Terrorists Seize Egyptian Envoy

ANKARA, Turkey (AP) — Three Palestinian terrorists blasted their way into the Egyptian Embassy today, seized the ambassador and other hostages and reportedly killed "many" of them, the state radio said. Egypt gave the go-ahead for an army assault on the building if needed.

The raiders killed a Turkish policeman and Turkish security guard as they stormed into the building, firing automatic weapons and apparently tossing a grenade. It was reported they seized as many as 20 hostages, including Ambassador Ahmed Kemal Olema and his son.

The terrorists demanded that Turkey sever its relations with Egypt and Israel, that Egypt release two Palestinian prisoners, and that they get a bus to take them to Ankara's airport and a plane to fly to a friendly Arab country.

If the conditions are not met, "we are determined to blow up the building," state radio quoted one of the terrorists as telling a reporter in a telephone interview.

In Cairo, Egyptian Prime Minister Mustafa Khalil said he had given permission for Turkish troops to assault the embassy "if they see on the spot that it is needed to save lives."

He said Egypt holds the Palestine Liberation Organization responsible for the attack and threatened "serious retaliation" if the guerrillas harmed Egyptian diplomats. Palestinian guerrillas have struck Egyptian targets periodically since President Anwar Sadat launched his peace initiative with Israel 21 months ago.

A Turkish employee of the embassy who was released told police "there are many dead" among the hostages, the government broadcast said. This could not be otherwise confirmed.

The woman employee, secretary Bahar Ozturk, said the terrorists were holding four Egyptians and two Turks hostage. But local news agencies, quoting police sources, said there were 20 hostages, including Turkish employees.

One police source said Mrs. Ozturk may have seen only hostages held in one room with her.

The guerrillas had threatened to kill one hostage every five minutes after a 2:30 p.m. (6:30 a.m. CDT) deadline passed for meeting their demands.

A ring of security forces, including armored cars of a mechanized infantry division and police sharpshooters, took up positions around the embassy compound, stationing themselves near the adjacent Bulgarian and Hungarian embassies. Police helicopters hovered overhead.

Premier Bulent Ecevit and Interior Minister Hasan Fehmi Gunes sped to the scene and were conducting apparently fruitless negotiations with the terrorists.

The gunmen said they wanted a flight to either Syria, Iraq, Kuwait or Libya, and the ambassadors of those countries were summoned to the Turkish Foreign Ministry for consultations. The names of the prisoners whose freedom the terrorists were demanding were not immediately available.

A guard who survived the raid told police the attack was led by a "tall, blond and tough-looking Palestinian."

Police Arrest Two After Wild Affray

By JACK DOUGLAS

A burglary and a report that a sheriff's deputy had been shot Wednesday night brought more than 50 law enforcement officers to just outside of the city where two of three suspects were apprehended, including an armed man cornered on top of a building at 98th Street and Quirt Avenue.

A 22-year-old man and his brother, 18, both of Shallowater, were in custody today in connection with the 11 p.m. break-in of an eldery woman's house on 114th Street about a half mile east of Quirt Avenue.

A 32-year-old black man was being sought today in connection with the burglary, which resulted in the exchange of gunfire between the suspects and Lubbock County sheriff's deputies Cecil Brown and Ron Hill.

A sheriff's dispatcher said she received a call that Brown had been shot. But that report quickly was proven wrong.

The older of the two brothers was apprehended inside the woman's house. The other man was apprehended on top of the roof of a closed nightclub at 98th Street and Quirt Avenue about an hour later following a search by officers using dogs.

Chief Deputy Albert Smith said the report that Brown had been shot was false. He said that soon after Brown and Hill arrived on the scene he heard Brown radio in, "One of them has my gun and there's been some shooting."

The two deputies who made the initial call had not made out their reports late this morning. Sheriff's Capt. Alton Hobbs, who went to the scene, related what he was told, adding, however, that reports remained sketchy at midday.

The woman, who lives alone, awoke shortly before 11 p.m. when the burglars entered her residence.

The armed intruders allegedly fired at the woman when she fled her house. But the shots missed their target and the

Carter Aides Hint Tax Cut

WASHINGTON (AP) — A top Carter administration official is indicating the president will propose a tax cut if a recession this year is worse than expected.

"We are sensitive ... to the fact that in the coming months economic conditions may change more substantially than we now anticipate," Budget Director James T. McIntyre said today in testimony prepared for the Senate Budget Committee.

If that happens, he said, "we will modify the tax and the budgetary recommendations that we make to the Congress. ..."

Considerable support for a tax cut to ease the impact of a recession and high inflation has surfaced in Congress in recent weeks, although opinion is divided over whether the cut should be primarily for businesses, or for businesses and individuals.

It is thought that Carter might propose a reduction in Social Security taxes next year, although he wants to avoid a reduction in individual income taxes if at all possible. A major tax cut would likely force a delay in balancing the federal budget in 1981, a top Carter priority.

In another hint a tax cut might be considered, Lyle E. Gramley, a member of the president's Council of Economic Advisers, told the committee: "We recognize fully that modification of our economic policies may at some point be needed to deal with the heavy drain of consumer purchasing power imposed by increasing energy prices ..."

Gramley also indicated that the administration's anti-inflation wage and price guidelines, now under review, will not be changed substantially.

At a separate hearing of the congressional Joint Economic Committee, Barry Bosworth, director of the Council on Wage and Price Stability, said the surges in food, energy and housing prices are ominous.

"If workers attempt to recapture the lost income due to the productivity collapse and the food and fuel price increases, the result will be an acceleration in the underlying (inflation) rate similar to the one that occurred in 1974, followed by a severe recession," Bosworth said.

McIntyre told the Senate committee that the administration hopes to keep a lid on spending.

Fund Study Set By LCHD Panel

By KIM COBB
Avalanche-Journal Staff

Members of Lubbock County Hospital District's newly created financial advisory committee hit the floor running this morning, meeting at 7 a.m. to organize what they hope will be the salvation of Health Sciences Center Hospital.

County commissioners named former Lubbock Mayor Jim Granberry chairman of the committee Thursday, after spending more than a month trying to recruit members for the advisory group. LCHD board members called for the formation of the committee to study both alternate sources of funding for the district as well as the facility's economic impact on the cammunity.

Granberry called the hospital's financial crisis "the most important problem facing Lubbock today," telling the committee it was their job to "sell" the hospital to the community. He urged the committee to use what he called their "spheres of influence" in getting support for the hospital.

Granberry apparently surprised many committee members by calling the meeting less than 24 hours after he was named chairman. But Granberry said they don't have any time to lose.

"This is a very important job," Granberry said. "I think we need to get on with it."

The chairman outlined seven subcommittees to study various aspects of the LCHD's financial crisis, asking that subcommittee chairmen turn in written reports after every meeting. Advisory subcommittees will be:

— A subcommittee on operations and management. Headed by former city councilman Lonnie Hollingsworth, this group will be charged with investigating problems in the day-to-day operation of the hospital. This will include a study of staff, purchasing and the billing system which has produced more than $7 million in unpaid patient bills.

— A government and political evaluation subcommittee. Attorney Bill Moss will spearhead this group, which will study all available federal grants as well

Grand Jury Here Clears Policeman In Shooting

By BOB CAMPBELL
Avalanche-Journal Staff

A 137th District Court grand jury today refused to indict a Lubbock policeman in the July 4 shooting death of a 22-year-old Lubbock as the man reportedly was trying to escape in a stolen car.

The no-bili in the case of patrolman Guadalupe Garza, who shot and killed Gary Dan Whitfield after the two cars had stopped in a downtown alley, was returned as the grand jury brought back 100 indictments and three no-bills after a week of deliberations.

The grand jury returned an indictment against 46-year-old Marlin Ray Sasser of Idalou, who is charged with three counts of burglary in break-ins at three Lubbock County chemical companies and warehouses in connection with the theft of almost $100,000 in weed-killing herbicides.

Sammy Richard Selman, 30, of 6118 35th St. was indicted on a charge of murder in connection with the May 29 death of Jeral Ray Kirkland, 47, of Shallowater, whose death was ruled a homicide at a coroner's inquest after he reportedly had been severely beaten.

Annie Fay Williams, 21, of 3002 Fourth St., No. 62, was indicted on a murder charge in the June 2 second stabbing death of William H. James, 29, an Air Force staff sergeant whose body was found in a car off West Fourth Street and 2 miles west of Farm 179.

Kenneth Charles Luttrell, a 16-year-old juvenile from Dallas, recently was certified to stand trial as an adult and was indicted on two counts of burglary of a habitation and two counts of aggravated robbery in connection with a March 30 gunpoint holdup of an 18-year-old youth on the Texas Tech University campus and an April 4 knifepoint robbery of a 21-year-old Lubbock man outside a University Avenue restaurant.

Another juvenile recently certified to stand trial as an adult, 16-year-old Joe Valdez of Carlisle, was indicted for burglary in connection with the May 17 break-in at Wright Elementary School.

Joe Allen Disheroon, 34, of Dallas was re-indicted on two counts of aggravated robbery and one count of aggravated kidnapping in connection with early May incidents at Lubbock pharmacies and the attempted kidnapping of a Chris' Rexall pharmacist that ended in Disheroon being shot by an off-duty Lubbock policeman.

Ramaldo Belasco Jr., 17, of 3017 30th St. was indicted on two counts of involuntary manslaughter in the June 16 traffic deaths of Lubbock elementary school principals Tommy Herring and William Bravenec. The principals were killed when a car in which they were riding was in collision with another car at 22nd Street and Boston Avenue.

Sam Joseph Malouf, 23, of 2108 28th St. was indicted on two counts of delivery of a controlled substance, cocaine, in the alleged sale of the drug to Department of Public Safety agents last November.

Oscar Rodriguez, 24, of 2520 Bates St.

Sandinista Guerrillas Battle For Managua

MANAGUA, Nicaragua (UPI) — Sandinista advance units slipped back into Managua early today and battled the national guard in the city's eastern and western suburbs. A Sandinista spokesman said the full-scale assault to take the capital will begin within 48 hours.

Gunfire ripped through the eastern neighborhood of Eden and the western sector of Open Tres overnight — the first fighting in the capital since the guerrillas pulled out of the city last month.

Manuel Espinoso Enriquez, a Sandinista spokesman, said in Costa Rica Thursday that advance units from the rebels encircling the capital entered Managua overnight ready for a bloody showdown battle to oust President Anastasio Somoza from power.

He predicted that the fight for Managua would be on by Sunday.

"The situation is evolving and we are confident we can be in Managua by Sunday," Espinoso said in a statement broadcast over Costa Rica's Radio Reloj.

The rebel attempt to move back into the capital followed Somoza's rejection of a 12-point Sandinista "peace plan" presented to U.S. special ambassador William Bowdler in a meeting in Costa Rica Thursday.

The plan offered concessions to the national guard, but Somoza said it did not meet the conditions he has set for agreeing to resign.

The Somoza-run radio station meanwhile announced censorship of the press Thursday because of "distortions" in foreign news coverage. Reporters were to be briefed on the restrictions at a government news conference today.

The radio did not say how the censorship would be enforced. Crews from the three U.S. TV networks Thursday said the government abruptly closed the Managua satellite ground station, blocking transmission of videotape.

"I think this one might fly," a diplomatic source said of the Sandinista plan. But Somoza, in a telephone interview with a UPI correspondent in San Jose, called the guerrilla offer, "loco (crazy)."

U.S. Ambassador Lawrence A. Pezzullo met with Somoza Thursday to discuss the guerrilla proposal, but the outcome of the talks was not disclosed.

Storms Rip Into Plains

A-J News Services

Isolated thunderstorms developed in the western and northern sections of the South Plains late this morning, as the National Weather Service forecast more showers and thunderstorms for the area during the afternoon and tonight.

Probability of precipitation is 20 percent this afternoon and 30 percent tonight, according to the NWS.

Turbulent weather stretched northward across the Great Plains all the way to the Dakotas today, after tornadoes, high winds, rain and hail battered the upper Midwest Thursday night.

Wind gusts of more than 100 mph were measured at Philip, S.D., and tornadoes were sighted near Winner and Fort Thompson.

A minor upper level disturbance is expected to push across Northwest Texas late today or tonight, creating a

FAA Drops Ban Against DC-10s

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Aviation Administration today released the nation's DC-10 jetliners to fly again, 37 days after they were grounded following America's worst air disaster.

"Today I am returning the DC-10 fleet to the air," FAA Administrator Langhorne Bond toll a news conference.

Within minutes of the announcement, United Airlines scheduled an early-afternoon DC-10 flight today from Chicago to Baltimore. American Airlines said it probably would not resume DC-10 flights until Sunday.

Swissair said it will resume DC-10 flights to the United States beginning Wednesday.

Bond said that the eight U.S. airlines operating the planes will be required to conduct extensive inspections of the DC-10 engine mounts at frequent intervals. He added that McDonnell Douglas Corp., which manufactures the plane, will have to re-design two sections of that mount, or pylon, within two years.

Bond said his action comes after reviewing the results of the "most exhaustive investigation of an aircraft in aviation history.

"That effort has been a success," Bond said. "We have resolved to my satisfaction the safety question raised by the tragic crash of Flight 191 in Chicago, and we have worked out strict measures to assure that such a crash cannot occur again."

American Airlines Flight 191 crashed on takeoff from Chicago's O'Hare Airport on May 25, killing 273 persons. The 138 DC-10s owned by eight U.S. airlines were grounded June 6 after cracks were found in the pylons of several of them during the post-crash investigation.

Foreign-operated DC-10s were not affected by the grounding, but were barred from flying into U.S. air space. After conducting thorough inspections, most foreign airlines put their planes back into the air.

"The steps I have taken today will allow the DC-10s to fly again with safety," Bond said.

The FAA released a document outlining the provisions under which the wide-bodied jets will be allowed to fly.

They call for repetitive inspections, between every 100 and 3,000 flight hours for different parts. The inspections concentrate on the engine mount, which broke away and allowed the engine to fall off of Flight 191 in Chicago.

The document said some inspections will take as many as 50 man-hours to complete. They will require special ultrasonic and electrical current probes to check for tiny metal breaks not visible to the naked eye.

Agnew Working On Second Novel

OCEAN CITY, Md. (AP) — Spiro T. Agnew is alive and well and writing his second novel in this resort city.

In a brief interview published in Thursday's Baltimore News American, the former vice president said he plans to spend the summer in his luxury condominium working on his book. He declined to discuss its contents, but added, "Maybe I can say more in the fall."

His first book — "The Canfield Decision" — was published in 1976 and enjoyed moderate sales.

Sculptor Upset

ROCKLAND, Maine (AP) — Sculptor Louise Nevelson, apparently upset "that art was destroyed," has canceled her stay at the Samoset Resort, her brother says.

The resort demolished a 25-foot Bernard Langlais wood sculpture last month after trying unsuccessfully to sell it. Samoset manager William Manger said it was done to make room for shrubbery.

"She is upset at the fact that art was destroyed," Nathan Berliawsky said Thursday.

The 79-year-old artist was in Rockland to prepare for a major exhibition of her work at the Farnsworth Museum.

Actor Awarded $280,000

DETROIT (AP) — A judge has awarded $280,000 to actor John Gavin, who says he was hurt financially by a newspaper article linking him to the wife of an auto industry executive.

The default judgment in the 1975 lawsuit was handed down Wednesday in Wayne County Circuit Court against Los Angeles publicist Jay Bernstein. Gavin blamed Bernstein for a syndicated newspaper story linking Gavin romantically with Detroit area socialite Dollie Cole.

At the time, she was married to General Motors Corp. President Edward N. Cole, who later died in a plane crash.

Johnson Sworn In

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (AP) — U.S. District Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr., once called the "most hated man in Alabama," has been sworn in as the newest member of the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals.

Johnson has been hailed by Attorney General Griffin Bell as the "role model" for federal judges in the United States. He was once called the "most hated man in Alabama" for his landmark civil rights decisions during the 1950s and 1960s.

President Carter had nominated Johnson for FBI director, but the judge withdrew, citing a health problem that required time to overcome.

Lerner Faces Contempt Hearing

NEW YORK (AP) — The songwriter who composed such works as "My Fair Lady" and "Gigi" has been ordered to appear in court to show why he should not be held in contempt for failing to answer a court questionnaire about his finances.

Alan Jay Lerner was named in an action filed by A La Vieille Russie, a Russian art jewelery and antique dealer on Fifth Avenue, claiming Lerner owes $19,146 for a diamond necklace. A default judgment was entered against Lerner on April 24, entitling the dealer to the money and directing Lerner to complete the questionnaire.

The order was signed by Justice Hortense Gabel on Thursday. Lerner also faces another contempt hearing for refusing to testify at an alimony hearing because reporters were present.

'Present' For City Hall

TULSA, Okla. (AP) — Dan Knowles says he is tired of paying the city to pick up his trash and getting no service.

The Lighter Side Of Today's News

So Knowles wrapped his garbage in "pretty green bags with ribbons tied on top" on Wednesday and dumped them in front of City Hall.

He received a $25 ticket for littering, but says "I'll go to jail before I pay a fine on this." A court date has not been set.

Knowles said he has had to take his trash to the city dump "on the average of three times per month — otherwise it just piles up in my front yard."

"I've paid for the trash pickup," he said. "It's up to them (the city) to dispose of it. I'm just saving them gas by bringing it down here."

Area's Emergency Care Strengthened By Grant

A $220,000 federal grant will be used in 15 South Plains counties to beef up emergency medical care in the region this year.

The grant money, which had been sought by the South Plains EMS Committee, will be used to help counties and towns develop communication systems and to provide training for ambulance personnel, said Giles McCrary, Post mayor and SPEMS chairman.

SPEMS is a private, non-profit association that will administer the grant. It is comprised of consumers, elected officials and health services providers.

"Competition for this funding was intense," McCrary said. "Only about 20 such grants were to be awarded nationwide. Fortunately, we had regionwide support that was effectively demonstrated in Washington by South Plains EMS representatives and Congressmen Ken Hance and Charles Stenholm."

The federal funds will be available in early 1980 and will kick off a four-year development program throughout the region, McCrary said.

He explained most of the grant money will be used to upgrade communications. Relay towers will be installed throughout the region to provide a communication link with the Panhandle, Permian Basin and eastern New Mexico, he said.

Also, the money will help pay for EMS training programs that will be offered at five area towns throughout the region. The money will help reduce tuition from $200 per person to about $25, McCrary said.

Each community within the 15-county region will determine its own participation in the upgraded EMS program, he said, explaining each community will design its own program and pay according to its available funds.

Communities will have until December to decide whether they want to participate and to what extent.

At the end of the four-year development program, participating communities must be self-sustaining, McCrary said.

Two Lubbock hospitals will be involved in the program in that they have transfer agreements that allow a critically ill or injured patient to receive care at one hospital and then to be transferred to a hospital near his home for recuperation.

The transfer agreements, which would be used only in emergency situations and which were signed by 23 hospitals in the region, include Methodist Hospital and Health Sciences Center Hospital. They probably will be major transfer points, McCrary said.

The 15 counties involved in the regional EMS program are Bailey, Lamb, Hale, Floyd, Motley, Cochran, Hockley, Lubbock, Crosby, Dickens, King, Yoakum, Terry, Lynn and Garza.

Snyder Man's Bond Raised

A-J Correspondent

SNYDER — David James, 22, of Snyder was arraigned Thursday on charges of aggravated assault with a deadly weapon in connection with the shooting of Donna Lee Byrom, who died only hours before the arraignment.

Bond was raised from $1,500 to $5,000.

Miss Byrom, 23, of Snyder was shot once in the stomach with a 30-30 rifle on July 4. She died at 12:59 a.m. Thursday at Cogdell Memorial Hospital.

The shooting incident occurred about 4 a.m. on July 4 at 1908 Coleman St., Apt. 4. James was arrested at the scene.

The body was sent to Abilene for an autopsy and will later be sent to Tennessee for funeral services and burial.

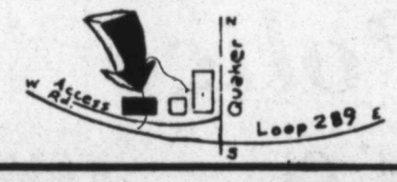

Miss Byrom, a native of Hazelcrest, Ill., is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Lee C. Byrom and a brother, Timothy, all of Lynchburg, Tenn.

Rust Policy Begun To Improve Sales

DETROIT (AP) — Hoping to improve slumped sales, Ford Motor Co. says it will guarantee its cars and light trucks against rust holes for three years, effective immediately.

Ford on Wednesday became the second U.S. manufacturer to give a warranty against rust. American Motors Corp. announced a similar move effective May 14. AMC's warranty does not cover Jeeps, which are AMC's light trucks.

Mystery Oil Spill 'Not Very Thick'

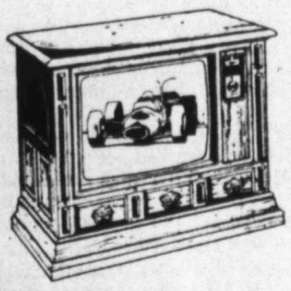

VIRGINIA BEACH, Va. (AP) — Crews from the Coast Guard and private industry have been cleaning crude oil from a mysterious spill along five miles of oceanfront at this resort city. It was the fourth spill reported in recent weeks on the Virginia-North Carolina coast.

Coast Guard aircraft spotted the spill at the Sandbridge beach Wednesday afternoon, and officials said they hoped to have it cleaned up by the weekend. Coast Guard spokesman Cmdr. Al Melis said the oil was "not very thick" compared to a major spill and that no wildlife had been seriously affected.

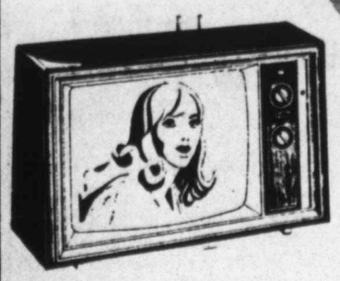

Melis said the Coast Guard did not know the cause of the spill.

Australian Teen-Ager Races To U.S. To Collect Skylab Reward

PERTH, Australia (UPI) — A 17-year-old western Australian boy carrying a toothbrush, one change of clothes and what he hopes is a handful of pieces of Skylab left for San Francisco today to claim a $10,000 reward.

If Stan Thornton's charcoal-like fragments prove to be from the U.S. space station that disintegrated over the western Australian outback, he stands to collect the reward put up by the San Francisco Examiner to anybody who delivers a piece of Skylab to it within 72 hours after the crash.

Three other Australians searching the rock-strewn desert outback stumbled over what may be the biggest piece of Skylab wreckage recovered so far — a 6-foot-long cylinder stamped with the number "102".

Not all Australians welcomed Skylab's booming arrival. The Australian newspaper criticized U.S. space officials today for aiming the space station at Australia, rather than risking it crashing in the United States.

"The American Atlas shrugged its responsibility off its East Coast on to our shores a little too close to people and towns for comfort. Next time, we suggest, they accept their own airborne ironmongery."

Thornton, a truck driver's assistant from Esperance, 450 miles from Perth, was rushed to Perth today by radio station Sixpm, which provided him with a passport, visa and air fare.

Australian and U.S. officials sped him through airport customs in an effort to beat the San Francisco deadline.

The teen-ager found several pieces of dense, charcoal-like substances in the backyard of his home Thursday.

Skylab broke into thousands of pieces as it fell to Earth over the Indian Ocean early Thursday morning. Debris from the craft scattered over a wide area in the wilderness of western Australia.

Sixpm radio station general manager Graeme Edwin said tests by the government chemical laboratory in Perth indicated there was a strong possibility that Thornton had indeed found a piece of Skylab.

"They say it is definitely not wood and that it could well be a bit of Skylab," Edwin said. "Stan has taken some of what he found to America. The rest will be tested at the West Australian Institute of Technology to try and confirm if it is from Skylab."

Bill Norton, a telecommunications technician, said he and two friends, Peter Ralph and Laurie Hotstone, found the wreckage at noon Thursday about 6 miles south of the small town of Rawlinna.

"It took two four-wheel drive vehicles to haul it on the trailer," Norton said.

The cylindrical chunk of wreckage measured 6-by-3 feet, was charred and coated with a substance like fiberglass, and the number "102" was stamped on what looked like two projecting edges, Norton said.

Rawlinna, about 240 miles east of the western Australian town of Kalgoorlie, was the last place to report sighting the fall of Skylab.

The cylinder appeared to have bounced and rolled about 600 feet from the point of impact and came to rest in low scrub on a slight incline.

"We reckoned that Skylab must have been fairly close to Rawlinna and we headed in the direction it was last seen," Norton said.

The men set off on a drive to Kalgoorlie to hand over their find to the State Emergency Services.

They did not see Skylab debris falling but were told by Rawlinna residents a booming noise woke them up.

"I think this would have been the noise of impact rather than a sonic boom," Norton said.

Senate Ethics Committee Ends Talmadge Hearings

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate Ethics Committee has ended its public hearings on financial misconduct allegations against Sen. Herman E. Talmadge, but a decision on the matter is far from imminent.

The committee chairman, Adlai Stevenson, D-Ill., instructed lawyers for the Georgia Democrat and for the committee to submit final written arguments by next Thursday night.

No decision has been made on the next step after that, but if past practice holds true the committee staff likely will be asked to analyze the evidence and write a lengthy report including recommendations.

The committee then would decide whether to recommend the full Senate take disciplinary action such as censure or expulsion against the 23-year Senate veteran.

The hearings ended after 27 days Thursday with Talmadge insisting he was innocent of wrongdoing but reluctantly agreeing he might have some minor responsibility for honest errors committed by his staff.

"The commanding officer is always responsible," the Georgia Democrat said. But he added, "Certainly I assume no responsibility whatsoever for any crime committed by any subordinate.

"I am human and I have made errors," Talmadge said. But he added, "I have always tried to serve the public interest to the best of my ability. I have never used my office for profit, never have, and never will."

NY Crime Boss Gunned Down

NEW YORK (AP) — Carmine "The Cigar" Galante's ruthless ambition to become organized crime's "boss of bosses" was ended as ruthlessly as it was followed, police say, in a bloodied restaurant courtyard with Galante still clutching a fat stogie in his teeth.

"He vowed when he got out of prison that he would become a powerhouse," said Police Lt. Remo Francheshini, adding that there was evidence Galante was trying to cut in on the criminal activities of the Genovese crime family.

"He was into everything — narcotics, pornography, loan-sharking, labor rackets," said Francheshini, "He was trying to turn all the crime families upside down."

Galante, his bodyguard and another man died in a hail of point-blank gunfire Thursday afternoon at an Italian restaurant in an decaying section of Brooklyn. The restaurant's owner was among the dead.

The six assassins wore ski masks — a fingerprint on the crime that authorities said made it different from executions of other Mafia chieftains.

TODAY'S EDITORIAL:

SPAG Makeup Ok As Is

AN OPPORTUNITY to stand firm in symbolic protest of federal attempts to undermine local self-government has presented itself to the South Plains Association of Governments.

Federal bureaucrats, acting under Congressional authority, have told SPAG in effect that it will have to change complexion if it wants economic development funding.

"I think if we give up our own right to decide local government representation, we are giving up too much," Lubbock County Judge Rod Shaw correctly protests.

THE PRINCIPLE involved is the same one that the federal judiciary is prone to enforce by assuming dictatorial control of school systems.

The Justice Department follows the same line when it abuses its power by deciding a city can't enlarge its corporate limits if the people living there, or likely to live there, are white.

In the instant case, the Economic Development Administration says SPAG must have more minority members on its governing board in order to qualify for this region's share of federal taxpayer EDA handouts.

SPAG is, however, an organization made up of member local governments. To seat non-elected persons on its board of directors would change its character entirely and do violence to its purpose for existence.

Its purpose is, or should be, to provide for coordination and cooperative effort among the member governments.

Several years ago, the SPAG board nonetheless caved in to federal dictatorship and added minority members—whose lack of interest in attending meetings thereafter denied the organization a quorum.

THERE IS NO reason that a person would want to take time away from his or her job to attend SPAG meetings.

In case Washington hasn't heard of it yet, that's the reason we have elected public officials—county commissioners, city councilmen, state representatives, Congressmen—in this country: So that the rest of us can go about our own affairs and let them run the machinery of government.

Judge Shaw, and Lubbock Councilman Carolyn Jordan, who seconded his statement, are correct. SPAG should stand firm on the principle of local self-rule rather than let federalism destroy the system.

Taxes Cost Nothing!

SKYLAB MADE 34,180 orbits of the earth before crashing back into the atmosphere. A Lubbock motorist can't even make one orbit of the block without crashing into four red lights.

In leaking word that Energy Secretary James Schlesinger would resign, a White House staffer explained it's because Schlesinger has become a "political liability" to the President.

If that's the criteria, Carter will have to clear the White House of everybody but Rosalynn.

Hamilton Jordan, 'tis said, will be chief of staff with broad authority under a White House re-organization.

My Neighbor Twice Removed says it seems he recalls that Jordan has gotten into trouble, broadly speaking.

A RARE INSIGHT into the muddled thinking that has created inflationary havoc in this country was provided this week by an Associated Press dispatch out of Washington. It read, in part:

"An Energy Department source said Tuesday that the staff had been considering removal of the price controls (on gasoline).

"The cost to the public of such a move could have been countered by imposing a 25-cents-a-gallon tax on gasoline production at refineries, to be returned to the public as funding for Social Security, subsidies for home heating oil, or direct aid to the poor, this source said."

Incredible! The federal bureaucracy actually argues that a tax costs the public nothing because it is returned to the public in the form of handouts.

Taking your money from you and giving it to someone else costs you nothing, the Carter administration tells you!

Taxes, hidden and otherwise, take more of your consumer dollar than the businessman takes as profit. And that's why inflation is running in double digits.

Today's May Bouquet: To District Manager Wayne Wyatt and the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District board, for deciding on a 10 percent tax cut (to 4.5 cents per $100 valuation) instead of spending every penny they could've laid their hands on next year.

The budget will still be a hefty $650,495.

MR. AND MRS. GEORGE N. Atkinson returned from a vacation tour of western Canada with a great idea: Turn Mackenzie "State" Park into a garden spot.

With state money.

A disgraee to any civilized society in its present condition, Mackenzie has fallen on evil times because of false economy moves by the City Council and administration.

Although it carries the "State Park" name, the sprawling acreage in northeast Lubbock has been neglectfully maintained by the City for y'ars and y'ars and y'ars.

It is smack in the middle of what we have just spent several million bucks on to create a linear weed patch called the Canyon Lakes Project.

While in Canada, the Atkinsons saw beautifully maintained gardens in city after city. Local residents and tourists both enjoy them.

ATKINSON WONDERS why the Texas Parks Department doesn't appropriate some funds to rescue Mackenzie State Park from the lower limits of degradation and make it a place you'd want to take your grandmother on Mother's Day.

Maybe it's because we don't have anybody down there knocking on the doors, like Dallas and Houston do, for parks to serve urban areas.

In the meantime, the City really needs to appropriate enough money at least to keep the weeds mowed, the grass green and the punks out of Mackenzie and the rest of the Canyon Lakes project.

But at budget hearing time, says a member of the City Council, "the only folks we hear from are those who want us to cut taxes."

Anybody else out there who wants to be heard?

Holmes Alexander:

Liberty Demands Death Penalty

WASHINGTON—All honor, sympathy and admiration to the hundreds of jurors, witnesses, prosecutors, judges, justices and governors who have brought—are bringing—capital punishment back into the process of self-government.

A limited respect for human life, restrained compassion for the unlucky culprit, Christian wishes for the forgiveness by God that allegedly awaits the penitent criminal, yes.

