakeries Sunday, collecting boxes and cans for disposal, when a car loomed up on the highway and headed in his direction.

Arnold skipped quickly — to what he thought was safety—between two of three parked cars.

The oncoming car went out of control. It struck the first of the three parked vehicles with such force that all three were accordioned.

Arnold died in a hospital three hours later. He is survived by a wife and six children.

Nurse Becomes Involved

Mrs. Evelyn Brightwell, 38-year-old nurse, had seen more than her share of traffic victims but never thought she'd be one.

The same was true of Mary Osborne, 26. They had worked together at a Washington hospital.

But they liked to go for long rides in the country, and they were riding several miles from Washington Sunday night. Mrs. Brightwell was driving. Suddenly a turn came out of nowhere.

The car swerved, skipped, turned over several times and came to rest 75 feet from the highway.

Miss Osborne was dead when a doctor arrived on the scene. Mrs. Brightwell lies in a county hospital, bruised and still dazed.

Stories Include 'If'

Through every accident story runs the plaintively hopeless strain of a big if—if the driver had done this or if he hadn't done that. You can do almost anything with the big if except bring people back to life.

If Mrs. Minnie Watts had not been expecting another child, the traffic statistics for this second Sunday in October might be six less.

Mrs. Watts lived with her husband Morris, 23, and their ten-months-old daughter, Carrie, in Londa Vista trailer court near Roseville, Calif.

Watts, a truck driver, ordinarily didn't work on Sundays, but what with the expected arrival and the need for some extra money he took an extra day's work.

Flames Envelope Car

Watts was on his way, near Sacremento, when his truck collided with a car. The car's gas tank was ignited, flames enveloped the car and then both car and truck plunged 25 feet down into a gully.

Dead are Charles W. Brown, jr., 30, his wife, Sybil, 27, their two children, Sharon, 10, and Ronald, 2, and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Kline, all passengers in the car.

Watts and his 12-year-old brother, Roy, riding with him at the time are reported in critical condition.

Neighbors reported the Browns took auto rides nearly every Sunday.

But they rarely went as far as they did Sunday, nearly 90 miles, almost to Sacramento, and death.

Burglary Defendant Excused From Jury

CHICAGO, Oct. 15. (INS)—Howard K. Hansen stood up and asked to be excused for jury today in Chicago.

The defense attorney explained why:

"Much as any attorney enjoys having friends in the jury box, I feel it is my duty to inform the court that Mr. Hansen is the defendant in this burglary trial."

The judge excused Hansen.

70,000-Acre New Mexico Ranch Purchased By San Angelo Men

SAN ANGELO, Oct. 15 (AP) — Three young San Angelo men have bought a 70,000-acre ranch 45 miles northwest of Magdalena, N. M., for about $300,000.

They are Mort and Joe Mertz, World War Two veterans, and Jimmy Woods. The Mertz brothers are grandsons of the late M. L. Mertz and the late Abe Mayer, who were associated in the San Angelo National bank and West Texas ranchers. Woods is a son-in-law of the late R. A. Hall, who was vice president of the bank.

The ranch includes 45,000 acres of deeded land and about 25,000 acres of New Mexico state and Taylor grazing lands. The three Texans bought the land from B. C. Ringer, Albuquerque, and Carl Kothmann of Mason, Texas. They plan to stock the ranch with cattle next year and add sheep later.

Damage Is Heavy In Bus Garage Blaze

HOUSTON, Oct. 15 (UP)—A 20-minute flash fire consumed a Continental Trailways Co. garage here early today, destroying a $33,000 bus and inflicting total damage estimated at $100,000.

The fire started at 1 a. m., when an employe, H. L. Steinecke, was filling the bus with gasoline. Flames jumped the entire length of the brick building, destroying offices, a tool room and dressing rooms, all located on the same floor.

Steinecke could not give any reason for the blaze.

"Suddenly, a sheet of flame almost surrounded me. There wasn't an explosion, and no noise," he said. Steinecke received only minor burns around the face.

C. W. Carlisle, acting general shop foreman, believed damage would be $100,000. He did not know if the loss was covered by insurance.

Survivors Of Accident Victim Receive $16,750 In Damages

LAMESA, Oct. 15 (Special) — The three children of Mrs. Willie Edith Galloway, who was fatally injured in a car-truck collision 17 miles northwest of Lamesa near Welch last May 31, have been awarded $16,750 in a damage suit settled in 106th district court here.

Pace Packing company, Sweetwater, the defendant, paid the amount in the case which was settled via an agreed judgment, Lamesa attorney Bob Huff reported.

Huff, who represented Willard, Golda Ruth and Bessie Jean Galloway, said it was "the biggest judgment ever paid off here."

Texas Tech Exes Travel Far For Traditional Homecoming Events

LUBBOCK AVALANCHE-JOURNAL
Women's News

Lubbock, Texas, Sunday, October 16, 1949

TECH EXES RETURN—Among the hundreds of ex-Tech students who have flocked to the city for annual Homecoming activities are the group pictured in today's layout, with their "student" years ranging from 1926-27 to 1947-48. (I) Young Scotty Poage, center, freshman industrial engineering student, is explaining the tradition of the famed "engineers' blarney stone" to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Scott A. Poage of Waco, during their Homecoming visit to the campus. The elder Scott is a 1931 graduate of Tech, and is now associated with the American Chain Division of the American Chain and Cable Company, Inc. Although Mrs. Poage is a graduate of Trinity university, with both a Techsan husband and son, she considers herself 9/10 Techsan too. Young Mr. Poage won't be able to kiss the blarney stone as a graduate until 1953. (II) Introducing his new wife to one of Tech's old traditions—wearing a mum to the Homecoming game—is Bob Harvey, Kemas alumnus, who graduated from the college with a B. S. degree in electrical engineering in June of 1948. The Tech-ex and his brunette wife, Pat, are living in Sharon, Pa., where he is employed in the Transformers division of Westinghouse Electric. (III) Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. Allen of Corpus Christi talk over old times while sitting on the Double-T bench on the campus. She is the former Annis Durham, 1943 graduate in home economics, and he, known as "Cotton" then, graduated in 1946 with a B. S. degree is chemistry. While her husband is working as research chemist with the Celanese corporation of America, Mrs. Allen has a full time job taking care of their children, Suzanne, four-and-a-half years old; Robert M., two-and-a-half; and 11-months-old William Porter. (IV) Amazed by the improvements in the Tech campus are Mr. and Mrs. M. K. Foster, jr., of Rosita, Coahuilla, Mexico. She graduated from Tech in 1937 with a degre in home economics, and he is a 1938 graduate in chemical engineering. The Tech alumni have a three-year-old son, Brad, who speaks Spanish as fluently as he does English, because of his residence in Mexico. (V) Pretty Pat Jennings, freshman Texas Techsan and Las Chaparritas pledge, welcomes her alumni parents to the campus. They are Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Jennings of Plainview. Mrs. Jennings, a former Sans Souci member, was a charter member of Tech Women's Forum, which was organized in 1928. Her husband, known to his collegiate friends as "Al," is engaged in farming. The couple was at Tech in 1926-27 and 1927-28. (IV) Looking at a Texas Tech towel woven by the college textile department is Miss Betty Grace Pugh, a 1945 textile engineering graduate, and the third such woman graduate of the college. She is now employed as a lab technician for the Shell Oil company in Odessa. Staff Photos by Oleta Toliver.)

The Woman's Angle

By Margaret Turner

OUR FRIENDS who have summer homes in Colorado and New Mexico have never been more reluctant to leave the beauty of the woodlands than this year. They cannot remember a season like it, they say, so vivid are the colors that have been prodigally spread by nature's lavish hand.

We've been in New Mexico lately and can testify to the glory of autumn in painted panorama. The leaves are still green, in random streaks and patches, but the verdure is in swift retreat. Here the elm's gold is transmuted in a solid bank of scarlet sumac and there a yellow vista of aspens is framed against the reddened oak.

Although we have no lakes or hills and few trees on our beautiful South Plains, we must admit that here autumn is the best season of all. Now there is a faint haze in the air, frail and thin as woodsmoke. The sun is a great ball of brilliance but the summer heat has been dissipated. The days are cool and tranquil, a fragment of perfection, suspended in a far-from-perfect universe. White clouds pile up in the blue, blue sky.

When the sun sets on the splendor of an autumn day on the plains, it is difficult to escape a feeling of sadness. Its shining beauty is too good to last. One senses, as such a day dies, the faint breath of winter in the evening air.

SCATTERINGS

THIS CAME over the radio not long ago: "Sight is what we see with our eyes; insight is what we see with our minds; vision is the sight of the spirit."

TWENTY YEARS

UNIFORMED GHOSTS of twenty years ago galloped before our eyes Saturday afternoon when we sat in Jones stadium and let our mind wander back to 1929 when we were a senior Tech student.

Today's "Matador Song" is a fitting tribute and a melodic number but as we stood before the kickoff we were remembering a song of year ago that was a direct steal from Notre Dame's football classic. But how we loved that song! We could close our eyes and see the beautifully clad pep squad of "Arena-Ritas" prancing up and down and cheering on the "Matadors."

Grady Higginbotham was serving his first year as coach and Vic Payne was assistant.

AND WHAT of those players of 1929? Well, we remember Capt. Handsome Ransom Walker, who is a prosperous farmer in Floydada now. There was Dennis Vinzant, now a backfield coach at Tulane and H. C. (Chubby) DeWitt, who is with the Sun oil company in Dallas.

The fullback was Charley Wooldridge, now a member of the Tech board of directors and George Langford was on the team; George, who now is a farmer and a member representative to the Tech Athletic council. Dick Green, who was referred to as a "diminutive quarterback," is on the advertising staff at the Avalanche-Journal and King Sides is in the insurance business here.

Basil Hill hung up his football togs to enter a textile firm in Georgia and Buddy Brothers stayed in and now is Tulsa coach.

We cheered for Walter Nixon in those days; and now Walton is in the Soil Conservation service in Fort Worth. And don't you remember Hershel Tadlock, who is now an Amarillo resident? And Edgar Cappleman, formerly with the State Comptrollers and now of Galveston?

Ross Ayers was just getting his start in the football world and big Sid Knowles was breaking right through that line.

And last, but by no means least, there was the late Jack Durham, a likeable, lovable, all round athlete.

SCATTERINGS

HOLD UP your shoulders! This is National Posture week. . . For the first time we were not ashamed of the looks of the Tech campus when hundreds of alumni and exes visited it this weekend. We think too much praise cannot be given to E. J. Urbanovsky, landscape architect and his workers, for improving the looks of the grounds and they have been working only since mid summer. . . . As was the cast last year, there will be no games of chance played at the carnivals sponsored at Lubbock schools this week by parent-teacher associations. But, nevertheless, there will be worlds of entertainment and interesting programs.

Through The Coral Doors

Howdy Folks!

It was a happy coincidence that the very weekend of Tech's homecoming, Decorators Studio had a real homecoming too. When I walked through the coral door Friday, there behind two broad smiles were Anne and James—looking wonderful and I thought, a little Parisian. Of course, I suppose that was my imagination. You can imagine what a wonderful time I had listening to all they had to say about the interesting things they had done in Europe and the things they bought for the Studio. What pleased me most was Anne's saying that nowhere—in Europe or New York—had she seen anything that compared with Decorators Studio. She said that the Studio has more good lines in fabric and furniture and prettier showrooms than some of the largest and most well known decorators shops. Now, I know that must make the decorators at the Studio feel mighty good, 'cause it made my chest stick out about two more inches.

Anne and James told us all about the Spode and Wedgwood factories they went through in England, and had exciting news to tell us. Wedgwood is again making the earthenware patterns "Edme," "Patrician" and "Modern Queensware' in celadon and blue. Of course, it will be quite some time before it reaches the Studio, but I can just picture the 'Edme' in celadon on a yellow cloth and with red or deep green soups or salads. Believe that would be worth waiting for! All of you have been wondering about the devaluation of the English pound and if the English imports would change in price. As of this week all dinnerware in Wedgwood and Spode has been reduced ten percent and all accessory items seven and one-half percent. Now, I think that is pretty quick results!

Two new Gabriel patterns arrived this week, and they are every bit as pretty as the gals had described them. Among the shipment from Gabriel were very good-looking mugs—ideal for the "Tom and Jerry' crowd this winter. And for more pottery news! —notice Decorators Studio's ad this week. The stock on hand of La Mirada pottery, patterns in "Dawn," "Eucalyptus," "Wheat," 'Plaid" and "Daffodil," is on sale for one-half the regular price. Of course, I wanted to know why—and the girls tell me that from now on these patterns will be made on a china instead of a pottery base.

Goodness! there has been so much "business" news to tell you that I'll have to wait until next week to tell you how pretty the Studio is looking—of the new table setups, etc. You go by to see them and tell Anne and James Hello. See 'ya there. Corner Broadway and Avenue N.

St. Pauls Episcopal Church Is Scene Of Wedding Of Betty Byron Jenkins And Dean Monroe Allam

The marriage of Miss Betty Byron Jenkins, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Byron Arthur Jenkins of 2124 Thirtieth, and Dean Monroe Allam, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Edgar Allam of Little River, Kan., was read at 8 o'clock in the evening Thursday at St. Paul's Episcopal church. Rev. Claude E. Canterbury read a double ring service.

White mums and ferns and white tapers burning in candelabra were arranged throughout the church.

Miss Marion Canterbury, soloist, sang Gounod's Ave Maria, accompanied by Mrs. Elton Plowman, organist, preceding the reading of the vows.

Father Is Escort

Dr. Jenkins gave his daughter in marriage. She more a gown of ivory satin fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, long fitted sleeves and a full skirt. A design of seed pearls adorned the front of the dress. Her full length veil of Rosepoint lace was caught by a lace cape and she carried a white orchid showered with stephanotis.

Miss Jeanne Allam of Dallas, sister of the bridegroom, was the bride's maid of honor. Her dress of russet satin was designed with off-shoulders and a hooped skirt, draped at one side with a ruset chiffon underskirt. She carried an arm bouquet of large gold mums and wore a hat of russet illusion.

Dresses of gold satin fashioned after Miss Allam's were worn by the bridesmaids, Mrs. O. P. Harlan, jr., Mr. Bill Franklin, Miss Elizabeth Howard and Miss LaVaughn Bearden. They carried large bronze mums and wore illusion hats matching their dresses.

Curti Dean Coxon of Little River, served as best man and Winston Roberts of Fort Worth, John Gillespie, jr., of Coleman, O. P. Harlan, jr., and Manson Hawkins were ushers.

Reception Follows Wedding

Wedding guests were entertained with a reception at Lubbock Country club following the ceremony. The bride's table was coverd with a white satin cloth and decorated with smilax, white mums and silver appointments. The wedding cake, in the center of the table, was flanked by silver candelabra.

Assisting with hospitalities were Dr. and Mrs. Jenkins, Mrs. Allam, Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Trego, Mrs. Stanley Hays, Mrs. Leila Jenkins, Mrs. Fray Smith, Mrs. Stanley Huckabay, and Misses Xen Harris, Lam McKay, Paula Fix, Judy Pierce, Martha Enochs and Virginia Younger.

For a wedding trip to Santa Fe, N. M., the bride wore a suit of beige and brown with brown accessories and a white orchid corsage. Mr. and Mrs. Allam will be at home at 3012 Twenty-first after Monday. Santa Fe, N. M., the couple will be at home on Tuesday at 2323 Ninth. For traveling the bride chose a teal blue suit with black accessories and an orchid corsage.

A graduate of Whiteface High school, the bride attended Draughons Business college. The bridegroom graduated from Corsicana High school and Navara Junior college in Corsicana.

Concert Tickets Will Go On Sale Monday

Tickets will go on sale Monday to the Oct. 25 concert to be sung by Leonard Warren, Metropolitan baritone, with the Lubbock Symphony orchestra at Senior High school auditorium. The singer will appear with the orchestra Oct. 24 in a program to which season tickets have been sold.

The tickets, which may be bought at Adair's and Varsity Book stores are $3 for center; $2.80 for side seats; $2.80 for first balcony and $2.40 for other seats downstairs and $1.80 for other balcony seats.

Warren, who made his debut at the Metropolitan as Paolo in "Simon Boccanegra" in 1939, had never studied an opera role before he was 27. A graduate of Columbia university, he had intended to pursue a business career but when he was fired from his first job—as an accountant—for singing at his work, he decided to make music more than a hobby.

Sang In Glee Club

He sang for three years in the glee club at Radio City Music hall and at the end of that period began to take music lessons for the first time in his life. He auditioned at the Met with a repertoire of three arias; was accepted and during the following six months studied in Lilano, mastering seven opera roles.

Warren's rise in grand opera has been phenomenal. He is a member of the Chicago and San Francisco Opera companies, in addition to the Met, and also of two South American opera companies. The guest soloist has appeared on a number of national radio programs and also is a recording artist of note.

Portrait Of Great Lady

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Mary Garden has discovered a secret. She knows how to grow old the happy way.

With more than a quarter of a century behind her as an almost legendary figure of an opera star, it would be easy for her to sink into contemplative retirement in her Aberdeen, Scotland, home. There would be memoirs to fuss with, pleasant recollections of the golden days. And they were golden.

That isn't Miss Garden's way. She occasionally looks back, but most of the time she's thinking about the future. Right now, Miss Garden is on her first American visit in years—and riding high on the lecture circuit. She's past 70, and as full of ideas as a youngster.

She was an overnight success after her debut in Paris at the turn of the century. America took her to its heart in 1907. Her name was a household word. Kings paid homage to her beauty and her fire.

"In 1931, it was finished," she said the other day. "I stopped."

She never looked back on her opera career, she never regreted a thing. Decisive in all things, Miss Garden retired from opera, but not from life.

"I'm very busy," she said. "I'm always looking for talent in youngsters. There are two voices in Paris right now that show great promise. Then there's a great deal of reading to be done to keep up with the world."

Like Grace Moore early in her career, a steady stream of young singers ask Miss Garden for analyses of their voices, an honest evaluation of their potentialities.

"I tell them" she continued. "I think three years is enough to tell. Three years of study. If someone tells me they've been studying six or seven years, and they are still not sure, then I'm sure they haven't got what it takes.

"You either have it or not after three years. The first year you are in a fog. The second year you are still floundering. But the third year you know. That's true in more than singing."

She continued briskly:

"They are saying nowadays that you can be a great singer and have marriage and children as well. I don't think you can have both. I couldn't. I made a choice, because I am an operatic [illegible] give your entire self to a career, and you can't share it with anything else."

Did Miss Garden ever regret she had chosen the career instead of marriage?

"Never," the tiny, trim Miss Garden said definitely. "I have never wanted to change my decision."

Age is what you make it, she believes. She pays no attention to the march of years.

Mrs. F. C. Wester and grandson, Kyle Shelton, returned to their home, 412 Ave. R, Friday night after a three weeks trip. They visited Mrs. Wester's sons, Fred C. and J. K. Wester, in Albuquerque and friends, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Jackson, in Hot Springs, N. M. They also went to Thunderbird ranch, the Westers' summer home, near Mountainair, N. M.

RETURNS HOME—Mrs. Donald H. Pinkston, the former Miss Helen M. Anderson, who has been away from Lubbock for six years has returned for a temporary stay. She and her children, Gary, Randall and Donald, II, are to live with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin B. Anderson, 1418 Ave. D, until their husband and father, S/Sgt. Pinkston, finds living quarters for them in Alaska. Sgt. Pinkston is being transferred from Muroc Air Force base, Calif., to Alaska. During the past six years, the Pinkstons have lived in North Carolina, Ohio, Indiana and California.

Florida Editor Refuses To Read Material In Print

By ANDY ANDERSON
AP Newsfeatures

FORT MYERS, Fla., Oct. 15 — Mrs. Jane Walker, managing editor and entire staff of the Hendry County News at LaBelle, does a lot of writing but refuses to read her material in the newspapers.

She doesn't trust printers; hates typographical errors in her copy, and so she doesn't have to worry if she doesn't see mistakes, if any.

Mrs. Walker is correspondent for the Fort Myers News-Press, but doesn't read her writings in that, either. Her copy is typed in blue on pink paper.

She works from 7:30 until at least 3:30 daily writing, answering the phone, soliciting ads and doing the myriad of other things to meet the weekly deadline.

Her office is a dilapidated one-room building with newspapers taped up at windows. Dismantled machinery fills the back of the room, for the News is now printed in nearby Moore Haven where the proof-reading also is done.

Biggest headache is advertising. One year ads got switched at Christmas time and came out with a LaMelle merchant offering dignified greetings while the sheriff's ad thanked customers for patronage during the year.

JANE WALKER . . . managing editor of the Hendry County News, LaBelle, Fla.

Mrs. Walker's father was an employe of the Louisville, Ky., Courier-Journal. She is a native of Atlanta, Ga.

ON THE WARPATH

The "wrath of the Indians" came down on vivacious Barbara Scott about 4 o'clock last Monday morning. Barbara, who is president of Ko Shari club, was unsuspectingly asleep in her dormitory room, when out of the darkness something came crashing down and hit her in the face.

After her unwelcome and unexpected awakening, she discovered that an Indian picture belonging to the club had fallen from its hook over the head of her bed to substitute for an early morning alarm clock.

