'Good Second Car' Goes For No Good $325 Check

Two Colorado City business firms were victims of some heavy bad check writing here Saturday.

C. Bruce Webb, used car dealer, accepted a check for $325 in exchange for a 1955 Ford Webb described the buyer as "about 45 years old, looking like an outdoor worker, and a very convincing character."

The check writer visited the Webb used car lot about 1:30 p. m. and asked to see a "good second car." His wife, the buyer told Webb, was driving the 1962 Ford they owned and he needed "just a good little second car."

Check for $325 was signed by the purchaser with an apparently fictitious name not listed as a bank depositor. It was drawn on City National Bank, Colorado City. The man gave his address as "East Hill," and told Webb his mailing address was route 3.

City National Bank here closes at noon on Saturday. Webb, however, became uneasy shortly after the car was driven away. After ascertaining that the check was fraudulent, Webb reported to police.

Police Chief Leon Yeager and Sheriff Lewis Claxton broadcast complete descriptions of the 1955 car as stolen and description of the "buyer."

Village Food Market came up with another hot check for $500. Earl Brock, manager of the store, said that neither he nor any Village employee recalls the check passer or his purchases. Police are still investigating both check cases.

Wednesday morning R. T. Manuel, local real estate man, reported his 1963 Oldsmobile as stolen.

After police received details, the car was located in Big Spring at 8:30 a. m. Thursday. Drive of the stolen car was a jump of 22 1/2 feet.

Pete Garrett placed third in the pole vault event with 11 1/2 feet.

Wolf track team placed 7th in a field of 17 teams. An drew's won 7th meet with a total of 116 points. Wolves made 16 points.

Loraine Juniors To Present Play

The Junior class of Loraine High School will present their class play, a three act comedy entitled "A Feudin' Over Yonder," Monday night at 7:30 in the high school cafeteria.

Class members portraying characters in the hillbilly comedy are Linda Cornutt as Mountain Maggie, Charla Martin, Maw Fry; Sherry Graham, Emmy Fry; Larry Rankin, Izzie Fry; Ronnie Blair, Clem Fry; Sheila Oliver, Rosie Belle Fry; Carolyn Schroeder, Aunt Harry Hornhonker; Linda Chapman, Becky Mae Hornhonker; James Wallings-

Sponsors are Mrs. Iris Preston and Coach Allen Bryan, directors.

The plot revolves around the Popoff family and the Fry family who have been feuding for two years. Seems like one Izzie Fry of the Popoff boys said he was going out to shoot an old Fry.

Periodically, Mountain Mag-

ing the sick, must come to patch up someone hurt in the feud. Rosie Belle Fry, being handy with a gun, takes the only unattached male in the hills from under her sister Emmy's nose. Once more the feud is going full force.

How the feud is brought to an end, leaving everyone happy is a chain of merry laugh-provoking situations.

The public is invited to attend, and tickets may be purchased from any member of the junior class. Proceeds will be used by the class for one of their yearly projects.

Mrs. Edna Rabl has returned from a visit in Midland with Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Ranne.

This seems to be the reaction of James Wallingsford to the knife Sheila Oliver holds menacingly in her hand. Gary Finley, under the table, holds his hand up in a sign of surrender in case there are any more knife-wielding females around. The students, all juniors of Loraine High School, were practicing scenes from a hillbilly comedy, "A Feudin' Over Yonder," their annual class play to be presented Monday night at 7:30 in the school cafeteria.

CONVERSATION CORNER

TOOK to thinking, just for fun this lazy day, how somebody without a calendar to his name could tell about Spring.

Suppose you didn't know what day it was? How would you decide that Spring's coming and that Saturday is officially hailed as first day of Spring?

FOR ONE thing the birds sing it. The cardinal has come back to the crest of the locust tree which still stands stark naked in the backyard on Chestnut St.

The cardinal whistles his delight in the season each time the sun comes up. He whisks his topknot and preens his crimson feathers for all the world like a prospective bridegroom celebrating his bachelor dinner.

THAT robin who divides his time between the J. O. Dockrey tree and the driveway has been prancing around gobbling bread crumbs put out by our grandchildren Jim and Betsy Ruth.