But I say no to the shrinking by the general populace from the gruesome duty to support the law when the last chip is down and blood must rightly pay for blood, a life for a life.

Capital punishment is final for the central sufferer, and it is the ultimate proof of the consent of the governed.

THE DEATH SENTENCE, when delivered by an intricate government founded on assumption of innocence and mitigation of punishment, is punishment shared.

It is punishment regretted. It is punishment as a last resort to control human depravity or inhuman actions where all else has failed. Capital punishment, which all men of goodwill deplore, is both deed and symbol of self-rule.

The death sentence is countenanced in the Constitution, which forbids it to take "cruel or unusual" forms.

It has been okayed by chief justices and Presidents since the republic's beginning. Thousands of humble persons, as well as these exalted ones, have endorsed it at the voting booth and in quiet, solemn, guarded rooms where juries reach their decisions.

The death penalty is Democracy's terrible, swift sword. Without it, government of, for and by the people most assuredly must perish from the earth.

We in America have flunked our disagreeable duty for several decades.

TWO POINTS NEED to be made here. Courthouse killings had gotten out of hand where all-white juries wreaked racial injustice upon persons of other skins. The disproportion of condemned blacks, and persons of lighter shades but foreign background, cried out for adjustment.

Finally, this was done.

Every police reporter, especially below the Mason-Dixon line, has seen cruel and unusual judgments passed, partly because the ruling community demanded harsh standards and would inflict them illicitly in lynch mobs if it were denied.

Second point: It is not too late to mend, but it is almost. The return to the prompt execution of death sentences in America comes at a time when worldwide civilization totters.

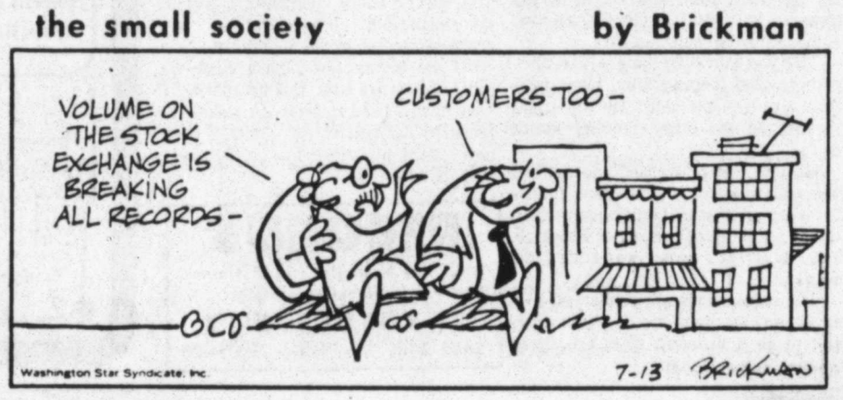

Southeast Asia has virtually sent its refugees to walk the plank. The "boat people" are not even criminals—just losers. Terrorism is the regular practice in Europe, the Mideast, Latin America and in Africa.

If we are to govern in this country, as our Founders intended, we must bring back capital punishment—not piecemeal, not half-heartedly, but with a determination to restore a government by law, and not one by wrong-headed men.

The farmers last winter brought their tractors and tried to govern from the streets of Washington. The truckers took to the turnpikes, blocking the gasoline stations in a peevish display of anarchy. Even the gays turned out to stage mob scenes of their own.

Is capital punishment the cure-all? Well, it is the prime method by which a people can assert its sovereignty. The influence of the death sentence, the shadow of the gallows, the silhouette of the electric chair is Democratic discipline, and discipline is what we need.

'Amway Way' May Be Wrong Way For You

WASHINGTON—"What are some of your dreams? Do you want a new car, a new home, a college education for your children? A retirement income that will afford you a comfortable standard of living?

"Would you be interested if I could show you a way to make your dreams come true? Would you be interested in a way to achieve this on a part-time basis?"

This recruitment pitch comes from the 1975 Career Manual of the Amway Corp., a firm which makes and markets mainly household soaps and detergents.

Amway's products aren't available at your local retail stores. They are sold "person-to-person," as the company puts it, by about 360,000 individuals who buy the products at wholesale from Amway, then resell them at retail to family and friends or at wholesale to other "distributors" they have recruited for Amway.

THERE'S NOTHING wrong with Amway's direct sales plan per se.

In fact, it has been highly successful both from the point of view of its two founding executives, Jay VanAndel and Richard M. DeVos who created the Michigan-based firm in 1959, and from the point of view of its customers who annually buy more than $200 million of Amway Products.

Out of 16 brands of dishwashing liquid, a market survey revealed, Amway's product ranked first in brand loyalty.

Its laundry detergent, with only a tiny market share and no national advertising, was rated third out of 37 brands and its detergents for automatic diswashers, clothing and rugs, rated second.

This is a remarkably high level of customer satisfaction, particularly since the soap and detergent field is dominated by a few big companies.

THE LARGEST, Proctor & Gamble, sells about half of all the soap and detergent in the U.S. and a quarter of personal care products.

In one recent year, it spent more than $360 million promoting its products (which include Tide, Cheer, Bold and ERA), while that same year, Amway spent less than $1 million and only on institutional (non-product) advertising.

Amway chipped a hole—a small but growing one—in this highly centralized soap market by selling first a liquid biodegradable detergent, called "LOC," for liquid organic compound.

It took the three major soap manufacturers nearly 10 years to make and sell similar non-phosphate detergents—and they didn't actually produce them until several states had passed ecology laws prohibiting the use of phosphates.

FOR A NEW or relatively small company, such as Amway, with a top quality product, direct selling provides a means of distribution that doesn't require huge advertising budgets and such fixed costs as salaries, Social Security contributions, unemployment compensation for salespeople.

But to be successful at direct selling, a firm must have not only a first-class, dependable product; it also must be able to attract, train and motivate independent salespeople who will explain the product, demonstrate and deliver it.

Here's where an inspiring recruitment pitch comes in.

And here is where Amway and undoubtedly some of the other 2,000 companies engaged in direct selling in the U.S. may mislead those of you who dream of earning a lot of extra money while being your own boss and working part-time.

THE FEDERAL Trade Commission has ordered Amway and its two directors to stop exaggerating the earnings potential of its distributors.

Although the turnover rate among Amway salespeople is better than most direct selling companies, three out of four quit after the first year—a stunning commentary indeed!

In fiscal 1973-74, the average Amway distributor's monthly business volume was about $33, not the $200 a month the company suggested. And a major portion of the $33 worth of products the typical distributor sold, he sold to himself.

The FTC dismissed charges that Amway's sales plan was an illegal "pyramid" scheme, under which sales recruits are rewarded mainly by their recruiting of others, not through sales.

BUT AMWAY HAS been ordered to stop controlling the prices at which its distributors can sell its products.

Once a salesperson buys Amway's products—and by implication those of other direct selling firms—he or she has the right both to advertise and sell at whatever price he or she wishes.

For you who buy Amway's soaps and other products, this order should mean heightened competition at lower prices. For you who dream of earning extra money by selling the "Amway way," the order should ensure you a more realistic idea of what you'll be able to earn.

James J. Kilpatrick:

Turning The Clock Way Back

WASHINGTON—It was only yesterday, so to speak, that the Supreme Court was full of the self-righteous juices of self-restraint.

"Under our constitutional framework," wrote Justice Marshall, rolling his eyes to heaven, "federal courts do not sit as councils of revision, empowered to rewrite legislation in accord with their own conceptions of prudent public policy."

That was on June 18, in the Rutherford case involving Laetrile and the Food and Drug Act.

How swiftly virtue yields to sweet temptation! On June 27, in the Weber case involving affirmative action and the Civil Rights Act, the Court tossed its pious declaration to the four winds.

By a vote of 5-2, the Court wiped out the plain and unambiguous language of the Civil Rights Act and rewrote Title VII to suit the majority's will.

THE RESULT is to sanction racial discrimination in private employment as blatant, as cruel and as indefensible as any of the impositions once visited by the white South upon its Negro people.

The facts are not in dispute. In an effort to correct racial imbalance at its plant in Gramercy, La., the Kaiser Aluminum Company and the steelworkers union agreed upon a plan by which more blacks would be trained for skilled crafts.

Selection of trainees was to be made on the basis of seniority, with the proviso that at least 50 percent of the new trainees were to be black.

Thirteen men were selected for the first class, six white, seven black. The most junior black had less seniority than several white workers whose applications were rejected.

Among the rejected white applicants was Brian Weber. He brought a class action suit against the company and the union, alleging violation of the Civil Rights Act.

The lower courts agreed that his rights had been violated. The Supreme Court on June 27 reversed, finding nothing unlawful in a willfully race-conscious program such as this one.

The majority's hypocrisy beggars belief and invites contempt. As Chief Justice Burger said in dissent, the applicable part of Title VII is a statute "of extraordinary clarity."

This is what the act says:

"IT SHALL BE an unlawful employment practice for any employer, labor organization or joint labor-management committee controlling apprenticeship or other training programs to discriminate against any individual because of his race, color, religion, sex or national origin in admission to, or employment in, any program established to provide apprenticeship or other training."

The act further makes it unlawful to discriminate against any individual with respect to privileges of employment. The act positively forbids any racial classification "which would adversely affect (any individual's) status as an employe."

Words could not be more clearly fitted together. In earlier cases, the Court has said as much.

In a 1976 case the Court unanimously agreed that Title VII prohibits racial discrimination against the white petitioners in this case upon the same standards as would be applicable were they Negroes.

In a 1971 case, another unanimous court agreed that under the act, discriminatory preference, for any group, minority or majority, is precisely and only what Congress has proscribed.

All of that now goes down the drain. The quota system created by Kaiser and the union unquestionably discriminates by reason of race. Brian Weber was barred from the training program for one reason and one reason only—the color of his skin.

IT IS IMPOSSIBLE to understand how such palpable, undisguised racial discrimination can survive within the law and the Constitution.

By this bland act of judicial legislation, the Court turns the law of racial discrimination back to some point before Plessy vs. Ferguson. That was the 1896 case that created the scheme of separate but equal. The Court's decision in the Weber case does not even reach for equality.

The Court has hung up the same kind of racist sign once hoisted against Chinese in California and against Irish in New England. At Kaiser, beyond a certain point, No Whites Need Apply.

Jest For Fun...

"IF GOD didn't have a sense of humor, there wouldn't be a Texas Legislature," mused Fort Worth Star-Telegram Austin Bureau correspondent Anne Marie Kilday.

"And Dr. Gerald Mann, pastor of University Baptist Church in Austin and chaplain of the Texas House and Senate, wouldn't be leading prayers at the opening of every meeting."

Some of his offerings:

"Lord, help these legislators remember that making laws is like making a parachute jump...things turn out better, if you get it right the first time.

"Lord, you're probably listening to a billion prayers at this moment, so I thought you might appreciate a short one—HELP!

"Lord, before we judge each other today, remind us that the only difference between a sinner and a saint is that one's been caught, and the other hasn't.

"Lord, deliver us from evil, ourselves and long-winded prayers."

Oil Wealth Also Poses Problems

By THOMAS L. FRIEDMAN

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — It's not easy being the world's largest oil exporter.

The ruling family of Saudi Arabia finds itself exposed daily to critical domestic, regional and international pressures, all focused on a single issue: oil production.

Saudi Arabia's 5 million people usually pump 8.5 million barrels of oil per day (mbd), but have agreed to raise this to 9.5 mbd for the next three months. The West, particularly the United States, constantly implores the Saudis to use their great spare capacity —200 billion barrels of proven oil reserves — to alleviate the current world oil shortfall and make the gas lines disappear.

Saudi Arabia's rection has been ambiguous, sometimes sympathetic (as now, and as during the Iranian revolution), sometimes seeming arrogantly insensitive to Western pleas, refusing to produce one extra drop.

The ambiguity grows from Saudi Arabia's conflicting domestic, regional and international interests and obligations. All of these call for different production policies.

It is crucial that America and the West appreciate this minefield of conflicting interests and obligations. Only that way can they realistically assess Saudi Arabia's production intentions over the short and long term and plan their own energy policies accordingly.

Domestically, the overwhelming pressure on Saudi leaders is to produce less and conserve more.

"The more we lose on our assets abroad (from inflation)," said Saudi oil minister Sheikh Ahmed Zaki Yamani, "the more we have resistance at home against increasing our production.

"Saudis are telling us: why do you produce that much? You accumulate assets and you lose. Leave the oil in the ground and it will appreciate far more than anything you can get from your investments abroad."

The Saudis need to pump enough oil to finance their $142 billion, five-year development plan, begun in 1975. Foreign investments coupled with the more than $50 billion they will earn this year from oil exports should easily cover these needs.

Anything beyond those needs is not cream — it is potential waste.

Unless extra revenue can be invested abroad at a rate of return above America's 10 percent inflation, the Saudis will be exchanging their irreplaceable and appreciating national patrimony for shrinking dollars.

More local pressure to cut production would arise if Saudi Arabia decided to slow down its rapid and occasionally wasteful drive for industrialization.

Here again there are strong pressures to do just this. Industrialization means foreign workers, multinationals, Westernization and exchanging a traditional, religious-based way of life for a hodgepodge of imported values.

Regionally, Saudi Arabia's interests and obligations also point to limiting oil production.

Saudi Arabia is under constant pressure to use its oil as a weapon in the Arab struggle with Israel. Many in the Arab world would like to see the Saudis squeeze America into forcing concessions out of Israel on the Palestinian question.

"We can destroy four oil tankers," said the Palestine Liberation Organization's second-in-command, Salah Khalaf, in a recent interview here. "But that would not stop the flow of oil ... The Arabs would do better to use their oil in support of the Palestinian cause ... At least cut back on production: set a certain reduced rate in favor of the Palestinian cause."

The Saudis must also take into consideration pricing and production policies of other, often radical, Middle Eastern oil producers.

Iraq, Libya, Iran and Alegeria — all OPEC price hawks — would like to see the current tight oil market maintained to keep prices steadily rising. They told Saudi Arabia at last month's OPEC meeting they did not want it to raise production and ease the shortage.

The Saudis cannot expand output too high for too long without attracting charges of being "American stooges." Already split from its major pro-Western ally, Egypt, over the Camp David accords, the Saudis can't be expected to turn a deaf ear to arguments of left-wing Arab oil producers as well and leave themselves isolated and vulnerable.

Internationally, the pressures on Saudi Arabia are split evenly between increasing output and conserving its oil.

The argument for cutting back is simple: sooner or later the world will run out of oil. Sheikh Yamani says world oil and gas reserves will last for 38 years — not much time for the world to move from liquid hydrocarbons to other forms of energy. This process must start as soon as possible.

If Saudi output steadily expands, the Saudis know this would lull the West into a false sense of security. This would be to no one's advantage in the long run.

At the same time, the Saudis can't hold production so low as to allow severe economic dislocation in th West. The Saudis have massive investments in the West. Economic disruption could easily lead to political turmoil. A severe recession could cut oil consumption so far that Saudi Arabia's income could fall below required levels.

Faced with all these conflicting pressures, the Saudis seem to be trying to strike a delicate and maybe dangerous balance: producing just enough oil to keep the West fully aware that the shortage is real and permanent, but occasionally boosting output temporarily to help the West over a hump and help it find alternative energy sources without too much of an economic slump.

In the coming years the United States, Japan and Western Europe will have to learn to be sensitive to these constraints on Saudi Arabia's production and to fit their energy needs within them.

Elections Show Crack In European Unity

STRASBOURG, France (AP) — Less than 40 years after World War II, Western Europe has never looked so united — at least on the surface.

French motorists zip by the bunker-studded Maginot Line that Hitler's armies bypassed and drive into Belgium with no more than a wave to the drowsing customs officer.

A young Dutch woman sits in a Paris cafe drinking Belgian beer. Her German boy friend sips Italian espresso as the jukebox plays a hit by the Swedish group Abba, who sing in English.

Lindsay Armstrong, 37, and of British-Italian parentage, lives in France and wants to learn German to help him become "a complete European."

The first European Parliament elected by universal suffrage meets July 17. The headline "Franco-German Quarrel!" means something to be sorted out by the two governments over the telephone or at one of their periodic summit meetings, not a prelude to the fourth war between the two neighbors since 1870.

Western Europe has risen from the wreckage of World War II to enter the 1980's an industrial and agricultural giant.

The nine-nation European Economic Community — the Common Market made up of Britain, France, West Germany, Italy, the Netherlands, Belgium, Luxembourg, Denmark and Ireland and soon to include Greece, Spain and Portugal — is the strongest economic bloc on earth, exporting at triple the U.S. rate.

Its population of 280 million is larger than that of the Soviet Union or the United States. It stands squarely between the two superpowers, firmly committed to blocking communism but uneasy about the United States, questioning its leadership and condemning its gas-guzzling.

The EEC has financed 1,000 miles of highways linking its member states.

It pays companies to hire unemployed youths, gives women legal aid against job discrimination, takes firms to court for setting up tariff barriers on their products.

Its Brussels headquarters, sometimes called the Eurocracy, oversees a vast agricultural cornucopia whose biggest problem seems to be its surpluses.

It sets standards on everything from auto safety to fireproof pajamas, genetic research to gypsy migration, medical diplomas to the size of the rear lights on tractors.

But the first direct election of the European Parliament also showed the cracks in Western Europe. Forty percent of the 180 million eligible voters cared so little they did not vote. Few of the candidates favored broadening the Parliament's present minimal powers at the expense of national rights.

"Everybody is for unity, but nobody will concede an inch of national rights," says one Common Market official. "Talking of an American-like United States of Europe is ridiculous."

The energy crisis has halved the community's annual growth rate from a healthy 4 percent, generating higher inflation rates and more unemployment and intensifying the economic competition between allied nations.

For example: French farmers recently ambushed a German truck and strewed its load of hams over the road, protesting against low-priced competition.

Italy asked for EEC aid to develop its wine industry. France vetoed the request, fearing its own wine sales would be hurt.

The EEC Commission proposed a ban on hunting the fast-vanishing wood pigeon. Countries where the bird is a popular quarry objected vehemently.

The EEC created a monetary alliance to stabilize their currencies against the dollar. Britain stayed out, fearing its pound would suffer.

The European passport is an apt symbol of Europe's reluctance to unify. Four years after it was proposed, the nine nations are still bickering over such questions as the color and the languages in which it will be written.

The Common Market has done away with all tariff barriers among its members. But free trade is still far off because members cling to other taxes which protect their own products — wine in France, whisky in Britain, beer in Germany, aquavit in Denmark.

Europe's democracies have withstood the terrorists of Italy's Red Brigades and West Germany's Baader Meinhof Gang. They have given their workers high wages, medical care, five week vacations and cradle-to-grave security.

But EEC economists are warning that industrial growth will halt completely unless labor accepts wage freezes and cutbacks in living standards. This would amount to cooling off 30 years of welfarism at a time when the unions, in their own show of European unity, are banding together to fight for a 35-hour work week.

CHINA LEADERS RAPPED

TOKYO (AP) — China's leading officials are too removed from the rest of society and should make greater efforts to "meet the people," a People's Daily commentary charged, according to China's official news agency. The paper said officials ignored letters and visits from ordinary Chinese and that China's leaders, as "servants of the people" must pay attention to the problems, demands and desires of the populace.

Nixon Arrives In Mexico To Visit Exiled Shah

CUERNAVACA, Mexico (AP) — Former President Nixon, the only U.S. chief executive to be forced out of office, arrived in Mexico early today to visit the deposed shah of Iran and put in a plug for another former ally who appears to be on the way out.

Nixon said the U.S. choice in Nicaragua is "not between President (Anastasio) Somoza and somebody better, but between President Somoza and somebody much worse."

It is crucial that "every possible step be made to assure a Castro-like government does not come to power in Nicaragua," Nixon told a news conference on his arrival at Mexico City's international airport.

Somoza is under pressure from the Carter administration to resign because his army has been unable to quell the rebellion by leftist-led guerrillas seeking the end of the 42-year-old Somoza family dictatorship. Nixon said he has received indications that Somoza "is prepared to resign."

Traveling in a party of 14, Nixon drove 60 miles Thursday night from his home at San Clemente, Calif., to Tijuana, just across the Mexican border, and took a late-night scheduled DC-10 flight of Aeromexico, a Mexican airline. His party included Secret Service agents assigned to his protection.

During the flight, Nixon emerged from the first-class compartment, drawing cheers from the 256 passengers, most of them Mexican.

A few chanted "Nixon, Nixon" and "We want Nixon" in English.

Shaking hands with a dozen passengers, including several children, he noted that he and his wife were celebrating their 40th anniversary next week and had once visited Mexico City on their anniversary. But Mrs. Nixon did not accompany him this time.

Following the 10-minute news conference, Nixon and his party were driven to Cuernavaca, 45 miles south of the capital, to spend the day with Shah Mohammad Reza Pahlavi and his family at the heavily guarded, rented estate they are occupying there.

The former president said he was making the trip to assure the shah "that not only I but millions of Americans are still his friends." He praised Mexican President Jose Lopez Portillo for his "courage and humanity" in providing sanctuary for the deposed monarch, who has been in Mexico since June 10.

Asked by a reporter how he would have dealt with the crisis in Iran, Nixon replied he would not have "greased the skids under one of our friends," implying that the United States contributed to the downfall of the shah.

Nixon cut short the news conference when an aide informed him the shah was awaiting his arrival.

Mark Morse, a spokesman for the shah, said the meeting would be "just a quiet, personal conversation between two friends."

Two Americans Among Hotel Fire Fatalities

ZARAGOZA, Spain (AP) — The toll in Spain's worst hotel fire rose today to 72 dead, three missing and 70 injured, officials said. Two Americans and a Canadian were reported among the dead as the government opened a probe into alleged safety violations at the 10-story building.

The Zaragoza Hospital-Clinic said Robert Baschlow of New York City died of injuries from the fire Thursday morning at the Hotel Corona de Aragon. Abbott Laboratories in Madrid said one of its representatives in Spain, American Wallace Foster, had been identified by Spanish officials as among the dead.

The U.S. Consulate at Barcelona said the dead Canadian was Arnold Tinero, but his home address was not known.

Ramon Sainz de Varanda, the mayor of this northeastern provincial capital, told reporters the luxury hotel did not meet required safety standards. Civil Gov. Francisco Laina disputed the mayor and said the building had 160 fire extinguishers for 237 rooms.

Laina said the fire, the worst hotel disaster in Spanish history, started when cooking oil in a deep-fat fryer exploded in the ground-floor coffee shop. Firemen said as the flames roared through the first two floors, the ventilation system spread the smoke throughout the building, and about half the victims died from suffocation.

Insurance investigators said the deep-fat fryer caught fire at least twice in the past few days but the small blazes were extinguished by hotel workers. They said the employees tried to put out the blaze Thursday as well, but couldn't and called firemen after 10 minutes.

There were 300 guests registered in the hotel. Those who escaped included the 79-year-old widow of dictator Francisco Franco, who was visiting Zaragoza for the enrollment of her 21-year-old grandson in a military academy. She was treated at the hospital for shock and smoke inhalation and was released.

The U.S. consulate in Barcelona said two New York City teachers, Beverly Jacobs and Enrique Ledesma, were treated for smoke inhalation and released from the hospital.

Funeral Services Set For Minnie Riperton

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Funeral services will be held Sunday for Minnie Riperton, the singer-songwriter with the 5½-octave range who devoted herself to reassuring women faced with breast cancer.

Miss Riperton, who had a cancerous breast removed in 1976, died Thursday at Cedars-Sinai Medical Center at the age of 31. The disease had spread to her lymphatic system, said Kyo Sharee of Capitol Records.

"She died at 10 a.m. in her husband Dick Rudolph's arms," said MissSharee. "They were listening to a Stevie Wonder tape of a song he had written for her.

Miss Riperton, who was best known for her 1974 hit "Loving You," tried to convince women after discovering her own cancer that a mastectomy was not the end of the world.

"I can walk, I can run, I can be a mother, I can be a wife, and I can be a lover to my husband," she said at an American Cancer Society dinner in 1976. "I'm no different now than I was before I lost my breast."

President Carter presented her the American Cancer Society's Courage Award at a White House ceremony in 1976, and at the time of her death, she was serving as honorary educational chairman for the Society.

Private services will be held at Westwood Village Mortuary, Miss Sharee said.

Air Bags May Add $825 To Auto Costs

DETROIT (UPI) — Ford Motor Co., dramatizing the impact of a government regulation, has estimated air bags will add $825 in 1982 to the cost of its full-size cars.

That figure, the No. 2 automaker said this week, is inflated deliberately to reflect what consumers actually will pay for the system three years from now.

Previous industry and government air bag cost estimates have been stated in terms of the dollar's existing purchasing power — a practice a Ford spokesman said the company hopes to end.

"We want people to know that we're working on these systems, and we want people to know the cost of these systems in 1982, the year of the mandate," the spokesman said.

"The bottom line here is we felt it was very important to get our most recent estimate of air bag costs into the public domain so the consumer will understand what they will cost him."

The estimate was contained in a letter hand-delivered to the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration.

The letter, from John C. Eckhold, director of Ford's automotive safety office, urged the highway safety agency to try to reconcile differences in various projected costs for the air bag.

The government has estimated air bag costs between $112 and $200. Last year, Ford said the projected retail price of the system was $268 based on 1976 economics.

The Ford spokesman said the $825 estimate is based on sales of 200,000 cars equipped with air bags in 1982 — the amount the company expects to market. The cost could go lower if more equipped cars were produced.

Under federal requirements, full-size cars must have automatic "passive restraint" systems in 1982. The systems are required on intermediates in 1983 and on all cars by the 1984 model year.

Air bags are not specifically required, but Ford said it believes they are the most practical solution to a number of problems, including the requirement that three front seat passengers be protected in crashes.

HY GARDNER HAS THE ANSWER:

Glad You Asked That!

Q: I knew Dean Martin's ex-wife, Jeannie, when we both attended the University of Miami — before she met and married Dean. I'm curious. Was handsome actor-tennis pro Dean Paul Martin her son? — Mrs. M. McC., Coral Gables, Fla.

A: Not only was — but still is! (You can get married and divorced many times — but all of us can have only one mother!)

Q: I read where Gina Lollobrigida, in Rome some years ago, smashed the camera of a photographer. Why? What did he do to her? — Mrs. Dom C., Richmond, Va.

A: The peeping paparazzi sneaked a shot from behind Lollobrigida — after her miniskirt had split up the back. It exposed not only her derriere — but an unsightly rip in her pantyhose. She was so ripping mad she threatened to smash the photographer's camera and face. But Gina cooled off — and the offender slunk off.

Q: There are so many conflicting figures on the cost of Elvis Presley's funeral. Can you set the record straight? -L. Perkins, South Bend, Ind.

A: It reportedly cost $46,464. The estate paid the Memphis funeral home $9,353 for removing Elvis and his mother's body to grave sites in Graceland. The family also paid $6,121 to the city's police department for security during the funeral. (Incidentally, by the end of last March, the total estate was evaluated at $7.6 million.)

Q: After Liz Taylor married Eddie Fisher and converted to Judaism, all her movies were banned in Egypt. What other stars were banned at the time? — Dr. Meyer B., Great Neck, N.Y.

A: Frank Sinatra, Jerry Lewis, Danny Kaye, Paul Newman and his wife Joanne Woodward, Sammy Davis and Juliette Greco. The Arab Boycott of Israel office in Cairo complained that these stars were either Jewish, sympathetic to Israel, members of organizations which contributed large sums of money to Israel, or took part in anti-Arab films.

FYI: You'll never have to worry about TV running out of movies to show. According to educated guesstimates, there are between 15,000 and 17,000 now available for television . . . No, Joan of Arc was not French . . . Now we hear that Rod Carew, baseball's highest paid superstar, still listens to his mother. "She's warned me not to eat at banquets or places where I don't know how the food is prepared," crows Carew. "And when the Angels play in New York, she doesn't want me to come out and visit her because she's afraid I'll get mugged in the subway. And she doesn't want me to take a cab. She worries about each of her kids," he adds, "but perhaps me the most because I had always been sickly" . . . "Buck Rogers," now making a sensational comeback in modern American folklore, first appeared as a comic strip 50 years ago, and in novels, radio shows and movie serials ever since.

Q: I hear that "Gallery," a girlie type of monthly magazine conducted a survey to name the "shyest stars in show business." I bet Howard Cosell would win that honor. How did he and I make out? — Lawrence Bester, Pittsburgh.

A: You both ran out of the money! Humble Howard didn't even make the list. The winners, however, included Woody Allen, Johnny Carson, Carol Burnett, Barbara Walters, Ingrid Bergman and Warren Beatty, among others. Psychologists agreed the choices were basically introverts who covered their bashfulness by turning extrovert once they hid this trait behind makeup.

Send your questions to Hy Gardner, "Glad You Asked That," care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 11748, Chicago, Ill. 60611. Marilyn and Hy Gardner will answer as many questions as they can in their column, but the volume of mail makes personal replies impossible.

Wives Refuse To Report Abuse

WASHINGTON (AP) — Wives of prominent men in Washington are unlikely to report any beatings their husbands give them, says a doctor in charge of emergency services at one of the capital's major hospitals.

Wives of congressmen "will admit (being beaten) to the nurses, but they don't want that on their charts," Dr. Saul Edelstein of George Washington University Hospital, said Tuesday.

Battered wives in Washington refuse to report their husbands because the publicity could ruin their spouse's careers, cutting back their own source of income, Edelstein told a House subcommittee.

But, Edelstein added, few people, no matter what their station in life, want to publicly acknowledge being beaten by their spouses.

After the hearing, Edelstein said his hospital gets cases of wives beaten by "Washington officials" and other well-known residents.

For example, he said, the hospital staff has treated the wife of a "prominent Washington attorney who is a habitual wife-beater." This woman refuses to press charges because her husband could be convicted of a felony and disbarred, he said.

Edelstein did not mention any names.

The subcommittee is considering legislation to provide $65 million in grants over three years for community shelters to aid victims of domestic violence.

"A shelter is a place where a woman can catch her breath, both physically and psychologically," said subcommittee chairwoman Rep. Barbara A. Mikulski, D-Md.

The Corps of Engineers dredges about 240 million cubic yards of sediment from the Mississippi River each year. This is enough to cover Delaware with a layer more than an inch thick, according to National Geographic.

DR. LAMB

Cortisone Side Effects

By LAWRENCE LAMB, M.D.

DEAR DR. LAMB — What are the side effects of cortisone shots for arthritis? I have a type of arthritis that strikes suddenly. The joints swell and become hot and very painful. The cortisone shots do give relief for several weeks but I wonder about those shots like I wonder about all the other medicines that are pumped into us. Would you recommend cortisone shots?

What information can you give me about the different types of arthritis and is there anything that can be done?

DEAR READER — Cortisone and related hormone shots are used in some cases of arthritis or related conditions. In general, doctors don't like to use them unless there is no other way to control an acute condition. The biggest reason is that the changes going on in the joints may continue even though the symptoms are significantly relieved. In short, the disease gets worse while the patient feels better. There's finally a point when the joints are so badly damaged that the cortisone doesn't help anymore and it's even harder to treat the case than if nothing had been given at all.

Cortisone hormone shots are sometimes very useful in treating bursitis which isn't the same thing as arthritis. The inflammation of the linings around the joint in bursitis doesn't involve changes in the bone and cartilage itself.

Cortisone shots are not used for osteoarthritis, sometimes called degenerative arthritis. If cortisone is used at all for arthritis, it's used in selected cases of rheumatoid arthritis. Since you want more information, I'm sending number 4-11, Rheumatoid Arthritis. Other readers who want this issue can send 50 cents with a long, stamped, self-addressed envelope for it. Send your request to me, in care of this newspaper, P.O. Box 1551, Radio City Station, New York, NY 10019.

