Texas unemployment hits 671,000

DALLAS (AP) — Unemployment rose by more than 30 percent in Texas from January to February, the state's largest one-month leap in history, the U.S. Bureau of Labor Statistics reported Friday.

However, a top official of the agency cautioned against overreaction at the state's 8.4 percent unemployment rate, up from 6.4 percent a month earlier.

"While the month-to-month change is up very sharply, I don't think it's indicative of a trend. It's unlikely to occur next month," Southwest regional commissioner Bryan Richey said.

The state's jobless rate is the worst since the state recorded 8.6 percent unemployment at the lowest point of the recession in February 1983, officials said.

Richey said his agency's report means 671,000 Texans were unemployed in February.

Nationally, varying industry employment rates were lower than those in Texas, and the state is improving at a "much, much more slower rate," Richey said.

The national unemployment rate for February was 7.3 percent — up just over one-half percent from January.

"Clearly, I think the Texas economy is experiencing a number of problems," Richey said. "Every major industry in the state has been affected by the less-than-impressive level of economic activity in the last year and more.

"Oil and gas and related industries particularly are being hit hard. The bottom has practically dropped out of oil prices," he added.

The oil and gas crisis, combined with continuing problems in the agricultural sector and the continuing devaluation of the Mexican peso has produced a "volatile situation" in Texas, Richey said.

In Texas, the mining and manufacturing industry's jobless rate is 7.4 percent, compared to 2.7 percent for the nation, Richey said.

Several industries are improving at a slower pace in Texas than overall national rates, officials added.

Unemployment up for area counties, could rise higher

A combination of more up to date census data and the normal employment drop following Christmas combined to push Scurry County's unemployment ratio to 6 percent during the month of January.

It marked the highest unemployment figure for the county in the past several years.

In addition, the indication from the state is the level will likely rise again as February's jobs figures are reported — increased unemployment attributed to the drop in oil prices and a related decline in oil field activity.

"The January figures don't show what's happened to oil yet," said John Kruse, an Austin-based labor market analyst with the Texas Employment Commission (TEC). "These will show up in February," he said.

The unemployment figure for all of Texas during February has been completed, however, reflecting a full 2 percentage point rise.

Unemployment in Texas during February rose to 8.4 percent, and labor officials say one-fourth of this increase came among Hispanic workers employed in the oil field.

The January figures for Scurry County went to 6 percent from the December estimate of 3.8 percent.

Kruse cautioned, however, that some of this increase could be attributed to new census data provided the TEC by the U.S. Census Bureau.

These profile "new residence ratios," one portion of the census data used to compute the unemployment formulas.

Kruse explained that these ratios indicate the number of individuals living in one county but working in another. "We don't get this type of information very often," he said, "and it makes quite a change in our figures.

"Because of this, you really can't compare the January report to December's," he said. "Hopefully, January's is a more accurate reflection."

The January data for Scurry County indicated a civilian labor force of 10,161 — some 400 fewer individuals than estimated in December.

The labor force is divided into 9,533 individuals with jobs and 608 without jobs — equaling an unemployment rate of 6 percent.

In addition to Scurry County, the five other counties served through the Sweetwater-based TEC office were reported. These incluce:

—Nolan County: 7 percent unemployment figuring a labor force of 7,551--7,022 individuals with jobs and 529 without.

—Mitchell County: 7.7 percent unemployment figuring a labor force of 3,996--3,686 individuals with jobs and 307 without.

Probation ends case

A 19-year-old Snyder woman pleaded guilty in 132nd District Court Thursday to two counts of burglary in exchange for a seven-year probated prison term.

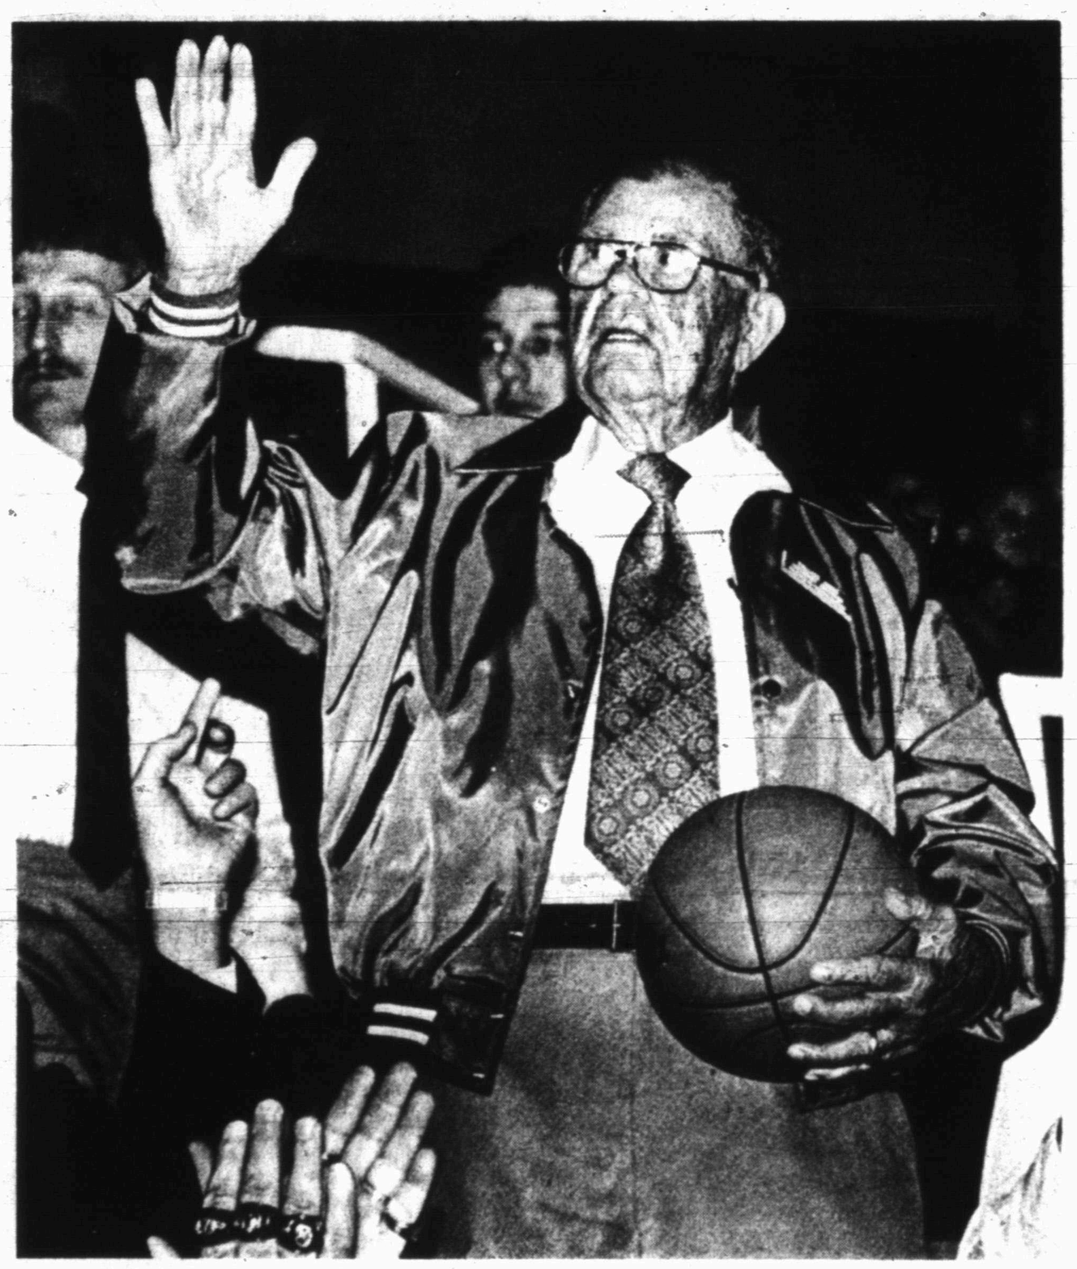

Pamela Yvette James of 3205 Ave. K was assessed separate seven-year terms after pleading guilty to the Feb. 17 burglaries of The Shack Restaurant and The Cubby.