Ducks on Lone Wolf Creek, out in Ruddick Park, know Spring is the special time for visits from children. Tame creatures they are, they waddle up and quack greetings at visitors, and do not run away unless chased by springy little boys.

JONQUIS are a bloom in yards everywhere. Japonica... and there's a peach tree swathed in pastel pink, rushing the season.

Days are being lengthened like hems let out for daughters growing taller. Nights are softer. The sunset, somehow, more lavish with colors like cerise and smoked pearl.

Signs and symptoms of spring are everywhere. The stage is set for Spring's concert of bird and flower and tree and wide blue skies.

IF, in this rushing world, you haven't had time to notice, there are other ways to tell about Spring.

This is the time to take your temperature for Spring fever.

Rather play than work? Rather go somewhere than stay anywhere? Skipping coffee for iced tea now? Hunting the seersucker suit, the blue linen dress, the sleeveless blouse, the summer brunch host?

Rather do nothin' than be gainfully employed? Yawnin' in faces? Too lazy to last? Well, then! It's high time you realized. It's about to be Spring.

When you wake up in the morning
And just want to run and play,
It's Spring fever, it's Spring fever,
When you'd trade your job for travel
Down the road to Mandalay,
It's Spring fever, Oh-ee-oh-lay!
(Try Tune of 'Pretty Baby')

SATURDAY, when the guilty verdict was pending for Jack Ruby, the lobby of Baker Hotel here looked like a convention of the local Bar Association.

Spied waiting for the jury's decision and announcement were Judge Austin McCloud... Don Butler... John M. Worrell... Dell Barber... and County Attorney Frank Ginzel.

Also sitting in suspense watching to TV newscast were the mayor H. I. Berman and his wife Alice... Mrs. Clarence Gross... Shana Noble Bassinger (Mrs. Hubert)... Bob May... Henry Lewis.

MET the new head coach for Colorado High, nice Truman Nix, who was having conference over lunch with Frank W. Wilson, superintendent.

Met for the first time, too, for some reason or other, Coach Jeff Walker, who is mentor for the baseball team. He's young and earnest and optimistic about the new baseball season.

LOCAL SEEN—Lateys include Clydine Stickney... Jimmie Maddox... Rev. Sam Woolcock, Central Baptist Church pastor... Sam Thompson on the polticking trail in the residential area... Mrs. Ollie Bird, in from Westbrook... Amelia Erwin, daughter of Bill and Gloria... Bob Bell, here from Brownwood for the weekend.

PLEASANTEST phone call came the other evening from a F. P. "Favorite Preacher" named Darris Egger who shepherds First Methodist members.

Rev. Egger called to say that a Record feature (Blood Bank) gave him the inspiration for his Sunday morning worship hour subject. Didn't there used to be a stanza in "Old Time Religion" which went "Makes the Methodists love the Baptists?"

It's probably connected one way or another with the fact Helen Egger, the preacher's wife, got well in a Baptist hospital called Baylor, too.

HEAR TELLS: Hear tell that pretty Vernah Nuckolls has forsaken the medical secretary field to accept a position at Colorado High School. She's new secretary to the principal Floyd Morris... Hear, too, that our Hattie Ramsdell was due to arrive back in C-City after an extended visit in Denver and in Lawton.

BRIEF ENCOUNTERS brought a glimpse of Mabel Smith, Mary George Smoot (Mrs. Joe H. Sr.) and Mrs. Thomas R. Smith, here from San Saba Sunday until Thursday, in a luncheon trio.

Saw, too, Gilbert Leach of the Court House delegation... T. J. Goss on a little office visit... Elton Burson (Mrs. Guy)... Vivacious Virginia Fuller (Mrs. J. Raymond) on the morning shopping scene.

Visited via phone with Marcella Fee (Mrs. Bob Sr.) with Mrs. J. D. Gibson, chairman of the HD Council, and with Coach Caddo Matthews, mentor of the Wolf golfing team... Saw Tom Marriele of Farm Bureau office, Bob May... and Otho Rice of the Tesco office on the downtown scene.