DEAR DR. LAMB — Please explain the disease called sarcoidosis. My daughter-in-law has it and doesn't seem to be getting rid of it. She has a low temperature, fatigue and a cough. Can it be cured and what antibiotics are used for it? Does it have anything to do with stress or worry?

DEAR READER — I wish I could explain sarcoidosis but most of medical science hasn't been able to do so yet. It is a disease of unknown cause.

It's associated with small lumps or masses which we call granulomas. These may occur in the lungs or in various organs. Sometimes they disappear entirely and the disease may just disappear.

The lung involvement seems to be the most common location. It may be found in a rountine chest X-ray or when an X-ray is taken because of respiratory symptoms. I must say that fever is not a common feature of sarcoidosis and raises the question of whether your daughter-in-law may have a complication or some other disorder.

In general, there are two categories of sarcoidosis. Some people have an explosive onset and the disease may last for a couple of years and disappear entirely. Others have a chronic form that has a slow insidious onset that slowly progresses, sometimes causing severe pulmonary fibrosis and changes in other organs of the body.

Antibiotics aren't used in the absence of a bacterial complication since the disease is not known to becaused by bacteria.

The Almanac
TODAY IN HISTORY

By United Press International

Today is Friday, July 13, the 194th day of 1979 with 171 to follow.

The moon is approaching its last quarter.

The morning stars are Venus and Mars.

The evening stars are Mercury, Jupiter and Saturn.

Those born on this date are under the sign of Cancer.

American actor Sidney Blackmer, and American educator Mary Emma Wooley were born on July 13 — she in 1873 and he in 1895.

On this day in history:

In 1863, opposition to the Federal Conscription Act led to riots in New York City, in which more than 1,000 people were killed.

In 1865, Horace Greeley wrote an editorial in the New York Tribune in which he said "Go west, young man, go west and grow up with the country."

In 1878, the Russo-Turkish war ended.

A thought for the day:

U.S. Historian Henry Brooks Adams said, "A friend in power is a friend lost."

Carter Shows Doubts About Leadership Ability

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter expressed a gnawing self-doubt about his leadership ability in mountaintop meetings at Camp David, according to sources who include some participants. The meetings in turn have generated anxiety among people he brought into the government.

Sources said Carter's concerns went to the heart of his task: his ability to run government, rally the American people to his goals and lead the Western nations.

Aides, from Cabinet secretaries to second-level staffers at the White House, fear that his re-election is at stake. Some sense that their jobs may already hang in the balance.

Carter's press secretary, Jody Powell, confirmed that some aides are on the way out, but he took umbrage at characterizations of Carter as a man with doubts about his own abilities.

"It ain't so," Powell retorted. "That's an incorrect characterization." He said Carter's acknowledged worries were not self-doubts, but rather stemmed from his and the nation's failure to solve U.S. energy problems.

The president today neared an end to his 11-day retreat at Camp David. He plans to address the nation at 9 p.m. CDT Sunday.

Several who have heard the president in recent days told associates they are certain his speech will echo the brief, worried soliloquies with which Carter began several meetings at Camp David.

On Wednesday afternoon, according to two sources, he told guests he had felt uneasy at the recent economic summit in Tokyo with the leaders of Western Europe and Japan.

As sources remembered the story, Carter said he looked around and saw "all these men more experienced and more competent than I am and they were looking to me as the leader of the Free World. And I'm just one man."

Powell acknowledged that Carter had said the other leaders were more experienced and were looking to him for leadership, but he denied that Carter called them more competent. "I know for a fact he doesn't believe that," Powell said.

According to Powell, who said he heard Carter's remarks, the president did say he was uneasy at Tokyo, but it was because "he knew and they knew the U.S. has not come to grips with its energy problems."

After Carter discussed Tokyo, sources who asked not to be identified said he turned to what he saw as a lack of respect for traditional institutions, the breakup of families and a "moral decline" that began with the assassination of John F. Kennedy.

Powell said Carter was attempting to portray sources of self-doubt among the American people.

Carter complained that he has trouble finding movies that he can watch with his 11-year-old daughter, Amy, "without being embarrassed."

At an earlier meeting Wednesday, Carter also said he was not comfortable with "People" magazine.

"He cited the magazine as an example," Powell confirmed. "He was looking at the latest edition and he noticed all the pop heroes, the cultural stars — what sort of lives they led and what sort of example they were for young people.

Senators Now Seek SALT Reservations

WASHINGTON (AP) — The chief military adviser to U.S. SALT negotiators says the United States could have gotten a far better treaty with the Soviet Union two years ago, but "the Soviets bluffed and came on very strong and we folded."

Former Army Lt. Gen. Edward L. Rowny, who retired in June so he would be free to protest the final terms of the SALT II treaty, contended in testimony Thursday the pact "does not meet minimally acceptable standards" because it heavily tilts the nuclear strategic balance against the United States.

Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, said today there is growing agreement on the Senate Foreign Relations Committee which he heads that the interpretations of the treaty's language adopted by both the Soviet Union and the United States should be made part of the pact itself.

He also said a consensus is growing in the committee for a reservation or understanding on the Soviet Backfire bomber.

The Soviets have always insisted the Backfire is not a weapon with intercontinental range and have refused to include the plane in the treaty. Church did not say what form a committee reservation on the Backfire might take.

Sen. Jacob Javits of New York, the panel's ranking Republican, said a consensus also is forming in favor of a clear statement that the protocol to the treaty expires when the treaty says it does — Dec. 31, 1981 — unless the Senate agrees to extend it.

The protocol imposes temporary restraints on deployment of a U.S. mobile missile system and the cruise missile. Many senators have said the Senate should make clear the restraints are temporary and the protocol sets no precedent.

Church said he will continue to oppose amendments to the treaty which, by changing its text, would force reopening of negotiations with the Russians.

Javits said reservations would be attached to the resolution of ratification. By accepting the resolution the Soviets also would be accepting the reservations.

Rowny's condemnation of the treaty followed the guarded, qualified endorsement of the pact Wednesday by the Joint Chiefs of Staff who were Rowny's superiors during his six years at the SALT talks in Geneva.

The Joint Chiefs called the pact a "modest but useful step" if coupled to a modernization of America's strategic nuclear forces.

Rowny appeared as the Senate Foreign Relations Committee completed its first week of hearings into the terms of the treaty which sets limits on long-range missiles and heavy bombers.

He contended a "downhill slide" at Geneva began in March 1977 — in the first days of President Carter's administration — when the American team failed to stick by a demand for deep cuts in the nuclear weapons in each nation's arsenal.

"I think the Soviets bluffed and came on very strong and we folded," Rowny said.

He said he believes that in rejecting the proposal the Soviets were "trying a new president."

"They were saying that we've got a new boy on the block; let's see who's got the greater determination," Rowny said.

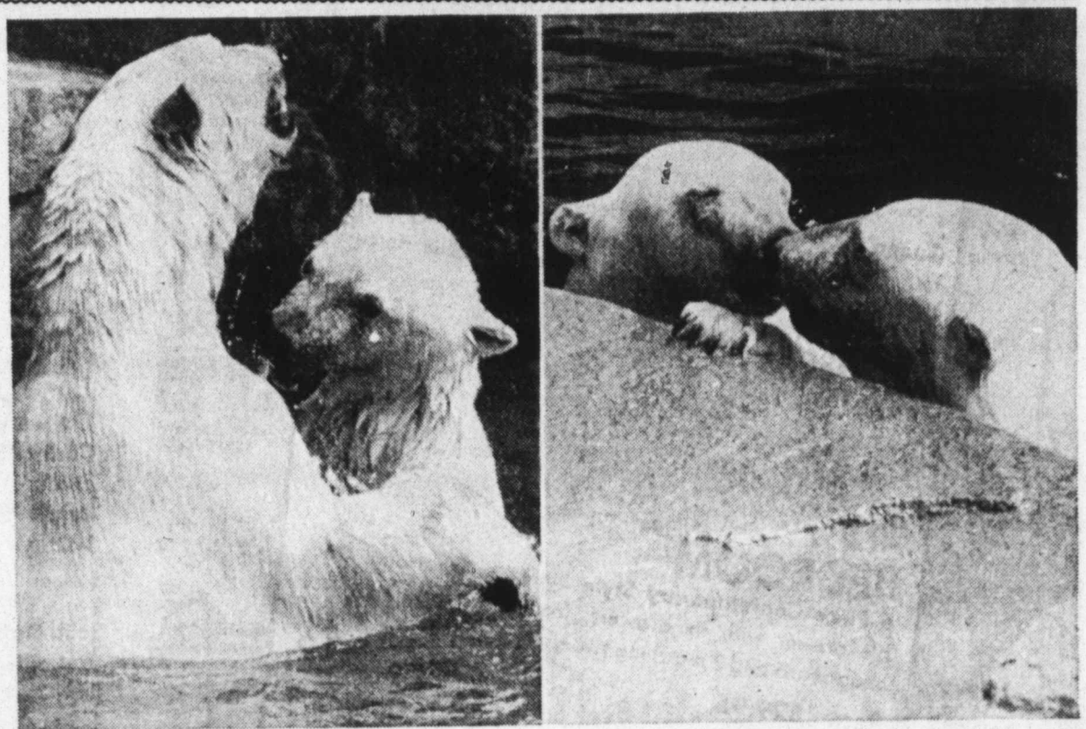

When asked who was to blame, he replied, "Whoever is in charge of the United States — the administration."

Rowny stayed with the U.S. negotiating team for two years after March 1977. He told one senator he did so because "hope springs eternal.'

When challenged by Sen. Edmund S. Muskie, D-Maine, to produce evidence for his accusations that the American team lost many opportunities to get a better bargain, Rowny said the blame goes not to any individual but to a collective failure of Americans to understand the Russians.

However, he also said that U.S. negotiators' hands were tied by orders from their superiors in Washington. He did not name them.

Referring to himself as "the voice in the wilderness," Rowny asserted the United States could win a better deal even now by bringing the Soviets back to the bargaining table.

Police Nab Two In Wild Affray woman was able to get to her son's nearby residence where the sheriff's department was called.

Upon arriving at the scene, Hill reportedly confronted one of the suspects and was able to apprehend him inside the house. However, Brown was halted behind the residence by the rifle-toting suspect and was ordered to drop his weapon or be killed, Hobbs said.

When Hill walked out of the house with his burglary suspect in custody, he was told by the other man to drop his gun or Brown would be killed, according to preliminary reports.

But Hill refused, and gunfire was exchanged between the deputy and the other suspect, who was able to flee the scene. The 18-year-old intruder also was able to escape the deputies and other officers arriving on the scene.

After most of the sheriff's department, backed by Lubbock police, Department of Public Safety troopers and Texas Rangers, had arrived at the scene, K-9 dogs were used to pursue the 18-year-old suspect, who was hiding on top of the closed club located 16 blocks northwest of the woman's home.

The 18-year-old suspect was apprehended without shots being fired.

Both suspects remained in the county jail this morning on suspicion of attempted capital murder and burglary of a habitation. The 18-year-old suspect also was being held on suspicion of escape.

Smith said that along with the .22-caliber rifle and Brown's service revolver, a .410 shotgun was confiscated in a field near the woman's house. Smith said it was thought the shotgun was taken from the resident's house.

Grand Jury No-Bills Lubbock Policeman

National Airlines Target Of Takeover

WASHINGTON (AP) — Eastern Airlines is free to buy up to 25 percent of the common stock of National Airlines, already the target of a takeover bid by Pan American World Airways and Texas International, the government says.

Eastern was given permission Thursday by the Civil Aeronautics Board, but a spokesman for the Miami-based airline said no decision has been made.

as pending legislation which could be applied to the hospital's needs.

— A subcommittee to analyze the working relationship between the teaching hospital and the Texas Tech School of Medicine. Granberry asked subcommittee chairman R.C. Douglas, a physician, to find out if the hospital and medical school are "playing on the same team."

— A subcommittee to study the rapport (or lack of it) between the hospital and community physicians. Dr. John Selby, chairman of the South Plains Health Systems, will lead this group. Lack of community physicians' support has been blamed for the poor patient mix at the hospital.

— A regional county support group. Another former city councilman, Ray Diekemper Jr., will lead this group investigating other counties' support of the teaching hospital. Granberry wants to know if other counties view the hospital simply as a place to send their indigents or if they would be willing to support it regularly.

"We just can't pick up that tab," Granberry said of the outside counties' indigent population.

— A community relations subcommittee. Chamber of Commerce president Tim Hatch will lead this group in drumming up community support for the hospital.

— A private fund raising subcommittee. Independent oil producer Rex Fuller is charged with leading this subcommittee to raise community funds for the hospital. Granberry said many of the area's philanthropists already have chosen a favorite cause, such as Texas Tech University or its athletic program. He asked that the subcommittee find those people who haven't found a worthy cause yet and direct their help toward the hospital.

The "blue ribbon" financial advisory commttee is scheduled to meet again July 24 for a briefing on the history and goals of the hospital district. The briefing is planned to give committee members a common information base in their dealings with the hospital.

County Judge Rod Shaw said after the meeting that the solutions to the problems are available to the committee. He expressed confidence that the group would find some answers to the problems.

But subcommittee chairman Selby seemed to reflect the urgency of the group in saying, "We all know it's got to succeed."

Youngsters Thrilled By Circus Animals

By DEBBI STALTER
Avalanche-Journal Staff

Two small figures leaned wearily against a sign post on Main Street, shielding their eyes from the bright morning glare while they waited for the arrival of the animals.

Erica Spann, 3, finally picked up a rock from the pavement to examine, but her older brother, Jimmy, 7, kept on with his vigil at the street sign. He said he was looking forward to going to the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus this weekend, but in the meantime he was getting pretty bored waiting for the morning animal walk down Broadway to begin.

The two children of Mike and Adria Spann of Route 2, Lubbock, soon were satisfied when a string of elephants, linked together trunk-to-tail style, sauntered in front of the onlookers.

Jimmy said his favorite animals are the lions, "because they always roar real loud and can get anything they want." He said he already knows quite a bit about the zebras, explaining that the zebras and lions come from jungles in Africa.

Jimmy is not afraid of the lions, though, and assures everyone that the lions can't eat people because they are inside a big ring at the circus and that they are well trained by circus men.

Erica might be afraid of the loud animal roars at her first visit to the circus, her brother said, but his confidence leads one to believe she'll be in good hands.

Jimmy said he really likes the hog-nosed alligator that eats all the other smaller alligators, but Jimmy's mother had her doubts about whether her son saw the alligators at the circus or somewhere else. But then, the last time Jimmy went to the circus was "a long time ago," when he was 4 years old.

Erica wasn't quite so sure what an animal performance might have in store for her. When asked what she thought the animals do at the circus, she bashfully turned to her mother and said, "What do they do?"

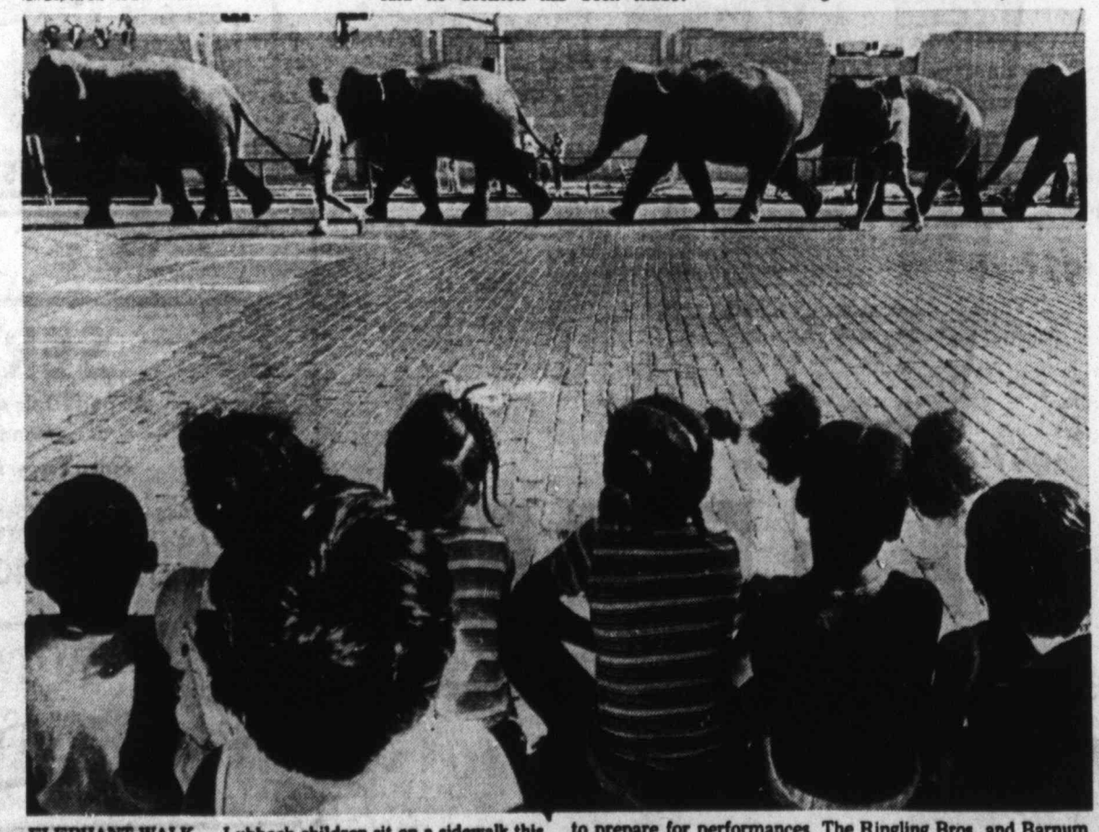

A firm abstainer of cotton candy and peanuts, Jimmy said his menu for an evening at the circus probably would consist of the kind of candy he eats at the movies. Neither Jimmy nor his mother could remember exactly what kind that was, but Jimmy will probably have his choice of things to fill up on come showtime.

"I don't like peanuts ... but I like peanut butter," Jimmy said, not knowing that sharply tuned elephant ears were soon to be nearby.

The youngster already had made at least one emphatic decision concerning circus food. When asked if he liked hot dogs, his memory seemed to be jogged as his face lit up and he replied, "Oh, yeah!"

At the parade's end, Jimmy, Erica and Mom headed for their car, but not before Jimmy gave his farewell greeting: "Well, we'll probably see ya at the Coliseum!"

The first performance of the circus at Lubbock Coliseum is scheduled at 8 p.m. tonight. Other performances will be at 11 a.m., 3 p.m. and 8 p.m. Saturday and 1:30 p.m. and 5:30 p.m. Sunday.

ELEPHANT WALK — Lubbock children sit on a sidewalk this morning to watch the elephants and other circus animals wind their way from the downtown area to the Lubbock Coliseum to prepare for performances. chance of thunderstorms in the Lubbock area.

Otherwise, recent weather patterns will remain the same, with Hub City temperatures forecast to rise to the upper 90s this afternoon and Saturday under clear to partly cloudy skies.

Elsewhere in the state, isolated thunderstorms were reported early today in the Houston area, but reported rainfall was light.

State forecasts for today showed widely scattered thunderstorms and generally partly cloudy skies, with high temperatures expected to range from the low 90s to 108 degrees.

The extended South Plains forecast shows partly cloudy skies, with widely scattered thunderstorms during the early part of next week. Temperatures will remain warm -- highs in the upper 90s and lows in the low 70s.

Lubbock temperatures Thursday ranged from a low of 70 degrees to a high of 98 degrees. Precipitation recorded in 1979 in Lubbock measures 13.47 inches compared to 7.55 inches received at the same date last year.

Prison Inmates Exchange Vows

SAN QUENTIN, Calif. (UPI) — There were no honeymoons after the 15 weddings, just fond farewells.

All of the 15 husbands wed in a consecutive ceremonies were inmates at San Quentin, where nuptials are permitted the second Tuesday of each month.

Before the weddings, the brides-to-be lined up at the main gate for the usual visitors' screening. They took off their jewelry before passing through the metal detector.

The brides wore everything from traditional white to T-shirts and jeans.

Christine Mocahbee was married to Bruce Fragoza. She brought along two foster sons and a daughter.

Vehicle May Solve Transit Woes

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — If someone who matters will listen, Gerald L. Jonas, city planner, architect and private citizen, has an answer for the commuter trying to get to work in an era of creaky transit systems and insane fuel costs.

No costly new technology is required. It saves fuel. The fellow staying late at the office can still get home. Some can even use it to go on vacation.

At the heart of Jonas' plan lies the blueprint for a 17-foot mini-bus carrying 10 commuters and a driver-commuter. The front and back of the buglike vehicle detatch for replacement in case of breakdown. It is driven by a gasoline engine but designed for alternatives, such as electric drive.

Inside, swivel seats arranged in a circle permit riders to play cards or swing around and gaze out the window.

The driver-commuter would keep the vehicle at his home — his reward for doing the driving — thus eliminating storage problems. On weekends, the driver could slide out the interior on the rails provided and slide in a camper or other interior.

Jonas, who helped plan Battery Park City in New York City and Palm Coast, Fla., two of the largest urban and land development projects of the early 1970s' emphasizes that his is not merely a van or car pooling arrangement, but a complete national system.

Private companies would operate the vehicles at a profit and under franchise, region by region. Large urban areas might have two or three companies, each using computer routing and scheduling similar to the airlines.

He envisions a government agency overseeing development of the system and providing initial funds for equipment. Jonas figures a federal government investment of $2 billion would be needed — compared with the $100 billion or more the nation will spend in the next two decades for new commuter rail and bus service.

While any future urban rail system will take at least a decade to develop, Jonas says his system could be functional in two or three years in metropolitan areas.

"The beauty of this system is that it takes the commuter from his or her front door to the front door of work," Jonas says.

"You don't have thousands of commuter bus drivers sitting around all day waiting to drive the evening commute. You don't waste gas driving the buses back to the barn."

Jonas' studies show one minibus will take an average of eight cars off the road. He says enough commuters can almost always be found in a 2-mile square residential area who are going to the same general area for work and have similar hours.

He says his network of vans would operate schedules flexible enough to accomodate the rider departing from his regular travel times to work occasional overtime or odd hours.

He approached the major car rental companies — they would be ideal because they already have computers and a marketing setup — but found that since they are subsidiaries of conglomerates, he couldn't find anyone with authoritty to make decisions.

Jonas didn't try to interest government transportation planners in his scheme because, among other things, they "don't understand business and they don't really have to answer to anyone if their grandiose scheme go wrong. Look what they've given us so far."

So after futile attempts to get support — "It's hell being someone with a good idea in America" — he placed his plan on the back burner.

Outstanding Future Farmers Named At State Meet

By KATHLEEN HARRIS
Avalanche-Journal Farm Writer

A Cotulla youth was selected for the highest honor conferred by the state Future Farmers of America while an FFA member from Seagraves and one from Quinlan were named nominees for the two highest national awards Thursday at the Stars of Texas Awards Program of the 51st annual state FFA convention at the Lubbock Memorial Civic Center.

Monty Lee Vesper, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dick Vesper of Cotulla, was selected Star Lone Star Farmer from a field of 10 Area Lone Star Farmers.

In addition to serving as Area X president, Vesper's FFA projects include a 60-head beef cattle herd, 25 acres of coastal bermuda and eight head of exotic game animals from southeast Asia.

Vesper, a national president nominee of the Santa Gertrudis Junior Association, plans to attend college with a major in agriculture and a minor in law.

Delmon Ellison Jr. of Seagraves is the Star American Farmer candidate of Texas and will be in competition for regional and national honors. Only one member per 1,000 may receive the degree in agricultural production and half that number in agribusiness.

James Anderton of Quinlan is the Star American Farmer-Agribusinessman candidate of Texas.

Results of the awards program were:

National Proficiency Awards

Brown Apologizes For Racial Slur

AUSTIN (UPI) — Agriculture Commissioner Reagan Brown today publicly apologized for using racial slurs in an angry confrontation with dissident farmers Thursday.

"Under the illogical influence of anger, I said things for which I am deeply sorry and which do not in any way represent my true feelings about individuals or groups," Brown said.

"I apologize publicly to any person or group who may have been offended by my unfortunate and inadvertent remarks."

The apology was made in a five-paragraph statement delivered to capitol news agencies.

According to spokesmen for the American Agriculture Movement, Brown referred to blacks as "niggers" and the president of the Texas Farm Bureau, Carroll G. Chaloupka of Dalhart, as a "—damned Bohemian."

"Regrettably, I did lose my temper during the meeting because of what I considered to be previously planned pressure and harassment tactics being employed to force me to take actions which I did not consider to be in the best interest of Texas agriculture," Brown said.

Nine of the American Agriculture Movement farmers met with Brown in his office Thursday to urge him to support a proposal for a producers' advisory board.

A group representative said one of the farmers secretly tape recorded the meeting and quoted Brown as saying he didn't need farmers' support to win reelection because there were more "niggers at a bus stop in Houston than there are farmers in the state."

David Samuelson, Travis County Commissioner, said the farmer who recorded the conversation with Brown only wanted to be able to review the agriculture commissioner's objections to the producers board. "It wasn't taken for the purpose of what it's turned out to be," Samuelson said. "It's difficult for the movement to understand why he's so violently opposed to just an advisory board."

Craig Bryant, a Travis County farmer who was at the meeting, said the remarks attributed to Brown were correct.

"Reagan Brown should own up to those statements," Bryant told the newspaper. "The statements you have were said. "I personally, as an agriculture producer and a voter, have never been so insulted in my life.

At least two other persons who said they heard portions of the tapes confirmed the statements attributed to Brown.

Deadline Draws Near In A-J Photo Contest

Time is running out in The Avalanche-Journal's summer snapshot contest, being conducted in conjunction with the Kodak International Newspaper Snapshot Awards program for 1979.

Entries from amateur photographers received or postmarked prior to midnight Saturday will be eligible for the competition. Photographs must have been taken after July 1, 1978.

Both color slides or photographs and black-and-white photos are eligible. Entries should have the complete name and address of the photographer and should be mailed to the summer snapshot contest, c/o The A-J, P.O. Box 491, Lubbock, 79408

Three winners in both divisions will be selected each week by a panel of judges from the A-J. Weekly winners will receive parchment certificates and will compete at the end of the contest for inclusion in the Kodak competition. Four color and two black-and-white winners will be forwarded to Kodak. The top six finalists will receive $50 each from The A-J.

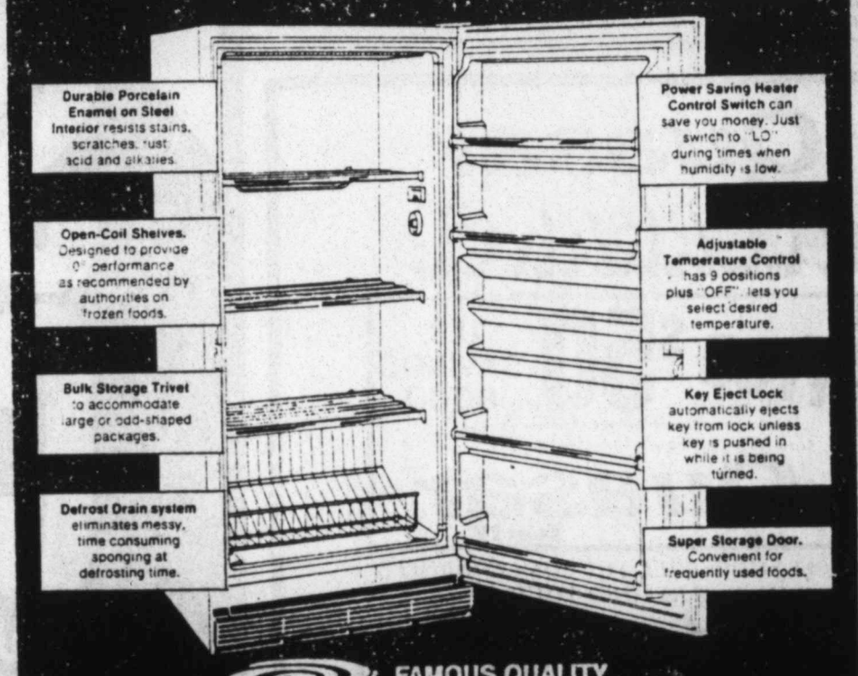

Kodak is offering $55,000 in cash and travel prizes.

One of last year's local finalists received a special merit award of $100 from Kodak.

City To Fight Rate Hike

By SYLVIA TEAGUE
Avalanche-Journal Staff

Lubbock City Council members will join a fight against higher phone rates in Texas, they decided Thursday, and will battle to preserve the 1 percent local option sales tax.

"I don't see that we have any choice," Councilwoman Carolyn Jordan said of the suggestion that the city fight the propsed rate increase.

Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. is asking to increase its revenue by $145.2 million a year in Texas, a 6 percent increase.

If approved by the Public Utility Commission, one-part residential rates would jump in Lubbock 25.8 percent — from $6 a month to $7.55.

City Attorney John Ross said the Texas cities might have most success fighting the allocation of the rate increases.

"The biggest rate increase is in residential service where (Southwestern Bell) has no competition," he said.

City Manager Larry Cunningham said it will cost the city about $2,600 to intervene in the case, but added "we do feel we need to have some sort of voice."

Texas Municipal League officials organizing the intervention effort said the cities "could have some effect on getting the rate increase reduced," Cunningham said.

"I think it's crucial we do get involved," Mrs. Jordan said. "I don't know how any citizen can complain about us getting involved to see about keeping telephone rates down."

Last year the City Council supported similar intervention in a telephone company rate case, and additionally challenged telephone rates being established on a statewide rather than regional basis.

Because of the lack of success in that effort council members were advised this year to fight changes in Southwestern Bell's rate allocation structure instead.

Officials from cities wanting to fight the telephone rate hike will meet Friday in Austin to discuss the issue. Lubbock officials plan to attend the meeting.

The council also decided to support a battle against a U.S. Steel suit challenging the local option sales tax in Texas.

Cunningham said the suit has "pretty serious repercussions" because the corporation triumphed in a virtually identical suit filed in Ohio.

Although a statute passed in the most recent legislative session may protect the local option tax in the future, Ross said the court could order refunds of taxes collected in the past if U.S. Steel wins the case.

"That is a very viable liability," he said.

The Attorney General's Office asked the Texas Municipal League to "participate actively in the defense of the case," Ross said, and the cities already involved decided to hire the Houston law firm of Fulbright and Jaworski.

"I recommend we go ahead and participate," Ross said. "The city has a real stake in the lawsuit."

Lubbock's contribution to the fight against the lawsuit would be based on the city's population and the cost would range from $1,500 to $3,000 "tops," Ross said.

After considerable grumbling about federal regulations, the council approved portions of a beefed-up citizens participation plan for the Community Development Block Grant Program, but balked at other recommendations.

Mrs. Jordan called the required changes in the plan "nitpicking junk from someone on the federal payroll who's got to justify their existence."

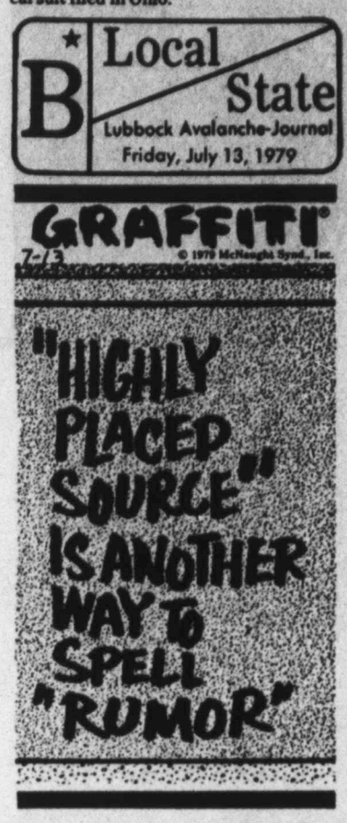

"I'd like to tell them just to forget it," she said.