Poor frightened Barbara was relieved to know that the redman hadn't collected her paleface scalp, but she did have to make a trip to the hospital to be treated for severe lacerations of the face.

MRS. HULEN JAMES PENNEY

SHIRTWAIST STYLE

Some of the season's most fabulous evening gowns turn out to be separate blouses and skirts. Lilly Dache shows wide, spectacular skirts of slipper satin with cummerbund waistband and huge pockets, with which may be worn tops of varying formality. The fashion goes from the high-style collections down to the budget-priced group. Teen-agers may buy a long skirt of faille or satin, and concoct a dozen dance outfits by switching blouses.

FLANNELETTE SWANK

College girls are wearing separate skirts and shirts of dark printed cotton flannel this winter. It's practical because the garments may be tossed in with the regular laundry. Fireman red flannelette also is a favorite for dormitory robes and pajamas.

Florida Girl Is Wed To Hulen J. Penney

Announcement is being made of the marriage of Bernice Henrietta Hilliard of Melbourne, Fla., daughter of Mrs. Lillie Benson of Grant, Fla., to Hulen James Penney, son of Mrs. Susie Belle Penney of 1601 Fifteenth, which took place Monday night at the Penney home. Dr. M. Norvel Young of Broadway Church of Christ performed a single ring ceremony.

Mr. and Mrs. Penney are making their home at 3507 Twenty-seventh. The bride attended school in Melbourne and the bridegroom is a graduate of Lubbock High school and Texas Technological college. He is manager of Midway theater.

A wedding supper was given for the couple at Aztec Inn following the ceremony.

A yellow and white cloth covered the table, and table appointments carried out the decorative color theme. The centerpiec was of single chrysanthemums and asters in colors of white, yellow and rose and a brass coffee service and white china completed the arrangement.

More Flavor For All Canned Fruit Forecast By Experts

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15 (AP) — More flavor for canned fruit is foreseen by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Research on the apple crop has brought a new method to preserve flavor, says Dr. G. E. Hilbert. Gases from the first boiling of the fruit were preserved, condensed and returned to the final product.

By this method, Hilbert believes that it will be possible to preserve the flavor even of fruits that do not lend themselves to shipping.

Little Elmer Shows His Dad How He Turned In An Alarm

DENVER, Oct. 15. (AP)—"He couldn't do it," insisted Elmer Johnsen Sr. "He isn't big enough." "Oh, yes, I did," said Elmer, jr., "I'll show you."

So little Elmer showed his dad and an assistant fire chief how he turned in a false alarm. He just stood on the seat of his tricycle and reached into the box. The chief let Elmer Sr. carry on from there.

Bond Vote For Dawson Is Set

LAMESA, Oct. 15. (Special)—A bond election will be held in Dawson county Nov. 8 to determine whether or not $105,000 in bonds will be issued to help bear the cost of construction of a county airport near Lamesa.

The commissioners' court set the date for the election after a petition for it signed by 228 qualified voters was presented to the group.

If approved, the bond issue would mature on a 30-year schedule at an interest rate of not more than three and one-half percent.

The Civil Aeronautics administration will also spend $105,000 on the airport, sharing the cost of the project if the bond issue passes.

A CAA official explained the federal group's participation to a meeting of city and county officials and airport proponents here recently. He said the CAA funds would be used to purchase land for the airport, and for the building of all-weather runways.

Dawson county then obtained a promise of CAA funds via an application, but no action by the county is pledged unless the bond issue is approved by the voters, officials stated.

The only airport near here is a private one owned by Frank Hogg. Lamesa Field, used during the war as a training base for glider and liaison pilots, is over eight miles north of Lamesa and is not in use.

From Toe To Topknot

Fur Types From Mouton To Mink Used As Trimming

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE
INS Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Oct. 15—An old fur, well dissected, can go fur this season — excuse the expression please!

Designers are trimming everything from petticoats to pumps with every fur from mouton to mink. And the practical American woman with an outmoded fur or fur-trimmed coat would be smart, fashionwise and financially, to take advantage of the trend.

Instead of selling her ex-expensive skins to a thrift shop, she can take them to a furrier for conversion into any one of these trimming gimmicks of the season.

SHOES—Are being made with sleek-fur spats. Pony is the most popular choice. But any strip of not-too-bulky fur can be stretched around the instep of a plain opera pump, then fastened under the shoe with snaps or hooks and eyes.

Other footwear has tiny fur bows on the toes or, even more fashionable, at the shoe top in black.

Plain-colored sandals are high-fashion with fur bands for ankle straps.

DRESS SKIRTS—Are often fur-trimmed, but not with the wide band of fur about the hem that was popular before its Russian Cossack connotation lost approval. Now, velvet skirts have vertical bands of fur running from waist to hem. Or, on simple, straight wool skirts, mammoth hip pockets made of clipped fur skins.

PETTICOATS — have sections of fur located in strategic positions, for wear under skirts that are slashed to the knee. The sneak peak of softness almost hidden is a luxurious newcomer to fashion.

Belts Are Perfect Foil

BELTS—are the perfect foil for left over coats and collars. Belts may be made of any fur, from sleekest to shaggiest, they may be any width, attached by any type fastening, and still be high style.

Some designers put narrow ropes of fur on basic frocks, and dangle gold medallions from the center front, in lieu of a buckle. An old pendant or gold chain would give the same effect, for free.

GLOVES—can have long fur gauntlets, fur strips stitched atop the fingers, narrow fur cuffs, or little circles or squares of fur on center of the hand.

Easiest way to simulate the luxury look of fur gloves is to wrap bands of whatever leftover fluff you have around the wrists, and leave them there when the gloves ar whipped off. Fur bracelets are fashionable too!

BODICES—have been taken over by animal skins this season to the point where fur collars and breast pockets are acceptable accessories, even for silks and crepes.

A detachable fur collar, tied on with a velvet rope bow, will probably fit over any dress of any fabric that has simplicity enough to carry it. Fur breast pockets should be small, stitched on in pairs, and rounded off at the base for dressy wear. For sports clothes, they can be square and as large as you like 'em.

JEWELRY—in fur is swishy sophistication this winter.

The aforementioned fur bracelets can be matched to chokers around the neck of high or v-necked dresses. And fur earrings are a perfect outlet for an old coat's buttons. Most women have flat earrings to which the backing of fur buttons could be stitched with ease.

Don't worry about size—the bigger the better.

HATS AND HANDBAGS—are, as always, the most versatile wardrobe items for fur trimmers.

Brims, crowns, and hat bands all lend themselves to a simple covering job with fur. But plain felts or velvets can be perked up in so many ways by fur buttons, bows, appliques and thin, decorative strips that the American woman need never run short of ideas.

As for handbags, an old leather envelope shape can be completely slip-covered in short-clipped-fur. And a fur handle will always be good fashion on a plain suede purse.

Vienna, Austria, had a football team composed of midgets.

Edison Believed To Have Discovered Idea Of Electric Light By Observing The Stars

ENCAMPMENT, Wyo., Oct. 15 (U.P.)—About 600 persons gathered at picturesque Battle Lake, high in the Sierra Madre Mountains above Encampment, for a formal dedication of a bronze memorial to Thomas Alva Edison.

The colorful ceremony, sponsored by the State Historical Landmarks Commission, was held on the shore of the lake where in 1878 Edison is said to have conceived the idea for the incandescent light.

The bronze plaque, about two feet by three feet and imbedded in the face of a concrete monument, was presented to the state by Warren Richardson, chairman of the landmarks commission. State auditor E. T. Copenhaver, representing Gov. A. G. Crane, accepted for the state.

Main address of the day was given by C. D. Williamson, chairman of the State Commerce and Industry Commission. Adm. Harold A. Bowen, of New Jersey, executive director of the Thomas A. Edison Foundation, gave a short talk.

Fishing Pole Helped

Edison's idea for the incandescent light is said to have come from experiments with the fiber of his hamboo fishing pole.

According to the story, Edison was a member of a party of scientists known as the Henry Draper Expedition, which came to Rawlins to make scientific observations of a total eclipse of the sun, July 28, 1878. At the conclusion of the scientific observations, they went on a hunting and fishing trip to Battle Lake.

After the party had been encamped for three days, one morning at breakfast Edison was asked by Prof. Barton, "Well, Tom, how did you rest last night?"

"Well," Edison answered, "I wasn't thinking about resting. I lay and looked up at the beautiful stars and clear skylight and I invented an incandescent electric light.

Downgrade In Sheep Numbers Is Ending, Sheep Growers Are Told

EUREKA, Calif., Oct. 15 (AP) — George B. Alcorn of the University of California extension service told a wool growers meeting here today that the downward trend in sheep numbers appears to be ending.

American sheepmen have about 28,000,000 head of sheep left, Alcorn said. That's 22,000,000 fewer sheep, than when the downturn started in 1942 and even below the numbers of Civil War days.

Alcorn said sheep and lamb slaughter in the first four months of 1949 was 26 per cent under the similar 1948 period and the smallest since after the first world war. He pointed out that a reduction in ewe slaughter is the only way to increase sheep production.

Indications are that the reduced slaughter would continue throughout the year, he said.

Picture Depicting German Operetta Will Be Shown

An operetta, featuring waltzes by Johann Strauss, filmed as a movie in 1947 in Berlin will be presented for students of Texas Technological college and the public at Tower theater Tuesday and Wednesday, under sponsorship of the Tech foreign languages department and Liederkranz, Tech German club, in cooperation with the theater. Announcement of the showing of the German made movie was made by Dr. C. B. Qualia, head of the foreign languages department.

The picture, "Die Fledermaus," ("The Bat"), will be in German with English subtitle. It is made with its original Viennese setting, and is colored by a special process developed in Germany since the war. The stars, Marti Harrell and Willi Fritsch, and other members of the east wear several costumes of original design.

Presented In Vienna

"Die Fledermaus" was first presented at the Volksoper in Vienna, and because of its music and plot which is woven around love, jealousy and comedy, it was well received by its Viennese audiences. It has had a run of several weeks in Boston and New York recently. Each New Year's Eve, before the war, "Die Fledermaus," was performed at the large opera house in Vienna, according to Theodor Alexander, Tech German instructor, who has seen it there many times.

Advance ticket sales opened Friday at a booth in the Tech administration building; sales will continue through Wednesday morning, stated Mr. Alexander. College students and faculty members will be admitted for 30 cents for either an afternoon or evening showing.

During each school year, the foreign languages department sponsors various foreign language pictures.

Solon Sees Spain As Good Cotton Market

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15 (AP) — Rep. Poage of Texas says Spain could again become a good outlet for U. S. cotton if the Franco government would relax its regulations on business there.

Poage, just back from a trip to Europe which included an interview with Franco, said yesterday:

"There own government's restrictions prevent Spanish buyers from putting up the guarantee American exporters want to make sure they eventually are paid for any cotton they send over.

"They have fairly good textile mills there, and the Spaniards seem to be very good workers.

"If they had American cotton and could re-export about one third of it in the form of fabrics, they could pay for the raw product. That would leave them about two-thirds of the cotton for use in Spain to fill a great need there."

Poage estimated that pre-war Spanish consumption of American cotton amounted to 300,000 bales, largely produced in Texas.

He expressed the opinion that the positon of Spain as a "military strategic nation has been overrated."

The Little Red Schoolhouse Fast Becoming Obsolete In United States School Systems

By VERN HAUGHLAND
Associated Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15 — The little red schoolhouse is being torn down or abandoned at the rate of several thousand a year.

The U. S. Office of Education says there were 200,000 one-teacher schools in 1916 and less than 80,000 today.

Even, so, says Dr. Walter H. Gaumnitz, education office specialist in small and rural high schools, fully 45 per cent of all the schools in the United States are still of the one-teacher type.

Generally speaking, says Gaumnitz, rural school districts are consolidating to establish larger schools with more highly trained teachers.

This involves bus transportation to outlying districts. In 1918 schools transported about 200,000 children. Now more than 5,000,000 children are being transported annually.

Statistics By States

In the past 30 years, says Gaumnitz, the number of one-teacher schools has decreased by 90 per cent or more in Ohio, Washington, Maryland and Indiana. On the other hand, fewer than one out of every three such schools has been eliminated in South and North Dakota, Nebraska, Illinois and Wisconsin.

"We find nearly 50 per cent of the classrooms of the one-room type in South Dakota and North Dakota," says Gaumnitz.

"In Nebraska and Iowa they still constitute more than three classrooms out of every 10, and in Kansas, Vermont, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Missouri one or more in four."

Almost 1,500,000 children still attend the one-teacher schools. Kentucky and Illinois have more than 100,000 pupils attending such schools. Iowa has more than 90,000, and Wisconsin, Missouri and Minnesota each more than 80,000.

"It would not be fair to say that the dwindling of the one-teacher school is entirely an unmixed blessing," says Gaumnitz.

"In its day it served the nation very well indeed. It brought the three R's to every rural community, however isolated. It formed a neighborhood center, it was near to the farmers' homes, it was organized on the basis of family setting.

"The larger schools are often inordinately long distances from the children's homes.

"Special efforts are required to bring the parents into these more distant schools often enough to aid the teachers in understanding and motivating the education of their children."

And what has happened to the teacher of the one-teacher school?

"She has been absorbed into society," says Gaumnitz. "Many have married, or gone into other occupations. Others have continued their education and obtained jobs in the new, larger schools.

Brownfield Lets School Contract

BROWNFIELD, Oct. 15 (Special)—The general construction contract for a new Brownfield High school building has been let by the school board to James T. Taylor & Son, Inc., of Fort Worth on a bid of $353,369—one of 11 bids submitted.

The plumbing and heating contract, on which eight bids were submitted, went to the McKinley Plumbing company of Lubbock on a bid of $55,990.20.

The Hanner Electric company of San Angelo was awarded the electrical contract on their bid of $15,726. Eleven other electrical companies submitted bids.

Building To Start

The overall amount of the three contracts let by the board is $425,085.20. Equipment for the new high school building, costing between $40,000 and $50,000, will be purchased by the school board.

Bids were submitted in accordance with drawings and specifications of the architects, Wilson & Patterson, of Fort Worth.

C. G. Griffith, president of the school board, said construction will begin within ten days of the signing of contracts and posting of bonds and, barring unavoidable delays, is to be completed within 330 days.

The new high school will be on nine acres owned by the school district at East Broadway and South D streets.

Drunk Parachute Jumper Tries To Grab Controls Of Airplane

FORT WORTH, Oct. 15. (AP)—A 39-year-old parachute jumper landed in city jail last night on a drunk charge after he tried to grab controls of a chartered plane in flight.

Investigators said the pilot, John Wood of Dallas, and the jumper both were lucky to be alive after a struggle aloft.

Wood said the man began drinking as soon as the plane was airborne from Dallas. Then he tried to wrest controls from the pilot. Wood said he conked the jumper twice on the head with a flashlight.

When the man was released on $10 bond today he said he didn't remember the struggle.

Superman, Comic Strip Hero, Under Fire From Soviet Reds

MOSCOW, Oct. 15. (AP)—Superman is under fire in Moscow—propaganda fire.

The Literary Gazette declared today the American comic strip hero, who can whip either bullets or locomotives with his bare hands and impenetrable hide, is nothing but a tool of Wall street.

Along with other comic strip heroes, said the Gazette, Superman is designed to make fascists out of children, depraving them so they can be more easily handled by Wall street.

RABBIT PLAGUE

NEW YORK, Oct. 15. (AP)—Despite the increasing number of people in the New York metropolitan area, small game still is available not many miles from the downtown skyscraper area. Particularly is this true with rabbits, who seem to delight in making home gardens an important source of their food supply.

USDA Says Texas Cotton Crop Even Greater Than Anticipated

AUSTIN, Oct. 15 (U.P.)—Bumper cotton prospects in Texas were pictured today by the United States Department of Agriculture as being even better than anticipated.

Cotton production was pegged at 5,500,000 bales, an increase of 500,000 bales over the Sept. 1 forecast.

The crop, the USDA said, would be second only to the record-high 1926 harvest of 5,628,000 bales.

The yield per acre, estimated at 256 pounds, would be the highest since 1894.

Ohio Villages Merge But U. S. Postoffices Go Separate Ways

BALTIMORE, O., Oct. 15 (U.P.)—About three years ago, the village of Basil was merged with Baltimore, and the two became one. But apparently Uncle Sam was looking the other way when it happened.

There is still a Basil postoffice, where Postmistress Mrs. Anna Love runs things, and a mile away another, where Baltimore mail is handled by Mrs. Beulah Culp.

"We just get along fine," said the Baltimore postmistress. "There is no mix-up of mail. But one town and two postoffices kind of confuses strangers."

Mrs. Ruth Steadman Serves Eight Years

Woman Convicted Of 1941 Slaying Living In Texas

BOSTON, Oct. 15 (U.P.)—Blonde Mrs. Ruth Steadman, paroled after serving little more than half a 15-year sentence for slaying her married sweetheart when he jilted her, was described today as a heroine in the battle against infantile paralysis.

A spokesman for her family, prompted to speak by disclosure that she was released from Framingham women's reformatory May 11 and is living in Houston, Tex., said it was important for the public to know "what kind of a girl (she) has made of herself."

Works In Clinic

The spokesman said Mrs. Steadman is chief physio-therapist at a Houston polio clinic and she worked 10 to 12 hours a day during the recent Texas outbreak of infantile paralysis.

Now living with her brother Roger Stanwood, it was said she never would return to New England where her 1941 trial was one of the most widely publicized cases in the history of the region's courts.

Mrs. Steadman, now 34, originally was charged with murdering Robert G. Emery, 26, real estate dealer and father of two children. She ended her trial by pleading guilty to manslaughter.

Body Is Found

The divorced wife of a Pittsburgh, Pa., insurance executive, Mrs. Steadman was arrested after Emery's body was found in her west end apartment on Jan. 1, 1941. He had been poisoned and a length of rope was knotted tightly around his neck.

She was accused of slaying him because she couldn't marry him. She claimed his death resulted from an unsuccessful suicide pact. Her 9-year-old daughter Judy now is living in Pittsburgh with her former husband, Kenneth A. Steadman.

TELEVISION—WHOLESALE

NEW YORK. (AP)—Normally not so many television cameras are used, but as many as ten are employed on particular occasions. One instance was the telecast of the opening of a new television factory in East Paterson, N. J. Ten cameras were required effectively to cover an event which took place over quite a wide area, inside the building and out.

Texas Is Source For More Than One Fifth Of Energy In Nation

Texas is the source for more than one-fifth of all the energy utilized in the United States, and the Texas petroleum industry's production record has set the pattern of economic progress for the state.

The Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association reports that petroleum production and refining account for more than $3,000,000,000 (billions) a year income for the Texas company.

Gives State Strong Market

A national shift to petroleum as the source for half of all the energy used in the country for powering vehicles, fueling generating plants and heating homes has given Texas a strong market for its abundant oil and natural gas.

As production has spread across the state, bringing new wealth to landowners, causing towns to spring up on once-barren plains, the progress of the industry and the state is written in the graph which shows the annual flow of oil to be 903,000,000 barrels for 1948.

State's Largest Industry

Refining of this oil provides the state with its largest industry from the standpoint of capital investment and value added to product through manufacture, the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association reports.

Demand for Texas crude oil fell off early in 1949 as a result of mild northern winters where the fuel oil market has been a large factor in petroleum sales, but as the industry began to add to its stocks in anticipation of expected heavier demands, production in Texas was picking up in the last quarter of the year.

Produce 1,983,350 Barrels Daily

The Railroad commission, which is directed by the state's wise conservation laws to hold production to the market's demand, made successive cuts in allowables from December, 1948's all-time high, but part of the cuts have been restored with production from new wells added to proration schedules and through two increases in allowables.

As of September 17, Texas wells were producing 1,983,350 barrels of crude oil per day. During December, 1948, Texas production average 2,552,800 barrels a day.

Hits Peak In 1948

A recent survey by the Chicago Journal of Commerce reported that leading petroleum economists predicted that output of crude oil should move up during 1950, probably in excess of 5,000,000 barrels daily for the nation, compared to the total U. S. rate of 4,845,300 as of September 17, 1949.

During 1948, Texas crude oil production reached an all-time peak of 903,318,000 barrels, according to the U. S. Bureau of Mines. This amounted to 44.8 per cent of the nation's production.

First Producer In 1898

Since 1898, the date first commercial production was reported in the state, Texas has produced a total of 12,147,981,000 barrels (32.7 per cent of U. S. total).

1948 Texas production was 10.1 per cent greater than 1947.

1948 production came from 179 of the state's 254 counties. There are 40 Texas counties which to date have produced more than 100,000,000 barrels of oil each. Six counties hit the 100,000,000 mark during 1948. They are Wood, Andrews, Jackson, Jim Wells, Hockley and Young.

Royalty Owned By Thousands

Over 3,000 producing companies were involved in the state's 1948 crude production. Royalty owners probably number in the hundreds of thousands. To illustrate: one large purchasing company reports that each month it mails out over 60,000 checks to producers and royalty owners.

During 1948, Texas refineries processed 599,496,000 barrels of crude daily.