IN the Colorado Room familiar faces were those of the Doctors Berkman, Elton and Virginia... The Wilson Hrbaceks... Billy Jo Wood.

Over from Big Spring were Mrs. Jimmie Green, her daughter Nell Harper Green Pond (Mrs. Joe) and sister Mrs. H. P. Towle of Snyder.

Easter
Eggs

by E. BUNNY

Start with clean, white Bodine eggs in a saucepan, and cover them with cold water. Bring the eggs slowly to the boiling point and allow them to simmer gently for 20 minutes. Plunge into cold water, drain, and let air dry. Try not to touch them any more than necessary as the oil in your skin will make them resistant to the coloring.

Eggs remain good to eat at room temperature for three or four days. In a refrigerator, they may be kept about 10 days. The coloring used for Easter eggs is safe; you need not worry if some color gets onto the edible egg.

Airport Dollars Paying Off With Blood

That's a unique but positive life-saving link between Colorado City's fledgling airport and Root Memorial Hospital.

The airport now lighted for night flying, is providing faster service in emergencies for the hospital's blood bank.

This fact was emphasized only last week when a plane from the Dallas Blood Bank rushed new supplies here to rebuild the hospital's supply of blood after several life saving emergencies.

The special plane delivery is made possible only because of the lighted improvements at the airport.

In the past this newspaper has noted the importance of the airport in flying patients to medical centers in Houston and Dallas and other areas. And for rushing specialists and equipment into Colorado City.

But now, with the Dallas Blood Bank plane flying here with life-saving blood, we have another example of an airport paying off in a manner that far outweighs the dollars that went into the field's construction.

Traffic Toll Kills At Record Rate

Texas motorists barreling along the streets and highways at a clip of 99,000 miles each minute, killed themselves at the rate of one person every three hours and 12 minutes to rack up the worst year in history for traffic tragedy in 1963.

Col. Homer Garrison Jr., director of the Texas Department of Public Safety, reported that his department's statistical services officially closed the traffic death book for 1963 at noon Sunday, recording an all-time record of 2,729 motorcyclists.

This tragic toll was 308 lives or 13 per cent higher than in 1962, and 129 lives or five per cent higher than the previous all-time high of 2,611 in 1956. Even though many more miles were traveled in Texas last year than in previous years, the fatality rate per 100 million miles traveled increased from 4.9 deaths in 1962 to 5.2 deaths in 1963.

This terrible loss of human life in our state was accompanied by untold suffering among an estimated 161,000 persons who were injured, and a staggering economic loss of $432,715,000.

In order to point up the magnitude of the traffic situation in an effort to bring about public awareness of its seriousness, Garrison listed these facts:

The 312 motorcyclists in December 1963 was the highest number for any month on record. Second high was 303 in December 1950.

On only one day during 1963, Tuesday, September 3, was motorcycle free. It followed Labor Day when 22 persons were killed in traffic.

On both Sunday, May 5 and Friday, December 20 there were 25 persons killed in 17 accidents.

During 1963 there were 21 days with 15 or more motorcyclists. There were only 19 in 1962, 14 in 1961 and 13 in 1960.

The worst accident in 1963 occurred on September 2 in Liberty County where 10 persons were killed in a head-on collision near Dayton. The last previous 10-death accident occurred on February 15, 1959 in Hidalgo County under similar circumstances.

The estimated economic loss from motor vehicle traffic accidents in 1963 was $13.72 per second.

The Public Safety Director pointed out that the 13 per cent statewide increase in traffic deaths in 1963 was reflected almost equally in rural and urban areas—so Colorado City and Mitchell County is to blame too. The rural traffic death increase was 13 per cent, while the urban increase was 12 per cent.

The fact that this upsurge in traffic fatalities appears to be part of a current national trend and many other states had their worst traffic year in 1963—does not alter the seriousness of our situation here in our home state.

"Certainly, with these facts before them," Garrison stated, "the people of Texas are challenged to do everything in their power to halt this trend which, incidentally, seems to be continuing into the new year."

The records consistently reflect that two things stand out in general as the leading causes for serious traffic accidents—carelessness and willful or unwitting disregard for the laws of safety.