However, Cunningham said the city's LOST CHILD — They call her "Kim," but welfare officials don't know her real name. The little girl was found near Killeen 15 days ago playing alone near a park. She doesn't say much, and Department of Human Resources officials have been unsuccessful in trying to find out who she is and who her family is. "It's kind of inconceivable that someone could be looking for the child because she has been missing since June 23," said Lawrence Parker of the state welfare office in Killeen. (AP Laserphoto)

Furr's Food Stores May Be Sold

By KAY BELL
Avalanche-Journal Staff

FORT WORTH — Attorneys for Furr's Inc. said Thursday afternoon that sale of the financially troubled grocery store chain could come within a month.

Possible sale of the Lubbock-based firm was announced Thursday during a meeting of Furr's creditors in Bankruptcy Judge John Flowers' court here.

The company has been operating as a Debtor-in-Possession since May 26. Four days earlier, Furr's officials filed a petition under Chapter XI of the Federal Bankruptcy Act to provide an automatic stay of legal proceedings against Furr's while an arrangement with its creditors was formulated.

When asked by Flowers when Furr's might be able to file such an arrangement with the court, the corporation's attorney, Henry Simon Jr., told the judge "in 30 days."

"We have no crystal ball but we believe we have a real chance of making a trade with one or two of the avid entries we have in the race (to purchase Furr's)," Simon said.

"Although we may have to come back and ask for more time, we think we can have it (a sale) done in 30 days," he said.

While the sale of Furr's would not erase its more than $56 million in debts, the company's new owner would assume the responsibility of devising a method to pay Furr's almost 5,000 creditors.

During the morning session of the day-long meeting, it was revealed that four companies "have expressed interest in purchasing either the assests of or the stock evidencing ownership" of Furr's.

Simon told about 130 creditors at the meeting that a West German grocery store chain already has presented a spe-

Panel Holds Secretive Discussions

By KIM COBB
Avalanche-Journal Staff

County hospital district board members remained tight-lipped Thursday after secretive discussions with representatives from other state teaching hospitals finally ended late Thursday afternoon.

Participants in the closed door "workshop" had neither comments on the meeting itself nor predictions as to what may come out of it. But a written report from the visiting officials is expected in a week or so, board member C. Wayne Smith said.

Board members met with Texas Tech regents and visiting officials from the Bexar County teaching hospital, the University of Texas Medical Branch at Galveston, and the University of Texas at Austin. The session started at 10 a.m., breaking briefly several times during the day.

The purpose of the session was to allow hospital district officials to talk with administrators and medical school officials who have faced similar problems. Visiting with the board were Dr. Warren Harding, administrator at the Bexar County hospital; Dr. Truman Blocker, president emeritus of the UT Medical Quite often, the fate of a contract might hinge on the favorable location of an honor card. But it is rare that a lowly four can be the key card in a defensive operation. Consider this hand.

In terms of point-count only, North's hand might be considered a trifle heavy for a mere raise to two spades. But North took into account that he held only one king and no ace or singleton, and that he had only three-card support. However, once South could compete freely, North made up for any reticence at his first turn by raising to game.

West made his normal lead of the top of his partner's suit. East won the jack and continued with the ace. To these tricks declarer followed with the three and then the ten, while West contributed the deuce to the second trick.

Declarer's falsecard was to no avail. East knew that his partner could not have three hearts, for with the 7-5-2 in the suit, his correct play to the second trick would have been the five, not the two. When a player holds three worthless cards in his partner's suit and leads the suit, he should play them in descending order.

Since West was known to be out of hearts, East hit upon a simple method to establish a trump trick for himself. At trick three he led the four of hearts. Declarer played the five perforce, and West trumped with the four of spades. This forced the jack of trumps from dummy and insured a trump trick for East. The ace of clubs then provided the setting trick.

No doubt if East had continued with a high heart instead of the four, West would have risen to the occasion and secured the trump promotion by ruffing with the four anyway—at least he should. But a thoughtful partner, while trusting his teammate, nevertheless takes every precaution to assure that he does not get lulled into a false step.

PEACH CRISP

1 can (29 oz.) sliced peaches, drained
½ tsp. lemon juice
1 tbsp. butter or margarine, melted
¼ tsp. salt
½ tsp. cinnamon
3 tbsps. butter or margarine
1/3 cup sugar
1 tbsp. all-purpose flour
2 cups bran flakes, crushed

Combine peaches, lemon juice, the melted butter, salt and cinnamon in a 1-quart baking dish.

Cream butter; add sugar and flour; mix well. Add cereal, and crumble together. Spread over fruit mixture. Bake uncovered at 375 degrees for about 25 minutes or until topping is crisp. SErve warm with cream, if desired. Makes about 4 cups or 6 servings.

Bananas are valued in special diets because they're low in sodium, low in fat and have no cholesterol.

At Wit's End...

By ERMA BOMBECK

Boy, you don't know what to believe anymore.

Remember when tan was healthy and pale was sick?

I do.

Back in Ohio, I dedicated four months out of every year of my life to getting a tan. My ultimate goal was to turn brown before Jan Reeves did. I never made it.

Jan was one of those women whom I suspect hung out all winter under a bulb in the refrigerator, greased up when she stood under a lighted theatre marquee, and turned bronze when she strung Christmas tree lights.

If I dragged out to the community pool right after Easter with a coat over my terminal goose bumps, there she'd be anointing her brown body with baby oil. She couldn't have tanned more evenly if she had been revolving on a barbecue spit. When I appeared she'd look over her large sunglasses and say, "You feeling better?" I felt like a naked chicken.

We all had a Debra Paget wish. Tans made your clothes look better, your teeth whiter, and besides, they announced to the world that you had time to loll.

I personally found being "into sweat" a bore and was relieved when it was discovered to be not only unhealthy but turned you into Dorian Gray. People have done a complete about-face. No woman wants to admit any more that she suns herself. If you find one who is toasty brown, she'll stammer, "I got this in the garden pulling weeds," or "Can you believe I played golf on an overcast day?"

It makes me suspicious that if sun has only recently turned into a villain, maybe it's only a matter of time before someone figures out that carrots cause cavities, roaches are a status symbol, glasses make you look sexy, giving birth is good for your figure, jogging makes you fat, and small cars are gas hogs.

Somehow, I can't get used to telling people who are tan, "Gosh, you look so brown. Have you been sick? You know, you ought to set aside just a couple of hours a day to get out of the sun more."

AN EVENING OUT — This raspberry, all polyester, crepe de chine ensemble is accented by an asymmetrical skirt with a leg-revealing slit. It is topped with a bare spaghetti strap blouson and tiny matching jacket.

PARSNIPS AND PEARS

2 tbsps. butter or margarine
1 lb. parsnips, pared, cut into julienne strips
2 pears, pared, cored and cut into ¼-inch slices
2/3 cup fresh orange juice
2 tbsps. brown sugar
1 tsp. cinnamon
½ tsp. grated orange peel
1 tsp. chopped fresh parsley

In large skillet melt butter over high heat. Add parsnips; cook, stirring until crisp-tender, about 5 minutes. Add pear slices, orange juice, sugar, salt, cinnamon and orange peel. Cook over medium heat, stirring occasionally, until parsnips and pears are tender, about 3 minutes. Remove parsnips and pears to heated serving dish. Boil orange juice mixture over high heat 3 minutes, or until it begins to thicken slightly. Pour over parsnips and pears. Sprinkle with parsley. Makes 4 servings.

The Slim Gourmet

By Barbara Gibbons

Conventional cakes and cookies are forbidden to the figure-wise, but "baking" needn't be off-limits if you're a Slim Gourmet cook. This month's Reader Recipe Contest winners illustrate our point: both are unusual oven-baked fruit and cheese desserts, chock-ful of nutritious ingredients instead of empty calories.

STRAWBERRY-FILLED SOUFFLE CAKE

Cake:
pinch of salt
4 egg whites
1 tbsp. sugar (or equivalent substitute)
3 egg yolks
6 tbsps. low-fat cottage cheese
1 tbsp. flour
1 tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. vanilla extract
Filling:
2 tbsps. boiling water
3 tbsps. sugar-free or low-sugar strawberry preserves
1 cup thinly sliced fresh strawberries

Add salt to egg whites and beat until stiff; beat in sugar thoroughly. (If using sugar substitute, add it to the yolks instead.)

Beat the egg yolks (and sugar substitute, if used) until thick; gradually beat in remaining cake ingredients, until smooth.

Gently but thoroughly fold the yolk mixture into the egg whites.

Spoon into a non-stick 8-inch round or square cake pan which has been sprayed with cooking spray. Bake in a preheated 325-degree oven for 45 minutes. Lower heat to 300 degrees and bake an additional 20 minutes. Remove from the oven and allow to cool thoroughly before filling.

Filling: Stir boiling water into preserves until blended, then stir in berries until coated. Spoon filling onto cake evenly. Chill several hours before serving. Makes eight servings, about 70 calories each.

BLUEBERRY FILLING — Substitute low-sugar grape preserves and fresh blueberries for strawberries and strawberry preserves.

Carol Boucher of Manchester, N.H., has invented another winning combination, a bake-and-chill "Betty" type dessert with only one slice of bread. Both winners will receive a copy of my tastemaker award-winning "International Slim Gourmet Cookbook" ($13.95, Harper & Row).

BAKE-AND-CHILL RICOTTA APPLE BETTY

1 envelope unflavored gelatin
12 oz. (1½ cups) unsweetened apple juice
2/3 cup part-skim ricotta cheese
½ tsp. vanilla extract
1 slice white bread, crumbled
1 tsp. cinnamon
2 tbsps. sugar (or equivalent sugar substitute)
2 apples, cored, thinly sliced

Sprinkle gelatin over apple juice in a small saucepan; wait 1 minute for gelatin to soften. Heat gently until gelatin is melted. Set aside.

Stir ricotta and vanilla together and set aside.

Crush the bread into crumbs and mix with cinnamon and sugar (or substitute).

To assemble: Arrange 1 sliced apple in the bottom of a small baking dish. Spoon on the ricotta. Sprinkle with half the crumbs. Add a layer of the remaining sliced apple. Sprinkle with remaining crumbs. Pour on apple juice-gelatin mixture.

Bake in a preheated 325-degree oven 1 hour. Mixture will be very liquid. Allow to cool, then refrigerate several hours until set (mixture forms sandwich layers). Makes four servings, about 170 calories each with sugar; 145 calories each with sugar substitute.

VARIATIONS: Orange juice could be substituted for apple juice. Fresh peaches or pears could replace the apples.

You, too can win "The International Slim Gourmet Cookbook" by entering your decalorized recipe in our friendly and informal contest with no rules. If you're not a winner next month, don't give up looking; we might print your recipe some other month when it's more suitable to the season. All recipes published will be awarded a book. Print clearly, give your name, address and zip code and send your entries to SLIM GOURMET READER RECIPE CONTEST, in care of this newspaper, Sparta, N.J. 07871.

DEAR ABBY

DEAR ABBY: I am 62, in good health and still a better man than most men in their 40s. I'm well-to-do and can retire with a pension anytime. I work for a big airline. I can offer a girl a good home and travel.

I am very fond of a young lady, 22. She's very pretty and well built and would probably marry me if I made her an offer. She is not a virgin. She lived with another man for a year but he left her.

Here's the twister. I just met another lady. She's the kind most men dream about but never meet. She's 19 and a virgin. She doesn't drink, smoke or run around. She's my dancing instructor and she thinks a lot of me, but her contract states that she can't date any of her students. She's very honest and refuses to see me outside of dancing class because she doesn't want to get fired.

I went to a woman who tells fortunes with cards and she told me I should keep trying for the virgin.

I am a Capricorn and the virgin is a Gemini. What do you think?

Long Islander

Dear Long: I'm no fortune teller, but if the virgin thought as much of you as you think of her, she would give up her job for you. But as long as she refuses to see you outside of class, a future with her is not in the cards.

DEAR ABBY: I feel like the biggest dummy in the world, but I have a problem I'm ashamed to ask anyone else about.

I live in a small apartment with my husband and Debbie, our 20-month-old daughter. Every time I run the vacuum cleaner, Debbie becomes hysterical. She starts to scream and shake and I can hardly calm her down. She is terrified of the vacuum cleaner and I can't seem to explain that it's only a machine and won't hurt her. Maybe it's the noise that frightens her, but that can't be helped.

I have not used my vacuum cleaner for weeks, and I really need to. Can you help me?

C. In Worcestershire, Mass.

Dear C.: Your child becomes so hysterical because she is afraid of that curious-looking "monster" that makes such a threatening noise. Show her how harmless it is by letting her turn it off and on, and also by letting her guide it. When Debbie realizes that she can control it, and it can't harm her, she'll overcome her fear.

DEAR ABBY: I am a 48-year-old grandmother who, for reasons of health, must have all my teeth extracted and replaced with dentures.

I haved always had a very ugly mouth. My teeth were yellow, they stuck out in front, and there were large spaces between them.

My dentist promised to make me a beautiful set of teeth — nicely spaced, straight, white and pretty. I was looking forward to having a mouth I wouldn't be ashamed to smile with. Then I told my sister-in-law about it and she said, "Oh, no, don't let the dentist do that. You won't look like yourself." Then she went on to say that a really good dentist would try to make my new teeth look exactly like my old teeth.

Abby, I don't want them to look like the teeth I hated all my life. I want to look prettier.

What would you do?

Ugly Mouth In Illinois

Dear Mouth: I'd go for the beautiful new choppers!

Project Involves Entire Family

For a craft project that includes the whole family, cross-stitch a family tree. Bring the family together and let youngsters trace their ancestors.

Begin with a piece of linen fabric. Plot out your design and decide how many generations you are going to include in your stitchery. On a separate piece of paper, draw your design — a leaf pattern is certainly appropriate and fairly simple. Trace the pattern on the fabric, get the floss, print the names and dates in their places and you're ready to begin.

To get everyone involved, let each member of the family stitch a leaf. Don't be concerned if the consistency of stitching isn't perfect. Remember the kindergarten pictures proudly displayed on the kitchen wall? Let everyone join in on creating this special heirloom, regardless of age.

Other possibilities include a special family tree with only two immediate generations represented, or a sorority or fraternity family tree with all the names of the members of a certain year stitched in place. Start a tradition in any club or organization that will be continued for years.

The Family Tree kit pictured here comes complete with sufficient space to trace four generations of family members. The kit includes design on polyester-rayon linen weave fabric, cotton floss, needle and instructions. It fits the 16-inch by 20-inch solid oak frame displayed.

Order Family Tree kit no. 14118 for $8.99 plus $1.45 postage and handling or Tree and Frame kit no. 14119 for $17.49 plus $1.95 postage and handling. Creative Home Crafts is required to collect and pay state and local sales tax in Texas.

Send your name, address, order and remittance to Creative Home Crafts, Dept. 8BB, P.O. Box 1281, 17th and Locust, Des Moines, Iowa, 5036. Writer Reviews Photo Books

By IRVING DESFOR
Associated Press Writer

It's summer, a time to relax and catch up with a batch of new photographic books.

The assortment available focuses on many areas of specific interests.

For instance, like many camera fans, I'm planning to build a darkroom soon so it's most convenient to have at hand "The Darkroom Handbook" by Dennis Curtin and Joe DeMaio (Van Nostrand Reinhold Co.). They show how it can be built in a closet, bathroom, kitchen, bedroom or basement, in an apartment or a house. Almost all the problems involved in each case has been solved by others and the experiences are made part of this book.

The actual building of partitions and installation of electricity and plumbing is profusely illustrated with explicit close-ups, sketches and diagrams. With these as a guide, a layout of your own set-up can be planned in advance and then carried out either by the hobbyist, if handy with tools, or by a carpenter and plumber.

In addition, the book introduces in pictures and text, the working darkrooms of well-known professionals. Among them are: W. Eugene Smith, George Tice, Neal Slavin, Harry Callahan, Berenice Abbott and Naomi Savage.

It's helpful to see how successful photographers work and the type of equipment they use. Among the refinements are water temperature regulators; large, efficient print washers for archival protection; bright sodium safelights; enlargers low enough for comfortable sitting-while-working; tile walls for easy cleaning and a pegboard wall for convenient placement of accessories for instant retrieval.

The book also includes information on processing and printing in color; mounting, matting, storing and framing of prints; and lists the names and addresses of manufacturers of darkroom equipment and accessories.

"Great News Photos and the Stories Behind Them" by John Faber (Dover) is a gallery of dramatic pictures of 70 events from 1855 to 1976. Originally published in 1960, this is a second edition which takes us from the coverage of the Crimean War to the election of President Jimmy Carter.

Along with historic photographs, Faber focuses on the photographer behind each picture. He describes the camera and equipment used, the atmosphere and background of the event and how they prepared for — or spontaneously captured — an unforgettable split second in time. As a group, they demonstrate the important role of photojournalists as visual historians of our world.

Faber is uniquely qualified as the collector of these photos and their 'backstage' background.

As historian of the National Press Photographers Association for the past 22 years, he has doggedly pursued and recorded the activities, adventures and images of hundreds of news photographers in personal interviews and searching communications.

For vacation-bound photo fans, "How To Take Better Travel Photos" by Lisl Dennis (HP Books) makes an excellent preparatory course or a helpful companion on any trip.

She writes simply, clearly and directly and makes an interesting observation. She says, when thinking of travel pictures, do you mentally pack bags and take a fantasy flight to a distant city? Why not be a traveler to your own city, look at your surroundings with a fresh eye and be stimulated by your own locale?

Most camera fans become passive on familiar ground and overlook what appeals to strangers who come to photograph your area.

Drop by your convention bureau and pick up literature on upcoming events and photogenic locations. Your library or book store has guide books about your city and your local newspaper usually lists upcoming weekend activities of public interest, all subject matter for your camera.

The book goes into the how-to's of photographing in strange regions, discussing equipment, lenses, people, landscapes, special events and how to show your pictures when you return home.

The book contains more than 150 color photos and 30 black-and-whites to illustrate how she captures the essence of a foreign country or a different locale.

For people who love dancers and dance groups, "Dance World 1978" by John Willis (Crown) is a comprehensive pictorial and statistical record of last year's dance season with over 700 impressive photographs.

From the classical ballet to the most modern improvisations, the book lists the programs of dance groups throughout the country; has a picture gallery of principal dancers; biographical data on dancers and choreographers and an index for reference to almost everything in the dance world of 1977-78.

Spider Stitch Creates Elegant Look

Here's another original pattern from Jessie Abularach for a beautiful lacy shawl and stole. Instructions are included for a plain border or a lacy border (pictured here). The spider stitch is used to create that light, elegant look so perfect for mild summer evenings.

Step-by-step directions guide you row by row in crocheting either the shawl or the stole. Two or three ply baby or fingering yarn and a crochet hook E or F are the only supplies you'll need.

To obtain instructions for Lacy Shawl and Stole, number J105, sent $1.50. Or you can order Crochet Favorites and Originals, number J103, a 33-page booklet with more than 30 crochet designs and directions (not including J105) for only $4.75. Both prices include first class postage and handling. Send check or money order to:

Hydroponics Would Allow Farming Year Around

By EARL ARONSON
Associated Press Writer

Controlled environment plant growth may help feed the world's population, especially in areas where the climate limits food production.

Model growth units already are in use, raising lettuce and other vegetables under soil-less hydroponic conditions.

Americans consume about 23 million metric tons of vegetables a year. But Dr. Ralph P. Prince and J. W. Bartok Jr., who have been doing research at the University of Connecticut for five years, advise that vegetable production in many areas of the United States is limited to less than five months per year. This means that most vegetables must be grown in the more temperate climates and shipped into the northern, more heavily populated states.

Controlled Environment Plant Growth (CEPG), they say, implies the complete control of light, temperature, moisture, carbon dioxide, water and nutrients.

"We have what is known as a variable spacing bench," Prince said. "It is made water-tight with a polyurethane sealer. A nutrient sealer is pumped continuously beneath the plants which are supported by a number of strips running lengthwise with the bench.

"These strips support the plants which are seeded in a polyester material that acts as a wick to bring the nutrient solution up to a point where the seed can germinate and the roots can flourish. The plants are seeded at one end of the bench and moved along the bench every day being given the necessary space for adequate growth.

"We have more experience with lettuce than any other crop," he said.

"At the present time, it is difficult to compete economically with lettuce shipped in from Southern California," he added." There may be certain times of the year in which it is very economical to produce lettuce under lights and this climate. We are continuing our search to find a way of integrating the growth room approach with greenhouse production that will reduce our energy consumption, decrease the time for adequate yield and improve product quality."

Prince said yields are increased in this type of operation and for lettuce may be in the order of 1,000 tons an acre a year. Unfortunately, energy consumption has gone up proportionately with this production rate.

Current California production of leaf lettuce is about 44 tons a season and in greenhouses the production is about 100 tons an acre.

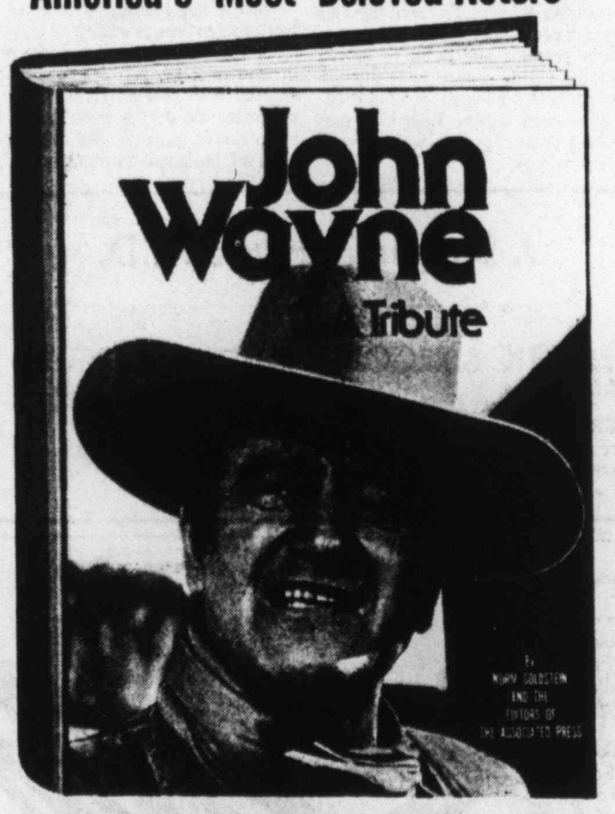

Researchers also figure that hydroponics could cut production time from about 60 days outdoors to 32 days.

The flat bed at the University of Connecticut is about 4-to-5-inches deep. The nutrient is pumped in and circulated. The bed is under lights and across it are strips of plastic with small punched holes into which are placed small ties containing the seed. No soil is required. It would permit farming the entire year around.

SON ALLEGEDLY KILLS MOTHER

HOUSTON (UPI) — A 23-year-old man has been charged with beating his mother to death during an argument over babysitting. Police said Willie Earl Arline was charged with murder in the death about 8:30 p.m. Tuesday of Selma Arline, a mother of nine fatally beaten with a board. Investigators said the suspect and his mother reportedly argued about his having to babysit a sister's children.

The Life and Legend of One of America's Most Beloved Actors

John Wayne, a towering giant of a man, was a legend in his own time—a symbol of American decency, vitality and courage. Here is a pictorial tribute to the Duke, tracing his life on and off the movie set during a career that spanned half a century and included some 150 films.

A plethora of pictures from The Associated Press provides readers with fascinating glimpses of John Wayne with his family, his friends, his colleagues and co-stars; Wayne with his six-shooter and with his tuxedo, with his grin and his Oscar.

This "JOHN WAYNE: A TRIBUTE" is a most readable rendering of the exceptional life of an exceptional man.

Clements Makes Fuel Available

AUSTIN (AP) — Gov. Bill Clements says his special gasoline allocation program for service stations that stay open on weekends will result in more available fuel this weekend for some Texas drivers.

Clements, who appeared on statewide public television Thursday night, said half of all filling stations in the 16 counties affected by his odd-even rationing plan will sell gasoline this weekend.

But when told that his original weekend allocation announcement applied only to Harris, Dallas and Tarrant counties, Clements said he would double-check and clarify his answer at his news conference today.

The governor also said he had still not decided when to call a special legislative session.

Clements said his initiative and referendum proposal will be the primary purpose, but not the only subject of such a session.

"It won't be the only topic," he said. "They also will have up to consider the issue of (electronic) surveillance so we can attack the drug problem. And we will probably have the issue of tax relief."

Clements' veto of appropriations items left about $150 million available for possible tax reductions.

The governor said he was confident of gaining legislative approval of the constitutional amendment giving voters the right to pass and repeal laws because "the people of Texas want this."

"In 1980, all of that House and half of that Senate are going to be running. If there is anything they want, it is to get re-elected ... In an election year it (initiative and referendum) is going to get more attention," Clements said.

On another subject related to Texans' energy bills, Clements said he is screening "20 to 25 good prospects" for a possible appointment to the Texas Public Utility Commission. Commissioner Alan Erwin will vacate the commission later this month.

"I'm looking for someone who has good judgment and experience in the business world where he can properly evaluate the problems they will be confronted with," Clements said.

Clements said he doubted reports that James Schlesinger — his old boss in the Department of Defense — would resign under fire as Secretary of Energy.

Clements, a frequent critic of federal energy policy, also elaborated on his opposition to applying oil company windfall profits to relief of poor people.

Gasoline Cutback Hurts Austin

AUSTIN (AP) — A staggering cutback in fuel allocations for city-owned vehicles has forced the police and fire departments to seek ways to reduce consumption. Police Chief Frank Dyson ordered patrol units to cut their gasoline used by 10 percent.

Gulf Oil Corp. informed the city it was cutting allocations by 40 percent cutback for diesel and 25 percent for gasoline.

City Manager Dan Davidson said he had asked Gov. Bill Clements' energy office for part of the 5 percent fuel set-aside that the governor can allocate for special needs.

Fire engines and garbage trucks use diesel fuel. Davidson said he has not decided what do do next if the governor's office can't replace the 10,000 gallons of diesel.

Davidson said the cut in diesel allocations results from a U.S. Department of Energy order that oil companies produce and stockpile heating oil for use by northeastern cities this winter.

The police chief directed officers to "avoid random patrols" and said they must double up to form special patrols.

Slick Threatens Gulf Wildlife

CORPUS CHRISTI (UPI) — Weeks before a mammoth Mexican oil spill was expected to coat U.S. shores, a government endangered-species expert admits its environmental consequences may be "too much" for federal agencies to handle.

Jack Woody, an endangered species expert with the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Department in Albuquerque, N.M., said Thursday the 300-mile long oil slick would threaten a variety of Gulf of Mexico wildlife, including the world's last rookery of endangered Ridley sea turtles.

Woody said the Ridleys were at the height of their nesting season and it also might already be too late to save Mexico's rich shrimping grounds.

"I'm afraid this slick is going to raise hell with their shrimping industry," he said. "It's already over their best shrimping area north of Campeche. I'm afraid it's going to go on for another two months.

"It's going to hit the Texas coast sometime and I don't think we have the techniques or the knowledge to control it. I don't think we can handle it. It's too much."

A Coast Guard aircraft equipped with sophisticated tracking gear Thursday charted the size and course of the slick. Early today, a high-ranking Coast Guard executive in Corpus Christi said scientists manning the plane's sensors flew from Brownsville to a coordinate some 20 miles away from Tampico, Mexico.

Illinois Solon's 1980 Presidential Campaign Remains In Debt

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican Philip M. Crane's presidential campaign has collected $2.49 million in ten months but remains deeply in debt, mainly to its chief fundraiser.

Reports filed Tuesday with the Federal Election Commission showed the conservative Illinois congressman's campaign raised $738,664 in the last three months but finished the period owing $795,211.

Meanwhile, reports showed Republican presidential hopeful George Bush's campaign income for the year's second quarter was $812,201. His campaign income for the first half of the year totaled $1.48 million.

Bush reported campaign expenses of $813,198 for the April 1 to June 30 quarter. His expenses for the first half of the year were $1 million.

Crane aides said they believed the $2.49 million total was the most raised by any 1980 presidential hopeful. But election commission officials said it would be impossible determine that from official records until later because some reports from candidates still had not been received as the Tuesday reporting deadline neared.

Laura Broderick, Crane's press secretary, said the campaign still owed a total of $597,873 to direct mail wizard Richard A. Viguerie and companies affiliated with him. That was down from $764,858 owed to Viguerie out of a total debt of 888,031 at the end of the last quarter, she said.

Crane's report to the FEC showed that during the quarter he spent $796,460, which was $55,796 more than he took in. That left him with a reserve of $9,017 as the next quarter got under way.

The Crane campaign reported that it now has 90,000 contributors, all but 20,000 of them turned up by Viguerie.

Crane aides said the campaign to date has qualified for federal matching funds, which will be available in January, totaling $1.6 million.

WASTING LESS

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Department of Health, Education and Welfare is wasting less taxpayer money in distributing welfare payments, according to HEW Secretary Joseph A. Califano Jr. Califano announced Wednesday that the payment error rate has been reduced in recent months by one percentage point to 7.1 percent, saving more than $100 million.

AUTO AD OR MATH LESSON?

(BOTH.)

The teacher who uses the Avalanche-Journal in the classroom knows that advertisements are a goldmine for lessons in math, metrics, economics, consumer education and even language arts. (Ever try to separate the facts from the "sales pitch"?)

To help teachers use the newspaper even more effectively, the Avalanche-Journal Educational Services Department sponsors an annual Newspaper in Education/ Living Textbook Conference on the campus of Texas Tech University. Teachers and administrators are invited to attend.

Join us for a day of learning and idea exchange.

Conference: August 20, 1979-8:45 A.M.-
3:00-P.M. Lunch will be served.

Magical Illusion Easy To Perform

By SHARI LEWIS

This is one of the most fabulous magical illusions, and also one of the easiest.

You hold a want-ad column cut from a newspaper, and talk about looking for a job. You say, "Each time I called and found a job already filled, I cut that part of the column off and threw it away." You fold the column in half, and cut it in two. You then trim off the top ends, but when you open the strip, it's whole again!

Here's how it's done: Cover the strip with rubber cement (only rubber cement will make this trick work). Don't cover 4 or 6 inches on each end.

When the rubber cement is dry, powder over the rubber cement with talcumn powder or flour. Shake to get rid of excess.

When you're ready to perform, fold the strip in half with the rubber cement inside. (Keep some fingers inside the strip.) Slip your scissors under the fold and cut. Now put the two pieces together (they won't stick if you've powdered it right) and trim off the top two ends.

Grasp one end of the strip, drop the other and the paper will look as good as new! (The rubber cement makes the two cut ends stick together).

This is one trick you can do over and over again, until you run out of paper.

Yesterday's Brain Twister: If you take a rectangle of paper and fold it in half, and then again in the same direction, and then a third time, when you open it up, how many creases will be on that piece of paper?

Answer: Seven creases.

Today's Brain Twister: Here's a riddle that I've been told African tribesmen tell one another around the campfire: "You can look at this with one eye, but never two." What is it? (Look for the answer in tomorrow's Kids-Only Club column.)