She was indicted for those offenses during the regular March session of the Scurry County grand jury Monday.

The probationary terms will run concurrently.

Also receiving a probated term Thursday was Edward Rodman Wilson of Bryan, charged with a subsequent offense of driving while intoxicated.

He was given a two-year probated term in exchange for his guilty plea.

48 in county due 'unclaimed' funds

Some 48 Scurry County individuals or businesses — four in Hermleigh and 44 in Snyder — are included on a "lost account" list to be distributed statewide this coming weekend.

Those listed have "lost" or dormant accounts equaling a minimum of $50. They are among some 150,000 persons with funds now due them totaling some $117 million.

The list is being distributed by State Treasurer Ann Richards. She notes about 87,000 of the names come from abandoned savings and checking accounts. Another 43,000 represent abandoned stocks, dividends, royalties and unpaid wages.

Some 13,000 are abandoned life insurance policies and about 7,000 are abandoned safe deposit boxes.

If the company holding the account is unable to contact the owner, the account is reported to the state treasurer and later turned over to the state.

Persons who belive they have money in the Unclaimed Money Fund should either write the Texas Treasury at P.O. Box 12608, Capitol Station, Austin, Tx., 78711; or call the Texas Treasury's toll-free number at (800) 321-2274.

International stay approved for five

Five high school students from Snyder have been approved by an interview committee to go on a summer abroad exchange offered through the Snyder chapter of the International Youth Exchange Program (formerly AFS)

The five will be staying with families in four European countries arranged through Rotary International — sponsoring agency for the local chapter.

A "get-acquainted meeting" for anyone interested in the program is set for 8 a.m. Saturday at The Shack.

Rotary International, with Roy Carter, co-ordinator, has announced that Dee Butler has been assigned to Austria, Ginger Bryan to West Germany, Michelle Osborn to Italy, Monique Miller to France and Charlie McCormick to France.

The five will also have students from their respective countries in their homes during the summer.

In addition, Rotary International has chosen Snyder as a host city for a year's stay by a foreign exchange student. Host families for this student are now asked to apply.

The student would stay locally for six weeks to three months at a time, thereby enabling several families to benefit through the exchange program. Anyone interested should contact Carter at 573-2818. Families do not have to

No wonder the economy is on the blink, people are wasting paper clips. We've made a habit of collecting paper clips off tables following various meetings, and have found that over the years we've had to buy very few paper clips.

Walter Buckel, in the Lamesa Press-Reporter, revealed what happens to paper clips according to a study done by Lloyd's of London. They kept track of 100,000 paper clips used at a London bank, and here's what happened to them:

"14,163 were bent and twisted during telephone conservations.

"7,200 used to clip torn garments together.

"19,143 used as chips in card games.

"5,434 used as toothpicks.

"5,308 put in service as fingernail cleaners.

"3,916 appropriated as pipe cleaners.

"25,938 dropped on the floor and swept away.

"20,093 actually used as devices to hold papers together."

In Brief

Key rate cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Reserve Board today cut a key interest rate from 7.5 percent to 7.0 percent. Within minutes of the announcement, banks began lowering their interest rates as well.

The nation's central bank reduced by 0.5 percentage point its discount rate, the interest charged in making loans to financial institutions.

It was the first change in the rate since a similar 0.5 percent cut in May.

A drop in the discount rate is the most dramatic signal the central bank can make to send a wide variety of interest rates, including mortgage rates, lower.

Almost immediately, two major New York banks — Chase Manhattan and Chemical — cut their prime rates from 9.5 percent to 9 percent.

Habib named

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan, faced with growing congressional opposition to his plan to give $100 million to anti-government rebels in Nicaragua, today named diplomatic troubleshooter Philip Habib as his special representative to Central America.

Reagan said Habib's mission is "to achieve a diplomatic solution" in Nicaragua.

12 detained

STOCKHOLM, Sweden (AP) — Police temporarily detained 12 people in their search for the assassin of Prime Minister Olof Palme, but released all of them after determining there was no evidence linking them to the slaying.

Drug arrest

Police jailed a suspect wanted on felony warrants out of Big Spring Thursday night.

Taken into custody at the Sunshine Apartments in east Snyder was 30-year-old Vernon Gene Robinson. He was arrested shortly after midnight on local misdemeanor charges of possession of marijuana and possession of drug paraphernalia.

Following his arrest, routine checks turned up the felony warrant issued in Big Spring for delivery of a controlled substance.

Flight attendant wanted to quit

WASHINGTON (AP) — Before Arrow Air flight attendant Ruthie Vargo Phillips perished in the Newfoundland plane crash that killed 256 people in December, "She said several times that she was afraid of the airplanes and was going to resign," her fiance recalls.

Daniel E. Hood, who had planned to marry Ms. Phillips next May, had his own qualms about his job as a pilot for Arrow Air.

Weary from flying as much as 18 or 20 hours at a time, and worried about what he calls Arrow Air's "marginal maintenance" of its planes, Hood quit the small, Miami-based charter airline in April 1985.

In Washington eight months later, he received a telephone call from his fiancee at McCord Air Force Base at Takoma, Wash., where she was preparing to join a military charter flight to the Middle East.

Hood told a Senate Permanent Investigations Subcommittee hearing Thursday that Ms. Phillips mentioned that the Arrow Air DC-8 had a "bad engine" that caused it to backfire. But she told him it would not be repaired until the plane had returned from Cairo with a peace-keeping contingent of U.S. Army paratroops heading home to Fort Campbell, Ky.

Reagan slates TV talk

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Reagan says he will make a nationally televised speech to try to rally public support and reverse growing congressional opposition to his plan to provide $100 million to the U.S.-backed guerrillas fighting the leftist government of Nicaragua.

Reagan announced the speech Thursday just before meeting with two dozen House Republicans to seek their support.

Two more Democratic-controlled House committees voted against the plan Thursday while one committee voted for it. That brought to three the number of full committees rejecting his plan in two days and only one committee favoring it.

Reagan said no date has yet been set for the speech, quipping, "I'm the last to know."

But it is expected to be delivered within the next two weeks, before the full House vote now tentatively scheduled March 19.

The Republican-run Senate is also expected to vote on the plan before its March 26 recess for Easter. Under special congressional rules, the issue will reach the floor of each chamber despite the committee action.

In Thursday's votes, the House Appropriations Committee rejected the package by a voice vote, minutes before the Armed Services Committee approved it on a voice vote. Later in the day, the Foreign Affairs Committee rejected it, 23-18.

While Reagan was defeated in the House committees, his administration also came under attack for its tactics in trying to drum up support for the plan to give the Contra guerrillas $30 million in non-lethal aid and $70 million that can be spent for military help.

Reagan says the money is needed to help the guerrillas fighting the Sandinista government of Nicaragua, which Reagan says is a threat to democracy in Latin America.

New AIDS study released

NEW YORK (AP) — The conventional wisdom that the cause of AIDS has been found is being challenged by a new study suggesting a link between the deadly illness and an AIDS-like disease of pigs.

In a study to be published Saturday, researchers report evidence of African swine fever virus in nine of 21 American AIDS patients tested. They say the virus could be an important contributing cause of acquired immune deficiency syndrome.

If this is proven in future experiments, it would mean that doctors now searching for a cure for AIDS are aiming at the wrong target.