New Money

Those persons who count their business economy by the number of new industries that might come to town should take another look at the new cotton allotment acres just assigned to Mitchell County.

This new total—2,955.5 acres, to be exact—was released from other areas of Texas, as well as from former production in Mitchell County. During a usual crop year, this new acreage will add more than a quarter million dollars to our county income—more than the payroll of a small industry.

Here again is an example of important industrial development in a field of activity which many of us fail to evaluate properly.

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

Texas Republicans Set Precedent With Primary

BY VERN SANFORD

Texas Press Association
Austin, Tex. — for the first time in history, Texas Republicans will have an opportunity to express their preferences for the GOP presidential nomination in a statewide primary.

Republican Executive Committee voted to hold the presidential referendum on the May 2 primary ballot. The opinion sampling has no binding effect. Principal purpose is to boost the stock of Barry Goldwater and to lure less conservative Democrats into the GOP primary.

Democratic Executive Committee offered no special voter bonus to keep their own partisans in the fold. Leaders of both parties, in simultaneous meetings in Austin, declined to submit requested referendums on sale of liquor by the drink and curtailment of Mexican nationals commuting to jobs in Texas.

Names of Goldwater, Nelson Rockefeller, Margaret Chase Smith and Harold Stassen will appear on the GOP ballot. Originally the names of Richard Nixon, William Scranton, George Romney and Henry Cabot Lodge were included, but they were asked to be omitted. Rockefeller wanted out. He was told he had to stay on the ballot since he already had announced nationally, and regardless of this fact he does not plan to campaign in Texas.

Democrats responded warmly to Gov. John Connally's call for full-out support of President Johnson in party conventions. But they squabbled at length before accepting Dallas as the site of their Sept. 15 state convention. Dallas finally won, 33-18 over Corpus Christi.

Connally made clear in a ringing speech urging Johnson support that as governor he plans to keep control of the state party.

"It is important to choose people for convention delegates who will be as strong for Connally in September as they are for Johnson in June," the Governor stated.

Without dissent the Democrats agreed on Houston as the site of their June 16 state convention to pick national presidential nominating convention delegates. The party platform will be written and a new SDEC selected at the September meeting. Republicans will hold their June convention in Dallas and their September convention in Austin.

SDEC Chairman Eugene M. Locke of Dallas resigned at the Democratic meeting and was replaced by Frank Erwin Jr. of Austin. He had served as secretary.

Republicans adopted a resolution calling for a special legislative session on congressional redistricting, and decided to admit registered voters who did not pay their poll taxes (under new federal constitutional authority) to party conventions.

LOSING DOCTORS — Texas salaries aren't good enough to keep top doctors on the job at state hospitals, Dr. James M. Schless, director of tuberculosis hospitals, told the hospital board at a recent meeting here.

He cited resignations of doctors at Harlingen State Hospital, East Texas Tuberculosis Hospital, and San Antonio State Hospital and possibility of the McKnight State Hospital, clinical director's taking a job in another state.

Key medical jobs in the state institutions pay $14,000 to $25,000 a year, plus housing. Schless said the next Legislature will be asked to raise that to $19,500.

STUDY HEARINGS — The Governor's Committee on Education Beyond the High School will take its preliminary recommendations before college officials and state legislative groups during late May and June.

Chairman H. B. Zachry, still fighting a running battle with the capitol press over secret sessions of the 25-member committee announced the hearings. He said members will reach a tentative decision on recommendations at a meeting here April 17-18.

Committee has balked at telling reporters anything it has agreed on to date except a coordinating committee for all college and junior colleges.

A subcommittee on junior colleges reported a list of specific proposals, however, including a recommendation that no more junior colleges be elevated to four-year status. They also recommended that the state pay all instructional costs of the 33 existing and future publicly-supported junior colleges.

Zachry indicated the committee will propose a "stair-step" or "easy-stages" approach to achieving a first class system of colleges and universities. He hinted the committee will make specific recommendations for financing the proposed upgrading program.