Archaeologists Discover Fort

CHICAGO (UPI) — Archaeologists who uncovered a unique, 5,000-year-old Mesopotamian fortress in an area of Iraq due to be flooded by a dam in a few years have expressed amazement at its design.

The structure is round, 27 meters in diameter, and has a barrel-vaulted roof of unsupported mud bricks — a feature which has puzzled architects, the University of Chicago said Wednesday.

"Every architect who has looked at our building's roof shakes his or her head and says it couldn't be done with mudbrick," said McGuire Gibson of the university's Oriental Institute. "But it was."

"A round building like this would be difficult to build and had to have been brilliantly planned. It was obviously not just thrown up by a local village," Gibson said.

Gibson is head of the team, which also includes members from the University of Copenhagen. The archeologists are aiding the Iraqi government in salvaging antiques before floodwaters cover the ancient sites.

The building is at the center of a walled city and apparently was intended to be used as a central strongpoint or fortress, Gibson said.

Lightning can be as important ecologically as rainfall or temperature. The death of a tree struck by lightning can mean life for other things such as insects and birds which are dependent on dead trees.

Faith, Science Conference Opens

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP) — Science used to be exalted almost as a "god" of progress that eventually would solve all the world's problems. But now it's sometimes seen as a potential monster.

It has become, in an age of nuclear arms, radiation, pollution, ecological damage and sapping of the Earth's resources, a two-sided force both of good and evil, beneficial and menacing.

"The power of science and technology is available for many purposes, good and bad," says a study report drawn up for an international meeting of theologians and scientists.

Called the "World Conference on Faith, Science and the Future," it started Thursday under sponsorship of the World Council of Churches in cooperation with the Massachusetts Institute of Technology.

It comes at a time when some people advocate stopping the drive toward greater technolgical power through moratoriums and a return to simple lifestyles.

Others maintain there is no recourse but to go on with technological advances in the hope solutions will turn up to temper and humanize the process.

Still others take refuge in various new religions and call science demonic, promising escape from the world's perplexities.

"Christians, who regard science and technology as part of the divine gift of human creation, have reason not to join the forces that want to demonize either science or technology," the study report says.

"But they have equal reason to show concern for the social structures that so often turn the promise of science into threat."

The report, drawn up by an eight-member panel of scientific and Christian scholars, cites various examples in which technology, even though well intended, often has damaging consequences, such as:

Nuclear weaponry that could virtually annihilate life, biogenetics that could regiment human personality, erosion of soil and pollution of the air, machines intended to liberate people that shackle them to machines, fostering attitudes that dehumanize people as mere "cogs in the machine."

"Nothing less that a new vision is needed if we're to cope with the challenge posed by science and technology," says Paul Abrecht, head of the council's church and society section which is coordinating the conference.

He expresses hope it will help in formation of public policies to guide scientific development.

The conference is the first major ecumenical gathering in which natural and physical scientists predominate, making up about half of the 450 participants. Another fourth represent the social sciences, labor and business, while the remaining fourth are theologians.

Besides Christian representatives of Protestant, Eastern Orthodox and Roman Catholic churches, other religions also are represented, including Judaism Islam, Hinduism, Buddhism and Shintoism.

Third Annual Gospel Jubilee Set June 27-29 In Kerrville

KERRVILLE (Special) — A weekend of camping and gospel music will combine forces in the third annual Gospel Jubilee to be held July 27-29 in Kerrville and the Quiet Valley Ranch, producer Rod Kennedy has announced.

Two evening concerts Friday and Saturday at the ranch, which is located nine miles south of Kerrville on Texas Highway 16, and a Southwestern Gospel Music Showcase, which will be held at 1:30 p.m. Saturday in the center of Kerrville, will highlight the weekend activities.

Ranch gates will open to campers at 10 a.m. July 27 and the musical festivities are scheduled to begin at 7 p.m. The camping is free but adults will have to pay $10 each to view the weekend concerts while children under 12 will get in free.

Friday night's musical guests will be the Travellers Quartet and the Eternal Hope Singers, both from Houston, along with the famed Wills Family from Arlington, one of Texas' most popular singing groups since 1938.

Also on Friday's agenda are the 40-voice Kerrville Community Chorus, the Mid South Boys from Sheridan, Ark., and closing the Friday show will be the Galileans, a popular Mexican-American group from Grand Prairie, back for their third straight year at the jubilee.

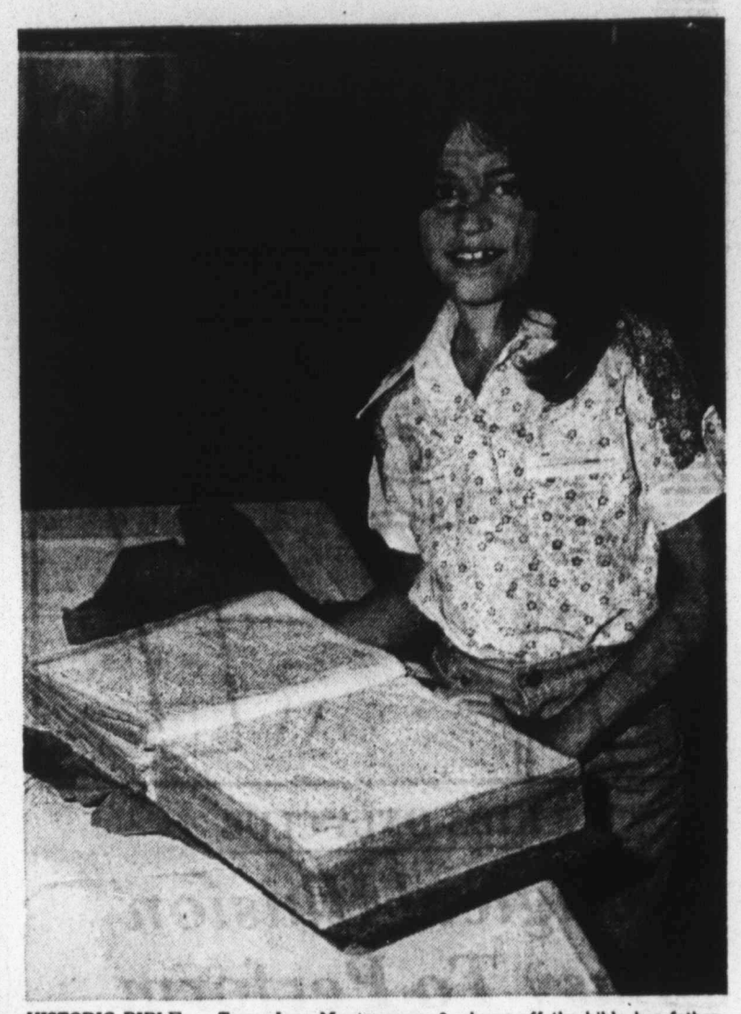

The Saturday showcase in Kerrville will feature groups chosen from dozens of tapes by the Kerrville Music Foundation to give exposure to unknown gospel groups around the state.

Some of the groups chosen include Janie White and Sun-Light from Dallas, The New Harbinger Singers from Dallas, The Singing Packs from Austin, The Final Touch from Ft. Smith, Ark., and Daybreak from Duncanville. The downtown Kerrville showcase is free to the public.

Saturday night's "All Night Sing" at the ranch will feature the Masters Four Quartet from Grapevine, nationally-known mandolinist Buck White and the Downhome Folks from Nashville.

Capping off the evening will be storytelling and traditional gospel singing of Wendy Bagwell and the Sunliters, followed by the Mercy River Boys (The Singing Christians).

HISTORIC BIBLE — Terry Jane Montgomery, 9, shows off the bible her father, Bobby Montgomery, traded in exchange for furniture at his store, Texas Discount Furniture. The Bible was printed in Boston in 1831 and was wrapped in a newspaper dated March 30, 1867.

Furniture Exchanged For 1831 Bible

By SUE MORRISON
Avalanche-Journal Staff

Bobby Montgomery's back storeroom at Texas Discount Furniture is usually full and cluttered, which is understandable considering a lot of his business deals with trading and exchanging furniture.

A few years ago, a man made another type of swap at the store; he traded a large family Bible wrapped in oilcloth for some furniture. The Bible was simply placed in the storeroom, not to be opened until a few weeks ago.

What Bobby discovered when he unwrapped the Bible was that he was the owner of an unusually old religious piece — the Bible was printed in 1831 in Boston, Mass., and was one of the first Bibles to be printed with a method called stenotype.

The Bible was wrapped first in a muslin-type cloth, then a newspaper and then the oilcloth, all of which were sewed to preserve the contents they held.

One of the more interesting aspects about the Bible is the newspaper wrapped around the book, a copy of The Macon (Georgia) Daily Telegraph dated March 30, 1867.

The articles the torn pages reveal in a somewhat sketchy manner the sentiments of a Southern city a couple of years after the loss of the Civil War.

There are announcements of bills of sale for plantations which need to be sold because of enormous tax burdens, as well as advertisements for miracle cures.

An editorial about the suicide of a Union Army officer sums up Confederate attitudes, stating that the officer who killed himself had previously banned Georgia women from holding bazaars which would raise funds for the widows and orphans of Confederate soldiers who gave their lives for "the cause".

The editorial writer probably received much public approval by stating that the Union officer's suicide was an admittance of being "unfit to live" and "a great service to all Georgia citizens."

Religion Roundup

Oppose Somoza

WASHINGTON (AP) — Both Roman Catholic and Protestant officials have voiced backing for the insurgent "provisional government" in Nicaragua and called for an end to the military rule of Gen. Anastasio Somoza..

Top executives of the United Methodist Board of Global Ministries sent a telegram to President Carter urging him to "support the will of the Nicaraguan people by recognizing the provisional government" of the Sandanista liberation forces.

Bishop Thomas C. Kelly of the U.S. Catholic Conference also hailed a U.S. call for an end to the Somoza regime and voiced hope the provisional government may soon be recognized to build a new social-political structure.

Meanwhile both Catholic Relief Services and Church World Service, relief arm of the Protestant and Orthodox churches of the National Council of Churches, were shipping aid to victims of the civil strife in the predominantly Catholic country.

Assurances Given

DALLAS (AP) — Southern Baptist evangelist James Robison, whose weekly television program was canceled by Dallas station WFAA-TV after he criticized homosexuals, has been reinstated by the station.

WFAA President Dave Lane, also a Southern Baptist, says Robison had offered assurances he can stay within bounds of WFAA policy. Says Robison: "It is a decision we both can live with without compromising my position."

WFAA officials, in cancelling Robison's Sunday morning program early this year, had termed him a "continuing problem." They said they were forced to give the Dallas Gay Political Caucus free time to defend the homosexual lifestyle after Robison's Feb. 25 broadcast in which he quoted a National Enquirer article which quoted a law enforcement official as saying homosexuals recruit and murder little boys.

Executions Assailed

RICHLAND, Va. (AP) — "The 20th century has seen a terrible undermining of the value and sacredness of human life," says the Rev. Alan Walker, director of evangelism for the World Methodist Council. "Much killing has made all life expendable."

He told a church meeting the revival of capital punishment in the U.S. with a recent execution in Florida "further brutalized America and the world. The destruction of life anywhere — by murder, the electric chair or in war — cheapens life everywhere."

Building Plan Approved

The congregation of Westmont Christian Church, undergoing a rapid increase in membership, approved recently a major expansion and remodeling plan for their church building at 48th Street and Utica Avenue.

The project, estimated to cost between $95,000 and $105,000, will add about 3,400 square feet to existing space, including a new fellowship hall, additional office space, five more restrooms and expansion to the sanctuary.

W.D. "Dub" Rogers, a member of the building committee, said tremendous growth in church membership during the first six months of the year is the reason additional space is needed.

Rogers said the expansion project should be completed in about seven months, depending on when construction can begin.

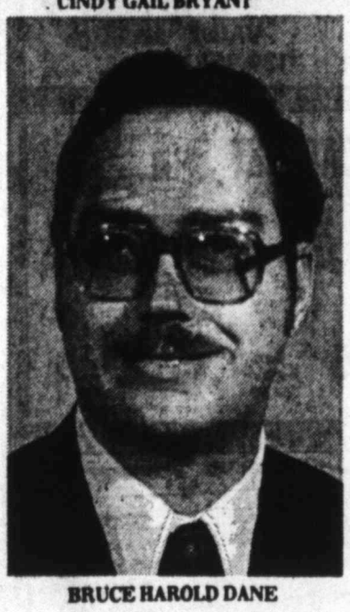

Dr. Dudley Strain is minister of the Southwest Lubbock church, and the Rev. Keith Strain serves as associate minister.

Idaho Couple To Minister

The Rev. Dwayne Stone and his wife Susan will be preaching and singing at the 11 a.m. and 6 p.m. services Sunday at the Southside Assembly of God Church, 84th and Avenue L.

The evangelists from Nampa, Idaho, have been on the road in the West and Midwest since 1977, presenting gospel music with an old fashioned style.

First Methodist Sponsors Single Adults Program

Breakthru, a program for single adults from 20 to 60 years of age, has announced its Tuesday night activities through August.

The program is sponsored by the First United Methodist Church and meets every Tuesday night for supper and discussion on topics which affect single adults.

Activities will include:

July 17: "Single Life Style and Growth: Five Ways to a Better You" with Dr. Robert H. Pinder, associate professor of home and family life at Texas Tech.

July 24: "A Lot of Cows and That's No Bull" with David Murrah, archivist of the Southwest Collection at Texas Tech, an account of early ranching history in West Texas.

July 31: to be announced.

August 7: "Red Raider Rampage," a film of the 1978 Texas Tech football season with prospects for 1979.

August 14: "How to Get Off Yout Duff and Be What You Want To Be" with Tony Jenkins, distributor for Success Motivation, a talk about turning your potential into reality.

August 21: "Born To Win" with Charles Darwin, counseling director of the Southwest Christian Counseling Center, a talk about establishing effective inter-personal relationships.

August 28: "Frontiers of the Mind: ESP" with Dr. Marvin Moon, associate professor of arts at Texas Tech, a talk that looks into the hidden powers of the human mind.

Reservations for supper, which costs $2 each, should be made on the Monday prior to the Tuesday meeting by calling the church at 763-4607.

CHURCH BRIEFS

Convention Delegates Named

Mrs. Robert W. (Mary Lou) Riley, president of the South Plains Zone of the Lutheran Women's Missionary League, will be a voting delegate to the 18th Biennial Convention of the International League to be held July 16-19 in Omaha, Neb.

Mrs. Riley and seven other representatives from Christ Lutheran Church in Lubbock will be attending the convention, including the Rev. Ronald L. Jenkins, who is pastoral advisor to the South Plains League.

Other members attending include Helen Braun, F.L. Cargile, Charles Jones, Charles King, Louis Lostroh and Dick Seaberg.

The Lutheran Women's Missionary League, an auxiliary of the Lutheran Church-Missouri Synod, has 6,000 local societies with more than 200,000 members in the U.S. and Canada. About 6,000 delegates are expected to attend the convention.

The League raises more than one half million dollars annually for special missionary work throughout the world.

Mrs. Cargile, one of the delegates from Christ Lutheran Church, has been nominated for first vice president of the International group. She is the immediate past president of the Texas District League.

Senior Craftsman's Market Scheduled

The 1979 Senior Craftsman's Market, a show and sale for senior artists, will be held Aug. 23-25 in the open air mall at Monterey Center.

The market is an outreach of First United Methodist Church and so far 47 entries have been received, five of which have come as group entries from senior citizens clubs or centers.

The arts and crafts sale gives senior citizens a chance to make extra money and only a limited number of tables will be available for booths.

Tides of Time

Portrait of human initiative!

At the moment it is moving bits of beach from place to place. But as the tides of time sweep in that initiative will be turned to ever more important aims.

TODAY offers more exciting opportunities than changing the contours of the sand. In churches around the world children are being taught the spiritual truths that will become essential as their horizons of initiative expand.

We love to watch our toddlers "working." Yes, we marvel at the energy and industry that inspire their sand bucket brigades. It is time to provide them with the moral and religious resources needed by those we count on to build a better world.

Lubbock City Council Joins Battle Against Southwestern Bell

annual allocation of CD funds would be held up "if we don't provide something along these lines."

Ironically, Cunningham said the city's participation plan of a few years ago was used as a model for other cities to follow.

"Now, two or three years later, they come back and say it's not good enough."

The Department of Housing and Urban Development gave the city 60 days to submit a new citizens participation plan or indicate how the current plan will be changed.

In response to the deadline which is on Monday, council members approved seven changes in the plan which were specifically required by HUD.

However, Councilman Alan Henry objected to other changes which would cost nearly $10,000 which would be taken away from CD-funded projects.

Henry suggested a letter be written to HUD inquiring whether department officials wanted that much money taken away from projects "instead of leaving it in where it would do some good."

Also at the meeting, council members:

— Agreed to study the possibility of enacting an ordinance prohibiting the sale of glue and spray paint to minors at the request of Gilbert Herrera.

— Authorized a $125,000 power supply study for Lubbock Power and Light.

— Approved an ordinance creating a legal presumption that the driver involved in a hit-and-run accident is the owner of the vehicle involved.

— Appointed former city attorney Fred Senter as a temporary Municipal Court judge and reaffirmed the appointment of Syrian Marbut as a temporary judge.

— Allocated $65,000 in Community Development contingency funds to finance traffic lights and street improvements at East 50th Street and Quirt Avenue as requested by Lubbock school officials.

— Approved an application for a grant of $218,525 from the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department to fund improvements on an athletic field quadraplex to be constructed in the Yellowhouse Canyon Park.

Many Texas Cities, Associations Opposed To Phone Rate Increase

AUSTIN (UPI) — Southwestern Bell wants its third rate increase since late 1976, but strong opposition is developing to the phone company's latest request — for a total of $145 million or $1.55 more a month per residence.

Nine Texas cities, a U.S. government agency and consumer and labor associations are asking the PUC for permission to argue against Southwestern Bell Telephone Company's proposed $145.2 million statewide rate increase.

The rate increase request is the third filed by Bell since the Public Utility Commission began regulating telephone rates in Texas Sept. 1, 1976.

The company previously sought a $298.3 million increase in 1976 and a $214.3 million increase in 1978. The PUC approved increases of $58 million in 1976 and $124.5 million in 1978.

The PUC has scheduled a prehearing conference today to determine which of the 21 applicants will be permitted to act as intervenors in the hearings on Bell's requested rate increases for business and commercial telephone service.

The panel is also expected to set a date for the opening of public hearings on the request.

A decision on Bell's latest rate increase request is unlikely until Gov. Bill Clements appoints a new member of the commission to replace Alan Erwin, regarded as pro-consumer, who resigned last month.

The cities of Dallas, Fort Worth, San Antonio, Houston, Abilene, Beaumont, Amarillo, Cedar Hill and Waco all have asked to intervene in the suit, as have the Texas Municipal League, Texas Retailers Association, Communications Workers of America, Older People of Austin, Texas ACORN and Consumers Union, a number of industries using telephone services, and the General Services Administration.

The increase sought by Bell would include a $1.55 monthly across-the-board statewide increase for single-party residential service, and a $4.65 monthly across-the-board increase for one-party business service.

Those two increases in basic rates would account for $105.2 million of the requested increase, with the remainder coming from higher charges for key telephone service, PBX Service, touch tone intercommunication devices, centrex systems, service and installation fees, and miscellaneous services.

LCHD Board, Consultants Meet In Secret Session

Branch at Galveston; and Jack Thompson, administrator at the hospital.

Dr. Ed Brandt, vice chancellor of health affairs at UT, and George Brewer, Methodist Hospital administrator were in on the discussion. Attending regents were J. Fred Bucy, Lee Stafford and Roy K. Furr.

George McGowan, top administrator at Health Sciences Center Hospital since former executive director Gerald Bosworth was dismissed recently, said the day-long session didn't produce an "magic answers." But the consultants will be back in contact with the board, McGowan said, probably to give their suggestions for the hospital's problems.

The problems they were called in to study include unpaid patient bills totalling more than $7 million, lack of community physicians support and the inability to fill the hospital's available beds.

Studying the reactions of community physicians, the board and visiting consultants met with 14 local doctors for a luncheon exchange of views at the hospital cafeteria.

Board member Gwen Stafford said the interchange between community physicians and board members was productive. McGowan said the consultants hoped to get a feel for the community's attitudes toward the hospital by speaking to the doctors.

The actual discussion between regents, board members and consultants was never opened to the public. Notice for the meeting was not posted, under opinion of the LCHD legal counsel, Charles Galey, who said that the meeting's workshop status exempted the gathering from the Open Meetings Law.

The request to close the meeting reportedly came from the consultants, who wanted a private discussion.

"You can't get an open discussion if you know you're going to be quoted," board chairman Jack Strong said.

Administrator Harding told reporters that many of the problems the local teaching hospital is facing are similar to problems he faced at Bexar County. Asking for help from other teaching hospital administrators is not uncommon, he said.

"It's a shortage of funds, when you come right down to it," Harding said of Bexar County's own problems. But he added that Bexar County's problems are not as critical as the problems faced at Health Sciences.

Harding wasn't prepared to sum up the hospital's problems or single out any one thing responsible for its shakey financies. Occupancy is a major problem, he said, but added "You have to do everything you can to collect patient bills."

Furr's Markets May Be Sold Within Month

cific purchase plan to Furr's officials. The offer made by Rewe Handelsgesellschaft Leibbrand OHG (Rewe-Leibbrand) was included in a report Furr's filed Thursday morning with the court and its creditors.

W. Leibbrand, chief executive officer and a principal partner of Rewe-Liebbrand, also was at the meeting and talked with several of the creditors. If the West German group does buy Furr's, it would be Rewe-Liebbrand's first merchandising operation in the United States.

Three other companies also have expressed a strong interest in purchasing Furr's. They are Cullum Companies of Dallas (Tom Thumb Stores), Smith Management Co. of Salt Lake City, Utah and Handy-Andy or affiliates through the offices of Morris Jaffe of San Antonio.

Patrick J. Murphy, chief executive officer of Furr's, told about 130 creditors of the financially troubled firm he thinks the company should be sold.

"I'm trying to be responsive to the directions taken at an annual meeting that says sell," Murphy said.

"It was the unanimous decision of the stockholders to sell," he added.

Flowers set a hearing for 10 a.m. Aug. 21 on any arrangements Furr's may reach, either with a buyer or another plan to pay its debts. Any plan filed must be approved by 51 percent of the creditors.

Thursday afternoon, the judge heard 1½ hours of testimony on a motion filed by five of Furr's creditors to have Murphy's contract with the corporation suspended pending review by creditors.

On June 11, Flowers authorized a two-year contract for Murphy making him top Furr's official with a $160,000 annual salary.

Flowers, however, denied the motion, saying he thinks Murphy has so far done a very competent job of running Furr's and "it's time to go about more constructive matters."

Also Thursday, an official 11-member committee of creditors was selected. Giles Forbess of 4009 69th St. was named to the committee. He is owner of Benton Oil Co. of Lubbock, "a major creditor" of Furr's.

Flowers also authorized Furr's to pay $172,000 in non-union insurance claims filed by its employes since the company filed under Chapter XI. He also allowed Furr's to set aside another $80,000 to cover future insurance claims by employes.

Payment of about $148,000 in union health and welfare insurance plans also was authorized by the judge.

Houston's Bus System Subject Of Complaints

HOUSTON (AP) — Houston's urban sprawl is greater than that of Los Angeles, but there is little more than a token bus system to relieve the pains of withdrawal from automobile addiction as the world's energy capital runs out of fuel.

The city fields about 300 buses daily in a metropolitan area that could — at the same time — hold the cities of Detroit, Atlanta, Denver, Boston, San Francisco and Louisville.

Unlimited growth and liberal state annexation laws have resulted in an urban octopus blanketing almost 7,000 square miles. Fewer than 3,000 people live in each square mile. Los Angeles has about 6,000.

New arrivals to the nation's fifth most populous city funnel an extra 350 vehicles daily onto already crowded streets and freeways.

City officials say 85 percent of Houston's workers drive to their jobs alone each day, and large numbers commute as much as 50-70 miles one way from homes in Galveston, Montgomery, Huntsville or Bellville.

A year ago, residents voted a 1-cent city sales tax to finance a new Metropolitan Transit Authority, calling for a 1,500-bus fleet by 1988 as part of a $3.1 billion long-term program.

But the MTA has been wracked by maintenance problems and internal dissension, including the resignation of a board member and, just recently, executive director Barry Goodman.

Local newspapers receive daily complaints about the bus service. In letters to the Houston Chronicle, Billie R. Patterson called the MTA "the limping, fast degenerating public transportation of this fabulous, wealthy city," while L.E. Stein asked why Houston has "only a shambles as an excuse for public transportation."

Out of the present fleet of about 450 buses, more than 100 are usually in the shop for repairs and anywhere from 0 to 100 break down on a typical day. The Chronicle has gone so far as to put a daily MTA log on the front page to let readers know how many buses are on the street and how many runs are canceled.

Goodman has answered critics by reminding them that it took years of city neglect to reduce the bus system to its present state, so it will take an equally long time to fix the problem.

At present, he said, daily ridership stands at more than 100,000 — higher than ever before in Houston transit history. At least 200,000 people would like to ride the bus, he added, but the system is saturated, with virtually every seat taken during rush hour.

The MTA's CarShare program to match potential car-poolers has gotten a boost since the gasoline shortage began, officials say, but they have few figures to show how many people are shifting to car and van pooling.

They say more than 1,000 calls requesting CarShare's ride-matching service were expected by the end of June, with about half ending up in pools. Officials said more than 9 percent of the program's recent callers cited gasoline problems as the reason for their new interest in pooling.

An urban researcher says, however, that neither the ultimate improvements proposed by the MTA nor the state's plans for new road construction will stop the love affair between Houstonians and their vehicles.

"Houston streets and freeways will be congested well into the 1980s," said Carl Sharpe, vice president of Rice Center, an urban research group affiliated with Rice University.

Even gasoline rationing would unclog them only if it forced motorists to start car pooling in a big way, Sharpe said.

Sharpe said MTA will become a viable alternative to the car only when it is cheaper and faster to commute by bus rather than automobile.

TV Film Shows Young Criminals' Plight

By WILLIAM D. KERNS
A-J Entertainment Editor

Rusty Jones, the executive vice president of KMCC-TV (Channel 28), said recently he was shocked when one of his reporters discovered that police handled over 4,000 juvenile offenses in Lubbock alone in 1978. KCBD-TV (Channel 11) talk show hostess Alice French told her viewing audience Wednesday she attended a recent rock concert with expectations of finding "12-year-olds and drugs." And only last weekend police arrested a 16-year-old youth in connection with a murder in this city.

Indeed, juvenile crime statistics are growing nationwide, which is why KMCC-TV, with the financial backing from Crime Line's Board of Directors, has decided to air the brutally intense documentary, "Scared Straight" at 9 p.m. Saturday.

The program, which makes use of extremely graphic language (the sort which would assure an R rating in a theatrical film), has been carried in other Texas cities, Dallas and Amarillo being two examples. But Lubbock, says Jones, is the first city to show "Scared Straight" in what is commonly referred to as "prime time." Both Dallas and Amarillo refrained from showing the film until after the 10 p.m. news, but Jones said, "We just figured the viewing audience dropped off so much in that time period that it would be best to show it earlier.

"There was a lot of discussion in committee here about screening it at 10:30 p.m., but my argument was that the kids who really need to watch this might miss it at that time period. We also did not want to show it too early, though, when we might inadvertently catch very small children. And we had to consider our Clovis, N.M., market, too, since the show will come on an hour earlier there. We figured that 8 p.m. was the very earliest we could show it, and that by 8 p.m. there would be an adult controlling the television viewing in most households."

Why all the concern about a TV show, you ask?

Frankly, the answer lies in the fact "Scared Straight" is no ordinary television program. A multi-award-winning documentary, it is a filmed report about a group of hardened criminals at New Jersey's maximum security Rahway State Prison — all serving sentences of "over 25 years or life" — trying to scare the bravado out of a group of juvenile offenders by forcefeeding them a healthy helping of reality, by telling them in the most raw terms imaginable exactly what prison life is all about. There are no actors in this production (other than Peter Falk, who provides occasional narration outside the prison walls), no script, no coffee breaks for the participants.

The film begins with interviews held with the juveniles before they are taken to meet the prisoners, juveniles driven by an unfeeling motivation, who see crime as "a challenge," who hold no concern for their victims, whose common goal is becoming rich via crime. These young men and women tell the interviewer they began breaking the law at age 15, at age 14, at age 9! They are confident, cool and calculating. Prison is just something in the movies to these kids. One girl even says she thinks it will be "fun" to visit Rahway and see all the "burned out" convicts. Another wants to learn about burglar alarms so he can become a better "professional thief."

But the smiles and laughs and glib manners disappear as they enter the prison for a three-hour session with the group of convicts known as the Lifers. With the sound of doors and bars crashing closed behind them, they are first run through a metal detector and quickly discover the guards are already treating them with a no-nonsense attitude. They are told to enter the cells, to experience, if only for a few moments, stark confinement. Criminals toss out homosexual taunts as they walk, single file, toward the room in which they will meet the Lifers.

And it is in this room they come face to face with discipline, with fear, with the prison tradition of the big controlling and perhaps destroying the little. The human slavery, the homosexual gang rape, the uncertainty, the violence. The language is indeed harsh, but no doubt more offensive to the older generation (parents) than juveniles these days. The words, after all, can be heard in concert halls, movie theaters, school yards, ball fields, anywhere kids gather. But it is the sheer vicious intensity behind these words which make them effective in "Scared Straight."

The convicts are not courteous speechmakers hosting a school field trip. They are there to instill an aura of terror, and they do so by putting their faces inches away from those of the juvenile offenders and spitting out orders and warnings.

One criminal tries to make the delinquents understand their victims' feeling of loss by taking their shoes. Another graphically explains the five ways a new prisoner can deal with being gang raped, a speech made all the more effective when one of the delinquents said afterward he would definitely opt for the fifth recourse — which is suicide. Others tried to reach the kids on an emotional level, explaining that today's prisons are filled with yesterday's delinquents, that nobody plans on getting caught, that there is still time to avoid the life of bells and brutality.

According to Rusty Jones, the Dallas station which aired "Scared Straight" received a lot of complaints about the program's language. "But," he added, "they did not promote the show as heavily as we are doing. I think that's the key: warning people about the material they will be viewing. I think we have an obligation to do that. We want to inform the public beforehand."

Jones has also given advance screening of the film for The Avalanche-Journal, local radio stations, Crime Line directors, school administrators, judges and other community leaders, reasoning that, "These people are the ones who will hear about the program from viewers, and we want them to be aware of the program's material and purpose."

The KMCC executive first brought up the possibility of airing "Scared Straight" last December. The station made its decision to go with it in the spring. But now, months later, Jones is still uncertain about viewer reaction. He said, "At the advance screenings, the reaction has generally been very good, though the language has left a couple (of viewers) quietly unenthusiastic. But the reaction of the public is still the $64 million question. Is someone going to blow up the station before Saturday? I don't think so. And that's because of our promotion. We say in advance that 'Scared Straight' has graphic language and shows what prison is like.

"We don't promote it as 'entertainment.' I don't think anyone can tune in the program and then honestly tell us he didn't know what to expect."

Jones and several employees will be at the KMCC studio during and after the screening Saturday night. "I want enough people here to personally handle all the calls which will be coming in," he said.

But Jones seems most excited — and for good reason — about the prospect of fully using the television medium. "This is the first time, I think, that we've really been able to use television, our medium, to its fullest," he said. "As a TV station, we have an obligation to the news. We use our news department to point out problems, like this week with our series on juvenile crime in Lubbock. But now we can use our news department to talk about the problem, and then follow this with what we think is a possible solution to the problem."