These refineries employ 45,000 Texas workers, who receive $185 million in wages and salaries during 1948.

Investment in the Texas refining industry is estimated to exceed a billion dollars.

Preliminary figures indicate that Texas royalty owners were paid about $354 million by oil and gas operators during 1948. Add another $80 million for lease rentals and bonuses, and the total paid to Texas landowners amounts to $434 million.

KEEPS HIS HEAD

THE QUESTION

What do you think of the new law requiring women to have a blood test before marriage?

THE ANSWERS

MRS. BILLIE HERRON, 710 Ave. M, clerk in the city-county health office: "I really think it's a good thing even if it is more work for us. I think that both men and women should be required to have a blood test before marriage. If either one has a disease it is important to know."

DR. L. B. WOODS, 2402 Main, city health officer: "I think it's very necessary. It's the only way we have of finding a particular trouble that may be hidden. I think the entire population will eventually have to have blood tests."

DR. E. R. ROSE, Midway apartments, director of student health service at Tech: "I think it's a very good thing that Texas has enacted this law. The reason being that there are times when a person may get married and be infected in a contagious stage without knowing it. It is a method of getting the infected person well and also keep them from transfering the disease."

IS LONG PROCESS

NEW YORK (AP)—Color television has been in the process of research for two decades.

The first demonstration on record was conducted by the Bell Telephone laboratories in 1929 using crude laboratory equipment operating mechanically. The scanning was done with discs and color filters.

S. L. CLONINGER, San Antonio mechanic: "Definitely. There are too many diseases in the state now. I think that compulsory blood tests will eliminate them."

MRS. T. P. ROSS, 809 Ave. L, waitress at Ben's Cafe No. 2: "I sure do. I think that women should have them just the same as men do. I guess because some women run around just as much as men do now."

MRS. ED HOLLINSWORTH, 2510 Ruby, housewife: "I sure do. It could save a lot of trouble afterwards. There might be something wrong that could be discovered before the marriage. Women are as susceptible to disease as men are."

Family Sets Record Of 109 Years Living On One Farm

DES MOINES, Iowa, Oct. 15 (AP)—The Auer family has lived on the same farm near Garnavillo, Iowa, 109 years. The Auer farm of 240 acres is said to be one of the richest farming areas in Iowa.

In 1840, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Auer left Germany and emigrated to America in a sailing vessel. Their son, Frank, jr., took over operation of the farm at the age of 16. He died in 1925 and his sons, John and Oscar, have since operated it.

The brothers have raised purebred Brown Swiss cattle. They bring high prices and some have been shipped to Cuba and South America.

EFFORT MADE TO PIERCE RED MASK

New Stalin Biography Offers Clues To Help Judge Actions

By BRUCE BIOSSAT
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Oct. 15. — What can the world expect from Joseph Stalin now that Russia holds the atom bomb? Is he likely to use it?

To find the answers to these questions, we need to know the kind of man he is. But no leader of current times is more completely masked in mystery than Stalin.

Nevertheless, a new effort to pierce that mask has just been made. Isaac Deutscher, a Polish-born specialist in Russian affairs who writes for the British press, has written a comprehensive biography that is being hailed as the most penetrating yet most objective study of Stalin attempted thus far.

What emerges is not a clearly etched portrait. Fundamentals of his makeup remain hidden. But there are some clues to his character that may help the world judge what Stalin may do.

Seen As Opportunist

As Deutscher pictures the Russian dictator:

He is above all a political boss, a master strategist, shrewd, practical, ruthless, unbending in spirit. He is no intellectual firebrand, no great theorist of the Communist Revolution, as was Lenin.

Stalin is a man of icy self-possession. In him is none of the impulsive, intuitive behavior of a Hitler.

But like many a gifted politician, Stalin is an opportunist. He changes the course of his policy to fit the circumstances of a time. He does not function from a set master plan in which all major details are determined in advance.

In other words, what the rest of the world does strongly affects what Stalin does. To millions who fear he may already have decided upon war, there may be hope in this analysis—if it is sound.

Has Made Mistakes

Like all opportunists, Stalin has made big mistakes and made them often. At the start of World War II he vastly overrated the strength and quality of the French Army. On the other hand, he underrated the striking power of Hitler's Nazi legions. He of course was not alone in these particular errors.

It is plain, too, that he genuinely hoped to keep Russia out of the war. He looked for a long conflict that might exhaust both sides and leave his country free of invasion.

Deutscher concludes it is impossible to tell from the record whether Stalin preferred his 1939 pact with Hitler to one he might have made with the western European powers.

However that may be, Stalin strove hard to preserve his fragile friendship with Germany. He refused to believe the signs of the coming Nazi invasion. Though he was preparing for it, he did not expect it when it occurred.

Talent In Organizing

Once into the war, Stalin mustered all his indomitable will and strength to save Russia—and himself. Says Deutscher: "He was in effect his own commander-in-chief, his own minister of defense his own quartermaster, his own minister of supply, his own foreign minister."

He was no meddler in military strategy like Hitler. He operated as a calm, careful referee among his generals, leaving them room for experiment and independent judgment. But he made all the big decisions.

These organizing and administrative talents were the traits that lifted Stalin to prominence in the Communist Party of revolutionary days. Under Lenin, he won ever higher posts until at last he had controlling power. Then he successfully outmaneuvered his party opponents and gradually built himself to a pinnacle where others could not reach him.

The fruits of unbridled power came to a man who had begun life as a cobbler's son in the southern part of Russia called Georgia. He was studying theology when first touched with revolutionary fever. From that time forward, he was a hard-driving underground agitator for a social rebellion in reactionary Czarist Russia. Before the overturn came he spent nearly 10 years in prisons or in exile.

Soldiers Never Saw Him

Stalin, though long schooled as a party spokesman, has never risen above the dull and colorless as a public speaker and writer. No spellbinder, he has seemed to shrink from public contact. His soldiers in the field never saw him.

Always since gaining despotic power he has preferred to remain a sort of misty, impersonal, "gray eminence" standing in the Kremlin surrounded by the familiar symbols of his high station. His travels outside Russia have been limited to a few brief trips to nearby countries.

Stalin's private life? Plain and austere. Deutscher says he knows of only one personal letter ever written by him. Though he twice was married, his passionate devotion to politics ruled out anything like a normal home existence.

Not much to go on, all this, but it is from such frail evidence that the world's statement must try to gauge Stalin and keep him from using the great atomic secret he has learned.

THIS AND BOOKS, TOO

GLENCOE, Ill. (AP)—Even if you wouldn't be found dead with a book in your hand, you'd like the Glencoe library. Look into the main reading room. Thick carpeting on the floors. Sofas and soft lounge chairs with individual lamps within easy reach. Books, too, if you're interested.

GERHART H. SEGER

Former Member Of German Reichstag To Speak In City

Gerhart H. Seger, newspaperman, author and former member of the German Reichstag and political prisoner of Hitler, will address members of the Lubbock Knife and Fork club Wednesday night at Hilton hotel, it was announced Saturday by Lewis B. Rix, secretary-treasurer.

Seger escaped from concentration camp in Germany and came to America in 1934. He has lectured to thousands of audiences throughout the United States and Canada. His voice has been heard over 319 radio statons, including national hook-ups for the Department of Justice program, "I Am an American" and The Town Meeting of the Air.

During the summer of 1948, he returned to his native country where he lectured in the American and English zones of occupation and studied military government and the attitude of the German civilian population.

He is the editor of the German-language newspaper, "Neue Volkszeitung," published in New York, and is the author of "A Nation Terrorized" and co-author of "Germany — To Be or Not To Be."

Caso March Reveals His Slogan For Governorship Race In 1950

AUSTIN, Oct. 15 (U.P.) — Caso March, former law school professor and three-time candidate for governor, had a new slogan today for his 1950 gubernatorial campaign.

The cry: "For Every Man, a tax-free home!"

March said th slogan exactly suited his plan of freeing the small-home owner of all taxes. Which meant, he said, "state, county, city and school taxes."

Under the candidate's program, the load of taxes would be shifted from the "little man" to the big property owners.

The result, he said, would be more money for the state.

March credited former Gov. Pat M. Neff with having suggested both the slogan and the program.

CAN DOUBLE ULTIMATE RECOVERY

Pressure Waste Prevention Is Conserving Texas' Oil Fields

By MAX B. SKELTON
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOUSTON, Oct. 15. — Engineers and nature have combined efforts to add years and years to the life of the vast East Texas oil field.

Last month, the field, one of the nation's most famous, celebrated its nineteenth birthday.

First estimates of oil reserves beneath the field's 130,000 acres approximated 1,000,000,000 barrels. More than 2,600,000,000 have been produced. Experts say there still are at least 2,000,000,000 more to come.

Texas Governor Allan Shivers and Ernest O. Thompson, senior member of the state's Railroad commission, term the field's performance as one of the best examples ever accomplished in oil and gas conservation.

Basically, the conservation project involves control of the field's bottomhole pressure — pressure which nature placed in the underground reservoir and which forcing oil to the surface when underground oil pockets are tapped by wells.

Oil Pressure Watched

The Railroad commission, the Texas oil and gas regulatory body, keeps close watch on fluctuations in the field's pressure.

When the pressure rises, the commission permits more oil to be produced, if needed to meet market demand. When the pressure drops, allowables are cut.

Thompson explains it this way: "It means less oil per well per day at the present, but more than double the total ultimate oil recovery."

Governor Shivers predicts that if the field continues to be carefully controlled grandchildren of young people living in East Texas today can have oil production on their properties.

Original reservoir pressure in the field was in excess of 1600 pounds per square inch. The wild boom days, when there were no state controls, saw the pressure drop to about 1000 pounds.

On January 1, 1943, the pressure was 1015.71 pounds. Last June, six and one-half years later, it registered 1018.87. Close checks on production, plus other conservation practices, prevented further declines except of a momentary nature.

Prolong Life Of Wells

Lessons learned in Texas about reservoir performance and reservoir pressure waste prevention are being applied to other Texas fields.

Thompson says the results are the same—more oil from every pool in the long run.

"We are carrying on hundreds of similar pressure maintenance projects so that the flowing life of our oil fields may be lengthened and an ever increasing percentage of the oil in place may be recovered instead of being left in the sands and rocks never to be recovered," he explained.

Domestic oil production also is being aided by scientific programs directed at thousands of stripper wells—wells that no longer respond to normal production methods.

In years past, thousands of wells were abandoned when natural flow of oil ceased or when the wells failed to respond to pump pressure.

Scientific secondary recovery methods now are prolonging the life of such wells and leading to recovery of millions of barrels of oil that otherwise would have been lost.

Committee Studies Projects

The Interstate Oil Compact commission, Independent Petroleum Association of America and the National Stripper Well association have a joint committee studying such projects.

The committee reports that on January 1, 1948, there were 427,000 producing wells in the nation, with 294,672, or approximately 69 per cent classified as strippers.

These stripper wells produced in 1947 a total of 279,659,199 barrels of oil or 14.9 per cent of total domestic production. The daily per well average was 2.6 barrels.

The joint committee report estimated that 7,937,323,000 barrels in reserves were believed to be underlying stripper well acreage.

It was further estimated that 4,546,725,000 barrels of these reserves can be produced by the application of secondary recovery methods.

It is the opinion of the committee at least 5,000,000,000 barrels of total stripper well reserves have not been included in overall domestic petroleum reserve estimate of 24,000,000,000 barrels.

Man Sought After Collecting Money On Forged Check

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 15 (AP)—A prosperous looking man who presented a forged check at the Broad Street Trust Co., and walked out with $15,000 in bills is sought by police today.

Bank officials told police the forged check also is missing.

Officials said the man presented one of the bank's own counter checks, with the date and amount typed in, at a branch office on Broad street yesterday.

It bore the forged signature of James R. Affleck, partner in the William Penn Flour Co., here.

John Reisenberg, an acting teller and young son of a vice president of the bank, said he checked the signature, found it tallied with the one on file and gave the man $15,000 in $1,000 and $100 bills.

The fraud was discovered when the check could not be found during a routine audit, making a $15,000 shortage in Reisenberg's account.

Brownfield Lions Will Hold Annual Carnival Next Week

BROWNFIELD, Oct. 15 (Special)—The Brownfield Lions club's annual carnival will be held all next week, beginning Monday, at the carnival grounds on the east side of the courthouse square.

Concessions will be operated by the Lions club, and on the midway will be the C. Raney Shows and Amusements, a home-owned enterprise. Funds derived from the carnival will be used by the Lions in youth welfare work and other community projects.

Tom Crawford is chairman of the club's carnival committee. Members are John Criswell, Ed Harden, E. D. Jones, and M. V. Scudday.

Accomplishments Of This Woman Shame U. S. Career Women

By MARTHA KEARNEY
INS Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15—Some of the top career women in Washington ought to have the feeling today that they haven't been half trying.

The source of the suspicion would be the achievements of Madame Charlotte Bequignon Lagarde, a visitor to the capital, who makes the average American career woman look like something of a slouch.

Mme. Lagarde is not only the first and only woman member of the French Supreme court but is also the mother of six children and a former member of the wartime resistance movement in France.

Member Of Court

She has been a member of the French Supreme court for exactly three years. Before that she held the distinction of being the first woman to hold a position on the faculties of law in France.

She served on the law faculty of the University of Rennes from 1931 to 1946 and was a professor of legal procedure when appointed to the high court in that year.

Since then she has held an honorary professorship at Rennes.

Mme. Lagarde received her doctor of laws degree from the University of Caen in 1925. She later studied in Paris.

She has been decorated twice by the French government and now holds both the Chevalier De La Legion D'Honneur and the Medaille De La Famille.

Mme. Lagarde, after being greeted and feted by some of the nation's top legal and judicial figures, plans to go to Northampton, Mass., where she will receive an honorary degree from Smith college on Thursday.

India Chalks Up "First"

India has chalked up another "first" for women in Washington. India's ambassador to the United States, Mme. Vijaya Pandit, is, of course, the only woman ever accredited to Washington as a full ambassador.

More recently, however, the dinner given by President Truman for Indian Prime Minister Nehru, was the first such formal dinner for a visiting chief of state which was not for men only.

It is possible that the presence of women at the dinner was permitted because the Indian ambassador is the prime minister's sister. An ambassador customarily accompanies his chief of state on such an occasion.

It is also possible that the change was made because Prime Minister Nehru was accompanied by his daughter, Mme. Indira Gandhi.

Whatever the reason, however, the fact remains that President Truman's dinner for the Indian prime minister was the first such event to which women have been invited.

Man Breaks Bottles Over Head On Bets; Last Strike Is Out

PASSAIC, N. J., Oct. 15 (AP)—A former carnival entertainer bet he could break a bottle over his own head. He won the wager twice. On the third strike he was out—cold.

Police Detective Alex Marton said yesterday a friend of Elrich Powell, 28, bet him 25 cents he couldn't break an empty wine bottle over his own head.

Powell was game, took a swing, and collected.

Encouraged by success, Powell accepted another 25 cent wager, Marton said. He shattered the bottle over his head again with no bad effects and collected another quarter.

But the third time he tried it he ended up in Beth Israel hospital with 10 stitches in his scalp and a possible concussion.

Marton said Powell told him he also swallows lighted matches.

CRIME WAVE

Eighty-four per cent of fatal accidents, 55 per cent of purse snatchings, 71 per cent of assaults on women, and 68 per cent of car thefts in 1947 occurred after dark.

Character Actor Fritz Leiber, 65, Succumbs To Heart Attack

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 15 (AP)—Death has taken Fritz Leiber, 65, character actor and former Shakespearean player.

Leiber died of a heart ailment yesterday. Born in Chicago, he made his stage debut in that city's old Dearborn theater in 1902. For years he toured with the Robert B. Mantell company and with David Warfield, playing leading Shakespearean roles.

He started his film career in 1917 and completed his last movie part only two days before his death.

He leaves his widow, Mrs. Virginia Bronson Leiber; a son, Fritz Leiber, jr., editor of Science Digest, Chicago, and a sister, Marie Leiber, also of Chicago.

79-Year-Old Texas Doctor Dies In Vets Hospital In Tennessee

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Oct. 15 (AP)—Dr. Walter R. Washburn, well known eye, ear and nose specialist of Cleburne, Tex., died at Kennedy Veterans hospital yesterday.

Washburn, 79, was the oldest paraplegic being treated. His injury dated back to the Spanish-American war, but he was not stricken with paralysis until three years ago.

Funeral services will be held at Cleburne.

RESIDENCE BUILDING BOOMS

Construction On 100,000 New Homes In September Sets Mark

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15. (AP)—Builders started construction on 100,000 new homes in September, setting a record for that month which one government official termed "remarkable."

The Bureau of Labor Statistics reported the figure today. It offered new evidence of a spurt to make up the country's housing deficit—in a season, the BLS official noted, when activity usually slows down in anticipation of bad building weather.

The total was only 300 homes short of the postwar peak reached in May, 1948. But this year's pattern was wholly different. Last year housing starts declined steadily from May on; this year has seen an unbroken, month-by-month rise since January.

New Records Set

July and August also were record-breakers. As a result, the first nine months of 1949 have contributed a total of 743,000 new, permanent homes and apartments. Farm homes are not included in the BLS count.

In the first half of the year, BLS estimated, rental dwellings in buildings for two or more families amounted to almost 25 per cent of all housing units started.

This indicated a growing measure of housing relief for families unable to buy homes. A year ago only about one-fifth of all home construction was of the rental type.

Total Is Boosted

September's total was 2,000 above August, and 17,800—or 22 per cent—above September of last year.

If construction dips only slightly this month, as officials anticipate, the 1949 total is likely to approach one million.

One sign that such a dip is at hand was noted in a separate BLS report which said employment by building contractors dropped slightly in September to a total of 2,315,000 workers—one per cent below the August figure.

The value of new construction in September—housing and non-residential, contract and non-contract—rose to $1,902,000,000 BLS said. This was $9,000,000 above August and was the 1949 peak in construction outlays.

The $14,000,000,000 spent on all new construction so far in 1949 exceeds expenditures in the first nine months of last year by about one and one half per cent.

Following a counterattack by Communist insurgents in Burma's oil fields, the Burma Oil Co. evacuated its European staff from Yenangyaung to Chauk.

Soldiers Nervous

Weddings By Phone Performed For GIs

FORT WORTH, Oct. 15 (U.P.)—Three GI bridegrooms said today that writing letters to their respective brides of only one day was a poor way to spend their honeymoons.

But, they sighed, it was better than having no brides at all.

The three soldiers were married to their German sweethearts in a trans-Atlantic telephone wedding ceremony yesterday by the Rev. A. B. Lightfoot, pastor of the Sylvan Heights Baptist church here.

The grooms were nervous, the pastor was calm.

Cpl. William J. Murphy, 29, New London, Conn., stationed at Camp Hood, Tex., was first to say his "I do" over the telephone. His bride, Christine Anna Odernheimer, 19, was in Frankfurt.

Next. was Cpl. William R. Walton, 39, Decatur, Ga., also based at Camp Hood. He married Matha Elise Mokel, 27, of Obernheinerweg. The phone shook in his hand as he asked her, "are you scared, honey?"

Last was Pfc. Billie P. Judkins, 22, Nacogdoches, Tex., stationed at Carswell Air Force base here. His bride was Ursula Eberheardt, 21, of Bad Kissingen. He was so happy over the ceremony that he talked with her an extra minute. The minute cost him $5.

The phone tolls cost Murphy and Walton $15 each, and Judkins, $20.

E. L. Sturges Commands Newly Organized Brownfield CAP Unit

BROWNFIELD, Oct. 15. (Special)—A unit of the Civil Air Patrol has been organized here with E. L. Sturges, manager of the Arizona Chemical company, as commanding flight officer.

Applications for both senior and cadet memberships have been sent to Bolling Field in Washington for checking.

The office of County Sheriff Ocie H. Murry is cooperating in organization of the CAP unit by making fingerprint cards for applicants for senior membership. Fingerprint cards are not required of applicants for cadet membership.

The CAP unit is expected to be a great help in furthering the aviation program in Brownfield, where preliminary steps have been taken toward establishment of an adequate airport with facilities for commercial planes.

Doctor Says Alcohol Relaxing To Victims Of Cerebral Palsy

CHICAGO, Oct. 15 (U.P.)—Alcohol often exerts a relaxing and stabilizing effect on child victims of cerebral palsy, said Dr. Meyer A. Perlstein, secretary of the American Academy of Cerebral palsy.

"In proper doses it may clarify instead of dull the thinking," he said in Crippled Child Magazine. Other drugs, such as tridone, curate, amytal and phenobarbital, also decrease tension, he added.

But he cautioned that drug therapy is only an aid to special treatment of the nation's 200,000 cerebral palsied, and that it is "no substitute for the use of all other forms of treatments applicable to these disorders.

German Residents Of Duesseldorf Stage Protest Against Former Nazi Official

DUESSELDORF, Germany, Oct. 15—Some 500 Germans here don't want Hitler's financial wizard, Hjalmar Schacht, around.

Schacht and his wife arrived in Duesseldorf on a visit, from their home near Lueneburg, in the British occupation zone. Thereupon 500 local residents staged a riotous demonstration yesterday protesting Schacht's presence.