TOURIST PROGRAM — The Texas Tourist Development Agency reports that national advertising is scheduled for summer issues of the New York Times and Chicago Tribune travel sections and for issues of Sunset, Redbook and Reader's Digest magazines. Some 35 travel writers from other states and Canada are due to take a week-long tour of the state in April to gather material for their columns.

COURTS SPEAK — State Supreme Court has agreed with lower courts that a state tax on gas pipelines is unconstitutional. Decision upheld earlier opinions that the dedicated reserve tax cannot be applied to pipelines holding long-term contracts to take Texas gas to out-of-state consumers. About $8,000,000 has been paid to the treasurer under the levy, $8,500,000 of it under protest.

High court permitted filing of three mandamus petitions involving election controversies.

Wes-Tex Talk

A Look At West Texas Through Editorial Page Excerpts From It's Leading Weekly & Semi-Weekly Newspapers

The candidate who bases his race on his belief in "constitutional government" is not unlike the candidates who ask for an office because he is an "anti-Communist". Against his own claim is that his opponent is NOT anti-Communist. And the same goes for the candidate who is "anti-Castro", who wants to eliminate Communism from the world in general and the Western Hemisphere in particular.

What fool doesn't feel this way? But the most contemptible of all candidates is he who tells two lies in each statement instead of just one.

This type "favors agricultural prosperity" but he also demands that the government get out of agriculture and restore the farmer's "freedom". Or he will demand "free enterprise and the right to compete in agriculture" out of one side of his mouth while suggesting "higher tariffs to keep out foreign beef" from the other.

He's like the mother who admonished her daughter, leaving on a date, "Be good, Mary, and have a good time." "Make up your mind, mother," was Mary's retort.

The candidate who demands that the government get out of agriculture, leaving the farmer free to plant fence or fence and to "take his chances" has only one goal in mind, if he's sane. He wants lower farm prices so that the manufacturer and the processor can buy raw materials at a lower price, thus increasing their profits. They have no intention of lowering their prices or passing on any saving to the consumer. This has been proved by present prices of beef in the foodstores. Although the price to the grower has been less, the price of steak has remained the same. And this is not the fault of the local merchant.

Just for curiosity we checked through our files to see the price of round steak in Tulla in March of the past six years. Here's what we found: 1958, 79c; 1959, 83c; 1960, 76c; 1961, 89c; 1962, 79c; 1963, 79c; and 1964, 79c.

If wheat dropped to $1 a bushel, if milk and cotton dropped proportionately, and this would be the cost of a farmer's "freedom from government interference", the only person's group to profit would be the processor, the middleman. Of course his profit would be short-lived because the farmer wouldn't be around for long.

He'd be out of business. But when the corporate farmers, the insurance companies, and other economic cultures who had been waiting around to grab up his property like they did in the early 1930s, got control of agriculture, prices would go right back up. Suddenly the urban subsidies which had been going to the family farmer would become pure. This'd be as pure as the subsidies that go to the airlines, the shipbuilders, the oil companies, the manufacturers who have asked for and got fast tax write-offs.

Safety Urged for Home Pesticides

A little common sense and a lot of caution should keynote the use of house and garden insect sprays this spring and summer, according to Agriculture Commissioner John C. White.

Sales of pesticides will increase about 200 percent in the next few weeks as the annual insect invasions get underway, White noted. "And accidental poisonings are an annual occurrence," he added.

Commissioner White pointed out that modern chemicals are a boon in the fight against household and garden pests when they are properly used. But, careless spraying can result in serious consequences to pets and even humans.

"We tend to forget that those aerosol cans or powders which are so effective against bugs are actually poisons, and they should be treated as such," said White. The Texas Department of Agriculture and U. S. D. A. are responsible for seeing that all pesticides are labeled properly, and that all information needed to protect the user is contained on the label. But, once these products enter your home, safe use becomes your responsibility.

"Read the labels first when the products are still on the dealer's shelf," White advised. "There is a large variety of pesticides, and many of them have specific uses so a hasty selection could be an unwise one. Then follow the directions and use all precautions that are included on the can or package."

"It is wise to wash your hands after using household pesticides and, above all, store them out of the reach of children, just as you do with medicines, kerosene or other poisons."