The contention that the virus commonly called HTLV-III is not the sole cause of AIDS was dismissed by Flossie Wong-Staal, a molecular biologist at the National Cancer Institute.

She said the correlation between AIDS and HTLV-III was as close to 100 percent as can be expected.

Furthermore, she said, the AIDS virus "does exactly what we would expect in an AIDS patient" — it attacks the white blood cells called T-lymphocytes that control the body's immune system.

AIDS is marked by a failure of the immune system to protect against disease. Victims of AIDS are prone to a variety of unusual cancers and other infections that capitalize upon their weakness.

Wong-Staal noted that other viruses, including hepatitis B virus, have been found in AIDS patients. "It just happens that once they are infected with HTLV-III, they are immunosuppressed," she said, and are susceptible to infections of hepatitis virus, African swine fever virus or whatever else may come along.

"I don't think we're trying to say that HTLV-III is out and ASFV is in" as the cause of AIDS, said John Beldekas, a researcher at the Boston University School of Medicine and the principal author of the new study.

"What we're saying is that AIDS is complicated. It can't be explained solely by HTLV-III," he said in a telephone interview.

The study, which will appear in Lancet, a British medical journal, does not in any way suggest that AIDS can be contracted by eating pork, he said.

Shultz: U. S. won't second guess Aquino

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of State George P. Shultz gives the new Philippines government high marks for the way it is tackling the country's problems and refuses to "second-guess" President Corazon Aquino for releasing four prominent Communists from prison.

Shultz, in an interview Thursday, said Mrs. Aquino was trying to open the political process, improve the economy and reform the armed forces.

"She has clearly emerged as a figure with a capability of sizing up a situation and making decisions," he said.

The releases, which included that of Jose Mario Sison, a founder and first chairman of the Communist Party, are part of Mrs. Aquino's policy of reconciliation with the Communist rebels. The Philippines military objected to freeing them.

But Shultz played down the Communists as a potential threat to the Manila government. He said they had boycotted the elections "and in a sense discredited themselves."

Mrs. Aquino, he said, was offering the rebels a chance to take part "in the legitimate political process" while also planning changes in the economy to give people "a better crack at opportunity."

The result, Shultz said, is that people who were ready to go along with the Communists "are not ready to do so."

Sizing up Mrs. Aquino's first nine days in office, Shultz said, "She has a game plan and she is playing that out." Regarding the amnesty for the four Communists, Shultz said, "I don't want to try to second-guess this or that move."

At the same time, he said the Reagan administration would depend on "the interplay of law" to decide the disposition of items taken to Hawaii last week by fleeing Ferdinand Marcos and his associates.

But Shultz, describing the former president as in poor health and experiencing "a difficult period," said properties that Marcos rightfully owns "are his, as far as we are concerned."

Astronaut Sally Ride says she isn't ready to fly again

NEW YORK (AP) — Sally Ride, an astronaut and member of the presidential commission investigating the explosion of the space shuttle Challenger, says she thinks few of her colleagues are ready to go into space now.

"I am not ready to fly again," she told ABC-TV in an interview Thursday. "I think that there are very few astronauts who are ready to fly again now."

Ms. Ride, 34, a physicist who flew two shuttle missions, wouldn't talk about the commission's investigation into the Jan. 28 explosion that killed Challenger's seven crewmembers.

However, she said she was affected by last week's revelations about disagreements over whether to launch the shuttle and flaws in testing the solid rocket boosters.

"I think that we may have been misleading people into thinking that this is a routine operation, that it's just like getting on an airliner and going across the country and that it's that safe. And it's not," Ms. Ride said.

House voting for measure

WASHINGTON (AP) — Texas, which is facing a $1.3 billion deficit, would get an immediate infusion of $424 million if a bill approved by the House becomes law.

The deficit-reduction measure, passed Thursday, 314-86, now goes to the Senate. It contains several "extra" provisions, including a formula for splitting revenues from offshore oil and gas leases that are shared by the federal government and the coastal states.

The revenue formula has been previously approved by the Senate, which differs with the House over other provisions in the deficit-reduction bill.

If the House language on the revenue split becomes law, Texas will get an immediate $424 million from a trust fund that has been accumulating for seven years while the federal government and the states argued over how to split the money. The state would also stand to get an estimated $350 million in royalties during the next 10 years.

"Frankly, I think it's long overdue that the federal government move forward and give to Texas what rightfully belongs to us," said Rep. Tom Loeffler, R-Hunt, a member of the House Republican leadership.

The administration has opposed the provision. But Loeffler, who is running for the GOP nomination for Texas governor, said he planned to "do everything in my power" to get Reagan to sign the bill.

The states, which favor the House language, have argued for a share of the lucrative royalties on the oil and gas produced from the leases, as well as a share of one-time, up-front payments for the leases. The Reagan administration has said it wants to limit the state share to the one-time payments, not royalties.

The formula has become part of the budget battle because the amount of the deficit would be affected by how much the federal government retains of the $6 billion total in the trust fund. Under the House language, about $1.4 billion would go to the states, the rest toward reducing the deficit.

The House version would also mean less revenue in the future for federal coffers if the states continue to receive a share of royalties.

The receipt of almost half a billion dollars would be welcome in Texas, especially by Gov. Mark White, a Democrat who is facing re-election this year.

That put Loeffler into the position of perhaps aiding his opponent.

"This is not a personal favor for Mark White," Loeffler joked, adding, "but it sure is for the people of Texas."

Among the other coastal states, Louisiana's share in the trust fund would be at least $635 million, California's $375 million, Alabama would get $73 million, Alaska $56 million, Mississippi $15 million, and Florida $30,000.

The shared leases were created by Congress in 1978 because of state concerns that bordering federal oil leases would drain underground reserves and rob the states of revenues. The states own the offshore land to three miles out. The shared leases are in the federally owned area from that point to six miles offshore.

But when Congress passed the law, it said only that the revenues should be split in a "fair and equitable" manner, and the states and the federal government have been arguing ever since about what that means.

Ex-NASA chief returns to post

WASHINGTON (AP) — James C. Fletcher, who as NASA administrator 14 years ago sold the president and Congress on the space shuttle, is returning to head his old agency with the shuttle program and NASA facing their biggest crisis.

President Reagan announced the selection of the 66-year-old physicist Thursday, and members of the Senate immediately hailed the decision, saying they foresaw no problems with his confirmation.

An expert on space and missile technology who headed NASA from 1971 to 1977, Fletcher is to replace James Beggs, who resigned a week ago in the wake of fraud charges unrelated to his NASA tenure.

While Beggs' deputy, William Graham, has served as acting administrator of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration since December, congressional leaders have pressed the White House to nominate a permanent NASA chief in the aftermath of the Challenger shuttle accident Jan. 28.

Sen. Slade Gorton, R-Wash., chairman of the Senate space subcommittee, called the selection "the best choice" and said Fletcher "has the experience and personal leadership qualities ... that will right the NASA ship and get it back on course."

Fletcher, who has been on the faculty of the University of Pittsburgh and an aerospace consultant since his departure from NASA, could not be reached for comment Thursday night.

His wife Fay said from their McLean, Va., home that he was on a business trip and would not be back until Saturday. She said, however, he accepted the NASA job reluctantly and did not want to return to public life.

"He felt that this was his duty," she said.

Fletcher returns to a NASA that is reeling from the Challenger accident that killed the spacecraft's seven-member crew in a horrifying explosion 73 seconds after liftoff from Cape Canaveral, Fla.

A presidential commission probing the causes of the accident recently leveled a broad indictment against the agency, calling its launch decision-making seriously flawed.

Oil price cuts hurting Mexico

MEXICO CITY (AP) — The latest oil-price cuts announced by Mexico represent a serious blow to the government's desperate attempt to find ways of meeting payments on its $96.4 billion foreign debt.