But the word repeated is "problem." There is a rising problem with juvenile crime, a problem no doubt magnified by the offenders' ability to mentally eliminate prison as a possible end. But KMCC reporter Bob Hannan said Wednesday, "There is already a marked increase in juvenile crime against property. And in the more serious crimes against persons, the district attorney's office is trying to certify these juvenile offenders as adults. And that means these juveniles could face the adult penal system, as it is portrayed in 'Scared Straight.'"

Crime Line Inc. is not using reward funds to pay for the program. Officers and directors of the organization founded by Mayor Dirk West raised the funds to sponsor the screening.

VARO, INC. of DALLAS is Interviewing in Lubbock for
SKILLED TECHNICIANS

Our Seminconductor, Night Vision and Power Systems Divisions in a Northeast Dallas suburb have numerous openings for Technicians who can contribute to our continued growth. We will be interviewing this weekend (Saturday, July 14 and Sunday, July 15) in Lubbock. Varo is a major manufacturer of military night viewing systems and is one of the worlds' largest producers of image intensifier tubes used in these systems. The company is the nation's largest producer of semiconductor high voltage rectifiers and multipliers used in consumer and industrial electronic products. Varo also manufactures power conversion equipment and other products. We are an NYSE and AMEX listed corporation.

Our current openings are as follows...

SR. ELECTRONIC TECHNICIANS
Construct and maintain semiconductor test equipment. Must have strong electronics background with experience in both analog and digital circuitry.

REPAIR & MAINTENANCE TECHNICIANS
Repair and maintain electro-mechanical equipment used in manufacture of discrete semiconductor devices. One year of related experience and a 2 year associates degree in electronics required.

MECHANICAL TECHNICIANS
Assist in maintaining and trouble shooting of production equipment. Work with high volume assembly line equipment such as coil winding machines and insertion machines. 1-2 years related experience required with some college level technical training.

SR. ENGINEERING TECHNICIANS
Conduct evaluations of wafer processing and or final assemblies using standard test equipment, set-up tests and evaluate results. Position requires several years related experience and about 2 years of formal training.

SR. ENGINERING TECHNICIANS (evaporation)
Assist in setting-up and evaluating new processes and equipment. A thorough knowledge of semiconductor materials processing including diffusion, etch, photoresist, metalization, scribing, and plating. Qualifications include about 2 years college with 3-5 years related experience.

DESIGNER
Develop and modify designs for mechanical, electrical, and optical assemblies, prepare layout drawings, determine tolerances, select components, prepare detail assembly drawings. Qualifications include 3-5 years mechanical drafting and design experience, 1-3 years of college or trade school, good knowledge of USA drafting standards.

MAGNETIC PROTOTYPE TECHNICIANS
Use spec sheet in fabricating and testing magnetic components such as coils, inductors and transformers, with the use of straight bobbin and torodial coil winding machines. Must be able to read and interpret engineering specs with about 3 years of related experience.

SR. ELECTRONIC TECHNICIANS
Microprocessor interfacing for measurement and control applications; troubleshooting and repair of digital and analog circuits to component level; assisting in generating software programming for microprocessor system control. Qualifications include experience with TTL logic systems, operational amplifier applications, and interfacing techniques related to Z80 and 8080 systems.

ENGINEERING AIDE
Assist in vacuum tube engineering work involving tube assembly, processing, and listing. 2 years technical school background in electronic circuits and equipment.

SR. DRAFTSMAN
Prepare complete mil spec drawing packages including assembly, schematics, and sheetmetal machine fab drawings, using engineering layouts as basis for preparation. Also, preparation of basic engineering design layouts, selection of hardware, and design of printed wiring boards. About 3 years related experience needed.

QUALITY CONTROL TECHNICIANS
Perform quality assurance calibration and maintenance on electro-optic test equipment. Also, construct electro-optic test equipment.

In addition to excellent salaries, our highly successful organization offers an attractive benefits package and paid relocation to Dallas. For more information about these positions and about possible interviews, views,

Some ideas work and some won't! In 1978 over 2000 growers from California to Delaware and from Canada to Florida agreed that the Spray Sickle is one weed control idea that really works.

The 1979 Spray Sickle is better than ever — (Over 35 New Improvements.) If you have Johnson Grass (or any other problem weed) the Spray Sickle is really the only sure way to eradicate it.

COMPREHENSIVE EMPLOYMENT AND TRAINING PLAN
PUBLIC ANNOUNCEMENT
The South Plains Manpower Consortium announces it is submitting a grant to the U.S. Department of Labor for funding under Title II ABC, Title II D, Title IV, YETP, Title VI, and Title VII of the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act of 1978. The intent of the application is to request funds under the Title II ABC allocation for classroom training, on-the-job training, and work experience. Funds requested under Title II D and Title VI are for public service employment and training to aid in obtaining unsubsidized employment. Funds under Title IV YETP are requested to provide work experience and training for youth 16 to 21. Title VII funds are requested for training persons for jobs in the private sector. The overall purpose of these funds will be to provide job training and employment opportunities for economically disadvantaged, underemployed, or unemployed persons in the City of Lubbock, Hale, and Garza counties and to assure that training and other services lead to maximum employment opportunities.
The titles and their allocation amounts are as follows:

Title II ABC	1,014,607
Title II D	898,460
Title IV, YETP	298,025
Title VI	565,831
Title VII	302,207
TOTAL	3,079,130

The first draft of the Comprehensive Employment and Training Plan and performance for the first three quarters of fiscal Year 1979 may be reviewed at the office of the South Plains Association of Governments, 1709 — 26th Street, Lubbock, Texas, phone (806) 762-8721, between the hours of 8 a.m. and 5 p.m., Monday through Friday. Arson Suspect Found Guilty

By BOB CAMPBELL
Avalanche-Journal Staff

A 137th District Court jury Thursday found Calvin Brown guilty of arson in connection with a Jan. 26 grocery store fire and gave him a 10-year probated sentence and a $10,000 fine.

The jury deliberated two hours and 15 minutes on guilt and 55 minutes on punishment.

Lead prosecutor Clint Averitte had asked for a 20-year sentence, the maximum for the second-degree felony arson charge, and head defense attorney Tommy Turner made an impassioned plea for probation.

Brown, 45, was charged with arson after the Serv-U Food Market he managed at 704 E. Broadway Ave. burned to the ground and two men inside died in the blaze.

Turner asked for probation, noting that Brown had never been convicted of a felony and had not previously shown any criminal tendencies during his life.

Several friends and business associates of Brown testified as character witnesses.

Turner told the story of Jesus on the Cross and asked the jury for "the same mercy for Calvin" that Jesus gave a thief being crucified alongside him.

"In punishing Calvin, you should not attempt to destroy him," Turner said. "A penitentiary sentence, when this man is going to have to live the rest of his life with this anyway, is not justice."

In asking the maximum sentence, Averite and co-prosecutor Hollis Browning argued that the conditions of probation would not be sufficient punishment for the crime.

"By your verdict, you can tell him and everyone like him in Lubbock County that you're not going to put up with arson," Browning said.

Averitte and Turner verbally clashed Thursday morning in final arguments on guilt or innocence.

Turner was criticizing prosecution arguments at one point, and Averitte was making a succession of objections when Turner told the jury, "I'm hurting him or he wouldn't be objecting."

"I object to that!" the heavy-set Averitte shouted, his face turning red as he jumped to his feet. "That's a sidebar comment!"

Judge Robert C. Wright sustained the objection.

Turner and co-defense attorney Gene Cobb argued that the state failed to prove Brown had any insurance claim to the building and that the law required proof he took part in burning the store to collect insurance money.

Averitte countered that Brown only had to be proven a party to arson, and he said a hole had been knocked into the back of the building and a lock broken so that it would appear a burglar had set the fire to cover up a burglary.

Andrew Zournas, 52, owner of the building, and Mark Corley, 27, both died in the fire.

"What reason is there to burn the building down than to collect insurance?" Averitte asked. "There is none."

Cobb, a tall, older attorney whose presence counterbalanced that of the young, pugnacious Turner, argued that Brown had no apparent reason to be involved in burning the store down.

"Where is there a single, solitary motive for Calvin Brown to assist in setting fire to that building?" Cobb asked.

Turner objected when Averitte suggested Brown left the fire scene to see if Corley and Zournas had escaped and gone to "a rendezvous" point, and Averitte objected to "counsel's conduct" when Turner sat back down and covered his mouth, laughing, after Wright overruled the first objection.

Averitte closed by saying, "We want to know what the people of Lubbock County think of this kind of situation."

In the first half of the prosecution argument, co-prosecutor Hollis Browning went over the charge on applicable law and listed 19 reasons he said indicated Brown was involved in arson in the store fire.

Lubbock Auto Salvage Owner Thwarts Burglary Attempt

An apparent burglary attempt in North Lubbock early Friday morning left one suspect in custody of the establishment's owner and another fleeing in an automobile with flat tires.

Roy Birl, owner of Roy's Auto Salvage, N. Ash Avenue and Harvard Street, told police he was sleeping in his car outside his business when he said he awoke to see two men climbing the fence. One of the men entered the building while the other apparently stood guard with a rifle, according to police reports.

Birl then went to a van where he had a rifle hidden and surprised the alleged burglars, he said.

One suspect dropped his gun and surrendered, Birl told police, but the other fled. Birl said he then disabled the car in which the men arrived and took his suspect, a 22-year-old Lubbock man, to a service station where he called police.

The fleeing suspect apparently drove the car with flat tires and all, police stated.

In activity Thursday; police arrested and later released a man believed to have taken $960 in cash and jewelry from Maria G. Tijerina of 217 Cherry Ave.

Mrs. Tijerina said a man's and woman's rings and her purse were stolen from her laundromat boiler room Wednesday.

Police talked to one witness who informed them of the suspect. The suspect was arrested and reportedly told police he had divided the rings and money with the witness and another man. He was released pending action by the criminal district attorney's office.

Police were unable to find either of the other two suspects.

Also Thursday, Gilbert Rodriguez told police someone stole $1,951 in upholstering equipment from his business at 1906 Ave. J sometime between Monday and Thursday.

He gave police the names of two possible suspects, but police had located neither early Friday.

Charles Spurlock of 2502 70th St. told police he had a television, speakers and stereo equipment worth $1,200 taken from his home. Someone apparently broke through the back door Monday night.

Meanwhile, Lubbock County sheriff's deputies continued searching for a man who allegedly bought a boat with a bad check.

The suspect bought a 1979 bass boat and trailer, valued at $2,482.40, from Furr Marine on the Buffalo Lake Road in late June, and drove away with his new purchase after paying for the boat with a check for the exact amount drawn on a local bank.

Shorty Furr, owner and operator of the boat dealership, told deputies the suspect had written the check on an account that was closed. He has not been located since leaving the shop pulling the boat and trailer.

An official of the Lakeside Nursing Home at 4306 24th St. Thursday told Lubbock police someone has been taking drugs from a narcotics closet inside the nursing home.

Donna Sue Brown of the home's staff said several types of drugs, including Darvocet, Darvon, Benadryl, Elavil, Seconal and Phenabarbital, have been taken over a month-long period. She said she did not know exactly what the missing narcotics were worth.

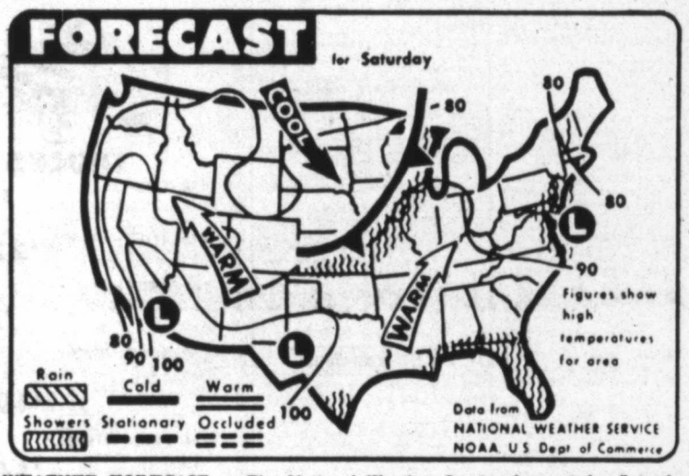

Burglars removed two CB radios and some tools from a tractor and a barn belonging to Larry Wimpler of Box 276, Lorenzo, sheriff's deputies reported Thursday.

Investigating officers said they found footprints and tire tracks at the barn, but had made no arrests in the case. The missing property is valued at $888.

A stamp machine was ripped from the wall of an abandoned service station at 102 University sometime earlier this week, according to police.

Ouio Myers, a city fireman who managed the station, said the machine was worth about $175, and had about $50 worth of stamps in it.

A custodian at Bowie Elementary, 2912 Grinnell St., told police someone removed more than $100 cash from her purse Thursday morning while she worked at the school. Erlinda Lopez said she saw several persons in the school during the morning but didn't know who might have taken the money.

TEST EXPECTED

WASHINGTON (AP) — A Senate floor test is coming on whether to complete Tennessee's $119 million Tellico Dam project, long stalled because it threatens a tiny fish, the snail darter, with extinction. The Senate Appropriations Committee Wednesday decided in favor of completing the project by clearing for floor action a bill appropriating $10.8 billion for the next fiscal year for energy and water projects.

Disco Demolition Night Turns Chicago Ballpark Into Riot Scene

CHICAGO (AP) — It began as a baseball game on a sticky summer night and erupted into a melee of 7,000 rampaging fans overcome by Thursday night fever.

The ruckus at Comiskey Park forced the cancellation of the second game of a doubleheader between the Chicago White Sox and the Detroit Tigers. It wasn't bad pitching that incited the mob to storm the field between games. It was disco.

Thousands of people, mostly teen-agers, had been drawn to the ballpark by a White Sox-sponsored anti-disco night. Admission was reduced to 98 cents provided each fan brought a disco record.

But the "Disco Demolition Night," a gimmick dreamed up by the White Sox promotional department and a local disc jockey, Steve Dahl, who promised to blow up the records between games, backfired.

Midway through the first game, which the Tigers won 4-1, records began spinning from the stands onto the field.

Pandemonium finally broke out half way through the break after Dahl performed his disco demolition ritual. Fans, some of them waving anti-disco banners, began overrunning the field, pulling up bases, setting small fires and destoying the batting cage.

"It was the sickest thing I've ever seen in my life," said White Sox pitcher Ross Baumgarten. "I didn't know people could have such little regard for other people's safety."

Police said 39 persons were arrested and charged with disorderly conduct. One of those arrested was charged with aggravated assault with a knife, police said, adding that many of those in the mob were intoxicated. No serious injuries were reported.

"This is the worst night not only in my recollection, but in the recollection of other men who have been working here for 25 years," said Lt. Robert Reilly, head of the police detail that patrols outside the park during games. "It's as bad as the night the Beatles were here."

White Sox President Bill Veeck said he had anticipated a turnout of between 30,000 and 35,000. "But they just kept coming and we finally had to close the gates," he said.

Veeck estimated the crowd at 50,000 to 55,000, the largest since he took over the team in 1976. About 10,000 fans were turned away at the gate, and most of them remained outside the park, he said.

Veeck announced that the game would be made up as part of a doubleheader Sunday, but Tigers Manager Sparky Anderson disagreed and said, "There will be no doubleheader Sunday."

Anderson, wanting the game to be forfeited to the Tigers, said, "Only an act of God can cause a postponement. That was no act of God. The home team is responsible for the action of the crowd and the condition of the field."

The second game should have started at 8:46 p.m. but at that time the field was flooded with people running around. While banners burned in center field, Veeck went onto the field and pleaded over the public address system for the crowd to go to their seats. It didn't help.

Popular play-by-play broadcaster Harry Caray also pleaded in vain and even sang "Take Me Out to the Ball Game," but that didn't help. After about 40 minutes of disturbance, some of the fans did return to the stands but about 1,000 remained on the field, mostly around the burning banners in center field.

Finally a force of more than 40 helmeted policemen appeared and as they came onto the field, the fans began running off. In about two minutes, the field was cleared and order was restored.

Veeck said the White Sox had ordered the biggest security force in Comiskey Park history but that he did not expect so large a crowd. And when trouble began, he said the police were called but had difficulty getting into the park.

"The police handled it well," said Veeck. "There would have been a disaster if they had tried to muscle their way in."

Once the crowd had left the field, it took another hour to clear it of debris in an effort to get it in playing condition.

It was then that the umpires, headed by crew chief Dave Phillips, declared the field unplayable and the game was called.

Phillips made the decision after talking by telephone to American League President Lee MacPhail.

MacPhail said, "I was only concerned that the umpires made the proper decision. It merely stands as a rainout. If Detroit protests, I'll have to take another look."

Knight Has Day In Court Today

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — Coach Bobby Knight headed for municipal court today to face trial on aggravated assault charges, hours before he was to direct the United States men's basketball team on the basketball court in a gold medal showdown in the Pan American Games with Puerto Rico.

Meanwhile, United States Olympic Committee spokesmen predicted the U.S. gold medal count, which stood at 93 entering today's action at this eighth edition of the hemispheric Olympics, would climb to an all-time record 125 by the close of competition here Sunday.

The Americans expected to reap a bumper crop of medals today and Saturday as sports such as freestyle wrestling, tennis, boxing, sailing and track and field wound down to conclusion.

U.S. athletes collected three of Thursday's eight gold medals, with big victories in the men's and women's 400-meter runs and singles tennis.

Dark-horse Tony Darden of Norristown, Pa., came from out of nowhere to make up 10 yards in the final strides and beat Cuban powerhouse Alberto Juantorena in the men's 400.

Darden said Juantorena's loss, his second in three days, emphasized "He's getting old. Now it's my turn..."

In the controversial women's 400, Sharon Dabney, Philadelphia, nipped Guyana's June Griffith as the two lunged headlong for the finish line. Two protests by the Guyanan, accusing Dabney of leaving her lane and disputing the interpretation of the photo finish, were turned down.

Susan Hagey, LaJolla., Calif., beat teammate Trey Lewis, San Pedro, Calif., 3-6, 6-0, 6-2 to win the women's singles gold medal.

In boxing, however, another legendary Cuban, heavyweight Teofilo Stevenson, had little trouble with his American opponent. Bubba Hadley, Camp LeJuene, N.C., lasted only until 1 minute, 39 seconds into the first round before

Houston Skid Continues

A-J News Services

The Pittsburgh Pirates have tarnished the last vestige of the Houston Atros' Natonal League Western Division supremacy — Joe Niekro.

The Pirates tagged Houston's winningest pitcher with a pair of home runs and extended the Astros losing streak to six straight games with a 5-3 victory Thursday night.

Willie Stargell's solo shot in the fourth and John Milner's two-run blast in the seventh, rallied the Pirates and kept Niekro from becoming the first 14 game winner in the National League.

"We had our chances but we didn't capitalize on them," lamented Niekro, recently named to his first All-Star slot. "We're not going to get down on ourselves at this point.

"Who would have thought we'd be in first place at this point in the season?. Tomorrow is another day. We can't think about Cincinnati, we've just got to go out tomorrow and play again."

Niekro, 13-4, was the victim of the awesome Pirate power. Stargell batted out his 17th homer of the year in the fourth inning and Madlock clubbed a two-run homer in the seventh to rally the Pirates into a 3-2 lead.

"The only thing that has beaten Houston is the home run ball," analyzed Madlock. "They've got an excellent pitching staff and they're a good enough ball club to win the National League West."

Houston took a 1-0 lead in the first inning when Cesar Cedeno singled, stole second base and scored on Jose Cruz' double. Stargell tied it with his 17th homer in the fourth.

Houston went ahead again in the fourth when Cruz walked, stole second base and scored on a line single to shal-

Chicago Hitter Ignored By Fans

CHICAGO (AP)— At 24, speedy Chet Lemon is emerging as one of the premier outfielders in the American League. Still, he wonders how many fans are aware of his talents.

In 1978 and again this year, the enthusiastic center fielder has been chosen as the Chicago White Sox' only representative on the American League All-Star team. But it was the All-Star team's managers — Billy Martin last year and Bob Lemon this year — who picked him, not the fans who vote for the starting team.

"That's something that is the best feeling of all — the managers that pick you, they have respect for you," said Lemon.

"It might get me an opportunity one day to be voted in because that means the public actually recognizes you as one of the finer ballplayers in the league."

Lemon was batting .301 after driving in the winning run with a single in Wednesday night's 5-3 victory over the Texas Rangers. He also had nine home runs and 45 RBI.

He had a much higher average early in the season and said, "I tapered off but I haven't been under .300. I didn't expect to stay at .370.

"I think if I can be real consistent I can have a real good year," he added. "I have nine homers. I have a chance for 25. I have 45 RBIs. I can get 100. And I should be able to hit over .300."

Lemon said he hadn't thought much about whether he would be picked for the team that will play the National League all stars next Tuesday in Seattle.

"It's something you think about probably in spring training, but during the course of the season it doesn't cross your mind that much," he said.

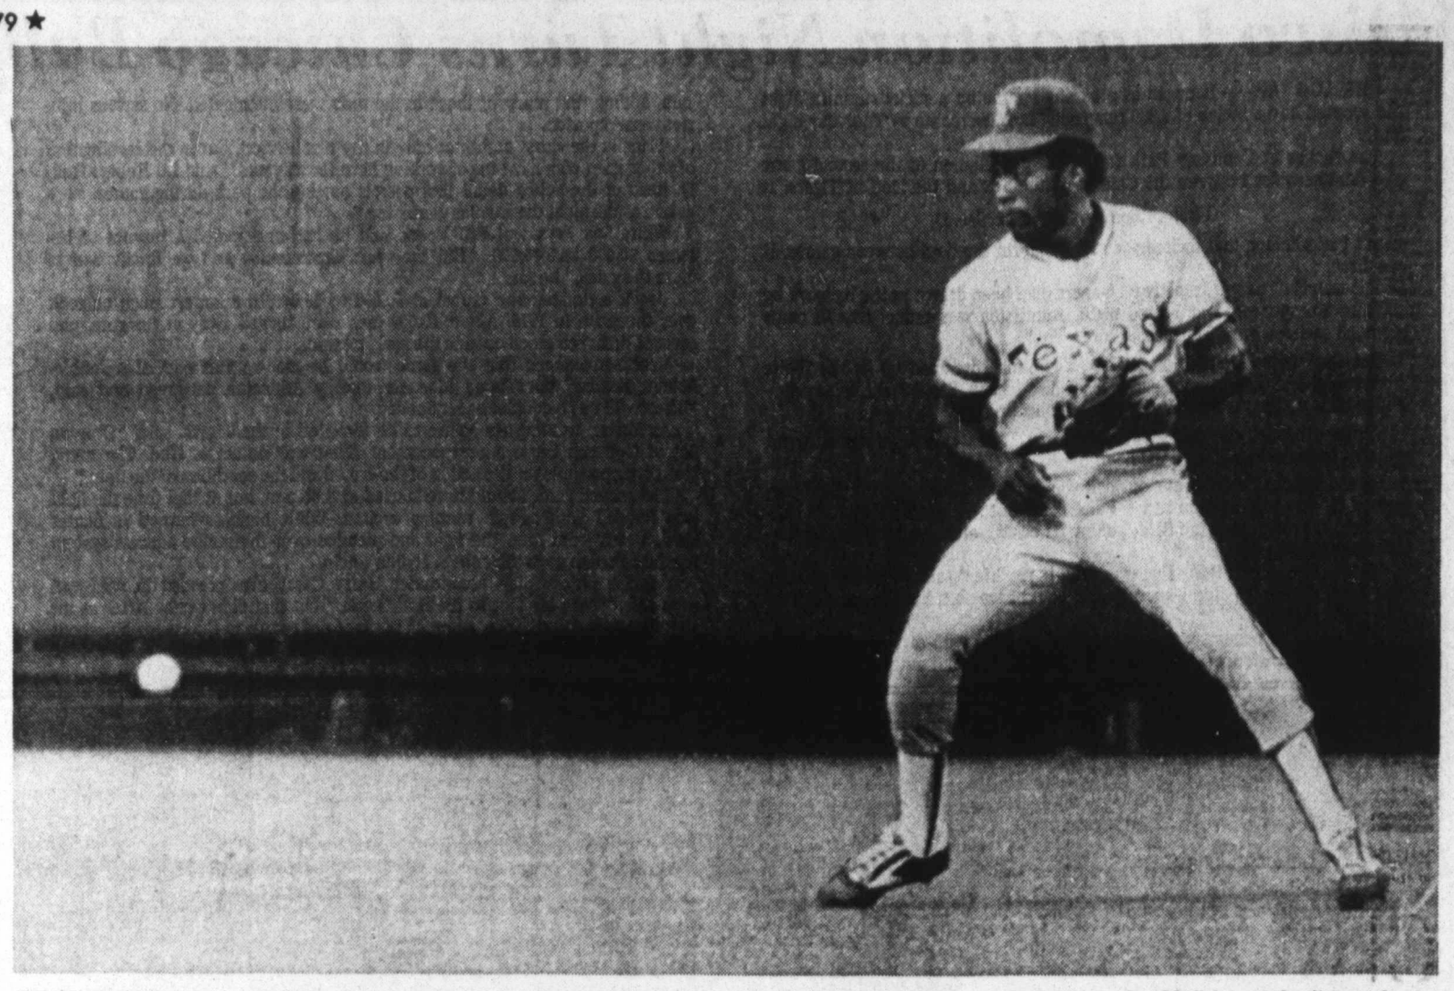

Lemon said teammate Alan Bannister, who was batting .328 after singling in a run Wednesday night, also should have made the team.

"I kind of hoped that more than one player from the team could have made it," he said. "But we don't have popular players like other teams, like (Carl) Yastrzemski on the Red Sox who has been a great player for a long time and is well known."

Lemon is in only his fourth full major-league season, all with the White Sox. He batted .300 last year and belted 13 homers although injuries limited him to 105 games.

"I'd like to see the right players be picked (for the all-star team). Now it's hard for young players coming up to be voted in," he said. "I'm not about to buck the system as it is now. I just want to go and have a good time and represent the White Sox well.

"It's definitely an honor for me. I hope I make it the next 12 years."

Homer Sends Rangers To Win Over KC

A-J News Services

John Ellis is playing for the Texas Rangers this year because Pat Corrales believed in him.

And after the Rangers beat the Kansas City Royals Thursday night because of John Ellis, he and Pat Corrales were two happy fellows.

"Pat is the one who gave me the chance to play," Ellis said. The well-traveled blond banged two-run home runs in the first and third innings to carry the Rangers to a 6-2 victory.

"I was very close to not playing for Texas. But Pat believed in me."

A nine-year major league veteran, used alternately as a part-time catcher, first baseman and pinch-hitter, Ellis suffered a horrendous ankle fracture in 1976.

"His ankle was just hanging on by ligaments," said Corrales, Texas' first-year manager. "It took him two years to get right. He's really fortunate today that he can walk. I've never seen such a fracture."

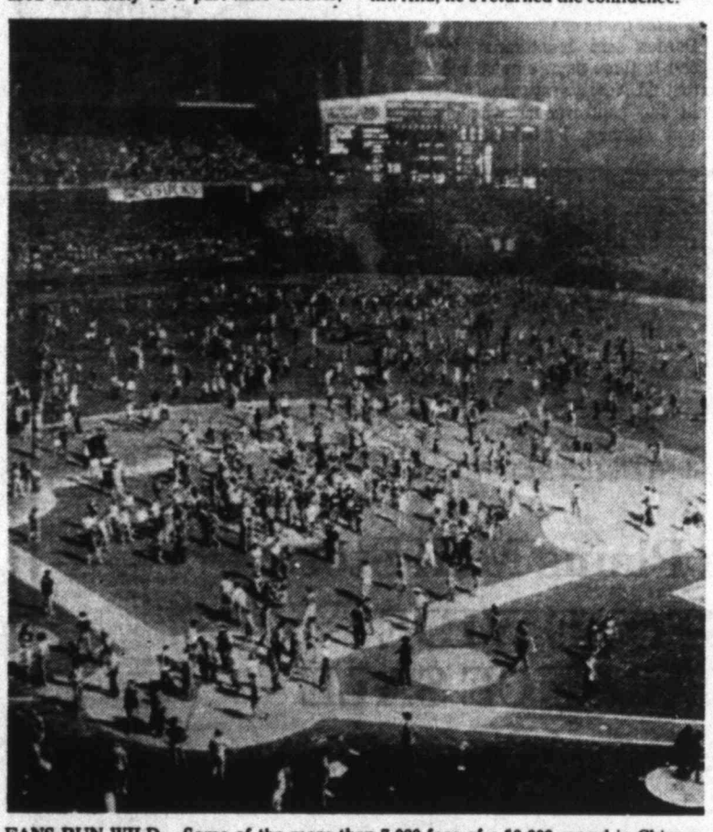

When the Rangers went to spring training this year, the thinking in the organization was that John Ellis did not figure into the plans.

"When I got this job," Corrales said, "I made up my mind we were going to carry his bat because I knew he could hit. And, he's returned the confidence."

To help keep him on the team, Corrales named Ellis a player-coach, and designated him the bullpen coach.

"I'm sure that some day he's going to have to take me out of the lineup because I'm not hitting," Ellis said. "But we'll cross that bridge when we come to it. I firmly believe it was Pat's faith in me that kept me in baseball."

Ellis' two homers off Larry Gura, 5-7, were nothing new to the Royals, who are suffering through their most horrid slump since 1974. So far this year the Royals' staggering pitching staff has given up 100 of the long balls, and most astonishing, 50 in the last 28 games. The loss plunged the defending American League West Champions to two games below .500, their 12th setback in 13 games.

FANS RUN WILD— Some of the more than 7,000 fans of a 50,000 crowd in Chicago storm the field Thursday night forcing a postponement of the second game of a doubleheader. (AP Laserphoto)

Tigers 4, White Sox 1

It was not your usual twi-night double-header. In fact, it wasn't even a double-header.

Thousands of unruly spectators set bonfires and hurled record albums on the playing field at Chicago's Comiskey Park Thursday night during an "anti-disco" demonstration, forcing the postponement of the second game of a twin bill between the White Sox and the Detroit Tigers. The Tigers took the opener 4-1.

Rookie Tom Brookens tripled home what proved to be the winning run in the second inning of the opener. Loser Fred Howard, 1-4, gave up all the Detroit runs but only two were earned. Pat Underwood, 4-0, went 7 2-3 for the victory. He was relieved by Aurelio Lopez, who retired the last four batters to earn his fifth save.

Yankees 14, Mariners 2

Willie Randolph stroked four hits, including a three-run home run, and Reggie Jackson added a homer to back the combined pitching of Catfish Hunter and a returning Rich Gossage to lead the Yankees. The victory ended a seven-game Kingdome losing streak for the world champions and raised their three-year record in Seattle to 4-13.

Tech Tickets On Sale

Season tickets for Texas Tech's six-game 1979 home football schedule will go on sale Monday, Tech ticket manager Carol Baker announced today.