A few other pesticide safety "Don'ts" from Commissioner White are as follows:

Don't save or re-use empty pesticide containers.

Don't use a pesticide inside the home if a gas mask is required in using it.

Don't use your mouth to blow or clogged sprayer lines or nozzle tips, or to siphon a pesticide from a container.

Don't smoke while handling pesticides.

Don't spray or dust outdoors when the wind is high.

Don't apply pesticides near open water of food containers for birds or pets.

when you cook electrically

You'll be delighted to find out how little it costs to cook the modern electric way. Surface units cook by direct contact with utensil bottoms, use heat thriftily. The electric oven, insulated all around including the bottom, keeps heat inside where it belongs. And once the oven reaches the temperature you select, it uses electricity about one-fourth of the cooking time. It costs the average family only about 3¢ a meal to cook with flameless electricity. Choralettes Sing On P-TA Program

The Choralettes of Colorado City High School presented a program of vocal selections at the regular meeting of the Primary Parent-Teacher Association in the school auditorium.

Directed by Curtis Baker, the twenty member, all girl choir sang four numbers, three of which they also sang in University Interscholastic League contest Friday. Selections were "Adocamus Te Christe" by Tenere, "Come Spirits, 'Tis His Day" by Bach, and "Now I Lay Me Down to Sleep" by Thomson.

Baker spoke on the appreciation of cultural arts, of which music is an important part. He said that most people believe that they prefer other types of music to classical, but this is mainly because they lack understanding of the music.

"Until the parents seek to understand the appreciation for the outstanding artists and their refined music, and provide for it in the home, it can only will the children be interested. There are many selections which will interest children, such as "Peter and the Wolf," which has an exciting story along with wonderful music," he said.

Other selections, he said, may have familiar melodies.

St. Andrew, feeling himself unworthy to die on a cross, like our Lord's, asked for a cross of a different kind. So this form of cross, upon which St. Andrew died, has become the symbol of humility and suffering. The Episcopal Church can help you to learn the power of humility and to find the strength to face suffering.

The Colorado City High School Girl's Choir, the Choralettes, won a superior rating in concert at the University Interscholastic League Choral Contest Friday at Cooper High School in Abilene.

The local choir was also rated as good in sight reading among the thirty-eight choirs participating in the Region II contest. Choral judges were Gene Kenney of Texas Tech, Karl Hickfang, Gibbens High School and Hugh Sanders, Pampa High School.

Comments of the judges, in relation to the Choralettes, included the following:

"Numbers very well done, good taste in selection of numbers, very fine appearance," said Kenney.

"Nice performance, very nice phrasing, beautiful soft singing and good sustaining of tone in slow singing," commented Hickfang.

"A very mature sounding group, very good phrasing," was the statement made by Sanders.

The local choir is presently making plans to participate in the Buccaneer Music Festival in Corpus Christi on May 1-2. At the festival, they will compete against choirs from Texas, Louisiana, Mississippi and New Mexico.

The trip, first of its kind for the local choir, will be financed by charging admission to the choir's spring concert the evening of April 27. This will be the first time such a charge has been made in fifteen years.

The Spring Concert will be over two hours in length and will feature a varied program of music, from classical to the Choralettes answer to the Beatles' "The Lady Bugs."

HIGHLIGHTS—

solve the growing problem of certifying all Texas counties for brucellosis eradication. Dr. R. G. Garrett, executive director of the Texas Animal Health Commission, and Dr. John Wilson, veterinarian in charge of the U. S. animal disease eradication division in Texas, say the back-tagging market-testing program is in force in several northwestern states.

Under this program, culls and dry cows headed through concentration points on their way to slaughter are marked so that the state, county and herd from which the cow came can be identified.

When the cow goes to slaughter, blood sample is taken and the results of a brucellosis test is recorded.

As Dr. Wilbur says, "Brucellosis being what it is, if older female animals are free of the disease, it is pretty certain the herd is free. In this way, about 97 to 98 per cent of the testing could be eliminated."

Dr. Garrett says back-tagging could eliminate "down-the-road" testing by between 90 and 97 per cent in a given county.

The animal health officials announced that Texas has entered its third month without a reported case of screw worms.