The government oil monopoly Pemex announced late Wednesday that its average price per barrel dropped to $14.46 in the last two weeks of February, down 61 cents from the average $15.07 of the first two weeks of last month.

A worldwide oil glut has forced Pemex to cut prices constantly in the last few months. The latest price is down from $19.75 a barrel in January and $23.25 in December.

For the United States, Mexico's biggest oil customer, prices in the second half of February were $14.50 per 42-gallon barrel of light crude oil, down from $16 in early February, and $13 a barrel for heavy Mayan crude, down 40 cents from early February, Pemex said.

President Miguel de la Madrid and members of his cabinet have warned in recent weeks that falling oil prices are seriously endangering Mexico's ability to make payments this year on its foreign debt, the Third World's second highest next to the $100 billion owed by Brazil.

Mexico depends heavily on oil income to make its debt payments, and the government has estimated that falling prices would cost Mexico nearly half, or about $6 billion, of the oil earnings originally expected for this year.

Mexican officials have said the government had no intention of declaring a moratorium on debt payments, as some here have suggested.

But Treasury Secretary Jesus Silva Herzog said Wednesday that Mexico would decide unilaterally on action if no progress is made in the next few days on finding a formula by which creditors and debtors would share the burden of the debt crisis. He did not specify what that decision might entail.

Silva Herzog was in Washington on Thursday to continue talks begun last week with U.S. counterpart James A. Baker III on helping Mexico pay its debt. The country owes $10 billion in interest costs and $2.5 billion in principal this year.

Silva Herzog also was to continue talks with Federal Reserve Chairman Paul Volcker, World Bank President A.W. Clausen and International Monetary Fund Director Jacques de Larosiere, the government news agency Notimex said.

Based on last week's talks, Silva Herzog announced Mexico would seek $6 billion in new aid this year from international financial organizations but would not immediately solicit emergency bank loans.

Each $1 drop in oil prices costs Mexico about $550 million a year in income, based on Pemex's target export level of 1.5 million barrels daily, according to the government.

In its terse announcement, Pemex said it would maintain that export target. However, the company said, daily exports totaled only 1.161 million barrels in February and 1.101 million barrels in January.

Pemex sets different prices for three geographical regions, to account for transportation costs.

For European customers, the company said, the average prices for the second half of February were unchanged at $16 a barrel for the light "Isthmus" crude, and $13.40 for the heavy Maya crude.

Prices for Asian customers in the last two weeks of February were $16.50 a barrel for light crude, up from $15.75 in the first two weeks of the month, and $13.50 per barrel for heavy crude, down from $14 in early February.

State gets $157 million

AUSTIN (AP) — Texas has received $157.2 million as the state's share of what Attorney General Jim Mattox called the largest civil case ever concluded, a $2.1 billion judgment against the Exxon Corp.

The money, received by wire from the U.S. Treasury on Thursday, will go into a special interest-bearing account until it can be appropriated by the next Legislature.

Under federal rules, the money must be spent to supplement state and federal funding for five energy-related programs, such as those which help low-income families weatherize their homes.

Dear Abby

'Good King Henry' Lacked More Than Social Graces

By Abigail Van Buren © 1986 by Universal Press Syndicate

DEAR ABBY: I must set you straight about your ignorant impression of King Henry VIII of England. You perpetuate that erroneous American stereotype of King Henry VIII as the ultimate slob. This gross misconception comes from the Hollywood movies, made in the United States with notorious disregard for historical facts.

I am honor-bound to say that Henry VIII was a great ruler in a difficult period of religious and political change for the western world. He was greatly loved by his people, who called him "the good King Henry."

Please browse through your history books and elevate yourself above the trashy movie stereotypes.

ALL-AMERICAN HISTORY BUFF

DEAR BUFF: I just finished browsing through the World Book Encyclopedia. A few facts: Henry VIII came to the throne when he was 18. His father had arranged a marriage between Henry and the widow of Henry's brother Arthur, Catherine of Aragon, daughter of King Ferdinand and Queen Isabella of Spain, who just happened to have a handsome dowry.

It seems King Henry lost his head over a beautiful maiden named Anne Boleyn who was later to lose hers. Literally.

The good King Henry tried to get the pope to annul his marriage so he could marry Anne. The pope refused. So Henry separated England from the Roman Catholic Church, established the Church of England and made the king (himself) its head. (Convenient?) With the Roman Catholic Church out of the way, he had his marriage to Catherine declared null and void. Then Anne (whom he had already secretly married) was crowned queen. Was Henry happy? Nooooo!

Three years later, their marriage was such a mess that good King Henry had Anne separated from her head, charging her with infidelity.

So much for King Henry VIII, whom I disparaged for his bad table manners.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I've been married for 16 years to a man who used to drink, chase other women and bet the horses, but he's a changed man now. He hasn't had a drink for eight months and he hasn't been to the track in over a year. No, he didn't find "God"; he found another woman, and he says he owes it all to "Mary Ann." He was honest enough to tell me the truth, so how can I tell him he can't see Mary Ann any more when she did more to straighten out my husband than I did?

MIXED UP IN DEL MAR

DEAR MIXED UP: It was nice of Mary Ann to straighten out your husband, and I can understand your gratitude. But you are not obligated to gift-wrap your man and hand him over. His "honesty" in telling you about the other woman is commendable, but it doesn't cancel out the hurt he's causing you by fooling around.

You need more help than I can give you in a letter. See a marriage counselor about this new problem you're facing. And take the "changed man" with you. He needs some more straightening out.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: Your two-day series, "Winning Against the Odds," was beautiful, but in naming all those who had overcome some kind of handicap—deafness, blindness, poverty, prejudice—you included Michelangelo because he was a homosexual!

Since when is homosexuality considered a handicap?

I.M. ONE

DEAR I.M.: Up until recently, if a homosexual came out of the closet in some quarters he would lose his job. Even today in the Mormon church, he would be excommunicated. There are still many gay and lesbian people who do not have the courage to come out to their parents.

We have come a long way, but until society regards one's sexual orientation as blameless as the color of one's eyes, it's still a handicap.

Dr. Gott

Peter Gott, M.D.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I still have some sense of smell and taste, but I can only smell and taste things that are strong. A long time ago I had a bad head cold and inserted some Vicks Vaporub up my nose. Could this have caused the problem? I'm past 72, and also suffer from deafness.

DEAR READER — As people age, they tend to develop less efficient senses; eyes, ears, smell and taste can be affected. I doubt that the Vicks caused the problem, but putting this material up the nose is an unwise idea. The oil base in Vicks can irritate the nose and, in some people, enter the lungs, where it causes a form of chronic pulmonary infection called lipoid pneumonia.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I'm a teenager and have visible veins on my legs, arms and face. They don't stick out like varicose veins, they are just on the surface. What are these from and how can I get rid of them?

DEAR READER — I believe you may have inherited a tendency to enlargement of the capillaries or veins in your skin. You need an examination to make sure you don't have an internal problem, such as liver disease, that might account for prominent veins. If your condition is a cosmetic problem, you may also wish to see a plastic surgeon.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I am 61 and in relatively good health. My ophthalmologist diagnosed me as having "suspect glaucoma." He wants to wait a year for a repeat test. However, I have a fullness in my eyes, and I'm not sure if this is related to the glaucoma or a sinus problem. Is it safe to wait a year?

DEAR READER — Yes, it is. Early glaucoma does not ordinarily produce symptoms of eye fullness. Have your doctor evaluate your sinuses. If you are uncomfortable about waiting a year for a glaucoma followup, ask your ophthalmologist to refer you to a colleague for a second opinion.

DEAR DR. GOTT — Is there any possible physical danger in having a hair transplant?