"There is no room for war criminals here." "Schacht shall disappear." These were among the slogans displayed.

With his wife, Schacht locked himself in a hotel room and called the police. A strong escort took the couple to headquarters for protective custody. Later they were released on condition they would leave the area immediately.

Acquitted of war crimes charges by the international military tribunal at Nuernberg, Schacht has since been convicted and acquitted in German denazification trials. He has another hearing coming up, on the quashing of an eight-year prison sentence which was imposed [illegible] and subsequently nullified.

Red Cross Comes Up With Some Good Advice On How To Battle Colds

HERE ARE SOME common sense precautions urged by the American Red Cross to help you avoid colds this winter. A basic rule is to eat nourishing meals.

AVOID CHILLING and wet feet. Change to dry clothing after exposure.

WASH YOUR HANDS often to get rid of possible virus, especially before eating.

AVOID PEOPLE with colds. If you sneeze, be sure you have covered up.

GET PLENTY OF REST. If you have a cold, stay in bed and protect both yourself and others. 'Just a little cold' may be dangerous to those in contact with you.

Man Identifies Self By Prison Record To Cash Money Order

PHOENIX, Ariz., Oct. 15 (U.P.) — Sometimes a prison record can come in handy.

Take the case of a Blythe, Calif., man who attempted to cash a money order in Phoenix but was stalemated because he had no identification.

Undaunted, the Californian went to the local sheriff's office where deputy Haskell Henshaw found his picture and fingerprints in the files.

Henshaw certified the identification and accompanied the man to the telegraph office where the order was cashed.

An American soldier with a camera cycled out of the United States sector of Berlin into Russian territory, recently, and was promptly arrested.

Flower Industry Booklet Has New Pointers On The Womanly Art Of Wearing Corsages

By HARMAN W. NICHOLS
United Press Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15 —Every time I write about a mountain daisy or a petunia, I get into trouble.

In Chicago a few years ago I did a piece quoting a prominent flower man as saying there was no such thing as an American Beauty rose. The nasty mail that came in from people who raise "American Beauties" was really something.

Well, come Oct. 30, we start National Flower week again.

In Washington, we do it up brown. We don't show our posies in somebody's back yard or in an auditorium. We hold the National Capital Orchid society show in—of all places—the lobby of the American Security and Trust company, a bank.

Anyhow, the flower folks have come out with a little booklet entitled "How To Wear A Corsage." I'm happy to pass along the information.

Flowers On Raincoats

The first rule is that the flower ought to point up and the stem down. That sounds sensible.

Rule number two is to remember that flowers are worn for decoration and to draw attention.

And what do you suppose? It's considered good manners to wear a geranium or a pansy or something with a raincoat (lady style, that is.)

This is from the flower people—not me:

"If you have a pretty umbrella, try pinning a flower or a corsage to the sheath when it is closed."

Rosebuds, gloriosa lilies, or carnations can be worn effectively on gloves. Still quoting. And furthermore:

"A white gardenia worn on the cuff of a black glove is striking with a black and white dress or ensemble.

"Twin corsages—one large and one small for a mother and daughter—are effective for Mother's day or other dress up occasions.

"Corsages are being worn on the plunging necklines of both dresses and suits.

"If you are wearing a simple tailored dress for a dressup occasion, try wearing a rosebud, carnation, or other flowers at each buttonhole back of the button."

The last suggestion sounds like a neat trick if it can be done.

With the strapless gown there are few places to put flowers. So the posie trade suggests you put them in the hair or "affixed to a ribbon or piece of velvet around the throat."

If you wear flowers at all, put a small one in the lapel of the coat. Or to please the little woman put one in the lapel until after you get out of the cab and—then chuck it in the nearest trash can.

If you can get away with it.

Helen Hayes Cancels Her Radio Shows After Death Of Daughter

NEW YORK, Oct. 15 (AP)—A scheduled series of Sunday night radio shows by Actress Helen Hayes, whose daughter died last month, has been cancelled.

The agency handling the show, scheduled to start Oct. 9 over the Columbia Broadcasting system, said yesterday Miss Hayes cabled her decision from Honolulu where she and her husband, Charles MacArthur, are on a trip.

Previously, Miss Hayes cancelled a new play, "Good Housekeeping," in which she was to have appeared with her 19-year-old daughter, Mary McArthur, who died Sept. 22.

Agreement Said Near In Strike

NEW YORK, Oct. 15 (AP)—Negotiators have announced a tentative settlement of the five-month-old Singer Manufacturing Co. strike at Elizabeth, N. J.

Arthur E. Pettit, attorney for the big sewing machine firm, said the proposed agreement was signed by representatives of the company and of Local 401, CIO United electrical workers.

The 7,500 members of Local 401 will vote tomorrow in Elizabeth on whether or not to accept the settlement, Pettit said.

Speedup Is Charged

Neither company nor union negotiators would go beyond a bare announcement of the tentative agreement yesterday. No terms of the settlement were disclosed.

The main point of contention between the union and the company during the long walkout has been the company's standards system, under which employes are paid on a production basis rather than an hourly wage.

The union claimed the system was a speedup device. The company contended it was a fair arrangement.

Oother issues in the strike —wage adjustments and vacations —reportedly did not stand in the way of an earlier settlement.

Fairy-Tale Romance Faced Many Problems

Experts Point Out Problems Of Shirley Temple Marriage

CHICAGO, Oct. 15 (INS)—Shirley Temple's fairy-tale romance and marriage was in danger from the moment of her wedding, according to a grobp of Chicago psychiatrists and sociologists.

They pointed out that dozens of problems which never confront the average guy and gal arose to plague the well-publicized affair of Shirley and her husband, John Agar, a native of suburban Lake Forest, Ill.

Consensus was that publicity, gossips, two careers and the determination of John not to be known as Mr. Shirley Temple or Shirley to be known solely as Mrs. John Agar were all factors that indicated stormy going for the marriage.

Dr. Franz Alexander, director of the Institute for Psychoanalysis and one of the nation's most widely known psychiatrists, said a spirit of rivalry between husband and wife is common in marriage. He explained:

Careers Clashed

"In one case, the husband can be jealous of his wife's success as may be the point here.

"In many ordinary marriages, however, the wife resents her husband because he lives in an exciting world of business while she is a nobody at home."

Marriage between professional people often winds up on the rocks, said Dr. Irene Sherman, assistant professor of psychiatry at Illinois Neuro-Psychiatric institute. She said there is always a problem of rivalry in such marriages and added:

"Shirley was pushed into an abnormal type of life very early and from the start was under a handicap. She had a much greater reputation than her husband and this might have hurt his ego."

Dr. Sherman said that the fact that Shirley helped her husband launch his motion picture career by appearing in early films with him "may have actually done harm to their marriage. It may have made him feel inferior."

Agar Said Resentful

Commenting on reports that Agar was inattentive to his wife recently, Dr. Sherman explained: "A situation like this could have made him feel resentful and cause him to withhold his affection."

Dr. Freda S. Kehm, director of the association for family living, asserted:

"Being in the limelight complicates anybody's life. Marriage partners must be extremely mature emotionally to handle their marriage and the publicity that comes with a glamorous career.

"One of the mistakes we Americans make is to demand of people we admire that they conduct their own affairs perfectly.

"It isn't fair and we are expecting too much."

TEXANS JOIN IN STUDY OF SCHOOL PROBLEMS

Educational Improvements To Be Sought By Group

BY SARAH McCLENDON
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15 — Over 40 percent of America's children who start out in the first grade of the public school system drop out before they finish high school.

Four Texans who came here this week to represent the Texas state Board of Vocational Education at the Federal Security Agensy's conference on adjusting schools to life of the individual say that part of this problem must be met by the schools and part by the local communities.

The four officials are: R. L. Williams, superintendent of Beaumont schools, Miss Ruth Huey, Austin, state supervisor of home making education, R. B. Norman, principal of Amarillo High school, and R. B. Sparks, principal of Baytown High school.

Must Make Programs Better

"Our chief problem encountered at this life adjustment conference is what kind of program can the schools offer these students to make education so attractive to them that they won't drop out," said Williams. "We need to develop initiative in the students themselves so that they will make every effort to stay in school."

This is shocking news indeed to the United States which is constantly feeling superior to other countries because no lad must take an eligibility examination to go on to high school. Americans have a habit of thinking that all their young citizens go through highe school. But there must be some very real reasons why these boys and girls do not continue their studies and the reasons must be something beside the fact that they just get tired or find classes unattractive.

Improvements Are Slow

WILLIAMS and the other Texans believe that some worthwhile things can come from this discussion. The conference represents one of the first attempts to make schools of greater service since the approach has been that the school should be made for the pupil, not the pupil bent to conform to an inflexible routine which might not be of practical benefit to the lad.

"The idea is to adjust school programs to problems in the community and the nation so that those children who suffer hindrances to education may have these removed, FST officials said. It was cited that often times there are emotional blocks for the child which could be corrected or avaided with community effort. If community needs are fitted into the school program, this might keep more youngsters in school, they say.

There will probably be much heard about this effort at community school gatherings in the months to come.

Texans Push Campaign

Texas oil men are leaders in the campaign which got started here recently to cut down funds for the Economic Cooperation Administration (Marshall Plan) next spring, when the next budget is before Congress. a

Since the resolution to withdraw support from ECA so long as it permits expansion of foreign oil production and refining, was agreed to by independent petroleum men at Fort Worth recently, there has been a greater effort started. This will be to work by direct approach, through friends, congressmen, organization and through sympathetic business men in other industries. The one aim is to stiffen ECA's backbone so that it can tell Britain and Holland to stop over expansion of their oil industries to the detriment of the already existing U. S. industry.

This ECA oil picture is most peculiar. First, ECA's petroleum division calls a press conference to say that by 1953 the oil imports from foreign countries will be considerably more than they are now. ECA says the expansion of industry by Britain and Holland is uncalled for and may disrupt the world's oil industry. Estimates of future imports from this overly expanded industry of European nations reach as high as a million and a quarter barrels daily in a few years. This is twice the present amount which already seriously threatens the producer and four times what the domestic producers believe to be needed.

Plan Is Opposed

STANDARD of New Jersey is reported to have handed the government a brief in which it said the expansion plans of Britain and Holland are beyond reason.

The State department is reported to have a secret anaylais which says plans for a refining capacity of 72 million metric tons in Europe by 1953 are way out of line. A 42 million capacity would be more like it.

Rep. John Lyle, Corpus Christi, told ECA this week that if imports go beyond a half million barrels daily that there might be a shock to this nation's economy, yet 1,200,000 to 1,600,000 barrels daily of imports is now expected.

Here's what is not understandable about the whole thing—If ECA believes this contemplated expansion is too great, why does it not pull in its distribution of funds to these countries. It is true that if ECA tightened its disbursements at one point, these two nations could divert their own funds elsewhere and go ahead with the expansion. In fact, they can spend their own money wherever they like. They might not spend it for oil development however, if income from the U. S. were applied with strings attached. Does this country have to keep on giving out funds to other nations even when it sees them determined to work adversely to the best interests of their friend? There are probably people in government who feel that it does have to, for fear some European would say that the U. S. is interfering with the internal affairs of these nations. Small town bankers, however, have been known to handle situations like this in a quiet but very effective manner. Perhaps this country needs more bankers in its policy meetings.

AUSTIN, Oct. 15. (AP)—Texas Daughters of the Confederacy ended its state convention here with election of one new officer and re-election of all its other officers.

The new officer is Mrs. Frank Frazier of Meridian, recording secretary.

Other officers re-elected include Mrs. Coke M. Tinney sr., of Orange, president; Mrs. R. R. Bradford of Tyler, second vice-president; Mrs. Hunter Beaty of Orange, corresponding secretary; Mrs. E. J. "Drinks Are On Me," Whiskey Owner Tells Raiding Officers

CROSSVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 15 (AP) "Come on, boys, the drinks are on me."

Police Group Seeks Fort Worth Pension

FORT WORTH, Oct. 15. (AP)—The Fort Worth Police Officers association may go to court in an attempt to force the City of Fort Worth to comply with a new state law providing pension benefits.

President A. C. Howerton of the association said today its directors will meet Monday to make a last request that the law be put into effect. If the request is not complied with the association will go to court, he said.

Howerton said court action might be on behalf of Mrs. W. O. Whatley, widow of a motorcycle officer who died Aug. 2 of injuries while chasing a speeder, and Mrs. V. P. Howell, widow of a retired policeman. Fort Worth's city retirement fund does not provide payments for widows.

Senator Byrd Sees Saving In Single Money Bill Next Year

BY JACK BELL
AP Staff Writer

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15—Senator Harry Flood Byrd of Virginia, who might be excused for having some doubts, thinks Congress is going to save money next year by putting all its appropriations eggs in one basket.

Byrd, who broke with the late President Roosevelt when FDR shifted gears from economy to spending six months after he first took office, has been trying to get Congress to cut down government outlays in every peacetime year since.

Now he thinks he and those who go along with him have a chance to whittle spending through the consolidation of all money bills into one measure.

Proposal Approved

That will mean that about 19 big money bills, previously handled one at a time by Congress, will be bundled into one measure that will rival in size, if not complexity, the big tariff bills over which Congress used to argue so long, before it gave up and passed the tariff juggling powers to the president.

The Senate already has approved unanimously a bill by Byrd to set up the new system. While the House may not act on it officially, Chairman Cannon (D-Mo) of the House appropriations committee already has announced that the method will be followed by his committee.

To Byrd this means that a budget which may run around $44,000,000,000 for the year beginning next July 1 will be spread out in intelligible form for the first time when members of the Senate and House are called upon to vote upon it.

Estimates Set

If the formula is followed, accompanying this bill will be an official treasury estimate on how much money Uncle Sam expects to take in during the same period. Cannon said that by April 15, when the House would be expected to get the big bill, the treasury ought to be "able to make "an authoritative forecast" on income.

It has been difficult for Byrd to get over to the public the fact that the President's budget is based on how much money he expects actually will be paid out of the treasury in the coming year.

In the past, Congress has voted on appropriations bills without much attention to the actual expenditures involved for the coming year. Congress often appropriates money that isn't paid out until a couple of years later. It authorizes contract making that turns up as expenditures at even longer periods in the future.

Log-Rolling Considered

Byrd's plan is to have all of this information laid out in a table. Then, when Congress appropriates money for warplanes, for instance, it will know how long it will take to spend that money.

"This is the only way that the average Senator or House member can get even an idea of what Congress is doing in fiscal matters," the Virginia senator said.

Not all of his lawmaking colleagues agree with Byrd on the value of the one single-bill plan, even though they don't oppose trying it.

Some of them contend that the possibilities of log-rolling will be increased by having all of the appropriations in one basket. Thus a legislator who wants funds for a dam in his state may be willing to trade with another lawmaker who wants more money for a military installation in his state.

This sort of back-scratching goes on now, but it often involves lengthy waits between action on individual money bills before the trade can be completed.

More Open To Public

Recognizing this difficulty, Byrd said that he thinks the log-rolling will be more open to public view and thus won't be as widespread.

To the Virginia Senator, the government year beginning next July 1 looks like the most critical financially of any this country has encountered. He contends that what Congress and the President do then will determine whether the treasury is ever going to pay off the staggering national debt or whether red ink financing is going to continue indefinitely.

By Byrd's calculations, the treasury is going to pay out about $6,000,000,000 more in the year ending June 30 than it takes in. That's higher than administration experts go in their figures.

Unless Congress cracks down with economies, the Virginian said he thinks the red ink on the treasury's books in the 12 months following that will have to stretch to cover an $8,000,000,000 deficit.

Pressure Expected

Byrd's optimism that Congress actually will save some money through the single bill plan isn't shared by some other lawmakers.

Some heavy pressure will be on Congress to increase, rather than decrease, spending. President Truman aiming his sights at a $300,000,000,000 annual national income, is likely to renew proposals that would cost the government a great deal more money than it is now putting out if they were adopted.

A campaign year, when all of the House and one-third of the Senate seats are at stake, is never looked upon by lawmakers as a very good time to cut down on government outlays.

The tendency of a man seeking reelection is to grab additional projects for his district or state in the hope of clinching a bloc of interested votes.

Republicans seem bent on making economy a campaign issue. That makes some Democrats, who would like to save some money, leery of getting themselves tied in too closely with the GOP.

The prospects aren't exactly inviting. But Byrd maintains his optimism. At least, Congress will be trying for economy in a new way.

Snyder Boom Is Unchecked As Oil Riches Flow Steadily Into Area

Town Is Hard-Pressed To Keep Pace With Increasing Business

By EDWARD WELSH
Journal Staff Writer

SNYDER, Oct. 15—Long before you reach the city limits of Snyder you are aware that you are approaching an oil "boom town." Rigs dot the landscape. Heavy transport trucks move in a steady stream long the highwys bearing oil field equipment. The whole countryside is alive with the flow of "black gold."

Despite the forewarning you are not well prepared for the sight that greets your eyes within the city limits. Traffic is bumper-to-bumper at nearly any hour of the day. Parking spaces are non-existent even though three lanes of space, two curbs and centerline, are provided for vehicles.

Shoppers swarm in and out of stores. Large groups can be found in and around the 24-hour cafes. Little gatherings in conversation are invariably talking about oil. Signs everywhere advertise leases and mineral rights. Abstractors' offices are veritable madhouses. The bank has long lines of customers in front of each wicket and even the bank's officials have their sleeves rolled up as they pitch in to handle the tremendous volume of business.

Just one year ago this October, Snyder had a population of 4,952 persons. Afternoons and evenings were quiet and cotton was the chief topic of conversation. Now Snyder has a reliably estimated population of 12,200 and more people are pouring in everyday by car, rail and airplane.

Rooms At Premium

Housing facilities and street paving have not kept up with the phenomenal growth. That is understandable. Probably one-fifth of the residents live in trailers or temporary housing. It is next to impossible to get a room for overnight even when seeking one early in the day. The one hotel has been filled for months and has bookings that far in advance. The same is true of the tourist courts and hotels.

Rumors fly thick and fast but most of the rumors eventually prove to be a fact. A new bank was rumored not long ago. So were new theater and several other buildings. Work is well along on all these projects. The current rumor is that Snyder will soon have a ten-story office building.

A few months ago a piece of highway property was offered for $8,000. The asking price today is $16,200. Other real estate prices have shown comparable increases.

Other Prices Reasonable

Actually, however, prices in general have not gotten out of control. Meals, clothing, used cars, and other items in regular trade channels are about the same as anywhere else in West Texas. Even lodging is reasonable if you can find it.

Bill Schiebel, manager of the Chamber of Commerce, came to Snyder a little over two years ago to grow with the town and learn the business of a commercial secretary. "I got a lot more than I bargained for," Schiebel said. "It has almost gotten away from me," he says modestly.

Despite the population overload on the town crime is at a minimum. The old type "roughneck" is most conspicuous by his absence. The hard living, drinking and gambling boomers of the old days are rare in Snyder. Instead you find a majority of clean cut and educated young men filling the jobs from driller on up to junior executives with the major oil companies and independents.

Turn Customers Away

Gordon Goss erected a $35,000 restaurant three months ago. He added another dining room to it a few weeks ago. He still turns customers away. "We serve more than 800 every day," Goss says. "Staying open 20 to 22 hours a day still doesn't take care of all of them."

Ed Deaking, manager of Snyder's only hotel, the Manhattan, says his 48 rooms are never empty for longer than it takes to clean them.

Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Rhodes own and manage a $100,000 tourist court that would do credit to any city in the country. Since it opened August 15 every room has been taken. A long waiting list is filed for the first vacancy. The building is of limestone and Spanish tile.

Mrs. Shirley Ekstrom, secretary for the Chamber of Commerce, says: "We have had thousands of requests for rooms, apartments and houses. That is no exaggeration either. There is no immediate way to fill the demand."

Just Take It In Stride

William Fuller, third generation of his family to head the Snyder National bank, says: "We just try to take the whole thing in stride. We want to handle business in a normal way and give service. We don't have any slack periods."

Another bank, the West Texas State, has been organized with Nolap Watson as president. A $45,000 single story structure has been started to house the new bank. Directors include M. H. McWhirter, H. H. Eiland, Hugh Taylor, Weldon Johnson, George Parks, B. C. Drinkard, Herman Doak and Wayne Borden.

A $45,000 two-story office building will adjoin the new bank. The Bickerstaff Motor company is erecting a $25,000 building. Mrs. T. L. Loller is putting $50,000 into the new Ritz theater. A new drive-in theater was completed recently, as was the Chamber of Commerce office.

Paving Work Planned

The courthouse square is getting a $122,000 face-lifting. It is the start of a paving program that will radiate from the center of town. A new laundry and grocery store are each valued at better

Mayor Forest G. Sears smiles at the progress his city has made. "We don't take time to figure it out we just keep trying to take care of the people here." This opinion was also expressed by members of the city council. Members are Ernest Taylor, R. L. Terry, Clarence Williamson, Albert Martin, Ivan Gatlin and Harry Allen.

A competent police force of six men is headed by Chief Simon Best. "Crime is not a major problem here," Chief Best says.