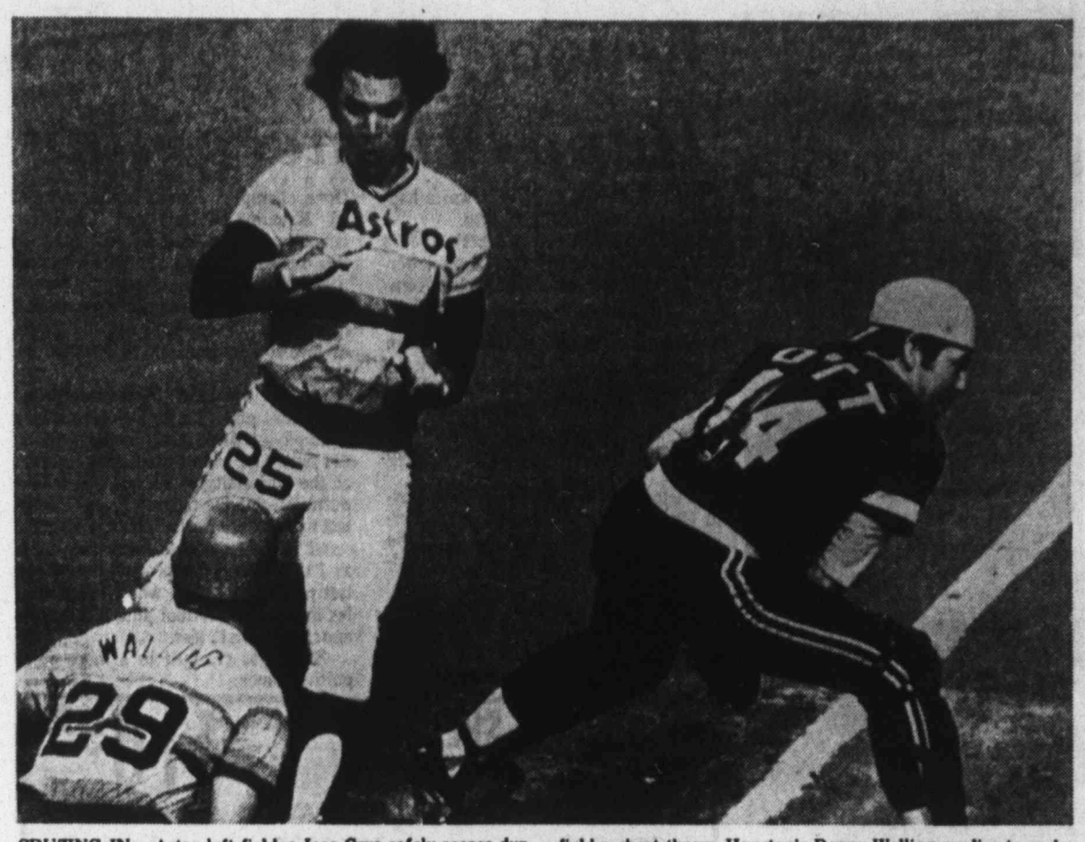

According to Mrs. Baker, season tickets will be available over the counter beginning at 8:30 p.m. Monday. The ticket office, now located in the new building at the north end of Jones Stadium, will be open 8:30 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Sideline season tickts are priced at $51 for the six games. Season tickets in the south end zone can be purchased for $39 for adults and $19.50 for students. Mrs. Baker said season tickets in the endzone would be reserve seats.

Early indications are that Tech is pointing toward one of its best attendance years ever. Last season the Red Raiders averaged more than 45,000 fans per home game and an increase in new option sales during the off-season indicates even better response this fall.

Foyt Among New Astro Owners

HOUSTON (AP) — John J. McMullen got writer's cramp Thursday and race car driver A.J. Foyt had a lot of fun.

McMullen completed an exhausting day of signing endless papers that made him the official owner of the National League Houston Astros.

McMullen then announced a group of 25 limited partners, including Foyt, the four-time Indianapolis 500 winner.

"I just thought it would be a lot of fun," Foyt said prior to Thursday night's Houston-Pittsburgh game in the Astrodome. "I've liked all kinds of sports all my life and some good friends of mine convinced me to go along on this deal."

McMullen, who paid an estimated $19 million for the Astros franchise and the huge Astrodomain amusement complex, had planned on only about 10 local investors but wound up with 25.

"We developed a philosophy that as long as we stayed within the framework of a partnership, the more the merrier," McMullen said. "The team being in first place didn't hurt but I don't think that's why their was so much interest.

"They just looked at the overall improvements that the team has made and the attendance."

Foyt, who also has horse racing interests, admitted he knew little about the game.

"I know that three strikes and you're out and if you hit a home run you win," Foyt said.

"I've never signed so many papers in all my life," said McMullen, referring to the lengthy process.

Hubbers Take Meet Opener

Larry Horn threw a three-hitter and struck out nine Thursday as the Lubbock Hubbers launched the West Region Texas NBC Tournament with a 6-0 victory over the Lubbock Raiders at Lowrey Field.

Now 16-1 in the summer league standings, the Hubbers broke the game open in the eighth inning with five runs, three on Jeff Harp's bases-loaded triple.

Tonight's game pits the Town Draw Brewers against the Lubbock Cardinals at 7:30 p.m. at Lowrey Field.

Randy Newton singled in the only run that Horn needed in the fourth and Tim Leslie and Jimmy Shankle singled in runs in the eighth, preceeding Harp's triple.

Marvin Simpson had two of the Raiders hits with Leslie and Darius Copley each getting two hits for the Hubbers.

low rightfield by Enos Cabell.

The Pirates took the lead for good on Milner's two-run homer in the seventh and chased Niekro in the eight on run-scoring singles by Omar Moreno and Tim Foli.

Bert Blyleven, 7-3, got relief help from Kent Tekulve in the seventh. The Astros scored their final run in the ninth when Art Howe doubled and scored on a grounder by pinchhitter Jeff Leonard.

"The last time we came in here we lost all of our games by one run," Pittsburgh Manager Chuck Tanner said. "This time, we had the upper hand. That's baseball. They are the same club they were before.

"They are still in first place and that's a great place to be. They've already climbed the mountain. We are in third place. We still have some climbing to do."

Giants 5, Expos 3

After just three games in the major leagues, San Francisco rookie catcher Dennis Littlejohn has earned the repect of the Montreal Expos and, more important, his manager.

Littlejohn drove in three runs, John Montefusco won his second game of the season and the Giants earned a sweep of their three-game series.

Cubs 10, Reds 8

In a game delayed twice by rain for almost 3 1/2 hours, the Cubs rallied for five runs in the ninth to down Cincinnati. Steve Dillard put Chicago ahead with an RBI single and winning pitcher Bruce Sutter, 4-2, delivered a two-run single. George Foster helped the Reds to a 7-0 lead with four RBI — two on his 20th homer — and now leads the league with 72.

Phillies 4, Padres 3

Bake McBride's sacrifice fly in the eighth drove home Manny Trillo with the go-ahead run to give Steve Carlton, 11-8, the victory. Garry Maddox led off the eighth with an infield single off loser Rollie Fingers, 7-7, and was forced at second by Trillo. Pinch-hitter Greg Gross then doubled Trillo to third and, after and intentional walk, McBride delivered.

In the sixth Littlejohn singled home Metzger, who had singled and stolen second. The Giants jumped in front 5-1 in the eighth when Whitfield, who walked and went all the way to third.

Mets 12, Los Angeles 5

Joel Youngblood and Steve Henderson had three hits and two RBI apiece and Dock Ellis, 1-2, won his first NL game since 1975 when the Mets rode an eight-run first inning to victory. An error by Dodger shortstop Bill Russell opened the gates for the most productive first inning in Met history and hung Burt Hooton, 7-7, his fourth straight loss.

Britz Grabs Open Lead

FAIRFIELD, Conn. (AP) — It's a familiar place for Jerilynn Britz; she only hopes it lasts.

The Minnesota golfer shares the first round lead in the $125,000 U.S. Women's Open with Debbie Massey. Both shot one-under-par 70s Thursday.

Mrs. Britz had the lead in last week's Ladies Professional Golf Association tournament at Noblesville, Ind. with two holes to play, only to see it fade away. Hollis Stacy won the $15,000 first prize in a playoff.

"I was really lucky today," the 36-year-old Mrs. Britz said, pointing out that she had to make five crucial putts to save par, including one on the 18th hole.

While she has yet to post a victory on the women's tour, Mrs. Britz has won $36,100 this year.

Miss Stacy is in a six-way tie for third place in the oldest women's professional tourney, one stroke back. Jane Blalock, Pam Higgins, Cathy Morse, Sandra Spuzich and Sally Little also matched par 71.

Miss Stacy, who is shooting for an unprecedented third straight Open title. She said her even-par round on the 6,010-yard Brooklawn Country Club put her "in good position."

Mrs. Massey, who has missed four of the last eight LPGA tournaments because of torn tendons in her left thumb, credited her putting with the fast start.

"This is a real good round for me. I had no three-putts and that's real good for these greens," the Bethlehem, Pa., pro said.

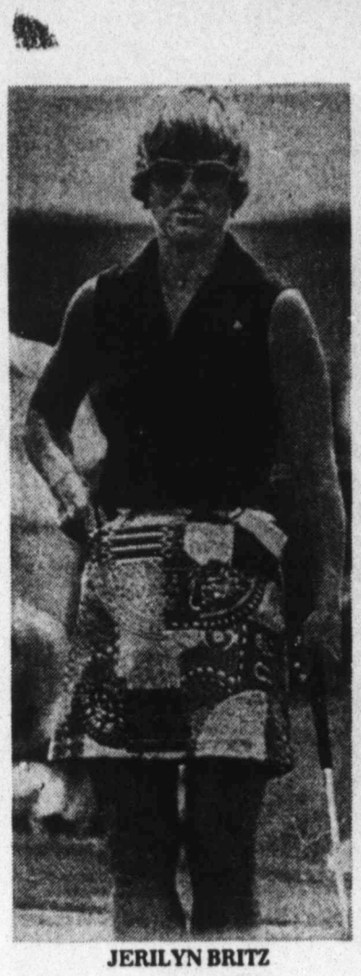

The fast surface of the greens and the exacting pin placement was cited by all of the leaders as more than compensating for the short course. Brooklawn is the shortest course in Women's Open history.

"This is one of the best courses we've played," said Miss Little. "And I don't think the scores are going to be that low."

"This is the first course on the tour that rewards the shotmaker and not the long-ball hitter," said Mrs. Blalock.

Tied at one-over-par 72 were two-time Open titlist Donna Young, Sandra Post and Beth Stone. Grouped at 73 were Nancy Lopez, Laura Baugh, Sandra Palmer and Kathy Whitworth.

The field of 153 golfers — a record for the event — will be reduced to 50 plus ties at the end of today's round.

Leader North Enjoys Happy Homecoming

MILWAUKEE (AP) — It was a happy homecoming for Andy North.

The Madison, Wis., product and 1978 U.S. Open champion shot a six-under-par 66 Thursday, matching his best com-

Hours later, North was pleasantly surprised that noone had bettered that score under nearly ideal conditions at the 7,010-yard Tuckaway Country Club course.

Victor Regalado, Mike Reid and David Eger also shot 66s, creating a four-way tie for a one-stroke lead after the first round of the $200,000 Greater Milwaukee Open.

Tied at 67 were Joe Hager, Keith Fergus, D.A. Weibring, Mark Lye, John Lister and Cesar Sanudo.

Twelve others, including 1973 U.S. Open champion Johnny Miller, were at 68. Reigning Masters and San Diego champion Fuzzy Zoeller, top name in this tournament, and 14 others wee at 69 a 80 golfers broke par.

"This course is absolutely perfect," North said. "There are going to be a lot of low scores, probably lower than 66, this week."

North, who had been dissatisified with his play since his U.S. Open triumph, credited his turnabout to an old putter he hadn't used since his days at the University of Florida and a new putting technique taught him in Chicago last week by pro Earl Milligan.

"I haven't made as many long putts as I did today since probably the Open last year," said North, whose seven birdies included an 18 foot putt, a 15 footer and three from 12 feet.

North has changed to a more erect putting stance.

Minor Leaguers Advance To Finals

Briercroft Conoco of Dixie League No. 2 and Northeast No. 1 advanced to the finals of the Area Minor League Tournament following semi-final victories on Thursday. The teams will meet tonight at 8 p.m. at Southwest Field for the championship.

In advancing to the finals, Briercroft Conoco defeated Cakebox of Southern League No. 2, 8-7, and Northeast won by forfeit against Southwest No. 2

Paraguayan Pro Pecci Pummels Tourney Field

NEW YORK (AP) — Victor Pecci doesn't speak much English but he's saying a lot at the Forest Hills Invitational.

It's a message that's been repeated frequently in the last few months: watch out.

Pecci, who is Paraguay's only professional tennis player, has survived the two most desperate struggles of this tournament — three hours to beat tournament favorite John McEnroe and 2 hours, 45 minutes to down Australia's John Alexander Thursday, 7-6, 1-6, 7-6.

He was a little slow against Alexander, probably the result of his tough first match and the steamy heat here. But despite some service problems, he was able to pump himself up at key times for winners.

And it can't have hurt at all that he had his own avid cheering section. A small but vociferous group of supporters, apparently Paraguayans who have followed him here, screamed for him Thursday. He looked to them continually and raised his arms in salute when he won. Among his rooters was Luis Gonzalez, Paraguay's ambassador to the United Nations.

Pecci rides into this tournament one of the favorites. A relatively obscure player just a few months ago, the big man (6-foot-4) with the big serve is now ranked 14th in the world. He made it to the finals of the French Open, where he lost to Bjorn Borg, and to the finale at Queen's Club in England where he lost to McEnroe.

He and Harold Solomon are the only two players to have qualified already for Saturday's semifinals, so good are their records in their round-robin groups. Today's matches will decide who will join them in the semis.

There are three round-robin groups. The top man in each advances and the fourth semifinalist will be the man with the next best record, regardless of group.

McEnroe beat India's Vijay Amritraj 6-2, 1-6, 6-1 Thursday, but lost any hope of making the semis, when Eddie Dibbs took apart Sandy Mayer 6-2, 6-2 in the last match of the day. Dibbs has a 2-1 match record, and McEnroe could equal that today, but he cannot beat Dibbs' record in sets won.

The others still contending for semifinal berths today were defending champion Vitas Gerulaitis, Raul Ramirez and Wojetk Fibak, all three in the same group, Dibbs and Sandy Mayer in Solomon's group and Alexander in Pecci's group.

Fibak beat Gene Mayer 7-5, 3-6, 7-5 Thursday for a 2-0 match record. Ramirez of Mexico had the upset of the day Thursday, beating Gerulaitis 6-2, 6-2. Both had 1-1 records going into today's matches, when Ramirez plays Gene Mayer, 0-2, and Gerulaitis plays Fibak.

Alexander plays McEnroe tonight. And in two matches that have no bearing on the semifinal pairings, Pecci will play Amritraj during the day, and Solomon will play Peter Fleming tonight.

In other semifinal bouts, the Americans all advanced — bantamweight Jackie Beard, Jackson, Tenn., junior welterweight Lemuel Steeples, St. Louis, junior middleweight James Shuler, Philadelphia, and light heavy Tony Tucker, Grand Rapids, Mich. — into Saturday night's finals.

In basketball, Mike Woodson was switched from forward to guard to replace the injured Kyle Macy and hit for 29 points as the U.S. team trounced Brazil 106-88. It was the eighth consecutive victory in the round-robin tournament for the Americans, a record matched only by the host Puerto Ricans.

The basically unheralded Puerto Ricans rallied furiously to pull out some of their victories, but their steady improvement showed Thursday night in a 109-75 thrashing of Argentina. Puerto Rico trailed early, then blew the Argentinians out after taking a 63-61 lead.

The United States women bombed Brazil 111-73 in their march to a gold medal. So far the U.S. women have beaten their opponents by an average margin of 37 points.

The women meet Cuba tonight for the gold.

While all of the problems were going on, Knight's team seemed unaffected.

Also on today's schedule were the finals in team epee fencing, the U.S. against Puerto Rico in women's softball, finals in men's singles and doubles, women's doubles in tennis, U.S.-Dominican Republic men's volleyball and U.S.-Cuba women's volleyball.

The U.S. men's softball team plays the winner of the morning game against Puerto Rico and Canada for the gold medal.

In track and field, it's the finals of the women's high jump, which was postponed from Thursday, the decathlon, 20-kilometer walk, women's 1,500 meters and women's 100-meter hurdles.

Also scheduled were the finals in all weight classes of wrestling and the sixth of seven regattas in sailing.

Thursday's scores involving U.S. teams included the U.S. over Colombia, 5-4, in baseball; Cuba beating the U.S., 5-0, in soccer; Argentina over the U.S., 6-1, in roller hockey, and the Americans 3-0 over Canada in men's softball.

Brazil edged the U.S. 3-2 in men' volleyball while the women's team dumped Venezuela 3-0.

The medal count showed the United States with 93 golds and 211 total, Cuba with 53 and 116 and Canada at 21-108.

RHONDA ELAINE HARDWICK

Woman Gets Scholarship

Rhonda Elaine Hardwick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hardwick of 5403 42nd St., has been selected as one of five members of the 1979-80 class at Baylor University to receive a merit scholarship.

She has been chosen the Leland Fikes Scholar after tying for the top academic ranking in her class of 203 with a 4.0 grade point average.

Along with the merit award, Miss Hardwick was chosen as the Outstanding Senior Woman in Biology; the Outstanding Science Student by Delta Gamma; and the Outstanding Senior Woman by Kappa Kappa Gamma.

She was one of 50 Baylor students named to Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges for 1978-79.

Miss Hardwick has been accepted for admission to Southwestern Medical School in Dallas.

ROUTES APPROVED

WASHINGTON (AP) — Intercity bus lines can start new routes this summer serving any community they want, government officials say. The Interstate Commerce Commission made the decision Thursday, citing the nation's gasoline shortage as a reason.

Large Motel Chain Opens Local Facility

Motel 6 held ribbon cutting ceremonies Thursday for the grand opening of its 178-room facility at 909 66th St.

Participating in the open house program were Rod Kirkham and Robert E. Shattuck, vice presidents in the company's Dallas Regional office.

Included among the 178 rooms are four rooms set aside for handicapped persons. Those units include extra-wide doorways, wheelchair ramps, hand rails in bath and closet, connecting rooms for traveling companions and extra large shower facility, and wheel chair level accessories such as lights and television sets.

All rooms are air-conditioned, and the facility includes a heated swimming pool.

"The Lubbock centraplex represents an important move for us," Shattuck said. "Our experiences here and in other parts of the nation have helped us learn to anticipate the needs of the traveler in these times of economical consideration," he added.

Operating on a no-frills approach toward economy while maintaining convenience, the motel chain was founded in 1962 to assist the traveler in finding clean, comfortable lodging "at a rate that wouldn't keep him awake."

Motel 6 rates are: $9.95 for a single; $13.95 for a double; and $16.95 for three to four persons.

Kirkham, regional marketing manager, said, "We're proud of our efforts over the past few years to keep room rates affordable to all travelers. The American people, as never before, are traveling for both recreational and educational experiences. With more than 300 motels across the country, we like to think we've been instrumental in this movement."

The chain currently has locations in some 40 states.

Shattuck said, "Our philosophy of doing business revolves around a policy known as 'The No-Frills Approach' to the lodging industry where the guest pays only for those services he uses."

For example, the company does not provide "free" TV, although television sets are available at an additional fee.

The company said that when a traveler rents a motel room at most chains, he pays automatically for all the additional services, whether they are used or not.

No telephones are installed in the rooms, although they are available at various locations throughout the complex, and threre is no toll free system for making reservations at other locations. Reservations are made with the individual motels, and rooms are guaranteed no matter how late the arrival might be.

The firm also does not maintain restaurants or lounges on-premise.

Referring to the company's beginning in Santa Barbara, Calif., a spokesman said that many motel chains also began with modern, inexpensive accommodations. "But they didn't stay that way. As time went on, they became flashier and more expensive.

"Someone would build a motel a little fancier than the one next door. In turn, his neighbor would counter by adding an extra service, such as courtesy cars, bellhops or color television.

"Soon, all the motels were trying to outdo each other with luxuries. As the extras increased, so did the guest's room charge."

Saturday Meeting Set For Area Democrats

Area Democrats will have the opportunity to voice their opinions on the Texas Democratic party's plans for the 1980 presidential election at 10:30 a.m. Saturday at the Hilton Inn.

"It's a golden opportunity for grassroots Democrats in this area to speak up and be counted in the important decisions made by our state party," said Dorothy Barker of Morton. "We want to be sure and have a strong contingent there to represent our local views."

Billy B. Goldberg, state Democratic party chairman, said that a key question to be brought up at the Lubbock hearing is "whether it would or would not make sense for us to hold a presidential primary next year, given our party's particular circumstances in 1980.

"Our situation is, of course, different from that of the Republicans. They will definitely have a contest. As the party with an incumbent president, we Democrats may have only one candidate running. In that case, a presidential primary could be a pointless waste of effort, time and money.

"However, we want our grassroots voters to help us decide."

Official drafts of the state party's delegate selection and affirmative action plans for 1980 also will be circulated for public comment at the hearing.

The two plans will determine how Texas Democrats will choose 152 delegates and 77 alternates to the 1980 Democratic National Convention and what steps the party will take to encourage maximum participation in the process.

"Our purpose is to get the maximum possible input and guidance from grassroots Democrats prior to the State Democratic Executive Committee's final adoption of these important plans and their required submission for approval to the Compliance Review Commission of the national party by July 31," Goldberg said.

Area Democrats unable to attend Saturday's hearing, Goldberg said, may mail comments to state party headquarters, 215 Stokes Building, Austin, 78701 before July 21.

Goldberg also strongly encouraged those who participate in the public hearing to bring written copies of their testimony that the party can keep for its records.

Accident Overlooked By American Voters

NEW YORK (AP) — Despite doubts about his handling of a 1969 auto accident in which a young woman died, nearly half of the nation's adults say they would vote for Sen. Edward M. Kennedy for president if he is a candidate in 1980, according to a new survey.

A Gallup poll taken for McCall's magazine found that 45 percent of those questioned think the Massachusetts Democrat "did not handle himself properly" after the car in which he was traveling with Mary Jo Kopechne plunged off a bridge on the resort island of Martha's Vineyard, Mass. Even so, 49 percent said Kennedy would get their vote. Kennedy has said repeatedly that he is not a candidate.

THE NIKKO PHILOSOPHY
Nikko Electric Corporation is one of the world's largest manufacturers of electrical apparatus and circuit breakers. Forty-three years of experience with electrical equipment has placed Nikko in the forefront in the development of outstanding electrical and electronic devices.
From the very beginning, Nikko engineers recognized the unlimited potential of the transistor. They saw in this tiny electronic device a practical way to bring superb sound reproduction in the contemporary home.
Accurate sound. Reliable sound. Sensibly priced sound capable of taking full advantage of today's dynamic recordings. The strength of that belief led Nikko to introduce the audio industry's first solid state high fidelity components specifically designed for home music reproduction.
Since that time, Nikko has been constantly involved in solid state research and development with only one goal in mind; to create quality products for home and professional designed to deliver the highest performance per dollar available.
OUTSTANDING TECHNOLOGICAL FEATURES
T-Locked FM Tuning This incredibly accurate automatic FM fine tuning system is a Nikko exclusive. All you have to do is tune near the FM station. release the tuning knob. the T-Locked circuitry will lock onto the FM station frequency centering the tuning meter. The green "tuned" indicator tells you that the T-Locked system is continuously sampling the signal and adjusting for minimum distortion with drift-free performance unaffected by time, temperature or humidity.
Exclusive Circuit Breakers Most other stereo receivers on the market have a protection device (usually a fuse) to guard the unit from electrical malfunction. Nikko uses a resettable breaker which eliminates the need for spare speaker protection fuses.
MPX Pilot Signal Cancellation The stereo multiplex subcarrier can interfere with listening quality and can cause high pitched noise on tape recordings. The Nikko pilot signal cancellation system totally eliminates (rather than merely reduces) interference from the FM multiplex subcarrier. This feature found on the NR-1219, NR-1019, NR-819 and NR-719 receivers and the NT-890 tuner, makes FM even more listenable and is of particular advantage when taping FM.
Limited 3-Year Parts/Labor Transferable Warranty For three years from date of purchase. Nikko Electric Corporation of America will repair or replace any parts which fail to function properly because of defects in material or workmanship. This warranty applies to original purchase date and is valid, regardless of the number of owners the unit may acquire during it length of warranty.
So if you're looking for the best combination of power, performance, and price---come to Dyer Electronics and check Nikko, it's for those who take their stereo very seriously.

Humanitas Prizes Point Out Good In Television

By PETER J. BOYER

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The Humanitas Prizes were given out this week, awarded to TV writers whose scripts communicated "those values which most fully enrich the human person."

I'd forgotten all about that, the notion that commercial television can be uplifting, that it can enrich our lives. I think I lost it in the crossfire between TV's hypsters and haters.

But Humanitas served to remind. There is a fertile middle ground between pretentious, self-consciously "relevant" TV and mindless, cheap-thrills TV.

There is such a thing as good television.

The prizes, awarded by the Human Family Institute, go to writers whose scripts are both broadly entertaining and humanizing — the very definition of good television.

The three winners worked that middle ground well, and, significantly, their works were aired on three different networks.

NBC's prizewinner was Jane-Howard Hammerstein's "Summer of My German Soldier," her first major TV credit. The TV movie was a masterful lesson in compassion and the overcoming of prejudice, and it didn't preach.

Leon Tokatyan's script for the "Vet" episode of CBS' "Lou Grant" explored the special pains endured by Vietnam veterans. It was, as the Humanitas Prize board wrote, "a challenge to its viewers, and to all of us, to face our fears and grow beyond our guilt, anger and resentment."

But I think that the third winner, Michael Leeson's "Blind Date" episode of ABC's "Taxi" series, is the best proof that TV can aim at broad audiences without insulting the narrow segments of that audience.

"Blind Date" was funny, funny enough for a kid or a humanities professor to laugh at, and feel good about later.

A guy gets a blind date with a fat girl.

There were the comical reactions, the insinuated put-downs and they got laughs; but then Judd Hirsch's character goes back to the fat girl's house. They talk, and they become friends.

Those were the three winners (along with a special award to John Korty for his documentary, "Who Are the Debolts?"), but several other bits of good television come to mind.

There was the episode of "Lou Grant" in which Donovan, the assistant city editor on the show's fiction Los Angeles Tribune, learns to accept the death of his mother.

There was the "White Shadow" episode about the autistic kid who has a sweet moment of triumph when the guys on the Carver High basketball team insist on his being put into a game.

And NBC's "A Woman Called Moses," about the crusades of Harriet Tubman; ABC's "Friendly Fire"; the "All in the Family" segment in which Edith gets fired from her job at the Sunshine Home; almost any episode of "M-A-S-H."

All of these shows were aired by commercial networks. True, they were few, buried amid the enormous glut of programs offered in the last season.

But not so few, looking back, as I might have thought.

Blues Singer Gets Check

NEW YORK (UPI) — Old-time blues writer-singer Big Joe Lee Williams has finally gotten the $3,000 royalty check the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers owed him.

It had taken a year for ASCAP to track Williams down.

Williams, who describes himself as being "at least 75 years old," dropped by the organization's Nashville offices to pick up the check, ASCAP said in New York Wednesday.

"You just made my day!" exclaimed the septuagenarian songwriter of such tuns as "Baby, Please Don't Go," "Highway Stomp," "Wild Cow Moan," "Someday Baby," "Four Corners of the World," and "That Thing's In Town."

A year ago, an ASCAP accountant found that the society owed Williams the $3,000. All they knew, though, was that he was "somewhere in Mississippi."

Williams, finally traced to Crawford, Miss., was told to come to Nashville, which he did last week.

July Sales Cited By Consumer Alert

WASHINGTON (AP) — July is a month to look for store-wide clearance sales on many items, according to the National Consumer Buying Alert.

Published by the federal Office of Consumer Affairs, the alert says dozens of bargains will be offered this month, although selections may be limited towards the end of the month.

Look for sales on air conditioners, bathing suits, summer clothing, hats, shoes, handbags, home appliances, lingerie, toiletries, sports equipment, garden supplies and outdoor furniture.

GOOD SEATS AS LATE AS SHOWTIME!

Tomorrow's Horoscope

By Bernice Bede Osol

CANCER (June 21-July 22) Charm and tact, as well as a lot of patience, are what will win others over to your way of thinking tomorrow. You'll find it easy to employ all three.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) Your profound sense of duty makes you a very generous person, to those who truly deserve it. You won't turn your back on those who merit your aid.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) It is quite possible a reunion with old friends is in the offing for you tomorrow. You'll have a fine time reminiscing about old times.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Draw upon that little extra push deep within you and you can achieve something tomorrow that means a lot to you. It's worth the additional effort.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) The high ideals and kind mannerisms you employ toward those with whom you come in contact tomorrow will not quickly be forgotten. You'll gain great respect.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) A favor that is not easily given and that others may covet will be granted to you tomorrow. Make the most of it. Don't forget to show the proper gratitude.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) A mature and unselfish you emerges when a decision that could have long-range effects becomes necessary. You'll make a wise judgment.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You'll be able to draw upon the experience of others to bring harmony and order into a situation that could otherwise have been difficult to set right.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) You can win over to your corner tomorrow an important ally because of the gentle manner in which you handle people. Even the hardhearts won't be able to resist you.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) It should be a labor of love that will occupy most of your time tomorrow. Chances are, it's something the whole family is able to enjoy.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) You could be hearing from or getting a visit from a dear and trusted friend tomorrow whom you may not have seenfor awhile. It'll warm your heart.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Something you've been wanting for a long time could become a reality today.

$750,000 Awarded To Mugging Victim

PHILADELPHIA (A) — A 20-year old woman who suffered brain damage in a mugging by an unknown assailant at a North Philadelphia Conrail station three years ago has been awarded $750,000 in damages by a federal court jury.

"It's not possible for money to compensate," Christine Bateson, a student at Gallaudet College in Washington, D.C., said after the decision Tuesday. "But the money they gave me will help.

Cuban Ballet Presents Five Works In New York

By MARY CAMPBELL

NEW YORK (AP) — The Ballet Nacional de Cuba presented five sides of itself recently, as it opened for three weeks at the Metropolitan Opera House. The program consisted of five works, all in very different styles.

The first was "Les Sylphides," to show the classical side. The corps de ballet was lovely, dressed in the traditional all white, moving in lyrical unison. A program note says that company director Alicia Alonso worked directly under choreographer Michel Fokine when he staged and revised his 1908 ballet shortly before his death. She staged this one, based on that version.

The new work among the five, "Rara Avis," with choreography by Alberto Mendez, is the one we found least edifying. It has three parts, with a ballerina in each fluttering her arms, as a bird surrounded by men. The last part has her entering by stepping uncertainly on the bent back of each man. They then lift and carry her quite a lot.

The final work, by Mendez, was "La Perin" a duet for Miss Alonso and Jorge Esquivel. It is reminiscent of the bravura pas de deux the Bolshoi Ballet favors but it is quieter and more thoughtful.

The second ballet, Azar Plisetski's "Canto Vital," is for four men, each ruggedly muscular and excitingly acrobatic.

That was followed by a total change of pace, "Late in the Afternoon." It is a charming character study of four sisters, in antique white dresses, by Mendez. The youngest, Esperanza-Hope, had a dreamy solo.

Black Actor Making History With Starring Role

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Lou Gossett Jr., who won an Emmy for his performance as Fiddler in "Roots," believes he is making black acting history with the lead role in a new hour-long television series.

Gossett will star in "The Lazarus Syndrome" next season for ABC, playing the chief of surgery in a large metropolitan hospital.

The show is a first in which a black actor will be featured in a non-action adventure (i.e. cops and robbers) dramatic series.

The show also breaks new ground it that no racial references are made in dialogue or story line — at least in the dirst three scripts filmed so far — to the fact that Dr. MacArthur St. Clair is a black man.