DEAR READER — Hair transplants performed by a medically qualified person are safe. However, when performed by one who is not qualified, the results can be disastrous. Infection is the primary problem.

DEAR DR. GOTT — I am a man of 85 and have problems with constipation and straining. I've had a barium X-ray and sigmoidoscopy, and everything's normal. Can you suggest something?

DEAR READER — Try using more fruit and bran in your diet. Next, try increasing bulk with Metamucil. Finally, a mild laxative, used several times a week, may be helpful.

Fugitive thought in Dallas

DALLAS (AP) — An intensive search is under way in the Dallas area for a suspected terrorist who is on the FBI's Ten Most Wanted List and has been seen in the area, FBI officials say.

The fugitive was identified as Richard Joseph Scutari, 38, a reputed member of an anti-government terrorist group.

"He is the last remaining fugitive of the Aryan Nations," said FBI special agent Don Baxter. The Aryan Nations is a violent white-supremacist group that advocates killing Jews and blacks and plans to overthrow the U.S. government.

Other members of the group have been apprehended on terrorism and racketeering charges in Washington state.

Dallas area residents have reported seeing Scutari and his wife, Michelle Antoinette Marie Scutari, several times.

Bentsen seeks oil import fee

WASHINGTON (AP) — Admitting the idea of lending a helping hand to oil industry probably doesn't warm any hearts in consumer states, Texas Sen. Lloyd Bentsen nevertheless wants President Reagan to put an import fee on oil.

Bentsen held a news conference Thursday to release a letter he wrote to Reagan in which he argued that the world oil glut and steadily dropping oil prices are putting domestic oil producers out of business and therefore threatening national security.

"No one would argue that taking the steps I have outlined will be the politically popular thing to do."

Farm Bureau asks federal support for farm loan plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — The American Farm Bureau Federation is urging Congress and the Reagan administration to support a two-tiered plan for easing the load on debt-burdened farmers who might lose their holdings through foreclosures.

Under the plan, farmers and bankers would decide the priority of loan payments for part of their debts, and put the remainder on the back burner for later settlement.

Meanwhile, the administration says the much-publicized problems of commercial farm banks are manageable under current aid programs and do not warrant a new congressional bailout.

"In spite of their present problems, agricultural bank capital is still reasonably strong," Charles O. Sethness, assistant secretary of the treasury for domestic finance, told the Senate Banking Committee Thursday.

As a group, farm banks have stronger capital positions than the banking industry as a whole, he testified.

Sethness noted that the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation expects farm banks to experience continued trouble in 1986, and said the problem is concentrated primarily in the Midwest and Great Plains.

"But clearly we have ways to maintain credit in rural towns and communities without resorting to possibly costly solutions to assist all troubled banks," Sethness said.

Committee Chairman Jake Garn, R-Utah, said he expected to complete work on some kind of aid legislation for commercial farm banks soon. Senate Majority Leader Bob Dole, R-Kan., promised to bring the measure before the full Senate "at the earliest possible time."

Garn hinted that the bill might be a form of the measure introduced by Sen. Alan Dixon, D-Ill., which would allow banks to write-off loan losses over a long period of time, perhaps 10 years, rather than absorb the losses totally within the year they are experienced.

Dean Kleckner, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, said his group supported the Dixon bill but added that the federation's plan could be put into effect quickly through regulatory changes and would not involve federal subsidies or guarantees.

The plan calls for bankers and other commercial lenders to allow qualified borrowers the option of making payments based on their cash flow. Part of the debt would draw the regular interest rate, the remainder a much lower rate.

Kleckner gave this example:

A farmer and his lender would analyze the operation to determine how much of the debt could be paid under normal circumstances. That would become "Tier 1" debt and would draw regular interest and principal payments over 10 to 20 years.

Trial nearing end

SAN ANTONIO, Texas (AP) — After 78 witnesses and 880 exhibits, both sides have rested their cases in the Autumn Hills nursing home murder trial, now in its 21st week.

The state has charged Autumn Hills Convalescent Centers Inc. and four of its current and former employees with murder in the Nov. 20, 1978, death of Elnora Breed.

The 87-year-old woman died 47 days after she entered an Autumn Hills facility in Texas City.

Prosecutors claimed Mrs. Breed died of starvation and infection, both caused by substandard nursing care. The defense claimed Mrs. Breed died of a recurring cancer.

The state was to begin rebuttal testimony today.

Ministerial Alliance opens family room

Snyder's Ministerial Alliance has opened a family counseling room on the first floor of Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

The counseling area, located in room 140, completes the first phase of planned new facilities the alliance hopes to provide to patients' families. Once the room is finished, members will convert room 141 into a small chapel.

The idea formed last fall when Kathy Minemier, hospital public relations staffer, suggested that two rooms could be made available to the alliance.

The group's 20 members purchased a sofa, loveseat, chair, a table with a lamp and several pictures for the room. "Although it still looks much like a hospital room, here we have a place for families to have some time alone. Pastors can counsel privately and comfortably with the families," said Steve Smith, pastor of First Presbyterian Church and chairman of the committee responsible for the work.

"The only thing we have left to add to the room is a large area rug," he noted.

Smith added that once the debt incurred for furniture is paid, the alliance will begin work on the chapel to be located in room 141. He said that a kneeling bench and pew will be among furnishings for the room.

He added that the room will be used primarily for private devotions and prayer rather than for organized worship services.

Persons wishing to contribute to the project may send their donations to Rev. John Dorn, Rt. 1, Box 139, Snyder.

Some rural doctors suspended

ALPINE, Texas (AP) — West Texas doctors who were suspended after refusing to buy malpractice insuance say residents in the low-doctor population area are the ones who will suffer.

The Big Bend Memorial Hospital District suspended Dr. Harold Fain and Dr. Paul Armeding of Marfa in Presidio County and Dr. Gene Bennack of Alpine in Brewster County.

Fain and Armerding are the only doctors practicing in Presidio County while Bennack is the only orthopedic surgeon in the vast area around the Big Bend National Park.

"It's the people who are going to suffer," the 60-year-old Bennack said. "If someone breaks a hip, they might now have to go by ambulance 140 miles to Odessa. It's a long trip. It's an uncomfortable trip."

The suspensions also leave Presidio County without a physician authorized to admit patients to the hospital.

The hospital district requires staff physicians and consultants to carry malpractice insurance when the hospital's insurance company, Texas Hospital Insurance Exchange, notified the district late in 1985 that it would not continue coverage unless the physicians carry insurance individually, said Don Stuart, hostpital administrator.

With the suspensions, the hospital now has 10 active physicians and four consultants, Stuart said.

"We didn't feel we could subject ourselves and the taxpayers to the possibility of a lawsuit without appropriate insurance coverage."

Ask The Preacher

"What is a pastor?"

By Randall Gray

This interesting question can be answered in two ways.

To begin, we could look at it the way the word has come to be used in the denominational sense today. In our day and usage, this word refers to the preacher, or "pulpit minister" at a local congregation. But, as we will see, that is not necessarily the way scripture defines it.

Our English New Testament uses this word to translate the Greek word "Poimen" which means, literally, "shepherd." This word is applied in the New Testament only to Jesus himself and to Elders or Bishops--that is, a body of men ordained to be in a position of authority over the local church.

These elders are instructed by Paul to "shepherd" or "pastor" the church of God. (Acts 20.28)

The New Testament never uses the word "pastor" to refer specifically to a preacher's position. However, the elders in the New Testament church sometimes did "double duty" and served as preachers, as well. (I Tim. 5:17)

So, if we are to use this term carefully, and in accordance with New Testament usage, we will not use it as a general term to describe all preachers. For example, I, personally, am a preacher and a pulpit minister, but I an not a "pastor" because I'm not qualified. (I Tim. 3:1-7)

Dusters give good effort but...