Fire Chief Norman Autry heads a 22-man volunteer force. "The town is outgrowing our equipment but the city will provide more as time goes on," Autry stated.

Students Big Problem

One of the most serious problems with which Snyder has to cope is that of caring for the large influx of school children. This headache was thrown into the lap of Superintendent M. E. Stanfield.

"We received 600 more primary students this year than we expected to enroll," Stanford claims. "We have 11 temporary rooms on the way from Crane. That will provide some relief. The new $225,000 elementary school with 15 rooms should be ready soon."

The present enrollment in Snyder schools is 3,750. Classes average 40 students. O. S. Clark is principal of the primary division. He has 12 teachers for the first and second grades. Pupils in these grades have classes in various churches. T. D. Wiman heads the high school staff of 16 and Elmer Taylor is principal of the elementary school with 27 teachers.

First Well In 1923

And now let's take a look at the cause for this boom. The first oil well in Scurry county was sunk by Col. Albert E. Humphreys in 1923. Oil progress was slow in the intervening years. An occasional well went down such as one drilled by M. Z. Dibble in 1929. The real spurt came in the last 12 months.

Whole new pools were discovered. Some were comparatively shallow. The Ira pool is only 1,700 feet below the surface. The Sharon is at 2,400. The Diamond M, Kelley Canyon and North Snyder pools are deeper. Some run to the Ellenburger at 6,800 feet. Tests show some of these pools to be connected.

National attention centered on Snyder when such well known figures as Henry Ford, II, Bob Hope and Bing Crosby became financially interested in Scurry leases.

Drillers Are Busy

At the present time there are 97 rotary rigs in the county in daily operation. There are 200 proven locations awaiting drillers. With an average cost of $50,000 per well the amount involved in the field runs into millions. More than two years will be required to drill proven locations. More wells will be located in the meantime. One man estimates the major oil companies have already invested up to $50,000,000 in the county.

Oil man M. Z. Dibble says: "Our field here in the county is as big as the whole East Texas field."

Dibble, with more truth than poetry, recently created a motto for the Chamber of Commerce. It runs like this:

"If the dust ain't blowin',
It's rainin' or snowin',
But the oil keeps flowin'
In good old Scurry county."

Locations Are Sought

At the present time there are eight oil field supply houses in Snyder. Nine more are seeking locations from which to distribute the heavy machinery for which there is such a big demand.

"We honestly believe that much of our growth here is healthy and permanent," Willard Jones, publisher of the Scurry County Times, says. "We have expanded our plant in this belief. Most of these folks are here to stay."

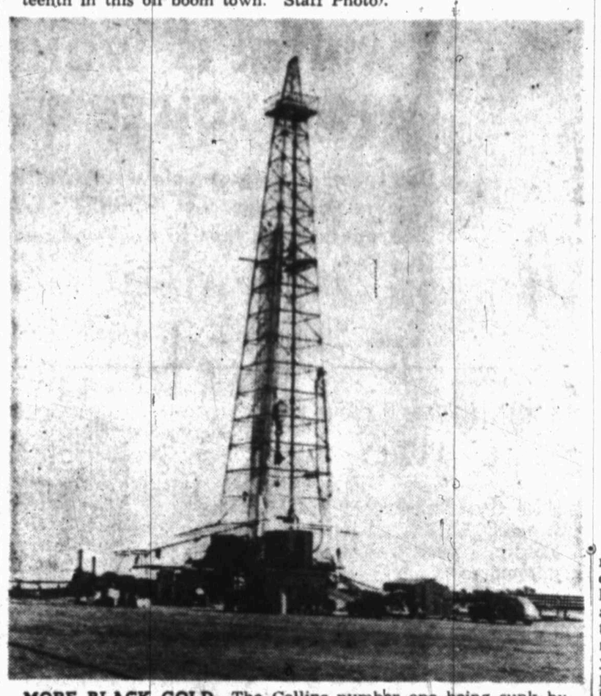

Snyder's business men want to, and do, agree with Jones. Lots of oil is being taken from the earth but like Dibble says in his verse, "the oil keeps a flowin'."

SORRY, NO ROOMS—G. H. Rhodes, owner-manager of the Car-O-Tel at Snyder, displays his 'No Vacancy' sign for room seeker Dale Reed. Reed is general superintendent for the Progress Petroleum company, Houston. He, like hundreds of others, finds that rooms are less plentiful than hen's teeth in this oil boom town. Staff Photo).

OIL AND MORE OIL—Oil is literally everywhere in Snyder. In the picture above painter Lige Nichols blocks out 'oil' in big golden letters to blot out a former sign advertising furniture. M. Z. Dibble, who has been in the oil lease business for more than 20 years, has an office in the store building. (Staff Photo).

MORE BLACK GOLD—The Collins number one being sunk by the Barnsdall Oil company in the North Snyder field is typical of the many wells in Scurry county. Oil men see several years of 'boom' ahead for Snyder, already crowded and overflowing with the tremendous influx of population. (Staff Phato).

DON'T FENCE ME IN—Three parking lanes on the major business streets of Snyder fail to provide adequate space for the heavy traffic caused by the Scurry oil boom. The scene above is on the west side of court house square looking north. The time is 12 o'clock noon. (Staff Photo).

Kaiser To Close Willow Run Plant For Indefinite Period

DETROIT, Oct. 15. (INS)—Edgar F. Kaiser today announced 5,000 workers will be laid off at Willow Run plant and all production there will close down indefinitely Oct. 24.

The president of Kaiser-Frazer corporation termed the layoff "temporary" but gave no date for resumption of operations.

Kaiser said the stoppage was to give dealers an opportunity to cut down current inventories of new cars. He specified the stoppage was not for a model change.

The automotive firm was granted a $34 million Reconstruction Finance corporation loan last week, reportedly to enter the low price car field in competition with Ford, Chevrolet and Plymouth.

The shutdown announced for ten days from now is the third in recent weeks at the sprawling plant. The other two were for what the company called "inventory adjustments."

James W. Turman, Jr., Given Promotion At Roswell AF Base

Walker Air Force Base, Roswell, New Mexico, Oct. 15—Announcement has been made by Brigadier General C. S. Irvine, Commanding General of the 509th Bomb Wing, of the promotion of Cpl. James W. Turman, Jr., to the rank of sergeant.

Sgt. Turman, who formerly resided at 208 Hub Homes, Lubbock, Texas is a member of 509th Air Refueling Squadron. The 509th Bomb Wing, "the first of ths Atom Bomb specialists", is a part of the Eighth Air Force under the Strategic Air Command.

RESTRICTIONS ON TRAVEL EASED

Dollars And Patience All You Need To Tour Occupied Japan

By WILLIAM J. JORDAN
Associated Press Staff Writer

TOKYO, Oct. 15.—So you want to visit Japan? Dollar hungry Japan, you may be sure, would like to have you come.

But before you buy ship or plane ticket, you'll want a better idea of what is in store for you in the land of Madame Butterfly. How much red tape must you cut? Can you travel without a military escort in this occupied country? Above all, how much will it cost? And what will you get for your money?

The first thing you need to get into Japan is a passport. That, of course, is easier said than done. It takes time and patience. But once you get that precious green document from the State department, you've passed the biggest hurdle. After that, all it takes is a trip to your nearest travel agent —and dollars.

Restrictions Eased

When postwar Japan's tourist trade opened up in December 1947 travelers were limited to one-day stopovers. They could leave their ships at Kobe and travel overland to Yokohama (or vice-versa), meeting their ship the following day. Gradually the time limit has been lifted. Now you can take your choice of two or three-day overland tours, or seven-day, 14-day, 23-day or 31-day package tours.

But you still can't come into Japan and wander around on your own—not even for one day. You must be signed up for one of the regular tours conducted by the Japan Travel bureau. The JTB acts as an indirect agent for General MacArthur's headquarters in taking care of tourists.

The most popular methods of travel to Japan is by boat, but growing numbers of Japan-bound tourists are traveling by air. The American President line and a number of smaller companies run regular schedules from the east coast, west coast and gulf ports. Both Pan American and Northwest airlines are starting strato-cruiser service.

Assuming you have cut all the red tape and crossed the Pacific, what's next? Where do you go? What do you see? And what is the bill?

Two Weeks $350

If you take the 14-day package tour, it will cost $350. That includes first class rail transportation with sleeper, hotel and regular meals, sightseeing tours by bus, admission fees, guides, transfer of hand baggage and tips. It does not include laundry and valet service, liquor, souvenirs or other personal expenses.

The day you arrive, you will be taken to Tokyo and quartered in what the JTB calls "the best available hotels." Actually, the hotels available to the tourists are better than average. They are not however, the best hotels. The imperial in Tokyo, the Miyako at Kyoto, the Fujiya at Miyanoshita, the Kawana on the Izu peninsula, and many other first class hotels have been taken over by the occupation.

After the first day, the tourist follows a busy round of travel and sightseeing. First, in Tokyo, you see the Imperial palace plaza (no visitors are allowed inside the palace grounds), the American embassy where General MacArthur lives, the diet (parliament) building, Tokyo university, and the famous Ginza where you can buy everything from cheap trinkets to expensive cameras in the sidewalk stalls.

Heatry Welcome Certain

On the third day, you leave Tokyo for the hot spring resort of Atami. Then to Hakone for a close up of Mount Fuji. The next few days are spent in Koyoto, home of Japan's imperial family for nearly 1,500 years. Later you will see the large cities of Osaka, Kobe, Nagoya and atom-bombed Hiroshima. You will visit ancient shrines, China and Cloisonne factories, a typical Japanese farmhouse, and industrial centers.

One thing you can be sure of if you come to Japan—a hearty welcome. Japan is anxious to make its tourist industry pay off in much needed dollars. The men running Japan's tourist industry realize they must offer tourists the best they have in order to attract the foreign traveller.

Last year, about 4,300 foreigners visited Japan and spent more than $28,500 in tour fares alone. They spent about the same amount for souvenirs and gifts. Through the end of August this year, more than 5,500 tourists came to Japan and spent about $125,000 in tour fares. The most hopeful estimates are that the tourist industry will soon reach the million-dollar-a-year mark.

These figures compare with a pre-war peak—reached in 1936—of 40,000 tourists who spent $25,000,000.

A number of obstacles stand in the way of Japan's tourist industry reaching its hoped-for boom. First, most experts feel foreigners will not come in large numbers until they can stay at the best hotels.

Second, Japan's highways are in terrible condition following years of little or no repair. An auto trip of any length means a rough and unpleasant ride at least, an expensive repair bill often, and sore muscles always.

Third, general unrest in Asia—particularly in China—has discouraged many travelers.

Fourth, there is a shortage of first-class air-conditioned sleeping cars on Japan's railroads.

The Japanese tourist men are doing what they can to overcome these obstacles. Until the luxury hotels are released by the army, they are putting money into some new ones, repairing others. New railroad cars are being built. The cabinet has ordered the construction ministry to get to work on the highways.

About the confusion in Asia, there isn't much the Japanese can do. They can only say—as they do in all their literature—that a visit to Nippon is "a visit to peaceful Japan." They are sure that will be true just as long as the occupation lasts. And that takes them as far into the future as they want to look right now.

Release Sought By Smithwick Defense

BELTON, Oct. 15. (AP)—Defense attorneys for Sam Smithwick, 60, indicted in the slaying of radio commentator W. H. (Bill) Mason, filed an application here today for a writ of habeas corpus.

It was the first formal move by the defense to get the former Jim Wells county deputy sheriff released on bail since the Mason slaying at Alice.

District Judge Paul Martineau of Corpus Christi, presiding at Alice, ordered Smithwick's case transferred from Jim Wells to Bell county last month. Smithwick has been in jail here since then.

The writ of habeas corpus is returnable to the Jim Wells district court for a hearing. The hearing date has not been set.

Mason, 51, was shot July 29 as he sat in his car in the industrial section of Alice. An eyewitness testified that Smithwick halted the Mason car, then fired one shot as Mason tried to shield his body with his arms.

Immediately after the shooting Smithwick placed himself in the Jim Wells county jail.

Defense attorneys acting for Smithwick today were: Henry Taylor, sr., of Temple, Byron Skelton of Temple, and Henry Wilder of George West, Tex.

Former Paducah Bank Man Indicted For Embezzling

FORT WORTH, Oct. 15. (AP)—John Frederick Becker, 42-year-old former Paducah, Texas, bank employe, was named today in a seven-county federal indictment charging him with embezzling $48,386.

He has been free since April 1 under $10,000 bond. At that time a complaint signed by FBI Special Agent William D. Griffith charging him with embezzlement from the National Bank of Paducah was filed with U. S. Commissioner Edmund T. Duff in Wichita Falls.

The first count in today's indictment charges Becker with embezzlement between January, 1947, and March, 1949. The other counts list alleged false entries to cover the charged embezzlements.

The case is set for trial Nov. 21 in U. S. district court in Wichita Falls.

Hearing On Discontinuing Rail Service To Floydada Is Set

QUANAH, Oct. 15. (AP) — Railroad officials here said the state railroad commission will hold a hearing at Paducah Nov. 3 at 10 a.m. on a proposal by the Quanah, Acme & Pacific railway to discontinue passenger service between Quanah and Floydada.

The officials said they had a notice of the hearing from the commission. They said they expect no opposition to the proposal because the service was losing several thousand dollars annually.

Great Britain Will Face Economic Crisis During '50, Experts Say

By FRED DOERFLINGER
INS Staff Writer

LONDON, Oct. 15.—All signs point to 1950 as another year of economic crisis for Britain despite the "pump priming" of Marshall plan aid and devaluation of the pound.

Bankers, financiers, manufacturers, traders, business men, economists and politicians all see a hard pull ahead and no hope of recovery "just around the corner."

When Chancellor of the Exchequer Sir Stafford Cripps drastically devalued the pound from $4.03 to $2.80 on Sept. 18, Britain's dollar and gold reserves had fallen to the dangerous level of $1,320 millions.

Minimum Is Stressed

Also Britain has lived beyond her dollar income to the total of $8,180 million since the beginning of 1947.

But financiers and economists point out that it must be understood that there is a real minimum for the size of the reserve on which Britain can do the banking of the sterling area.

The target of $2,000 million as the "safe" minimum was apparently forgotten long ago.

No one knows exactly how large a working balance is needed but financial circles claim that a drop below the $1,000 million mark would mean bankruptcy.

If reserves fell below that total, they hold, the Bank of England would be unable to honor all its obligations to change sterling currencies into dollars and that is bankruptcy for Britain.

Britain Near Bankruptcy

Britain was thus very near to bankruptcy on Sept. 18. Until devaluation day the deficit in Britain's dollar accounts continued despite the "standstill" order on dollar purchases, at a heavier rate than earlier in the year.

If payments to Britain under Marshall aid had not been kept up at almost the rate of the first year, and if the pound had not been devalued before the end of the quarter, Britain's reserve now would, it is believed, be less than $1,200 millions.

Some $80 million were added to Britain's reserve between Sept. 18 and 30 through buying of pounds by foreign traders and bankers. But Cripps himself termed this "a temporary reversal of the previous drain," and the old forces will soon be at work again to make the reserve fall.

The dollar drain for the last three months of 1949 may not be too bad but by 1950 financiers feel the transitory influences will have disappeared.

Marshall Aid Continues

The success or failure of Britain's devaluation policy should then gradually become apparent. It is much too early at the moment to foresee whether what has been lost through increased dollar cost and lower dollar earnings of the existing volume of trade can be more than counterbalanced by additional British exports to the dollar area.

Meanwhile, Marshall aid is pouring into Britain and is financing the dollar deficit to a very large degree. The dollar deficit will be checked a little too by the cuts in imports and also because payments to Britain will not be held up as they were for some time before devaluation.

Britain will not be bankrupt by the end of 1949. But Britain wil be bankrupt early in 1950 unless she quickly earns more dollars.

Crisis Is Faced

Britain is faced with the necessity for harder work, increased production and a stupendous boost in sales to dollar areas.

Britain has now inaugurated the biggest dollar export drive in her history. The government is urging and aiding manufacturers and traders to sell to the dollar areas even at the expense of soft currency customers. It is backing up the appeal by outright discrimination in the allocation of raw materials.

The planning of the drive is well underway and much has been achieved but the actual "selling" campaign has hardly begun.

Britain must increase her exports to the dollar areas by 40 per cent to make up for devaluation of the pound. In addition she must export an even higher percentage to close the dollar gap, and become independent of American help.

Two Men Held In Fatal Beating

LOS ANGELES, Oct. 15 (AP) — A former major league ballplayer and another man are in jail today on suspicion of clubbing a doctor to death and robbing him of $53.

In custody are Ralph R. Schwamb, 23, pitcher for the St. Louis Browns in 1948, and Ted Gardner, 27, unemployed carpenter of nearby Compton.

Det. Lieut. Paul Phelps said Gardner has signed a confession in the fatal beating of Dr. Donald Buge, 44, Long Beach, Calif., physician, last Wednesday.

Man Is Beaten

Gardner's wife, Joyce, said she accompanied the men, Phelps reported. Mrs. Gardner, 22, was released after questioning.

Gardner's confession said he and Schwamb met Dr. Buge in a burlesque house, adding that the physician asked for a ride, and they decided to rob him.

Gardner stated he stopped his car on a lonely roadway, and Schwamb began beating Dr. Buge, despite Mrs. Gardner's protests. Gardner said he joined in the slugging.

Dr. Buge's body was found later that night.

Schwamb, considered as a promising righthander, had a 1-1 record with the Browns in 1948. A club spokesman said he started the season with Little Rock, Ark., in the Southern association.

Two Big Spring Men Identify Suspect In Man's Slaying

FORT WORTH, Oct. 15. (AP)—Two Big Spring men today picked David Crockett Callaway out of a group of five as the man they saw with a slaying victim shortly before the killing Sept. 26 at Big Spring.

They were Capt. James Harrison of Big Spring's Salvation Army hotel and Andrew Taylor, room clerk and cook at the establishment. They identified Callaway as the man they saw with Hope Leonard, 49, before the latter was killed.

Callaway and two other men were charged in 70th judicial court in Big Spring Sept. 27 in connection with the bludgeon killing. Howard County Chief Deputy Sheriff C. E. Kiser will take Callaway back to Big Spring, Tarrant county officers said.

Garrison Warns Texas Oil Firms Of Communist Sabotage Plots

HOUSTON, Oct. 15 (U.P.)—Homer Garrison, jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, says that the oil industry should be prepared for a program of sabotage planned by American Communists.

He told the 30th annual meeting of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil and Gas association yesterday that guard groups at refineries and other vital spots should be strengthened, employes should be screened for radical elements and that the industry should be decentralized wherever possible.

FARM ACCIDENTS HIGH

DAVIS, Calif. (AP)—Farmers in western states have a higher accident rate than those in the east, says Ralph Parks, agricultural engineer on the Davis campus of the University of California. The western farm accident rate is 40 a year for every 1,000 farm people, he estimates.

Falls cause the greatest number of accidents on farms, he says.

Bible Story From "In Our Image"

The Creation

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the first in a series of studies from the Old Testament with the text condensed from selections by Houston Harte, San Angelo publisher, for his new book, "In Our Image." Illustrations by Guy Rowe are also from the book recently published. The Bible studies will be presented each Sunday by the Avalanche-Journal.

IN the beginning God created the heaven and the earth; and darkness was upon the face of the deep.

And God said, Let there be light: and there was light. And God said, Let there be a firmament in the midst of the waters, and let it divide the waters from the waters: and it was so. And God said, Let the waters under the heaven be gathered together unto one place, and let the dry land appear: and it was so. And God said, Let the earth bring forth grass, the herb yielding seed, and the fruit tree yielding fruit, upon the earth: and it was so.

And God made two great lights, the greater light to rule the day, and the lesser light to rule the night: he made the stars also. And God set them in the firmament of the heaven to give light upon the earth. And God created every living creature that moveth, which the waters brought forth abundantly, and every winged fowl. And God made the beast of the earth, and cattle, and every thing that creepeth upon the earth: and God saw that it was good.

And God said, Let us make man in our image, after our likeness: and let them have dominion over all the earth. So God created man in his own image; male and female created he them. And God blessed them, and God said unto them, Be fruitful, and multiply, and replenish the earth, and subdue it: and have dominion over the fish of the sea, and over the fowl of the air, and over every living thing that moveth upon the earth.

And God saw every thing that he had made, and, behold, it was very good. And the evening and the morning were the sixth day.

Thus the heavens and the earth were finished, and all the host of them. And on the seventh day God ended his work which he had made. And God blessed the seventh day and sanctified it: because that in it he had rested from all his work which God created and made.

ANN ARBOR, Mich., Oct. 15 (AP)—Six-year-old Tommy O'Neill scampered happily about the Michigan Children's institute today unaware that he doesn't have a papa and mama.

The friendly couple who had hoped to claim Tommy as their son had given up before the evidence of science.

Heartbroken, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Thompson left last night for their Dayton, Ohio, home after blood tests showed Tommy could not be their missing son, Ronald, kidnaped five years ago.

But Tommy was not told.

Pair Still Hopeful

"We are keeping him busy and will tell him when the time is right," Clarence Ramsey, institute director, said.