"The doctor I play is not a macho figure. At least, not in the stereotypical sense of black heroes in past TV series," said Gossett.

"I accepted the role because it doesn't have a black onus. The stories are about a surgeon and involve the hospital drama, not the man's color.

"I see the series as making history. It is the incluson of black men and women into the mainstream of American society on a non-racial basis. It's an important step forward."

Originally, the Blinn-Thorpe production was patterned for a white doctor named Vitale. When Gossett was considered for the role, the producers considered tailoring the doctor to fit the actor.

Gossett objected, saying, "Just change his name and leave the scripts alone."

Gossett is a tall, lean, athletic man of considerable charm and dignity. His shaved head gives him a strong, almost menacing appearance. A former Brooklyn high school basketball flash, he moves gracefully.

His own personal roots are in the Caribbean. He speaks thoughtfully and slowly without a trace of Brooklyn accent.

Gossett comes to his role of Dr. St. Clair better equipped to play a doctor than most actors. He was a pre-med student at New York University before turning to acting with a role in "Take A Giant Step" on Broadway.

He moved on to "The Desk Set" with Shirley Booth and such other Broadway hits as "A Raisin In The Sun," "Golden Boy" and "My Sweet Charlie."

His movies include "The Landlord," "The Skin Game" and "The Choirboys" in addition to more than 50 TV shows.

"I was offered the part of a black congressman in a TV pilot," Gossett said. "The real Washington black caucus objected to the show. It was a comedy and I personally didn't want to play the black congressman for laughs.

"That sort of comedy is fine for black performers because it provides jobs. But personally I think the genre should be balanced out by other series like 'The Lazarus Syndrome.'

"Not long ago I was asked to star in a spin-off of 'The Rockford Files' with Isaac Hayes. We made the pilot but it wasn't right for me. At that time I was holding off, hoping to continue with feature films.

"I was given an opportunity to star in the pilot of 'For Heaven's Sake,' a TV series based on Warren Beatty's hit movie, 'Heaven Can Wait.' I was to be a basketball player instead of a football player. I turned it down for the show we're doing now."

No one is more aware than Gossett that if "The Lazarus Syndrome" is to succeed in the ratings it must draw a large viewing audience among whites. It cannot survive with predominantly black viewers.

Gossett is optimistic following screenings of the pilot which was shown to ABC affiliate stations along the network.

"It was highly regarded, especially in the South," he said. 'They've made great strides down there. The races are making a go of it.

"Another key to the success of the show is the relationship of St. Clair to his partner, the hospital administrator played by Ronald Hunter, a white actor. It is a very real relationship. They don't make racial jokes.

"St. Clair is no miracle worker. He's a well-rounded man with shortcomings. He makes mistakes. And he's not only involved in the hospital. He has a wife and a child and we see those elements of his life, too.

"Dr. St. Clair and I have some qualities in common. I have more humor than he does but we share a sense of humanity. We're both athletic and jog three miles several times a week."

Reward Offered In Fireworks Stand Fire

Owners of a fireworks stand just west of Lubbock are offering a $10,000 reward for information leading to the arrest of the person who set the small building ablaze almost a month ago.

U.S. Fireworks of America Inc., is offering the large sum so that they "will stand more of a chance of someone reporting a friend or associate," said Thomas Manley, president of the company.

"Rarely does anyone commit a crime without telling someone," theorized Manley, president of one of the largest distributors of family fireworks in the nation.

"The main reason we waited so long" to offer the reward, he said, "was to give the arsonist more time to brag about it."

Sometime during the night of June 18 the empty 32-by-7 foot tin and wood structure was burned, six days before opening for business.

The stand had no electricity and did not contain trash, debris or fireworks, said Manley, which makes him suspect the fire was deliberately set.

Manley estimates that cleanup and transportation costs and the replacement cost for a new structure will reach near $10,000.

Although Manley said his company has not had problems with arson in the past, the company suspects two of three buildings lost to fire within the last year were by arson.

U.S. Fireworks of America Inc. began serving the Lubbock area in 1972, but "we've never had trouble with arsonists," said Manley, whose firm distributes in 11 of 31 states allowing the sale of fireworks.

Should a co-conspirator wish to provide information about the incident, that person would not be prosecuted by the firm, Manley said.

Those with information on the June 18 fire should contact the Lubbock Police Department or call collect 214-676-3512. Callers will remain anonymous.

Committee Urges Clinic To Avoid Duplication

By PAULA TILKER
Avalanche-Journal Staff

The South Plains Health Systems executive committee unanimously voted Thursday to recommend that a Denton genetics clinic's Lubbock branch be refunded for $79,253.

However, committee member George Brewer suggested in his motion, and his colleagues agreed, that the Texas Genetics Network coordinate existing genetics programs to avoid duplication of services and to facilitate grant funding.

Concern over duplication of services and of troubles in securing funding because of two programs in a region has been voiced by Texas Tech medical school faculty.

The medical school currently offers genetics services and plans to implement fully a laboratory by September. The medical school program will offer a wide range of services, with an emphasis on prenatal counseling and diagnosis.

The Denton clinic's Lubbock office emphasizes services after a genetically afflicted child is born and how to cope with mental retardation in its education programs.

SPHS committee members decided that no unnecessary service duplication exists now.

But Dr. Wayne Heine, chairman of the obstetrics-gynecology department at Tech, said he is concerned "that when we approach the state for funding," money will not be appropriated because of the presence of the Denton clinic and the Baylor program.

Baylor medical school provides quality control of the Tech laboratory and is assisting Tech in setting up a genetics laboratory.

Dr. Heine's remark prompted the motion notation that state departments coordinate programs and funding.

The SPHS committee's recommendation for refunding of the nine-month-old Denton clinic will be forwarded to the Department of Mental Health/Mental Retardation.

The Denton clinic sends a medical team to Lubbock for three days every five weeks, and a social worker is available at the Lubbock office daily.

Area Settlers Plan Reunion

STANTON (Special) — A parade, games, old fiddlers contest and barbecue will highlight activities at the Martin County Old Settlers Reunion here Saturday.

The parade, which will include walking and riding units from Stanton, Midland, Big Spring, Odessa and Abilene, will start at 10 a.m. at the First United Methodist Church.

Games, including an egg throw, cow chip throwing, bubble gum blowing, jalapeno eating and tobacco spitting, will get underway at 2:30 p.m. at the community center.

The old fiddlers will begin working their bows at 4 p.m.

Games for children will be at 6 p.m. in city park, and the barbecue will follow at 7 p.m. at the park.

After the barbecue, the oldest and youngest persons at the festivities will be honored and a memorial service will be held for old settlers who have died since last year's meeting.

Girlstown U.S.A. Sets Celebration

Girlstown, U.S.A. will celebrate its 30th anniversary Saturday at 2:30 p.m. The celebration will be held on the Whiteface campus, nine miles south of Whiteface on FM 1780.

The afternoon program will include a West Texas Opry-type program as well as tours of the facility and a barbeque.

Sixty-six girls currently live at the Whiteface facility, one of four Girlstown campuses in the state. The others are in Lubbock, Borger and Austin. More than 2,000 girls have lived in the Whiteface facility from the day it opened, July 13, 1949.

Girlstwon is supported by contributions, bequests, farm income and a few fees. Nearly 130 girls now live at the four facilities.

Area Hopper Count Grows

Threat To Panhandle Cropland Seen

BY JIM STEIERT
A-J Correspondent

HEREFORD — Grasshoppers by the thousands are presenting a growing threat to Panhandle area cropland, and the menace is even moving into the outskirts of the local farming community as hordes of the leading insects begin to wear down rangeland and look for greener pastures.

Hoppers are a problem throughout many of the Great Plains states this summer, as their population cycle is at a peak, and in some states, including South Dakota, their numbers may be as high as 100 per square yard.

Entomologists indicate that a population of as few as eight grasshoppers per square yard can consume as much grass as a feeder cow, and with rangeland in much of the Panhandle on the sparse side anyway, the loss of forage for even one animal can prove costly.

Although no real grasshopper problems have been encountered locally this spring and during the early portion of the summer, the pests are being seen in growing numbers to the north and northwest.

Some of the heaviest area populations are being found near Wildorado, and landowners in the Vega region met recently to discuss the grasshopper problem there.

Dr. Carl Patrick, entomologist with the Texas A&M Extension Center in Amarillo, reports that the hoppers are primarily restricted to rangeland at this time, but will probably be moving into the cropland as they use up grass.

"Right now, the highest numbers of these pests are in Moore County, and the worst problems may be in Roberts County. In the immediate Hereford area, it's a marginal situation. There are plenty of grasshoppers, but not the numbers compared to the northern Panhandle, where there's more rangeland," said Patrick.

The entomologist pointed out that the Panhandle isn't alone in being confronted by a hopper horde.

"They're scattered all the way across Texas. We've had reports of some high populations in South Texas," said Patrick, pointing out that the current problem isn't necessarily a sign of a grasshopper takeover.

"I think the population peak we're seeing now is purely a cycle. The population gradually build over seven or eight years, and then they drop dramatically. It took a few years for the number to build to the levels we're seeing now, and we'll see them decline again," he continued.

According to Patrick, the main damage from grasshoppers on rangeland comes from their competition with cattle.

"They can deprive cattle of a lot of grazing land the hoppers can destroy crops they move into rapidly by stripping leaves. There is the potential for them to destroy a whole crop with the populations we're seeing this year," he related.

Because of widespread problem of grasshoppers, a cost-share program of spraying is underway in areas where populations are heaviest, with the federal government and landowners sharing equally in the expenses of spraying.

Some of the spraying is being contracted on a local basis, while the areas where vast acreage are to be covered, such as in Roberts and Hutchison counties, high-capacity twin-engined planes are being utilized to apply pesticide.

According to Patrick, a concentrated form of malathion ULV is being utilized in the spraying program at 8 ounces per acre. Although the pesticide is one of the safest available, it is giving up to "95 percent plus" control to grasshoppers under proper conditions of application.

Patrick pointed out that the success rate of the chemical drops to only 75 percent in areas of heavy brush.

"Hopefully, the spraying program will be wrapped up by mid-month. It's important that the spraying be done prior to the egg laying period, which will begin soon. By finishing the spraying by mid-July, we'll get in just ahead of any egg laying," Patrick advised.

Local aerial spraying firms have gone up against hoppers on only a limited basis in the immediate Hereford vicinity, thus far.

Leland Shelton of Whiteface Aviation here reported that his firm has done some spraying in the Wildorado area to control grasshoppers.

"Anywhere there's more grass, they're thicker. We've been dressing the edgies of fields next to pastures, but it looks like the hoppers will keep moving into crops if they aren't stopped. It's getting worse as the grasses in the pastures and the weeds along the fencerows begin to dry up. The hoppers will be looking for something greener to eat," said Shelton.

Jim Campbell, entomologist for American Dusting Co. of Hereford, indicated that the hoppers still represent a potential problem for cropland.

"We're finding a lot of grasshoppers along the turnrows, and some damage on the ends of fields. Anyone with fields bordering a big wheat patch or grassland sure needs to pay attention to the ends of the rows and the turnrows. Very seldom are the hoppers a problem in the whole field, but they can sure riddle the area they hit," Camp indicated.

The local entomologist explained that while grassshoppers are a concern, a more traditional insect pest in the local area is still only in the first generation.

The Southwestern corn borer, nemesis of area corn fields for a number of years now, is currently in the first generation, which should not require control, according to Campbell.

"The cold winter and wet spring we had have helped us out a whole lot on pests. We found a lot less live borers that had overwintered. The first generation is in the process of hatching now, and it will be as much as three weeks before we get into the second generation of borers, where control measures usually begin," said Campbell.

He pointed out that there is currently good news concerning one of the most serious enemies of corn here the past two years.

"It looks like maybe the spider mite situation is going to be better in corn. We can't find the levels of these insects in the older corn that we were already finding at this time last year. Weather will prove the determining factor in how severe these pests become, but we had a lot less of them coming out of the wheat this year, and maybe they won't hit the astronomical numbers we've seen the last two years," Campbell said.

"Beneficial insects also seem to be a lot higher in number than they were last year, and overall this has to be good news for local farmers," he added.

HOPPER SIGNS — Grasshoppers are moving into row crops in growing numbers in the northern reaches of the Panhandle as they abandon rangeland worn out by their spring onslaught. A peak in the grasshopper cycle has meant large populations of the leaping pests on rangeland and farmers in widespread portions of the Panhandle and South Plains are being reminded to keep a close watch on the borders of their fields as the hoppers migrate from rangeland. Researchers Find Tumbleweeds Nutritious Feed For Cattle

LAS CRUCES (Special) — Believe it or not, those pesky tumbleweeds may some day be converted to sizzling T-bone steaks, delicately marbled roasts and well-rounded round steaks.

And even more unbelievable, those same sticky weeds may some day help Southwesterners conserve precious water supplies.

The story begins three years ago when two researchers with New Mexico State University got together and decided to either confirm or negate rumors that Russian-thistles (tumbleweeds) are a nutritious feed for livestock.

Donning white lab coats and arming themselves with calculators, Jim Fowler, an agronomist with NMSU's Agricultural Experiment Station, and Jim Hageman, NMSU chemist, planted their first crop of Russian-thistles. They then applied water to the newly seeded crop and waited for the plants to grow.

Once the plants reached a predetermined, required height, the researchers harvested their dubious crop, took it to an NMSU laboratory and ran a series of nutrition analyses on it.

"We found cultivated Russian-thistles produce much more dry matter per unit of water than most conventional hay crops, such as alfalfa," Fowler said. According to the researchers, the nutritional value of Russian-thistle has been studied sporadically over the years, especially during or following periods of drought when other feeds were in short supply.

One such study was conducted in western Kansas in 1934 by H. W. Cave and associates. They studied the digestibility of Russian-thistle hay as a diet for dairy cattle. Their findings?

Ground Russian-thistle hay, containing only 9 percent protein, provided 55 percent as much digestibvle protein and 80 percent as much total nutrients as alfalfa.

Cave also found no lingering odors in mills where Russian-thistle was milled, nor was there a laxative effect in cattle fed Russian-thistle hay.

"While Cave's study is important," Fowler said, "we'll obviously have to do additional nutritive evaluations. We'll also have to run feeding trials on Russian-thistle harvested at different stages of maturity before we can adequately characterize its nutritional value."

In another part of their study, conducted in 1975-76, the researchers studied Russian-thistle's water needs.

"Our data confirmed that cultivated Russian-thistle produces much more dry matter per unit of water applied than most conventional hay crops," Fowler said.

"And from our literature review, we know other researchers have found Russian-thistle requires one-third to one-half as much water per unit of dry matter produced as alfalfa, flax and bromegrass," Fowler said.

When the researchers applied nitrogen to Russian-thistle, they found irrigated Russian-thistle fertilized with 100 pounds of nitrogen produced over 4.4 tons of dry feed per acre with only 9.5 inches of total water. That water total included both irrigation and rainfall.

Fowler added, "That is more than 900 pounds of dry matter per acre-inch of water applied."

But what will happen if farmers do raise tumbleweeds? Won't they eventually take over all the state's farmland?

"No," Fowler said. "Cultivating Russian-thistle as a forage crop, in regions which already abound with the weed, should not increase the threat of tumbleweeds in other crop fields."

Fowler reasoned that Russian-thistle, unlike many problem weeds, is easy to control in cropped fields and perennial pastures.

"Therefore," he asked, "if Russian-thistle proves to be a nutritious forage, suitable for livestock feed, why shouldn't we take advantage of its high level of productivity as well as its ability to thrive on very little water and grow it as an economical crop?"

Grain Futures Mart Performance Cited

By RODERICK TURNBULL
Kansas City Board of Trade

KANSAS CITY — The spring of 1979 saw a dramatic demonstration of how U. S. grain futures markets function in response to supply and demand factors around the whole world.

Of course, futures markets are responding to supply and demand conditions all the time, but this particular spring period presented an interesting study because prices rose rather steadily and yet there was no single sensational development such as a huge sale to one country, a major crop disaster, widespread war or anything similar.

In retrospect, it now develops that apparently the whole world gradually came to the conclusion that the world was not going to produce quite as much food, specifically grains, this year as it did in 1978

At the same time, it was assumed that the world, which always has more people each year, would consume more food this year than last. Hence, as grain analysts were pointing out — a strong demand.

The world is not heading into a grain shortage, at least so far as anyone can determine at this time. Nobody ever can tell for sure what's ahead. Major crop failures any place in the world obviously could change the outlook dramatically. That is the case in any year. Bumper crops also would have the opposite effect.

But the world is not starting out with shortages this year. Production over the globe was the greatest ever in 1978. Carryovers will be large. The world is not consuming in this marketing year quite as much grain as was produced last year.

But the markets have been telling us this year that consumption likely will be greater than production from the harvests in the 1979-80 marketing year. So the year following, the carryovers could be less.

American futures markets in grain, at Chicago, Kansas City and Minneapolis, perform many functions. A major function is that they "discover" through free market trading processes what something is worth.

And what something is worth is what somebody will pay for it. At the same time, the buyer has to pay what it takes to get it. This interplay determines prices at which trading actually is accomplished.

What is remarkable is how U. S. futures markets, the only such free and open grain markets in the wold, reflected worldwide opinion on worldwide crop conditions as they slowly were developing in the first part of this year.

In any comment on futures markets it must be recognized that prices change every day, and they will change tomorrow. So let's arbitrarily pick a period to cover.

On March 20, the July futures price on hard red winter wheat at the Kansas City Board of Trade closed at $3.15 ¾ a bushel. Ninety days later, on June 20, the closing price was $4.30, up $1.14 ¼, a substantial increase.

For a comparison, it might be recalled that July 10, 1972, just after the government had revealed the United States was going to make big sales of grain to the Soviet Union, the December futures price in Kansas City was $1.51 ¼. Ninety days later, on October 10, the December futures closed at $2.14 ¼, up 63 cents.

So, dollarwise, the increase from March 20 to June 20 this year was greater than the boost from the Russian sales in the 90 days after that announcement in 1972.

The stage for this year's price increases, which, incidentallly were experienced also to an extent by both corn and soybeans in addition to wheat, began with the unusually severe winter over most of the northern hemisphere. Analysts feared there would be winter kill in winter wheat crops in Northern Europe, China and particularly in the Soviet Union. It should be emphasized that crop conditions in the Soviet Union had a major role in the price strength on American futures markets this spring.

But it wasn't just the United States which was observing these crop conditions. The whole world realized that if the Soviet Union didn't produce so much, it might have to import more. And the Soviet Union buys in big hunks.

So, as the planting season approached, the world observed that the Soviet Union was experiencing a cold, late spring. So was Poland and other Eastern European nations as well as Canada, and the United States.

The United States with its highly mechanized farms eventually got all its spring crops planted, almost at the average time. Eventually, the Soviet Union also planted its crops, but they were late and often late crops don't produce to the maximum.

Canada also was late in its seedings of spring wheat and, in some instances, Canadian farmers switched to other crops.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture eventually issued a report stating that the Soviet Union's grain production likely would be down this year from last year's record. The International Wheat Council in London predicted the world's wheat crop this year might by 5 to 10 percent under the 1978 output.

By DUANE HOWELL

A CHANGE IN WHAT IS DESCRIBED as a "totally unfair" rule under which the 1979 farm program now is being administered is being sought by the Lubbock-based Plains Cotton Growers, Inc.

"It's a procedure which, if followed, is going to cause more than a few of our people to be declared ineligible for any farm program benefits for reasons over which they have no control," says Donald Johnson, PCG executive vice president.

In a number of instances, he adds, producers might not even be aware of the situation until they are notified of the ineligibility.

The problem arises when a producer fails to certify all acreage classified as "cropland" by the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service.

IN SUCH CASES, THE FAILURE to certify, as would be expected, would make that farmer ineligible for any program benefits.

"But that is only the beginning," Johnson says.

"Not only is that farm ineligible, but all other farms in which either the operator or the landlord has an interest also are out of the program along with the different landlords and/or tenants on those other farms."

For clarification, Johnson uses this example:

T. L. Landlord is the owner of Farms A, B and C in Bailey County, on each of which a different operator has program crops planted and is in full compliance with all program regulations.

Landlord also owns Farm D in Midland County, operated by another tenant but with grass for a grazing operation planted on all the cropland.

BECAUSE THE MIDLAND COUNTY FARMER is not participating in the farm program in any way, he does not think it necessary to certify what the cropland is being used for — a fact which is of no consequence to the operator or Landlord on the Midland County farm.

However, the failure of the Midland County operator to certify that cropland also causes Landlord and his tenants on Farms A, B and C in Bailey County to be denied use of the government loan and makes them ineligible for any low yield or price deficiency payments that might otherwise become due.

"This means the three Bailey County farmers would be penalized for the inaction of a farmer in Midland County over whom they have no control and may not even know exists," Johnson says.

AND THE SAME WOULD BE TRUE if Landlord had a fourth tenant in Lubbock County who failed to certify wheat he had growing in borrow ditches, on terraces or on turnrows.

In contrast, Johnson adds, if the fourth farmer overplants his normal crop acreage, fails to have adequate set-aside or is declared out of compliance for any reason except non-certification, eligibility of the Bailey County farmers would not be affected.

"This is just not a fair way to run the program," Johnson asserts, "and we are asking ASCS officials to recognize that and correct the situation before a lot of our people get hurt."

COTTON FUTURES CLOSED NEAR LOWS Thursday, off 105 to 80 points, in line with sharply lower agricultural markets at Chicago.

Floor brokers said commission houses also sold early on charts and sell stops and on the passing of former Hurricane Bob into a tropical storm in the Delta. Some mixed, late short covering only slightly pared losses.

Brokers said the Wednesday's higher U. S. Department of Agriculture world cotton estimate, although expected and already largely discounted, enhanced bearish sentiment.

The USDA estimated 1979-80 world production at 62.7 miillion to 64.9 million bales, up from 59.7 million in 1978-79, with the U. S. crop projected in a range of 12.0 million to 14.2 million bales.

Production in the Soviet Union was estimated at 12.9 million bales, up from 12.3 million this season. China's output was projected at 10.2 million bales, up from 10 million in 1978-79.

The USDA's weekly export report Thursday showed U. S. exporters have reported new sales of 107,500 running bales to China in the week ended July 1. All are for shipment in the 1979-80 marketing year.

Grain Futures

CHICAGO (AP) — Soybean and grain futures plunged Thursday after the government predicted larger-than-expected crops of U.S. wheat and corn this year.

The selloff by commission houses and local traders accelerated just before the close.

HIGH PLAINS COTTON
U. S. Department of Agriculture

Trading on the Lubbock spot cotton market Thursday was slow. Supplies of cotton for sale were moderate and demand was weak.

The Lubbock Cotton Exchange's spot quotations advanced 25 points for white and light spotted grades and declined 50 points for spotted and tinged grades.

Mixed lots brought growers around 800 to 1,000 points over 1979 loan rates.

August Paces Comeback Surge In Cattle Futures Contracts

By Reuters

CHICAGO — Cattle futures closed 5 to 112 points higher led by August which was up the limit level of 150 for a time Thursday on the Chicago Mercantile Exchange. Sales totaled 24,842 cars. The market was higher from the start and rose to the best levels in one month.

Aggressive short covering was touched off at the opening following Wednesday's late declines. Traders noted the upturn in carcass beef and firmness in cash cattle as supporting factors. Lighter than year ago kill was also positive as were cheaper feedgrains.

Wholesale beef was unchanged to up 1 at 100½ to 101½ cents a pound, f.o.b. river points. Cash cattle were steady to up $1 with the best top $69 per hundredweight at Omaha. Slaughter was 118,000 head. Receipts at the major markets today are expected to total 3,100 head.

Feeder cattle futures closed 85 to 150 higher paced by August at the limit advance. Sales numbered 3,877 lots. Prices were higher from the start and climbed to the highest since May.

The market reversed after Thursday's late declines with reduced feeder cattle arrivals, continued firmness in cash cattle and higher beef sparking demand. Short covering and other buying was also prompted by plentiful feedgrains. Earlier, traders had noted the possibility of a cost-squeeze due to rising feeder cattle and feed prices.

Cash feeder cattle were steady to up $1 with the best top $137 per hundredweight at Louisville. About 1,100 head are expected today at the major terminals.

Hog futures closed 22 to 97 lower with August under the most pressure. Volume was estimated at 7,327 contracts. Earlier, distant August fell 100, while February gained 35 for a time.

Support spilled over from cattle pits and reduced hog supply. However, heavy kill this week and sharply lower cash prices brought later selling. Pressure was noted despite firmer trend to most pork products at noon.

Deliveries total two thus far. Wholesale hams were unchanged to up 1¼ at 60 to 67½ cents a pound, f.o.b. river. Cash hogs were off 50 cents to $1.25 with the top $42 per hundredweight, which equals the low of November 1977, at Peoria. Kill was 328,000 head. The major markets are expecting about 24,200 head today.

Pork belly (bacon) futures closed 75 lower to 25 higher on 7,119 cars. Distant July was off the most with only nearby July higher.

Support stemmed from higher cash bellies and continued storage reductions. Weakness in cash and future hogs touched off late selling despite strength in cattle pits.

There have been 33 deliveries thus far. Wholesale bacon was up 1 to 2 at 39 to 42 cents a pound, f.o.b. river.

Rail Cars Lacking As Wheat Piles Up

WASHINGTON (AP) — With the 1979 wheat harvest expected to be one of the best on record, federal officials say the midwestern states are short thousands of rail cars daily and grain is beginning to pile up in the fields.

"We're 15,000 to 25,000 cars short on a daily basis now," said Ron Schroader of the Agriculture Department's Office of Transportation.

"In Oklahoma and Texas, where the harvest is over, we've got grain on the ground, a significant amount at least last week," Schroader said. "As the harvest moves up through Kansas and Nebraska and farther north, if (the shortage) isn't alleviated we could have a domino effect."

Schroader said it appears the situation could reach the proportions of a year ago when there was a daily shortage of some 40,000 rail cars.

Ken Carter, chief of the Interstate Commerce Commission's railroad utilization and distribution branch, said the railroads are diverting as many cars as they can to the wheat harvest areas but the car shortage cannot be totally alleviated.

"They're trying to prevent grain being on the ground," Carter said, "but at any particular time there will be grain on the ground because of the inability of the elevators to store it all and the equipment shortage of the railroads."

The Agriculture Department's Rural Transportation Task Force has scheduled a series of hearings including ones in Des Moines, Iowa, and Wichita, Kan., later this month, and the General Accounting Office is also looking into the rail car supply situation.

Earlier this year, the ICC at the request of the Rock Island Railroad temporarily terminated restrictions on the Rock Island's use of cars owned by other roads to move grain out of Oklahoma during the height of that state's wheat harvest, Carter said.

The same action, he said, could be taken for railroads serving Kansas, Nebraska and wheat states to the north as the harvest moves in that direction.

The rail car shortage for the wheat harvest, Schroader said, is also being compounded by the storage of some 100 million bushels of oats and barley.

"The storage bins are just packed," he said. "The railroads have been cooperating very well, but they've got problems. They just don't have the equipment to meet a peak demand period."

E. European Wheat Crop Falling Short

LONDON (AP) — Severe winter conditions in the Soviet Union and Eastern Europe have, in this 1979-80 crop year, severely hit that area's wheat production and reduced world hopes for another bumper world crop this year, International Wheat Council estimates indicated recently.

To make matters worse, some areas in the Soviet Union have also been hit by early summer drought, the IWC said.

The IWC, in its first published estimates for the 1979 world wheat crop, said it could reach a total 405 million metric tons, down from last year's record of 441.7 million metric tons. A meric ton equals about 2,200 pounds.

Consequently, it expects carryover stocks at the end of the 1979-80 crop year to fall to around 48 million metric tons, down from 54.7 million metric tons the year before.

The IWC, reasoning that the Soviet Union will again be a potential buyer of wheat, also estimted that trade in wheat could reach a total of 77 million metric tons in the 1979-80 crop year, up 6 million metric tons from the year before.

Of the situation in the Soviet Union, the IWC said: "Difficult planting conditions in the autumn of 1978 reduced sowings of winter grains, including winter wheat. Severe winter wheather is also thought to have caused some damage to the crop."

Yes, you can buy new Gustol™ now!

Now there's a cotton insecticide additive that makes sure worms eat your insecticide.

New Gustol is the spray tank additive specially formulated for use with a viral insecticide like Elcar® and B.t. insecticides like Thuricide®.

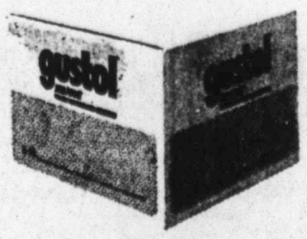

Biological insecticides must be eaten to be effective. And Gustol makes sure bollworms and budworms eat your insecticide. Not just a little but a lot. When that happens, you know your insecticide is going to do what you sprayed it to do. Kill worms.

This is no fluke. Gustol has been researched and put through extensive testing for the past three years by Sandoz, a company that never introduces a product until tests prove it works!

Right now, the worms are here. So right now is the time to order Gustol from your ag supplier.

Remember, when the worms aren't eating your insecticide, they're eating your cotton.

TODAY'S STOCK PRICES

Stock Mart Declines Broadly

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market declined broadly again today as investors awaited President Carter's address to the nation Sunday night.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials, off 7 points Thursday, dropped 4.44 to 832.42 by noontime today.

Losers held a 4-1 lead over gainers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

After a week-long series of meetings at his Camp David, Md., retreat, Carter scheduled a speech Sunday night to disclose his plans for the energy situation and the economy.

The administration, meanwhile, acknowledged that a recession was likely, accompanied by a double-digit inflation rate this year.

"The long and vigorous recovery that we have enjoyed over the past few years has come to an end," Lyle Gramley, a member of the Council of Economic Advisers, told the Senate Budget Committee today.

Another depressant was International Business Machines' report Thursday of a slight decline in quarterly earnings.

IBM shares, which fell 1½ Thursday, dropped ¾ to 69⅜ today in trading that included a 212,000-share block at 69½.

The NYSE's composite common-stock index fell .35 to 58.03. At the American Stock Exchange, the market value index lost .61 to 195.00.

Volume on the Big Board totaled 14.59 million shares at noontime, against 14.06 million at the same point Thursday.

Coffee Firm Ups Prices

NEW YORK (AP) — Hills Brothers, the nation's third-largest coffee roaster, today joined General Foods Corp., Procter & Gamble Co. and others in boosting wholesale coffee prices by 10 cents.

Hills, like the other roasters, cited higher prices for green coffee beans as the reason for the increase.

Hills, based in San Francisco, raised the wholesale price of a pound of went up a dime to $2.63 for a 13-ounce can.

General Foods, the nation's biggest roaster, boosted the wholesale price of Maxwell House ground coffee by 10 cents to $3.18 a pound on Thursday. No. 2 Procter & Gamble, maker of Folger's Coffee, and Coca Cola Co., maker of Butternut and Maryland Club brands, also had raised prices by 10 cents a pound.

It normally takes three to four weeks for wholesale prices to be reflected on grocery shelves, meaning that consumers are only now noticing the last increase, a 25-cent increase imposed three weeks ago.

General Foods, in announcing its increase, pointed to the rising price of green coffee beans, which are roasted and then ground to produce the coffee sold in stores.

Those prices have been rising since February, but the sharpest jumps have come since a June 1 frost damaged coffee trees in Brazil, the world's largest coffee producer.

Nicaragua, another major producer, has been more concerned with revolution than farming in recent weeks, adding to nervousness over coffee supplies.