OC uses size, quickness to capture crown

Western Texas' Dusters gave a gutsy performance here Thursday night but could not overcome Odessa's height and quickness in the championship game of the Women's Region V Tournament.

The 77-59 loss ends the Dusters' season at 25-9 while Odessa - still undefeated and ranked No. 1 in the nation - takes a 31-0 record to the NJCAA National Tournament.

"I thought our depth played a factor. We were able to go to the bench more and I think it showed there in the second half when we scored several times on the fast break," said OC Coach Ken Hefner.

"His kids gave everything they had on every play. They did a lot of things to hurt us and take us out of our offense. He (WTC Coach Kelly Chadwick) has got to be extremely proud of the effort his girls gave tonight," he added.

Chadwick was.

"I'm so proud of this team. They've done a super job considering that before the season started we really had only one proven ballplayer and that was Pam Cox and even she didn't play a full year (as a freshman). We had two kids that had some college ball experience (Cox and Angela Jeans), but not much. These kids played as a team all year and they worked hard," said the coach. "They had a great season."

Odessa ran up an 11-2 lead and it appeared for a moment early in the game that the Wranglers might clinch their second straight Region V Tournament championship without a struggle. But it didn't happen that way.

Western regrouped to outscore the Wranglers 6-2 midway through the half and close the gap to 19-12 on Brenda Welch's bucket from underneath.

The Dusters eventually pulled within three points, 25-22, when Welch and Cox scored consecutive goals with about seven minutes to play.

Odessa, led in the first half by speedy guard Donna Wilson and the all-around play of Patrice Purvey, kept the pressure on. The Wranglers enjoyed a 39-31 halftime advantage.

The Dusters could never pull within striking distance again, though they kept the game close until midway through the second half. Odessa used its advantage in height and its quickness to wear down the Western team. Doreatha Conwell, a 6-3 sophomore, served to frustrate the Duster inside game. The All-American candidate scored 24 of her 35 points in the second half and blocked eight shots over the course of the game. She also led on the boards with 12 rebounds.

"I think our post kids were intimidated," said Coach Chadwick. "And we knew for us to have a chance the referees had to call a close game. They didn't. They didn't keep people off our backs. Odessa is big and quick and physical and if you don't have a closely called ballgame there aren't very many teams that are going to stay with them.

"They have a great team and they play really good defense. Their height hurt us, of course, and we missed a lot of good shots. A lot of that was because of the good defense they played and their quickness," said Chadwick.

Odessa put the game away for all purposes when Cox sandwiched two buckets in between one by Purvey to go in front 60-41 with about eight minutes left.

In addition to Conwell's 35, Nedra Ware and Renay Daughtery scored 12 points apiece and Purvey added 10. Wilson, a 5-3 sophomore, had eight assists.

Western was led by Jeans' 18 points. Welch scored 16, Cox 14 and Gigi Robinson notched 10.

Texans nip RJC, 73-69

Robby Garner hit a free throw with 32 seconds left and Lorne Joshua put a rebound back up and in as South Plains trimmed Ranger Junior College 73-69 in the Men's Region V Tournament Thursday.

Ranger had trailed by seven points with six minutes left but rallied to close the gap to 65-64 on Milton Swift's layup off the fast break.

The Texans countered when Henry James took a pass along the baseline from Darryl Rudolph and converted it. RJC's Mark Davis was then whistled for a charging violation on the Rangers next trip down court.

South Plains took advantage of the turnover when Garner bagged a free throw with 32 seconds left. The 6-1 sophomore missed his second shot but Joshua pocketed the rebound and put in back up and in to secure the victory for the Texans.

Rudolph scored 23 points and came away with 10 rebounds to pace the Texans' effort. Freshman Reggie Gibbs filled the hoop from long range for 20 more points and Greg Colbert added 10.

Ranger was led by 6-1 sophomore Mark Davis' 26 points. Darrin O'Bryant shoveled in 15 and Swift had 13.

Hollis leads NMJC to win

Richard Hollis singed the cords for 31 points and led five Thunderbird players in double figures as New Mexico Junior College defeated Cisco in the opening game of the Men's Region V Basketball Tournament here Thursday, 89-78.

Hollis, a 6-6 freshman, also led the 'Birds on the boards with nine rebounds, and in assists, with seven.

New Mexico had trailed 37-36 early in the second half but manned the boards and took advantage of several turnovers to outscore the Wranglers 20-4 by the 15:15 mark. The result was a 56-41 lead for Coach Ron Black's club. Although Cisco made the final a close one, the Wranglers could never regain the lead.

Cisco got strong play from Mike Knorr and Steve Martin to pull within three, 77-74, with two and a half minutes left in the game. New Mexico retaliated again by scoring the next seven points, however, to lead 84-74.

In addition to Hollis' 31, Shelby Reeves had 13, Osby King and Clark White 12 apiece and Craig Walker 10. Harold Wright added 9.

Cisco, Northern Conference champion, got 21 points from Knoor and 18 from Martin. George Westbrook scored 19 and Cedric Ellis added 13.

Chaps stay undefeated

Third-ranked Midland had its ups and downs in its first game of the Region V Tournament here Thursday but the finale was old hat - another victory.

The Chaps extended their season record to 31-0 by defeating Hill Junior College 72-54.

Midland came out strong and burned the Rebels 20-6 in the early going. Hill fought back, however, and outscored the Chaps 11-3 over the middle of the half, tightening the score to 23-17 when Ronald Ross stuck up a free throw with 3:42 to play.

The Rebels were down just 29-21 at halftime and pulled closer before secumbing to Midland's defensive savy. The Chaps controlled the middle and kept Hill from penetrating. Hill's outside shooting was off and the Rebels paid for it as Midland eventually produced a comfortable lead.

Hill shot just 29 percent for the game and hit only 10 of 18 free throws. The Rebs were led by Clifton Davis' 13 points. Vinson Metcalf and Joe Bryant added 12 apiece.

Ricky Grace, the Western Conference's MVP this season, popped the hoop for 19 points and had eight assists. Teammate Eddie Frazier had 14 points and a dozen rebounds and Mookie Blaylock added 12 points.

All-REGION TEAMS

Western's men were also honored Thursday. James Dawn, one of four all-conference picks for the Westerners, was named First-Team All-Region V. Alvin Lee and Alvin Hicks, also all-conference, were chosen to the Third-Team All-Region V.

Joining the Dusters on the women's all-region team were Valeri Barnett from Cisco, Missy Davis from McLennan CC, Doreatha Conwell, Renay Daughtery and Donna Wilson from Odessa, Kasi Higgs from Grayson and Terri Powell from Howard.

Conwell was chosen as the all-tournament MVP. Davis, Higgs and Wilson were also all-tournament. Others included Aretha Brown from Clarendon, Deana Nix from Cisco, Sally Walling from South Plains' and Patrice Purvey from Odessa.

Men's Western Conference MVP Ricky Grace was named on the men's team along with Dawn. Others were Cedric Ellis of Cisco, Warren McDaniels of Ranger and Ronald Ross of Hill.

The men's second-team was staffed with Mookie Blaylock of Midland, Derrick Hill of New Mexico JC, Darryl Rudolph of South Plains, Greg Lazard of Odessa, Tryone Howard of New Mexico Military and Ken Willingham of Grayson.

The men's all-tournament team will be announced Saturday evening.

Westerners advance to meet Chaparrals

Coach Phil Spradling's Westerners didn't have any trouble in defeating Grayson County College here Thursday night - or did they?

"We're going to have to play a lot better tomorrow night, I'll say that," panned Spradling, after Western Texas' 87-74 victory over the Vikings Thursday night.

Spradling was disgruntled with the play he got coming off the bench. Western had vaulted to a 23-point lead with 8:55 to go in the game, but Grayson was able to eventually pull back witin nine.