Tommy, a ward of the state of Michigan, will be boarded out, Ramsey said. Later an adoption will be arranged.

Mrs. Thompson said:

"I feel in my heart that God won't let me down. I'm going to keep on searching. I believe God will eventually return our child to us."

Dr. Charles Cotterman, who made the blood tests at the University of Michigan, described the results as "conclusive."

The blood of the Thompsons' two small children was used in the tests in addition to that of the parents and Tommy.

The tests were of the "MN" type used to determine maternity. More than 300 tests were run.

Children's institute reports indicate Tommy is the son of an unwed mother. The state took him away from a Mexican family in whose custody he had been placed.

Since then he was boarded at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Linder Foote at Hickory Corners. The Footes had noted physical resemblances between their little ward and recently published descriptions of the missing Ronnie.

Tommy won't be returned to the Footes, however. Ramsey said that would be unwise because of the publicity.

Cleburne Man To Speak In City

Reuel Lemmons, minister of Central Church of Christ in Cleburne, has been selected by elders of Broadway Church of Christ to preach at the annual fall meeting of the local church Oct. 30 through Nov. 6.

Evangelist Lemmons is a graduate of Abilene Christian college and has had extensive experience in conducting revival meetings in various parts of the nation.

Served In Oklahoma

Following his graduation from ACC, he preached eight years at the Church of Christ in Tipton, Okla., which directs one of the most outstanding homes for orphans in that state, the Tipton Orphan home. The minister worked closely with the home in raising money for its expansion.

In 1943, he was called to preach at one of the largest and most widely known of Churches of Christ in Texas, the Central church in Cleburne. About a year ago, that church assumed responsibility of promoting interest and support for mission work among the large white population of South Africa. For a year and a half, Minister Lemmons has preached by recording once a week over the Laurenco Marques station in East Africa. The station estimates a million listeners to the program, which is broadcast in seven languages. Four preachers of Churches of Christ recently sailed for Africa to do follow-up work as result of interest generated by the program.

Services in the revival here will be conducted daily at 10 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. Horace Coffman, associate minister of Broadway Church of Christ, will direct singing. Services will be open to the public.

INTRODUCING LUBBOCK'S MINISTERS

Rev. Abe Hester, Jr., Holds College Ave. Baptist Post

Rev. Abe Hester, jr., pastor of College Avenue Baptist church, came to Lubbock in June, 1948, from Adamsville, Tex., where he had held a pastorate.

He also has been pastor of Baptist churches in Oklahoma City and Sweetwater, Okla.

Mr. Hester, who grew up in the Anson-Stamford area of West Texas, attended Wayland college (then a junior college) and received his bachelor of arts degree from Hardin-Simmons university, Abilene, in 1941. He attended Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, Fort Worth, taking his master of theology degree there in 1947.

Church Expansion Completed

Mr. Hester succeeded Rev. L. L. Richardson as pastor of the College Avenue Baptist church here. At the time he came here, construction was underway on a church enlargement project, which included a new wing for offices and Sunday school rooms, and enlargement of the church auditorium. The project was completed in September, 1948.

During the past 16 months, 547 additional members have been placed on the church roll and Sunday school enrollment has doubled. Attendance at Sunday night Training Union services also has increased tremendously.

There are at present more than 1,000 members of the church.

Mr. Hester is a member of the Lubbock Ministerial association and the Lubbock Baptist Pastors conference.

Mr. and Mrs. Hester have two children, Carol Anne, 8, and John Paul, 2. The family resides at 2420 Ninth.

ARTHRITIS AND HEADACHES

Came To Stephens Chiropractic Clinic

After trying out different health methods without satisfactory relief she decided to come to the STEPHENS CHIROPRACTIC CLINIC to see if something different could not be done for her. During the examination of her spine X-Ray pictures showed a badly misplaced and distortion of the vertebrae of the spinal column. The Neurocalometer (nerve test) analysis revealed that the nerves were testing over five points (5) off to the left at the base of her brain. Also her shoulder and arm nerves, stomach nerves and kidney nerves were testing badly.

What Chiropractic Has Done For Her

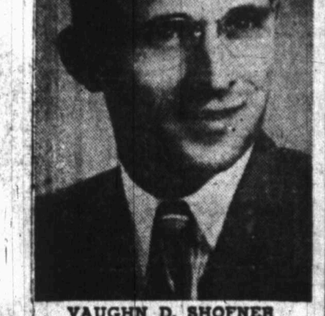

After and during the course of chiropractic health service her Arthritis began to improve during the first few weeks of service. Her head began to improve gradually until today it is almost entirely relieved. Her eyes which had been failing for 6 years began to improve and she is happy over it. It did not occur to her that chiropractic could help her eye condition. This lady has frequently said, "Chiropractic has helped me more than I ever thought possible."

Amerada Will Plug Wildcat In Borden

Amerada Petroleum corporation No. 1 J. R. Canning, wildcat eight and three-quarter miles west of the Sharon Ridge Canyon field and in extreme southeast Borden county, is preparing to plug and abandon.

A drillstem test at 8,370-8,410 feet showed 6,580 feet of sulphur water. It was reportedly low on the Canyon reef to the Diamond-M field of Southwest Scurry county which is six miles to the east.

It was drilled to a total depth of 8,435 feet in the Ellenburger.

The dry hole is 667 feet from north and 653 feet from east lines of section 117, block 25, H&TC survey.

Showings Are Disappointing

Showings so far made on the four flankers to the discovery well of the Borden field in North west Borden county have been extremely disappointing.

One of the explorations has been plugged and abandoned after getting water in the horizon from which the discovery well was completed. Another of those projects has drilled into the producing horizon and has been baren up to now and is shutdown for orders.

The other two are still drilling and testing. At the time this report was prepared neither of them had developed any signs of producing from the deep pay which was opened several months ago by Sinclair Oil & Gas company No. 1 Williams.

Well Is Plugged

Sinclair has plugged and abandoned its No. 1 Rosa Pratt as a dry hole after drilling to a total depth of 10,070 feet, a drillstem test at 10,024-070 feet showed 3,800 feet of salt water in a one-hour and 50-minute test.

The failure is 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 44, block 32, T-6-N, EL&RR survey.

Sinclair No. 1 Turner, direct east outpost to the discovery, took a drillstem test at 9,850-9,960 feet. Recovery was a 570 foot water blanket, and 160 feet of slightly gas cut drilling mud, with no shows of oil or water.

The project is shutdown now for orders.

The drillsite is 660 feet from north and west lines of the north half of section 46, block 32, T-6-N, EL&RR survey.

The company's No. 1 Ruth Reynolds, a mile north and one half mile west of No. 1 Williams had reached 9,990 feet and preparing to take a drillstem test.

Sinclair was also taking a drillstem test at the fourth offset, No. 1 W. H. Bryan, located 660 feet from south and east lines of section 40, block 32, T-6-N, EL&RR survey.

It had reached 9,992 feet and was testing zone from 9,947 feet to the total depth. It has had no signs of petroleum thus far.

Completion Of Lea Discovery Planned

HOBBS, N. M., Oct. 15.—Completion operations will be started shortly at a new discovery from the Drinkard zone of the lower Permian in Central-East Lea county, which has been made by C. L. Norsworthy, jr., of Dallas, Tex., at his No. 1 Shell-Waldrip.

This prospector, located six miles southeast of Hobbs, flowed 206 barrels of oil in 18 hours from the zone at 7,070-90 feet, after that section had been treated with 500 gallons of acid.

The flow was through a one-quarter inch tubing choke. Considerable gas was show during the testing. The oil came through perforations in the 5½-inch casing which had been cemented at 7,547 feet.

Operator was preparing to re-acidize the 7,060-90 foot interval. After that has been done it was planned to take the official potential test and complete.

This project is 1,980 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 6-20s-39e. It is near the west line of Gaines county, Texas, and is one and one-quarter miles east of Stanolind Oil & Gas company No. 1-U State, a small Devonian discovery in section 2-20s-38e, completed several months ago.

West Texas, New Mexico Are Leaders In Oil Operations

DALLAS, Oct. 15—Rotary rig operations in oilfields of the United States and Canada showed a net decline of 40 in number of active units for the week of October 10, despite increased activity in West Texas and in California.

The total for the week, according to reports of Hughes Tool company, was 1996, compared to 2036 for the previous week, 2004, a month ago and 2364 for the corresponding period a year ago.

By area, active rigs for the week were as follows: Pacific Coast, 160, up 14; West Texas and New Mexico, 591, up 11; Gulf Coast, 463, down 37; Oklahoma-Kansas, 350, down 9; Rocky Mountains and Canada, 163, down 8; Illinois, 114, down 7; Arkansas-Louisiana-Texas, 155, down 4.

Drilling Continues At 7,000-Foot Test In Northwest Hale

A contracted 7,000-foot wildcat in Northwest Hale county, Tobe Foster of Lubbock and others No. 1 G. A. Harrell, was continuing to make hole past 5,673 feet in lime.

It is eight miles northwest of Hale Center and 660 feet from south and west lines of section 7, block O, D&SE survey.

Well Completed In Garza County

Herman & George R. Brown of Houston have completed their No. 1 G. W. Basinger, wildcat 11 miles northwest of Post in Northwest Garza county.

The new pumper made 86 barrels of 36.3-gravity oil in a 24-hour period plus 40 per cent water.

The production from Permian lime was from perforations between 3,526-3,536 feet. That section was treated with 2,000 gallons of acid.

Casing Is Cemented

The venture drilled to a total depth of 3,581 feet and cemented a string of 7-inch casing at that point. It plugged back to 3,547 feet for the completion.

Location is 330 feet from northeast and 972.2 feet from north lines of the lease in section 726, B, Hall survey 893.

A new project for Garza county is to be E. F. Cesinger of Dallas No. 2 Montgomery-Davies, located in the central part of the county, two miles south of Post.

To Take Core

It is contracted to drill to 3,600 feet to test in the San Andres lime of the Parmian which is the pay zone in the nearby Garza field.

The drillsite will be 330 feet from south and east lines of section 10, K. Aycock survey. Drilling with rotary tools will begin soon.

Seaboard Oil Company of Delaware and Republic Natural Gas Company No. 1 OS Ranch, at the center of the southeast quarter of the southwest quarter of section 2, block 5, GH & H survey and 15 miles south of Post, was preparing to take a core at its present total depth of 7,504 feet in lime.

It is contracted to drill to about 8,250 feet to test the Ellengurger.

Operator Trying To Install Whipstock At Dickens Well

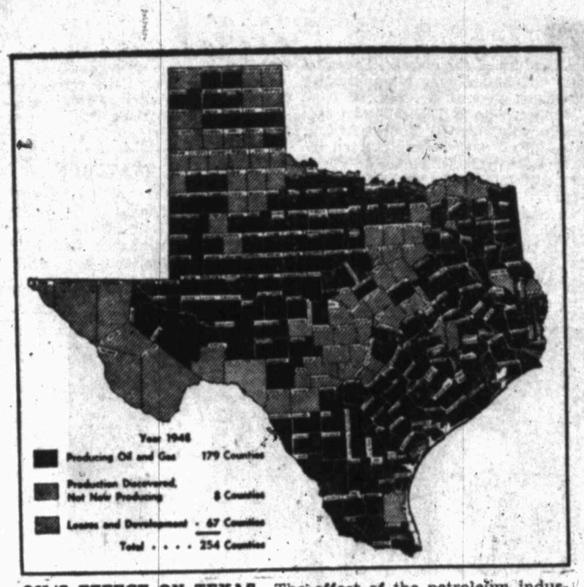

Union Oil company of California No. 1 W. J. Elliott, jr., wildcat to 8,500 feet to test the Ellenburger in extreme southwest Dickens county, was bottomed at 2,210 feet in lime.

Operator was still trying to install a whipstock to start a straight hole and drill deeper. At the time this report was prepared it had not been able to accomplish much toward getting the straight hole started. Efforts to do are still continuing.

This prospector is five and one-half miles southwest of Spur, and 1,990 feet from north and 2,052 feet from east lines of section 177, block 1, H&GN survey.

WELL IS DEEPENED

Humble Oil & Refining company No. 1 Federal-Wiggs, slated 13,000-foot wildcat in central-south Eddy county, 15 miles south of Carlsbad, and 1,980 feet from north and east lines of section 31-25s-27e, had drilled below 12,215 feet in an unidentified shale, and was boring deeper.

OIL'S EFFECT ON TEXAS—The effect of the petroleum industry's development of Texas' oil and gas resources is spread over most of the state, according to this map which indicates the production status of each county. Mapp prepared by Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association.

Southeast Gaines Test Is Reported Below 10,000 Feet; Shell Wildcat Plugged Back

Forest Oil corporation and Anderson-Prichard Oil corporation No. 1-A Parmer county school land fee, wildcat in southeast Gaines county to 15,000 feet, was making hole past 10,927 feet in lime and shale.

This prospector to test the Ellenburger is 860 feet from west and 660 feet from south lines of labor 12, league 317, Parmer county school lands survey.

Shell Oil company No. 1 Andrews, five-eighths of a mile north of the discovery well for Ellenburger production in the Flanagan field of central-south Gaines county and 12 miles south of Seminole, developed salt water in the Ellenburger and has plugged back to 7,300 feet to try to complete as a producer from the Clear Fork of the Permian.

Zone Shows Possibilities

That zone showed good possibilities of making an oil well when drilled through.

The Ellenburger tested for 32 minutes at 12,525-580 feet and the recovery was 390 feet of drilling mud, heavily cut with salt water. No indications of oil or gas were developed on the test.

The drillsite is 660 feet from south and west lines of section 2, block A-23, psl survey.

In west-central Gaines county and adjacent to the north Riley field, Los Nietos company and Honolulu Oil corporation No. 2-B M. S. Doss, was making progress past 9,470 feet in lime and shale.

It is to test the Devonian at about 11,000 feet.

The prospector is nine miles west of Seminole, and 660 feet from west and 760 feet from north lines of the southeast quarter of section 360 block G, CCSD&RGNG survey.

Making New Hole

Samedan Oil company and Anderson Brothers No. 1-E-A Andrews, central-south Gaines wildcat adjacent to the Robertson field and 660 feet from north and west lines of the northeast quarter of section 19, block A-24, psl survey, was making new hole past 11,320 feet in lime and chert.

It is projected to 12,500 feet.

It has shown for commercial production from the Devonian. That formation made a flow of 40 barrels of oil per day from section at 10,062-090 feet.

Deepening was in progress at Mid-Continent Petroleum corporation No. 1 L. R. Nichols, wildcat 23 miles west of Seminole to 8,000 feet.

Operator was drilling past 4,500 feet in lime and was making more hole.

Location is 660 feet from north and west lines of section 7, block A-10, psl survey.

New Project Slated For Spraberry Deep Dawson Oil Field

A new project for the Spraberry deep field of southeast Dawson county is to be Seaboard Oil company of Delaware No. 8-D-A J. H. Robinson.

It is contracted to drill to 7,000 feet, using rotary tools, to test into the Spraberry sand. Operator is now rigging up and preparing to drill.

The project will be 17 miles southeast of Lamesa and 660 feet from north and 1,747.5 feet from west lines of section 37, block 34, TP survey.

Firm Making Hole

The same company's No. 3-D Lee, a south offset to the discovery of the Spraberry deep field, was making hole past 4,243 feet in lime and shale.

No. 3-D Lee is 1,980 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 47, block 34, TP survey.

Seaboard was making further hole at its No. 1 Mart Barrow, wildcat to 10,000 feet in northeast Dawson county, and 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 8, block 35, T-6-N. It was drilling in lime and shale past 10,815 feet.

Northwest Of Field

This prospector is 11 miles northwest of the Spraberry field.

The same company's No. 7-A-D Robinson took a drillstem test at 6,648-6,715 feet and some signs of commercial production were made. It is understood that operator plans to test and try to complete as a producer. It is bottomed at 6,715 feet.

Terry Producer Completed; Two Yoakum Wells Near San Andres

Showings at two wildcats in East Yoakum county are being watched closely by interested observers as they drill ahead and approach the section in the San Andres zone of the Permian lime in which they are expected to find petroleum.

One of those ventures should reach that horizon during the week. The other should determine the producing ability of the San Andres within two weeks, however it is to drill ahead to explore the lower Permian.

Cabot Carbon company of Midland, No. 1 Bessie Clay, wildcat four miles northeast of Tokio and 660 feet from south and west lines of section 12, block D, J. H. Gibson survey, was drilling past 5,032 feet in dolomite.

Contracted depth of this prospector is to 5,500 feet to test the San Andres.

Northeast Of Pool

It is one mile northeast of King, Warren & Dye, Inc., No. 1 Irving Stewart, a 5,61[illegible]-foot San Andres failure drilled in 1945, and four and one-half miles northeast of the Ownby pool.

The other exploration, Honolulu Oil corporation No. 1 Paul Cobb and others, contracted to drill to 8,000 feet, was making hole past 4,138 feet in lime and shale.

Seaboard Oil company of Delaware No. 2 E. M. Hinson made a daily production of 234 barrels of oil, flowing through a three-eighths inch tubing choke, natural. There was no formation water.

From the Canyon lime the flow was from 9,400-35 feet.

Pressure in that formation was extremely low and operator will probably instal la pump to lift the oil out if necessary.

It is one-quarter of a mile south of the discovery well of the Mound Lake field, and 660 feet from south and west lines of the northwest quarter of section 91, block 4-X, EL&RR survey. That makes it eight miles northeast of Brownfield.

Tide Water Associated Oil company No. 1 J. P. Nystel, contracted 12,500-foot wildcat four miles east of the Adair field in southeast Terry county, was continuing to drill deeper past 9,216 feet in lime and shale.

Stanolind To Hold Open House Sunday At Monroe Station

Open house will be held at the Stanolind Pipe Line company pump station two miles west of Monroe today, beginning at 2:30 p. m., in observance of Oil Progress Week.

Stanolind, one of the largest pipe line systems in the world, will join with 34,000 independent oil companies in sponsoring Oil Progress Week. Open house is being held throughout the system, according to area officials of the company.

The public is invited to visit the station in an effort to give laymen an opportunity to learn something of how the pipe line business is operated.

Engineers from the Lubbock office of the company will explain the use of the equipment on display Sunday and answer questions of visitors concerning the pipe line industry, which carries more than ten per cent of the nation's domestic traffic.

Monday, junior and senior students in petroleum engineering at Texas Tech will be shown the plant, along with any other senior engineering students who wish to see the plant. Students will be given a more detailed explanation of the operation of equipment at the station, officials said.

HINT FOR MOTORISTS

Exhaustive tests have proved that a car having clean spark plugs and traveling at a speed of 60 miles an hour will get 43 per cent more mileage from a gallon of fuel than a car with dirty plugs operated at the same speed.

White Girl Is Playing Role Of Negro For First Time In Movie-Making History

By RALPH DIGHTON
Associated Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 15.—For the first time in movie history, a white girl is playing the role of a negro.

Jeanne Crain

The girl is Jeanne Crain, native Californian of Irish descent who has specialized in "all-American girl" portrayals.

The role is that of a part-negro girl who passes for white until the problem of marriage and offspring arises.

The movie is "Pinky," major 1949 project of Darryl F. Zanuck, who two years ago won an academy award with another film on racial discrimination, "Gentleman's Agreement."

"Pinky" is bound to stir up a controversy. It's laid in the deep South, where Jeanne flees after abandoning her masquerade as a white nurse in Boston. In desperation she returns to her grandmother (Ethel Water), whom she hates for being black.

Audience Reaction Factor

Why wasn't a young negro girl chosen for the role, instead of the fair, red-haired Miss Crain? Certainly there are many negro actresses capable of handling the job.

"Undoubtedly there are," says Jeanne, "but it would have involved a long, expensive talent hunt."

There are other, perhaps more pertinent reasons.

Even if the studio could have found such a girl, what would they have done with her after "Pinky?"

There's another touchy problem. There are love scenes, between Jeanne and the white doctor who loves her enough to overlook her negro blood. If "Pinky" were portrayed by a negro, how would audiences react to her being kissed by white Bill Lundigan?

Sometimes people will tolerate an idea where they wouldn't accept an actual fact.

Another Reason Given

There was another reason for Miss Crain's selection. She was available, under contract to Zanuck's studio (20th Century-Fox). And she was courageous enough to risk her growing reputation as an actress on a film that could make or break her with the movie public.

"There certainly was no pressure put on me to accept the role," she says. "I wanted it very much. I competed for it, against 16 other actresses. Not because I am a fanatic on racial questions, but simply because it's a wonderful chance for fine, dramatic entertainment."

(In the movie business, "fine, dramatic entertainment" is another phrase for "box office.")

Here's what Zanuck has to say: "Pinky's story is that of hundreds of thousands of girls in this country. The situations she runs into, as she struggles to find happiness and love in a confused world are typical ones. We have tried to draw them as they exist, without bias one way or another."

Acts Without Makeup

Long after the decision to film "Pinky" was made, two questions bothered studio heads. The first was who to make to look like a negro. The second concerned the ending of the story.

Because "Pinky" could pass for white, it was finally settled that no artifice should be used to give Jeanne negroid features. She plays the role without makeup.

Final decision on the ending was nont reached until after the cameras had started rolling.