"I guess I put in the subs too early. They came in and all they thought about was scoring. They weren't concerned with defense at all," he said. "These kids have to understand that they are sent in to play a total ballgame, offense and defense."

Western, 20-10, had used a scattering of inside and outside shots to post an early 11-2 lead. Grayson settled down under the good play of Milton Crutchfield, but was just no match for the more talented Westerners, who put on the afterburners late in the half.

Ed Teal bagged two buckets and James Dawn added another before Grayson's Deon Phelps finally broke the mele with a free throw. Western came right back, however, hitting four points for every two of the Vikings' to celebrate a 43-26 halftime lead.

The final blow came - or so it seemed - when Western outscored the Viks 12-2 midway through the second half. Alvin Lee, Cliff Langford, George Moore and Dawn all got into the act as Western extended its advantage. The score read 66-43 when Teal ripped a pair of free throws with 8:55 to play.

Spradling began to pull his starters at that time, and for a while, they kept the lead.

Western was still up by 24, 75-51, when Grayson began to exploit the home team's substitutes. The Vikings ran off 10 unanswered points to pull within 15. The margin reached 11 with 2:59 left and could have been closer had Grayson been able to hit from the charity stripe.

A pair of technicals and a two-shot foul gave Grayson four chances at the bucket plus the insuing inbounds pass but the Vikings got only one point out of it.

The closest Grayson came to threatening was nine points when Brian Watson scored with just over two minutes left. The Vikings were forced to foul though, and Moore, Lee and John Lewis hit their free throws to preserve the win for Western.

"This team has got to hook it up and play tomorrow," stressed Spradling, speaking of Friday night's 7 o'clock game with Midland College.

"We've lost to Midland three times this season and I think these guys have the pride to come back and play a good game against them again," said Coach Spradling, who announced that Alvin Hicks had been cleared by

SWC tournament gets started as Froggies, Owls square off

DALLAS (AP) - Besides being the Southwest Conference basketball Coach of the Year, Jim Killingsworth isn't a bad psychologist.

Although his Texas Christian Horned Frogs are the No. 1 seed in the SWC's 11th annual Post-Season Classic beginning today in Reunion Arena going against No. 8 seeded Rice, Killingsworth sees the Owls as a serious peril.

"I'd rather play Georgetown than Rice," said Killingsworth. "They drill us everytime. They beat us five straight and everytime we have a game with Rice it's close."

Rice has won five of its last seven games with TCU but the Horned Frogs swept the season series this year.

They nicked the Owls 66-64 in Fort Worth then blasted them 69-54 in Houston.

"If Rice is the easiest team here then we have a real problem," said Killingsworth.

Rice Coach Tommy Suitts laughed when asked if Killingsworth was blowing smoke.

"Oh, probably about 50 per cent," said Suitts. "For some reason we have played 'em well but they dominated us the last time out. I'm concerned. They probably aren't as worried about us as much as they are what happens the rest of the week."

TCU and Rice meet today after Texas Tech and Southern Methodist get proceedings under way at 12:08 p.m in Reunion Arena.

Texas Tech's 73-72 victory over Texas last Sunday locked the title in a triple tie for the first time since 1951. Texas A&M, Texas Christian and Texas shared the championship just like they did 35 years ago. All three teams posted 12-4 records.

Defending champion Texas Tech and Texas A&M come into the tournament as the hottest teams vying for the prize of an automatic NCAA Tournament bid.

Tech, which lost two games because of missed dunks and another in overtime, whipped TCU and Texas down the stretch, allowing the Aggies to claim a piece of the crown.

The Aggies have won their last four games.

"We'll come into the tournament on a roll," said Aggie Coach Shelby Metcalf. "It always helps to play with confidence. I think our winning streak has a certain residual benefit."

Tech Coach Gerald Myers said "I'd favor TCU and A&M but any of the teams here are capable of winning this thing. It should be a lot of fun."

Texas Coach Bob Weltlich said he thinks his Longhorns should have the edge.

"I think we played the best of anybody in the league, I know that won't set well with the rest of the coaches," said Weltlich.

In the night doubleheader, Texas takes on sixth-place Houston at 8:08 p.m. after Texas A&M meets seventh-place Arkansas at 6:08 p.m.

Mansfield battles for Class 4A title

AUSTIN (AP) - Port Arthur Lincoln and Mansfield moved into the finals of the Class 4A high school basketball tournament after taking victories in the semifinals.

The semifinals in Class 5A and Class 2A will be held today. Championship games in all classes will be held Saturday.

Anthony Allen scored 21 points to lead Port Arthur Lincoln to a 71-59 victory over New Braunfels.

John Smith and Riley Smith scored 28 points each to lead Mansfield to a 74-67 victory over Palestine.

New Braunfels got 27 points from Tilo Schmidt, but the senior center was only able to convert 10 of 21 shots from the field. He also ran into foul trouble, picking up his fourth foul with 6:25 left in the third quarter.

Alonzo Stephens was Palestine's high scorer with 20 points, mostly on long-range jumpers. Ivory Brown added 16 points, including 10 in the last quarter.

Riley Smith hit 11 of 13 shots and brought down 16 rebounds.

Cleveland got 17 points from Clyde Davis and 16 from Richard Johnson in a 61-53 victory over Hughes Springs in Class 3A.

A clutch free throw by Jeremy Warren with three seconds left in the game gave Dimmitt a 58-57 victory over Corpus Christi West Oso in the other 3A semifinal game.

Nazareth was paced by Randy Leavitt's 24 points in a 54-47 Class A victory over Laneville.

Archer City walloped Livingston Big Sandy 72-41 after pulling away from a 12-12 late in the first quarter.

Cleveland forced 20 Hughes Springs turnovers and converted them into 19 points.

Eddie Jones, with 26 points and 18 rebounds, led Hughes Springs. Terry scored 13 points and had 12 rebounds.

Leavitt, 6-5, grabbed 13 rebounds, and Kevin Hoelting had 10 as rugged Nazareth outrebounded Laneville 45-34.

Laneville, with no starter over 5-11, shot only 27 percent from the field. Marcus Anderson was high for Laneville with 19 points but made only seven of 27 field goal attempts.

Archer City, shooting 62.5 percent, got 24 points from 6-6 Robert Davis, 17 from 6-5 Billy Dugan and 15 from Robert Starnes.

Big Sandy's tallest starters were Mark Alec and Kevin Foster, both 6-0, who scored 20 and 11 points respectively.

Big Sandy had only 22 rebounds, 16 fewer than Archer City.

Longhorns facing Raiders in finals

DALLAS (AP) — Jody Conradt, coach of the No.-ranked Texas Lady Longhorns, says her team is beginning to feel the pressure as it advances to the finals of the Southwest Conference women's basketball tournament.

Four Texas players scored in double figures Thursday night in an 81-64 victory over Houston in a semifinal game. The victory moved the Lady Longhorns into the tournament championship game against Texas Tech Saturday night.

Sharon Cain scored 17 points and grabbed eight rebounds Thursday night to lead Texas Tech to a 58-48 victory over Arkansas in the other semifinal game.

"We are all starting to feel pressured this time of the year," said Conradt, coach of the unbeaten Lady Longhorns. "The pressure is very real, and in the first half of several games recently we have been tenative."

Conradt said she had been "fearful" about the Houston game, but the Lady Longhorns outscored Houston 20-8 during a second-half spurt to clinch the victory over Houston.

Beverly Williams scored 18 points, Fran Harris 14, Clarissa Davis 12 and Gay Hemphill 11 for the Lady Longhorns. Williams also added eight rebounds.

Houston Center Sonya Watkins led all scorers with a game-high 26 points. The Lady Cougars finished the season at 19-10.