Pinky's doctor friend tries three times to get her to come back to him, and leave the southern village where she comes face to face with the prejudice and inequality she escaped in the north.

Each time Pinky hesitates. At last she comes to the realization that she doesn't really love the man—she was only using him as a bulwark against intolerance—and that her future lies with her own people.

"Pinky" is not the first negro-problem movie to reach the public, but it probably will cause more talk than the others. It seems to face the question more squarely, even though it offers no solution.

"Pinky" based on the book, "Quality," by Cid Ricketts Sumner, may well be the most controversial movie of 1949.

Even if it should dodge criticism from all other quarters, it still may fail in the ultimate test at the box office, where it will be judged on artistic merit alone.

"At stake are Jeanne Crain's career, the current measure of good will toward the negro race, and two million studio dollars.

Smuts Relieved Of Post By Government

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, Oct. 15. (AP)—Field Marshal Jan Christiaan Smuts has been relieved of his post as commander-in-chief of South Africa's defense forces in the field and placed on the retired list.

Defense Minister F. C. Erasmus sent a letter to Smuts yesterday telling him of the change. Erasmus said the action was taken by the governor-general in council.

Smuts, who is 79, formerly was prime minister of South Africa. His United party was defeated by Prime Minister D. F. Malan's Nationalist party in an election last year.

A spokesman for the defense forces said Smuts was placed on the retired list because he is over 60. Smuts was 70 when he was appointed commander-in-chief in May, 1946, with the rank of general.

Smuts remains on the active list of the British Army as field marshel, a rank he has held since 1941.

CRADLE SNATCHER

CHICAGO (U.P.) — Police decided that Donald Thomas, 17, came pretty close to robbing the cradle. They accused Thomas of taking $3 from a three-year-old boy while the latter was on a shopping trip for his mother.

Six Million Dancing Students Have Made Arthur Murray Successful Businessman

By HAL BOYLE
Associated Press Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Oct. 15 — Many people get rid of a feeling of inferiority today by lying down on a psychiatrist's couch.

And for $15 an hour—more or less—they talk away their troubles.

Long ago Arthur Murray used his head to figure a cheaper way to cure shyness—through the balls of the feet.

He began as a youthful $5 a week instructor in a dime-a-dance hall. Today, rich and bunion-free at 54, he operates a $22,000,000 annual dance business. In the last 37 years he has managed to cure practically everybody's shyness except his own.

Six Million Students

"I figure in that time we have taught about 6,000,000 people to dance," he said the other day, sipping rather dolefully from a can of apricot juice. "We've enrolled about 2,000,000 in our studios, 3,000,000 by mail, and about 1,000,000 by radio."

It has been some years since Murray had to wear out his own dancing pumps steering satchel-footed pupils around the floor. The Murray system now has about 194 affiliated studios of the dance across the nation. They employe some 5,000 teachers.

The cathedral of this rumba and waltz empire is a huge studio off Madison avenue in mid-Manhattan that grosses $1,200,000 annually.

Murray, who says he was gawky and shy himself as a boy, still appears mildly uncomfortable whenever he is asked a question. Pert Mrs. Murray, a dark slim little woman of tremendous energy, has the personality of the pair.

"Arthur still dances every single day when he doesn't have a cold—from 5 minutes to an hour," she said. "He is best at the rumba. He does a beautiful rumba. He used to do the jitterbug, but it's passe now. Only the older people do it.

"You know, as soon as the older people take up a dance, the kids drop it."

"Most of the adults who want to learn to dance are between 40 and 60," explained Mrs. Murray. "And 65 per cent of our pupils are men. The reason? Men study things—women don't. We're lazy."

The latest Murray gimmick is a lifetime course. Anyone who takes this $5,000 course of 1,000 hours can then turn and dance free two hours a month for as long as his arches last. One Long Island school teacher is buying two—she just LOVES to dance.

"Our course is different from the lifetime fountain pen offer," smiled Mrs. Murray. "We don't put them under water."

Army Board Okays Dam For Brownwood

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15. (AP)—The Army engineers' board for river and harbors improvements today approved plans for a $9 million dam on Pecan bayou just below Lake Brownwood.

The board acted after hearing a large delegation from Brownwood.

Those present included business and civic leaders headed by Mayor A. N. Thomason and President E. J. Weatherby of the Brown county water improvement district.

Reps. Fisher and Pickett, Texas Democrats, also urged prompt action. They said the existing Lake Brownwood is inadequate protection for Brownwood in the event of a major flood.

Budget bureau approval of the project now will be sought. If approved by the bureau, the project then will be presented to Congress for authorization and eventual appropriation of funds, said Fisher.

Bald Eagle Disappearing From Habitat As Man Moves Closer

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 15—(U.P.)—A University of Tennessee zoologist says the bald eagle, national bird of the United States, is slowly but surely disappearngi from its No. 1 habitat, Florida's coastal and inland waterways.

For 11 years, Dr. Joseph C. Howell has been studying the bald eagle population along the Indian River between Cocoa and New Smyrna Fla.

The eagle population declined almost 30 per cent from 1935 to 1946, Howell discovered, with 24 pairs of eagles nesting in the sample area in 1935 compared with 17 pairs in 1946.

Howell blames it on the influx of the human population. As men move in, Howell learned, the eagles move out. What's more, he says, some hunters thoughtlessly shoot the majestic birds despite federal laws to protect them.

Film Actor Has Used Six Different Names During Short Career

By PATRICIA CLARY
United Press Staff Writer

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 15. (U.P.)—An actor who's been known during his short life by six different names says you folks who are born and remain John Jones are lucky.

This man was born Kenny O'Morrison. But nobody believes it. Not even the nurse who made out his birth certificate.

"I'm legally registered," he said, "as Kenneth Eugene Morrison. That name was entirely the idea of the recording nurse at the hospital. When my father said 'Kenny O'Morrison,' she thought he was too excited to know what he was telling her."

The "O" before the "Morrison," he added, throws more people than just the nurse at the hospital.

"People won't question O'Shea or O'Donnell," he said, "but when you say O'Morrison, they think it's your middle initial."

Kenny, he adds, is not a diminutive of Kenneth. It's a good Irish clan name.

Name Changed

When Kenny was four, the father who named him was killed in World War I. His mother married again, and the boy became Kenny Elliot. In school, he added, teachers called him Kenneth, even thought it wasn't his name.

Later his mother married another man named Mandel. Kenny became Kenny Mandel.

By the time he got to high school his mother was divorced and had resumed her maiden name of Adams. Kenny became Kent Adams.

"These troubles were nothing," he says, "compared to trying to explain to the army why I called myself Kenny O'Morrison when my birth certificate said Kenneth Eugene Morrison."

It took the government five weeks to adjust to the situation.

Now he is working in Filmakers' "Never Fear," produced and directed by Ida Lupino, under the name of Kevin O'Morrison.

"Richard Conte suggested the name," he said. "I hope it's the last one I have."

A HOLLYWOOD Column

By ERSKINE JOHNSON
NEA Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Oct. 15.—Exclusively Yours: Ray Milland, who gets $6,000 a week at Paramount, would like to be a $250 a week movie director.

Johnson

He offered his directorial services to Columbia for one picture at that price. Columbia drew up while he was the contract starring there in "Woman of Distinction."

But when Ray asked Paramount's permission, he was turned down. Now his agents and Paramount are talking about a trade—he'll extend his contract for an extra film if they'll loan him to Columbia as a director.

Explains Ray: "Just looking forward to the day when I have three chins."

THOSE RKO billboards for "I Married a Communist" are surprising the public as well as Larine Day, who plays the title role. They read: "Nameless, shameless woman—trained in an art as old as time." Only they refer to Janis Carter, the heavy of the picture, and not Laraine.

Columbia is convinced that Rita Hayworth will return to Hollywood for one or more movies after she becomes a mama. The theory is that part of Aly's fascination for her is that she's a movie star—and she'll go on being star. She owes the studio nine films, under her contract. Harry Cohn, I hear, discussed three story ideas with her in France this summer. She told him she wants glamor roles like "Gilda" and no more heavy drama.

Susan Peters and Richard Quine are still good friends, despite the divorce. He picked her up at the airport the other night. Susan's great handicap—she's still in that wheelchair—hasn't dampened her acting ambitions. She'll make a 45-week tour of the U. S. this winter in "The Barrets of Wimpole Street."

EVEN Gov. Allan Shivers was impressed with the oil boom when he visited Snyder last Monday for the "Welcome Newcomer Festival." The governor was honor guest at a reception on C. T. McLaughlin's famous Diamond M ranch.

Despite the oil boom in Scurry county the farmer has not neglected his crops. W. M. Davidson, manager of the Snyder Co-Op gin, estimates a yield of 40,000 bales for this season. His gin is going 24 hours a day at the rate of five bales per hour. Ten other gins in the county are just as busy. Wagons are stacked up on the yards awaiting their turn.

Miss Dorothy Patterson, a 1949 graduate of Littlefield high school, is now secretary to Pat Mann of the Chamber of Commerce there. Miss Patterson, who is an enthusiastic booster for her home town, replaces Miss Virginia Whitaker now a student at Eastern New Mexico University.

C. R. STEVENS, superintendent of Amherst schools, says they have a well balanced organization. The ratio of pupils to teachers is about 20 to one. Of course, some teachers have more than 20 pupils in some classes but the aerage load is such that it promotes efficiency in both teacher and student.

City Secretary Busy

From the looks of the mounted game on the walls of his office it is safe to say that hizzoner will come home with the bacon—or rather—pheasant.

New Officers Named

Gaines county's fair association has named new officers for the coming year. A. C. Ward of the Rafter I Ranch was selected president replacing J. D. Mitchell. M. E. Brewer, Seagraves, vice-president; Mark Allen, Loop, vice-pres.; and Joe Anderson, Seminole, holdover vice-pres.

I REALLY regret that being elsewhere on the Cap Rock prevented me from making the Gaines county fair. It would have been worth the price of admission to see affable Ox Jameson riding a horse. Now I'm not one of those skeptics who laughed at the idea of Ox finding a mount large enough. It is just that I would like to have seen the monumental proportions of both man and animal riding at the head of the parade. I'm sure Ox did that job as well as he heads the Chamber of Commerce or any other project he undertakes.

Judge Gets Around

Judge Lewis B. Reed of Lamesa is one of the most ubiquitous men on the South Plains. You will find him in Snyder one day, Tahoka the next and somewhere else on the third day. The judge claims Lamesa as his home and he has an established residence there but the lock on the door is a bit rusty from lack of use. But no matter where the judge is his friendly smile is a pleasant addition to the scene and he is always a welcome guest.

HARLEY SADLER, beloved veteran showman and former member of the legislature, was in Lamesa Wednesday to crown the queen of the pageant. Harley is another one of those hardy perennials for whom the people of the South Plains have an affectionate spot in their hearts. Harley makes his home in Abilene now but he keeps in constant touch with folks out here.

All Towns Growing

There isn't a town on the South Plains that isn't growing by leaps and bounds. If you don't think so just drive around in any community in the area. Look at the buildings and homes going up. Listen to the cash registers ringing and note the traffic congesting the main streets and highways. Then ask the newcomers where they came from. If it keeps up East Texas will become a place of desolation.

South Plains mayors are beginning to talk of forming an association to study mutual problems. Those who haven't been contacted yet can get in touch with Mayor Sam Richardson, Lamesa. It would be a swell idea for the 50 South Plains municipal leaders to get together occasionally.

Balance Urged For Oil Traffic

HOUSTON, Oct. 15. (AP)—The Fourth Army commander today said the nation should maintain a "reasonable balance" in its petroleum imports and exports.

Lieut. General LeRoy Lutes said the imports problem complicates the defense department's hope to see the western hemisphere become self-sufficient in supply of oil.

Lutes spoke before the thirtieth annual convention of the Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas association.

The convention concluded with unanimous adoption of a resolution opposing United States loans to foreign countries for development of petroleum resources.

Such unnecessary expense to taxpayers, the resolution said, could be avoided if private enterprise is given a reasonable opportunity to develop foreign resources.

The 700 Texas oilmen attending the two-day convention reelected R. B. Anderson to a third term as association president.

Col. Homer Garrison, director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, warned the oilmen there is a definite threat of sabotage of the industry by "our domestic Communists."

He advised decentralization of oil refineries, cracking plants, tank farms and other installations.

Nine new vice-presidents elected by the association today include F. L. Green, jr., Pampa, George Wagner Dimock, Wichita Falls, French M. Robertson, Abilene, Raymond Dillard, Mexia, Watson W. Wise, Tyler.

H. E. Chiles, jr., Midland, was elected to a second term as a vice-president.

Named new directors were Harlan Ray, Dallas, H. B. Zachry, San Antonio, Roy Derrick, Midland, John Hurd, Laredo, and V. F. Harrison, Corpus Christi.

Mrs. "Bugs" Baer, Heart Disease Victim, Devoting Energy To Research On Ailment

By JAMES POWERS
INS Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK, Oct. 15.—Mrs. Louise Baer, honored this week for her work in promoting research in heart disease, said today she is actively devoting herself to this cause because she is herself the victim of a serious heart ailment.

Mrs. Baer gives most of her waking day she can snatch from her household duties, her husband—Columnist Arthur "Bugs" Baer—and their two active children to the cause of heart disease research.

This, although for the past 11 years she has been hospitalized at least three times a year for rest and treatment and during the same period has not been allowed to sleep reclining.

Mrs. Baer, a chic and attractive matron whose appearance belies her recurrent illness, was named this week "Sweetest Woman of the Year" for her work on behalf of the New York Heart association and its parent body, the American Heart association.

Saved By Rare Drug

The kudos mean little to her but she is appreciative of the check that goes with the honors—it goes to the heart association.

Mrs. Baer is a lively-spirited woman whose sense of humor almost matches that of her famed husband. She talks casually of her own illness but is forceful when describing the urgent need for research in this field.

"I was bed-ridden with rheumatic fever from the age of four until I was 13," she said. "Three years ago I was critically ill with a series of 11 blood clots in my system when I was saved by a new drug called dicumeral."

Mrs. Baer explained that when she learned she was the third person to have dicumeral used on her and that it was developed through long research she privately vowed to "devote the rest of my life" to aiding research and study in heart disease "out of gratitude to God."

"One thing that is not generally understood," she said, "is that heart disease is not an 'old person' disease.

"Two per cent of the children in New York's public schools must attend special classes as victims of heart disease. They are deprived of all normal childhood pleasures.

Works With Children

"Imagine children unable to run and play, swim or take part in any of the active pursuits that make it fun to be young."

One of the heart association's projects, in which Mrs. Baer takes a personal interest, is a clinic for children with rheumatic fever at Belleue hospital in New York.

"For the first time in the history of heart research," she said, "it is possible for trained heart specialists to study children with this terrible disease from the moment they enter the hospital until they are discharged."

Through this study, Mrs. Baer said, medicine hopes to eliminate or bring under control this cruel disease. She, who works personally with the children, added:

"You cannot see this disease and realize how neglected it is and not want to take up arms and fight it."

Mrs. Baer said she was most touched recently by an obituary notice she saw. It was inserted by a man whose young wife had died suddenly and prematurely of heart disease. It read:

"Omit flowers. Send contributions to the heart association."

MOST CONTAGIOUS

Foot-and-mouth disease probably is the most widespread and contagious of all infections maladies of animals, according to the Encyclopedia Britannica.

POLLEN CARRIERS

Insects do most of the cross-fertilizing of flowers, although humming birds and bats frequently perform the job. Even snails have been known to carry pollen.

Food of all kinds coming into Britain on the largest scale in years has created a storage crisis, London reports, although the Ministry of Food insists there is "nothing exceptional" in the situation.

The People Want A Well-Rounded Defense; Taft And Pepper Berate VA

ROW IS HARMFUL

Congress Should Act

AS HIGH officers in the various armed forces wrangle among themselves concerning what should, or should not, be done for this and that branch of the service, it sometimes seems that, in the welter of controversy, only one fact stands crystal clear.

That fact is this:

The condition the overwhelming majority of American taxpayers want in their military services, and for which they willing will pay, is—

A strong Army and a strong Navy and a strong Air Force.

They do not want to scuttle the Navy or reduce the Army to impotence in order to build a gigantic aviation branch. By the same token, they want the most effective Air Force in the world.

Few will pretend the expert qualifications to say that any one service is more valuable, or more necessary, than another. Horse sense dictates that a well-rounded defense requires all three. Most Americans would not be disposed, if the decision was theirs to make, to put too many eggs in one basket, whether it be the Army, Navy, Air Force or any branch.

People want a balanced military organization. And common sense is enough to tell them that their defensive chain can be no stronger than its weakest link. They don't want that chain so snarled by inter-service bickerings and jealousies that its usefulness might be impaired in time of need.

John Q. Citizen will not pretend to know how all these things may be achieved. But the vast majority of the plain people share the conviction that it is a transcendent duty of Congress to take whatever actions may be necessary to insure that the entire chain is strong, with no treacherous links; that it will be available for efficient and effective use the instant necessity might arise.

Two Forward Steps

IT HAS taken a long time, but the prospects are that Lubbock soon will have street signs and white way lighting more adequate for the City's needs. The City commission has bought the necessary fixtures with the promise they will be installed within the next few weeks.

Both needs are matters of common knowledge. The curb level street signs installed as a WPA project in 1937 never were satisfactory and, of course, they are woefully inadequate for a city which has nearly tripled in size since then. The new signs will be a great and welcome improvement.

Lubbock is almost as far behind the times in street lighting as it is in street marking. Some progress is being made, with more promised, in providing lights for residential areas. The latest action of the City commission now promises clear and glareless mercury vapor illumination for the more heavily traveled arteries of the Traffic Dispersal system, namely: Avenue A from Broadway to Nineteenth; College avenue from Fourth to Nineteenth; Nineteenth from Texas to Tyler, and Texas from Nineteenth to Thirtieth. They will give Lubbock a more metropolitant appearance and, of more importance, will improve the illumination to correct bad lighting which is one of the worst of all traffic hazards.

Both of the improvements are important forward steps in the evolution of an ever greater Lubbock and the City commission is due commendation for having made provision for the needs.

Sad For Shirley

THE American public has become hardened toward domestic tragedies which mar the lives of so many of their film favorites. Divorce has become almost the "accepted" thing among the luminaries of Hollywood.

But despite this almost universal hardening, the announcement the other day that Shirley Temple would divorce her young husband, John Agar, disappointment, even saddened, a great many people. The reason, of course, is because most film-goers still think of Shirley as the loveable little girl they first knew in the cinema; and also because she, more than any star of recent years, has won her way into the public's heart.

We don't know why Shirley and John couldn't get along; whether their rift might, or might not, be healed to the benefit of both and to the benefit of their young daughter. No one knows; perhaps not even Shirley and John, themselves.

But like almost everyone else—including the principals—we regret the breakup of the home of "America's Little Sweetheart."

Somehow, the incident somewhat tarnishes her golden career.

BOOK TELLS OF FIGHT FOR LAW AND ORDER

"Frontier Justice" Spans Transition Of The West

"FRONTIER JUSTICE," by Wayne Gard; (Univ. of Oklahoma Press).

LAW-ABIDING citizens, who made their own laws as vigilantes and self-appointed courts of justice, are largely responsible for the rapid transition of the American West from a bloody and primitive frontier in the 1830's to its civilized status of today.

Wayne Gard, a Dallas newspaperman and author of "Frontier Justice," a book published by the University of Oklahoma Press, gives due recognition to the frontiersmen and heroic women who hastened the organization of law enforcement agencies, and who often hanged horse thieves and other outlaws from the nearest cottonwood. And, according to the author, these citizens, with their long memories and short tempers, sometimes achieved personal vengeance while carrying out their midnight raids.

Covers Wide Range

Included in "Frontier Justice" are accounts dealing with the gold rush in California, the Wyoming cattle wars, the gallant fights of the Texas Rangers for law and order, the Regulators and Moderators, and the wars between the cattlemen and the sheepherders.

Perhaps the most famous judge of the era was Colorful Roy Bean, who dispensed liquor with one hand and justice with the other. Other prominent names of the period include Sam Houston, Watt Moorman, Judge Almand, who would not tolerate long speeches by lawyers because they cut down on his fines, the feuding Grahams and Tewksburys, and the equally bitter Jacksons and Goodbreads.

Since 1933 Gard has been an editorial writer for the Dallas Morning News. He has also been associated with newspapers in Chicago and Des Moines.

Girl Makes Good

"THE GIRL IN THE SPIKE-HEELED SHOES," by Martha Yoseloff; (Dutton).

IN A LITTLE Iowa town, Maybelle Reardon, just entering her teens, loses first her drunken father and then her mother. With the approval of the priest, she goes to live with the widowed Mrs. Morrisey and the three Morrisey children.

She makes friends in the neighborhood and at school, she meets boys, she accepts the knowledge of love and, quitting school on the very first day the law allows, she goes to work as waitress, clerk, dancer's partner. War breaks out. Understanding the loneliness of boys, which isn't much different from the loneliness of girls, she lets the lost young men in uniform pick her up, buy her drinks, and walk her home through dark Willow Park. On a blind date she runs into Jim Paige and marries him; a problem of theirs furnishes the climax of the novel.

The "spike-heeled shoes" are one of tiny Maybelle's first purchases at a time when she fears she may lose a boy friend because she is too short. In a way, the whole story is purchase after purchase of more such shoes. Maybelle doesn't know just what she wants, and if she knew she still would not know how to get it. With no guidance at all from reliable adults, incited only by obscure, indefinable and seemingly imprudent impulses, she keeps on having one narrow escape after another. This is the end of her, you think in one chapter, and in the next: Now she's done for. But some hidden strength in her, some occult sense about what's right and what isn't, preserves her. Her friend uses too much paint and powder, and is even willing to take money from the eager sailors, but Maybelle will not. All the way through this story she skates on thin ice, and she makes it.

This is a novel about a good clean heart set in a pretty but wayward body, and coming out on top. Bad girl makes good, the neighbors might say, but the truth is, that by the skin of her teeth, good girl makes good.

Looking At Life - - - - - By Erich Brandeis

A VISITING Englishman complained that we Americans don't know the art of conversation.

In Europe, he told me, when friends call, people sit down of an afternoon or evening and talk, but here in America we always have to DO something or depend on being entertained.

"Immediately after dinner," he said "you sit down and play Canasta or Bridge. Or you look at television or listen to the radio."

"What is it?" he wondered. "Are you a nation of neurotics? Haven't you ever learned the pleasure of leisure and repose?"

I felt like telling him that we Americans simply have to keep on the go all the time in order to earn enough money to lend his country and all the other countries that expect us to keep them going.

I was going to tell him that we are a little like Santa Claus during the Christmas season. Everybody expects him to bring them something—so poor Santa has to hustle and doesn't get a chance to sit down and have a nice little chat with Mrs. Santa and their friends.

But, being the Englishman's host, I didn't tell him that, and I wondered whether, after all, he didn't have something there.

So, after he left, I gave the subject a little study.

I watched the next few get-togethers we went to, and, by golly, he was right.

The next night we went visiting. The card tables were all set. We played Canasta until midnight, and there was hardly any conversation at all.

A FEW nights later some friends came to our house for dinner.

After dinner we talked for a little while. But it was Milton Berle night on television—and, of course, we couldn't miss that.

The show over I made an experiment.

I thought we'd "converse."

Pretty soon everybody who got a chance started to talk about himself.

The best conversationalists, in my opinion, were the people who did the least talking and the most listening—to me.

Why don't we do more talking when we have company or go calling?

There are so many things to talk about!

Remember "Alice in Wonderland"?

"The time has come," the Walrus said,
"To talk of many things;
Of shoes—and ships—and sealing wax—
Of cabbages and kings—
And why the sea is boiling hot—
And whether pigs have wings."

If a Walrus can think of things to talk about, we humans certainly should.

BITTER WORDS USED

School Rule Flayed

By DREW PEARSON
Special Correspondent

WASHINGTON.—There was a terrific protest from ex-G. I.'s when the Veterans administration tried to restrict the right of veterans to change their study courses under the G. I. Bill of Rights. But their protest was mild compared to the senatorial tongue-lashing given the V. A. behind the scenes.

PEARSON

Senators Taft of Ohio and Pepper of Florida—one a Republican, the other a Democrat—who usually lash each other, this time lashed out at the Veterans administration.

Earlier, Taft and Pepper had rebuked the V. A. for trying to sneak through Congress a provision giving it life-or-death power over private schools. Eventually, the V. A. did get authority to stop tuition to "avocational or recreational" schools—but on the strict pledge it would not misuse its authority. Whereupon it promptlybranded all private schools organized after June, 1944, as "avocational or recreational." Simultaneously veterans were required to "justify" and change in courses. In both cases, the burden of proof was up to the veterans.

When news of this ruling leaked out, V. A. officials were called on the carpet by the senate labor committee, the doors were closed, and Taft and Pepper proceeded to take off the gloves.

Angrily, Taft accused the Veterans administration of "plain arrogance."

"The Veterans administration has set itself up as a censor over what kind of education a man ought to have," he stormed.

Then the senator from Ohio brought up examples of schools and veterans that had been discriminated against, and charged that V. A. officials had violated their word.

"I have lost my faith in the Veterans administration," Taft said. "You promised to use restraint in exercising the authority we gave you. The Veterans administration's promises no longer mean anything to me."

"The laws are supposed to be written by Congress, but you are trying to rewrite them," added the Senator from Ohio.

Senator Pepper's Acid

Speaking for the V. A., assistant Administrator H. V. Stirling came back with a tirade against private schools. But Taft cut him short.

"You people have a blind spot," he said. "You want to wreck 100 per cent of the private schools in order to catch the 2 per cent that are guilty of abuses."

Pepper supported Taft with the same biting language. When assistant Administrator Stirling tried to smooth it over with some soft soap, Pepper purred: "Mr. Stirling, you coo like a dove but bite like an eagle."

The only senator who started to stick up for the Veterans administration—Humphrey of Minnesota—changed his tune when he read the V. A. regulation.

"There is only one thing wrong with this regulation" he exploded. "There just isn't any damn common sense behind it."

NOTE—V. A. officials came back later, meekly changed their regulation.

WHEN the 81st Congress convened 10 months ago, the chief spotlight played on the new senator from Louisiana, son of the most filibustering, rip-snorting, controversial man ever to sit in the Senate—Huey Long.

Everyone expected Russell Long, just 30 years old, to be a chip off the old block and to set the Senate on fire. Ten months have passed, and it is now possible to give a fair appraisal of the Kingfish jr.

Whereas Huey was a one-man tornedo who believed in the political doctrine of an eye-for-an-eye, Russell Long is a gentle breeze who prefers to turn the other cheek. This does not mean he lacks courage. He has plenty, together with considerable ability.

Nor does it mean that Russell is ashamed of his father. He is devoted to his father's memory and his father's crusade, believes fiercely that his dad wanted only to help the little people—though he sometimes trampled on individual rights to do so.

But the Kingfish's zealous heir was taken aback when he reached Washington.

"Why," he told this columnist, "it seems that a man who is a liberal in Louisiana is just a moderate here in Washington. I was regarded as a wild liberal down in Louisiana, but here I am just barely over the line."

'I'm Not Huey"

Senator Long fought for public housing, aid to education and a liberal labor law. He sided with the South on civil rights, but limited his "filibuster" to 57 minutes. He also has taken up the cause of the aged, the disabled and the needy, whom he feels have been neglected of the powerful pressure groups. Another of young Long's pet projects is school lunches for all children. In Louisiana, he says, this brings more youngsters to school and gives them a healthier diet.

The baby of the Senate is sensitive about his youth and winces inwardly over the habit of Florida's Senator Holland of calling him "young boy." The grandfather of the Senate, Tennessee's aged Kenneth McKellar, also likes to boast that he was in Congress two years before Russel was born.

Just down the hall from Russell Long's seat in the Senate, the statute of his father, cast in bronze, stands in the hall of fame. Son Russell has the same broad, upturned nose; the same unruly, curly locks; the same chunky build. Those, who remember the Kingfish, also see in Russell the same mannerisms and detect the same soft, casual drawl.

But young Long is not trying to imitate his father.

"I'm not Huey Long, I'm Russel Long," says the senator from Louisiana.

The Fair Deal needs a reshuffle.

Animals are smart. They show it by knowing how to get along with people.

Free enterprize helped to develop America into a great nation. The pioneers joined hands instead of trying to get hand outs.

Things must be quiet in our national capital. It has been weeks since some one has called another an unprintable name.

The Washington economic conference will probably discuss everything except economy.

Modern Parables

A Useful Life

An Exclusive Avalanche-Journal Feature By The Author Of "The Greatest Story Ever Told"

Dear Friends
and Gentle Hearts:

IT IS NEVER easy for any of us to hold on to principles and convictions and ideals. Something sinister in the nature of things is always seeking to take them away from us and make us cynics.

But when we are strong enough to hold fast, even in the midst of tragedy and disaster, we will find invariably, new strength for ourselves, and often a blessing for others, too. About this great principle in human behavior, my friend, Professor Ernest M. Ligon, head of the Psychology department of Union college, in Schenectady, New York, once told me the story of a boy named Frank.

OURSLER

Until he was 13, Frank was an unmanageable lad, good-hearted, but wild. Perhaps he was too gifted with charm, which made people forgive him a little too readily. But Doctor Ligon was able to straighten Frank out. The good-humored psychologist convinced the boy that life was worth being taken seriously, and that the most important problem for every young man was to find the one place for himself where he could do work, not only for which he was fitted, but of a kind that would help the world and justify his presence in it. The need of any one of us is to live a useful life.

BUT JUST when Frank became convinced of this, tragically the blow fell. Frank felt a continual pain in his right side. His family feared appendicitis. Doctors made their tests, went into conference, and finally told mother and father that only two months of life at the most remained for him.

When Doctor Ligon called on Frank in his hospital room, the boy looked him straight in the eye and said:—

"Doc, you think we all have to live a useful life, don't you? Well, I have only two months left. How do I live a useful life in two months?"

The famous psychologist shook his head and had to answer: "Frank, I just don't know."

Then the boy said: "Doc, you once told me gambling was no good. Right? O. K. But will you 'unlax' just this one time? I'll bet a quarter, I can find a way to live a useful life before I die."

Ernest Ligon turned his eyes away, then looked back, and smiled, and put a quarter down on the bureau. The next day when he returned he found Frank smiling.

"Doc," he said, "I win the bet. I had a talk with the doctors this morning, and then went into a huddle with my father and mother, and what do you think? I am not going to have a funeral."

The professor's heart skipped a beat. Had the doctor's diagnosis been wrong? What did the lad mean?

"Oh, I am going to die all right," said Frank. "But with the permission of my mother and my father, I am making a will, leaving my body to the doctors for research. Maybe they can find out something that will help. Isn't that making my life useful, Doc?"

HOW USEFUL, Frank dying never knew. For in the years that followed, our country went to war. There were draft boards in every town and young men called to the colors. Not all of those young men were brave. Some were cowards, and tried every trick to get out of serving.

When such cases came up for review in Albany, where all this happened, the members of the draft board told those frightened youths the story of Frank who had to die at 14, and still had managed to make his life useful.

In every instance, the story of that youngster shamed the cowards for good and all. By being true to the finest and best in which he believed, Frank's life continued to be useful, long after he had lost it.

Faithfully Yours,

Fulton Oursler

On The Brighter Side

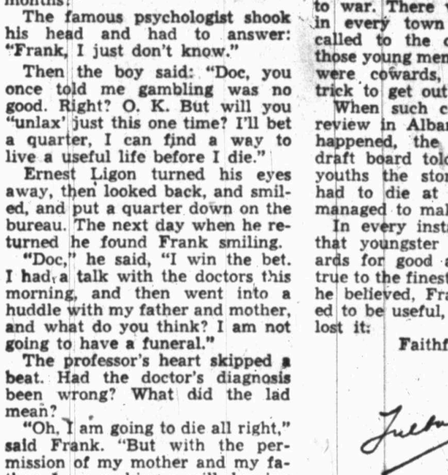

A PSYCHIATRIST says only 5 per cent of our congressmen are crazy. We doubt if this representation is large enough to be proportionate to the large number of loose nuts among the general public.

"It is highly unlikely that any of the planets are inhabited by intelligent beings," asserts an astronomer. He probably didn't mean to include planet earth in this statement, but he might as well have.

MERCHANT FLEET IS OUTDATED

Replacement Program Of New Ship Construction Favored

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15 (AP)—A Senate commerce subcommittee said today the nation's war-built merchant fleet already is becoming obsolete and "a replacement program of new ship construction may be in order."

In a preliminary report on a continuing investigation of merchant marine problems, the group pointed up increasing foreign competition since the end of the war.

This also was emphasized by Senator Brewster (R-Me), in a letter attached to the report. A member of the subcommittee, Brewster has just returned from an inspection of European shipyards.

Ships Are Outmoded

Brewster said that British and Swedish shipyards have been operating at capacity since the war "in building a world merchant marine which is now in excess of prewar and of modern vintage." He added:

"This has unfortunately resulted in outmoding and rendering obsolete the tremendous merchant marine America built during the war, with the result of tying up 1,500 merchant ships in United States ports and their ultimate scrapping."

Brewster also reported that "a first class crisis is in the offing as a result of the reentry of Germany and Japan into ship repairing and construction."

English and Swedish shipbuilding interests, as well as others, are greatly concerned about this, he said, adding that the British and the Swedes blame the United States for permitting it.

Challenge Is Presented

Brewster said the Germans are able to do ship repair and construction work at less cost and in a shorter time than is required by other yards because of economic conditions in the country.

Somewhat the same situation prevails in Japan, he said, and the re-entry of the Germans and Japanese into this field presents 'a very serious challenge to all other shipyards."

The report of the subcommittee, headed by Senator Magnuson (D-Wash), said evidence already gathered indicates that shipbuilding in this country, after a wartime boom, "is again in the doldrums."

If said a planned program for repairing vessels in the reserve fleet, laid up after the war, is imperative to protect the investment already made in the ships.

Government Aid Needed

"Such a program will also help to insure continued operation of needed ship-repair facilities, the maintenance of employment and the retention of skilled persons in this essential segment of our economy," th report said.

In suggesting that a replacement program of new ship construction also might be advisable, the committee said it would "prevent the danger of having, once again, an old fleet at the start of a conflict" in which there might not be time to get ready.

The report said it also would guard against having to replace all our ships at once at high cost and, by improving the efficiency of the fleet, might save on subsidy costs.

The committee said the type and size merchant marine needed by the nation for commerce and national security "is unlikely to be built or maintained without government aid under present conditions of freight rates, foreign competition and foreign subsidies and discriminations."

Brownfield Legion Post Among State's Top Ten In Membership

BROWNFIELD, Oct. 15 (Special)—This city's American Legion post, Howard-Henson No. 269, is among the "big ten" in Texas in membership, according to a report received by C. L. Lincoln, Terry county service officer.

With 272 members, the Brownfield post is surpassed only by San Antonio, two Houston posts, Seguin and Amarillo. Other cities whose Legion posts are in the "big ten" are Graham, Temple, Fort Worth and Dallas.

Burton G. Hackney, a member and past commander of the post here, is a member of the state Legion department's "100 Club," membership in which is reserved to Legionnaires who have secured as many as 100 members in the year's membership campaign.

Other Brownfield Legionnaires who are coming close to membership in the "100 Club" are Lincoln, Jim Miller and Chris Quante.

Hereford Calves Are Given To 15 Terry County 4-H, FFA Boys

BROWNFIELD, Oct. 15 (Special)—Twenty-three yearling Hereford calves have been distributed to 15 Terry county 4-H club and FFA boys for dry-lot feeding and exhibition here next spring in the annual Terry County Club Boys Calf Show, sponsored by the Brownfield Junior Chamber of Commerce.

Boys receiving calves were O. E. Floyd, James Cooper, Cordell Green, Travis Sparkman, Lanny Webb, Edwin Garnett, Chester Albert, Robert Briscoe, Dennis Beadles, W. B. Smith, Joe Moore, Donald Huckabee, Finis Kirkpatrick, Gene Rowden and Lonnie Mantooth.

The calves, paid for by the boys, were distributed by Lester F. Buford, FFA chapter advisor, and Jack Cleveland, county agent, following their purchase from a Yoakum county stockman.

DIES OF INJURIES

SHREVEPORT, La., Oct. 15 (AP) J. C. Ulmer, about 67, Kilgore, died in a hospital here about 9:10 p. m. of injuries received earlier last night in an automobile accident near Carthage.

Ulmer was drilling and production superintendent of the Rogers Lacy estate.

Draft Call In Near Future Is Possible

BOSTON, Oct. 15 (AP)—The nation's Selective service director believes there may be a draft call in the near future.

Maj. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey told a news conference yesterday that "there are grounds for thinking that there is going to be another draft call in the near future."

He added, however, that he had no orders for such a call but pointed out that ground forces are under their quota by about 25,000 men.

Hershey came here for a tour of state draft facilities.

Britain Slates Policy Meeting

LONDON, Oct. 15 (AP) — High diplomatic and military planners of the British commonwealth will meet in Singapore early next month to consider the threat of Communism in the Orient, official sources said today.

In addition to Britain the governments of India, Pakistan, Ceylon, Australia, New Zealand and the Malayan federation are expected to be represented.

To Map Measures

The conference, the informants said, will map political, economic and military measures for keeping Communism out of Britain's colonial and commonwealth territories in the Orient and chart a course for future dealings with the Chinese Communists.

Among those expected to attend are Sir Ralph Stevenson, British ambassador to China; Frank Roberts, British high commissioner to India; Malcolm MacDonald, British commissioner for southeast Asia; David Rees-Williams, undersecretary for colonial affairs, and M. E. Denning, head of the Far Eastern department of the foreign office. Senior British military advisers also will attend.

"Matter Of Time"

One informant said British recognition of the recently-proclaimed Chinese Communist regime is a "matter of time only." He explained that recognition is being held up mainly by Britain's pledge not to take such a step before fully consulting the United States, France and the other Atlantic pact countries and the commonwealth government.

Britain reportedly does not want to risk losing her big economic and financial stake in China by unduly delaying recognition of the Chinese Communist government.

The American State department is said to be urging Britain and other western European countries not to recognize the Chinese Communists, either unilaterally or too quickly.

Ex-GI Says He Lied About Jap Red Riot

DULUTH, Minn., Oct. 15 (U.P.)—Kenneth R. McKay, 18, admitted today that he lied when he said he witnesses a Communist riot in Japan July 9 in which his WAC wife and three soldiers were killed.

Army officials at Tokyo denied that there had been a demonstration that day and termed McKay's story "a fabrication."

McKay, who was discharged from the Army after serving less than a year of a three-year enlistment, confessed yesterday that fellow patients aboard a hospital ship had told him the story.

"All I know is what my buddies told me. I had no reason to suspect they were lying because they were my buddies," he said.

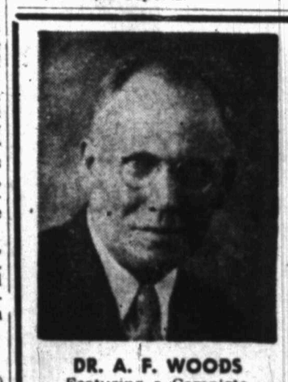

He added that he will go to San Francisco shortly to see whether his wife, Mrs. Marjory Hallquist McKay, 20, still is alive. The last time he saw her, he said, was in Yokohama June 30.

McKay also said his discharge was under honorable conditions for "a nervous condition" and that his wife's father, Charles Hallquist, lives in San Antonio, Tex.

YULETIDE SPIRIT?

CHICAGO (U.P.) — The burglars who visited a hardware store here believe in doing their holiday "shopping" early. With Christmas still some time away, they took 47 cartons marked "Christmas toys" and "Christmas tree decorations."

Demands for curtailment of government spending are expected in Austria, as increased taxes have put a heavy strain on the population, Vienna reports.

Oil Industry To Get Recognition

EL DORADO, Ark., Oct. 15, (AP)—Arkansas, which counts oil and gas among its natural resources, will salute the petroleum industry next week.

Gov. Sid McMath has proclaimed Oct. 16-22 as oil progress week and is to address the principal observance in the state's oil capital here Tuesday.

Arkansas' petroleum story began 61 years ago with the discovery of natural gas. The industry has developed into a top-ranking enterprise which estimates its investment and potential wealth at between $500,000,000 and $1,000,000,000.

20,000 Persons Employed

An industry spokesman estimated that petroleum employs 20,000 persons drawing an annual payroll of $60,000,000. The industry also is credited with providing roughly 25 per cent of the state's tax revenue, including the 6½ cent per gallon gasoline levy.

Arkansas ranks ninth among the nation's 26 oil-producing states and eleventh as a producer of natural gas. But it is a leader in conservation and regulartory practices and its statutes on this subject serve as a model for many states.

Has Six Refineries

It has six refineries and nine operating gasoline plants. Twenty pipeline companies operate within the state's borders and 5,628 miles of pipelines lies beneath Arkansas' soil. Included are two major Texas-to-east coast carriers, the Big and Little Inch lines.

The largest refineries are operated here by Lion Oil and Pan-Am Southern corp. Others are operated by the Berry Asphalt Co. of Magnolia at Stephens and Waterloo; H. H. Cross Co. of Chicago at Smackover and MacMillan Petroleum Co. of El Dorado at Norphlet.

There are gasoline plants at Magnolia, Norphlet, McKamie, Lewisville, El Dorado and in Miller county.

Proved Reserves Listed

Through last year, Arkansas produced nearly 800,000,000 barrels of crude oil. Proved reserves on Jan. 1, 1949 were estimated at 321,000,000 barrels recoverable by primary production methods. In addition, the state oil and gas commission estimates that between 210 to 269 million barrels of hydrocarbon liquids—oil, consendate and natural gasoline—might be recovered by secondary recovery methods.

Proved resources of natural gas have been estimated at 860,000,000,000 cublic feet.

Arkansas has 53 oil fields; four new fields having opened last year. At the end of 1948, 3,653 oil wells and 189 gas wells were in operation.