Cain's 17 points helped Texas Tech to a 21-7 record and a berth in the championship game.

Tracy Webb scored 11 points for the Lady Razorbacks, who finished the season at 22-7.

Marcos's passport revoked

MANILA, Philippines (AP) — The government today cancelled the passports of deposed President Ferdinand E. Marcos, his family and 79 associates who fled with him to the United States, in what appeared to be a move to block their return to the Philippines.

Vice President and Foreign Minister Salvador H. Laurel, announcing the action in a talk with reporters, said the cancellation was made "on instructions" of President Corazon Aquino.

A Foreign Ministry spokesman, who spoke on condition he not be identified, said the action means that Marcos, who is in Hawaii, and his entourage will not be able to travel to any other country because they no longer have valid travel documents.

"Their mobility will be restricted," Laurel said.

Besides Marcos, his wife Imelda and their children, those affected by the action included Marcos' former Armed Forces Chief Gen. Fabian C. Ver, Ver's family, and industrialist Eduardo Cojuangco, a once-powerful Marcos ally.

"If the Marcoses or any of the ... others want a passport they can apply for one with the Philippine consulate in the United States, but the issuance of the passports will be handled on a case-to-case basis and on approval of President Aquino," Laurel said.

He did not elaborate.

Elsewhere, dozens of students heckled Rep. Stephen Solarz and a party of U.S. officials today with cries of "bootlicker" and "Meddlers, go home," during their visit to a suburban university known as a hotbed of activism.

A tribal group that had threatened to blow up a four-story high cement bust of Marcos today said it had abandoned the plan after the new government said it would give back ancestral lands the tribesmen claim were taken by the Marcos government.

Laurel aides said the notice of passport cancellations has been communicated to Philippine embassies in the United States and other countries. Marcos fled the Philippines Feb. 26 and sought refuge in Hawaii, where he is reported to be scouting for a new residence. He reportedly had wanted to stay in his home province of Ilocos Norte, north of Manila, but Mrs. Aquino opposed it, saying his departure from the Philippines would bring peace to the country.

Marcos himself denied Mrs. Aquino's husband, Benigno, a passport when Aquino wanted to return to the Philippines in 1983 after three years of voluntary exile in the United States.

Aquino returned anyway using an assumed name and a false travel document, but was shot to death at the Manila airport. Mrs. Aquino has accused Marcos of masterminding the assassination. Marcos claimed the assassin was a communist.

Solarz, D-N.Y., chairman of the U.S. House subcommittee on Asian and Pacific affairs, and other U.S. officials were booed by groups of students at the University of the Philippines, where Solarz spoke on U.S.-Philippine relations.

Cries of "Sipsip" — a Filipino slang for "bootlickers" — rose from some of the more than 350 people packing the hall when Solarz entered and flashed an "L" sign with his fingers.

"L" stands for Laban (Fight), the campaign slogan of President Corazon Aquino during her election campaign against Marcos.

Faked items sold

AUSTIN (AP) — The Texas Sesquicentennial Commission is on the lookout these days for pirates — not sea-faring buccaneers but those who plunder the official Sesquicentennial logo.

The commission has sanctioned 903 items for sale as official mementoes of this year's 150th anniversary of Texas independence.

The Sesquicentennial logotype itself is a registered trademark with the U.S. Patent office and protected by federal law.

But some people have sold merchandise with the logo on their own in violation of the trademark and the law, said Rebecca Richards, marketing director for the commission.

Goods from six stores recovered with arrests

Merchandise from six Snyder stores was recovered Thursday with the arrest of two female suspects now charged with misdemeanor theft.

The two Snyder women — one age 23 and the other 19 — were arrested by police following a report at 12:58 p.m. of a possible shoplifting incident at Margaret's dress shop in downtown Snyder.

Based upon a description given, the pair were spotted and taken into custody at Snyder Book Store a short while later.

After the arrest, police say they recovered merchandise allegedly taken from Shadra's, Anthony's, Lil Rascals, Four Seasons Hallmark, TG&Y and Eckerd Drug.

Total value of the merchandise recovered was estimated at approximately $600.

Both suspects were released from jail after posting bond Thursday afternoon.

Abilene man gets probation

ABILENE, Texas (AP) — An Abilene man convicted of attempted capital murder of a police officer got a probated prison term from a jury and a stern lecture from a district judge.

Mike Linderman, 22, was convicted Thursday on a charge of attempted capital murder of a police officer in connection with an incident in which he barricaded himself in his home and fired three shots at an officer. The jury set his punishment at seven years probation.

Linderman barricaded himself inside his home for seven hours and fired at then Abilene policeman Jim Francisco. Three bullets struck the car behind which Francisco was crouched during the siege.

Linderman could have received from five to 99 years or life in prison under the conviction.

And under state law, he could receive probation in the case only from a jury if the sentence was less than 10 years.

Judge Bill Thomas told Linderman he agreed with the punishment verdict but that he would "guarantee" that Linderman will be sent to prison if he violates any of his probationary terms.

"You've got the key to the joint (prison) in your back pocket," he told Linderman. "You foul up and come back in her before me (on a probation violation charge), and you've made the decision to go to prison."

Linderman had been joined by his parents, his boss and several family friends in asking the jury to assess probation.

Mental Health-Mental Retardation counselor Karen Allen said Linderman had sought counseling for alcoholism shortly after he was charged with the Oct. 13 offense.

She said he had been drinking since age 11 but that most of his problems stemmed from a guilt complex over the 1982 death of his brother in a motorcycle accident.

Linderman had testified he felt depressed on the night of the shooting because it was two days before his late brother's birthday.

He said he didn't remember the incident.

In convicting Linderman of attempting to kill Francisco, the jury rejected two lesser-included offenses of aggravated assault and reckless conduct.

Assistant District Attorney Melissa Annis reminded jurors that a friend testified Linderman told him he was going to kill the officer.

She said he also took other "deliberate" steps indicating he knew what he was doing.

The jury deliberated an hour before convicting Linderman. The punishment verdict was set in less than 30 minutes.

White thinks most teachers will pass

AUSTIN (AP) — The 210,000 Texas teachers who will take the state competency test on Monday are heading into the test with a positive assessment from Gov. Mark White.

"They're worried about it. But I know they will do well," he said.

White, who taught a history class Thursday at Austin High School as part of a state officials' teach-in program, said the test is obviously something that has raised teachers' concerns.

The reading and writing test, which will be taken by current teachers and school administrators on Monday, was a key element of the school reform law enacted in 1984.

A teachers' organization unsuccessfully challenged the exam in court, saying a one-shot test isn't a fair way to judge people who have been working in a profession for years.

White continued to defend the test, but also said he understands how teachers feel.

"I always fretted before every test I ever took, and I think every teacher probably feels the same concern. I do, for them," he said.

"There's an enormous amount of pressure brought to bear upon them because of the test. But they're going to do well."

Terri Anderson, spokeswoman for the Texas Education Agency, said the test also will be taken by about half the TEA staff, some 400 people including Education Commissioner William Kirby. Those taking the test have teacher certification.

Another 300,000 people who hold teaching certificates but aren't teaching right now will begin taking the competency test April 10, Ms. Anderson said.

White said the test is an essential element in forging a new knowledge-based economy for the state.

"I dont know how they'll react. But I do know that on Monday, we're going to see the beginning of a new economy built in Texas. The new economy will be built on the basis of stronger educational programs from the very first day the child touches that educational system," White said.

"We have to be to be world-competitive and move away from the dependence on an oil and gas economy.

White is pleased

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Mark White says he is pleased with state agency responses so far to his request for a 13 percent spending cut, even though those plans total only about half the $1.3 billion he hopes to trim.

"That's $604 million we wouldn't have had otherwise," White said.
